BY DAN BODENE

According to Plymouth-Canton Schools administrators, the financial picture for 1981-82 "remains rather bleak in that expenditures are projected to exceed revenues from approximately $3.3 million to $3.5 million."

A clearer idea of the deficit will be available when state and county aid formulas are set, the district's State

Equalized Valuation (SEV) established and the impact of the May 19 tax reform proposal is known, say administrators.

School Board members heard the not-very-optimistic news at a weekend workshop March 27 and 28, held to review the 1981-82 budget.

Plymouth police stop Nazi rally in park

BY KEN VOYLES

The word "Nazi" brings visions of violence and hatred to the minds of many, and apparently the connotation still rings true.

Saturday afternoon the Security Service Action Group, headquartered in Westland, held an "informational" rally in Plymouth's Kellogg Park.

The group is the "action arm" of the National Socialists of America, according to party spokesman John Riech, and is the uniformed section of the organization frequently used in rallies.

Saturday's rally lasted exactly 10 minutes, before Plymouth Police headed by Sgt. Daniel Carpenter stepped in and told the group to leave.

At 2 p.m., 15 to 20 members of the organization began the rally. They formed a half-circle around the fountain in the park and gathered around three flags — an American flag, the Con-

Lowell school gets principal

Lowell Junior High, leased earlier this year from Livonia Public Schools, now has a principal.

Plymouth-Canton School Board members unanimously approved the appointment Monday night of Gary Faber, currently an area coordinator at Canton High, to the post.

Five candidates for the position were considered by a screening committee, composed of Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for employe relations; Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction; John Telford, executive director of secondary education; Shirley Spaniel, executive director of elementary education; and Edwin Page, executive director of special programs and student services. The committee recommended Faber unanimously.

Faber holds a doctorate from Wayne

State University, with a major field of study in curriculum development. He was also awarded bachelor, master and specialist degrees from Wayne State in education and administration.

Since 1969, Faber has taught in the Livonia, Garden City and Plymouth-Canton Schools. His assignments have ranged from teacher to assistant principal and director of community-school relations.

According to Kee, "He has done much work and has extensive experience at the middle school level."

Last March, Faber was awarded a "Gold Certificate" by the Michigan Association for Secondary School Principals for his work. "He does have a lot of experience and will be an asset to that assignment," added board president Carol Davis.

Harper files for board reelection

Stephen Harper, vice president of the Plymouth-Canton board of Education, has once again thrown his hat in the ring.

Harper has announced he will seek reelection to his school board seat, up for grabs at the June 8 election.

To date, five petitions have been certified for the election, from Marilyn Rickard, 41927 Hystone, Canton; Ernest G. Rumsby, 44551 Savery, Canton; William H. Decker, 12784 Haverhill, Plymouth; Charles R. Washburn, 13300 Ridge Rd., Plymouth; and Harper, 11835 Appletree Dr., Plymouth.

In addition, five more petitions have been received at the board office, from June A. Duerr, 9831 Dorian, Plymouth; Christopher B. Clements, 1360 Hartsough, Plymouth; David C. Bone, 6849 Carriage Hills, Canton; Edyth Aninos, 41410 Hanford, Canton; and Loretta Olson, 365 Pacific, Plymouth.

Residents of the Plymouth-Canton Community can still register for the four-year board seat, by acquiring a petition from the board office, 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth, and returning with at least 28 valid signatures by April 6 at 4 p.m.

For more information, call the board office at 453-0200, extension 422.

Plymouth Energy Fair to assist homeowners in beating fuel costs

The City of Plymouth's Energy Program will be conducting an Energy Fair this Sunday (April 5) and next Sunday (April 12) at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The fair will run from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on those days and will include exhibits relating to solar energy, wood heating, electric heat pumps, replacement windows, ridesharing, heat loss principles and future PEP (Plymouth Energy Program) activities.

The fairs are a follow up to the community meetings held this past winter which 40 per cent of the city's homeowners attended.

The fair is designed to offer a more indepth look at energy and its uses.

This Sunday the Daedalus van with $250,000 worth of infra-red equipment will be on display. The vehicle was used last year to photograph all the buildings in the city to check for heat loss.

Other topics will include, how to put together a cost-effective energy strategy; how to obtain financing or use tax credits for energy conservation; how to apply for help from weatherization programs; where and how to caulk and weatherstrip; where and how to insulate; how to improve furnace efficiency; low cost energy conservation ideas for home and office.

Canton Library plans open house for library week

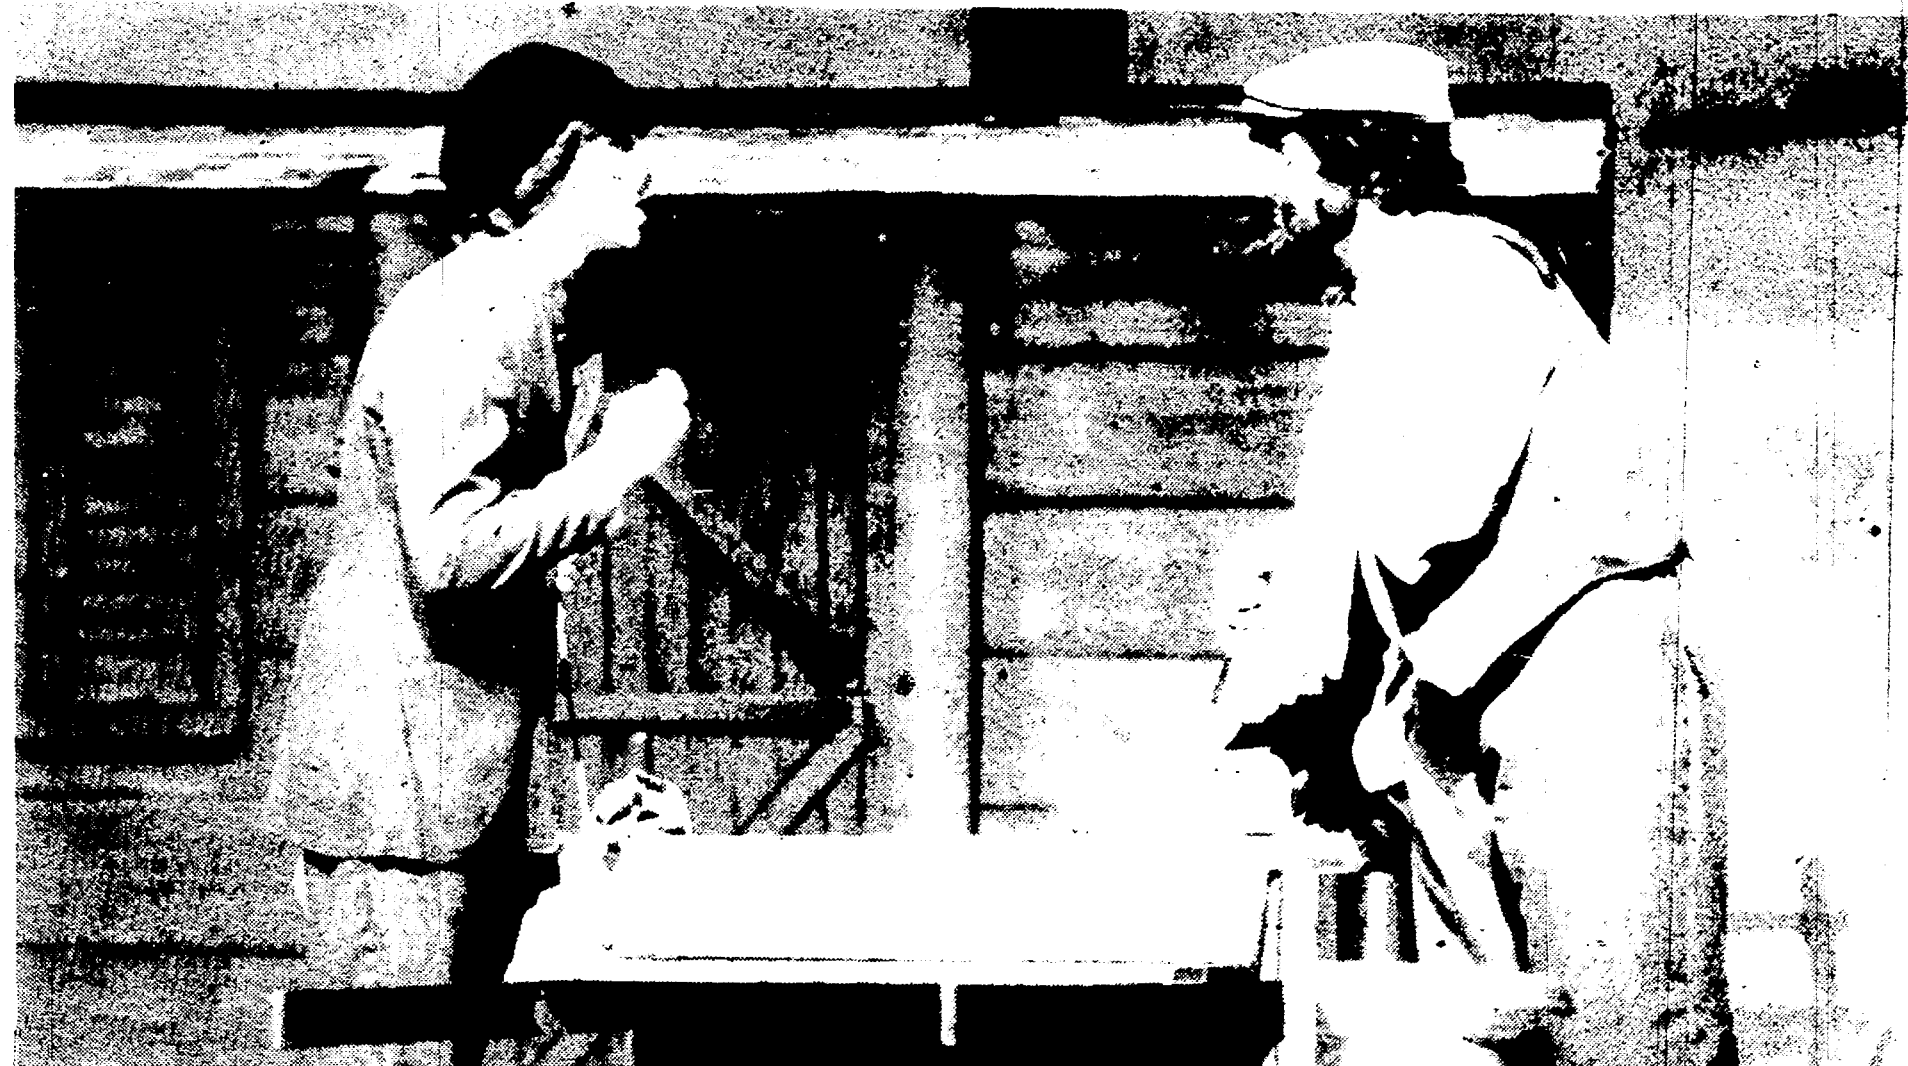

Canton Public Library will celebrate National Library Week, April 5-April 11, by having an open house, hosting children's programs and unveiling recently-purchased audio-visual equipment.

On Tuesday, April 7, puppeteer Jane Zevalkink will perform two puppet shows in the library's meeting room. At 1:30 p.m. a preschool performance will be offered for 4 and 5 year old children who are able to sit attentively for a 35 minute period. A school aged performance for children in kindergarten and up will be presented at 4:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, April 6, children's films for ages 6 and up will be shown at 7 p.m. The films include "Soup for the President," "The Three Robbers" and "Nate the Great Goes Undercover."

Thursday evening, April 9, has been set aside for an open house sponsored by the Canton Library Board. Library Board members will be on hand to greet library users and answer questions about the library and its policies. Refreshments will be served and all family members are welcome to attend. There will be an opportunity to borrow materials and to tour the library facilities.

In order to promote National Library Week, recently purchased juvenile audio visual materials will be made available to the public on Monday, April 6. Items to be displayed include circulating cassette recordings based on children's books, circulating read-along cassette book combinations, filmstrip cassette combinations for use in the library and a collection of puppets which may be borrowed for home use.

School board studies administrator cuts

BY DAN BODENE

Plymouth-Canton School Board members took the first step Monday night in terminating three administrators' contracts effective July 1, and reassigning several other administrators to new positions.

Of the three administrators affected by the proposed terminations, however, two currently hold tenure and may later be assigned to teaching positions.

According to Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for employee relations, the school board is required to notify personnel of impending terminations prior to 90 days before the end of the school year. Prior to 60 days before the end of the school year, the board must take official action on the terminations. On May 1, those actions must be finalized. The affected administrators may discuss the proposed terminations at the April 27 board meeting.

No names were released by the school board. However, it was disclosed that "Administrator 1" is the director of a program closed due to "economic and budgetary cutbacks" discussed at a special weekend board workshop March 27 and 28.

"Administrator 2" is facing non-renewal of a two-year administrative contract. In essence, Administrator 2 may be reassigned to a teaching position, although the salary for an administrator is in effect for another year. After that time, salary and benefits will be adjusted to the level of the new assignment.

A third administrator is facing non-renewal of a two-year contract, for reasons of an "unsatisfactory evaluation." Also holding tenure, Administrator 3 will receive program assistance, or close review and supervision by superiors, for one year before a possible teaching assignment may be contracted.

According to board vice president Stephen Harper, "None of the (affected) administrators are school principals."

The board is also considering alteration of present assignments. Six employees in administrative positions may be reassigned due to district-wide changes because of budgetary constraints, redistricting and other issues. The changes may or may not result in contract changes, according to Harper.

New assignments for the six administrators include assistant principal positions at Lowell, Gallimore, Fiegel and Bird Schools, Centennial Education Park Area Coordinator, and the position of principal to cover two as-yet-unnamed schools.

"This is part of the $225,000 cutback in the administrative budget in 1981-82," said Superintendent John Hoben.

All issues were approved unanimously by board members.

Career Day planned at CEP

Providing students with a "working world" view will be the aim of the first annual Career Exploration Day at Centennial Education Park on April 7.

Forty business and professional people will visit Salem and Canton High Schools, to share their feelings and information on their occupations. Career groups represented include technologies, business operations, health services and sciences, natural and social sciences, business sales and management, creative and applied arts, social and personal services, trades, crafts and industry.

The Career Day is the result of planning by the Community Schools-Business-Education Committee.

Members of the committee include Ronald Griffith, Schoolcraft College; Bernice J. Maurer, Dunn Steel Products; Frank McMurray, State Farm Insurance; Beverly Neal, Lambert Funeral Home;

Plymouth township board gives okay for K-Mart SDM

Plymouth Township trustees approved the recommendation of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission for renewing the SDM license for K-Mart Corporation's shopping center at 10855 Ann Arbor Road.

Residents assured of clean sweep from Ace Chimney Sweeps

A very old profession enjoying a new resurgence due to the increasing dependence on wood for heating is that of the chimneysweep.

Local "Master Sweep" Chris Hippler reports his "Ace Chimney Sweeps" can service most any chimney, including wood, oil and coal-burning stove flues. Hippler says fireplaces are also a specialty. A member of the National Chimneysweep Guild, Hippler has been certified a Master Sweep and is fully insured.

An interesting sidelight to his business is the "Ace Newsletter" he publishes, featuring news about wood-burning safety, and information and educational tips on stoves and fireplaces.

Not content to merely clean fireplaces and stoves, Hippler and partner Attila Huth also install them. The pair have formed "Wood Stove Installations and Consultation," which pretty well explains the nature of their business.

"We talk to people who don't know that much about stoves, and check out their house and recommend a size and location for a stove," says Hippler. "It's pretty confusing for someone not familiar with stoves - there are over 300 on the market now."

Along with consultation services, Hippler and Huth install prefab chimneys, hearths, and blackpipes. Both partners are fully insured at their work, and deal primarily in the Plymouth-Canton-Ann Arbor area. All work is done under National Fire Protection Agency and Underwriters Laboratory guidelines, says Hippler.

For more information, call Hippler at Ace Chimney Sweeps at 995-1188.

Police break up Nazi rally

federacy's Civil War battle flag and a World War II German flag. All of the group were uniformed in various German military outfits from the WWII era.

A small crowd of all ages gathered in front of the sign-carrying Nazis and showed their displeasure toward the group, shouting and gesturing.

One Plymouth resident and veteran of World War II, Norm Kellman, showed his feelings when he advanced on one member of the group, grabbed a placard and ripped it apart.

Lt. Henry Berghoff of the Plymouth Police, at the time off-duty, was the first to react, stepping forward to separate the two men.

At the same time, the crowd continued to grow due to the arrival of several carloads of demonstrators from other cities.

The crowd closed in on the Nazis and more shouts, threats and obscenities were exchanged.

Carpenter, apparently sensing a growing crowd control problem, halted the rally at 2:10, telling the Security Group to disperse.

The group left Kellogg Park, crossed Penniman Avenue and reached their parked vehicles while the crowd followed, shouting. Plymouth Police then directed the group's departure.

Lorraine and Don Calvin of Plymouth were among the crowd. They said they read a notice of the rally in a local newspaper and reacted by calling different groups, several union locals and the high schools to let others know about it and to put it down.

"We don't need this garbage in Plymouth," said Don Calvin. "My wife was told two different things when she called City Hall. What we want to really know is why the public wasn't given notice of this and why were they given a permit."

Lorraine Calvin said she was concerned with the fact that the Nazis were considering opening an office in the city sometime this year.

City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. said due to the group's rights under the First Amendment, there was no legal basis for denying the rally permit. An opinion from the city attorney confirmed the permit could not be blocked.

Graper added the group has conducted rallies in Plymouth for several years, with no incident.

Every year, early in the spring, the Nazi security forces in the area stage rallies in several cities, according to Riech, who added the rally was not the first in Plymouth and wouldn't be the last.

"The reason we held the rally was to show how the Communists and blacks would come in and attempt to disrupt our right to freedom of speech," Riech said.

"It was an information rally to show people how to contact us. We wanted to stay out there and talk to the people, but the police got paranoid because the Communists wanted to start violence -- so we had to leave," he said.

According to Berghoff, "It was just a matter of seeing the situation as it was developing, and ending it before any real violence started."

Chemotherapy offers hope Blood disease is battled

BY DAN BODENE

Mary Dingeldey has leukemia. For a long time, she would apologize before telling close friends about it. Not any more.

She now has the support of the Children's Leukemia Foundation (CLF), an organization dedicated to research into the cause and cure of leukemia and other blood diseases. Nonetheless, it has already been a long battle for her, and it is not yet over.

A long-time Canton resident, Dingeldey first noticed the symptoms of the disease during her campaign last fall for township trustee. At first, she dismissed the fatigue, chalking it up to the demands of the campaign, her job at Federal Pipe and Steel, memberships on various township organizations and the needs of her family. Until Thanksgiving.

Near the end of November, she noticed a blue spot under her eye. After a doctor "maintenance" treatments, consisting of thrice-daily, five times a week "blasts" of drugs, for a minimum period of three years.

To eliminate some of the problems from so many injections, Dingeldey had a Hickman catheter inserted in her vena cava vein just under the collarbone, running under the skin to an outlet below the breastbone. Intravenous lines can simply be "plugged in" to the catheter.

She jokes about the catheter, belying a greater understanding of the disease. "I'm gonna get over it, or I couldn't joke otherwise," she says. "It's not always fatal any more."

Although she has not suffered much of the nausea associated with chemotherapy, Dingeldey has fought through bouts of equilibrium loss, mood changes and hair loss. But there is still one avenue open to completely beat the disease.

Both Dingeldey and Johnson hope for an operation to replace the diseased bone marrow -- a transplant. In that form of treatment, the diseased marrow is destroyed with radiation and replaced with injections of healthy marrow from a donor.

The operation is expensive, only done at a few hospitals throughout the country, and is accomplished with healthy bone marrow from the close physiological match of a relative. Dingeldey has been accepted for the operation by a hospital in Iowa, but she may wait until she can be accepted in Seattle, Washington.

Meanwhile, she and Johnson campaign for CLF, hoping to set up a local chapter.

Formed by Sylvia Brown, who lost a child to the disease, CLF began out of a garage in Farmington Hills 29 years ago. Now, it serves 274 patients in Wayne County alone, nearly double the number from last year. Not only for children, CLF provides services for adults as well, including research, prescriptions, transportation, health aids such as walkers and crutches, counseling, fundraising, diagnosed the spot as a possible insect bite, she went home, only to consult a dermatologist the next day after another spot appeared under the other eye. That visit was also inconclusive.

On the Friday after Thanksgiving, she went to an oncologist, who did a bone marrow test. He reported 60 per cent of the cells in her bone marrow were cancerous.

Leukemia is a disease of the blood-forming tissues. It floods the blood supply with immature white cells and crowds red cells, which carry oxygen to tissues, and platelets, which promote clotting.

There are two main types: lymphocytic, which involves cells in the lymph glands and spleen; and myelocytic, which involves cells in the bone marrow. Both types may be acute (rapid-growing), or chronic (slow-growing).

As the disease progresses, abnormal white cells become dominant, causing infections, severe anemia and widespread bruising and hemorrhaging.

Dingeldey began her treatment at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. It was during the hospital stay Dingeldey met Kimber (Babe) Johnson, another leukemia patient and a member of CLF.

"The treatment for leukemia is 10 times worse than the disease," says Johnson. Dingeldey asserts, "I have had to go through things that, thank God, the average person will never have to go through."

The first phase of Dingeldey's treatment, called the induction phase, lasted 55 days. Massive chemotherapy treatments destroyed not only the malignant cells, but healthy ones as well. The danger of infection was very great, so Dingeldey was in almost constant isolation.

After induction, she began "consolidation" treatments to get into remission (a halt of disease growth), then public relations and referrals for patients.

A local service is co-sponsorship of the annual Red Cross Blood Drive at Canton Township Hall on April 4, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. "What would be the one thing we all have in common?" Dingeldey said she asked herself months ago. "The answer -- blood."

While there is time, there is hope, for both women. Dingeldey's last examination disclosed only six per cent cancerous cells in her bone marrow. Johnson is now in an experimental chemotherapy program, because she did not respond favorably to the "conventional" treatments. Both are hoping

District budget cuts proposed by school board

the group of potential dangers of the May 19 tax proposal, which he said was actually a tax shift. Hoben said if the proposal passes, much of the district's state aid would depend on revenues the state may not collect.

Raymond Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, outlined the "maintenance level budget" for 1981-82, citing an increase in local revenues but a decrease in state revenues. County revenues will be eliminated completely, he added. In all, revenues are expected to increase 5.5 per cent.

Expenditures are expected to increase 12.3 per cent, or approximately $4.2 million, Hoedel said. Many of the increased costs, he said, were due to wage and fringe benefits (accounting for 81.2 per cent of the operating budget), rental and operation of Lowell Junior High, grade realignment costs, replacement of buses and roof repair and replacement.

By law, the school board is required to submit a balanced budget to the Michigan Department of Education.

To that end, directors and-or supervisors responsible for submitting budget requests were directed to formulate them at three levels: maintenance level, the "business as usual" level; threshold level, the very minimum level with possible non-mandated program reduction or elimination; and alternative level, falling somewhere between maintenance and threshold levels.

Two other proposals include June 8 election issues of approval to levy authorized millage, if the May 19 tax proposal fails; or a millage proposition for a "maintenance fund."

During the weekend workshop, board members examined potential cutbacks in 33 areas of the budget. Each area's cutback was then examined at four levels of severity and then ranked.

Prior to the board workshop, rankings were also solicited from other administrators, the PTO Council and the Plymouth-Canton Education Association. "The biggest approach in these potential cutbacks was common sense," said Hoedel. "The aim was not to just eliminate."

Potential cutbacks were approved by board members in all but three areas - printing and publishing; miscellaneous instruction costs, which fund instructional and grade realignment logistics; and testing supplies.

In addition, cutbacks may possibly not be made in funding for learning specialists and librarians. Although budgeted separately, those areas will be examined later within another broader area of certified ratios.

Major cuts were approved by the board in several areas.

Administrative cutbacks included elimination of a program director, job placement specialist, assistant transportation director and provisions for new administrators.

After-school activities such as the school play, yearbook and middle school athletics may be severely curtailed due to cuts in stipends for activity supervisors.

Approximately half of the anticipated athletic budget was cut. John Telford, executive director of secondary education, cautioned, "I don't argue with deep cuts, I do argue with elimination."

The area of certified ratios may be cut by more than $500,000. Certified ratios include librarians, counselors, vocational education instructors, reading specialists and others.

Board Vice President Stephen Harper said cuts will be examined first for support personnel who do not actually teach. Specific layoffs will be determined later, he said.

Clerical staff budgeting may be cut by approximately $126,000, affecting library secretaries and clerical staff at the high schools and board office.

Custodial staff may be cut by 21 persons due to a cutback of $210,000. Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for employe relations, said he was concerned with possible layoffs due to the custodial staffing of Lowell Junior High, which is handled by Livonia Public Schools.

Geer School may be closed in June, 1982, saving the district approximately $59,000.

Sixth Grade Camp may be completely eliminated. Hoben cautioned the board, "Remember, we've had this for 24 years - if you give it up now, it's gone forever." Board members approved possible elimination of the camp, however.

Special Education funding may be cut, including possible elimination of the entire social work program. Edwin Page, executive director of special programs and student services, said the cuts do not affect state-mandated services. He added a state grant to fund some programs is expected later in the year.

The Talented and Gifted (TAG) program may also be cut, due to a possible reduction of $49,000 in its operating budget.

The transportation budget was tentatively cut by $250,000, although Hoedel said specific cuts are impossible to determine without the pending Ecosystems routing report.

After the tentative cuts were approved, a total of $3,265,000 had been cut from the original 1981-82 budget.

Hoben stressed the cutbacks are not final - exact funding has not yet been determined due to many unanswered questions of state and local aid, tax proposals and other possible revenues.

According to Harper, the district Budget Committee will examine the proposed cuts and prioritize them in the event more funding is available.

Two public hearings on the proposed budget have been set. The first, on the 1981-82 County Allocation Budget, will be held April 13 at 7 p.m., prior to the regular board meeting.

The second hearing will be held June 22 at 7 p.m., to discuss the proposed 1981-82 Operating Budget.

Freedom lesson at Kellogg Park

Plymouth residents had a chance to see freedom, American style, in action at Kellogg Park Saturday afternoon in a graphic lesson involving constitutionally-guaranteed rights. Some of us flunked the course.

One of the basic freedoms our founding fathers strived for was freedom of expression of ideas and freedom of speech. Saturday when a cadre of the American Nazi Party, complete with Nazi uniforms and flags, and with a permit to use Kellogg Park, arrived in town and started to preach their message of white supremacy and hate, they were met by a jeering group of spectators and a nasty, potentially dangerous situation developed.

The end result was that the rally was broken up by Plymouth police and the Nazis beat a hasty retreat out of town.

At the rally and after the rally there were many who castigated the city for allowing the Nazis to use the park for their message of hate. There were some who advocated using force to break up the rally.

There are some important lessons to be learned.

First, regardless of what these self-proclaimed "super patriots" preach and stand for, they still have the right in America, at least, of freedom of expression.

Secondly, contrary to some critics, the city officials were right in issuing a permit.

Thirdly, the Plymouth police were right in breaking up the rally and getting the Nazis out of town when it became obvious that the situation was getting dangerously out of hand.

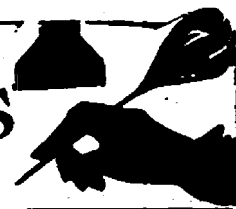

Freedom is not painless. The message generated by this group fouls the ears of most of us—yet the Nazi members have the right to express those vile messages.

As Americans, we have the right to disagree, to reject, to ignore such weird groups. And that is what we should do—ignore them. Saturday's rally accomplished for the Nazi party just what it wanted to accomplish. It forced a confrontation. It created an incident.

That's what such groups feed on.

Basically by Ken Voyles

According to the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioner's Assistant Managing Director Robert Larson, there is a valid agreement between two parties. "but we don't have a meeting of the minds between the two parties."

Larson was describing the county's reaction to the Plymouth City Commission's resolution of two weeks ago asking for the return of $339,545.82 the city gave the Road Commission for road improvement at the intersections of Lilley Road at Ann Arbor Trail and Lilley at Main Street.

Larson also said the Board of Commissioners has as of yet to see the document. They will see it, discuss it and make a decision (or not) tomorrow night when they meet.

Plymouth invested the money over several years for repairs to the two intersections. The county purchased right-of-way with the cash, said Larson.

"We anticipated going forward in 1982 with funds from this fiscal year," he said. "But now they don't want construction."

Larson added that just purchasing right-of-way takes time. He said the last court case involving the purchases was completed late last year.

City administrators say their reason for wanting the return of the money is that the projects are no longer determined needed by the city. The need today is not what it was when the city and county considered improving the two intersections back in 1969.

The city has waited a long time to back out of the agreement. It seems that waiting through 1982, to see if the county can handle the project if that year, like they say, would not be too long to wait considering the years the project has been on the shelf.

The city has already invested the money. It has been committed to the project since 1969 so what would be wrong with waiting another year. If the county fulfills its obligation so much the better for the city. If not, then 1982 would be the time to bring the matter to a head not now when the county is fighting to keep its head above water.

Coloring It Brown By Dick Brown

Anyone who wonders and is concerned about the direction this vast maze of American government has been following should make it a point to sit in on a township board meeting, a city commission session, a school board meeting or a gathering of Southeastern Michigan Council of Government delegates.

I hit all of them this week and in contemplating the general tone of those meetings, I am downright scared.

The inroads made into local, representative government by state and federal bureaucracies is frightening. Local units spend an great amount of time wrestling with edicts from faceless and untouchable civil servants who have become our masters.

Edicts which come from elected officials in the form of laws is one thing. Mandates which come from the unelected are something else. It is the latter that has produced the dim and grim view of the present and the future.

In the past week I have heard township trustees grapple with property equalization factors mandated by the state, stories of the mound of paperwork required by state and federal governments, new rules handed down by state agencies and renegeing on previous commitments by state and federal governments.

School board members are constantly being threatened by loss of funding in categorical programs unless this change or that change is made in local school operations.

Local government run by local people is fast disappearing.

It's disconcerting. It's also something the average citizen ought to get up in arms about. But don't count on it.

Getting mandates from some area federal agency located in Chicago which is funded by local taxpayers but almost entirely beyond our control through the ballot box, doesn't sound like the government that our founding fathers put together. It doesn't sound anything like the government by the governed that Gordon Dawson, my old high school civics teacher back in the dark ages, lectured about.

We've lost something in our great desire for womb to tomb security, and the sad fact is that too many of us don't even recognize the fact that we lost it.

Group home residents not getting dental care

EDITOR:

As an employee in the dental clinic at Plymouth Center for Human Development, I am appalled at what is happening to the dental care of the mentally retarded people being placed into the community.

The frantic push for the deinstitutionalization of these people is resulting in the absence of many services once provided for by the institutions, such as dental care.

The whole purpose of deinstitutionalization is supposed to be to provide a more normal environment for the mentally retarded people in a community. It has been my experience that many of these people being placed in a community are not being provided the dental care that is required to maintain proper oral conditions.

Few dentists in private practice are willing or have the knowledge to provide the necessary care for the unique needs of these people. Private practitioners have contacted PCHD's dental department requesting information regarding the methods and techniques which are essential to provide proper dental care for these people.

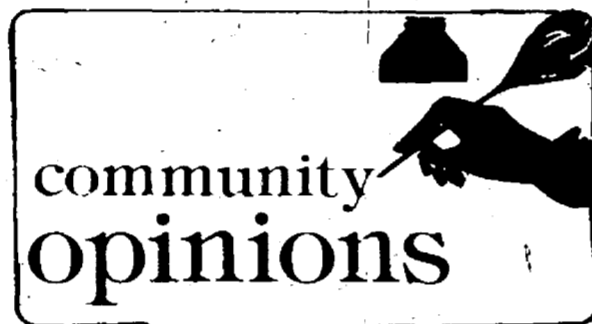

In the past six months former residents have been returned to PCHD's dental department seeking treatment. Their return was a last resort after several attempts to acquire dental care in community dental offices had failed.

Many of these problems regarding dental care for the mentally retarded could be eliminated if state-subsidized regional dental clinics for the mentally retarded were maintained to provide this most important preventive and restorative dentistry. The facilities are presently available and in service, but will be terminated at the closing of the institutions.

PCHD has one of the largest and best equipped dental clinics for the mentally retarded in the state institutions. This clinic has provided necessary dental services for thousands of mentally retarded people in the past 20 years. Because of the above stated facts it seems only natural for the already existing clinics to stay in operation. If they do not, it seems that many mentally retarded people will be neglected as far as their dental care is concerned.

Community denied its rights

EDITOR:

On Thursday there was an announcement that there was to be a rally in Kellogg Park by the National Socialists of America (Nazi.) As stated in the announcement, the rally was put with the idea of discussing the possibility of opening an office in Plymouth. This is a Nazi group!

I called the Plymouth City Hall and asked them if they knew this was a Nazi group? The police said yes and that the group had a permit. I asked where did this group get the permit and the police answered from the city commission.

On Friday I called the Plymouth city hall to ask about the permit. The people at city hall would not talk to me and they connected me to the police station. I asked the police why there was no public notification that the Nazis had asked the city for a permit for this rally? I was told by the police there was no need for public notification because of freedom of speech, that the Nazis had a right to speak and that the city manager had given the group the permit.

As a member of the Plymouth community for over 12 years, I feel that when a group like the Nazi scum wants to have a rally to discuss the possibility of opening an office in Plymouth and become a part of our community, we have the right to know about it, and we have the right to try and stop it.

I went to the rally with a placard reading, "Nazi Scum Out of Plymouth." In talking to the people attracted to the rally by the crowd, I learned that none of them knew about the rally or that, as the announcement stated, that what was to be discussed at the rally was the possibility of forming an office in Plymouth."

The replies I got were outrage and disgust.

Many claimed had they known that the Nazis had applied for a permit, they would have protested.

In the recent past (August, 1980.) the people of Livonia having been notified of the application for a rally permit by a Klan-Nazi group, protested the permit at an open city council meeting. The Livonia city attorney stated he would be willing to go to the supreme court to see that the permit be denied.

The people of Plymouth deserve the same opportunity to be informed about events and decisions affecting the quality of life in this community, and the right to express our feelings and opinions in an open forum.

While provincialism can in no way be defended, it must be asked, "Why does the city commission abrogate its responsibilities to the city manager?" "Why did the city manager allow this hate group, whose advocates are responsible for the European Holocaust that cost 12 million people their lives in World War II perpetrated by the co-thinkers of these Nazis?"

Are any of these people from our community and do they represent any thoughts of this community, or do they bring their hate with them, seeking to export it from Westland to Plymouth for their own self-serving motives?

NO CHANGE -- In the opinion of a Canton resident in this week's Community Opinions there has been no change in the conditions of some township roads in the last 40 years, and he sent along this photo to illustrate his point.

Canton roads called bad

EDITOR:

The majority of Cantonites talked to are totally fed up and disgusted with road conditions typically pictured throughout Canton Township.

Commonly seen strewn on these outrageous dirt trails are abandoned mufflers and exhaust tailpipes. Wayne County Road Commission has the nerve to call them "frost free," which is a play on words.

No improvements have taken place by the Road Commission to alter this condition from continuing for residents living south of Cherry Hill to Michigan Avenue.

The main paved road going north and south is Canton Center Road running between Joy and Michigan. Palmer Road, which runs east and west, is unpaved, ending at Canton Center. Resident living in subdivisions facing Palmer are literally forced to use Palmer as we have no other choice but to bounce along this dirt trail. Sheldon or Lilley is identical until a paved road is finally reached.

Although Canton's population has quadrupled in the last five years and taxes paid has proportionally increased, these outrageous conditions continue to exist since the time when the area was farm land with little or no traffic other than farm machinery.

The Road Commission does perform grading periodically but one to two days later, the roads are back to their pitiful condition. Should it rain the same day grading is completed, the ruts and potholes are right back and have multiplied.

Money expended for grading is wasteful and should be considered as throwing good money down the drain. This money should be used to blacktop sections of roads where numerous residents reside until all roads are reasonably useful.

To put icing on the cake, all streets within a subdivision are turned over to the responsibility of the Wayne County Road Commission by the developer after homes are occupied. The board can't manage these streets let alone the existing ones.

Cleaning these streets of snow and ice is a farce since excuses are always given by the Commission when contacted and asked when a plow will be in to make the streets navigable.

This last winter, the residents of the Forest Brook subdivision located off Sheldon and Palmer Roads saw a snow plow once. The last recent seven-inch snowfall left us stranded and we were forced to fend for ourselves even though all other main roads were cleaned and salted.

The big unanswered question is, "What good is the equipment doing sitting idle in the Road Commission yards when residents are forced to accept these adverse conditions." Voters have good memories when election time comes and the Commissioner should think of this if he wants to be considered for re-election.

Making the (behind the) scenes

BY KEN VOYLES

The unsung heroes of any stage production, be it a high school play, a symphonic concert or a variety show, are found behind the scenes.

Plymouth-Canton's Centennial Education Park has its own group of unsung heroes in Jim Kaiser's Technical Stage Crew.

The group of 30 students from both Salem and Canton do all the technical lighting and audio work for dozens of shows throughout a year.

Kaiser teaches electronics at Salem and has done so for nine years. He took over as head of the Salem auditorium eight years ago and has in the time since developed a well trained outfit of students, who not only handle school performances but do work for the other local and non-local groups. Members of the crew have worked in Ann Arbor, Detroit and Lansing on the technical aspects of various performances.

"Each of the students apply for a show based on their training and experience," said Kaiser. Right now members of the crew are working on "Fiddler on the Roof," to be performed at Salem.

An incoming student must have taken Kaiser's electronics class. If he is accepted onto the crew, the student starts as a stage technician. When 50 hours of technical work has been completed and several competence tests have been taken and passed, a student can move up to the next job, working on the lighting, or follow-spots as they are called.

Getting into the main spot booth, where most of the audio and lighting boards are located is the peak for the students. Over 100 hours must be logged on stage productions to accomplish that and according to Kaiser that takes around three years of crew work.

Crew leaders work out of the control booth, high above the Salem auditorium where they control the audio boards and lighting boards and keep in contact microphone touch with the other crew members down on the stage, in the catwalk above the booth or manning the follow spots.

"A crew leader is fully capable of running everything," said Kaiser. "They are responsible for all audio and lighting. A crew leader also gets to pick his own crew for a production -- with my approval."

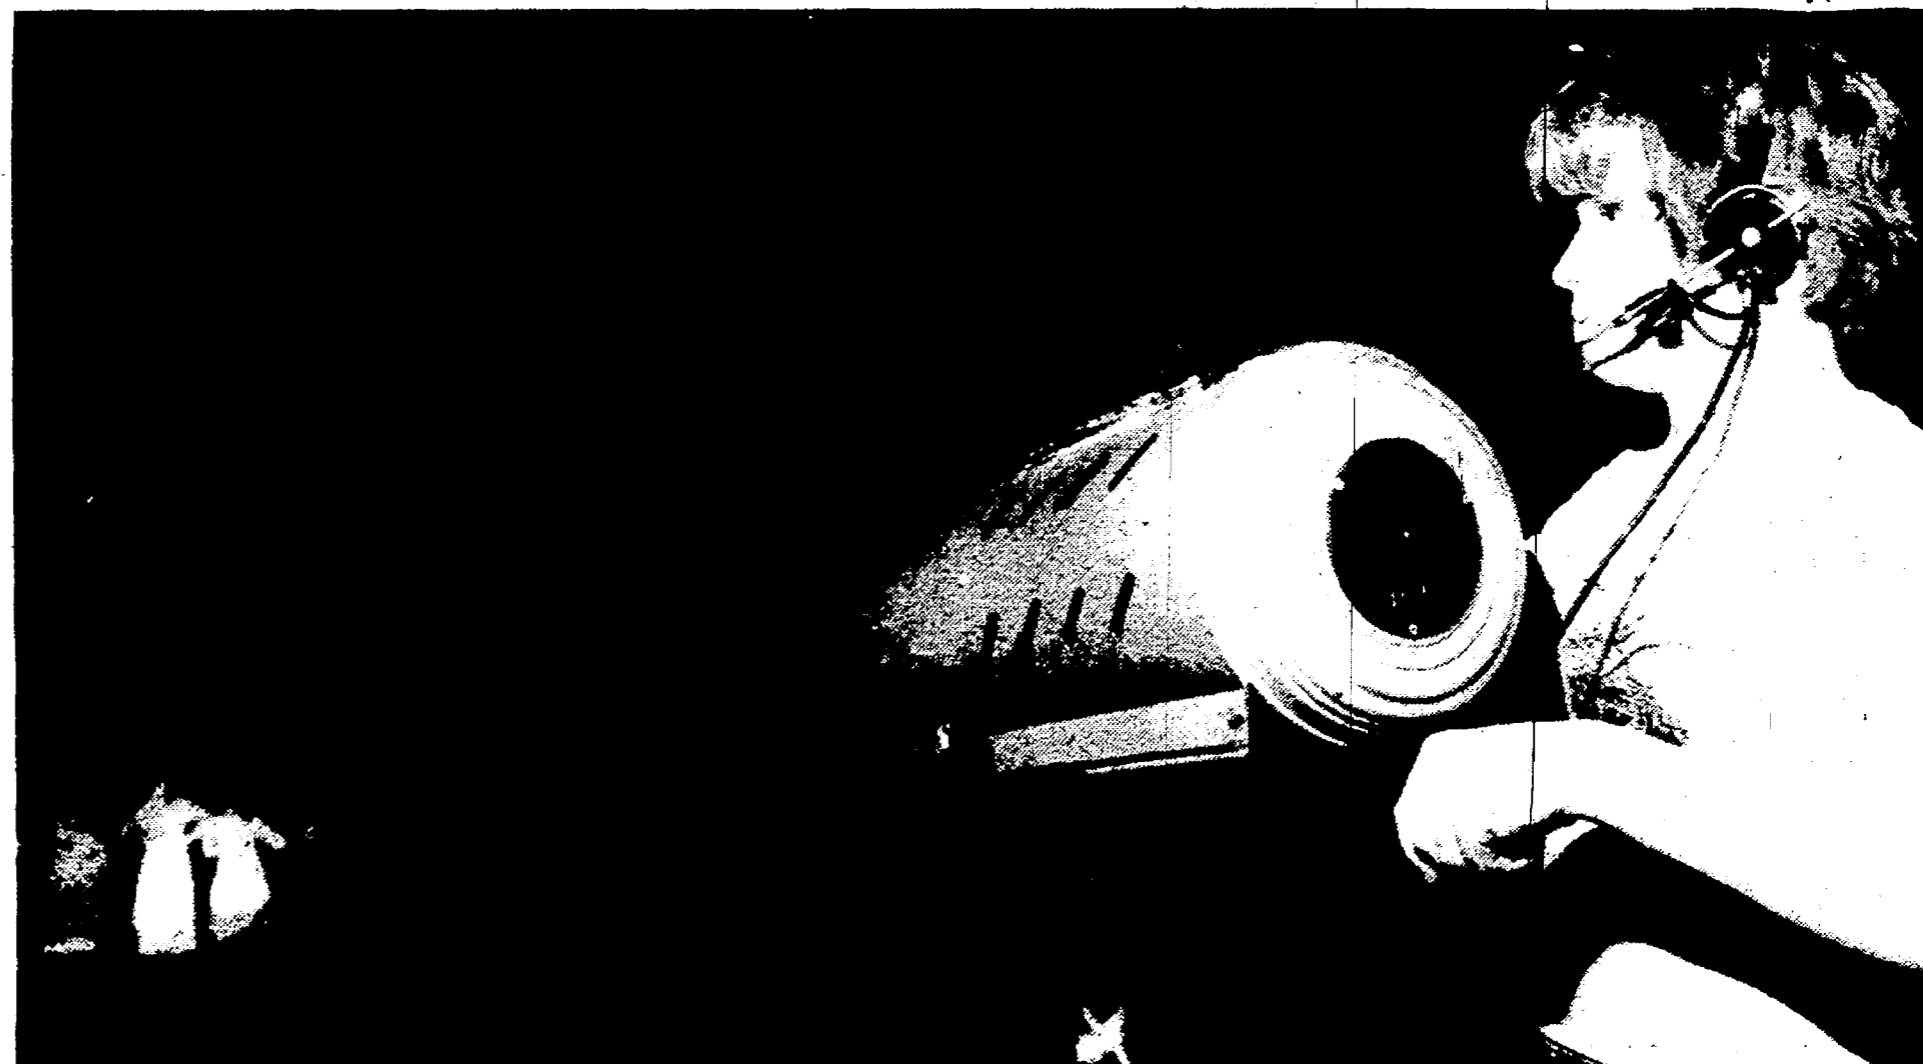

Most months are heavily booked for the technicians said Kaiser. This month is light, he said, while May is booked every day but one and June is booked solid.

The crew works a full year schedule with only time off in July and early August.

In its first year the crew had little equipment to work with, but in time has grown in both skill and equipment. Now the crew has a whole battery of things it uses when working a stage production.

"These 30 kids really want to work. They spend a lot of time, more than is called for. They just don't stop pushing," said Kaiser. "I'm incredibly proud of them when they are working. They can handle any problem in a professional manner."

tell it to Phyllis

The blast of warm weather we had last weekend sent many people to the closet to haul out the spring wardrobe. With thoughts of ditching winter coats and heavy sweaters, we sat sorting through short-sleeved shirts and blouses.

After the realization that some things don't fit quite the same as they did last year, there's this other pile to deal with—the clothes that need buttons replaced. Why is it such a pain in the neck to take the time to sew a button on something? I hate to sew buttons on clothes. Perfectly good clothes sit in the closet for months waiting for me to get around to sewing the darned things on. My kids have outgrown things that spent the season in the mending basket.

It would be easier to throw things away when a button pops off, but until I find a way to make a quick million, that's out of the question. Because I don't have an enormous wardrobe, the day usually comes when I'm desparate and have to find the right kind of button, the right color of thread, and heaven forbid, there must be a needle in the house somewhere.

Sewing up a seam is almost as bad as sewing on a button and it takes almost as long, providing you can find the sewing machine. Here again, you have to find the right color of thread. White, light yellow, or tan will do for light colored things, and black, brown, navy or even dark green for the dark clothes. If it's in a place where no one is going to see the difference, why worry about the exact match? O where are the days when I used to be particular about these things?

Where does it say in the housewife's Bible that a woman must do all the mending? Many men are equally capable of sewing on buttons (note—I didn't say that all men could handle it.)

No matter who does the mending or when you get around to it, it's nice to be working on light weight spring and summer clothes for a change.

Kaiser added that the crew's reputation has grown accordingly. "They get one credit a year for what they do and the only difference with class is they put in three times the required time," he said.

Kaiser encourages, pushes, frustrates, demands from his crew and they produce. "I can honestly say we've had extremely few bad jobs," he said.

Cantonite fights blood disease

for long remissions, a sign the disease is under control.

They are among an estimated 1,000 Michigan residents with the "modern-day" disease, although only three-quarters of their number are known to CLF.

"It's scary stuff, but you get through it," Dingeldey says.

For more information on the Children's Leukemia Foundation, call Babe Johnson at the Huron Valley Chapter, 668-0254 or the foundation headquarters at 353-8222.

From One to Another - The Gift of Giving Blood.

That is the message of the American Red Cross, who in connection with the Children's Leukemia Foundation and the Dingeldey family of Canton, are sponsoring a blood drive on April 4 at Canton Township's Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center Rd.

Noreen Peterson, assistant director of public relations for the Red Cross' Southeastern Michigan Chapter, says area hospitals need between 950 and 1000 pints of blood per day, and that need can only be fulfilled by donors in the community.

Since July 1, 1978, blood donations have no longer been handled in the "donor membership" plan, nor are non-replacement fees charged. Now, the Red Cross relies on the community at large for its donor needs, based on the principle that blood should be available to all members of the community who need it, regardless of their membership in a donor plan or past donor history.

But donors are needed. Unless groups and communities donate on a regular basis, drastic shortages such as the one in late January might re-occur, says Peterson.

What happens when a person gives blood?

After blood is drawn into a plastic container containing an anti-coagulant solution (about a six to eight-minute process), it may either be stored as whole blood or separated into components. For component processing, the blood is drawn into a string of containers, called "satellite bags," to allow separation without contamination from bacteria.

A centrifuge is used to separate individual components in the blood. These components include red cells, most often used for anemic patients who cannot take the fluid "overload" from whole blood transfusions; plasma, which contains the natural coagulant in blood; and platelets, used to control bleeding in patients whose bone marrow produces too few platelets.

"There is no blood bank," Peterson adds. "It is a human resource, and is available to everyone." However, availability depends on donors.

The Canton blood drive needs you, say Red Cross volunteers. Donors can either walk in during the drive, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Township Administration Building, or call Joyce Chumbley at 981-5898 (after 5 p.m.) for an appointment.

Only by donating blood on a regular basis throughout the year can you help assure that no need for blood will go unanswered, says the Red Cross.

Canton mother starts letter drive to save TV's Captain Kangaroo

EDITOR:
Do you feel there is a need for quality children's television programs? Are you tired of your kids watching "junk" cartoons?

As of April 20, Captain Kangaroo (Bob Keeshan) will no longer be received in the Detroit area. They are replacing it with Charles Kuralt and the CBS Morning News.

Basically, the reasons for their actions are that they feel the preschool audience is too small, people want more news shows and, really, because they feel making money is the only criteria for airing a show.

Captain Kangaroo has been losing money due to his small audience for 15 years. But probably 95 per cent of the population has watched this show at one time or another.

Captain Kangaroo shows love and genuine concern for little people, expressed in terms even my two-year-old can understand and appreciate. Bob Keeshan has "Slim Good Body in Nutra City," "The Toothbrush Family," "Simon," picture pages with Bill Cosby and stories read by the Captain, just to name a few of the excellent segments discussing good nutrition, good hygiene, and good ideas about life using a lot of imagination. He makes children feel valuable and important.

Near the close of every show he shows a mother and son reading together as a song is sung whose theme is "spend some time together today."

Then Bob Keeshan tells adults that spending time is a valuable way to help your young children grow and he offers a suggestion for something you can do with your young person.

My son absorbs so much from this show. When the "Toothbrush Family" gets into an adventure, Dave wants to run and brush his teeth because a family of animated toothbrushes sings a cute little song about brushing your teeth "round and round."

The vice-president and general manager of WJBK-TV, Bob McBride, was quoted in the Detroit Free Press (March 25) as saying, "The bottom line is (the show's) not in tune with the times anymore." Other than "Sesame Street" I have seen no other show that is more educational, progressive and entertaining.

If you haven't watched Captain Kangaroo in a while, I suggest you tune him in while he's still on the air in Detroit at 7 a.m.

I was also shocked to read that Bob Keeshan has a small but loyal audience. Just about everyone we know who has school age or pre-school children eat breakfast and get ready for school with the Captain. I can remember when I was doing the same over 20 years ago.

We have adult friends who say they would rather tune in to the Captain than another boring news show the first thing in the morning.

What makes program directors think all adults would want to jump out of bed to watch news of world strife and hunger, wars and political problems? I am sick and tired of being saturated with news at almost every hour with a "news wrap-up" at the end of the day and "news briefs" as a commercial preview of the upcoming news program.

We should be more concerned with raising our children to be responsible adults and concerned with developing good attitudes in our young people and not so concerned about the rest of the world's problems.

I am a member of "Action for Children's Television" and a concerned mother launching a campaign to keep Captain Kangaroo on the air in this area.

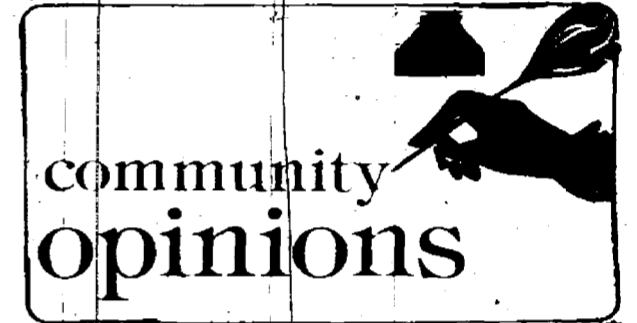

If you feel the Captain is an institution, important to kids, I urge you to write a letter expressing your opinion to Bob McBride, P.O. Box 2000, Southfield.

We have also made a form letter to have people sign and send in to WJBK, hoping they get a large volume of mail.

Maybe right now you don't care because you don't have pre-school children—but think back to how you once enjoyed Bob Keeshan yourself.

Anyone who would like to pass out letters should please contact me.

Police get praise for Saturday action

EDITOR:
Having had a grandstand seat for the recent confrontation between the Nazi group and the opposition "workers" delegation, (both from out of town.) I would like to express appreciation for the outstanding performance of our Plymouth Police Department.

Under the direction of Sergeant Dan Carpenter, they handled what could have been a dangerous situation with patience, professionalism and human understanding.

Let all outside groups know that while we respect free speech and the freedom to express ideas, violence and violation of our laws and our rights will not be tolerated in the Plymouth community.

To the Plymouth police—"Well done!"
J. H. WILCOX

Plymouth police did the right thing

I would like to commend the Plymouth police department for its conduct during Saturday's Kellogg Park Nazi confrontation.

An ugly situation which could have become violent was averted when police moved the hate-spreaders out. Such a decision is not an easy one to make in this country we call the land of the free.

I have nothing but contempt for what that group of wierdos advocates but if the Nazis had been denied access to the park, then who is to say that a similar denial might deny me my right to free speech.

Plymouth gave the wackoes their chance and police closed them out in the interest of public safety when the scene started getting violent.

Junior Pistons reach finals, fall to Dearborn, 47-45

The Plymouth-Canton Pistons of the PCJBA's AAA boys league came close to winning a state recreational title Saturday as the squad entered the finals of that age group against Dearborn Heights.

The Pistons fell in that game, however, 47-45, to end their season. The squad compiled an 18-1 record.

The squad won its local league championship with a 14-0 record. They then entered the playoff series and extended that mark to 16-0.

Because of that record the squad was allowed to participate in the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association Tournament, for senior boys, held in Plymouth last week.

The team opened the tourney with a 55-48 victory over Roseville. Then in the semi finals they defeated East Detroit 53-52 before bowing out in the championship game.

The squad included Rich Cummins, Ken Fanelli, Dwayne March, Brian Preblich, Brian Quinn, Dave Smiatacz, Gary Tsiang, Jeff Trim, John Uekert, Matt Whitefoot, Rick Whitefoot and Chris Whittaker. Duke Uekert coached the team and was assisted by Don Trim.

The runner up team trophy will be on display at the Mayflower Hotel, the team's sponsor this past season.

Solid pitching key to success for Salem diamondmen

BY PATTY RADZIK

The Salem baseball squad will be aiming for its sixth Suburban Eight League Crown when the season gets under way April 7.

The Rocks will open the season at Trenton on Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Salem was 8-3-1 in the league last year, and won the title as well as a berth in district action, where North Farmington defeated the Rocks in an early round game.

"If our pitching comes around," Salem coach Brian Gilles said, "we should be a contender for the league championship. I expect us to be, but it all depends on our pitching.

"That's our number one question mark right now," Gilles continued. Pat McNamara and Jeff Primeau were Salem's number one and two pitchers last season, and both have been lost to graduation.

"It's hard to say how right now how we will do," Gilles commented, "but if we can get solid pitching we can do a nice job."

Out of a 21-player roster, ten are returners, and three of them are slated to perform on the mound for Salem.

John Penders and Jim Jimmerson are seniors returning as pitchers for the Rocks. Shiau Peng is also a returning hurler for Salem.

Dave Slavin, a sophomore, and Mark Kitz will be returning to action behind the plate this season.

Also returning are second basemen Mitch Wilcox and Jeff Scott.

John Hetkowski, who started as Salem's shortstop last year, will be returning, as will Kevin Merrill at third base.

Senior Greg Etinne will play leftfield as a returner this season, after pitching for the Rocks last year.

In all, the team is comprised of nine seniors, ten juniors and two sophomores. "We do have some good newcomers," Gilles said. "There are good juniors coming up."

Belleville and Livonia Bentley are expected to give Salem some trouble this season according to Gilles. Both squads have improved and have strong ballclubs.

Salem tracksters have depth to claim Sub 8 title

BY PATTY RADZIK

In the seven years that Gary Balconi has coached the Salem boys' track team, a few things have kept his squad from winning a league title; other teams, namely Dearborn and Dearborn Edsel Ford.

The two Dearborn squads have dominated the Suburban Eight track scene for many years, and just recently Belleville has joined the ranks of potential champions.

Salem placed third in the league last season with a dual meet record of 6-3, and Balconi expects more of the same this year.

"The league itself is very difficult," Balconi pointed out. "There are four good teams and there will be a four-way battle.

"I'm looking forward to the season," Balconi said. "We have the quantity and the quality to be successful, and we've worked very hard so far. It will be an exciting year."

Senior tri-captains Leigh Langkabel, Dave Skone and Bob Pittaway will lead this year's squad, numbering over 100 after try-outs.

Langkabel will run the 220 and 440-yard dash races for Salem. He is the defending league champion in the 440.

Pittaway is the defending league champion and two-time regional champ in the discus throw, and will also run sprints.

Dave Skone is a pole vaulter, and placed third in the league with a 13-1 leap last year.

Salem has always been weak in the distance races, but the Rocks have renewed strength in a cluster of sophomores who also comprise the nucleus of the cross country team. They are Frank Brosnan, Dan Floid, Brad Hartel and Skip Whittiker.

"A heavy part of how we finish the season depends on how well our distance runners do," Balconi said.

Leading the distance runners will be Chris Kopach, Brent Bocsom, Leeland Chanj, Paul Mills, Matt Ruhlmann and junior Jeff Baker.

Heading the roster in the field events will be discus throwers Mark Kanski, a senior, and Paul Hood, a sophomore. Pat Tortora and Rob Hanschu will also toss for Salem.

Hanschu will be the Rocks "best shot-putter" according to Balconi. He heads a field that includes sophomores David Houle and John Cohen, and also senior returner Jim Froozan, as well as Kanski and Darrel Bartkowiak.

Junior Scott Fuller will head the list of high jumpers. Scott Reamer, also a junior, will compete for Salem in this event. Cohen, John Uekert, Bill Newland and Dave Barnhart are additional competitors.

The long jump event is comprised of four returners. Seniors Young Hyo-Cho

Improved Rock girl runners return 10 starters

BY PATTY RADZIK

Salem girls' track coach Scott Kurtz is still doing time trials in practice to determine who will compete in what event this season, but he is confident that whatever the placings, the team will do well.

"We've improved over last year," Kurtz said. The Rocks finished with a mark of 3-3 in the Suburban Eight Conference, and placed fifth at the League Meet.

"We should be stronger than last year," Kurtz continued. "We finished 5-3 overall and I hope to at least duplicate that record."

The Rocks have ten girls returning from last year's squad, none of them seniors.

"We lost two girls from last season," Kurtz commented. "I think we can replace them."

Ann Meixner and Diane Perpich were Salem's graduating seniors, and Meixner ran the 220-yard low hurdles at the state Class A track finals.

Juniors Lynda Lybarger and Laura Grissom return to the Salem squad as co-captains. Lybarger is expected to run sprints and compete in the mile relay, while Grissom will run both the half and one mile races for the Rocks.

Also returning are hopefuls Carol Lindsay and Cindy McSurely. Last year as a freshman, McSurely represented Salem in the high jump at the state finals.

Lindsay, a sophomore, was the league champion in the 440-yard dash. She is expected to run hurdles for Salem, as well as compete in the mile relay.

Other returners and the events they are most likely to compete in this season include: junior Ruth Sample, mile and two mile relays; sophomore April McCall, sprints; sophomore Jeanine Gray, sprints and high jump; sophomore Sherri Muneo, discus and shot-put; Judy Davis, a junior, sprints; and junior Marey Granger, middle distance and long jump.

Rounding out the squad are 13 new team members. Seven girls are freshmen and three are sophomores Pam Hodges, Terri Mango and Rhonda Sarna.

Also in their first year are senior Lynn Hasely, Cindy Wojcik and Meredith Akhtar.

Salem opens the season tomorrow at home against Edsel Ford at 3:30 p.m.

"They are always tough," Kurtz said of his teams' first opponent. "We were beat by them by a few points last year, but they have a smaller team than us this year, and I feel with the talent we have it will be close.

"I'm going into it expecting to win."

Rock netters 'a dark horse' says Coach Williams

BY PATTY RADZIK

After finishing third last season in the Suburban Eight League with a 6-4 record, Salem boys' tennis coach Tom Williams feels this year could be different.

"I think we will be a dark-horse in the league," the second year coach said. "The improvement in some of the players has been amazing. We'll surprise a lot of people."

Salem opens the season April 7 with a match at Trenton beginning at 4 p.m.

The Rocks are an extremely young squad this year, with only one senior returning. Salem lost seniors Dick Cooke, the number one singles player last season, the number one doubles team of Blake Lundberg and Craig Baker, and Bob Jarvis who played number two doubles.

Scott Crespo, Salem's captain, is the only senior on the team this season, playing at the number two singles spot last year as a junior.

Six other returners constitute the heart of the Rocks' line-up this season. Juniors Jeff Howell and Dave Goodsir will most likely play singles for Salem, having played in the number three and four spots respectively last year.

Doug Baker is another junior, as is Jack Thomas and Ron Rowland, who are expected to fill spots in doubles action.

John Wimmer is a sophomore returning, and will also play doubles for Salem.

"We have some nice surprises," Williams said referring to his new clientele this season. "I have some new freshmen and sophomores who will help out a lot.

"We have flexibility," Williams continued. "I have six or seven players who could compete in number three doubles, and they're all young."

Becky Howell, a member of the girls tennis squad at Salem, will be playing on the boys team after missing the girls season because of surgery on her foot.

Trenton placed first in the Suburban Eight Conference last season, and Dearborn finished second. The two teams again will be the only thing standing in the way of Salem's title chances this year.

"They should be strong, because both teams have all its players back from last year except maybe one singles player," Williams commented.

Despite that fact, Williams is optimistic. "The kids' attitudes are great. Everyone is thinking positive."

New coach readies Salem softball team

BY PATTY RADZIK

First-year Salem softball coach Rob Willette feels pitching will be the deciding factor as to whether or not his team will be successful this season.

"We're a good hitting team, and we have a good defense," Willette said. "Hopefully our pitching will come through. If we get some good pitching, we'll repeat as Suburban Eight champs."

Last year the Rocks tied for first in the conference with Livonia Bentley and Belleville, all sporting 10-2 records.

Salem has four girls on the pitching staff this season. Two are sophomores Mary Prysak and Leslie Etienne, and one is junior Laurie Jarski.

The fourth is senior Cheryl Sobkow, who pitched for the Rocks two years ago. She will also play first base for Salem this season.

Second baseman Denise Zonca and outfielder Chris Brennan are Salem's co-captains. Both are seniors, and both are returners.

Other returning players this year are juniors Bonnie Sutherland and Jenny Papa. Sutherland will play in the outfield, and Papa will fill the shortstop position.

Senior Therese Cooney is returning in the outfield for Salem, and Kelly Strautz will return to play third base as a sophomore.

Rounding out the squad are seniors Dawn Hinman and Japanese exchange student Midori Yoshii. Hinman will play in the outfield, and Yoshii is a catcher.

Three juniors are newcomers to the squad this season. Eileen Moore will play in the outfield, as will Brenda Munding, and Mary Kay Munding will fill a spot in the infield.

Amy Sidorsky is Salem's other catcher. She is the only freshman on the team.

The Rocks open the season April 7 at home at 4 p.m. against Trenton.

Willette replaces Livi Way as coach this year, after Way resigned her post after seven years of coaching the team.

Pat Musclemann is the new junior varsity coach, replacing Jeanne Martin, who also resigned. The junior varsity squad also starts the season April 7, playing away at Trenton at 4 p.m.

Radzik Reports

by Patty Radzik

Working with the Special Olympics was a truly rewarding experience for me, and I speak from the standpoint of a volunteer.

Last year I helped out at the Special Olympics track and field events in Canton, and afterwards my thoughts of the day were gratifying.

You really have to be right there to see how much the kids who participate appreciate the Olympics. It gives them a chance to do things they normally would not do, or could not do.

I've never seen so many smiles, or heard so much laughing in my life. The kids enjoy themselves at the games. Whether they win or lose, every moment is a triumph for them.

This year the Wayne County Special Olympics will be held in Livonia and Canton.

Livonia Churchill High School will host the track and field events, as well as the gymnastics and swimming events.

The bowling competition will be held at the Canton Super Bowl.

This year there will be 1,200 participants in the games, sponsored by the Livonia Civitans.

The games have been held in the area since 1976, with the support of the Wayne, Westland, Plymouth, Dearborn, Livonia, Fairlane and Renaissance Civitan clubs.

On April 11 the gymnastics will be held at Churchill High, and the bowling competition will begin at the Super Bowl simultaneously at 9 a.m. and will run until 1 p.m.

On May 1 the track and field events will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the swimming will start at 9 a.m.

According to Lou Mair, the coordinator of volunteers, 150 people are needed to volunteer their time to help make the games run smoothly.

"We're halfway there," Mair said of meeting her goal for volunteers. 100-150 people have pledged their help, and Churchill High has gathered 150 kids already to assist at events held there.

In all, approximately 150 more volunteers are needed. If you'd like to help, give Lou Mair a call at 422-4814.

"Right now we're looking for anyone who's been a gym coach or judge, a swimming coach, that type of thing."

Adults are encouraged to volunteer now, as the number of youngsters helping has been reached.

If you want to spend April 11 and May 1 in the best way possible, give Mrs. Mair and call and volunteer, and experience first-hand how enriching the Special Olympics are for everyone involved. salem boys' track
