Plymouth-Canton kids go for the goodies

GOING FOR THE GOODIES, these kids swarmed Jaycee Park in Plymouth on Saturday for the annual Plymouth Parks and Recreation Easter Egg Hunt. Chuck Skene, Parks and Rec director, said he was surprised at the large turnout, which he added, "Keeps getting bigger every year." Earlier that morning, Canton kids also scrambled for treats around the Township Administration Building, in equally large numbers. Organizers of both events attempted to make sure no child went without at least one goodie. (Crier photo by Dan Bodene)

Canton sticks to industrial park plan

Canton Township trustees did some agonizing over the prospect of going forward with an industrial park project Tuesday night.

At issue was whether the township should proceed with further land acquisition and development of a large parcel of land south of Michigan Avenue and west of Morton Taylor Road.

After hearing a report on "Industrial Park Strategy" prepared by IMPACT, a planning organization member of the Wade-Trim Group, the trustees debated the issue of tossing in the towel on the land acquisition already completed or going ahead with a multi-phase plan to commit more block grant funds to acquire more land and provide the services required to develop the industrial park.

By a 5-2 vote trustees elected to proceed. Supervisor Jim Poole and Trustee Carol Bodenmiller voted against the project. Clerk John Flodin, Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz and trustees Loren Bennett, Steven Larson and Robert Padgett voted to go ahead with the plan.

Supervisor Poole and Bodenmiller based their negative votes on "these uncertain economic times."

On the opposite side of the argument Padgett argued that "the economic future of the community is linked to industrial development."

"This community is going to die if we don't have a solid industrial base," Padgett told the board.

Michael Manore of IMPACT explained the report and the recommendations to the township board.

"The township has the option of developing the Dye Bros. subdivision via township and federal monies or bring in private developers to do the job," he said.

He reported that the township had already received and spent $116,000 for development of the project so far and may apply for more than $360,000 in additional block grant funds administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

According to the report the "original goal of the township was to acquire land and encourage development of an industrial park on the south side of Michigan Avenue." The study was requested in 1977 by a previous administration.

Manore cited the lack of proper drainage in the area as one of the problems which must be solved. "The land is extremely flat and drainage is a critical issue," he warned.

Manore added that another problem facing the township is the cost per acre to an industrial site user. "Developers generally look for land with combined land acquisition and development costs ranging between $15,000 and $20,000 per acre."

In order to bring the cost per acre within that range the report suggested that the township would have to underwrite approximately $512,500 in land

Canton challenge to group homes loses court round

Canton township lost a round in its legal challenge to placement of more group foster homes in the township.

After hearing arguments Friday morning Circuit Judge Roland Olzark lifted his temporary injunction which had stopped further group home licenses.

The issue is expected to be back in court May 1.

The township suit claimed that the state department of social services had violated the law in processing eight adult foster care Small Group Home licenses in the township.

Last week the director of the Metropolitan Region of the Department of Social Services declared a temporary moratorium on processing any future license application.

'Surrey Trail' plan draws opposition from commissioner

By the time the next City of Plymouth Planning Commission meeting is held to continue the discussion on the "Surrey Trail" loop around the central business district, organized opposition to the project will probably have mounted.

One commissioner, and possible spearhead in a campaign to at least slow down City Manager Henry Graper's timetable and study the plan further, could be Mark Wehmeyer.

"I have some definite problems with the congestion and traffic this could cause," said Wehmeyer. "I'm not saying I'm outright against it. The plan needs to be looked at closely."

Wehmeyer was also concerned with the potential changing of zoning that could be brought about by the trail's growth, as the edge of residential property converged with commercial in a more accessible way forcing what is now buffer commercial zones to become full commercial zones. Then residential areas close to the trail would have to reform a buffer, pushing back residential lines.

The next planning commission meeting will be May 13 in city hall.

WSDP radio auction loot piles up

Everybody benefits from the second annual WSDP Radio Auction, say central committee members - merchants, bidders and listeners alike.

Held May 7, 8 and 9 at WSDP Radio in Salem High, the auction will benefit the station's existing broadcast equipment. Auction Central Committee chairman Jeffrey L. Cardinal and Chet Latka say proceeds from the event will go toward the purchase of a new audio board.

Many area businesses have donated services and merchandise which will be auctioned off to the highest bidders in the radio-listening audience.

WSDP is a student-operated radio station at 88.1 FM. For more information, call WSDP at 453-3100, ext. 266.

To be presented on April 24 and 25 and on May 1 and 2 at 8 p.m. at Central Middle School, the play is also directed by Spindler. ### AAUW annual book sale boasts more than 15,000 volumes

On May 1 and May 2 the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women will have its 27th annual used book sale. Over 15,000 books will go on sale in the East Court of the Westland Shopping Center from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day.

All material has been sorted into over 40 categories to make it easier for shoppers. There are tons of paperbacks, as well as best sellers, textbooks, reference books and children's literature. Of special interest might be the large number of Harlequin Romances, National Geographics and Reader's Digest books. In the children's area are many series books.

A special category titled "Old and Rare" traditionally features some of the sale's most interesting offerings. Of note this year is an annotated copy of Alice in Wonderland, a book about Groucho Marx signed by him and a signed copy of Ripley's Believe It or Not. There are also many pre-1900 books and leather-bound volumes.

In charge of the sale this year are Cindy Hillquist, chairwoman, and Diane Coleman, assistant. They coordinate this project with the help of the membership of the Plymouth Branch.

One of the greatest concerns this year is finding a location for storing and sorting the books for next year. The Branch needs a 30x30 space, one or two rooms with easy access, some security and low cost. Anyone with such space available is asked to call Cindy Hillquist, 455-7132.

Stamp club hosts annual exhibition

Area philatelists will have a special opportunity to exhibit their prized specimens on April 25 and 26, when the West Suburban Stamp Club holds its 12th Annual Exhibition and Bourse.

Located at Central Middle School, the stamp show will be held from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on April 25 and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on April 26.

Open to all collectors, the show will feature exhibits in three classifications—general philatelic, topical and junior class. The exhibit chairman, Mort Potter of Plymouth, reserves the right to re-classify any exhibit if necessary.

Guidelines for judging include collecting challenge, presentation, research and study, condition of material and scarcity.

Many awards will be presented to outstanding exhibits, including a Grand Award, West Suburban Stamp Club Award, Most Popular Award and gold, vermeil, silver, silver-bronze and bronze medals. Special society awards will also be presented.

For more information, contact general chairman, Emil Brant, 37745 Greenwood, No. U21, Westland 48185 or Mort Potter, 336 Adams, Plymouth 48170.

Fire strikes Old Village Inn, torch job being investigated

After receiving an anonymous phone tip at 3:16 a.m. Friday night, Plymouth police and fire units responded to a fire call at the Old Village Inn, 889 N. Mill St., in Plymouth.

Police officers Tom Zedan and Ronald Kaminski, first on the scene, were directed to the southside alleyway next to the building and there observed a fire coming from the doorway of the Inn's laundry room.

While patrolman Robert Scoggins fought the fire, which involved the seat of a motorcycle parked in the room, some items on a table in that room and the table itself, Kaminski, Zedan and Fletcher went through the building and evacuated all the residents.

"It was some quick thinking on their part," said Plymouth Inspector Carl Berry. "The upper floors were filled with smoke and they reacted to it."

Berry added that the officers had to, in some cases, kick in doors to get residents to react.

"There wasn't much physical damage done, but there was a surprising amount of smoke from the seat and the table," said Plymouth Fire Chief Roy Hall. He added that the blaze was easy to contain.

The owner of the motorcycle, according to the police report, said he had moved the bike inside to work on it since it was raining that night.

Police have strong reason to believe that arson was the cause of the blaze, but no individual charges have been brought against Inn residents, said Berry.

It's cleanup time in Canton

Get out those rakes, shovels, hoes and trash bags. Canton Township trustees made it official Tuesday night by designating May as official cleanup month.

To assist Canton residents in sprucing up their yards and streets, the township has set up two sites to handle the trash and brush.

Those residents hauling trash in cars will be able to use the dumpsters at the Department of Public Works office located at 4847 Sheldon Rd, a third of a mile south of Michigan Avenue.

Those hauling trash in trucks and trailers will use the landfill at 5757 Lilley Rd., a third of a mile south of Michigan Avenue. Those taking trash to the landfill must first stop at the DPW office for an authorization ticket.

Those using both dumping sites will have to show evidence of being Canton residents by showing driver's license.

There are some restrictions. Brush will be accepted up to 6 inches in diameter. No more than 3 bushels of concrete will be allowed and a limit of 3 tires has been established.

Under no circumstances will the dumping of tree stumps or any chemical waste be accepted.

Those with questions should call 397-1000, extension 228, or 397-1000, extension 344.

City eyes 2 commercial districts

City of Plymouth officials have drawn up plans for two more commercial redevelopment districts and will stage a public hearing pertaining to the outlined property on June 1.

The city's first district was created for the central business district, while two and three, which cover Old Village, Ann Arbor Road and other parts of the city, got off the ground Monday night when City Commissioners voted to hold the public hearing.

The districts are established to allow a tax abatement for those wishing to develop new projects on the property.

Up to 50 per cent of a developer's taxes could thus be trimmed. The abatement could last 12 years depending on the project.

District two would include properties on:

- N. Main Street beginning south of Union to Holbrook on east and west sides of the street;

- Plymouth Road, north and south sides of the street;
- Starkweather from Main Street to Hines Drive, east and west sides of the street;
- Mill Street from Main Street to Wilcox, east and west sides of the street.

District three would include:

- Ann Arbor Road between Sheldon and Mill;

- S. Main Street from Ann Arbor Road to Wing Street, east and west sides of street;
- Deer Street south of Wing, on the west side of the street;

- Maple Street between Deer and Kellogg, on the north side of the street;
- Ann Arbor Trail between Union and Hamilton, north and south sides of the street;

- Elizabeth Street between Roe and Ann Arbor Trail, east and west sides of the street;

- Mill Street on the north and south sides of Ann Arbor Trail on the east side of the street.

Further details of the abatement plan will be available at the hearing.

Plymouth Township hikes EMT rates

Rescue transportation from the Plymouth Township Fire Department will increase in cost for both residents and non-residents after the township Board of Trustees passed a resolution last Tuesday to adopt changes as presented by Fire Chief Larry Groth.

Currently there is no charge for residents, but there is a $35 charge for non-residents. There is no cost for people who are employees of any establishment in the Charter Township of Plymouth.

Groth worked out a cost estimate of $129 per vehicle run, not including use of specialized equipment such as oxygen.

The new costs will be $70 for residents and $105 for non-residents. According to Groth, those costs went into effect last Tuesday after the board's decision. However, those figures must be taken to the state Medicare and Medicaid agencies for approval.

"We will go ahead and institute those charges. Based on what the City of Plymouth has done in increasing its charges, I don't anticipate any trouble getting the new rate," said Groth. "If there is a problem I will go before the Board of review for Medicaid on June 1."

Groth cited a list of six items which have effect on the cost of ambulance service, not including actual vehicle maintenance and personnel training, and came up with the $129.20 per run.

Trustee Barb Lynch favored adopting the new costs but added that those who

County board faces recall

Wayne county commissioners in all probability will have to add a recall battle to their mounting list of problems.

The Common Sense in Politicians organization has started a petition drive to recall the entire 27-member county board of commissioners. The organization is made up of supporters of Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas and opposed to the elimination of the sheriff's road patrol.

The petitions being circulated charge the commissioners with three counts.

1. Improper representation of the views and concerns of the residents of his or her district.

2. Failure to act in behalf of the health, security and welfare of the residents in his or her district.

3. General disregard of priorities and necessities for the residents of his or her district with reference to budget cuts.

Each individual commissioner is being challenged within his or her district. Petitions must be circulated within each commissioner district and if petitions are certified and the issue goes to the voters, voters within each district will decide the fate of only their commissioner.

Commissioner Bill Joyner who serves the southwest portion of Wayne county made up of Plymouth, Westland, Belleville, and the townships of Plymouth, Canton, VanBuren and Sumpter, responded to the petition drive Tuesday morning by saying, "I am hurt."

He pointed out that the drive is a one-issue attack by those opposed to cutting the sheriff's road patrol, although he said there are other issues such as the one involving the closing of Wayne County General Hospital and dissatisfaction with county road operations.

Joyner pointed out that asking for a recall of western Wayne county commissioners isn't very practical. "We are the ones who have been leading the fight to preserve such things as the road patrol," he said.

"I have no doubt that the petition circulators will be able to come up with enough signatures in most of the districts," he added.

In Joyner's district it will take 9,500 certified signatures.

Joyner concluded by pointing out that the recall action will cost close to $1.5 million of taxpayer money at a time when the county is financially strapped and that it will cost a lot of time as commissioners fight the recall battle.

Local Girl Scouts honored

More than 300 Girl Scouts of the Huron Valley Council met April 7 for the 1981 Annual Meeting, at which several local girls were honored.

Suzanne Gibbons of Troop 346 in Canton and Shelly Curd of Troop 367 in Plymouth were among 48 First-Class Scouts honored for their hard work and determination. Troop 346 is led by Nellie Richardson, while Troop 367 is led by Romaine Kling, Esther Nelson and Carol Curd.

Ken Hulsing of Plymouth was awarded the Thanks Badge at the ceremony, the highest award of appreciation for adults in Girl Scouting. Hulsing has served as chairman of the Council Finance, Camp Development and Maintenance Committees and has been a Board member for five years. He also served on the five council merger committee.

In addition, six President's Awards were presented to volunteers who had helped fulfill one of six Council Corporate Goals. Romaine Kling of Plymouth was honored for Human Resource Development and Mary Lou Johnson of Plymouth received the award for her work on the Image goal.

During the business portion of the gathering, Lisa Kiel of Plymouth was elected to the Girl Advisory Board and Fran Bauer of Plymouth was elected to the Nominating Committee.

Marching Band boosters will collect your bottles and cans

Members of the PCEP Marching Band Boosters have scheduled a bottle and can collection fund-raiser drive for May 2. In case of rain the drive will be conducted May 9.

In February the Boosters conducted a drive which brought in $1,500 in spite of miserable winter weather.

The Marching Band Boosters have committed to new uniforms and flags for the color guard for the 1981 fall season.

Funds raised in the drive will also be used to defray expenses of the fall competition show.

The bottle and can drive will be conducted over the entire school district. Parents will do the driving with high school students making the door to door pickup. In addition to drivers and collectors, there will be a need for sorters before the returnable cans and bottles can be shipped to beverage wholesalers.

Plymouth Jaycees pick new slate of officers

Plymouth Jaycees recently elected their 1981-82 slate of officers, to serve from May this year to next April.

Elected to office were Don Keller, president; Doug Polkinghorne, community action vice president; Chip Jacobs, chapter management vice president; Jon Ellison, individual development vice president; and Mark Carlton, financial management vice president.

President-elect Keller said, "Next year will again be a banner year for Plymouth. Not only will many of our best projects be repeated, but numerous new projects are in the planning stages."

Now in the works, Keller says, are both the upcoming Fourth of July Parade and the annual Sandbox Fill project. The Sandbox Fill will be held May 16, when any Plymouth-Canton resident can have sand delivered to the home for $2 per garden wheelbarrow load or $3 per construction wheelbarrow load, by calling Keller at 459-6648, Mike Stankov at 459-6749 or Carlton at 397-0390.

In addition, Keller says a major development goal will be utilization of the new cable television network, especially the public service channel.

Last year, he said, Jaycees had "a great year in both community service activities and in state and national standings."

Keller added, Plymouth Jaycees were second of 360 Michigan chapters in state standings, as a result of their Fourth of July parade, Fall Festival Rib Roast, Haunted House, Ann Arbor Burn Center, Skate-A-Thon and How to Organize a Job Hunting Program projects.

and development costs. The funds for the required underwriting could come from the township providing improvements through the Community Development Block Grant Program.

The report suggested pursuing the development in phases with the first phase to be the purchase of land by the township to provide access to Michigan Avenue. Funds in the amount of $479,325 for this phase the township already has available in committed block grant money. The timetable calls for this to be completed by spring or summer of 1983. In the meantime the IMPACT report recommended that the township proceed with property condemnation necessary for Phase I, start negotiations for easement for the McKinley Drain north of Gibson road, meet with Wayne County officials to get approval for drawing down three years of Block Grant Funds in 1982 and, most important, begin making contacts with potential developers.

The report also discussed the alternative of not proceeding with the industrial park development. The consequences following such a decision, according to IMPACT, would be that "the township would forfeit the $479,325 in federal funds already committed to purchasing these lots in Phase I, the township could utilize future block grants on other projects and not commit the $360,000 to the industrial park and industrial development on the township property would not likely be feasible because of the overall costs required to develop the property for industrial park purposes."

In the development of the proposed site, there are four dwellings. Terry Carrol, township grants coordinator, told the board that the township was scheduled to close with two of them today.

Board members agreed that the township had a "moral obligation of paying the going prices for the homes and relocating the residents."

Carrol also pointed out that the township had already signed a contract with HUD and there could be legal ramifications such as court battles if the township scuttled the portion of the project already part of the contract with HUD.

City and school budget hearings set

The City of Plymouth will conduct a public hearing to discuss the forthcoming 1981-82 budget this Monday (April 27) in the commission chambers on the second floor of City Hall. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

In a related note, on June 22 a public hearing will be held to discuss the proposed 81-82 operating budget for the Plymouth-Canton School District.

The meeting will start at 7 p.m. at the school board office, 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth.

Twp. extends REACT contract

Plymouth Township Trustees voted to extend its service contract with the Plymouth Area REACT Team last Tuesday, approving an increase in donation from $200 in 1980 to $300 in 1981.

Both the City of Plymouth and Canton Township have also contributed to the team's costs for 1981. Canton's $480 contribution will be for a phone line connecting the township's police station to the React Central Base in the Plymouth Hilton.

Plymouth Township's and Plymouth's contribution will be to cover other costs in React's 'SkyWarn' project for 1981.

Kristin Sobditch wins schools' spelling bee

Kristin Sobditch has a way with words. In fact, the Pioneer sixth-grader recently proved it by winning the Plymouth-Canton middle school spelling bee, judged by the West Parent Teacher Organization.

Second place in the contest was won by eighth grader Jenny Ashton of West School and third place was awarded to Suzie Townley, a seventh grader from Pioneer.

The competition was organized by West assistant principal Jim Brown and involved two winners from each middle school in the district.

Central was represented by sixth graders Ryan Hull and Lara Blechschmidt; seventh graders Rodney Barstow and Kelly Gilligan; and eighth graders Erin Boughton and Jill Savage. West was represented by Sarah Newland and Susan Postell, sixth grade; Heather Bedell and Linda Rhee, seventh grade; and Jenny Ashton and Julie Riemenschneider, eighth grade. Pioneer was represented by sixth graders Aravin Bali and Kristin Sobditch; seventh graders Kim Lingenfelter and Suzie Townley; and eighth graders Sue Carlson and Mike Schnellbach.

The overall winner received a $50 savings bond and each grade winner received a $10 gift certificate to a local book store. In addition, each building finalist received a dictionary.

Canton firefighters adopt Brownies

BROWNIES of Troop 517 were recently "adopted" by the Canton Fire Department, and will soon learn first aid and fire safety from the firefighters, according to Troop Leader Linda Bohn. ## Streetlight decision delayed

Residents of Century Farms Subdivision will have to wait a little longer for their requested street lights for the southwest side of Haggerty Road and Avshire and Palmer Road and Heritage Drive.

At the Canton Township Board meeting Tuesday night Tony Campagna, a member of the Century Farms Subdivision Association board of directors, asked the township for the lights, pointing out that the association would pay $150 for installation and operation of the two 250 watt sodium vapor lights.

The township board delayed decision on requesting the lights be installed until a determination could be made that adjacent property owners have any objections.

The request was made in the interest of safety for subdivision school students waiting and loading onto school buses and to help in identifying the entrances to the subdivision at night.

The association asked for the township board to request the lights from Detroit Edison inasmuch as subdivision association can not deal directly with the public utility.

For more information about joining in the fun, call the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540 or Diane Quinn at 453-0001.

With Malice Toward None

'Loop Road', by any other name, would still smell

Henry Graper must be running out of ideas.

If resurrection of the Loop Road is any indication, the Plymouth City Manager is now after a year and a half here—looking hard for things to do to keep busy.

A good city manager, and Hank can be properly called a good one, is an executor of ideas first and foremost. If the manager can add a few good ideas as well, so much the better.

Hank, thus far, has been noted for getting others' ideas in motion. Whether it was Judge Jim Garber's unified courthouse, Ralph Lorenz's downtown development, or City Attorney Chuck Lowe's ceasefire in the annexation war, Hank took care of seeing it done.

Unfortunately, though, Hank's running out of useable ideas.

The Loop Road has been suggested here for some 20 years. Now it has been renamed the "Surrey Trail" by the city's planning consultants who must at least put a few new line drawings into their annual city planning suggestions to justify their $3600 per year retainer.

However, it's the same principle that all the Loop Road plans have seen before.

Imagine a traffic plan for downtown being touted as a savior of impending doom when it doesn't touch the worst traffic problem in town—the C & O Railroad's flagrant disregard of the law and "good neighborliness" by blocking city thoroughfares.

The City Planning Commission and then the City Commission will study the Loop Road some more, they say. So says the Chamber of Commerce as well.

Let's hope they study it for at least another 20 years—although it would be a shame to wish that confusion on our children.

Take any business in the Loop Road area and plot how its prospective customers from each of the four compass points are going to get there. In almost every case, there'll be at least one (if not more) major area whose residents must go considerably out of their way to arrive, or, worse yet, drive through residential streets to get there conveniently.

One argument advanced by proponents under-utilized periphery and that means those areas are a great place to buy and develop real estate—right now. time you were busy watching the shop-by-shop scenery as you tried to get to a specific store? That's one reason traffic diverting plans haven't worked elsewhere.

The planning consultants say the Loop Road wouldn't encourage commercial spread-balderdash! Most exposed by the changing traffic pattern will be the under-utilized periphery and that means those areas are a great place to buy and develop real estate right now.

There is one major downtown problem addressed well by the Loop—parking. But that could be helped by many other appropriate city actions starting with the creation of a downtown parking authority which could assess (or accept parking spaces in lieu of assessments) all downtown businesses regardless of the grandfather clause.

The Forest Avenue transformation into a one-way street with additional parking is another positive step. Doing the same thing on Penniman would answer some of the critical problems there, too.

Apparently the city leaders can't see their political way to solve parking through more equitable and efficient means and need the Loop Road as a savior in a city commission election year.

The Loop Road, all told, by any other name smells just the same.

If downtown businessfolks and city residents who enjoy shopping here don't want to drive all around downtown each time they pass through (or see their customers routed all over), act now before it's too late.

Call Henry Graper and give him a few better ideas to work on.

He apparently needs something to do.

Long lines at Plymouth P.O. to get study

Those long lines at the Plymouth Post Office on Penniman Avenue may soon disappear.

Starting next Monday and running for two weeks the office will be conducting a Customer Service Operations Survey designed to tally the number of hours needed to serve the office and cut down the lines.

According to acting Postmaster Dean Richards, the extensive study will check traffic volume in the office on a half hour basis over the two weeks. The idea is to tally the number of hours needed to maintain a steady traffic flow and cut down line time to seven and a half minutes.

"Nothing like this is done quickly. We need to document our situation and produce evidence to show our need," said Richards. "The plan is a complex thing to complete. The result, hopefully, will show that we need another clerk for the office."

Getting another clerk is not an easy thing to do, said Richards. More likely, the plan will show just where hours are currently being used in the office and how to adjust or rearrange or add hours to improve the traffic situation with the current personnel.

He added that "this is a way to inspect your own operation as well as get a look at traffic flow. Sometimes in these studies you find things you've overlooked in the past."

The plan includes a comprehensive look at current scheduling for the entire staff and might also help to point out peak times for office traffic.

The survey has been conducted at the Plymouth office in the past. The results showed that more clerks were not needed at that time.

Richards, with the office for four weeks, said the up coming survey was delayed until after reaction to the new rate changes had subsided.

"Rate changes have a tremendous impact on your lobby situation. We didn't want to overreact so we decided to wait until now," said Richards.

Coloring It Brown

By Dick Brown

Framers of the state constitution and legislatures of the past wrote in a safety valve to make certain that the citizens of the state or any of its units of government could remove an elected official from office through the recall procedure.

It was a good safety valve. Citizens can circulate recall petitions to have elected officials bounced out of office by their constituents through the voting process.

But it is a procedure that is more often than not abused and more often than not unsuccessful.

In Wayne county a petition drive is underway to recall all Wayne county commissioners. As in most recall actions, the petition drive is promulgated by individuals and groups with a one-issue beef. In the case of the Wayne county commissioner recall, the issue is the county board of commissioners stand on cutting the sheriff's department road patrol in the face of the county's bad fiscal condition.

Those who are circulating petitions and those who are being asked to sign petitions should ask themselves some serious questions, however.

1. Is it justifiable to take a shotgun approach by asking for the recall of all Wayne County Commissioners?

2. Is the cost of conducting an expensive recall election a cost that is appropriate at this particular time when the county coffers are empty?

3. Assuming that the result of recalling all or most of the county commissioners is successful, what are the consequences of throwing a different group of commissioners at the same gigantic financial problems?

4. Can Wayne county residents afford to risk the divisiveness that goes hand and glove in any recall election at this time when we all should be pulling together?

To help answer some of these questions petition circulators and petition signers should consider a few facts.

If the recall petition drive is successful in placing the issue before the voters, it could cost Wayne County taxpayers in excess of $1.3 million to finance the election. That is a large amount of money for a county that is running in the red and seeking special handouts from state and federal funds just to keep the essential county services coming.

Recall drives, whether they are successful or not, exert a great deal of stress within the governmental unit. The divisive stress doesn't go away within minutes of the final vote tally. It hangs on for a long time to the detriment of all, particularly when it is going to take cooperation on the part of all of us to weather the current economic storm.

Wayne county can ill-afford to waste the money and the time to agonize through a mass recall election.

That's going to be my answer when and if a petition circulator waves a petition in front of me to sign.

Non-resident is disturbed over 'Surrey Trail' project

EDITOR:

While I am not a resident of the Plymouth area, I do like to shop in your town. I think it is unique in having many fine stores in the central business area.

Because of my interest, I am writing to protest last week's announcement that city planners are going to louse up your business section with one-way streets and barricades.

I, for one, will look for another community in which to do my shopping. Life is too short to spend my time following the one-way arrows over a two mile course to get from one place to another when those points are just 2 blocks away.

Such plans as the one described last week have proved to be the death of many thriving business communities. Let us hope that Plymouth city officials will see the light and put an end to this plan.

It would be a travesty to kill something as fine as the easily accessible business center of your beautiful town.

Parents and school staff could jointly solve problem

EDITOR:

This is in response to Upset Parent in last week's Opinion columns.

I am an aggravated parent who also has two boys in high school. I don't like the rotten school system, either. There's smoking, drinking and drugs going around the school right in front of the school staff's noses with the short security they have.

They even have a designated area for these kids to smoke, which is supposed to be against the law.

My boys are not allowed to smoke inside the home but yet the school allows it. We, as parents, have every right to voice our opinion and there should be no worry or trouble in the home when we do. What is everyone afraid of?

It's up to us as parents to get together and go to the school and tell the staff of the school, "We'll help you. You help us in return and we'll all work together instead of everyone sitting on their duffs and doing nothing about it but a lot of complaining.

You say your child comes home high. What do you do about it?

If you just close your eyes and say it'll go away in a couple of hours, you are very wrong and have no reason to be complaining. Parents better wake up and stand by other parents. "No child is an angel."

I don't understand most parents today. Why don't you want to get involved? Why don't we have PTOs in the high school? It seems we need that kind of involvement as we do in the lower grade levels.

If we need more security in the schools and it just can't be afforded, then let's get the parents to volunteer some of their time and see what actually goes on in the schools during the passing of classes and lunch hours.

You have to have the cooperation of all parents, because one or two speaking up won't help.

D. WEISE

In addition

by Dan Bodene

Spring is here, with summer coming, and already I'm thinking of all the work it will mean.

Looking out the window on Saturday, I saw this year's crop of grass is already high enough to wave in the breeze. It will be just like last year I bet -- only grows when I can't possibly find time to cut it.

That also means I'll have to dust off the old mower. The one I still use is the one I rebuilt in high school after it self-destructed on my dad's driveway one summer. Dad got a new mower, and I got the beast.

I made a lot of money with that mower in the few seasons I had it before I went off to Uncle Sam's three-year-program-for-boys-with-no-money-for-college. In fact, it was almost as lucrative as my paper route (you, knew I got my start somewhere, didn't you) and I got to see a lot more of my neighbors' back yards.

Knowing the neighbors' back-yard layout was priority information for me and the pack I ran with. (You parents of teenaged boys, take note.) A guy had a know his neighborhood. I mean, if we took a flying gainer over somebody's fence at night (whilst being pursued, usually, by absolutely no one), we had to know there wasn't a big dog or a deep swimming pool waiting for us on the other side.

Except if we were bent on using that neighbor's pool. On the sly. At night. Quietly.

There was something in sneaking a swim in Old Man Whoever's pool that felt like a good Ferris Wheel ride ten times over. Almost getting caught was even better.

One of the guys I ran with even had a pool, but that was different because we had to clean that one. There was a definite damper on things like that, which needed so much attention just to have fun with.

Bicycles were never like that. I don't know whether it was good judgement on my parents' part when they suggested which bike to buy or whether the Schwinn gods just smiled on me -- nothing ever went wrong on my bike I couldn't fix with a big stick and/or a knucklebuster wrench.

Then again, my bike didn't have an engine. I now believe the internal combustion engine is just another dirty trick played on mankind.

When I was younger I also had a minibike with a simple engine, but that was different, too. The whole contraption was sold before the engine had a chance to go bad.

It wasn't until I tried to rebuild that lawn mower that I really doubted the sanity of whoever first decided to put engines on everything.

But I rebuilt it, eventually. And pretty well, I guess, because excusing a few sundry leaks and sputters, that mower will be able to labor at least another season.

Like me.

Students can simulate origins of prejudice

BY DAN BODENE

Residents of Tranquillity Estates "live" in spacious, comfortably upper-class homes while their neighbors in Lincoln Square and Center City, on the other side of Happiness Drive, endure rats, poverty and racial discrimination.

Sound like the situation in many U.S. cities? It should — that's what Pioneer School Track C 7th graders are discovering in their curriculum unit on prejudice.

They are participating in a simulation activity called "Working Towards Equality," taught by social studies instructors Marcia Porterfield and Sue Carmichael. Students begin by randomly drawing their "identities" from a hat, including occupation, income, ethnic and educational background. They are also assigned a neighborhood.

In the activity ("Don't refer to it as a game — parents think kids don't learn anything from a game," says Carmichael), the mythical city of Independence is divided by Happiness Drive. On one side are Lincoln Square, Center City and Riverside, characterized by a lower standard of living, high concentrations of minority residents and poorer facilities.

On the other side are Elm Grove, Tranquillity Estates and Country Club Estates, complete with large homes and condominiums, golf courses and exclusive schools.

Students "really took on the personalities of people they were portraying," said Carmichael. Residents of Lincoln Square, for example, were forced to share desks and activity materials in the classroom, while Tranquillity Estates residents enjoyed lots of room, pillows, radios and other luxuries to show their privileged status.

An added component of the simulation is assignment of "pressure cards," which explain hypothetical situations and either add or subtract "image points" held by students. Carmichael says, "There's a lot of pressure cards on minorities, but kids realize who puts the pressure on—they're picking up on images and pressures in everyday life."

For a month, the activity has been building to a major community crisis — school integration — that students will have to solve. It isn't easy for them to understand why they are discriminated against within their assigned roles, but Carmichael and Porterfield say that is the message of the activity.

"The underlying effect is that discrimination and equality are not only between races, but between age groups too," says Carmichael. "I think we have come to look at discrimination in a lot of different ways."

"I'm hoping that by making kids aware of how we categorize and discriminate, we will eliminate a lot of it."

Aid cancer drive

April is cancer control month and once again Canton Township, Plymouth Township and Plymouth residents will be visiting their neighbors with life-saving information about cancer while asking for contributions to assist in the control of the disease.

Mrs. John Partain and Mrs. Dorothy Wright will head the drive in Plymouth Township and Plymouth. They will have 450 volunteers working to raise the community goal of $5,900. Last year's drive took in $4,900.

Over in Canton township Mrs. Lyle Whipple is in charge of 423 volunteers seeking to hit the community goal of $4,100. Last year's effort brought in $3,816.

Storytime is repeated

Canton Public Library will repeat its Toddler Storytime which introduces two-year-olds and accompanying adults to both the library and the world of books.

The four-week program will be held on Tuesdays at either 10:30 a.m. or 11:30 a.m. and will last approximately 30 minutes. The program will begin on May 5.

Registration will begin on April 27 at 10 a.m. in person or by phone for those who did not participate in the Winter Toddler program. The child must be two years old by the registration date and may not turn three during the duration of the sessions.

GROUPED in the room according to their "neighborhood," these kids in Pioneer's "Working Towards Equality" social studies unit show an obvious tipoff to their median income level. Other classmates had to contend with cramped quarters and limited resources throughout the simulation, which sought to help students understand how prejudice originates. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

tell it to Phyllis

Kids and telephones are a bad combination. I'm sure more than one family argument has been started because the kid didn't know enough to hang up after tying up the line for an hour and a half.

Only the parent of a teenager knows how frustrating it is to be away from home and trying to call. After three hours of dialing your own number, you're ready to kill the kid.

I love it when you ask the kid to hang up the phone, because you're expecting a call. I realize mothers aren't supposed to get calls, but every once in awhile even a mother has a friend trying to call her. Usually the kid says goodbye when she's asked to. However, there are those times when it takes three okays and four I wills before mom unplugs the phone to cut off the conversation. That's usually followed by a familiar scene which starts with, "then why can't I have my own phone?" This scene usually closes with equally familiar last words, "You'll get your own phone when you can afford to pay for it."

I don't mind the kids talking to their friends once in awhile, for a reasonable length of time. I try to respect their privacy and not listen to their conversations as they discuss homework, or important matters such as who said hi to who today.

I must confess I did catch myself listening to part of a homework conversation recently, when my daughter was discussing freedom of the press with the daughter of a local politician. It's interesting to see how much kids pick up from their parent's points of view. Our end of the conversation was explaining why it is important for the press to have the freedom to write what's going on. I wish I could have heard the other end of the conversation.

It is comforting to know the telephone is used for constructive things sometimes. Now if I could only figure out a way for it to automatically cut off after 10 minutes, we'd be all set.

Aaron Machnik, head of the Canton Township Building Department will be moving to Palm Beach, Fla. where he has accepted the position of the chief building official. Canton officials took him to lunch recently to bid farewell and wish him luck in his new position.

Janette Boczar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Boczar of Canton, was chosen for the position of Public Relations chairman of the Albion College Union Board. She will serve on the executive committee for the spring and fall semesters. She is also a newly-pledged member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority.

Bonnie Patten of Jill Court in Plymouth is one of the winners of the 1981-82 Recognition of Excellence Awards presented by Eastern Michigan University. She is a senior at Redford High School.

Donald S. Mills, Margaret M. Simons, Jace W. Stokes and Timothy L. Trinka, all of Plymouth, made it on the academic honors list for the winter quarter at Ferris State College in Big Rapids.

Former local educator pens malpractice book

"The idea that professional educators, teachers and administrators can be subject to malpractice suits...has become the subject of national debate."

That idea and others are explored in a new book entitled, "Educators on Trial" by James Leary, formerly assistant superintendent for instruction of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Leary, now associate superintendent of instruction for Walled Lake schools, says he wrote the book to detail what "educational malpractice" is and how to prevent resulting lawsuits. "Its major focus is on the core of the learning environment - the classroom," he adds.

The book, published by Teachers Central Clearing House, features chapters on Educational Lawsuits in Perspective, Indefensible Malpractices of Today, and Survival in a Malpractice Milieu.

"'Educators on Trial' is more than a book on educational malpractice," says Dean Mario Fantini of the University of Massachusetts School of Education. "It is a sober reminder of the critical role that schoolpeople play in the life of students, parents and the community."

The book is available at Teachers Central Clearing House, 9401 General Drive, Plymouth, or through Plymouth Book World.

Leary will also be featured on WWJ News Radio 95 at 10:45 a.m. Friday, April 24.

Jaycees will 'sell' Canton to you

Canton Jaycees want to make it possible for everyone to "own" the township.

In fact, they can provide a way to do it, in a make-believe way. All you need is a game of "Wheeler-Dealer," available through the Canton Jaycees in June.

Jim Maher of the Jaycees says the game is a personalized version of "Monopoly" using township businesses and properties that actually exist. Players wheel and deal their way around a game board, depending on business skill, luck of the dice and the draw of "wheeler-dealer" cards until the wealthiest is declared the winner.

Canton businesses are now being sought to buy space on the game boards, says Maher. Township shopowners have until April 30 to reserve their slots for the game.

The games are being sold to raise money for a Jaycee park or nature trail for township kids, says Maher, and will also be available at the Canton Country Festival in August.

To reserve a space on the game, or to order a game, call him at 981-5789.

Plymouth Symphony offers 'Elijah'

Strains of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy's oratorio "Elijah" will soon be heard in Salem High, presented by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and the Schoolcraft College Community Choir.

The musical event will be held April 26 at 4 p.m. in the Salem auditorium, and will be conducted by Johan van der Merwe of the Plymouth Symphony, assisted by Marilyn Jones, conductor of the Schoolcraft Choir.

Featured soloists will be baritone Ralph Herbert, soprano Barbara Rondelli, mezzo soprano Deanna Boylan and tenor Lawrence Vincent.

Divided into two sections, the oratorio tells the tale of Elijah, who brings a great drought to Israel to punish the people for deserting God for Baal. Challenging the prophets of Baal, Elijah bests them and is then pursued by his enemies. At last, he is protected by the Lord and borne to Heaven in a flaming chariot.

Soloist Herbert, who sings the role of Elijah, is a resident of Ann Arbor and is a Professor of Voice at the University of Michigan. He has appeared and directed with opera companies in Washington, D.C., Houston and Fort Worth.

Rondelli, a soprano, is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music in London. She has performed in more than 35 major operas and nearly 50 oratorios. Mezzo soprano Boylan is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Music and frequently appears with Ann Arbor-based chamber music groups. Vincent, a tenor, is a doctoral candidate at the University of Michigan School of Music. This season he will be seen in New York, touring with the Goldovsky Opera Institute production of "The Barber of Seville."

The Plymouth Symphony League will provide coffee and tea during the intermission, and Girl Scouts will have babysitting available for pre-school children.

Tickets are available at the door or at Beitner Jewelry, Plymouth Book World or Heide's Flowers in Plymouth; and at the Harvard Book Store or Arnholdt Williams Music in Canton. Prices are $4 for adults, $2 for senior citizens and college students. Students in grades K-12 will be admitted free.

Narrator role called a challenge

BY REEF MORSE

When Ralph Herbert communicates it is with his whole body. In rehearsal, singing from sheet music, his hands start off in his pockets, but rise into the air to punctuate a note, or help express a musical idea.

When he talks, his hands and eyes talk, too. At age 71, he radiates vitality and youth.

Herbert is singing the role of the Narrator in Mendelssohn's "Elijah," a work for orchestra and voice which will be performed by the Plymouth Symphony.

"Strange," Herbert says, "All my life 'Elijah' eluded me. When I was asked, I couldn't do it; when I asked, they had someone else. Now I am 71 years old and I should have my head examined because this part is three times that of Rigoletto. I think it is easier to commit suicide."

He was asked to play the part by long-time friend and conductor of the Plymouth Symphony, Johan van der Merwe. Herbert knew van der Merwe from the University of Michigan and, he says, helped convince him to accept the conducting job in Plymouth. He told van der Merwe, "You are a new conductor with a new symphony. You will have loads of problems, I'm sure. If you need artists and I can fill a role, never mind what you pay, for you I'll do it." Two days later, van der Merwe called and asked if he would do Elijah.

Herbert was born in Vienna into a very musical family. Both his father and grandfather had excellent voices, "Better than mine," he remembers.

Herbert began singing in high school, but wanted to be a doctor. The death of his father in 1919 and the condition of Austria just after World War I ruled this out. He did get a law degree and also began studying voice in the Vienna Conservatory. He sang with the Volksopera and got good reviews on his acting, but poor reviews on his voice. He quit his voice teacher, and, after a long search, was accepted as a student by Battistini, with whom he studied for five years. It was Battistini who helped him develop his voice into a powerful and dynamic instrument.

To his long list of accomplishments, Herbert can now add the role of the Narrator in "Elijah."

Central Middle School class presents mini ethnic festival

Students in Mrs. Margo Panko's sixth grade social studies class presented a mini ethnic festival last week at Central Middle School.

Each student selected an ethnic group and completed a notebook that included the economy, religion, education, food, dress, government and history of the particular ethnic group.

The culmination of the ethnic studies was a special one-day festival featuring ethnic dancing, food and costumes. All students were required to bring one dish representing their ethnic group.

In addition several students performed ethnic dances complete with music and costumes.

Mrs. Panko reported that students appeared to learn a lot about this nation's vast ethnicity in a fun filled, exciting way, through the ethnic festival approach.

Called "Something Different," the company boasts three satellite branches and currently delivers to the homes of approximately 5,000 seniors and handicapped persons.

A family feud in Plymouth?

Getting down to business-wise, yes. Recently, John Somers and his brother-in-law Fred Bezonio opened Old Village Pizza at 198 W. Liberty in Plymouth's Old Village district.

Their competition, however, is Plymouth's own "Pizza Tycoon," Jim Somers, owner of the Little Caesar's Family Inn. Jim has been in the pizza business for 12 years, and a classic battle appears to be shaping up over control of the city's pizza supply.

According to John, you can find he and wife Rita, Fred and his wife Cindy in their shop almost any day, "planning the next course of action to gain pizza power in Plymouth." Rumor has it, John adds, that a suspicious-looking man with binoculars fitting the description of Jim has been seen around the shop. Hmmmmm.

Heard's fleet scores a 100

"Cal's Herd" has a lot to be proud of this year.

In February, mechanics under the direction of Cal Heard, fleet service manager of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, passed their yearly state police safety inspection. Not only that, but it was the eighth annual inspection that the Plymouth-Canton fleet passed with a 100 per cent score.

This month, two local mechanics took top honors at the second annual Mechanics Idea Day sponsored by Oakland County.

First prize was won by welder Buck Mineau, who constructed a repair stand which hooks onto a bus's front bumper. Second prize was awarded to James Swan, who built a device to correct a recurring problem in Superior buses of batteries working loose.

Both the Plymouth-Canton mechanics' ideas were presented at the Idea Day by Heard, who recently told School Board members, "I'm sorry we didn't enter three ideas, or we could have had third place, too."

Chief golfers beat Pinckney

Canton's girls golf squad picked up its second win of the season with a 222-242 victory over Pinckney last Wednesday.

The Chiefs were paced by medalist Janis McGlone. She tallied a 49 score. Karen Mullen shot a 57, while Kim Massey and Debbie Dickinson scored 59s and Debbie Nurmi had a 69.

Canton will face Salem April 28 and Dearborn Edsel Ford April 30. Both matches start at 3 p.m., with the Salem match set for Salem Hills Golf Course on Six Mile Road.

Two impressive victories earlier last week has boosted the Canton softball team's record to 1-0 in the Western Six League and 2-0 overall.

Pearly Cunningham picked up her first win as a pitcher for the Chiefs, as she came on in relief of Cindy Sovine to defeat Livonia Franklin 13-9 on Thursday.

Sovine gave up seven runs before she was ousted in the fifth inning.

Cunningham gave up two runs, eight hits and struck out two in her short stint on the mound.

Canton lead 4-2 in the third inning on homeruns by Rene Edwards and Robyn Hudgins, after trailing 2-0 in the first inning.

The Chiefs fell behind 8-4 in the fourth, but after a lead off triple by Diane Ost, tied the contest at eight a piece in the sixth.

Franklin scored one run in the bottom of the sixth to go up by one, but Canton rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to pick up the win.

On Wednesday, the Chiefs picked up its first league victory, beating Waterford Mott 4-3.

Marianne Pink went the distance on the mound for Canton, giving up just six hits and one walk.

The Chiefs and the Corsairs were neck and neck throughout the contest, and it was not until the final inning that the ice was broken.

Canton won the game in the final stanza, cracking a 3-3 tie held in the sixth inning.

Joni Sommerville started the seventh with a bunt single and stole second, and scored on a single by Pink with one out.

The Chiefs will resume action April 29 against Northville in the home opener at 4 p.m.

Parsons struck out seven batters and walked four during her stint on the mound for the Bulldogs.

Leslie Etienne was Salem's starting pitcher, and took the loss. She lasted six innings and gave up 12 runs, 12 hits and six walks.

In the seventh inning Cheryl Sobkow came on in relief, but the left-handed hurler sacrificed two hits and allowed three runs to score.

Bentley jumped out to a commanding 9-0 lead after its first time at bat, and Salem had a chance to score in the top of the first inning, but failed in the effort.

With one out, Denise Zonca and Jenny Papa were walked, and Sobkow safely got on base on a fielder's choice play.

With the bases loaded, Salem could not connect in two tries, and ended the inning with three runners stranded on the basepaths.

"If we would have scored in the bottom of the first inning," Salem coach Rob Willette said, "it would have been a different ballgame."

The Bulldogs' powerful offensive lineup stood out in the third inning, as Bentley scored three more runs off of five base hits.

Carrie Sirola scored for Bentley on a fielder's choice play after she hit a single and stole second. Laurie Swanson collected the RBI with a single.

Swanson scored on a single by Mary Pomananski, and she scored later after back-to-back singles.

Bonnie Southerland collected Salem's only hit in the contest in the fifth inning.

The Rocks' game with Dearborn earlier last week was rained out, and will be made up as a doubleheader May 12 when the Pioneers play at Salem.

Tomorrow Salem will face Romulus in a doubleheader at home at noon. Should that game get cancelled because of bad weather, it will be made up the following Friday or Saturday.

The Rocks, now 2-1, will face Livonia Franklin April 27 at 3:30 p.m. when regular season action resumes.

Jeff Mangan Relays this Tuesday

Members of the mens' and womens' track teams from Salem and Canton High will join forces April 28 in a competition held in memory of Jeff Mangan.

This year marks the fifth running of the relays, honoring Mangan, who passed away in 1977. He ran the half-mile for the Salem track squad, and died mid-way through the season of his senior year.

The contest will be a combination dual meet, and all regular events will be run. The Salem girls will face the girls' squad from Canton, and likewise for the boys teams.

The scores will be combined to determine an overall winner, with a trophy going to the victors. Medals will be given out for first place winners in individual competition.

Salem has dominated the meet in the past, winning consecutively for four years.

The meet will begin at 5:30 p.m., with the field events taking place first. The format will follow the pattern of a boys event, then the girls equivalent.

There will be a $1 admission fee, and the proceeds will profit the track program at both schools.

How Can Chiropractic
Help Correct
Sinus Trouble?

Headaches, nasal discharge or nasal stuffiness, post-nasal drainage, facial pain, dizziness, bad breath, cough, that frequent cold may all be signs of sinus trouble. Irritation, inflammation and congestion of the sinus cavities may develop following a cold, changing weather, breathing dust, smoke or other irritants. Yet, whatever the contributing factors may be in a case of sinus trouble, a normal nerve supply to the delicate membranes of the nose and sinus cavities is necessary for complete healing. A diminished nerve supply through pressure on certain nerve trunks weakens these membranes and causes them to be more susceptible to irritation and inflammation.

Many drugs have been made available for the supposed "cure" or "relief" of sinus conditions, but at best these products have afforded little more than temporary relief while frequently causing minor to serious side effects. You do have better choice! Modern chiropractic science has proven to be highly effective in the care of acute and chronic sinus conditions. Consult your doctor of chiropractic and permit him to explain how you too may be helped.

"I was very pleased with the meet even though we lost," Salem coach Scott Kurtz said. "It could have gone either way. I did have a couple of girls who weren't running well because of injuries."

Cheri Munco had a throw of 24-4 to finish third in the shot put event. Munco also came in third in the discus competition with a toss of 81-0.

Salem's mile relay team of Simons, Bemiss, Lybarger and Carol Lindsay placed first with a time of 4:26.5.

Salem will resume action April 30 at Livonia Bentley at 3:30 p.m.

Chief girls' tracksters beat Mott in league action

Canton's girls track squad picked up its second win in two outings as the Chiefs dumped Waterford Mott last Wednesday, 77-46.

"Well I would say our youth is maturing quite quickly," said Canton coach Bob Richardson. "We're still a little weak in depth in some field events. I'm pleased with their performance thus far and the relays have really been a nice surprise."

The Chiefs scored firsts in the 100-yard relay, the 880-yard relay and the mile relay plus six individual events.

Colleen Crissey, Kathy Brophy, Charlotte Thomas and Jill Osmon teamed for first in the 880-yards relay as they clocked 1:59.7.

Lesley McDowell, Linda Mitchell, Katharina Seiler and Jill Osmon were first for Canton in the 440-yard relay with an effort of 56.5 seconds, while Lori Shufeldt, Thomas, Brophy and Ruthann Trout won the two mile relay with a time of 1:33.2.

Michelle Perrot was first for the Chiefs in the mile run, 6:00.2, and the two mile race, 13:12.1.

Lisa Bundarian won the shot put for Canton with a toss of 27 feet 11 inches.

Trout won the 440-yard dash, 66.6 seconds, Brophy won the 880-yard run, 2:32.2, and Osmon won the 220-yard dash, 28.7 seconds.

Kim Brown paced Canton's second place finishers as she was second in the 100-yard dash, 12.6 seconds, and the 220-yard dash, 29.5 seconds.

Crissey was second in the long jump with a leap of 113 feet one inch, while Trout was second in the high jump as she cleared four feet four inches.

Bundarian was second in the 110-yard hurdles with an effort of 19.6 seconds and Schufeldt was second in the 440-yard dash, 68.6 seconds.

Sue Kaske was second in the 220-yards hurdles, 39.9 seconds, and Patty Rising was second in the two mile run with an effort of 13:38.5.

Kaske was third in the 110-yard hurdles, 19.7 seconds, and third in the two mile run, 14:31.7.

Kathy Leeper leaped 12 feet eight inches for third in the long jump and Perrot cleared four feet two inches for third in the high jump.

Milt Wilcox likes Canton, says twp. needs an image

Milt Wilcox opened his 14th season as a professional baseball pitcher with a bang last weekend.

The Tiger hurler opened a business in Canton on Friday and went to mound Saturday and beat the Toronto Blue Jays, 6-2.

Along with his neighbor and partner Jack Schoemborn, Wilcox has opened a store in Canton specializing in running gear called "Runners Unlimited."

Wilcox speaks highly of Canton, where he has been a resident with his wife and two children for two years, and the location of the new shop is all involved in an effort to gain respect for the area.

"Canton needs an identity," Wilcox said. "For instance, when people ask me where I live and I tell them Canton, they say 'Oh, Canton, Ohio'?"

"By us being here," Wilcox continued, "we can help this community have more pride and have other areas respect it more."

Establishing a business together was a mere idea in the minds of Schoemborn and Wilcox last October. "I've never done anything like this before," Wilcox explained. "I'm lucky to have a partner like Jack because during the season I'll be gone a lot."

Wilcox has lived in Michigan for four years, having settled first in Belleville. "We've never had a house before, so we came out here and bought one. I felt the area would be good for my kids to grow up in."

"When we first came out here, there were a lot of people ringing the doorbell at all hours, and one day I came home and saw dozens of bicycles in the driveway and thought we were being invaded," Wilcox said. "But now we're just like everyone else."

It was in Canton that Wilcox's interest in running bloomed. "When I first moved here, there were no gyms or health spas around to go to and run, so I started running along side the roads with my neighbor."

"Being a baseball player I have to run a lot," Wilcox added. "I have to run a lot in the off-season."

During the season Wilcox admits he doesn't run much, but in the off-season he does as much as four miles a day, "just enough to keep in shape."

Canton tennis

Western Six League foe Northville at Northville. Match time is 4 p.m. Canton will also play Livonia Churchill May 1 at Churchill. The league match will start at 4 p.m.

Salem golfers lose

Brighton defeated the Salem girls' golf team Wednesday, 210-212. Lisa Marino paced the Rocks with a score of 45. Junior Carol Ross carded a nine-hole total of 50, followed by Beth Miller with a 58 and Nancy Stevens with a score of 59.

"I feel there is a need for this kind of store out here," Wilcox mentioned. "It used to be if someone from Canton wanted a good pair of running shoes, they'd have to go all the way to Twelve Oaks to get them."

Even though the new store carries top-line running shoes and accessories, it is hard not to notice by glancing around inside that a baseball player owns the store. The place is full of history.

When trying on a pair of shoes one can sit on one of the original seats Wilcox purchased from Briggs (Tiger) Stadium when it was being renovated, that date back to 1912.

On the wall are four baseball bats that Wilcox's mother brought up from Oklahoma, the very ones he used early in his playing days.

"I love baseball, and I hope to play as long as I can," Wilcox said. "When I get out of baseball, this is the line of business I would like to go into. It's nice being your own boss."

And what about the Tigers this year? "It will be a long season that can have a lot of ups and downs. Hopefully we'll have more ups. The outlook for us is better than it was. We should challenge for the top all season."

"As for myself," Wilcox continued, "I don't like to set goals because it can be disenchanting if things don't go right. I want to be consistent, which is a great feat because the season is so long. It's reasonable to say that I can win 20 games this year."

Chiefs drop league foe Mott, 68-64

Scott Cherry won the pole vault for the Chiefs when he cleared nine feet. Rick Tarr was third for Canton at eight feet six inches.

Simms won the 440-yard dash with a time of 54.1 seconds and Hand won the 880-yard run, 2:07.2, while Inloes was second in that event, 2:08.2.

Frank Asis was third in the long jump for Canton when he leaped 18 feet six and a half inches.

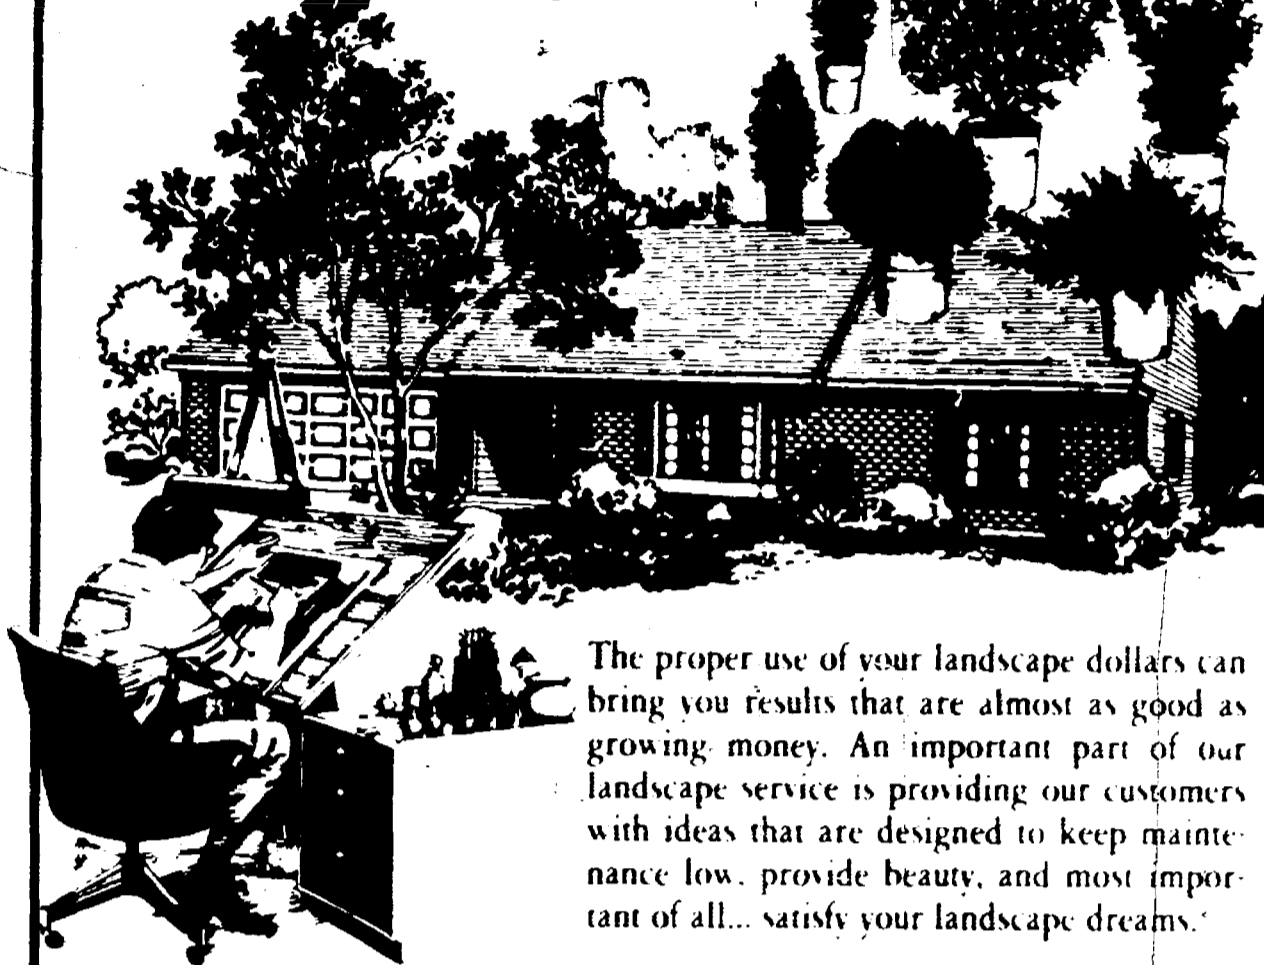

Anton Ivezaj was second in the shot put with a toss of 37 feet four and a half inches and Brad Skaggs was third, 36 feet one and three-quarters inches.

Jim Kim was second for the Chiefs in the 120-yard high hurdles, 18.2 seconds and Butch Steele was third, 18.4 seconds.

Simms was also second in the 220-yard dash with an effort of 24.4 seconds.

Canton will compete in the Belleville Relays on Saturday and then in the Jeff Mangan Relays on Tuesday (April 28) against Salem at the Centennial Education Park track.
