City eyes lease - sale of Wiedman Lot

Lorenz revives hotel expansion

BY BILL DIESENROTH
& W. EDWARD WENDOVER

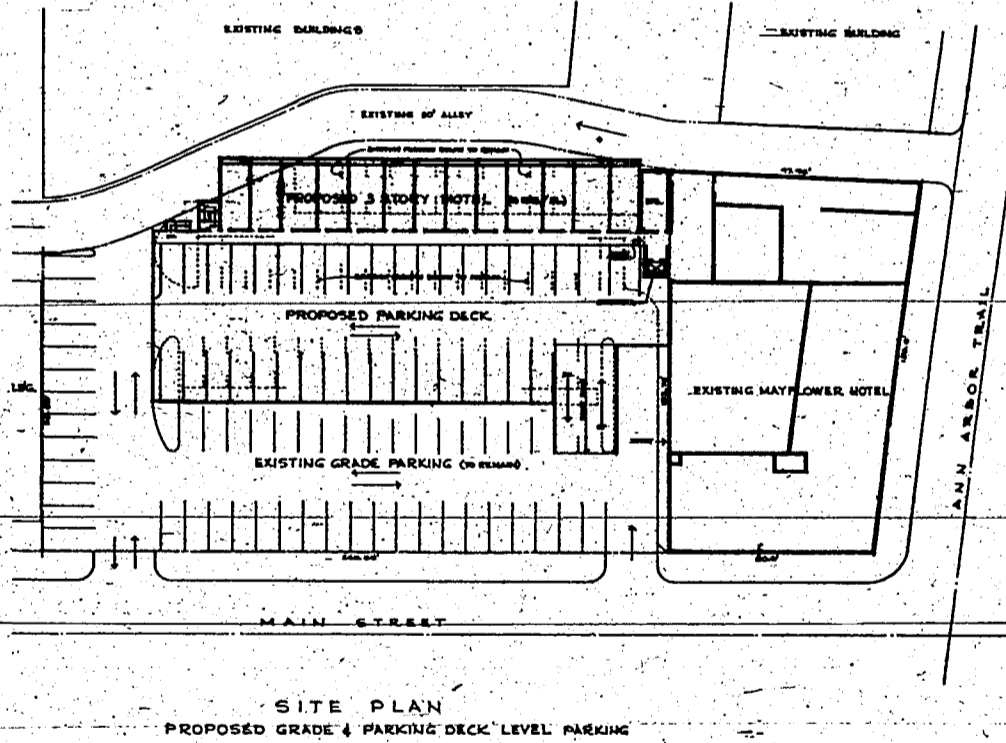

The Wiedman Parking Lot is proposed to be the site of a parking deck and three-story addition to the Mayflower Hotel under a lease-purchase plan for the lot and low-interest bonding.

Financing for the $2 million project would be obtained from the city's Economic Development Corporation (EDC) which unanimously approved a resolution of inducement for the venture Thursday night.

A similar hotel addition was proposed a year and a half ago by Ralph Lorenz, owner of the Mayflower, but was scrapped when the city commission and administration felt there were legal problems in bonding a parking lot addition and then leasing air rights exclusively to the hotel.

Under the newly-proposed plan, which will need city commission approval, the Wiedman Lot would be leased to the EDC for 20 years with the right for Lorenz to build on the parking deck. Lease payments would be based on the average monthly parking fees collected in the lot over the last three Plymouth-Canton voters will decide whether to realign grades in the school district on Thursday, March 27.

If Propositions I and II are approved, grades will not be realigned. However, if Proposition I passes but Proposition II meets defeat, the grades will be changed to a K-6, 7-9, and 10-12 structure.

Tom Yack, president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, made these projections at Monday night's meeting during which the board unanimously approved the formal wording of the three propositions on the ballot.

In addition, the board also set the election date for Thursday, March 27.

Two bonding propositions and a half-mill maintenance proposition will be on the ballot.

Proposition I, for $14,623,000, is primarily for building improvements and installing energy-management systems throughout the district. Passage of Proposition I "is absolutely essential," according to the school board.

Proposition II, for $7,277,000, is for building additional space at the Centennial Educational Park and refurbishing and remodeling Central Middle School as a high school.

Proposition III asks voters to approve a half-mill increase for 10 years for an ongoing maintenance program in the school district.

Furthermore, the board said if none of the propositions pass, "we'll be back in June (for another vote)."

School officials have estimated the cost of each proposal to the taxpayer. For example, if the market value of your home is $70,000 (assessed at $35,000), Proposition I would cost an additional $67.90, Proposition II would cost $36.05, and Proposition III would cost $17.50 during the first year of the bond. If all three propositions were approved, the taxpayer with an $70,000 home would pay an additional $116.55 in school taxes during the first year of the bond.

These costs are estimated because the actual rate of increase will depend on the state equalized valuation for the 1980-81 school year, which is not known yet, said Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business in the district.

Furthermore, Hoedel said that the cost of the bonds will decrease each year after the first year. For example, if Proposition I

Will Ford Road become commercial strip?

BY CHAS CHILD

Will Ford Road in Canton become a commercial strip? Or should township planners try to break up the strip with a residential island between Morton-Taylor and Lilley?

Homeowners in the area urged the Planning Commission Thursday to retain the Sheldon-Lilley stretch for single-family homes, which would break up the strip. While owners of the Ford frontage said their land should be rezoned to permit businesses.

The discussion came at a public hearing on the township's proposed zoning ordinance, which will guide land use throughout Canton.

Besides the fate of Ford Road, Cantonites also argued the future of the township's farmland preservation program. A number of farmers on the western half of the township said the provisions of the preservation program are unfair.

Jim Crosby, of 42722 Keystone, said the south side of Ford between Morton-Taylor and Lilley should be zoned for single-family homes. Under the proposed zoning ordinance, the land will be zoned apartments. Adding more apartments on Ford would increase traffic congestion on the street, he said.

Chili today, cash tomorrow

Why fight the wind and cold weather -- today is the perfect day to stay inside and dig through those old favorite recipes.

You too could be a winner in the Crier Cookbook contest. All you have to do is fill out the entry form, type or print your recipe on a 8 1/2 by 11 sheet of paper, and deliver it to The Crier office before noon, Friday, Feb. 15. See page 14 for details.

Then when you're notified that you are one of the finalists, you simply bring your entry to the final judging on Saturday, Feb. 23. Then, with just a little luck, you could walk off with the $50 Grand Prize certificate or one of many cash or gift prizes. What have you got to lose -- other than $50!

"We don't want apartments up and down Ford," added Pauline Nowak, of 1824 Ranier. "We want a mixture (of uses). We have enough apartments."

A lawyer for the owners of the eight-acre parcel at the southeast corner of Ford and Morton-Taylor also argued against the proposed apartment zoning, but for a different reason. He argued his client's land should be commercially zoned.

"There are 33 commercial uses (businesses) on Ford between I-275 and Sheldon," said attorney Bennett Young. "There's heavy traffic on this stretch, including heavy truck traffic. The proposed multiple (apartment) zoning is unreasonable. The proper use with the increasing traffic is commercial."

Farm-funding bill killed by Congress

The U.S. House of Representatives defeated Thursday a bill that may have provided funds to preserve farmland in Canton Township.

The director of Canton's farmland preservation program, Trustee Robert Greenstein, said, "It (the defeat of the bill) was not completely unexpected, but disappointing."

Under the township's program, the federal money would have been used to pay farmers and landowners for the "development rights" of their land. With the rights to development the land in the township's hands, it would be preserved for agriculture.

The cost of buying the development rights of about 5,000 acres of agricultural land in western Canton was estimated at about $16 million in 1978.

In the general election of that year, township voters defeated a four-mill request that would have raised the $16 million. After the defeat, Greenstein supported federal legislation to lighten the burden on Canton taxpayers to save farmland.

With the Jeffords bill's defeat in Congress, Greenstein said he is now concentrating on acquiring funding from private sources. "I'm not at liberty to disclose who I've approached," said Greenstein. "We should know within six weeks if we're successful."

No shots, no school

Letters to 542 students at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) notifying them of exclusion will be distributed during the third hour of classes Thursday. Students will be told to either get their required immunizations or have their parents sign a waiver, said Patrick O'Donnell, supervisor of secondary special programs and services in the Plymouth-Canton schools.

Without immunizations or a waiver, students will be excluded from classes, said O'Donnell. The deadline for complying with the immunization requirement is Feb. 15; however, since students are off school on both Friday, Feb. 15 and Monday, Feb. 18, enforcement will start Feb. 19.

On either day (Feb. 15 or Feb. 18) students can get their immunizations from the Wayne County Health Department or their private doctors, said O'Donnell.

Schools' attorneys earn $57,000

The Plymouth-Canton schools paid more than $57,000 to Clark, Hardy, Lewis, and Fine, the firm which handles most of the district's labor negotiations, during 1979.

Throughout the negotiations with the Plymouth-Canton Education Association, two attorneys were chief spokesmen for the Board of Education. For services at the negotiating table from May to November 1979, $27,766 was paid to Clark, Hardy, Lewis, and Fine.

The same legal firm also represented the school board in contract negotiations with the Plymouth Congress of Administrators. Their fee of $2,826 covered negotiations from June to November, 1979.

Legal consultations on new contract terms and conditions, legal representation at hearings, and court appearances were handled by the same attorneys. They also dealt with the bargaining unit representation election by the cafeteria staff and arbitration questions. Charges of $18,890 covered their services.

Some legal services for general school labor matters such as injunctions and lawsuits were also handled by Clark, Hardy, Lewis, and Fine in 1979. The cost of these services was $8,165.

Twp. firefighters still lack contract

Plymouth Township firefighters and officials will meet Monday, Feb. 25 with a state mediator to hammer out the remaining issues of a new contract.

Firefighters have been working under a contract extension since their old one expired March 31, 1979.

According to Chuck VanVleck, president of Local 1496, three issues remain to be settled: professional qualifications for firefighters with Emergency Medical Training (EMT); trading of time during shifts; and minimum manpower, particularly at Fire Station No. 2 in Lake Pointe.

On the issue of EMT, VanVleck said the union offered to have nine firefighters with EMT cards. There are about 15 firefighters on the force. The township wants 80 per cent of the firefighters to have EMT cards, or about 12 firefighters, said VanVleck.

According to Supervisor Tom Notebaert, the township wants "an adequate number of firefighters trained in medical assistance and the board wants firefighters to keep their training up-to-date."

VanVleck said the union is insistent on the minimum-manpower issue. In 1979, Station No. 2 had one man on duty for 158

Joyner ends news career

Bill Joyner, the Plymouth-Canton Community's county commissioner, ended a brief flirtation with the newspaper business last week.

After originally announcing his intention to become managing editor of the Wayne-based Eagle newspaper chain, Joyner decided not to take the job.

"He had planned to hold both the managing editorship and his seat on the county commission.

"I had thought it would be logical extension of my public service," said Joyner. "But I've decided I still have to fight the good fight in the commission."

Canton's dep. treasurer quits over inefficiencies

BY CHAS CHILD

Canton's deputy treasurer, Maria Falkiewicz, resigned last Tuesday in protest over what she says are inefficient operations of the treasurer's department.

"Things just weren't getting done," she said. "Maybe my resignation will open some eyes."

Paid for only part-time work ($7,020 per year) Falkiewicz said she found herself working 40 hours and more per week simply to keep abreast of the job.

"We were way behind on everything, and everywhere I looked I found problems. For example, we weren't even using purchase orders," she said.

"It finally came to a head. I couldn't come up with anything that was politically OK," she said. Not only is the staffing level in the treasurer's department too low, she said, but the general operations inefficient, and communications are poor.

She added, however, that she was glad that the Board of Trustees hired a full-time accountant last Tuesday to help.

What needs to be done? First, said Falkiewicz, the township needs a full-time treasurer. The job, now held by Jim Donahue, is a part-time, elected position. A part-time treasurer "just can't get into all the things that need to be done," she said.

Falkiewicz was appointed to her post after losing to Donahue in the 1978 Democratic primary for the treasurer's job.

Some observers believed that Falkiewicz was upset by a recent news story in which Donahue seemingly took most of the credit for earning $887,618.29 in interest from investing township funds.

Falkiewicz, who spent hours investing the money, said the story "didn't help the situation. At last Tuesday's board meeting, however, Donahue credited his deputy with the investments.

Asked if she plans to run for Treasurer in the 1980 general election, Falkiewicz said, "I'm not sure. I'd love to find someone who could become a very strong leader. If not, I feel I can't let all this go."

Students attend religion classes on school time

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

A Canton minister is planning to take advantage of a little-known section of the Michigan State Education code, updated in 1976, which says students can be exempted from classes for two hours a week for receiving religious instruction.

M. Gregory Gentry, pastor of the Canton Calvary Assembly of God, is setting up religious classes for about a dozen students enrolled in the Centennial Educational Park. They will go to classes starting, today, Feb. 13, during fifth and sixth hours at the CEP. On Wednesday, Feb. 20, students will miss first and second hours of classes and the program will continue to rotate hours each Wednesday.

Bill Brown, principal at Salem high School said: "We'll abide by the state law (in allowing these students to attend religious classes on school time.)"

He added, however, that students will be expected to maintain a satisfactory academic performance at school and they will also be expected to attend religious classes when they are scheduled. Brown said that the church and school have worked on an attendance plan for students who enroll in religious classes.

Religious classes are designed to reach young people through the Gospel, said Gentry. He described his church as "middle of the road among evangelists."

Students who attend the religious classes must have their parents' permission to miss school, he added. "The burden's on the parents to send them," Gentry said, "but we do want to take advantage of the state code."

Gentry described the reaction of school administrators to his plan as "good." It's the responsibility of principals to watch out for the students' academic progress, he said. "But the three Rs don't always provide satisfactory answers for everything."

The general focus of the classes will be a survey of the Bible, discussion, and teaching the principles of interpreting written documents.

During teen years, students are asking questions, Gentry explained. "We're going to point to the New Testament and find answers for those questions. We believe the Bible is relevant."

Also, Gentry said the religious classes would show a film series (from the Moody Institute of Science) on various subjects. Also featured will be guest speakers.

"We want to bring Christ to young people and help them establish a peer group of their own," he added.

The state code, while exempting students from classes for two hours each week, also says that classes are to be held off public school property. To fulfill that requirement, Gentry said the classes will be held at the Canton Calvary Assembly of God Church on Sheldon Road. The church will bus the students there from the CEP and then drop them off again when classes are finished, said Gentry.

In addition to Gentry, Gordon J. Mesic, minister of youth and music, will assist in teaching the classes. He will also set up an attendance plan for students, said Gentry.

Twp.-City study joint services

Plymouth Township trustees pledged last Tuesday night to study combining services with the City of Plymouth under the state's Open Meetings Act.

The resolution says study groups, appointed by Supervisor Tom Notebaert and approved by the trustees, will follow the law of the act, as well as "strengthen and enhance the intent and spirit of the act." It received unanimous support.

The motion was made by Trustee Lee Fidge and supported by Barbara Lynch.

Fidge's resolution was made in reaction to a proposal from Notebaert two weeks ago outlining procedures for negotiations. It called for appointing a small study group that did not have to hold open meetings because there wouldn't be a quorum of trustees at the meetings.

Notebaert and City Manager Henry Graper have met to discuss combining such services as rescue, police, storm water management, library, and recreation programs.

Chase ends in ditch

A 17-year-old Roseville man was arrested Thursday morning after leading Canton police on a high-speed chase through the township.

Brian Nylund, of Roseville, was charged with reckless driving and driving with a suspended license, after he lost control of his vehicle on Michigan Avenue, police said.

The chase started at 10:15 a.m. Thursday when Canton officer John MacDiarmid, in an unmarked police car, spotted Nylund apparently traveling at high speed westbound on Cherry Hill Road, said police.

MacDiarmid gave chase, and followed Nylund through the Cherry Hill-Lilley-Palmer roads area, including some subdivision streets, said the report.

Finally, after reaching speeds of up to 80 miles per hour, Nylund's car veered into a ditch off Michigan Avenue near Lilley and turned on its side, said police. Nylund was not injured, said police.

During the chase, a Canton police car was involved in a minor accident, police said, but no one was injured.

Super Sewer construction could begin in August

Plans to design western Wayne County's "Super Sewer" were approved by the state Department of Natural Resources last week, bringing a step closer increased capacity for growth in the Plymouth-Canton Community.

Super Sewer, nearing construction after more than 20 years of discussion and planning, is tentatively planned to run from Joy Road (the boundary between Plymouth and Canton townships) south to the Huron River, and along the river to Lake Erie.

The project may be enlarged to include Plymouth Township and communities north to Commerce Township in Oakland County, however.

"If the first phase of the planning process shows that these communities need increased capacity, then the sewer will be extended north," said Royce Smith, of the Wayne County Board of Public Works, which will build the sewer.

The design plans approved by the DNR now await an OK from the federal Environmental Protection Agency office in Chicago, said Smith. "I expect their approval by the end of this month," he said.

He added that the BPW should know in about one year whether super sewer will be extended to the northern tier of communities, including Plymouth Township.

The northern tier will still get increased capacity even if it doesn't receive super sewer, said Smith. Canton Township's and Van Buren Township's capacity in the present Rouge River system will be transferred to these communities when super sewer is built, he said.

"If all goes according to schedule, construction could begin by August, 1981, and it could be completed by August of 1985," Smith said.

Former mayor, industrialist dies

FRANK HENDERSON

Frank E. Henderson, 83, former mayor of Plymouth and a leading businessman in the community for more than 50 years, died Feb. 9, in Ann Arbor.

Mr. Henderson co-founded the Plymouth Plating Works at Farmer and Amelia in 1923. He was mayor of Plymouth in 1948, and a member of the Plymouth Rotary Club since 1945.

Funeral services are scheduled for today, Feb. 13, at the Schrader Funeral Home, 2 p.m., with the Rev. Fr. Robert S. Shank, Jr. officiating.

He is survived by his wife, Alyce Ferne Murray, and several nieces and nephews.

A life-long resident of the Plymouth community, Mr. Henderson learned the metal plating business while he worked as a laborer at the old Millard company on Amelia, a maker of bugles and trumpets, said Perry Richwine.

In 1923, he founded with Henry and Gerald Hondorp the Plymouth Plating Works, from which he retired in 1973.

Mr. Henderson was a member of the Salvation Army of Plymouth and was chairman of its board for several years until 1968. He was also instrumental in the establishment of the present Salvation Army Citadel in Plymouth.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, Plymouth Rock No. 47 F. and A.M., for more than 50 years, and a member of the Plymouth Rotary Club since 1945. He served as past Rotary president, past district governor, district No. 640, from 1957 through 1958.

Mr. Henderson was also a member of the Plymouth Millard Band of many years ago. And he served as grand chancellor for the State of Michigan, from 1953 through 1954, of the Knights of Pythias, of which he was a member.

"He was one of those fellows who was into everything," said Richwine.

Memorial contributions may be sent to his church, St. John's Episcopal Church, the Salvation Army, or the Rotary Foundation.

What is in a name? Foul name praised by union

A Plymouth-Canton bus driver who called an administrator an obscene name was commended for "her recent meritorious action and glorious verbal contribution to the fine art of labor relations" by the executive board of the teachers' union.

Alice Horstead, a bus driver and chairperson of the bus drivers' union, was given a one-day suspension after she called Walt Bartnick, a school assistant for labor relations, an obscene name several weeks ago.

On Jan. 22, the executive board of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association (PCEA) unanimously passed a resolution commending Horstead for her action.

The resolution read in part: "... only on very rare occasions in the generally frustrating endeavor of contract negotiations does an opportunity present itself for total self-expression and honest evaluations of the process and the people involved in it.

"We feel that Mrs. Horstead has established a marvelously appropriate and effective standard against which we can all measure our efforts and commitments in future dealings with this district's labor overloads and their minions. Keep up the good work, Mrs. Horstead; you have heartened us all."

The PCEA executive board is made up of representatives of each school in the district. About 60 teachers attended the January board meeting, said John Ryder, PCEA president.

In addition, the executive board also approved voluntary contributions be collected from teachers to help offset the loss of pay. Ryder said that he didn't know how much money has been collected yet from teachers.

"It (the resolution) was serious, but a little tongue-in-cheek, too," he commented.

Horstead said the name-calling incident was not prompted by labor negotiations. The bus drivers have been working under a contract extension since their old one expired last summer. The incident was over an unrelated topic, said Horstead.

She also added that she hasn't received any monetary compensation for her one-day suspension. "I've heard about the voluntary contributions, but I haven't gotten any money yet," she said.

Cafeteria workers get raise

Plymouth-Canton cafeteria workers will get a 25 per cent salary increase over the next three years under a new contract agreement ratified by the Board of Education Monday night.

The union ratified the agreement last week.

In addition, workers will begin getting dental benefits starting April 1. Under their old contract, which expired last summer, the workers didn't have a dental program.

The new contract, for the 1979-80, 1980-81, and 1981-82 school years, will be retroactive to the expiration date of their old contract. The agreement calls for nine, eight, and eight per cent increases.

Dear Editor:

Just a note to relate our experiences at the Canton Burger King with The Crier. Having opened our doors in November, we searched for an avenue to become close to our community. After trying a few out, including the Observer, we discovered The Crier through Tina Jones whose son just happens to work at our restaurant. During the month of December and January, we advertised twice with excellent results. After careful evaluation, the response from The Crier was much greater than that of the Observer which had 4 times the distribution. We are very happy to become involved with a paper of the quality The Crier offers. Thanks to Tina and The Crier.

Sincerely,

Unified court planned

BY CHAS CHILD

Members of a committee charged with planning a unified court house for the 35th District Court report progress in their initial discussions.

Representatives from all five municipalities in the 35th District, Canton, Plymouth, and Northville townships, and the cities of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, have met twice to study building a single courthouse to replace the current three.

Canton Township, and the cities of Plymouth and Northville all have courthouses.

"We've agreed in principle on the merit of a court under one roof," said Canton Clerk John Flodin. "There will be less staff, less equipment, and less driving time, say, for the police."

One possible stumbling block has emerged, however: where to put the single courthouse. Both Canton and City of Plymouth want the building.

"It would be easier to operate in the city," said Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper. "The jurors have to eat, for example. The site Canton proposes is a little isolated."

Canton officials tentatively proposed to offer township's land on Haggerty Road, south of Joy, as the building's site.

As for financing the project, Graper said there are a couple of possibilities. "We may seek federal LPW (Local Public Works) grants or arrange private financing through our EDC (Economic Development Corporation)."

An EDC can provide low-cost financing to private investors, through the sale of low interest, tax-free municipal bonds.

Canton and City of Plymouth officials will submit site proposals to the committee next Wednesday at Canton Township Hall.

Although the committee may recommend its preference for a site, 35th District Court judges James Garber and Dunbar Davis will decide the question, said Graper.

WSDP to celebrate

On Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, WSDP will be celebrating its eighth year of broadcasting. WSDP has been serving the community since 1972. The radio station is operated by more than 70 high school students enrolled at the Centennial Educational park.

The Canton basketball team will face Farmington on Friday, at 8 p.m. Be sure to keep your dial at FM 88 for all the live action coverage of the Chiefs and Rocks.

Auto burns

THIS AUTO burst on fire Friday after a collision on Ford Road, one-half mile east of Beck. The driver of the charred car, however, escaped injury. According to police, an auto driven by Jimmy Deaton, of Saltz Road in Canton, struck the car in the photos, which hit a third car, waiting to make a left turn into a private drive. The gas tank of the auto above, ruptured and the gasoline ignited, said police. Deaton, who was taken to Wayne County General Hospital, was charged with failure to stop, police said. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Schools don't bargain in good faith

EDITOR:

As the husband of a secretary employed by the Plymouth-Canton Community School District for the last two and one-half years, I feel that the time has come for the general public to be made aware of some of the facts in the current negotiations between the school system and the secretarial association.

I would hope that by letting the public know the circumstances of this situation they may put some pressure on the school board to settle the outstanding contracts in this district, since it is rapidly becoming apparent that the Plymouth-Canton Community School District is not bargaining in good faith and has no intention of doing so in the near future.

Not only as the husband of a secretary employed by the district, but, more importantly, as a tax-paying citizen, I find it appalling that the administration of our school system and the elected-school board members show so little concern for their employees welfare.

The average hourly rate of the secretarial staff in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District is $5.20 per hour. There are some making much less than this and some making more than this. However, $5.20 is the average salary and they have not been given a raise since July 1, 1978.

In the Detroit area during the period July 1, through Dec. 31, 1978, the cost of living rose by 3.67 per cent. During the period Jan. 1 through Dec. 31, 1979, the cost of living increased another 15 per cent. Thus, since July 1, 1978 (the date of the last increment raise of the secretarial staff) the cost of consumer goods have risen by 18.67 per cent. These figures were furnished by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and, obviously, salaries have not kept pace.

The secretarial association bargaining team has been trying to negotiate a contract with the school district since April, 1979. The contract expired on June 30, 1979.

Since that time, the secretaries have been working on a contract extension that only they seem to be required to honor. They were due an increment raise on July 1, 1979 which they have not received, yet that same contract promised this to them. Administration says that they will receive it retroactively when the contract is settled. If it is paid to them retroactively as in past contract years they will not receive any interest on monies that rightfully belong to them under the provisions of the old contract.

I think it is safe to assume that in the meantime the school district is investing these monies and collecting interest on it. During this same period of time, the secretaries are not only not being paid salaries they rightfully have coming to them, they are also losing interest on monies that they could be banking in their own savings accounts.

I would like to question why, if the school district does not want to pay the secretarial staff the increment they were due on July 1, 1979 until after the new contract negotiations are settled, these monies are not being put into an escrow account and the interest upon that account, along with the retroactive salaries, divided amongst the secretarial staff proportionately when the new contract is settled. This seems like the only fair way to handle this matter.

I also find it interesting that the administrators and executive secretaries, who earn much higher salaries to being with, were granted salary increases some time ago by the board of Education.

If the board members feel that an assistant superintendent cannot adequately live on less than $43,000 per year (and there are three of these positions in the school system) how can they expect the secretarial staff (many of whom are the sole support of families) to manage on $10,000 or less per year? There seems to be a vast inequity in their thinking.

I would like to suggest that in the future the administrative staff of this school district should not be allowed to receive salary increases until all contracts have been settled. This might create a little more interest on their part to see that these matters are taken care of in a reasonable length of time.

I would also like to suggest that the general public get in touch with school board members (who they elected to represent them) and urge them to get actively involved with the administrative staff and see that all the outstanding contracts in this district are settled. These contracts are no closer to being settled now than they were ten months ago and this should be an embarrassment to a community with the income level that this community has.

LESTER W. WALKER

Thanks, folks

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps had a very successful year in 1979. This was due, in part, to the help we received from different people and organizations in the Plymouth community.

The Corps would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped. We are looking forward to the same success in 1980.

Roll up your sleeves...

Now is the time for the Fall Festival grumblers to come forward and roll up their sleeves.

The gloom-and-doom crowd that complained too late before last year's fest to accomplish anything constructive and who haven't really offered much positive input since then have safely retreated to grouching amongst themselves.

Praise is due to the Festival Board and the Eisenlord Committee for investigating ways to improve the festival. Assuming that the ideas raised in that process bear fruit, the 1980 festival will be a great one.

What better theme could the festival use this year than the 25th anniversary? A giant '50s party with windows, costumes, and entertainment to match can fete the fest's birth and even please the "things aren't like they used to be" grumblers.

But such a theme can't be implemented in the last three weeks before the event it will take getting started now, not just complaining.

community opinions

Way's got courage under fire

Each year, local assessors must face the rock-and-a-hard-place reality of determining property values.

In these times of inflation, it always means that the price of real estate is going up, and, in turn, this means the county's raise their SEV factors for local communities.

Sometimes, when there is a large disparity between the different types of property (residential, commercial and industrial) valuations, the SEV factor is hiked a disproportionate amount.

Such was the case recently in the City of Plymouth. To turn the tide against the planned whopping SEV increase, Assessor Ken Way bit the bullet and reassessed residential property in the city.

The move certainly isn't a popular one, and in addition to raising his own home's assessment, cuts into the other city taxpayers (and voters) as well.

But in these times of lessened credibility of politicians and people in government, Way's courage under fire is a credit. His move is the fair way to handle it.

The Plymouth City Commission gave its constituents a mistaken impression that they have a voice in the matter when it added the matter to the commission agenda.

According to the city charter, the duty of assessing falls outside the jurisdiction of the city commission -- as it should.

Way was patient with commissioners and taxpayers alike in explaining the residential reassessment. The move was the only fair way to approach the proposed SEV factor because in essence, it means that each type of property bears its full and fair load of taxes. (Commissioner Mark Wehmeyer has a point that there are flaws in the assessing process, but it is doubtful he'd sell his home if offered twice its new assessed valuation.)

One comment the long-time city workhorse, Way, made in explaining his reassessment deserves particular credit:

"We should do what's right whether somebody's watching us or not."

That attitude is certainly welcome in government and typical of Way's years of service to Plymouth. It's a credit to the city that such a civil servant exists.

Schools face tough decisions in 1980s

(Editor's note: John M. Hoben, superintendent of the Plymouth-Canton schools, recently issued an outlook for the district as it enters in the 1980s. Here is his statement in full.)

The major challenge facing the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools in the decade ahead is finding a way to handle growth. With the unsettled economic picture and rising energy costs, accurate projections for the next decade are difficult. In light of declining enrollment in our surrounding communities, we are cautious in planning.

We expect to avoid over-building by using alternatives. We can use year-round school, rental of buildings from our neighbors, and shifting of grades to accommodate students in available space. Renovation of existing buildings and purchase of portable classrooms are necessary to maintain a reasonable class size and quality program.

Another challenge is associated with financing schools in the 1980s. Most people feel there will be changes in financing public education, providing some relief to the property tax. The current state aid package with Senator Faxon's weighted membership formula may, indeed, be the new approach to financing public schools in the State of Michigan.

Our immediate challenge for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is to maintain and improve the quality of our teaching of basic skills. Special Education programs must continue to meet the needs of handicapped youngsters.

On the national scene, you will see greater use of microcomputers will offer dramatic new possibilities for information and problem-solving for all students. We have already started pilot programs here for microcomputers in elementary and high school.

A continued emphasis upon educational accountability will prevail in the decade of the 1980s. It will be prompted by greater community involvement as to the product that is being dispensed by public school education.

With respect to financing, the continued escalation of energy costs, the effects of inflation, the rising cost of labor, and the cost of doing business will continue to be the major concerns for balancing the budget of the school district.

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have been on a three-year strategic planning program, which has reduced crisis management of the district. We believe long-range planning has created better relationships between the school board and management, has been cost-effective, and has given direction to our future.

Particular emphasis in the 80s must be given to intergovernmental cooperation in both planning and operations. We want to work with city and townships, as well as other school districts. The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and the Livonia schools already have joint warehouse operations, and we have agreed with Livonia about rental of their buildings needed for our growing student population.

We will continue to strive in the 80s for greater emphasis on community relations. Community Education will involve more programs for senior citizens and early school leavers. Parents and the general public need to be informed about schools and have many opportunities to make their voices heard.

Voters must feel confident that they are getting their dollar's worth so they will continue to provide the support this community has given to schools for many years.

We look forward with great anticipation to the challenges of the 80s and solicit your cooperation in meeting them to benefit children and the entire community.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

The Community Crier welcomes letters to the editor. To insure space for as many opinions as possible, we ask that they be to the point and concise. Letters must be signed, although we will withhold names upon request.

Work together on unified court

A committee of officials from all municipalities in the 35th District Court area are working on plans to build a single court house for the district. It's an excellent idea. A unified court would decrease staffing costs, and improve efficiency.

One thing may stand in the way of getting the project off the ground, however: getting the committee to agree on a site for the building.

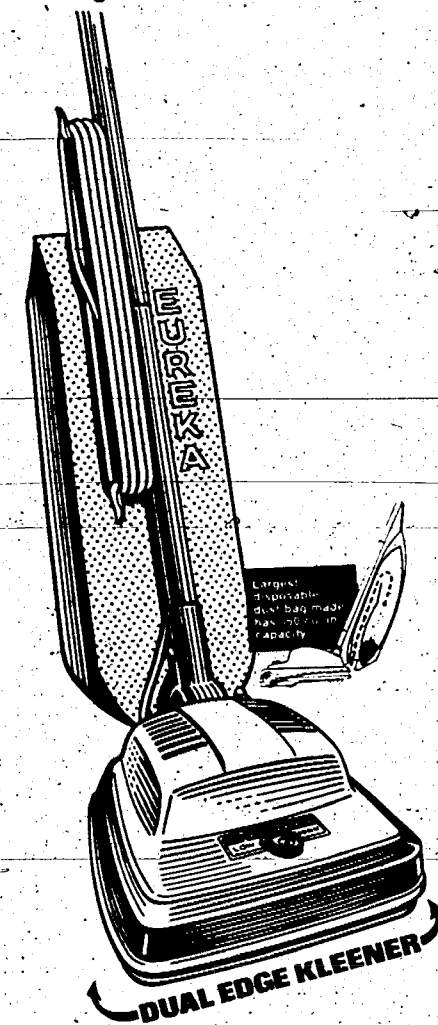

Canton officials apparently want it in their township, while the City of Plymouth is trying to persuade the committee to keep it in the city.

We hope that the communities' parochialism doesn't sink an excellent prospect for intergovernmental cooperation. A compromise should be worked out for the best interest of the taxpayers of the community.

Work together folks. A creative solution to cut government's cost shouldn't be lost.

Magic comes alive in 'Jack and the Beanstalk'

A magic beanstalk, a hen that lays golden eggs, and a magical harp will help create the story of "Jack and the Beanstalk" at Salem High School on Feb. 22, 23, and 24. The show is presented by the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Curtain times for the shows at Salem Auditorium are: 7 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 22; 10 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 23; and 1 and 3 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 24. All children from the Plymouth-Canton area are invited to attend the show.

Tickets will be on sale in all Plymouth-Canton elementary schools today (Feb. 13) and tomorrow (Feb. 14) and will also be available at Del's Shoes beginning Feb. 16. Ticket price is $1.

Taking the stage during the show will be Jan McClure as Jack, Esther Nelson and Mary Thomas as Milky White, Elizabeth O'Mara as Jack's Mother, Cathy Fifo as the Old Man, Amy Raffel as the fairy, Sherry Brown as the Giant's wife, Sharon Belobraidich as the giant, Bev Brooks as Henrietta Hon, Linda Anderson as Elsador Harp, Edna Fleming as Thomas, Holly Hanert as the Fruit vender, Jan Carson as the flower girl, Sylvia Rozian as the wood seller, and Judy Smith as the baker.

This year's production marks the 20th annual AAUW play. The group's first play, "Snow White and Rose Red," was presented in 1961 and it was staged with the help of a $25 loan, the players' imaginations, and a lot of hard work, said Bobbi Abbott, and AAUW member.

The original production was very simple, with the members of AAUW writing the script, making the sets and costumes, and playing the parts, said Abbott.

This year's play has drawn the support of more than 250 AAUW members, from helping to design and paint the sets to ushers to playing the roles in "Jack and the Beanstalk," said Abbott.

To reach a wider audience, members of the cast have taken the play on tour to Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Livonia, and Hastings during past year. The plays have been geared to youngsters from three to nine years old.

As an outgrowth of the play, AAUW members do a workshop on theatrical make-up for third graders in various schools before the play. The workshop show children how characters can be created and changed through the use of make-up, said Abbott.

friends & neighbors

Working behind the scene on the production of "Jack and the Beanstalk" are: Donna Rennolds as the director, Ruth McNamara as the business manager, Diane Coleman and Pat Wise as ticket-sellers, Coralyn Riley in Livonia publicity, Maureen Chaimberlain from Northville, Mable Partain in poster design, Nancy Patera in poster coloring, Prudy Westerhold and Cathy Harold in poster distribution, Judy Shepherd as the house manager, Liz Gribble as the benefit chairman, Jane Emery in props, Marilyn Carl in scenery design, Mimi Settles in scenery construction, Esther Nelson in costumes, Carol Ploger in flyers and program design, Marilyn Thams in making the usher badges, Bonnie Graham as the prompter, and Judy Kammeraad and Mary Uhl in make-up.

Fee, fi, fo, fum!

BIGGER THAN LIFE is the giant in "Jack and the Beanstalk" as portrayed by Sharon Belobraidich. Tickets are on sale for next weekend's performances of the play at Plymouth-Canton schools. They cost $1 each. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

Plymouthites head south

Some Plymouthites have found their way to sunny Florida to while away the winter dreariness. They'll be gathering at Highlands Hammock State Park, off U.S. 27, near Sebring, Fla. on Tuesday, March 4 at 1 p.m. for a picnic lunch.

"We have sent more than 100 invitations to those we have addresses for and wonder if any more friends are planning to be in Florida in March. If so, they're welcome to stop and have lunch with us and visit friends, some of whom they may not have seen for some time," writes Harold Shirey, president of the group. The event is informally dubbed "Plymouth Michigan Sunshine Club Annual Picnic."

Furthermore, he adds that a large building is available in case of rain and motels are nearby for those on the road.

If you'd like to camp in the park, you can make reservations by calling 813-385-0011.

The group, which has been meeting since 1958, gathers in Florida on the first Tuesday in March and in Plymouth during the summer.

tell it to Phyllis

When a child asks for clothes for a gift you'd better find the thermometer and try to discover what rare disease he is suffering from, especially if the kid happens to be a 10-year-old boy, who usually can care less what he looks like. Once you know he isn't running a fever and doesn't seem to have any physical ill effects, you can decide whether to spend the money for a doctors visit and some tests, or consider spending the money for whatever this thing is the kid wants.

When we've gone shopping in the past he has asked for certain things, like a Michigan State sweatshirt or some special tennis shoes, but never before has he asked for anything but games and toys when it came time for Christmas or a birthday.

After recovering from my state of shock, he explained what was so important to him. "I want a pair of Levi's," said a familiar voice.

Oh no, not the Levi's nightmare again (I've been through it once with the kid's older sister). I will never be able to understand what is so important about that darn Levi's tag on the back pocket of a pair of jeans. It completely unnerves me to have to pay more money for a pair of jeans that are "guaranteed to fade with each washing."

After much indecision, I broke down and bought the Levi's, thinking maybe he would at least take care of this pair of jeans:

My vision of the kid neatly hanging up his new jeans was shattered the first day he wore them to school. He came home with a hole in the knee of his brand new Levi's.

"What do you think I am made of money that you can go out and fall down and wreck a new pair of Levi's the first time you wear them?"

Upon regaining my temper, I got one of those iron on denim patches. It's not my fault no one sells patches that are guaranteed to fade. Besides, if a kid is embarrassed to wear a new pair of jeans and can hardly wait for them to fade, what difference is one little patch going to make?

I sometimes wonder why mothers have such funny ideas about how their kids should dress. I'm sure we weren't that bad when we were their age, but don't ask a kid's grandma -- she's sure to tell you we were worse.

Students at the Plymouth Christian Academy who received all "A's" on their report card are: Cindy Allen, Tonya Becker, Elaine Belz, Sandy Belz, John Bigelow, Heather Calvin, Kristen Coker, Cassie Cummins, Lynette Carmer, Michael Jones, Susan Knight, Cliff Lambert, Stacie Litz, Leanne Mangan, Kris Mavin, Billy Miller, David Nixon, Renee Pennington, Janet Priebe, Billy Printy, Alicia Rowe, Nina Smith, Susan Smith, Elizabeth Strapac, Shirley Strapac, and Susan Wheeler.

Two men from Canton were winners in Michigan Lottery's "Triple Seven" instant game. Oliver Meadows and Adolph Schmidt each won $7,000.

JoAnn Szilagyi, a Hotel and Restaurant Administration student at Michigan State University, will participate in a 50-hour dance marathon on Feb. 15, 16, and 17.

This dance marathon is a traditional event, sponsored by the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity to benefit the Michigan Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. JoAnn, a 1977 Salem graduate, is planning on dancing the entire 50 hours. If you are interested in sponsoring her, make your check payable to M.S. - Dance for Strength and send to The Crier, 1226 S. Main St. in Plymouth. Contributions may be for a lump sum or as a pledge of a certain amount per hour that she dances.

Register your tots for kindergarten

Miller Elementary School, 43721 Hanford Rd., Canton, will have kindergarten registration for the 1980-81 school year on Tuesday, Feb. 19, from 9-11 a.m. and 1-3 p.m.

Any child who will be five years old on or before Dec. 1, 1980 is eligible to attend the 1980-81 kindergarten. Please bring a birth certificate or baptismal record to verify birthdate.

During these same hours there will also be a registration for children who will be four years old on or before Dec. 1, 1980. This will enable Miller School staff to plan pre-school activities during the 1980-81 school.

Girl Scout cookies on sale

"Let's Cheer About Cookies" is the theme of the annual Girl Scout cookie sale. Plymouth-Canton Girl Scouts will begin taking orders for cookies March 7 and they will continue until March 25.

To kick off the sale, local Girl Scouts will gather for a cookie pep rally Feb. 16 at Salem High School at 2 p.m. At the rally, cheerleaders from Eastern Michigan University will lead the scouts in cookie cheers which were written by the scouts themselves.

The goal for the Huron Valley Girl Scouts, which includes Plymouth-Canton, is 550,000 boxes sold. Profits help pay for troop activities such as special trips, service projects, and troop equipment.

Cookie chairperson for the sale in Plymouth-Canton is Doris Rorabacher. This is her ninth year as chairperson of the sale.

Selling at $1.50 per box, the cookies can be ordered in seven varieties, Thin Mint Cookies, Sesame Wheat Crackers, Peanut Butter Sandwiches, Peanut Butter Patties, Chocolate and Vanilla Sandwich Cremes, Shortbreads, and Granola.

For each box of cookies sold, 94 cents will be contributed to the Girl Scouts, 25 cents of which will go directly to the troop which sells the box. After taking orders in March, deliveries will be made from April 14 through April 30.

A fond farewell

Born in Louisville, Ky., Lutey was interested in music. Her father was a professional musician who played with several bands, and Lutey took voice lessons and sang before her marriage.

She attended the University of Michigan, where she was an honor student, before becoming a teacher.

more space to heat -- particularly in large-group instruction classrooms and gyms, said Hoedel.

To reduce operating costs in schools, energy conservation has been stressed, said Hoedel. Thermostats are set at 68 degrees, every other light bulb has been taken out of overhead lights, and filters have been replaced in the boilers on a regular basis, he said.

Furthermore, he said energy usage has dropped in many schools compared to previous years. For example, in 1976-77, utility costs for Central Middle School were $109.49 per pupil. In 1977-78, the cost dropped to $95.60, but by 1978-79, the cost had risen to more than $139 per pupil.

About $8 million has been earmarked for energy-conservation measures in the nearly $22 million bond package which will come before the voters in March. One program whose cost is included in the package is the energy-management system which would mean temperatures throughout the district would be centrally controlled and could be set by a timer. Then the heat could be turned down at night and up about an hour before students come to school in the morning, said Hoedel.

"Such control devices would pay for themselves within a matter of years," he said, "because they would save the district money."

more efficient to close it down," he added.

After Eriksson School, a run-down of the utility costs for operating each school on a per-pupil basis shows: Gallimore, $32.68; Field, $33.43; Farrand, $35.49; Smith, $36.01; Bird, $36.78; Isbister, $41.11; Tanger, $42.24; Hulsing, $43.39; Fiegel, $45.22; Allen, $46.20; Miller, $58.51; Starkweather, $61.75; and Geer, $87.70.

Of the four middle schools, Central is the most expensive middle school to operate and West is the least expensive. At Central, utility costs are at $139.57 per pupil compared to $59.19 at West.

Why are utility costs so much higher at Central? According to Hoedel, various programs and services such as the ARA food service, the schools' warehouse, and the district's audio-visual equipment are housed at Central. Although these programs serve schools and students throughout the district, they also raise the operating cost of Central because they take up space which means added heating, water, and electrical bills, said Hoedel.

Utility costs for East Middle School are at $75.62 per pupil; at Pioneer, utility costs are at $66.37.

Of all the schools in the district, Salem and Canton high school, with utility costs at $113.88 per pupil, are the most expensive schools to operate. High schools cost more to operate because they have larger rooms with higher ceilings -- which means

Just as homeowners' utility bills have risen sharply over the past few years, the costs of operating schools in the Plymouth-Canton district have also increased.

Which school in the district is the most expensive to operate? Which school is the least expensive to operate? Why?

During the 1978-79 school year, utility costs, which are gas, water, electricity, and telephone bills, were divided by the number of students attending each school to figure out the cost per pupil for operating the school. These figures were included in the general fund operating budget for 1979-80.

According to these figures which are based on the fourth Friday student count, Eriksson School is the cheapest elementary school to operate. At Eriksson, the utility cost was $31.97 per pupil. In comparison, Geer School was the most expensive elementary school to operate at $87.70 per pupil.

Eriksson, which was built in 1976, is one of the district's newest schools along with Hulsing and Field schools, which are of a similar design. According to Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent of business in the school district, Eriksson was designed to be energy efficient.

For example, the walls were constructed first with cement, then with layers of styro-to retain heat, he said. Eriksson has twin boilers, but only operates the second boiler when the weather is extremely cold, said Hoedel. Eriksson was designed with fewer and smaller windows, too, he added.

Field and Hulsing schools, which were built at the same time as Eriksson, also have low operating costs in comparison to other schools. Field, at $33.43 per pupil, is the third least expensive school to operate and Hulsing's operational costs are at $43.39 per pupil.

One reason that Hulsing's operating costs may be higher than Eriksson and Field is that during the 1978-79 school year, Hulsing was not a year-round school which meant that fewer students were attending school there compared to Field and Eriksson, said Hoedel. Hulsing is now following year-round school calendar.

Why is Geer the most expensive elementary school to operate? Geer is nearly 100 years old and less than 50 students attend classes in the two-room schoolhouse. The school could probably use more insulation and caulking, said Hoedel, but it's cost-inefficient to put more money into it. "It's

Rocks gather

The Plymouth Rock and Mineral Society will present its fourth annual open house on Sunday, Feb. 10, at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The open house will run from noon to 5 p.m.

The members will be demonstrating cabbing, faceting, tumbling and the construction of gem trees. Many members will display their collections of rocks, fossils, minerals and gem stones.

Several local dealers will have specimens, slabs, polished stones and jewelry for sale. There will also be two silversmiths demonstrating their craft throughout the afternoon.

City wants Cultural Center in black

Several years ago, when now City Manager Henry Graper earned his living by helping governmental units apply for federal grants, he helped the City of Plymouth write grants for obtaining U.S. funding to build

Among the manager's suggestions are:

*The ceiling over the ice arena must be completely refinished, as well as all of the

How 'wood' you like $0⁰⁰ gas bills?

Village Fireplace, "The Alternate Energy Center," is your headquarters for all types of fine quality wood stoves, fireplace inserts, glass doors, furnace add-ons, and gas grills.

V.F. has two operating units in the store -- one fireplace with insert and one woodburning stove. These two units provide almost all the heat the store requires. In fact, since Labor Day, the 2,000 sq. ft. store, with two glass sides, has had gas bills totalling only $50.

Usually only one unit is required to keep the store a comfortable 70 degrees, except on the coldest days.

In addition to selling, installing, and servicing all your wood-burning needs, V.F. has fine mixed hardwood firewood available for delivery at reasonable prices.

A fireplace insert "How-To Weekend" is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 16 and 17; and an outdoor cooking "How-To" is scheduled for Saturday March 1.

Why not stop in and see how you can start saving on your heat bill?

Looking for somewhere to relax, have a beer and a bite to eat? Than Street's Pub may be just the place for you.

Owned by Jack Street and Don Perrin, the Pub is located in the rear of the Palace Restaurant on Ford Road at I-275 in Canton.

Street's Pub offers three beers on tap, a salad bar, homemade soups and bread, and popcorn at every table and booth for snacking.

If you like silk flowers, you'll love LeGault's

Karen LeGault spent most of her life sitting in front of a typewriter, but her work gave her no satisfaction. So she decided to go into business for herself.

Now she is the proud owner of two stores, the original located in the Harvard Square Shopping center in Canton and her newest shop in Plymouth.

LeGault said her business tripled in 1979, so she decided to open the Plymouth shop to provide a quiet place to discuss plans with her clients.

"You can have a lovely wedding without having it cost you an arm and a leg. We do weddings of all sizes and work within your budget," she said.

LeGault's floral arrangements are custom-made. In addition to weddings, she has decorated banks, offices and restaurants. A client can bring in samples of wallpaper and upholstery, and LeGault will design an original arrangement.

Weddings can still be booked at both locations. LeGault also offers classes at her Canton store.

"I have always strived for quality in the materials and workmanship, as well as friendly, courteous service," she said. "If you like silk flowers, you'll love LeGault's."

Taco Plaza treats you like a guest

Taco Plaza, Inc. opened its Mexican restaurant in Plymouth on Jan. 22.

This newest Taco Plaza restaurant is located at 499 N. Main St. and features a variety of Mexican foods including such standards as the taco, burrito and enchilada.

In addition, nachos and guacamole are served along with their top of the line "Grande" menu items: the Burrito Grande, Chalupa Grande and Nacho Grande.

Gary Hodge, director of operations, said that with all the basic ingredients available, Taco Plaza can prepare a customer's order to his own taste:

"If a customer wants sour cream on a taco or black olives on an enchilada, we can do that at Taco Plaza," says Hodge. "Mild or spicy chili sauce is optional on burritos. Hot sauce is available for a spicy flavor on any item. As we prepare it, our food is really quite mild with the same basic ingredients as a cheeseburger, but with Jalapeno peppers, a customer can add as much fire as he likes or none at all.

"We are assured of the highest quality and freshness since all cooking and food preparation is done from scratch in the kitchens of each Taco Plaza," Hodge reports.

The restaurant opens each day at 10 a.m. It closes at 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and at 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday.

The manager of the Plymouth Taco Plaza is Karen Covert. Karen is a lifelong resident of the Detroit area and has over five years food experience. When asked about customer reaction to Taco Plaza, she replied, "many customers have found our drive-thru service a convenient way to take food home or back to the office," says Covert.

"Others enjoy the atmosphere and Mexican music in our dining room. Either way, we strive to show our customers the same hospitality we would show a guest in our own home."

Great taste everytime.

Quality makes this chicken recipe famous

For Joe Langkabel, quality is the key to a successful business.

As owner of the Plymouth franchise for Famous Recipe Fried Chicken, Langkabel has tried to keep that theory in mind. He said he and his staff put out nothing but the best possible product -- anything not meeting these standards is discarded.

Langkabel took over the Plymouth store in January of 1977 and spent quite a bit of his own time and money remodeling. Working closely with his wife, Irene, manager Joann Langkabel, and assistant manager, Chuck Thomas, Langkabel makes certain that the tough company policies are followed.

Langkabel said chicken is the food of the future. It is economical and more beneficial to a person than beef.

Langkabel said scientist are currently perfecting the "featherless" chicken. The concept involves taking the protein that helps the feathers grow and directing it toward producing a meatier chicken. He said they have only hatched one on these birds, but is hopeful that it will hit the market sometime in the future.

Langkabel credits part of his success to his interest in the community. His franchise participates in parades and is active in high school sports.

Vandalism at CEP 'not that bad,' say principals

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Vandalism, including clogged toilets and urinals, drinking fountains torn off the walls, and broken windows, is a problem at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP), according to Kent Buikema and Bill Brown, principals at Canton and Salem high schools respectively.

They spoke to the Board of Education Monday night after the board's regular meeting. "Vandalism is not as bad as the newspaper says, but it's not as good as you or I would like it to be," said Buikema.

Students in lunchrooms, restrooms, and corridors are a particular problem. "If we could police every area, we could make a dent," said Brown, adding that the vandals make up a small percentage of the student population, perhaps two or three per cent, he estimated.

Overcrowding at the CEP has been a contributing factor, said Buikema. There's a "wider-range of students at the CEP and simply more students there," he said.

Beefing up the CEP's security patrols may be one way to combat the problem. Canton has a particular problem because it's open until 10 p.m., four nights a week for community education classes or Schoolcraft classes or extension courses from Eastern Michigan University, said Buikema.

Currently there are five security personnel at the CEP during the day, one patrolling the parking lot and two in each high school; there's one security officer at the CEP at night. "But kids know how to play the game," said Buikema.

"The CEP is a beehive activity; it's a heavily used school, and a sprawling complex. It's the frequency of use that causes the problems," he said.

Asked if vandalism was more prevalent during the day, he answered: "I can't say we're having more vandalism per student than we did last year."

Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business in the school district, estimated that vandalism costs about $35,000 to $50,000 each year.

School board members asked if toilet paper is kept in the bathrooms. "There's not a shortage of paper at the CEP, but we're at a point where we place a small amount of tissue in the restrooms five times a day rather than let vandals clog the urinals with handfuls of tissue," said Brown.

"Check before you go (to see if there's tissue there)," he advised.

Students caught while destroying school property can face suspension from school, expulsion from school, or paying the school the cost of repairing or replacing the damaged property. "Parents are liable for $1,500 worth of school property," said Superintendent John Hoben.

For example, a CEP student is currently working in the school cafeteria at minimum wage after his lunch hour to earn the $140 he owes the school for breaking a window in a fit of anger. "But the amount of administrative time taken in tracing down that case and setting it up is simply tremendous," said Buikema.

"Parents have to stop defending their children when it comes to vandalism," added a mother from the audience.

Teachers at the CEP are "not very involved in curtailing" vandalism. "A lot of people appear to have blinders," said Brown.

Not having a ratified contract yet is no excuse for not helping cut down vandalism, said board members Steve Harper and Richard Arlen.

Vandalism happens all over the state; it's not unique to this school district, said Hoben. "Perhaps activities throughout the district on Sundays should be cut off," he suggested.

days, he said. The union is asking for a minimum of two men per day at the station. Furthermore, VanVleck said in 1979 that firefighters from Station No. 1 (in Plymouth Township Hall) took 100 squad runs from the Station No. 2 area because No. 2 was staffed with one man.

There are a few other "minor disagreements, but they'll be cleaned up if we can settle these major issues," said VanVleck. Notebart said that the two teams "mostly agree" on economic issues.

Meanwhile, both the township trustees and firefighters gave unanimous support to rules and regulations which had been scheduled for arbitration Feb. 25. The board adopted the rules and regulations at its meeting Tuesday night. Firefighters also ratified them on Tuesday night.

The rules and regulations cover areas which include: outside employment, sick leave, and union activities.

2 county workers suspended

Two employes of the Wayne County Road Commission have been suspended without pay for 30 days and fined $100 each for using their time on the job and county equipment for private use.

Crier Photo Editor Robert Cameron discovered and photographed the two men removing trees and brush from private property in the city two weeks ago.

Using his photographs and statement, county investigators recommended dismissing the two men. The road commission held a hearing on the matter and decided on the suspensions plus restitution for two hours time.

THIS UNIDENTIFIED woman had to be removed from her wrecked auto Saturday through the window after Plymouth Township's automatic cutting tool, the Jaws of Life, apparently failed to operate. The accident occurred at the corner of Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon. Also, a Plymouth police car was involved in a minor accident responding to the accident. No further details were available yesterday from the Plymouth Township Fire Department or the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, which handled the accident. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron) years, said City Manager Henry Graper, who made the proposal to the EDC for the Lorenz family.

After the 20 year lease, which could be extended in 10 year intervals, the hotel could purchase the lot from the city for $125,000 plus paying off $96,000 in encumbrances, Graper said. Over 20 years this could produce $361,000 to $391,000 for the city, said the manager.

The hotel expansion proposal has three parts:

- First is the hotel addition of 40 rooms over the parking deck and lot which would remove two to four existing spaces, said Lorenz.

- Secondly, a 15-room addition over the C.L. Finlan building, now owned by Lorenz, would be built.

- The third part of the project, according to Lorenz and Graper, is a covered walkway spanning Main Street diagonally to connect the Mayflower Meeting House and the hotel.

City Commission approval of the project will be needed for adding two more members to the EDC (expected to be done at the Tuesday's commission meeting), setting a lease-purchase agreement on the parking lot, and allowing the Main Street walkway.

Graper said the city's attorney and bonding counsel have approved the concept of the Lorenz proposal.

Tax abatement, which also would require city commission approval, has not as yet been requested for the proposal, but, Graper said, "that's something yet to be dealt with." The manager said the Lorenz family would have up to one year to apply for abatement once the project is built.

The proposal is actually in the names of Lorenz's sons, Scott and Randy. Eventually the hotel will be put entirely in their names, Lorenz said.

Further approval in the bonding process is required for the EDC, which only last week had its bylaws approved by the city commission. This is the first project considered by the state-authorized bonding arm for developing commercial and industrial uses in a city or township.

Chamber to change by-laws

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce luncheon on Tuesday, Feb. 19, a general membership meeting in order to vote on proposed by-law changes. After the business portion of this meeting is concluded the guest speaker will be Henry Graper, Plymouth's new city manager. The meeting will be held at the Hillside Inn in the Jacob Room at noon. The cost per person is $6.50.

passes, the projected debt levy for the first year of the bond is 5.66 mills; it goes down more than one-half mill to 5.14 mills during the 1981-82 school year, based on Hoedel's estimates.

By the 1983-84 school year, the debt retirement levy would go down to 3.81 mills, which is slightly more than the 3.72 debt levied this year, said Hoedel. This estimate is based on passage of Proposition I only, he said.

If both propositions I and II pass, the debt levy for the first year of the bond would be at 6.55 mills, an increase of 2.8 mills over the 1979-80 debt levy, he said. Each succeeding year the debt levy would decrease so that in 1985-86 the debt levy would be 3.91 mills which is slightly more than the 3.72 mills levied this year, said Hoedel.

Because Proposition III is an earmarked millage, it is not included in the debt levy, said Hoedel.

The bulk of the bond money in Proposition I is for renovating Central Middle School and installing energy maintenance systems in all schools. The cost of renovating Central is $6,063,000 and those costs include: repairing and replacing roofs; installing an elevator; replacing mechanical and electrical systems to meet state codes; renovating and refurbishing some classrooms; providing additional parking and improving drainage on lots; resurfacing the tennis courts; and, restoring or replacing the plumbing system to meet code requirements.

Also included in Proposition I are funds for Lowell Junior High School in Livonia. About $100,000 will be used for purchasing furniture, equipment, and books. The costs of renting Lowell from Livonia will be paid for from the general operating budget since state law prevents schools from using bond money to rent classrooms from other districts.

Farmers protest zoning

The proposed creation of a 5,000-acre farmland-preservation district in the western half of Canton drew the most criticism from citizens.

To ensure farming in the district, the zoning ordinance would restrict the size of home lots in the district to a minimum of 40 acres. Existing lots of less than 40 acres, however, will be permitted to have a homesite.

Farmer Duane Bordine said this would be unfair. "If my mother, who is 78 years old, wanted to sell out, she couldn't just sell off a few acres because her lot is less than 40 acres. She'd have to sell her whole piece, which is a heck of a way to treat our old people."

The zoning ordinance also designates thousands of acres in western Canton as "agricultural residential." In these areas, homes can be built on lots no larger than five acres.

Harold Fischer, a land developer, said the five-acre minimum is "one of the greatest injustices that could be done to a group of people."

"You're taking the (development) potential away. The landowners have paid very high taxes all these years. Are you going to refund this money?"

"Agriculture is no longer a viable industry in Wayne County and specifically, Canton Township," he added.

In other matters, Al DiManno, co-owner of the Burger King restaurant on Ford Road said Canton's sign ordinance is too restrictive. He said he had a 25-square-foot sign, the maximum the law permits, that is "small and lifeless. Our sign is like a penny in an ocean."

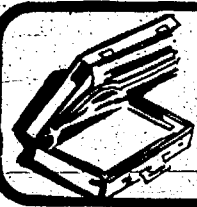

"We're proud of our building and we'd like it to be properly designated."

Also, the Planning Commission proposes to rezone the northeast corner of Palmer and Sheldon for single-family homes. The Board of Trustees late last year approved site-plans for a bank and a shopping center on the corner.

If the corner's developer, Robert Acchione, starts construction of the projects before the board of trustees approves the zoning ordinance, he can retain his commercial zoning, said Canton Planning Director Jim Kosteva.

Acchione's projects will be halted, however, if the board of trustees approves the rezoning before he starts construction, said Kosteva.

"We are in a zoning horse race," said the planner.

Rock cagers clip Franklin

BY KEN VOYLES

Five badly needed rebounds and four points each from seniors Rob Neu and Howard Monk in the overtime period Tuesday gave Salem a 73-69 overtime victory over non-league foe Livonia Franklin.

Monk scored 28 points while Neu added 18 for the Rocks. Scott Bublin had 10 and Mike McBride, six.

Salem started fast in the first quarter, but Monk was injured with 2:46 left in the period and Franklin closed the score to 14-13.

Franklin a team of outside shooters, and the Rocks, a team of inside shooters, traded baskets through the swift second quarter.

With the game tied 22-22, Monk came back in. While he was out, the rest of the team played admirably.

Monk came back indeed scoring Salem's final eight points of the half. Salem led 32-26.

The third quarter was a shooters quarter. Salem held the edge however, with 17 points to Franklin's 16 and led 49-42 at the end of the period.

Franklin would not quit through the fourth quarter and finally tied the game 65-65 with 19 seconds left to play.

Salem got two more chances to score but the shots missed.

"I think it was a nice victory and I think this team is starting to play like a team," said Thomann.

Chief cagers cow Churchill

BY MIKE HENSHAW

Canton got rolling in the second half after a sluggish start last night to post a 65-56 non-league victory over Dearborn.

Dearborn built up a 7-2 advantage early in the first quarter and, playing without two starters, used a slow down tactic against the Chiefs.

The tactic was effective in stifling the Canton offense and at the end of the eight minutes it was 15-12, Dearborn.

The Chiefs worked the ball much better in the second quarter and got the lead back by the intermission, 28-26.

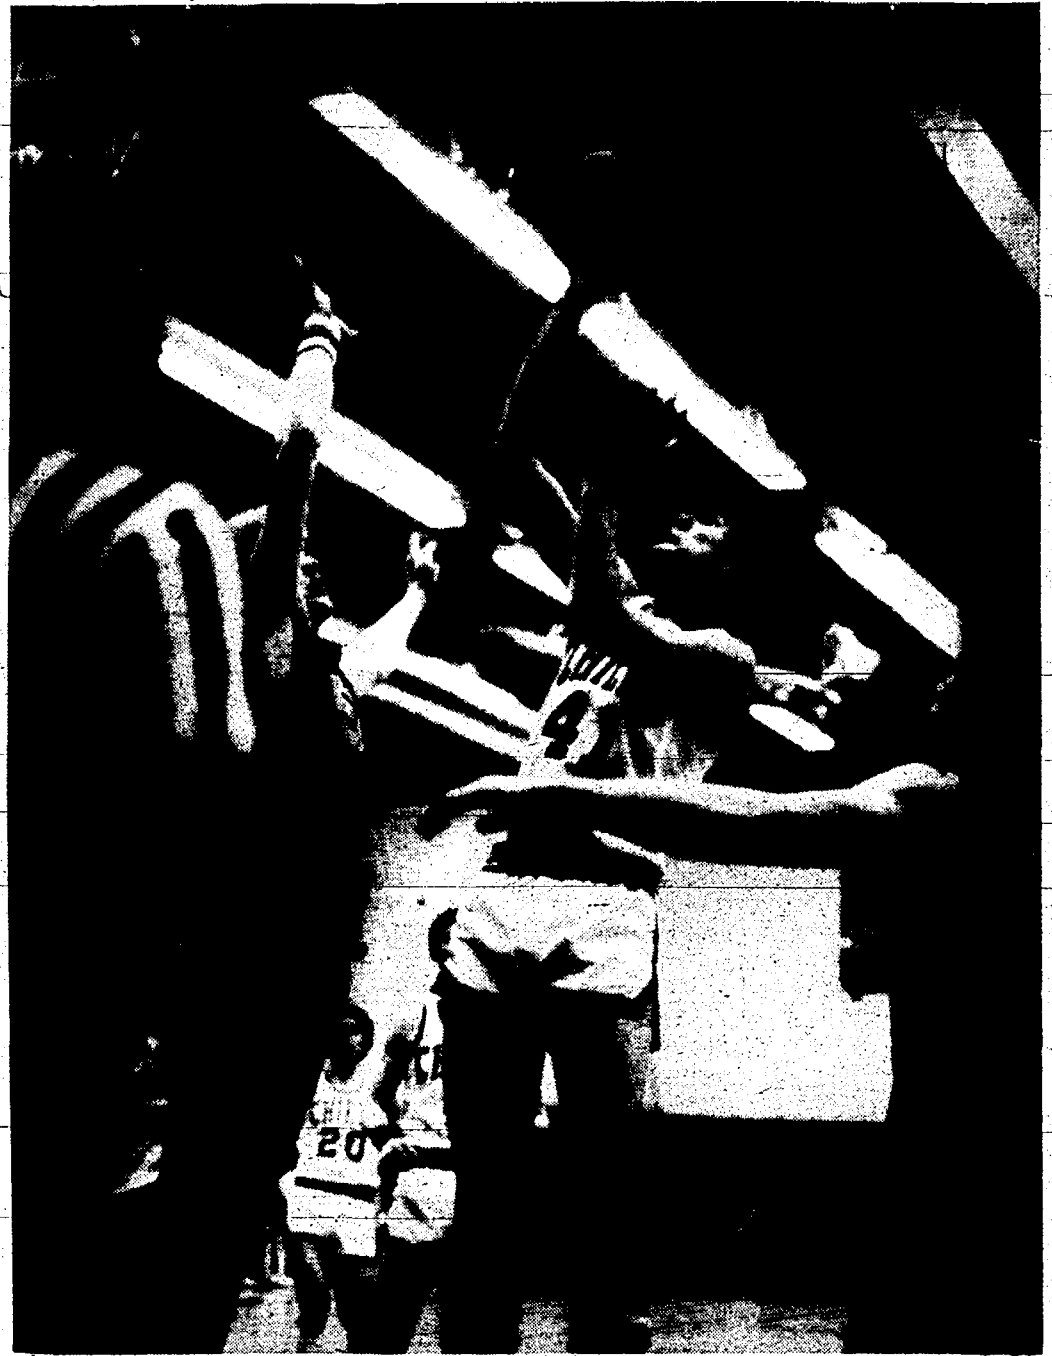

Canton built up a 36-28 lead but the Pioneers rallied back with eight straight points.

The Chiefs countered with six straight points themselves, and Dearborn could get no closer than three points the rest of the night.

The score at the end of the third quarter was 44-39, Canton.

In the final stanza, with the Chiefs leading 57-52, co-captains Scott Adler and Dave Visser connected on eight straight free throws down the stretch to secure the win.

"They dictated the tempo of the game -- slowed it down a little," said Canton coach Craig Bell. "It took us a while but we were able to solve their full court press and win."

Tighten up Western Six race Chief cagers whip Mott

BY MIKE HENSHAW

Western Six League-leading Waterford Mott ran into a fired-up Canton basketball team Friday night, and the Chiefs forced the Corsairs to begin looking over their shoulders the rest of the season with an easy 73-56 win.

Mott is now 6-1 in the league, while Canton stands at 5-2. Of each team's remaining three league games, the Chiefs would appear to have the easier schedule. Canton hosts Harrison and Churchill, tied for third with 4-3 records, and travels to Walled Lake Western, in last place in the league with an 0-7 mark.

Mott on the other hand has to travel to Harrison and Churchill.

"The schedule is definitely in our favor," said Canton coach Craig Bell. "We'll have to win our final three games, and then sit back and see what happens to Mott on the road."

Against Mott Friday night the Chiefs looked like an entirely different team than that which lost to the Corsairs 61-55 in overtime Jan. 4. Canton's defense was relentless all night, as Mott's leading scorer, Tom Schaeffer, who scored 22 points in the two teams' first encounter, was held to but nine points by Canton co-captain Dave Visser, playing center for the Chiefs for the second game in a row.

"Dave did a fine job on Schaeffer," said Bell. "He has been impressive at the pivot, defending the opposition's top scorer (last Tuesday Stevenson's Dave Hall was held to 13 points, 11 below his average, by Visser). Dave also had his finest game offensively for us."

Visser lead the Chiefs in scoring with 24 points, including eight in the first quarter as Canton raced to a 19-11 advantage.

The Chiefs pulled away for good in the second quarter, again led by the hot shooting of the 6-5 Visser, who fired home 12 more points for an impressive 20 point total at the half. In all, the Chiefs outscored the Corsairs 25-16 in the quarter for a 44-27 half-time lead.

"We had a nice flow on offense," said Bell, who has to be pleased with the performance of his team of late, having gone undefeated in its last four games including road wins over Stevenson and Northville. "Our guards worked the ball into the basket well and we also shot well from the outside."

The Chiefs continued to pour it on in the third quarter, holding the Corsairs to seven points in the eight minutes while scoring 12 to pull to a 56-34 margin. Scott Adler, who scored 14 points for the Chiefs, netted six of them in the quarter.

Canton pulled to a 68-42 lead in the fourth quarter, and both Bell and Mott coach Ray Robinson emptied their benches.

Robinson was impressed with Canton, but still feels his team will be able to hang on and win the league championship.

you can't take anything away from Canton. They came at us with a tough defense and simply overpowered us. We'll have to regroup and come back strong our last three games. I'm confident we can do it," he said.

Mott was lead by Keith Hart with 14 points. Dave Miller added eight points to the Corsairs total.

In addition to Visser and Adlers combined 38 points, the Chiefs got 10 from Dave Malek and eight from Sean Houle. Brad Westin added six points for the Chiefs, 9-6 on the year going into last night's game against Dearborn.

"The total team defense was the key," said Bell. "Our team defense over the last four games has been super."

The Canton junior varsity also had a big night, as they avenged a 75-60 loss to the Corsairs with a 64-51 victory. Billy Hanis powered the Chief attack with 17 points while Steve Tuttle contributed 15. Matt Thomas and Tom Harris added 10 points each.

"We played by far our best game of the year," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. "We played a zone defense against them this time and totally shut down their fast break. It's a super win for us."

The JV Chiefs, 4-3 in the league, are also in second place, one game behind Farmington Harrison (5-2).

They will have a chance to tie for first Friday when the Hawks come to the Canton gymnasium, beginning at 6:15, immediately followed by the varsity contest.

Canton gymnasts slip past Wayne

BY MIKE HENSHAW

The Canton gymnastics team avenged an earlier loss to Wayne and also beat Dearborn in a tri-meet last Wednesday to raise its record to 5-3 on the season. The Chiefs tallied a 86.2 composite score, with Wayne coming in second at 85.6 and Dearborn registering 72.25.

Wayne's Natalie Kozorosky won each of the four events but Canton dominated the second, third, and fourth places for the team victory.

Laura Michalik came in second in the vaulting (7.95) event, third in floor exercising (7.95), fourth on the balance beam (7.00), and fifth on the uneven parallel bars (6.55) to come in second overall with a 29.45 score.

Laurie Beale came in third overall for Canton, compiling a 29.25 score by placing second in floor exercising (8.55), third on the bars (6.75), fourth in vaulting (7.10), and fifth on the beam (6.85).

Kati Heaton came in fourth overall for the Chiefs, at 27.50. Heaton tied for second on the beam with Wayne's Kathy Fontaine (7.05), placed third in vaulting (7.40), fourth in floor exercise (7.85), and tied for eighth on the bars (5.20), with teammate Sheryl Korsnes.

Canton swimmers defeat Northville

Canton's Swimming team defeated Northville last week, 53-30 in a Western Six League meet.

Paul Peterson won both 100-yard butterfly, 54.42 seconds, and the 100-yard breaststroke, 1:03:18, for Canton.

Bob Simrak was first in the 500-yard freestyle, 5:24.2; Ron Hurley was first in the 200-yard individual medley, 2:11.4; Pete Stein was first in the 100-yard freestyle, 52.3 seconds; and Keith Greenleaf was first in the 200-yard freestyle, 1:57.7.

Jeff Seippel, Hurley, Peterson and Mike Sherwood combined to win the 200-yard medley relay with a time of 1:47.

Finally, the quartet of Ryan Smith, Dave Smith, Troy Haarala and Keith Greenleaf clocked 3:33.3 for first in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

FHA IS NOT THE LENDER

Counter to what you might think, the Federal Housing Administration does not actually lend you any money on the FHA mortgage loan. It only insures the loan, and only if it conforms to certain government rules and regulations.

So, you don't start with FHA. You start with the private lending institution from which you want to borrow money. You tell them how much you need, and show them the contract for the home you want to buy, providing you have already signed it. They will arrange to inspect the property and have it appraised by FHA.

Usually, the interest rate on FHA loans is a little lower than conventional loans, and the down payment required is traditionally low. Another advantage is that the term of the loan can be stretched up to 30 to 35 years.

Because of these lower rate equivalents over conventional loans, the lender will normally charge an extra service charge called "points" (paid by the seller) to make the loan more competitive.

Monday night sports results

The Salem volleyball squad came through with a victory Monday night knocking off Suburban Eight League foe Belleville at Belleville.

The Rocks won in three games 15-1, 11-15 and 15-7.

"Belleville couldn't serve in that first game and we had excellent offense," said Salem coach Cathy Himes. "Carol Ross had two aces and Mary Van Dusen scored seven serves.

"In the second game Linda Lybarger had three aces, while Cheryl Sobkow was just excellent in the third game."

Wrestlers win Sub 8 title

THE COMMUNITY CRIER, February 13, 1980

The Salem wrestling squad finished its outstanding year with a second-place finish at the Suburban Eight League meet and a first-place in the overall conference standings for the league title.

The Rocks had defeated Trenton 24-23 the day before the league contest and were not quite up for the league battle.

"We were peaking for Trenton. When we won it was hard for us to get up for the league meet," said Salem coach Ron Krueger. "Some of our kids did outstanding jobs to keep us in the Trenton meet."

At the league struggle the Rocks finished second behind Belleville. Trenton was third. Belleville tallied 183½ points and Salem had 180 points.

"We kept working on Trenton at the league. We knew as long as we finished ahead of them we would win the league title," Krueger said. "We were rooting for Belleville all day and they slipped by us in the end."

Salem took 12 wrestlers to the meet and came across with 12 finishes at third or better.

Greg Gattoni was third in the heavyweight class, while Jeff Vojeck was also third in the 98-pound division.

Jim Schultz won the 108-pound class and Jeff Dunson was second at 112 pounds.

Jeff Brown grabbed first place at 119 pounds and Mark Ross was second at 126 pounds.

Steve Szilagyi and Jeff Powers each won their individual weight classes. Szilagyi captured the 167-pound class and Powers took the 185-pound division.

At 130 pounds, Jerry Valchine was second for Salem while Rob Price and Scott Piper each turned in third-place efforts for the Rocks. Price wrestled at 145 pounds and Piper at 158 pounds.

Stan Snider was second at 189 pounds for the Rocks.

"Now we are just going to try and win the districts," said Krueger.

The districts are at Ann Arbor Huron this Saturday. The entire Salem team will enter the event but only the top four finishers in each weight class will make the regionals.

Salem finished the year with 13 dual wins without a defeat and seven tournament firsts.

Spikers defeated in league bout

Salem's volleyball squad dropped a Suburban Eight League volleyball match last week to opponent Dearborn. The Pioneers defeated the Rocks in two games, 15-12 and 15-7.

"The kids played excellent volleyball. We changed our offense from a 6-2 to a 5-1 and it seems to be helping as does the experience," said Salem coach Cathy Himes.

"We were playing real, real well in the second game although we were down 6-0 at one point," said Himes.

In that second game, the Rocks were called for being out of rotation and lost three points to Dearborn.

"Sandy Fausett played an outstanding game for us," Himes said. The Rocks are now 4-5 overall.

Adult basketball league results

In the City of Plymouth Adult Basketball League action, The Arsenal once again dominated in their game against Sonny's Metro Sports.

Rick Neu with 19 points and Mark Falvo with 17 points lead the way to McAllister's victory over Rusty Nail #2 by a score of 74 to 65. The winless Rusty Nail #2 lead by 4 points at halftime in what could have been the upset of the week.

In other action this week the Plymouth 76ers defeated Speedy Printing by a 69 to 40 margin. Mark Lisowski scored 19 points and Ray Mandle chipped in 10 points for the victors.

Behind the hot shooting of Ron Bawulski (24 points) and Tony Kaseta (12 points) the Arsenal went on to victory by a score of 82 to 63 over Sonny's Metro Sports. The 22 point spark of Kurt Herbert for Sonny's was the high point of their game.

Basically by Ken Voyles

Well varsity basketball hopes at Salem and at Canton are on the line these next two weeks. Both Salem and Canton won their respective league titles last season and have a good chance to do so this year.

The Chiefs, in the Western Six League, are in possession of a 5-2 league mark while Waterford Mott has a 6-1 mark.

Being down by one game with three league games left is no joking matter but coach Craig Bell's squad has picked up their efforts lately and could retain their crown.

The Chiefs host Livonia Churchill and Farmington Harrison and travel to Walled Lake Western for their final league games, while Mott has to play both Harrison and Northville away.

Canton needs three wins and a Mott defeat to at least tie for the title. Churchill Harrison and Western will provide tough challenge for the Chiefs.

As for Salem they defeated their main Suburban Eight League opponent Livonia Bentley at Salem's home floor and have a good chance of beating Dearborn in their other league game left this year.

Bentley at Bentley's home floor will be tough, no doubt there, but the Rocks should come away with at least a tie for the league or an outright title. That game is set for Feb. 29 at Bentley.

Salem will also have to play Redford Union again before the end of the season. RU is a non-league squad.

Chiefs turn in best finish

BY MIKE HENSHAW

The Canton wrestling team turned in its best showing ever Saturday at the Western Six league meet, held at Walled Lake Western.

Canton came in second place with 140 points to Northville's first place total of 163½. Walled Lake Western was third with 127½ points followed by Waterford Mott (97½), Farmington Harrison (86½), and Livonia Churchill (57½).

The Chiefs put a total of seven wrestlers in the finals, but came away with only one individual league champion to fall short in their quest for a first-ever team championship. Last year Canton placed third.

Steve Hamblin, who wrestles at 148 pounds for the Chiefs, became the first Canton sophomore to win a league championship.

Hamblin pinned Waterford Mott's Dennis Herwig at the 4:51 mark and Churchill's Bob Cushing at 5:49 in his opening two matches. In the finals Hamblin quickly disposed of Northville's Steve Morgan at 1:29.

"It is just a fantastic accomplishment for Steve," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko. "He has worked very hard for us all year and has wrestled aggressively all season."

At 114 pounds, Canton's Tom Harreld lost the final match to Northville's Bill Blanchard 2-0, in overtime. Over the past two years Blanchard has beaten Harreld nine consecutive times, but this was easily the closest contest between the two.

"This should give Tommy a lot of confidence going into the districts," said Chrenko.

Tom Holloway, a sophomore, performed admirably for the Chiefs, making it to the finals before being pinned by Walled Lake's Neil Fenzel at 5:05, at 108 pounds.

Junior Dave Bennett, suffering from a separated shoulder, was still able to make it to the 141 pound final for Canton before losing 4-0 in overtime to Northville's Vilas Allen.

Seniors Paul Mooney (180 pounds), Dave Vaughan (170 pounds), and Tim Racer (135 pounds) also had to settle for second-place honors.

Mooney lost 6-2 to Harrison's Ken Kopko in the finals while Vaughan came up short against three-time league champion Angelo Buttazoni of Walled Lake, 8-4. Racer was manhandled by Harrison's Phil Palajac 17-2.

Canton sophomore Brian Lee placed third at 126 pounds and Todd Bartlett, only a freshman, put in an impressive performance for the Chiefs at 100 pounds by placing fourth. Bob Mullen (157 pounds) also came in fourth for Canton.

"I'm very happy for the team," said Chrenko. "It certainly would have been nice to be league champions, but considering how young we are I think it has been just a super season."

The Chiefs had the finest season in the school's history this year, compiling a 12-3-1 overall meet record and going 3-1-1 in the Western Six.

With eight wrestlers from the 13 weight classes coming back next year, Canton has to be considered one of the favorites for the crown.

"As exciting as this year has been for us, with a lot of underclassmen, next year should be super," said Chrenko.

Canton 4th, Salem 6th

BY KEN VOYLES

Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem both competed in the Wayne Relays last weekend and finished fourth and sixth, respectively.

The Chiefs tallied 132 points, while Salem had 94 points. Belleville captured the competition with 345 points.

Their were 14 teams at the meet broken into two divisions of seven teams each. Canton and Salem were in the upper division.

The Wayne event was not a relay competition. The events were individual championship style with four entries per team.

Also at the upper division were Livonia Bentley with 197, Livonia Stevenson with 162, Wayne Memorial with 96 and Livonia Franklin with 91.

Paul Peterson won two individual events for the Chiefs while Ron Hurley had a strong second place for Canton.

Peterson won the 100-yard butterfly with an effort of 54.94 seconds. He also won the 100-yard breaststroke with a clocking of 1:02.70.

Hurley was second in the 200-yard individual medley turning in a time of 2:10.29.

"Some of the kids did better than I thought, some didn't do as well," said Canton coach Bill Hahn. "Peterson did a good job winning two events and Hurley was a nice surprise in the individual medley."

The foursome of Peterson, Hurley, Mike Sherwood and Jeff Seippel combined to take second in the 200-yard medley relay. The team clocked 1:46.404.

Sherwood also grabbed a third place in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 23.09 seconds.

In the 400-yard freestyle relay, the team of Sherwood, Bob Simrak, Pete Stein and Hurley clocked 3:37.62 for a fourth place finish.

Sherwood was eighth in the 100-yard freestyle, 53.36 seconds; Simrak was ninth in the 500-yard freestyle, 5:13.94; Simrak was also 10th in the 200-yard freestyle, 1:58.069 and Seippel was 11th in the 100-yard breaststroke, 1:05.01 to round out Canton's finishes.

Salem on the other hand did not do as well. The Rocks were disqualified in both relay events for jumping, and they could only claim a fourth-place finish as their best effort.

Kirk Albert had the best day among the Salem swimmers. Albert was fourth in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 24 seconds and the 100-yard butterfly with an effort of 57.6 seconds.

Bruce Harwood was fourth in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:031.1, while Tim Harwood was 12th in that event with a time of 1:05.2.

In the diving competition, Joe Rudelic was fifth with 341.7 points and Joe Hudlack was sixth with 294 points.

Russ Shaffer was fifth in the 200-yard freestyle for Salem with a clocking of 1:55. He was also eighth in the 500-yard freestyle, 5:13.4.

Rock gymnasts hard pressed for victory

In the sport of gymnastics so far this year, the Salem Rocks have been quite hard pressed to win. Salem dropped two more meets last week to non-league foes.

The Rocks fell to Westland John Glenn 74.2-59.2 and also lost to Walled Lake Central, 81.35-54.83.

Against Glenn, Daryl Doumanian continued to spark the Rocks efforts. Doumanian was Salem's highest finisher in the vaulting, the uneven bars, the balance beam and the floor exercise.

In the vaulting, Cindy McSurely and Kathy Rice were also top Salem finishers, while in the uneven bars Kris Fenske and April Richeson followed Doumanian's efforts.

Donna Ankofski and Rice place high in the balance beam while Fenske and Rice also came on strong in the floor exercise.

Against Central, Doumanian topped Salem's gymnasts with high finishes in the vaulting, uneven bars and floor exercise.

Sue Nitz finished second in the balance beam for the Rocks with a 4.65 score.

"The girls keep coming along. We have a few injuries right now so we are depending on the whole squad more," said Salem coach Carol Michaels.

Wine Lines

Ahmad and Shirley Jallad

One of the first things to consider when setting up a wine cellar is how much wine is generally consumed. For example, two or three bottles of wine per week are used, and perhaps one dinner party a month is given during which three or four bottles of wine are served, approximately a dozen cases of red and white table wines a year will be needed. A good wine cellar usually contains a year's supply. For the wine drinker described above, a space four feet wide and six feet high should be sufficient. If the wines are placed in racks or bins, less space will be needed.

Whatever your rate of consumption, the CHEESE & WINE BARN, 616 Forest Ave., offers the selection of wines, beers, cheeses and other delectable to meet your needs all year round. With the CHEESE & WINE BARN just around the corner you can save yourself the cost of building a wine cellar and instead invest your savings in the enjoyable pleasures of tasting our varied selection of your favorite beverages. Open daily 10-6, Friday till 9, Tel. 453-1700.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by Barbara M. Olson

Why use a real estate firm at all? The answer is multi-faceted. A real estate expert not only has a great deal of information on the types of properties that are available, but also where and at what prices. He is also familiar with the overall housing market in general. He knows details on zoning and highway building plans. He can arrange appointments for prospective buyers, after determining exactly the type of house the buyer has in mind. This saves endless time and trouble. He can also help the buyer assess the future of neighborhoods, the value of the home as a long-range investment and the least expensive means of financing the purchase.

Just as the answer to this question is multi-faceted so is our real estate team at REALTY - WORLD-COLONIAL VILLAGE INC., 42142 Ford Rd., Canton, 455-7790. We bring the necessary expertise to any phase of a real estate transaction. "The All Service Real Estate Office" Open: Mon.-Sat. 9-9, Sun. 10-6.
