

Canton declares war on sludge

Emergency anti-dump law passed

Canton's Board of Trustees passed an emergency ordinance Monday night aimed at halting a firm from dumping treated sewage at a Canton landfill.

Supervisor Noel Culbert proposed the law after he learned last Wednesday that Bi-Products Systems of Michigan, Inc. was dumping treated sewage from Detroit in a landfill on Hannan Road, south of Michigan Avenue.

"The sludge has an extraordinary high level of heavy metals, including cadmium, chromium, lead, and mercury," said Culbert. All these are hazardous to human health, he said.

Ray Kellas, manager of Woodland Meadows Landfill, confirmed that he was accepting sludge from Bi-Products. "They have been dumping about 200-300 tons per day for about two months," he said.

Bi-Products is the same company that proposes to build a huge sludge composting near the landfill to turn the waste into fertilizer. Monday night, its request for site-plan approval from the Planning Commission was tabled. (See related story on this page.)

Township officials complained that they were not told by Bi-Products that it was disposing of the sludge in Woodland Meadows. "Why didn't you tell us you've been dumping?" asked Trustee Robert Greenstein.

Ed Cassling, president of Bi-Products, replied that the township should have been notified by the Wayne County Health Department. "We had approval from both the state Department of Natural Resources and the health department, which should have notified the township," he said.

The "Hazardous Waste and Toxic Substance Ordinance" will make it unlawful "for any person, firm, corporation or other entity to dispose or permit the disposal of toxic materials or hazardous wastes within" Canton.

Charlie McKelvie, an attorney in the township's firm that helped write the ordinance, agreed with Trustee Lynne Goldsmith that the definition of hazardous material in the ordinance was vague. "We wrote it that way so it could be enforced on a case-by-case basis," he said.

The new law will take effect Thursday when it is published in the township's legal newspaper, a Wayne-based operation.

"I think we'll enforce it Friday," said Culbert, referring to Bi-Products' dumping in Canton.

Composting plant delayed

BY CHAS CHILD

Worried neighbors of a proposed sewage-composting plant in Canton will have to wait another month to see if the Planning Commission approves or denies the project.

Monday night, the Planning Commission tabled a request for preliminary approval after hearing a crowd of about 100 residents strongly object to the plant.

"We don't need this," said a resident. Cont. on pg. 8

School voters divided on millage hike

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Will Plymouth-Canton voters accept a one and one-half mill increase for schools on the June 11 ballot?

Voters' comments could be divided equally as positive or negative, according to the 40 persons who responded to that question in a recent school survey. A random survey of of 140 persons who had voted in one of the last three elections was compiled by school officials.

The survey results were presented to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education at its meeting Monday night by Florence Beier, school administrative assistant.

Of the 140 questionnaires mailed, 83 persons responded. The survey also asked voters to rank educational priorities.

Teaching basics -- reading, writing, math, and social studies -- was the No. 1 priority listed by almost all voters. Next in importance was: class size, teaching art, music, and physical education; special education for the handicapped; and, curriculum improvement. These areas were listed by many of the voters who responded to the survey.

Some voters listed these priorities: counseling; transportation; building maintenance; libraries, talented and gifted program; and the extended school year (ESY) program. After-school activities were at the bottom of the list of priorities by voters.

Commenting on the survey results, Tom Yack, president of the board, said: "I was surprised that teaching art, music, and physical education ranked so high and after-school activities were rated so low."

The survey results were accepted by a vote of 6-0 with board member Richard Arlen absent.

League of Women Voters to host school candidates

Ten of the 13 candidates for the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education will speak at Candidates Forum Night on Thursday, May 31 at West Middle School at 7 p.m. The forum is sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

The 10 candidates who will address the public and answer questions are: Douglass Koch, Allen Neil Smith, Sylvia Stets, Gary Roberts, Kenneth Vogras, E. D. Swartz-walker, Janette Wines, Stephen Feley, James Sinclair, and Thomas Yack.

Three candidates did not respond to the league's invitation to address the public. They were: Kevin Campbell, John Kim, and LeRoy Nelson.

Linda Garrett of Canton, who was the 14th candidate in the school board race, announced last week that she was no longer actively seeking election because other candidates were better qualified.

The race will be decided in the upcoming June 11 election. The two board seats are for four-year terms each.

Surprise! Canton has another project

BY CHAS CHILD
Canton Township officials have learned that apartments under construction near the Forest Trails subdivision will house tenants with rent subsidies from the federal government.
The rent-subsidy program for moderate income families is similar to the one that would subsidize rents in a project proposed near Pickwick Village subdivision in the township, said Terry Carroll, grants coordinator for Canton.

Pickwick residents have packed recent Board of Trustees meetings protesting the proposed rent-subsidized housing. They say it will lower their property values.

"We didn't find out that the Forest Trails apartments were rent subsidized until just recently," said Carroll. "Some of our files are missing, and we didn't find out until county officials happened to inquire about the project's progress."
Now under construction, the 148 units in the Forest Trails development are located on Joy Road between Sheldon and Canton center roads.

Trustee Robert Greenstein said both the Pickwick and Forest Trails rent-subsidy projects were approved during the administration of former Supervisor Harold Stein. Greenstein charged that Stein ignored a request by county officials to state the township's objections to the Pickwick project. Stein said he doesn't remember the events that led to the approval.

The Forest Trails project, however, did not require this request to the supervisor and it is unclear how it was finally approved, said Carroll. He added that he is still investigating the approval.

At last Tuesday's Board of Trustees meeting, the board pledged support of Pickwick's fight against the apartment complex proposed for a site on the east side of Lilley Road south of Warren.

Opinions from the township's attorney are needed to plan the legal fight against the project, said Supervisor Noel Culbert.

The Pickwickians requested that the township pay for a possible legal battle since the township made the original mistake that permitted the rent-subsidized housing in the first place.

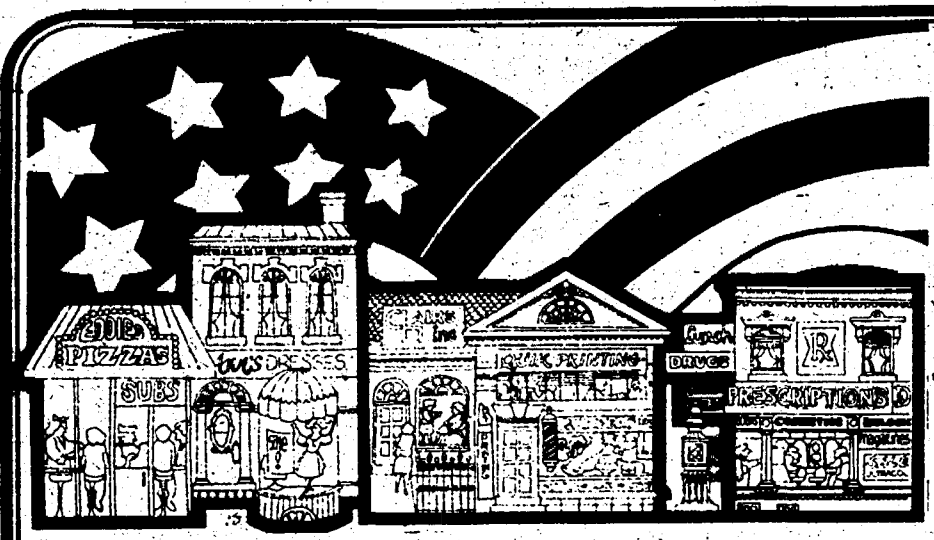

Poppy sale is Thursday

Plymouth's Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mayflower Post 6695, will conduct its annual Buddy Poppy sale on Thursday, May 17.

"All of the net proceeds received from the sale of Buddy Poppies remains here in our own community to meet the calls from needy veterans," Poppy Chairman Al Heindryckx of the local VFW post said.

"The Post maintains a relief fund into which is placed all net profits received from the sale of Buddy Poppies and the money that we collect in this sale will remain right here in our own community, to help finance the relief and welfare work which we have undertaken in behalf of our own veterans in need and their dependents," he said.

As in previous years, these symbolic flowers of Flanders Field will be sold on the streets by a group of volunteer members of the VFW post and members of its Ladies Auxiliary.

Small Business: A Creative Resource

Every time you wrap a sandwich in cellophane, write with a ballpoint pen, zip up a jacket or cool off in an air-conditioned building, you're enjoying one of the many inventions that have come from America's small businesses.
In fact, over 50 percent of the inventions patented in this country in the past fifty years have come not from large corporations, but from small businesses.
Each of those ideas has created something just as important as the invention - new jobs. In the past eight years 99.2 percent of all the new jobs created in this country - more than 9,425,000 jobs! - were in small business.

And more jobs have resulted in greater productivity. In 1978, small business workers contributed 70 percent of the nation's total wholesale volume, helping to keep America the world's most productive nation.
The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce is proud of the Plymouth business community. The Chamber is dedicated to helping our small businesses run better. And when small businesses run better, so does the nation.
Join us during Small Business Week as we salute America's small businesses, their creativity and the large part they play in our nation's progress.

After millage OK, Canton library to open Jan. 1

BY CHAS CHILD

Canton Township will have a library in about seven months, thanks to the passage of a library millage last Wednesday.

The one-mill maximum request was approved 713 to 606. Turnout for the special election was very light -- about six per cent.

"We're very pleased," said Stan Bucher, chairman of the Library Committee. "Considering the advertising and speeches beforehand, I'm disappointed in the turnout. But I'm elated with the results."

Under state law, the township Board of Trustees must now appoint a six-member board to operate the library. This board will prepare the library's first budget, hire a librarian and other possible employees, organize the purchase of books, and perform other tasks, said Bucher.

Helping this board will be administrators from the Wayne-Oakland Federated Library System, of which the new Canton library will be a member.

"We should have no trouble filling the board," said Bucher. In fact, a list of eight candidates have already been submitted to Supervisor Noel Culbert. On the list are: Barb McEwen, John Schwartz, Doug Ritter, Jim Gillig, Stan Bucher, Norma Waara, Norma West, and Mary Feltz.

"We should open around Jan. 1, 1980," said Bucher. The shelves will contain only around 5,000 books, he added. By the end of 1980, though, the library should expand to about 20,000 volumes, and the eventual goal is 55,000 books, he said.

By comparison, Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library contains around 45,000, he said. One justification for Canton starting its own library was to save the payments to Dunning-Hough ($56,000 in 1978) from Canton's general fund for its use by Canton residents.

How much will the library cost? In the first two years, Bucher estimates that the full one mill will be needed to meet the high start up costs. After these initial years, the library will require less than a mill, he said. One mill is expected to yield around $340,000 next year, he said.

The library committee has already started planning for special projects at the library, including programs for children and senior citizens, said Bucher. Also, a Friends of the Library committee is being formed to organize such projects, he added.

The third floor of Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Rd. has been set aside for the library, he said.

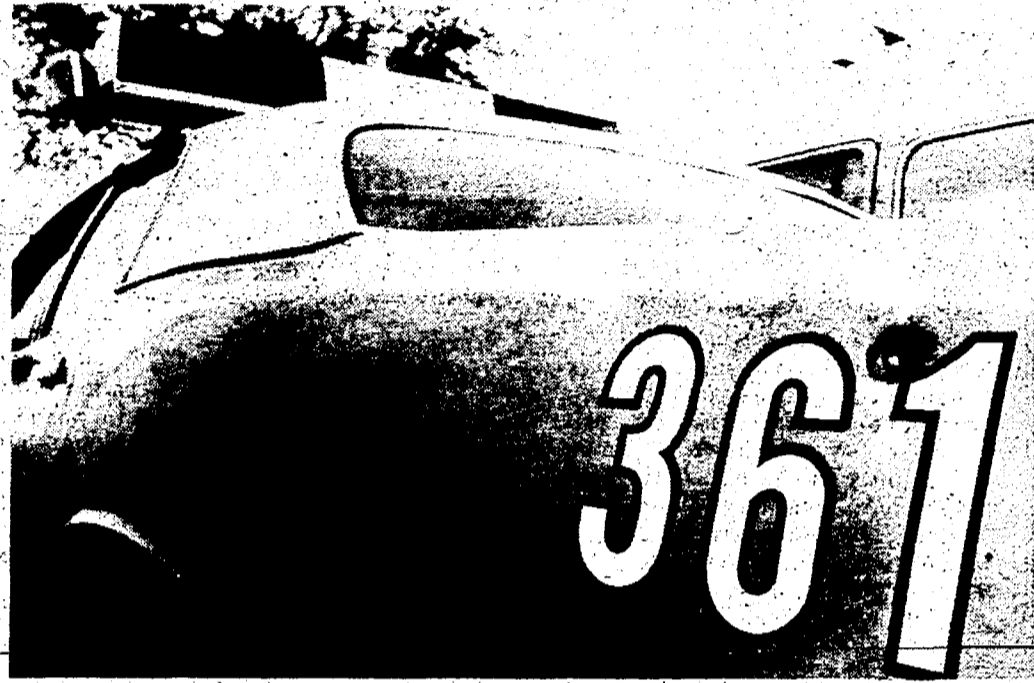

For Michigan Week

Plymouth, Harper Woods to swap mayors Monday

To rekindle the observance of Michigan Week -- once a time of many observances in Plymouth -- the Plymouth City Commission will be participating in Mayor's Exchange Day Monday.

Guests of the city for the day will be Harper Woods Mayor Fred Shaening and his wife, Virginia, and Councilman Ted Penszynski and his wife, Joanne. While they are visiting here, Plymouth Mayor Tom Turner, his wife, June, and Commissioner Jim Houk and his wife, Elowene, will be in Harper Woods.

Among the activities planned for the visiting officials here are tours of City Hall, the library, the cultural center, Plymouth Opportunity House, Old Village, Penniman Avenue Shops, Forest Place Mall and the Central Business District. An afternoon coffee break is planned for the Tonquish Creek Manor.

Kids fete Michigan Week

Elementary school students are planning special Michigan Week activities. About 250 students at Starkweather Elementary will eat a Michigan Breakfast on Tuesday, May 22. The kids have invited Governor William Milliken to attend along with other guests. The breakfast will feature Michigan products such as corn flakes.

The students have also made a replica of the Mackinaw Bridge and Detroit's Renaissance Center which will be on display.

At Fiegel Elementary School, students will celebrate Michigan Week by electing a student to be "governor." The governor will lead the flag-raising ceremony each morning.

Michigan facts will also be presented on the morning announcements by class representatives at Fiegel during the week.

On May 23, Fiegel students will also eat a Michigan breakfast of cereal, coffee cake and milk.

Will licenses cover new costs of Township's dog census?

A canine census now under way in Plymouth Township is expected to cost about a third more than a similar count did two years ago, and it can be attributed to the increased price of gasoline.

It is township policy to count its dogs every two years, and the part-time crew members pay for their own transportation.

In 1977 they were paid at the rate of 30 cents for every house called on. The 1979 rate, requested by Treasurer Joseph West and approved by the Board of Trustees, has gone to 40 cents per house.

In a memo to the board, West said it was "due to the increased cost of gas and transportation."

In 1977, the township's dog population was counted at 2,569. Census takers called at 6,052 homes at a cost to the township of $1,815.60. However, license fees more than make up for that expense.

May 31 is the deadline for purchasing new licenses. The fee is $3 no matter whether the dog is male or female. After May 31 the price goes to $5.

An informational sheet being left at all dwellings by census takers warns that "All dogs must have a rabies vaccination before a license will be issued."

It further states:

"If your dog was vaccinated last year, please bring the vaccination slip to township hall any weekday from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. and you may obtain your license at the above fee.

"Many complaints are received daily regarding dogs running loose. The township dog ordinance states that all dogs must be either tied or in a fenced area and are not allowed to run loose. Also, excessive barking is in violation of the ordinance.

"Dogs running at large will be picked up by the township dog warden and impounded at the Parkway Veterinary Clinic, 41395 Wilcox, Plymouth Township, and if not claimed within 72 hours after being impounded shall be destroyed, or if the animal is worthy and valuable it shall be sold by the pound master.

Canton cop fired upon, suspect remains at large

A Canton police officer escaped injury last Wednesday night when four shots were fired at his patrol car on Rudgate Street.

Three of the bullets hit the car, driven by Patrolman William Britcher, piercing the left front fender, left rear passenger door and left rear fender, police report.

While the shots rang out around 9:30 p.m., Britcher stopped, dropped under the dash, and exited his vehicle from the front passenger door, said police. Other Canton cars responded to his call for help, as did cruisers and a helicopter from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, but no suspect was apprehended.

"We figure the shots were fired about 110 feet from the car, all within two seconds," said Acting Lt. Larry Stewart of the Canton force. "There's no way to tell if he was trying to hit the officer or not."

Police searched the area until around 12:30 a.m. to no avail. It was not until the next morning that four spent cartridges were found, said police.

Rudgate is off Canton center Road north of Geddes in Greenbrook subdivision, which is under construction and has no residents.

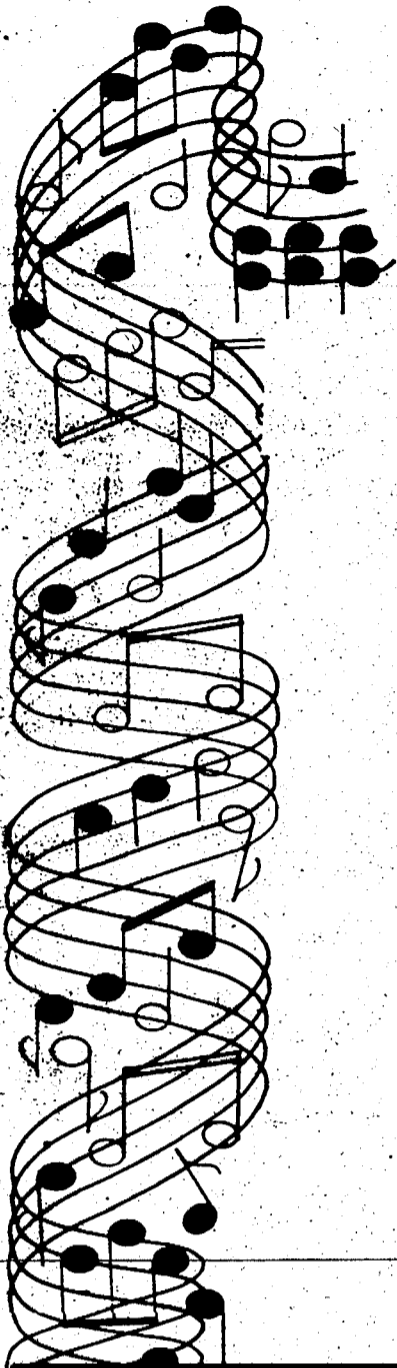

G'stein skipped library vote; 'I just blew it'

A review of Canton Township records reveal that all members of the Board of Trustees but one voted in Wednesday's special library millage election.

Trustee Robert Greenstein failed to vote, according to the township clerk's office. Earlier, he voted against putting the millage on the ballot.

Greenstein said he didn't vote because he got wrapped up in work on the farmland preservation program and lost track of the time. "I just blew it," he said. He is director of the program, and is due to testify May 17 before a U.S. House of Representatives subcommittee on a proposed bill that would fund such projects to save farmland.

He added that he vote "no" to put the request before the voters because it didn't justify the expense of a special election since voters turned down the request in August, 1978.

An old idea whose time has come again: a commuter train

SOMETIMES THE OLD WAYS look better after all — like the idea of a commuter train running through Plymouth on the C&O line. When passenger service to and from Detroit was discontinued 10 years ago, no one had ever given any thought to the energy crisis that may leave gasoline in short supply. Now, renewed pressure is being exerted upon the C&O to re-establish commuter trains along its lines. With a vacant shell of a building (formerly planned as a restaurant) suitable for conversion into a modern passenger terminal, the C&O has a great opportunity to cash in on the daily-downtown-bound Plymouth-Canton residents. The old idea makes a lot of sense now.

This photo showing a group of train commuters from Plymouth — J.T. Barnes, Bob Grievie, Hugh Grievie and Paul Toth — appeared with the 1969 Plymouth Mail & Observer story telling about discontinuance of the commuter trains to Plymouth.

We, the Canton Library Campaign Committee would like to thank your newspaper for its fair support on the issues you wrote regarding the election for a Free Public Library for Canton. The election held on Wednesday, May 9 passed, and Canton now has a library of its own.

Without your publications on the issues, the voters would not have been fully aware of a need for a Library. Again, we thank you.

With court action pending

Schools acted hastily on suspending students

The Plymouth-Canton School Board has jumped the gun.

Somewhere between protecting the rights of the school district's residents and the rights of four students accused of theft and related crimes at Centennial Education Park, the board has lost sight of an American principle:

Innocent until proven guilty.

Last week, the school board suspended four students who have been accused of participating in a large theft scheme by taking valuables and credit cards from lockers and schoolrooms.

The suspensions were, no doubt, designed to protect school property and that of persons in the schools -- an understandable feeling of responsibility on the part of the board.

But what happens if the court finds four youths innocent of the allegations? Would the students be reinstated? And if so, could they catch up for the time missed?

The school board could have taken other measures to both protect the district and yet not infringe upon the students' rights of due process. Allowing the students to continue studies at home or at CEP under strict supervision until the matter was resolved by the courts should have been considered.

Maybe the students are guilty, or maybe they're guilty but had their constitutional rights violated, or maybe they're innocent. It is up to the judge and jury to decide that matter -- not the school board.

Obviously, if they are found guilty, expulsion from school is one of several logical steps the school board should consider.

But until then, it is untimely for the board to impose such a disciplinary action as it did last week.

There are times, as the raving and ranting mounts in Plymouth Township Board of Trustees meetings, when I wonder whether Clerk Esther Blake Hulsing is reminded of that "nasty tempered Shetland pony" she owned as a child on a ranch in Montana.

Although this week Mrs. Hulsing is completing only her sixth month as an elected township official, she is not neophyte in the realm of public service.

Eight years on our community's Board of Education (five of them as president) are in her background, plus long service from local to national levels in Girl Scout administration.

A superb article on Esther's career and her life with husband Ken, written by Phyllis Redfern, appeared in the "Women's World" section of last week's Crier, and this column is from a different tack.

Esther has a soft-spoken clout which comes through with the force of an overhand right when she makes up her mind that it's time to cut through the verbiage of her colleagues and get down to cases. She believes "there must be a place where the buck stops."

It was typical that she would put the clincher on one drawn out township wrangle recently with a cutting, "We're not doing anything very constructive here; someone has to get this thing off dead center."

By unspoken assent, the "someone" was Mrs. Hulsing, 63, a resident here with her engineering husband for 37 years.

She used to tackle school board issues with similar clarity. There were those who underrated her tenacity, mistaking her soft manner of speaking for a lack of what I'll politely call muscle. Nothing could be in greater error.

This tall and trim lady knows the art of political compromise (even at home, she admits), but I long have been convinced that she takes orders from no one. She demonstrates patience in the extreme, but won't be pushed around. We all learned that fact of life when our school district went through its first teachers' strike in 1969, Esther happening to be Board of Education president at the time.

She concedes that when she succeeded

Helen Richardson as township clerk last Nov. 20 she was overwhelmed by the amount of detail the job entailed. It took a while to sort out the priorities. Now she's in love with the job, although not convinced the township has completely escaped the administrative vacuum that has characterized some board thinking of recent months.

It may have escaped your attention that Michigan law has been changed and starting with the fall election in 1980 all township positions throughout the state will be for terms of four years, not two. Every elected township post in the state will be on the block next year, a foolhardy legislative decision but one with which we must live.

Will Esther Blake Hulsing be on the ballot, running for re-election to that four-year term? When she was asked that direct question a day or two ago, she answered with one word: "Probably."

The Hulsings like Michigan, they like Plymouth. They have no plans to move. Ken, 67, has retired from his lofty position as director of engineering for the Detroit Diesel Allison Division of General Motors, but still busies himself as an engineering consultant. Neither of these outstanding citizens is going to grow old twiddling thumbs in a rocking chair.

One of the best insights into the Hulsing family character comes from an understanding of their mutual small town backgrounds.

Ken was raised in the tiny farm community of Renville in southeastern Minnesota, Esther on a ranch outside a spot in the road called Grass Range, Montana. "Supposedly it had a population of 300," recalls Esther, "but I never believed it. There were 10 in my high school graduating class of 1932, and we had a consolidated school district of 27 square miles at that."

Greater Plymouth is as big a metropolis as they need, but even as Mrs. Hulsing emerges in a new leadership role she strives for one more improvement -- more community involvement in their governments by the citizens at large. Apathy appalls her. She would like to hear every person echo, "Me, too," and mean it.

Schools keep info close to vest

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education suffered a communications breakdown last week. In a record short meeting which was opened and closed in less than 10 minutes, the board passed a resolution seeking an additional 1.5 mills on the June 11 ballot.

The meeting went something like this: It was called to order, the agenda was changed, the millage resolution was read aloud, and, the vote was taken. Board members did not ask for any explanations about why additional millage was needed and no questions were asked.

Even though the hot weather didn't inspire many persons to attend the meeting, board members should have explained their reasons for approval. Simply put, the audience was cheated. But the voters will have the final word.

These are precisely the kind of meetings that the Open Meetings Act sought to eliminate. Even if board members were convinced that the resolution was sound, an explanation for the audience as well as the public record -- was required.

Actions and votes are important, yes, but the heart of the matter is the reasoning behind it. The board shouldn't cheat the public out of listening to sound reasons and healthy discussions.

Candidates stay at home

WHERE ARE THE CANDIDATES? The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education conducted business in front of a lot of empty chairs Monday night. With 13 candidates vying for two board seats in the June 11 race, it's surprising to note that only two candidates attended Monday night's meeting. Jim Sinclair, circled above, from Plymouth township, was present along with incumbent Tom Yack, who is board president. Yack is not pictured. Since the race started in early April, these attendance records have been compiled: Tom Yack has attended all six board meetings; Jeanette Wines and E. D. Swartzwelter have come to four meetings; Sinclair has attended three meetings; and, Gary Roberts, Douglass Koch, and Stephen Foley have attended one meeting. Candidates who haven't attended any meetings are: Kevin Campbell, John Kim, LeRoy Nelson, Allea Neil Smith, Sylvia Stetz, and Ken Vogras. The 14th candidate, Linda Garrett of Canton, decided not to actively seek a term last week. (Crier photo by Patricia Bartold.)

May Festival was a success

EDITOR:

On Thursday, May 3, we attended the May Festival of Strings in Salem auditorium. It was a smashing success. We would like to thank Mr. Endres, Ms. Mapes, Ms. Plester, Dr. Hokum, and Mr. Koch for the opportunity to see and hear all of the fine string players we have in the Plymouth-Canton schools.

This was a most enjoyable evening and we hope that it is the first of an annual system-wide Strings Play-In.

We all need to support our young string players! They are our symphonies of the future.

A seat on Canton's Board of Trustees will be open in the middle of June when Lynne Goldsmith resigns, but so far, there doesn't seem to be a clear-cut choice for the job.

Mentioned so far are Mary Dingeldey, office manager of the Chamber of Commerce; Doug Ritter, member of the Library Committee; and Tom Stillings, president of the Pickwick Village subdivision homeowners association.

Although Stillings has proven an able leader of the battle against a developer to build rent-subsidized housing near his subdivision, he seems a one-issue candidate. A person should prove himself over a longer period than his involvement in the housing issue.

Dingledey suffers from the same sort of problem. She is too closely associated with the Chamber to be accepted by the board, especially since Trustee Bob Greenstein has criticized the Chamber heavily lately.

This may leave the field open to Ritter or to other candidates who have time to apply. Other possibilities include Bob Padget, chairman of the Planning Commission, and Larry Bowerman, chairman of the Merit Commission.

Bowerman finished third in last August's Democratic primary and would make a good choice.

Padget has a good ability to untangle complex issues, and has led the planning commission with a steady hand. He, also, would be a good choice.

He is a lawyer, though, and the board should think twice before adding a third attorney to their ranks. Supervisor Noel Culbert and Greenstein are both lawyers.

But it's still wide open. If you're interested, you might have a chance. Especially since the remaining six trustees may split three-three, leaving the door open for a dark-horse candidate. Interested persons should contact Supervisor Noel Culbert.

Angry residents urge panel to stop sludge plant

"Take it to Detroit which is blight anyway, and need the tax base."

"It will knock the value of every piece of property in the township, not just the ones near," said another homeowner.

The plant, which will compost sludge (treated sewage) from Detroit's sewage treatment plant, is proposed for a site south of Michigan Avenue off Morton-Taylor Road. It is being proposed by Bi-Products Systems of Michigan.

Environmental questions, mainly whether heavy metals in the sludge will poison the water table and land, seemed the biggest unanswered question among the planning commissioners.

In fact, an environmental impact statement prepared by an engineering firm hired by Bi-Products Systems of Michigan, Inc. was only submitted to the township engineer on Monday. And so the commission delayed a decision on the matter until he has a chance to review it.

The commission will not make the final decision on the proposal. It will pass on a recommendation to either approve or deny to the Board of Trustees, which has the final say. Bi-Products may not take it to the board, however, if the commission says "no."

Canton Planner Jim Kosteva said that sewage recycling is needed for the region, but Canton should not have to pay "the entire social cost."

Leaks from trucks carrying the sludge on Canton roads, and lowering of property values are the major disadvantages to the project, said Kosteva.

Foul odor from the plant was also mentioned many times by residents. To see just how bad it might be, Commissioner Dan Richardson supported putting a pilot compost heap on the parking lot of Township Hall.

Also at the meeting, one member of the Board of Trustees came out against the project. Treasurer Jim Donahue said Bi-Products should not try to make Cantonites feel guilty about the need to recycle sewage. "Canton has paid millions of dollars to the City of Detroit to take care of this problem. I will do everything I can to stop this," he added.

The project is tentatively scheduled to be before the planning commission on June 11.

THIS ARCHITECT'S RENDERING WAS UNVEILED AT THE May 7 Plymouth City Commission meeting to propose a new office building for the vacant corner of Ross and Main streets. The proposed office building, would be built by Fleet Street Association and would house offices of The Community Crier. The city is considering a request to rezone an adjacent lot to parking for the Fleet Street development. (Rendering by Tivadar Balogh).

City snafu leads to new Fleet St. hearing

A change in zoning laws has led the City of Plymouth Planning Commission to hold a second public hearing May 30 on a proposed rezoning for a parking lot.

The lot, located at 845 Ross, is owned by Fleet Street Association which plans to construct an office building at the corner of Ross and Main.

An adjacent building, also owned by Fleet Street, currently houses The Community Crier offices, which would move to the new building when it is built. The proposed parking lot would provide the city-required parking spaces for the offices.

Following the first public hearing on the proposal, held April 11, the planning commission voted 5-2 in favor of the rezoning. It was then sent to the City commission, which decided May 7 to ask the planning commission to hold a formal public hearing again under the new state zoning ordinance.

The first public hearing was declared insufficient by the city commission because it was not in compliance with amendments to the state zoning act which went into effect March 1.

A special meeting of the planning commission has been set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 30.

4 CEP students face arraignment

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Four Centennial Educational Park students will be arraigned before Wayne County Circuit Court in Westland on Friday, June 1 at 8:30 a.m.

Three students are charged with breaking and entering and attempted larceny from school property. If convicted of the felony, the students may face up to 10 years in prison. The fourth student is charged with possession of stolen credit cards, as is one of the first three. This charge carries a four-year penalty.

About $500 worth of camera equipment and wight scales was taken from Salem High School on Feb. 16 about 1:30 a.m., according to investigating officer Dorothy McAllen of the Michigan State Police. Three students were questioned after the incident and charged, said McAllen.

Thursday morning two students waived preliminary examinations before Judge Dunbar Davis of 35th District Court in Plymouth. He set the arraignment date for June 1.

Monday morning the third youth charged with breaking and entering and attempted larceny appeared before Judge James Garber of 35th District court in Canton. The youth waived preliminary examination and the arraignment date was set for June 1.

The fourth youth as well as one of the other three students are also charged with possession of stolen credit cards. The credit cards were taken from lockers in Phase III of the Centennial Educational Park, said McAllen.

The fourth student appeared before Judge Garber on April 20 and his arraignment, originally scheduled for May 4, was reset for June 1.

Last Monday night all four students were expelled from high school by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education. Three of the youths are 18-year old seniors at Salem High School. All of their names are being withheld from publication.

Lions seek auctionables

The Plymouth Lions Club auction, scheduled for Sunday, June 3, still needs donations from community residents.

Many items, including tools, sporting goods, bicycles and antiques have already been collected, but more can be added by calling 453-7800 during the day or 455-4283 in the evening, said Bill Fehlig of the Lions.

Proceeds from the event will help fund the club's many community projects, including a new program to help persons with hearing impairments.

Two Salem students cop national writing awards

BY PATTY RADZIK-AND
PATRICIA BARTOLD

Two Salem High School students were recently awarded national recognition for their writing talents in the 1979 Scholastic Writing Contests.

Kevin Krolicki, a freshman, won a fourth place in the junior division for his science-fiction short story about mind control by the government. Mandie King, an 17-year-old Salem senior, was awarded an honorable mention in the senior poetry division for a collection of five poems.

Both students were encouraged to enter the contest by English teacher Sue Welker.

Both Kevin and Mandie faced stiff competition. For example, in Kevin's division, there were about 5,000 entries at the state level. After state competition, the writers then faced regional and national competition.

Kevin created his character, Gordon Pilot, as an eighth-grader at Pioneer Middle School. His story was revised under Welker's direction in freshman English class. "It began as a class assignment. When I first wrote it, the story was no big deal," said Kevin. His reaction to the award? "I certainly wasn't expecting it," said the brown-haired, shy author.

"I owe a lot of thanks to Ms. Welker. She encouraged me to enter the contest and helped me revise the story," said Kevin.

Mandie was first introduced to writing poetry as a sophomore in creative writing class at Salem. She's been writing poetry ever since. "There's not a subject you can name in which we hasn't tried to express in poetry," said Welker, in describing Mandie as "a very talented young writer."

In 1978, Mandie also won a first place in the Gold Merit Writing Contest in Detroit and she's also participated in writing workshops at the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University.

Her goal? She's applied for admission to the College of Wooster in Ohio, University of Michigan, and Kalamazoo College and hopes to become an English teacher. She's also applied for various scholarships at those schools.

Discipline is one of the hardest traits for Mandie to foster. She tries to write at least an hour each day and one of her daily "musts" is to write in her journal. "It's hard to transfer what's in my mind onto paper," said Mandie.

She suggests that discipline in writing habits be developed as early as possible.

KEVIN KROLICKI

What are her biggest problems in writing poetry? "Sometimes I am stumped when beginning a poem: I can think of the middle and all the details that I want to include, but don't know how to begin," said Mandie.

To overcome that block, Mandie starts writing. "The beginnings and endings are difficult sometimes, but if I leave it for a week, then I can read it again and re-arrange it if necessary," she said.

Content revision of poetry is necessary. Mandie said she's rarely satisfied with a final version. "I'm forever changing something," she said, adding that she reads her poems aloud to hear how the words flow together.

Asked what inspired her to write, Mandie laughed: "I don't have any ghosts or muses living inside of me. Experience is the only thing I can write about," she replied more seriously.

One of her experiences, addressed in a poem entitled "I am Waiting (with apologies to Ferlinghetti)," begins with this stanza:

"I am waiting for my song to be sung,
no more wars to be won,
all suffering to be done,
to finally experience 'fun' and just one poem to be published."

tell it to Phyllis

One of the nice things about spring and summer is getting reacquainted with your neighbors. With everyone outside mowing the lawn, working in the garden, or washing the car, it's easy to take a break and talk to the people you've been waving to all winter.

There is one drawback -- you get to know your neighbors again, but they also get to hear everything that is happening in your life. Warm weather means open windows and doors, with the sound of voices traveling in and out.

You know the whole world heard your opinion of your daughter wearing raggedy jeans to school when three neighbors tell you about a great book they just read -- something about mothers and daughters. When a neighbor starts explaining how the allowance system works in her family, you begin wondering just how loudly you explained to your son that not only was he not getting a raise in his allowance, but if he didn't clean his room, he wasn't getting any allowance.

The warm sun seems to bring out the best of everything: ants, mosquitos, dandelions, and jeans with holes in the knees. Wouldn't it be nice if dandelions were wild flowers? I don't understand why people get so up-tight over a pretty, yellow flower growing in the middle of the yard. And my neighbors don't understand why I don't get rid of the same ugly weeds before the seeds blow into their yard.

Spring is the best time for holes to start wearing through in the knees of jeans. The jeans you bought last fall are about four inches too short anyway, and it's time to hack them into cutoffs for summer.

It's great to go outside without putting on a coat, or spending a half an hour looking for the other glove. It's a fantastic feeling of freedom to be out enjoying the warm sun, but remember the whole world can see and hear you.

I like listening to my neighbors yell at their children. It lets me know that, thank heavens I'm not the only person who yells once in awhile.

Isn't it great that although we don't always understand each other's dandelions and loud voices, we can still borrow an egg and remain friendly neighbors?

Michigan State University recently announced the names of students who attained a 4.0 grade point average for winter term. The four students from Plymouth receiving all A's are: Douglas Atwater, a junior, from Purcell Street; Susan Pocklington, a junior from Ross Street; Douglas Prutton, a senior from Danbridge; and Terri Sarris, a senior from Beech Court.

Safety Town needs kids

Safety Town, a two-week program designed to teach youngsters good safety habits while playing and going to and from school, will be presented during June, July, and August for Plymouth-Canton kids.

The two-week program is designed to teach children who will attend kindergarten in the fall how to cross the street, what a traffic light means, and how to ride their bikes safely.

Centricore rallies

Newspapers don't die easily.

That sentiment had special meaning for the staff of the Salem High School Centricore as they embarked on fund-raisers to support their newspaper.

Simply stated, the staff had produced six, 12-page newspapers since September. By March, the staff had depleted its yearly budget.

However, the Centricore staff solved its budgetary woes by canvassing local businesses for advertisements and sponsoring a car wash in March.

"Next week, we'll publish our seventh newspaper of the year, and our final edition may be a stencil for graduation," said Larry Francis, Salem High English teacher and Centricore advisor.

He said the staff raised enough money from the car wash and by selling ads to local businesses to publish its final edition. "Those dollars were the difference between having a newspaper and not having one," said Francis.

The Centricore budget was cut by about $300 this year due to general cutbacks at the high school. The newspaper is supported by 15 per cent advertising sales and the rest comes from the school budget, said Francis.

The Centricore editor is Karen Hunt and advertising sales manager is Ken Nielsen.

Two separate sessions will meet from 10 a.m. to noon or from 1 to 3 p.m. at Central Middle School. The program will be offered from June 18 to 29; July 2 to 13; July 16 to 27, and July 30 to August 10.

Fee for the program is $10. Officers from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Michigan State Police, and Canton Police Department will teach the kids. Safety Town is sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton community schools.

For more information about Safety Town, call Larry Masteller, director of community education, at 459-1180, ext. 129.

The U.N. at CEP

"Get involved" is the advice offered by Centennial Educational Park students in the International Relations class. On Wednesday, May 23, students will host a model United Nations program to focus on how the U.N. works and the politics and ideologies of its individual countries.

Program topics are energy and food distribution. Students in the international relations class have prepared resolutions on these topics for specific blocks of countries to present at the model U.N. program.

To participate in the model U.N. program, students can sign up for one of the 151-member nations in room 257 at Canton High School. The public is also invited to watch the mock U.N. during school hours on May 23.

A $1 lunch will be catered in for the U.N. day. There will be a $1 charge for the lunch.

Fun day at Hulsing

The Hulsing Parent-Teacher Organization is sponsoring its third annual fun fair on Saturday, May 19 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Hulsing Elementary School, 8055 Fleet St. in Canton.

Another show's opening

The Plymouth Community Chorus will present "Another Opening, Another Show" on Sunday, May 20 at 3 p.m.

Featured in the program will be show tunes from "Fiddler On the Roof," "Chorus Line," "Porgy and Bess," "People," "The Way We Were," "Mame," and "The Sound of Music." The 40-member chorus is directed by Mike Gross and the accompanist is Carol Chen.

'She's the best mom a kid could want'

friends & neighbors

Two youngsters shared first prize in the Harvard Square of Canton shopping center's recent Mother of the Year essay contest. Here are the two entries.

I am 12 years old and I think my mother should be the winner because she is the best mom a kid could ever want. She is like a pal, a very good friend and a mom all in one. She should win because she is understanding, does all she can to keep me happy. She'll even sometimes go out of her way to get me something simple like an ice cream cone. And on a nice day in the summer she'll take the whole family to the beach and have a cookout, it's so fun, what more can you ask for out of her?

So when I saw the contest for entering the Mother of the Year, I thought that was the least I could do for a great Mom!

DAWN RAMEY

Dear Legaults of Canton,

I think my mom should be mother of the year because she is very patient.

Last week a man came to our door and talked for 30 minutes. He was a Jehovah's Witness. My mom just listened she didn't swear at him or tell him to leave. She said he was an old man and that was his whole life.

Because of my mom's patience she is now a hygienist. She went to school for 2 years. She had to study hard every night but she was always patient. Sometimes, after school my brother and I would find a treat waiting for us. Even though she was in school she always had time for us.

My mom is always willing to help me with my homework.

Even when I get upset about my work she still helps me.

There are few times when she gets mad or sends me to my room. But I know it's only because I deserve it.

I love cats alot, and even though she is allergic to them she lets me have 2. (She is not allergic to either one luckily).

My mom would let me do things just to see what they are like. Such as wearing make-up (which I don't do but have tried) etc.

My mom knows I've entered her in this contest. She said even if she didn't win she is flattered.

My mom is the most patient person I know besides my grandma. She taught my C.C.D. class this year which took alot of patience because some of the kids were really mean.

For all these reasons (and there are many more of course) I think my mom should be mother of the year.

Canton board readies new sign ordinance

BY CHAS CHILD

After two years of study Canton Township may finally be ready to pass a new sign ordinance.

The new law, to replace the present ordinance which bans free-standing ground signs, will probably be before the Board of Trustees Tuesday night.

The board tentatively agreed two weeks ago to permit free-standing signs, but far smaller than the business community advocates. The board took a recommendation from the Planning Commission for 50 square feet and cut it in half. But this may go even smaller before the final version is prepared for the board's review on Tuesday.

Monday afternoon, the board gathered on Ford Road to compare sign sizes and some agreed that the best-looking signs were 18 square feet instead of 25.

Leo Vergote, builder of the Rose Shores racquetball courts on Ford Road, cut different sized signs out of plywood and positioned them along the road to help the trustees compare.

The 18-square-foot sign is "the best," said Trustee Robert Greenstein.

"I like that, too," said Treasurer Jim Donahue.

However, Trustee Gene Daley said 18 square feet was too small.

Donahue added that he liked low-profile signs, and suggested that a height-to-width ratio be established to insure the signs stay close to the ground.

The proposed ordinance provides, however, that if the sign is made of natural materials such as wood or brick, a 40 per cent increase will be granted.

Still under study by Ordinance Officer Bruce Phillips are provisions for shopping center signs. As tentatively written, centers with two to five stores will be permitted a base size of 25 square feet, with additional footage for each store up to five.

Centers with six stores or more will be granted a larger sign, probably around 100 feet or less, said Phillips.

Phillips is working on the final figures and will present the rough draft for Tuesday's meeting. It will start at 7 p.m. at Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Rd.

Cool thief

A refrigerator was stolen from the home of Dennis J. Haverkate, 335 Hartsough in Plymouth on May 11, police report.

Entrance was gained through an unlocked kitchen window some time between 7:30 a.m. and 5:35 p.m., police said. Also, about $100 worth of food perished when the subjects emptied the refrigerator and left it in the kitchen, said the report.

The refrigerator was priced at $900, said police.

Hearing set for new city parking law

A new proposed parking credit ordinance will be discussed at a public hearing before the Plymouth Planning Commission on June 13.

The new ordinance will replace a former city law which was found illegal by the courts. The hearing starts at 7:30 p.m. in the city commission chambers at City Hall.

Salem School donated to historians

Salem Stone School, which dates back to 1837, was given to the Salem Historical Society Monday night. Tom Yack, president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, presented the deed to Irene Lyke, trustee of the historical society, at the regular board meeting.

Lyke said historical society members will renovate the school to its original condition to preserve it as a landmark.

She added that "the Salem Historical Society doesn't have many male members. We need all the help we can get," in urging board members to help clean-up the area.

Salem Stone School is located at the corner of North Territorial and Curtis roads in Salem Township.

New Canton police chief takes reigns

BY CHAS CHILD

Jerry Cox, a 14 year veteran of police work, was named Canton's Chief of Police last Tuesday night.

Formerly second in command to former Chief Walter MacGregor, who resigned May 8, Cox was chosen from four Canton sergeants who tested for the top job.

Cox, 34 years old, is one of the youngest chiefs in the southeastern Michigan area. He joined the Canton force about one year ago, after 13 years with the Sumpter Township police.

"I didn't come here with any aspirations of being chief," he said. "There's no greater burden in government than chief of police, with the possible exception of being supervisor. And he doesn't have to deal with emergencies."

"It's a heavy responsibility with heavy commitments."

One of these responsibilities will be something over relations with the Board of Trustees, since MacGregor resigned because he believed the board was a roadblock to improving the force.

"I may be better equipped to deal with the board than Mac," said Cox. "Mac dealt mainly with the city manager in Wayne, while I have experience dealing with a township board from Sumpter. It's not unusual for me to be denied by a board. I've grown up on that."

After working his way up the ranks at

JERRY COX

Sumpter, Cox served as chief for two and one-half years prior to his resignation and switch to Canton's force.

Why did he quit? "I was fighting a losing battle in Sumpter," he said. "The board (of Trustees) just would not fund the police and emergency services at the proper level. For example, the response time for ambulances was 45 minutes to an hour and one-half. People were literally dying."

"So finally I took a special course in Chicago to become a first-aid instructor and taught the police and firemen how to give first aid. We also equipped police cars with complete first-aid equipment, which is unusual."

"Every board refused to even put a millage on the ballot for police and fire protection, so finally in 1976 I ran a successful petition drive which put two mills before the voters. The township board didn't support it and it failed."

Shortly after this, Cox said he made up his mind to leave Sumpter. "I got to the point where I asked myself, 'Is there any hope here?'"

In Canton, Cox believes the "manpower shortage is the most acute problem," along with the need for "increased visibility" in the township.

The manpower shortage was relieved somewhat Thursday night when the board of trustees created three more full-time positions in the department — one sergeant and two patrolmen.

Beyond the manpower question, Cox said he would like to computerize the force's records systems ("We'll have 30,000 records this year"); and start innovative programs like working with citizens' neighborhood watches.

One of Cox's first decisions was to chose former Det. Sgt. Larry Stewart as his second in command. Now acting lieutenant Stewart is expected to be officially promoted to lieutenant by the board of trustees at its next meeting.

Cox lives with his wife Gloria and their 10-year old son Jerry Jr. in Sumpter.

Could U.S. funds save farmland? Greenstein pushes House bill

Federal funding to preserve farmland in Canton, considered a long shot until now, may be a reality.

Under consideration by the U.S. House of Representatives is a bill to fund farmland preservation programs. And Canton Trustee Robert Greenstein is scheduled to speak before a House subcommittee on Thursday, May 17 on Canton's efforts.

Greenstein, director of the township's Farmland Preservation Program, said he has prepared a 20-plus page speech which he will give to the Subcommittee on Family Farms, Rural Development, and Special Studies of the House Agricultural Committee.

His presentation will be part of the testimony on Bill HR 2551, the Agricultural Land Protection Act. A sister bill is working its way through the Senate, he said.

"The bill's purpose is to set up various ways of preserving agricultural land," said the trustee. "Tentatively, the bill calls for three years of study. But we've been studying it for five years. Hopefully, we could get funding sooner."

Proposed during Greenstein's term as supervisor of Canton (1974-76) was a plan to purchase the "development rights" of farmland of about one-fourth of the land in the township, all west of Canton Center Road.

After purchase by the township the landowner would still hold title to his land, but couldn't sell to a developer or develop it himself.

A four-mill request that would have funded such a program was defeated by township voters in the November, 1978 general election. Its price tag was around $15 million over a 20-year period.

Gray opposes tax vote

If Joe Gray had been there, he would have voted "no" on last week's resolution by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education to seek an increase in the schools' millage by one and one-half mills. The resolution passed by a vote of 5-0 with members Joe Gray and Richard Arlen absent.

Gray expressed his dissatisfaction with the resolution at Monday night's board meeting. Gray disagreed with the proposed cuts made by school administrators if the millage falls and the June 11 election date.

Superintendent Mike Hoben countered by saying the proposed cuts were "an information item. They weren't approved by the board."

On the timing of the election, Tom Yack, president of the board, said: "There are too many uncertainties in this election. We don't have the luxury of waiting."

Some of the uncertainties which will affect the district's budget included by Yack were the: effects of the Headlee Amendment; number of students enrolled in the district; state aid formula; and, outcome of negotiations with the district's seven employe groups.

455-3530 DAY OR NIGHT

A home in 3 days

WITHIN THREE DAYS this new type of pre-fabricated home can be completed on an already-existing foundation. This demonstration model, built by Plymouth Realtor Joe Hudson and builder Murphy Collins in Salem Township, was erected two weeks ago. "To put up the shell and lock the doors should take us no more than three days," Hudson said. The pre-fab home is built by Mayhill Homes of Atlanta, Ga. and will be available in the Plymouth-Canton area in about two weeks, Hudson said. The pre-built walls come with everything but the wallpaper allowing "the young guys to put in their sweat equity," Hudson explained. The house parts arrive by truck (above) and can be assembled by carpentry crews on an existing foundation. (Crier photos by Bill Brecker.)

Plymouth Furniture opens It's a dime store no more

INSIDE THE FORMER Kroger's dime store -- now the new home of Plymouth Furniture -- at 360 S. Main St., the 14,000 square feet have been transformed into "model rooms." Oscar Hertz and Al Parkswald relax in one of the settings after the furniture store renovation and move was completed. Doors opened for the first time last week and a grand opening is planned for this weekend, Hertz said. He joked that the business moved to Plymouth from Detroit because "we already had the sign," but actually, despite the obvious attachment to the name, made the move because a survey showed most of the store's customers came from the Western Detroit suburbs. Redesigning of the old dime store's interior and exterior was planned by Newman Distach Associates. (Crier photo by Bill Brecker.)

Cantonite seeking S'craft is N'ville school official

Michael W. Burley, 39, a candidate for the Schoolcraft College Board of Education, lives in the Plymouth-Canton area, is married, and has three children.

He has been an educator since 1965, and has taught in Garden City, Livonia, and is presently the Curriculum Coordinator for the Northville Public Schools.

Burley has earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Management from Lawrence Tech, a Masters and Specialist of Arts from Eastern Michigan University and is presently working on a Doctorate of Philosophy at The University of Michigan.

Burley has been a resident of Michigan all of his life and lived out of this state for only two years while completing a tour of duty in the U.S. Army Signal Corp. He is interested in quality education and believes Schoolcraft College offers students an excellent education program.

S'craft hopefuls

Candidates for the Schoolcraft Community College Board of Education will address the public at Candidates Night on Wednesday, May 30 at Frost Junior High School at 7:30 p.m. Frost is located at 14041 Stark St. between Schoolcraft and Lyndon roads in Livonia.

Canton resident Michael Burley is one of the candidates seeking a trustee seat.

Canton cop tax to rise

Canton residents can expect a one- or two-mill hike in the police millage next year, says Treasurer Jim Donahue.

The additional money will be needed to cover the costs of the manpower increases made by the Board of Trustees in the last eight months.

The board has approved 11 full-time positions for the force and paid for them with cash reserves in the general fund. In 1980, however, the cost of these men will be transferred to the police special assessment, which is separate from the general fund, said Donahue.

The police levy now stands at two mills, but will probably jump either to three or four mills to meet the additional costs, he said.

"I'm thinking it might have to go to four mills, but it will depend on how much a mill will bring in next year," said the treasurer.

The police budget is being prepared now and a public hearing on it will be held in the fall.

Canton sewer rates to rise

Canton's water and sewer rates are expected to jump 25 and 100 per cent, respectively, next year.

The bad news was delivered to township officials Monday by the accounting firm of Seidman & Seidman, which worked out the rates.

A number of factors caused the hike, said Treasurer Jim Donahue. First, discounts previously given to heavy users will be stopped, he said. "The federal government ordered a halt discounts in an effort to conserve water," he said.

Second, the feds have also said that local communities must add into the rates the cost of future replacement of equipment and lines, said Donahue.

Third, the cost of retiring the system's present debt must now be met to a greater degree by the water and sewer bills, said the treasurer. Until now, the tap-in fees have met this cost, but since growth has slowed, meaning fewer tap-ins, the income from this source has decreased, he said.

And lastly, the City of Detroit is expected to raise the sewer rates 25 per cent on June 1, he said.

It's small business week

The week of May 13-19 was declared Small Business Week in a proclamation issued by Plymouth Township Supervisor Thomas Notebaert.

The supervisor was joined at the declaration ceremonies by Jerry Loiselle, president of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce; Margaret Wilson, legislative chairperson; and Dan Herriman, Chamber coordinator for Small Business Week.

You might say that wine has three lives, including the vineyard, the vat, and the bottle. The quality of vineyard life has to do with soil, weather, and vine, as well as the care taken by the vineyard proprietor. Vat life depends on timing, fermentation, and from what the vat is made. Bottle life depends on time again, coolness, and stability. But, I think I forgot one important life, the life of the wine in your mouth. That depends entirely on your taste and is the ultimate test of any wine.

The ultimate test of any beverage is the pleasure and satisfaction it brings to the consumer. Whatever your particular taste may be, you will find a pleasing selection at the CHEESE & WINE BARN, 515 Forest Ave. We feature the drinkable delights that provide the satisfaction to all tastes. A home in 3 days

WITHIN THREE DAYS this new type of pre-fabricated home can be completed on an already-existing foundation. This demonstration model, built by Plymouth Realtor Joe Hudson and builder Murphy Collins in Salem Township, was erected two weeks ago. "To put up the shell and lock the doors should take us no more than three days," Hudson said. The pre-fab home is built by Mayhill Homes of Atlanta, Ga. and will be available in the Plymouth-Canton area in about two weeks, Hudson said. The pre-built walls come with everything but the wallpaper allowing "the young guys to put in their sweat equity," Hudson explained. The house parts arrive by truck (above) and can be assembled by carpentry crews on an existing foundation. (Crier photos by Bill Brecker.)

Plymouth Furniture opens It's a dime store no more

INSIDE THE FORMER Kroger's dime store — now the new home of Plymouth Furniture — at 360 S. Main St., the 14,000 square feet have been transformed into "model rooms." Oscar Hertz and Al Farkowski relax in one of the settings after the furniture store renovation and move was completed. Doors opened for the first time last week and a grand opening is planned for this weekend, Hertz said. He joked that the business moved to Plymouth from Detroit because "we already had the sign," but actually, despite the obvious attachment to the name, made the move because a survey showed most the store's customers came from the Western Detroit suburbs. Redesigning of the old dime store's interior and exterior was planned by Norman Dietrich Associates. (color photo by Bill Brecker.)

Cantonite seeking S'craft is N'ville school official

Michael W. Burley, 39, a candidate for the Schoolcraft College Board of Education, lives in the Plymouth-Canton area, is married, and has three children.

He has been an educator since 1965, and has taught in Garden City, Livonia, and is presently the Curriculum Coordinator for the Northville Public Schools.

Burley has earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Management from Lawrence Tech, a Masters and Specialist of Arts from Eastern Michigan University and is presently working on a Doctorate of Philosophy at The University of Michigan.

Burley has been a resident of Michigan all of his life and lived out of this state for only two years while completing a tour of duty in the U.S. Army Signal Corp. He is interested in quality education and believes Schoolcraft College offers students an excellent education program.

S'craft hopefuls

Candidates for the Schoolcraft Community College Board of Education will address the public at Candidates Night on Wednesday, May 30 at Frost Junior High School at 7:30 p.m. Frost is located at 14041 Stark St. between Schoolcraft and Lyndon roads in Livonia.

Canton resident Michael Burley is one of the candidates seeking a trustee seat.

Canton cop tax to rise

Canton residents can expect a one- or two-mill hike in the police millage next year, says Treasurer Jim Donahue.

The additional money will be needed to cover the costs of the manpower increases made by the Board of Trustees in the last eight months.

The board has approved 11 full-time positions for the force and paid for them with cash reserves in the general fund. In 1980, however, the cost of these men will be transferred to the police special assessment, which is separate from the general fund, said Donahue.

The police levy now stands at two mills, but will probably jump either to three or four mills to meet the additional costs, he said.

"I'm thinking it might have to go to four mills, but it will depend on how much a mill will bring in next year," said the treasurer.

The police budget is being prepared now and a public hearing on it will be held in the fall.

Canton sewer rates to rise

Canton's water and sewer rates are expected to jump 25 and 100 per cent, respectively, next year.

The bad news was delivered to township officials Monday by the accounting firm of Seidman & Seidman, which worked out the rates.

CASH PLANNING IMPORTANT
If you are considering the purchase of your first home, you should also consider taking a close look at your financial balance sheet so that your decision will be one of pleasure rather than pain.

Items to take into consideration are, first and foremost, the down payment, settlement fees and moving costs. These will make the biggest dent in your savings. You should have enough margin to draw on for such items as furniture, carpeting, storm windows, etc., if needed.

After figuring what your mortgage payments will be, don't forget to add on the cost of utilities and services that may be included in the rent you are now paying.

FHA and VA mortgages, if available, can be used to keep the down payment low. And don't be shy about asking your Realtor to spell out all the closing costs in advance -- on paper. Financial surprises -- you don't need!

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455-8400. We're here to help!

Rocks bury Chiefs in Mangan

The elements were damp and rainy. And there were only about 50 spectators on hand. But that didn't slow down the second annual Jeff Mangan Memorial track meet at Centennial Park Monday evening as the Salem High boys' and girls' teams combined to route Canton's combination, 164½-77½.

"It was raining but the people stuck around and helped us alot," said Chief boys' Coach Mike Spitz. "And Gary Balconi (coach of the winning Rocks' boys' contingent) did a super job holding the meet together."

Junior Dan McGlenn set a new Canton record in winning the 330-yard low hurdles with a :40.7 timing.

Senior Rick Fleischer won the 100-yard dash in :10.7, edging Salem's Greg Stevens (by one-tenth of a second) and Craig Stack (by one-fifteenth).

Canton copped the 880-yard relay with the team of John Tarr, Mark Kowalczyk, Fleischer, and McGlenn in 1:37.1.

Jeff Haertel was the last male victor for the Chiefs, topping the two-mile run field with a 10:16 timing. The second-place finisher was 22 seconds behind.

Salem had a host of winners. Rich Hanschu led the parade by getting by his opponents in the long jump (with a leap of 22 feet, five and a half inches) and the 220-yard dash (with a :23.7 timing).

RICH HANSCHU

Bob Pittaway notched the discus competition's first with a toss of 132 feet. Jerry Vano led the shotputters with a throw of 44 feet, three and three quarters inches.

Dawson and James and pray for rain?

BY E. DALE LEE

Fred Crissey should follow the old battle cry of "Spahn and Sain and pray for rain" used by the Milwaukee Braves in the fifties.

Except the Canton High baseball manager should use Dawson and James and pray for rain.

"We're still searching for that good third arm," Crissey said. "To win a lot of these make-up games, we're going to need more than Scott (Dawson) and BJ (Brian James)."

"But to win the State championship you need only two good arms. And we have two very good arms. We can win the State title this year."

James stands 4-1 as of Saturday and 24-2 on the mound the past three campaigns as a Chief. Dawson, recently signed by the University of Michigan for fall delivery, stands 3-1 after a weekend loss. The third arm so far has been lefty Dan Funkhouser, 2-2 on the year.

WINDSOR INVITATIONAL TOURNAMENT
First the Chiefs better concentrate on winning some regular season games. Saturday Crissey's club split a twinbill in the Windsor Invitational Tournament, losing the opening contest 3-0 to Birmingham. Brother Rice before winning the nightcap by a 2-0 verdict over Windsor Assumption.

"Brother Rice is probably the best team in the state right now," Crissey explained. "They were 13-1 coming into Saturday's game -- and they threw their best pitcher at us (Bill Lynch)."

James started for Canton against Rice, going the first four innings without yielding a run in striking out six. Crissey then put Dawson in for the last two innings to help him get some work in.

Rice greeted Dawson by drawing two walks and lacing four singles for three runs in the fifth inning. The Birmingham-based parochial school collected six hits all totaled while the Chief offense mustered three well-spaced singles.

Funkhouser held Assumption to two hits while striking out four (no walks) in his four innings of work in the second game of the tourney. Dawson again relieved in the fifth inning and pitched the rest of the way, walking one and striking out two.

Canton picked up a single run in the fourth when Frank McMurray led off with a base-hit to right. Mike Pathe entered the contest as a pinch runner and stole second. He scored on Al Lipinski's single to right-center for the 1-0 lead.

The Chiefs added another run in the seventh when Dave Meador singled to left. Don Dreher pinch-ran for him and stole second. Dreher came home on Keith Stone's single to left.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

Crissey's Brigade dropped its second straight twin bill of the season (and ever) last Wednesday when Canton challenged Livonia Churchill at home, losing the first game 13-4 and the second, 4-1.

Churchill's probable all-Western Six League catcher, Steve Raymond, pushed the first contest out of reach with a grand slam poke in the third inning for a 4-0 lead. Raymond had three homers for the afternoon.

Canton fought back for two runs in the fourth inning when Rusty Mandle scored Steve Gray from third base on a fielder's choice.

Salem netters straddling in Suburban Eight League play

The action is starting to get hot and heavy in the Suburban Eight League boys' tennis race. Dearborn Edsel Ford has beaten every team in the conference once while Salem High straddles second with a 5-2 mark, 7-2 overall.

Last Wednesday the Rocks squeaked by Dearborn on the road, 4-3, on the strength of a victory by the second doubles team of Craig Baker and Bob Jarvis. They dumped Jamie Todd and Eric Reichel by 6-4, 7-6 scores.

Other triumphs recorded by Salem competitors include the first doubles team of Craig Stevens and Mark Thomas, who got by Mark Putzig and Neil Pristol by 6-3, 6-3; Scott Crespo downed Steve Panagos at third singles by identical 6-3 counts; and Dick Cook edged Andy Alley, 7-6, 6-3, at fourth singles.

Bob Braun dropped his match at first singles to the Pioneers' Dave Sommerville (6-1, 6-1); Ed Thomas fell to Pete Happle at second singles (6-1, 7-6); and the third doubles team of Doug Baker and Blake Lundberg dropped a 6-2, 6-1 match to John Fitzgerald and Steve Gary.

Thursday Salem returned home and celebrated by trampling Livonia Bentley, 6-1.

Braun was the only loser for Salem, as Pete Sayroian topped him in a first singles match, 6-2, 6-3; Crespo dominated Chas Croci, 6-2, 6-4 at third singles; and Cook won again, taking a three-setter from Bruce Klimek (6-2, 3-6, 6-1).

Stevens and Thomas ripped Chuck Hayes and John Beaghan by 6-3, 6-3 finishes at the first doubles spot, while Baker and Jarvis handled Tim Bowden and Paul Roth, 6-2, 6-2. Baker and Lundberg sipped past Todd Ingram and Chris Henry at third doubles, 6-3, 6-0.

The Rocks face their biggest test of the campaign May 30 at Tronton High, when they compete in the conference meet. Regional play begins Friday. Today Salem takes on Livonia Franklin on the road at 3:30 p.m.

PCJBL lacks backbone

The past few weeks I've opined in this column that the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League was a well-run outfit with a lot of character and backbone.

I was wrong. A series of events Saturday afternoon made me drastically change my mind, and I strongly urge all parents in the community to withdraw your kids from competing in this league.

Why? Because of the personnel running the operation.

Assistant "F" League Director Rich Madsen showed me Saturday that he is an irrational dictator-type of person with little or no patience with the kids.

"... we haven't got all day!" -- Rich Madsen, assistant "F" League Director

At the "F" League tryouts, he instructed the batters that they were to get five swings, run to second base (to test the player's speed), and field a few grounders and throw them to first. Then he said that the players were to swing at all pitches, "because we haven't got all day." He yelled at a batter for not swinging at a couple of pitches.

Madsen then screamed at another youngster who didn't know where the short-stop position was. There are still some kids who don't know these things, you know, and there's no call for that. Guys like this cause some athletes to abandon sports at an early age (these kids were 13 and 14, an age where they're insecure anyway. Why make it worse?).

Then we have "F" League Director Barb Smith, a woman who is too weak-willed for her position. I've known for the past month that I would be coaching a team in the league and I was looking forward to having some fun this summer. I manipulated my work and school schedule (Wayne State) to coach the team. But Saturday the league yanked the team right out from under my nose -- unjustly -- and I'm angry.

I showed up for the tryout session ready to select my players. Madsen greeted me with a snotty "so you're Dale Lee. Where have you been?" Apparently the league "tried real hard" and "left a whole bunch of messages" for me to attend managers' meetings.

They didn't try too hard, believe me. I'm very accessible, as any coach in the area can attest to.

Anyway, Smith said that since I missed the managers' meetings, my team had been given away that morning to another coach. She said that since I didn't show up for the meetings, how could she justify giving me the team (that I thought I had held for the past month)? Therefore, she was forced to give it to the other man. But she couldn't make the decision by herself. . . instead of saying I lost the team, period, she dawdled until Madsen and President Jim Schols said the only fair thing to do was to give the other guy the team, since I had "neglected my duty." Bull.

If Schols and Smith were really concerned about fairness, they would have left the team alone. But they showed their hypocrisy by asking me to take a team in another league. If I'm not dependable enough to coach a team in one league, how do they figure I'm more likely to be more dependable for the other team they were offering? If that exchange of ideas aren't hypocritical, I'm a monkey's uncle.

Oh, and to you managers in the "F" League that were hand-slapping and mumbling "let him put that in his column" after their railroad job: I'm glad I don't have a son playing in your league. He wouldn't be able to learn the meaning of the word character because you showed me with that action that you lack it.

These guys are the type that go to Tiger Stadium en masse and, in leather-lunged fashion, inform Les Moss (manager of the Tigers) how to run a major league club.

Please take your kids out of this league before it's too late: You won't be sorry. Believe me.

Chief golfers still undefeated

Last week the Canton girls' golf team scored three consecutive victories to remain undefeated in area high school golfing circles.

Kathy Anderson was medalist in each of Canton's wins, which began with a 219-237 trouncing of Brighton last Tuesday.

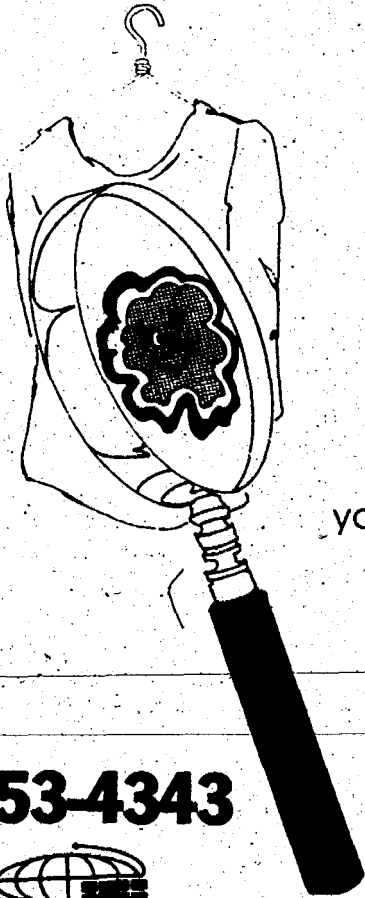

The following day, Anderson shot a 50, and led the Chiefs past Edsel Ford, 224-281.

Finally on Thursday, Canton rolled to its ninth win of the season, dropping Pinckney, 207-239. Anderson stroked a 46.

Canton has only three matches remaining in the season, with Regionals being held this Friday. More than 10 teams will compete, and only three go to state competition.

Wilcox, Woodard trigger Salem baseball attack; knock off Northville, Bentley for 12-4 mark

BY E. DALE LEE

When baseball great Wee Willie Keeler said "hit 'em where they ain't," he had to have been watching the offensive attack Salem High baseball manager Brian Gilles has put together this season. "We're really hitting the ball well," Gilles said. "I just hope that we don't let down soon."

Triggering the onslaught is senior catcher Dave "Bubba" Wilcox, who has averaged about two hits per game all year. Paul Woodard, the Rocks' right-fielder who leads off, boasts a batting average in the .350 range.

NORTHVILLE

Wilcox banged a home run (knocking in three) in going 1-for-4 on the day to lead the Rocks to an 8-4 triumph over the Mustangs Saturday in a make-up game rescheduled from May 7.

Dave Runge fooled the Northville hitters with a variety of breaking pitches and fastballs while allowing four hits and walking one. He struck out six and gave up four earned runs in seven innings of work to pick up the win.

Northville scored a single run in the first, added a pair in the fourth, and another single tally in the seventh inning.

Salem took a 3-1 lead in the third on four hits. Shortstop Chris Hannan led off the frame by bouncing out short to first and Paul Woodard was gunned down attempting to steal after a base on balls.

Paul Dillon and Matt Etienne singled and Wilcox unloaded his blast over the leftfield fence.

The Rocks added their final five runs in the bottom of the sixth. Sam Merrill reached first when he was hit by a pitch. Mike Cimino advanced him to second with a base-hit. Mike Woodard moved Merrill to third on a fielder's choice forced Cimino at second. Hannan walked to fill the bases.

A new pitcher came on the scene for Northville. Paul Woodard reached first and Cimino scored on the fielder's choice play to give the Rocks a 4-3 lead.

Dillon singled Mike Woodard home with the fifth run. After Etienne fanned, Wilcox' topper to the third baseman allowed Hannan to score and keep the bags loaded. Jim Anderson, who finished 2-for-4 on the day with a pair of runs batted in, sharply singled down the left-field line, scoring Paul Woodard and Dillon.

LIVONIA BENTLEY

The Rocks wasted no time in routing Bentley in the first game (8-1), but the second contest of the doubleheader at home was a 12-6 defeat.

Exploiting its power to the maximum in the first inning of the first game, Paul Woodard banged a double leading off. Dillon scored Woodard with another long double. Etienne drilled a two-run homer for a 3-0 start. Wilcox rocketed another round-tripper for a quick 4-0 lead.

Wilcox led off the third with a single. After Anderson singled him to second, Merrill scored Wilcox on a double.

The Rocks added their last three runs on a three-run shot by Anderson in the fourth.

Etienne raised his mound mark to 3-2 with the win. He allowed four hits, two walks, and an earned run, while striking out nine in seven innings of work.

Salem was led by Wilcox' 3-for-3 performance with a homer, an RBI, and three runs scored. Anderson was 2-for-3 with a home run and three RBI's.

But the second game was an entirely different story for Gilles' troops, as his pitching collapsed - not his offense.

Wilcox and Merrill both went 3-for-4 with an RBI, and Merrill had a homer. Paul Woodard and Anderson both had two hits. Anderson had a homer and two RBI's.

John Holdsworth started the contest for Salem on the mound, lasting two and two-thirds innings before Gilles removed him for his poor pitching, and possibly

Rock golfers win over Edsel Ford

The Salem High girls' golf team chalked up a victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford last Monday, 212-267.

Freshman Carol Ross scored the lowest total in the meet to be named the medalist. She tallied 46 strokes. She was supported by Meg McGee who stroked 52, Beth Maggio who scored 56 and Nancy Kenny who shot 58.

Let's Talk Real Estate
by Barbara M. Olson

The purchase price of a home can sometimes be met by paying cash even in this era of inflated prices. However, it is generally not the wisest course of action. It is still necessary to consider occupancy costs in relation to income. Usually, the higher the price of the house, the higher will be the taxes, insurance, repairs, and operating expenses. This may become particularly significant to an older family that may now have the resources to pay cash but faces a tight income situation in the not too distant future because of retirement of fewer family members making contributions.

Friday shows second side of 1979 Rock runners

BY E. DALE LEE

The coach of the Livonia Stevenson boys' track team must be wondering what kind of team Salem High Coach Gary Balconi has put together this season. Why? Because he's seen two versions of the 1979 Rocks.

The first version of Balconi's Brigade was devastated by the Spartans in a triangular meet with Redford Union two weeks ago. But Friday the Rocks rebounded to finish a strong fourth in the 15-team field at the Stevenson Invitational with 19½ points — only two-and-a-half points behind the third-place host school. Ann Arbor Pioneer won the meet with 36 points.

"We went into it (the meet) unknowing," Balconi said. "But we came out of it (the meet) as kind of a surprise team. We came out of the field events in first place before we started running."

Indeed the Rocks had accumulated 18 of their points in the field event competition, outdistancing the second-place group by six points.

Grabbing six points for a first-place final was senior pole vaulter Dennis Ogden, who set a school record with a clearance of 14 feet, 10½ inches. The old mark was held by Scott Kappler at 14 feet, eight-and-a-half inches.

Last Wednesday the Rocks had a rough go of it, stumbling to Dearborn on the road, 91½-35½. Hanschu took first in the 220-yard dash (:23.3), the long jump (20 feet, 10 inches), and the

Rock gals fall, 73-50

Livonia Bentley defeated the Salem High girls' track team, 73-50, Thursday afternoon.

Running the 110-yard low hurdles, Ann Meixner pored four-tenths of a second off her time, from :16.5 to :16.1. She placed first.

Meixner also took a first-place in the 220-yard low hurdles. She beat her former time of :31.9 to stop the clock at :31.7.

Karen Frod placed first in discus by tossing it 83 feet, nine and one-half inches. She also took a first in the shotput in 33 feet, nine inches.

Canton tracksters lose

Mike Spitz has been smiling alot lately, despite the fact that his Canton High boys' track team has been man-handled all season.

The Chief coach couldn't have been too excited with Thursday's 101-31 defeat Walled Lake Western handed his club. The dual meet defeat gives Canton an 0-4 season mark.

Dan McGlenn set a school record for Canton in the 330-yard low hurdles with a :40.9 timing (a first-place finish). The mark beats the old record of :41.9 held by Martin Hinckley.

Dave Talaga grabbed a first in the high jump with a leap of five feet, eight inches. Rick Fleischer raced to a first in the 220-yard dash (:23.5) and a second in the 440-yard dash (:55.0).

Chief softballers dump Churchill

With two out, key hits by Joni Sommerville, Pam Schipanni and Cindi Stevens, broke a 3-3 seventh inning tie, enabling the Canton High girls' softball team to overcome Livonia Churchill Wednesday, 5-3.

Lacy Howe picked up the victory, but two days later, Friday, suffered the 5-2 loss to Redford Thurston.

Howe was replaced after two innings against Thurston wherein she gave up three runs, all on walks.

120-yard high hurdles (:15.5).

Neu grabbed a first in the high jump by leaping six feet and Dave Skone took the top spot in the pole vault by clearing 12 feet, six inches.

Canton drops two

Canton fought back for two runs in the fourth inning when Steve Gray and Lipinski led off with walks and Dawson lined Gray in with a solid single to right. Lipinski came across when Rusty Mandle hit a bouncer to short on a fielder's choice play to pull within two, 4-2.

Churchill added a pair of runs in the fifth and seven in the seventh. The Chiefs pushed in single runs in the sixth (on Dawson's home run) and seventh innings.

James pitched four innings, suffering his first setback of the campaign. He allowed four earned runs and five hits. Lipinski pitched one inning in relief, allowing two earned runs and Guy Kancan allowed seven hits and five earned runs (seven total runs) in the last two innings.

Churchill stole the second game from Canton, tallying three runs in the fourth inning with the benefit of a miscue by Gray at second. The Chargers loaded the sacks with two singles and a walk. Dawson then relieved the starter, Funkhouser, and the next hitter was out on a fielder's choice at home. Gray then made an error, scoring two runs and the runners were on first and third. After the next batter popped out, a single scored the third run.

Churchill added another run in the sixth on two singles and a passed ball.

Canton scored its run in the opening inning on singles by Gray, Dreher, and Dawson.

Mandle was 2-for-6 on the double-header; Gray was 3-for-6; and Dawson was 4-for-6, including a homer and three runs batted in.

Heading into Monday's action the Chiefs were 9-5 overall and 4-2 in the league.

Canton takes on Walled Lake Western today at home. Game time is 4 p.m. Funkhouser is the scheduled pitcher for the Chiefs.

Salem 12-4 on year for his immature outburst against a Spanish player on Bentley's squad.

Holdsworth gave up seven hits, walked one, and allowed six earned runs. Jeff Prineau pitched one-third of an inning in relief, allowing two earned runs. Barry Owens mopped up, twirling the last four innings in giving up four earned runs.

Going into Tuesday's game against Allen Park the Rocks stand 6-2 in the Suburban Eight League and 12-4 overall. The next slated game is tomorrow at home against Belleville. Game time is 4 p.m.
