C & O promises to solve traffic delays

Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad officials promised solutions to traffic delays in the City of Plymouth within two weeks, City Manager Fred Yockey said Thursday.

"They're going to try to correct the problems," said Fred Yockey who met with C&O officials last Wednesday.

The meeting was prompted by two derailments within city limits in a two-week span earlier this month, said Yockey. Delays caused by the derailments and by long and slow-moving trains in general were discussed at the meeting, he said.

"They told me that they were having trouble with the railroad union," said the city manager. "Also, Plymouth is the hub of the Chessie system. On the average, 44 trains go through here per day."

Yockey declined to say specifically what steps might be taken by the C&O, but said that a grade separation (a bridge for the tracks) is not being considered.

"A grade separation would cost $4 million to $6 million," said Yockey. "There's no way the city could fund it."

Will lame ducks ramrod sign law?

BY CHAS CHILD

Should Canton's Board of Trustees, with about a month left in office, pass a sign ordinance which permits billboards and ground signs for business?

"No," say opponents of the proposed law which could be approved by the board in November, before two and possibly four of the present members are replaced by voters.

Besides allowing free-standing ground signs and billboards along I-275, the proposed ordinance also permits signs on Michigan Avenue and Ford near I-275 up to 230 square feet, which is a slightly larger than the present Meijer Thrifty Acres sign.

The current sign ordinance, passed during the administration of former Supervisor Robert Greenstein, prohibits free-standing ground signs and billboards.

At last Tuesday's board meeting, Greenstein, who is running for a trustee seat, said that the administration of Supervisor Harold Stein is trying to push the new ordinance through before the new board is seated.

Noel Culbert, who earned the Democratic nomination for supervisor on the Nov. 7 ballot by defeating Stein in the primary said, "Future boards should rule on this. If we try to repeal it, it would be too late - the signs would be already up."

Whether the current board adopts the ordinance depends, however, on the Wayne County Planning Commission. If the commission approves the proposed law at its meeting scheduled for today at 9:30 a.m., then the Canton board could approve it at one of its November meetings.

If, on the other hand, the county planning commission tables the document today, it could not rule on the ordinance until its next meeting on Nov. 15.

To approve the ordinance, the Canton board would then have to call a special meeting before the new board takes over on the next scheduled meeting Nov. 21.

In reading the document, Phillips said he found a number of technical mistakes in the text which should delay its approval by the Wayne County Planning Commission. "In one particular section, there is no provision for a setback of the ground signs, for example," he said.

Greenstein said the administration of Supervisor Harold Stein is trying to push the new ordinance through before the new board is seated.

Plymouth may lose super sewer

BY EDWARD WENDOVER

If the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has its way, the "Super Sewer" proposal as it has been known, may be radically changed - and would not serve the Plymouth Community.

The EPA is reviewing the proposal and is expected to issue its final decision in the next two weeks.

Currently the EPA is leaning towards a three-part project proposed 50-mile long giant

Schools squelch male queen

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The day has dawned when women reporters can interview in the men's locker room and female construction workers are donning hardhats before climbing steel frameworks.

So what's next?

How about a 17-year-old young man who wants to be homecoming queen at Salem High School?

If the notion sounds a bit tongue-in-cheek, senior Jay Finch agreed. But he said, "I wanted to turn the pro-women's libbers around and get a new face in the crowd."

Having served on Student Council for four years, and participated in forensics for two years and debate for one and one-half years, Jay said he was well-qualified for the title.

"Selecting a homecoming queen should be more than a contest of who looks better," said Jay.

Under Title IX, schools are required to provide equal opportunities for both young men and women, so when the nominations were opened last week, Jay was openly campaigning for the title.

girls who wanted to be queen were against me," said Jay.

Furthermore, he said, some of the students who greeted him in the halls stopped, saying "hello." "But," he added, "there wasn't any physical hostility."

Jay said teachers and administrators were divided about his campaign. Sue Smith, reading teacher and person in charge of the queen's election, said, "I'm sure a lot of it was a joke."

Meanwhile, Jay continued campaigning.

"The super-jocks and the

By Friday afternoon, when nominations were tabulated to draw up a final list of candidates from the senior class, senior Chris Scott estimated that Jay Finch has tallied about 25 votes.

Scott said some girls only get two or three nominations to get on the ballot.

Then Jay found out his name wasn't included on the final ballot and school officials announced a new position - Homecoming King - would be elected too.

Asked if he would run for king, Jay said "no."

Hilltop Glen fire ruled an accident

The Oct. 1 blaze that reduced the Plymouth Township Clubhouse to charred ruins was an accidental fire, says a report filed in the Fire Marshall's Office of the Michigan State Police.

According to Detective Sergeant John McKenzie, a smoldering cigarette may have caused the initial fire that broke out in a trash can soon after the club closed.

After a neighbor told operator Dan Ross the fire alarm was ringing, Ross removed the can and extinguished the fire, said McKenzie. Then Ross aired out the building and left, said McKenzie.

But apparently, the original fire from the trash can spread to the wood paneling behind the can, said McKenzie. After Ross left, this fire spread into the office, he said.

Plymouth Township firefighters fought the blaze with two trucks. No injuries were reported, according to a report filed in the Plymouth Township Fire Dept.

McKenzie estimated the damage caused by the fire at $20,000-30,000.

County OKs Twp. sewer

Plymouth Township's proposed westward extension of sewers was approved unanimously by the Wayne County Dept. of Public Works Board last week.

The 4 to 0 vote by the DPW board clears the way for approval by the county's Ways and Means Committee and the full Board of Commissioners.

Following Wayne County's full approvals, the proposal must be OK'd by the State's Municipal Finance Commission.

The Township is under court order to extend the sewers even though voters rejected the idea on the August ballot.

The project is being rushed through legal channels to beat possible approval of the Headlee tax limitations proposal on the Michigan ballot in three weeks. If Headlee passes, all approvals for the sewer bonding project must be approved by Dec. 22 - the cutoff date - or face delays of up to two years, say the township's legal and financial advisors.

Unity surveys coming

Some 1,000 registered voters in the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township will be receiving surveys this week polling them on their opinions of local governmental services.

The surveys are being sent by the Citizens Committee for United Services, a joint committee formed by the city and the township to study the short- and long-range advantages and disadvantages of combining services provided by the two municipalities.

Registered voters lists were used to select the names of those receiving the questionnaires.

Twp., developers agree on zoning

Residential use was approved for a tract of land in western Plymouth Township as part of a settlement agreement between Plymouth West Three Associates and the township. But commercial or office use was banned in the agreement which marks the end of a four-year dispute between land developers and local residents.

The 130-acre site, bordered by Colony Farms subdivision and Joy, Ridge and Ann Arbor Rds., can be developed to include 72 condominiums, 225 single-family units and some land for open-space areas, according to the settlement.

Plymouth Township Attorney Donald Morgan announced the out-of-court settlement at the township Board of Trustees meeting last Tuesday night.

Plymouth West Three Associates tried to rezone the land under three separate applications submitted to the township board. The final application was submitted in Oct. 1977.

All three requests were denied by township trustees.

The site will be sold to Spagnoli Associates for development, and they must follow a check-list of specifications including the location and dimension of the single-family units and the open-space areas, according to the settlement. The site evaluation will be prepared by township engineers, Norman L. Dietrich Associates.

Township engineers will also include the location and design of the sanitary, water, and storm sewer facilities in the check-list, according to the settlement agreement.

However, the water facilities and the check-list by Dietrich will be paid for and included in the total development of the property, the agreement stipulates.

Township trustees were pleased with the settlement because it permits the same type of buildings in the area. Township Clerk Helen Richardson said, "We'll continue to uphold the same neighborhood as we've started there."

Residents who objected to rezoning the area for commercial businesses will be happy with the settlement, said Morgan.

City to sell parking spots

The Plymouth City Commission took the first step Monday night to re-enact the ordinance which permits merchants to purchase parking credits in lieu of providing spaces.

The law was recently declared invalid by a Circuit Court judge who said it had been improperly enacted by the commission.

With a few minor changes made by City Attorney Chuck Lowe, the present ordinance was referred by the commission to the city's Parking Commission, Zoning Board of Appeals, and Planning Commission for their advice.

A vacant Plymouth factory is the leading candidate to house a 200-employee assembly plant to build classic automobiles.

Harry Shay, a Detroit industrialist, said that the Evans Products plant on Plymouth Road, is being considered along with four other sites in the metropolitan area for the production line.

The first car set for production is the 1928 Model A Ford Roadster. A fiberglass replica of the body will be mounted on a Ford drivetrain and 2.8 litre engine to create the finished car. The final cost? Between $4,900 and $5,900, said Shay.

With plans to start production in December, Shay said that his eventual goal is 40 per day at the plant.

The classic car, a convertible with a rumble seat, will be marketed through Ford dealers throughout the country on a one-per-dealer basis.

Six other vintage cars are slated for production in future years, he said.

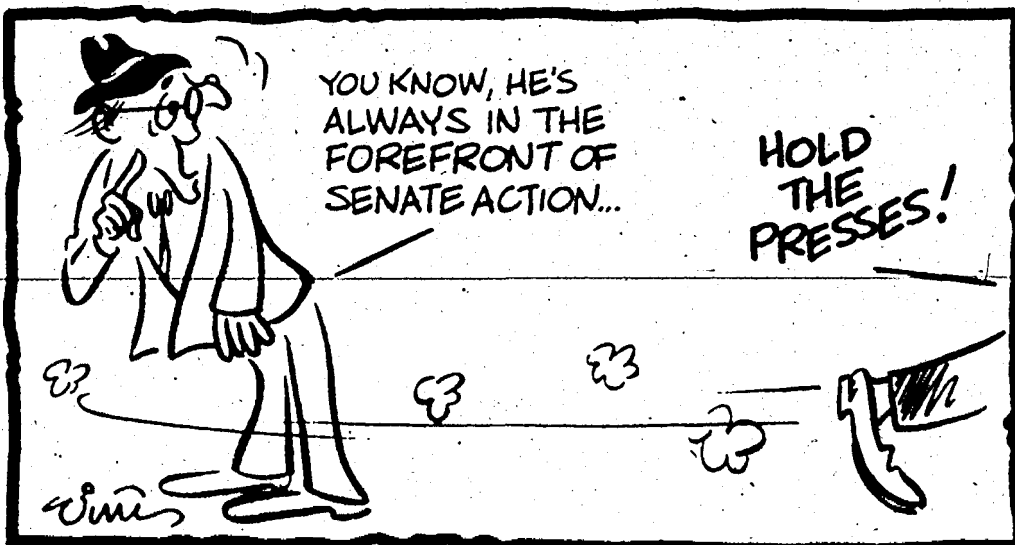

On the production line, Shay said that he plans three-man teams which will completely assemble the autos. The teams that build the cars with the best repair records will get bonuses, he added.

The final decision on the site of the assembly plant will be made within a month, said Shay, who has worked for all four major American auto makers for a total of 30 years.

If the firm locates in Plymouth, it will be the city's second auto assembly plant. A pioneer car company, Alter Motors, built cars in a factory on Farmer Street in the 1910s.

Heidt leaves bank to begin new venture

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

If you were the 42-year-old president of a new bank that in four years joined the top two per cent of U.S. banks in return on assets, wouldn't you be content?

Chuck Heidt isn't.

He resigned last week as president of First National Bank of Plymouth, which he helped start, to launch a new company that will service financial institutions by preparing mortgage documents and other paper work through a computerized process.

"I've been extraordinarily pleased with what's happened with the bank," Heidt confided, adding that his associations there played a part in deciding to remain as chairman of the board at First National.

"I don't really want to be apart from the bank.

"But this is something I've wanted to do on my own," he said, explaining his new venture. "I'm 42 years old and it's time (to move) or I'm out of time," Heidt said.

Document Processing Systems, Heidt's new company, will be headquartered in Plymouth and will use a computer system to prepare paperwork that banks often find too repetitious, too complicated, or too cyclical to provide.

Heidt estimated the company would be operating in four to five months.

CHARLES HEIDT

KENNETH D. CURRIE

1st National names Currie new president

Kenneth D. Currie, formerly vice president of City National Bank, has been named president and chief executive officer of the First National Bank of Plymouth.

Currie replaces Chuck Heidt, who has resigned his presidency of the bank to form a new corporation which will serve financial institutions. Heidt remains as chairman of the board of directors at First National.

The new bank president, selected by the board last week, has 20 years in the banking business, most recently as vice president and assistant division manager for City National's commercial banking division. He received degrees from the University of Detroit and Wayne State University.

Currie, his wife and three children, currently reside in Grosse Pointe Park and are planning to move to Plymouth.

He officially assumes his duties here the first week in November when Heidt leaves the presidency.

William Sempliner, secretary of the First National board of directors, said, "We wish Chuck (Heidt) success in his new venture and are confident that the First National Bank of Plymouth will continue to grow and prosper under the new direction of Ken Currie."

First National Bank of Plymouth is a subsidiary of Northern States Banking Corp. which also owns City National Bank.

Hazard's still there

NEIGHBORS OF THIS BARN at 41167 E. Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth Township have complained that the building poses a hazard and that the township isn't doing anything about it. Plymouth Township Building Dept. Supervisor Jim Briggs told The Crier that a ticket charging the owner, Chester Dasher, with "failure to remove a fire hazard and unsafe building" was issued a month ago. Briggs said Dasher had promised him to demolish the building and clean up the property. Dasher, who is building two new homes on the site, declined to comment on the situation to The Crier but the building still stands. (Crier photo by Chas Child.)

EDITOR:

This is a response to Chas Child's "Child's Play" which often appears on your editorial page. It seems as if Mr. Child's column certainly is aptly named, since it seems to this writer that Mr. Child's supposed analysis of current topics of interest only tend to scratch the surface of the subject and lack insight to any degree whatsoever.

Let us take for instance, the "Child's Play" of Oct. 4, wherein there is a sandbox article concerning Canton's Farmland Preservation Program, and wherein Mr. Child accuses me particularly of "fleeing from my former roost" which I take to mean, that he alleges that I no longer support the Farmland Preservation Program of Canton Township as supposedly touted by Harold Stein.

Had Mr. Child but scratched the surface of this issue, he would have ascertained that I personally have spent almost five years of my life designing, creating, fighting for, and ultimately attempting to implement Canton's Farmland Preservation Program against overwhelming odds, horrible distortions, and tremendous lack of cooperation. Perhaps one of the more vocal, though unlearned opponents of Canton's Farmland Preservation, has always been the present supervisor of Canton Township, Harold Stein.

Prior to Mr. Stein's running for office almost two years ago, he took a full-page ad in the newspapers asking the voters of Canton Township to vote against the Farmland Preservation Program and Partial Development in Canton Township, alleging that every land owner of the west side of the township, whether speculator or not, had a full right to his profits, and that it was only good that Canton develop bigger and faster. During Mr. Stein's first election campaign he took the very same position as did his entire slate.

Now, all of a sudden, after losing the primary election, Mr. Stein has now become the advocate, at least on the surface, in support of Canton's Farmland Preservation Program. I believe Mr. Stein's support is phony.

In a recent article it was made clear by the financial director of the township that no monies could be spent for purchase of development rights for at least three years. If this is true, and we must believe Mr. Stein's own financial director, then it seems to me that the placing of a four-mill tax question on a ballot already overburdened with tax issues, such as the Headlee, Tisch, and the Voucher Plan is veritable suicide for the Farm Preservation question.

It seems to me that if the present administration was truly interested in a Farmland Preservation Program and not

I'm referring to the percussion section of the CEP Marching Band. Their last competition at Western Michigan University, the "Cavalcade of Bands," competing against eight bands, one from Indiana, the percussion section of the CEP Band came home with a trophy for first place. The whole band did a remarkable job and earned third place scoring higher than last year.

The point being maybe if it had been a basketball victory, or football, or baseball, they might have rated a picture, their names, or congratulations. What do they get? One sentence under the headline on page 21 of The Crier, "CEP Band Takes Third." It seems the only time they get coverage is when they can't show up for a football game... then they make headlines!

Remember this is only the second year for this band to enter competition. They won first place by out-performing all other bands, including Flushing, who has been Grand Champion for several years.

Because no one else seems to marvel at their musical ability, many extra hard hours of practice, and determination, we offer our congratulations. I'm sorry we could not offer a picture with their trophy to show the jubilation in their faces as they realized they were No. 1! Please respect them, they brought pride and honor to the school and our community.

Canton's businesses need ground signs as the proposed sign ordinance before the Board of Trustees permits. But the proposed law gives the township's merchants more than they need.

It permits billboards along I-275 and signs as large as 230 square feet for businesses on Ford Road and Michigan Avenue if it is within 1,200 feet of the interstate.

If Canton is to avoid the fate of the busy blight of Westland's major streets, these sections should be removed.

Otherwise, the proposed ordinance, presented to the Board of Trustees last Tuesday, is a good compromise between the business community and persons who dislike signs. The clause which allows general business signs a 40 per cent increase in size if it uses natural materials such as wood or brick is especially diplomatic.

Hopefully, township officials will jawbone for natural signs as businessmen plan their buildings and signs.

So with a few changes, the proposed sign ordinance would serve the community well. And the present township board should take the time to correct these and other technical errors in the text, rather than rushing it through before the new board takes office Nov. 21.

Hastily enacted law seems to be always bad law in the interests of developers, builders, and speculators, the millage issue would have been placed on the ballot, at least for the first year, substantially lower than four mills, or in the alternative, the Township Board would have given a promise to the people that it would levy no more than one or one and a half mills for the first year.

I believe the present millage question has nothing to do with the desire to preserve farmlands. On the contrary, I believe it is Mr. Stein's way, as a last gasp before leaving office, to destroy the program to preserve Canton's farmland. Lest there be any question left in the mind of the author of "Child's Play" let me hasten to add that I have not spent the last five years playing children's games nor thinking children's thoughts. My highest priority will be and has been to save Canton's farmland and to create a very special character for Canton Township. I think however, that supporting a millage to defeat the program is not the way to do it.

GROWING UP CAN BE PAINFUL, said Hunt Riegel, director of the model room resource center, in explaining why students in middle-school may cause problems in the classroom. An afternoon workshop for some district teachers allowed them to discuss problems most frequently encountered in the classroom.

Growing pains may hinder learning, teachers say

"About 30 per cent of the students in local schools can't read and write at the average level of their middle or high school classes," estimated Dr. Hunt Riegel of the Plymouth-Canton schools.

Riegel met with teachers to discuss ways to help students who are behind their classmates academically at an afternoon conference for sixth through 12th grade teachers on Oct. 5.

One of the biggest problems occurs when an elementary student in fifth grade becomes a young teenager in sixth grade. "The child is growing up - his body is changing. His social relationships are different and his whole world is becoming new to him," said Riegel.

Couple these changes with the fact that the focus of classes shifts from child-oriented to subject-oriented from fifth to sixth grades.

"Students may get lost in the shuffle in middle school when they have five or six teachers," said Riegel.

Transitions from elementary grades to middle schools are not easy, and most teachers at the conference agreed with him, said Riegel.

"The majority of teachers are student-oriented, but they aren't sure how to find the time to meet the student's needs," said Riegel.

He cited the example of a teacher with five classes who sees 130 faces every day and has 130 papers to correct. "The teacher doesn't have time to focus on the individual needs of each student," he said.

A second problem that surfaced at the conference was the teacher's difficulty in dealing with the individual needs of 25 students.

"How can a teacher be expected to teach material to 25 students in a class and reach them all when their levels of reading and writing are not all the same?" Riegel asked.

He said educators must decide if the level of the course should be lowered to meet the student's needs or if they should set up special courses in reading and writing for students unable to read and write at their level.

For example, should a student unable to read and understand a science lesson be given a set of headphones to listen to the lesson? Or should the student be placed in a special reading class to concentrate on that skill?

Texts must be adapted to reach students on various levels, said Riegel.

He works in a model resource room at Salem High School, funded by the federal government to develop books, tapes, and other equipment for both teachers and students.

The Oct. 5 conference helped teachers identify students' needs and raised the teacher's level of awareness, said Riegel.

After evaluating the teachers' opinions about the conference, Riegel said he will visit each school to set up various strategies for dealing with some of the teachers' problems.

Young music-makers tune up for Nov. 28

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN

Sounds of music drift through the air each Tuesday evening, as the Plymouth Youth Symphony prepares for its Nov. 28 debut concert.

Any young person eighth grade and up interested in music is welcome to join the youth symphony which meets in the Salem High School Orchestra room, every Tuesday night from 6:30 to 9 p.m. The symphony is also open to students seventh grade and below, but they must audition first.

The Plymouth Youth Symphony Association was established in 1967 to provide children and young adults with an opportunity to learn and perform fine music. According to Joan Seay, president of the board of directors, "emphasis has been placed on appreciation and enjoyment with concert performances adding to the total experience. We are in need of more string instruments."

Robert Burr is the conductor of the 49 member symphony and Vickie Vorreiter is the conductor of the string section.

Besides concerts and practicing, the youth symphony also plans fall and spring trips to visit other symphonies. They will be visiting the Plymouth Symphony in January or February which is a "great experience for the young players," said Mrs. Seay.

In January they will hold a concerto competition which is open to anyone. Featured soloists for the spring concert will be picked from this competition.

The first concert of the season will be held Nov. 28 at 8 p.m. in Canton High School little theater. There is no charge for admission.

Anyone wishing to participate in this program may make checks payable to the Plymouth Youth Symphony. It is a tax deductible, non-profit organization. A list of contributors will appear in all concert programs.

Woman cop quits amid personality conflicts

BY CHAS CHILD

Blaming "internal conflicts, politics and pettiness among some members of the Plymouth Police Department, Officer Anne Herndon has resigned from the force.

The city's first and only woman officer, Herndon wrote in a letter of resignation: "I can't handle and choose not to handle the internal, administrative, union and everyday politics and other small town emotional dynamics that go on once off the street and among co-workers."

Asked why Herndon, who spent five years on the Detroit police force resigned, Police Chief Tim Ford said, "it appears she had a difficult time adjusting to the needs and demands of a police department of our size.

"I deeply regret she left and her leaving came as a surprise. But she was the best judge of what she had to do," Ford added.

Herndon said, however, that it was some Plymouth policemen who had trouble adjusting to her style and methods. "They had trouble dealing with me. They had fears and jealousies of me since I was from Detroit," she said.

Despite the apparent personal conflicts Herndon had with some members of the force, Ford said that he did not believe her resignation was connected with the fact that she is a woman. "These things happen all the time. I can't believe anyone here would treat her any differently."

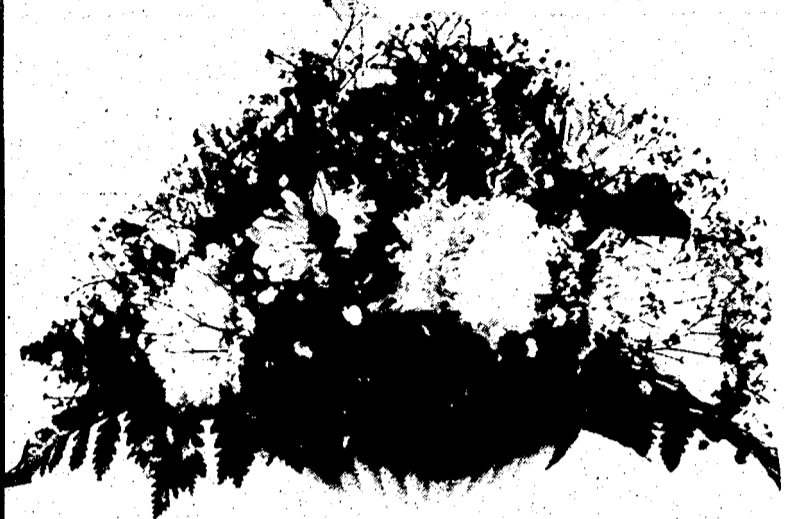

"I enjoyed workers there," said Herndon. "There were some co-workers I enjoyed. I was happy and proud to be a suburban and Plymouth police officer. In fact, I think I was more suited for suburban work because I could spend more time with people, say, with family trouble.

"In Detroit we were sent out on many runs per night, with no time to help that much," she added. "But in a smaller department, this type of activity (politics and pettiness) cuts much deeper than in a large department."

Herndon joined the Plymouth police in December, 1977, after working both on the street and undercover for the Detroit police from 1973 through 1977. Two years before that she worked as a social worker.

City hires Behman

John Behman, 23, has been hired by the City of Plymouth as its Senior Citizen Co-ordinator.

Behman replaced Terry Carroll who recently was hired by Canton Township to be its Federal Grant Co-ordinator.

Responsible for managing the city's senior citizen housing complex, Tonquish Creek Manor, Behman will also organize and direct senior programs.

"I've been reviewing Terry's work and getting to know the city and what's available here and in surrounding communities. I hope to get seniors involved."

JOHN BEHMAN

A native of Dearborn, Behman holds a BA from Michigan State. He started last week.

School issues to be aired Monday

Public opinion on school issues will be expressed at the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education forum Monday evening at 7 p.m. at the Board Office, 454 S. Harvey St. The regular board meeting will follow the session for hearing from citizens.

Anyone with a question, comment, or suggestion about education here should come to the forum. The purpose of the meeting is to answer questions from parents and other citizens and also to hear their views.

An informal exchange of ideas is planned. Citizens may ask their questions directly or write them on cards for Board members to answer. Comments will be handled the same way.

Questions and comments will be held to three minutes each in order to provide ample time for all to participate. The meeting will be conducted by Tom Yack, president of the School Board.

The last School Board forum was April 5.

City buys Ford van

Plymouth may not be a company town, but it has a company City Commission.

Just before the commission purchased a Ford van for the DPW Monday night, Commissioner James Houk jokingly suggested that his six fellow commissioners abstain from voting on the issue.

Of Houk's six colleagues, four work for Ford Motor Co., while the husbands of the two women on the commission, Mary Childs and Beverly McAninch, are employed by the auto company.

The commission approved the purchase of the Ford product 7-0.

Liquor to flow at old plant

The liquor license of a proposed restaurant at 340 N. Main Street was extended by the Plymouth City Commission Monday night.

The restaurant will be housed in the first floor of the old Markham air rifle factory which is now under reconstruction.

"We hope to open the restaurant by Jan. 1," said Harold Guenther, one of the partners in the renovation project.

At last, the chance all parents have been waiting for has finally arrived. It's the night of the school openhouse, and mom and dad get a chance to meet this superb human being who knows all there is to know about everything and is never wrong.

At first glance, this superior person, commonly referred to as "my teacher," doesn't look any different than the rest of us. He (or she) has two eyes, a nose and a friendly smile. I wonder why "because my teacher said so" carries so much more weight with a child than what dumb ole mom says.

Many thoughts pass through your mind as you stand there talking to the teacher. "So this is the person my child thinks is so great - ha. I bet he's not really all that smart . . . yet, he sure has a way with kids. He's a good looking guy so I can understand why all the girls have a crush on him."

These meetings must be awkward for a teacher sometimes, but have you ever wondered what the teacher thinks as he looks back at you, the mother of this angelic little creature. (You know the creature I mean - the sweet little kid who searched until he found a huge puddle to ride his bike through, then couldn't understand how his new shoes and light blue jeans got covered with mud.) Why would the teacher think, standing there looking at me, that my child might be a little unorganized. My hair is a little messed up, but at least I have two shoes on that match.

Then it comes . . . "I read the editorial you wrote about the schools last week." He (or she) doesn't say whether or not they agree with you, it's just their way of telling you that they know what's going on. As you stand there feeling like a little kid, you get the feeling this teacher really does know a lot, but maybe not everything.

Canton Jaycettes held a fashion show last Tuesday evening, complete with the latest in clothes designs and hair styles. Members of the club who modeled the fashions were Elaine Burger, Nicki Wilson, Sue Roth, Sue Dickie and Debbie Hose.

One of the most modern outfits shown was an ice blue disco outfit. It was the new street length dress worn over straight leg, tight fitting pants. The ever-popular wool skirts and blazers are back on the fashion market again this year. Most of the women say they are finally getting used to the skirt lengths, but aren't looking forward to wearing hats, which are supposedly on the fashion upswing.

The new metro hair fashions for fall and winter come in four basic lengths: Shortest, short, mid length, and long. One of the newest ideas is for the ears to show, no matter what length the rest of the hair is. Combs worn in the hair are becoming popular, and many of the styles show curls in front.

Don't forget to visit the Pilgrim Garden Club's annual plant boutique this weekend at the Edison Mall on Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street. The sale will run Friday night from 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Fashion plates parade at luncheon

PG. 17

Canton's Apple Run Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association hosted a fashion show and luncheon last week at the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Westland.

Following the lunch put on by the "Luncheon is Served" program, club members and their guests enjoyed the latest in fashions presented by Lilley's Boutique.

Jeannie Lilley, owner of the shop, was the commentator as the models displayed everything from casual wear, including heavy sweater and slack outfits, to the new disco dresses and the fitted leg evening pants. Soft materials are popular this year in both street length dresses and long evening gowns, with special attention being payed to decorative detail.

Bonita Nowicki of Canton was hostess for the luncheon and fashion show. She is the ways and means committee chairman for the club.

Early fumbles beat Rocks, 21-16

BY ERIC OLSON

The superstitions that accompany Friday the 13th became a reality for the Salem football team as they lost their first game of the season to Suburban Eight rival Trenton, 21-16 at home.

From the beginning of the contest it was obvious that it was the Rock gridders who had seen a black cat, walked under a ladder, and broken the locker room mirror before the game as Salem fumbled the first two times they touched the ball to stake the Trojans to an early 14-0 lead — a lead the Rocks never overcame.

On the opening kickoff, Trenton had the power of the rabbit's foot working for them as Salem's Craig Stack coughed up the ball at the Rock 48-yard line after a 28-yard return.

The Trojans used the break to push their first touchdown across. Trenton's drive took 14 plays (all on the ground) consuming 6:22 on the clock with quarterback Brian Tabin capping off the drive with a one-yard dive into the end zone. Dave Mehrhof hit the conversion to put Trenton ahead 7-0.

After receiving Trenton's kickoff Salem's Paul Dillon fumbled on the first play from scrimmage at the Rock 34-yard line. On their first play, the Trojans made 24 yards — nine on a run and 15 on a facemasking penalty to set up a first and goal to go at the 10-yard line.

Three plays later Tabin hit Tight End Bob Riopelle with a nine-yard scoring strike and again the conversion was good to make the score 14-0 with 3:11 remaining in the first quarter.

Salem came back to make the score 14-9 at halftime, but they were never able to draw closer than five points for the rest of the game as in the second half Trenton tallied seven points in the third quarter and Salem got its TD in the fourth stanza.

The loss dropped Salem into a second place tie with Dearborn in the Sub-8 with a 4-1 record and it lowered the Rock's season mark to 5-1. The win left Trenton alone atop the Sub-8 standings with a perfect 5-0 slate.

The loss also dashed Salem's hopes of getting into the state football playoffs and their hopes of raising in the state prep rankings.

Trenton dominated the game statistically, but not on the scoreboard as the Trojans rushed for 318 yards (unofficially) on 56 carries for 22 firstdowns, compared to Salem's 164 yards on the ground on 26 rushes and five first downs.

Only because of their own penalties, turnovers, and Salem's big play defense did the Trojans fail to score more.

The Rocks put together their only long offensive drive of the game at the end of the quarter as they went 81 yards in eight plays with Stack sprinting 26 yards for a TD five seconds into the second quarter. Rich Hanschu kicked the conversion to cut the Trenton lead to 14-7.

On the unsueing kickoff the Trojan turner slipped at his own two-yard line and on the next play Salem linebacker David Wilcox tackled the Trenton runner in the endzone for a safety.

However, Salem was unable to keep the momentum as Trenton on its next possession mounted a nine minute drive, which was only stopped at the Rock 12-yard line by a David McKenzie interception.

Trenton tallied the clinching touchdown in the third quarter when Phil Anderson fumbled at the 20-yard line. Five plays later Trojan tailback Jerry Matwicjczyk went over from the seven. The conversion made it 21-9.

Salem put together a 70-yard, four-play drive to start the fourth quarter to close the gap to 21-16. The touchdown came on a six-yard halfback option pass from Rich Hewlett to Hanschu. The big play on the drive was a 56-yard gallop by Stack.

Getting the ball back, Trenton chewed up the clock by using a grinding ground game, but three penalties halted the drive at the Salem 27-yard line with just 1:13 remaining in the game.

The Rocks tried four long passes, but each one fell harmlessly incomplete to preserve Trenton's 21-16 victory.

Salem's next game is away Friday Oct. 20, against Dearborn Edsel Ford starting at 3:30.

Rocks sixth in regional tourney

BY ERIC OLSON

Despite a No. 1 ranking in the high school coaches poll and a Suburban Eight championship, the Salem golfers will not participate in the state tournament because they placed a lowly sixth in Friday's regional play in Ann Arbor.

Last Tuesday the Rock linksters won the dual meet championship of the Sub-8 by whipping Bentley 157-160 and on Monday Salem won the Sub-8 tournament.

"I really feel bad," said Salem coach Bob Waters. "They deserve a chance to play in the state tournament."

Three teams from the regionals qualified to go on to state competition two of them being Bentley and Northville. In dual meet play the Rocks beat Northville twice and Bentley once during this past season.

Trenton finished second in the Sub-8 tournament with a score of 326, three points more than Salem. Bentley was second with 328.

Eric Heidt was the medalist for Salem with a 78. He was followed by Blake Lundberg 79, Bob Jarvis 82, and Craig Stevens who fired an 84.

Heidt, Lundberg, and Jarvis were all named to the all-league team.

Harrison upends Canton, 14-8

BY PATTY RADZIK

Nobody won last Saturday. It was a day full of bad news. Michigan State upset Michigan, Ohio State lost, the Yankees caught up to the Dodgers in the World Series and the Canton Chiefs football team lost.

The man with the red bandana upon his head, Rusty Mandle, struck again that night, but his efforts were fruitless, as the Chiefs lost their third game of the season, 14-8, at the hands of Farmington Harrison. Mandle, with the cloth under his helmet, rushed for a total of 124 yards, and scored Canton's only touchdown. The scoring drive took six plays to complete, and Mandle did the honors in all six of them for a total of 50-yards. Unfortunately, the touchdown came with 5:32 remaining in the game, after the Hawks already held a 14-point edge.

Right after that, quarterback Scott Dawson hit Steve Gray in the endzone for a 2-point conversion.

Harrison took a commanding 14-0 lead near the end of the third quarter when quarterback Drew Norton threw a five-yard pass into the arms of Jon Brancheau for Farmington's second score of the night.

Brancheau ran nine yards with two minutes on the clock in the first quarter to hand Harrison the lead, and their first touchdown.

Harrison's Dave Turnquist, the biggest guy on the field, standing 6 feet 2 inches high and weighing 201 pounds, clawed his way through Canton's defense for 70 yards and three of his team's eight first downs.

Besides his two touchdowns, Brancheau tossed a 43-yard pass to Kurt Sterns which in fact set up his second romp in the endzone.

Dawson went three for nine in his pass completions for a total of 17 yards gained in the air. Norton was sacked once behind the line of scrimmage by Chief Greg Santilli on a fourth and five decision on Canton's 35. Dawson hit the deck twice, getting bumped by Gerry Prescott and Pete Thompson.

Perhaps the only great thrill, along with a howl of laughter, the Canton fans got happened in the 3rd quarter.

After moving to the Chiefs' 40-yard line, Harrison was forced to punt. Fumbling the snap, kicker Gerry Salatino scooped it up, scurried into a pack of red jerseys and attempted to kick. He tossed the ball up and missed it. Canton gained a good 20 yards because of Salatino's butterfingers (butterfoot?).

In an effort to draw the defense offside, Harrison used a shift into position punt formation which had Canton fooled a couple of times, but never forced incroachment on the Chiefs part.

However, a game is not a game without penalties. Both teams had their share of calls - but Farmington's total was more costly.

Just three penalties consisting of two illegal procedures and call holding call, sent Canton back 2-yards while Harrison got turned around 35 yards for incroachment, illegal procedure, holding, a false start and for delay of game.

"We got a late start," Coach Dave Schuele said after the game. "But we played well after the first quarter, and did an adequate job.

"Harrison was supposed to pull a laugher on Canton," Schuele continued. "Nobody was chuckling over there. They were glad to get out of there the way they did."

The Chiefs' next game is on Walled Lake Western's field, starting at 8 p.m. "They are an improved ball team," Schuele said of Western. "I'm impressed with their defense.

"We're going to have to put on a good performance in order to beat them." The game is Western's Homecoming night.

Rock cagers win, now 9-0

All their sprints up and down the court and all their sweat during practice lead to Salem versus Bentley in girls basketball last Tuesday night and Rocks came out on top 58-36.

"It was a great match-up with two of the three best teams from the area on the court," said Coach Bob Blohm.

Both teams entered with identical 7-0 records with Bentley boasting a season championship last year.

During the first quarter, with both teams playing a running game, Salem pulled ahead by four, 15-11.

Then Bentley added 14 points to its score during the second quarter, while holding the Rocks to eight points. At the half, the score was 23-25 with Bentley leading by two points.

"Our key break came during the third quarter when we prevented them from scoring as well as keeping a good strong offense," said Blohm.

The Rocks were able to capitalize on Bentley's slow offensive playing and held them back to four points during the third quarter while scoring 11 points.

"We were able to get two or three shots for each of their shots," said Bluhm.

Speed, accuracy, and rebounding all enabled the Rocks to control the ball for the rest of the game.

During the fourth quarter, the Rocks continued to play hard allowing all their team members to play and out-scoring Bentley by 17 points.

The final score was 58-36.

High scorers for the team were: center Patty Weidman, 15 points; forward Diane Goodrich, 12 points; guard Eileen Moore, nine points; and co-captain Nan Horwood, eight points.

In Trenton on Thursday night, six-foot center Weidman met 6'2" Kim Nash from Trenton. While trying to prevent each other from scoring, Nash hit for 13 points for Trenton, but the team failed after a late rally to lose, 46-31.

On the other side, Weidman scored nine points, but both players committed four fouls during the game but she also fouled out.

The Rocks will carry an unblemished record into their next game on Tuesday, Oct. 17 against Franklin at Franklin.

"I'm really pleased so far this season," said Blohm. "I hope we can keep it going."

Rocks take third

BY PATTY RADZIK
 What a time the Salem girl netters had this season. That is until last Saturday. Their unblemished record was put to rest on that day, as the girls finished third in Regionals. The third place spoiled a chance for the Rocks to make an appearance in the state tournament. Only first and second place teams get to go to that meet, and Ann Arbor Pioneer and Ann Arbor Huron won that right by finishing 1-2.

Salem had a total of 15 points, while Pioneer had 25 and Huron with 21. Becky Crespo picked up two points for her team before being dropped by a Pioneer girl in the semifinals 6-4, 6-2.

Kathy Gorton got three points when she advanced to the finals, where she lost to Sue Kim, also of Pioneer. Betsy Moon was defeated by a Huron netter in the finals. She also scored three points for the Rocks.

Renee Braun lost to a Pioneer girl in the semi finals, picking up two points. Doubles partners - the Hathaway sisters, won in the first round, but lost to a pair from Pioneer in the second round.

Both teams of Laurie Smith-Kathy Weber and Kathy Somers-Vicky Sterling lost in the semifinals to teams from Huron. The next nearest team in fourth place, was eight points away. Tied in that spot was Jackson Park side, John Glenn and Ypsilanti.

Asked if she was disappointed in the fact that her Suburban Eight Champion team will not be going to State, Coach Janet Lawson replied, "Sure I am. We gave a total team effort, but I guess we just didn't give quite enough."

"We played very good - we learned something. I was very pleased," Lawson said. Salems regular season ended last Wednesday when the Rocks swept Northville 7-0.

Crespo strained her back the day before the Northville match, and was not able to play. Kathy Horton was then moved up to the No. 1 singles position, where she handled herself well, winning 6-3, 6-2.

Betsy Moon played No. 2 doubles, and won 6-2, 6-1. Renee Braun in the third spot won the first set of her match easily 6-3, but had difficulty winning the second just barely getting by, 7-5.

Beth Baker was the No. 4 singles player for Salem winning the first set 7-5, and then the match when her opponent forfeited because of illness.

The Hathaways won easily 6-3, 6-2. The No. 2 and No. 3 doubles teams also won their matches easily.

"It was a great way to end the season," Lawson commented. "The girls have a lot to be proud of."

sports opinion

BY ERIC OLSON

It was a coaches' nightmare, a player's nightmare, and a fan's nightmare - to fumble on the opening kickoff and fall behind 7-0 and then to fumble on your first play from scrimmage and fall behind 14-0 in your biggest game of the year.

Certainly, the Trenton game was a big one for Salem. Riding on the game was: a Sub-8 championship, and undefeated season, a shot at a state playoff spot, and a chance to move up in the prep coaches poll.

It was a shame that Salem had to be victimized by two early fluke fumbles in a game of such importance.

However, the Rocks did not fold after falling behind 14-0, which is a credit to the team - especially the defense. It would have been easy for the Salem defenders to become discouraged and let the Trojans run wild. But they didn't.

The defense stiffened once Trenton got within 20 yards of the end zone to come up with a fumble or an interception. Or they dug in and held Trenton on a third and one or fourth and one situation.

The Rock defense bent as it gave 318 yards (unofficially) on the ground and 22 first downs, but it never completely broke.

Pacing the Trojan running attack was 5' 9" 165 pound tailback Jerry Matwicjczyk who carried 30 times for 164 yards. Matwicjczyk is not quick or big but he followed his blocking superbly on his way to more than 800 yards on the season.

Craig Stack almost matched Matwicjczyk as he gained 123 yards on just 10 tries. This marked the fourth time this year Stack has gone over the 100-yard mark.

Now the Rocks must regroup because they still have a chance to win the Sub-8 crown and they have an outside shot at making the state playoffs. But they cannot afford to lose another game.

It would have been interesting to have seen the outcome of the game had Salem not fallen behind early because once they got over the shock of being down 14-0 after a whirlwind of fumbles, they played good, sound football.

Chief cagers dump Northville by 44

BY ERIC OLSON

The Canton girls basketball team ripped Northville 59-15 on Thursday to lift their season record to 7-1.

The outcome was never in doubt as Canton jumped to an 18-5 first quarter lead. After Northville made a three point play a minute into the game they were unable to score again in the quarter as the Chiefs tallied 16 unanswered points.

The Chief defense was even stingier in the second quarter as they allowed Northville only two points to hold a 30-7 advantage at halftime. Canton controlled the game by dominating the offensive and defensive boards.

Canton, now 4-0 in the Western Six, had a balanced scoring attack as no player scored in double figures. Kelley Heaton and Evie Pasek paced the Chiefs with eight points apiece.

Laura Butler and Peggie Ruggiero each added seven points.

Canton netters win again

The Canton tennis team won its second match of the year as they upended Walled Lake Western 4-3 last Monday.

The winners were: Eileen McGlenn at No. 2 singles, 6-4, 6-1; Barb Rupparch at No. 3 singles 6-1, 6-4; Lori Smith in a three set match at No. 4 singles 4-6, 6-1, 7-6 and the No. 2 doubles team of Brigette McNamara and Kim Young by a 6-3, 6-1 score.

On Tuesday the Chief netters were tripped by Thurston 5-2 as the winners for Canton were Lori Smith 6-1, 6-1 and the duo of McNamara and Young 4-6, 6-4, 6-3. And in a makeup match on Wednesday Canton was blitzed 7-0 by Ypsilanti.

In the regionals on Friday and Saturday the Chiefs picked up three points with Smith winning one point and McNamara-Young taking two points. Ann Arbor Pioneer won the regionals and Ann Arbor Huron was second.

"Bad," said Canton net coach Cindy Burnstein about the team's 2-10 dual meet record. She added, "we're improving."

Real Estate

BY WILLIAM DECKER

PLUMBING ECONOMICS

Installing an additional bathroom or even a sink can be an expensive proposition if there are not existing pipes, drains and vents, in the location you have selected. Why?

Putting in long new runs of pipe, knocking out and later patching holes in walls and ceilings, involves considerable work. You can make life easier - and less costly - if you locate new outlets so the fixtures can be tied into existing supply pipes, drains and vents.

The ideal way to do this is to place a new bathroom or sink back-to-back with an existing bathroom. This way, both sets of fixtures can be connected to the same pipes by short spurs. The next best solution is to place the new bathroom beside an old one or directly above or below it.

Wait! This expansionist thinking indicates your family is outgrowing its present home. It might be wiser to consider buying a larger home and save yourself the money and inconvenience.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455 - 8400. We're here to help!

Canton golfers improve

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Unable to win since the middle of the season, Coach John Crosson wasn't disappointed with the Canton golf team's performance: "We did better than last year, but I think the competition is tougher this year."

The team totalled a 2-11 record in overall competition and a 2-8 record in the Western Six conference.

In the regionals, Canton placed 10th by shooting 354 points, when 19 teams competed at the University of Michigan's golf course last Friday afternoon.

First-place winner Ypsilanti scored 322 points. Northville was second with 331.

"By placing in the middle at the regionals, we played better than I anticipated," said Crosson.

Canton golfers depend on a starting line-up including: juniors Dave Visser, Tom Matthews, Scott Adler, Kirt Rasmussen, and Dave Urfa, and sophomore Doug Moffatt.

In the Salem meet, Canton linksters competed against both Thurston and Salem. The other meets were against single competitors. The results are: Canton 216, Thurston 202, Salem 203; Canton 206, Northville 196; Canton 221, Waterford Mott 200; Canton 237, Walled Lake Western 219; Canton 212, Harrison 200.

Chief tankers clipped

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Handicapped by the psychological strains of swimming against a team boasting state championships, plus hampered by the injuries of two veteran swimmers, the Canton Girls Swim Team couldn't muster enough strength to outswim Northville last Thursday night.

The defeat was crushing, 108-64.

"We were swimming against a tough team so we aimed to improve our individual times rather than win," said Coach Anne Massey.

One swimmer, Kim Massey, swam hard enough to beat her old pool record in the 200-yard freestyle, dropping the time from 2:07.4 to 2:06.9.

Sports on the radio

The following Canton and Salem High School athletic contests will be broadcast by WSDP, 88.1 FM.

Salem football, vs. Bentley (Homecoming) on Oct. 27; play-by-play Ross Rhinehart with commentary by Kevin Krolicki; pre-game starts at 7:50 p.m., while game time is 8 p.m.

Canton football, vs. Dearborn Edsel Ford on Nov. 3; play-by-play by Jon Hewett with commentary by Dave Meador; pre-game starts at 7:50, while game time is 8 p.m.

Canton girls basketball, vs. Walled Lake Western (Oct. 19), Farmington Harrison (Oct. 26), Waterford Mott (Nov. 9), and Farmington (Nov. 11); play-by-play by John Matthews with George Hamblin doing the commentary. Game time is 8:15.

Salem girls basketball, vs. Dearborn (Oct. 24), Edsel Ford (Nov. 7), Trenton (Nov. 14), and Allen Park (Nov. 16). Chris Koepka will be doing the play-by-play, while Tim Sonnega will provide commentary. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

EPA Super Sewer plan ignores Plymouth area

Both the Wayne County Dept. of Public Works and the State's Dept. of Natural Resources oppose the EPA's plan saying it offers no better sewage treatment yet would cost significantly more to operate. The net result, say county officials, is that the EPA plan could nearly double sewage disposal rates in some areas.

The 50 mile-long single Super Sewer serving everything between White Lake and Trenton is "the most cost effective plan you can build," said Wayne County DPW Director Royce Smith, who formerly served as county commissioner for the Plymouth-Canton Community.

Although the initial construction cost of the county version would be higher, Smith said, "in the long run it'll be a lot cheaper."

Estimates say the county super sewer plan would cost $3,448,000 annually to operate and the EPA plan would cost $4,035,000 to run each year. But county officials say their plan might cost less and the EPA plan more than those estimates.

Smith and Duane Egeland, deputy managing director of the county DPW, said the county proposal would have much lower operating costs because of the economies of scale realized by treating a larger amount of sewage at one huge plant compared to treating smaller amounts at two plants.

County and state officials also question the ability of the existing Walled Lake sewage treatment plant to be enlarged and safely treat more sewage.

Under the EPA plan, Plymouth Township (like the Northville area) would be left without new sewer capacity. Unless additional capacity in the existing Middle Rouge Sewer could be purchased from Canton, the EPA plan suggests handling additional needs for sewer capacity by the use of septic fields in new developments.

The county says the EPA is acting to restrict development in the suburbs in the hopes of stopping central city decline.

Thus far, the EPA has not released its final decision on which plan it will recommend.

"We think that in two weeks or so we will have their report as to what they're going to recommend," Smith said.

"If it's not what we want, why then we've got to go to work," he added.

The City of Plymouth has elected not to join the Super Sewer plan since it is nearly completely developed.

Super Sewer hearing set

A public hearing on the Super Sewer proposals has tentatively been scheduled for both 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 27 at Romulus City Hall, 11111 S. Wayne Rd.

Lame ducks push Canton sign law

stration was rushing to pass the sign law because it had placed it on the board's agenda before it knew for sure that it had been approved by the township's Planning Commission. The commission approved the document on the day before last Tuesday's meeting, while Clerk John Flodin included it on the agenda during the previous week.

Robert Padget, chairman of the Township's Planning Commission said, however, that he had notified Flodin three weeks earlier that his panel was virtually done with the document and that only technical corrections had been completed on the day before last Tuesday's meeting.

Asked if any ordinance had ever been placed on the board's agenda before it was approved, Phillips said, "Never."

Furthermore, he said that no ordinance has ever gone to the township board before it has been approved by the Wayne County Planning Commission.

The proposed ordinance, which has been under study for more than a year, permits ground signs of 50 square feet for most businesses in Canton. Merchants on Michigan and Ford roads near I-275, however, can erect signs up to 230 square feet.

Also, if the sign uses natural materials such as wood or brick it can be 40 per cent larger under the new law.

"(Anne) Bradley and (Harold) Stein, who face an almost-certain removal from office in just over 30 days, as a last vindictive act, are pushing for the elimination of Canton's sign restrictions at the insistence of the business community," wrote Jim Donahue, candidate for Canton treasurer, in a press release.

Stein and Bradley, both defeated in the August primary, are hoping to retain their seats in the primary, while two trustees, Brian Schwall and Bob Myers, will be replaced on the board since they are not seeking re-election.

Breens on both sides

You heard about brothers fighting on opposite sides during the Civil War?

Well, however emotional the issue has been, the westward extension of sewers into Plymouth Township can't quite be described as a civil war. But two of the key players in the issue are brothers and they are on opposite sides of the fence.

Township Trustee Maurice Breen has consistently voted against extending the sewers.

His brother, Jolan Breen, an attorney for the Wayne County Dept. of Public Works, has been working to obtain the necessary county approvals for the project as quickly as possible.
