

League sponsors local candidate public forums

To become familiar with the candidates on the Nov. 4 ballot, two candidates' nights are being held. Both sessions are open to the public.

On Tuesday, Oct. 21, the local League of Women Voters and the Lake Pointe Homeowners Association are sponsoring a question-and-answer session for Plymouth-Township candidates. It will be held at 8 p.m. at St. Kenneth Catholic Church, 14951 Haggerty Rd.

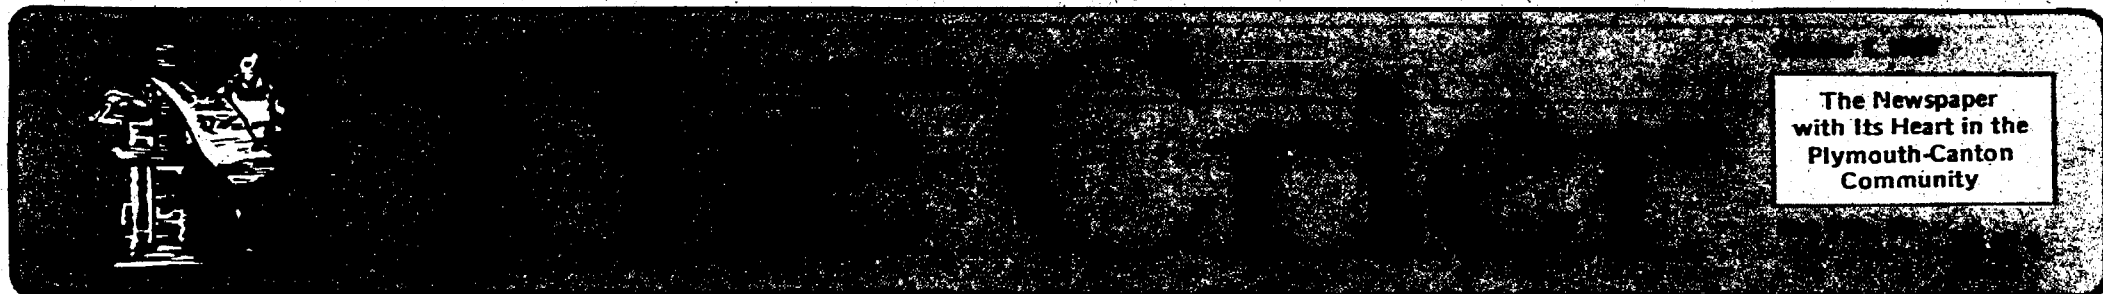

In addition to Plymouth Township candidates, office-seekers for the Wayne County Commission (27th District), Wayne County Charter Commission (27th District), Michigan House of Representatives (52nd District) and the U.S. House of Representatives (2nd District) have been invited to attend the forum.

On Thursday, Oct. 23, the LWV and Canton Jaycees are co-sponsoring a candidates' night for Canton office-seekers at 7:30 p.m. at Canton Township Hall.

Candidates for the Wayne County Commission (27th District), Wayne County Charter Commission (27th District), Michigan House of Representatives (37th District), and the U.S. House of Representatives (15th District) have also been invited to attend.

Both sessions will follow the same format: Candidates will be given one minute for opening remarks. Written questions will then be accepted from the audience. Candidates will have a maximum of one minute to respond to questions directed to them. At the end of the question-and-answer period, each candidate will be allowed two minutes to make a summation statement.

The candidates' nights are held to acquaint voters with candidates on the ballot, says the LWV. The LWV is a non-partisan organization and does not support or oppose any political party or candidate, it adds.

Feathers and fowl to fly Sunday

BY EGGMAR BRIDMAN

More feathers will be flying at the Fowl Festival this Sunday than Colonel Sanders ever dreamed of.

Of all the entries, who will fly the highest? Who will fly the farthest? Who will fly the fastest? Who will write these stories?

Just a yolk, folks. Before there's any more egg on my face, how about a few words from the fest's sponsors?

Plymouth's Chamber of Commerce has expanded the fest this year, to include some activities on Saturday. Beginning at 11 a.m., the Tykes and Tribes Parade will begin at Kellogg Park. Kids can enter in costume and/or on decorated tricycles for a sport around the park. Judges will be on hand to award prizes to some lucky (and plucky) winners.

At noon, the chamber will unveil the start of the First Annual Egg Walk, for all ages. Just ducky. Oops. Anyway, entrants will "chicken walk" around the park with an egg on a spoon. Winner of the event will have the services of a Lincoln Continental for a week, and the losers will have omelets. The limo comes courtesy of the "Barnyard Bomber" entry in the flying contest — quite a sport for a bird that might end up as tetrazini. Best of all, the $1 entry donations will be donated to Jerry's kids and the Muscular Dystrophy drive. You see, the egg does come before the chicken!

Which brings us to the next matter at hand — the event Plymouth's Chamber of Commerce modestly calls The Best, Greatest, Biggest Ever Fifth Annual Fowl Festival Parade.

So far, more than 100 entries have been signed up to appear in full feather during the parade, which will begin at the Cultural Center, move down Theodore to Main Street, up to Ann Arbor Trail, and then to Harvey, back up Penniman to Kellogg Park. The parade starts at 1 p.m., so reserve that viewing space early to avoid being cooped up. Prizes will be awarded for the best float and parade entries.

And for all those who enjoy a bit of beauty with the beasts, how about the First Annual Sure To Be a Winner Special Event Spring Chicken Queen of the Coop Contest? Not for the spring chickens, this honor will be bestowed on the senior lady who stands out from the rest. So, if you know of a gorgeous grandmother who wouldn't mind reigning over a coop of clucks, bring her out to the contest, beginning at 2 p.m.

And for the crowning event of the festival, we have the internationally famous but hardly understood Chicken Flying Contest,

Schools continue to grow

The Plymouth-Canton school district ranks among the fastest growing districts in the state, according to Supt. John M. Hoben.

According to Fourth Friday counts taken last week to determine the number of pupils for state aid, Plymouth-Canton has 16,883 students enrolled. This figure represents a 351 student increase since last year when Fourth Friday counts showed 16,532 students enrolled.

Included in the Fourth Friday count are about 330 adults registered in the Community Education program. Hoben said he expects these figures, compiled on Friday, are "pretty firm."

Furthermore, he added that enrollment at elementary schools is declining at a slight rate compared to its overall growth in previous years. "We've had some decline in the lower elementary grades," he said.

The 1980 Fourth Friday count for elementary schools shows 8,161 students enrolled compared to 8,203 last year.

However, enrollments at the district's four middle schools and two high schools has increased. Middle school head counts show 3,925 students in 1980 compared to 3,650 last year; the high schools currently enroll 4,807 students compared to 4,687 students in 1979.

Canton mail service to be switched to Westland

PG. 3 THE COMMUNITY CRIB: October 1, 1980

BY CHAS CHILD

The U.S. Postal Service plans to transfer all Canton postal operations from Plymouth to the Westland Post Office.

If the plan is approved, Canton letter carriers will operate out of Westland, and Canton residents will pick up packages and vacation mail at the Westland Post Office, 6300 N. Wayne Rd.

Announced by the postal service's William Fleming, district director for customer services, the shift is designed to relieve the crowded Plymouth Post Office.

Also, a new postal substation will be opened in Canton to provide stamp sales and other window services, under the postal service's plans, said Congressman Carl Pursell, of Plymouth. No further details were given, however, on when or where this station would open.

The Plymouth office is "grossly undersized," said Fleming. "There's congestion in the lobby and employes have a parking problem."

The change will not change home delivery of mail in Canton, said Fleming. If anything, the service will improve because postal employes will be working in roomier quarters, he said.

The Plymouth office is 'grossly undersized. There's congestion in the lobby and employes have a parking problem.'

Post office customers will find far more parking at Westland, Fleming added.

Although a solution to the Plymouth post office's crowding has been sought for years, the postal employes' parking problems postal employes $10 per month to park in its lot.

According to City Manager Henry Graper, the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, at Church and Harvey streets, decided about two months ago to charge apparently brought the situation to a head.

This sent the workers, who had been parking at the church for free, onto Church street and other residential areas, said the city manager. Homeowners did not like this and complained to Graper.

"We asked Pursell to work on it," said Graper.

Working with Canton's congressman, William Ford, who sits on the House of Representatives' postal service committee, Pursell reached an agreement with postal officials to switch the Canton operations.

Will merchant group hurt Chamber?

BY DAN BODENE

Creation of a retail merchants association in Canton may cause problems, says the township's Chamber of Commerce president.

According to Cary Roberts, an organizer of the new association, a champagne ribbon-cutting ceremony Oct. 4 will kick off the group's activities. Roberts said 40 retail merchants had signed up for membership, and he predicted another 60 by Christmas.

Roberts said the merchant's association would open its membership only to Canton retailers. He added that "We tried to work with them (Canton's Chamber of Commerce), but it didn't work out."

Frank McMurray, president of the Canton Chamber, apparently disagrees. "I do not know of such an association," McMurray said he was aware that Roberts had attempted to put together a merchants association, but he did not know it had been formally organized.

According to McMurray, in other communities with dual groups such as the chamber and a merchants association, the retail merchants group acted as a division of the Chamber of Commerce.

"If Mr. Roberts is going to function independently, then there may be problems," said McMurray. He added, "By doing this, it will be dividing businesses at a time when it is not wise (for them) to be divided."

McMurray also said support for his group has not diminished. "We're still functioning on a daily basis. If people say the Chamber of Commerce is not addressing the concerns of these (retail merchants), they're wrong."

Schools to rent classrooms at Nazarene Church

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Plymouth-Canton school officials are negotiating for the rental of seven-or-eight classrooms from the Church of the Nazarene, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail, for the 1981-82 school year.

These classrooms would be used to house special programs for preschool children, many of whom are currently housed at Farrand School. The programs at the church would include the IPSEP, Headstart and Plus.

This idea was discussed at a Board of Education workshop Monday night. Rental of these classrooms would allow the district to house more students in regular classrooms at Farrand School.

These plans were discussed to relieve the housing crunch in the school district. Other plans, which will start in the fall of 1981, include: realigning the grades to a K-6, 7-9, and 10-12 grades configuration; renting Lowell Junior High School from Livonia; and, expanding the year-round school program to four elementary schools -- Bird, Fiegel, Allen, and Farrand.

School administrators are also mulling over the possibility of asking voters to approve a $1.5 million bond issue on the Jan. 22, 1981 ballot. The school district will ask voters to OK a 10.36 millage renewal in January, 1981. The bond money may be used for the purchase of portable classrooms to relieve over-crowding at some elementary schools when the grades are realigned.

School board members also discussed ways in which these housing plans will affect curriculum in 1981-82.

When the grades are realigned next fall, some ninth-grade classes will be switched to the junior-high school programs; others will not be.

For example, biology classes, taken by many ninth graders at the high schools now, will not be offered at the junior high schools.

Township firefighters ratify contract

Plymouth Township firefighters will shortly begin working under a new contract ratified Monday night by township trustees.

After closed-session negotiations between the board and Charles VanVleck, president of the township firefighters' union, trustees unanimously voted to accept the proposed agreement.

According to VanVleck, the new contract will be in effect since April 1, 1979, the day after the previous contract expired, and will last until April 1, 1982. Negotiations on the new contract began in January, 1979.

VanVleck said agreement was reached after township officials dropped their request for 100 per cent Emergency Medical Technician-qualified firefighter staffing. The union then dropped their request for minimum manpower staffing of at least two firefighters per day per station.

Pay raises for EMT-trained firefighters will progress at eight per cent for the first year, and seven per cent for the remaining two years of the three-year contract, according to VanVleck. Non EMT-trained firefighters will receive eight per cent raises the first year, and five per cent per year for the other two years, he said.

In addition, there will be additional clothing and food allowances and a higher sick time accumulation ceiling. Sick time accumulation can now reach 165 days, versus 135 days in the previous contract.

"We're satisfied," said VanVleck. "You always want more, but a compromise had to be reached. The vote on contract ratification was also unanimous at the local."

School board reviews 1980-81 budget

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

A preliminary budget review, showing expenditures of $38,660,000 for 1980-81, was reviewed by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

The budget must be adopted by Nov. 1, according to state law. The school board will formally adopt it at its next meeting, Monday, Oct. 13.

With expenditures at $38,660,000, the district estimates that its revenues will be at $37,830,000. The deficit in the operating fund balance would be $830,000, which would come from the district's fund balance of $2,157,232.

School Board Treasurer Glenn Schroeder suggested buying some equipment needed for next year from the 1980-81 budget, however other school board members were reluctant to use the fund balance. The district will need air conditioners in four elementary schools and books and supplies for Lowell Junior High School, he said.

caution. "I'm not sure we've seen the end of executive cutbacks (from the state) . . . I'm reluctant to go out on the deep end (and use fund balance) before the Nov. 4 general election."

"We're still in an uncomfortable position with the state . . . A lot of state figures are unknown," said Trustee Elaine Kirchgatter.

The 1980-81 budget is based on:

*An increase in enrollment of about 325 students. Last year's enrollment was 16,872 compared to about 17,200 in 1980-81. This is the lowest increase in student enrollment in the past 10 years, according to school officials.

*About 75 per cent of the expenditures are for employees' salaries including teachers, administrators, cafeteria workers, etc. An additional 13.7 regular teachers were hired in 1980-81 along with 7.1 additional special education teachers.

*State aid is expected to decrease by about 30 per cent compared to last year. It totals about $2.2 million less than the state aid received by the district last year.

*Local revenues have increased by about 24 per cent from the entire school district compared to local revenues in 1979-80.

Plymouth-Canton plans to rent Lowell from the Livonia Schools and increase the number of elementary schools on the year-round calendar in order to relieve the district's crunch for classroom space. These changes will begin in the fall of 1981.

Schroeder said, "Let's face the fact that these changes cost money and plan for them." He proposed that administrators start to budget for these expenses during the 1980-81 school year rather than wait until the 1981-82 year.

"That's too late," he responded when told that administrators had planned on budgeting for added equipment in the 1981-82 year.

However, Supt. John M. Hoben expressed

Crossing guard pay case decided soon?

Who should be responsible for paying for school crossing guards -- the Plymouth-Canton school district or the township or city in which the crossing guard is stationed?

That question, stemming from a case between the Plymouth-Canton schools and Plymouth Township, may be answered soon. A similar case involving the Pontiac school district has been settled in the district's favor, according to Supt. John M. Hoben.

Plymouth Township Clerk Esther Hulsing said the township Board of Trustees also recently learned of the outcome of the Pontiac case. "But we haven't decided anything (about whether to drop the suit)," she added.

Township trustees will discuss the case at their next meeting Oct. 7, said Hulsing.

Hoben said about $52,000 is budgeted for paying for crossing guards in the 1980-81 year. In addition, the district would like to recover more than $100,000 in past payments to crossing guards from the local governments, he said.

Massage parlor evicted

Charlie's Spa, Canton's massage parlor for men, is out of business.

The parlor, located in Harvard Square Shopping Center, was evicted for non-payment of rent last week.

According to records at the 35th District Court, Charlie's owed its landlord, Equitable Life, $6,666, as of Sept. 4. The eviction notice was served at the massage parlor by court officer Randy Hughes last Wednesday.

In a related development, the part-owner and manager of Charlie's, Mike Tremaine, has been charged with attempted murder by Howell Police.

A Howell police spokesman said Tremaine and an accomplice, Ralph Guthat, threatened a Brighton man with a small handgun in an effort to force him to repay a loan. The incident happened Sept. 18, said the spokesman.

The case's preliminary exam was held yesterday in 53rd District Court.

addenda & errata

The voting record of Duane Bordine, Canton trustee candidate, was erroneously reported in the Sept. 24 issue of the Crier due to a filing mistake in the township clerk's office. Bordine originally registered to vote on Sept. 22, 1964. Since then, he was eligible to vote in a total of 25 elections, of which he has actually voted in 13.

The Salem High Senior booth at Fall Festival won a second-place ribbon in the marigold-decor contest. The Crier was not informed of the award when the rest of the festival contest winners were announced.

FOWL FESTIVAL '80 will begin Saturday this year with a Tikes and Trikes contest at 11 a.m. and the First Annual Egg Walk at noon. The main festivities begin on Sunday, with the parade, shown here at last year's Fest. There will be a new route this year, beginning at 1 p.m. at the Cultural Center, down Theodore, along Main Street, turning down Ann Arbor Trail to Harvey, back to Penniman and up to Kellogg Park. Also new for this year will be the Spring Chicken Queen of the Coop Contest at 2 p.m., after the parade but immediately before the main event — the Chicken Flying Contest, beginning at 2:30 p.m. (Crier photo)

Chickens yokes are flying

with flying heats beginning at 2:30 p.m. in front of the park. A full complement of amazing and amusing entries will be on hand for your gratification.

Not the least of which will be the entry from The Crier. Bet you thought they were too serious for that sort of thing.

In fact, Editor Chas Child and Production Manager Mike Carne scoured the U.S. and parts of Alabama to find a rare species of sabre-toothed bantam, once used by ancient aborigines to catch and retrieve bald eagles. Once the nest had been located, Child and his team selected the bully of the litter. Since that time, The Crier entry has been subjected to an intense training program.

Located at Muhammed Ali's camp, where he had just completed a best-of-five-falls match with the bird, Child commented "It's ready," before collapsing from loss of blood. It's dubbed "Pullet-zer Prize" because of its refined nature.

Some of the other more notable entries include the "Court Cluck" from the 35th District Court, sponsored by all the court's clerks and handled by Judge James Garber and Judge Dunbar Davis; the now-infamous Wadsworth Wonder sponsored by the First National Bank of Plymouth, flown up from Ohio; and Valenti's Formal Wear "After Five Chicken."

A relatively new entry in the battle will be the "Maltese Falcon" of Plymouth Township, which will hopefully be caught after launching by the entire Board of Trustees. A possible opponent could be the City of Plymouth's City Chicken III, which will be launched by none other than the City Manager. Rounding out the "better living through government" category will be the Huntington Woods entry, "Twiggy" and perhaps even a Canton crowler.

Our military will once again be represented by the 300th Military Police Command entry from Livonia, named "Attila the Hen." A spokesman for the bird denied responsibility for the behavior of the beast, which has reportedly terrorized many local residents. "No one can tell her where to go," he said. "When she wants to go somewhere, we just say 'yes, ma'am,' and open the door so she won't kick it in."

Certainly one of the strangest entries will represent Medar, Inc., designers and manufacturers of computer systems. Their entry, powered by a cackle producing unit (CPU). Dubbed "Compuchick," the unit features main and auxiliary registers, dual discs, input-output ports, and scratchpad, made exclusively of old issues of The Crier. Quite a selling point.

There is still time to register for this two-day festival of inspired lunacy and feather-brained fun. For egg-zact details, contact the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540.

Conscientious candidates

THE BEST CANDIDATES are those best-informed. And attending township board of trustees meetings is one of the best ways to keep abreast of local issues. To see which candidates attended the Canton and Plymouth township board meetings last Tuesday, we sent Crier Photo Editor Robert Cameron to get these shots. Above, is the audience at Canton's meeting. Candidates attending are, left to right, Robert Padget, Gary Roberts, Larry Bowerman, Jim Poole, and Maria Falkiewicz. Incumbents running for re-election who also attended are John Flodin, Noel Culbert, Carol Bodenmiller and Stephen Larson. In Plymouth Township, only two candidates are in the audience, Carol Levitte, and Andy Pruner, out of the picture. Sitting on the board are running for re-election are Maurice Breen, Barbara Lynch, Joseph West, Lee Fidge, Esther Hulsing, and Gerald Law.

Standard teaching bogged down

Getting goal-based curriculum off the ground and into Plymouth-Canton classrooms has been a political football. Started more than four years ago, the system still isn't fully in place. And, it should be.

For those not familiar with the buzz word, goal-based curriculum is a system under which students in the same grade throughout the school district would be exposed to the same skills. Its thrust is to make learning opportunities consistent throughout the school district.

For example, let's say cursive writing should be taught to second graders. Under goal-based curriculum, second graders in all 14 elementaries schools would be introduced to cursive writing.

Seems logical, doesn't it? In fact, it nearly seems so logical that such a system would have been adopted by the school district's administrators years ago. But that's not true, and the goal-based approach has been introduced, in part, in response to parents' complaints about inconsistent programs between various schools in the district.

Progress in getting goal-based curriculum off the administrators' shelves and into the classroom is being made, says Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction in the district. "Most optimistically," he said, "we'd like to have goal-based curriculum in operation by the fall of 1981."

It's about time.

What's been holding it up?

First, it is a complex task to identify, classify, and then decide the grade in which the hundreds of skills taught to youngsters during their schooldays should be taught.

Many of those tasks were given to committees of teachers and administrators which wrote curriculum guides for areas such as language arts, music, etc.

Some curriculum guides were completed years ago. For example, the match guide for K-8 was finished in June, 1973. The science guide for K-12 was completed in December, 1974.

But, instead of gradually letting these guides filter into the classrooms, some guides were shelved after they were finished. Homes admits this fact.

Since all 12 curriculum guides were not finished simultaneously, little effort was made to let these guides filter to direct learning situations in the classroom. That's too bad. Countless administrative and teachers' hours have been spent in getting this system off the ground over the past four years, but so far, it hasn't been implemented into classrooms throughout the district.

Administrators say that progress was stymied last year when teachers hadn't settled their contract yet, and, as a political tactic, withdrew their support of goal-based curriculum.

But, the implementation of goal-based curriculum into the district has had the full-fledged support of the school board. In fact, board members have gotten impatient with administrative foot-dragging on the program.

It's time to hold Homes to his word on getting goal-based curriculum into operation. He says the fall of 1981. Remember that deadline and make school administrators accountable to it.

6 days remain to register for November election

Every vote counts. This cliché has lasted so many years for a good reason: it's true.

And Plymouth-Cantonites have just five days to register if they want to vote in the Nov. 4 election.

Not only are the president and vice president on the ballot, obviously, but a full slate of local, county, and state offices are up for grabs.

Every so often, an election is decided by one vote, as a Plymouth-Canton school issue was four years ago. So don't believe your vote won't matter. It will.

So contact your city or township clerk before the deadline, Oct. 6. Every vote counts.

Plumbers lend helping hand

EDITOR:

Once a year the plumbers of the Western Wayne Masters Association get together on Richter Day, which is an honorary day for a former plumber who died of cancer.

These men take this day to repair and replace plumbing in a home. They visited 40 homes and chose one of these to donate time, materials, and skills to help a family who is in need of repairs.

They came to my house Saturday, Sept. 20. They arrived at 7:30 a.m. and worked until 2 p.m. making all necessary repairs. I live in an older home and repairs would have been very costly.

I am a widow and a senior citizen and couldn't afford to have the repairs made. When I asked them why they give so much of themselves they said because they enjoy doing for people who can't afford to have the work done and for those who are trying.

They are to be commended for the good job and the time donated so I could have trouble-free sewer and new pipes. I'd like to thank each and every one of you personally but I hope you know how grateful and pleased I am for having this done for me.

Don't degrade OV Inn residents

EDITOR:

I'm writing in answer to your article on the Old Village Inn. I have lived three houses down from the Inn for two years. Before that, my grandmother lived here for 10 years and my great grandmother spent almost her entire life here. Neither me nor my grandmothers can remember having any problems with the residents from the Inn at all.

As far as "disreputable characters parading" by my house, the only "people" I see are people who are struggling to get by on very low incomes.

Let us not forget that these people are people. Where will they go when they can't afford to live there? The park maybe! I agree that the old Inn could use a good reconditioning, probably so do most the residents.

I also could not tell you the number of times I see Plymouth police drive by. I am sure it's at least twice every hour. In fact I would like to thank them for a job well done.

As far as people hanging around in the parking lot drinking goes, I don't imagine anyone would object to people who live in their beautiful homes sitting on their patios getting slightly smashed on their after dinner drinks and cocktails.

History has proven that poor people are discriminated against. I only thank God that I don't have to live as those people are trying to. I wonder if anyone has ever offered to help paint or fix up the place. I doubt it. It is always easier to sit and complain than to help do something about it.

RESIDENTS living in subdivisions adjacent to the Centennial Educational Park have complained to township officials, the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and school officials about students who park their cars in their subdivisions rather than parking in the high school lot. The solution may lie in stricter enforcement of the rule which prevents students from leaving the high schools early. Some students park in nearby subdivisions to avoid high school security guards who check their passes if they attempt to leave the school early. All these groups -- residents, school officials, and police -- should try to work together to curb the problem. THE COMMUNITY CRIER

ARA created great cake

EDITOR:

Although The Crier published a beautiful article covering the Geer School Centennial held Sunday, Sept. 21, recognition was not given to Gus Evangelides, the A.R.A. gourmet chef who created the outstanding replica of Geer School in cake form. The approximate dimensions of the cake were 24 inches wide by 44 inches long by 18 inches high.

Through the untiring efforts of Paul Seidel, A.R.A. food service director for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Gus' talents were enlisted to recreate our cherished old school. Gus arrived in Plymouth on Friday and began a three-day baking adventure in the Salem High School kitchen. For those who were lucky enough to see and sample Gus' masterpiece, it was truly a delight to the eye and palate.

Gus Evangelides and Paul Seidel provided an outstanding gift for our Centennial Celebration and we -- the Geer Centennial Committee -- want everyone to recognize their contribution.

'Politics' is not always dirty word

After years of long lines at the Plymouth Post Office, the powers that be have finally taken steps to relieve the out-dated building's problems.

The load on the Plymouth office will be cut in half, probably within six months, when postal operations for Canton Township will be transferred to Westland.

Plymouthites will be pleased with the change. Some folks resort to driving up to Northville rather than face the parking hassles and lines at the Plymouth post office.

Cantonites, particularly those who live near Plymouth, may not be so happy. For many, it will be a much further drive to the Westland office.

To what do we owe the switch? Although solutions to the post office's overload have been kicked around for years, it's a good bet that the upcoming U.S. Congressional race had something to do with it. U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) is facing a tough race from Democratic challenger Kathleen O'Reilly. And what better way to earn points with the hometown voters than to solve the local post office's problems?

Don't get me wrong, though. I'm not criticizing Pursell. Our representatives are supposed to get things done for their constituents. One reason why Congressmen are up for election every two years is to keep them on their toes.

Someone who would cry "politics" at Pursell's efforts doesn't understand the good sense of that word. Politics, in the broad sense, is a system of getting things done. In fact, one trouble with Washington today is that there isn't enough politics. The House and Senate are disorganized and undisciplined. The system of working together, coalition-building, and compromise for the greater good has broken down, partly through lack of leadership and a siege of special interests.

Add to this mess a huge federal bureaucracy with millions of employees, and it's a wonder anything gets done.

But don't get the impression that Pursell has won some great victory over the system. The postal service certainly wants to keep Congressmen happy, especially during an election campaign. So postal officials were happy to oblige Pursell and Canton's Congressman, William Ford (a member of the House postal committee), when they wanted something done.

Call it "politics" if you want, but remember something got done -- an increasingly rare event with our federal government.

Football article slights Bentley

EDITOR:

Your article "Salem dumps Bentley in Football" is quite informative. The only question posed in my mind is why only Salem's point of view is used. True, Bentley did not come out victorious, but you could have given Steve Naumcheff a paragraph to explain his feelings on the game.

Another point that puzzled me was why the penalties, which were the major cause in our downfall, were not mentioned. You must understand: It wasn't an awesome Rock defense that stopped us, but our own mistakes.

Again, the article was well written and gives a good account of the game (to a degree), but do you know how many yards our backs got? We weren't totally shut down, you know.

Listening skills crucial for musical enjoyment

Concert season to open Oct. 12

(Editor's note: This article, written by Reef Morse, a regular concert-goer, is the second in a two-part series on the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and its new conductor, Johan van der Merwe. The article focuses on critical listening skills.)

BY REEF MORSE

"The crux of enjoying music is in something that you recognize, either a tune that you recognize or an instrument that you've heard before; so, if you can bring that recognition to the audience, then, I think, that's half the battle," says Johan van der Merwe, conductor of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

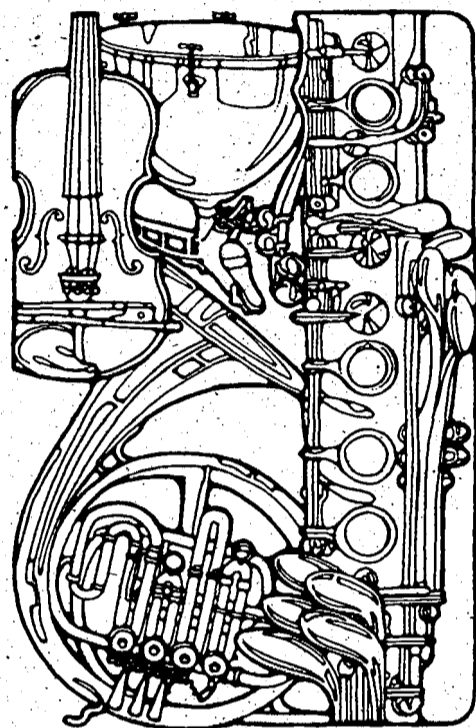

Van der Merwe, who will start as the symphony conductor in its first concert, Sunday, Oct. 12, has adhered to this thought in choosing the programs for the orchestra this season. The season will be sprinkled with "the old war horses" -- the music that the audience has probably heard before, remembers, and wants to hear again. It also reflects van der Merwe's style.

While he enjoys a broad scope of music, he "does music which speaks to me, because if you play music which doesn't say anything to you, you may not say anything to anyone else when you convey it."

It is that conveyance of the music from the printed page to the audience's ear that marks the job of the conductor. He is the one who must interpret the music, integrate the various personalities of the musicians who make up the orchestra, and adjust for such variables as the acoustics of the concert hall. Even with all this, the music will sound different to every person in the audience and every member of the orchestra.

"One of my functions is to bring music to the general public that is easily acceptable, that is loved by musicians, and that is well known, popular, and has melodies," says van der Merwe. But the melody is only one aspect of making a piece popular. "Rhythm catches people too," he continues.

"There is also the harmonic aspect which is a natural phenomenon and which develop-

Something you understand is easier to enjoy because you recognize what is happening.

—Johan van der Merwe ed historically from the natural musical overtones. These overtones are inherent in each single note." It is precisely this complexity which makes the orchestra so popular.

Variety comes not only from the music,

CONDUCTOR Johan van der Merwe of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra has plans for some very different things to come from the symphony this year. For the maximum enjoyment of the orchestra performances, critical listening skills are necessary. (Crier photo by Rick Smith) but from the orchestra itself. Orchestration is the blending of the different instrumental families; string, brass, winds, and percussion. The distribution of sounds from these families adds complexity and color even to simple pieces.

The final product, the actual music, will sound different in different places. The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra rehearses in the small auditorium at Central Middle School, but performs in the large and acoustically superior auditorium at Salem High School. This can lead to problems.

"At the concert I conducted last year," says van der Merwe, "during the first rehearsal at Salem, I set the orchestra playing and ran down into the hall to listen to them. They sounded very unbalanced! Fortunately, I figured out what to do. I moved the orchestra out toward the front of the stage and this strengthened the string section which improved the sound considerably."

Van der Merwe suggests that the audience should also experiment with where they sit. "Up front, you get more detail, while in back you hear the orchestra more as a whole, as if many players were spread out over a large surface."

Van der Merwe has many ideas to make this season entertaining. He intends to take a large part in writing the program notes and will do them himself whenever possible. He might even talk to the audience about the piece. These additions, he feels, can help the audience understand the music better.

"I think enjoyment comes through understanding," he says. "Something you understand is easier to enjoy because you recognize what is happening."

He is also trying new techniques with the orchestra. Some string sections will have the members shuffled around so that strong and weak players will mix. "This will give people in the orchestra the feeling that they can contribute wherever they sit," he adds.

He is introducing individual rehearsals for the string sections to help work out details such as bowings in which the whole orchestra doesn't participate. He also wants to keep the rehearsals as interesting as possible. "You can't talk too much during rehearsals," he states. "It is difficult to talk about what you want from the music. Music is meant to be played."

Van der Merwe states his goals for the orchestra clearly. "The orchestra should be something that will serve the community in the best possible way," he says. He wants to do this by "making the orchestra as good as possible, and have everyone enjoy what they are doing." Everyone includes not only the musicians, but the Plymouth-Canton Community as well, he notes.

Fathers find rights can apply both ways

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

You've heard of women touting for equal rights, haven't you? How about Fathers for Equal Rights?

That's the name of an organization which has drawn the enthusiastic support of Joe and Cecelia Fusco of Canton. Open to both men and women, the club was formed to help fathers gain equal rights in divorce matters.

In addition to helping men through divorces, the group also helps fathers involved in custody cases. "The Child Custody Act of 1970 states the best interest of the children shall be the controlling factor in a child custody dispute, with no presumption in favor of either parent," says a brochure listing the group's goals. "Despite this act, many courts still cling to the notion that the mother is the best parent and is entitled to custody despite any family history indicating otherwise."

Joint custody of children in a divorce case, say the Fuscos, only works if both the man and woman agree on each part of it, including minor details.

The group was set up for parents who want to continue having a good relationship with their kids after divorce, say the Fuscos. "Divorce," says Joe, "is a lonely experience."

After a divorce, children are often used as a tool by one parent or the other, say the Fuscos. Joe calls visitation "a chronic problem" and adds that, according to the agreement reached with his former wife, he is allowed "reasonable visitation."

"But what's reasonable?" he asks.

Furthermore, the Friend of the Court system, which was established to enforce child support agreements, will not enforce visitation rights, says Joe. "The court lacks sensitivity," he adds.

Mainly, the Friend of the Court emphasizes keeping track of child support payments and making sure the divorced mother gets them on time, he says.

Fathers for Equal Rights is seeking to create a system so that visitation rights would be honored. "How can you put a monetary value on lost visitation?" Joe asks.

Men have spent time in jail for not keeping up with child support payments, Joe asserts, but visitation is last on the Friend of the Court's list of priorities when it comes to enforcement, he adds. "The court system still views a divorce situation as a man's fault."

"It doesn't take into account man's changing role," he says.

As part of its goals, Fathers for Equal Rights, which draws 1,800 members from Wayne, Macomb, and Oakland counties, wants to remove contested custody and visitation matters from the courts, and establish a group of experts or a panel of peers to determine what is in the best interests of the children.

In addition, it also seeks to eliminate the power of the court to jail a man for being behind in support payments and to get fair child support orders, making both parents responsible for the support of their children in a manner which doesn't drive the non-custodial parent into poverty.

At the heart of the issue is the question: "Is a divorced father different from a married father?" says Joe.

"I hate to use the word 'sexist,'" says Joe, "but there are only a small percentage of fathers who are awarded custody of their children in a divorce case. Men shouldn't be jeopardized."

Ronald arrives

Ronald Graham McCue was born Sept. 5 at Oakwood Hospital, weighing in at six pounds, six ounces.

He is the son of Sue and Kerry McCue of Plymouth, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Graham McCue, all of Plymouth.

Fashion show a success

"An Enchanted Evening of Fashion," sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League was a great success, according to league members who attended.

Held Sept. 24 at Schoolcraft College, the fashion show featured commentators Shirley Peters of Sacks of Forest Avenue who described casual fashions for men and women, and Geneva Salyer of Geneva's who introduced the formal and wedding fashions.

Four League members served as models during the show. Millie Ferrari, Joan Anderson, Shirley Wold and Elise Murphy modeled many of the fashions, along with Chuck Vanerian, husband of League member Lynn Vanerian.

Many door and drawing prizes were also awarded, including a sequin jacket donated by Geneva's of Plymouth, won by Doris Zerby; a wool blazer from Sandy's Fashions, won by Judy Morgan; diamond earrings donated by O & D Bush Jewelers, won by Doris Zerby; a gift certificate to Famous Men's Wear, won by Jo Ellen Odom; a gold stick pin or pendant from Jer-richards Jewelers, won by Nick Aaron; a gift certificate for Beitner's Jewelry, won by Patricia Avon; a Christian Dior kimono, from Van Dam's Lingerie, won by Sally Petersen; a gift certificate for Sacks of Forest Avenue, won by Lura Hanshu; a shirt and sweater donated by John Smith, won by Roger Centofanti; and a gift certificate for The Shoe Attic, won by Marilyn Morrison.

The show was scheduled to allow working women, mothers of young children and gentlemen to attend. More than 325 persons came to the show, according to league member Carole Brandt.

Organizers of the event included Pat Centofanti and Martha Morrison, general co-chairwomen; Ann Krankel, tickets; Clara Camp, drawing tickets; K.C. Mueller and Janice Paulsen, drawing and door prizes; Peggy Jennings, publicity; Lynn Vanerian, programs; Sue Rothamel, posters and art work; and Virginia Cox, decorations.

Hospital benefit is scheduled

A champagne dinner and continuous music will highlight the fifth annual benefit for St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Music by Lester Lanin's orchestra will be featured at the benefit, held Oct. 8 in the Michigan League. Entitled "St. Joe's Encores Lester Lanin," the event "marks the return of the popular orchestra leader whose music proved so pleasing last year," said benefit chairman Betsy Stranahan. Vice-chairman of the event is Mrs. Don Gargaro of Plymouth.

In addition to Lanin, entertainment will be provided by The Red Carter Band, saxophonist Donald Sinta, the Eastern Michigan Madrigal Singers, and vocalists Constance Barron, Ralph Herbert, Wendy Bloom and John McCollum.

Proceeds from the benefit will be used to establish a new educational program at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Mervywood Neuro-Psychiatric Hospital, both units of the Catherine McAuley Health Center.

Howmet to expand despite objections of residents

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The project plan for expanding the Howmet Corp. was approved by the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees last Tuesday night although residents living nearby opposed the company's expansion.

Several weeks ago, residents had complained to the board, charging the company with making excessive noise, producing unpleasant odors, and generally disrupting the neighborhood's atmosphere. In response, the board tabled consideration of the company's expansion plans for more review.

Howmet is required to receive the township's approval in order to borrow funds from the Wayne County Economic Development Corp. for expanding its operation.

Meanwhile, several township trustees have spoken with residents and company representatives in efforts to resolve the conflicts.

An attorney for the homeowners, Marvin Skupski, said last Tuesday night: "Residents don't withdraw their objections based on what they believe would cause a greater nuisance in their neighborhood."

In addition, he told the board that residents will seek "aid, support and assistance in getting lower taxes equal to the reduction in their property values (because of the disturbances caused by the company)."

A spokesperson for Howmet, V. L. Wilkinson, said the company has made and will continue to make efforts to resolve problems with the neighbors. Furthermore, he presented a copy of a noise assessment study, done by Total Environmental Systems, Inc. of East Lansing, to the board.

"(The company's) decibel levels are well within ordinance levels," he said.

The noise assessment study also says, "The primary cause of these noise levels is not located on the Howmet premises." It identifies noise as coming from trains passing by nearby and traffic on Ann Arbor Road.

In addition, it says, "Under all currently applicable legal requirements identified in this study, present conditions demonstrate compliance with required noise levels."

Several trustees said the company had made efforts to cooperate with the neighbors' complaints and has placed a tree line buffer zone, in addition to other measures, to reduce the noise levels.

And, although residents acknowledged that efforts had been made by Howmet, they listed four areas that were "totally unacceptable" to them. They included: continuous sound emitted from air handling and dust collection systems; excessive noise produced by the wheelabrator; and, scheduling sand deliveries to specific times of the day that are less objectionable to specific homeowners.

Several board members said the company has tried to alleviate the problems and that efforts should continue to resolve the issues between the company and residents.

The board approved the company's expansion plans by a 6-1 vote with Trustee Gerald Law dissenting.

Expansion plans for Howmet call for 19,500 square feet to be added to the present plant at 41605 Ann Arbor Rd. The expansion will create jobs for about 40 persons. Howmet will be able to finance the $4.3 million expansion through funds from the Wayne County Economic Development Corp.

AMERICAN COMMUNITY MUTUAL TO MOVE

American Community-Mutual Insurance Co., located at 409 Plymouth Rd., Plymouth, for the past 22 years, will move to 39201 Seven Mile Rd., Livonia, next summer. Groundbreaking ceremonies at the 9.2 acre site north of Schoolcraft Community College were held Monday. John Temple, president and chairman of the board, said the company needed more room in which to grow. The new building will be more than twice the size of the facility now occupied by the company. "Our income and net assets have tripled during the past five years," said Temple, "and our employment has doubled. We need more room in which to grow."

Ma Bell announces several new telephone numbers for Canton

Some 2,500 Michigan Bell customers in Canton will be given new telephone numbers in March, Michigan Bell has announced.

The change in numbers is necessary because Michigan Bell is switching its telephone lines to a different central office location.

"These customers currently are served by the switching office in Plymouth," said Haze Wilson, Michigan Bell local manager. "But in March, we will connect their phones to the switching office located on Sheldon Road in Canton, which has electronic equipment necessary for custom calling."

Wilson also said the electronic equipment will bring a choice of four optional custom calling features to affected customers. Currently the customers are in the "453," "455," and "459" exchanges; when the switch is made in March, the customers will be given new phone numbers in the "981" exchange.

Not all customers in the "453," "455," and "459" exchanges will be affected, said Wilson.

The 2,500 customers affected by the change are from two areas in Canton: the first is bounded by Ford road on the north, Canton Center on the east, Cherry Hill on the south, and Beck on the west; the second area is bounded by Warren on the north, Lotz on the east, Ford on the south and Morton-Taylor on the west.

Customers whose telephone numbers will be changed have been sent notification letters, said Wilson.

Stein pleads no contest to a lesser charge

Harold Stein, former Canton supervisor, pleaded no contest to a reduced charge stemming from his arrest for driving under the influence of liquor.

Appearing at a pre-trial conference Sept. 22 in the 35th District Court, Stein pleaded no contest to driving while visually impaired. According to Judge James Garber, the original charge was reduced on the recommendation of the assistant prosecuting attorney due to the results of a breathalyzer test given to Stein at the time of his arrest.

Garber said the breathalyzer test showed Stein to be below the blood alcohol level set for prosecution under drunken driving charges. According to Garber, "The ticket more properly should have been written for impaired driving."

Stein will appear for sentencing Oct. 29.

Center wants renovation

The Plymouth Center for Human Development in Northville has asked the state to approve renovation of the facility and deletion of 228 beds.

At an estimated cost of $4,201,000, the renovation would meet the commitments of the Intermediate Care Facility/Mental Retardation (ICF/MR) Plan of Compliance and be assured of continued ICF/MR certification by the federal government.

Since August 1979, Plymouth Center has operated under a court order, a Consent Decree that has restricted admissions to the facility, and required that the number of residents be reduced to 100 by 1983.

The project would bring five residential buildings at Plymouth Center, totaling 437 beds, into compliance with physical plant requirements of the ICF/MR federal regulations.

If approved, the project would be completed in June, 1981.

In keeping with state and federal regulations requiring state approval and action by the local health systems agency board prior to renovation and capital expenditure, Plymouth Center for Human Development has applied for a Certificate of Need. The application is on file with the Michigan Department of Public Health, Division of Health Facility Planning and Construction.

Senior services now offered by out-county aging offices

A number of services for senior citizens in the Plymouth-Canton Community have been taken from Wayne County and handed over to two out-county governments, Livonia and Redford Township.

The Wayne County Office on Aging, which had been offering the nutrition, home repair, weatherization, and information referral programs, however, filed suit yesterday morning to return to services to its supervision.

Plymouth-Canton's county commission, R. William Joyner, supports permitting Livonia and Redford to offer the services. He said the services will improve if they remain in the suburbs' hands.

The Out-County Area Agency on Aging gave the information referral program to Redford Township and the three others to Livonia, and rejected the applications to provide these services from the Wayne County Office on Aging.

Twp. citizen's inquiry leads to tax break

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees set its 1980 tax rate at 4.3954 mills at a special meeting Monday night. This action rescinds an earlier one taken at a Sept. 9 meeting during which the tax rate was set at 4.435 mills.

Setting the new millage rate came on the heels of a tax question posed by John McLenaghan, a Plymouth Township resident.

Last Tuesday night, he asked the board why the two, one mill levies for fire and police protection in Plymouth Township had not been rolled back as required by the Headlee Amendment. The one mill levied for township administration had been rolled back, he noted.

Frank Kelley, Michigan attorney general, had issued an opinion which said special assessment districts were exempt from rollbacks imposed by the Headlee Amendment. McLenaghan questioned whether the fire and police millage were considered "special assessments."

"They weren't presented (to the voters) that way," he said.

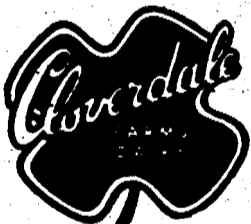

His question was referred to the township's attorney, Donald Morgan, who was scheduled to come back to the board with an answer on the question of rollbacks.

Approved by Michigan voters in 1978, the Headlee Amendment ties the increases in taxes to the inflation rate.

Township Clerk Esther Hulsing reported Monday that the police and fire millages would have to be rolled back.

She had called George McEachran, director of the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation. The rollback means that the township will collect $12,455 less in taxes than it had anticipated in September. The township expects to collect about $1.29 million in taxes, according to the new rate.

Canton spends $97,000 for computer service

Many of Canton's administrative functions will soon be handled by computer.

Last Tuesday Canton trustees voted to purchase a computer mini-system from Nixdorf Computer, Inc. of Southfield for a total cost of $97,000. Included in the total are software application cost, hardware cost and installation.

According to the steering committee assigned to investigate computer applications in township administration, estimated delivery of the equipment is late November or early December.

Prior to negotiations with Nixdorf, needs and wants of township departments were investigated by Arthur Andersen and Co., a certified public accountant firm that acted as a consultant for the project. A feasibility study was also conducted, polling 21 computer vendors for available services and hardware.

Anderson and Co. then matched the needs of the township administration to the most viable computer system.

Several weeks ago, Canton trustees debated the expenditure. Leading the opposition to the move were Trustees Stephen Larson and Robert Greenstein.

Larson said he believed implementation of a computer system would far exceed original cost estimates. Finance Director Mike Gorman disagreed, adding that although initial problems with the system were anticipated, service information was available from Nixdorf. A $20,000 contingency fund was also established for the project.

Greenstein said the money from revenue sharing funds, which would be used to finance the computer system, would be better spent on increased fire and police protection. Gorman replied, "Accuracy and timing of reports is crucial. In tough economic times, it is important to have this information on-line and available." Gorman further explained the need for the computer in terms of legal changes. "It is very difficult to run the Finance Department without a computer because of new laws."

Republicans canvass local voters

About 75 volunteers are calling registered voters in Plymouth-Canton-Northville to canvass for Republican candidates on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Located at 673 Main St., the Republican headquarters was started in mid-September and 2,000 calls to local voters have been logged, according to Carolyn Sellman, an organizer. Other organizers of the headquarters are Barbara McKelvey and Nedra Jenkins, both of Plymouth Township, and Flossie Tonda of Canton.

The calls are made from computerized lists of local registered voters specifying occupant, address and phone number. During the call, a worker identifies himself and then asks whether the voter is in favor of, against, or undecided about the various Republican candidates, from Congressional to local races, on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Although Federal Campaign laws will not allow the workers to reveal the results of the polling before the election, Sellman said the canvassing is going "pretty well" for Republican candidates.

"All the candidates are doing well," said Sellman.

In addition, she added that the center is also providing campaign literature to school children at Miller School who are following the election for a social studies class.

The center has also recruited high school students for the telephoning. "You wouldn't believe all the kids who come in here and call," said Sellman. "It's great."

Lt. Gov. to speak

Lt. Governor James Brickley will be the guest at the 1980 kick-off party of the Canton Republican Club on Thursday, Oct. 2, at 7 p.m. at the Cyprus Gardens Restaurant in Canton.

Flossie Tonda, president of the club, said she was extremely pleased that Brickley would take time to visit with Republicans in Canton Township to become more familiar with the problems and views of township residents.

Others invited are Robert C. Law, special assistant to Governor Milliken, and local candidates for township offices. The public is invited to attend the open house.

Deadlines for U.S. academies is Nov. 15

Applications for nominations to U.S. service academies are being accepted by Congressman William Ford.

Deadline for acceptance of applications from qualified youths in Canton is Saturday, Nov. 15. Application forms and information may be obtained by writing Ford at 2368 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 or 3716 Newberry St., Wayne, Mich. 48184.

Applicants must be at least 17 years old but not have reached the age of 22 by July 1 to qualify for appointment in 1981. They must also be United States citizens, unmarried and residing in the 15th Congressional District.

Ford also stresses, "In addition to these basic requirements, my nominations are based upon a strong academic record, SAT or ACT scores, extra-curricular activities and letters of recommendation."

Nominations will be made to either the Military, Naval, Air Force and Merchant Marine academies, and nominees must also pass competitive exams given by each of the service schools. Nomination does not automatically mean appointment to one of the academies, according to Ford.

He added that only four young men or women will be admitted in 1981 to service academies from the 15th District.

S'craft hosts voter forum

Nov. 4 is election day. In order to help voters understand some of the complicated issue, the Schoolcraft College Student Activities office will present "Election 1980, Insight and Answers."

It will cover four of the major issues involved in the 1980 election: the U.S. economy, the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), foreign military policy, and political trends and their implications for the 80s.

The series will be held each Tuesday in October at 7 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center on the upper level. Following the free lectures there will be a question and answer period.

Prevent theft; engrave goods

Through the financial support of the First National Bank of Plymouth, the Plymouth Police Department is now offering engraving tools to help identify valuables.

Called "Operation Identification," the program is being offered by the Police Crime Prevention Bureau. Engraving tools will be loaned at no cost to citizens wishing to mark valuables.

Detective Sergeant Dan Carpenter of the Plymouth Police suggests marking valuables with a Michigan driver's license number, preferably near the manufacturer's serial number if there is one. He adds that police cannot identify items marked with social security numbers. Engraved items should also be inventoried, and a list kept in a safe place.

"Financial Control" will be the topic of the Oct. 20 and 22 seminars, with a discussion of knowledge of systems necessary for effective decision-making and increased control for a better profit margin.

Finally, "Forecasting Business Needs" will be the subject of the Nov. 3 and 5 seminars, including such areas as major issues involved in forecasting, how to identify specific needs and how to make right decisions for the future.

Salem golfers smoke, beat AP for 9th victory

"We smoked them. The score has to be one of the best scores for this school in years," said Salem golf Coach Bob Waters after his squad carded a 189 score to defeat Suburban Eight League opponent Allen Park. Allen Park tallied 233.

Jeff Trim went one under par for the Brae-Burn course and shot a 34 on his birthday to lead the Rocks. That score is one off the school record of 33.

Jon Vives was next for the Rocks with 36. John Uekert had a 38, while senior Bill Ickes had a 39 and junior Bob Siegler a 42.

"That has to be one of the lowest scores in the state for any team this year," Waters said. "I am very impressed with this team. We are playing exactly as we want to right now. We are cruising and ready to play anybody."

Salem is 9-1 overall. The Rocks face Dearborn Edsel Ford tomorrow at Brae-Burn Golf Course. Match time is 3 p.m.

Tuesday victory for Salem cagers

BY KEN VOYLES

Salem's Girls' basketball squad gained a big non-conference victory last night snubbing Ann Arbor Huron, 39-34. The win is Salem's sixth in six games.

"These are non-conference games but they are still important," said Salem coach Bob Blohm. "Our biggest games are next week against Edsel Ford and Bentley in the league."

Eileen Moore paced Salem with 12 points, while Jan Mackenzie had 10, Cheryl Sobkow, seven and Carol Ross, four.

Huron scored first two minutes into the quarter and by the midway point the score was 4-4.

But with 2:42 left in the first period the Rocks started a surge that would last to the quarter's end. Salem tallied 12 points in those final minutes behind Moore and Sobkow. Salem led 15-8.

The Rocks opened the scoring in the second quarter with two baskets and then held its margin through the rest of the period. Salem added 10 more points in that period to Huron's eight and led at half-time, 25-16.

The temple of the game picked up considerably in the opening minutes of the third quarter.

Mackenzie started the Rocks off with two baskets and then added a third with 3:24 left in the period.

Salem's defense looked impressive, holding Huron to six points in the quarter. Offensively, the Rocks scored 10 points and spread their lead to 35-22.

In the final quarter, the Rocks looked tired. Held to three points through the first six minutes of the quarter, Salem watched as Huron closed the gap. With 30 seconds remaining, the score was 38-34, Salem. Moore sank a free throw for the Rocks with 11 seconds remaining and the game was sealed.

Register for junior basketball

The 1980-81 Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball program has set two dates for its pre-season registration. The first will be this Saturday Oct. 4; the second will be Oct. 11.

Registration will be conducted at the Canton High School Phase III building from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Any basketball players from grades three through 12 can register on either date. The registration fees are $12 for C League, $15 for B, A and AA leagues and $20 for AAA Leagues. The maximum fee per family is $50.

The league breakdown is as follows: C League includes girls third and fourth grades and boys third grade; B League includes girls fifth, sixth and seventh grades and boys fourth and fifth grades.

A League includes boys sixth and seventh grades; AA League includes girls eighth, ninth and 10th grades and boys eighth, ninth and 10th grades; AAA League includes boys 11th and 12th grades.

Last year the program had 816 boys and girls and 275 volunteer adults.

"PCJBA is always in need of adults for coaches and board members," said the program's President Mike Maloney. "The best time to inquire is on the registration dates."

All players who sign up will be on a team regardless of ability. All players will play in one-quarter of each game and not more than three-quarters.

Third-grade leagues are intended as instructional and players must play one half of each game.

Practices will be scheduled for one to two sessions weekly during the evening hours. Games are scheduled for Saturdays except certain boys AA and AAA games which will be scheduled for weekdays. The season starts Oct. 23 and will go to March 7.

The program is also looking for referees. To inquire, stop at Phase III on the registration dates.

For further details on the registration, contact Ron Mack at 453-1797 (home) or 453-1400 ext. 3644 (work).

Canton netters win Monday

The Canton tennis squad knocked off Waterford Mott Monday 6-1 in a Western Six League tennis match and upped its record to 5-1 with the win.

Eileen McGlenn won No. 1 singles for Canton, 6-2 and 6-4 over Melissa Bachman.

Lori Smith won No. 2 singles over Colleen Boyle, 6-3 and 7-6, while Marianne Pink captured No. 3 singles for the Chiefs 6-3, 1-6 and 8-6 over Kathy Pitts.

Chris Harrison won No. 4 singles 6-0 and 6-0 over Janet Lawton.

Juile Swain and Cheryl Smith won No. 1 doubles for Canton, 6-1 and 6-2, over Johnson and Render, while Heather Hawkins and Lisa Scholtz beat Pezet and Dabbs 6-0 and 6-0 to win No. 2 doubles.

Barb Rupprecht and Ann O'Connell won No. 3 doubles 6-1 and 6-1 over Armstrong and Savioe.

"With some luck we should be able to stay in second place in the Western Six. Northville is a tough team and I don't know how we will do against them," said Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein.

The Chiefs will face Northville today at Northville. Match time is 4 p.m.

Chief golfers finally win

Last week was the best week of the 1980 season for the Canton golf squad as the team pulled out one victory and had a second strong match.

Last Thursday, the Chiefs fell to Farmington Harrison in a Western Six League match. Harrison carded a 199 and Canton had a 219.

"They (Harrison) played excellent golf but we did have a good outing so I wasn't displeased," said Canton Coach Casey Cavell. "We are getting a little more consistent."

Kevin Norton paced the Chiefs that day with a 41. Sophomore Paul Norton had a 42, Doug Moffatt had a 44, Paul Phillips and Ken Morton had 46s.

"That was our second lowest score of the year and four or five holes we played in the rain," said Cavell.

Canton's lowest score of the year came earlier in the week when the Chiefs defeated conference foe Walled Lake Western. Canton tallied a 211 and Western had a 228.

Sophomore Morton was the Chiefs first meet medalist of the season with a 41. Sean McManaman, Moffatt and Paul Norton had 42s and Phillips a 44.

"It was certainly a relief to win that one. The team felt really good about the match because we played like a team," said Cavell.

Canton is now 1-6 overall and 1-5 in the conference.

Williams Memorial tourney draws 102 local golfers

The Third Annual Randy Williams Memorial Golf Tourney proved a competitive success this year as 102 golfers from the Plymouth-Canton Community and across the state played at Rolling Meadows Golf Course in fine fall weather.

"We want to thank all the people who came out and golfed in the tournament. It was a much better time this year," said tourney Chairman Larry Olson. "We would like everybody to understand that this tournament is a very competitive type of tourney and it's a lot of fun."

The first-place foursome for the day was Burt Quinn, Tim Quinn, Mark Robinson and Roy Gaddy with an eight under par 62.

Second place was taken by Tom Granata, Mike Corp, Meryl Austin and Mike Bidigare with a seven under par 63.

Mike Maurer, Ken Smith, Mike Schmidt and Bob Beck were third also with a 63 score.

Tim Quinn won the closest-to-pin competition and Tom Ross hit the longest drive of the day at roughly 296 yards.

Last year, the tournament drew 80 golfers, while two years ago the competitive field was 128.

"This third annual event had better attendance than last year and I think we had more fun," said Olson. "We have tentatively set Sept. 20 as next year's date."

According to Olson, the tournament will turn over some $2,500 to St. John's Episcopal Church for needy non-denominational families in the community.

Olson and other tournament directors said they would like to thank John Colina, Central Distributors, Foster-Kilby Supply, Olson Heating and Air, Norwest Plumbing, A.J. Danboise Plumbing, Armbruster Bootery, Norman's Apparel, Lent's Clothing, William Morrison, Box Bar, Jim Jabara, Granata Furniture, Beitners Jewelry, Bottles N Stuff.

Canton continues league basketball dominance

BY JAY KEENAN

The Canton girls' basketball squad continued its Western Six dominance by barreling over Northville, 70-44, Thursday night in their first league duel of the season.

The victory notched the Chiefs overall record to 4-2.

"The team is playing more family basketball and they're playing together more which has been the key," said Canton Coach Mike McCauley. "In the two games we dropped earlier this season, we just didn't play as a team."

Midway through the second quarter, the Chiefs led with a narrow 20-15 margin. In the final three minutes of the half, however, Canton rocketed to a commanding 38-21 lead, which was iced by a basket by Pearl Cunningham at the halftime buzzer.

Through the third quarter the Chiefs defense tightened as Canton yielded only six points and increased their lead to 53-27.

Canton added 17 points in the final stanza, as they rolled to their 36th consecutive Western Six victory.

Salem cagers stay unbeaten now 5-0

Salem's girls' basketball team upped its record to 5-0 with two Suburban Eight League basketball wins last week.

The Rocks dumped Belleville last Thursday 44-34, using a strong first and second quarter to hold off the Tigers in the second half.

"We definitely had a good first half. We jumped out quickly in the first quarter and got to play all our people early," said Salem Coach Bob Blohm.

The Rocks tallied 16 points in the first quarter and 12 points in the second quarter, while Belleville managed nine points and 14 points.

"Defensively we played pretty good basketball. For the most part we were consistent. We couldn't put the game away but we held on," said Blohm.

Salem then added eight points in each of the third and fourth quarters, while the Tigers had four points and 10 points, respectively.

Cheryl Sobkow scored 20 points to pace the Rocks, while Jan Mackenzie had 10 points, all in the first half.

"Jan got us off to a really good start and Cheryl was there the whole time," said Blohm.

Earlier in the week, the Rocks edged league foe Dearborn, 49-44. "The key in the game was our ability to beat their pressure defense and the fact that we dominated the backboards so well," said Blohm.

Salem scored eight points in the first quarter and 13 more in the second, but Dearborn led at the halftime by scoring 10 points and 12 points in the first two periods.

Reggie Reggiero was the Chiefs high scorer with 18 points. She was followed by Colleen Crissey who netted 11 points while also grabbing 15 rebounds. Cunningham added nine points to Canton's total.

Jackie Nixon was the Mustangs top shooter sinking 13 points.

The score at half was 22-21.

"We had a really big third quarter and that kind of sealed it for us. Up to that point the game was very close," said Blohm.

The Rocks tossed in 22 points in that third period and held Dearborn to 10. Salem then added six more in the fourth to hold on, as Dearborn tallied 12 points and tried to fight back.

Eileen Moore and Mackenzie charged the Rocks efforts with 12 points each. Sobkow scored 10 points and Jacque Merrifield and Carol Ross had six points each.

The Rocks will face Ypsilanti tomorrow at Ypsilanti. Junior varsity start at 6 p.m. and varsity at 7:30 p.m.

The Chiefs were good on 16 of 22 foul shots compared to Northvilles 12 of 30 from the line. Crissey paced Canton in charity tosses connecting on seven of eight attempts.

The Chiefs played a physical game and were charged with 29 personal fouls. Three players fouled out.

"A lot of times we don't get fired up for the games with Northville because historically over the years we've beat them by 50 points every game," said McCauley. "We committed more fouls tonight than we ever had just because I think our timing was off and the fact that we just weren't fired up enough."

"But we beat them by 30 points, so I think that's adequate enough."

Against Livonia Stevenson, earlier in the week, Canton struggled through the first three quarters but came out on top, 52-45.

The teams fought to a 9-9 deficit at the end of the first quarter, and the Chiefs pulled ahead 20-19 at the half.

The Chiefs remained ahead with a one point margin after three quarters but managed to outscore Stevenson 20-14 in the final quarter.

Reggiero paced the Canton attack with 14 points. Cunningham and Jean Timlin with nine points apiece.

Beth Mueller was Stevenson top scorer with 14 points.

The Chiefs were charged with 25 fouls, against 20 personals for Stevenson. Canton took advantage of 12 freethrows in 24 attempts, Stevenson was 17 of 27.

The Chiefs next league game will be tomorrow against Walled Lake Western at the Canton gym starting at 7:30 p.m.

Rock harriers win one, lose one in double duel

Salem's cross country team ran a double-duel meet with Suburban Eight League opponents Belleville and Allen Park last week and came away with one victory and one defeat.

Belleville defeated the Rocks 15-50, while Salem dumped Allen Park 15-49.

Frank Brosnan paced the Salem runners with a time of 17:36. Chris Whittaker was next at 17:54, while Chris Kopach had an 18:09. Skip Whittaker a 18:10 and Brad Hartell a 18:12.

Scoring wise, against Belleville, Salem finished in positions eight through 12. Against Allen Park, the Rocks took the first five places.

"We ran pretty good. Our times were consistent," said Salem Coach Scott Dunson.

Salem is now 1-4 in dual competition.

The Rocks will be at Dearborn tomorrow for a league meet with Dearborn. Meet time is 4 p.m.

Turnovers wreck Rocks in clash with Dearborn

BY KEN VOYLES

It was a bad night all around for the Salem football squad Friday as the Rocks were defeated by Suburban Eight League opponent Dearborn, 34-9.

The Rocks committed eight turnovers in the game and literally foiled themselves of any chance of success against Dearborn.

"Turnovers were certainly a big factor in the ball game," said Salem Coach Tom Moshimer. "They didn't shut us down; we shut ourselves down."

"We did not execute against Dearborn. They made the big play against us and we were out of the game so quickly we couldn't do much about it. We aren't a catch-up type football team," Moshimer continued.

A look at the statistics shows that the Rocks were in the game, but that Dearborn made those big plays and the Rocks made the big mistakes.

Salem had 10 first downs to Dearborn's six. Salem had 191 yards rushing to Dearborn's 133. Total offense, Dearborn had 251 and Salem 207. The Rocks also had seven fumbles of which only one was recovered and one pass interception. Dearborn committed two turnovers.

"Looking at the statistics shows that we aren't as bad a football team as the score indicates. We'll win some games, but that night was a night when everything we did turned into disaster," said Moshimer.

The Rocks took the opening kick and drove to the Dearborn 32-yard line. The drive was stopped when Dave Skone fumbled a pitch from quarterback Joe Garcia.

Dearborn was then stopped and Salem took over again. This time the Rocks went nowhere from their own 18-yard mark. Several penal-

That was to be Salem's only scoring effort from its offense during the game.

After Salem kicked, Dearborn scored on its first play from scrimmage when quarterback Kevin Palko threw a 50-yard touchdown pass to Dave Mifsud. The score became 14-0.

Palko and Mifsud connected again on a 40-yard pass to set up Dearborn's next touchdown. With 4:10 left in the half, Mills scored for Dearborn after the pass had put the ball on the Salem five. The score was 21-7.

"We didn't expect them to throw as much as they did," said Moshimer. "Dearborn played well. Anytime you win 34-9 it's a good win."

Dearborn kicked following its touchdown. Salem committed yet another fumble. This time Hubert dropped the football on a play that could have been considered a passing attempt. Dearborn took over at the Salem 26-yard line. The Rocks defense held so Dearborn used the feet of Harold Moore. Moore booted a 37-yard field goal to make the score 24-7 with 1:40 left in the half.

Hubert fumbled again just moments later when Salem got the ball back and Moore kicked his second field goal, this time from 32-yard. The score was 27-7.

In the third quarter, after the ball had changed hands several times, Salem took over at its own 47-yard line and drove to midfield only to lose the ball when Slavin fumbled after a pitch.

Dearborn scored two plays later and led 34-7.

Salem's other two points came with 8:09 left in the fourth quarter. Dearborn went back to punt at its one-yard line. The snap was over the punter's hands and defensive end Mark Kitz rushed in and tackled the punter in the endzone for a safety.

"Kitz did a hell of a job for us on defense," said Moshimer. "Gary Workman and Steve Szilagyi also had strong games."

"I thought at half time that we could still come back and win the game. If we could have scored a couple early on, the score could have very well went the other way," Moshimer continued.

Slavin and Bartkowiak paced the ground attack for Salem with 83 yards and 66, respectively. Hubert was 1-8 in passing.

The Rocks are now 2-2 and 1-2 in the Suburban Eight League.

Salem will try again this Friday at Allen Park. Game time for the league clash is 8 p.m.

Canton golf team loses by one stroke

The Canton golf squad dropped a Western Six League golf outing to Livonia Churchill Monday losing by one stroke. Churchill had 226 score and Canton 227.

Sean McManaman was low for the Chiefs with a 42. Kevin Norton had a 45, Paul Philips and Ken Morton had 46s and Paul Norton had a 48.

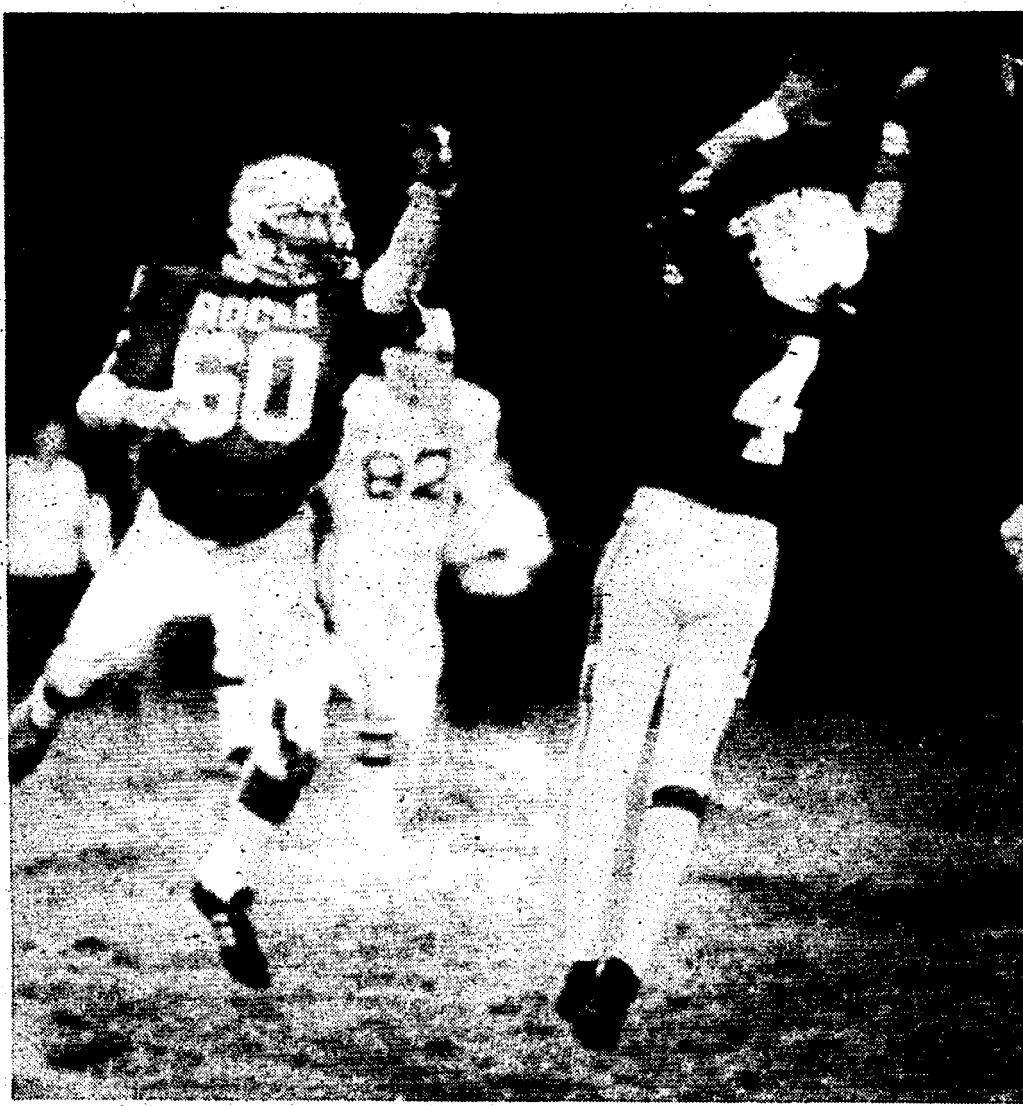

Canton is now 1-6 in the league.

Pair win golf title

Tony Valenti and Dick Kraft won the Canton Recreation Department Championship Match of the Fox Hills Men's Golf League by taking three out of five points from Art Lawrence and Jim Monro. Lawrence and Monro won the first 8-week league and Tony and Dick took the second 8-week league to set up the championship match.

Valenti and Kraft won the match by taking one point for team totals. Valenti carded a 42 and Kraft came in with a 45.

The team of Larry Slade and Steve Morac tied for first with Valenti and Kraft in the second 8-week league, but Valenti and Kraft scored three of five points in the playoff match to make it into the championship match.

SALEM LINEBACKERS Steve Szilagyi (60) and safety Geoff Baker (4) attempt to stop a Dearborn pass, but like everything else the Rocks did that Friday night they were unsuccessful. Szilagyi tipped the pass which then went through Baker's grasp and into the arms of a waiting Dearborn receiver. (Crier photo by Rick Smith) ties and a 10-yard loss to new quarterback Jeff Hubert forced Salem to punt from its endzone.

Dearborn received and drove down the field. At the end of the first quarter, Dearborn was at the Salem four-yard line ready to score.

On the first play of the second quarter, Scott Mills scored for Dearborn.

Salem took the ensuing kickoff and started a drive of its own. Fullback Darrel Bartkowiak, Skone and Dave Slavin paced the attack along with quarterback Hubert.

With a first down at Dearborn's 10-yard line, Slavin drove to the six and Dearborn was charged with a holding penalty putting the pigskin at the three-yard line. Slavin then capped the drive with an off-tackle dive from the three for the touchdown. Brian Lewandowski kicked the extra point and the score was even, 7-7.

Schools seek to rent church classrooms

Instead, earth science class will be offered at the junior high schools and biology will be offered to 10th graders.

"We're just switching the sequence of (science) courses," said Supt. John Hoben Monday night. "Nothing is lost in the process, but we'll save $50,000 in terms of buying lab equipment."

Meanwhile, the first year of all foreign languages -- Latin, German, Spanish, and French -- will be offered both at the junior highs and at the high schools, if enough students sign up, said Hoben.

But, typing classes will not be offered for ninth graders. The three-year typing and clerical sequence will be offered at the high schools in grades 10-12.

Retired teachers invited to tea

A tea for retired Plymouth-Canton teachers will be held Monday, Oct. 6 as part of Alpha Delta Kappa Week Oct. 5-11. It will begin at 4 p.m. at East Middle School.

The society for retired teachers will be entertained by the East Middle School chorus, directed by Diane Brady, during the tea.

Chairman of the tea is Adina Rice, assisted by Betty Ervine, Sara Haas, Betty Walker, Ellen Gross, and Lorraine Raymer.

Officers in the group include Joan Davis, president; Raymer, vice-president; Marguerite Ross, secretary; Barbara Moll, treasurer; Helen Krause, chaplain; and Helen Kelly, publicity.

P.O. crowding relieved by switch

"Approximately 50 per cent of the Plymouth workload relates to Canton," said Pursell. "The Plymouth facility will be able to concentrate on service to local customers."

Before the Canton switch can be made, however, the plan must be approved by the postal employees' unions, said Pursell. The unions will be notified of the postal management's plans this week, he said.

Pursell said that the plans will be implemented "within six months."

Also, many elementary schools which have special art and music rooms may have to give up that space for regular classrooms. In addition, a classroom of elementary students may be housed in large "centrums," which were originally designed for large-groups instruction rather than as regular classrooms, at some schools.

School officials are currently working on a redistricting plan for mapping new boundary lines for attendance at schools throughout the district in the fall of 1981.

The first step in redistricting is having a "walk analysis" completed by Ecotran, a transportation company, which will map out new boundary lines based on information compiled by officials. The "walk analysis" will identify students who are within walking distance from schools.

School officials want to have the new boundary lines mapped out for parents, students, and teachers by Feb. 1.

Twp. seniors to get church?

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees is considering the purchase of a former church building for housing senior citizens programs.

Located near the intersection of Bradner and Schoolcraft roads, the one-story church is currently owned by the Michigan State Highway Department. Plymouth Township will make a bid on it for purchase, said Supervisor Tom Notebaert.

The church has an auditorium, kitchen, and partial basement, said Notebaert. It was owned by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints until Dec. 19, 1975 when it was sold to the highway department and used as a field office.

If Plymouth Township buys the church, Plymouth Family Services, a counseling agency, may use its office space in exchange for maintaining the building, said Notebaert. He added that he estimates it will cost $80,000 to $90,000.

Jaycees to host Lansing Day

Robert C. Law has been named chairman of the Michigan Jaycee Legislative Day in Lansing program scheduled for Oct. 11 at the Capitol Building.

This annual legislative assembly, to be hosted by the Canton Township Jaycees, is held with the idea of involving young men and women in learning more about the governmental process.

"I am extremely pleased to be coordinating this informative program," Law said, "because it should help Jaycees develop their skills in government involvement."

Law is a former state legislator and presently serves as the Special Assistant to Governor Milliken in charge of legislation and policy.

The seminar is scheduled to run from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Oct. 11. Guest of honor and keynote speaker will be Lt. Governor James Brickley.

Lawn jobbers thwarted

An alert neighbor in Plymouth Township has helped curb "lawn jobs" in the Trailwood II subdivision.

Wayne County sheriffs report that three youths drove over a resident's lawn on Woodleigh Way Friday night.

Then they left, but returned a few minutes later "apparently to admire what they had done," said Det. Rick Fenton of the Wayne County Sheriff's Dept. At that time, a neighbor, who had seen the youths, copied the vehicle's license plate number, said police.

The youth will make restitution for the damage caused, said Fenton.
