Few file for office as deadline nears

With less than a week remaining before the deadline, only a handful of Plymouth-Canton residents have filed

At stake are nearly a score of township and state offices.

In Plymouth Township, most of the excitement seems to be centered on the race to fill Clerk Helen Richardson's chair on the township board.

Among the candidates squaring off for the clerk's job are Trustee Lee Fidge, who filed her nominating petitions last Thursday, and former School Board President Esther Hulsing, who told The Crier yesterday she will be filing her petitions this week. Both are Republicans.

Petitions have also been taken out by Barbara Pray, the township's deputy treasurer, and Barbara Godre, a former charter commissioner for the would-be City of Plymouth Heights. Neither has announced as yet whether the petitions will be filed.

Thus far incumbent Republican Supervisor Tom Notebaert and Treasurer Joe West have yet to attract opposition.

Trustee Richard Gornick has announced he will seek election to his second term. His seat and one being vacated by two-term Trustee Frank Millington are being contested this year. No petitions have been filed yet, but three township residents (persons requesting petitions are not required to give their name) have taken out petitions for trustee.

In Canton Township, only two persons have filed petitions: Gary Roberts (Republican) for trustee; and Maria Falkiewicz (Democrat) for treasurer.

So far, no one has filed to challenge Supervisor Harold Stein and Clerk John Flodin, both of whom have announced they will run.

Buying farmland not cheap, Cantonites told

BY DONNA LOMAS

If Canton Township decides to purchase development rights from its farmers in the western half of the township, residents in the eastern half will have to live in Canton more than 10 years to benefit from the extra taxes paid to keep the farmland undeveloped, Canton officials learned last week.

Canton residents may also vote on whether or not to buy the western farmlands on the November ballot, however, Canton officials have not yet decided to put the question on the ballot.

At their meeting last Tuesday, Canton trustees were presented with a summary of the development rights study. That study was done to determine the costs of buying up farms in western Canton as one way to preserve open space in the township and to put a ceiling on the growth now occurring.

Houses in Canton were assessed an average of $20,963 last year, according to the summary prepared by Seidman and Seidamn, the township's accounting firm.

Higher property values

don't mean more school $$$

BY CHAS CHILD

As Plymouth-Canton school officials campaign to pass the millages on the June 12 ballot, they hear a recurring question from voters:

"If my property assessments and taxes are going up, why are the schools asking for more mills?"

"I was stunned by how many people who don't know the answer," said Steve Harper, member of the Board of Education.

According to Superintendent Mike Hoben, the answer lies in a complex state formula that reduces aid to schools as property values in the local districts rise.

The effect of the formula is to keep the school income constant even though the property value in the district goes up, Hoben said.

State legislators added the formula to the state school code in an effort to equalize state aid between wealthy and poor districts in Michigan. Poor districts receive more money from the state, and rich districts get less, under the aid formula.

In contrast, revenues of cities and townships, which are not directly tied to the state budget, rise and fall proportionately with the total property values in their districts.

Canton Township, for example, now has a large surplus which is mostly due to the housing boom which started around 1970, said Finance Director Mike Gorman.

In the complex formula which portions out aid to

Sudden storm floods streets, stores, basements

FLASH FLOODS late yesterday stranded motorists and flooded stores and basements throughout the Plymouth-Canton community. U.S. Weather Bureau officials said the local area was the center of a heavy thunderstorm which some residents said brought the most flooding in recent memory. The Central Parking Lot was flooded, Hines Drive was closed and school bus traffic was disrupted. Water reached heights of nearly a foot on sections of Harvey, Main and other major streets. Wing (above) was also a river, as Dave Metz discovered. (Crier photo)

Jaycees seek fireworks funds

Plymouth's Jaycees have launched their drive to raise $5,000 for the annual Fourth of July parade and fireworks display.

Larry Kennedy, co-chairman of the group's finance committee, said parade expenses for this year are estimated at $1,650, while the fireworks will cost $3,000 or more.

A fund-raising letter has already been mailed to local businesses and professional offices.

Said a Jaycee spokesman, "The Jaycees are appealing to the community and friends of Plymouth for support. We are seeking donations from industry, professionals, retailers and residents."

Fund-raising efforts will also include the levying of parade entrance fees and, if necessary, an admission charge for the fireworks.

Contributors of $200 or more will receive an engraved plaque. All contributors will be acknowledged weekly in alphabetical order in The Community Crier.

Organizing the fund-raising efforts are Bob Jarmol, president of the Plymouth Jaycees; Steve David, director; Mike Tenant, chairman; and Hank Salla, Doug Jaskierny and Larry Kennedy, all of the finance committee.

The Jaycees ask residents to send their contributions to: Plymouth Jaycees, P.O. Box 279, Plymouth, MI 48170.

Candidate's night draws school trio

Citizens can meet the three candidates of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education at a candidates forum on Thursday, June 1, at Pioneer Middle School.

The candidates - Carol Davis, William Johnson and Elaine Kirchgatter - will address the audience and also field questions at the forum scheduled for 8 through 10 p.m.

Up for grabs on the June 12 ballot are two terms of four years each. The fate of three millages will also be decided: a 3.0-mill request for operating expenses up for renewal; and additional 1.5 mills for operating expenses; and 0.5 mills for building maintenance and improvement.

Although Davis and Kirchgatter now sit on the board, they are not incumbents. They were both appointed to the board to fill vacancies created by resignations.

Millage boosters press for 'yes'

BY CHAS CHILD

"Yes, It's Worth It," is the new campaign slogan of the Plymouth-Canton schools' millage election committee for the June 12 millage election.

Designed to pass the three millage proposals on the ballot, the committee will be scheduling speakers, distributing bumper stickers and trying to generate enthusiasm for the schools' needs.

It's the second time around for the committee, since the millage requests failed in the first election on April 27.

In the upcoming campaign, the committee will place more emphasis on what will be cut from the school budget than in the first campaign, which was a quiet one, according to many observers.

On the ballot are three proposals: 3.0 mills for operating expenses which are up for renewal; 1.5 additional mills for operating; and 0.5 mill for building maintenance and improvements.

The school administration has detailed cuts in about 40 areas in the budget from reducing the number of teachers to sixth-grade camp. And to bring home in the voters' minds the consequences of a "no" vote, the committee will hit the possible cuts hard, said Florence Beier, administrative assistant for community relations, who is also a member of the citizens election committee.

Targeted for extra campaign effort by the committee are the school areas in Canton Township - Miller, Gallimore, Hulsing, Eriksson and Field - which have produced a lot of "yes" votes in previous elections.

In the April 27 election, however, many voters in these areas stayed home, a fact which many school officials blamed for the defeats.

The committee listed as "roadblocks" to passing the millages these factors: "Inflation; negative response to increase in tax dollars; negative attitudes relating to specific programs, areas (ESY, modular scheduling, open classrooms, busing, etc.); previous defeat; individual needs unsatisfied; criticism of current spending, budgeting."

The benefits of a "yes" vote on the requests, said the committee, are: "Continuation of current educational programs, services, avoid cutbacks; improvement of facilities (buildings); lower teacher/pupil ratios; improved operating services.

Leaking RR car posed no hazard, police say

A railroad car leaking benzene Friday night in Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad's north rail yard in Plymouth Township was called not dangerous by the Plymouth police.

The car appeared to be overfilled and the heat caused the flammable liquid to expand and leak, said the report. The car was not near any populated areas and therefore not dangerous, the police said.

Railroad officials had placed two rows of empty box cars to the west of the leaking car and to the west more than one-half mile away was the Sheldon Road Ford plant, said the report.

The benzene-loaded car was bound for Midland.

Township gives support to need for senior housing

BY HANK MEIJER

Before a capacity crowd last week at Township Hall, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees - without naming a specific site - endorsed a resolution which said senior citizen housing was needed in the township.

The resolution was half a loaf for supporters of a 40-unit, three-story complex proposed for the rear of the St. John's Episcopal Church on Sheldon Road.

Architect John Culotta, a member of St. John's and one of the proponents of the complex, asked the township board to give the "concept" of that project its approval, but trustees questioned the location and refused to give anything more than a general statement regarding senior citizens housing here.

Culotta told the township board that federal funds have been allocated for 244 dwelling units for senior citizens in Wayne County. "I've been informed this is a very viable area for such a proposal," he added.

Township officials weren't so sure about the church site, however. Said Trustee Maurice Breen, "In light of the master plan (of township zoning), that particular area certainly doesn't call for multiples (apartments). I'm against any endorsement at this time."

The trustees advised Culotta to appeal the zoning of the church parcel before bringing the matter before the board again.

Asked who would likely live in the proposed complex, Culotta said, "the (federal)

Canton trustees agreed to recommend to the State Highway Commission a seven-lane widening of Ford Road from I-275 to Canton Center last Tuesday.

Voting against the proposal were Trustees Lynne Goldsmith and Bob Myers.

According to Supervisor Harold Stein, the township would have to wait until 1980 if it endorsed the boulevard alternative for Ford.

"It would be more expensive, too," Stein said. "The state wants direction. I move we go for a seven lane highway."

Stein said he had supported a boulevard concept, but after learning the State Highway Commission would take until 1980 to decide on a boulevard for Ford and until 1983 to begin construction, he decided the seven-lane approach would be the "most cost effective" which would provide for future traffic conditions.

The boulevard would cost $5.4 million to build, while the seven-lane concept would be $2.5.

The proposed five-lane widening of Ford from I-275 to Canton Center is scheduled for June. That construction cost will be $1.2 million.

Stein added that the State Highway Department will make the final decision and that it "was very questionable" whether the state would justify the additional $2.9 million more to build a boulevard on Ford in Canton.

Canton Chamber of Commerce has officially opposed the boulevard concept saying it would eliminate "valuable" parking space and the required 200 foot right of way would eliminate many businesses. The Chamber recommended a five-lane highway with a center left turn lane.

Rep. Smith runs again

State Rep. Roy Smith (Republican) announced that he will seek a sixth term in the Michigan House of Representatives from the 52nd legislative district, which includes Plymouth and most of Plymouth Township.

Smith served three consecutive two-year terms from 1967 until 1972, lost his re-election bid in 1972 and was re-elected in 1974 and 1976. The 52nd district is composed of parts of Washtenaw, Wayne and Monroe counties.

Smith has served a total of 23 years in local and state government. He served four years on the Ypsilanti Township Board of Tax Review, eight years as Ypsilanti Township Supervisor, and eight years on the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors prior to his election to the House in 1966. While he was not serving in the House of Representatives in 1972 to 1974, he served as City Administrator for the City of Saline.

Fast foods coming

Plans for two restaurants on Ford Road next to Harvard Square Shopping center were approved by Canton trustees last week.

Voting against the proposed Sambo's and Arby's restaurants were Trustees Brian Schwall and Bob Myers. Schwall, a planning commissioner objected to the plans because no guarantee was given on the construction of an access road between the restaurants and also because no plans for developing the rest of the 12 acre site were made.

Trustees approved both restaurants contingent on the access road being built and maintained.

Arby's restaurant will have 92 seats in its 3,400 square foot building. It will provide 63 parking spaces. Sambo's will have 134 seats in its sit-down family type restaurant and provide 66 parking spaces.

Twp. confirms sewer bond vote

Pending final approval by the Wayne County Elections Office, Plymouth Township voters will be asked Aug. 8 whether a $2.8 million bond should be used to finance extension of sewer lines into western areas of the township.

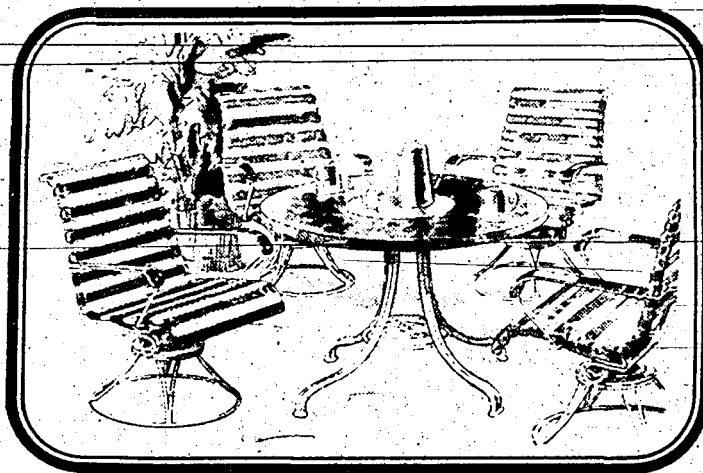

Clerk Helen Richardson told the township Board of Trustees last week that a petition drive which sought to put the question on the ballot had gathered sufficient valid signatures - more than 1,600, in total - from township residents.

Earlier this year, the township board had approved sale of the bonds, but a defeat at the polls could overrule that decision. The petitions were circulated by a homeowners' group, the Community Improvement Association, whose officers contend the sewers would spur develop-

Have Hines rowdies found home in Kellogg Park?

We've got millage but no cops

EDITOR:

Canton is still without 24-hour police protection despite the fact that we have a $2.5 million budget; that voters approved police millage August 1977; taxpayers have been paying 2-mills for service since December 1, 1977; and crime keeps escalating with uncontrolled growth. Will taxpayers get a refund?

When the board presented two-mill, full-time police levy proposal to the voters last August, their plan was that if the levy passed August through December would be used for planning and ordering equipment. Starting January 1, 1978, the full-time police department was to be in operation. There is no excuse for this present lack of responsible leadership since the board is committed to our safety, health and welfare.

The transition from part-time to full-time should have been smooth, since Canton already has a professionally trained, qualified part-time police department since December, 1976. Upon graduation of the 1976 class, the head of CJI commended Canton's police officers for their "outstanding written exam scores (88 per cent, followed by State Police 75 per cent), and they were above average on physical skill demonstrations"; also "congratulated township administration on screening process for bringing people of such high calibre into the service."

The papers were supportive of a "yes" vote and said present officers "have handled themselves in remarkably professional manner in their first year". The Police Study Committee, appointed by the Board, said in their report "Re-organizing the PRESENT force appears to be the most logical option and could be achieved with a minimum of disruption utilizing the PRESENT manpower and training already provided them and it would be the least costly."

Most likely the millage would not have passed if the Canton police officers had not campaigned so diligently for it.

The Board continues to refuse to change the status of our qualified officers from part-time to full-time; thereby, the safety of the township residents and business people is being jeopardized by the procrastinating of the township board on this important issue.

You too could serve

As voters, we all often complain that elections offer little choice.

Now is the time to do something about that!

Next Tuesday is the filing deadline for local and state offices and it's not too late to get a petition from your city or township clerk, fill it out, circulate it and return it.

The more candidates, the better the choice.

Now is the time for you to serve. Run for office.

Let's help our elderly

EDITOR:

Last Tuesday evening, as noted in your paper, the St. John's Senior Citizen non-profit Housing Corporation represented by its architect, Mr. John Culotta, presented to the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees a request for a statement of approval of the concept of a senior citizens housing project to be located on the property of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Although we did not expect an endorsement for the project itself - we realize that the Board cannot commit itself to a project before formal application has been made - we were rather surprised at the negative reaction of some residents present at the meeting.

We are proposing a project which will not only fill a need in the community, but also will be a beautiful residential building completely in character with the surrounding area.

We feel that the continuing presence of senior citizens in comfort and dignity in the community is our personal responsibility and that if they are forced to move elsewhere by reason of lack of adequate housing, we will be losing a vast resource of wisdom, experience, and stability.

Because we feel so strongly about this project, we invite anyone who wishes to meet with us, formally or informally, to examine our motivations, our ideas, and our plans. We feel that such meetings will furnish a knowledge of our proposal and an opportunity to assist us in our proposed endeavor.

Time has come for parking ramp

When it comes to parking, people have strange habits. While driving to a store or business, we drive straight to our destination and look for the closest parking space. We never head first to an open lot and spend a couple of minutes of walking.

This quirk in human nature has helped create a need for a parking structure on the Weidman lot in downtown Plymouth.

While plenty of spaces wait in the Central and Union street lots, persons bound for the businesses on the Mayflower Hotel's block jam the Weidman lot (behind the Mayflower) and smaller lots in the immediate area.

We are pleased that the City Commission has moved forward with plans to build a structure on the lot.

To keep the city's downtown from being swallowed by malls and suburban shopping centers, the parking problem must be solved.

Convenient shopping will keep the city's businesses vital, which in turn will keep the pressure of residential taxpayers.

While the parking commission considers the structure's plans; however, we urge it to make sure that the structure doesn't stick out like a sore thumb. (And that doesn't mean putting colonial columns out front.)

The lot now is not appealing to the eye and a pleasant structure, set-back adequately from the road, could actually improve the area's appearance.

Let League help you pick school board choices

In case all the hoopla has passed you by, don't forget there's a school election June 12.

Not only will we get another crack at the millage renewal and increase that were shot down in April, we'll also be electing two new school board members.

Both seats being contested are now held by candidates who were appointed.

If you think you've missed all the tension this three-way race for seats on our largest governmental unit has generated, you're wrong. The campaign so far has been as exciting as the 109th heat of the chicken flying contest at Fowl Festival.

None of the candidates,

Elaine Kirchgatter, Carol Davis and William Johnson, can be accused of representing only a single interest or proposing stupid ideas.

But the candidates' night tomorrow at Pioneer Middle School at 8 p.m. might test the merit of these low-key candidacies.

The League of Women Voters, which sponsors the question-and-answer session, does a good job helping us decide who's best-qualified to sit on the school board.

But you should see for yourself. See you there.

How is school money spent?

These charts show where money will come from and how it will be spent next year in the Plymouth-Canton School District. The figures were made by school officials assuming the two millage requests for operating expenses on the June 12 ballot pass. Although much is written about federal programs, they account for only two per cent of the district's income, school officials said. "Our students generally score high on tests, so the district does not qualify for many programs," said Superintendent Mike Hoben.

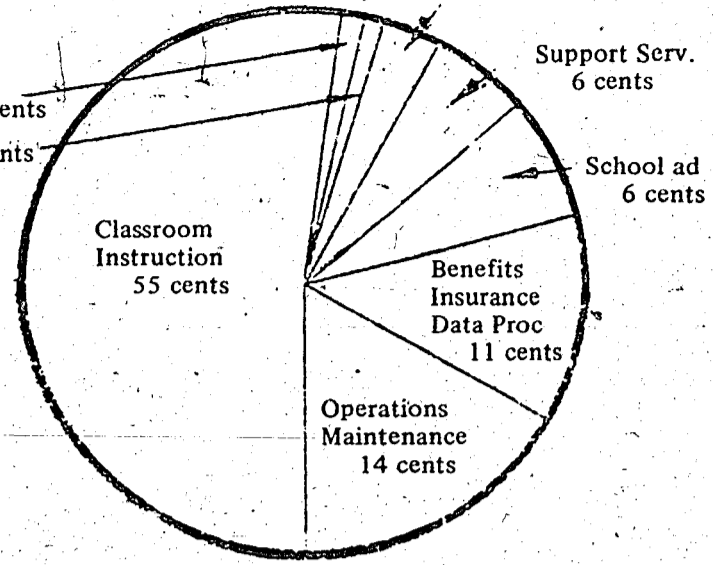

The total 4.5 mills on the ballot (the sum of 3.0 up for renewal and 1.5 additional) will account for about 8.6 per cent of the proposed budget. The renewal alone (3.0 mills) will account for 5.7 per cent of the budget. Included in "classroom instruction" in the chart are classroom teachers and supplies, textbooks, workbooks, library books, special education, vocational education, talented and gifted, WSDP radio station and the school farm.

"School administration" is the total of principals, school secretarial, assistant principals, high school coordinators and interns. In "support services," are counselors, crossing guards, librarians, directors of elementary and secondary, legal, aides, board of education, and executive administration.

So The Community Crier is going to take over where the court can't in the Craig Schultz case? Is The Crier going to editorially prosecute this unknown person allegedly responsible for Craig's death? Keep dog on leash

EDITOR:

I am writing to join in the plea to dog owners to keep their animals on a leash, not only at home, but in the parks, as well. Yesterday evening, as my family entered a Plymouth neighborhood playground, two dogs, whose owners negligently stood by conversing, attacked our dog, who was on a leash. My husband actually had to kick the German Shorthair Pointer to release the bite it had upon our dog's back.

Thank goodness, these animals directed their aggression at our dog, who was on my left hand, and not at our two-year-old son, who was on my right hand, or one of the dozen other children playing there.

Naturally, the proper authorities have been informed, but that does not absolve these dog owners from fulfilling the responsibilities they have assumed in owning their pets.

On Tuesday, June 6, the senior banquet will be held at the Mayflower Meeting House at 6:30 p.m. Reserved tickets are $6, instead of $8 as previously stated by the Senior Banquet Committee.

The site of the graduation ceremony will be the Centennial Park Football

Following the commencement exercises the senior party will be held at the Canton High School Physical Education Facility until 2 a.m. Friday. Tickets are $5 per student in advance and $6 at the door.

Grads face better job market

This year's graduating class can look forward to better job prospects — if they possess the skills, says Joyce Willis, job placement specialist at Canton High School.

"Graduates with skills have their way paved in terms of entry-level employment positions," she said.

Willis specializes in helping vocational students secure permanent jobs in areas such as food service, auto electrical and body repair, store management, cosmetology, child care and nurse's and dental assistants.

The yearly lemming-like rush for summer jobs is being met this year, Ms. Willis said, but emphasized that the prospects were better earlier in the year.

"Many students are just now deciding to look for summer jobs and it's nearly impossible."

Seasonal employment in camps, resorts and recreational centers, however, is still fairly good.

Willis said that many students are unrealistic, expecting to locate part-time work paying five or six dollars per hour. After the summer, about half of the graduating class is "opting out" to college. Three years ago, two-thirds furthered their education, according to career counselor Don Chumbley. The figure, he added, is rising.

Willis said that her office sees at least 25 students daily and that her service is available to the entire community. The ages of those in her files range from 14 to 62. She said, "there is a problem with it. Entry-level jobs don't pay the kind of salaries that people out of school for a while want."

Random selection news is out

Information on random selection of seventh grade students was mailed to their parents by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools between May 1 and 12. All seventh grade students were assigned by computer, on a random basis, in order to balance enrollments between Canton and Salem high schools, both located at the Centennial Educational Park.

Parents can request reassignment of a seventh grader only if their family will have an older child attending the C.E.P. in 1979-80, when the seventh grader enters high school. The Board of Education decided on February 27, 1978 that no other reason for change in high school assignment will be considered.

August 1 has been set as the deadline for requests to have a student attend the same high school as an older brother or sister.

According to the random assignment system, about half of every middle school attendance area should be attending each high school. Since students take classes in both high school buildings and all students ride the same bus, there is frequent contact among the students from the two facilities.

If parents have questions about the random selection process, they may call John Telford, Executive Director of Secondary Education, or Ginnie Bagon, Coordinator of Pupil Accounting, at 453-0200.

FIELD SCHOOL students work here in an art class, part of the school's curriculum integration program. Students write stories to accompany their creations, developing their creativity and verbal skills. Art also develops motor skills. (Crier photo by Robert Kian.)

'Basics' at Field mix kids' interests

At first glance, the only connection that art, music and physical education might have with reading, writing and math, the basics, is that they are taught under the same roof.

But the link is more than casual, says Suzanne Woodroe, an assistant principal intern at Field Elementary School. She says that by including these three areas, those often dismissed by parents and educators alike as extra-curricular, the basics can be reinforced.

Said Field principal Larry Miller, "When they want to get rid of art, music and P.E." referring to the June 12 millages.

The integration of these classes is used at Field and at other elementary schools in the district.

In an article written by Ms. Woodroe, she says that music aids a child's ability to distinguish sounds and develop the ability to receive aural information.

Students can learn and remember directions without printed words by learning a song. Learning rhythmic patterns will improve auditory memory and teach children to sound words out when reading.

Children in a music class for instance, were asked to tap out the number of syllables in the word "elephant" on xylophones.

Instead of one general teacher assigned to an entire class, instructors specializing in art, gym or music teach the classes.

Woodroe sees art giving rise to increased motor skills and verbal creativity, since students are asked to write stories to accompany their creations. "Art is tremendous with eye-hand co-ordination," she said.

Physical education, considered the most expendable, offers an overlooked opportunity to encourage math and reading skills by having instructors pass out written game instructions and having the students keep their own scores, said Woodroe.

"Some would like to say that it's a frill, but it's a need," Miller said. The programs, Woodroe noted, are all part of a planned curriculum.

To demonstrate the integration of art, music and physical skills, several students, with the help of Miller, wrote a play to be presented June 27, 28 and 29, entitled "Whoever Heard of an Elephant Losing His Memory?"

According to Miller, the play will include dance sequences, and will feature costumes designed by some of the students. The play is subtitled "An Experience in Integration in Learning."

Hundreds see Memorial Day parade

LOCAL VETERANS place a wreath before the Plymouth Rock in Kellogg Park Monday in memory of Plymouth-Canton area soldiers who died in war.

It was a day of ice cream, marching bands, lawn chairs, — and memory.

The Memorial Day parade Monday, attended by approximately 900 persons, began with the traditional opening volley by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and ended with taps, all in memory of Americans who gave the supreme sacrifice to their country.

"We should dedicate ourselves to the cause for which they died," said Captain Paul Szabados of the Army Signal Corps in his address to the crowd at Kellogg Park. "Remember them as the foundation of the future."

After the opening volley by members of the Mayflower Post of the VFW, (which started more than few youngsters crying), the parade followed down Main Street, turned left on Ann Arbor Trail, to Union Street where everyone gathered for the various speeches.

The morning was cloudless and hot, and iced cream cones and iced drinks were popular. Persons in lawn chairs lined the route and many folks had cameras, clicking shots of their youngsters in the bands or scouts.

Parading to the music of the CEP Marching Band and the Central Middle School Marching Band were the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW, city officials, boy and girl scouts, and the VFW itself.

Following a reading of "In Flanders Fields" by Mike Bologna, Mayor Tom Turner said that some people treat Memorial Day as just another holiday, but we should remember the persons who made it possible to enjoy our freedom. "We should ever be grateful," he said.

Captain Paul Szabados, commander of the Dearborn Army Recruiting Center, echoed Turner's ideas. Quoting the inscription on Omaha Beach in Normandy, he said, "To these (soldiers) we owe the highest regard. The cause for which they died shall live."

Szabados also said military readiness is a must to meet the needs of the modern battlefield and that national defense requires a fully-trained and ready Army reserves.

But a strong military was not the only thing that guarded against aggression, he said. "Prevention of wars require informed citizens."

The ceremonies ended with the laying of the wreath by the VFW's Rifle Team and taps.

STRUTTING THE COLORS of the Centennial Park marching band was one of the highlights Monday of the community's annual Memorial Day parade.

A CURBSIDE SEAT on Main Street was a good place for Nancy, and Jim Strosheim (above) and son, David, 3, to watch the parade go by.

AIMING HIGH in a four-gun salute to fallen comrades are members of the Mayflower VFW Color Guard.

With the arrival of Memorial Day, many small carnivals will be coming to town. A popular ride with an extremely long waiting line has always been the 'Whip.'

The cooks at Tanger are offering their version to the students on Thursday. However, their 'Whip' is going to be purple! It sounds like the cooks are trying for the same results though - an upset stomach.

Another school year is at a close and I extend my wishes to all students for a safe and fun-filled summer. Try to stay away from those hot dogs and peanut butter sandwiches - I'm sure it will all be back on the lunch menu come September.

Twps. may bear larger sewer cost

THE COMMUNITY CRIER - May 31, 1978

BY DONNA LOMAS

With the appointment of former county representative Royce Smith to Wayne County's Department in charge of the so-called "super-sewer", Plymouth and Canton townships had scored a sort of coup - until recently.

At the last in a series of public hearings on the alternatives with the super-sewer, Environmental Protection Agency representatives told the audience it was considering pulling Oakland County from the super-sewer plans.

That move would increase the costs to the Plymouth Canton governmental units, as well as to other Wayne and Monroe County Communities left in the plans.

"We were all ready to go, now we are just waiting until they get done, (the EPA) with the study," said DPW Chief Royce Smith. "Costs for the sewer are rising at about $1 million a month, and the EPA said earliest the study would be done was by October."

Smith said super sewer costs were estimated at $165 million last January and could be at $170 million by October.

In March, Canton and Plymouth townships agreed to pay their share of the proposed super sewer costs. Until then, Canton Supervisor Harold Stein was working on a break-away sewer authority that had hoped to sell bonds and build the sewer themselves. However, Stein was unable to get four of the 21 communities to join the break-away authority.

The break-away authority was formed because several western Wayne communities thought they would have no control over the rates of super sewer, since City of Detroit representatives dominated the Wayne County Road Commission, which was to build it.

In the late 1960's, Washtenaw County broke away from the super sewer project for the same reason; it has and has since dropped all sewer plans.

That fear was allayed for Plymouth and Canton, however, when Royce Smith, then a Wayne County Commissioner, was appointed as chief of the Wayne County Department in charge of the super sewer. He represented Plymouth and Canton on the commission and other western county communities.

The sewer is proposed to run from White Lake in Oakland County south through Plymouth and Canton in Wayne County to the Huron River to a treatment plant one and a half miles out in Lake Erie.

Canton man kills self

An 18-year-old Canton man, apparently despondent about being unemployed, killed himself with a shotgun Thursday evening, Wayne County Sheriffs report.

The victim, Lawrence F. Baron, took a .12 gauge shotgun from his mother's house at 2820 Hannan and ran out into a nearby field where he shot himself in the chest, said police.

His mother called the police when Lawrence ran from the house and sheriff deputies found him dead in the field, the report said.

His mother told police that her son was upset about not having a job, but he was not drinking or taking drugs at the time.

Memorial Day means many things to many people - parades, flags, picnics and in general a long week end filled with relaxing fun. For a change, the weatherman even came through with beautiful sunshine and for those people who complained about the heat, just remember it might be hot but at least you don't have to shovel it.

Back yard barbecues and family gatherings were popular over the holiday weekend. Friends and relatives of the Blighters on Harvey Street got together for a feast of chicken steaks and corn, then decided to work off the calories by playing volley ball all evening.

My neighbors, like thousands of other people took to the roads heading north. Since we were one of the few families on the block staying in town, our house became an animal shelter. Samantha and Boots (both cats) finally learned how to get along and not be jealous of each other and the guinea pigs were easy to feed and take care of.

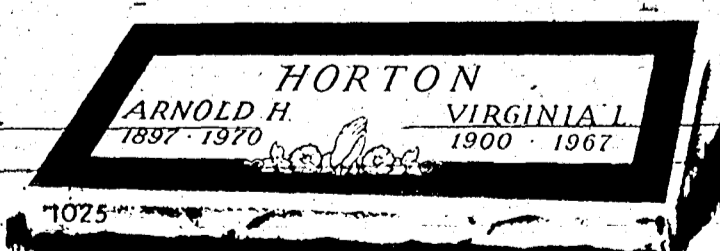

This is also the time school graduates move on to bigger and better things.

Plymouth students who recently received degrees from Madonna College in Livonia are: Karen Pike, Jener Ave, was awarded a bachelor or science degree in biology/chemistry; Bruce LaPointe, Manton Ave., bachelor of science degree; Marc Davis, Shadywood, associate degree in social science and Michaelyn Page, McClumpha, bachelor of science degree in nursing.

Students from Canton who received degrees from Madonna include: Linda Rowe, Alston Ave, bachelor of arts degree in learning disabilities; Linda Abbott, Orchard Ave, bachelor of arts in English; and Kenneth Winkler, Jr., bachelor of science in criminal justice.

Mrs. Rowe graduated with honors and was a member of Kappa Gamma Pi.

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council recently announced the names of the scouts who were the top sellers in the 1977 cookie sale. Girl Scouts from Plymouth Canton selling 300 or more boxes of cookies are Kim Willibey, Lauri Engle, Erica Bashur, Lori McCarthy and November Moss.

The Salem baseball team is still in the thick of the Suburban Eight League race, although it split a pair of league games last week.

On Wednesday, the Rocks were outslugged by Allen Park, 10-7, but they came back the following day to down Edsel Ford, 5-1.

The split left Salem the Rocks in a tie for first place with Livonia Bentley

Salem rode on the arm of Pitcher Bruce Piper, who started both games. Unfortunately, he was off the mark against Allen Park and Salem Coach Brian Gilles pulled him in third inning with the Rocks behind 5-1. "He was having trouble, but we weren't playing very good baseball either," said Gilles. Piper came right back on Thursday, however, and hurled the whole game in the victory over Edsel Ford.

He struck out seven, gave up six hits and didn't yield a single walk. The win upped his season record to 9-1.

Allen Park jumped out to an early lead when they pushed across three runs in the first, one in the second, another in the third and four in the fourth inning.

John Holdsworth, taking over for Piper, gave up the four run in the fourth and picked up the loss.

The Rocks fought back with a run in the second and five in the fourth, but it proved too little, too late. Mike Michalek blasted a two-run homer in the fourth to highlight the inning. "He's really coming along at the plate," said Gilles.

Bob Waite drove the other three runs in the fourth with Rocks net two wins

By winning two matches last week the Salem tennis team raised its season record to 13-2. The Rocks came out on top with identical 4-3 scores against Trenton on Tuesday and Allen Park on Thursday.

The win over Allen Park put Salem in first place in the Suburban Eight League.

The winners in both matches were the same: Curt Schultz at No. 1 singles, Scott Crespo at No. 4 singles, the No. 1 doubles team of Jeff Bearup and Ed Thomas, and the No. 2 tandem of Craig Stevens and Dick Cook.

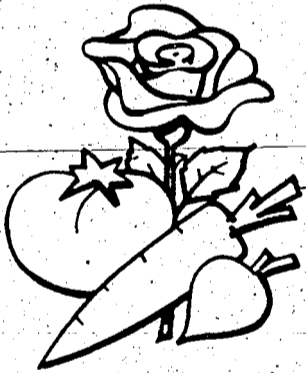

On Friday and Saturday the Rock netters will compete in the state tournament.

"I think Ann Arbor Huron will have a good team," said Salem Coach Jim Stevens, "but I think that we will have a good showing also."

Chiefs edge Hawks

BY ERIC OLSON

The Canton nine survived the pre-district round of competition in the state playoffs by knocking out Farmington Harrison 3-1 Saturday. The Chiefs now go on to the districts this Saturday in Southfield.

Brian James hurled a two-hitter and struckout nine in going the distance to raise his record to 7-1. Canton now stands at 20-3 for the year.

The Chiefs scored all three of their runs in the first inning. Scott Collins walked and when Jeff Campbell bunted, the throw to first was wild and he was safe. An infield hit by Russ Mandle loaded the bases. Doug Smith's double drove home two runs and Al Lupinski followed with a run scoring single.

Harrison tallied its run in the fifth on a base on balls and a single and threatened in the seventh. But three great defensive plays bailed the Chiefs out of trouble. Smith cut off a ball hit in the gap between center and right field holding the hitter to a single; second baseman Tom Norton stopped a grounder up the middle and his throw to first was snared by Scott Dawson to nip the runner.

"It was a tough situation," said Canton Coach Fred Crissey. "They had won six in a row and they had the home field advantage, but our three runs in the first shut them up. It was a gutty performance because our regular first baseman, Dave Meater, hurt his shoulder and didn't play and Collins was sick. And it was about 88 degrees and there were no dugouts."

Crissey credited James with a magnificent game as he had a good fastball, breaking ball, and good control. Adding "the secret to winning in high school is to win the close games, like 3-1."

In edging Catholic Central 2-1 last Wednesday the Chiefs pushed their season record to 19-3. Canton pitchers Scott Dawson and Doug Smith combined for a one-hitter. Dawson went the first four innings before giving way to Smith who went the last three innings surrendering the lone hit in the seventh.

Dawson, who got credit for the win, struckout four while Smith fanned six.

Scott Collins scored both runs for the Chiefs, one in the first and one in the fifth. The first run came after a Collins' single, a stolen base, and a RBI single by Dawson. Ray Smock's suicide squeeze bunt with the bases loaded brought Collins home with the winning run after he had singled to start the rally.

"We've won alot of 2-1, 3-2, 3-1 games this year," said Crissey.

the end of the dual meet schedule, the Chiefs have a good chance to advance.

In the singles, No. 1 Dan Schmidt drew a tough first-round opponent, but Dave Keen at No. 2 has excellent prospects to advance as does Doug Hetu who faces a Walled Lake Western netter whom he beat at the last dual meet.

"He has a good chance to reach the finals," said Canton

Coach Jim Hayes.

No. 4 singles Chris Davio is seeded second and should do well, also.

The Chiefs' doubles team have been scrambled by the illness of Mike Tegge, one-half of the No. 1 doubles duo. Greg Stratton will move up from the No. 2 team and Matt Campbell and Steve Jones will play at the No. 2 doubles spot, Hayes said.

Rocks need consistency Golfers eye state

BY ERIC OLSON

"We need consistency to do well," said Bob Waters, coach of the Salem linksters on the upcoming state tournament which will be held at Burroughs Farms in Brighton on Monday, June 5.

"For awhile it seemed as though we golfed well on good weather days and poorly on bad weather days, but that theory was shattered by the league meet which was held on a good day, about 85 degrees, but we golfed poorly," said Waters trying to explain his teams' inconsistency. "I guess we need a good day from the weather and a good day as golfers."

There will be 14 teams from five different regions participating in the tourney. To qualify for state the teams had to finish in the top three teams in their regionals and have had at least one dual meet score of less than 240.

Waters said that Fushing was the favorite, but they were upset in their regional. "Now, I look for Mt. Pleasant to be the winner and Saline as a darkhorse."

Emphasizing consistency again Waters said, "The whole year has been inconsistent as we haven't been able to practice much. After the long winter that we had you need to get out and to practice for about two weeks straight to get some confidence, but we haven't been able to do this because of the weather we've had."

With plenty to worry about already, Waters must face the possibility of measles. "One of my best players, Betty Delano, had the measles (three days) and she has been in contact with the other girls. And what worries me the most is that time of the incubation period is about 10-14 days which is the time from which the girls have been exposed to the time of the state tournament," said Waters.

Waters says that his three hottest golfers at this time are Beth Maggio, June Delaney, and Delano and that it is an honor to play in the state tournament.

CANTON RUNNER RICH FLEISCHER

Chief runners aim for West 6

Although the Canton boy thinclads lost to Churchill 120-30 last Wednesday Coach Mike Tiano was not overly concerned as he is pointing to the Western Six league championship.

"I think that we have some individuals who can place high with some firsts," said Tiano. "We're in good shape and on a decent day we can finish third. Right now we are shooting for third place and we have a good chance of making it, but I might be wrong."

Brent Eckles took a first in the 100-yard dash and Rich Fleischer was a double winner in the 440 and 220 dashes against Churchill. Fleischer set a school record in the 440 with a 51.9 time. Eckles also took a second in the long jump.

Martin Hinkle took thirds in both the 350 low hurdles and the 120 high hurdles. Frank Kellogg finished fourth in the discus. The 880 relay team of John Tarr, Dan McGlenn, Fleischer and Eckles lost as they were nipped by one tenth of a second, 1:39.9 to 1:40.0.

The Chief striders are now 0-8 on the season in dual meet competition, but Tiano says "this is probably our best time ever, the problem which is important because the league championships are coming up," said Zornes.

Tiano foresees possible league championships as Eckles in the 100, Fleischer in the 220 and the 440, and maybe Andy Lewis in the discus. He also says that the relay teams have a good chance if they can get past Churchill.

Firsts for the Chiefs were registered by: Brenda Bigelow in the high jump (4 feet 10 inches), Jeri Shaufelt in the two mile in a time of 12:53.3. Kelly Heaton in the shot with a put of 33' 9", and the 440 relay team of Jenny Tregembo, Jan Pederson, Cathy Sochaki, and Diane Durocher (53.1).

Pitera leads Salem softball team to two league wins

BY ERIC OLSON

By scoring 26 runs in two games the Salem softballers were able to win both games that they played last week. On Tuesday they tripped Trenton 15-7 and on Thursday they downed Edsel Ford 11-2. Debbie Pitera pitched complete game victories in each contest.

Pitera, now 10-2 on the year, three-hit Trenton and two-hit Edsel Ford. Against Trenton she fanned eight and against Edsel Ford she had five strikeouts.

Salem (12-2) scored four runs in the first inning to lead Trenton all the way. Nan Horwood, Pitera, Cathy Gardner, and Becky Crespo all walked forcing in one run and two more came in on a single by Sue McDowell. Crespo scored on a passed ball.

In the sixth Cindy Cindrech walked to start the rally and she scored a double by Mc-ance runs in the second as Horwood and Pitera raced home after singling on Goodrich's triple. Goodrich scored on a base hit by Crespo. After Cindrech walked, Crespo was brought home on a fielder's choice play and Cindrech was safe on a sacrifice hit by McDowell.

"This girls are doing extremely well on both offense and defense," said Salem skipper Livi Way. "We have the potential for district and region," said Way. "If we don't have injuries and the good luck holds with us."

On the year Crespo is the leading Rock batter with a .535 average. She is followed by Pitera .442, Horwood .414, and McDowell, .400. Goodrich is tops in RBIs with 13 and Crespo is second with 12.

Dowell. Then, Sue Evans was safe on an error and Wendy Webb drew a base on balls, loading the bases. Horwood knocked in two runs with a single and the next batter, Pitera, was safe on an error which allowed a run to score. Pitera scored latter on a wild pitch.

Against Edsel Ford the Rocks got all the runs they needed, three, in the first inning. Horwood scored and drove home the first run with a home run to rightfield.

Next, Pitera waked, went to second on a passed ball, and scored on a ground ball by Donna Goodrich. The final run of the inning scored after Crespo walked and stole two bases. Crespo came home on an error on Kathy Dillon's ball.

RU outruns Rocks

In what coach Scott Kurtz termed "a tune-up for the Sub-8 championship" the Salem girl striders lost to Redford Union 110-26. Salem took no firsts in the meet which was held on Thursday.

Erin Lucas took a second in the highjump and Diane Perpich was third. They both had the same jump of 5' 1", but Lucas had fewer misses. Sharon Radianoff was third in the discus and Carin Ford was third in the shot put (30' 5/4").

To finish the scoring for Salem in the field events, Perpich took a third in the longjump.

Ann Meixner ran her best time, 28.9 to place second in the 220-yard dash and Drlynn Sims was third in 29.0. Meixner was also third in the hurdles (16.9) and Lucas second in a 16.4 clocking.

Other second places were recorded by Kathy Sample in the mile and Jenny DeVenny in the two mile (13:08). Fourths were taken by Lynn Henry in the 440 (69.8), Sims in the 100 (12.7), and Cathy Zilke in a 2:38 time in the half-mile.

"We should do much better than last year," said Kurtz on the upcoming league championships. "I think we will get several good individual performances."

Gary Balconi summed up the Sub-8 meet by saying, "Edsel Ford has to be the favorite because of their overall strength, Redford Union will be tough in the field events, and Trenton will be tough in the sprints." The Rocks are now 5-2 in dual meets and second in the Sub-8

The Rocks got a fast start against Edsel Ford by jumping a 3-0 lead in the first inning.

Billy Kral singled to start it off and Sam Merrill followed with another single.

The two runners ended up on second and third base when the Thunderbirds threw late to third in an effort to nail Kral. He was safe and Merrill took second on the throw.

The Rocks picked up another run in the third when Matt Etienne singled. He moved to second on a passed ball and Michalek drove him home with a single.

Joe Goodsir accounted for the fifth run when he got to first on an error by the shortstop. He took second on another error and after stealing third he raced home when the catcher threw wild into left field.

Crier quizzes school candidates

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: May 31, 1978

The Community Crier asked the school board candidates these questions:

1. Why are you a candidate for the Plymouth-Canton school board? Include your priorities for education and the areas in which the schools could be improved.

2. Although Salem and Canton high schools have been praised for their large number of programs and classes available to students, do you think there should be a greater concentration on the basics, such as writing, grammar, math, reading and speech?

3. Do you support the concept of an alternative high school? If so, where would you put it?

4. The school board recently granted appeals of the random selection process if a student would be split from his neighborhood friends. Do you think this was proper? And overall, did the board handle the random selection appeals process well?

5. About 60 per cent of the additional funds in next year's budget is needed to meet increased school employe salaries. Have these contracts place too great a burden on the school budget?

2. I do not feel there should be a greater concentration on basics in high school as I believe basics should have been concentrated on in grades one thru eight.

3. I support the concept of an alternative high school if there is a need for such a program and a suitable location with other high school students is found.

4. Since my son was involved in this appeal process, I believe I should not respond to this question. I do not like random selection, however, if it is going to be the way students are assigned there should be some appeal procedure.

5. Inflation is the basic problem with the school budget as well as our own personal budgets. Teachers must make a living as much as we do.

have a successful learning experience. I do not favor placing the program in an elementary or middle school.

4. I was not on the board when the original random selection vote was taken and the appeals process was set up. The problem arose because no definite criteria was set for processing the appeals. Anyone who wished was given the right to appeal. A cut off date was set and the appeals were individually considered. The majority of the appeals asked to be changed for reasons of neighborhood friends.

The board, in an effort to respond to the majority, set the criteria for this year on the basis of neighborhood.

At the same time the board reaffirmed its stand on random selection and said that all future appeals would be judged only on the criteria of having a brother or sister already at the park in one of the schools. For me, the process was trying to find a solution this year while clearly defining the criteria for future appeals.

5. Schools are a service organization. The services given are supplied by people. In order to keep competent qualified personnel you must pay a wage comparable to what other districts in the area pay. Plymouth-Canton School wages are in the middle range -- not the highest nor are they the lowest.

ELAINE J. KIRCHGATTER

1. I am a candidate for the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education because I would like to continue to serve the people of this district by helping to establish school policy. My short time on the board has given me valuable background information which will be needed for future decisions.

My first priority for education is the basic skills (language arts, social studies, mathematics, and science) -- at elementary, middle and high school. I also feel, once we have satisfied these needs, that the areas of physical education, music, art, gifted and special education are important additions to any strong curriculum.

Our school district would be improved if students, parents, teachers, administrators, employees and school board members worked together more closely. There is a definite need for improved transportation.

2. As I mentioned before, we need to emphasize the basics, at all levels. Not everyone agrees on what the basics are, especially at the high school level, beyond the language arts and mathematics. Basic courses ARE offered at the high school.

We, as parents, need to work with the counselors to assure that our children concentrate on those "Basics" which we feel are important. Once each student has fulfilled the necessary basics he/she can choose from a variety of advanced or enrichment programs to "round out" his/her education. How much we offer, beyond the basics, is dependent upon the community's continued financial support.

3. Yes, I support the concept of an alternative high school, if we as a district can afford it in money and space. Presently I am not aware of an ideal location. Various locations have been discussed. I would be open to any suggestions the citizens may have.

4. As a member of the school board I support the decision the majority reached, however I did not vote with the majority on this issue. Hopefully the process being used for the Class of 1983 will not create the same problems.

5. The 60% of additional funds in next year's budget is necessary to satisfy increments, cost of living, and the increased cost of fringe benefits for all employees of the district (approx. 1500). This is dictated by the already negotiated contracts. Yes, it has placed a burden on the school budget, but I cannot say it is any worse than labor contracts negotiated in other segments of our economy.

WILLIAM JOHNSON

1. I am a candidate for the Plymouth-Canton school board because I believe I may offer a viewpoint of school business not presently provided for on the board. I have been educated both in engineering and law.

CAROL DAVIS

1. I am a candidate for the Plymouth-Canton school board because I have a deep interest in the quality of education that children receive in this school district.

During the time I have been on the board we have begun work on goal-based curriculum. This is a K-12 plan which will give continuity of program on a district wide basis. I think we need these guidelines along with better communication among all of the persons involved in education. This includes board, administration, staff, and community talking together reaching decisions which will benefit all students.

2. We have classes at the park called Grammar, Writing I, II, III, IV, and Creative Writing. Also available are such courses as Basic Reading Skills Reading Speed and Comprehension, Inter-Personal Communication, Public Speaking, and Debate. The math department has a wide range of subjects from General Mathematics and Business Math to the more complicated math in Calculus and Trigonometry.

The subjects you speak of as basics are available at the park. The program a student follows and the areas he concentrates in are planned by the student and his parents.

3. I support the concept of an alternative high school because not all students learn in the same way. Some students need a different educational plan to meet their needs. The program should be in a place where the students can

Saving farms won't be cheap

Under the 1976 Land Use Plan, the cost of buying development rights to a homeowner who plans to live in Canton for seven years after the rights are purchased, will be $115.28 more in taxes.

That figure is the total amount of additional taxes paid during the seven years, John Bosch, accountant for Seidman and Seidman said.

However, in 15 years, Bosch added, the same homeowner would recover his $115.28 in taxes and also "could save an additional $629.07.

School taxes were not included in either the study or summary. A homeowner could save money by buying development rights because the land would remain undeveloped, according to the study, and therefore homeowners would not have to foot the costs of extending sewers or other municipal services westward.

"There are many legal problems that may develop in the future," Bosch warned.

"We can't answer those right now."

Canton Finance Director Mike Gorman has said that implementing the development rights purchase program would be a two or three year process, and "difficult, because no one else has ever done it here before."

"I hope the board does not consider putting this on the November ballot," Bart Berg, Canton planning commissioner said. "No land should be used as a pawn during an election year."

Trustees also discussed printing copies of the study and making it available to Cantonites. However, the item was tabled to allow trustees and officials time to study the summary.

government says you have to be completely open. You can't turn applications down, but there is such a need in our own church that we can't house everybody who seeks quarters here."

Trustee Breen questioned the decision of the St. John's group, which has formed a non-profit corporation for the purpose, to apply for federal aid.

"I feel the church congregation can care for the aged without going to the federal government for a handout," he said.

Gerald Farnell, of Apple-tree Drive in the Trailwood subdivision, submitted a petition signed by 17 of 20 homeowners whose property abuts the church property on the west and south who opposed the project. He said it jeopardized the values of adjacent residential property.

Another Trailwood resident, Jeannette Engels, took exception to Farnell's view. "Seventeen people are hardly representative of the 300 homeowners in the (Trailwood) area," she said. "More than just living in a middle-class, middle-income neighborhood, we'd like to raise our four children in a caring community."

Tent revival

Canton trustees granted permission to Main Street Baptist Church to hold a tent revival on its property at Joy and Canton Center roads in August.

Rev. Headley Thweatt, pastor of the church, said the congregation hopes to build a church there soon and the revival is to raise funds.

Main Street Baptist Church is currently located on South Main Street in Plymouth.

Pair wins scholarships

Sue Dunn and Susan Rekek each received a $1,000 scholarship from The Canton Jaycees at the annual Canton Jaycees Awards Banquet Saturday, May 20.

The two students were selected from a field of 32 applicants. Dunn is a senior at Bishop Borgess High School in Redford and resides at 44136 Dutchess Dr. Rekek resides at 42242 Hanford Rd. and will graduate this year from Canton High School.

Canton netted $17,749.20 from its first auction recently, Treasurer Anne Bradley announced.

Rising values no boon to school

local school districts, every district is guaranteed at least a certain sum per pupil. This coming year, it is expected to be $1,471 per pupil, according to Hloben.

To determine the state's share of that figure, you must first know the State Equalized Valuation (SEV) per pupil in the district. (SEV is one-half of the total assessed property values in the district.)

Since 1978's estimates SEV for Plymouth-Canton is $579,452,177, you divide it by the number of pupils in the district (16,100) to get the SEV per pupil - $36,000.

The $36,000 is then multiplied by the number of mills the local district assesses up to a limit of 30 set by the state. Plymouth-Canton assesses more than 30, so you arrive at $1,080 ($36,000 x .030).

Subtract $1,080 from the state-guaranteed figure - $1,471 - and you get the amount of money per pupil the state will allocate to Plymouth-Canton - $391.

As you can see, the figure of $1,080 will increase if the total property value in the district goes up. If it rises, then state aid drops.

But, you may ask, the district is still assessing local taxes. Don't these increases compensate for the drop in state aid?

To a degree, yes, but only to balance the drop in aid from Lansing.

To see this balancing effect, calculate the state aid expected if Plymouth-Canton's total property value rises to $645,000,000 next year, and compare it to the figure just calculated.

Assuming the same number of students (16,100), the SEV per pupil rises to $40,065. Multiply this times the state limit of 30 mills and you get $1,201.

Subtract $1,201 from $1,471 and you get $270 per pupil from the state - a good deal lower than this year's expected sum of $391 per pupil.

S.E.V.	$579,452,177	$645,000,000
Locally raised funds on 30 mills	17,383,000	19,350,000
State Aid	6,295,000	4,347,000
Total	23,678,000	23,697,000

THIS CHART shows that the total of state aid plus locally raised funds stays the same for the schools even though the property taxes rise.

Now we must figure out the total income for the two years adding state aid and local taxes.

In this year, the $391 per pupil times the total number of students (16,100) equals $6,295,000 in state aid.

Assuming the district assesses 30 mills, this will raise $17,383,000 in local taxes. The sum of the state and the local funds is $23,678,000.

If your figures are correct, the second scenario should come close to this.

In the second model, multiplying the state aid per pupil ($270) times the same number of students (16,100) gives you a total state aid sum of $4,347,000.

Raised locally by the same 30 mills would be the sum of $19,350,000 ($645,000,000 x .030). Add this to the state aid ($4,347,000) and you get a total school budget of $23,697,000.

As you can see, this figure is almost identical to the school budget in the first model ($23,678,000).

Thus, you can see how the state formula keeps school budgets relatively constant, even though local property values rise.

Proposed St. John's Episcopal Church Senior Citizens Housing: Mr. Gornick moved that the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees officially go on record as indicating that there is an unmet need for Senior Citizen Housing in the Plymouth Community and that statement to be available to anyone who would propose such a use and they could use it as part of their community needs survey. He further added that it falls in the same category as a number of other unmet needs that this community has, such as unmet recreational needs and that anyone interested in trying to do something of a private, semi-private, congregational or whatever that the Township would have that kind of statement available to them. Supported by Mr. West and carried unanimously.

Helen Richardson, Clerk, Re: Notification to the Board that sufficient signatures have been filed in the Clerk's office requesting a referendum on the Byron, Sly, Tonquish Sanitary Sewer Project.
