

Will new law disrupt twp. boards' stability?

BY CHAS CHILD

"Terrible."
"Unfortunate."
"Is it too late?"

This is how some Plymouth-Canton Community officials describe a little-known state law passed late last year which changed the terms of township boards of trustees across the state.

As of the next election, in November, 1980, the terms of all members of township boards will run concurrently, rather than staggered. The possibility of the whole board being replaced at once is what worries local officials.

"It's terrible," said Canton Township Supervisor Noel Culbert. "You need the added knowledge of the old members on the issues during transition."

Canton Clerk John Flodin agreed: "There would be a lack of continuity if all the seats turned over at the same time. Before, at least two members stayed over. Government doesn't stop and start every four years."

And Esther Hulsing, clerk of Plymouth Township wrote in a letter to the Michigan Township Association, "It seems to me for the sake of continuity and stability

Canton set to unveil new land use plan

BY CHAS CHILD

A land-use plan that will probably map the future of Canton Township for decades will be presented to the public August 15.

"This is the prime opportunity for citizens to have input in land use in the township," said James Kosteva, director of the township's planning department.

Overall, the master land use plan calls for the following new policies:

- 1) Cluster commercial development (or eliminate strip development) on Ford Road, the main business avenue in the township;
- 2) keep intact the farmland preservation district in the western half of the township;
- 3) reduce the density (houses per acre) of future subdivisions;
- 4) increase the land set aside for industrial use to build the township's tax base.

These policies are changes or updates to the master land use plan that was approved in 1976. A master land use plan, in the complicated language of community planning, is prepared by the Planning Commission, and is a guide for a municipality's development.

When the Planning Commission OKs the plan, after the public hearing, it is then translated into a zoning ordinance. The ordinance is sent to the Board of Trustees for approval.

The 1979 update of the master plan is necessary because Canton has grown rapidly in the last three years, said Kosteva.

Since the opening of I-275 in January, 1977, Ford Road has been the focus of intense commercial development, he said.

To avoid strip development of Ford, which, Kosteva said, is ugly, and causes congested traffic, sign proliferation and free-standing buildings, he recommends clustering businesses in two areas.

negotiated at the bargaining table, said Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for employe relations.

The following contracts expired June 30:

--The Michigan Educational Association of Support Personnel (janitors) with about 120 members.

--The Plymouth-Canton Educational Aides Association (teachers' aides) with about 70 members.

--Michigan Educational Association of Educational Secretaries with about 85 members.

--The Plymouth-Canton Transportation Employes Association (bus drivers) with about 110 employes.

--The Plymouth-Canton Congress of Administrators (school principals) with about 35 members. Only the salary scale has expired in this contract, said Kee.

Negotiators for the Plymouth-Canton Education Association, who represent the district's approximately 750 teachers, and members of the school negotiating team met twice last week. The current teachers' contract expires Aug. 31.

According to a PCEA update released after the session on Wednesday, July 25, "(there is) no meaningful progress to report." The update was made by John Ryder, PCEA president.

Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for employe relations, also said, negotiators were continuing to meet on a regular basis.

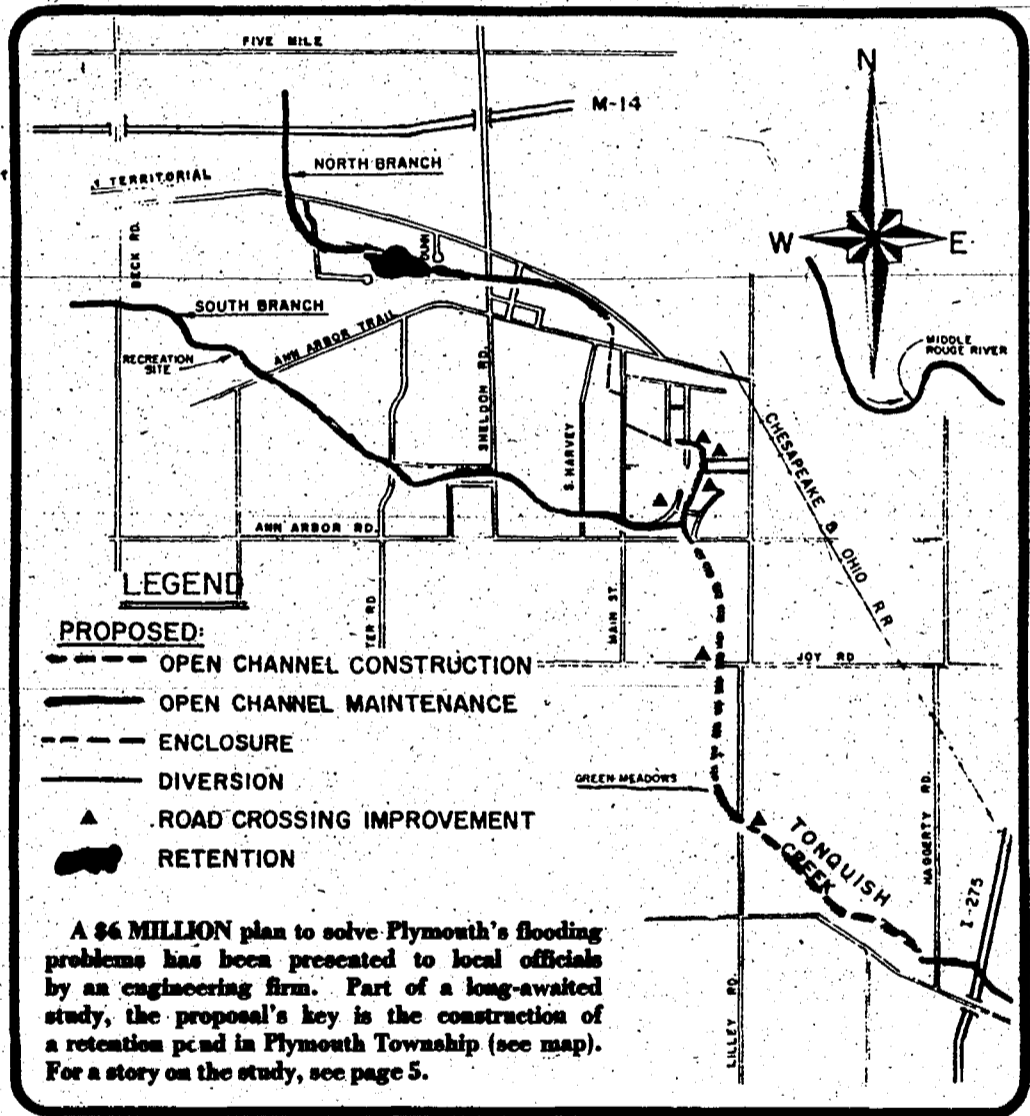

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education met in executive session Monday night to discuss the progress on contract negotiations with the school negotiating team, which included lawyers from Clark, Hardy, Lewis, Fine, and Asher.

Also expiring Aug. 31 is the contract with 65 school cafeteria workers who are represented by the Plymouth-Canton Cafeteria Employees Association.

School officials planned on having all seven contracts expire at approximately the same time, said Kee. "We wanted to make sure all employe groups were treated equally," he said.

All groups are meeting on a regular basis, he said. "It's not the number of meetings that counts, but the productivity at each one," he said.

School officials hope to settle contract negotiations before Aug. 27, the day when students on Tracks A, B, and C of the extended school year (ESY) calendar are scheduled to go back to class. Students going to schools following a traditional calendar are scheduled to begin classes Aug. 29.

City seeks applicants for commission seat

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

If you'd like to be on the Plymouth City Commission, just ask.

Interested candidates who are qualified city electors are now being asked to submit letters of intent to the mayor and commission, according to Mayor-designate Mary Childs.

Childs automatically becomes mayor upon the pending resignation of Mayor Tom Turner, but the commission must then appoint someone to fill the vacancy on the commission. That appointment would run only until the city commission elections Nov. 6 when, because Turner is one of only four names on the ballot for four seats, either a write-in candidate is elected by getting more votes than

Schools ponder giving 'readiness' tests to kids

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Should Plymouth-Canton students be given an I.Q. (intelligence quotient) test as one of the standard tests given to all students?

Tom Yack, Plymouth-Canton Board of Education president believes not. "I think they're too time consuming (to give) and not indicative of a child's capabilities," he said at a board workshop last Wednesday night.

However, the major opinion of the 16-member District Testing Committee was reflected by Patricia Gibbons, a committee member and assistant principal at Pioneer

Middle School. She said, "The more information teachers can compile about a child, the better. I.Q. tests are another piece of information for teachers to use."

She added that no parental permission is needed for teachers to give I.Q. tests to students.

The kindergarten-readiness test and machine scoring of standardized tests were also discussed by the board.

"I think it's a tremendous waste of teachers' time to score standardized tests by hand," said Steve Harper, a board member. He said some teachers were forced to hand-score tests because machine-scoring was too expensive. "I'm appalled at the waste of resources when teachers should be working with kids," he said.

Mike Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, said all tests can be machine scored and that the board could add a recommendation for machine scoring when it acted on the committee's report at a future board meeting.

Three board members, Harper, Carol Davis, and Richard Arlen, also favored testing kindergarten-age students before, rather than after, school has started.

It's very hard on the child to be sent home after school has started because he or she wasn't ready for kindergarten, said Davis.

Currently school administrators and teachers in each building decide when to give the kindergarten readiness test, said Barbara Bowman, executive director of elementary education.

The Testing Program Recommendations will be approved, amended, or rejected at a future meeting of the board.

Hoben contract OKd

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education approved a two-year contract for Superintendent Mike Hoben at its meeting last Monday night.

The contract, for the 1979-80 and 1980-81 school years, was effective July 1 with the salary and fringe benefits to be negotiated at a later date, said the board resolution. The vote was 7-0.

Twp. rescue service gets rescued by state

Plymouth Township residents have no reason to worry, after all, whether both of their tax-supported ambulance rescue units operated by the fire department are manned each day, around the clock.

Fire Chief Larry Groth said he had received permission from the Michigan State Health Department that extended the township's right to operate ambulances with attendants for one year.

"We are back to normal," said Groth Monday. "We have two emergency units on the road, and will have every day."

"Not only has the Michigan Department of Health given us a one-year calendar extension," but Groth said that by the end of that period every man on his corps will have passed the Emergency Medical Technicians test.

"Two of our veteran firefighters took the written examination for E.M.T. (Emergency Medical Technician) last Saturday," said Groth.

"Two others are scheduled to take the written examination Aug. 25.

"Before another year is over, every full time man in the department will have taken the examination, and we expect them to pass it."

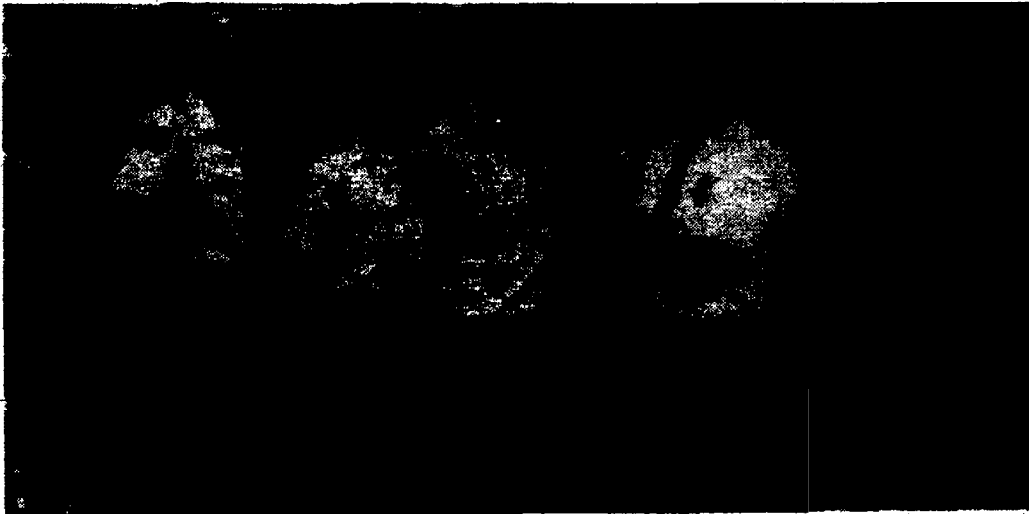

For the first time, the Plymouth Township Fire Department is at a full complement of 15 men, thanks to the board of trustees appropriation last January for hiring three additional firefighters. Until then, the township's complement of fulltime men had been 12.

True enough, there was a gap in rescue unit service due to a manpower shortage. But Groth says now, "It's over. We have both units back on the street."

He said that the hiring of three new firefighters this year, which was approved in January, helped increase the complement of men. In addition, Groth's own promotion to chief opened the role of sergeant and this was filled through the promotion of Randolph Maycock, a 17-year veteran.

The three men hired in January were Donald Hahn and Donald McDurmon. Then, newcomers James Haar, Paul McPherson and Mark Wendel were added at the beginning of July.

Twp., sheriff to discuss protection details

Specifics of a proposed police patrol contract between Plymouth Township and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department are expected to be spelled out publicly at the Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday, Aug. 14, according to Supervisor Thomas Notabaert.

This will give proponents exactly four weeks to "sell" the electorate on voting in favor of a special one-mill, five-year tax levy to raise the funds earmarked to pay for the service.

That special township election will be held Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Notabaert already has included a tentative sheriff's contract item of $246,000 in the estimated general fund expenditures for fiscal 1980, which starts Jan. 1, and the income from one mill would just about offset that total.

The supervisor was required by law to have estimates of 1980 income and expenditures into the hands of trustees by Aug. 1 and the documents prepared by Notabaert in cooperation with accounting consultant Harvey Ziel show a deficit looming of $330,000 for the year.

It was that fact which caused Notabaert last week to ask trustees that they reconsider a decision made two weeks earlier to go ahead with the sheriff's contract without putting a special millage proposal on the ballot.

It was on a 4-1 vote that the trustees agreed to discuss once again whether to hold the Sept. 11 election. Reopening the subject was agreed to by Notabaert and Trustees Maurice Breen, Barbara Lynch and Gerald Law. Trustee Weyona Lee Fidge cast the lone negative vote.

However, when it came to making an actual decision to have the election, and to determine the amount of millage to be asked, the vote was unanimous, 5-0. Neither Clerk Esther Hulsing nor Treasurer Joseph West was present.

"I seriously hoped we could fund it out of surplus for one year," said Fidge. "But I feel it is a service that's needed and people have shown they want it."

The Wayne County Election Commission already had approved the election date for the township, and a spokesman said the on-again, off-again difficulties by the trustees in reaching a final decision would not upset the machinery.

Meanwhile, the board also has in front of it the task of making a complete analysis of the proposed 1980 budget figures to determine whether any line items should be changed. The budget must be adopted before the end of October.

As submitted by Notabaert, expenditures are estimated at $1,789,573 against gross general revenues of $1,459,900.

Plymouth is on track to commuter trains

Commuter railroad service from Plymouth to Detroit, discontinued in 1969, may make a comeback in a couple of years.

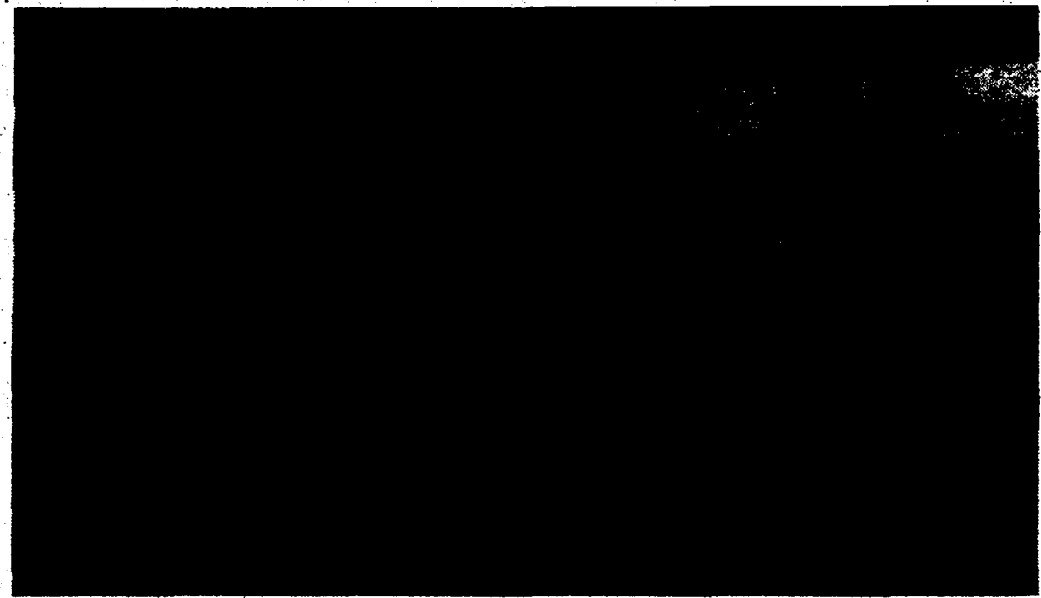

The state Department of Transportation (DOT) was recently authorized by the legislature to investigate reinstating the commuter rail service as part of a larger study of passenger rail service between Detroit and Lansing.

"We're just sitting down now to figure out how to attack this animal," said Scott Hercik, of the inter-city passenger services division of DOT.

"We will be preparing many options, including using advanced technology for 100 mile-per-hour trains," he said.

Who would operate the service? Hercik said it could be the C&O Railroad, Amtrak, SEMTA (Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, or a mix.

"I expect the study to take between one year and 18 months," he said.

Cyclist injured

GLENN ALAN McINTOSH, 21, of Plymouth was seriously injured when the motorcycle he was driving collided with a car driven by Laker Shepherd, 43, of Detroit, according to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. Both McIntosh and Shepherd were taken to St. Mary Hospital, and the spokesperson. The accident happened at about 12:10 Monday afternoon at the intersection of Five Mile and Sheldon roads. No tickets were issued, said the spokesperson. (Crier photo by Craig Brass.)

Amurcon abandons project near Pickwick

BY CHAS CHILD

Amurcon Corp. has decided not to actively pursue plans to build a large, subsidized-income apartment complex near Pickwick Village subdivision, The Crier learned Friday.

The good news to Pickwick residents, who have turned out en masse to fight the project, was mixed with some bad news, however; The owners of the 18-acre property, Forest City, Inc., of Cleveland, O., are considering a lawsuit against the township for its position in the case.

Independence Square, the 168-unit complex proposed on the site on Lilley Road south of Warren, though, is definitely on the back burner, according to Kim Wilkens of Amurcon.

"We are not the owners of the land and we choose not to be involved in any lawsuit," he said. "We didn't see it would make sense to antagonize the community."

But Ron Ratner of Forest City, the land owner, said his company's lawyers are reviewing the case for a possible suite against the township.

The Board of Trustees last month denied approval of Independence Square on the grounds that the project would violate the Planned Unit Development (PUD) agreement between the landowner and the township.

A PUD is a contract which governs the land use of developments such as Pickwick Village. Township attorneys claim that one provision of the Pickwick

PUD stipulates that the apartments in the development must be constructed before the single-family homes.

Since single-family homes were obviously built first, the zoning of the project's proposed site reverts to residential from multiple or apartment zoning, said Dave Berry, the township's attorney.

This new zoning is what bothers Ratner. "We bought the piece at multiple prices and paid the higher taxes for eight years," he said.

"If we were to sell the land, we'd want to make efforts to preserve the zoning."

Ratner added that his lawyers are reviewing the case and will reach a decision in the next couple of weeks on whether to pursue it in court.

Sludge firm seeks sites besides Canton

BY CHAS CHILD

Bi-Products Systems, Inc., the firm proposing to build in Canton a large plant that would turn treated sewage into fertilizer, is seriously looking at other sites in southeastern Michigan for the project.

Shirlann Wellner, clerk of Berlin Township, in northeastern Monroe County, said Bi-Products's request for approval of the project has been before the planning commission for about a month and a half.

The Crier has also learned that the proposed Canton site on Michigan Avenue, east of Morton-Taylor Road, is back on the real-estate market although Bi-Products's option on it has not run out yet.

"They can still use it if they can get the OK from the township," said Merle Probst, one of the owners of the site. "But we've listed it again in case they don't."

Claude Howard, a Westland realtor, confirmed that he has relisted the property.

Canton's approval of the plant, which would compost 600 tons of treated sewage (sludge) from the City of Detroit per day, is in the hands of the Board of Trustees.

Bi-Products needs a special-use permit from the board for the project, which means it must hold a public hearing. The firm was notified in June that it must apply for the permit, but so far Bi-Products has not filled out the application.

"Their attorney indicated about a week and one-half ago that they would apply, but nothing so far," said James Kosteva, director of Canton's planning department.

However, Ed Casling, president of Bi-Products, charged that Kosteva had been "playing around" with his firm's inquiries on how to proceed. "We've asked four different times about the applications and got four different answers," he said.

Casling refused to answer when asked if his firm was investigating other sites for the plant. He later confirmed, however, that he was seeking permission from Berlin Township.

Asked why he was reluctant to discuss the other sites, Casling said, "Because you guys make a big deal out of them."

The Crier also learned from Ypsilanti Township Supervisor Ron Allen that Bi-Products had looked into a site in that community, but had made no formal application.

In a related development, the Canton board of trustees accepted last Tuesday a petition with 2,500 signatures of township residents stating their opposition to the sludge composting plant.

Many members of the board have spoken against the proposed plant and it seems Bi-Products faces a difficult effort to get approval.

The Detroit sludge is known to contain toxic heavy metals such as cadmium, chromium and zinc. And township engineers recently found indication of some kind of pollution at a Canton landfill, Woodland Meadows, that was accepting large quantities of the sludge.

More detailed tests, designed in part to see if the sludge was the cause of the possible pollution, are underway. Woodland Meadows is located on Hannan Road, east of I-275 and south of Michigan Avenue.

Twp. gets tough on builders

Plymouth Township plans to get tough with building companies that fail to keep their word concerning specific promises as to work that will be done for those contracting for new residential construction.

This policy stemmed from a suggestion last week by Trustee Maurice Breen that the township building code be amended to provide that building permits be withheld from builders where there is on record with the township evidence (complaints) that a builder is failing to fulfill promised work in accord with our building code."

Adoption of a building code amendment, as ex-Supervisor Breen suggested, was believed a bit too rash by his colleagues, but they did vote unanimously to instruct Township Attorney Donald Morgan to draw up a policy statement, with immediate effect, which would have the same intent.

Supervisor Thomas Notebaert said he concurred "wholeheartedly" that there should be protection for those who encounter difficulties in completion of construction. Henceforth, the building department will be instructed to log all citizen complaints about non-compliance with contract commitments.

The township has been advised by State Rep. Robert C. Law that "in this way, your building inspector could take the administrative position of not granting a building permit to a builder whose performance was unsatisfactory."

Law also said, "Of course, there is that possibility that the builder could go to court to force issuance of a permit, but it still puts the burden on the builder." Law represents the 36th District in the House of Representatives at Lansing and his younger brother, Gerald, is a first-term member of the Plymouth Township board.

Turner or another appointment must be made if Turner is "elected."

"It'll be great to get all these people interested (in applying for the commission vacancy)," Childs said. "Send the commission a letter and we'll look at all of them."

Thus far, two men have applied to Childs to fill the vacancy.

Ralph J. "Jack" Kenyon, 54, of 1400 Hartsough, and William L. Robinson, 62, of 1395 Elm, are both seeking the appointment.

Kenyon, who returned to Plymouth two years ago after spending his early years here, is an environmental engineer for facilities at Ford Motor Co. and is chairman of the city's Economic Development Commission.

Robinson, who has lived in the city three years, is an accountant with Morrison, Stanwood and Polak and worked on the Plymouth senior citizen survey.

Canton plans land use

The first cluster is proposed for the Ford Road-I-275 intersection (between Lilley and Lotz Road). This stretch would be designed for a "regional" car-oriented businesses such as restaurants, motels, entertainment complexes, furniture stores, lumber yards, and auto dealerships, etc.

The second cluster is planned along Ford between Canton Center Road and Oakview (about one-quarter mile east of Sheldon). This area would serve community shopping needs.

In between the two clusters is planned residential and office uses.

Kosteva wrote in a report on the update that the clustering plan is made possible by a number of factors that will reduce commercial pressure on Ford. These include: the completion of M-14, which will siphon traffic from Ford; preservation of farmland east of Canton Center; and spreading small, neighborhood shopping centers throughout the township.

The update also calls for extending the western cluster north on Canton Center Road from Ford to Windemere sub. This shopping area would serve the needs of the developing residential community to the east and west of Canton Center Road, said the report.

Meanwhile, plans for preservation of farmland in the western half of the township are kept intact. "The township board, in March of 1979, reinforced Canton Township's commitment to preserving agricultural activities and land areas within the township," said the report.

The board also resolved to "re-evaluate the development rights program, seek new sources of assistance in this effort and present a referendum for farmland preservation back to the residents no later than May of 1981."

The update also calls for reducing subdivision density in the future.

Areas proposed to be upgraded from 60- to 70-foot lots are lands: east of I-275, south of Ford; adjacent to the lower Rouge River; and along Michigan Avenue, west of Canton Center.

"It is very important to get as much representation of opinions as possible," said Kosteva. The public hearing is scheduled for August 15, 7:30 p.m., at Salem High School auditorium.

Under the new plan, the township would probably eventually grow to somewhere between 75,000 and 100,000 residents, according to planning department estimates.

Plymouth flooding solutions will be costly

BY CHAS CHILD

A $6 million proposal to improve drainage of the Tonquish Creek and prevent flooding has been recommended to Plymouth-Canton officials.

The plan, which calls for building a rain-water retention pond in Plymouth Township, was prepared by Wade, Trim & Associates. Called Alternative A, the proposal is one of many solutions to the Plymouth community's flooding problem outlined in a study commissioned by Tonquish Creek Drainage Board.

Alternative A, the most cost-effective of the alternatives, according to the report, calls for a retention pond on the north branch of the Tonquish, west of Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township.

"This facility would include provisions to regulate discharges to prevent flooding occurring in the downtown City of Plymouth area," says the report.

Also, Alternative A provides for widening the main branch from Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township to the confluence of the Green Meadows Drain in Canton Township as well as from Lilley road to Haggerty Road in Canton.

The last major feature of Alternative A is to replace six road crossings to increase the flow underneath. These six are Lilley Road over the main branch of the Tonquish, Joy Road over the main branch and four roads over the north branch, Ford, Hart-sough, Burroughs, and Harding.

The total cost of Alternative A is estimated at $6,010,000.

The need to improve the Tonquish's drainage was dramatized by two major floods in the last two years. In both floods, on May 30, 1978 and April 13, 1979, many downtown Plymouth businesses were inundated.

Numerous Canton homes were also flooded on those dates, but according to Supervisor

Noel Culbert the Tonquish wasn't the main culprit.

"Other clogged drains and sewers were the problem," he said.

The retention pond envisioned in Alternative A would be a permanent lake six feet deep, says the Wade, Trim report. "Such a lake will serve as a visual scenic relief to the property owners of the various adjacent land parcels," it said.

The channel both upstream and downstream of the enclosed portion of the Tonquish under downtown Plymouth would be cleaned and planted to accommodate more runoff.

South of Ann Arbor Road the creek would be straightened and widened, the report recommended.

If something is not done to improve drainage in the area, the area subject to flooding will increase, due to increased urbanization of the community, said the report.

Alternative A is the cheapest of the six proposals presented by Wade, Trim. The most expensive is Alternative D, which would cost $9,419,000.

Alternative D calls for building a second retention pond, on the south branch of the Tonquish, directly west of Canton Center Road. It also proposes to enclose the south branch between Sheldon Road and where it joins the north branch, just north of Ann Arbor Road.

Alternative F calls for a second enclosure of the stretch of the Tonquish that runs under the city's downtown to provide more drainage capacity. This, plus channel widening elsewhere, would cost $6,374,000.

Alternative C calls for diverting the north branch from near where it goes under downtown Plymouth directly to the Middle Rouge River in Hines Park. This, would cost $7,190,000.

Aid ready for flood victims

Gov. William G. Milliken announced Monday that the Small Business Administration (SBA) has declared all of Wayne County a disaster area due to severe thunderstorms and flooding, July 11.

The SBA disaster declaration qualifies affected businesses, homeowners and renters for low-interest disaster recovery loans and economic injury disaster loans.

The loans will be granted at an interest rate of 7.38 percent. The maximum available for personal homes has been set at $50,000 for structural damage, $10,000 for personal effects and $55,000 for a combination of the two.

The deadline for applying for physical damage loans is Sept. 17, 1979. The deadline for economic loans is April 21, 1980.

The SBA is establishing a field office in Wayne County to handle the applications this week.

Concurrent township terms worry local officials in local government that it would be wiser to stagger the terms so that one or two of the officials and two of the trustees are elected and then two years later the balance are elected."

Plymouth and Canton townships both have seven-member boards, three officers (supervisor, clerk, and treasurer) and four trustees.

"Is there anything the Michigan Township Association (MTA) can do to address the problem? Or is it too late? Or isn't it a problem? I am interested in your comments," Hulsing wrote to Robert R. Robinson, executive director of the MTA.

Robinson agreed with Hulsing. "We recommended staggered terms, but the legislature was not inclined to give them to us," he said.

Why was the law changed to provide concurrent terms? In part, Robinson said, for political reasons. The law that eliminated the staggered terms also gave all officers four-year terms. Presently, the three officers have two-year terms. "The new four-year terms will correspond with state senate terms," he said. "So the local officials won't be able to run for a senate seat with out jeopardizing his seat on the board of trustees.

Robinson added that you could argue that the four-year terms could help continuity in local government, although the terms are concurrent. "At least now they could only change hands every four years instead of two.

He also said that he didn't seem much chance of the legislature changing the law. "From a practical standpoint it would be impossible to change. Since it was passed in late 1978, we haven't even had our first election under it yet."

Deputy clerk could have voted

BY FRED DeLANO

Plymouth Township Attorney Donald C. Morgan has supported the contention of Deputy Clerk Mary Ellen Kenyon that she has the right to sit on the Board of Trustees as a voting member at any meeting when the elected clerk, Esther Hulsing, is absent.

In an indication that the township is going through certain legalistic growing pains since changing from general law to charter status a few weeks ago, Kenyon's role became an issue of prime debate at the beginning of the July 24 board session.

It led to 4-2 adoption of a motion that "the deputy clerk be excused from voting on matters brought before the board tonight," the negative votes being cast by Supervisor Thomas Notebaert and Kenyon herself.

This deprivation of the deputy's right to replace her superior as a voting member was in contradiction of previous board practices under general law status and brought the comment from Kenyon, who is in her 12th year as a township employee, "Have I ever been so embarrassed? No, I have not."

Kenyon was in attendance at the specific request of Hulsing, who was attending a governmental seminar at Madison, Wis. Hulsing was expected to arrive during the course of the meeting, but was unable to do so prior to adjournment shortly before midnight.

Morgan wasn't present at the meeting either, but in a written memorandum received at Township Hall later in the week declared:

"It is my opinion that the deputy clerk, in the absence of the clerk, has the same right to sit and to exercise a vote and to take the record of the proceedings now that the Township of Plymouth is a charter township as the deputy clerk did when the board operated as an unchartered township."

Hulsing confirmed after her return from Wisconsin that Kenyon has taken the oath of office as deputy which is required by law, and that it is on file.

For that matter, another township employee, Mary Brooks, has taken a similar oath of office as deputy treasurer and although Treasurer Joseph West also was absent from the same meeting while vacationing in New England, no effort was made to seat Brooks as a voting member of the board for the evening.

Kenyon's role was challenged early by Trustee Gerald Law who said he questioned the right of any person to vote "who is not elected."

Trustee Weyona Lee Fidge asked, "Could everything we do tonight be null and void (by allowing Kenyon to vote)?"

Notebaert pointed to the past practice of allowing the deputy to vote in absence of the clerk and said, "If there is no objection, I will consider the past practice proper."

However, Fidge did officially object, being joined by Law. This brought the motion from Trustee Maurice Breen that the deputy clerk be excused from voting in that meeting, and affirmative votes came from Breen, Fidge, Law and Barbara Lynch. Kenyon later left the building after a recess expired without Hulsing arriving as had been hoped.

Breen also brought to a head a simmering controversy over whether Morgan should be required to be present at board meetings. The township attorney has not been asked to do so often in the past because of the added fee it would cost the township, but Breen pressed for a reversal of that policy.

His motion that the supervisor "direct" the township attorney to attend future board meetings carried unanimously.

In all the discussion, no one thought to read into the record the following excerpts from the "1978 Supplement to Authority and Responsibilities of Michigan Township Officials, Boards and Commissions," prepared by John H. Bauckham, attorney for the Michigan Township Association.

"In each case the clerk and treasurer independently are required to appoint a deputy who must take an oath of office after appointment and file the same with the clerk of the township.

"Thereafter, such deputy possesses all the powers and may perform all the duties of the clerk or treasurer respectively in the case of the absence, sickness, death or other disability of the deputy's principal . . .

"Each deputy may also assist his principal at any additional times other than during the principal's absence, sickness, death or other disability as may be agreed upon between the township board and the respective principal.

"During the absence, sickness, death or other disability of the principal, the principal's deputy may be a temporary member on the township board with full voting rights.

Canton library board taps O'Connor as librarian

Deborah O'Connor, former librarian at Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library, has been selected Head Librarian of Canton's new library.

The appointment was announced last Wednesday night by the Canton Public Library Board.

"She's an accomplished professional," said Doug Ritter, chairman of the library board. "We're very happy with our choice."

O'Connor, 28, holds a master degree from Wayne State University in library science and is now acting director of the Wayne County Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

She also served as children's librarian and director of Dunning-Hough Library, which serves the Plymouth-Canton Community. She's very familiar with the reading habits of Canton kids, Ritter said.

The Canton library is scheduled to open on the third floor of Township Hall in February or March of 1980, said Ritter. "We still need to buy books, furniture, shelving, and hire more staff," he said. "But the most important decision was choosing Deborah."

The library was funded by a one-mill maximum levy approved by voters in the spring. The election also set up the library board which is authorized to oversee the library's operation.

In a side note, Stan Bucher, former chairman of the library board, resigned because he's moving out of town in a job switch. Ritter replaced him as chairman, and Kay Baldrice was named by the board to fill the vacancy.

DEBORAH O'CONNOR

Bucher was previously chairman of the library millage committee which campaigned to pass the library millage.

Canton nixes interim laws

BY CHAS CHILD

Despite objections that Ford Road will develop into a "strip" the Canton Board of Trustees denied approval of an interim zoning ordinance that would have clustered businesses on Ford.

The interim ordinance was designed to control business on Ford until a permanent zoning ordinance can be brought before the board, expected late this year.

"If Ford Road goes commercial, it's gone forever," said Trustee Carol Bodenmiller, a proponent of the interim ordinance.

Supervisor Noel Culbert, considered a swing vote in the 4-3 decision by the board, said "Ford Road won't develop as rapidly as people would lead you to believe." And there's also substantial residentially zoned land (to break up the commercial strip) on Ford Road, he said.

Culbert added that the interim zoning ordinance was primarily prepared by one person, Dan Richardson, a planning commissioner.

"You can't create a zoning map by one person. It's not fair for one man to design a map without a lot of input from a lot of people."

The Planning Commission is scheduled to start the first step in the preparation of a permanent zoning ordinance on Aug. 15. On this date it will hold a public hearing on a proposed master land use plan. After approval, it will be translated into a zoning ordinance, which will be sent to the board of trustees.

This whole process is expected to take about six months, and Bodenmiller and others feared that during this time businessmen would rush into Ford Road and lay the groundwork for strip development similar to Westland's or Garden City's.

As proposed, the master plan calls for clustering business on Ford in two areas: generally around the I-275 interchange; and between Canton Center Road and Sheldon.

"The interim ordinance was not necessary because we'll be starting public hearings on essentially the same plan in a couple of weeks," said Trustee Eugene Daley.

Culbert, Daley, Trustee Stephen Larson and Clerk John Flodin voted against the interim ordinance. Bodenmiller, Trustee Robert Greenstein and Deputy Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz voted "yes."

There's gold in them thar hills, the Hilltop hills that is. It's of the kind that eventually should put at least $100,000 into the Plymouth Township coffers every year, and it's there for the taking from the pocketbooks of golf nuts like myself.

On the realistic, budgetary side, that's what the recent purchase of additional land to allow expansion of Hilltop Golf Course from nine to 18 holes should mean, for, throughout the area, municipal ownership of golf courses is proving sound, profitable business.

Canton Township made better than a 100 grand out of its Fellows Creek course last year and the City of Livonia did far better than that. Livonia, however, owns two courses. It built Whispering Willows from scratch and found it to be such a money-maker that the city then went out and purchased another 18-hole layout, the long-established Idyl Wyld course.

Livonia City Treasurer Carl Wagenschutz thinks it has proved one of the wisest investments the city government has ever made. He ought to know, for Carl is the only person ever to serve in the treasurer's job during Livonia's cityhood.

Hilltop's present nine holes are in the best condition ever this season, and the course has been dressed up in numerous ways that are pleasing to its customers. However, the new clubhouse replacing the structure destroyed by fire last winter still hasn't been finished in all details, yet here it is the first day of August.

This has cut into the 1979 income possibilities, and for this and other reasons the township board agreed that John Jawor did not get a full and fair shake in this, the first year of his five-year management contract which also carries an option to renew for five years. Thus, Jawor was allowed to reduce his guarantee to the township from $35,000 to $28,000 for this year only.

Canton's contract with Dan Ross, who used to have Hilltop's management, calls for Dan to pay the township a guaranteed $100,000 annually, or 50 per cent of the take, whichever is greater. So far, the 50-50 split has proved the more profitable for all parties.

The contrast in the Fellows Creek and Hilltop figures demonstrates how much greater a potential there is in the operation of an 18-hole course as compared to nine holes. Promotional possibilities increase, inevitably there is more league play, and the overall number of paid rounds multiples in much more than just a straight 2-to-1 ratio.

With Hilltop's existing acreage at Powell and Beck Roads, plus the newly acquired land just to the north, Plymouth Township has a golf tract of 85 acres. That isn't quite enough for an acceptable 18-hole course of at least 6,000 yards. To do the job right, the township may have to slice the west edge, including the pond, off Recreation park and incorporate that in the golf layout.

Hilltop and the park would become adjoining entities, fulfilling a recreation dream many have had for years.

Chances are that the total tab for land purchase, course construction, and relocation of some of the present holes, plus hopefully the services of an experienced golf course architect, may hit the $500,000 mark. It will be money well spent, and the township is bound to get it back with plenty more on top.

On the question of adequate acreage for a regulation course, it's interesting to note that Whispering Willows has 134 acres, Idyl Wyld 106 (and it's much too cramped), Salem Hills 150, Fox Hills 150 and Fellows Creek between 120 and 130.

It isn't necessary to build a championship course such as Oakland Hills, where the national PGA tournament is being played this week. A golf course can be fun and do a whale of a business if it is sporty, reasonably challenging, and offers a variety of problems to the player. But it must be long enough to take it out of the shooting gallery category.

Our leaders in Township Hall will be wise to include Jawor in their intimate Hilltop planning, and not just because he has the management contract. Somewhere along the way that's going to have to be renegotiated anyway, for it will be an entirely new ball game once the course is restructured to 18 holes, probably with changed and expanded clubhouse entertainment facilities also.

The real reason is that Jawor, 42, has the expertise to be invaluable to the township in laying out the new course, mapping holes to take advantage of the terrain, and in general going at it in a professional instead of amateurish way.

One of five famed golfing brothers, John could call a family conference where he would be joined at the table by PGA brothers Frank, from Warren Valley; Cass, who has the Northland Golf Range; Chet, who operates the Gratiot Golf Center, and Stan, from the Sunny Acres course. For extras John might invite in Ray Glenn, Rouge Park pro who is his partner in a winter golf school and indoor range.

The township would be hard put to find a better qualified advisory panel than that, assuming it really does want to do the job right.

Bikepaths need access

Bicycle traffic is more local in nature than the automobiles on an expressway.

A rather simplistic statement, perhaps, but a difficult concept for the Michigan State Highway Dept. to understand.

The bicycle path which runs along the M-14 expressway (which is rumored to actually be completed some day and opened to use) has but one exit-entrance at the Hines Park bike path. It would seem much more useful to include an entrance at additional points to allow the route to serve more of the area.

The same is true of the I-275 bike routes in Canton and Plymouth Township.

While bicycle paths along state expressways are a good addition to our overall transportation system, cyclists can't go several miles between exits like automobiles can.

Plymouth Township, which is considering the addition of bike pathways throughout the township, should ask the state to provide more access to the routes along the expressways.

Canton should eye a bike path system that included more access to the I-275 bike path.

Canton's new master plan needs your input on Aug. 15

It's been three years since the Canton Planning Commission started reviewing and updating the township's master land use plan. Alternately pressured by interested landowners and plain ignored, their work is done and ready to start the public hearing processes, necessary for completion.

The purpose of the master plan is simple and crucial to a township like Canton, which is suffering from some of the worst growing pains in the state. The plan spells out how the commission hopes the township will develop.

Where will industry be placed in the township? How much farmland should be preserved? Can strip development along Ford Road be stopped? Are the rights of homeowners protected?

The commission wrestled with all these questions, seeking to reduce the population and strain on services such as police, fire, and schools, while insuring that the business community and room to prosper.

It's important for citizens, neighborhood and homeowners groups to review the plan and attend the Aug. 15 public hearing. It maps Canton's future, and therefore, should reflect the ideas of the whole community, not just the seven member planning commission.

Canton's vending law postpones kids' trip

EDITOR:

K.D.A.C. Kids Deserve A Chance, a non-profit organization will have to postpone their Sea World Trip on Aug. 22, until further notice because of Canton Township's Ordinance #50, section 5:

"No license shall be issued to any applicant as a food vendor and/or street vendor until such applicant shall have attained the age of fifteen (15) years, except that a person between the ages of twelve (12) and fifteen (15) years may be issued a license as a street vendor and/or food vendor if such applicant is accompanied by a sponsoring adult at both the time of applying for such license as a street vendor and/or food vendor, and at the actual time of selling such products."

In other words, young people 15 years old or older need a vendor's license to sell anything door to door; those 12 to 15 years old need a vendor's license and adult supervision. Anyone under 12 years old cannot sell or apply for such a license.

Therefore, club members or potential club members under 12 years old cannot sell their candy to pay for their Sea World Trip.

(Canton officials) Noel Culbert, John Flodin, Robert Greenstein, Bruce Philips, Maria Falkiewicz, Lt. Larry Stewart and Chief Jerry Cox have been most helpful and are working furiously to improve on this ordinance -- and K.D.A.C. would like to thank them at this time.

Keep reading The Crier for other K.D.A.C. activities.

Cats should be licensed, too

EDITOR:

This letter is from a dog owner. On July 30, I purchased a dog license from Plymouth Township. What made me so angry was a Mr. Joseph West (Plymouth Township Treasurer) stated that if I didn't get the license the township could do three things: 1) serve me with a summons, 2) take me to courts, 3) get a warrant and come into my house and take my dog.

The reason I am writing is to ask a few questions:

1) Why isn't there a cat law? Do you want to know what Mr. West's answer was to this question? Cats are hard to catch.

2) Why not take a cat census while taking a dog census? Mr. West's answer to that question was: No manpower. Well, Mr. West, why not do both censuses together. I am sure the vets would help gather info on who owns cats.

3) Why isn't there a law requiring cats to have rabies shots? Don't people know any mammal can carry this dreaded disease. I called a few vets in the Plymouth-Canton area and one even went so far to state an incident that happened at MSU vet school in Lansing involving a cat. The incident happened just recently. Fourteen people at the school had to have rabies shots because of a cat.

4) What about the dog ordinance around here? Isn't it against the law to let your dog run free? I've seen both dogs and cats half starved running 'round getting into peoples' garbage and destroying property.

There are very few people around this area of the township who keep their dogs on leashes or even fenced in. I can say I am one of the few who do.

It's really funny when a warrant can be served to come in and take a dog from an owner when the only law that is broken is refusing to buy license for a dog that stays in the house except to go out and mess in its own fenced in yard.

The hassle of fighting in court doesn't bother me but when someone says, "We will issue a warrant to take your dog," that really bugs me.

I am not a trouble maker or cat hater but I think a dog owner should have a few rights, too.

I did buy the license after being warned about the warrant. I would even fight it in court but I don't have the time or a Mr. West would surely have a good fight on his hands. . . I am not by myself!

played the alto-saxophone for the past six years. He also plays the flute and piano.

At Interlochen, Mark also won the All-State Scholarship for National Music Camp, an eight-week band camp which will be held during the summer of 1980. The scholarship will pay for one-half of his tuition. He competed against about 230 high school musicians for it, he said.

The best way to win a mother's heart is to have her adorable son come home and proudly announce that he has just won the grubby tennis shoe award at the playground. As I stood there looking bewildered, listening to him explain the contest, all I could think of was, "But Ron, those are your good tennis shoes -- the ones I let you wear out in public."

Most mothers of nine-year-old boys understand not wanting to be seen in public with their son, when the kid is wearing his "play" sneakers. It's not that they are embarrassed by their son, but by the thought of the whole world seeing him with his toes poking through those tattered pieces of material, which only a month ago were brand new sneakers.

We all have a favorite pair of shoes that are well broken in and comfortable, and I try to understand when the kid says he can run faster and kick a ball better in his favorite shoes. What do you say when he wants to wear his old favorites to school for the big game? I tried explaining that not only do the shoes look like they've been through a war (and fought the enemy single-handed), but they smell like it too.

Somehow my thoughts didn't get through to him. His big, innocent, blue eyes just looked at those ratty old tennis shoes like they were special friends -- the friends that helped him win the race, and the same friends who were with him at the creek when he was catching toads.

As we were talking about his old sneakers, he said, "I know why there are play tennis shoes and good tennis shoes -- I can wear the play shoes when I'm with my friends, and I have to wear the good ones when I'm around your friends."

After a bit of conniving, he talked me into taking him to the "rotten Sneaker Contest," sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department. Since he had done so well with his good tennis shoes in the playground contest, I consented to letting him wear his old, grubby sneakers for this special event.

I admit I was embarrassed walking in with him, but as I started looking at what some of the other contestants were wearing I felt better. After seeing what the winner's shoes looked like, I decided there was hope for Ron making it through the summer with his old favorites.

As we watched the contestants model their sneakers in front of the judges, a mother remarked, "This is the time when you wish you hadn't thrown out the real junkers last month."

The Plymouth Historical Museum is sponsoring an amateur photography contest Sept. 20-30 at the museum. It's a great time to go through all those fantastic pictures you took this summer and find the one that will take first place.

The four categories for the contest are: portraits, animals, scenery, and sports. All entries must be at least 5" x 7", mounted and framed, with the information on the back. They will be accepted at the museum, 155 S. Main Street in Plymouth, between Sept. 12 and 15. For more information about the contest call the museum at 455-8940.

Six students from Plymouth recently attended the freshman orientation program at Western Michigan University. They are: Jane Bowe, Daniel Costrini, Nancy DeBear, Mary Lukens, Nancy Paul, and Carolyn Skalski.

Michigan State University recently announced names of students who attained a 4.0 (All-A) grade point for spring term. Students from the Plymouth-Canton area are: Mark Chatterley, a senior majoring in art, from Beacon Hill in Plymouth; Elizabeth Oday, a senior majoring in accounting and finance administration, from Park Place; Scott Wales, a junior majoring in accounting and finance administration, from Robinwood Drive; and Lynn Partin, a senior majoring in English, from Hanford in Canton.

After 7 laps,

Road racer Ken Nelson snatched fifth Saturday

BEFORE TAKING the car out on the track, co-driver Fred Rigotti and Ken Nelson go through a checklist. Here Fred is checking out the tires.

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD
"Racing is living.
Everything else is just waiting."
Steve McQueen

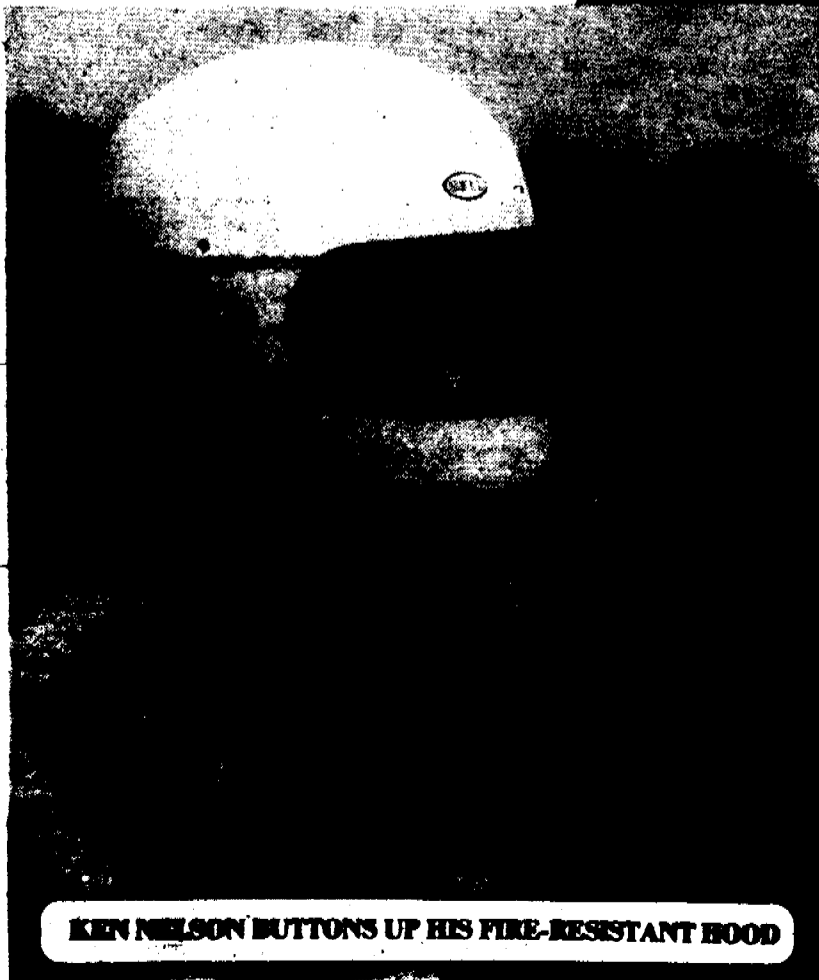

In a round-about way, the red-lettered "75" gleaming in the sunlight on the door of his Opal Manta road racer translates into good luck for Ken Nelson of Canton. At least he thinks that's what it means.

Nelson's buddy, who's got a "74" road racer, got married in 1974. Ken added one digit and figured his friend's luck would follow accordingly.

That brand of boyish enthusiasm coupled with serious racing sportsmanship runs rampant the last weekend of every month when members of the Waterford Hills Road Racing Club gather to out-time, out-manuever, and out-race each other on the track.

KEN NELSON REVS UP DURING TRIAL LAP

KEN NELSON BUTTONS UP HIS FIRE-RESISTANT HOOD

Ken's silver with red-and-blue racing striped Opal is striped down to the bare essentials -- a good motor which emits a clean, crisp, if somewhat noisy, purr, and good safety equipment.

Safety equipment includes a full-cage rollbar, shoulder and lap harnesses plus a harness to prevent the driver from sliding under the dashboard, a special foam headrest, and, a special gas tank to guard against explosions. And, of course, there's the standard fire extinguishers for both the front and rear ends of the car.

Donning his fire-resistant racing body-suit, leather shoes and gloves, and helmet, Nelson looks as though he is ready to race. The difference between road racing and drag racing is durability, said Nelson. Drag cars travel at top speeds down straight roads while road racers are prepared to take the curves and bends, said Nelson.

The track is one and one-half miles long with 13 sharp corners on it. Ken speeds up to 115 miles per hour on the straightaway slowing down to 60 to 65 miles per hour on the curves.

Dark rubber patches remain where drivers left their marks as they started wide and then leaned into the curve of the track. Then, the Opal shoots down the straightaway called "power alley."

"The name of the game is how fast you can take the corners," said Nelson.

During the weekend races at Waterford, Nelson's top time is about one minute, 20 seconds per lap. The standard 10-lap race usually means about 15 minutes on the course when you add the "pace lap" prior to the race, and the "cool down" lap afterwards.

Ken and his co-driver, Fred Rigotti of Union Lake, have been racing the Opal Manta for the past two years. Nelson has won the Class B Sedan Championship for two years.

This season he captured two third places and one fifth place during the May races; he also snatched a fifth, sixth, and seventh place in the June races.

On Saturday, he took a fifth place after drivers were flagged down following the seventh lap because of rain. Lady Luck, or maybe it was "75", was on his side.

Canton Elks earn NABF regional title

A judgment call by an infield umpire in the final game of the Michigan Mickey Mantle League Regional play-offs Sunday secured a one-run lead for the Canton Elks en route to a 5-3 win over Dearborn Heights Crestwood.

The call came in the sixth inning of the championship game when, with two outs and the tying run on third base, the two umpires disagreed on whether or not the runner at first base was out.

Finally resulting in the third out, Canton came off the field and earned another run in the seventh and final inning to earn a place in the National American Baseball Federation (NABF) World Series this weekend in Columbus, O.

In a double-elimination tournament each team must lose twice before being eliminated. Canton lost the first game of the finals to Crestwood, 3-1 to turn the finals into a doubleheader.

Canton was held to a first inning run by Keith Stone in what Canton fans had hoped to be the last game of the tournament. Stone advanced to first base on a single and then stole second and third. He then came home on a ground out at first base.

After a home run in the first inning to account for two of Crestwood's three runs, the Dearborn squad picked up another run in the fourth inning to gain another crack at the championship.

Second game action stayed close to the end with Canton out in front 4-3 until the final inning.

Both teams earned one run in the first inning but Canton moved into its first lead of the day against Crestwood by picking up another run in the second inning. Steve Gray scored for Canton in the first inning and Bill Hanis scored in the second.

Showing signs of widening the lead in the third inning, Canton's Dave Carter cranked out a home run over the left field fence knocking in Dave Meader to move into a 5-2 lead. Crestwood came up with two runs in the bottom of the third inning to stay close to the victory bound Elks.

Meader scored Canton's final run in the seventh inning after getting on base with a single to center field. Meader scored on an over throw to first base.

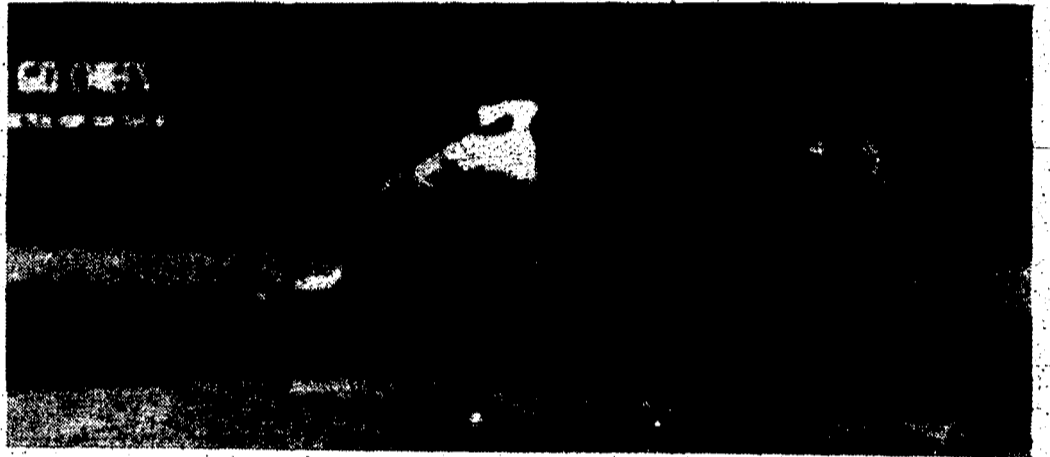

Jerry Norgren was tagged with the first tournament loss after giving up six hits and two walks to the Crestwood team. Norgren threw one strike out and relief pitcher Mark Clark came in to throw four more.

Taking the win in the final game of the four-team tourney was Bob Smith who allowed Crestwood eight hits and nine walks. Dan Funkhouser came in to relieve Smith in the fifth inning and Clark finished the game after coming in for Funkhouser in the seventh inning.

The Smith, Funkhouser and Clark trio sent a total of 10 Crestwood would-be hitters back to the dugout on strike outs. Six Canton batters were retired on strikes.

Canton advanced to the finals after defeating Westland on Friday (3-0) and the Detroit Angels twice on Saturday, 4-3 and 7-3. Canton begins its world series play on Thursday against a team from Birmingham, Alabama. Eight teams from across the country will participate in the NABF World Series tournament. Coach Dave Racer and his team leave for Columbus today (Wednesday).

MARK CLARK RELIEVED Jerry Norgren in the fifth inning of the Canton Elks' battle for a NABF Championship Sunday against Dearborn Heights Crestwood. Canton lost the game 3-1, but came back to win the next game, 5-3 for a spot in the NABF World Series this weekend in Columbus, Ohio.

150 enter city tennis tourney

This weekend 150 area tennis players will compete in the sixth annual Crier-City of Plymouth Tennis Tournament at Canton High School.

According to tournament supervisor Tom Williams, the 150 players registered for the tournament is fewer than have signed up in past years.

"A lot of people in the area are on vacations right now or are playing in other tennis tournaments either around the state or across the country," said Williams. "The mens singles and doubles categories turned out to be big events but some of the categories had to be scrapped because not enough players entered."

Categories that were eliminated in the three-day tournament are both the boys and girls nine years old and under category and both the men and womens 45 and over category. The few entrees that did sign up for these categories will play in the next open category.

All players participating in the tournament are required to furnish three new U.S.T.A. tennis balls. Players will be notified by either phone call or mail on playing and reporting times.

The tournament is co-sponsored by The Crier and the City of Plymouth Department of Parks and Recreation. Any additional information on the tournament may be obtained from tournament director Chuck Stone at 455-6620.

Gilles named MVP for Massey win

After the leadoff batter of the Studio Lounge softball team cranked out a home run the first time up to bat against Plymouth Massey Cadillac in the Seven-Up Tournament of Champions Sunday, Massey pitcher Brian Gilles got down to business and lead his team to a tournament title over Studio Lounge, 18-17.

The 14-team tournament sponsored by Seven-Up and run by the Plymouth Department of Parks and Recreation included two teams from Wayne, Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Livonia and Westland and one team from Redford Township and Garden City.

Final game action was filled with home run hits not only for Studio Lounge but also for Massey. Studio pitcher Tom Wilmot let go of five home run pitches before being replaced by Greg Kuhns. Kuhns released two more home run pitches, one that brought in three Massey runs and one that added one run to the winning total.

Hitting home runs for the Massey squad were Pete Woodard (twice), Bill Baughman, Bob Pickney, Dan Griffin (twice) and Cal Clomski.

Gilles gave up six homeruns during his seven-inning stay on the mound but still managed to hold off the powerful Westland team and earn recognition as the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

After the first two innings Massey held a comfortable 4-1 lead but Studio Lounge came on strong in the third with nine runs to take over the lead, 10-7. Gilles held Studio to only two runs in the fourth inning while his team chalked up seven runs on six hits to regain the lead.

During the final innings of play Studio Lounge made an attempt to catch up but to no avail. One run in the fifth inning and two more in the sixth and also in the seventh was not enough to catch the undefeated Massey team.

Massey scored its last four runs of the game in the sixth inning and relied on a strong defense to keep Studio Lounge from coming in with the tying run.

Gilles gave up 20 hits while on the mound and demonstrated his consistency by allowing only one walk. Wilmot gave up 17 hits to the Plymouth team and sent two batters to first base on walks.

Massey sent Studio Lounge to the losers bracket of the tournament with a six-run victory earlier in the tournament, 22-16. Studio earned another chance at the championship title by defeating Hide Away from Westland, 14-10.

Other tournament victories for Massey included an opening game romp against Northville's Long & Zayti, 15-9, and a last minute win over hart Precision Products from Livonia, 13-12. Massey then defeated Burghuff Bar, 9-4 to face Studio Lounge the first time.

Against hart Precision Products Massey came on strong in the seventh inning to score seven runs after being behind, 12-6.

Before losing to Massey the first time around, Studio Lounge defeated Fitzpatrick Insurance, 18-3; Hoffbrow Lounge, 18-3, and the Village Blues, 10-9.

After the good turnout of this year's tournament, Seven-Up plans to make the Tournament of Champions an annual event giving Plymouth Massey a chance next year to defend its title.

OPPORTUNITY INCONVENIENCE

Once you list your home with a Realtor, it's up to him to find a buyer fast. Normally, he'll arrange appointments to view the home which are convenient to both parties. That's always nice.

Sometimes, however, prospects are on tight schedules, requiring your Realtor to make last-minute appointments. Don't get annoyed. I'd like to have a dollar for every sale consummated on a last-minute appointment. Believe me, these are the best ones. Why?

Often, prospects who are transferring into your area, are on short househunting visits. They don't have the luxury of time on their side. And they want and need a house now - not in a year. The busy prospect is also more apt to make an immediate offer to buy than one who has all the time in the world. So, if you really want to sell your house in a hurry, treat the last minute appointment as an opportunity - not an inconvenience.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455-8400. We're here to help!

Skate boards put wear on sneakers

As any youth I have heard the familiar saying, "Why don't you get rid of those God awful tennis shoes?" Like any child the reluctance to throw away a good pair of tennis shoes is evident everytime those few words are spoken.

In my possession I have two pairs of tennis shoes, both of which have seen better days. There are basically two different purposes to wearing tennis shoes, the first being for cutting the grass or doing lawn work in and the second is for wearing with blue jeans. What else?

Now both of these pairs of shoes are not in the best of condition but they're comfortable. After all, isn't that what counts? I don't know a single person that enjoys wearing shoes that hurt ones feet.

The pair that sees most of the lawn work and cutting of the grass is a pair of Adidas Roms that are nearing their fourth birthday. Still in basically good condition, I can't imagine my dear mother wanting me to throw them away. I don't find anything wrong with a little air conditioning for my toes.

My so called "dress tennis shoes" are a pair of Nikes that are just starting to wear out at the toes and along the insides of the shoe. They still have plenty of miles left and it won't be until at least the fall that they're replaced.

What brings up all this talk about rotten tennis shoes is the amount of grungy sneakers in the Plymouth-Canton area. Being fortunate enough to get a close look at some of the most pathetic looking sneakers in the area at the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Rotten Sneakers Contest Friday made me realize that wearing out sneakers is truly an art.

The judges, Gene Smith, playground supervisor for Canton Township, Township Clerk John Flodin, and I, were called upon to choose the worst looking sneakers in the Plymouth-Canton Community.

Out of a possible 30 points, contestants searching for the title of "Rotten Sneakers of the Year" were judged on the appearance of different parts of their shoes including the sole, eyelets, tongue, toe, heel and overall condition. One point was given if the specific part of the shoe was in excellent condition and five points were awarded if the part was in horrible condition.

A total of 48 feet were placed in front of the judges for modeling (that comes to a total of 24 contestants). For a little over an hour Smith, Flodin and I examined some pretty bad-looking shoes but we finally came up with some winners.

First place honors were given to Duan Carpenter and Jim Steed, second place was given to Jimmy Barr and John Mitchell placed third.

The two first-place winners received gift certificates for a new pair of shoes donated by Canton Sporting Goods and Racquets Unlimited in Livonia and a trophy resembling a rotten sneaker. Second and third place finishers received medals and all four of the winners were given a can of foot powder.

Carpenter, a 12-year-old student at Eriksson School contributed his beat up sneakers to an active life on the playground including baseball, dodgeball, kickball and skate boarding. Steed is a Salem High School junior and agreed that skate boarding takes a lot out of a pair of shoes.

Jimmy Barr and five-year-old Mitchell contributed the bad looks to just playing around with the other kids.

Ranging from five year olds to, let's say, over 30 the contest was a definite success. Some suggestions for next year's contest might be that shoe laces be included in the judging and the contest be broken down to under 16-year-old and 17 and over.

Some shoes that I recognized as pretty worn out belonged to Sue Rekuc, who had put those raunchy looking high-tops through four years of girls basketball for Canton High School; Pam Schipani, who was back to walking on her feet instead of on the soles of her shoes probably because of hours of hard work put in on the Canton tennis courts; and Bob Richardson, who could use a new pair of shoes without any explanation given.

During the course of the coming year when you're about to throw away that favorite pair of worn out sneakers wait until after you've competed in the second annual "Rotten Sneakers Contest." Who knows, you might walk away with a new pair. Although after seeing this year's entries I think I'd better keep on wearing mine to wear them out some more. They wouldn't have come close to the looks of the winning shoes.

5 YEAR OLD Brian Mitchell had to be placed on the judges table to provide a better look at his rotten sneakers. Brian has had his sneakers for two years and said they got so torn up by just "playing around". Mitchell placed third in the first annual "Rotten Sneakers Contest" sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

Reed hits homer for Dodger win

It took a home run in the 10th inning by Eddie Reed for the Dodgers to down a tough Pilot team in Plymouth Canton Junior Baseball "B" League (PCJBL) action Wednesday night, 1-0.

The victory put the Dodgers in first place of the National League West division over the second-place Pilots.

Strong fielding by both teams along with consistent pitching from the Pilot's Doug Stepp and the Dodgers' Jim Kliniski prevented any early scoring. Dodger catcher Chris Michalek threw six base runners out while attempting to steal.

Corsi's takes modified softball title

The Corsi's softball team had little trouble capturing a Plymouth Modified Softball Tournament title July 22.

Corsi's opened its winning trend with a victory over Mason Lounge, 9-5, and then moved on to smother Bee Jay's by five runs, 9-4. The undefeated team then beat Morrell Builders by a slim two-run margin, 7-5.

Morrell was knocked into the losers bracket but would eventually meet the soon-to-be tournament champion in the finals after making mincemeat out of the Masons, 11-1.

The Masons earned a chance at Morrell by defeating Baskim Ratliff, 9-4. Still in the losers bracket, Mason Builders beat Bee

Jays, 8-5, to advance against Baskim Ratliff.

During the final action of the tournament Morrell Builders enjoyed a short one-run lead after the first inning before being forced into a catch up situation. Corsi's Bob Duman crossed the plate for one run in the first inning after getting on base because of a Morrell error at shortstop.

Morrell came up with two runs in the first inning from Charlie Johnson and Brian Boegler but it wasn't enough to secure the lead. Corsi's came on strong in the second inning with five runs to take over a commanding lead.

Three singles and two walks sent the Corsi runs in. Bill Lawson, designated hitter Dick Colomina, Tom See, Bob Lawson and Bob See were the five base runners to cross the plate for the Corsi win.

Morrell made efforts to catch up in the third and seventh inning but found the Corsi defense to strong to let two more runs cross home plate. Johnson added two more runs to the Morrell total, one in the second and one in the seventh and Steve Karas added a run in the third inning.

Jerry Staszal was the winning pitcher after giving up seven hits and five walks. Taking the loss for Morrell was Al White who gave up five hits and three walks in the seven innings on the mound.

Rain or shine, soccer clinic is a hit

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: August 1, 1979

Sudden downpours at the beginning of the week didn't dampen the spirits of 180 soccer enthusiasts participating in the Detroit Express soccer clinic at East Middle School during this week.

Sponsored by the Detroit Express soccer team and the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department, 15 Express team members are teaching the fundamentals of professional soccer to area soccer players between the ages of 8 and 18.

Basic skills such as trapping, heading, shooting, dribbling, passing and tackling are part of the week's program. Participants also receive instruction in one-hour game situations.

Groups are broken down for instruction by age group according to a Detroit express official. Six teams were formed of 10-year-olds and under, four teams of 11-12 year-olds and three teams of 13-year-olds and over were made.

Other locations that have held clinics include Bloomfield Hills Andover, Cranbrook and the Southfield Civic Center. The 180 participants from this area is considered a good turnout in comparison to the other three locations.

Each participant received his or her own Dr. Pepper T-shirt as well as an official soccer ball that Express players offer to autograph.

The clinic runs from 2-5 p.m. until Friday. Participants also receive tickets to tonight's Detroit Express game at the Pontiac Silverdome.

EXPRESS FORWARD ROBERTA Oliveira watches area soccer players make use of the tips he's given them on basic shooting technique.

Horton earns tennis titles

Kathy Horton, 17, captured titles in two tennis tournaments recently in girl's single action.

Horton defeated Carol Berry last week in the Dearborn Jr. Open, 6-0, 6-0. In the East Detroit Jr. Open held last weekend Horton upset top-seeded Karen Milczarski to win the girls 18 year old division, 6-3, 6-4.

Horton will be a senior at Salem High School this fall and has played on the Rocks' girls tennis team the past three years.

Canton football prospects can get physicals tomorrow

Physical examinations for prospective Canton High School football players will be held tomorrow (Thursday), Aug. 2 at the Garden City Professional Clinic located at 30730 Ford Rd.

Starting at 6 p.m. the physicals will be held for all grid prospects including freshman, junior varsity and varsity players. Physical forms may be picked up from Orlean Baker in the Canton High School general office during the day.

Running from Aug. 6 through the 9 the Canton football program will hold its "speed week" from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Canton High School. The purpose of speed week is to get in shape and workout for the start of the regular football season.

Double practice sessions will start Aug. 13 from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Practices using full equipment will start the following week and run from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A Red and White scrimmage will be held on Friday, Aug. 24 starting at 8 p.m. at the Centennial Park stadium.

KEITH ROSPOND tries the art of heading after being instructed by members of the Detroit Express soccer team.

DAN VAUGHN, a forward for the Detroit Express soccer team, works with a group of kids at East Middle School in the Detroit Express soccer clinic which runs all this week.

Gilles sisters earn national ranking

BY PATTY RADZIK

Worn suitcases lay open in the living room floor, bound for an airplane ride as soon as they are shut. That, and the welcome echoes throughout the house of tennis balls popping off rackets on the Central Middle School courts next door, provide proof enough of how life for the Gilles family has changed.

Responsibility for the switch in lifestyle is accredited to Wendy, 11, and Chris, 12.

Approximately five years ago the girls stepped foot on the neighboring tennis facilities accompanied by their mother, Candy, and began hitting, just for fun and to pass the time of day. But when daughters began beating Mom, the molehill became a mountain.

Entries into local tournaments were the first step but were then followed by rankings in the United States Tennis Association (U.S.T.A.). Most recently the girls have been traveling out-of-state more and more to compete in National tournaments, explaining the suitcases.

Last weekend the two sisters flew to Syracuse, N.Y. to battle in the National Clay Court Championships. The week before that Chris went to California to compete in the National Hard Court Championships. Next week it's off to West Palm Beach, Florida where the girls will play in the U.S.T.A. Championships.

Sounds like a lot of fun, traveling from here to there. But actually it takes a lot of hard work to have your name placed on a tournament draw sheet.

Three hours of practice a day, seven days for Chris and six for Wendy, has enabled the girls to fill a shelf of trophies.

ALTHOUGH WENDY Gilles, 11, doesn't like to play with sister Chris, she has made a name for herself in the junior tennis world just as her older sister. How could the two go wrong, living right next door to the Central Middle School tennis courts? (Crier photo by Patty Radzik.)

Chris recently won the Girls 14 titles in the Louisville Invitational, Grand Prix Open in Cleveland and the Monroe Junior Open; finalist spots in the Queen City Tournament of Champions in Cincinnati, the South Eastern Michigan Championships and a quarterfinalist position in a Columbus, Ohio event.

Wendy, playing Girls 10's, has gained recent titles in the Cranbrook Open in Bloomfield Hills and the Macomb County Junior Open.

Winning is just one of the advantages of the tennis circuit. But the girls also like going to different places and meeting new people. Pancakes for breakfast on the day of a tournament isn't bad either.

Unfortunately, it has its disadvantages too. Once Wendy had to play a match at midnight, and it went three sets.

"The stress on the parent's is hard," said Candy Gilles, the girls' mother. "It's hard to watch them struggle through a match they should be winning."

"There is so much pressure in junior tennis," she continued. "Sometimes we think, is it all worth it? Is what we go through worth it? If I had known we would of gotten involved like this when I started the girls playing, I wouldn't have done it."

Thoughts of turning professional haven't entered the girls' minds. What they are aiming for right now is the possibility of getting scholarships to play college tennis.

Chris and Wendy look small and innocent enough away from the drop shots and forehands, but on court they play with all the power of veterans. Most of their net partners are older kids, high school age particularly. Chris even hits with men now.

Although the girls dislike playing together (they fight sisterly love), they do have some things in common. Both like the color blue. Both have the same pro at the Chippewa Racquet Club in Ann Arbor, Ken Corbett. Both love pizza and ice cream, and both voted for Bjorn Borg and Chris Evert as their favorite athletes.

Life certainly has changed for the Gilles'. It's all tennis now. Even though dad Brian coaches baseball at Salem High School and plays softball, Wendy and Chris take no particular interest in any other sport but tennis. When asked to go to a ball game, the two youngsters reply "Are there any courts there?"

Let's Talk Real Estate

 by Barbara M. Olson
 There are several considerations that should be made in computing the real cost of home ownership. A conscientious broker will assist in considering such fixed expenses as mortgage, insurance payments, taxes, and cost of utilities. But, another expense important to plan for involves the house itself. If the house is not air-conditioned, for example, and the family decides this is important, it will mean an expense. An extra telephone will show up as an extra charge on bill-paying day. Deciding to add to or change the landscaping may also involve extra costs. List desired changes and improvements, and their probable cost. Then figure them in to the cost of home ownership.
 If your main goal is to make a wise and informed decision on a particular piece of real estate, then you need REALTY-WORLD-COLONIAL VILLAGE INC., 42142 Ford Rd., Canton, 455-7790. Our experience, knowledge and desire to aid in the compilation and analysis of information and figures pertinent to your investigation provides you with all the ingredients you need for a successful transaction. Come on by today and let's talk real estate. Open: Mon.-Sat. 9-9, Sun. 10-6.
