Taxpayers in the City of Plymouth will be happy to hear that the City Commission has asked City Manager Fred Yockey to rework his proposed budget so that no tax rate increase will be passed on.

Yockey had presented a 1979-80 budget to the commission which called for a two-mill increase.

At Monday's budget workshop, the commission asked the administration to submit an alternate budget that holds costs to the revenue increases which will be seen only from the city's increased state equalized valuation - about a 10.7 per cent increase.

By a straw vote, the commission asked for a new budget proposal which cuts some $200,000 out of Yockey's proposed budget.

"First of all," said Mayor Tom Turner, "The major area of concern is . . . how far we can go with a tax increase in any one year." When he suggested developing an alternate budget which proposed no tax increase, the mayor and the manager exchanged words.

"We haven't been instructed by the commission to do that," Yockey said.

"I've asked for that on three occasions," Turner countered. "If you'd like commission action, we can do it."

Yockey replied, "I'd like that."

The commission then discussed the impact of the Headlee amendment, which in a pessimistic view, Turner said, holds the budget to last year's state equalized valuation revenue plus 7.7 per cent increase in the consumer price index.

But, since the SEV increases are already in effect, the commission agreed to use the resulting revenue increase as the budget increase.

Of the seven commissioners, only

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: April 11, 1979

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

About 350 elementary and 65 middle school children will be transferred from one school to another next fall. Other students will have to change tracks at both elementary and middle school levels, according to school officials.

These changes were part of a boundary package approved by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

This final decision marked the end of months of discussion between school administrators, parents, and school board members since the original boundary recommendations were proposed on Feb. 19.

Boundary changes for the elementary schools, which will be effective for two to three years, are:

*Students living in Sunflower III, south of Warren and west of Canton Center will switch from Gallimore to Hulsing.

*Students living in the quarter mile bounded by Canton Center, Ford, Sheldon, and Saltz roads will change from Erikson to Hulsing.

*Students living in Brookside Village, east of I-275, south of Cherry Hill, west of Hannan, north of Churchill (including Churchill) will move from Field to Fiegl.

*Students living in the Foxborough subdivision, east of Morton-Taylor, south of Palmer will move from Field to Miller.

Also, Hulsing Elementary School, now on a traditional school year calendar, will change to an extended school year calendar (ESY) next fall.

These elementary school boundary changes were approved by the board, 6-0, with board member Joe Gray absent.

At the middle schools, the board approved keeping Pioneer Middle School on ESY. Also, the board approved boundary changes for students from Windemere II, Sunflower III, Forest Trails, Mayfair, and Hampton Court subdivisions. These students will attend Central Middle School next fall.

Boundary changes at the middle school level are only for one year, according to the board.

Parents from Forest Trails and Mayfair subdivision asked the board to reconsider the impact of moving their children from one school to another.

However, the board approved the plan, saying that if either subdivision remained at Pioneer Middle School, then the school would be over-capacity by next fall.

Board member Carol Davis asked that parents and children who will change schools visit the school before next fall. She suggested school administrators start a program to acquaint parents and students with their new schools.

Steve Harper cast the only dissenting vote in adopting the boundary changes at the middle schools. He said, "I think we should move more kids for two or three years rather than move a few for one year." He suggested the voters decide whether to support or reject a proposal to build portable classrooms.

To handle student growth at Canton and Salem high schools, the board authorized the school administration to seek bids for renovating resource and learning centers to make more classrooms.

"We'll have almost 4,700 students there next fall," said Superintendent Mike Hoben. School administrators will come back to the Board of Education with a specific list of proposed renovations and costs before beginning any work.

In union dispute

Drivers may idle buses

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Plymouth-Canton school buses may not be running on Friday, April 13.

Superintendent Mike Hoben confirmed "the possibility of problems with bus transportation on Friday," in a letter sent to parents of kids scheduled for classes on Friday.

Only schools following the extended school year (ESY) calendar will be in session on Friday. Other schools are on vacation.

School officials have scheduled classes for ESY schools to meet the state-required 180-days of classes. ESY schools will only be in session one-half day.

However, bus drivers say that Good Friday, which falls on Friday, April 13, is a holiday. "Bus drivers will probably take the holiday that was negotiated in our contracts three years ago," said Alice Horstead, secretary of the bus drivers' association.

Last year, the bus drivers failed to report to work on Good Friday, said school officials.

To reach an agreement before Friday, bus drivers and school administrators met on Tuesday night. However, Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for employee relations, said on Tuesday morning that, "the situation doesn't look very good."

Parents are urged to tune into radio stations or call 453-0200 or 453-0271 on Friday morning for the latest information. School officials are urging kids to attend school even if the buses don't run.

Book boosters to auction art

An art auction to benefit the Canton Library Campaign Committee will be held Saturday, April 28 at Township Hall.

Featured in the auction will be original oil paintings, lithographs, glass art, wood block, etchings, and more, created by local and international artists.

Proceeds of the event will support the campaign to pass the one-mill levy to buy a library for the township. The special election will be held May 9.

The art sold is for art lovers as well as decorators. Seascapes, children, florals, portraits, surrealism, animals, and ships will all be included. All works will be matted and framed.

Refreshments and preview begins at 7 p.m. on the third floor of Township Hall, which is the planned site of the library, and the auction begins at 8 p.m. There will be a $2 donation.

PROTESTING ALLEGED manpower shortages in the Plymouth Township Fire Department, some firefighters picketed Township Hall on Thursday. An example of the shortage came two weeks ago, said Chuck VanVleck, president of the firefighters union, when there was only one firefighter from Station No. 2 to battle a "large" grass fire near Robinwood Drive that "threatened" homes. VanVleck said he is urging the township Board of Trustees to hire more firemen. (Crier photo by Bill Bresler.)

Twp. delays police millage election until Sept. 11

Plymouth Township officials believe that selection of Sept. 11 as the date for a police protection millage election offers needed "breathing room" for a thorough analysis of police needs and their accompanying costs.

In March, a sense of urgency to provide annexation protection led to unanimous adoption by the trustees March 29 of a resolution of intent toward switching to charter status.

It also produced the confusion that saw May 5 projected as the date for a police millage election only to be abandoned subsequently because of election law complications and internal communication hurdles. Sept. 11 was substituted last Tuesday.

"In addition to alternative proposals already submitted by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, we definitely expect the City of Plymouth to submit a cost plan as to what contractual police service would cost us," said Supervisor Thomas Notebaert Monday.

"It is possible Northville Township will offer us the chance to evaluate still another plan," he said. "In any event, we now have time to conduct further conversations on all proposals, analyze the township's basic needs and geographic problems, and come up with a thoroughly thought-out plan to submit to the voters."

Clerk Esther Hulsing echoed Notebaert's thinking that by having at least until mid-June, or even July, to pin down the specifics of a police plan will be to the advantage of all - including the voters.

"It's important that we talk to as many individuals and groups as possible both on the charter issue itself and the police plan," she said.

"So far, we know of no petitions in circulation calling for a referendum on the charter township question. But that doesn't mean they won't appear. Meanwhile, as most residents now are aware, establishment of police service of some degree, either by the township itself or by contract, is essential to charter status under the terms of state law," Hulsing said.

"We must be on sound footing when we go to the voting public with a police millage request. The voters, in turn, must have time for discussion to arrive at a decision on the basis of what we project. The added running room will help in both directions," she said.

Early indications have pointed toward likelihood of the township asking a multi-year special property tax levy of approximately two mills ($2 per $1,000 in state equalized valuation) to cover costs of police service.

In the end, that still may be the way the September ballot reads. But in the meantime, the opportunity has been presented for analysis of every alternative.

Chamber mulls sign suit

BY CHAS CHILD

The Canton Chamber of Commerce has threatened to file suit against the township claiming that the township's sign ordinance violates the rights of businessmen by banning free-standing signs.

"The business community needs and deserves the ability to identify themselves," said Chamber President Frank McMurray. "Business has suffered financially, and damages may be part of the suit."

"They can go ahead and sue," said Supervisor Noel Culbert. "We'll just tie it up in court for a couple of years. But I don't think they'll sue. They're just blowing a bunch of hot air."

Food may be yielded

Servomation Corp., a food management company, will make a presentation to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education on Monday, April 16 at 7:30 p.m. The board is considering hiring the company to manage the schools' cafeteria operations during the 1979-80 school year. The public is invited to attend.

The meeting will be at school board offices, 454 S. Harvey St.

McMurray said the decision to sue came, in part, over the township administration's delays over approving a new ordinance, now under study by the board.

"I asked Culbert when the Board (of Trustees) was going to hold its next study session on the proposed ordinance and he didn't say," said McMurray. "I even sent him a letter, but there was no reply."

Since there was no answer, McMurray said the five-member executive board of the Chamber decided on April 4 to start a suit fund and seek legal counsel.

Culbert, however, said that he told McMurray two weeks ago that there was going to be a meeting of the board of trustees to review the proposed sign ordinance during this week. This meeting was not scheduled and won't take place, though, Culbert told The Crier yesterday.

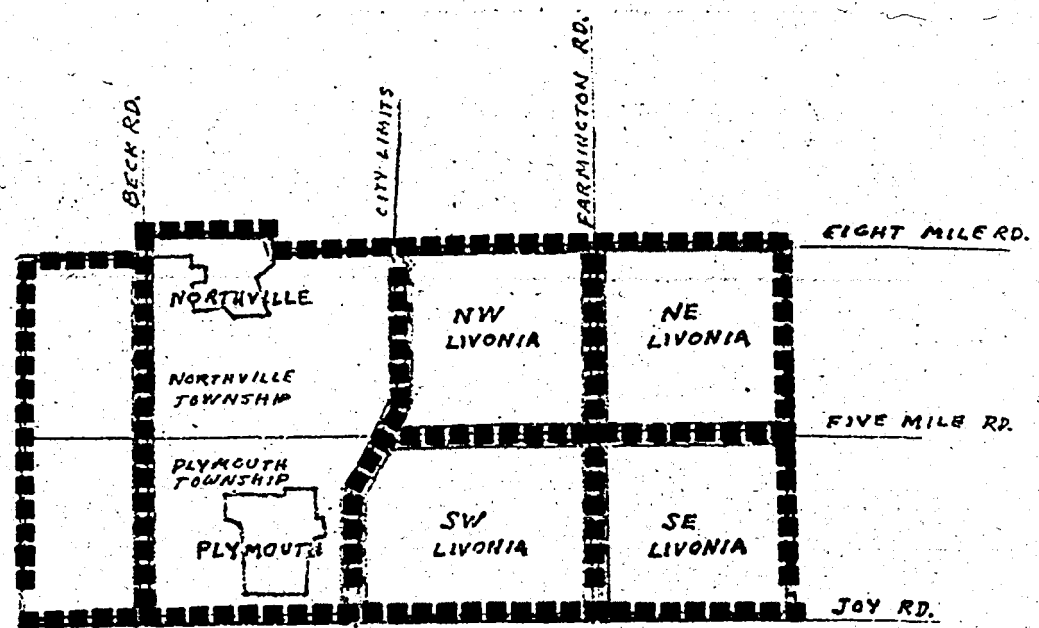

Asked if he'd called McMurray since he'd learned of the threatened suit to discuss their differences, Culbert said, "Frank can call me. I don't know what he's up to."

Culbert said he believed the board was going to propose smaller signs in the new ordinance that the Chamber would like, "So eventually we're going to get sued. I'm not worried about it."

Water poll mailed

Plymouth Township's 5,049 water customers were asked this week by the department which provides their service, "Please rate us."

A questionnaire for which the Township Board gave Water & Sewer Superintendent Thomas R. Hollis approval back in January went out over the weekend.

THIS MAP shows the zone system which will be used to provide subsidized Dial A Ride taxi service for senior citizens (65 and over) and the handicapped in Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Livonia, Northville and Northville Township. To obtain the service, call 421-1100 (or if you live north of Five Mile Road call 474-3333). Charges are based on the shortest possible route between points and is 50 cents for travel through one zone, 80 cents for travel in three zones; and $1.10 for travel in four zones. The program is subsidized by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Agency.

City, Twp. seniors get Dial A Ride taxi

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Senior citizens and handicapped persons in Plymouth and Plymouth Township may soon be getting a subsidized "dial-a-ride" taxi service.

In cooperation with the City of Livonia, the program will be subsidized by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Agency (SEMTA) and will include service to all of Livonia, Northville and Northville Township as well as Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

The program's target starting date is mid-May.

A private cab company, Northwest Transport, will provide the service under an agreement with SEMTA. Northwest, which had provided taxi service in Plymouth, let its license expire here Jan. 1 but renewed it two weeks ago on March 27.

Senior citizens 65 and older and handicapped persons will be able to use the service for a charge of 50 cents to $1.10 depending on how many of the zones are traveled through. The service will be available 24 hours a day. (A similar service, provided by Nankin Transit, is available in Canton, Westland and Wayne and connecting service may be available at some point in the future.)

Qualifying Plymouth and Plymouth Township residents may call toll-free to 421-1100 to obtain the service. (Residents who live north of Five Mile Road should call 474-3333.)

The program's subsidy comes entirely from SEMTA's share of the state's gas and weight road taxes and will cover the difference in cost between an actual taxi cab rate and the reduced fee.

GOING THE LIMIT

It's not unusual to find that the amount of money needed to finance the purchase of a home and the amount of cash in the bank account are too close for comfort. When does it make sense to pull back your horns and when would propriety say -- "Go the limit.?"

It's better not to spend every last cent available for a home if you customarily buy big ticket items, such as cars and appliances on time; if the local property taxes are likely to go higher; or if you have any unusual financial obligations, such as medical care for a member of the family.

On the other hand, you might justify going the limit if you can make a big down payment; if the home is unlikely to need maintenance or repairs which are above and beyond your personal capability; if your outlook for financial advancement is bright, and if your family has proven that it can tighten belts if you really have to.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455-8400. We're here to help!

An Open Letter to the Parents and Taxpayers of the Plymouth-Canton School District:

- *Do you have major concerns about the school district that you would like to express and record?
- *Has a specific incident or issue occurred that bothers you, and you believe someone should know about it?
- *Are there things you are pleased about -- or displeased about -- that you want someone to be aware of and understand?

Because I believe communications can be improved in the Plymouth-Canton School District -- both upward and downward -- I have decided to do something about it: I have decided to be a candidate for the Board of Education in the June election.

To help me better understand some of the concerns and issues you may have experienced in your household -- either as a parent or a taxpayer -- I would like to hear from you. It can be a short letter or even a post card; I want to understand the issues that are bothering you and get some facts about the issues.

I believe the whole district will be improved in the long run if your concerns are placed on the table now -- may I hear from you? Please send your reply to:

Canton buys emergency equipment for police

Canton's Board of Trustees agreed to purchase about $22,000 worth of police riot and emergency gear last Tuesday, despite objections that some of it is unnecessary and extravagant.

The equipment ranged from carbine rifles, helmets, gas masks, and night sticks to detective gear such as a voice-activated tape recorder hidden in a briefcase.

"All these things are urgently needed," said Trustee Robert Greenstein. Referring to a possible mass civil disturbance, he added, "The bubble may burst some day. If the Fermi (nuclear) plant (in Monroe) had an accident, this may be necessary. It's no good to have a police department without the proper equipment."

Trustee Lynne Goldsmith said, however, that she would like more time to review the "wish list" before she decided how necessary the requests were.

"This item was not on the agenda for tonight," said Trustee Eugene Daley, supporting Goldsmith. "I had the list (of equipment), but I didn't know I was going to vote on it."

"I can't believe all these purchases are emergencies," said Goldsmith.

"It may look like a shopping list," Police Chief Walter MacGregor told the board. "Anything you want to cut, be my guest."

Included in the purchases are a full line of photographic supplies for the police department's darkroom. A $900 2 1/4 x 2 1/4 Mamiya camera was approved, as well as a $700 enlarger, and two camera lenses worth $505.

The photographic equipment is needed for mug shots and taking pictures of crime scenes.

"There are no police departments in the area without this equipment," said Canton Det. Sgt. Larry Stewart. "It will make the department more complete, safer, and self-sufficient."

"As for the tear gas, rifles and shotguns, we would have had them there for the time a man was holding a hostage last year," he said. "There's a psychological aspect of shotguns."

Voting to approve the purchases were Trustees Greenstein and Carol Bodenmiller, Clerk John Flodin, Supervisor Noel Culbert, and Treasurer Jim Donahue. Goldsmith and Daley voted "no."

An earlier motion to table the matter failed 4-3. The votes were the same, except Flodin joined Goldsmith and Daley in the "no" camp.

Canton to join transit group?

To save about $12,000, Canton's Board of Trustees asked to be admitted as a full-member of the Nankin Transit Authority last Tuesday.

For more than a year, Canton Township has been paying between $12,000 and $14,000 per year to Nankin under an agreement to subsidize its transportation services to elderly and handicapped township residents.

However, Glenn Shaw of the transit authority told the board last Tuesday that if Canton became a member of the authority, the services would be free.

For each pick-up, Nankin charges the rider 50 cents and sends a $6 bill to the township.

Shaw said that the transportation services of Nankin are subsidized by federal funds, and Canton would fall within this budget.

"For three years, the communities

He added, though, that Canton would have to give the authority six-months notice if it wished to withdraw from any financial obligations incurred in the future.

Keep cars off street, city says, as elm spraying starts

Beginning the week of April 16, the City of Plymouth Public Works Department will start spring spraying of all City Elm trees.

Homeowners are asked, if at all possible, to keep their vehicles off the streets for at least a two-week period. Spraying will be from 4 a.m. until about 9 a.m. each morning until finished.

The department will not have a set schedule regarding what day we will be in a particular area, for this spraying must be done on a calm morning.

Homeowners who did not get their leaves out last fall for pick-up will have to put them in plastic bags and set out at the curb on their regular refuse pick-up day.

Residents of the city may purchase heavy duty plastic bags from the city at a price of $7 a hundred. These may be obtained either at the DPW Yard, 975 Arthur Street, or from the Fire Department at City Hall.

EPA forgets charge

Super Sewer compromise sells Plymouth short

It now appears that a "compromise" Super Sewer plan will sell the Plymouth Community short.

At the urging of the Environmental Protection Agency, a shortened version of the Wayne County proposal will be built to serve everything from Canton southeast to the Detroit River.

Originally, Plymouth, Northville and southern Oakland county - all rapidly growing areas - were to be included.

Under the EPA plan, present needs and future growth in the Plymouth Community would be accommodated by the existing Rouge interceptor sewer (which should gain extra capacity once the communities served by the Super Sewer switch over) and by septic fields.

This decision flies in the face of good judgment.

Wayne County has already warned Plymouth Township that sewers may not be able to handle future growth and that septic fields already oversaturate some areas of the township.

Extending sewers is always a difficult decision. Such a move almost always leads to further growth and the accompanying strain on governmental services of all types. Yet, when existing residential areas have unsuitable sewerage capacity, the public health and welfare must be considered.

Typically for a federal agency, the EPA decision is based not upon the agency's charge of protecting the environment, but upon political and social goals.

The U.S. government reasons that further sewer extension into the suburbs will hasten the flight of residents and industry from the inner-city.

The shortsighted bureaucrat responsible for that philosophy neglected to consider that the communities to the south of Plymouth will still attract industry and that our community has the same right to woo jobs and tax base.

Not only has the EPA forgotten its original charge of protecting the environment, but its small-sized Super Sewer proposal may even harm the environment. The EPA suggests the northern areas would be served through expansion of a Walled Lake treatment plant, yet there are no tributaries large enough to handle the discharge of such an expanded plant.

Additionally, a shortened Super Sewer would handle fewer customers, thereby costing each of them more. Spreading the costs of construction and operation over a larger base would make more sense in both the short and long runs.

If it's not too late (it appears the deal may already have been cut), let's hope the EPA will listen to the Wayne County Public Works Dept. and go for the Super Sewer that will benefit the most residents and protect the environment.

Canton story, photo were biased; trustee's sign was interesting

EDITOR:

Your April 4 article on page 24 was again a fine example of biased reporting. It seems that your photographer was well placed at the corner of Ford Road and Canton Center. His view clearly illustrates the ugly and gaudy signs we are against. Unfortunately, those shown were erected before the "No free standing ground signs" became a part of the sign ordinance.

It might also be pointed out that in the one-half mile between Canton Center and Sheldon, there is a fourth sign (Clark Oil). Not really too bad of a percentage for all the businesses located on Ford Road. Is that Visual Pollution?"

Another interesting observation is "one influential trustee's" sign. For someone who finds the proposed sign ordinance "unacceptable," he is sure taking advantage of all the outdoor advertising he can.

I know it is your occupation that we have no control over; but, somewhere I have been told that both sides of an issue should be explored and reported as truthfully as possible. Again, I believe your article clearly illustrates an example of biased reporting.

FRANK A. MCMURRAY, President
Canton Chamber of Commerce
P.S. Enclosed is an article appearing in your paper August 23, 1978, where the city of Plymouth has increased its sign size from 150 to 180 square feet. Where were you when pictures and all the "necessary controversy" could have been used to stir up that community? Maybe the city of Plymouth recognizes the need for businesses to have some type of identity.

Let's put yacht club afloat again

If ever there was a proper time to hold a reunion of Tonquish Creek Yacht Club alumni, it would be next Wednesday, April 18.

You young people, and the new mover-inners, may wonder what in the world a yacht club had to do, or vice versa, with a struggling, muddy rivulet like Tonquish Creek.

This is a stream which meanders southward from up beyond Northville, divides into north and south branches west of Plymouth, and then reaches confluence again when it passes under Ann Arbor Road.

After the north branch flows under Sheldon Road and winds toward downtown, it works its way through a tunnel from a point west of Harvey, exiting east of Kellogg behind Farmer Jack's to become visible again. The downtown tunnel passes beneath the central parking lot and Main Street, although motorists never would realize it.

If you ever dream of seeing the good ship "Mayflower" float up to a dock in downtown Plymouth, your imagination will give you some idea of the type of thinking of which the founders of the Tonquish Creek Yacht Club were capable.

Simply put, they did not think the Colonial Plymouth theme which is so dear to the hearts of some patriarchs hereabouts should be in vain. At one point they even debated carrying the thing a step further areawide by asking Canton Township to change its name to Cape Cod. Wiser minds prevailed.

You see, about a decade ago there was a coterie of characters who met almost daily for mid-afternoon recess in the then newly opened pub of the Mayflower Hotel. This was one of their ways of celebrating the fact that in 1966 the voters of the city finally had approved sale of liquor by the glass.

Not only were they an imaginative lot, some days they bordered on being downright rowdy.

One afternoon, with the mast awash so-to-speak, a club was suggested.

The way the deck was buckling, a yacht club seemed appropriate. But what is a yacht club without a flagship?

That's when Bob Delaney's ancient boat down on the Detroit River won its first TCYC burgee. To determine if it was seaworthy, an inaugural voyage was chartered from Detroit to Traverse City. Unfortunately, an askew compass sent the commodore and his crew ashore midrift of Saginaw Bay.

Days later, crispy to the sunburned touch, these hardies made it into Mackinac Island, thinking they had arrived at least as far as Manitou. Through the foresight of having issued themselves official looking membership cards, these voyageurs were able to convince their Mackinac hosts that the TCYC merited reciprocal credit as is the wont of all private club folks.

Aside from their frequent parties, a major project undertaken by the self-appointed yachtsmen who joined up was to promote what might have been the biggest public works job in Plymouth history.

With federal funds being so free, TCYC leaders thought they would go after a $10 million grant for a downtown Plymouth drawbridge.

The request also was to include restructuring Tonquish Creek and the Rouge River upstream from Lake Erie to permit passage of ocean going vessels from the St. Lawrence Seaway right to our front door.

It was suggested that the drawbridge be smack downtown, and there were visions of even the USS Forrestal docking near Kellogg Park, which developer Greg Donovan once described aptly as "the pearl around which the rest of the oyster grew."

Alas, it's all only a memory now, but it was fun while it lasted.

The idea of reuniting the sailors for one last muster on the 1979 anniversary of the ride that saved America's original Plymouth certainly is no crazier than the TCYC inspiration was in the first place.

Make Ford Rd. a boulevard

Thanks to a few Canton residents who investigated the question, the Canton Board of Trustees learned two weeks ago that Ford Road could still be transformed into a boulevard.

A part of the road, that is. Although former Supervisor Robert Greenstein (now a trustee) worked for a boulevard, it was during Harold Stein's term as supervisor that the board shortsightedly abandoned the boulevard concept on the stretch from Canton Center to Sheldon.

Fortunately, the state Department of Transportation is still seeking a recommendation from the board on how to reconstruct the road from Sheldon to Lilley.

We applaud the present board's support of the boulevard. It would be very disappointing to see the five - or seven-lane strip creep into Canton from Westland. For both safety and esthetics, a Ford boulevard would greatly improve the character of Canton's main commercial district.

SEMTA drivers great

EDITOR:

By their deeds, ye shall know them. Amen.

We elderly who use the SEMTA bus service wish to extend our deep appreciation and thanks to the drivers who are so kind and polite and helpful to us. Especially to Pat and Louis.

They do so much more than most would and do it all with a friendly, kind smile.

I forgot my purse one day. I left it on the bus. And in less than one hour, Louis brought it to me. That was after the 1978 blizzard and driving was really hard.

During Christmas, I had had four packages. Pat carried one and helped me to my door, and made sure I had my keys and purse and got inside safely.

Those buses are not easy to handle

community opinions

on Warren Road. And 12-14 ladies not sure of foot or sight or mind are a heavy load. Our lives are made easier - cashing our check, getting to a doctor or our prescriptions filled, or keeping our daily bread.

So let's pin a gold medal on the SEMTA bus drivers. Also on our park manager, Doris Ramage - sweet lady. Their patience and kind good deeds go far in helping many of us creep the last mile.

So thanks. Thanks a million, one and all.

Schools buy 13 buses for next year

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

A bid to purchase 10 large buses and three mini-buses was approved by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night. The recommendation had been tabled at two earlier board meetings.

"The question is - How can the district pay for them?" asked Board Member Steve Harper. The buses cost a total of $246,903.

Flossie Tonda, another board member responded, "The kids need buses to get to school. I'm concerned about the safety of the children," she said.

Board Member Dick Arlen said the board will have to make financial cuts in teaching and educational programs in order to pay for the buses that were ordered.

"Do we want 33 to 38 kids in a classroom and extra seats on the buses?"

asked Harper.

The cost of the buses will be partially reimbursed by the state over a seven-year period. The state will pay the district one-seventh of the cost each year, however the district must come up with the money to pay for the buses now and then be reimbursed later.

"It's simply a cash flow problem," said Dan White, financial director for the district. He said the district would have to borrow the money.

Superintendent Mike Hoben cautioned the board against delaying the purchase. "Even if we order the buses tomorrow, there's still a chance the buses won't arrive in time for the start of school in the fall," said Hoben.

The resolution carried by a vote of 6-0 with board member Joe Gray absent. Dick Arlen cast a "yes" vote with reservations.

Law's 'all wet,' Notebaert says

Will Twp. OK building bid?

BY FRED DeLANO

The Mars Building Company of West Bloomfield was the low bidder on the proposed remodeling of Plymouth Township Hall and the township-owned Teledyne Building next door, but when the Board of Trustees met Tuesday night there were indications that the project might be reconsidered.

Trustee Gerald Law made it plain in a pre-meeting statement that he wants a total review of all township facilities and their usage.

One of the objections which he voiced is to continuing the township's seat of government at its long-established site of Ann Arbor and Lilley Roads. Law advocates the Powell Road triangle, or a piece of the adjacent township recreation park, as the ideal site for a township hall.

He proposes converting the Teledyne Building to a senior citizen center, but still headquartering such services as fire, police, and sewer and water on Ann Arbor Road site in old township hall.

"He's all wet," was the retort Law's plan drew from Supervisor Thomas Notebaert, who is solidly for sticking with plans already drawn to connect the Teledyne structure with township hall as a single building.

It was that project on which bids were submitted last Thursday by six construction firms, with Mars' basic bid of $264,770 being low by slightly more than $47,000. All bids are effective for 30 days.

Law asked for and received a place on Tuesday night's agenda to open a general discussion on "evaluation of the new township hall and utilization of existing buildings and lands of the township."

Pointing to the 30-day life of the bids, Clerk Esther Hulsing predicted that a decision on the Mars proposal might be deferred until either of the next two scheduled board meetings, April 24 or May 1. Both would fall within the 30-day period.

Canton trustees quash library vote

BY CHAS CHILD

A proposal by Canton Trustee Robert Greenstein to push the date of May 9 library millage election into mid-summer was rejected by the Board of Trustees last Tuesday.

The idea was dropped when Stan

Bucher, chairman of the library committee, said his group had already printed a lot of flyers with the May 9 date on them, as well as geared up the campaign for that day.

Greenstein said that the library vote should be postponed to permit township voters the chance to abolish the township's merit commission and ordinance.

His proposal went like this: Since the final unorganized employe group, the clerks, had recently unionized, the township's Merit Commission and ordinance was no longer necessary, he said.

Therefore, the merit ordinance, which was passed by the voters in 1978, should be put back on the ballot to repeal it, he said. It would make sense to put this on the same ballot as the upcoming library one-mill levy, he added. But since election law requires 45 days to add a proposal to a ballot, the date of the election would have to be postponed.

And because the law also states that elections must be 30 days apart, the special election would have to be delayed at least a month after the June 11 Plymouth-Canton school district election.

Many hands make a 'special' Special Olympics

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: April 11, 1979

Spring means many things to many people, and for the mentally handicapped in Wayne County it means vigorous training and working out, preparing for the Special Olympics.

Mentally and physically handicapped children and adults from schools, work shops, and centers throughout Wayne County try out each spring for the Special Olympics, said Joann Doyle, communications chairman for the Plymouth Civitans. Local Civitans Clubs from Plymouth, Wayne, Livonia, Northville, Westland, Dearborn, and the Fairlane Club sponsor the program each year.

This year the Special Olympics will be held on Saturday, April 28 and Friday, May 4. The gymnastics will be held at John Glenn High School in Wayne, at 9 a.m. on April 28. The bowling competition will take place that same Saturday at 9 a.m. at Westland Bowl on Wayne Road in Westland.

Field, track, swimming and a new event, handicapped riding, will take place on Friday, May 5 at John Glenn High School. The opening ceremonies and parade will begin at 8:30 a.m., with the events scheduled to start at 9 a.m.

"It's a very worthwhile program, and I strongly urge anyone who can, to go out and watch these kids participate," said Joann. She also said they need many volunteers to help with the Special Olympics.

"In the past I've been a hugger, held the winning line, and helped line them up for the events," she said. She explained that a hugger is someone who greets and hugs each participant as they come over the finish line, whether they win or lose.

"It's important for them to have personal contact, and know that they did a good job, whether they came in first place or last," she said.

Anyone wishing to volunteer a little of their time can contact Joann at 459-0022, or Linda Potter at 729-8274 or 722-3019. There will be a meeting tomorrow night, April 12 at 7 p.m. at John Glenn High School in Wayne.

Winners from the local Special Olympics go to the state finals, which will be held May 31 through June 3, at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. The winners of that competition go to the International Special Olympics in Rockport, New York, on Aug. 8 through the 12. According to Joann, Civitan International has been selected as one of the 10 sponsoring clubs for this years events.

The 1,870 to 1,950 participants who will be competing in the Wayne County event, have already tried out at their school or center. They are placed in competition categories based on their ability to perform and their age, said Joann.

Organized by the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Foundation, the purpose of Special Olympics is not only to assist the physical development of the retarded, but also their social and psychological development. Studies show that through positive successful experiences in sports, they can gain confidence and start to build a self image associated with success rather than failure, the foundation says.

Let me win,
But if I cannot win,
Let me be brave in the attempt.

Gabel writes for magazine

Pioneer Middle School teacher Chris Gabel recently saw an article he had submitted to an industrial trade magazine in print. The article, "Anodizing Titanium in School Shops," was printed in the February edition of School Shop Magazine, which is read by industrial art teachers.

Gabel's article describes a method of anodizing titanium to produce a thin, metallic oxide film. Gabel's technique is safe and needs little equipment, which solved two of the problems that kept anodizing out of many industrial art classrooms in schools.

Also at Pioneer, sixth grader Kathy O'Connor wrote the sequel to an episode on "The Waltons." Her script was forwarded to CBS by Reading Program Director Lynne Williams. Kathy's script exercise was suggested by her teacher, Janine Kateff.

Kids earn $ for critters

About 30 students from Pioneer Middle School raised $35 for the Westland Humane Society by selling baked goods at a school disco dance on April 4.

The money will be used to buy x-ray equipment to aid in diagnosing and caring for injured animals at the center. The fund-raiser was coordinated by seventh-graders Brad Bloomhuff, Jeff Nadeau, and Jody Spitz.

tell it to Phyllis

April showers bring May flowers, but I wonder what April ice storms are going to do to the buds that are already forming on the trees. I promise not to rant and rave about the ugly weather we've been having, since many people blame it on me.

I admit to having written about nice weather twice in the past two and a half years, only to have the weather man turn on me the day the paper came out. I enjoy receiving phone calls and talking to people about things that I've written whether they agree with me or not, but believe me, I don't have any power over the weather.

Just think what I could do if I did have that kind of power. For a small fee (or maybe a large one), I could arrange for a beautiful day on the date you planned the family reunion in your back yard. I'm sure I could arrange to plan rain and snow for off days when nothing special was happening. We could be assured of a white Christmas, and warm, sunshine on the 4th of July. And, everyone would have to be nice to me - you wouldn't want to make me mad and be zapped by lightning.

If I had power over the weather, why would I let it rain or snow on Wednesday, when we're trying to get the paper out? I tend to eat more on cold, wet, dreary days - I'll never lose 20 pounds if I can't get out and run around the block (how's that for an excuse?). And, I just remembered the leak in the trunk of my car, where the Easter bunny is hiding a couple of Easter baskets. Oh well, so what's a little more wet grass and maybe a few soggy jelly beans.

No, unfortunately I don't have a direct line upstairs to weather control headquarters. I'm not going to try and even guess what the weather might be like for the upcoming holiday weekend, so please don't blame it on me.

I still believe in the Easter bunny - I wonder if she has any power over the weather. Maybe I'll leave out an extra big carrot, just in case.

Happy Easter.

The 30th annual White Breakfast of the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth will be held on Thursday, April 12, at 9:30 a.m. The Women's Association has sponsored the Maundy Thursday observance each year since 1949.

Mrs. Clark Chapin and Mrs. Richard Thistle will prepare the programs. Centerpieces are being made by the Handicraft Circle, under the direction of Mrs. William Clarke, Mrs. Gerald Hondorp, and Mrs. John McLaren. The Mission Sewing Circle, headed by Mrs. Sterling Shepard and Mrs. Gordon Sutton will set up and serve breakfast, which will be prepared by the Helen Beavers Circle, chaired by Mrs. Stewart Dodge and Mrs. Kenneth Spear. The Ann Nichols Circle, led by Mrs. J. M. McNamara and Miss Margaret Opie will serve as hostesses.

Tickets are $3 and may be purchased at the church office, 701 Church Street, through circle chairmen, and through Mrs. Kenneth Spear at 453-5478.

Should Canton rescind earlier liquor license?

BY CHAS CHILD

Should Canton's Board of Trustees rescind a recommendation to grant a liquor license which it had given earlier?

The board was scheduled to discuss at last night's meeting whether it should cancel a recommendation to the state Liquor Control Commission that the Canton House Restaurant be granted a liquor license.

The Canton House received the recommendation late in former Supervisor Harold Stein's term last year. Four seats changed hands after the election.

"The Canton House has no financial commitment to the township," said Deputy Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz, who has been investigating the issue for the township. "They don't own the building, they lease it. They don't generate a tax base and there's no real permanency."

The Liquor Control Commission, which grants licenses upon consideration of the local municipalities' recommendations, has not yet given the Canton House a license, said Falkiewicz. "It's not too late to rescind our earlier motion," she said.

Canton House's owner, Lucie D. Haddad, however, said, "Why did they give us the recommendation in the first place? Is it politics or something? It must be."

Since it took months of work to apply for the license, she said that it would be unfair to rescind it now.

Commission nixes tax hike

Dave Pugh said he would prefer to have the 7.7 per cent increase above last year's budget. The others agreed that the SEV increase of about 10 per cent should be the budgetary goal.

"Hold the millage," the mayor said. "That's the big thing. This is a major philosophical difference."

Yockey asked the commission, "Any suggestions?" about cutting.

While the commission proceeded to review some individual parts of the budget - at times questioning items line by line - it asked the administration to propose the alternatives available.

Commissioner Eldon Martin said the proposed budget offered little back-up material to explain changes.

Turner said he felt the budget also underestimated anticipated revenues to the city. "The whole revenue area really looks shaky to me."

"I think there's a minimum of $50,000 revenue that can be added to this budget," he added.

The commission will meet again tonight to discuss the budget and proposed changes from the administration.

A public hearing on the budget will be held at 7:30 p.m., Monday, April 30 and, under terms of the city charter, the commission must adopt the budget by Monday, May 7.

If you are interested in buying a large old house but are afraid of never being able to afford it, try looking in an urban area. There are many large old houses built by the rich at the turn of the century and later. As cities deteriorated, many of these houses were left standing empty. With a little bit of renovation, they can be put back into tip top shape. Generally, these homes are reasonably priced and many cities offer special loans and some grants for rehabilitating old property. Your 15 room mansion may not be just a dream. Let's look together.

Ice storm fells trees, cuts power

A classic Michigan rain storm Monday morning felled numerous trees, electric, and telephone lines.

Plymouth-Canton was one of the harder hit areas in the metropolitan area, said a spokesman for Detroit Edison. Plymouth's City Hall was closed Monday and Tuesday due to downed power lines, although Edison was hoping to get power to the building yesterday. Emergency generators, however, enabled the police department to keep functioning.

Numerous homes in the city's Penniman area, some damaged by fallen trees, were still without power yesterday.

All schools were closed Monday, but only Bird and Geer were closed yesterday due to power outages.

Canton Township was hit less hard by the storm because most of the lines are underground.

A CLOSE CALL. No one was at home and Craig Kennen's van had been moved a few minutes before this tree split and fell on his house on Church Street in Plymouth.

Kennen, above, said damage was estimated at about $500-$600 for window replacement and tree removal. The ice-laden tree crashed about 8:30 p.m. Sunday night.

14 candidates seek two school board seats

One candidate, Thomas Yack, 33, of Canton, is an incumbent. Yack is currently finishing his term as president of the board. School board member Joe Gray, whose seat is also expiring, has declined to run again for the board.

Campbell said his experience in planning and budget management could help the board decrease its more than $800,000 operating deficit. Campbell's wife, Joan, is a member of COFA - Citizens Organized for Action - a group that organized following the district's proposal to change school attendance boundaries. The Campbells have two children attending school and have lived here almost three years.

Kim, 42, of Plymouth Township, served on the L'anse Creuse Board of Education for five years prior to moving here about one year ago. He was the president for two years. L'anse Creuse has about 8,400 students and is located near Mount Clemens.

"We had similar growth problems on a smaller scale and solved them," he said. "I would like to try to solve them in Plymouth-Canton," he said. He has one son who attends school here.

Candidate Roberts, 34, said his biggest assets are his ability to do a job thoroughly and his experience in management and personnel. He's lived in Canton for more than two years and ran for one of two seats on the Canton Board of Trustees in November, 1978. He finished third in his unsuccessful bid.

As former president of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association, Sinclair said he's worked with kids directly and is concerned about their education. He's lived in Plymouth for 14 years and has three children attending school in the district.

Allen Neil Smith, 38, is a financial analyst. He said he'd like to help balance the school budget. As a Canton resident for seven years, Smith has led youth groups in the Geneva Presbyterian Church.

Plymouth Township resident Stetz, 38, is a homemaker and member of the Allen School Parent Teacher Organization. She directed the "Helping Hands" program and was chosen as the 1977 Outstanding Young Woman of the Year by the Plymouth Jaycees.

To help cope with student growth and keep high standards for learning, Dean Swartzwelter, 44, has decided to run for the board. Furthermore, he said he wants to improve communication between parents and board members. Swartzwelter has three children attending schools here.

Forty-two-year-old Ken Vogras said he is running for a board seat because his financial experience as Plymouth's Department of Public Works Superintendent could help the board. Vogras has lived in Plymouth since 1956, and all his children attended Plymouth-Canton schools.

Candidate Tom Yack said he's running for re-election because he has enjoyed the challenge of getting people to work together in the district. Yack has lived in Canton for eight years and will have one child attending school next fall.

A resident of Canton for six years except from August, 1977 to December, 1978, Foley said he ran for the board because he was willing to devote time to it.

Furthermore, he said he will use the months before the election to learn more about the issues facing the Plymouth-Canton board. He and his wife have no children.

Thirty-year-old Garrett has lived here for three years. She said she would like the district to maintain its high standards of education. "We moved here from Willow Run because of the good schools here. I want to keep them," she said.

Garrett said the buses need to be improved. "I don't want my kids to ride unsafe buses," she said.

Koch, 39, of Canton, said he has "no axes to grind in running for the board." He said he has the time and interest to give to the board and would like the board to give more time to long-term plans.

He and his wife, Kathleen, a teacher at Miller Elementary School, have lived here for three years and have two children in school.

As a resident of Plymouth's Old Village for four years, Nelson said he wanted to see all areas represented on the board. He also said he was concerned as a parent. He has one child at Starkweather Elementary School.

Jeanette Wines, 38, of Canton, said she wants to "bring more common sense to the board." He's lived in Canton for six years and has been active in Parent-Teacher Organization at Hulsing Elementary School. She has two children in school.

Kramer prepping to run at Boston Marathon

BY E. DALE LEE

Would you run over 26 miles for a spaghetti dinner? Salem High teacher Gene Kramer is willing to pick 'em up and put 'em down April 16 in Hopkinton, Mass., having qualified for a position in the 82nd running of the Boston Marathon.

"My family's not going with me to Boston," the 41-year-old Kramer said. "It's going to be expensive - but it's a once in a lifetime shot and I don't want to pass it up."

Kramer says he'll be taking a chartered flight with about "50 to 100" other Detroit area runners who also have qualified for the event.

"I've put in a lot of training and preparation for the marathon," Kramer explained. "I want to have the best time that I've ever had - I'm not out to beat everybody. In fact, the chances that I'll win are quite slim."

His qualifying three hour and 18 minute time in the Detroit International Marathon last October probably isn't good enough to win any of the 10 medal and trophy prizes that'll be awarded, he said, but he has a lot of desire.

"I know that they'll give out nine medals and a trophy," Kramer said. "The rest of the finishers will probably get some kind of T-shirt and a picture booklet. But I know that we get a spaghetti dinner!"

Qualifying for the Boston Marathon was sort of a fluke, he said. "I had hoped to finish the Detroit race in less than four hours," Kramer offered. "But the bands and the crowds and the excitement kept me pumping - I was really surprised at my stamina and the final time."

Kramer began running in February of 1976 as a way to lose weight and keep fit. Before then, his only experience as a trackster or harrier came during his eighth and ninth grade school years when he tagged along with the Livonia Bentley High cross country team.

"The idea of running and feeling fit appeals to me," Kramer offered. "I'll continue doing this for some time. My family? My boys (Mike, 16; Marty, 13; and Mark, 12) could become tremendous runners, but I won't push them."

Kramer's game-plan as it were for the Boston race will be to pace himself and not let his emotions run away with him; he says that his training methods make it so that he'll be exhausted running the long race but that it won't kill him.

"I run for about an hour a day preparing for this," Kramer said. "Ideal weather for me is about 50 degrees with little or no wind."

Running for that long of a time does have its drawbacks, however.

"I wear a nylon jogging suit," he explained. "The biggest problem with that is heat buildup - sometimes I'll want to just rip the suit right off my back but if I do that I'll cool down too fast and catch a cold."

The suit's not the only piece of clothing that matters in a marathon race.

Coach shortage plagues Western soccer league

The Western Suburban Soccer League must have been having some problems during the first two weeks of registration. The Crier has been receiving letters and phone calls from angry parents of registrants calling the league's registration a "fiasco."

The parents of the players, who range in age from eight to 19, complained that some teams were getting two days a week practice time while others got nothing; others whined that their kids' coach hadn't contacted them yet.

What I found at the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Center Friday was a list of coaches and players in Director Chuck Skene's office.

"We were and are short two coaches," Skene explained. "One coach quit on me this week - but we'll find another one. We always do."

Skene says most of the 1,000-plus kids were contacted in the middle of March. The reason some kids were practicing earlier than others, he says, is because some coaches are more enterprising than others.

"Every team is assigned a practice field a night a week," he offered. "If a coach wants to practice on weekends or find his own facilities, that's his prerogative."

Skene says he fields about six calls a day about this league. For those who are still angry with the procedure, he offers a simple, direct solution:

"I've never turned down a refund and we never will," he said. "I don't feel the situation here has been out of control at all."

Skene can be reached at 455-6620 and 455-6623 during weekdays. He'll return from vacation in about a week or so.

The 7:30 p.m. general meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League in room 128 at Canton High tonight should be an interesting one. This is the week where two irate managers are intending to bring their attorneys in a last-ditch effort to get a team. The league's hierarchy still isn't releasing the names of the men . . . I guess they think the problem will go away.

Dave Gaines has headed West to take the San Diego State College basketball coaching job, leaving the University of Detroit this week. Last week, Salem High basketball Coach Fred Thomann was quoted as saying he didn't want to coach in an inner-city environment like the U of D. Thomann says he doesn't want to go to Titan Territory. But I think he may go if Michigan State University's Bill Berry is named. You just watch.

Kramer tooling to Boston Marathon

"I wear lightweight shoes with excellent support in the arch and heel area during marathon events," Kramer said. "But for roadwork I'll wear some expensive K-Mart shoes."

Kramer says between 6,000 and 7,000 runners will run the Boston course - about 2,000 of them for fun because they didn't qualify. He's one of the skilled ones who's eligible for the medals.

"I was so inspired after the Detroit International that I didn't want to pass up Boston," he explained. "After all, this is the most prestigious running event with the exception of the Olympics."

So Kramer sent in his forms in the latter months of 1978 and will pick up his number in Hopkinton come race day.

"I'm going to try and pace myself so I'll run seven to seven-and-a-half minutes per mile," Kramer offered. "To run 26 miles and 385 yards isn't going to be easy, especially around the 17 and 18 mile mark - that's where a lot of runners drop out because of all the hills."

And how does the Salem High faculty view Kramer's ambition?

"Aw, the teachers think I'm crazy or they think it's a great hobby," Kramer explained. "But I understand it'll be on national television on tape later that night (April 16) - I hope they watch."

Pitch, Hit, and Run registration nearing closing date

Pre-registration for Major League Baseball's Pitch, Hit & Run competition June 9 at Massey Field off Main Street in Plymouth must be made at the local Burger King Restaurant on Ann Arbor Road before April 30.

Each youngster competes in three categories: pitching at a target, hitting for distance, and running the base paths for speed.

In pitching, each competitor is allowed three throws into a target 46 feet away. Each successful pitch is worth 50 points.

In hitting, each youngster gets three swings (fair or foul), with the longest fair fly counted towards the total point score at one point per foot.

In the running event, the entrant runs the Major League distance of 90 feet from home plate to first base with his or her score determined on a point chart based on time.

All managers in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League are requested to attend a Manager's Clinic today at 7 p.m. in the Central Middle School gymnasium. Canton High baseball Coach Fred Crissey will demonstrate plays and discuss the league's rules at the gathering.

Rich Madsen, the current assistant director of the "F" League behind Barb Smith, will serve as an assistant coach on the Hawkeyes in addition to his new appointment as manager of the Salem Koufax team for 13- and 14-year-old boys.

Petersen captures a first at AAU championships in Royal Oak

Canton High junior swimmer Paul Petersen recently captured first place in the 100-yard breaststroke and second place in the 200-yard breaststroke competing in the Amateur Athletic Union field at Royal Oak March 23, 24, and 25.

Last Wednesday and Thursday Petersen traveled to Duke University in North Carolina to compete against 50 swimmers in the Junior Olympics.

At the AAU meet, Petersen placed 11th overall of 200 entrants in the 15-18 year-old age group.

Swimming in seven individual events and three relays, Petersen also scored in the following other events: a third place in the 200-yard individual medley in 2:02; fourth place in the 100-yard backstroke in 0:57.5; third place in the 100-yard butterfly in 0:53.6; and, an eighth place in the 500-yard freestyle in 4:59 flat.

Petersen's time in the 100-yard butterfly was 0:53.7 compared to a first place time of 0:50.3 at Duke.

Petersen said his performance at Duke was not particularly good because he was sick with a spring cold.

HEY KIDS!

You can hunt for Easter eggs

The Easter bunny will be hopping along on Sunday and kids from Plymouth and Canton can hunt Easter eggs and candy during two hunts on Saturday, April 14.

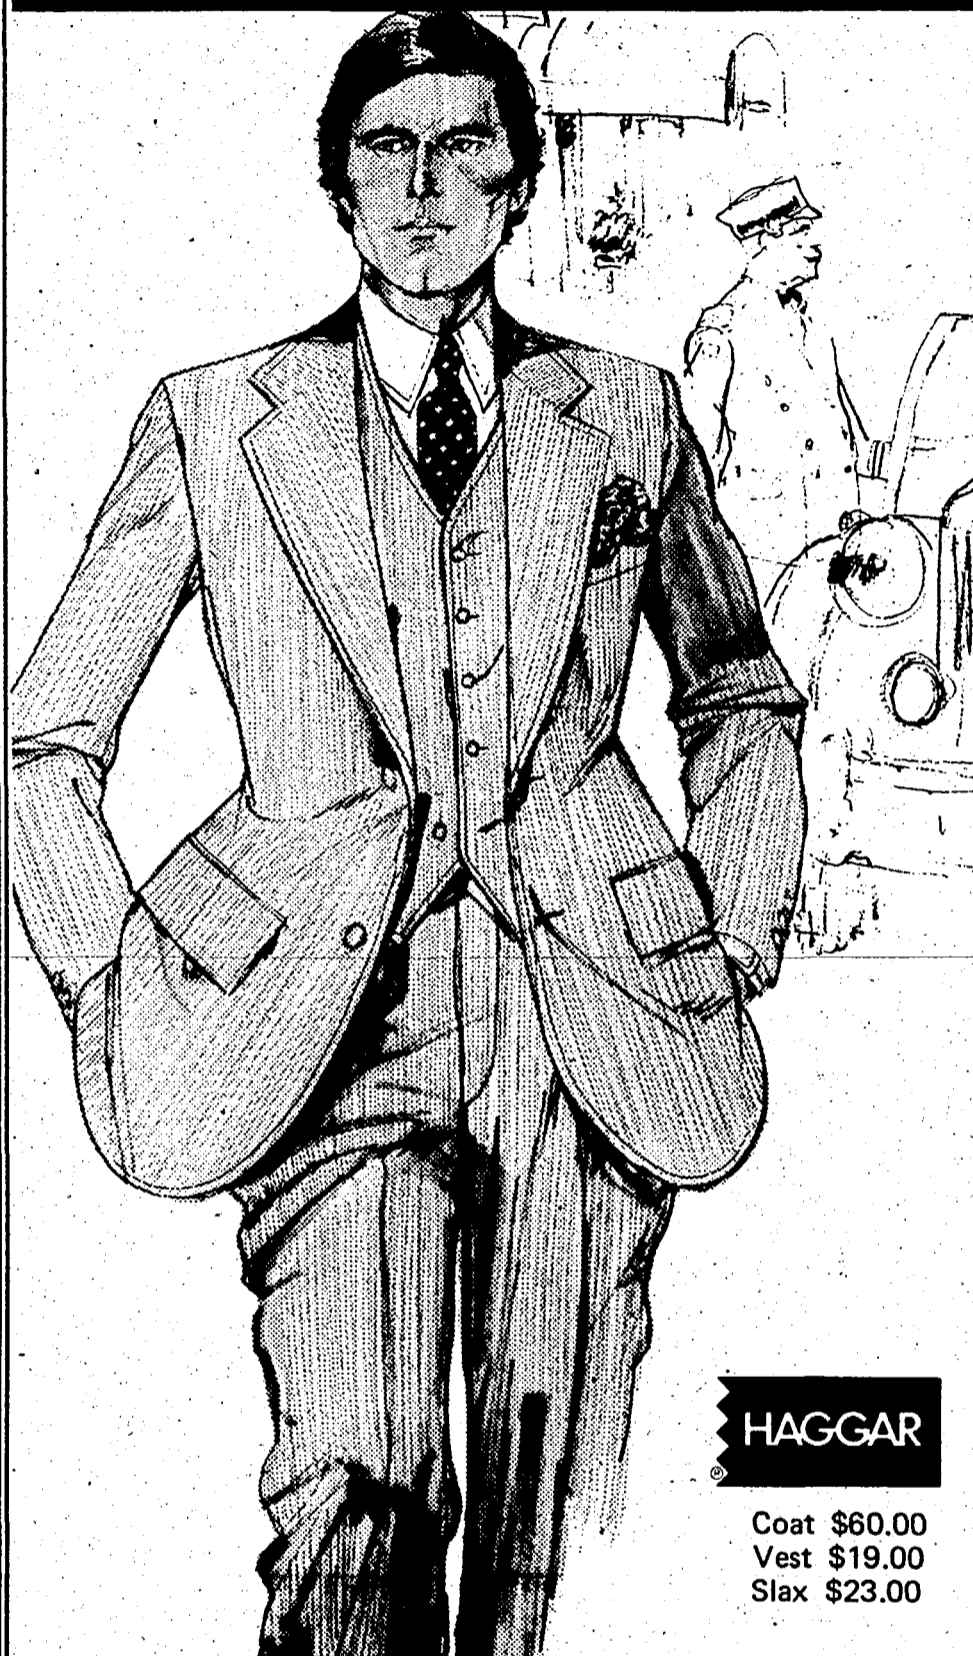

At 10 a.m., the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring an Easter Candy Hunt at Hamilton Park. The hunt begins at 10 a.m. and is divided into various age groups so that no one goes hungry.

The groups are divided into: kids five years old and under; kids six and seven; kids eight and nine; and, kids 10 and 11. Hamilton Park is located at the intersection of Harding and Joy streets, three blocks east of Main Street toward Lilley Road.

Candy hunters are urged to get there on time since the Easter treats are found quickly.

Also on Saturday, April 14, members of the Centennial CB Club and their families will gather for an egg hunt for kids 12 and under. It starts at 10 a.m. at Sutherland Park. That park is located at the intersection of Sutherland and Forest streets one block west of Main Street between Main and Harvey.

Plymouth's bunny factory keeps workers hopping

A QUALITY SHINE. The shine of the chocolate rabbits indicates that the tempering process has been successful, said Merle Hamlin, who makes Easter bunnies for a local candy store.

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Heavenly. That describes the smell of chocolate that defeats so many would be successful dieters at Easter time.

Inhale deeply. You can catch a whiff of the aroma near a tiny white building that conceals a chocolate factory in Plymouth's Old Village. By looking at the outside of the nondescript building, you wouldn't guess that chocolate rabbits, chocolate eggs, and myriads of chocolate designs come from such unobtrusive quarters. But the smell gives it away.

Step inside the candyland, and you'll see hundreds of Easter chocolates lined up on metal trays waiting to be wrapped. They are all noticeably shiny - a sign the chocolate has been tempered properly which insures it will keep its shape.

How are the chocolates made? Merle Hamlin, who owns a local candy store, answered the question. During the Easter season - which is his busiest time of the year, followed by Christmas and Valentine's Day - Merle starts melting gigantic 10-pound chocolate bars, which have "Peter's Superlative Chocolate" etched on the front of the bars, during the evening. He breaks up the 10-pound bars by beating them with a rubber mallet. Then he puts about 130-140 pounds of chocolate into the melter to liquefy.

The chocolate melts all night. In the morning, Merle's wife, Audrey, cools the chocolate from 110 degrees to about 88 or 87 degrees.

According to Merle, the only reliable way to measure the temperature of the chocolate is with a candy thermometer. Then, after cooling, the chocolate is tempered.

"The tempering process is the key to making good molds," said Merle, adding that the process leaves the chocolate pliable and ready to pour. There are 44 molds to choose from before pouring and one of the largest forms, a seven-pound, 10-inch hollow rabbit.

To pour into the molds, the room temperature must be between 55 and 60 degrees. "Heat and humidity are our worst enemies," said Merle, adding that both summer and winter extremes make difficult working conditions.

After pouring the chocolate into its mold, the mold is clipped together, and turned upside down to drain and cool.

Then the clips are removed. They insure the chocolate layer is uniform and won't break easily. Then the shapes are trimmed by hand, wrapped and sold.

With his white bouffant baker's hat, distinguished-looking silver sideburns, and white apron, Merle Hamlin looks like a candy-maker. Asked if he still eats chocolate himself, he laughed heartily while patting his belly. "Do I look like I am tired of chocolate?" he asked.

PRESTO, IT'S A RABBIT! After removing the clips along the edges, the rabbit mold is opened gently. Clipping the two sides together helps protect against weak spots which can break easily.

MARY CARNE

Mary, Mary: how does your garden grow?

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN

Her friends say she has a green thumb, but for Mary Carne of Canton, green is just one of the many bright colors growing in her garden. "I just love to work in the garden," said Mary with a bit of an English accent.

Roses are just one of her specialties. Through the years she has grown every kind of flower imaginable. "I've enjoyed growing flowers for as long as I can remember - I think I inherited the instinct from my father," she said.

Before moving to Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park in Canton, Mary and her husband Fred lived in Detroit and Highland Park, where she had room to grow large gardens. She used to start all of her plants from seeds, inside early in the year. Now that she doesn't have the room, she waits until the ground is dry and workable and picks out plants at a nearby nursery.

Typical for an English gardener, Mary grows a little bit of everything. She plans her garden so that there is something in bloom from early spring through the autumn frost.

In her advice to the novice gardener Mary said, "It's very easy for anyone to have a beautiful garden, all you have to do is weed, and feed, and keep the plants well watered, as well as cultivate the soil." She added that she always picks the dead flowers off the plants.

In the fall, Mary cuts back her roses to about 12 to 14 inches. She cuts them back again in the spring, when you can see where the dead ends are. Fertilize after the first pair of leaves appear, then fertilize every month, said Mary.

She also advises not to cultivate too deep, because the roots on roses are near the top of the soil. She said it is important to spray roses after a rain with a special rose spray to keep the bugs off the plants.

Fred does his part in keeping up the landscaping, he is in charge of the grass. "He keeps it looking real nice," said Mary.

There was one time when Fred decided to help with the gardening. As a favor to Mary, he went out and dug up the ground in a garden plot next to the garage. Little did he know that Mary had already redied the ground and planted the seeds. "Oh, the things I could have said to him that day," she said.

When moving from a house in the city to a mobile home out here, Mary said she was against an apartment because of nowhere to grow things. She makes the most on the limited space she has around their mobile home. Last year they supplied many neighbors with tomatoes from their six plants.

"My Ringo geraniums have never grown better, I had 28 blossoms on one plant last year," said Mary.

The neighbors know spring isn't far off when they see Mary out nosing around the garden watching the daffodils begin to appear.

Easter Bunny arrives by helicopter

WHEN THE ROPES WENT DOWN, the kids scurried forth to gather as many eggs and treats as they could. The hunt, which was held on the field at the corner of Joy and Canton Center roads, drew about 500 persons.

Crier photos by Bill Bresler

EYEING THE BASKETFUL of goodies, Nathan Piwowar doesn't seem perturbed by the pinch-on-the-cheek greeting by the Easter Bunny. Nathan seems far too interested in the chocolates, brightly-colored eggs, and carrots to care about the rabbit.

WITH A PINK NOSE AND WHISKERS, the Easter Bunny hopped out of the helicopter on Saturday afternoon before a couple hundred kids. The Easter party and egg hunt was sponsored by the Canton Jaycettes.

Canton offers free trees

Cantonites may pick up free seedlings from Township Hall on April 28. Less than 12 inches tall, the seedlings are mostly evergreens, but hardwood bushes like flowering dogwood will be available, said Jim Kosteva, director of the Township planning department, who is organizing the give-away.

The plants will be given away starting at 10 a.m. until they are gone, he said. "I advise people to take only what they can plant," he said.

Proof of Canton residency will be required.

The seedlings were made available through the Wayne County Soil Conservation Service's annual distribution.

Spring cleaning

BOY SCOUTS CLEAN UP. What surer sign of spring is there than spring cleaning. About 15 scouts from pack 1534 spent the afternoon raking and picking up. (Crier photo by Bill Bresler)
