

State calls moratorium on Canton group homes

Some of the heat may have been taken out of the argument over community group homes for the mentally retarded, at least in Canton Township.

Canton township has a copy of a letter from Walter G. Brown, regional director of the Department of Mental Health, calling attention to the fact that community services development units

"have voluntarily placed a moratorium on group home development in Canton township beyond existing homes."

The letter goes on to say that if, in the future, there is need to seek additional sites in Canton township, the regional office must be notified of the intent to do so and the approval of the regional director must be obtained in writing before home developers proceed with site selection and other development activities.

A copy of the letter was sent to Rep. Thomas H. Brown and he forwarded it on to Canton officials.

Canton has been the target of group home operators and Canton residents have been upset. The Canton township board, responding to the complaints, voted to challenge the placing of more group homes by starting legal action.

The City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township have been getting the same pressure from residents of those communities who do not want to see more group homes move into single family residential areas.

'Surrey Trail' loop plan for Plymouth is in works

BY KEN VOYLES

If Plymouth City Commissioners follow the recommendation of the city's Planning Commission, the central business district of the city will get a loop road and a crop of one-way streets.

Last Wednesday, the two bodies met jointly to discuss and study a plan for the development of "Surrey Trail," a one-way loop around Main Street from Church Street down to Wing Street and back.

At the next Planning Commission meeting, May 13, the city's consultants will present a comprehensive package detailing the steps involved and costs of the project.

The commission in turn, said Chairman William Leonard, will take that study, alter it as it sees fit and recommend it for approval to the City Commission.

The plan calls for a one lane impediment south bound on Main just south of Church Street, which, according to Leonard will induce drivers to turn right onto Church.

The barricade will post the start of the "trail" and additional signs along the route will keep it well marked.

Church Street will continue to hold two-way traffic. The route will then go left at Harvey Street, from Church, which will become one-way south down to Wing Street. Wing will become one-way going east across Main Street and over to Deer Street, which will be one way going north until it crosses Penniman and becomes Union Street. Union will be one-way northbound up to Church Street, where it comes out from behind City Hall.

Also, Penniman Avenue is slated to become one-way going west between Harvey and Main and one-way going east between Main and Deer Streets.

"We hope to continue improving the traffic pattern in the city by doing this," said Leonard. At that May 13 meeting the commission will also study a project for Old Village.

"We want to improve the downtown business district for current usage and additional increases in traffic flow. That is the heart and soul of the concept," continued Leonard.

Termed the Loop Road, in past years, the new course would rely heavily on the one-lane barricade at Church Street to funnel traffic around Main Street to the city's smaller streets that form a long rectangle.

According to City Engineer, Kenneth West, one of the reasons for the project will be to make the city's existing parking

146 on Plymouth school staff will get pink slips

BY DAN BODENE

For many Plymouth-Canton teachers, the end of the school year may also mean the end of service to the district.

Citing severe budget cutbacks, rising costs and the possibility of reduced state aid, the Board of Education unanimously voted Monday night to notify 146 employees that they will no longer have jobs after the end of this year's contract.

Superintendent John Hoben said the board's intent was not to make staff cuts, but that they were forced because of the need to slash $3.2 million from the 1981-82 budget. He added, however, the staff reductions may not be final.

But until the results of the May 19 special election are in, Hoben said, the district must be prepared for them.

He said the Smith-Brown property tax cut proposal on the May 19 ballot may add another $1.5 million to $2.2 million to the schools' projected deficit for next year. The proposal is not actually a tax cut, Hoben says, but is a tax shift and will have disastrous results on school district funding.

During a budget hearing prior to the board meeting, assistant superintendent for business Raymond Hoedel said, "The severity (of staff cutbacks) depends on the election outcome."

Hoedel said if the tax proposal fails, the district will ask voters on the June 8 school election ballot to approve a 2 mill increase. Only one mill will be borne by Plymouth-Canton taxpayers, he added - the state will pick up the other mill.

Hoben said many of the "pink-slipped" teachers will be recalled if the district is not subject to the most severe funding reductions.

Of the 146 teachers issued layoff notices, 101 are probationary employees, 35 are tenured, four are social workers, two are therapists and four are term substitutes. The layoffs are effective at the end of the individual 1980-81 contracts.

"We are in hopes these will not be the final cuts come August," said Hoben.

Ballot plans for school funding examined

Potential ballot issues for the June 8 school election are already being examined by Plymouth-Canton schools administrators, in an effort to defuse an imminent funding crisis.

Two plans are being examined, according to assistant superintendent for business Raymond Hoedel.

The first, if the Smith-Brown tax proposal on May 19 fails, would place two propositions on the June 8 ballot. One would seek approval to levy the authorized operating millage in 1981 "without regard to reduction required by section 31 of article 9 of the state constitution of 1963," while the other proposition would seek to raise the property tax assessment by one mill on state equalized valuation for eight years.

The second plan, if the May 19 tax proposal is successful, would include placing one proposition on the June 8 ballot. It would seek approval to raise the property tax assessment by two mills for eight years.

Canton resident urges ordinance department cut

Cut back or get rid of the Canton Township ordinance Department. That was the message from at least one Canton resident directed at the Canton Township Board at Tuesday night's board meeting.

Speaking during the public discussion portion of the meeting, Al Lobbestael, a farmer in Canton township for the past 35 years, said he has watched the township ordinance department grow to a giant bureaucracy.

"Back when we didn't have very much, we were a small rustic community. In 1963 we became a charter township and that brought added costs," Lobbestael said. "From a parttime police department we now have a full-time police department and a chief of police."

Then he went on to say, "In looking over the budget items, I noticed that there is $100,000 item in the budget for the ordinance department. I just can't understand why the police department couldn't do the work of the ordinance department and save the township all that money."

The Canton farmer told the board that "I can't even cut down a tree in one of my fields without violating some ordinance."

He called attention to a township ordinance prohibiting the elimination of trees without replacing them, even on private property. "A tree is a weed if it is in the middle of a farm field," he concluded.

Township Supervisor Jim Poole responded by pointing out that department heads have been asked to take a serious look at the budget.

Plymouth Symphony tunes up for 26th annual pops concert

The gymnasium of Pioneer Middle School will be transformed into a romantic Viennese courtyard by the Plymouth Symphony League Saturday, May 9, at 8:0 p.m. when the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra presents its 25th annual Pops Concert.

"Evening in Vienna" is the theme by Conductor Johan van der Mewre and members of the Crescendo group of the League. The orchestra will perform a variety of selections guaranteed to evoke the gaiety and elegance of Vienna at the turn of the century.

Guest artists will be John McCullum, lyric tenor of the concert and operatic stage, former chairman of the voice faculty at the University of Michigan and current Director University Division of the National Music Camp at Interlochen; Ralph Herbert, baritone, professor of voice at the University of Michigan where he is director of Opera Production; and Constance Barron soprano, member of the voice faculty at the University of Michigan.

Ticket prices are $6 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and students K-12 and went on sale April 6 at the Health Shoppe, 930 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. A chart showing locations of tables seating 4, 6, 8 and 12 will be available to help in making selections. Complimentary dessert and beverage will be served.

Centerpieces, wicker baskets filled with handcrafted flowers and ribbon in romantic colors, will be on sale after the concert for $3 each and would make nice Mother's Day gifts.

Other decorations crafted by the committee include two huge flower and ribbon bedecked faux chandeliers which will be hung at each end of the room and representative Viennese scenes painted by League member Charlotte Viculin.

General chairmen are Carol Davis and Georgia Theophelis. Assisting them are the following committee chairpersons: Judy Morgan, Elaine Kirchgatter and Cindy Merrifield, tickets; Peggy Lee and Ann Shearer, refreshments; Ruth McMahon and Carol Brandt, publicity; Dee Crawford and Judy Dow, posters; Charlotte Viculin and Mary Kehoe, decorations; Carol Massey and Carolyn Kocis, set up; and Dee Crawford and Lee Hosey, program.

All proceeds from the concert benefit the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

News in the City of South Lyon sounds like a page out of Plymouth history.

In a surprise move, the South Lyon City Council passed two resolutions seeking annexation of parts of Lyon Township recently. (Township officials there are opposing the moves.)

The behind-the-scenes engineer of the annexation move is South Lyon City Manager Fred L. Yockey who, while former city manager in Plymouth, also tried an annexation move against Plymouth Township.

Plymouth police are still holding an expensive emerald ring for identification by its owner. The ring was picked up by the police during the investigation of another complaint. Anyone who has lost an emerald ring is urged to contact the police department and make identification.

Plymouth commission approves REACT funds

The Plymouth City Commission unanimously voted Monday night to contribute $300 to the Plymouth Area REACT Team, Inc. for their 1981 program.

Last year Plymouth donated $200 toward the organization which conducts "Sky Warn" operations in event of a tornado and is a front line defense in spotting oncoming tornadoes.

Canton Township has contributed $480 to the operation to pay for a phone line from the township police station to REACT's central base in the Hilton.

SMOKE DETECTORS installed three months ago at the suggestion of the City fire department may have averted tragedy early Tuesday morning as fire scorched a section of locker room at St. Peter's Lutheran Day School, according to Plymouth Fire Chief Roy Hall. The detectors located in roof vents alerted school officials who evacuated the building.

The blaze which did an estimated $5000 in damage to the locker room was under control in minutes, according to Hall, who stated the origin of the fire was suspicious and is still under investigation. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Wayne ASC office to move to Canton site

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is moving a little closer to the farm. The Wayne county office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASC) has set up shop in a new office at Harvard Square Shopping Center located at Ford and Sheldon roads in Canton Township.

The ASC office moved to the Canton site from its previous quarters in the Wayne postoffice.

ASC services offer loan programs and conservation programs for farmers. The move to Canton will put the office closer to a many more farmers than the previous location.

According to the ASC office there are more than 1,000 grain farmers in western and southern Wayne county working a total of 60,000 acres.

Loan programs are available to provide operating capital and to assist farmers in holding their grain off the market enabling them to take advantage of better prices than those available at harvest time.

Other loan programs provide low and advice in water and soil conservation, aerial photographs of farm land for use in soil and water conservation and programs and advice in wetlands and woodlot management.

The office is also involved in making disaster loans to farmers caused by storms and droughts.

Chief Tim Ford takes medical leave

Plymouth Police Chief Timothy Ford is currently on a 30 to 60 day medical leave from duty, city officials announced last week.

Chief Ford was hospitalized for one week due to physical exhaustion and a heart condition, and is presently under a physician's care at home in "guarded" condition, according to a city press release.

City Manager Henry Graper Jr., has appointed Inspector Carl F. Berry as Acting Chief during Ford's absence. Berry has been with the force for 20 years and started as a patrol officer and volunteer fireman.

Starkweather staff upset over principal transfer

Starkweather Elementary School's faculty and staff are upset over the announcement that Principal John Howe has been assigned to Gallimore Elementary School as assistant principal. They are also upset that Starkweather will have a half-time principal for the next school year.

The unhappiness surfaced in the form of an open letter to the school board signed by 30 members of the Starkweather staff.

The letter came after Howe informed the Starkweather staff he would be leaving.

The letter had nothing but praise for Howe's performance as principal at Starkweather, citing his "devotion to Starkweather kids and families."

The letter went on to say, "Assigning a half-time principal to any Plymouth-Canton elementary school next year is educationally unsound, in our opinion."

You have required a realignment of grades which will change the structure of some elementary schools. Staff is trying to develop new curricula. Teachers and students are being reassigned. Family schedules are being disrupted. Surely this is a time when each school must have a strong leader, a leader who is respected by the parents and staff and who can orchestrate the disruption with compassion and professional guidance."

The letter went on to point out the many qualities demonstrated by Howe at Starkweather, including his work on the Child Study Team, his liaison with parents, his service as curricular leader and his direct involvement with the students.

Plymouth and Canton plan summer farmers markets

Canton Township will pay the cost of the liability insurance for this summer's Canton Farmers Market operation. At Tuesday night's meeting the township board approved the request of the Farmland Preservation Committee to assume the $275 premium cost for the market which will be set up at the New Towne Plaza Shopping Center on Ford Road.

There was much discussion about using township funds to again pay the premium. On motion of Trustee Robert Padgett, the township will pay the $275 with the money to be returned if the 1981 Farmers Market ends up in the black. The liability insurance will be part of the township's total insurance package.

Growers participating in the market rent booth space.

Meanwhile, plans are underway for a farmer's market in Plymouth.

Plymouth's Community Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the city's first Farmers Market, which will open with a Flower Preview Day on May 23.

The market will open June 13, and will run 13 weeks. According to Chamber executive director Diane Dart, it will be limited to produce, flowers, baked goods, eggs and cheese.

Hours of operation are tentatively set for 7 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Stalls will be rented on an annual or weekly basis. Dart says approximately 35 vendors are expected.

The Plymouth market will be located in the parking lot between the Penn Theatre and the Masonic Temple. For more information, call the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540.

It's officially Jaycee Park

Hamilton Park at Wing and Harding (two blocks east of Main Street on Wing) has become Jaycee Park as a part of the City of Plymouth's Adopt-A-Park Program, it was announced last week.

Under the program, service clubs will adopt-a-park to improve the play equipment and facilities.

At Jaycee Park, the first improvement the organization will make is to replace the softball backstop. That phase of the project will be started in the next few weeks, according to Jaycee officials.

According to City of Plymouth Recreation Director Chuck Skene the Lions Club and the Rotary Club will also be joining the program with parks of their own in the next weeks.

"Bud (Eldon) Martin (mayor pro-tem) made the original suggestion for this program," said Skene. "It's taken some time to get off the ground but we've made it."

GUY KANANEN

Air Force Academy appointment goes to Guy Kananen

Guy Kananen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kananen of 543 Hartsough, Plymouth, has accepted an appointment to attend the United State Air Force Academy in Colorado. He received a congressional nomination from U.S. Representative Carl Pursell, to attend the academy. He had also been nominated for an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy by U.S. Senator Donald Riegle.

Kananen graduated as a member of the Principal's Honor Roll from Plymouth-Canton High School in 1980. He was a member of the National Honor Society during his junior year and senior year. He earned varsity baseball letters in the 11th and 12th grades and ran cross country track as a junior.

The future cadet graduated from Northwest Prep School, a private military-oriented school in Santa Barbara, California, with a perfect 4.0 grade point average in March.

Omnicom official makes Canton cable TV report

Peter Newell, president of Omnicom of Michigan, reported to Canton Township Board Tuesday night on the progress of installing the cable TV system in the township. The township trustees have been unhappy over the progress and had asked Omnicom to present a progress report. Omnicom has the cable TV franchise in Canton.

Trustee Carol Bodenmille asked, "When do you expect the first hookup in Canton?"

"I feel that possibly we will be ready by the first week in July," Newell responded.

Mrs. Bodenmiller also complained that the Plymouth firm had not opened up a local office in Canton township. Newell pointed out that the firm's studio was located on Joy road just across the street from Canton township.

"I have great difficulty," said Mrs. Bodenmille, with the idea that a community of 50,000 people should take a back seat to anyone."

Trustee Steven Larson joined the debate by pointing out that he didn't see why the company should duplicate and divide their facilities.

"I can't see having two studios so close together," he said.

The Omnicom president reported that the work of laying the underground cables was progressing with a minimum of minor aggravations.

Miller spring walk tour dates set for April 18, 26

Now that Old Man Winter finally appears on the run, it's time for something more spring-like for outdoor lovers to participate in.

So, once again it's time for the annual Miller Woods Spring Walk, featuring a guided tour through one of the most spectacular wildflower sanctuaries in the state, according to guide Penny Wright.

Two walks are scheduled, on April 18 and 26, both from 1 to 4 p.m. at the sanctuary, located on Powell Road near Ridge in Plymouth Township.

Known as a beech-maple climax forest - untouched by the effects of lumbering or farming - Miller Woods boasts "century-old trees forming a protective canopy over an unusual and rare collection of wildflowers and shrubs," according to Wright.

Guides will be experienced naturalists and members of the Miller Woods Committee, including Herb Conant, Bill and Evelyn Edgar, Pat Atchinson and Wright.

Due to unseasonably warm weather, Wright says, walkers will be able to see a mixture of blooming flowers ranging from early "salt and pepper" hepaticas to later varieties of trillium and violets. The effects of last year's windstorm are also noticeable, she adds.

Plymouth firemen seek Waterball fight sponsor

A benefactor is needed.

Plymouth firefighters are looking for someone to donate some $200 towards the costs of staging a waterball fight at this year's Fall Festival.

Last year, when the city firemen revived an historic Plymouth tradition by hosting neighboring fire departments for the first waterball fight in many years, the event proved to be one of the most successful Festival crowd-pleasers.

But the cost of trophies and a permanent waterball rig must be met, says Captain Paul Sanders. Final approval for the event for this year's Festival is still pending while the firemen complete details for the contest and the antique fire engine parade.

Anyone interested in sponsoring the event this year should contact Sanders at the Plymouth Fire Department.

Canton studies hall use

Canton Township Board members want Canton residents to make more use of the city hall. At Tuesday night's board meeting there was discussion on establishing a rental policy for township facilities. The matter was turned over to Supervisor James Poole, Clerk John Flodin and Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz to come up with recommendations.

facilities more apparent to the public. Those areas include the lot behind City Hall and the Central Parking lot off of Harvey and Ann Arbor Trail.

Currently more than 15,000 cars travel down Main Street on a day-to-day basis, West said. Ann Arbor Trail gets 7,000 daily, while about 3,000 vehicles stay in the downtown area.

The one-lane blockage will not terminate traffic in that lane altogether, said Leonard, as cars will have a choice of following the trail or moving into the inside lane and avoiding the barrier before returning to the lane.

"Hopefully by doing this kind of thing we will hasten the day when there is free parking within the city," said Leonard.

The by-pass will also help create even more parking places in the city, Leonard said. He estimated that about 310 parking places could be created along the one-way streets.

In the works for several years, the concept may get a test run before Fall Festival said City Manager Henry Graper, Jr.

West said that a trial run at Fall Festival would provide the best test possible since city streets are generally rerouted at the event.

"It will probably be done earlier than that," said Graper.

City Commissioners have already approved the making of Forest Street into a one-way street going south from Ann Arbor Trail to Wing. That project is slated to start sometime next week, said West.

The Surrey Trail proposal was discussed at last week's joint meeting of the City Commission and Planning Commission at which Stan Woodhouse, of Vilican-Leman planning consultants, answered questions on the concept.

"In no way is this intended to promote the spread of commercial (zoning)," Woodhouse said. "We sit and plan for years, but do we have to wait until we're hurting to do something?"

City Commissioner Dave Pugh said the proposal would help "increase the tax base" and make the central business district "a little more pedestrian-like."

Also favoring the proposal was City Commissioner Eldon Martin. "It can do nothing but help the (CBD) district," he said.

Put it up, tear it down

BRIDGE OVER THE LOWER TONQUISH used to be here. Erected just 10 months ago, the bridge over the creek along Sheldon Road was ripped out last week to make room for the Sheldon Road widening. According to City of Plymouth Engineer Ken West, the bridge was built for $900, knowing that the Wayne County Road Commission would have it taken out when the road was widened. He said residents on Sheldon wanted the pedestrian bridge and didn't trust the projected spring date for Sheldon's widening issued by the county road commission. Even though the bridge will--eventually-- be replaced by a wide culvert and sidewalk, it seems the whole project was wasteful. (Crier editorial photo by Robert Cameron)

Coloring It Brown

By Dick Brown

There is nothing new about criticism of local units of government and their getting bogged down in writing ordinances in big numbers. It has been going on for years.

Congress, state legislatures, counties, cities and townships all are guilty of measuring legislative accomplishment by the number of laws and ordinances put on the books--not by the quality or necessity of those laws and ordinances or the urgency of those ordinances.

That fact surfaced several times at Tuesday night's Canton Township board meeting. First there was a complaint about a township tree ordinance as it relates to cutting trees on private property. Then came a debate over a proposed bicycle ordinance which in its initial form would have required younger cyclists to have a note from parents in their possession when riding tricycles and bicycles on the streets.

Canton trustees spent a lot of time Tuesday night wrestling with ordinances on the books and proposed ordinances. The question is, are all these ordinances necessary?

The trouble with proliferating ordinances is that they require adding to the army of enforcers. Another big problem is that as more and more ordinances are put on the books it becomes almost impossible for the average citizens to escape becoming a violator, often with no intention of becoming a violator.

Important laws and ordinances are necessary. The nit-picking variety are not necessary and more often than not unenforceable, except at a cost which far outweighs the usefulness.

I was raised by a local ordinance-baiter of championship calibre. My father could be classified as a maverick--a dissenter of the first order. He took great pride in being different. He got a vision once that wearing socks was unhealthy so he discarded them for good, long before the hippie generation arrived on the scene. He was constantly battling Mason city ordinances. The city fathers came up with a tree ordinance which allowed city crews to remove trees on private property if they were judged to be esthetically unsatisfactory. They arrived one day to remove a big maple from the Brown castle grounds but were run off by my father and his threats of great bodily harm to the lumberjacks from the city. That case ended up in court and the tree still grows.

Then there was the time that the state highway department decided that a big US-127 road sign would be placed in the front yard. It was placed there but he pulled it down. It was replaced and pulled down again. The fourth time he ripped it up, the state highway department got the message.

The message in this little family anecdote is that there is a limit as to how much regimentation Americans want in their lives. Some people reach that limit quicker than others, but legislative bodies should recognize that those limits do exist.

Basically

by Ken Voyles

More about roads.

City of Plymouth and Wayne County Road Commission officials met Friday to discuss their differences concerning the proposed road project for Lilley Road.

The city declared at a March 16 City Commission meeting that it wanted $339,545.82 returned for the project, which has yet to get off the ground.

The Road Commission pleaded lack of federal funds for the project and said that the funds would become available in 1982.

City Manager Henry Graper admitted Friday after his meeting with Wayne County officials that there wasn't much the city could do, since the county spent the money obtaining rights-of-way at Lilley and Ann Arbor Trail and Lilley and Main Street, to widen those intersections.

"They are willing to give us the title to the land but for all practical purposes there is no way to get the money back, so we might as well let the county go ahead with the project in 1982," said Graper. "That is what I will recommend to the City Commission."

Graper added that part of the problem between the city and county was the lack of a clear line of communications. "The county moves along at its own pace," he said.

For comparison, the Sheldon Road widening (from two lanes to five lanes) currently under construction has been on the docket since 1978, when a bond issue was approved. The county started work last month.

The $2.5 million project will be completed before the end of the year. Portions of Sheldon will be closed off periodically until then.

Sheldon Road represents a boundary road between Plymouth and Plymouth Township. Plymouth invested five per cent of the non-federal contributions, said Irma Clark, assistant director of public information for the Road Commission; while Wayne County invested 20 per cent and the U.S. government invested 75 per cent. Clark said Plymouth's share would come to no more than $89,000. Plymouth Township did not contribute to the improvement.

Parents upset over CEP security

This is in response to a letter signed, "A Concerned Parent." I, too would like to remain anonymous because I have two sons in high school and I do not want further trouble in my home.

The situation is the same as it was two years ago when I approached the school authorities and the police department who informed me they did not know of any problem, but they said (the police) they would do what they could.

The school's position is that they do not have enough school security. If that is the reason, everyone would be better off if they would curtail other things so they could get to the main problem. What good will it be if a person can throw a football or play an instrument or act in a play if in the meantime they are destroying their brain.

It is a sad situation when you know your child is not on anything when he is home. I know that my child purchases the items at school and at times comes home high.

Parents, don't fool yourself that your child doesn't touch anything because he is not creating a problem. The parents have to wake up.

As far as getting together with parents, I, myself, have approached others before and they say, "Not my boy. He is an angel." All it has done in the past is make my child angrier at me because I don't want any part of drugs. I therefore don't say anything to others.

The school also informed me that the situation is not as bad as previous years when the children were passing out. Now they only have the problem with liquor and that it is not unusual to see a kid going from class to class with a bottle in his pocket.

Well, it seems strange that many of the children I know have a drug problem. Many have already been kicked out of school. One that I know is in jail, one in juvenile court and another in jail. Their problem started with drugs.

So if the parents can work together, it is for their best interests also.

School Board minds made up

EDITOR:

Now it all comes out. Why didn't the Superintendent and the School Board want to make a study of split sessions at the high school

They knew that if the ninth graders left the Park and took with them the teaching staff that were not trained in the Modular Scheduling Program, this program could be implemented in September, 1981.

Let me caution you. It will not be called Modular Scheduling. It will have a new name and a new face.

I do not have a child at the high school now but had two in the high school when Modular Scheduling was in effect. Both children ended up in private schools or they would never have had degrees now.

This program was great for some kids, but for the majority, it was not a good program.

Please, parents, do not allow this to come about at the Park. Call your universities, law enforcement agencies, etc. Ask any organization that has to do with children if they remember this program and, in their opinion, what effect did it have on the education of high school students

Irked by food store checkout errors

EDITOR:

Inflation is bad enough, but $9.70 for a head of lettuce?

One of our local Canton stores actually did charge this price for a head of lettuce.

I know what you're saying. "It was probably a mistake," and you are 100 per cent correct, but who is paying for these mistakes?

This story needs to be told and I'm sure there are many more incidents that have not been told. I won't mention the store's name, only that it is in the Canton area.

This morning my mother related her incident with a local store to me. First of all I would mention that she is a senior citizen of better than 80 years of age. She cannot read the small prices of foods at the store. This, I recognize, is not the store's problem, but she has to put her trust in cashiers to correctly register the items of purchase and give her a bill.

After making her purchase of one bag of groceries she paid a bill of $38.29. She thought it quite high, but paid it. Luckily this morning she had a friend shopping with her, another senior citizen of Royal Holiday Park. When my mother showed her friend this bill and the bag of groceries, they looked closer at the bill.

Lo and behold, there was a charge of $19.66 for meat. She had only bought 4 slices of bologna and a few slices of another lunch meat, which cost about $2 and not $19.66.

Needless to say, the two ladies returned to the store. The cashier first said she had purchased a canned ham, but later admitted it was an error. But before they admitted this error, the other lady, a heart patient, had to haul my mother's groceries back into the store for the manager to inspect. (very tacky, sir.)

The head of lettuce incident was a purchase, strangely enough, by my mother-in-law a week before at the same store. With a few items in a bag, she returned home only to discover that they had charged her $9.70 for a head of lettuce. The cashier said that instead of registering 70 cents for the head of lettuce, she somehow hit the item key number of $9.70. She didn't even offer an "I'm sorry."

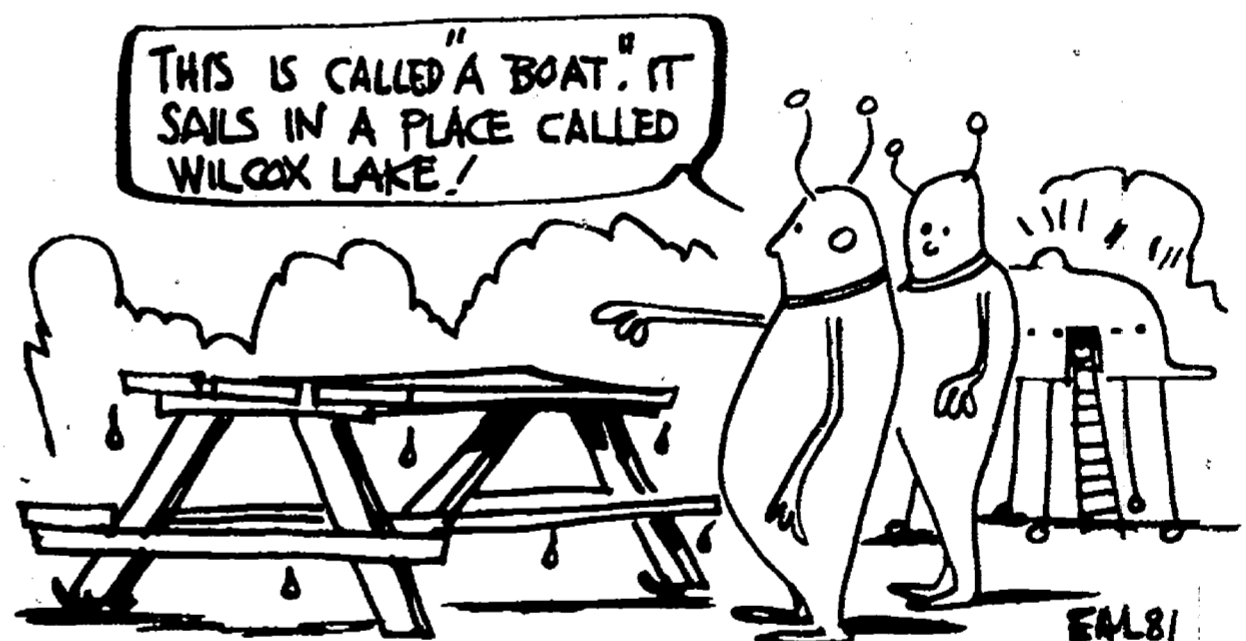

I could mention other incidents but they would only relate the same distressing information.

In conclusion, my concern is that this is happening to many others besides our senior citizens, but our seniors are at their mercy.

I'm blaming no one at this point-let's call them honest mistakes at the checkout. But pay heed to this letter, we are tired of being the ones to lose.

If there are others who feel that they should be heard or have a problem, please contact your local Chamber of Commerce or even myself, 455-1077. I'll be glad to get you an answer to your problem.

FRANK CHAKRABARTY

Students defend CEP security

EDITOR:

The drug problem at CEP isn't as big as it was made to be in an earlier letter from an anonymous "concerned parent." Maybe there is some alcohol and marijuana at CEP, but the school isn't being "overrun with LSD, mescaline, amphetamines, heroin, etc.," although there is some use of these hard drugs.

"The authorities" (security staff) cannot control a small drug problem completely as most of the drugs are dealt with and consumed outside of school. The main drug problem is the parents' responsibility. For the small amount of drugs that are used in school, the security staff does its best to control it. With a security staff of six and a school population close to 5,000, it makes a job like that pretty impossible, especially if they feel it is important to control vandalism, violence and traffic on campus.

If the parents of the community feel it is important to start "asking some questions," they better get an understanding of what goes on in school. Being a senior, I feel that the parents of the community are seeing less and less of the school and its activities.

It is not illegal for a parent to come into school with permission. If more parents would simply walk through the halls for one class change, walk near the lunch room or into a bathroom, they would have a better understanding of how hard it is for six security personnel to control a minor drug problem at CEP.

I feel that someone writing about these problems without knowing the facts puts him or her way out of place. It is this type of parents who can't control her own child and who would like someone else to do it for them.

Plymouth Symphony children's concert praised

BY REEF MORSE

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's Children's Concert was a howling success.

For a mere 50 cents, the audience Saturday got a musical tour of a day in the life of a Russian frontier family, a tour through a zoo and a museum, poetry readings, and a demonstration of young local violin talent.

It was so successful that two performances will be given next year.

The theme of the program was zoological, and Conductor Johan van der Merwe began the program by introducing himself and saying he was from Africa, "Where all the animals are."

The musical program began with Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf," which was narrated by local actor John Roberts. Roberts, in turn, introduced the musical themes that represented each character in the story and the instruments that played them.

Glynnis Stout, on flute, played the bird; Kristy Meretta, on oboe, played the duck; John Mohler, on clarinet, played the cat; Mary Beth Tuma, on bassoon, played the Grandfather; and Paul Miller and James Person, on kettle and snare drums, played the hunters. The string section played Peter, while the whole orchestra played the sinister theme of the wolf.

Because the themes of each character were so recognizable, the piece acted as a good introduction to the ways themes are used in an orchestra to tell a story. The children enjoyed it and loud whispers of "Mommy, that's the birdie!" were heard frequently.

The Plymouth Suzuki Association followed with a performance of their violinists, ages 4 through 13, from the area as well as the suburbs.

The two teachers, Vicki Vorreiter and Kathy Keresztesi, who have been with the association for four and eight years, respectively, took turns leading the pieces played which ranged from the Third Movement of Vivaldi's Concerto in A Minor to Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star and variations thereon.

The concept behind the Suzuki method is that, as children learn to speak before they read, so can they learn to play an instrument before they learn to read music. The results seen Saturday night were astounding!

The children showed poise, confidence, and considerable talent in their performance.

The last piece was performed by the orchestra and was Saint-Saens' Carnival of the Animals. Written as a satire in 1886, it was never performed publicly until after the composer's death in 1922. When the poet Ogden Nash heard the piece, he wrote a poem about it. This poem was included in the performance and was read by Charles Wells, a member of the Plymouth Symphony board.

Two pianos were used with the orchestra and were played by Paul Boylan, dean of the Music School at University of Michigan, and Morris Risenhoover, assistant dean. The pianos did the lions' share of the work (excuse the pun) for each of the animals presented.

Not only were the common barnyard animals presented, but also fish, kangaroos, turtles, elephants, cocoos and fossils, played on the xylophone by Paul Miller. The highlight was the swan, a cello solo played beautifully by Paul Roth, which drew a spontaneous applause from the audience. Saint-Saens also included the pianist as an animal, "A cloddish beast," as Nash wrote.

The musical program was excellent and provided a range of entertainment for many ages.

The performance was sold out early and next year, the orchestra plans to give a morning and afternoon performance so that more children can see and experience the joys, insight, and humor of orchestral music.

What Is Arthritis?

Arthritis is an inflammation of the joints of the body. The symptoms are pain, redness and swelling of the involved tissue. The delicate structure of a joint is injured easily. Considering the great stress to which joints are subjected (particularly in sports), it is easy to see why arthritis is among our most common diseases, affecting over 50,000,000 Americans.

The arthritic joint becomes swollen, partly due to an increase in the joint fluid, which clouds or is stained with blood. Increased white blood cells also can cause joint tissue to swell.

Arthritis can strike quickly or take several months to develop. Either way, early attention to symptoms can prevent secondary complications. A case history and a thorough examination will help determine the cause of arthritis.

Arthritis and Chiropractic

Often the arthritic patient has a poorly functioning nervous system, causing direct or indirect spinal problems. The joints of the body need a strong, normal nerve supply to function properly. When arthritis involves the spinal column or the nervous system, chiropractic helps. Chiropractic is a natural healing science which maintains and restores good health by keeping nerve impulses flowing freely.

'Oliver' works the Dickens out of West kids

BY DAN BODENE

Can West Middle School's cafeteria seem like an elegant London drawing room or a back-alley slum for a few hours?

It can, and did, for several performances of the musical "Oliver" last week -- thanks to an all-school effort to present the annual play.

Directed by Sena Lewis and John Hiemstra, the musical tells the tale of Oliver, orphaned son of a wealthy English family thrown into the company of pickpockets and thieves before finally realizing his birthright.

Along the way, Oliver (played by Daniel Lockwood) meets such engaging characters as Fagin, the pickpocket par excellence, played by Julie Ann Sparling, the Artful Dodger, played by Sean Budlong and the brutish Bill Sykes, played by Greg Peterhans.

An altogether fine cast also included Danette Bongiorno as Nancy, Wendy Sickels as Bet, DeLisa White as Mr. Bumble, Kari Gran as Widow Lorney, Michael McClennen and Kristina Bahmer as Mr. and Mrs. Sowerberry, David Cleveland as Mr. Brownlow, Shawn Santo as Mrs. Bedwin, Leah Romine as Old Sally and Julie Stuck as Charlie.

In addition, many cast members played dual roles, including dancers, townspeople, bartenders, watchmen and runners. Some even did yeoman duty on set construction and costumes. Too many to mention, everyone involved in the production deserves congratulations for a job well done.

AT THE CENTER of his moneygrubbing minion is the pickpocket prince of London, Fagin (Julie Ann Sparling), exhorting his followers to "Be Back Soon." during the West School production of "Oliver." An all-

The project was the result of more than two months of work, according to Sparling, including rehearsals every night for two weeks preceding the opening. All scenery, costumes and make-up were furnished by the school's 11, 12 and 13 school effort, the play took months of preparation before its premier last week, and featured many players in dual roles.

year old students, said Director Lewis. She added her unqualified endorsement of the effort, calling the kids "A very tough crew."

Although there were minor setbacks, including "Rotten lights -- they almost burned the curtains," said DeLisa White, the show went on in the finest Broadway tradition.

But then, that wasn't hard to believe according to Katie Norris, who observed, "It's a very talented school."

CAUGHT IN THE ACT, Oliver (Daniel Lockwood) proves he is no pick-pocket artist. Nabbed by Mr. Sowerberry (Michael McClennen), he is quickly deserted by the rest of Fagin's lightfingered legion. All's well that ends well, however -- Oliver is soon reunited with his family in the finale of the song-and-dance extravaganza.

Egloff seeks Bronco berth

When the Denver Broncos start training camp July 24, Ron Egloff will be there again vying for a spot on the squad.

Egloff, a 1973 Salem High School graduate, will be going into his fifth year of professional football, having completed four successful seasons with the Broncos.

He played on the Salem team for four years and was a standout for four years on the squad at the University of Wisconsin before turning pro.

Even though he's a veteran, Egloff still must go through try-outs to win back his position as tight end.

"We just got a new general manager and a new head coach, so I don't know how it will affect me, good I hope," Egloff said recently during a visit back to Plymouth.

"You're never completely sure if you will be back on the team," he continued. "You like to think that they won't go out and cut you right away.

"They didn't get rid of my receiver coach, so that's good," Egloff went on to say. "I won't have to prove myself all over again to him, maybe to the new general manager or head coach, but at least my receiver coach will know what I can do and what my limitations are."

Egloff lives in Aurora, Colorado now with his wife of one year.

N.Y. Times is for the dogs, too

Just as some people like a cup of coffee with the Sunday New York Times, some dogs like a biscuit with the paper - and Helen and George Lapenta of Little Professor Book Center of Plymouth provide them. The Times and the biscuits, that is.

Helen likes animals, says George, and tapes a doggie biscuit on the Sunday paper of "at least half a dozen customers per week." It has been such a regular thing that some dogs become upset if they don't find their biscuit right away, George says. In fact, one dog will search the store for the errant doggie treat if it isn't in plain sight.

It's all in good fun, though. The newspaper business hasn't yet gone to the dogs.

Word has been received that Harold L. Cooper of Aristocrat Landscaping, Plymouth, has been named a Michigan Certified Nurseryman by the Michigan Association of Nurserymen Certification Board.

In order to receive this designation Cooper was required to pass a three-hour exam that tested his general knowledge of Michigan's nursery industry, his ability to identify plant specimens and his skills in landscape planning and design.

He has been associated with the Michigan nursery industry for 25 years, with the majority of that time spent in the Metro Detroit area. Cooper has a degree in nursery and landscape management from Michigan State University.

He, his wife, Joan, and two children live in Plymouth.

Joe Langkabel not only knows his Famous Recipe Fried Chicken store at 1122 W. Ann Arbor Rd. is doing well - he's been officially recognized for it.

At the company's convention in Phoenix, Ariz. last month, Langkabel was presented a plaque for his store's position in the top 20 Famous Recipe franchises throughout the country. Specifically, Langkabel's store was No. 15 nation-wide, stacked up against 230 competitors.

After working for the previous owners of the store for six years, Langkabel bought the franchise four years ago. Since then, he says he has spent many hours cleaning up the store and improving the quality of the food - work which has apparently paid off.

What's next? "I sure would like to open a store in Phoenix," Langkabel says with a chuckle.

Fashions fly on Wings of Spring

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN

Ruffles and polkadots are back in the fashion scene this spring. Area women got a preview of what's in style this year when the Plymouth Newcomers Club presented "Fashion Extravaganza Night and Day."

Pastels are always a hit in springtime and this year was no exception. Yellow, pink, light blue and lilac are on top of the list in everything from formal wear to casual clothes. Chiffon and crepe are big in evening wear and 100 per cent cotton and terry cloth are coming back in casual runabouts.

Hair styles feature the soft, wavy look with curls and braids still very much in this spring. Softer colors with more pink, orchard and muted tones are popular in the world of makeup.

Newcomer members modeling the fashions were: Lillian Berlin, Jan Flis, Jan Harris, Hilda Hawkins, Dorothy Hennis, Cathy Kirpatrick, Marsha Livermore, Karen McLand, Mary O'Shaughnessey, Barbara Secord, and Gayle Young. Members working on special effects were Jan Groat, Bev Hatcher, and Mary Zelenock. Modeling junior fashions were Ruth Harvey, Julie Schauer and Andrea Talek.

Plymouth merchants who provided the fashions were: Sacks of Forest Avenue, daytime and business; Geneva's of Plymouth,

The Wings of Spring 1981 supplement is the work of several Crier staffers, and others.

Photo Editor Robert Cameron, Office Manager Phyllis Redfern, Advertising Manager Mike Carne, Advertising Consultant Vicky Downing (who served as assistant ad manager for the Plus section), Feature Editor Dan Bodene, Ken Voyles, and Publisher W. Edward Wendover worked on the photos, stories, and layout, while The Crier's advertising consultants Fran Hennings, Tina Jones and Sallie Roby helped coordinate advertising.

Photographs were taken at the Plymouth Hilton Inn with the enthusiastic cooperation of its staff and flowers shown were generously provided by Heide's Flowers at Ann Arbor Trail and Harvey, downtown.

Hunt eggs this Saturday

Traditionally, part of the Easter Holiday scene has been the Easter Egg Hunt for the children. The 1981 Easter celebration is no exception.

Both the Plymouth and Canton Parks and Recreation Departments have festivities planned for Saturday, April 18, for children under the age of 12.

The Plymouth hunt will start at 11 a.m. at Hamilton Park, at Wing and Harding Streets, two blocks east of Main Street. Special prizes will be awarded to winners in each age group and adults are invited to join in the festivities.

The Canton hunt will be at 10 a.m. around the Township Administration Building on Canton Center Road. Age groups will be 4-5 year olds, 5-7 year olds and 8-10 year olds. There will be special prizes for lucky egg finders.

For further information on the Plymouth Easter Egg Hunt call 455-6620. Information on the Canton Easter Egg Hunt can be obtained by calling 397-1000.

WINGING INTO SPRING (in upper left photo) in fashions from That Special Woman are Pam Skrocki (left), wearing the very popular Sassoon stretch jeans topped with a comfortable Half Time gauze tunic top available in purple and pink; and June Kalvenas (right), who has chosen a coordinated Koret outfit. The top is polyester and cotton, while the matching skirt is a polyester-cotton stretch fabric for further comfort. Available in red, navy and khaki. Her unconstructed plaid jacket fits in very well with the skirt and blouse.

evening and bridal; Van Dam's, casual and loungewear; The Shoe Attic, shoes for all occasions; The Mayflower Beauty Salon, model's Hair Fashions; and Delta Diamond Setters and Jewelers, jewelry fashions. Karen LeGault provided the stage settings.

Carole Townsend, president of the club, was the hostess for the fashion show and luncheon, and K. C. Mueller and Janice Paulsen were co-ordinators. Committee members for the event were: Bev Antoun, Kathy Barker, JoAnn Bogard, Toni Edwards, Donna Hartger, Bev Hatcher, Ann Hausman, Janie Hunt, Lora Keaton, Bobbie Kraja, Ginger Krueger, Cindy Modras, Lorna Nitz, Sheryl Osmun, Lynda Stahl, Carole Townsend, Diane Werda and Mary Zelenock.

Plymouth Ex-Newcomers Club held a fashion show recently at West Middle School. Fashions were provided by Daisies Don't Tell.

With the current economy, more and more people are turning to resale shops as a way of cutting expenses. "When you go into a resale shop be prepared to spend a lot of time, not money, and really concentrate," said Lynn Lyon, narrator of the fashion show.

Guests enjoyed seeing everything from furs, day and evening wear to shoes and jewelry, all at bargain prices. Lyon warned guests not to become discouraged when shopping at resale shops. "Some days you go in and can't find a thing, and other days there are three or four things that are just perfect for you," she said.

Club members modeling the clothes were: Shar Lundy, Lois DeBell, Mary Michner, Patsy Rollins, Connie Polonyi, and Shirley Brown.

Pianist for the evening was Nancy Soho.

tell it to Phyllis

While sitting back, enjoying a train trip recently, I came to the conclusion there are two things in life a woman can't live with and can't live without—one is a man and the other is a car. They're both unpredictable and sometimes undependable, but they usually come through when you need them. I've sometimes thought about doing away with one or the other or both, but you must admit life wouldn't be near as interesting without them.

It's hard to imagine trying to get around without a car. How would you get all those bags of groceries home from the store. Life wouldn't be as much fun if you didn't have a man around to nag and convince if he wanted to eat, he had better find a way to get the groceries from the car to the kitchen.

Another conclusion I came to was where the life expectancy of a man is forever, a car just isn't going to make it that long. So, with that in mind, I decided to keep the man and trade the car in.

The decision to start making car payments didn't come so easy, however the idea of buying new tires and fixing up the old car wasn't very appealing, either. After examining the budget and trying to stretch it every possible way, I simply gave up and started checking the car lots and classified ads.

What do you do when you can't find a used car that you like and know that you can't afford to buy a new one? I did what every normal American would do—when I thought nobody was looking, I took a quick peek at the new cars. There it was, a cute little thing with nothing special, just four wheels, four doors and a steering wheel. All the time I was test driving the cute little car my mind was saying, "I like it, I want it." However, my check book was yelling, "You stupid fool, what do you think you are doing?"

Somehow, the cute little car found its way to my driveway. Wow, how exciting—my first, very own, brand new car and to go with it I have my first, very own, brand new car payments. Oh, well, so much for new spring clothes and I think I found the key to dieting—it's called the no-money-to-buy-food-with diet.

Now that I have the car, it's nice to have a man around to show me where everything is on the thing. They sure hide the windshield wipers in the funniest places.

It was also nice to have a man around to laugh at me when I woke up at 3 a.m. to a crash of thunder the first night I had the car, realizing it was raining on my poor little car.

A dinner dance celebrating the 35th anniversary of Mayflower Post No. 6695 Veterans of Foreign Wars was held April 11 at the Post Home on Mill Street in Plymouth. Post Commander Earl "Red" Foster led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Of the 18 men who made application for the charter in 1946, two were present; Leroy Cripe and David Garrison. Past commanders who attended the dinner were: Kenneth Gust, Robert Van Meter, Hal Young, Duane Johnson, Henry Smith, Edward Holdsworth, Don Totten, and Charles Minthorn. Past presidents of the auxiliary who were there included; Eleanor Gust, Loretta Young, Eileen Williams, Lucile Johnson, Ann Smith, Mary Holdsworth, Thelma Van Buren, Helen Leader, Chris Leader, Dorothy Holmberg and Ruth Salisbury.

Michigan State University recently awarded degrees at winter term commencement held at the university auditorium. Students from Canton receiving degrees were: Sandra Green of Canton Center, BS in fisheries and wildlife; Ann Stevenson of Ashley Court, BA in political science; Philip Wiley of Koppnick, BS in psychology, with honors; and Douglas Vanderburg of Foothill, MD in human medicine.

Plymouth students receiving degrees were; Paul Brooks of Beck Road, BS in mechanical engineering; Malissa Cindrich of Woodleigh Way, BA in interior design; Edward Dallago of Oregon Trail, BS in mechanical engineering; Celeste Maly of Auburn, BA in criminal justice; Kenneth Martinek of Leicester, BS in anthropology; Joseph Pasek of Virginia, BS in electrical engineering; Kristin Schubert of Gov. Bradford, BA in audiology and speech; and Charlotte Ann Wall of Old Salem, BA in accounting.

Salem softball team wins league games to open year

BY PATTY RADZIK

The Salem softball team is 2-0 after the first week of action that opened the season.

The Rocks beat Trenton earlier last week in a marathon contest 22-20, and defeated Dearborn Edsel Ford on Friday 7-6.

Leslie Etienne picked up both victories on the mound for Salem. Against Trenton Etienne lasted five innings and struck out two, walked 12 and gave up 11 hits. She sacrificed five walks against Edsel Ford, and collected one strikeout throughout the entire game.

Errors played havoc on Salem in the season opener with the Trojans, as the Rocks bobbled the ball eight times. "I was not happy with the way we played," Salem coach Rob Willette said after his debut as coach. "We had too many errors, our defense was shaky."

Salem did not get its first hit until the bottom of the second inning against Trenton, as the Trojans jumped out to a 7-0 lead early in the contest.

The Rocks quickly recovered and scored nine runs in the bottom of the third to go up by two.

Terese Cooney started Salem's rally with a single, and Bonnie Southerland put her team on the scoreboard by smacking a double, scoring Cooney and Midori who was walked.

Denise Zonca knocked a single to centerfield, scoring Southerland, and later touched home plate after stealing second and advancing around on two wild pitches.

Cheryl Sobkow scored with one out after she was walked and stole second, and advanced to third on a wild pitch.

Chris Brennan and Eileen Moore both were walked with two outs, loading the bases, when Cooney batted for a second time and singled, scoring Sobkow.

With the bases still loaded, Midori doubled, knocking in all three baserunners, and stretched out her hit advancing to third on a throwing error.

Salem's last score of the inning came when Southerland singled and Midori scored.

Trenton pulled back into the lead in the top of the fourth inning to go out in front 10-9.

The Rocks retaliated with ten more runs in the bottom of the fourth. The inning was highlighted by a bases-loaded triple by Southerland and a bases-loaded double by Kelly Strautz.

Denise Zonca came on the mound in relief in the sixth inning for Salem, and ended the contest with a strikeout.

Karen Keller suffered the loss for Trenton, giving up 11 hits, and striking out three.

"Our defense was a lot better against Edsel Ford," Willette said.

Salem and the T-Birds were tied 6-6 going into the bottom of the seventh inning.

Chris Brennan began with a walk and Eileen Moore safely bunted her way onto first. With one out, Midori singled, scoring Brennan from second to win the game.

Salem will meet Livonia Bentley tomorrow at home at 4 p.m., and will take a week off before resuming action on April 27 at Franklin.

Canton's timely hitting beats non-league Borgess twice

BY KEN VOYLES

Canton's baseball squad opened its 1981 season with a two game sweep over non-league foe Redford Bishop Borgess Saturday. The Chiefs won the first game 11-5 and came back in the second to win 8-5.

In that second outing, Dave Malek pitched the first five innings and held Borgess to one home run and gave up three walks as Canton put together two four-run innings to win 8-5.

Borgess opened the scoring with a run in the first inning on a force play.

Canton came back in the bottom of the third. Dan Smith was safe on a force out, Bill Hanis singled. They moved up on a wild pitch and Steve Schumacher doubled them home. Brian Cappenhurst then smacked a two-run homer to put Canton on top 4-1.

Borgess picked up two more runs in the fourth on a two-run homer off Malek and then went ahead 5-4 in the fifth inning on a pair of throwing errors by the Chiefs.

In the bottom of the fifth, Cappenhurst walked, Fred Rumberger walked, both runners moved up on a bunt by Paul Dobry and Malek singled them home to push the Chiefs ahead 6-5.

Still in the fifth inning, Keith Stone doubled and Malek went to third. Malek scored on a wild pitch and Scott Bricker singled home Stone to make the score 8-5.

Marty McCarthy took over the pitching duties for Canton in the top of the sixth inning and completed the game.

"That was a horrendous performance defensively," said Canton coach Fred Crissey. "We didn't play the way we are capable of playing."

"We did hit the ball when we had to and we kept coming back and getting the clutch hits," he continued. "It was our clutch hitting that got us through that game and Malek had a good performance on the mound."

Dan Smith pitched the entire first game for the Chiefs. He picked up six strike outs and gave up eight hits while on the mound.

Canton opened the scoring when Jeff Cousino doubled in the second inning and Malek singled him home. Borgess came back with three runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth to lead 5-1.

Canton exploded for four runs in the fourth, five in the fifth inning and one in the sixth to win 11-5.

Stone, Cousino, and Schumacher picked up two RBIs each for the Chiefs, while Bricker, Smith, Hanis, Cappenhurst and Malek had one each.

"I'm obviously not disappointed winning two games against a Catholic League school like Borgess," said Crissey.

The Chiefs face off against Waterford Mott today at home. Game time is 4 p.m. On Saturday, Canton will play Birmingham Brother Rice and Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher in a doubleheader at home. Canton will face Rice in the first game and then Gallagher in the second.

Earlier last week the Rocks lost to Trenton 13-2. Jim Jimmerson started on the mound for Salem and went five innings, giving up ten runs and 12 hits.

Kevin Merrill went three for three at the plate for the Rocks against the Trojans.

On Thursday Salem dropped its second game to Redford Thurston 13-0. John McDowell suffered the loss. He was replaced after four and one-third innings of action in which he gave up three runs and three hits.

John Hetkowsky, John Penders and Brian Kelly also were assigned duty on the mound for Salem and combined to give up five hits and ten runs.

The Rocks got one hit in the sixth inning to break up Thurston's no-hit ballgame.

Dearborn Edsel Ford, on Friday, was Salem's first victim. The Rocks nipped the T-Birds 1-0.

Bill Culver went the distance on the mound for the Rocks, giving up four hits, striking out four, and walking two.

The game was scoreless until the seventh inning when Mark Kitz singled and Mick Matson layed down a sacrifice bunt. Mitch Wilcox then doubled, scoring Kitz from second.

Salem picked up two additional wins on Saturday, sweeping a doubleheader with Livonia Franklin.

John Hetkowsky hit a solo home run in the bottom of the seventh inning to break a 4-4 tie and give Salem the victory in the first game 5-4.

Ken Vermullen was the starting pitcher for the Rocks in the second game of the doubleheader, and went three and a third innings, gave up two runs and five hits before being replaced by Joe Humphries.

Humphries gave up three runs and four hits in one and a third innings of action before John McDowell was brought on.

McDowell lasted one and a third innings and gave up one run and one hit until John Penders came on to finish the game.

The contest was tied 1-1 after three innings of play. Salem scored in the first

Strong Chief softball team opens season today

Even with the loss of six seniors from last year's squad the Canton softball team for 1981 has the potential to repeat as Western Six League champions, according to coach Max Sommerville.

Last year Canton recorded a 10-0 conference mark and were 16-2 overall. The Chiefs lost to Livonia Bentley 7-6 in the semi finals of district action.

"If we have any weaknesses it'll be inexperience," said Sommerville.

"However, we got a lot of good experience in the Livonia Fast-Pitch League over the summer and I know what the girls can do."

Marianne Pink and Joni Sommerville will co-captain the team. Pink is a righthanded pitcher and senior veteran on the mound. Sommerville is a senior shortstop.

Other members of the Chiefs veteran pitching staff include junior righthander Cindy Sovine and junior lefthander

Pearly Cunningham.

Senior Barb Rupprecht will see action at third base along with sophomore Rena Edwards. Sophomore Sue Gerke will be at second base and junior Ronda Stoner will also see action in the infield.

Freshman Marie Krashovetz will catch for the Chiefs.

Juniors Robyn Hudgins, Vicki Skeen, Karen Nicholas and Susan Pierce plus sophomore Diana Ost and senior Sandy Shaw will see action in the outfield for Canton.

"We have very good team speed and good power," Sommerville said. "Pink, Sommerville, and Ost are all good power hitters.

"Defensively we're looking real good but again lack of experience may hurt us little in that area," he continued. "We have a strong pitching staff and the potential is there to win the league."

Canton opens its season today at Waterford Mott at 4 p.m. The Chiefs will travel to Livonia Franklin tomorrow for a 3:30 p.m. contest.

Lopsided victory for Salem's girls track team

The Salem girls' track team recorded a 116-6 lopsided victory Thursday over Allen Park, to even out its mark in the Suburban Eight League to 1-1.

Allen Park picked up one point in the two-mile relay race, and scooped up five points in the 440-relay when Salem was disqualified.

Sherri Muneo placed first for the Rocks in the shot-put event tossing 24-1. Sue Remer followed in second with a 24 toss, and Karen Tanski finished in third with a 21-3 throw.

Muneo also took top honors in the discus, throwing a measurable 84 ft., 3 in. Tanski finished in second place after tossing 82 ft.-3 in., and Remer came in third with a 60-9 toss.

Salem freshman Kelly Bemiss won the long jump competition with a leap of 15-1. Dawn Johnson placed second with a 15-1 mark, and Shelley Staszal finished in third with a jump of 13-7.

A leap of 4-8 was good enough for Janene Gray to win the high jump event. Cindy McSurely placed second with a jump of 4-6, and Sue Roach finished third with an identical mark of 4-6.

Lynda Lybarger, McSurely and Carol Lindsay were big winners for Salem in the running events. Each captured three first place finishes.

Lybarger won the 100-yard dash in a time of 12.8, and placed first in the 440-yard dash with a 66.3 timing. Colleen O'Connor came in second in the 440, with a time of 70.6.

Lybarger was also a member of the victorious mile relay squad.

Lindsay anchored the foursome that won in a time of 4:44.0. In addition, she won the 880-yard dash in a time of 2:37.0, and participated in the 880-yard relay race in which Salem won in a 2:01.3 timing. Lindsay also finished second with a 19.2 time in the 110-yard low hurdle race.

McSurely won the 220-yard low hurdle event in a time of 34.0, as well as the 110-yard low hurdle race in a 16.6 timing. She was also a member of the victorious 880-yard relay team.

Ruth Sample picked up a first place prize in the one mile relay race with a 6:11.6 timing. April McCall finished with a time of 6:34.4 in second place, and Kim Lybarger placed third with a timing of 6:41.2.

Pam Hodge won the two-mile race in a time of 15:07.0, and Lynn Hasely finished second with a 15:13.0 timing.

Canton's Craig Bell calls it quits

BY JAY KEENAN

Craig Bell's three-year reign as coach of the boys varsity basketball team at Canton came to an end Thursday as Bell announced his resignation. His reason: So he could spend more time with his family.

"I have been fortunate to coach in a community that desires a good athletic program for their schools. This support has given us the opportunity to have some successes. However, I have always used the rule of thumb for myself and our team to give credit to someone else. I never accomplished anything by myself. We, the families, school, team and community accomplished a lot of things together.

"There's a lot of time commitment that's needed to have an excellent program and I feel that I can no longer exert that amount of time," explained Bell last week. "The time commitment in coaching basketball is just too much and I would like to spend more time with my family.

Bell, a guidance counselor at Canton High, took over the post as the Chiefs head coach at the start of the 1978-79 season, following the resignation of former cage mentor Casey Cavell.

Prior to that, Bell coached in the Salem basketball program for eight years, his first post in 1970-71 when he handled the Rocks freshman squad. Bell then moved up to the junior varsity for seven years before taking on the varsity opening at Canton.

Bell's first season with the Chiefs came with instant success as he guided his team to a perfect 10-0 Western Six League record and championship. Bell's cagers repeated the conference title in the following season and also won their first district crown.

Bell has recorded a 44-23 overall mark in his three years at Canton.
