

Parade, British Consul's visit to highlight gala July 4

One year shy of the nation's 200th birthday, the Plymouth Community once again celebrates the Fourth of July in style.

The Plymouth Jaycee's annual Fourth of July parade, this year with more than 40 participating units, is expected to draw thousands of area residents to the streets of downtown Plymouth.

The parade will begin at 12:30 p.m. at Union and Main and move down Main through downtown to Hartsough, where it will turn east to Middle School East.

Marchers will pause in front of City Hall for a ceremony at the Plymouth Rock monument highlighted by a raising of the British Union Jack and a brief address by British Consul J.J.

Hyslop, a special guest for the day and a representative of Plymouth's sister city of Plymouth, England.

Officials in that city will hoist the American flag there July 4 to mark our Independence Day.

W.W. "Eddie" Edgar will serve as grand marshal of this year's parade. A former editor of the Plymouth Observer, Edgar is a member of the Plymouth Rotary Club and a director of the Plymouth Press Club. Several years ago, he joined other dignitaries in a Plymouth contingent which visited England to pay a call on the sister city.

The parade will be highlighted by a Plymouth Community chamber of Commerce float bearing a replica of America's 1776 flag. Another float will feature a 14-foot statue of Uncle Sam seated behind a birthday cake.

The Centennial Educational Park Marching Band, the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, the Clan MacRae Band and bands from Windsor, Milford and Taylor will add their music to the festivities.

The Mayflower VFW Post will hold its annual chicken barbecue at the Post, 1426 S. Mill St., starting at 1 p.m.

Will Burroughs build training center here?

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER AND HANK MEIJER

The fate of one of the area's more controversial pieces of property is still uncertain, but speculation is growing that its current owner has a use in mind for it.

The Burroughs Corp. owns about 37 acres on a site in Plymouth Township bounded by Haggerty Road on the east, Plymouth Road on the south and Edward Hines on the west. A portion of the property is currently used as a parking lot for the giant Burroughs plant across the street.

The Plymouth City Commission last year filed petitions with the Michigan Boundary Commission seeking to annex that property, the nearby Hillside Inn and all of the township to the city. The Burroughs property will be ruled on first, with a decision expected later this year.

Burroughs formerly had the property up for sale. A prospective developer had acquired zoning to build a mid-rise apartment complex on nearly 22 acres of the parcel, with the other 14.2 acres proposed for commercial development.

Those plans fell through, as did sale of the property, and the parcel has been withdrawn from the market. The Plymouth Township Planning Commission has been asked to consider a lot split of the Burroughs acreage and a five-acre parcel owned by the Hillside Inn at its July 17 meeting.

"We are looking at the land for our own needs," said a spokesman for Burroughs' real estate department. "But we don't really know yet. No decision has been made yet."

The property has been rumored as the possible site of a corporate training center for the international business machines manufacturer. Such a facility might provide housing and classroom space for conferences involving up to several dozen Burroughs executives.

Neither city nor township officials have reported any news on plans for the property, but one source said the corporation had narrowed its site choices for the training center to Plymouth and Milford.

Car crashes backward into sign yard

A 19 YEAR OLD Brighton youth was charged with careless driving and drunk and disorderly conduct last week after the car he was driving roared backward over an embankment, through a fence and into a ravine near the Wayne County Road Commission sign shop on Northville Road. State Police said Russell Mitchell stopped for a red light at Five Mile while going south on Northville Road at about 9 p.m. last Wednesday night. When the light changed Mitchell revved his motor and stepped on the accelerator, but the car was in reverse. It rolled down the hill and came to rest on its right side in a clump of trees. Mitchell was uninjured. (Photo by John F. Foley III.)

Merchants, city, township meet on Ann Arbor Rd. improvements

BY HANK MEIJER

Trees, streetlights, sidewalks -- all are ways to spruce up a commercial strip like Ann Arbor Road.

Nearly two dozen Ann Arbor Road merchants met last Thursday at the invitation of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce to ponder ways to facelift their avenue between Sheldon and Lilley.

Plymouth township Planner Norm Dietrich and Plymouth City Engineer Allan Gove adressed the group in Little Caesars Family Inn on ideas for improving commercial development. Property on the north side of that stretch is within the city limits, while land to the south is in Plymouth Township.

Gove suggested tree plantings as something that could give the area a distinctive touch. "it would be something the Ann Arbor business corridor could identify with," he said. "It would benefit the businesses, and if they wish to begin the program, the city will do all it can to assist them".

Dietrich said thornless honey locusts, the variety of tree used along a portion of Main Street in Ann Arbor, might be suitable for Ann Arbor Road. The locusts are airy, he said, and tend not to block storefronts and signs.

He stressed the security and attractiveness of streetlighting as another means to improve appearances. Currently, no guidelines have been established to determine how streetlights along Ann Arbor Road should be paid for.

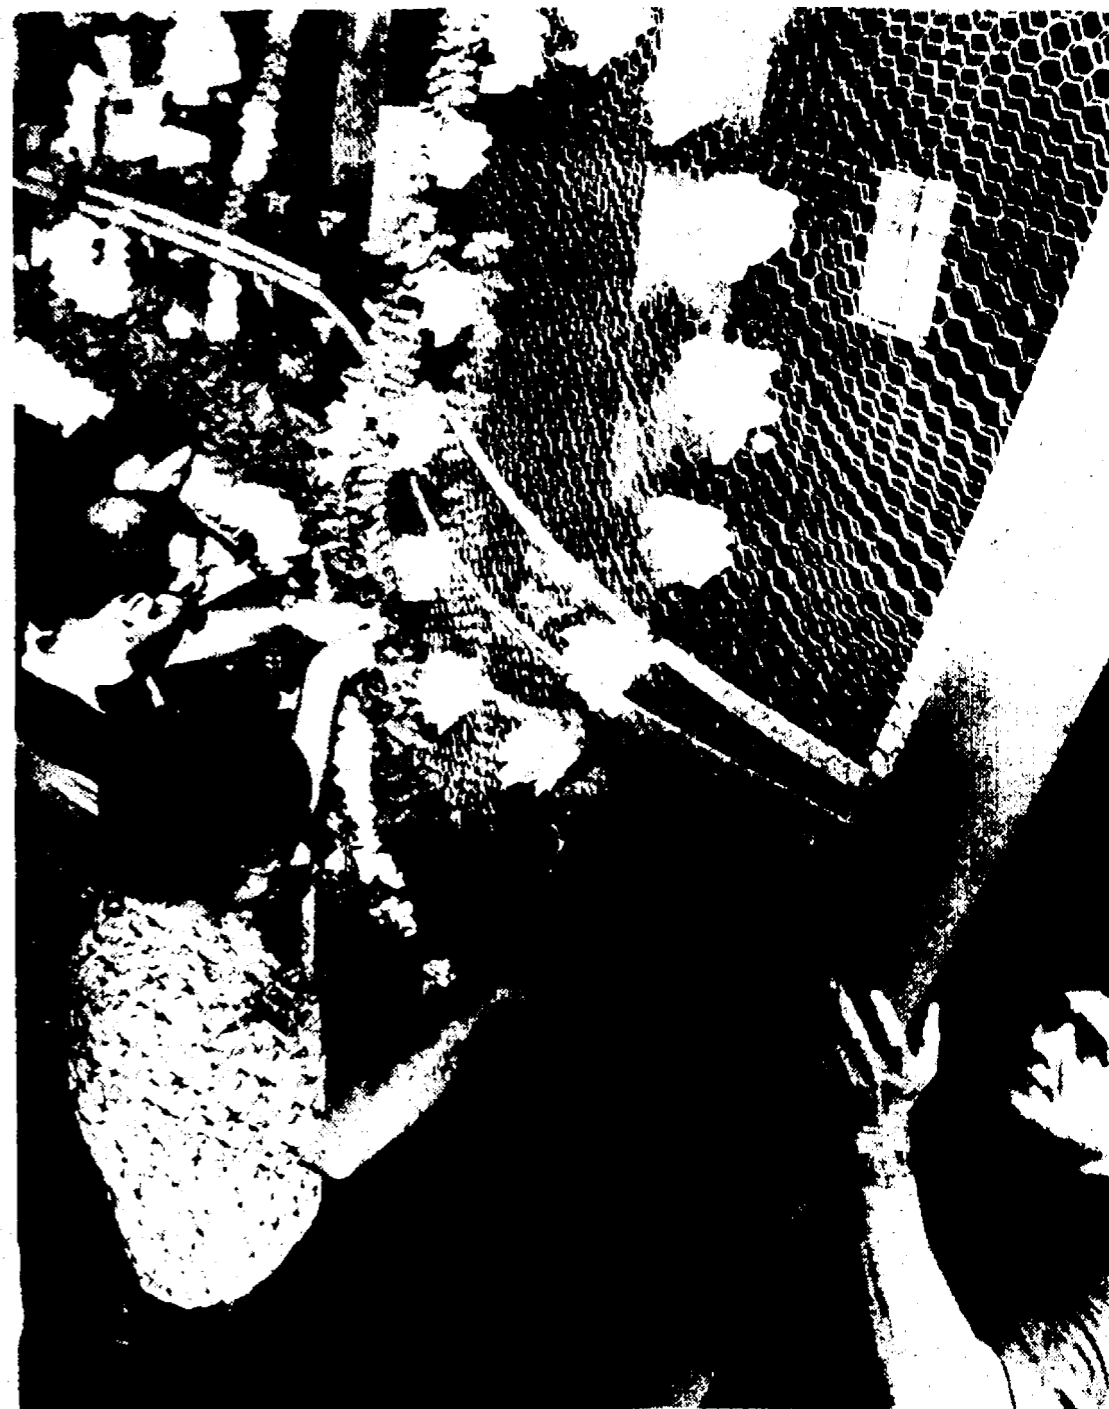

The lights now in use were installed by Detroit Edison, but are maintained by Plymouth Township.

Detroit Edison recently dropped its policy of installing streetlight at no cost. Chamber officials said they would arrange a meeting with Edison for estimates on lighting needs and costs.

"If people want lighting, all we can do is relay it to the city and the township," said Dietrich. "If anything is going to happen it's going to happen at the insistence of you people."

Merchants questioned whether the city and township might not share the cost of installing lights, since residents driving the street would benefit as well as the merchants.

Canton passes landfill ordinance

BY KATHY KUENZER

The Canton Township Board of Trustees last week passed a landfill ordinance that its writers and the township administrations hailed as probably the most all-encompassing landfill ordinance in existence today.

The ordinance, aimed at strict enforcement of sanitary landfills in the township, superceded Ordinance 27, which Supervisor Bob Greenstein said was "not only unclear, but no good at all" as an ordinance to regulate landfills.

The new ordinance calls for prospective landfill owners to submit a preliminary application to the township board to determine whether a proposed location is acceptable. The application is to include drawings of the site, proposed types of refuse to be handled, intended use after completion of the fill, and timetables for establishment and completion.

Enforcement and penalty sections are also included in the ordinance.

A moratorium of 30 days was placed on the issuing of permits on new landfills at the June 10 meeting of the Canton Board to allow for passage of the new ordinance.

While the new ordinance is not retroactive, according to Greenstein, existing landfills in the township will have to comply with it when they seek renewal of their operating permits.

The "Land Reuse Capability" section of the ordinance says that "placement of refuse and waste material shall be conducted in such a manner so as to permit the reuse of the disposal area for industrial development."

Cost to prospective landfill owners will be an initial $600 for review of plans as part of the preliminary application, $25 per acre on a minimum of 80 acres as part of the final investigation fee, plus a permit renewal fee of $500 to be paid bi-annually.

The board in turn, if it deems the project suitable, will refer the application to the planning commission, township planner and engineer, who will make recommendations on the proposal.

A final investigation and purchase of a landfill permit will then follow before the project is begun. The final investigation will include among other items, the site showing trees and maps of existing bodies of water, proposed fencing, proposed future buildings and proposed streets and other public easements.

Restrictions concerning the operation of the landfill govern methods of fencing, kinds of refuse and waste allowed, type of materials used as cover for daily dumping, and a height for the final level of 10 feet above the original elevation.

Canton names recreation board

BY KATHY KUENZER

A six-member recreation advisory committee has been appointed in Canton Township to develop ideas for immediate and long-range recreation plans.

Supervisor Bob Greenstein last week appointed Bill Lochran, Andy Smith, Bruce Roth, Frank Hlavin, Frank McMurray and Tom Stevens to serve in an advisory capacity to the township board in determining recreational needs in the township and investigating sources of financial aid through state and federal agencies.

Township recreation director Brenda Pollack was named as advisor and non-voting liaison to the group. Greenstein said the township had received letters from both the Canton Lions Club and Jaycees "demonstrating a willingness to work with the township on a recreation program.

"The Jaycees have volunteered to help erect playground equipment, but they don't want to proceed with it if it will eventually be ripped up," said Greenstein. "They felt that a 'planning' recreation authority was necessary for long-range plans. They would make recommendations to the board which would be set up by the board."

Greenstein said the committee could be formed without a representative from the board. Poole said he had sat as a member of a similar committee in Canton a few years ago, and that its legality then was questioned.

He also questioned how the new committee would function with regard to the community-wide intergovernmental recreation committee. Greenstein said the intergovernmental group would probably be open for membership later from the new committee.

Treasurer Carl Parsell said the long range plans would in no way affect or "take away from" the recreation plans of the intergovernmental group.

Trustee Bruce Schwall, who said he also supported the advisory committee, said he thought such a group's responsibility should be to set up "some sort of by-laws," establishing the length of terms, method of member replacement and exact duties of the committee.

Both Parsell and Greenstein appeared angry that Poole and Schwall felt a need for establishing guidelines.

"I'm amazed that here we have a group of people who have come forward and you want them to work on a bunch of by-laws," said Parsell. "They'll go back to their groups and say we don't want workers, we want a committee who wants to write a bunch of mumbo-jumbo!"

Said Greenstein, "I don't care if they have by-laws - I want to accept their help. Call them what you want to call them, but I think it's an insult to them to put this baloney in their way. I think we should let them go to work and stop with all of this fancy legal stuff."

Schwall said that in the formation of the Citizens Advisory Council (CAC), the by-laws were very carefully delineated. Greenstein replied that "that was because of the recommendation of the (CAC ad hoc) committee. We would have gone ahead without it."

The recommendation for approval of the new committee was finally passed unanimously by the trustees.

Land use talks started

Canton Supervisor Bob Greenstein has announced that the township is entering into negotiations for a "consent judgement" on a lawsuit against the township over use of land west of Canton Center Road.

Negotiations with owners of the Richter-Rosen property on the south west corner of Warren and Canton Center roads stem from a lawsuit against Canton over the building of multiples (apartments) on the property.

Greenstein said the township's attorney has said the township should request that no multiples be built west of Canton Center Road.

In asking for the consent judgement, which Greenstein himself has negotiated, the township is presenting a map that envisions one-family units on 70-foot lots and parks that include tennis courts and playground areas. Houses would range in size from 1,475 square feet for ranch styles to 1,500 feet for non-ranches.

Greenstein said a possibility exists that Practical Homebuilders - developers of Sunflower Village across Warren Road from the Richter-Rosen property - might be interested in purchasing the parcel for part of the Sunflower development.

"This is a good settlement," said Greenstein, "and aside from Mocerri, it is the last lawsuit Canton Township is faced with."

The board of trustees moved to have its attorney negotiate for the consent judgement decree, which would be binding on the land forever.

Schools to buy MESC office

After plans to lease a different building fell through, the Plymouth School District is now negotiating to purchase the vacant former Michigan Employment Security commission on Mill Street north of Ann Arbor Road for its CASTLES teacher center.

CASTLES - Center for the Advanced Study of Teaching and Learning in Exciting Schools - is a joint teacher in-service program of the Plymouth, Northville and Novi schools.

The Plymouth School Board at its last meeting voted to rent the former AAA office in the First Federal Savings and Loan Building at Main and Peniman, but the landlord decided instead to rent the office to a tenant who would sign a three-year lease.

The former MESC building will provide the center with about 3,500 square feet in which to house seminars, lectures, workshops, and resource materials.

The center is coordinated by English educators Gordon Hill and Malcolm McDonald.

According to school administrators, the in-service program will begin July 14 in Plymouth-Canton High school, with the operation moving to its new building when remodeling is completed.

Annexation vote set for Oct. 14 in N'ville Twp.

Northville Township voters will go to the polls Oct. 14 to decide whether their township should be annexed to the City of Northville.

Twp. to ask for fire station bids

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees held a special meeting last night to consider final approval of construction documents for its proposed new fire station no. two on Wilcox road in Lake Pointe.

If plans were approved as expected, the project would be advertised for bids, with construction to begin late this year.

The township board, which will meet in regular sessions only monthly through July and August, will hold its next regular meeting Tuesday, 8 at 8 p.m.

Schools alter Lions Den lease

With an eye to Bicentennial plans, the Plymouth School District Board of Education voted at its last meeting to rent its old Canton Center School directly to the Canton Lions Club on a month-to-month basis.

The one-room structure had formerly been leased to Canton Township for $1 a year, which in turn rented it to the Lions, who paid its utility bills.

CATV plans still stalled

Cable TV plans in the City of Plymouth are still in limbo, even though an official of the firm which holds a permit to set up a TV system in the city said in April that by now a meeting would have been scheduled for prospective investors in the project.

Howard Sharpely, president of Alden CATV of Hudson, told The Crier in April that within 60 days prospective investors would be invited to attend a meeting with Alden officials.

The city commission approved Alden's application for a permit last year. Since then, Sharpely said, the cable TV business has fallen on hard times.

Alden holds that the local permit at the discretion of the city commission.

In second vote

Clerks nix union

A second vote by clerical workers in Canton Township Hall on the question of whether or not to join the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) has ended in a 6-3 vote against joining the union. The election, held June 24, followed an election held earlier this spring in which AFSCME officials challenged the vote of Supervisor Bob Greenstein's secretary, Pam Phillips, on the ground that she was "supervisory." They later withdrew their objections and said she had the right to vote in future elections.

CAC awaits names

Canton Township Supervisor Bob Greenstein announced last week that six recommendations for membership on the new Citizens Advisory Council (CAC) have been received thus far by his office. Suggestions from Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park, the Canton Landing, Nottingham Forest and Windsor Park have been received out of 20 requests mailed to area groups.

Greenstein said many of the groups had not yet met to pick a representative.

Action on the CAC was once again deferred until a later date.

Tombstone toppled

A NAME FROM THE PAST is etched in a fallen tombstone at the rear of Plymouth's Riverside Cemetery. Nancy Bradner, wife of Joel Bradner, was born in 1790 and came to Plymouth as a member of one of the area's pioneer families. Her gravestone tells us she was buried, next to her husband, after she died in 1859 at the age of 69 years and four months. It's hard to say whether vandals or decay caused the fall of the marker, one of the older ones in the otherwise tidy cemetery. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron.)

Where cooperation can begin

The chaos of construction on Ann Arbor Road brings home the conviction that that thoroughfare needs help.

In a matter of months Ann Arbor Road between Lilley and Sheldon will be closer than ever before adequately serving the traffic it must bear.

Paving crews will have left us with four smooth lanes as far west as commercial development ends. It's about time.

But merchants whose livelihood depends on shoppers using that road and City of Plymouth Township officials whose boundaries it defines are beginning to recognize that new concrete alone isn't enough.

From the city and township's view, that stretch of pavement is too big a part of all our lives to be just another cluttered commercial strip. It says too much about where we make our homes not to be more inviting.

As shopping centers sprout up to the south, Ann Arbor Road merchants are recognizing that they can no longer depend on their highly-visible locations to deliver all the business they need. They know an inviting avenue of landscaped frontages and clean storefronts will help lure shoppers to their businesses.

Without change, more stores might join the street's empty supermarket as contributors to suburban blight.

The city, with its assessing powers, is moving ahead with plans for sidewalks along the north side of the thoroughfares. Plymouth Township will soon redo its Township Hall entrance and sidewalk at the eastern edge of the commercial strip. Both improvements are timely. Both will set a higher standard.

Recent meeting between city and township officials and Ann Arbor Road merchants seem to confirm everyone's suspicions: that beautification of Ann Arbor Road is a natural place for the city and township to begin to patch up relations which have only grown more strained in the last few months.

Perhaps Plymouth Township, in cooperation with the merchants on its side of the road, can come up with a plan to install sidewalks. Perhaps both units of government can work with merchants and the chamber of commerce and each other to improved lighting and landscape the curbsides.

Some planners have suggested a strip of bricks along the road where salt deposits and auto exhaust fumes won't let grass grow. Local garden clubs have shown interest in helping merchants add flowers to their frontage.

All these proposed alterations are small in themselves, but together they could make that stretch of Ann Arbor Road something out of the ordinary. That in itself would be good. That and a livelier, more colorful and more stable shopping area would be one of the best things that could happen to the Plymouth community.

Canton rec group good idea

Action recently by the Canton Township Board to appoint a recreation advisory committee was wise and foresighted.

Not only will it save money in the long run by making certain recreation buildings will not eventually be scrapped because they weren't erected in the most suitable places, but it will give citizens in the township some real opportunities for input into projects that affect a great many people.

What's more, the time needed to investigate outside sources for financing future recreation projects will be donated by the committee.

The board did, however overlook one segment of the township population which should be represented on the advisory committee - women.

Not for the sake of a "token female," but by virtue of the fact that a woman's viewpoint in recreation often goes beyond softball, football and the manual labor involved in building parks and erecting equipment.

Granted, women do participate in and enjoy these activities, but their contributions in other ways are a needed part of the recommendations the committee will be making to the township board.

It should also be said that recreation director Brenda Pollack will be a non-voting liaison to the committee, and an advisor. But a voting membership is important, especially since it is not known yet exactly what kinds of recommendations the committee will be making. (no strict organization of the committee or its duties has yet been determined.)

Women often view projects in light of how they will be suitable for the family. (And who does most of the carting of kids to recreation activities?) Women also tend to think of recreation beyond the sports arena - indeed, one definition of recreation is "a diversion" and another is "a refreshment of strength and spirits after toil."

To a woman, that might mean clicking the knitting needles rather than chasing a tennis ball, or watching Susie learn ballet instead of fielding a softball (or maybe vice-versa).

In short, what is recreation for a man is not necessarily recreation for a woman.

We hope the representatives recently appointed by Supervisor Bob Greenstein will do their level best to consider the woman's point of view in their investigations and recommendations.

We hope they might consult a woman or two (maybe even a wife or a daughter) or a group like the League of Women Voters or the Jaycee Auxiliary.

And next time, Mr. Supervisor, consider appointing a woman (or two) to the advisory committees. Your record along these lines is not good.

KATHY KUENZER.

Editor:

During the May, 1975 meeting of the Canton Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, the members discussed the recently enacted ordinance prohibiting the self-service gas stations, and the proposed ordinance requiring merchants using price coding to follow certain procedures.

Although the board did not assume a position either favoring or opposing these ordinances, and the board does not wish to be categorized as being negative to the decisions of the board of trustees, we are concerned about the veritable flood of legislation and proposed legislation directly affecting commerce in our community, and the indirect effect on the consumers through the increased costs of doing business.

We believe that a prosperous business community will enhance Canton Township's reputation as a pleasant and viable community.

We therefore would request that, before any ordinance affecting the commerce of our community is officially proposed, we be permitted to assess its possible consequences, and be given an opportunity to discuss its impact with our members and the board of trustees.

More than bands

A thoughtful reader has suggested that there is more to the music program at Centennial Education Park than a marching band or two.

In the debate over whether Centennial Education Park should have one band or two our concern with the greater good may be overlooked. This reader suggested that before anyone get carried away with the squabble over how many bands the two high schools should have, we consider expansion of the music program in other ways for which the Centennial Park concept seems particularly well suited.

Music, unlike many arguments, doesn't begin and end with bands. We appreciated that reminder.

PHS Class of '35 After 40 years...the same

BY DONNA LOMAS

School spirit might sound old-fashioned and corny and perhaps even irrelevant today, but the Plymouth High School Class of 1935 has a lot of it.

They recently held their 40th year class reunion at the Hillside Inn in Plymouth, which 41 of the original 86 classmates attended. It's an affair they have "somehow managed" every five years since their 20th year reunion.

"We start to plan right after Christmas," said Jean (Joliffe) Champe who was voted 'class artist'.

"We usually have all the addresses, since we get together every five years. We have so much fun planning, it doesn't seem like committee work at all. Why, we were telephoning up to last night to get everything finally set."

There is no chairman to the class reunion committee. Everyone pitches in and does what he or she can. Still, the various talents of the class of '35 are appreciated when it comes to organizing and getting things started.

Lola Mae (Barlow) Shueder, voted the 'neatest' in the class said everyone got enthusiastic once they started to talk about it. "Everyone has worked hard - the glory doesn't belong to one person, but to everyone in the class."

Although most of the class members still live around Plymouth and the Michigan area, some come a long way to be with their classmates.

Thelma (Lumsford) Ellwanger and her husband came the farthest - from San Jose, Calif. There are two others from California and three from Florida and one classmate who makes his home on the east coast. They don't feel that it is unusual for them to come this far. They all eagerly anticipate coming back to Plymouth for their five year reunion.

Darold Cline, class president for four years, said, "We're a special class. We go all out for these events. We've always been like this." He said the same people attend and those that do, always come even if it's from Florida or California.

Cline doesn't think his classmates have changed much in 40 years. "Everyone is still the same. The girls are still beautiful," he said smiling.

Cline and his wife were high school sweethearts. She was the class secretary and elected 'cutest' in their class while Cline was voted most popular. Cline is now retired from Edward Brothers, a book publishing firm in Ann Arbor where he was production manager.

The class used to have formal programs during their reunions, but now they try to keep it as informal as possible so they can spend time with each other.

"We had movies showing how each of us had changed over the years, but now we just try to keep the programs less complicated so we can get together with our friends," said Barbara (Hix) Soth, who was named 'most absent' of the class of '35.

One of their classmates, Alvah W. Elzerman spoke after dinner of life in America and the great opportunities one has.

"It is great to live in America," he said. "To live here, to be able to have free enterprise and to enjoy all the advantages of a good life."

Elzerman lives in Westfield, Mass. a town not unlike Plymouth, he says. It is located just north of Hartford, Conn. Elzerman travels 200,000 miles a year in connection with his job as president of a manufacturing firm.

"The town is similar to Plymouth," he said. "I enjoy living there, and as for the people, well, people are the same all over the world if you treat them as people."

It may seem strange to many that the Plymouth High School graduates of 40 years ago still stick together, but, as Cline put it, "We're a special class; still the same."

HARRY SHOEMAKER and Alvah Elzerman spent a few moments at the reunion to reflect on the "old days."

BARBARA SOTH (nee Hix) and Jean Champe (nee Joliffe), who was class treasurer, recall PHS of 40 years ago.

These photographs and others from past Plymouth High School graduating classes are around today in part thanks to Brian Kidston, assistant principal at Central Middle School (formerly the high school.) Kidston took home for safekeeping a number of such photographs which had lain neglected and in decay in school store-rooms.

Hidden room delights diners

BY KATHY KUENZER
Hidden within the recesses of Plymouth - Salem High School is a room even many of Salems students are unaware of - yet one dear to teachers, administrators, secretaries and school guests.

This hidden room is called just that, "The Hidden Room," and it serves as both a delightful restaurant to diners and an invaluable source of experience for students in the Food Service II class.

Foodservice instructors Karen Schwartz and Mary Beth Koss have organized their 40 - odd students into a working - learning force that runs its own restaurant - complete with waiters and waitresses, cooks, busboys and girls, cashiers and dishwashers.

The day this reporter arrived, the delicious aroma of cookies baking greeted her on the other side of the door of room 110. Mrs. Schwartz said her class was in the process of baking 500 cookies for the Salem Honors Convocation night - one of the many sideline tasks the class takes on throughout the year.

They also serve banquets, host a staff Christmas buffet complete with reservations, and serve refreshments to visiting groups in the school.

The class meets at 9 a.m. to begin preparations for the day's menu. By 10:40 things are organized to begin serving guests in the dining room, which opens at 11:20 a.m. and closes at 12:40 p.m.

Work assignments are given on a rotating basis, and include the salad bar, short order cooking, sandwiches, cooking the "special of the day," busing, dishwashing, host or hostess duties, waiting tables and running the cash register.

Four waiters or waitresses serve eight tables in the dining room which is pleasantly decorated with draperies, dim lighting, candles on each table and red checked place mats.

Mrs. Schwartz says that she accepts both 11th and 12th graders as participants, but they must have had the basic food service class first. She prefers 11th graders because their work in the Hidden Room kitchen prepares them for jobs outside school on the co-op work plan in 12th grade.

The Hidden Room serves about 45 people each day, giving them a menu that includes salads, sandwiches, desserts, beverages and even a "late-riser breakfast" of bacon and eggs. A winter menu includes warm foods, such as soups and the "special of the day," with

Call city, townships if you're plagued by stray dogs

BY JILL COMSTOCK

With the hot summer months ahead, even animals are beginning to get restless. Hardly a day goes by that officials at Plymouth City Hall and Plymouth and Canton Township Hall don't get calls about stray dogs.

The procedure is basically the same for all these areas when dealing with lost dogs or animals that have bitten someone or caused damage to another person's property.

Persons with dog-related problems who live in Plymouth may call the Plymouth police. They receive complaints about lost or stray dogs and officers on duty handle the call.

If the dog has a tag around his neck, the officer returns it to its owner. However, a stray dog is taken to the Parkway Veterinary Clinic for seven days, and if it hasn't been claimed within that time, it's usually destroyed. In some cases, the dog is held for a longer period of time in hopes it will be given a home.

If a dog has been picked up for biting a stranger, it is taken to the clinic and held there to see if any health problems occur. If not, the dog is released to its owner with a fee of $3.50 per day held. If the dog is not picked up, it is destroyed.

Problems with dogs in Canton should be referred to the township offices. Stray dogs are put in the Westland Humane Society, and have four days to be claimed.

Plymouth township cases are handled at Township Hall and procedures there are the same as in the other communities.

From three to 10 cases are reported daily to each of the three municipalities.

An easy way to avoid problems, officials say, is to keep an eye on your dog, whether it means tying it up or closing your gate. Vaccination shots and dog tags may determine whether or not you'll be able to keep your dog if it strays from home.

Merchants talk of new look

"If the benefit is just to make it brighter to drive, that's one thing," said Chamber President Jim McKeon. "If it's to make the businesses more attractive to shoppers, that's another."

Either way, many of the merchants agreed, current lighting levels will be inadequate soon when construction is completed and the road is open to five lanes.

As one businessman put it, "175 or 400 watts in the center of a five-lane highway won't be enough."

Gove also suggested that the merchants might consider creating a gravel strip of two feet or less in along their frontage where salt and auto exhaust fumes make landscaping difficult.

In line with plans to give the corridor a more harmonious appearance, Gove said, the merchants could use brick, rather than gravel, to provide a "brick texture, to identify with the colonial image."

Gove, Dietrich and members of the City of Plymouth Planning Commission met Monday night in City Hall with representatives of three local garden clubs to discuss ways in which the gardeners might help merchants add color to their properties.

The north side of Ann Arbor Road will soon be getting sidewalks under a City of Plymouth assessment project. Plans have not yet been made for adding sidewalks to the Plymouth Township side of the street.

Plymouth Township Clerk Helen Richardson noted that Township Hall frontage and the entrance walk on Ann Arbor Road will soon be fixed up, with new sidewalks, grass and a new, narrower front walk planned.

Gary tees up for pro tour

BY DENNIS O'CONNOR

Like many other young golfers Plymouth's Gary Robinson wants that Professional Golfers Association (PGA) card that will qualify him as a regular on the pro golf tour. Recent events make that goal a logical one.

His performance in the United States Open last week, on the difficult Medinah Country Club course near Chicago convinced more than a few Plymouth fans that the tour is now within Gary's reach.

He finished in a tie for 49th place in the tournament, making the cut after the first two rounds and picking up $905 for the effort.

Gary, 25, is a Plymouth native and a 1968 graduate of Plymouth High School. He went through the junior community baseball program here and always dreamed of becoming a major leaguer when he grew up.

Come high school, however, and he found he was a little slow on the basepaths. With a freshman's fervor, he turned his interests to golf.

He practiced daily at Plymouth's Hilltop Course, always with an eye on achieving the acclaim which would bring him a college scholarship. He was a mainstay of the Rock golf team for three years and his teammates voted him most valuable player in both the 1967 and 1968 seasons. His coach at that time was John Sandmann, now athletic director for the two high schools.

His practice paid off. He earned a scholarship to Eastern Michigan University where he majored in physical education. As a linksman there he was named a golf All-American and was a semifinalist in the Michigan Amateur Tournament.

Robinson taught for a while here as a substitute gym teacher, but before long it became apparent that golf held opportunities and challenges he could find nowhere else.

He has played in the Michigan Open and done well. He also competed in mini-tours around Arizona and Florida to gain experience.

Robinson made the best of his chance to qualify for the U.S. Open. The young golfer shot the finest rounds of his life at Orchard Lake Country Club. His score card read 70-72, good enough to qualify for Medinah.

It didn't take him long to make a name for himself in Chicago. In the first two rounds of the Open he put together identical 72's, good enough not only to make the cut, but to land him in the top 10 after the first two days.

He birdied the first two holes of the tournament to go two under par in a hurry.

The first two rounds put him in a tie with Arnold Palmer and ahead of Johnny Miller and other well-known players. The two fantastic rounds sent him into third round play with the veteran Julius Boros.

But as with so many golfers in the tournament, heat and inexperience caught up with Gary in his final two rounds and his scores ballooned to a 76 and 79 for a 299 total, good enough for a 49th place finish.

The score was still better than a lot of the regulars on the tour. He was second only to touring pro Gary Groh among Michigan finishers.

Robinson ended up tied with Gene Litter. Unfortunately, the finish did nothing for his quest to be a regular on the circuit.

Robinson lives in an apartment on Dewey Street in Plymouth and works as an assistant and instructor at the Oasis Golf Center on Five Mile near Haggerty. His next step is to find some kind of sponsorship so he can get that PGA card, perhaps in October. And with the name he gained in Michigan and around the country for his play in the first two rounds, it looks like success lies ahead in the golfing life of Gary Robinson.

Ellen Person scores 1st ace

Mrs. Ellen Person of 11821 Priscilla Lane in Plymouth, scored a hole in one last Tuesday morning (June 24) while in league play at Fox Hills Golf Course. Mrs. Person aced the 175-yard fourth hole with a wood shot. She has been playing golf for 12 years.

Roth places in Michigan amateur

Jeff Roth, a 1975 graduate of Plymouth-Salem High School, shot rounds of 74 and 76 to qualify for match play in the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament last week at Charlevoix.

Jeff was one of 64 qualifiers out of a group of 322 golfers. In match play, Roth won his first match but lost the second, to finish as one of the top 32 golfers in the state.

Roth was a captain of the Plymouth-Salem golf team over the past two seasons. In 1973, the school team won the Class A state title, and came back with an 11th place finish in 1974.

Roth will be attending college this fall at Arizona State University on a four-year golf scholarship.

JUNIOR GRAPPLER Vic Golden will go after his 45th pin when he travels to Mexico City this week to wrestle in international competition. (Crier photo by Hank Meijer.)

Victor's a winner in junior wrestling

"Pick on somebody your own size," is not the advice you might give to the class bully in Victor Golden 111's class.

Victor, who weighs all of 45 pounds, is a finalist in the AAU tournaments' wrestling competition.

He will compete this weekend in the Willfride-Massieu Tournaments at Mexico City and in the AAU meet in Omaha, Neb. later this month.

A Central Elementary first grader, Victor, seven, is the son of Mrs. Christi Golden, 1481 Stacey in Canton. He has participated in AAU activities through the Wayne-Westland YMCA.

Victor won his berth in the national competition by placing third in the Eastern National AAU meet recently and by winning two medals in the Michigan State finals.

Bidwell struggles

BY DENNIS O'CONNOR

Poor fielding and inconsistent hitting led to three losses in Bidwell Masonry's four games last week in Adray League action.

The only win came last Wednesday (June 25) against Garden City, as Plymouth put together nine runs and nine hits to triumph 9-2. Plymouth scored one run in the first, three in the third, and the final five in the fifth. Garden City tallied one run in the third and the other in the seventh.

Doug Tripp from Plymouth-Salem went two for four, knocking in two runs. Chris Martucci of Plymouth-Canton crossed the plate three times. Batting leader of the game was Dave Best, who went four for four and drove in three runs. Hurler Ed Kritch was credited with the win.

Mark Falvo pitched excellent ball against Royal Oak last Friday, but all for naught, as the Plymouth bats went silent in a 3-0 loss. Falvo yielded five hits, but Bidwell collected only three.

The Plymouth record dropped to 6-7 for the season when the week ended with a Sunday doubleheader loss to Redford Adray, 3-1 and 5-3.

The second game featured an oddity that hasn't occurred in two and a half months - Tom Willette lost a ballgame. The only other time Tom lost this year was back in early April against Redford Union in school ball action.

Despite a little wildness in the fourth inning, Willette was still hard to blame, as Redford scored its five runs in the fourth (all of them unearned) by means of two hits, a walk, a hit-by-pitch, a wild pitch and two costly fielding errors. Willette gave up only four hits on the day and struck out four. Bidwell gloves accounted for four.

Plymouth scored its first run in the second and rallied for the final two in the seventh as

Merchants keep streak alive

The Plymouth Merchants (freshmen, sophomores and juniors from Plymouth-Canton High School) remain undefeated in both the Northwest Suburban Mickey Mantle and American Federation leagues.

Plymouth upped its record to 6-0 in American Federation play, sweeping a doubleheader from North Farmington-West Bloomfield last Sunday by nip 2 foes

one-run scores of 2-1 and 6-5. Mark Perkins went all the way on the mound to record the win for the Merchants. The winning hit was a homerun by Scott Collins over the central field left field fence in the fourth inning.

Perkins also won the second game of the twinbill, as he came in for one inning of relief in the seventh with the score knotted at five runs all. In the bottom of the seventh, Plymouth took over when Kevin Randazzo singles, advanced to third after two were out, and came home on an RBI single by Terry Ennis. Mark Zydeck had two doubles in that game to pace the offensive attack.

Plymouth also swept a doubleheader the day before to raise its Mantle record to 3-0. John Young pitched a one-hitter in the first game against Catholic Central, as Plymouth scored the only run of the game in the sixth on a bases loaded walk.

Doug Smith pitched the second game against Dearborn Riverside, going all the way as the Merchants romped 13-1. The game was called after five innings under the 10-run mercy rule. By then Smith had notched 13 strike outs.

DiPonio tops division

DiPonio of the Metro Mickey Mantle League remained on top of its division after last weeks play holding a 5-4 record and a season mark of 6-4-1.

The Plymouth team won, lost and tied in its three games played last week. The victory came last Sunday over Dearborn Heights Dad's Club by the score of 8-6. The win was a comeback effort that saw DiPonio score two in the fifth, five in the sixth, and its final tally in the seventh.

John Marshall, the second of three pitchers, got the victory as he hurled one inning. DiPonio ripped nine hits in the contest, led by Ben Wilcox's three. Bob Smith and Bob Waite each added two. Wilcox, Smith and Corky Norman each had two RBIs for the victors.

The tie came Friday night against Dearborn-Slayton. Play will be picked up where the contest left off., at 2-2 going into the ninth inning, since it was called on account of darkness.

DiPonio's loss came at the hands of the first place team in the other division, Windsor, by the score of 6-1. Windsor remains the only unbeaten team in the league.

Panthers triumph

The Middle School baseball season ended with the Pioneer Panthers on top with a 6-3 record. Central and West followed with identical 5-4 marks and East brought up the rear with a 2-7 record.

Bidwell-Box, St. Peter's, Yee lead in softball

The big first place battles highlighted Plymouth Men's Modified Softball League action last week, with Bidwell-Box Bar and St. Peter's Lutheran winning.

In the Monday-Wednesday League a battle between Master Collision and St. Peter's Lutheran saw St. Peter's remain the only undefeated team in that league, topping Master 3-0. The loss left Master with two losses on the year.

The big story of the game was St. Peter's pitcher Norm Machley, who threw a one hitter.

After giving up a single and a walk in the opening inning

Norm went on to retire the next 19 batters in a row, as Collision didn't have a runner on base for the rest of the game.

Offensively, St. Peter's scored its first run in the second inning, when Ron Tacia scored on Jared Stevens' single up the middle. Tacia got on base with a double to left. St. Peter's final Little Caesar's kept pace with the leaders, winning two games last week to tie Collision for second place.

Two runs came in the sixth. Gary Schroeder doubled and came home won a single by Machley. Machley then scored on a two-base error.

In other first place battle in the Tuesday-Thursday modified league, both Bidwell-Masonry-Box Bar and Dale Yee battle for the top spot. Both teams went into the game with 6-1 records. Bidwell won with a thrilling come from behind rally which saw them score five runs in the seventh inning to pull out a 6-2 win.

Three members from the Plymouth Elks team will participate in the classic against the Downriver American Legion All-Stars. Pitcher Tom Willette, infielder Brian Wolcott, and outfielder Doug Tripp are the Elks All-Star members.

The Adray All-Star game is slated for Friday, Fourth of July night also at Ford Field at 7:30 p.m. Plymouth is part of the Livonia Adray League who will compete against Detroit Adray Stars. The representatives from the Plymouth team is headed by their second baseman Keith Randazzo who will be the lone Plymouth starter. Other Plymouth team members are Tom Willette and Mark Falvo (pitchers) and Chris Martucci (outfielder).

MASH 'unit' upsets 2

MASH 4077 of the B Division of the Plymouth Me n's Slow-Pitch Softball League pulled two great upsets last week over the two front running teams, VTN-Geo Data and Westside Sporting Goods.

Both VTN and Westside are still in a deadlock for the top spot, with two losses each. The MASH win over Westside came last Monday night by the score of 8-2. The upset was last Friday.

In the A Division, Westland Florist-Golden Coin Lounge continues to dominate play with a 10-0 record to remain the only undefeated team in the league. Last week's victory saw WF-GC top Team 4 15-4. WF-GC put together a 20-hit attack, scoring a total of 13 runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings and two more in the opening stanza. Dan Komar, Jack Walker, Ron Righetti, and Ron Coles led the attack with three hits each.

Merchants 2-1 on week

The Plymouth Merchants of the American Legion League won two of seven games last week to bring their record to 8-6-1 for the season. The Merchants are made up mostly of players from Plymouth-Canton High School.

The Merchants won a doubleheader last Sunday as they beat Riverview 2-1 in the first contest and trampled Trenton 10-0 in the second. In last Monday's night's contest, it was a case of the Merchants running out of pitchers, as they fell to Westland 6-3.

Maloney's 83 wins "tourney"

The Hank Rupert Inverrary Golf Tournament was held last Saturday at the Hilltop Golf Course, with 19 graduating seniors from Plymouth-Salem and the founder of the tournament Centennial Park head custodian Hank Rupert, competing.

John Maloney won the first place trophy with rounds of 42 and 41 for an 83-shot total. Brian Murphy won the second place trophy from Tom Willette after the two of them had tied, winning the first hole of playoff competition while Willette went home with the third place trophy.

Plymouth Koufax stays on top

Plymouth's teams in the Sandy Koufax League stayed on top of the pack after beating Dearborn Heights Crestwood 7-2 last Saturday.

Plymouth now holds a first place record of 6-1 for the season.

Matt Etienne went all the way on the mound for the winners as he recorded his fourth victory of the year against no defeats. Etienne had his strike out pitch working again fanning 19 batters. He gave up only three hits and just one earned run.

Plymouth notched eight eights, putting together four in the fourth to score three runs and the other four in the sixth for four more runs.

Dale Albright's double knocked in two runs in the third to put the Plymouth squad ahead to stay. Etienne and Mike Michalek paced the offensive attack with two hits each.

Bidwell slips in 1-3 week

Tripp and Keith Randazzo of Plymouth-Canton scored on Carrol Caudill's bases loaded single to the left.

The first game saw Plymouth come up with only two hits off Redford ace Kevin Bara in a 3-1 loss. The only Plymouth run came when designated hitter Tim Dillon from Plymouth-Salem walked, went to third on two hit-by-pitches, and scored on a passed ball.

Plymouth-Salem's Chuck Thomas pitched well for the last four innings, relieving starter Falvo. Thomas gave up only four hits and two runs (one of them unearned) in his outing, but didn't pick up the decision.

A major portion of our sports section during the summer months is summer baseball activity of area high school boys. We cover seven leagues in all.

The Connie Mack League features a Plymouth Elks - sponsored team (like all the teams in the conference this year) with a roster of sophomores and juniors from Plymouth always a factor, the emphasis of this summer's Mack teams is on improvement of both individual and team skills. This summer is one of learning for all the teams as preparation for next years school ball season.

Plymouth golfers to compete in Western match

Three area golfers are slated to compete in the 50th annual Western Golf Association Junior Tournament next week in Stillwater, Okla.

Jeff Roth, Marty Peck, and John Beems will be the Plymouth participants. Roth and Peck graduated from the Centennial Park two weeks ago and were captains respectively of the Plymouth-Salem and Plymouth-Canton golf teams. Beems will be a senior next fall.

The tournament, one of the top amateur events in the nation, accepts only 220 applicants nationwide, all with a four or better handicap. After two qualifying rounds early next week, only 30 golfers will make the cut and have a shot at winning the championship.

Mack Elks hold 3-3 mark

A combination of sophomores and juniors from the state champion Plymouth-Salem baseball program form this years Plymouth Elks team in the Connie Mack league.

In Mack action so far this season, Plymouth holds a 3-3 record, which land the Elks in the middle of the pack in their division.

They won two of their three games last week, beating Bentley Crowe 6-5 last Thursday and splitting a doubleheader on Saturday, topping the Churchill Berrys and losing to Michigan National Bank (Stevenson).

Brian Wolcott went all the way on the mound against Crowe last Thursday, as the Rocks scored two runs each in the second, third and fourth innings for their six-run total. Crowe scored all its runs in the fifth.

The winning blow of the game was a homer by Dave Pierce in the fourth with Pat McKendry on base.

In the first of two on Saturday, the Elks went 10 innings before edging the Churchill Berrys 3-2. The winning run scored in the bottom of the 10 when Brian Bogenschutz singles, advanced to second when McKendry was hit by a pitch

The American Legion and Adray leagues are different in this respect, as all the teams in these two conferences are recruited from other areas with the aim of reaching tournament play in early August.

This year's American Legion team from Plymouth is the city's first. It's composed of mostly Plymouth-Canton juniors and seniors, with a few players from other schools joining in.

The Adray League is considered by many scouts to feature the cream of the crop of area ball players. The age limit of the league goes as high as 19. Four seniors from Salem and two from Canton who just graduated play on the squad sponsored by Bidwell Masonry.

There are two Mickey Mantle leagues, the Northwest Suburban and Metro Conferences. Mantle leagues are for younger school players. Both Plymouth Mantle teams feature freshmen, sophomores and a few juniors. Plymouth-Canton's contingent plays in the Northwest Suburban League and Plymouth-Salem's in the Metro division. DiPonio sponsors the Salem team and the Canton squad, as in Legion play, is called the Plymouth Merchants.

The American Federation League is the other League that Plymouth Merchants form the Northwest Mantle League play in, the team stays the same, playing on the other days.

The youngest league we'll cover extensively is the 13-14 year olds in the Sandy Koufax League. This team is not connected with the school program, but is a squad of boys from both the high schools, some of the middle schools and Our Lady Good Counsel Catholic School.

Center athletes reap medals in special olympics regional Youngsters at the Plymouth Center for Human Development have been doing jumping jacks, touching toes and putting in hours of exercise since January, getting ready for the International Special olympics in August at Central Michigan University.

Seventy children from Plymouth State Home competed in the local regionals held in April. Out of these people, 65 went to the area regionals and 17 received gold, silver or bronze medals in state competition.

Dilcie Green, coordinator of the state home recreation department, Laurie Bogart, Larry Fitzgerald and Ken Logan spend an hour three days a week training the children for events in swimming, bowling, long jump, volleyball, basketball, floor hockey and track and field. However, most of the participants from the home are boys competing in track and field.

"The children have been excited for weeks and wear their medals or have them in their pockets," said Mrs. Green. "After the state competition at CMU there was a victory dance and a party, and the kids really had a great time."

Kina smiles at the trophy he won for competing in the International Special Olympics regionals. Kina competes for the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

Softball tourney set

A men's slow pitch softball tournament July 11 and 13 sponsored by the Plymouth Park and Recreation Departments and Canton Township Recreation will highlight next weeks area sports action.

Any men's slow-pitch team that participates in either one of the recreation leagues is eligible for the double elimination tournament. Only the first 16 teams that enter will play. Games will be played at selected fields in Plymouth and Canton.

Trophies for individual winners as well as for the first and second place finishers, have been donated by the Plymouth Sports Shop.

"In fact, business customers will learn what their new numbers will be in July," Wilson said. "And by the end of August all residential customers will know what their new numbers will be."

Wilson said Canton residents currently on the Plymouth exchange will receive new numbers with the prefix 981. Cantonites on the Ypsilanti exchange will get numbers beginning with 495 and township residents on the Wayne exchange will have numbers beginning with 397.

entree, salad, roll and dessert for one price.

And speaking of prices, this restaurant offers some of the lowest in town. How about a tossed salad for 35 cents, a quarter pound hamburger, onion rings and salad for $1.30, or a 10-cent cup of coffee?

"If the kids learn nothing else in this class," says Mrs. Schwartz, "we hope they learn to be dependable. I sometimes tell them they could lose their jobs in a real working situation for some of the things they do here!"

The final exam this year was the planning and preparation of a banquet for 150 - all friends and family of guys and girls in class. According to the teachers, the banquet was a success - and a nice way for 150 people to enjoy a final exam!

PLYMOUTH POLICE Michael Gardner (left) and Roger Roy presented John and Hazel Hutchman of the Plymouth Opportunity Center with a check for $200 recently from the Plymouth Police Officers Association. The group also contributed $300 to Youth Center, $500 to the Salvation Army and $650 to the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League.

Other officers chosen were: Leonard Evans, first vice president; Richard Raisen, second vice president; Terry Haynes, director one year term; and Robert Butler, Ray Hoedel and Ted Taylor two year terms.
