Quarter Century of Carpet Cleaning makes

Plymouth Carpet Service Area Leader

Plymouth Carpet Service is Plymouth's oldest, most experienced carpet and upholstery care company. It is also a family owned and operated business with deep roots within the community.

"When I started back in January of 1956, the business was quite a bit different," said Ben Soleau, who still maintains an active role in the business.

"We were Plymouth Rug Cleaners and located at Mill and Ann Arbor Trail. We mostly cleaned loose rugs and upholstery then. We did some carpet cleaning, but most people didn't have wall to wall carpet 25 years ago!

In the Spring of 1958, Ben's son, Ed, joined his father in the operation. In addition to cleaning carpets and upholstery, Ed developed his skills as a carpet installer to back up the company's carpet sales activities.

Plymouth Rug Cleaners moved to it's current location, 1175 Starkweather...in Plymouth's Old Village... in January 1960.

In June 1965, Glen Soleau joined his father and brother to make the family operation complete.

"The 1970's saw the biggest changes in our operation," says Glen. "In 1970 we switched from scrubbing with shampoo to steam extraction. We made an even bigger step in 1978 when we moved up to truck-mounted steam cleaners with 10 times the cleaning power and precisely controlled temperature and cleaner."

Earlier this year, Plymouth Rug Cleaners became Plymouth Carpet Service to reflect its growth into other areas including greater emphasis on carpet sales and installation.

Quality personnel is what Glen feels help make Plymouth Carpet Service as good as it is. Dale Carey has been with the company for 6 years and is the firm's top carpet cleaning technician. Steve Tinnely has 10 years experience with upholstery cleaning -- specializing in delicate, difficult fabrics including velvet, tapestry, Haitian cotton, upholstered antiques and stain removal. Jerry Cole (J.P.) joined Plymouth Carpet Service this year. A longtime area resident, he brings years of business experience to his new position.

City's troubled dump still leaking pollutants

BY CHAS CHILD

Were toxic chemicals dumped years ago in the City of Plymouth's former landfill in Salem Township?

City officials are trying to answer this question while proceeding with plans to prevent polluted water from seeping out of the landfill.

The state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) ordered the city to spread a layer of clay-rich earth over the dump at Five Mile and Chubb roads to stop seepage into local groundwater.

Tests taken by the DNR earlier this year showed that the dump is leaking ammonia-rich "leachate" onto land west of the site.

City Engineer Ken West said, however, that he is having trouble finding a source of clay. Large-scale construction sites are the usual sources, he said, but since the troubled economy has stifled such projects, he has come up empty-handed. One-half million cubic yards of clay are needed, he said.

Meanwhile, at least one landowner near the dump says there may be more than simple ammonia-rich pollutants escaping from the landfill.

Bob Horton, of 7410 Salem Rd., said he saw a truck from the Chevrolet Spring and Bumper plant in Livonia dump industrial sludge at the landfill in 1968.

At that time, the dump was run by Sheldon Hayes, who operated on a "pay your money and dump" basis, said Horton. The landfill was turned over to Hayes's management in the late 1960s after about a decade's use by the City of Plymouth as a dump for mostly municipal garbage.

West said that there is a possibility that waste more harmful than household garbage, the source of the ammonia-laden leachate, was dumped at the landfill. "We're trying to find out just what may have been dumped out there," he said.

"Sheldon Hayes told the city that he has no records of who dumped there," West said. Efforts to contact the dump's caretaker, a Hayes employe who lived at a house near the dump, were unsuccessful as of Thursday.

Horton said the house in which the caretaker lived burned down and some records may have been lost.

Another dump neighbor, Bill Much, said a pond he owns near the landfill no longer supports fish, nor even lesser forms of life such as water spiders.

"The dump is spewing garbage into the pond," he said. "My geese won't even go in it." He added that among the firms that have used the landfill are Bathey's, Western Electric, Anchor Coupling, and Chevrolet

"The dump's a health hazard," he said. "You don't know what's in it. You don't know when it's going to come out. And the (City of) Plymouth people don't give a damn."

Mike Ferrantino, who co-owned the Salem Development Company with Hayes, which ran the dump, said, "I don't think we had one" industrial customer. Moreover, there "was no sludge dumped," he added. "I'm positive."

Larry AuBuchon, a DNR official handling the Salem dump case, also said he has no record to industrial dumping at the site. But since the dump operated long before laws regulated such landfills were passed, he said, "our records are poor."

Until some evidence surfaces that indicates harmful substances were dumped at the site, further tests of the sites groundwater will probably not be taken, he added.

A representative of the Washtenaw County Health Department, Barry Johnson, said he also had no record of industrial dumping at the landfill. A load of discarded auto rear-view mirrors was dumped, indicating that the landfill did have industrial clients, he said. But "we've seen nothing so far" that would call for more tests, he added.

Horton believes more tests should be taken immediately. "Why should I or my neighbors come up 20 years from now with cancer?" he said.

Besides the possible pollution problem, Horton said the drain that runs through the dump site is not working properly, and flooding his property.

In any case, the most important step now is to cap the dump with clay, said Johnson. Clay over the landfill prevents water from entering the site, and therefore no water leaks in, he said.

"What's in it is not so significant as the fact it is leaking out," he said.

Twp. expected to hire three new firefighters

BY CHAS CHILD

Plymouth Township's Board of Trustees was scheduled to consider hiring three firefighters at last night's meeting.

The extra men would allow the fire department to man both township fire stations during rescue runs, said Fire Chief Larry Groth.

During some shifts, phones and alarm systems are left untended when the firefighters leave for a rescue, the chief said.

The extra men would also help the township meet manpower requirements it "decide to enter into a minimum manpower clause with the (firefighters) union," said Groth.

Overtime costs would also be reduced with the extra men, he added.

Groth said he is aiming to hire the three men by Sept. 1. The township's current Civil Service eligibility list now only has two names on it, he said, so time is needed to test applicants and form a new list.

The hirings, which have been budgeted, "make good sense," said Supervisor Thomas Notebaert.

TWO PERSONS were injured in this accident on Sheldon Road, south of Ann Arbor Road on Thursday around 1 p.m., police report. Being loaded into the Plymouth Township rescue vehicle in the background is Thomas Debler, 11, of Lansing. A passenger of the car in the foreground, driven by Lillie May Hadley, of Plymouth, Debler was injured when the car was struck by a vehicle pulling out of a driveway, said police. After the collision, Hadley's car struck the telephone pole at right, said police. (Crier photo by Chas Child)

Huge Canton mall planned... p. 18

Burned Penniman accountant's office to be rebuilt

A downtown Plymouth accountant's office, scorched in the Penniman Avenue Shops fire in February, will be rebuilt.

William Morrison, of Morrison, Stanwood and Polack, said his office will be renovated and the brick wall he shared with the gutted mini-mall will be scraped and rebricked.

"We're shooting to move in Thanksgiving," he said.

Also, the remains of the ruined mall will be demolished and trucked away starting this week, he said. Since the Feb. 16 fire, which destroyed 12 small shops, the burned rubble had sat untouched, pending a decision on whether the east wall of the shops, shared by Morrison, could be saved.

Morrison said engineering tests, made by his insurance company, showed it could be restored. The outer four inches of the wall will be scraped off, and a new layer of brick will be cemented on, he said. The interior of the Morrison building will be repaired, he added.

City Commissioner David Pugh, who co-owns the property on which the mall stood, said he also plans to rebuild. "Our concept now is to build a retail and office structure," he said, adding it will probably be either two or three stories tall.

Pugh and mall co-owner Rod Cannon, Northville's police chief, decided the east mall wall to Morrison to pave the way for his building's restoration.

Storage pound idea investigated in Canton

BY DAN BODENE

The possibility of a township-operated vehicle pound which could generate $20,000 in revenues was discussed at last Tuesday's Canton Board of Trustees meeting, but the issue was tabled until the next board meeting.

Police Chief Jerry Cox stated in a letter to the board that the pound was a potential source of revenue for Canton and could reduce the township's daily storage rates by at least 20 per cent.

He proposed the pound be located at the Department of Public Works yard and be staffed by police personnel. Cox stated that both a vehicle and animal pound could "operate out of the same facility without any major increases or significant increases in manpower to handle both."

Opposition to the proposal came first from Trustee Eugene Daley, who said he had talked with representatives of the Garden City police pound. Daley stated that members of the Garden City police regretted the decision to administer the pound due to problems with paperwork, maintenance

Pipe work restricts watering

While new water mains are being constructed in Canton, township residents can only water their lawns every other day.

Supervisor Noel Culbert said the restrictions will last until water-main construction and other system improvements are completed, either in late July or early August.

Residents with even-numbered addresses can water their lawns, wash cars, etc., of the yard, and theft. He also said revenues from the pound were minimal.

Cox replied that his information from the Garden City and Westland police departments indicated there were substantial revenues generated from a municipal pound.

Trustee Robert Greenstein said that Cox on even-numbered days, while those with odd-numbered addresses can water on odd days. Newly sodded or seeded lawns will be exempt for a two-week period from the date of installation, said Culbert.

The water-system improvements will equalize and increase water pressure in Canton, the supervisor said.

had covered "most of the noxious tasks" involved in administering a pound in his proposal, and that police involvement in the pound would be minimal.

Cox included a list of 23 specifications for police towing in his proposal, including procedures for service, turning in property, billing, storage of vehicles, equipment, on-call agreements, and police supervision.

The most vigorous dissent in the debate came from John Barnette, a partner in John and Dude's Towing, which presently handles towing and storage for Canton's police.

Barnette listed problems involved in a towing and vehicle storage business, including security, liability, customer parking, disposal of hulks, size of storage areas and response time for towing service.

Farmers market receives Canton funding

BY DAN BODENE

Canton Township trustees approved $275 for "seed money" at last Tuesday's board meeting to get the township's fledgling farmers market off the drawing board.

Trustee Carol Bodenmiller said although the legal documents needed to use parking lot space in the New Towne Plaza have not been ratified, the $275 was needed to meet insurance requirements.

She also asked for an additional $500 for other costs such as promotional materials to help publicize the market.

Trustee Eugene Daley initially objected to the request, asking if the funding would not be a case "of public money supporting private enterprise."

Trustee Robert Greenstein supported the request, terming it "seed money" to help get the market off the ground. He stated the funding would be "an act of good faith" from the township to local farmers committed to the project.

Finance Director Mike Gorman, in response to the public money to private enterprise argument said that the market was a township sponsored event. The board directed him to consult township attorneys on the matter.

Bodenmiller said the farm-market committee would not necessarily spend all the money requested. She added that the request was "what the committee was doing to support the concept of farm markets" in Canton.

The board then approved $275 for the market funding. In a separate vote, it also approved releasing RAMCO-Gershensen Corp., owners of the plaza, from product liability in connection with the market. The only dissenting vote on each issue came from Daley.

Officials of Twp. to vote pay raises

Plymouth Township's three administrators, the supervisor, clerk, and treasurer, were expected to receive eight per cent raises at the Board of Trustees meeting last night.

The township's Compensation Commission recommended the raises, which, if approved by the full board, will start Jan. 1, 1981.

The raises would hike Clerk Esther Hulsing's and Treasurer Joe West's salaries from $19,300 to $20,394.

Supervisor Thomas Notebaert's salary would go from the current $20,800 to $22,464 with the raise.

Although the raises are eight per cent, considering the concurrent hike in fringe benefits, the pay increases will end up costing the township nine and one-half per cent, said the compensation commission.

The commission is an independent board which reviews salaries of elected officials. Sitting on the commission are Jack Bologna, Frank Millington, Nancy Grawe, Tom O'Connell, and Bob Barbour.

Festival pursues tough stand to assure 'best ever'

Although the annual Fall Festival is still two months away, preparations for the Plymouth-Canton Community's largest annual event are under full steam.

The Fall Festival board has been reviewing applications with an unusually picky stance and is sending some of them back for further study and information.

Entrance into this year's Fall Festival is not guaranteed for any group—even is they've been in it before.

This may come as a surprise for the Plymouth Rotary Club which had not as yet submitted its application for the big daddy of Festival events—the chicken barbecue that started it all 25 years ago. Despite this Rotary oversight, which becomes more critical with each passing day, the club announced on its July 4th parade float that it was holding its barbecue on Sept. 7. Hopefully, the club's application is on the way and will meet with the Festival board's approval.

At least the Rotarians shouldn't have too tough a time with the Fest application clause which asks what services the applicants provide the community. It is that clause which the board is especially scrutinizing on this year's applications.

The new, tougher approach on organizing the Fest comes from criticisms last year that the affair was not what it used to be.

After studying several suggestions and criticisms, a blue ribbon committee recommended many changes that are being put into effect this year.

Since the coming Fest will mark the 25th anniversary of the event, it is appropriate that this be the biggest and best ever. So far, it appears to be headed well in that direction.

To Plymouth-Canton

Welcome, Republicans

To all Republican National Convention delegates, national newspaper and TV folks, GOP workers, guests, and friends: Welcome.

The Plymouth-Canton Community is happy to host you during your all-too-brief visit to our neck of the woods. Long hours have been logged by many people here to ensure that your visit is enjoyable, useful, and pleasant.

But if by chance we can do anything more, speak up; we'll be happy to help out. As for the natives, we should keep a weather eye out for any out-of-towners with lost looks on their faces.

From a spectator's point of view, it's unfortunate that the convention will more closely resemble a coronation. No matter, though; it will still be pleasant to bask in the national media spotlight. And it will give us more time to make our visitors feel at home.

For those lucky enough to be personally involved in the convention (see page 11), it will be especially interesting (there may even be something to tell the grandchildren about). But for most of us, we'll rely on television for front row seats.

In any case, welcome GOPers.

With Malice Toward None

You'd have thought somebody robbed a bank. The way the Plymouth police reacted with screeching stops of the patrol cars, handcuffs and enough manpower to bring in Machine Gun Kelly, the July 4th parade crowd around Main and Hartsough wondered what arch-criminal was being brought in.

It was no arch criminal.

Just a 32-year-old Canton man who allegedly argued with the Plymouth patrolman on duty where the parade turned off Main to head down Hartsough. The charge? "Willfully making a noise which disturbs the peace of a lawful gathering."

Until the police department descended en masse on the hapless fellow, most of the crowd around was unaware that any breach of the peace was being committed. Granted the fellow had earlier danced out and kissed a parading chicken, according to witnesses, and had consumed a beer or two, according to police.

Patrolman Ronald Kaminski reported that the "subject shouted loudly that he did not like my attitude" after the policeman asked some young bicyclists to move back from the parade line. Kaminski further reported that he tried to calm the subject and asked him to produce identification or his name, but that the man then became more boisterous.

If that's true—the man is scheduled to appear in local court on his ticket to determine it—Kaminski was right to ask for assistance and take the person in to discuss it.

But from there on, the police reaction was heavy handed.

Handcuffs, for example, hardly seemed necessary to take the "boisterous" man into custody in front of his friends.

And the entire police force hot rodding to the scene—including a sliding stop by Police Chief Timothy Ford that would have made Starksy and Hutch proud—would have been justifiable if someone's safety were threatened, but not under the circumstances. In fact, the greatest hazard to the crowd's safety in the whole incident was Ford's showing off.

Perhaps the fellow was "boisterous," and if he argued with Patrolman Kaminski, who after all was performing his job properly, while drinking beers, he was asking for a talk at the police station.

But it's important for police to know how to keep a small incident from being blown out of proportion.

This time, the Plymouth Police failed to do that.

Holly Drive-ers please use your driveways

EDITOR:

To the residents of Holiday Park living on Holly Drive:

It was very touching to see all the hand-painted speed-limit signs that were put up by the concerned parents living on Holly.

There was another sign which said, "We care about our kids. Do you?" Of course, we do! And I agree wholeheartedly that the residential speed limit of 25 miles per hour should be observed on all our residential streets.

But if you're all really so concerned about the welfare of your children, how about helping drivers see them better by parking your cars where they belong, on your driveways or in your garages, instead of on the street.

community opinions

Every home has a driveway, and yet the number of cars on the street makes it extremely difficult to drive down Holly, especially during weekends and afternoons daily. The street can only be described as an obstacle course! Imagine trying to see a child darting from between all of these obstacles and trying to avoid a terrible tragedy.

The efforts to provide a safer environment for your children should begin with you!

Last week I ran a 10,000-meter job through the park, totally unprepared, unpracticed, and although I knew what I was getting into, I still gave very short shrift to making sure I'd come out alive.

It was one of those situations where the lambs willingly go to the slaughter.

Why do things like that, my friends asked me. Why be a martyr for a sport you don't particularly like anyway?

I can still smile, because I had a distinct reason for torturing myself, while all around me thought it was pointless.

I did it for practice. I'm covering the GOP convention opening.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: July 9, 1980

Crier staffer finds run no laughter; feet barely beat heat to complete

BY DAN BODENE

Six miles. Figure I can do it standing on my head. I'd run five miles just jogging for fun when I was in shape. Six miles. Sure.

So I registered for the Jaycees' mini-marathon the morning of July 4 with that finisher's patch in mind. The Jaycees said the patch would be awarded to the first 300 who made it, so it seemed to me the race was in the bag. Then-thousand meters works out to 6.2 miles.

There seemed to be a lot of runners assembled that morning, and an awful lot of them sure looked like professionals.

At the gun, the pack of us took off up the hill toward Northville, then turned right at the racetrack parking lot for a jog through town. I knew the first leg of the race would be tough, but when the juy yelled "Get 'em No. 4!" and I couldn't even smile, I knew this run would be trouble.

After Northville's leg, the run was downhill for awhile. Going into the park, it started uphill. I didn't start looking back until I got to the top of Cass Benton Hill, and by then it was to wonder who would see me if I stopped to walk for awhile.

The run through the park is almost blanked out of memory. My poor bod had finally settled down into the pick-em-up and put-em-down routine, and I was trying to think of other things, like new cars. I was daydreaming that if I had a new car, I wouldn't have to run. Six and two-tenths miles.

So since the daydreaming idea backfired, I started concentrating on how-to make the running easier. No way.

My legs had by then failed to see the joke, and began complaining. Often, and painfully. Curbs were higher. Pebbles hurt more. There was no more shade.

I started running alongside a guy named Bill who said he runs often. I wished I'd run often, because my body was getting revenge all at once by then. Bill kept asking me questions, particularly near a Wayne County Sheriff's deputy stationed at the park near Starkweather. Bill said the deputy was there to look for zombie runners, candidates for heatstroke.

I babbled, red-faced, until I passed the cruiser. Running up Starkweather, I thought I'd buy the farm. Water, cool shade, a hammock, water... and a kid sprayed me with a sprinkler. Awake, I didn't particularly want to remember how bad off I was, but I was forced to. My legs made me.

Starkweather heading south may look like a gangle grade from a car, but after five miles I couldn't believe there was no elevator. Bill had run ahead, and I was alone about a block and a half behind two women who looked like they were having a great time.

By the time I hit Main Street, my upper legs were knotting like fists at every curb. I had to ease up for a few steps to prevent total crippling at every sidestreet.

Keep going, I thought. Pretty soon the crowd will cheer you on.

What crowd? I failed to take into account that by the time a guy read off my half-way time down in the park, the eventual winner was cruising by City Hall. I was least an hour behind the front runners, and by the time I hit town, it was old news.

So I slogged on. A kid in a $50 jogging suit heading for the Tastee Freez smiled and said, "You're almost there, guy." I figured if I swerved to hit him, I'd fall down.

In sight of the finish, I tried to pep up, like I'd stopped for a beer along the way or something. Didn't work. Drown rats always look like drowned rats.

DIRECTIONS BY HIS SIDE, intrepid Crier reporter Dan Bodene prepares to cross the finish line after the 10,000 meter Fourth of July Jaycees run. After posting a remarkable 28:04 for the half, Bodene apparently became confused, jogging to Allen Park before realizing his mistake and retracing the route. Crossing the tape slightly less than an hour after the first-place finisher, he remarked, "All this for a lousy t-shirt?" (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

In a final gesture of elan, I hauled out my map and asked if I'd found Plymouth, crossing the line only 120 places down from my starting number. A big laugh, but somehow my own laughing reflex had died. I thought I'd die, too, with that patch in my hand.

Worse. I lived, spending the next three days trying to get my legs to obey me. I felt worse the second day after the race, and therapy has been all uphill since Friday, no pun intended. The doctors say I might regain normal motor control someday if I swear off running.

Gotta get a moped.

Judged art displayed for sale

Judged art works by several Plymouth-Canton students are now on exhibit at the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union.

Thirty-seven works by artists ages 8 to 15 are now displayed and are for sale. They are products of art classes taught by Three Cities Art Club President Betty J. Manthey.

Theodore of Plymouth, and Richard Minuth of Canton. Other participants in the show are Marjorie McClennen and Theresa Church of Plymouth and Michelle Mertz and Nicole Transou of Livonia.

Have you ever gone up to a friend and started talking, only to discover you were talking to a stranger who looks like your friend? If you think that's embarrassing, try being on the other end of one of those conversations.

There I was blinding my own business when someone came up and started talking to me. I'm terrible on names, but I usually remember faces. This face didn't look familiar but knowing how scatterbrained I can be, I just thought my memory was evading me. As I was doing what I thought was a pretty good job of bluffing my way through the conversation, the person took a good look at me and blushed saying, "Oh, you're not who I thought you were." Now what was I supposed to say? There's some situations even a good actress can't bluff her way out of.

Another problem I've encountered is meeting people in the grocery store. I know right away they know who they're talking to when they call me by name. Their face looks familiar, but I don't have any idea of where I know them from. It's not fair when you see people outside their regular habitat, or out of uniform.

There I am trying to bluff my way through another conversation. Fortunately I usually figure out who I'm talking to before I make a fool of myself again.

I'll be the first to admit that I sometimes get people mixed up or forget names. However, I would like to clarify one over-used statement—not all redheads look alike, act alike, or are alike! I wonder if people making this mistake get their blonds mixed up, too.

Mary Renee Labadie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Labadie of N. Sheldon Road in Plymouth made the dean's list at Bob Jones University in Greenville, South Carolina. She is a sophomore in the School of Education.

The University of Michigan-Dearborn announced the names of top high school graduating seniors who received scholarships. Mary Bahr, a senior at Salem High School received the Chancellor's Scholarship honorary award. Sally Huband, a senior at Canton High School received the Regents-Alumni Merit Scholarship award.

Schoolcraft College recently announced the names of students named to the dean's list for winter term. Plymouth students included on the dean's list are: Ronald Atkinson, Carol Babb Luann Barretta, James Blumberg, Randall Brodzik, Steven Cencich, Gary Childs, David Corliss, Catherine Foege, Phyllis Fulton, Leni Hancock, Deborah Jokisch, Tracy Krinke, William Krug, Micheal Morin, Cheri Neal, John Nulty, Timothy O'Neal, Nancy Plas, Scott Racer, Steven Reid, Gerald St. Pierre, Mohamad Salehian, Joseph Spleet, and Carolyn Williams.

Canton seeks worst sneakers

The Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department's "Rotten Sneaker" Contest, which drew so much attention last year in its first year, is scheduled again for Saturday, July 26.

The contest is open to all ages and is set up similar to a beauty pageant. All contestants will be asked to "model" their sneakers in front of a panel of "celebrity" judges.

The winners will carry the title of "Rotten Sneakers of the Year" in Canton and will receive a new pair of shoes and other prizes. It is important to remember the judges are searching for the worst-looking pair of sneakers in Canton. Sneakers should be worn from use, not abuse.

The simple rules are as follows:

Anyone is eligible to enter; contestants must be wearing their sneakers; sneakers can be any age; one pair of sneakers per contestant; sneakers must fit the foot of the wearer.

Register on the day of the event, 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, July 26 at the Recreation Center, 44237 Michigan Ave. at Sheldon, or in advance by phoning the Rec. department, 397-1000.

Regional shopping mall planned in Canton

BY CHAS CHILD

A major shopping-center developer in the Midwest has tentative plans to build a regional shopping mall at the northwest corner of Beck and Ford roads in Canton Township.

Dayton-Hudson Properties, connected with J.L. Hudson Co., has an option to buy 110 acres at the intersection, said the township's planning department. And a spokesman for Dayton-Hudson said her company seeks to open the center in 1985.

Planned at the shopping center are between two and four major department stores and anywhere between 60 and 100 individual smaller shops. The "regional shopping center" would be about the same size as 12 Oaks or Northland, she said.

She added, however, that the plans are still tentative and "a lot of work" must be done.

In fact, Dayton-Hudson, although it has options on the property, has not formally approached Canton's planning department with its plans.

Dave Nicholson, Canton's assistant planner, said Dayton-Hudson's site is on the edge of the township's recently created farmland-preservation district.

"It would provide substantial tax base, but it raises a basic question: Do we want development in that area, or do we want to fill in the already developed areas that have sewer, water, and other services," he said.

Sewer, water and other urban services would probably have to be expanded to serve the center, said Nicholson.

Although farming and a shopping center are basically incompatible land uses, Nicholson said, the planned mall would not necessarily spell the end of the township's farmland-preservation program.

Dayton-Hudson's land is now part of the preservation district, but on a peninsula of the district on the eastern edge of the farm zone, he said.

If Dayton-Hudson does proceed with its plans, they face thorough public review, as well as rezoning and site plan hearings, said Nicholson.

'Marigold Motion'

Plant Marigolds for Fall Fest

It's not too late to get the "motion" -- the Marigold Motion, that is, for the upcoming Fall Festival.

To celebrate the fest's 25th anniversary, residents and businesses are invited to plant marigolds in creative and unusual ways.

During Fall Fest, the Marigold Motion displays will be judge in the following categories:

creativity in the use of marigolds, display of color with the use of marigolds, the best booth arrangement with the use of marigolds, and the booth arrangement which contributes most visually to the theme of the Fall Festival, an "Old Fashioned Garden."

Judges for the contest will be Erick Carne, James D. Anulewicz, Tivadar Balogh, and Joanne Hulce.

Ribbons will be awarded to four separate groups: residences, businesses, booths, and window displays.

Those organizations which are part of the festival and businesses and residences abutting the fest area will automatically be entered and evaluated by the judges. Others that want to enter or decorate an area (Old Village, expressways, etc.) must submit a written request to the Fall Festival Committee.

Welcome, Sarah

Sarah Louise Heslip was born May 29, weighing in at six pounds, one and one-half ounces.

She is the daughter of Steven and Sharon Heslip of Plymouth, and the grandchild of John and Marlene Heslip and James and Mary Hayes, all of Plymouth. Sarah also is the brother of Steven, who is 15 months.

Fest gets green light (of course!)

Plymouth Fall Festival's Board of Directors has received official city permission for the annual event scheduled Sept. 4 through 7.

At the City Commission meeting Monday night, approval was given to a resolution requesting use of Kellogg Park, Penniman Avenue and Main Street for location of "concessions, tables and chairs for dining, and displays by clubs and community service organizations."

Cooperation with police, fire and public works departments has been requested, and according to City Manager Henry Graper, Jr., "We have no problems working with their requests, taking into consideration the previous commitments we have made to the Fall Festival Committee."

Alleged burglar arrested

An 18-year-old man, sought in connection with a number of burglaries in the Plymouth-Canton Community, was arrested by City of Plymouth police June 30.

Arrested with allegedly stolen property in his room at 369 W. Ann Arbor Trail was Christopher Michael Burkhart. Found in his room were such items as a shotgun, dueling swords, a camera, jewelry, watches, and radios, said Det. Dan Carpenter of the Plymouth force.

Carpenter said Burkhart was being sought by Canton police, Northville Township police, and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department in connection with as many as 18 recent burglaries.

Tax questions heat up meeting

BY DAN BODENE

Fireworks of another kind were set off three days before the Fourth of July at last Tuesday's Canton Board of Trustees meeting, when former township supervisor Harold Stein questioned recent land tax assessment changes.

Stein, speaking at the public forum before the regular agenda, asked why certain parcels of land had State Equalized Value (SEV) assessments reduced. He asked what qualifications prompted the reductions and whether other assessments would increase as a result.

Stein said school systems would lose revenues due to the tax decreases on agriculturally classified (AGI) parcels, some of which are owned by Dayton-Hudson Corp. He also stated that much of the Dayton-Hudson land is not farmland.

Adding that taxpayers voted down a farmland preservation millage under his administration, Stein said since the township has no contingency fund to reimburse landowners for lost property values, it had no legal base to enforce the program.

Supervisor Noel Culbert refuted the charges, stating that the farmland-preservation program lowered taxes in the township. He added, "It is unfortunate that you (Stein) did not attend the board meetings when these issues were discussed."

ACCORDING TO Canton Planning Department officials, the Board of Trustees adopted a zoning ordinance, after several public hearings, on March 25. Independent of the zoning adoption, the board of trustees directed the Tax Board of Review to investigate a reduction in tax assessments for AGI parcels, classified as agricultural land of five acres or more not including home-sites.

The tax board was further directed not affect the county's total SEV adjustment for the township, which would raise taxes.

IN a letter from Wayne County Bureau of Taxation Director George E. McEachran, the tax board was informed it could reduce assessments not to exceed $700,000 plus the 1979 net tax adjustment figure of $1,071,141.

The net tax adjustment is the amount of SEV appeals granted by the township tax board. They are single-year adjustments considered by the tax board after county SEV assessments are levied to landowners every March.

In effect, the township had more than $1,700,000 to use to lower AGI assessments, without increasing other taxes.

Planner James Kosteva said township-general school revenues would be reduced by the AGI-assessment reductions, but they would be made up in state aid.

Kosteva also said the township is actively pursuing a reimbursement program for landowners appealing their zoning under the new ordinance.

No seatbelts cause death

A 24-year-old Detroit woman was fatally injured last week when she was thrown from a vehicle tumbling out of control on I-275 near Schoolcraft, State Police report.

Theresa Becerra, 24, of 7259 Whitaker, Detroit, was air-lifted to University Hospital after the July 3 accident but died Sunday night of severe head injuries, said police.

According to the police report, Becerra was a passenger in a car driven by her sister, Antonia Becerra, driving northbound on I-275.

Trying to pass, the driver lost control and the vehicle started rolling, said police. Theresa, who was not wearing a seatbelt was thrown from the car, and suffered severe head injuries, the report said. Her sister was not wearing seat belts either, said police.

"The belt would have kept her in the car," said a State Police spokesman.

Julie to wed Mark Useman

JULIE ANN SMITH

Julie Ann Smith, daughter of Raymond and Rosita Smith of Plymouth, is engaged to marry Mark Useman, son of Howard and Rose Useman of Cascade, Colo.

The bride-to-be, a 1978 graduate of Canton High, is presently an executive secretary at Daniels Chevrolet in Colorado Springs, Colo. She also models, and works in real estate sales for Color Country Realty.

The prospective groom is a senior attending Colorado College and is a salesman of Color Country Realty in Colorado Springs.

The couple plan to marry in Colorado Springs on July 30 and reside there.

Audit approved by City

Plymouth's City Commission approved a contract Monday with an accounting firm to perform the annual audit.

The audit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1980 will be completed by Sutherland and Yoe, P.C., who have been performing the annual audit for several years.

This year, the city has budgeted $12,000 to $13,000 to cover the cost of the service, according to City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. Last year, it cost $11,350.

Graper said next year a price ceiling will be incorporated into the contract. In addition, the city may discuss advertising bids for the work.

According to Graper, the cost of the audit has a great deal to do with how it is conducted, and how much assistance of city officials is requested by the auditors.

He said he would later report to the commission his personal opinion as to the way the audit is performed.

City may slap curfews on Parks

Curfews may be instituted in the City of Plymouth's parks.

City Commissioners discussed the possibility of enacting a curfew during an informal session after Monday night's commission meeting. The talk was apparently prompted after several complaints from Tonquish Creek residents had been registered.

City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. stressed that the issue would be carefully reviewed with city department heads prior to inclusion on a commission agenda. He added, "We want to make sure we're not penalizing all younger people."

The possibility of a curfew would affect residents under 18 years, after 11 or 11:30 p.m., and would include all city parks.

Merit Commission still has vacancy

BY DAN BODENE

Candidates for a Canton Merit Commission slot were rejected by the township board last Tuesday night, leaving the position open past the deadline for filling it.

Supervisor Notel Culbert recommended the appointment of Bernard Bejma, Jr. to the commission, which deals with hiring and firing township employees, but trustees Carol Bodenmiller, James Donahue and Robert Greenstein voted against ratification.

Similarly, a recommendation by Culbert to appoint Edward Hayden to the commission was voted down by the same trustees. Due to the absence of Trustee Stephen Larson, a majority vote could not be reached on either appointment.

Shortly before the voting, Greenstein suggested the board consider Pam Phillips, wife of township Ordinance Department chief Bruce Phillips. Greenstein said Phillips had good qualifications for the job, and would make a valuable addition to the commission. Connie Carman, head of the township's clerical union, said she thought it would be a good idea to have a woman on the commission.

Culbert declined further appointments, although it was stated by chairman of the merit commission, Larry Bowerman that the legal deadline for appointing a new commissioner was up the next day.

Culbert said he had complied with the terms of the merit ordinance by recommending appointments. Answering a statement by Greenstein that it was his duty to comply with the ordinance, Culbert said he would not be "railroaded into appointing someone I do not recommend."

Culbert then suggested soliciting additional applications for the position.

Coming up! Dearie Days

Old-fashioned family fun and old-fashioned bargains are but two of the attractions of the "Dearie Days-Gay 90s" celebration July 19 and 20 in Plymouth's Old Village.

From 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday, the festivities will kick off with a cake-decorating contest followed by square dancing.

From 11 a.m. to noon on Saturday, spectators will be entertained by a Mormon Variety show featuring a number of music and dance acts. Banjo picking and strumming will follow until 3 p.m. in a program entitled "Sharps and Flats."

Marie Schlepers, a vocalist/guitarist, will perform for shoppers for the next half-hour, followed by the Great American Kiss-off.

Jim Purol will attempt a new Guinness World Record of 1,000 kisses in one hour, shattering the present record of 500 kisses.

Costing 25 cents for each kiss, proceeds of the attempt will be donated to pay for school shoes for the School Clothing Bank.

The Plymouth Community Band will serenade celebrants from 4 to 5 p.m., and will be followed by an Original Cowboy Contest.

A second performance of the Mormon Variety show is scheduled from 6 to 7 p.m. for all those who missed the first show.

Sunday's activities will begin with more "Sharps and Flats" from noon to 3 p.m. Promptly at 3 the mustache contest will begin, featuring some of the more notable upper lips in the community vying for first place.

An old-time bathing suit contest will last from 3:30 to 4 p.m. to afford some of the younger shoppers a view (?) of the past.

The final two hours of the festivities are filled with a 50/50 drawing contest, boasting a $5,000 first prize, and repeat performances by Marie Schlepers and the Mormon Variety troupe.

A few of the many other attractions of the Dearie Days celebration include pony rides, wandering musicians, clowns, dog-cart rides, Jerry Van Wormer on band/organ/calliope, a wheat-grinding demonstration, classic cars and an antique train engine and caboose.

Another important part of the weekend will be many bargains and discounts offered by Old Village merchants.

Old Village is located in Plymouth's north-east side between Main Street and Five Mile Road, and between York and Davis streets.

Fireworks returned to Plymouth's July 4 celebrations.

Jaycees' Fourth is No. 1 to spectators

Attended by nearly 40,000 persons, Plymouth Jaycees' Fourth of July celebration was a huge success, according to parade chairman Harold Jacobs.

Beginning with the 10,000 meter run from Northville Downs to Kellogg Park, the day's activities progressed without any major setbacks. The mini-marathon was won overall by Mark Gibney of Ann Arbor with a time of 33.41.

The parade, with an estimated 70 units, including antique cars, went the whole route with barely a raindrop to contend with. The first-place float in the youth category was from the Plymouth Community Family YMCA, with runner-up going to the First Baptist Church of Plymouth. Third place was won by the Plymouth Rainbow Association.

In the adult float category, first place was awarded to St. Peter's Fellowship Association, with second and third places going to the Plymouth Community Chorus and the Plymouth Theater Guild.

Best band of the parade was the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, followed by the Windsor Riverside Lion's Youth Band and the Plymouth Community Band.

Marching Unit competition was won by the Salem Rockettes, with second place awarded to the Canton Chiefettes. Third place was awarded to the Northville VFW drill team.

A Lincoln Continental Mark I was judged best appearing antique car of the parade. Second place went to the Same Day Fire Service firetruck, with third place won by a Model T Ford entry.

Capping the day's activities, the fireworks display over Massey Field drew a record crowd estimated at nearly 250,000. Spectators of the 45-minute show clogged every parking spot for miles, according to police.

Watching the festivities are Valerie and Jeff Jones with little Kristin Tedesco.

Gibney bests field in July 4th marathon race

The July 4 marathon from Northville Downs to Kellogg Park may have been only a six mile endurance test instead of the usual 24 and yet the footrace proved a test for local runners in the cool morning heat of the holiday.

Mark Gibney, from Ann Arbor, was the overall winner as he covered the course in 33:41. Gibney also grabbed top honors in the men's 16-39 year-old division with that effort.

Mike Spitz, boys track coach at Canton High, was second overall and second in the men's class as he clocked a time of 34:27. Scott Hand was third with an effort of 36:39.

Brian Jones completed the course in 36:01 to win the 15 and under age group. Jones was also third overall.

John Perrett was second in the 15 and under division with a time of 42:39 and Kevincarey was third at 47 minutes.

Kathy Weyand bested the women's field with a time of 43:07, while sister-Laura Weyand was next at 45:55 and Dawn Oakley was third with a time of 47:43.

The senior field of 40-year-old and over runners was won by Milt Heniz as he raced the course to the tune of 39:36. Tom Ogradowski was second in that age bracket with a time of 41:22 and Jene Kramer was third with an effort of 42:43.

5th Annual Crier Tennis Tournament August 8-10

The 5th Annual Plymouth-Crier Tennis Tournament has been scheduled for the weekend of Aug. 8-10 at the Canton High tennis courts.

The tournament will feature competition for both boys and girls starting at the age of 10 years and for adults to 33 years of age and older. There will be competition in both singles and doubles categories.

The entry fee is $3 per person per event and the entry deadline is set for Aug. 6 at 5 p.m. Entry forms will be made available at the Plymouth Parks and Recreation

Office at the Cultural Center starting next week. There will also be a coupon available in the Crier sports section starting next week.

The main force behind the tournament has been Chuck Shupe, Director of Parks and Recreation for Plymouth.

"When I came to Plymouth there wasn't a tennis tournament for the city so we got one started. At first it was just sponsored by us then we decided to find a local organization that could help support the tournament and after a casual conversation with Crier publisher Edward Wendover we had our support," said Shupe.

Canton Elks rip Salem

BY MIKE HENSHAW

The Canton Elks of the Mickey Mantle league stretched their unbeaten string to 11 straight games last Tuesday by whipping Salem DiPonio 7-0.

Canton hurler Dan Smith tossed a three-hitter as the Elks broke up a close game with five runs in the top of the seventh inning.

Scott Bricker lead off the stanza with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Keith Stone.

Billy Hanis then walked and came home along with Bricker on a single by Don Dombey.

Smith followed Dombey to the plate and helped his own cause by blasting a two-run homer off of Salem starter Bill Culver to make the score 6-0.

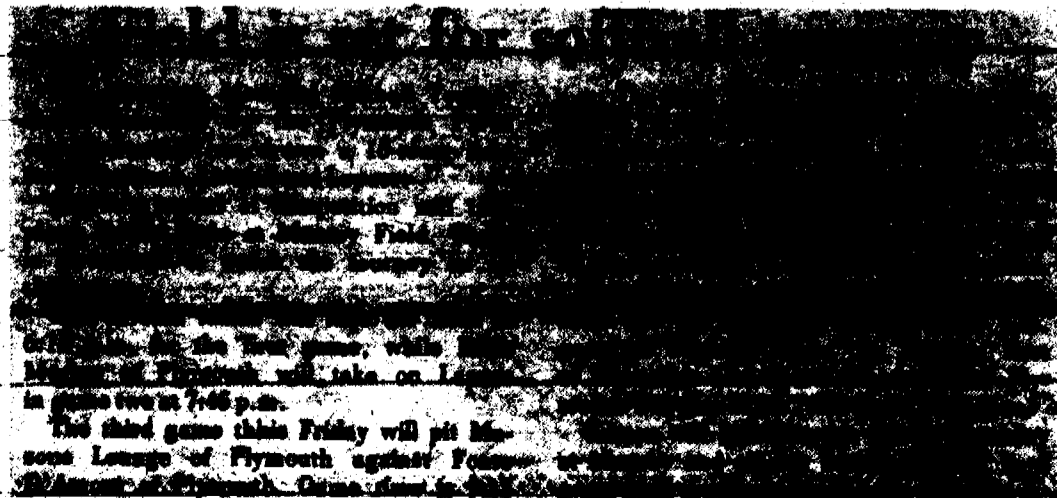

The Elks scored their final run of the game off of reliever Joe Humphries when Steve Johnson singled, stole second, and scored on a single by Fred Rumberger.

Canton had taken a 2-0 lead with single tallys in the first and fifth innings.

Smith was in control throughout the game, striking out 10 DiPonio batters, including the side in the last inning, walking five and allowing just the three hits, two to Salem's Dave Slavin.

Culver took the loss for DiPonio, giving up six runs on 10 hits while walking three hitters. Culver struck out three Canton batters.

The win kept Canton four and one-half games ahead in the league race with an 11-0 mark. Second-place Salem fell to 6-4 on the year.

EXTERIOR PAINT PROBLEMS

Paint peeling between coats can be caused by mold on the first coat of paint. If a house is primed in late fall and not top-coated until spring, intercoat peeling can develop. Mold spores are in the air much of the time. They will probably start growth as soon as it gets warm. When a topcoat is applied to such a contaminated wall, it will soon be dislodged by expanding mold. All loose paint must be removed to expose mold, then a household bleach solution must be applied to the infested paint to kill the growth. After old paint or primer is dry a mildew resistant topcoat should be applied as soon as possible to prevent further growth.

Salem Elks battered by Borgess

The Salem Elks of the Connie Mack Baseball League had only one contest last week and that one proved to be a disaster as the club failed to put together any hitting and lost to Bishop Borgess in a league game, 10-0.

"The key in the game for us was no hitting and our pitching just didn't hold up," said Salem coach Ben Wilcox. "We've been having a little pitching problem right now so we are looking for some solid pitching to help us."

Salem used three hurlers in the contest but still couldn't stop Borgess as the squad clubbed six hits to score its 10 runs. Salem also had six hits but failed to put together any scoring drive.

The Elks best chance to score in the game came in the third inning when lead off hitter John Hetkowski doubled. A single by Mitch Wilcox followed to put runners at the corners but the effort failed to produce a run.

Hetkowski went 2-2 at the plate with a double and a single, while Wilcox added two singles, Jim Anderson had a double and Brian Lewandowski a single to account for the team's six hits.

Jeff Penders took the pitching defeat. Penders started the game and lasted two innings. While on the mound, he gave up five runs on two hits, had one strikeout and two walks.

Greg Etienne then came to the mound and pitched the next three frames. During that time, he also gave up five runs on four hits with four strikeouts to his credit and five walks.

Paul Stevenson was the final Salem hurler. He walked one batter while on the mound and did not give up a hit.

Salem is now 6-5 overall and will take to the field tomorrow against Southfield at the Salem High diamond. Game time is 6:15 p.m. The Elks also play a doubleheader on Saturday against Borgess at home. Game time is 10:30 a.m.

Sports collectors coming

One of the largest and longest running shows of its kind in the country will be staged at the Plymouth Hilton the weekend of July 25-27, as the area's premier hotel will stage the 11th Annual Midwest Sports Collectors Convention.

The convention will be staged in the Hilton's ballroom and will involve some 120 collectors from across the midwest and the country.

The first day of the convention will be Friday and will start at 9 a.m. and run to 11 p.m. The convention will be conducted at the same time on Saturday, while on Sunday the displays will be on sale from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. convention goes.

Hundreds of thousands of baseball and football cards as well as uniforms, guides, programs, autographs, magazines, pictures and other sports memorabilia will be featured during the three days the show lasts.

"You can expect a large crowd on the three days but there is plenty of room in the main ball room for spectators," said McNulty.

Featured sports guests during the three days will include Ernie Harwell, Hoot Evers, Gates Brown, John Hiller, Ron LeFlore, Joe Falls, Ralph Houk, Norm Cash, Joe Ginsberg, Jim Northrup, Dick Radatz and George Kell.

Hayes wins Fellows Creek tournament

"Basically we set up the whole ballroom for the use of the collectors. What they do is rent the space and because of the size of our ballroom we are well able to accommodate a lot of collectors and a lot of people," said Karen McNulty sales manager for the Hilton.

This will be the second year in a row that the Hilton has staged the collectors and it may not be the last.

"The collectors set up on Thursday and it takes most of the day before the ballroom is ready for the public," said McNulty.

"There are a lot of children involved, not as collectors, but as buyers and collectors. The usually come in with their parents and the crowds can be quite considerable.

"One thing we do differently at the Hilton is to set up a sort of fast food stand in our coat check to sell hot dogs and popcorn and other fast food so that the buyers don't have to go through a big meal," continued McNulty.

Last year there was a small donation for Brian Hayes came away with top honors as the Canton Fellows Creek Men's Golf League wrapped up its first seven-week competition. Hayes tallied 120 points to take first place in the Canton Parks and Recreation sponsored league.

Hayes turned in the first sub-par round of the year as he produced three birdies and only one bogey to shoot a 34.

Jack Casey came in with his best round of the year, a 40, and ended the league in second position with 117 points.

Larry Parker and Jerry Reinke tied for third place with 116 points.

Other strong rounds included Reinke's 43 and Dann Winninger's 41.

Dearie Days Schedule

Saturday

- 10:00 Cake Decorating Contest — A tasty way to kick off Dearie Days 1980!
- 10:30 Square Dancing — Traditional Americana fare. Almost as much fun to watch as it is to do!
- 11:00-12:00 Mormon Variety — A wide selection of acts including John Grist on harmonica, The Performing Dostdalls (8 children and Mom) doing music and dance... plus much more!
- 12:00-3:00 "Sharps & Flats" — Banjo picking and strumming at its best. What could be better suited for Dearie Days than America's own instrument.
- 3:00-3:30 Marie Schlepers — Vocalist, guitarist.
- 3:30-4:00 The Great American Kiss Off — Local Guinness record holder, Jim Puroil, will attempt 1,000 kisses... a new record!
- 4:00-5:00 Plymouth Community Band — A pleasant afternoon of music by one of the best community bands in the state.
- 5:00-5:30 Original Cowboy Contest — Cowboys (and cowgirls)... urban, drugstore or otherwise... get to show their stuff for fun and prizes.

Plus

Jaycees-Rib Dinner served Sat. afternoon

- Wheat Grinding Demonstration — See flour made the old-fashioned way... complete with antique engine.
- Band/Organ/Calliope — Jerry Van Wormer does them all! All-American entertainment.
- Pony Rides — Not Churchhill Downs, but the kids will love them! From the American Riding School.
- Dog Cart Rides — They may not replace the car or plane, but another fun-filled diversion for the kids!

6:00-7:00 Mormon Variety — Repeat of the earlier production.

Sunday

- 3:00-3:30 Mustache Contest — You don't have to be a handlebar variety to win the big prize here. If you're proud of your upper lip... enter! You may just win!
- 3:30-4:00 Old Time Bathing Suit Contest — These are the suits that covered alot more of the bather than it uncovered. Maybe the good ol' days weren't so good!? Join up for some good fun.

- Tour the Train — Chessie System has donated an old engine and caboose and are supplying tours and answering questions.
