Pugh, Childs, Houk, Wehmeyer win seats

BY DONNA LOMAS
In heavy voting Tuesday, City of Plymouth voters elected David Pugh, Mary Childs, Mark Wehmeyer and James Houk to fill four contested city commission seats.

According to unofficial results, Pugh, a planning commissioner, placed first with 1,197 votes; followed by Childs with 1,192; Wehmeyer with 1,158 votes and Houk with 1,053 votes.

Trailing the four successful candidates were Clay Fechter with 909 votes, Penny Wright with 890 votes and John Moehle with 791 votes.

Moehle placed last in the voting Tuesday, in a dramatic reversal of his first-place finish in the August primary. Pugh placed seventh in that primary, while Childs and Wehmeyer retained their second and third places respectively. Mayor Joe Bida, who withdrew from the race shortly after the primary, nonetheless tallied 261 votes.

"Incredible!" said Pugh when he first heard the results. "It was a lot of hard work."

"No kidding," was Wehmeyer's response when he first heard the unofficial tabulations.

City Clerk Paul Brumfield said 33.38 per cent of the city's 6,132 registered voters voted Tuesday - a higher figure than he had anticipated.

A total of 2,047 residents voted. Some 238 absentee ballots were turned in.

Pugh, Childs and Wehmeyer will serve four-year terms, while Houk, who finished fourth in the balloting, will serve a two year term.

The new commission will meet for the first time Monday, Nov. 14, city officials said. At that time, commissioners are expected to elect a new mayor.

Trustees as 'individuals' seek signatures Twp. petitions for cityhood after court boundary ruling

BY HANK MEIJER
In the wake of a Michigan Supreme Court ruling on the powers of the State Boundary Commission, Plymouth Township officials are expected this week to file petitions with the commission for the incorporation of the township as a city.

The move follows an Oct. 24 ruling by the Supreme Court which affirmed the authority of the three-man boundary commission, acting as an arm of the state legislature, to change the boundaries of local governments in response to annexation petitions filed by the cities of Brighton, Midland and Novi.

The ruling is expected to pave the way for annexation by the City of Plymouth of the 40-acre Burroughs parking lot area now in the township. That annexation was approved by the boundary commission in April, 1976, but an Ingham County Circuit Court judge, acknowledging the challenges to the authority of the boundary commission in annexation decisions, issued a stay which delayed the transfer of land.

Should the boundary commission be granted a release from court challenges in the Plymouth Township case, the boundaries would likely be changed soon. But township officials may appeal the case to the State Court of Appeals, or the Michigan Townships Association, on behalf of all affected townships, may appeal the original Supreme Court to the Federal Court of Appeals.

In an informal meeting at midnight Thursday, township board members decided "as individuals" to circulate petitions calling for the incorporation of the township as a city, one official said.

Trustee Maurice Breen said the petitions must bear 1,020 signatures, or five per cent of the township's total population of 20,400.

Should the boundary change in the case of the Burroughs lot - a parcel considered prime for commercial development - be approved, the township still faces city petitions, filed in

Highway may alter commuter habits here

As of Nov. 21, local residents will have direct access to downtown Detroit via the newly-completed stretch of I-96 - the Jeffries freeway - which connects Detroit with I-275 in eastern Plymouth Township.

The dedication ceremony is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., but the freeway may not be open to vehicular traffic until some time later, said Warren F. Cox, senior engineer for the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

"We have to get the proper ramps open and get the people out of the way," said Cox, "Sometime later that day, the freeway will be informally opened to traffic."

Cox said the opening would affect many east-west roads in the Plymouth-Canton area.

"Most people will want to travel the new freeway, he said. "There may be decreased traffic on east west roads and M-14 because of it."

The new freeway will be opened next year west to Ann Arbor as M-14.

Northville Road may see some "minor disruptions" this year and next, said Cox while the final construction is in process.

Coach pushes press around

FOLLOWING ORDERS from Salem High School Head Football Coach Tom Moshimer, Rock trainer Allie Suffety pushed Crier Sports Editor Chas Child away from the midfield sideline area during last Friday's game with Farmington Harrison. Child, who has been covering local prep games from the sidelines all season, was told he could not stand inside the 30-yard lines. Later in the game he was allowed once again to move freely. For more on the game and the attempt to bar a reporter from a section of the sidelines, please turn to the sports section, which starts on page 18. (Crier photo by Bill Bresler.)

Senior housing group asks city tax break

The Pilgrim Non-Profit Housing Corporation asked City Commissioners Monday night to financially support a proposed six story senior housing project on land they own.

The corporation owns two acres of land on Ann Arbor Trail between Hamilton Street and the railroad tracks. The city Commission appointed the group in 1971 to explore possibilities for senior housing.

The five owners, Robert Utter, James Houk, the Rev. R. S. Shank, Melvin Blunk, Clifford Tait, Florence Gabelman and Dr. A. E. VanOrnum asked the Commission to reimburse them and financially support the land until a decision is made.

Utter, spokesperson for the group, asked the City Commissioners to consider tax abatement for the property, reimburse the directors of Pilgrim Housing for all monies they have personally spent on the land and to return the title and deed of the property to the City of Plymouth.

"Private citizens shouldn't continue to support it," said Utter, spokesperson for the group.

Utter said an option was now available on the property through FCH Services, a wholly owned subsidiary of Foundation Cooperative Housing.

He stated in a letter to the commission that the group anticipated the plans for the housing would materialize and that a new subsidized housing would be approved.

"The plan will take upwards to a year to be finished," he said. "During that time we will have to pay for the land."

The commission decided to present a chronology of events concerning the land at the first meeting in December to clear up events surrounding the land since 1971.

Canton planners find land ideas

BY CHAS CHILD

Officials from Canton Township, studying ways to save the township's farmland, recently visited Suffolk County, N.Y., where a program to preserve open and farmland has been under way for about a year.

Suffolk's program is based on buying the "development rights" of the open land. The landowner still holds the title to the property, but he can't develop it.

The trip by Finance Director Mike Gorman and Township Planner George Peek to Suffolk County was part of a $40,000 study authorized by the Board of Trustees to investigate the possibility of setting up a development right program for Canton.

Gorman said there were 32 landowners in Suffolk eligible for the program. Of these, 21 chose to accept the County's money for their development rights.

Both farmers and developers entered the program, Gorman said.

The amount paid to the landowners is the difference between the agricultural value of the land and its open market or speculative value.

After the fee is paid, Suffolk holds the development rights forever, said Gorman. Whether to accept the fee is also completely voluntary, he said.

Peek said the study will be finished "no later than the end of December."

If the decision is made by the board to pursue the plan then decisions such as whether the program should be voluntary or not, and how long the township will hold the development rights will be made, Gorman said.

The land in Canton under study is about 5,600 acres all west of Canton Center Road, said Peek. About 700 of these acres consist of very small parcels, and the remaining 4,900 acres are in 105 parcels, the township planner said.

These 105 parcels have about 50 to 60 owners, Peek said.

The development rights program was introduced in former Supervisor Robert Greenstein's term. Some property owners in Canton have said that the program will mean a loss of at least their land investments, but Gorman said there was very little controversy in Suffolk.

"I think the program can work in Canton," he said.

Mediator joins secretary talks

BY DONNA LOMAS

In a meeting called for late Tuesday afternoon, the Plymouth Canton Schools' Secretarial Association voted unanimously to enter into mediation with the schools' if their attorney recommended it. The secretaries called the meeting after a request to go into mediation with Michigan Employment Relations Committee by the schools' negotiator, Walter Bartnick.

The secretaries and schools are polarized on the same three issues that has tied up talks since April, said Louise Gates, spokesperson for the Plymouth Canton Educational Secretary Association.

"They are offering us a dental plan which will cost us money to belong to, a 20 cent increase in pay the first year and a cost of living in two or three years but with a 10 cent cap," said Mrs. Gates.

"We want a better plan," she said. "We're part of the working family (in the schools' too."

"We are all women and I think that is part of the problem," said Gates. "Some secretaries were even told they just took a second paycheck home and it didn't matter."

Gates said the schools are saying they can't afford what the secretaries are asking. She said in previous years, the secretaries had received similar benefits.

Bartnick said he planned to meet this week with the secretaries, and that the secretaries were comparing group to group within the schools.

"I still feel we should compare secretary to secretary (in other districts)," he said. "I have no further comments."

"It's a touchy situation," said Mrs. Gates. "We are falling further and further behind."

OV lights up

City commissioners approved installing more than 18 gas lights in the Old Village area at a regular Monday meeting.

The gas lights are part of a federally funded project. They will be placed in the newly-renovated alleyway between Spring and Liberty streets.

Turning truck kills pedestrian

A 56-year-old Livonia woman was killed Wednesday on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township after stepping in front of a semi-trailer truck and being dragged 300 feet, Wayne County Sheriffs report.

A tractor trailer semi-truck was at the I-275 southbound exit ramp and was making a right hand turn after the light changed.

The woman, Clara Mills, was on the north side of Ann Arbor Road crossing east on the exit ramp, sheriffs said. She was hit and dragged for 300 feet west on Ann Arbor Road.

"She was walking home from a nearby store after buying some yarn," said Det. Frank Burton of the Wayne County Sheriff Department. "It was just a freak accident."

The driver of the truck was watching traffic and the signal and did not see the woman because the cab of the truck was high, Burton said.

A witness across the street saw the incident occur and ran alongside the truck, jumped up on a fender and yelled for the driver to stop, sheriffs reported.

The driver of the truck, from a Canadian firm, was treated for shock. No charges were made.

School panel predicts enrollment jump

If Plymouth-Canton School District enrollment climbs according to newly-released projections, the district, in which slightly more than 15,000 students are enrolled today, will boast a student population of more than 18,000 in 1980.

Those findings were released yesterday in a report delivered to a workshop session of the school board by its projections committee.

Serving on the committee which presented its findings to administrators and the four board members in attendance were Chairman Smith Horton, Clem Bommarito, Jerry Henderson, Steve Kremenski, James McKeon, Thomas Santer, Linda Stebbins, Billy Whiteley, Joyce Willis and Roger Wright.

Four kids may still need shots

Four children in the Plymouth Canton School District have yet to report their immunization status, the schools reported Monday.

"Those students are on the Extended School Year," said Florence Beier, community relations assistant, "and they are off-track now and hard to get a hold of."

Beier said no child has been excluded from school because their immunization records are not up to date.

Canton brothers charged in pizzeria bombing

Two Canton youths were arrested last Thursday in connection with the dynamiting of a Canton pizza parlor following surveillance by Michigan State Police, and Westland Police. Wayne County Sheriff Department was also involved in the case.

Robert Blackburne was charged with possession of explosives and placing of explosives with intent to do damage to property. The first charge carries a maximum four year penalty, the latter has a 25-year maximum penalty.

The two suspects, Robert Jay Blackburne, 17, and his brother, Donald Edward Esser, 20, were arraigned Friday.

Esser was charged with possession of explosives, police report.

Trooper Dave Gentry of the Michigan State Police Northville Post said the two were arrested in Livonia outside a shop where a transaction of dynamite occurred.

tucky, "where it is easy to purchase," said Det. Sheedy.

"They gave no reason for doing it other than being destructive," said Trooper Gentry.

Det. Thomas Sheedy of the Wayne County Sheriff Bureau, said the police knew the suspects possessed a large quantity of dynamite.

"They have had some experience with dynamite," Gentry said. "They could have done some more damage."

"The Westland and State Police decided on surveillance," said Sheedy. "They caught the two brothers selling the dynamite and later, both admitted to the bombing of the pizza parlor."

Police suspect the two had exploded another bomb in Westland, said Det. Sheedy, but they have not been charged with it.

Police said the two brothers bought the dynamite in Ken-

Both suspects have been arraigned and a tentative trial date has been set for Nov. 16 in 16th District Court in Livonia.

Which point is Pointe?

You can now run the chance of becoming confused whenever you pass Pointe Park in Plymouth.

The township is to develop the parcel of land as a park. At the meeting, a resolution was passed to deed the land. Deputy Clerk Linnea Salow read the resolution which named the deeded land as the "Richwine-Pointe Park."

It all depends on whether you pass Pointe Park in Old Village in the City of Plymouth or whether you pass Pointe Park at the western end of Plymouth Township.

She told commissioners the name was to distinguish between the Pointe Park already in Old Village.

At Monday's City Commission meeting, the parcel of land in the township at North Territorial and Ann Arbor Road was deeded to Plymouth Township from the city.

Commissioner Norb Battermann requested the name "Richwine" be deleted from the resolution. Other commissioners agreed by voting unanimously.

We are constantly searching for ways to help you economize on your phone service, but here are just a few ideas on how you can help yourself:

Call when it's least expensive. For example, when you're calling long distance, dial direct and plan your calls for times when the rates are lowest.

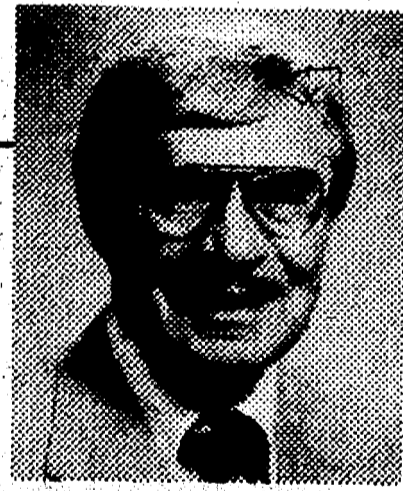

Budget Service that's really low budget! Look into the availability of Budget Service if you don't make a lot of phone calls every month. It's the least expensive one-or-two party phone service we offer.

Plan to have all your service installed in one visit. For instance, if you move, plan carefully so the installer doesn't have to make extra trips, for which you may have to pay additional charges. And while you're planning for new service, make sure it's going to be the kind most suited to your needs.

Canton studies county cop rental

BY CHAS CHILD

An offer from the Wayne County Sheriff Department to sell police protection to Canton produced reactions ranging from skeptical to "still studying" from the Board of Trustees.

"I haven't formulated a final opinion on the offer," Supervisor Harold Stein said. "The cost is the most important thing. I'm still investigating it."

The sheriffs' first offer during a presentation at last Tuesday's board meeting was to cover the township with two patrol cars of sheriff deputies all day, seven days a week. This package would cost $431,953 per year.

Jamil Akhtar, the sheriffs' representative, also presented two other proposals which would use a mixture of sheriff deputies and Canton reserves to patrol the township.

The sheriff department's offer came despite Canton's approval in August of a two-mill, $450,000 levy for the police which is seemingly earmarked to create a full-time Canton police department.

The Board of Trustees hired a police chief, Walter MacGregor, who has written a complete budget for a full-time department. That budget was recently approved by the board.

MacGregor has said he is shooting for Jan. 1, 1978, to start Canton's full-time department.

Trustee Lynne Goldsmith reminded Akhtar that Canton's Police Study Commission recommended that the township not contract with the sheriff department for police protection.

The board early this year adopted the commission's recommendation to enlarge the township's own department to meet Canton's needs.

The two other proposals by the sheriffs would cost $294,386 and $225,772. The more expensive would provide 24-hour protection provided by a mix of sheriff deputies and Canton's reserves working in the same cars, Akhtar said. The second proposal would divide the day between sheriff patrols and Canton reserve patrols, he said.

Asked if the township might lose control over its police department if the sheriffs were patrolling, MacGregor didn't want to comment specifically on the sheriff situation, but said, "Anytime you contract out anything, you lose some control over it."

Akhtar said that if the township bought the sheriff patrols, the present Canton reserve officers would become sheriff deputies, including MacGregor would be a lieutenant or a sergeant.

MacGregor said he would "respectfully decline" any such offer.

Truck flip ties traffic

NO ONE WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED last Friday evening at 8:34 p.m. when this semi truck overturned on the I-275 expressway just south of the Warren Road overpass, Wayne County Sheriffs report. The semi was travelling south on the freeway when it left the roadway and fell over a vehicle parked on the shoulder, Sheriffs said. The owner of the crushed vehicle was not in his car at the time, police said. The driver of the truck, Richard D. Smith, 24, of Romulus, and a passenger received minor injuries. Sheriffs report Smith had been drinking and was charged with reckless driving. No other cars were involved in the crash. The Wayne County Helicopter division spotted the accident, witnesses said. Hospital rezoning denied

BY CHAS CHILD

A rezoning request to pave the way for a hospital in Canton was denied by the Board of Trustees last Tuesday.

The developer, Mel Stein, had previously been turned down by the Planning Commission twice. The board voted 4-3 on a motion to deny the rezoning request.

Supervisor Harold Stein, Treasurer Anne Bradley and Trustee Robert Myers voted

"no", while Clerk John Flodin, and Trustees Lynne Goldsmith, Eugene Daley, and Brian Schwall voted "yes."

Mel Stein, (no relation to the Supervisor), said that he would meet with his associates to decide whether they would pursue their plans for the hospital project, and if so, how.

The project includes a 200-bed hospital, a 200-bed nursing home and a medical office building. Mel Stein proposed to build the project on Canton Center Road just south of Meijer Thrifty Acres.

The main reason for denial given by the board were: the project would increase rezoning pressure along Canton Center Road and Stein did not have certificate of need for the hospital from the State Department of Health.

Some trustees feared without a certificate, Stein could get the rezoning and not carry through with the hospital.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: November 9, 1977

Coach's conduct sets poor standard for prep gridders

Harrassment of the press vied with the action on the football field last Friday night at Centennial Educational Park.

On Salem Coach Tom Moshimer's orders, a Rock trainer forcibly pushed along the sidelines the sports editor of The Crier. ("I'm just a peon," the trainer said later.)

All season our sports editor has been covering local high school games from the sidelines. His presence has never been questioned or mentioned.

Last Friday, however, after he predicted a Salem loss in the upcoming game in that week's newspaper, he was suddenly barred from the area between the 30-yard lines on the Salem side of the field.

He got lame excuses. It's a players' area only he was told, as youngsters played nearby and photographers passed freely through the knot of players around the bench.

The 30-yard line policy is "understood," the schools' Athletic Director John Sandmann said later -- although no one has ever mentioned it before and it has never been applied to anyone else.

This is harrassment and it can't be tolerated. When our sports editor refused to leave, he was threatened with arrest by Moshimer through the trainer. (To whom does this turf belong?)

The "peon" also asked if our photographer would like his camera broken.

Is this behavior building character in our youth?

The principles-be-damned attitude exhibited by Coach Moshimer should not be ignored by school administrators.

As in any occupation, among high school football coaches you'll find some winners and some losers. The paradox is that you can have both.

Moshimer's men have won every game, but he seems to have lost sight of something more important along the way.

The results of last night's city commission election came as a stunning upset to many observers, who expected to see a new commission divided along the lines drawn so often in recent months between John Moehle and Bev McAninch and the other commissioners.

It didn't happen. Voters rejected all but one member of what many saw as anti-high-rise, pro-commuter-residential slate.

With the re-election of Mary Childs and the return of Jim Houk to city government, the old guard is back in the driver's seat.

There are problems to be addressed which must not be pushed under the rug just because we may have a measure of harmony on the commission once again.

Parking downtown remains a source of confusion.

How should high buildings be built -- and where -- in downtown Plymouth? We still have to find answers to that question that will stand up to light better than the exceptions of Footnote O.

We suspect senior citizens still need better housing than is now available.

A first step toward these goals is the election of a mayor who can draw cooperation from the commissioners, rather than the squabbling we have seen so often.

Only one commissioner has shown the balance and judgment the mayor's job requires, and that's Tom Turner. You couldn't blame him if he didn't want to step into the hot seat, but he's clearly the only commissioner who combines a term's experience with an open mind and the skill to preside when difficult questions arise.

With him at the helm, we may find this new mix a constructive one -- for a change.

Guess what: E-way ends here

If you've ever wondered how well known our community is, you'll want to hear how the Department of State Highways described the western end of the soon-to-be-opened I-96 expressway in a recent press release.

The expressway, which originates in Detroit as the Jeffries Freeway, runs west along Schoolcraft Road to a point here where it meets the new I-275. That point is described in the press release as "west of Livonia." Not as "Plymouth Township," or even "east of Plymouth," but "west of Livonia."

Starting Nov. 21, however, you can climb on the new expressway to Detroit in Plymouth Township. If you've never heard of the place, it's somewhere "north of Canton."

Canton library's time has come

The fledgling Canton library fund is underway. Supervisor Harold Stein opened a library fund account last month with $10 of his own money, "just to get this thing on the road," as he put it.

The money has been trickling in slowly but surely -- there is now $400 in the fund.

But anyone would know that it takes a lot more to open and maintain a library.

The fund has a long way to go, but with every dollar put in the account, a bit of insurance for Canton and its residents goes with it.

Canton will be assured that its community identity will grow with that fund, and the library will be a place to keep records of past history and present events.

It's hard to quarrel with the benefits a library can provide to a community and its residents.

By contributing to the Canton library fund, you can help this once-rural community come to grips with its identity in an urban age.

Twp. girl still critical

An eight-year old Plymouth Township girl remained in guarded condition in the intensive care unit of St. Mary Hospital in Livonia yesterday, nearly a week after she was struck by a car in front of her home on Haggerty Road.

Hospital authorities said they did not know how long the girl, Tammy Bartalsky, would remain in intensive care.

She was struck by a car driven by a 23-year old Garden City woman last Wednesday at dusk. The accident occurred on Haggerty just north of Ann Arbor Trail.

A Plymouth Township woman who was driving the car immediately in front of the one which struck the girl said, "she was running across a front lawn. She stopped on the roadside and then dashed out in front of the car behind me." The driver of the car was not issued a citation.

Must Cantonites have streetlights?

Whether or not to require streetlights in Canton Township has yet to be decided by the Board of Trustees.

The issue of streetlights for the township was discussed by the board last Tuesday as part of the proposed Subdivision Control Ordinance.

Clerk John Flodin also said that the board has to decide how far apart the streetlights should be and when in the course of a subdivision's development the petitions to install them should be initiated.

Theatre Guild opens season

The Plymouth Theatre opens their 1977 season this weekend with 6 RMS: RIV VU by Bob Randall, a sophisticated comedy, according to Pat Troth of the Theatre Guild.

The play ran on Broadway and has been successfully done by several small theatre groups and was also featured on television.

The play revolves around a couple, both married to different people, who are each looking for an apartment to rent in New York. They find the same apartment and get locked in for a night.

"There are a lot of side twists to it," said Ms. Troth.

The cast includes Clemie Cyburt as producer and Janet Friedman; Blanche Graham, director; Christina Opaleski as Anne Miller; Rons Samuel as Paul Friedman; Ben Dean as superintendent of the apartment; Patricia Bray as the pregnant woman; Robert Fitzgerald as the expectant father; Kathleen O'Mara as the woman in 4A; and Dale Fedlpausch as Richard Miller.

The play will be held Nov. 11, 12 (this weekend) at 8 p.m. at Central Middle School at Main and Church Streets. It will also be presented next weekend, Nov. 18 and 19 at Central at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $3. Tickets for students and senior citizens are $2.

Like drama? Guild offers role for you

A volunteer team called REACT that monitors CB emergency channel 9 is holding a membership meeting Nov. 19 at the American Legion Hall on Sheldon Road at Goldsmith in Plymouth at 1 p.m.

"We are interested in meeting serious-minded people who would like to join us in serving the communities of Canton, Plymouth and Northville," said Harold Jacobs, membership drive chairman.

The requirements for membership include: 1) 16 years of age or older; 2) must be willing to monitor at least three hours every other week-end; 3) must have a sincere interest in serving the public good; 4) must be willing to abide by the FCC rules and regulations governing CB use.

The local REACT team cooperates with all law enforcement agencies and disaster preparedness groups, a REACT press release said. The group monitors channel 9 from the Northville Township Police Station.

Plymouth Chamber hosts dinner

Some 150 members of the local business community gathered in Waterman Center on the Schoolcraft College campus last Wednesday night for the 1977 annual meeting of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

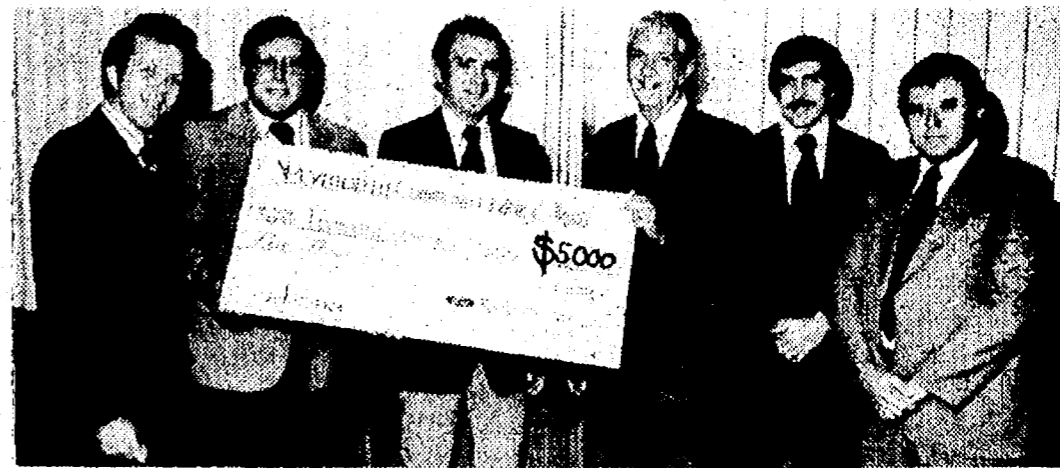

Following welcoming remarks by Schoolcraft President Nelson Grote and an invocation by The Rev. Henry Walsh, chambers members heard an address on legislative activities affecting small business by Rep. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), who flew in from Washington D.C. shortly before the event began.

Outgoing chamber committee chairmen Joan Gerick and Tex Thoman were commended by their colleagues, and Jerry Loisell presented an update on chamber plans for a new community map.

Chamber Executive Secretary Chris Kresta noted that during the last year, some 30 new businesses have opened in the City of Plymouth.

Flask collection reveals colorful hobby

BY DONNA LOMAS

What do the Chicago Fire, a Barnum and Baily Circus, the Alaskan purchase, the International Chili Society and Mortimer Snerd have in common?

Those and dozens of other collector's bottles are housed in retired Plymouth Police Lieutenant William Guldner's basement, part of a collection of Jim Beam whiskey bottles that he started nine years ago.

"My brother-in-law got me started on it," said Guldner, who doesn't drink because of health reasons. "It was about nine years ago. He lived up north and had me look for Beam bottles because there was more variety in stores down here."

Guldner's collection now overflows from his basement to above the kitchen cupboards and into the living room.

It actually looks as if the Guldner's (Esther Guldner, a nurse, is the secretary for the International Association of Jim Beam Society in this area) home is a showcase for fine china figurines.

The displays depict military men, outdoor life, historical American scenes and delicate miniatures that detail a hawk in flight or a mother duck with her ducklings.

Themes range from 100 years in American baseball to Boot Hill. Other bottles depict Bonny and Clyde, a geisha from the opera "The Mikado", pairs of Model T cars, wildlife and past World Fair locations and sites of the Republican and Democratic National Conventions.

Sometimes mistakes are made. In 1972, a mold was made for the Republican Convention which the bottlemakers thought would be in San Diego, Calif. The convention was held in Miami, but the mold had been set and it was too late to change it.

A flask commemorating King Kong was issued earlier this year. One flask was even shown on television for years as a genie bottle.

Guldner says the bottles are made in molds and handpainted. He even has a series of bottles painted in 22 carat gold called the "executive series" that is issued once a year at Christmas.

The whiskey in the porcelain flasks is aged more than 100 months and some of the limited edition Beam bottles are worth hundreds of dollars, said Guldner.

"It's an investment, sure," he said. "But I don't collect bottles just because they're Jim Beam. I collect them because I like them. I have bottles from other companies, too. But I like Beam the best."

Bill and Esther Guldner belong to the Great Lakes Jim Beam Bottles Club and they meet every last Thursday of each month at the Local 182 Hall on Plymouth Road. They welcome anyone who would like to attend.

Guldner's Beam collection is nearly complete. He and his wife, Esther, are members of the Jim Beam Association because they enjoy collecting and because it is a social club, too.

"It is a non-profit club," Guldner said. "And the royalties on these bottles go towards a charity or a cultural or non-profit group."

"Right now, our club is trying to pick a local charity

we can start to give to. The life-long Plymouth resident noted, "It's whatever a person makes it," his eyes sweeping the basement full of more than 500 bottles. "It's quite a hobby."

PCAC receives grant

The Plymouth Community Arts Council has received a $1,000 grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

The grant was announced by Representative Roy Smith, whose district includes Plymouth. Smith announced the funds will be matched locally and will be used to sponsor performances by a professional children's theatre company in 10 elementary schools in Plymouth-Canton in January.

The funds are part of an "ongoing community arts program" sponsored by the Michigan Council for the Arts, a state agency which derives its financial support from the State Legislature, the National Endowment for the Arts and private contributions, said Smith.

Phase III on display

Music and athletic facilities in the new Phase III section of Canton High School will be on public display Monday, Nov. 14, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Although the newest wing of the high school complex has been in use since last February, this is the first open house held there, say the schools.

Tours of the building will be conducted by high school students. Demonstrations of learning activities will take place in all areas.

Swimming, wrestling, gymnastics, volleyball, basketball, and racquetball will be in full swing. Both vocal music and instrumental music performances are planned.

Phase III was constructed at a cost of $3,900,682 from funds raised through a bond issue passed by the voters on March 26, 1974.

CEP provides space for approximately 4,000 students. The high schools now house 4,200 students with an anticipated enrollment next year of 4,500.

Stories woven in fabric

Gallimore elementary school students can see children's books come to life in a new art form in their media center: fabric collages.

The display, created by a group of women artists known as the "Needlethreaders," is entitled "Fabric Fantasy from Children's Books."

Each colorful fabric collage is a replica of a page from a familiar children's book. Among the books represented are: "Zoophabets" by Robert Tallon, "A Pocketful of Crickets" by Evaline Ness and "Dogs Don't Belong on Beds" by Enid Blome. The books are on display with the wall hangings.

The exhibit, which has been displayed at the Dunning-Hough library, will remain at Gallimore through November.

"The Needlethreaders," meet weekly for instruction but the major part of the work is done by individual members at home.

The first series of wall hangings was completed in 1973 by the artists and widely circulated in public and school libraries in the metropolitan area. The exhibit at Gallimore is a combination of the original 1973 show and another show completed in 1975. A third "Fabric Fantasy from Children's Books" is almost completed.

In addition to children's themes, the group has prepared shows featuring costumes, religion, Christmas cards and Americana. The Americana exhibit was on display at the Dunning-Hough library during the bicentennial year.

"The biggest reward for the group is to know that through this work of making pages from children's books come alive, many young people are stimulated to read those and other books and eventually to gain a love of reading," said Dorothy Harwood, leader for the "Needlethreaders."

Penniman Johnnie loosens apron strings

JOHNNIE ROGIN

When Johnny Rogin decides its time for a change in his life, he changes it.

His life for the past 23 years has been entwined with the life of his Penniman Market in Plymouth on Penniman Street -- until this month.

"That's when an opportunity came along for me and I sold my market to two young fellows," he said. "It's a turning point for me, an opportunity to take it a little easier instead of working 60 to 80 hours a week."

The two young men, Brian Devlin, 20, and Russ Webster, 20, said they plan to run the market much the same way Rogin has: with a taste of the homemade and a touch of hometown courtesy.

"People (cliente) don't come that easy," said the white-aproned Johnny in the back room of his former market, "When I bought this place they said I wouldn't last for six months."

At that time, almost 40 years ago, Rogin said there were five meat markets and grocery stores on Penniman between Harvey and Main streets.

Rogin said he worked for the Purity Meat Market at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Main, worked for another market on Penniman before working for Smith's Market on Penniman. That was changed to the National Food Company and a few years later, Rogin bought the store in 1954.

"The homemade is important," Rogin said. "The way the customer wants it is the success of the business definitely."

Chatting in the back room of the market, where a pot of soup bubbled on a stove and bills and adding machine tape threatened to overflow from a small alcove office, Rogin reminisced about his years as owner.

"Before the high school moved out, students used to line up in here for lunch every day," he said. "We catered completely to the customer."

Rogin says he will still work -- only 50 or so hours a week now he says -- but not at the market.

"It's a turning point for me," he said.

It's that time of the year to count our blessings and be thankful for the food placed on our tables. This week the students can pause a few minutes and give thanks to the cooks for the Thanksgiving Lunch offered in most of the schools. Turkey and all the trimmings, down to the pumpkin pie with whipped cream - sounds mighty good!

It's often been said that the cooks make use of everything, including leftovers to prepare the school lunches. If it can be served for a main dish then it can certainly be used in a casserole or a dessert. I hope Friday's T.G.I.F. Cake at West Middle is not a good example of this.

Is it possible that T.G.I.F. Cake stands for Turkey's Good In Friday's Cake?

Especially when the two companies have more than a century of experience between them. And especially when they are Fisher Wingard & Fortney, and the Finlan Insurance Agency.

When two firms such as these become one, YOU benefit. You receive a greater selection of insurance, more efficient service and the kind of personal attention that seems lost these days.

The Finlan agency opened in 1916. Russ and Bev Hoisington purchased the firm this year from Chuck Finlan, the former owner who now lives in Arizona.

Matt Fortney has been with the Fisher-Wingard-Fortney Agency since 1951. This agency opened in 1936 as the Roy Fisher Agency and merged in 1962 with the Wingard Agency.

The people pictured here are excited about the recent marriage of these two long-time Plymouth agencies and are looking forward to serving you and combining modern technology with old-fashioned concern.

Fisher Wingard Fortney will now be located at the Finlan Agency

Returning aces help Rock cagers aim high

BY CHAS CHILD

Winners of four straight Suburban Eight championships, Salem will be shooting for its fifth with a very strong weapon: versatility.

The Rocks will be so balanced and deep that Coach Fred Thomann said he may have no set line-up. "With so much experience and with the nature of our team, we have many possibilities. We will be able to adjust our game to the weaknesses and strengths of all our opponents."

The solid list of returnees who saw starting action last year goes like this: Rich Hewlett, Doug Agnew, Mike Christie, Tom Ellinghausen and John Broderick.

Ellinghausen at 6'5" was the leading scorer and leading rebounder last year. He was also first-team all-Suburban Eight. "He's got excellent basketball savvy and he's an excellent college prospect," Thomann said.

Hewlett was a second team all-leaguer last year. The 6-foot-guard "penetrates well and plays good defense. He's a great athlete," his coach said.

Thomann will be relying on Christie to continue his excellent outside shooting from his guard position. "He's got great quickness and is an excellent one-on-one offensive player."

Court sense is Agnew's forte, Thomann said. "He's a super defensive player and extremely competitive."

The number of experienced cagers doesn't stop here, however.

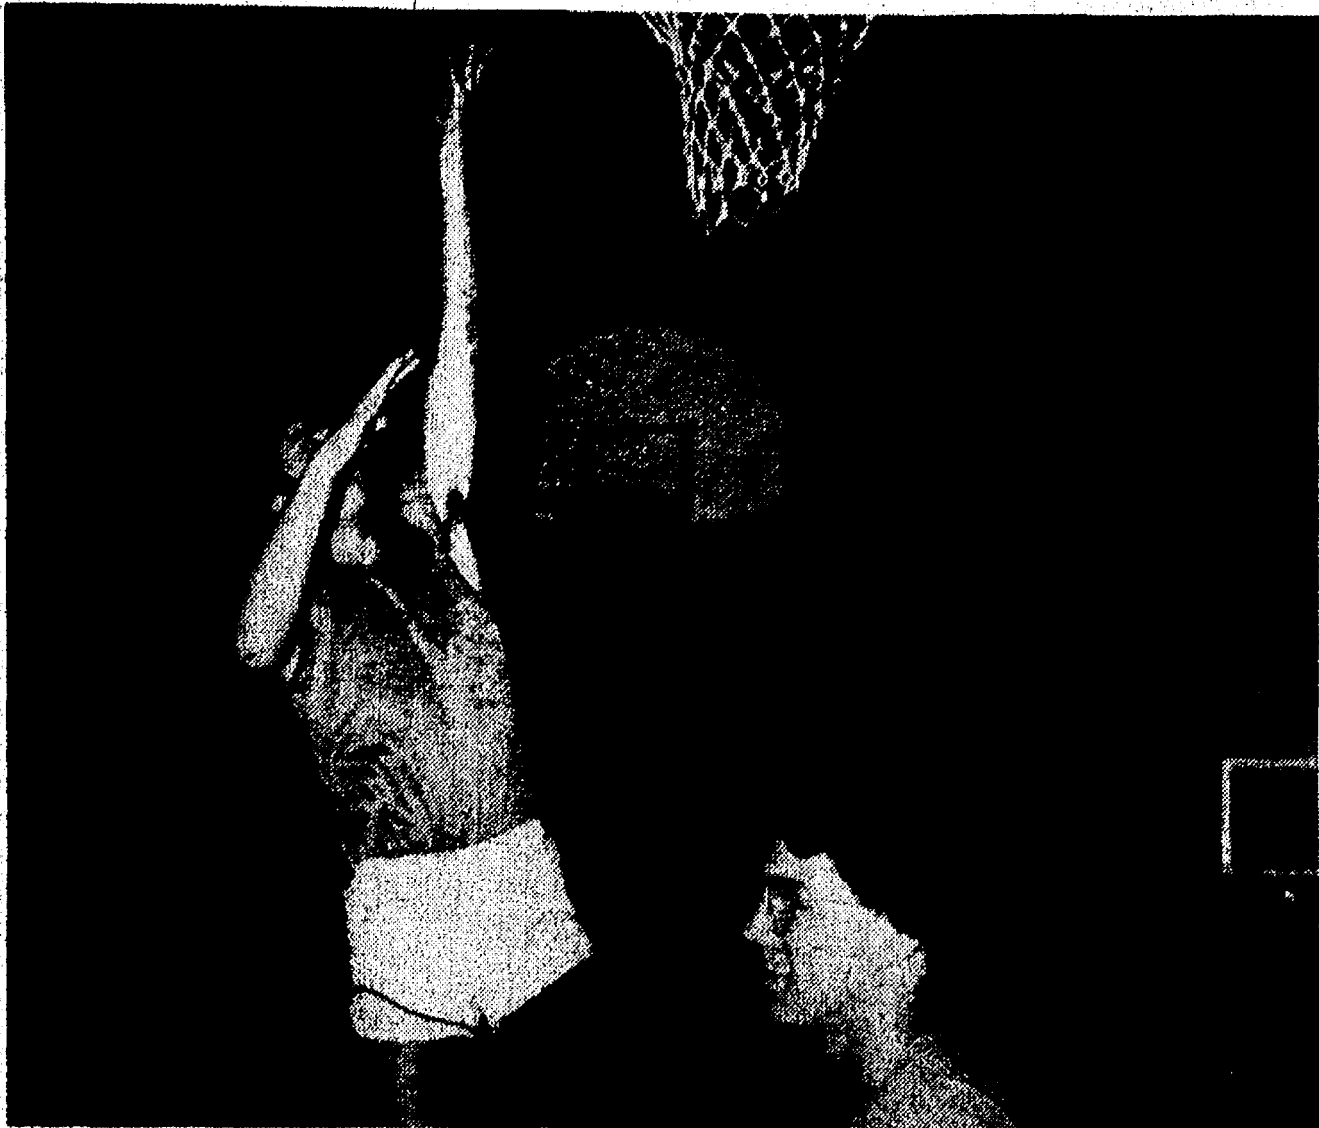

The Rocks also have 6'6" Senior Steve Horton coming back from last year. "He's starting to rebound with authority," Thomann said. "He's a good shooter and extremely smart on the court."

Senior Bob Hissom at 6'3½" will also be back. "A good inside player," according to his coach.

"Deceptively quick" David Monk will also see a lot of action this year, as well as Matt Etienne. "Matt's an extremely good ballhandler and he'll surprise you with his outside shooting," Thomann said.

"Over all, the team is extremely competitive and smart as a group. They

Chiefs set sights on crown

BY CHAS CHILD

With four of five starters returning from last year's squad, Canton looks to be the favorite for the Western Six championship this season.

The Chiefs have yet to have a winning season, but will probably have no trouble attaining that goal this year. It looks to be a season where the team will finally come into its own.

"We earned some respect last year," Coach Casey Cavell said. "This year we want to prove we're a good team. I'm looking forward to an excellent year. The players have a good attitude and are working very hard."

Only Rob Mandle graduated from last year's team which finished with 10 wins and 11 losses. His shoes won't be easy to fill, however. Mandle was Canton's floor leader and chief playmaker.

Looking to replace Mandle are guards Doug Smith and Brent Eccles. "Brent is a good playmaker and plays good defense," Cavell said. "He played on Canton's junior varsity team two years but spent last year in California."

Cavell is also looking for great things from Guard Butch King, who as a sophomore last year was the Chiefs' leading scorer. "He's one of the best shooters the Plymouth area has had in years," his coach said. "He's also very steady, makes few mistakes and plays solid defense."

Another starter from last year is

BY CHAS CHILD

With 175 girls and 580 boys already practicing, the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association, (PCJBA) is looking forward to another fun year.

Starting it's 14th season, the PCJBA is adding two new divisions for 11th and 12th graders. The new divisions are AAA girls and AAA boys. The girls will have four teams, the boys, eight.

A total of 80 teams from the third through 12th grades will be participating.

All games will be played on Saturdays at the school district's four middle schools, and at two elementary schools. The public is welcome to all the games free of charge.

Ron Mack of the PCJBA credits a good deal of the success of the Salem and Canton high school teams to the PCJBA. The girls program was started five years ago.

A major part of the PCJBA's philosophy is that everyone plays. "All boys and girls on each team will play a minimum of one quarter (eight minutes) and not more than three quarters of each game," the Association's handbook says.

The handbook also states that "All referees for scheduled games are high school boys and girls from the Plymouth-Canton schools. These boys and girls are paid and trained by our organization. Many are just learning referee skills and should be treated with respect by the players, coaches and fans."

At the end of the regular season, all the divisions will hold tournaments, except the "C" teams, the third and fourth graders.

Mack said there is still room for players in some divisions. Here is a list of the leagues and the persons to contact:

A Boys, sixth and seventh grades, Ed O'Donnell, 459-1386.

AA Boys, eighth, ninth and 10th grades, Mike Adzima, 459-3008, or Larry Arnold, 981-1218.

AAA Girls, 11th and 12th grades, Jack Christie, 453-2406.

AAA Boys, 11th and 12 grades, Doug Jones, 455-1144.

Anyone interested in playing on these teams may also register at Central Middle School on Dec. 3 from 9 a.m. until noon. Dec. 3 is the deadline for registration.

New basketball teams in the Plymouth recreation Department league may register today (Nov. 9) through Nov. 18. The entrance fee is $200 per team.

Northville's four teams recently withdrew from the league so the team limit has changed from 16 to 12 teams. Returning team registration ended today. For further information, call the Plymouth Recreation Department at 455-6620.

Canton expects respect

Senior Forward Randy Reinas. "He'll be one of our leading scorers," Cavell said. "He's strong, a good rebounder and shooter. Plus he's very experienced."

The Chiefs will also have Rusty Mandle, Rob's brother, back at the forward position. Last year as a sophomore, Mandle worked his way into a starting position. "He'll be one of our strongest men on the inside," said his coach.

Cavell will be looking to Keith Fueling to create a lot of turnovers. "Keith keeps things going on the court. He goes after the loose ball and has a lot of hustle."

These players will be the mainstays carrying out Cavell's system of 2 man-to-man defense and a "movement" offense which relies on a lot of motion from the players without the ball.

"I would call our offense a 'controlled fast-break.' We have few set patterns," Cavell said. "It's a passing offense."

On defense, Cavell said his team will rely on a basic man-to-man. "We'll stick to them all the way."

Three juniors, Dale Albright, Jay McKinley and Kurt Herbert will also see a lot of playing time. Herbert was the leading scorer on the junior varsity team last year with a high game of 37 points.

Albright will be challenging for the ball-handling guard position and Mc Kinley is strong on the boards, Cavell said.

In the Western Six League, Cavell said "we, hopefully, are the favorites. The main challengers will probably be Northville and Harrison, although the league is fairly even. Harrison has the most height and Northville, the most depth."

"We're looking for an excellent year. We want to be respected," the coach said.

Rocks eye title repeat

have a good knowledge of their roles and think of themselves as team players," the coach said.

With the team's quickness and depth, Thomann said he will be trying to wear down his opponents. "We'll use a lot of presses and be able to expend a lot of energy."

The Rocks use a man-to-man pressure defense. "We try to force as many mistakes as we can," said Thomann.

On offense, Salem will rely on a passing game versus set plays. This involves reading the defense and deciding how best to attack each time, Thomann said.

In the Suburban Eight, the top challengers to the Rocks will probably be Bentley and Redford Union.

"Bentley is tall and good while Redford Union is rugged," Thomann said. "And of course, Belleville has Kelvin Patterson who can carry the team all by himself."

To help them in this year's campaign Salem also has a group of five returning junior varsity players, all juniors: Paul Dillon, Kevin Kelligher, Barry Owens, Bill Thimm and John Van Waggoner.

Here we are, into the second week of November and not a snowflake has fallen. Can it mean that this winter will not be as bad as last year? Or is it simply that anyone dumb enough to make such a statement will find two feet of snow on her doorstep tomorrow morning? Let's keep our fingers crossed in hopes of a little more sunshine and warm weather.

Getting ready for the up coming winter weather and holiday season, the Canton Newcomers viewed the latest in fashions at their November dinner fashion show. Claire Kelly presented ways to keep warm in casual attire and just the right gown to be the belle of the ball at all of those holiday parties.

Wool is coming back bigger than ever this season while polyester is fading into the background. (This should make all the dry cleaning establishments very happy). Separates are just as popular as ever both in casual and formal dress. Three piece pant suits are still in, and would you believe - pleated, wool skirts (remember those from high school) are back in style again.

Winter white is popular during the holidays and for those special occasions. Long, flowing gowns are still in but they will be sharing the party spotlight with the short cocktail dress which is coming back on the scene.

No matter what you're looking for there is an abundance of styles to choose from, so good luck and happy shopping!

The Canton Newcomers have a Rose Award which they present to one of the club members who has done an outstanding job in helping out the club. November's rose was presented to Sharlene Totten by interest group chairman, Judy Thomas. Congratulations Sharlene and keep up the good work.

The sounds of car motors revving up and excitement filled the air as the Geneva Presbyterian Church held their second annual treasure hunt last Saturday night. Co-chairmen for the event were Keith and Joan Postell.

Coming in first place were Dick and Darla Minuth, Betty Vance, and Dave and Darlene Starr who won the privilege of setting up the treasure hunt next year. The second place title went to Ralph and Bevis Richardson, and Donn and Joan Wilson who were followed by Frank and Millie Conway, and Mike and Pam Mincher. Coming in last place were Bob and Marty Chandler and Sandra Froozan who narrowly beat out Ken and Linda Beach, Dennis and Sandy Kennedy, Bob and Terry Miller, and Marty and Phyllis LaForte for the booby prize.

Other couples joining in the fun trying to solve the clues were Larry and Gwen Breen, Jerry and Elise Miller, Jeff and Lynne Goldsmith, Bill and Sue Knapp, Gary and Marilyn Best, Roger and Beth Cristiani, Ralph and Lori Brickman, Terry and Cathy Grieve, Helm and Mary Ann Winter, Cork and Carol Worscheck, Nancy Laimbeer, Linda Johnson, Bob and Pat Beggs, Ron and Laurie Hellier, Gary and Kay Pressey, Rob and Pattie Grace, and Jean and Dennis Condriet.

Teri Day, a member of The Three Cities Art Club is displaying The Natural Accents at the Plymouth Credit Union for the month of November. The collection includes dried, silk and artificial floral arrangements.

The Tenth Annual Michigan State Ceramic Show for amateurs as well as professionals was held recently. Winners from the Plymouth-Canton area include Thomas Coleman who took a first and second ribbon in stains and Betty J. Manthey (vice president of 3 Cities Art) received a third place in Scraffito work. Edith Sobczyk was an honorable mention winner in the junior division.

Other residents exhibiting in the show were Ruth Fitzpatrick, Sandra and David Netz, Frances Sobczyk and Kathy Coleman, instructor and owner of TLC Ceramics.

The Grange Gleamings will hold a rummage sale this Saturday, Nov. 12 at the Grange Hall. Anyone having articles to contribute may bring them to the hall Friday afternoon or call Jesse Tritten at 453-6387 or 455-2456 for pick up. The sale will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and after 4 p.m. You can fill a bag for $1.

The Grange also wishes to thank everyone who helped make last week's bake sale a success.

Plymouth grad to preach

Ken Evans, a 1967 Plymouth High School graduate, is returning to Plymouth for a few days next week to preach before the First Baptist Church.

Evans is now an evangelist who has traveled in five foreign countries and 22 states. He has appeared on The Phil Donahue Show and has written a book on his experiences called "A Seed in the Sand", on personal evangelism for youth.

Evans' began practicing his hobby of magic at five and started preaching by 13. He is now known as an evangelist and gospel magician throughout the country.

Evans received his degree in Bible for Cedarville, Ohio. He was ordained as a minister and served as a Youth Pastor at Calvary Baptist Church.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth T. Evans of Maplewood Lanes in Plymouth. His parents have been Plymouth residents since 1952. He is married to Joanna Adams whom he met at Cedarville College.

Fife, Drums to go on TV

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corp will perform in the annual Detroit Thanksgiving Day Parade on television.

"The CBS television studios have sent us a 20-page question letter regarding our Corps and what we will be performing in front of the camera," said publicity chairperson for the Corps, Kay Johnson. She said the Corps has been assigned the number two position behind the Thanksgiving Day float of the J. L. Hudson Co.

Auditions for new Corps members will be held early January Johnson said. You do not have to be a Plymouth resident to join.

Salvation Army has Thanksgiving

The Salvation Army is extending its thanks to the community by offering a special Thanksgiving Dinner this year.

Anyone who is without family or money that day can attend a family style Thanksgiving Dinner with the Salvation Army at 290 Fairground.

The only thing necessary to attend is a ticket - which is free and can be obtained at the Salvation Army or by calling 453-5464 between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. No one will be admitted without a ticket. People of all ages are welcome as well as families, said Lt. William Harfoot of the Army.

Turkey, pumpkin pie and all the trimmings will be featured.

Rocks thrash Harrison 35-13; roll into state playoff action

BY CHAS CHILD

"We're No. 1."

Pouring onto the field after whipping Farmington Harrison, the Salem football players had no doubt who was the best team in the state.

By thrashing Harrison, 35-13, the Rocks completed an undefeated season (9-0) and assured themselves a spot in the state playoffs. Three more victories and Salem will have its second state championship in four years.

The Rocks played absolutely inspired football from beginning to end. They erased any doubts about their effectiveness after losing first-string quarterback Rich Hewlett to an injury against Dearborn two weeks ago.

The man of the hour was back-up quarterback Paul Dillon who executed the Rocks' wishbone offense superbly. Dillon picked up 149 yards on 20 carries, for an outstanding average of just a shade under seven and one-half yards per carry. Dillon also scored the Rocks' last touchdown with a 34-yard sprint near the end of the third quarter.

Senior Fullback Doug Rowe was "Mr. Paydirt" for Salem, running for two touchdowns in the first half and one in the second.

The battle between the Western Six champs (Harrison) and the Suburban Eight winners (Salem) proved to be not much of a contest.

The Hawks opened the scoring in the first quarter after a Salem fumble near their own 35-yard line gave Harrison the ball.

Hawk quarter-back Brett Homovec capped the drive with a 10-yard pass to End Brad Bache with 7:26 left on the clock. The kick was good for a 7-0 Hawk lead.

From here, however, the game belonged to the Rocks, whose size and strength pushed the Hawks all over the field.

On the second play from scrimmage after the kickoff, Rowe broke into the clear and sprinted 75 yards before he was dragged down from behind on Harrison's 20-yard line.

Halfback David Booker put the ball in the end zone with a 14-yard run around left end. Dave Basierbe's kick was good to knot the game at 7-7.

The Rocks fought to a 21-7 halftime lead with two long drives capped by short touchdown plunges by the 6 foot, 186-pound Rowe. The last one came with only 19 seconds showing on the clock in the second quarter.

Salem came out of the locker room still fired up and wasted little time getting on the scoreboard.

Rowe scored his final touchdown on a 21-yard burst at 8:02 of the third stanza. And Dillon got one of his own by scrambling into the end zone from 33 yards out. The quarterback showed great second effort by breaking at least three on the run.

The Hawks did manage to get on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter, but it was too little, too late. Harrison's Fred Blackmer plunged over from the four-yard line. The Hawks attempted a two-point pass conversion but Homovec's pass was broken up.

Rocks face Portage Cent. Friday

With a 9-0 regular season behind them, the Rocks now head into a brand new season - the playoffs.

Salem finished with the highest point total in District II and will play Portage Central, who finished second in the district.

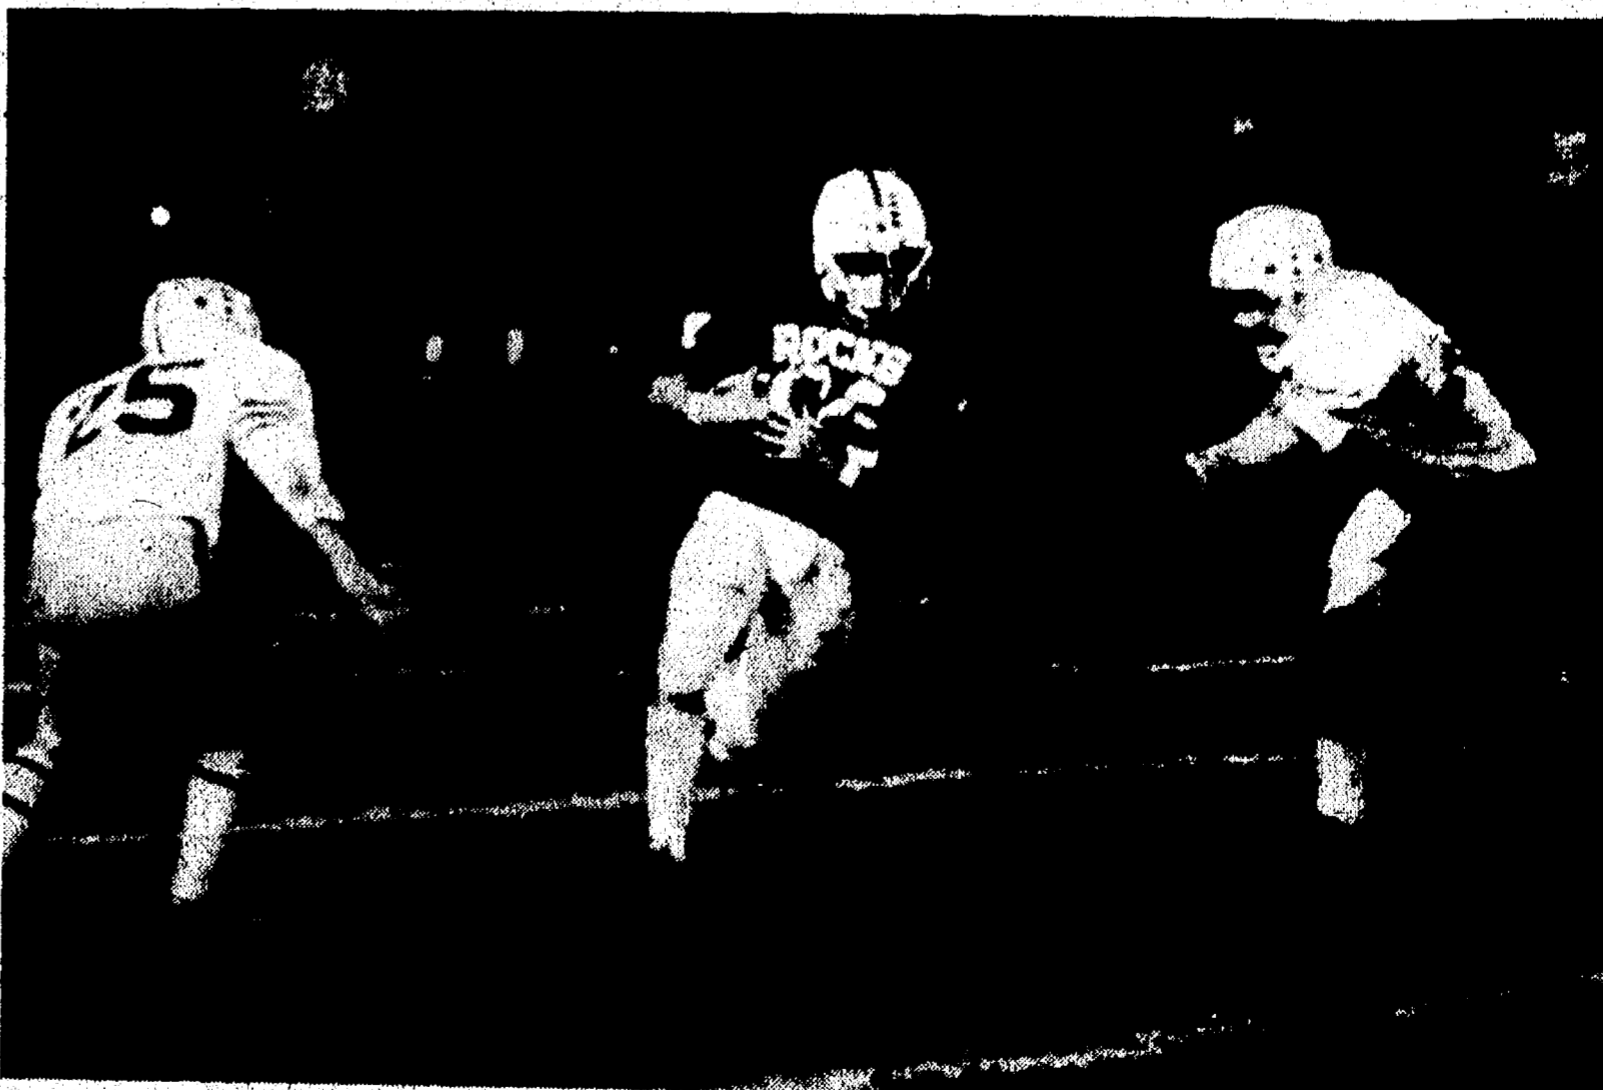

The quarterfinal contest will be played at Brighton High School, 7:30 p.m., Friday, Nov. 11.

All tickets for the game will cost $1.50. Students may buy them at CEP's Athletic Office from 7:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. today (Wednesday), and the general public may purchase them on Wednesday from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. and on Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

To get to the football field, enter Brighton going west on Grand River and turn left on Main Street. From Main, turn left on 7th Street and continue on 7th until you reach Brighton High School which will be on the right. The stadium is behind the school.

Salem is the home team and the Rocks' fans will be sitting on the press box side of the stadium. The CEP Marching Band will also be there.

Strong-arm tactics have no place on sidelines

Chas Child

During Friday's Salem-Harrison football game, one of Salem's assistant coaches, on orders from Head Coach Tom Moshimer, threatened to call the police and arrest me, threatened to break The Crier photographer's camera and pushed me around the field.

Why?

Because I predicted the Rocks would lose the game after losing star quarterback Rich Hewlett.

Mere words on a page provoked physical harassment and threats of arrest.

Is this the kind of example we want our coaches setting for the young men of this community? Absolutely not.

These were the events leading up to the threats:

Throughout the season, several newspaper reporters and photographers have covered both Canton and Salem football games by walking up and down the sidelines, following the action.

When the ball was between the 35-yard lines, I usually stood on the players' bench to see over their heads.

I stayed clear of the players and the coaches running the game, and they, in turn, ignored me.

Covering games in this fashion is very common. I was taught this method by Tom Schram, former sports editor of the Observer & Eccentric newspapers.

I and others sports reporters from other papers have used this method all season and not once has a coach from either Canton or Salem told me it was against their rules. Until Friday.

After the kickoff the ball was near midfield, so I stood on the Salem bench to see the game. The whole team was crowded near the sidelines, yards away, with their backs toward me watching the game.

Immediately, Allie Suffety, a team trainer, told me I was not allowed on the sidelines anymore, and must watch the game from the stands.

I argued the point and Suffety said that Moshimer told him I must then watch the game from outside the 30-yard lines, beyond the "players area."

I still objected, since this was the first time I'd ever heard of the "players area," and photographers and a number of kids who were obviously not Salem football players moved freely between the 30-yard lines.

I did, however, step down off the bench at the trainer's insistence.

Despite this, Suffety forcibly pushed me outside the 30. Later, when I moved inside the 30 following the game's action, he pushed me away again and said that Moshimer threatened to have me arrested.

When I refused to leave a spot on about the 35-yard line on another occasion, Suffety stood directly in front of me, blocking my view of the game. He also threatened to break the camera of The Crier's photographer, Bill Bresler, taking pictures of the coach's action.

"How would you like me to break your camera?" he asked Bresler.

Suffety, even refused to give me his right name. He said his name was "Alex Dimento."

After Salem had a comfortable lead, I was ignored and allowed to walk up and down the sidelines as I wished.

And I repeat: No other non-player was told to leave the "players area" not even other press representatives.

As far as I can tell, the reason for all this childish bullying was my prediction column last week where I said the game was going to be close, but Salem would lose. It was an honest prediction - I called it like I saw it.

In my account of the game last week, the team was also irritated that I had written that the team's chances for making the playoffs were dimmed by the loss of Hewlett, an assistant coach told me later.

This is not the first time that my writings have disturbed Moshimer. Before the season began, I broke the story that Moshimer intended to quit his coaching position after this season.

In a conference call with Salem Principal Bill Brown, the coach refused to comment on his reasons for resigning.

I, therefore, published his reasons as related by school administrators.

The "players area" was a phony issue. It was the prediction which prompted Moshimer's reaction. Suffety even told Bresler later in the game that Moshimer's orders were: "Get him out of here, you saw the article."

Moshimer's irritation over my story is one thing; his threats are quite another.

This kind of personal harassment of the press can't be tolerated by the school administrators.

Moshimer isn't teaching sportsmanship; he is teaching personal harassment that threatens the good name of Plymouth-Canton athletics and the good name of our school district.

Chas picks 'em

As Salem heads into the playoffs, Swami Chas is somewhat at a loss: My crystal ball is clear (usually) but its only a local model. Unfortunately, it can only pick up the nearby channels.

I've applied to Soothsayer's Local 110 for a permit for a larger antenna, but right now I can't pick up anything west of Muleshoe, which for those of you who don't know, is a good deal east of Portage, the home of Salem's quarterfinal opponents Friday, Portage Central.

I've washed my crystal ball with windex, banged the top, and fiddled every dial, but there's no getting rid of the snow on channels west of Muleshoe.

So, with no prediction possible I did the next best thing: I called Robert Knight, the coach of Portage Central, and asked for a brief sketch of what Salem's fans can expect Friday.

On offense, Central runs a Houston veer offense led by Quarterback Pete Metzelaars. "He runs the ball well and can also pass," Knight said.

For his running attack, Knight relies on Todd Lipschutz and Kevin Mowan. Lipschutz has gained about 800 yards on the season and Mowan about 600.

Defense, however, is Central's forte. The team allowed only 21 points in their last six contests. On the year they racked up three shutouts.

"We use multiple defenses and jump around a lot," Knight said. "If we do use any blitzes against Salem, they will probably be outside ones to try and stop their options."

Central's coach said he felt honored to play Salem and said his team will have its hands full.

"If you try to take away Salem's inside game, they'll go outside. If you try to take away their outside game, they'll go inside," he said. "They execute very well, and we'll be concentrating on trying to take away their big plays."

This year is the first time Central has gone undefeated and it's their first trip to the state playoffs.

The Pilgrims First Thanksgiving Dinner

Authentically Re-created at the Mayflower Meeting House

The Pilgrim heritage has long been a tradition not only in Plymouth, Michigan but especially at the Mayflower. To continue this practice, we have meticulously researched the service and preparation of the Pilgrim Fathers' First Thanksgiving Dinner. With certain liberties, the menu is a duplicate of that Thanksgiving Dinner menu used by the Pilgrims in 1621.

Dearborn leaves Chiefs winless

BY CHAS CHILD

A long and tough afternoon ended a long and tough season for the Canton football team Friday.

The Chiefs lost to a big, strong Dearborn team, 47-13, on a gray and overcast day in Ford Motor Company's capital city.

The winless Chiefs found no outlet for their season-long frustrations as the Pioneers scored the first three times they had the ball.

And Dearborn's star quarterback, Dennis Scala, played through the third quarter, rolling up points to impress college scouts.

The game was also plagued by penalties, virtually all against the Pioneers, probably taking out their frustrations after getting whipped by Salem the week before.

The Chiefs' passing game - Quarterback Rusty Mandle to End Randy Rienas - sparkled briefly, but was in the end not a factor compared to the onslaught of Dearborn touchdowns.

Canton fell behind immediately when Pioneer halfback Kevin Gotts sprinted 54 yards on the fourth play from scrimmage after the opening kickoff.

Canton's fans held their breaths when the Chiefs got the ball back however. In just three plays Canton was in the end zone.

Taking over on Canton's 37-yard line, Mandle hit Rienas on a 28-yard pass play that took the ball to Dearborn's 35.

Mandle ran for four yards on the next play and then hit Rienas cutting across the middle. The senior end sprinted to paydirt to pull Canton within one point.

From here, though, the game belonged to Dearborn. The Pioneers rolled up 40 unanswered points to put the game out of reach.

Scala and Gotts, co-captains of the Dearborn squad, did most of the damage. On scoring drives of 80 and 36 yards, the Pioneers pulled into a 20-6 lead at the end of the first quarter.

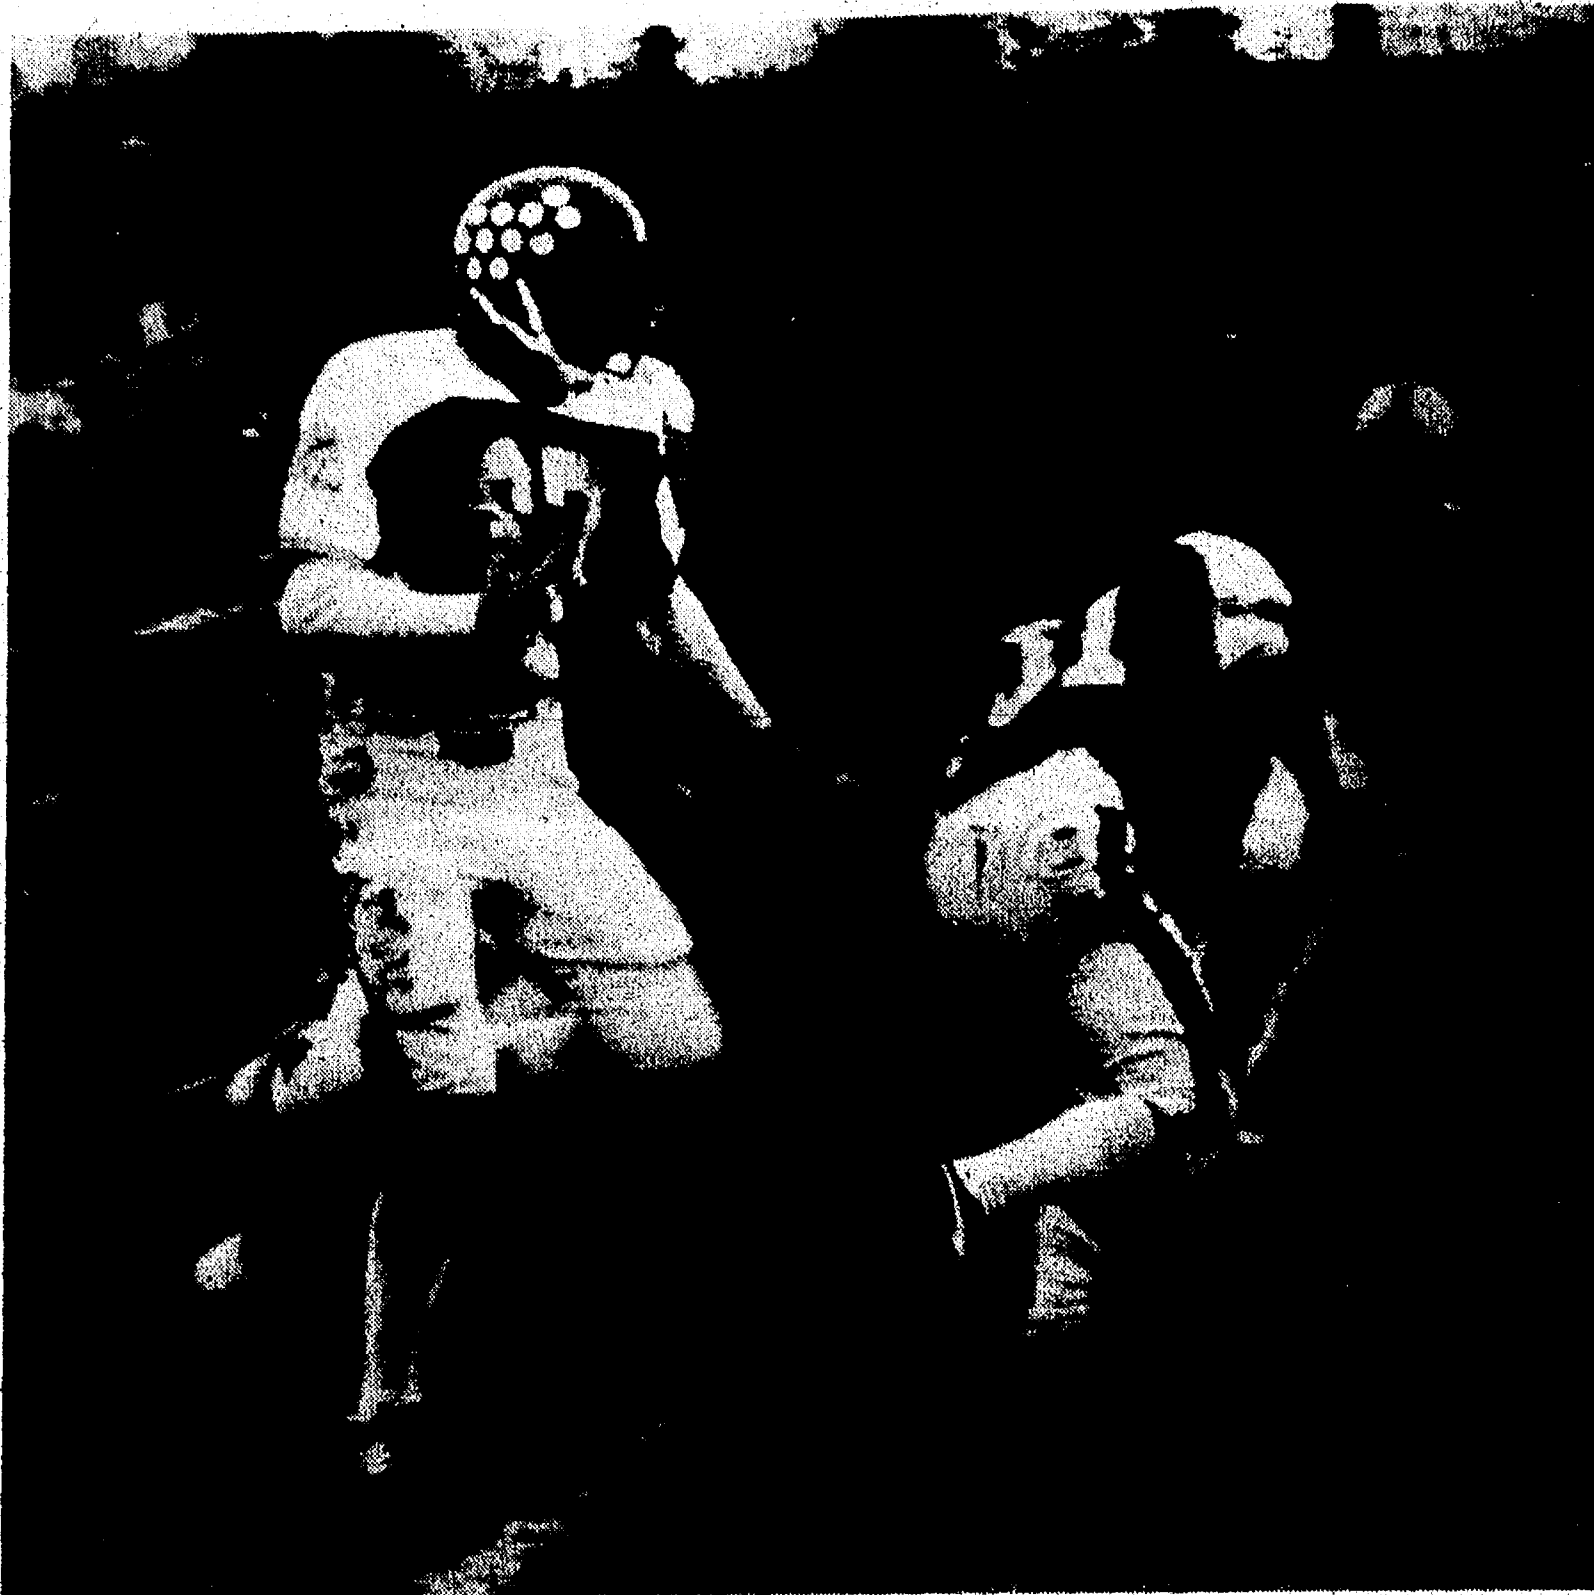

Near the end of the second quarter, Dearborn backed the Chiefs up inside their own 10-yard line, forcing a short punt and allowing the Pioneers to take over on Canton's 22. Five rushes later, Dearborn tallied to make the score 27-6 at halftime.

The scoring spree showed no signs of letting up in the third quarter. The Pioneers pushed into paydirt on their first three possessions to boost their lead to 47-6.

The Chiefs scored their other touchdown midway in the last quarter on a drive rife with Dearborn penalties.

Canton recovered a Pioneer fumble on Dearborn's 30-yard line. Quarterback Doug Smith was sacked for a 13-yard loss, but two Dearborn penalties - roughing the passer and pass interference in the end zone - brought the ball down to the Pioneers' 10 yard line.

Smith then passed to End Jay McKinley for the touchdown.

Chief tankers claim 2 close ones

BY JEFF REY

The Canton women's swim team was victorious two times last week beating Dearborn Fordson on Tuesday, 92-80, and squeaking past league foe Walled Lake Western on Thursday, 87-85.

During Tuesday's win Cindy Shelansky qualified for the state meet in the 100-yard backstroke. Shelansky had fallen just short of qualifying time all year, but finally made it by posting a 1:06.9. The finish was also good for a varsity record.

On Thursday, the Chiefs managed only five first place finishes, but Canton's tremendous depth made the difference in the two-point victory.

Two of the five firsts were swam by Kim Massey in the 200 and 500 freestyles. Her winning times were 2:12.6 and 5:45.8 respectively.

Shelansky also won two events. The first in the 200 individual medley with a 2:33.1 and the second in the 100 backstroke with a 1:07 effort.

The 200-yard relay team finished first, posting a 2:05.9. The swimmers in that event were Shelansky, Annette Piethe, Laura Toor and Massey.

Peggy McElmeel took a second in the 100 freestyle turning in a 1:05.7.

In diving Jamie Zuverink placed second with a 148.35 point total.

Toor finished second in the 100 breaststroke with an effort of 121.0 and the 400 freestyle relay team of McElmeel, Mary Reardon, Chris Perchard and Sue Vitoratos took a second with a 4:34.8.

On Thursday the Chiefs travel to Farmington Harrison for their final meet of the season. The meet begins at 7 p.m.

Salem's tankers polished off Dearborn Thursday, 94-78, to remain unbeaten in the Suburban Eight League.

The victory came despite many girls on the team fighting off head colds. The Rocks are now 5-0 in the league and 10-1 overall.

The team of Jill McCann, Collette Cabadas, Sue and Sarah Stanwood won the 200-yard medley relay in a time of 204.2.

Sue Stanwood also contributed a first in the 220-yard individual medley and the 100-yard butterfly. Sarah Stanwood touched first in the 500-yard freestyle and chipped in a third in the 50-yard freestyle.

Sharon Ross made it 1-2 Salem in the 500 freestyle by placing second. The Rocks also took first and second in the diving. Amy McClumpha was first with 189.75 points and Lisa Lukens finished second, 170.2 points.

Marion Stanwood copped two victories: the 200-yard freestyle and the 100-yard freestyle.

In other events, McCann won the 100-yard backstroke and Cabadas took a second in the 100-yard breaststroke.

The Rocks also won the 400-yard freestyle relay with the quartet of Sue Sparling, Kim Coates, Madeleine Lakatos, and Marion Stanwood. Their time was 4:05.1.

Chief cagers undefeated

BY JEFF REY

It's good to know that the worse you can finish is a tie for first place. That's just how things stand for the undefeated Canton women's basketball team after demolishing Northville last Thursday 65-19.

The Chiefs' record stood at 15-0 after Thursday's win with only two league games remaining and no chance of finishing beyond first place regardless of the outcome of these contests.

Canton's powerful defense led the Chiefs to their victory on Thursday by almost totaling shutting off Northville's offensive attack and finishing the game with a total of 25 steals.

The Chiefs jumped out to a quick 20-5 lead in the first quarter with Sue Rekuc scoring six in the opening period. Canton extended its lead to 30-12 at the end of the half and nearly blanked the Mustangs during the third quarter allowing them only two points.

The final period gave Canton a chance to play the entire squad. Coach Mike McCauley said, "everyone on our team played and everyone scored."

Rekuc led the Chiefs with 10 points followed by Kelly Heaton and Evie Pasek with 9 points.

On Tuesday Canton defeated non-league opponent John Glenn 50-30.

Rekuc once again led Canton's offensive attack with 16 points. Heaton added nine points and Jill Pederson scored nine. Heaton also had 13 rebounds.

Chiefs win Western-6

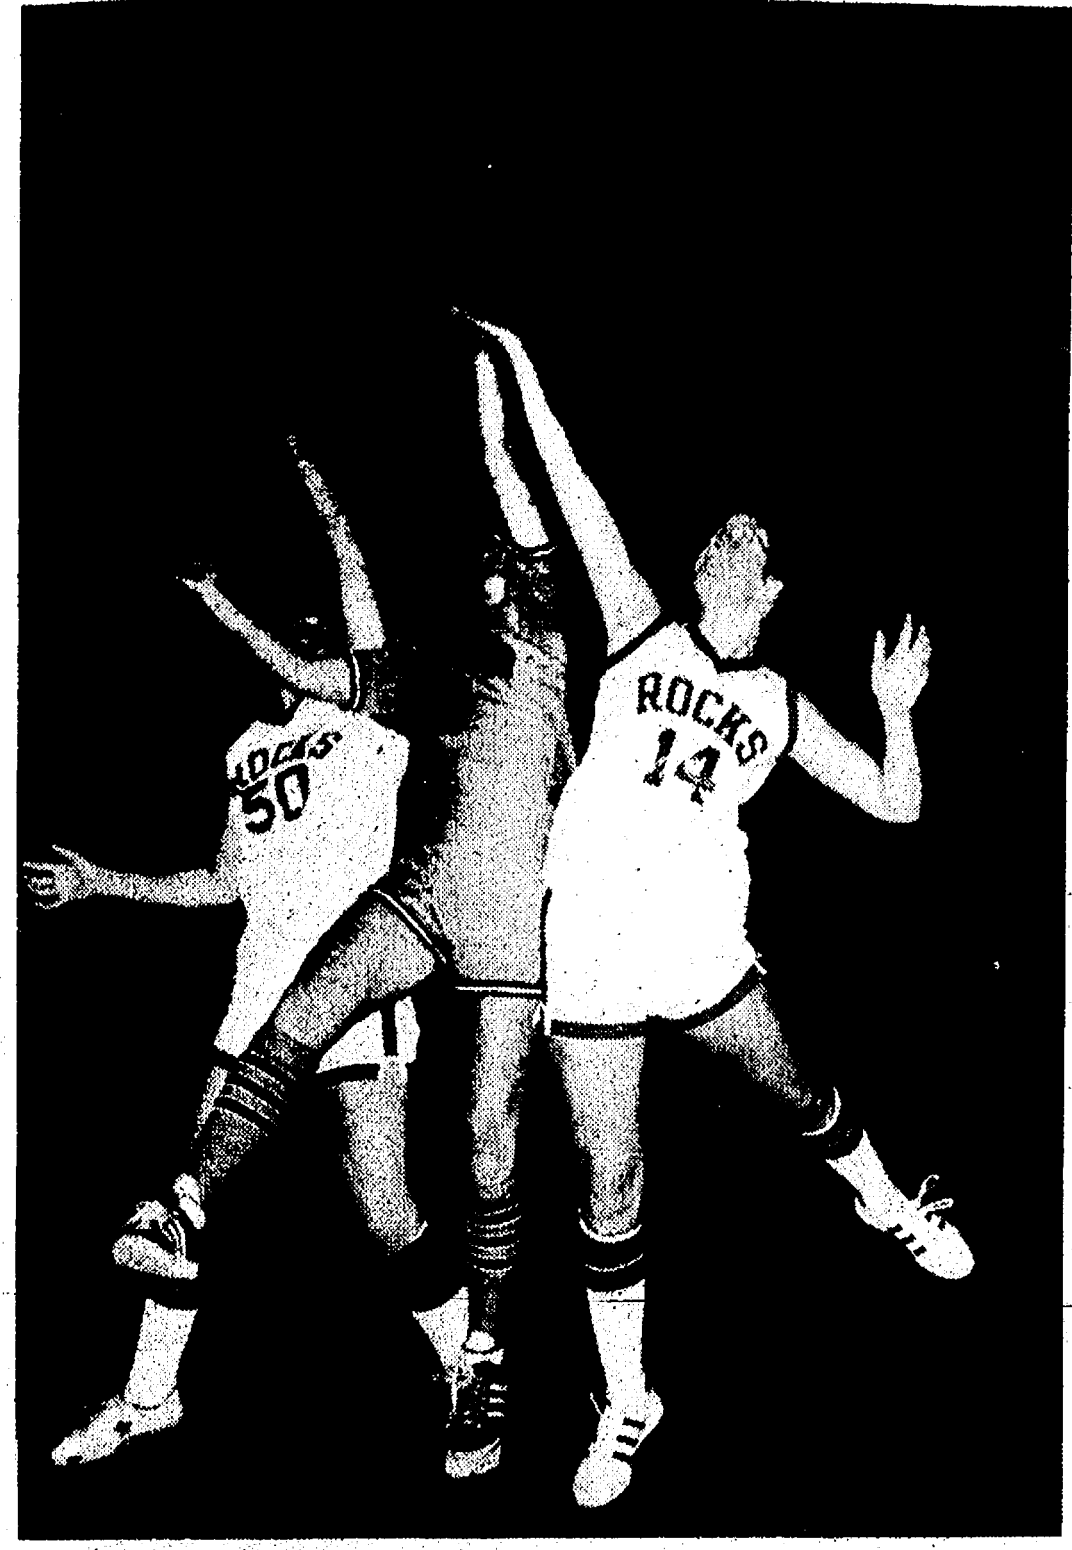

Canton's cagers sewed up an undisputed Western Six championship last night by whipping lowly Walled Lake Western, 71-21.

Even if they lose to Harrison tomorrow night, they'll still have first place all to themselves.

Vicky Cavallaro was the spark plug in the victory with her hustle and steals. "She played very well," Coach Mike McCauley said.

Laura Butler and Kelly Heaton led the Chiefs in scoring with a total of 12 points each. Kathy Sochacki added 10 and Cavallaro dropped in eight.

The win leaves Canton with a 16-0 record, the best in the Metro West area.

Rocks blast Dearborn

BY CHAS CHILD

Salem's cagers go back on the winning track Thursday by beating Sub-8 opponent Dearborn, 39-32.

It was an especially important victory for the Rocks, because the Pioneers will be in Salem's district in the upcoming state playoffs.

Last Tuesday, the Rocks lost to Garden City East, the third in a string of consecutive losses.

Four starters - Brenda Davis, Doris Hoelscher, Anne Moore and Debbie Pitera - had been benched for the East game by Coach Debbie Hatcher for "non-academic disciplinary reasons."

The Dearborn contest was even into the second quarter, but Debbie Pitera sank three quick field goals to lead the Rocks to a 23-13 halftime score.

Salem outscored the Pioneers 14-7 in the second quarter to open the 10 point bulge.

Kathy Dillon repeated Pitera's six-point effort in the third quarter to keep the Pioners at a safe distance and the Rocks held them off for the 39-32 win.

Dillon led the Rocks with 14 points. She also contributed eight steals and 13 rebounds. Sarah Marks grabbed 11 rebounds in a strong effort that helped the Rocks control the game.

Garden City East beat Salem after time ran out with two free throws, 33-31. The Rocks missed a shot with 20 seconds to go and East got the rebound and brought the ball up the court, the score tied, 31-31.

The Panthers missed three shots but a foul was called on Salem and Debbie Boehlin of East sand two free throws to win the game.

"We played excellent defense but didn't have enough offense," Coach Debbie Hatcher said. "Plus we only committed nine fouls."

Dillon led the Rocks in scoring with 16 points. Mary Dickey added six and Peggy Somers, four.

Volleyball clinics set

Developmental volleyball clinics for players and coaches will be held at Schoolcraft College on Nov. 18-19.

Clinicians for both days are Tom Teeters, coach of Schoolcraft's varsity women's team and Mike O'Toole, the team's former coach.

The clinic runs from 4 until 10:30 p.m. Friday evening, Nov. 18, and it will be repeated between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. the following day, Saturday.

There is a $6 per person charge for the clinic.

Further information is available from Dr. Cecil Woodruff, acting athletic director, at 591-6400 ext. 403.

Nichols featured

Dr. Harold Nichols, head wrestling coach at Iowa State University, will be the featured clinician at Schoolcraft College's sixth annual wrestling clinic on Nov. 12.

Salem gridders selected for Sub-8 team

Salem landed six football players on the all-Suburban Eight first team, and three more Rocks made the second team. Co-captain Bob Dasher lead the selections for Salem. He was named to the first team at center on offense and the second team on defense at the tackle position.

Quarterback Rich Hewlett was a unanimous selection for the first team. The junior signal-caller lead the Rocks to the Sub-8 crown this year.

Linebacker Doug Agnew also made first team for the second year in a row. Safety Curt Lewis and Bruce Piper, a tackle, rounded out Salem's first team defensive contingent.

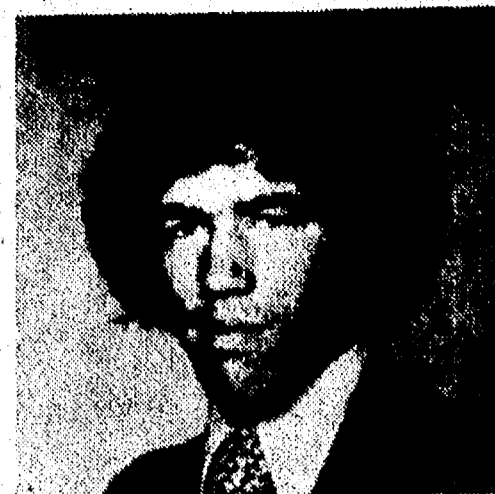

Tackle Tony Vitale also earned first-team honors.

Besides Dasher, End John Broderick and Defensive Back Mike Genrich made the second team.

Those selected for honorable mention were: Bob Doherty, Kevin Kesckes, Wally Brown, Scott Kappler, Chris Ritchey and Mike Skone.

Rock JV gridders finish 7-1

The Salem junior varsity football team finished an excellent season Thursday by beating Canton 54-0. The victory gave the Rocks a 7-1 final record.

The team's only loss came at the beginning of the campaign to Allen Park, 16-12. All of the other Suburban Eight JV squads fell to the Rocks.

There are 31 players on the team, all sophomores, and Jarvey said they all did a fine job. "It's hard to single anyone out."

The biggest victory was over Dearborn, who lost to Salem, 61-14. Coach Jim Jarvey said the Rocks' second team played the whole second half of the Dearborn victory.

Chief JV's winless

Canton's junior varsity football team ended an 0-8 season Thursday with a 54-0 loss to Salem. The highlight of the Chiefs' season was a slim 9-0 loss to Northville. The game was scoreless until the Mustangs' kicker booted a 45-yard field goal. Northville's touchdown came in the final 30 seconds after intercepting a desperation Canton pass.

"We had some bad breaks during the year," Coach Mike Tiano said. "We lost a lot of players to the varsity and some key players transferred out of the school district."

There were 17 sophomores and two freshmen on the team.

Lions fete Jones

Ward Jones, first president of the Plymouth Lions Club, was recognized for his 45 years of continuous service in the International Association of Lions Clubs by fellow members of the Plymouth club at their last regular meeting. Fellow Lion Bruce Richard presented him with his 45 year chevron.

Jones, who was among the organizers of the Plymouth Club in 1948, had previously served as president of the Detroit Uptown Lions Club.

Rezoning sought for Road House

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP PLANNING commissioners will consider a pair of rezoning requests Nov. 16 that would permit improvement and expansion of the Ann Arbor Road House restaurant on Ann Arbor Road east of Ann Arbor Trail. The facility is currently a non-conforming use of property zoned residential. Road House owner Adam Stoja is scheduled to ask the planning commission to approve rezoning of a portion of the Road House property to C-2 commercial. He plans to remodel both the interior and exterior of the facility. Shown is a rendering by the architectural firm of Graham-Culotta of the proposed exterior changes.

Twp. reacts to annexation threat

1974 on the eve of the defeat of a vote to consolidate the city and township, that call for the annexation of the township as a whole and of the property on which the Hillside Inn is located.

According to Breen, if the boundary commission acts within 220 days (seven months) to approve the city's annexation of the entire township a vote of township residents would be required.

If township voters rejected the annexation proposal, Breen said, the incorporation petition would likely become active and township voters would be asked on a referendum ballot to create of the City of Plymouth Heights.

James Hyde, executive secretary of the boundary commission, told The Crier yesterday he had not been notified that the incorporation petitions were on their way, although he said, "I have heard rumors to the effect that they might be doing it."

The township had challenged the constitutional authority of the boundary commission to grant the city's annexation request, but in response to other petitioners in similar cases, the Supreme Court has now declared, "The legislature is free to change city, village, or township boundaries at will." In areas with populations of 100 or more, however, residents are permitted to decide their annexation by ballot.

Asked if the court's ruling might encourage township officials to take a new look at consolidation with the city, one trustee said, "There's some impetus for us to do so. Everybody has to take a hard look at where we're going."

Car dealer asks Twp. for rezoning

Bob Jeanotte Pontiac, is expected Nov. 16 to ask the Plymouth Township Planning Commission for rezoning from residential to commercial of a parcel on the north side of Ann Arbor Road east of Haggerty.

The Jeanotte dealership is currently located on Ann Arbor Road west of Main in the City of Plymouth.

The township is currently fighting in court a rezoning attempt on property adjacent to nearly four-acre parcel slated for consideration next week.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENT TO PERFORM FLOOD ELEVATION STUDY
The Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that under authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (P. L. 90-448), as amended, and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P. L. 93-234), it will fund a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in the Charter Township of Canton.
The study will be performed for the Federal Insurance Administration by Wade, Trim & Associates, Consulting Engineers.
The purpose of this study is to examine and evaluate the flood hazard areas in the community which are developed or which are likely to be developed and to determine flood elevations for those areas. Flood elevations will be used by the community to carry out the flood plain management objectives of the National Flood Insurance Program. They will also be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates applicable for new buildings and their contents, as well as determining the rates to be used for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.
This announcement is intended to notify all interested persons of the commencement of this study so that they may have an opportunity to bring any relevant facts and technical data concerning local flood hazards to the attention of the FIA for consideration in the course of this study. Such information should be furnished to Supervisor Harold P. Stein, the Chief Executive Officer of the community, for forwarding to FIA.

REALTOR

ON SECOND MORTGAGES

When mortgage money is plentiful, lower down payments are common and lending institutions are looking for borrowers for mortgage money.

However, the picture changes when money is tight. Often, higher down payments are required. If you do not have the cash to meet the full down payment, second mortgages are also available and nothing to be afraid of. The seller or some other lender may agree to loan you the balance of the down payment in this manner.

The second mortgage on the property carries a higher interest rate and a shorter repayment time -- usually from three to five years.

The reason for this is the higher risk involved because the second mortgage cannot be satisfied in case of default until after the first mortgage is paid off.

The second mortgage can be an excellent way to complete the sale of property which would otherwise fall by the wayside. Listen very closely to your REALTOR in this situation because professional expertise is a MUST.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455-8400. We're here to help!

MOPED.

It's so much fun we almost hate to mention economies like up to 150 miles per gallon of fuel, and practically no maintenance. We've got Puchs in all kinds of nice colors and we'd love to have you take one for a test ride soon.

today there's a new kind of fun called Puch.

The Puch has pedals like a bicycle and a motor like your motor-boat. Which means it can whip you around town in great style without worrying about things like being out of breath, or cardiac arrest.
