Breen vs. Notebaert

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Will Plymouth Township voters give the Republican nomination to incumbent Tom Notebaert? Or will former supervisor Maurice Breen upend Notebaert in his quest for the nomination?

The two Republicans will face off in the Aug. 5 primary election with the winner vying against Democrat Carol Levitte in the Nov. 4 general election.

In the trustee races, two Republicans will be trimmed from the ballot in the August primary. Republican trustee candidates are: Ann Arendsen, Albert Calille, Weyona Lee Fidge, Gerald Law, Barbara Lynch, and Andrew Pruner.

The four winners in the Aug. 5 primary will face Democrats F. Patrick Downes and Donald Skinner in November.

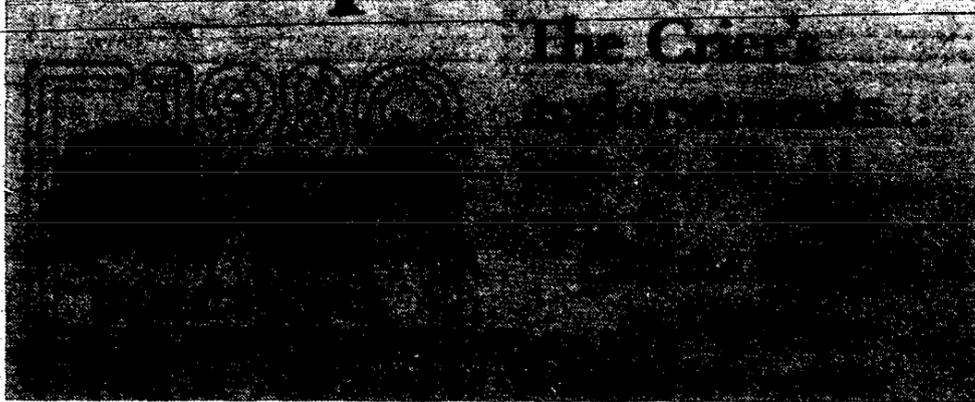

Incumbents Esther Hulsing, clerk, and Joseph West, treasurer, both Republicans, are unopposed in either the primary or the general election.

Emerging as issues in the Plymouth Township races have been some of the following questions: Are police, fire, and rescue services in the township adequate? How will the township maintain its present level of services in the face of declining state and federal monies? Can the township fund road improvements? Can the township start sharing services with the City of Plymouth? Should more industrial development be encouraged to increase the township's tax base?

Notebaert, supervisor since 1976, is seeking his third term in office. Breen was supervisor from 1970-72 and currently is a member of the board of trustees.

The supervisor's term will be for four years, beginning in mid-November. The term in office was changed by the Michigan state legislature last year, increasing it from two to four years.

County races heat up

Although there are no local races in next week's primary election, City of Plymouth voters can expect to go to the polls to help decide several other campaigns.

One important issue facing county voters is the Wayne County home rule ballot, called Proposal A. As stated on the ballot, "Shall the County of Wayne elect a charter commission for the purpose of framing and submitting to the electorate of the County, a county home rule charter under the constitution and laws of Michigan?"

The proposal, if passed, would allow the Charter Commission to reorganize the county government into a more manageable unit.

Voters will also have an opportunity to vote for a Charter Commission candidate from the 27th District.

There are several other noteworthy races for county offices for Plymouth voters to consider. They include County Commissioner, County Auditor, Drain Commissioner, Register of Deeds, County Treasurer, County Clerk, Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney.

Also on the ballot is a non-partisan judicial race for the third judicial circuit court. Voters can choose not more than three among: Marianne O. Battani, Stephen H. Boak from Plymouth, Richard S. Clark, William C. Hague, Richard C. Kaufman, Ricardo J. Lubienski, Patrick J. McDonald, Ted Mrozowski, Allyn Carol Ravitz, Robert A. Reuther, Ronald W. Rice, George T. Ryan, Steven C. Schoenberg, Henry J. Szymanski, Raymond Walsh or Lucille A. Watts.

Finally, city voters have an opportunity to help choose the ballot for Congressional representative for the 2nd District. Three contenders are vying for a spot on the November ballot: on the Democratic ticket, Kathleen O'Reilly; and on the Republican side, incumbent Carl D. Pursell of Plymouth and Helen T. Gotowka.

Voters can register their ballot choices at: Precincts 1, 4 and 5 vote at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer; Precinct 2 voters go to Starkweather School at 550 N. Holbrook; and Precinct 3 voters go to the polls at Central School, 650 Church.

The polls will be open Tuesday, Aug. 5 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. For more information on registration or voting, call the City Clerk at 453-1234.

Canton's issue: growth

BY CHAS CHILD

Two former Canton supervisors seek to wrest the Democratic nomination for the township's top job from the incumbent in next Tuesday's primary.

The election will climax more than six years of struggle to control the destiny of one of Michigan's fastest growing communities, a township that in a decade has mushroomed from farmland into one of Detroit's major suburbs.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on election day. Clerk John Flodin expects a "light" turnout, since only 92 absentee ballots were requested as of last Friday. "I expect between 20-25 per cent turnout," said Flodin.

Barnette quits

John Barnette has announced he has withdrawn from the Democratic primary for Canton Township supervisor.

He said the pressures of running for office have injured his health. He added that he had too many grudges against township employes and politicians. "If I won I'd take it out on them. I couldn't be fair to those people," he said. "They'd be jobless and I'd be the fault of it."

Barnette urged citizens to vote Democratic, review the remaining candidates' records and "vote wisely." Contending for the Democratic nomination are incumbent Noel Culbert, Robert Greenstein, and Harold Stein. Republican James Poole is running unopposed in his party's primary for supervisor.

Although Barnette has withdrawn, his name will still appear on the Aug. 5 ballot.

District busing program forced to make heavy cuts

Nearly 550 Plymouth-Canton students will be eliminated from the district's safety busing program — if the Board of Education approves of the recommendation at its meeting Aug. 11.

In 1978-79, the district provided bus transportation for 1,792 students who lived less than one-and-one-half miles from school.

By state law, the school district is required to provide transportation for students living further than one-and-one-half miles. The district also buses students, K-2, who live more than one mile from school.

The students who were bused couldn't walk to school because of construction being done in their subdivision, no sidewalks, or other safety hazards which existed in their neighborhoods.

School officials reviewed the safety busing program and have recommended to the school board that some students be eliminated from the district's safety busing program. Construction in some subdivisions has been completed, paths have been built, or sidewalks finished for students to walk on, said school officials.

The school board reviewed administrators' recommendations at its workshop Monday night; they will act upon them at the next board meeting, Monday, Aug. 11.

The busing recommendations include changes for kids from the following subdivisions: Forest Trail subdivision (Callimore School); Hartsough-Burroughs area (Smith School); Farmer Street area (Bird School); Mayfair subdivision (Hulsing School); Addison-Fairview area (Eriksson School); Canton 87 subdivision (Field School); Carriage Hills subdivision (Miller School); and Holiday Park (Fiegel School).

Also included in the proposed changes are: Westbriar Village subdivision (Pioneer Middle School); south of Ann Arbor Road — north of Joy Road (East Middle School); east of McClumpha, north of Ann Arbor Road (West Middle School); and Trailwood II and III (West Middle School).

School officials said the district lost $43,563 in 1978-79 (the most recent year complete figures were available). The state reimburses the district for busing students, however the district lost its reimbursement because the students don't live more than one-and-one-half miles from school.

For more specific information about the neighborhoods involved in the safety busing program, call school district offices, 453-0200. Parents whose children will no longer be bused will be notified by the school district, said Carol Davis, board president.

Culbert, Greenstein clash at candidates night

BY CHAS CHILD

Supervisor Noel Culbert and Trustee Robert Greenstein, challenging Culbert for his job, clashed over Super Sewer at the League of Women Voters candidates night Thursday.

Greenstein said that the township will have no rate control in the new sewer system that will drain communities from Canton south to Belleville and along the Huron River to Lake Erie. Earlier this year, Canton's Board of Trustees voted to join the project, dubbed Super Sewer.

Expected to be completed later this decade, the new system is being built by the Wayne County Board of Public Works.

Culbert replied that studies have shown that when Super Sewer is completed its rates will be cheaper than the ones offered by the City of Detroit, which operates Canton's current system. He added that the increased sewer capacity expected with Super Sewer will not endanger the township's efforts to preserve farmland in Western Canton.

A future sewer-use plan recently prepared by SEMCOG (Southeast Michigan Council of Governments) rules out expansion of sewer lines into Canton's farmland preservation district, he said.

Despite this, Greenstein said that he couldn't support Super Sewer until the township had control over the rates charged to Canton residents.

Besides Culbert and Greenstein, one other Democrat is seeking his party's nomination for supervisor in the Aug. 5 primary, former supervisor Harold Stein. John Barnette, another Democratic candidate, has withdrawn from the race.

On the Republican side of the ballot, former Trustee Jim Poole is running unopposed and will face the winner of the Democratic primary in November's general election.

Stein, who held the supervisor's chair from 1976-78, said he had a proven track record. "I've worked very hard for the township," he said. "I established many things, including Dial-a-Ride for senior citizens and the Canton Library."

If elected, Stein said he would continue his program to lure industry to the township to relieve taxes on residents. "Industrial development may not lower taxes, but it will stabilize them," he said.

Poole said he also would like to increase the township's tax base. And he believes that there are many large corporations whose holdings in Canton are grossly under-assessed. One $300,000 corporation was taxed only $924, for example, he said. Overall, Canton is losing $500,000 per year because of this, he added.

The evidence of this tax-dodging should be turned over to the township replied Culbert.

As for the violent storm that knocked out power for thousands of Cantonites two weeks ago, Poole said Culbert and the township administration should be commended for their emergency efforts. "They did an excellent job," he said. "It's not their fault the sirens didn't ring."

Although he said he didn't want to criticize any candidate on the panel, Greenstein said that the storm showed the township should improve its emergency preparations. "I've been saying we'll have a terrible economic crisis and we must prepare," he said. "The police should have riot training and a communications system."

Asked if the township's ordinance officers should carry handguns for protection, Poole Culbert, and Stein said "no." Greenstein voted as a trustee to arm the officers, said he could not answer the question with a simple "yes" OR "no," as required by the League of Women Voters moderator.

In other issues, the candidates differed slightly on the function of the township's Recreation Advisory Committee. All agreed that it should research recreation issues and advise the Board of Trustees. Greenstein said, however, that the committee "may not have been entirely unbiased. The committee should present, not politic."

"I fully support the committee," replied

Breen challenges Notebaert's leadership in Twp.

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Republican Maurice Breen attacked incumbent Plymouth Township Supervisor Tom Notebaert for his "lack of leadership" during candidates night last Wednesday.

"I'm running because I've been frustrated over the past four years by lack of leadership (in township hall)," Breen said. "The board (of trustees) takes a position and the administration either ignores it or takes one opposite to the board."

Notebaert and Breen, both Republicans, will faceoff in the Aug. 5 primary with the winner competing against Democrat Carol A. Levitte in the Nov. 4 general election.

Notebaert has been supervisor since 1976; Breen, currently a township trustee, was supervisor from 1970-72.

Breen also criticized Notebaert for not providing information to board members. "We have been sadly lacking in that (getting information)," he said. Levitte, too, called for the supervisor to provide more information to the board. The supervisor gets information to the board so they can decide on a good solid foundation, she said. It hasn't been occurring in the past, she added.

Notebaert asked voters to reelect him. "I can run the township the same as (I've run) successful businesses in the past," said the former realtor.

Furthermore, Notebaert said he was responsible for pursuing the change from general law township status to charter township, a move the board OK'd in June 1979. Later, however, Breen countered that, saying: "I introduced adopting charter township status."

Candidates night, featuring office-seekers for Wayne County and Plymouth Township posts, drew a dozen or so observers to Canton High's Little Theatre last Wednesday night.

Asked about the possibility of combining some services with the City of Plymouth, all three supervisor candidates said recreation would be the easiest department to start unification in. The civil service system, which the township has in its fire department, but the city doesn't, would complicate joining fire departments, said Levitte.

But combining programs, recreation, and garbage services could be considered, she said.

However, Breen attacked Notebaert's administration saying, "No efforts have been made since '72 to unify recreation areas."

Levitte also criticized the current board on its handling of the Hilltop Golf Course lawsuit. The board proceeded to hire three contractors to extend the current nine-hole course to 18 holes, "without taking into account its existing contract with John Jawor," (the man who leases the course from the township), she said.

Notebaert said his administration was responsible for the successful resolution of the annexation petitions, filed by the city in 1974.

Parents stump for soccer

A group of Plymouth-Canton parents who want soccer started as a varsity sport in the high schools spoke to the Board of Education Monday night.

Thousands of students in the school district play, said Dan Lee, a representative of the group. He suggested starting a girls' varsity team next spring.

School board members were reluctant to sign up to the program immediately. Elaine Kirchgatter, Tom Yack, Glenn Schroeder, and Carol Davis said the district has started soccer programs in the middle schools and they favored gradually increasing the program year-by-year.

"Let's move the program with the kids so that this year we'll start soccer in the eighth grade, next year in the ninth, and the following year in the 10th grade," said Davis.

Lee said such action was too slow, adding that other districts in the area had soccer programs. "If Northville can do it, why can't we?"

Board members also had questions about the costs, fields available, coaching staff, and finding competition from schools in the leagues that Plymouth-Canton competes against. It will cost additional money to bus players to games if the teams are from far-away schools, said Norm Kee, acting superintendent Monday night.

Lee is scheduled to meet with John Sandmann, athletic director, in August to map out a plan for starting a varsity soccer program. The committee will report back to the board at its meeting on Monday, Sept. 22.

ROGER A. HASLICK, above, will serve as co-chairman along with Gerry Triplett, general chairman, of the 1980 Plymouth Community Fund Drive. Haslick, who has been involved in the fund for four years, is an attorney in Plymouth. The drive, conducted during the month of October, will begin with a kick-off dinner in the last week of September.

Flodin adds touch of humor

Thanks to Canton Clerk John Flodin, the League of Women Voters candidates night Thursday night was not without a bit of humor.

Asked why citizens should trust politicians nowadays, Flodin replied, "I hope I've established credibility," but adding in an unfortunate Freudian slip, "My door is seldom open." After the chuckles from the audience and panel subsided, Flodin corrected himself.

Later in the evening, Flodin, explaining the sacrifices of public office, said there have been many times when he's come home to "a cold dinner and a hot wife."

Canton treasurer hopefuls field LWV audience questions

Four candidates for Canton Treasurer fielded a variety of questions from the audience at a League of Women Voters candidates night Thursday.

The first query dealt with appointment of a salaried deputy treasurer, and was directed to Democrats Maria Falkiewicz and Gerald Brown, and Republicans James Kearney and Leo Knasiak.

Kearney said he would appoint a deputy, saying the office was needed. Falkiewicz and Knasiak agreed, stating there was a need for continuity in the department. Brown dissented, stating the continuity must be instilled within other department personnel.

Asked whether campaign donations were accepted from township business customers, the only "yes" came from Falkiewicz.

Whether or not to go to a zero-based budget, which promises complete budgetary review instead of add-on expenses, was asked of Kearney.

He supported the move, saying, "it is the method used by professional business. It forces departments to look at the budget yearly."

Falkiewicz responded to a question involving investing in Chrysler stock by clarifying that the investment was in Chrysler commercial paper, a financial arm of the corporation. She also said the township pulled out of the investment some time ago.

The whole treasurer candidate panel also responded to a question dealing with the function of the Recreational Advisory Committee.

Knasiak said an important part of the committee was to advise the board of trustees on the needs of the township and costs involved in accomplishing those needs. Brown agreed, adding that surveys could possibly be made to identify other needs.

Falkiewicz said she expected to work with the group to expand recreational facilities and programs. Kearney added that an important part of the committee activities was to ensure there was no duplication between departments.

Kearney, who considered withdrawing from the primary race, was asked about the move. He said time constraints stemming from graduate work led to the consideration of withdrawal, but that he had decided against it.

Falkiewicz detailed the cooperation of township officials in response to a question on the recent windstorm, adding thanks to all department heads and trustees involved.

Perhaps the most rhetorical question of the evening was asked of a member of the panel when a member of the audience wanted to know "why should I believe you?"

Kearney replied he was in favor of "nothing fancy" in his program, adding that he strived for "professionalism and conservation."

Falkiewicz stood on her past record, saying she "tried hard to meet the things stated in the job and to do a good job" in addition to her support for "honest, open government."

Brown said he had no political ties as an independent, and would "hear from the people" their concerns and problems.

Knasiak stated he was qualified in banking, accounting and finance and would "honestly do the job."

Home rule an issue

Of the eight candidates running in the Wayne County Charter Commission Race in the 27th District, only four spoke at candidates night Wednesday, sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Stating their views on the Charter Commission were Bart Berg, a Republican, and Democrats Walter Hink, Jack Weingand, and W. Edward Wendover.

All four candidates agree that a "yes" vote on Proposal A (reorganization of Wayne County) is essential. "If you believe Wayne County is beyond the state of repair, then vote "yes" on reorganization," said Wendover. "It is better that we (the voters) do it than the judge," he added. Wendover also said the county needed a strong executive in charge, instead of a 27-member board.

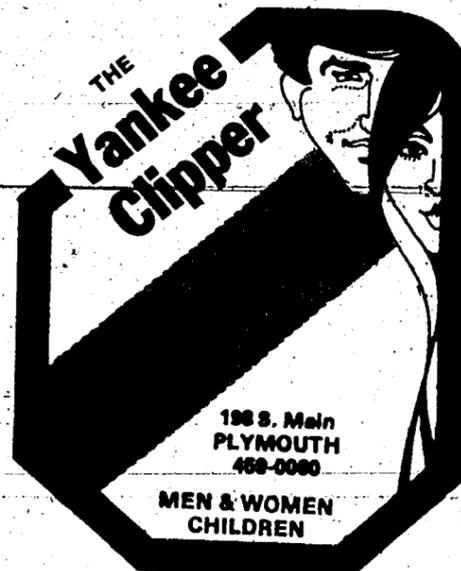

Weingand, in urging a "yes" vote on the Charter Commission, said he had the right combination of experience and education to do the job. He is currently working on a masters degree.

Berg said the reorganization is long overdue. "It disturbs me to see the judicial system resolve our problems. Whatever happened to common sense?" Berg also said the county road commission should be opened up and not have control over air and freight. "We need to put more business in government and have less government in business," he said.

Hink, an attorney in Canton, advocated the need for a countywide executive. "The Board of Commissioners should be purely legislative," he said. He also said the present number of commissioners was too large to be effective. "I have the legal expertise to deal with the legal problems that will be forced by the Wayne County Commission," he added.

Patrick Foley, Robert Myers, and Greg Holland did not respond. Gloria Hammonds was on vacation. All four are Democrats.

New home for retarded teens

Construction of a home for six mentally retarded teenagers has started in Plymouth Township.

Located at 11200 Beck Rd., between Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road, the home is sponsored by Pyramid Human Services, Inc. in order to provide a family-like setting for the youngsters. The teens, who are currently living in Quincy-Beck Home in Detroit, range in age from 12 to 17 years old. Quincy-Beck Home is closing because the facility is "old and beyond repair," said James Minder, executive director of Pyramid Human Services.

The home will be staffed 24-hours a day, seven days-a-week, with double staffing on weekends and in afternoons when the teens are home from school, said Minder. There will be a rotating staff of seven, he added.

"Usually we have a great deal of acceptance from neighbors once we've moved in," he said. The staff will sponsor a neighborhood advisory committee to help foster good community relations, he said. Currently there are about 60 homes located within 1,500 feet of the home.

The home should be completed within 60 days and they plan to move in at the end of September, he said.

The teens will go to various programs sponsored by the Wayne County Intermediary School District, he said.

Pyramid Human Services is a multi-service organization with programs in foster care, caring for the mentally retarded and homes for juvenile delinquents, said Minder. Located in Ann Arbor, the non-profit organization also has offices in Westland and Detroit.

The youngsters families are from western Wayne County, said Marn Myers, supervisor in child welfare licensing for the Department of Social Services. (DSS)

They are educable and trainable, she said. DSS acts as a licensing agent for organizations such as Pyramid Human Services.

Under state law, Plymouth Township cannot deny a building permit for homes for the mentally retarded. The area is currently zoned for single-family dwellings and this home, limited to six, falls into the proper category, according to Donald Morgan, township attorney.

After being informed of the plans for the home at last Tuesday night's meeting, trustees criticized the state for not providing more information about the program to them. "It represents very poor planning (by the state)," said Trustee Gerald Law. "There's a lot of fear and apprehension."

"I'm not suggesting that there's any way to stop it -- or even that we want to -- I wish we had more information on who we're working with and who's involved in it," said Trustee Maurice Breen.

At its next meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 12, trustees will meet with representatives from Pyramid Human Services to discuss the home. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. at Plymouth Township Hall.

Township candidates debate expansion issue

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Several candidates for trustee posts are in favor of industrial expansion in the northern portion of Plymouth Township.

They spoke to about a dozen persons at the League of Women Voters candidates night last Wednesday.

Patrick Downes, a Democrat, urged the township to expand industrial development. "We must actively promote industry to let it share the cost of educating our children," he said.

With access to railroads and expressways, Plymouth Township could support industrial growth and "there has been no major industrial growth in the last four years," he said.

Republican candidate Andy Pruner also spoke in favor of more industrial expansion. "We're going to have to tighten our belts," he said, "and lure more industry to the Five Mile-Sheldon area."

Appearing at the forum, in addition to Downes and Pruner were: Barbara Lynch, a Republican incumbent; Gerald Law, a Republican incumbent; Albert Calille, a Republican newcomer; and Ann Arendsen, also a Republican newcomer to the race.

There are two Democrats in the race, Downes and Donald Skinner.

Skinner was absent because he was attending a meeting of the Planning Commission, of which he is an appointed member; Lee Fidge, an incumbent Republican was also absent. She is in the hospital. However, she sent a statement which was read to the audience along with Skinner's statement.

Both Lynch and Law said budgetary matters will be an issue to resolve during the boards' next term. The budget is declining, yet services cost more... The township board will be facing those responsibilities, said Lynch. She is seeking her second term in office.

"It's time to hold down government costs, not escalate them," commented Law.

Calille, an attorney for Michigan Bell, called for township government to be both "responsive and responsible to the community."

Asked if they favored the construction of senior citizen housing in Plymouth Township, all the candidates supported it, but most questioned how it could be funded.

Financially, the township is unprepared to fund it, said Pruner. Law said if senior housing was built with federal subsidies, "there's no guarantee that township residents would live there."

"We all believe in it," said Lynch, "but we (the township) can't afford it. We'll encourage it, but we can't fund it."

Pruner, a Wayne County Sheriff's Deputy, said there "was no conflict of interest" between his job and his role as a trustee, if elected. "My job is eight hours a day," he said, adding that he would devote time to township committees and trustee responsibilities, if he was elected. Pruner was an unsuccessful candidate for a trustee post in 1976.

Asked which areas the City of Plymouth and the township could cooperate, nearly all the candidates said recreational services could be jointly sponsored.

Only Downes opposed unified programs with the city. Last year the city wasn't interested in pursuing joint police services with the township, he said. "It's wise for the township to back off and let the city make overtures," he said. "They don't seem cooperative."

Calille said some city-township joint services could be offered, but he didn't specify which programs.

Lynch mentioned the problems associated with civil service, which the township has, but the city doesn't, in unifying services such as fire departments. "There are too many fires burning to get them together now," she said, however computer services could be done jointly, she added.

"Let's explore all avenues," said Law. "We're not looking at costs today, but 10 years from now. Let's not duplicate services."

Arendsen, a former stewardess and substitute teacher who's making her first bid for a trustee slot, said she's learned a lot about the township during her campaign. "Let's work together without attacking each other," she said. "I can get the job done as cost effectively as possible."

In her statement, Fidge, who was elected to the board in 1976, said she has been an "active, contributing board member." She said she's worked toward developing a bike path plan and sewer service extension policy. "There's more to being a trustee than simply attending three meetings a month," she wrote. Fidge is the township's representative to SEMCOG (Southeast Michigan Council Governments).

Skinner, a Michigan Bell engineer and in his third term on the township's planning commission also sent a statement to be read. He said the members of the planning commission supported his election bid. "I'm interested in seeing the township remain a viable community with each tax dollar yielding a return." He also proposed that the township adopt a better garbage collection policy.

Six Republicans and two Democrats are listed on Tuesday's ballot. Both Democrats will continue to the Nov. 4 general election with two Republicans trimmed off the Republican ticket for the November race.

Along with the supervisor, clerk, and treasurer, trustees will be elected to four-year terms. Previously, their terms had been two years, however, the state legislature approved an extension of their terms last year.

RICHARD C. KAUFMAN RUNS FOR CIRCUIT COURT

Do the presidential election prospects have you leaning toward "None of the Above"? Do the candidates for local office seem to be coming out of the woodwork? There is one name to watch--Richard Kaufman. "Richard Kaufman?" you say, "the name sounds familiar . . ."

You may recognize the name as the attorney who championed the cause of Wayne County residents and unmarried drivers against the automobile insurance companies who charged them higher rates. Attorney Kaufman also worked for years as legal advisor to the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

Kaufman, an honors graduate of the University of Michigan and Wayne State Law School, is a candidate for Wayne County Circuit Court in the August 5 Primary Election. He has strong feelings about the quality (or lack of quality) in the Michigan judiciary after practicing law in Wayne County for years. "Often a judge in Michigan retains his office for so many years that he ceases to be a servant of the law, and instead views the law as his servant. I believe there are strong arguments in favor of a limitation on the amount of years a person can hold judicial office."

On August 5, when you pull the lever or punch the holes on the primary election ballot, take a moment to read down the list of candidates and find the name, RICHARD C. KAUFMAN. He will make a fine judge and he deserves your vote.

Notebaert is best choice for GOP selection

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: July 30, 1980

With some reservations, The Crier extends its endorsement in the Plymouth Township Supervisor's race to incumbent Tom Notebaert.

Notebaert faces tough competition from former supervisor Maurice Breen in this primary race. Breen has launched a hard-hitting campaign in past weeks, aiming at one of Notebaert's biggest faults: his lack of leadership in office.

Even though Breen has pinpointed Notebaert's problem in office, we aren't confident that Breen offers a better alternative. Several examples of Breen's lack of good judgment cause us to hesitate in endorsing him in this race.

For example, soon after he was defeated by J.D. McLaren in 1972, Breen returned to law practice. However his choice in clients wasn't very appropriate. He represented the Plymouth Township firefighter's union during negotiations with Plymouth Township.

Jumping the fence like that doesn't seem proper. There are plenty of clients for lawyers without choosing to represent the township's firefighters, particularly soon after having left as chief administrator of township hall. We think such action shows bad judgment on Breen's part.

Though we can't endorse Breen, we aren't wholeheartedly in favor of four more years for Notebaert either. (In some races, we wish the best qualities of each candidate could be combined.)

Township Hall, under Notebaert's supervision has been sadly lacking in leadership, information and direction. Breen summed it up well at candidates nights saying, "Tom's a nice guy, but..."

The township has gotten itself into some sticky situations because Notebaert has failed to take situations firmly in hand. For example, a lawsuit was filed against Plymouth Township to stop expansion of the Hilltop Golf Course. It's sad to see a lawsuit filed when the situation could have and should have been anticipated and worked out previously.

Township Hall hasn't been thriving under Notebaert's tenure in office, it's been barely subsisting.

The Breen-Notebaert choice in the Aug. 5 primary poses a difficult one for voters, however, we think Notebaert's the best candidate.

The winner in the primary will face Democrat Carol Levitte in the Nov. 4 general election. Running unopposed on both ballots are Clerk Esther Hulsing and Treasurer Joseph West. We wish the Plymouth Township races had drawn more candidates; the voters deserve well-rounded choices in these races.

Despite lukewarm record, Culbert tops candidates for Canton supervisor

With two former supervisors and the incumbent running, the Democratic race for supervisor in Canton does not lack experienced candidates.

Unfortunately, none of the candidates, incumbent Noel Culbert, or former supervisors Harold Stein and Robert Greenstein, seem capable of providing the leadership Canton deserves. John Barnette will also appear on the ballot, but he has withdrawn from the race and should not be considered.

We believe, however, that Culbert is the best choice. Not because he has done a particularly good job in the last two years; but because the alternatives are at best, lukewarm. On the Republican ballot, James Poole is running unopposed.

First: Harold Stein. Supervisor from 1974-76, his tenure was marked by an unwillingness to compromise and work with other members of the board of trustees and the public. Moreover, he bungled the handling of two requests to build subsidized-income housing in Canton, in Pickwick Village and Forest Trails subdivision. Not that we're against such housing (we support it), but the evidence shows that Stein failed to let the public know it was coming.

Also, against all common sense, Stein supported to the bitter end an expensive helicopter program for Canton's police department.

To his credit, Stein advanced many worthwhile projects: the library, which will open soon, park development, and industrial expansion. But, overall, Canton, does not need four more years of Harold Stein.

And then there's Robert Greenstein. Over the years, Greenstein has done much to shake up township government to help it face many difficult problems caused by the rapid growth endured by the township in the last 10 years.

But from a practical standpoint, Greenstein is not suited for the supervisor's job. He is too contentious, too unwilling to compromise. He has undercut township employees, and generally holds that if you don't agree with him, you're against him.

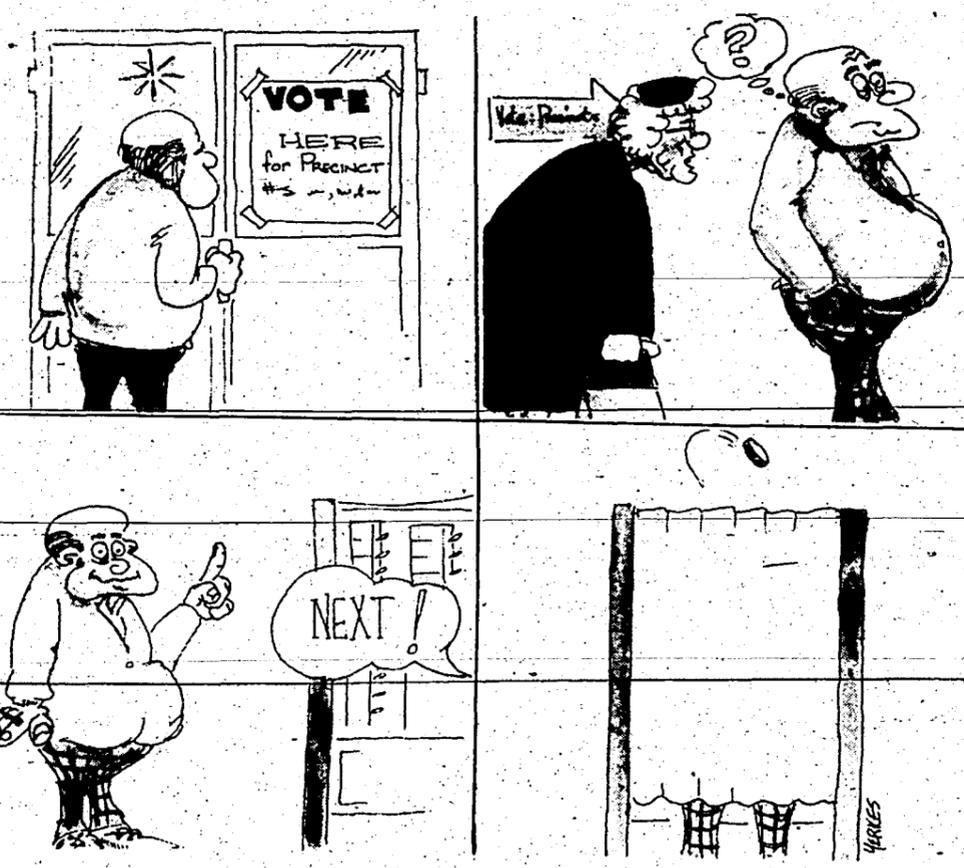

So this leaves Culbert. The incumbent favors a growth control and is willing to compromise with all factions. However, he's indecisive and has trouble managing the various departments at Township Hall.

He also is a poor chairman of the Board of Trustees meetings. Much time is wasted, much confusion is generated as Culbert drifts through the agenda.

Culbert did a good job providing increased water pressure for Canton residents, which shows he can do the job if he puts his mind to it. With more planning, thinking ahead, and organizing, Culbert could be a good supervisor.

So, for lack of an outstanding alternative, and with hope that he'll continue to grow into the job, we guardedly endorse Culbert.

Vote to reorganize County

EDITOR:
 Have you ever looked at an organization chart for Wayne County? It might be more aptly described as a disorganization chart. It is almost impossible to decide who is responsible to whom — a headless maze of commissions, departments, and elected and appointed officials, no executive to coordinate functions, and a 27-member board of commissioners with both legislative and executive duties.
 It's no wonder everybody, including the governor and the state legislature, says something has to be done about it.
 That something would be the authorization of a charter commission. Such a commission could untangle the lines of authority and provide for a county executive.

 The county spends $1 million a day. That's big business. We can get a start on receiving value for our tax money by voting YES for a charter commission on Aug. 5.

AFTER THE STORM

Detroit Edison extends its thanks to more than 300,000 customers who suffered from the most severe thunderstorm on record.

Your patience and understanding helped make orderly restoration of electricity possible.

The thunderstorm that struck at 9 A.M. Wednesday, July 16 was the worst in the area's history. Over 500 utility poles were snapped like toothpicks by hurricane force winds.

8,000 spans of Detroit Edison wire were ripped apart and 700 miles of overhead lines downed. Facilities which took years to build were destroyed in a few minutes. Much of the damage was caused by trees falling on lines and poles.

Immediately after the skies cleared, experienced damage evaluators began to assess the degree of destruction.

Transmission towers and cross arms were twisted piles of steel.

Thousands of uprooted trees littered the streets blocking access to power lines.

Nearly 35 substations and 200 distribution circuits were interrupted.

In all, more than 300,000 customers were left without power.

By noon, repair crews were transferred to the southern portion of Detroit Edison's electrical system where the damage was heaviest. On Thursday, every available company, contract and tree trim crew was at work in Detroit and Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

Working ahead of the repair crews, evaluators determined the degree of trouble in each circuit. They estimated requirements for crews and equipment.

So massive was the destruction that almost immediately Detroit Edison called for help from other utilities through its Mutual Assistance Pact. Soon, 101 crews from out-of-state utilities, including Cleveland Electric Illuminating, Toledo Edison, Ohio Edison and Commonwealth Edison of Chicago were working alongside Detroit Edison crews.

Restoration efforts went on around the clock. In 90 degree heat more than 2000 field workers labored on 16-hour shifts to restore power to customers in a repair program that continued until all power was restored. Repair work carried on even through the following Sunday's heavy thunderstorm which deprived 15,000 additional customers of electricity.

First priority in power restoration is given to emergency facilities such as hospitals or buildings housing medical equipment. Next, police and fire stations, water and sewage pumping stations, as well as high voltage transmission and subtransmission lines feeding individual substations are restored. In all cases, those repairs which restore power to the greatest number of customers and take the least time are given priority.

At this report, Detroit Edison believes it has restored power to all customers left without electricity by the recent storm.

It was hard work, skill and dedication that made this so. And for this Detroit Edison says a special thank you to the repair crews and Detroit Edison people supporting them.

We also express our appreciation to the many customers who talked to the crews in person or who telephoned or wrote our offices to say thank you.

If you or someone you know is still without electricity, please contact your nearest Detroit Edison customer office.

Keeping the power in your hands

Padget, Larson, Bodenmiller for Canton trustee

Canton voters face two strong fields of candidates in the Democratic and Republican primaries for trustee. Four persons from each party will advance to the November ballot.

First, the Republicans. The two best choices are Robert Padget, currently chairman of the Canton Planning Commission, and Trustee Stephen Larson, who was appointed to the Board of Trustees last year after Lynne Goldsmith resigned.

Probably the most outstanding candidate in either party, Padget has done an excellent job on the planning commission. He guided the commission to adopt a new master land-use plan for the township with ample reason, fairness and a sound sense of compromise.

Since assuming his seat on the board of trustees, Larson has supported strict economy measures and sound business principles for the management of township government. He deserves a full term in his own right on the board.

Among the remaining Republicans, Robert Schaetzl is the next best choice. Active for years in the effort to attract industry to Canton, Schaetzl would make a good trustee.

The final three, Thom Carman, Loren Bennett and Duane Bordine are all qualified, but we hesitate to endorse any of them for the final Republican spot.

Carman, a planning commissioner, is the most experienced of the trio, but we wonder if he's a serious candidate. First, he failed to take the time to fill out the League of Women Voters questionnaire, sent to all candidates. Moreover, we wonder why he apparently switched to the Republican Party after working for years as an operative in former Democratic Supervisor Robert Greenstein's political machine.

Bordine and Bennett are both qualified for the job, but lack experience in township affairs. We hope they maintain their interest in local government, however.

In the Democratic Party, nine candidates are hoping to win the four spots on the November ballot.

The top candidates are incumbent Trustee Carol Bodenmiller and Larry Bowerman. A very hard worker, Bodenmiller has logged more house in committees, meetings and one township affairs in general than any other trustee. She deserves another term.

Bowerman has done a good job for the past two years in a thankless task, chairman of the township's Merit Commission. He is knowledgeable in virtually all areas of township government and has attended most board meetings in the last two years.

Unfortunately, we offer no strong endorsements for the two remaining positions. The best choices are Michael Quick, Gary Roberts, Dianne Neihengen, Elizabeth Hamann and Mary Dingeldey.

Roberts has long been active in township affairs and is a hard worker. He tends, however, to get too emotional over some issues and abandon consistency and common sense.

Hamann is also well-versed on township government, but also lacks consistency.

Quick is well qualified but does not have the history of involvement that many candidates have. We hope he maintains his interest.

A planning commissioner, Dianne Neihengen is qualified, but does not have the overall grasp of township government that many other candidates have.

Dingeldey is also knowledgeable and has shown a long-term interest in township government.

The final candidates are incumbent Trustee Eugene Daley and James Bridenthal. Although he has shown a good share of common sense in his four years in office, Daley has not worked particularly hard. He tends to sit back and watch, rather than wade into township problems and get things done. We believe someone else deserves a chance.

Bridenthal seems a one-issue candidate: business. We don't believe he'd work for all the residents of Canton.

For Canton treasurer: Falkiewicz, Knasiak

In the upcoming months, the position of treasurer in Canton will become increasingly important due to the tough economic picture forecasted for the whole state.

In the Democratic Party, we endorse Maria Falkiewicz, while giving support to Gerald Brown, a newcomer to Canton politics. Falkiewicz has shown a willingness to take increasing responsibility on the job, partially caused by several absences of the present treasurer, James Donahue. She has the experience, is active in Canton organizations, and has helped Canton achieve a sound investment program.

Republican Leo Knasiak also appears to have the credentials to do a good job as treasurer. We endorse him on the Republican ticket. James Kearney, a Republican dropped out of the race at one point, later changing his mind. He seems, at times, to be preoccupied with other commitments.

Democrat Anne Bradley is clearly unqualified for the job. She failed both to answer the League of Women Voters questionnaire and to appear at candidates night.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

DON'T vote Carlson for Congress

The public's choice in the Republican primary of the 15th U.S. Congressional District, which includes all of Canton Township, is really no choice at all.

Running are James Caygill, public safety director of the City of Woodhaven, and Gerald Carlson, of Dearborn.

Carlson's racist views (see his statement in today's Crier) automatically disqualify him from consideration for public office. In fact, we wish he'd crawl in a hole somewhere and be forgotten.

Vote for Caygill, who will provide a responsible alternative to incumbent Democratic Congressman William D. Ford in November.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Lynch, Law, Calille lead Twp. trustee candidates

With six Republicans and two Democrats listed on the Aug. 5 primary ballot in the Plymouth Township trustee race, two Republicans will be eliminated from the race.

The Crier recommends casting a vote for incumbent Barbara Lynch. Though not as strong, we also endorse incumbent Gerald Law. Albert Calille, a newcomer to the race, also may represent a good choice.

We do not support the reelection of incumbent Weyona Lee Fidge nor the candidacies of Andy Pruner or Ann Arendsen.

We support Lynch because we believe her past performance as a trustee has been honest, aggressive, and in the best interests of the township. She has devoted hours to serving on committees and makes efforts toward creative problem-solving in township affairs. She asks the most questions at township board meetings and has a firm grasp of governmental affairs.

Law, too, could exert real leadership on the township board, however, his performance as a trustee has been disappointing. He seems to understand the issues, but sits back and lets others take the initiative. We support his candidacy, but hope he takes a more active role in township affairs, particularly at board of trustees' meetings.

Calille, though relatively new to township politics, seems to have a thoughtful approach. He needs to familiarize himself with the issues and define himself.

Although Fidge has been a hard worker in Plymouth Township, we don't support her reelection. Her past performances have shown that she can be quarrelsome and petty, rather than a good representative on the board.

Pruner, who was an unsuccessful candidate in the 1976 race, seems to be too inexperienced in governmental affairs to exert any real power at the board-level. Certainly a sincere and hard-working candidate, Pruner must specify why he's more qualified and a better candidate to the electorate before he can be supported. We do not support his candidacy.

And, Arendsen, after her slapstick appearance at candidates night last Wednesday, can hardly be considered a serious contender. Although well-intentioned, she lacks the political know-how to be an effective member of the board.

Two Democratic candidates, Patrick Downes and Donald Skinner, will also be on the Aug. 5 primary ballot. However, since they are unopposed and both are assured of a spot on the November ballot, we are not taking a stance on their candidacies.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Don't delay County reform; vote 'yes' on Proposal A

We urge citizens to vote "yes" on Proposal A, to establish a charter commission to write a new charter for Wayne County.

County government desperately needs a head-to-toe reorganization. And to do this, a new charter is needed. The present county system is an unworkable holdover from horse-and-buggy days. Accountability and responsibility are lost in the hodge-podge of commissions, an unwieldy Board of Commissioners, cronyism, and patronage.

A new charter, calling for a county executive, is the only cure.

Although virtually everyone agrees that overhaul is necessary, some persons have advocated a "no" vote on Proposal A. They hold that charter commission representation will be based on 1970, no 1980, census figures, which, obviously, will favor the City of Detroit at the expense of the suburbs.

We, too, would prefer representation based on the recently released 1980 figures. But the crying need for county reorganization outweighs this consideration.

If Proposal A is defeated, reorganization will be delayed years, and may be eventually decided by the courts. Vote "yes" on Proposal A.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

No endorsement in Charter race

As many Crier readers know, this newspaper's publisher, W. Edward Wendover, is a candidate for Wayne County Charter Commission (27th District).

Although we would like to offer an endorsement in this race, because the charter commission will reshape county government for years to come, we believe Wendover's candidacy makes this impossible.

The editorial judgment of The Crier staff must remain independent and above political interests. An endorsement in this race, therefore, would place us under a cloud of suspicion.

Instead, we ask our readers to thoroughly review the candidates for the commission. They are, in alphabetical order: Democrats Patrick Foley, Gloria Hammonds, Walter Hink, Gregory Holland, Robert Myers, W. Edward Wendover, and Jack Wiegand, and Republican Bart Berg.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Renominate Pursell for Congress

The Republican primary in Michigan's 2nd U.S. Congressional District, which includes the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, features incumbent Carl Pursell and Helen Gotowka, of Dearborn Heights.

We believe Gotowka, who does not even live in the 2nd District, is not a serious candidate. She has done virtually no campaigning; and her views are eccentric, to say the least. For example, she favors building 400-foot-wide runways of concrete and steel from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific Ocean for hovercraft. We cannot depend on the Panama Canal," she says.

Pursell has been an effective legislator in Congress and deserves renomination.

Sheep may mean more than wool

Long an embarrassment to City of Plymouth officials, Clarence Moore's sheep farm — right in the heart of downtown — may now become a great boon.

This anachronism, hiding peacefully in the shadow of the city's most-storied building, could be the key to "The City of Homes" proving it should qualify for federal farm funds.

How did this interesting occurrence come about?

It starts with the hiring last fall of Hank Graper as city manager. Whatever can be said about Hank, one must admit he's willing to take a look at any solution to a problem.

At the manager's first meeting of the city commission, discussion arose on how to finance the proposed decking of the Central Parking Lot. Graper, (who had been told by anxious commissioners trying to lure him here that the city population topped 12,000), said that were the city's population less than 10,000 funding might be available from the U.S. Farmers Home Administration.

How prophetic that remark might turn out to be!

The preliminary 1980 census figures released last week show the city's population had declined to 9,899 from its 1970 mark of 11,758.

If those figures hold up, it would mean a loss of federal and state aid in many aspects more damaging than the bonus of farm administration low-interest loans.

But, even so, the city may have a tough time even getting farm funds.

Some local officials who work with federal grants say it's unlikely that farm loans would be available to a community located in Wayne County, which is so predominantly urban.

Here enter Clarence's sheep.

Although the farm, located between Deer, Wing streets, is hardly noticeable to most passersby, an occasional midnight bleating at lamb time reminds nearby suburbanites that this throwback to earlier days remains.

Clarence, worried about his status in these days of updated zoning ordinances, is generally shy about getting publicity for his lifetime avocation. But now, if city officials find themselves pressed to prove the city's claim for U.S. farm funds (say to finance the new, unified court building, Clarence may find himself and his sheep occupying a new-found position of honor.

If they're needed to prove the city's still into farming, one can expect that Clarence will receive an invitation from Hank asking him to herd up the flock and bring them to a city commission meeting where they'll be honored by Mayor Mary Childs with individually-engraved plaques fleeced from the taxpayers' pockets.

He's proud of Plymouth's role in GOP convention

Now that the Republican Convention is over and the last delegate has checked out, there is time to reflect upon the excitement of and events of the past week.

As a hotelier, I have lived in several cities throughout the United States. Never have I felt as much a part of or been as proud of the collective efforts of a single community as Plymouth has demonstrated this past week.

The Massachusetts delegation and guests have been completely overwhelmed by the generosity, ambiance and hospitality displayed. Many of the conventioners indicated that they have never been treated as well before and I personally feel that no one at

No other community in the Detroit area gave of themselves like the people of Plymouth and I'm proud to be part of it.

An open letter to Plymouth Township Voters...

On August 5 you will go to the polls to make your choice for candidate for Township Supervisor.

The person you choose bears the responsibility of managing the Township in accordance with policies determined by the Township Board of Trustees.

During the past 20 years, the Township has grown from a small, rural community to a medium-sized urban community. We must have good business management to insure our tax dollars are not wasted.

My experience in law, business and township government convinces me that we need effective management now more than ever.

I deeply believe township government can be the most economical and efficient form of government. It can reflect the idea that "PEOPLE ARE OUR PRIORITY". I have fought to keep the Township a "PEOPLE" community these past 20 years. I ask that you consider me as your candidate.

SINCERELY,

Maurice M. Breen

Canton politics are often hotly debated

In the last 10 years has been the focus of the township's often tumultuous politics. Canton's politicians have waged bitter fights over how to plan, control, and even stop growth.

And whoever wins this election will hold the supervisor's chair for the next four years, providing an opportunity to set the township's course for decades to come. The State Legislature doubled — from two to four years — the terms of all township supervisors, clerks, and treasurers in Michigan, effective this election.

Moreover, the legislature decreed that the terms of township board members will run concurrently. Therefore, all seven members of Canton's board, the three administrators and four trustees, have four-year terms that will run together starting after November's general election.

Besides Culbert and Greenstein, one other Democrat is seeking his party's nomination for supervisor in the Aug. 5 primary, former supervisor Harold Stein. John Barnette, another Democratic candidate, has withdrawn from the race.

On the Republican side of the ballot, former Trustee Jim Poole faces no opposition in the primary.

Greenstein was elected in 1974. He rode a crest of sentiment among township newcomers to slow and control the rapid homebuilding in Canton. The highlight of his program is his plan to preserve farmland in the western half of the township.

Two years later, however, he was ousted in the primary by newcomer Harold Stein. Promising to reassess Greenstein's growth-control and farm-preservation policies, Stein went on to fend off a determined write-in campaign by Greenstein in the November election.

Many voters, although they may have supported his policies, were apparently turned off by Greenstein's often contentious style and outspoken views.

Noel Culbert, however, beat Stein in the 1978 election, and in a repeat history, easily overcame Stein's write-in effort in November. Greenstein, meanwhile, won a trustee seat in the 1978 election.

Culbert generally supports growth control and farmland preservation, although he and Greenstein have argued bitterly during the last two years on the methods.

A number of questions will be answered by the Aug. 5 voting. First, will township residents reject the incumbent supervisor for the third time in a row? Or will they stay with incumbent Culbert in an effort to provide more stability to township government?

And what about the approximate 7,000 new registered voters eligible to vote in Canton for the first time this year? Are they happy with Culbert's stewardship or will they turn to someone else?

Also, can the political machine of Robert Greenstein, powerful in the past, still have the muscle to win?

In other races, Clerk John Flodin is running unopposed in either party, while the treasurer's race features solid campaigns in both parties.

Deputy Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz faces Gerald Brown and Anne Bradley in the Democratic ballot; and Leo Knasiak and James Kearney face off for the Republican nomination.

The race for four trustee seats also has solid fields in both parties. Seeking the four Republican spots on the November ballot are Loren Bennett, Duane Bordine, Thom Carman, Stephen Larson, Robert Padget, and Robert Schaeztl.

WaCo business loans announced

The Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County has announced an emergency program to assist businesses in southern and western Wayne County including Plymouth-Canton damaged during the recent storm in the area.

The assistance, which is available under the HUD Section 312 Program, can provide loans of up to $100,000 at 3 per cent interest for periods up to 20 years for structural repairs and rehabilitation.

For further information, call the Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County at 336-3306. During this period the EDC's telephones will be monitored 24 hours a day.

Stein arrested

Former Canton Supervisor Harold P. Stein, who is a candidate for supervisor again this year, was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor July 27 at 2:47 a.m. at Michigan Ave. and Lilley, according to the Wayne County Sheriff's Traffic Division.

Stein was booked and released on $100 bond. He is scheduled to appear in the 35th District Court on Aug. 27.

Canton hopefuls debate

Stein, "and the board should listen to it."

And Poole said, "The committee should recommend programs that cost the least amount of money, but the board has the ultimate decision."

In his closing statement, Culbert said, "I've pursued industry, and the township should pay more attention to recreation. I've tried to do the best job I could. I've been flexible and independent."

Stein, in his final statement, said, "I've worked very hard. I have lots of business experience. And I've been honest and truthful." "I feel I'm the best and ablest candidate," said Greenstein. "I started the police department, and worked for the new master land-use plan, farmland preservation and stopping growth."

"I'd like to instill pride in Canton," said Poole. "And I'd like to solve our tax problems, in which homeowners are subsidizing builders and speculators."

In a letter to the League of Women Voters, Barnette, who did not appear, said he was disappointed in the lack of recreation in Canton and that he would seek to end "fiscal mismanagement" in township government.

Pursell, Gotowka answer LWV questionnaire

(editor's note: These are League of Women Voters Candidates' statements for Carl Pursell and Helen Gotowka, both Republican candidates for Congressional representative from the 2nd District. Also included are statements from Gerald Carlson and James Caygill, Republican candidates for the 15th District U.S. Congress. Questions are provided.)

1. What steps do you advocate to deal with the current state of inflation/recession?
2. How can the U.S. best meet its long term energy needs and balance environmental concerns?
3. What changes, if any, are needed in U.S. foreign trade policies?
4. Do you feel that the defense budget should be increased. If so, how would you fund it?
5. Are you in favor of an amendment to the U.S. Constitution requiring a balanced budget? Explain.

Carl Pursell

1. I introduced a bill in Congress that would reduce taxes 30 per cent over the next five years, a more modest cut than the Kamp-Roth bill. A too-drastic cut could be inflationary. The five-year phase-in will provide stability and help planning and faith in government. We also need to balance the budget. The federal government, like a household budget, can't afford deficits because they cause inflation.

2. I support seeking alternative sources of energy, such as laser fusion, synthetic fuels, coal, geothermal energy, and solar power. I introduced the National Energy Trust Fund bill that would provide incentives for private energy research. We must unleash private resources and talent to solve the energy problem.

3. The United States should reopen trade discussions with Japanese. I don't favor import restrictions, because the U.S. exports more than it imports. However, the U.S. spends $520 per capita on national defense; Japan spends $10 per capita. The Japanese use the money saved to subsidize key industries, such as automobiles and electronics, which sell overseas. Also, we must put our fiscal house in order. If we put the American dollar back in its No. 1 standing, it will affect our economic strength and foreign policy.

4. We need an adequate defense. The military needs a rapid response force for the Middle East, an improved Navy, and higher pay for servicemen to encourage re-enlistment.

5. Rather than amend the Constitution, we should first try to cap spending by statute. I co-sponsored such a law. We should also elect responsible officials who will hold down spending.

2. Lack of productivity big factor of inflation. Negroes do not work like white people; in addition they sabotage. Corrupt Communist-led unions protect Negroes. Solution: stop affirmative action, instill more respect and discipline in Negroes, regulate unions. Another big factor of inflation is the greedy shyster retailers who need controlling.

2. To live more economically the white people must retake control of the cities. We should be able to live closer together and separate from Negro crime and violence. Thus we could have mass transportation systems to match the best in the world. Separatism would bring about an environmental balance.

3. We must become more professional and productive. To do this we will have to limit and control the Negroes involved in technical work. How can we compete with the Japanese and Germans when Negro inspired drugs, alcohol, numbers racketeering and prostitution are allowed on the job.

4. Yes. I would fund it by cutting back drastically on social welfare programs, provisional studies which yield nothing and by cutting off the so-called aid to cities. The Negro cities must become independent or perish. The white people of this country have become slaves for the Negroes.

5. No. That would be too rigid. I would rather put people into office who have the sense to initiate the programs necessary to maintain a balanced budget. To do this we would have to limit and control the Negroes and send the criminal element back to Africa.

1. Five year plan for no-interest loans to construction industry, new home and new American car buyers. To create new demand for U.S. steel and concrete, I propose "HOP" (Helen's Overland Project). This is a route which would consist of two 400-foot-wide runways of concrete and steel from the Pacific Ocean to the Gulf of Mexico for new giant ocean-going hovercraft which could be of our own design or purchased from England. We cannot depend on the Panama Canal. We must control our own destiny. We must think big! Federal Reserve System is obsolete. The people, through Congress, must manage our monetary policy. We need a flexible budget. Interest is inflation. It absorbs purchasing power. Interest contributes nothing to the Gross National Product.

2. Varied synthetic fuels, including hydrogen; nuclear energy including thorium, with greater safeguards.

3. High duties on all imports. We must protect our industrial base.

4. Need massive defense budget. By expanding national economic monetary budget to include necessary defense.

5. Absolutely not. A country must have a flexible economic-monetary budget to meet its needs.

Canton trustee hopefuls parade at candidates night

BY DAN BODENE

Canton voters got an in-depth look at the collection of hopefuls competing for trustee slots in the upcoming primary election at a candidates night Thursday.

Sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton League of Women Voters, the forum allowed audience members to direct questions to prospective trustees.

One of the first questions asked dealt with a manager form of government in Canton, directed to the entire panel.

Candidate Loren Bennett, a Republican, said he would support the change due to an increase in continuity between administrations he felt would occur with a hired township manager. His sentiment was echoed by republican Robert Schaezel, and conditionally by Republican Stephen Larson, Democrats Mary Dingeldey and Elizabeth Hamann and Republican Robert Padget, who felt the matter needed more research.

The idea was turned down by Democratic candidates Larry Bowerman, Carol Bodenmiller, Michael Quick, Dianne Neihengen and Gary Roberts, and Republican Thom Carman who felt the supervisor form of government is still acceptable.

Duane Bordine, a Republican, suggested a compromise involving both supervisor and manager, a concept incumbent Democrat Eugene Daley disagreed with.

Responding to a question as to the amount of attorney fees for the township, Bennett said that although there was no question an attorney's opinion was often needed, he felt recent fees were excessive.

Candidates Hamann, Bowerman and Padget also responded negatively to recent fees. Bowerman suggested hiring a full-time township attorney, while Padget attributed the high fees to a "lack of the decision-making process" by township officials.

Larson and Bodenmiller, presently both trustees, were asked whether ordinance officers should carry firearms and whether township police were doing a complete law enforcement job. Larson said he was in favor of arming ordinance officers, adding that the officers face life-threatening situations and are trained in the use of firearms. Bodenmiller also cited training in her support for arming the officers.

Mary Dingeldey, however, was against the move, stating that police should protect the citizenry. Her rationale was supported by Quick and Hamann, who also cited possible liability problems in arming ordinance officers due to a Supreme Court decision.

The possibility of lowering zoning standards to attract more industry was directed to Larson, who replied that such a move was not necessary, and that taxes, railroads and other facilities would be the deciding factors.

Canton's farmland preservation was the subject of another question when Bodenmiller was asked if changes in taxes would help support further farming operations in the township. She said that preservation of farmland was not the responsibility of the township, but rather the U.S. and no legislation on that point had been passed. She also stated that the township was not in a position to purchase farmland.

Follow-up questions dealt out that it was difficult for farm taxes to support school, police and fire millages. He called for more "equity in the system" of taxes. Neihengen called the Canton situation "pivotal," while Hamann cautioned that a great concern was legal ramifications of funding lost development rights.

Directed to the gathering was a question concerning allotment of recreational lands. Padget responded he was pro-recreation, although it was "impossible to project" how much funding could be allocated to a recreation program. Virtually all the rest of the candidates also supported an increased recreation development program, citing the need for more facilities, the success of the township golf course and possibilities for developing existing parks.

However, Hamann and Larson cautioned against massive outlays of township recreation funds in the face of possible cutbacks in police and fire protection. Both stressed the need to continue "essential services" during the present economic recession.

On the subject of the proposed Tisch amendment, which would lower property taxes, the panel was divided in its response.

Bennett, Bordine, Schaezel, and Dingeldey were in favor of the cut, with the general feeling that it would stimulate a more efficient government. Larson, along with Hamann, agreed with the feeling of the proposal although they felt the Tisch amendment was not the way to accomplish efficient government.

Bowerman strongly opposed the amendment, terming it "disaster." Bodenmiller also said she had "great reservations" toward the proposal, and "did not think it would solve the problem."

Carman said "the restraints would be tough to deal with," citing problems in school funding. Padget agreed, saying Tisch would "wreak havoc" with the school system.

Neihengen said she would not support the move, saying township funding could work with lower property values and other sources of funding such as a sales tax.

In their closing statements, candidates listed various shortcomings of present township policy as well as their own political strengths.

organizations, Moose, Police Chiefs Associations, Michigan Municipal League, President of Woodhaven Economic Development Corporation, etc.

1. It is essential that the Federal Budget be balanced by legislative action beginning in 1981. Inflation can be controlled by placing strict limitations on federal spending. I support the Kemp-Roth Bill, which calls for a thirty percent tax cut over three years which will ultimately stimulate the economy.

2. We must seek new energy sources and stimulate domestic exploration while relying less on foreign fuel supplies. We must realize that environmental regulations must maintain a careful balance in order to allow for future needs. Congress will have the challenge to find and strike that careful balance.

3. While balanced trade agreements should be negotiated with other producing countries we should also realize that we export 16% of our G.N.P. which makes free trade a necessity.

4. The defense budget must be increased in order to allow our country to meet any foreign challenge. The best defense is a good offense. A stimulated economy will produce more than the defense budget. The best defense is a good offense. A stimulated economy will produce more than the defense budget. The best defense is a good offense. A stimulated economy will produce more than the defense budget.

Primary voting rules

You can't vote for both a Republican and a Democrat, even if the candidates in different races, on the Aug. 5 primary ballot.

That's the rule offered by the League of Women Voters in an effort to help voters cast a ballot which will be counted. They've prepared a notice for all voters on choosing a political party. They write:

"This is a primary, which in effect, is three elections taking place at the same time: a Democratic primary, a Republican primary and a minor party support election. This means there is no such thing as splitting the ticket.

"If your preference is for the Republicans, you select the Republican ballot and choose from among those candidates.

"If your preference is for the Republicans, you select the Republican ballot and choose from among those candidates.

"If your preference is for one of the minor political parties, your only option is to indicate on the ballot your party preference. There will be no candidates in the August primary representing the minor parties.

"In order for a minor political party to have candidates listed on the November ballot, the party must have received a vote total of more than three-tenths of one per cent of the total number of voters voting in the August primary. These parties are listed on the August ballot: Anderson Coalition Party, Citizens Party, Libertarian Party, and Socialist Workers Party.

"If you vote for a minor party, you may not vote in either the Democratic or Republican party primary. However, you may vote for any nonpartisan offices and for any ballot proposals."

CUSTARD GLASS (above) in the Plymouth Historical Museum, is characteristic of the style of ornate decoration. Enjoying popularity in the late 19th century and into the 1930s; much of the gilt on each piece is amazingly new-looking. Some collectors theorize a special process was used to preserve the gold's appearance. Amber glass (below) in a holly pattern, was made at the Indiana Tumbler and Goblet Co. for only about two and a half years before a fire destroyed the factory in 1903. Only six or seven patterns were created for the type of glass, and few complete sets remain.

BY DAN BODENE

Handicrafts have always been a source of pride for American workmen, especially when the product of labor is native to the land.

An exhibit that meets both criteria is now on display at the Plymouth Historical Museum, a gift from Maude Paine.

Glassmaking, although dating to ancient Egyptian periods, has enjoyed immense popularity in the U.S. since the earliest years of the nation itself. In addition, certain types of glassware have been invented by American artisans, and examples now grace collections throughout the world as well as this country.

One type native to the U.S. is milk glass, an opaque variety of pressed glass. Milk glass enjoyed a renaissance in the latter part of the 19th century, lasting through the era of the Great Depression.

Two varieties include buttermilk, or custard glass; and caramel glass, also called holly amber or golden agate glass.

Displayed at the museum are partial sets of both, rare due to the origin of the glass.

Caramel glass, in fact, was made in quantity at only one location. Originated by Jacob Rosenthal of the Indiana

Rare glass exhibition finally gets a break

THE PRODUCT of the artistry of Harry Northwood of the LaBelle Glass Works in Bridgeport, Ohio, until 1913 milk glass was produced in various companies with which Northwood was associated. This fruit bowl and creamer is typical of the type, with gilt decoration contrasting with the creamy color of the glass itself.

The glass is distinguished by its brown color, variations in hue primarily due to the thickness — thin pieces are darker and more uniform. Leading designer of caramel glass was Charles E. Beam of Indiana Tumbler and Goblet Co. Also responsible for some outstanding workmanship was Frank Jackson, who replaced Beam.

Original pattern designs are limited. Although numerous oddities and one-offs exist, not more than a dozen pattern designs were made, which makes a collected set all the more valuable.

Custard glass is a variation of milk glass easily picked out because of its deeper, more creamy color. Created in 1886 by Harry Northwood of LaBelle Glass Works of Bridgeport, Ohio, the type was designed, manufactured and distributed until 1913 through various companies with which he was connected.

Usually very ornately decorated with gilt (gold), dark green coloring or both, most pieces still look very new. There is some question as to whether a special treatment was applied to the gilt to retain its appearance throughout the years.

Not all milk glass was made in the U.S. — some of the better English pieces rate high with their American counterparts. Fascinating and rare in its variations, milk glass remains a truly native creation.

The museum, located at 155 S. Main in Plymouth, is open Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Tumbler and Goblet Co. in Greentown, Ind., the type was introduced at the Buffalo Exposition of 1901. Demand for the glass, originally called chocolate glass, was never completely met due to the untimely destruction of the factory on June 13, 1903.

Accepted at the Exposition better than was anticipated, caramel glass was produced only two and one-half years. Pieces of the style exhibited at the Plymouth museum were only made during a six-month period, from January 1903 to the date of the fire. Some examples were made later at Fenton Art Glass Co., but were soon dropped from production.

Salem advances to nationals with tournament win

BY MIKE HENSHAW

"It's an excellent team victory," said Salem Crestwood Dodge coach Ron Riedel following his team's winning of the NABF sophomore division tournament Sunday afternoon at Central Middle School.

"The kids played very well throughout the tournament and we were fortunate enough to go undefeated against very strong competi-

Salem rallied for a come-from-behind, 5-4 win over the Yankees of the Detroit Police Athletics league in the final game of the double-elimination tourney to finish with a 4-0 mark and the title. The 5-4 win over Detroit was the second for Salem in as many days. Detroit finished the tournament with a 2-2 record. Had Detroit beat Salem, a third contest between the two would have determined the championship.

Detroit jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a two-run triple by centerfielder Fletcher Perry.

Salem fought back to tie the score in the top of the second.

Tim Michalik led off with a triple and came home on a single by Barry McNamara. After a walk, Mike MaKara singled home McNamara for the second run of the inning.

Detroit pushed ahead the go ahead run in the bottom of the third on a run-scoring double by James Quiroz, and the score remained 3-2 in favor of Detroit until the top of the sixth.

Michalik led off the stanza with another triple and once again McNamara singled him home to deadlock the game at 3-3.

Salem struck for two runs in the top of the seventh when McNamara led off with a single and scored on a double by Bill Perdue. Perdue eventually scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Ron Cindrich.

The Yankees pushed across a run in the bottom of the inning and had the tying and winning runs on second and third with two out and Perry, Detroit's top hitter, at the plate.

Salem reliever Bruce Billings worked Perry to a 2-2 count before striking him out on a change-up to the outside part of the plate, giving Salem the chance to move on to the "world series" playoffs this weekend.

The finals will either be played in Northville and Plymouth or in Dayton, Ohio, depending on who won Sunday's doubleheader in the Dayton regional.

"We played well together as a team and worked hard all year," said Riedel.

"It was a tough tournament and we're just happy to win it."

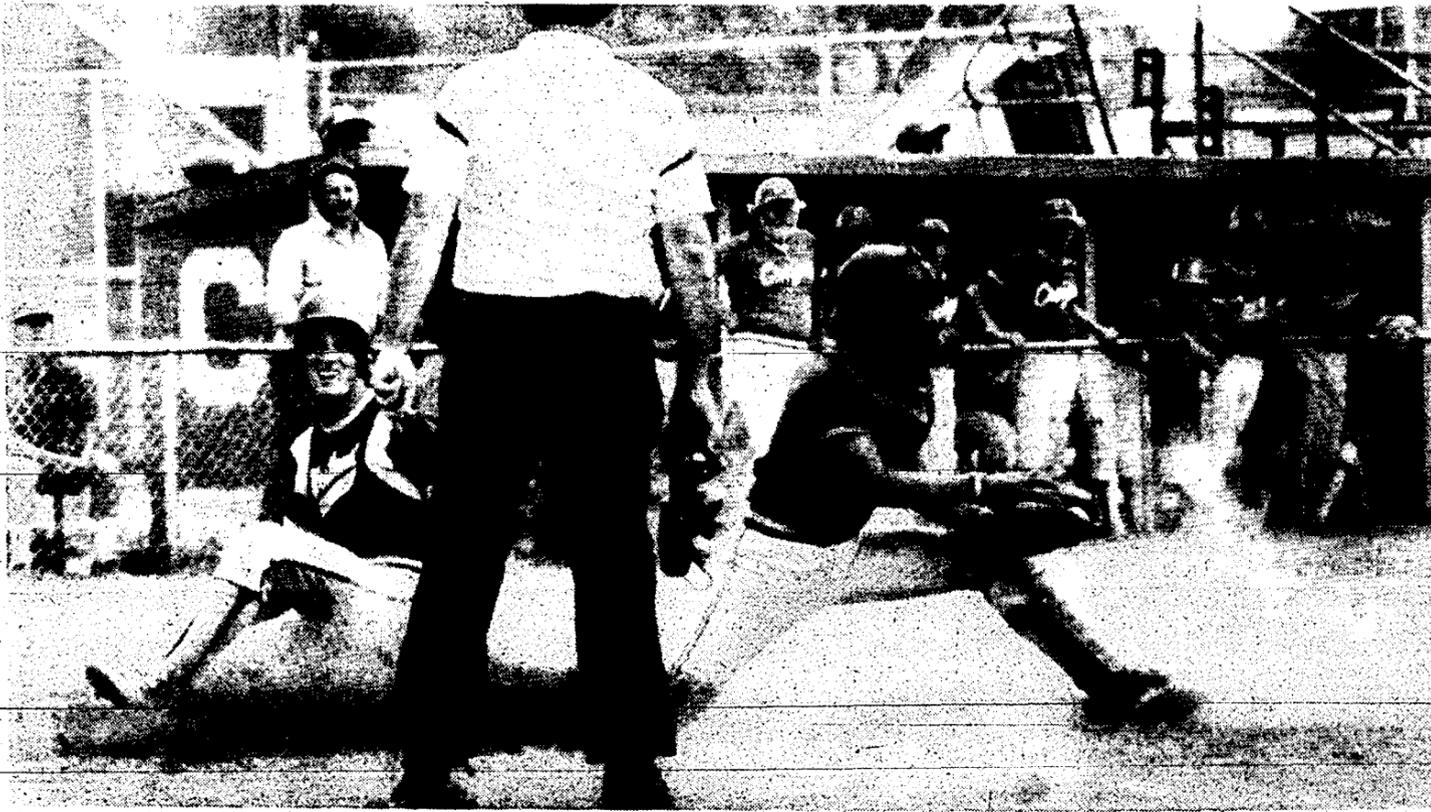

Salem easily won its first game in the tourney, 11-2 over the Outcasts, another team out of the Detroit area, and then beat Detroit for the first time, 5-4 behind the complete game pitching of McNamara.

Salem then did battle with counterpart Canton and came away with a 6-0 victory behind the three-hit pitching of Billings. Salem scored four times in the third inning, three of which were unearned.

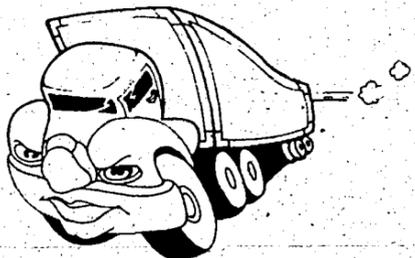

Canton Craiger, the host team of the tourney coached by Gerald Ebmeyer, bowed out of the competition with the loss to Salem and a heartbreaking 2-1 defeat at the hands of the Yankees.

With the score tied 1-1 in the bottom of the seventh, Perry crashed into Canton catcher Tim Collins on a close play at the plate, knocking the ball loose. The umpire called Perry out before the ball came loose, and did not rule that Perry used unsportsman like procedure on the play.

Caesars wrap up Connie Mack crown

BY MIKE HENSHAW

A pair of Connie Mack league victories combined with a split in the Salem-Bishop Borgess doubleheader last week gave the Canton Caesars the league crown with a 16-4 mark.

Canton knocked off Redford Union 6-3 Thursday behind the strong pitching of Al Lipinski and were awarded a forfeit win when Southfield elected not to play Saturday's scheduled contest. The win by Lipinski was his eighth straight for the summer campaign.

The Caesars got some help from counterpart Salem Saturday when the Elks beat Borgess 2-0 in the second game of their doubleheader.

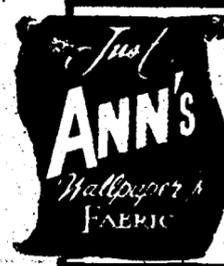

Had Borgess emerged victorious in that game, they would have been tied with Canton at the close of the regular season and a playoff game would have been staged either Sunday or Monday. Borgess finished the the season at 15-5.

The Caesars will now compete in the AABC double-elimination district tournament in Pontiac, which begins Thursday.

Should Canton win that tournament, they will travel to Coldwater, Michigan for the regional finals.

The winner of the Coldwater regional will earn the chance to play in the national AABC finals, to be held in Farmington, New Mexico.

Canton Elks finish season tied for first

BY MIKE HENSHAW

The Canton Elks secured a tie for first in the Mickey Mantle league Saturday with a 6-0 whitewashing of Detroit Mic Mac in their final regular season game.

The Elks would have been champions outright with a victory over Taylor Friday night, but ran into a fine pitching performance by Taylor's Mike Walosyk.

Walosyk allowed the Elks just two hits, both by Keith Stone, struck out six and didn't issue a walk to out duel a three-hit performance by Canton's Jamie Chilcoff and Dan Smith.

Chilcoff pitching the first two innings and gave up the run, in the first inning, to suffer the loss.

Canton nearly pushed across the tying run in the seventh inning, but were thwarted by a fine defensive play by the Taylor shortstop.

With Billy Hanis on second and Don Dombey on first and two out, Smith ripped a grounder that appeared destined for leftcenterfield. The Taylor infielder stopped the shot with a dive, however, and managed to throw Dombey out at second to end the game.

"It was a fine effort," said Canton coach Dave Racer. "Hanis would have scored easily from second to tie it up."

Against Mic Mac, Chilcoff tossed a five-hitter and received strong hitting support from Smith, who drove in three runs with a pair of singles.

Canton is the host school of this year's NABF junior division tournament, which gets under way Friday morning and will run through Saturday night at the Canton and Salem diamonds.

The Elks, who have won the tournament the past two years, will begin competition at the noon game Friday.

The winner of the tournament advances to the "world series" playoffs in Columbus, Ohio to determine the national champion.

Salem splits with Borgess, defeats Lathrup

BY KEN VOYLES

The Salem Elks of the Connie Mack league inadvertently helped the Canton Caesars gain the league title last weekend by finishing their season with a split baseball doubleheader with Bishop Borgess.

The Elks lost to Borgess in the first game 8-5 but won the second contest 2-0.

In that first game, Borgess tallied eight runs on five hits, while Salem collected seven hits but also had four errors as compared to Borgess' none.

Greg Etienne was the losing pitcher for the Elks. He hurled the first two and one half innings before John Hetkowski came on and completed the game.

Etienne gave up six runs, four hits and five walks while on the mound, while Hetkowski allowed one run, one hit, one walk and had two strikeouts.

Borgess scored three runs in the first inning, two more in the second and three in the third.

Salem came back with five runs in the third frame. Jim Anderson walked, Etienne walked and Dave Slavin singled to load the bases. Brian Lewandowski then singled home two runners.

Jim Jimmerson then walked to load the bases again, Kevin Merrill walked to score one run, Hetkowski walked to score another run and Mitch Wilcox walked in the final run.

Slavin collected three hits for Salem in the first contest.

Borgess had to win the second game of the doubleheader to force a playoff game with Canton, but the pitching of Jimmerson proved too much as Salem won 2-0.

Jimmerson hurled the entire seven innings for the Elks. The victory was his sixth in eight outings. He struck out two batters and walked four while on the mound.

Salem scored its first run in the third inning when Hsiao Peng singled; moved to second on a fielder's choice. Hetkowski was then hit by a pitch, Wilcox walked and Slavin was hit by a pitch to force in the run.

Salem added its second run in the fifth when Merrill singled, Hetkowski walked, Wilcox singled and Slavin hit a sacrificed fly to score Merrill.

Salem also picked up another victory during the week as the squad slipped by Southfield Lathrup, 6-4.

John Penders pitched the distance and gained the victory. He walked three batters and struck out two. Salem had 11 hits compared to Lathrup's six.

Salem completed the season with a 11-9 record and a third-place finish in the Connie Mack league race.

Salem wins final 3 Mickey Mantle league games

Salem's Mickey Mantle baseball squad finished its year with three straight victories last week.

Salem defeated South Dearborn Heights over the weekend, 2-1, behind the pitching of Ken Vermeulen and Bill Culver.

Vermeulen pitched six innings, had three strikeouts and three walks. Culver hurled the last frame and gave up one hit. Salem tallied just two hits in the contest.

Salem scored one run in the second inning when Vermeulen walked, Culver doubled, and Dave Haut singled. The team then added the winner in the fourth frame when Haut brought Vermeulen home with a sacrifice fly.

Dearborn scored once in the first inning on two singles, a walk and an infield grounder.

Earlier in the week, Salem blanked Taylor, 8-0. Salem had seven hits while Taylor had two hits.

Joe Humphries went the distance on the mound for Salem. He struck out eight batters and walked two during those seven frames.

Salem scored four runs in the opening inning on two walks and a two-run single by Dan Carlson and a two-run double by Vermeulen.

They added one run in the third frame when John Blanchard hit a solo home run to left field.

Culver started Salem's fourth inning with a single. John Woodchuck was then hit by a pitch, Haut walked, and Blanchard walked to force in one run. Humphries then smacked a two-run single for the final runs.

Finally, Salem defeated Detroit MicMac,

8-3. Humphries and Culver split the pitching duties.

Haut, Carlson, Tom Yakas and Bob DeBenedet all had two hits to pace Salem's batting attack.

The squad finished the season with an 11-11 league record and a 13-11-1 overall mark.

Canton youth superstars smash records

Records fell in all age groups at the 1980 version of the Canton Youth Superstars competition sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation on July 20.

Some 100 youths participated in the competition which combines seven different athletic events into one contest.

Diana Knickerbocker led the assault on the record book for the second annual event when she won five of seven events in her age group, 10-12 years, and totalled 57 points.

Knickerbocker took firsts in basketball shooting, basketball dribbling, soccer, running and baseball and clearly outdistanced her closest rivals. Pat Phillips and Sue Bonnett had 42 and 32 points, respectively, to finish second and third in the 10-12 age group.

Joe Murray and LaMarshall Crayton tied for first place in the 10-12 year old boys group with 33 points each. Crayton won the two basketball events and golf, while Murray had firsts in frisbee and baseball. Scott Boyzk took second with 27 points and Larry Massey finished third with 22 points.

Rick Berberet showed his basketball skill in the 13-15 year old boys group by winning both the shooting and dribbling events en route to his first place finish in that group with 46 points. Berberet's 7.5 seconds in the dribbling was also a new record.

Craig Ivan took second with 39 points and Dave Knapp was third with 28 points.

In the 13-15 girls age group, Theresa DeCorte took top honors with 58.5 points, a new record for that age. She won five of seven events failing to score only in the frisbee event.

Michelle Raymond was second with 53.5 points.

Bob Files just nipped Andy Gee for first place in the nine and under boys group. Files took first in basketball dribbling, frisbee and golf for 37 and a half points and first position.

Gee won soccer and baseball on his way to a 36-point score good for second place.

There was a tie for third in that age as Jason Reed and Kevin Loviska tallied 17 points.

The nine and under girls was a showcase for Susan Ferko as she captured four first places and scored 59 points. The point total was also a new record for that age.

Records topple at Junior Olympics

During the early morning hours of last Saturday some 40 young boys and girls ages seven to nine participated in a special Mini-Olympics for their ages as a part of the Canton Junior Olympics.

Later in the morning and through the afternoon, some 90 boys and girls in classes A, B and C participated in a full Olympic schedule with events including chinning, softball throw, hop step and jump, standing board jump, running long jump and 50 and 75-yard dashes and a shuttle relay.

Twelve 1979 Junior Olympic records were shattered during the competition, while the first place winners now have the chance to participate in the State Olympic Youth Fitness Meet at Belle Isle this weekend. More than 3,000 youngsters will be at the competition.

Plymouth Saints to face Dearborn

The Plymouth Saints, local entry in the Great Lakes Women's Soccer League, hope to continue their winning ways when they meet Dearborn Calypso at 11:00 a.m. at East Middle School, Sunday.

Last Sunday the Saints clobbered a short-handed Detroit Carpathia Kicker's team by the score of 6-0.

Stephanie Hancock led the way with four goals, Chris Trombley scored once, and Detroit committed an own goal during the abbreviated game, which was called by the referees at half-time due to the mis-match.

The Saints now sport a record of 2-5-1 in GLWSL play this season.

Hall finishes 2nd

Mark Hall took runner up at the July edition of the B.C.'s Super Bowl Sweeps. Hall, from Canton, was behind Mike Garland of Detroit.

Hall was beaten by Garland 203 to 195. Paul Horie, also of Canton, ended at third position. The next competition will be held Aug. 17 at 11 a.m.

Horton places first

Kathy Horton captured first place in the girl's division of the East Detroit Junior Tennis Open last weekend. Horton defeated girls from Dearborn in the finals in straight sets 6-0 and 6-0.

Horton also teamed up with Betsy Moon to take first place in the doubles competition for their age group.

Four-way tie at Fellows Creek

A four-way tie dominates the news about Canton's Fellow Creek Women's Golf League after its second week of league action on the local golf course.

Nancy Taylor, Jan Nelson, Yoshiko Reyst and Ronnie Wroblewski gained the top position in the league when Nelson and Reyst scored five points each and Wroblewski and Taylor tallied four points apiece.

Reyst shot the best round of the day as she carded a 49. Nelson shot her best round so far as she posted 54. Shirley Young had a 57 and Betty Williams a 58.

Salem advances

"American league rules say that the runner does not have to slide," said Ebmeyer, "but he brought his arms up into the catcher which is not allowed. Either the umpire did not see it or just didn't call it."

Canton's lone victory came against Sterling Heights Big Bill's, by a 3-2 score.

Mike Battaglia went the distance on the mound to pick up the victory.

"We just couldn't generate any offense throughout the games, which has really been our problem all year," said Ebmeyer. "We would push across a run or two at a time but just never got the clutch hitting to open up a big inning."

Canton finished fourth in the Koufax league race with a 14-9 record.

Salem placed second behind North Farmington with a 15-8 mark.

Starting a New Lawn?

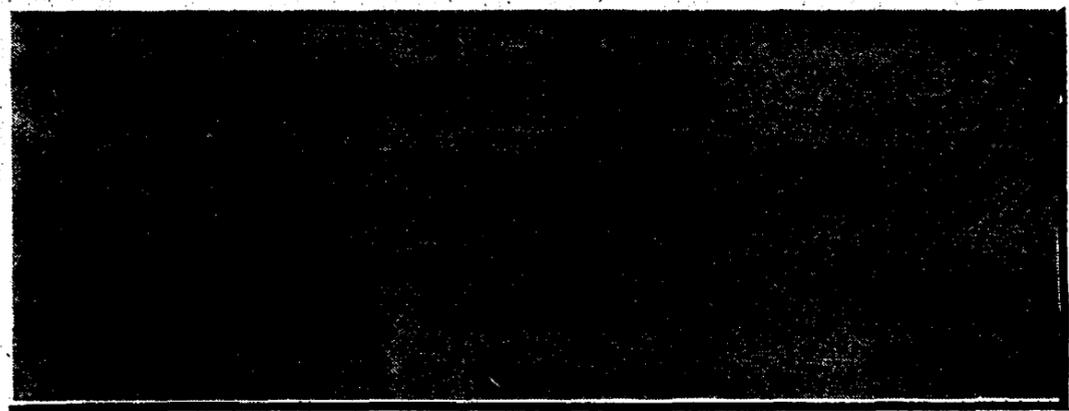

Let us help you do it right the first time!

1. Kill existing weeds and grass with Ortho Kleenup.
2. Rototill in organic matter such as leaves or peat moss. This is better than bringing in topsoil, but if you do add topsoil, it must be at least four inches deep. Rake or roll to level seed bed.
3. Fertilize with a low nitrogen fertilizer such as Wondergro Winter Gard. (10-20-10)
4. Sow the seed. It may be applied using a spreader at the smallest setting or by hand.
5. Drag the flat side of a bow rake over the seeded area to lightly cover the seed.
6. The key to good germination is diligent watering. The first inch of soil must be kept constantly moist until the young grass is established, about three weeks. Use a fine mist so as not to wash the seed away.
