According to a survey on building activity released by the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) recently, Canton Township continued to rank high in the building of single family dwellings in 1975.

The SEMCOG report showed Sterling Heights as first on the list with 498 permits issued in the first six months of 1975, with Canton Township placing second at 385 permits for the same period. Only four other communities, Troy, Clinton Township, West Bloomfield Township and Novi, issued more than 100 permits for single family dwellings in the first six months of last year.

While Canton ranked second in single-family housing, it placed fourth in total housing, behind Detroit, Sterling Heights and Troy.

A report from the Canton Building Department for 1975 showed that Canton issued no permits for the building of multiple family residences.

Township mains replace city's as Burroughs' water source

At 10 a.m. last Friday, the City of Plymouth's water main serving the Burroughs plant on Plymouth Rd. was shut off, and the switches turned on to connect the factory to a Plymouth Township main.

The move had been in the offing for five years, ever since township mains reached the point where they could service the industrial complex.

When the plant was built, the township had no main to handle its water needs, so it tied into a city main.

In 1970, when a switch to the township became feasible, city officials asked that the municipality continue to serve the plant for five more years, or until its water bonds could be paid off.

City water rates were boosted in 1972 in anticipation of the loss of the Burroughs plant, which uses some 60 to 90 million gallons of water per month.

The firm was the city's largest water customer, and will be become the township's major customer. In some months, Burroughs used more than a third of all the water pumped through city mains.

City Manager Fred Yockey said last year he didn't expect the shift to affect the rates other city water customers pay.

City and township officials alike had expected the transfer to take place before the contract expired Jan. 1, but the township's contractor in charge of tapping Burroughs into the township main fell behind schedule, charge of tapping Burroughs into the township main fell behind schedule, according to township engineer Herald Hammill.

If your water bill is soggy...

A water pipe burst Monday night on the first floor of Plymouth City Hall.

City officials discovered the break as they left the city commission meeting. Treasurer Ken Way, who was first on the scene, brought news of a small Beginning tonight, (Wednesday) a contingent of citizen volunteers 144 strong will spend 12 weeks examining the strengths and weaknesses of the Plymouth Community School District.

The massive Citizens Advisory Committee will meet in an organizational session in the West Middle School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Although the district had received applications from more than 120 local residents — a wide cross-section of men and women, parents and non-parents — a few more volunteers who care about the future of their schools would still be welcome, according to Florence Beier, the schools' administrative assistant — for community relations who is coordinating the huge committee.

"We will definitely accept people who have not applied, but who come to the meeting," Mrs. Beier said. "Membership the committee is going to be composed of people who come to the meeting."

The assembly will divide itself into 12 groups of 12, with committees studying scheduling — including the modular controversy at Centennial Educational Park and Miller Schools's 45-15 year-round special programs — reading, humanities, art, physical education and media services — extra-curricular activities, legislation and communication, vocational and career education, community education, general education, exceptional children, and teacher in service programs — including CASTLES.

Each committee will choose the committee to which he or she is assigned.

The groups will meet 12 consecutive Wednesdays, through April 7.

According to Mrs. Beier, the groups will be charged with coming up with very specific recommendations for changes and improvements in their areas of study.

Each committee will include one student member, and will be assigned a teacher and administrator as resource people.

School board members were expected to address the gathering tonight to kick off the 12 weeks' labors.

Deadline nears to fill board seat

Plymouth School Board members have completed their interviews of the nine candidates for the board seat vacated by Gary Mirto, and are expected to consider his successor at their meeting Monday.

Under Michigan law, the board has 20 days from Jan. 12 — when Mirto's resignation was accepted — within which to fill the vacancy.

If the six board members should be unable to reach decision on a replacement, and exceed the 20 day limit, the superintendent of the Wayne County Intermediate School district would be empowered to appoint a new board member.

Call it 'Canton, Mi.'

Now it's just plain "Canton." Not Canton Township, or Canton Farms or Canton Woods or even Plymouthvue, but just plain Canton.

Of course, the formal name is still the "Charter Township of Canton," but most everyone agrees that won't do at all for a mailing address.

So last week, the township board of trustees settled on plain old "Canton."

The move was approved by a 4-2 vote, with Clerk John Flodin and Trustee Brian Schwall holding out for "Canton Township."

Officials stressed that the postal service required a specific name for the township before it could be assigned a ZIP Code, a move expected to take place soon. Should sentiment or logic or necessity demand a different handle, the township could always be called something else, they said.

flood in, of all places, the water billing department.

City employes tore off a panel from the wall to reach the break and staunch the flow, but not before several square feet of carpeting lay under water.

City extends liquor

The Plymouth City Commission Monday night granted a six-month extension on the liquor license of the owner of a proposed restaurant in the old Consumers Discount building at 555 Forest in downtown Plymouth.

Joseph Nagra presented city commissioners with confirmation from Michigan National Bank that a loan had been approved to finance final renovation of the old store in a restaurant.

He said completion of the project is expected within 90 days.

The commission voted not to renew a liquor license for what had been proposed as the Golden Spike restaurant at 885 Starkweather in Old Village.

Plans for that facility, which featured dining cars, fell through recently when the C&O railroad, owner of the property, announced that it would not renew the lease of developer Cal Boles.

TCP founder stricken

Bruce Young, founder and president of Total Citizens Power in Canton Township, is listed in fair condition Monday in the cardiac unit of Wayne County General Hospital.

Young was hospitalized last Saturday night after suffering severe chest pains while attending the Canton Chamber of Commerce Dinner-Dance at Hawthorne Valley Country Club in Westland.

Developer abandons plans to build cheaper houses

A developer in Canton Township last week abandoned plans to build $35,000 homes in his subdivisions south of Ford Rd., and west of Lilley after residents picketed his model and denounced his plans before the township board of trustees.

Developer Sandy Pearlman of Huntley Homes appeared at last week's township board meeting at the urging of Supervisor Robert Greenstein to respond to complaints from neighborhood homeowners that the less expensive homes — their are valued at $10,000 to $15,000 more — would harm area property values.

"I have a vested interest financially in my property," said Madison St. homeowner Dave Clark, who with some 100 other residents jammed the township meeting hall in last Tuesday's snowstorm, "and I want to see that it increases in value."

Pearlman said the cheaper homes were comparable in quality to those with higher price tags, but were smaller and lacked the "gingerbread," the frills, which added cost to the other homes.

He said the homes were designed for couples and families who could not yet afford the more expensive models.

"If they want a fireplace, fine," he added, "if they want a family room, fine. But may be at this point in life they should be allowed to buy a house. "People still want to buy single-family housing. I did not build this house (the $35,000 Mt. Vernon model erected just south of Ford) to break a neighborhood."

"If people can't afford the homes being built, let them go elsewhere," rejoined one resident.

Pearlman said that although he would consider building the cheaper model on other sites he owns in the township, he would not build in the three subdivisions — Parkwood, Westbrook and Camelot West — where opposition ran high among owners of more expensive homes.

"The big thing to note is that Mr. Pearlson has said unequivocally that that houses will not be built on Manton Boulevard," Greenstein told the group. "I do think you could be all very pleased with what's happened her tonight."

PEA discusses school budget

Another builder, who had reportedly proposed some 10 A-frame style houses for Manton sites, has not responded to requests from township officials that he meet with them to discuss his plans.

Pearlman and subdivision homeowners agreed to meet soon with Greenstein on the future plans for the area.

Court blocks McIntyre sewers

BY KATHY KUENZER
 A state Court of Appeals ruling overturning a Michigan law regarding notification of property owners where municipal bonds are to be used to contract sewer construction may leave residents of McIntyre Manor subdivision in Canton Township without sewers indefinitely.

The case of Merten D. Harter vs. The City of Swartz Creek heard recently by the Michigan Court of Appeals, resulted in a decision that two Michigan laws were unconstitutional because they did not provide for the notification of persons who are not residents or taxpayers, but who own property affected by such construction.

Canton Supervisor Bob Greenstein says the ruling brings to a halt the building of sewers in McIntyre Manor until such time as the ruling is reheard and reversed by the Court of Appeals, or if the court should refuse to reconsider the case, in the Michigan Supreme Court. "We had the bond sale for McIntyre set up for Jan. 14," said Greenstein, "but because of the ruling, we weren't able to let the bonds be sold."

Greenstein said a McIntyre property owner who does not live in the township and claimed he was not informed of the bond sale because notification was published in a local paper only.

"We have engender Michigan Township Association lawyers to get a rehearing of this case," said Greenstein, "But if the Court of Appeals judges refuse, it goes to the Supreme Court, which could take months."

"All we can do now is lay back and wait."

McIntyre Manor, located south of Ford and east of Sheldon Rd., had been without adequate sewage disposal for several years, resulting in the accumulation of sewage because of failure of septic systems to accommodate the overload.

"It will be a real problem this spring," said Greenstein, "especially with the amount of snow we've had already."

Shirley Mack dies

Former Plymouth School Board Member Shirley Mack succumbed to cancer Sunday after a two-year battle.

Services for Mrs. Mack will be held at 1 p.m. today (Wednesday) at Ascension Lutheran Church, 35301 Five Mile Rd. Burial will follow in Riverside Cemetery.

Mrs. Mack, who was 40, was active in school and junior athletic activities. She was former chairman of the school's district wide safety committee, former president of the Farrand Elementary School PTA and worked with her husband, Ron, in the Junior Basketball Program.

As one colleague put it, "She did more for Plymouth Community basketball than anybody I've ever known."

She was appointed to the school board on May 13, 1974, and served until the end of June, filling the seat left vacant by Fred Penar's resignation.

A native of Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Mack had undergone a cancer operation eight years ago, but the problem reoccurred two years ago. She died Sunday morning, in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Arrangements were made by Schrader Funeral Home.

In addition to her husband, Ron, Mrs. Mack is survived by her son, Richard, and her mother and sister, both of Toledo.

Memorial contributions may be made to the United Foundation or Plymouth Community Fund for the Cancer Fund.

School Board President Marda Benson praised Mrs. Mack's work with the schools. "She contributed so much.

"She's been missed since she's been ill. Very few people could have done as much as she did."

Left turn ban could ease post-train traffic snarls

The Plymouth City Commission can do something right now to relieve traffic jams caused by train delays at the Main St. crossing — something short of building an underpass or relocating downtown Plymouth.

Obviously, an underpass is the only satisfactory long-term solution to the tie-ups which often stop traffic for blocks on either side of the crossing.

But an underpass is costly, and while it should be a priority item for the city commission to consider, it won't go in overnight.

For now, why not ban left turns in the first block on both sides of the Main St. crossing.

How many times have you been caught in westbound train-delayed Main St. traffic? Maybe you're stuck as far back as Starkweather St. Which lane do you choose? Unless you're a newcomer or an unreconstructed optimist, you stick to the right lane.

Why? Because without fail somebody is waiting to turn left into the Kroger and Bode parking lots. If traffic coming east is backed up as far as Union St., or maybe stretching down past the museum, the left turn will take forever. And if you've unwittingly stayed in the inside lane, you may find yourself straddling the tracks for uncomfortably long moments before the left-turner finds a break in oncoming traffic.

Safety and convenience demand the outlawing of left turns into the restaurant-supermarker-drug store parking lot.

Conversely, you may be driving east on Main. You approach the tracks in heavy post-train traffic with an eye to a left turn onto Mill or Starkweather.

You want to get to the inside lane, because traffic is so heavy you might not be able to move over later until you've missed your turn.

But as things stand now, you can't move into the inside lane going that way either. Because as soon as you do, somebody will decide to turn left onto Amelia St.

When that happens, you may find yourself straddling the tracks again, hoping the gates won't come down.

In effect, left turns on both sides of the Main St. crossing reduce a major thoroughfare to a two-lane passage precisely at the time when all four lanes are needed to move the blocks of traffic.

Ban those left turns. Bode and Kroger customers can still have easy access from Union St., while Amelia traffic on the other side can wait until Starkweather to turn left.

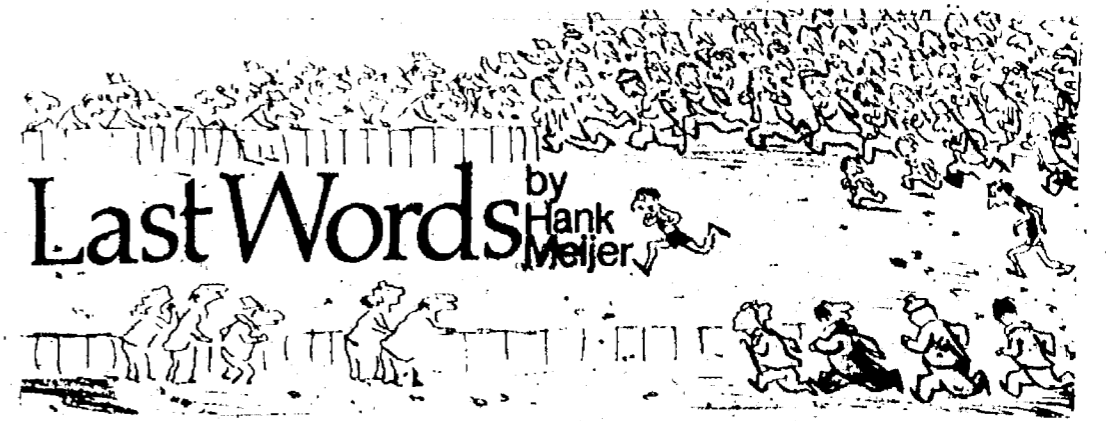

It's a simple way to lessen in part the plague of train tie-ups. It won't make the problems go away. Only an underpass will do that. But it could be a cheap way to make driving in Plymouth a little less of a headache.

January 21, 1976

A meeting tonight at West Middle School presents local residents with a rare opportunity to participate directly in planning the future of the Plymouth Community School District and in resolving some of the particular problems — be they of scheduling or teaching techniques or budget cuts or leaky roofs — which affect education here.

If you've got 12 consecutive Wednesdays to spare to lend your wisdom to the needs of the schools, drop by the West cafeteria tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. It could be quite an education.

In this space two weeks ago, we reported that Plymouth Township officials had never received a copy of the Canton Township or Northville Township agendas they were promised by respective township supervisors of those townships at an intergovernmental banquet last fall.

Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein took me to task at the township board's last meeting, claiming he had been sending out the agendas, and calling on township secretary Doris Kelly to corroborate his story.

I promised to check more thoroughly. Plymouth Township Clerk Helen Richardson, Supervisor J.D. McLaren and other members of the township clerical staff say they had never received copies of the Canton agenda — and would remember it if they did, because little Canton stationery crossed their desks.

It's a petty matter, and one not worth probing at greater length, but someone is wrong.

School Board President Marda Benson said she received a Canton agenda for the first time last week.

Crier's theme should be...

Editor: Congratulations on a fantastic year of growth and news coverage. "Watch out McDonalds" should be your theme for 1976.

I did not receive my "grayflannel suit" from Santa. I guess I go about disguising myself anyway.

Best of Luck in 1976! Sincerely yours,

City ordinance requires snow-free walks

Editor:

The Public Work Department has observed that numerous homeowners along with many commercial businesses are not clearing snow and ice off their sidewalks after a snowfall. A

City of Plymouth ordinance states that all city property owners shall remove snow and ice off their sidewalks within 24 hours after such has fallen.

If homeowners fail to do so, the city may cause same to be done, and the cost will be added to the property owner's tax-roll.

Homeowners will be charged approximately $23 per hour if the Public Works Department performs this task, with a minimum of a one-hour charge.

Carriers brave snowstorm to get Crier to your door

Last week's snow storm caused many problems with delivery of The Community Crier.

The paper's drivers had difficulty in negotiating many side streets following the Tuesday night blizzard and therefore many carriers did not receive their papers until Thursday when most roads were passable.

"Please don't blame your carrier if your Crier didn't arrive on time last week," said Gina Carrington, circulation manager. "We had trouble getting the bundles distributed to the drivers who in turn deliver to the carriers."

The snow emergency also delayed The Crier's mail subscriptions getting to the post office, causing a delay in mail delivery as well.

All editions of The Crier were delivered by Friday.

Thanks DOC for coverage

Editor:

Three cheers to The Crier for its excellent reporting of Canton High School wrestling team events. They haven't won too many meets, as yet, but they are improving all the time. It's great to read about their efforts in your newspaper. Keep up the good work!

Blizzard breakdown slows buses

An equipment breakdown in the near-blizzard conditions last week Tuesday night left the Plymouth School District Bus Yard and bus driver parking lot unplowed last Wednesday.

According to one driver, several of the district's 60 drivers signed a petition complaining about the nearly impassable conditions in the yard and on their lot, and several got stuck after work.

School transportation director Robert Houghton said the plow had planned to clear the yard early Wednesday morning - after plowing the schools - rather than before, as is usually done, because more snow was expected overnight and they wanted the lot to be as clear as possible come morning.

But some of the plowing equipment broke down, he said, leaving the yard under heavy snow.

Houghton said the petition might have been somewhat premature, however.

"Not that I disagree with them (the drivers who signed the petition)," he said. "The yard is a mess. It was bad. It's still not good. But they (the plows) usually hit us first."

Help your postman

That old adage about mail carriers - "through sleet and snow...the mail must get through" - may not be true with the Plymouth Post Office.

Postmaster John A. Mulligan warned this week that because of snow and ice, his letter carriers were having difficulties in getting the mail delivered.

Six Plymouth postal workers have been injured by slipping on the recent storms' ice and snow, Mulligan said.

"This is worse than dog bites," he added.

The postmaster asked mail patrons to shovel the snow and ice from their sidewalks and to clear away paths in front of rural mail boxes for postal vehicles' access.

Parsell speaks

Canton Treasurer Carl Parsell, executive director of the Police Officers Association of Michigan, spoke before the second meeting of the reserve police officers class last week at Schoolcraft College. Some 30 Canton residents are enrolled in the course as candidates for the township's first police force.

WINNING STREET ROD Builder John Schumont of Salem Township proudly displays the two plaques he won recently at the Detroit Autorama for best street rod in his class and best among all top winners in every street rod class. Schumont rebuilt his 1929 Ford sedan from a pile of junk he hauled home with a truck and trailer. (Crier photo by Hank Meijer.)

How auto was reborn

BY KATHY KUENZER

Anyone who can take a 1929 Ford Sedan that looks more like a heap of old auto parts and turn it into an award-winning automobile has to be either a magician or a craftsman with great persistence.

John Schumont, 27, of Godfredson Rd. in Salem Township, probably wouldn't call himself a magician. So it must have been his persistence and the hope that he could make something beautiful out of the $450 worth of junk that was supposed to be a 1929 Ford that inspired him to completely rebuild the car.

Schumont's Ford not only won first place in a street rod division of the recent Detroit Auto Show, but also took top honors over all other first-place winners in all 12 street rod divisions. "I've always been interested in old cars," says Schumont, now unemployed as a plumber. "I used to be a drag-racer, but that got too expensive, so two years ago I decided to buy this old Ford — and it actually was in baskets when I got it."

But Schumont had never done anything like this before. He had never done body work, but to look at the shining yellow body with brown fenders on the car, you'd guess he was a pro. "I did everything myself except the final paint job and the upholstery," says Schumont. His wife adds that she had to select the colors and the upholstery fabric since Schumont is color blind.

Lunch with LOMAS

It's said that the person who slurps soup is never hired, and it seems Smith school students are making sure that will never happen to them, as they dedicate themselves to 'Lunchroom Week'.

Posters decorate hallways and classrooms to remind them that jello fights are out, and that learning what to eat with tacos or stew or hamburger gravy means more than watching commercials.

They're learning why it's always milk to drink, instead of pop at lunch. Good nutrition and foods are being studied, charts and signs are up depicting good behavior and food in the lunchroom.

You are what you eat, don't all grandmothers say that? And Smith students are finding out that eating jello is just as fun as throwing it.

Hypertension may be hidden hazard

BY KATHY KUENZER

(The following is the second article in a series of four about you and your blood pressure. The series is intended to increase awareness of the importance of having blood pressure checked periodically, either at a doctor's office or in a screening clinic such as that to be offered by area organizations at the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township Fire Stations the week of Feb. 9-14)

"Hypertension has multiple causes, but by and large there is no known cause for the majority of cases."

So says Dr. Lee Feldkamp of Plymouth.

"What we call essential hypertension has an unexplained development," Feldkamp notes, "Secondary hypertension results from such things as kidney damage or arterial damage. Possibly a small tumor may secrete chemicals that will raise the blood pressure."

Some doctors think the disease may be caused by such things as heredity, salt intake, water hardness, obesity, race, stress or personality.

Regardless of the cause, says Feldkamp, the effects are the same - an overworked, enlarged heart, damage to other organs such as the kidneys, the weakening and possibly rupture blood vessels in the brain and aortic aneurisms - all of which can cause death.

These and other serious complications of hypertension can be prevented, however, with early diagnosis and sustained treatment. Simple use of the blood pressure cuff and a stethoscope enables doctors and trained volunteers to measure blood pressure and advise patients as to whether or not they may be victims of hypertension.

Several factors enter into determining if hypertension exists. Usually in any person under the age of 40 a systolic pressure (that registers when the heart is pumping) over 140 is considered high. Older patients may have higher systolic pressures without being in the abnormal range. But a diastolic pressure (that measured when the heart is at rest) that is consistently greater than 90 usually indicates the presence of hypertension.

Don't take chances. Go to one of the fire stations in the Plymouth-Canton area sometime during the week of Feb. 9-14, from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays or noon to 5 p.m. Saturday, for a simple, quick and painless blood pressure test.

Plymouthite dies in crash

Ulysses L. Bridgman, 33, of 42475 Postiff Dr., Plymouth, was killed Jan. 13 in an automobile accident in Westland.

Police said Bridgman's car slid over the center line on Newburgh Rd. and collided head on with a car driven by Earl Zink, 52, of Livonia. Zink received only minor injuries.

Funeral services were held in Schrader Funeral Home with The Rev. G. Douglas Routledge officiating. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

Mr. Bridgman is survived by his wife, Janice; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lamptom of Plymouth; sisters, Jerry Hargrave of Winter Haven, Fla., Angela Price of Plymouth; and grandparents, Mrs. U.S. Brown of Judsonia, Ark., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bridgman of Judsonia.

He was a roller operator for a paving company.

P&R offers classes

The City of Plymouth Department of Parks and Recreation has announced the opening of registration for several classes to be offered in its winter program.

Registration will be held Saturday, Jan. 24, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for ice skating instruction for moms and tots, kindergarten and elementary school age, teens and adults. Fees are $12 for residents (those within the Plymouth School District) and $16 for non-residents.

'Vamp' craves blood

Warren Bain of Plymouth says he is often called the "vampire of the Elks."

"It's because I'm always looking for blood," he laughs. Why? Because Bain is chairman of the local Elks' Blood Bank Committee.

Bain must be good at playing the "vampire" role. Every year for the past five years, enough blood has been donated by Elks of the Plymouth Lodge to supply the needs of every Plymouth Elk, his wife, father and mother, father-in-law, and mother-in-law, all of his children under the age of 21, his grandfather and grandmothers, his grandfathers-in-law and grandmothers-in-law, and, if he is unmarried, his brothers and sisters. "We have 250 pints of blood donated each year," said Bain, "and over a period of a couple years we supplied 97 pints of blood for the son of one man before the boy died."

The Elks sponsor two blood drives each year, in January and in July. This month's drive will be held Thursday, Jan. 22, from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Plymouth Elks Lodge, 41700 Ann Arbor Rd.

"Sometimes, when a special blood type is needed for open heart surgery for example, certain people will contribute at other times during the year," said Bain. He also emphasized that the Elks blood drive is open to anyone from other organizations who might wish to contribute.

Salem High to host '1776'

The production is being sponsored by the Salem Drama Dept. Tickets are available at the door and from drama department members.

Lifespan going to DC

Mrs. Beverly Miller of Plymouth, Chairman of the Wayne County chapter of Lifespan, announced today that for the third consecutive year members of her organization will be joining other members of the state Pro-Life umbrella group - Michigan Citizens for Life - to travel to Washington D.C. on Jan. 22. On this date in 1973 a U.S. Supreme Court decision permitted abortion on demand to any woman at any time during her pregnancy.

Cantonite's doodlings form bicentennial logo

BY KATHY KUENZER

The doodlings of a local designer may be the source of one of the best things yet to happen to Bicentennial plans in the Plymouth-Canton area.

Ed Abarr, a resident of Canton Township, says his contribution to the Bicentennial Commission of an eye-catching logo was the result of one of the "quick projects" he often becomes involved in.

"I'm always doodling," says Abarr, "and one day I came up with this combination of stars, stripes and an eagle — one of many — and I liked it."

Abarr's friend, fellow-designer at Ford and member of the Canton Bicentennial Committee, Bud Migaldi, had mentioned a contest the Area Bicentennial Commission was holding to find a logo for the organization.

"I submitted my drawing to the commission," says Abarr, "but the contest was over — it had been closed because there were no entries."

But Abarr's logo was not picked by default. According to Bicentennial Commission member Peggy Fisher, the logo was highly praised by the commission. "In fact," says Mrs. Fisher, "I like it better than the states!"

The logo will be appearing, Smith School history sought

The Parent-Faculty Organization of Smith School is currently planning the rededication ceremonies for Smith School for Sunday Feb. 29 and is interested in obtaining old photos, programs, articles and other documents pertaining to Smith's past 25 years.

Anyone wishing to contribute materials (which will be returned) should call the materials chairman at 453-1835 by Feb. 6.

once it is copyrighted, in a variety of forms and places, including commission stationery, and news articles.

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps is also considering using it as a patch on its travel jackets.

Abarr, who is originally from California, and a graduate of the Art Center College of Design in Los Angeles, says this is the first logo or design he has ever had accepted outside of his professional work at Ford Motor Co.

Abarr's creative talents are not limited to his graphic design work. He and his wife, Kathy, live in a modern home filled with his paintings. The contemporary dining table and a coffee table in the family room are also results of his creative efforts.

"I think my husband is the neighborhood interior decorator," says Kathy. "Everyone wants him to tell them what colors to use, what paint to pick."

Chiefs split pair of one-point games

BY MATT NORRIS

The Canton Chief cagers let a seven-point lead slip away at armington. Harrison last Friday, losing 62-61. The Chiefs led with two minutes to go, but the deciding points were scored with only four seconds remaining on the clock.

Canton had widened its fourth-quarter lead to seven points on a bucket by Mike Albright at the 2:52 mark. But the Hawks pumped in three quick field goals to close the gap at 61-60, and had the ball at mid-court with 53 seconds left.

The Chiefs played a tough zone defense, as Harrison couldn't get close to the basket and called time out after 41 frustrating seconds. Canton used the same defense, when play resumed but Harrison' Bryant Gilbert got free for the two-pointers.

After a time-out, Tom Close rifled a breakaway pass to Rob Mandle, who fought to a jump ball at the top of the key. Keith Osborn caught the tip but missed a jump shot at the buzzer, as the Chiefs dropped to 2-2 in the Western Six and 3-5 overall.

Osborne led all scorers with 22 points and 12 rebounds. Co-Captain Close had 16 points, and junior guard Mandle has 17.

Last Tuesday, Canton played in spite of the snow, edging Dearborn Heights Riverside, 56-55. Coach Casey Cavell credited balanced scoring, good rebouncing and all around team effort in the non-league victory.

Although Riverside sank more shots from the floor, Canton made 18 out of 18 free throws. Keith Osborne had 20 points, Tom Close has 14, and juniors Mike Albright and Rob Mandle each had 10.

Gal spikers win first games

The Salem-girls volleyball team rebounded from a disappointing season-opening loss boating Livonia Churchill 15-7 and 18-16 in a non-league contest Monday night.

The debut of the Canton girls volleyball team was delayed five days, but the initial result was sweet, as the Chiefs downed the Northville Mustangs 15-5, 12-15 and 15-8 last Monday night in the Centennial Park gym.

The scheduled opener with Waterford Mott last Wednesday was cancelled due to heavy snows that prevented Mott from traveling.

Eli hits 1,000th point

Jim Ellinghausen reached another milestone in his record-breaking career with the Salem basketball team last Friday night against Allen Park.

The game was only 15 seconds old when Ellinghausen gracefully sunk the first shot of the ballgame, an eight-footer from the left side, to record his 1000th career point on the varsity squad.

Doc's corner

by Dennis O'Connor

Another step was taken last Saturday to make wrestling "a sport of the future" in the Plymouth-Canton area.

The success of last Saturday's eight-team Plymouth invitational was a sign of good things to come, according to its co-hosts Dan Chrenko and Ron Krueger, coaches of the Canton and Salem wrestling squads.

"We've had people say that this tournament was one of the smoothest run in the area," said Chrenko. They were amazed, since this was the first year for this event.

"Things went slower toward the end, but there were no major problems during the tournament," added Krueger. "Since it was our first time, we ran things slower, being careful nothing went wrong. Everyone had a good time."

Both coaches were quick to thank all the people who helped with the tournament.

"The parent wrestling groups (Canton and Salem) volunteered their time to help," Chrenko said. "Their cooperation is the thing that made it go."

Although attendance figures for the afternoon and evening proceedings were not available, fans filled a major portion of one side of the gym bleachers, as they saw some of the best wrestling in the area.

The way the consolation and championship matches ran in the evening impressed me.

Battles for third place were completed in only 50 minutes, as both mats were in use at the same time.

And when it came time for the championship matches, one mat was placed in the center of the gym, the lights were dimmed and the spotlights shown on that mat, giving attention to the top matches and the finalists who had worked all day to earn a spot in the championships.

I'm sure many visitors left the gym with an appreciation of what a first class job Plymouth people did running the tournament.

This first-class effort should help wrestling in this community become a major spectator sport. And this effort reflected the hard work of the coaches and volunteer workers.

But speaking of cooperation and hard work during this tourney, I didn't see athletic director John Sandmann at the invitational. I wonder where he was.

Glenn tops Plymouth tourney

BY DENNIS O'CONNOR

The Westland John Glenn wrestling team took seven of 12 weight classes to run away with first place in the first Plymouth Invitational last Saturday at the Centennial Park gym.

The Rocket showed sheer domination over the other seven teams in the tourney, proving themselves a power in the area.

Glenn finished the full day of events with a team total 158 points. Dearborn Heights Annapolis was second at 100, followed by Farmington with 81½, Salem with 71, Novi with 55, Thurston with 45½, North Farmington with 25½ and Canton with eight.

Salem grapplers managed to place four of their wrestlers in the final s only to find no one come out of the championship round with a first place medal.

Hundred pound René Leist advanced to the championship with a 2:59 pin in his first match and a 6-5 decision in his second. But that's as far as he went, as he met one of several good Annapolis lightweights, Neal Baumgartner and lost 8-2.

Rock captain Carl Schultz tripped up mentally while wrestling his match. Ahead 5-3 with only 14 seconds remaining, Schultz fell victim to a grand by roll (a reverse and a takedown) that gave his opponent four points and the victory.

Rich Constantino wrestled his opponent to a 0-0 draw after the first period, but then was

the Crier Sports

drubbed 9-0 in the following two periods of the 147 pound match.

Rock first-seed Dave Champion was scheduled to compete against Glenn's Mark Grabowski, a wrestler he beat earlier in the season, but had to forfeit the 187-pound match after his temperature soared to 100 degrees.

Top Salem finishes included Les Hassen, third at 112; Jeff Fidge, third at 140; and Dave Kolb, third in the heavyweight class.

Canton brought up the rear among the eight teams in the tourney, but the young squad got no help from the drawing before the action.

Chief grapplers drew six first seed wrestlers and one second seed among the 10 competitors they faced. All seven of these top wrestlers beat their opponents from Canton and went on to the finals.

Canton head coach Dan Chrenko said his kids weren't down after the last-place finish.

"I think we knew we were with tough competition," he said,

"Even though we didn't score too many points, we did wrestle well against tough competition. That's part of our progress - we weren't here to win the tournament, but to wrestle well, and that's what we did."

The Chiefs placed two matmen in fourth-place spots. Scott Collins at 140 and Jeff Ray at 121.

The only Canton-Salem match of the day came in the 140-pound battle for third place, where Salem's Jeff Fidge slipped past Scott Collins of Canton, 6-4.

Collins held the upper hand through most of the match, recording a takedown after only 15 seconds had expired. Fidge later escaped, but Collins remained ahead 2-1. After a scoreless second period, Collins pushed his advantage to 4-1 before a last minute reversal and near fall gave Fidge five unanswered points and the third-place victory.

Glenn's 121-pound Agraon Vasha was voted by the eight coaches as the tournament's most outstanding wrestler.

Rock, Chief tankers get dunked

After seven straight non-league victories, the Salem swim team opened its conference competition last week with a heart-breaking 92-87 loss to Trenton.

The back-breaker of the meet came in the 50 free style race. The Rocks awarded first, fourth and fifth places, while Trenton scored important points with a second and third finish.

What the Rocks couldn't understand was that they recorded times of 24.1 and 24.3 compared to the Trojan's 24.2 and 24.5.

The Rocks had figured they should at least have picked up a first and third place, but were denied the five points that made the difference in the meet.

The Canton High School swim team gave Farmington Harrison a run for its money, but in the end, the Hawks just had too many powerful performers for the Chiefs to handle. as Canton fell 91-80 in Western Six League

Rocks nipped by AP, 24-22

It was a case of not getting as many pins as anticipated, as the Salem Wrestling team lost a heartbreaker to Allen Park, 24-22, before the home fans last Thursday.

This Suburban Eight League setback knocks the Rocks' record back to the even mark at 2-2. Salem's overall duel meet record stands at 6-3.

The Rocks were pinned only twice, while gaining pin and action last Thursday.

"We swam well and didn't break down," said coach Bill Faunce. "Most of our swimmers recorded about their best times and that's the important thing.

major decision victories themselves. The other eight results saw both squads split the victories by decisions.

Dave Champion, at 187 pounds, was the only Rock who won by a pin, doing so in 1:57.

Bob Zamimeni was credited with the major decision victory, 14-6, while Terry Ward, Les Hassen, Carl Schultz and Bob Dasher won by decisions.

Chief matmen gain first win

BY MATT NORRIS

Chief matmen won their first dual meet of the season over Southfield High School last Wednesday.

Of seven sophomore wrestlers for Canton, six won their matches. Canton kept the lead after the strong lightweights - Bill Heedum, Craig Lee and Mark Bartlett - took their matches.

After Jeff Rey and Steve Concich - dropped 11 team points, Dave March took a close match, and Scott Collins pinned Harry Vee of Southfield in 62 seconds.

With only four matches left, it was only a matter of time before the Chiefs won the meet. Although Kyle Heaton and freshman Mike Phillips lost, either Steve Hensley or Bob Yauck had to tie or win to insure the meet victory.

Senior Steve Hensley had to come from behind in the second period to win three team points.

Heavyweight Yauck also won his match, on a fall, 79 seconds into the match.

Coach Dan Chrenko said he was pleased with the performance of Collins, Hensley and Yauck and predicted the best season in Canton wrestling history.

The Canton High School junior varsity wrestling team won its third straight meet last week, trouncing Southfield 48-3.

Prior to the victory, the Chiefs had beaten Northville and Churchill.

While everyone excelled against Southfield, it was heavyweight Chuck Walker who decided the two Western Six League rivalries with pins in the last match of both contests. Canton edged Northville 33-27 and nipped Churchill 26-22.

Jay Lee, Matt Major and Dave Durkin were other Chief grapplers who excelled in the last three outings.

Despite lackluster showing Rocks roll on

BY DENNIS O'CONNOR

It was indeed the flatest performance of the season for the state-ranked Salem High School basketball team, but the victory still belonged to the Rocks last Friday, as they outlasted a deliberate Allen Park squad, 57-43, in Suburban Eight League action.

This victory, coupled with an 85-56 rout of Dearborn Edsel Ford two days earlier, brings the Rocks' undefeated record to a stunning 11-0 (6-0 in Sub-8 play), not including last night's contest against non-league opponent Westland John Glenn.

"Where we could possibly have had a letdown after the Belleville game (facing Edsel Ford on Tuesday), what happened tonight was a letdown two days afterwards," said coach Fred Thomann.

"Tuesday was error-free and tonight was error-full. What can you say?" he said.

Suffering through his worst shooting night of the season, Ellinghausen stayed cold in the second half, sinking only one basket and four free throws. He ended the night as the game's high scorer with 19 points, well below his average of 32 points per game. He did pass well, collecting six assists in the second half, but made only seven of 19 shots.

Brian Wolcott gave a steady performance from his guard position, as he pumped in 15. Bob Evans and Tom Ellinghausen chipped in with seven and six points.

In the Edsel Ford contest, the Rocks offense was at its best, reeling off 25 points in the initial period and rolling to victory.

Ellinghausen had a much better shooting night, hitting 15-of 25 enroute to a 37 point output. Wolcott added 12, while Mike Primeau and Evans popped in 10 each.

Street rod is a real winner

Michigan Street Rod Association, and through its publications found advice on how to proceed.

His class in the Autorama was "Street Sedan", meaning he could have minor modifications, but the original frame.

"I first had to sort through the parts and find what I could still use," Schumont says of the process that took him some 1,500 hours to complete.

"I stripped the frame down to nothing and took everything off the body," he says. Most people think this model of Ford was always black, but mine was navy blue."

The final product is sort of a Heinz 57 variety, with a front suspension from a Corvair, steering from a Pinto and rear suspension from a Chevelle. The engine comes from a Chevrolet and there is an automatic transmission.

Total cost to Schumont, including the purchase price, was $2,900. He says it's hard to say what it's worth now.

Schumont is not about to rest on his laurels because of the big win at the country's largest showing of race cars, restored cars, vans, motorcycles and "nostalgia" cars.

There's a 1947 Chevy sitting out behind his house, and a look in Schumont's eye lets you know he can't wait to get started.

CRIER CURIOSITIES

IMPORTANT! Call 453 - between 6 and 7 p.m. Thursday night and see why.

18 CALLS / HOUR NOW THAT'S RESPONSE!

The most important measure of a classified ad's impact is the actual response you get.

Eighteen calls an hour is great response.

That's what the classified ad above (enlarged greatly here) brought in after appearing as a regular classified advertisement in last week's Community Crier.

Think of what that response to your classified could mean.

It could bring in extra cash for your unwanted items, sell your car, rent your vacant space, wish somebody happy birthday for all the world to see. It's easy to place an ad in The Community Crier's classified page - simply call 453 - 6900 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily. The deadline for Wednesday's paper is Monday at 5 p.m.

And it's not expensive to get such great response: $2.50 for the first 10 words and 10 cents each additional word. USE YOUR CARRIER RECEIPT AND GET 50 CENTS OFF.
