

Plymouth and Canton voters don't like Proposal A

As in the rest of Michigan voters in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township straggled in small numbers to the polls Tuesday to decide the fate of the controversial tax Proposition A.

And in light voting the two townships and city went the way of most of the state in sending the tax cut and tax shift plan down to defeat.

In the city of Plymouth 2,658 votes were cast with the proposal going down to defeat 1,844 to 814. Thirty-six and a half percent of the registered voters showed up at the polls.

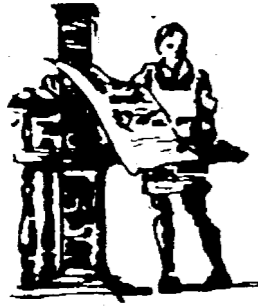

Plymouth Township had a 47 percent voter turnout with 4,208 voting against the proposal and 1,806 voting in favor of the proposition.

Canton Township voters showed up at the polls at a 37 percent clip with 6,025 voting against the proposal and 2,910 voting in favor.

The city and township figures are all unofficial.

The vote in the two townships and the city followed the state-wide trend, with the voter turnout running ahead of the 20 to 25 percent turnout throughout the state. Early state-wide returns Tuesday night indicated that the issue took a resounding beating.

School Board to look at ESY again

BY DAN BODENE

Schools' administrators are taking another look at whether or not to expand the Extended School Year program, although they caution it's still too early to make any decision.

The reason for the second look is a decline in kindergarten enrollments for next year. "District-wide, our projections were low," says Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction. "But the number could shift up or down - it's anybody's guess."

"When we planned next year, we assumed kindergarten enrollment would be the same," says Homes. "It was the most reasonable thing to do at that point. When we got into actual registrations, we found sign-ups were much lower than originally estimated."

Homes said enrollment information is being collected from building principals. "They predict a dropoff in enrollments, based on the number of families they know are leaving or have already left."

However, administrators are trying to verify whether figures detailing the decline are accurate enough to warrant another look at the proposed ESY expansion next year to Fiegel and Bird Schools.

Superintendent John Hoben says administrators are continually reviewing statistics and enrollment information. "It's not a simple problem," he said. "The board is not going to act on the basis of emotion, or from pressure. They are going to act on what's best for the district."

School board president Carol Davis also said at a board workshop Monday night that administrators have not ruled out again discussing the issue, but the new enrollment information would have to be checked.

Rep. Roy Smith will not seek 8th term

There will be something different about the ballot when the 1982 election rolls around in the 52nd Legislative District.

Veteran Representative Roy Smith announced to The Crier Tuesday morning that he will not be seeking another term. Smith, recognized as an expert in the field of taxation and finance, has served his district for 7 terms.

"That will make it 14 years of trying to represent the people in the 52nd District in a responsible way," Smith said.

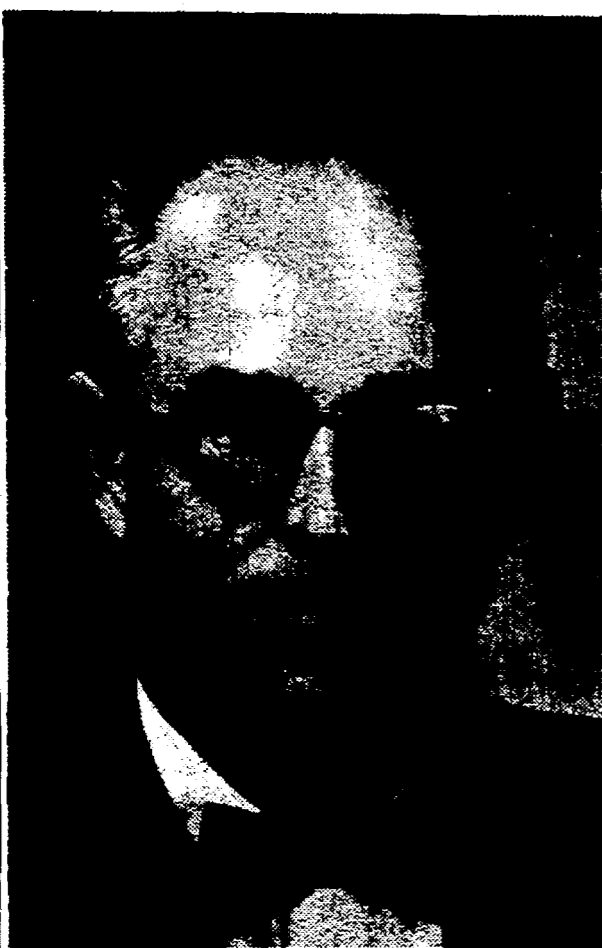

Smith said he reached his decision a couple of months ago but delayed announcing it until after the May 19 vote on State Proposal A.

When asked what his plans were for the future, Smith said, "I am going to stay involved in trying to influence good government, particularly at the local level."

Smith isn't the only familiar name which will be missing from on the 1982 legislative corner of the ballot in western Wayne County. Rep. Tom Brown of the 37th District has also announced he will not seek another term. He is hanging it up to run for mayor of Westland.

With Brown not running a line is forming for the Democratic nomination in the 37th District. Trav Griffin, Westland councilman and teachers union executive and Vince Pettipren, long active in Democratic politics have already announced and Doug Ritter, Canton Library Board member, is reported considering making the legislative run.

Just where the 52nd District and 37th District lines will be is a guess. Legislative district will undoubtedly be altered when the re-apportionment process based on the 1980 census is completed.

Custodian battles thieves with his floor scrubber

Paul Sincock is pretty quick on the draw with his floor sweeper.

In the early minutes of Saturday morning, Sincock was working in the Zambonie room at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The Zambonie is a large floor cleaning machine that washes as well as sweeps.

According to a Plymouth Police report, Sincock was approached by a thin man, approximately six feet three inches in height, wearing a ski mask and a dark leather jacket who "appeared out of nowhere."

Brandishing a small handgun, the thin man was soon joined by an accomplice, described as a shorter man, wearing a ski mask and a tight blue silk disco-type jacket.

According to the report, the thin man ordered Sincock at gunpoint to toss over his wallet. Sincock complied, and when the man stooped to pick it up, Sincock noticed an emblem on the jacket, "possibly of a dragon."

The thin man emptied the wallet of cash and then demanded money from the building's till, according to the police report. That was apparently enough for Sincock.

He had been filling the Zambonie with hot water, and at that point, said the report, he sprayed both hold-up men and retreated. Both robbers also fled.

Police are still searching for suspects.

Plaque to honor Kellogg Park

Kellogg Park has been a popular site in Plymouth for many years, and is being recognized as such by the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW).

Plymouth Mayor Mary Childs will be presented with a plaque by the Landmark Committee of the AAUW at 4 p.m. today, designating Kellogg Park as an important local landmark.

In a statewide survey, Kellogg Park was voted as one of Michigan's "81 most favorite places to visit." It has traditionally been the site of many community activities, including the annual Fall Festival.

Formerly known as the Village Green, the park has been a popular gathering site for Plymouthites and visitors to the community for more than 150 years.

While it was only a clearing in the forest, the Pottawattomi Indians first used the land where the park is now to tether their horses.

William Starkweather purchased 240 acres of land from the U.S. government in 1825 at $1.25 an acre, which encompassed the area known as Kellogg Park, downtown Plymouth, and the surrounding residential areas. He built a log cabin where the Mayflower Hotel now stands.

In 1835, John Kellogg purchased the Starkweather homestead, replacing the Starkweather cabin with a brick home for his daughter. The Plymouth Hotel went up on the corner of Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail.

In those days, Plymouth was the stopover point for travellers between Detroit and Ann Arbor. The Village Green was a relaxing stroll for weary travellers.

The Village Green was fast becoming a popular gathering spot. Plymouth residents used the park to graze their cattle, and for picnics. In 1840 the Village Green was fenced in, and in 1858 trees were planted. The Village Green was becoming more of a park and less of a pasture - band concerts and circuses were featured there.

It is uncertain whether Kellogg donated the land to Plymouth around 1867, or if it became public property by common consent.

In any case, since then the park has become one of the most familiar symbols of the city.

The Landmark Committee has donated a bronze plaque which will be mounted on granite and permanently placed in the southwest corner of the park.

Watch out for Memorial Day week end drivers

Rash of crashes keeps police busy

Police departments have been on the go in the city of Plymouth and Canton and Plymouth Townships this last week and they haven't been alone. Wreckers and EMT vehicles have been busy, too with one of the biggest rashes of car accidents in some time.

Police are hoping that drivers kick their bad habits with Memorial Day week end just around the corner.

Canton Township police reported 15 personal injury accidents in the past week. Plymouth Police reported 18 accidents over a five day period.

On May 16, Chris Johnston, 7, ran in front of a car driven by Diane Woolbright, 33, of Detroit at Ford and Sheldon. The boy was taken to Wayne County General Hospital.

In a crash at Sheldon and Joy on May 13 a car driven by Pamela Willoughby, 17, 8201 Marringon, with Wendy Bryeckmer, 18, as a passenger struck a car driven by Kandy Ulrich, 21, 44216 Brandywine, with Judy Wheble, 16, as a passenger. Willoughby was not injured. The other three were taken to St. Mary Hospital for treatment of injuries. Willoughby was cited for failure to yield.

In another crash on May 15 at Joy and Gregory Lane Sudhir Shah, 31, 43950 Palisades Court, Canton, and Gloria Byro, 32, 9400 Marquette, Plymouth, were drivers in a two-car crash. There were no injuries and no citations written.

In a one-car accident on May 14 Kimberly Munas, 26, lost control of his car when it hit a chuck hole at Sheldon and Cherry Hill and ended up in a ditch. No citation was given.

A May 13 accident at Ford and southbound I-275 exit ramp Nathaniel Frazier, 49, 31111 Elmwood, Garden City, lost control of his car. He was cited for driving under the influence of liquor.

Canton police were called to another two-car accident on May 18 at Sheldon and Hanford. The car driven by Jeffrey Bargowski, 17, 41621 Greenwood, Canton, struck a moped ridden by Mark Morgan, 13, 6146 Stonetree, Canton. Morgan was transported to St. Joseph Hospital for treatment.

On May 19 a car driven by James Baker, 26, 31012 Tamarack, Wixom, slid into a ditch at Michigan and Beck and flipped over. Baker was not injured but he was given a citation for driving under the influence of liquor.

In another Canton crash on May 18 at Ford and Lilley Sandra Emerick, 25, 1154 Cavalier, Canton, struck a car driven by Goldie Edwards, 51, 36270 Six Mile, Livonia.

At Cherry Hill and Ridge on May 18 Robert Harris, 17, 4142 Merrick, Dearborn Heights, with 2 passengers in his car, struck a car driven by Eleanor Lowell, 59, 50545 Cherry Hill, Canton. No citations were given.

On Saturday afternoon, Terry, 38, and Marie, 33, Landin, 44154 Parkside in Canton were taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia after a head-on collision at Five Mile and Haggerty.

Apparently John E. Sabourin, 22, 15099 Holmur in Detroit was headed west bound on Five Mile when he crossed through the left hand turn lane and entered one of the east bound lanes.

Landin saw Sabourin cross over into his lane so he pulled to a stop and was struck head on.

On Wednesday, the first of three rollover accidents in the Plymouth-Canton Community occurred.

According to a Plymouth Police report, a 1981 Ford Escort driven by Ronald Archie Reger, 39, of 6590 Boston Hill Lane, Canton, was northbound on Oakview near the intersection of Mayville.

Reger said he slowed at the intersection, which has no traffic signals, and looked both ways before proceeding.

Reger said he didn't see a 1973 Ford driven by Keith Charles Mavin, 16, of 47900 Joy Rd., Plymouth. The vehicles collided, and Reger's car rolled over into the northwest corner of the intersection.

According to the report, Reger's sons Timothy, 9, and Stephen, 4, and daughter Judith, 4; all passengers in the car, were injured and transported to St. Mary Hospital.

Witnesses said Reger approached the intersection at approximately 30 miles per hour and did not slow down, and that Mavin was travelling at approximately 40 to 45 miles per hour.

On Friday, the second rollover occurred, when a 1971 Volkswagen driven by David W. Hunter, 16, of Nashville, Tenn. collided with a 1969 Ford driven by Timothy Karl McLaughlin, 22, of 9816 Ingram, Livonia.

According to police reports, Hunter was eastbound on Sutherland, stopped at the intersection at Harvey and proceeded. McLaughlin, who was northbound on Harvey, was crossing Sutherland when he collided with Hunter.

Hunter's car then rolled after the impact. Injured were Hunter and his three passengers: Dave Ladenberger, 15, of 401 Corrine, Canton; Greg Dudash, 14, of 6328 Pickwick, Canton; and John Jeannotte, of 41952 Hanford, Canton. All were transported to St. Mary Hospital.

The third rollover of the week occurred on Saturday, when according to Plymouth Police reports a 1972 Chevrolet truck driven by John Edwin Carlson, 21, of 5908 Morley, Westland, collided with a 1972 Dodge truck driven by Robert John Kinchsular, 50, of 400 Plymouth Rd., Plymouth Township.

Police said Kinchsular reported he saw the Carlson car, which was eastbound on Plymouth Road, but that it looked far enough away.

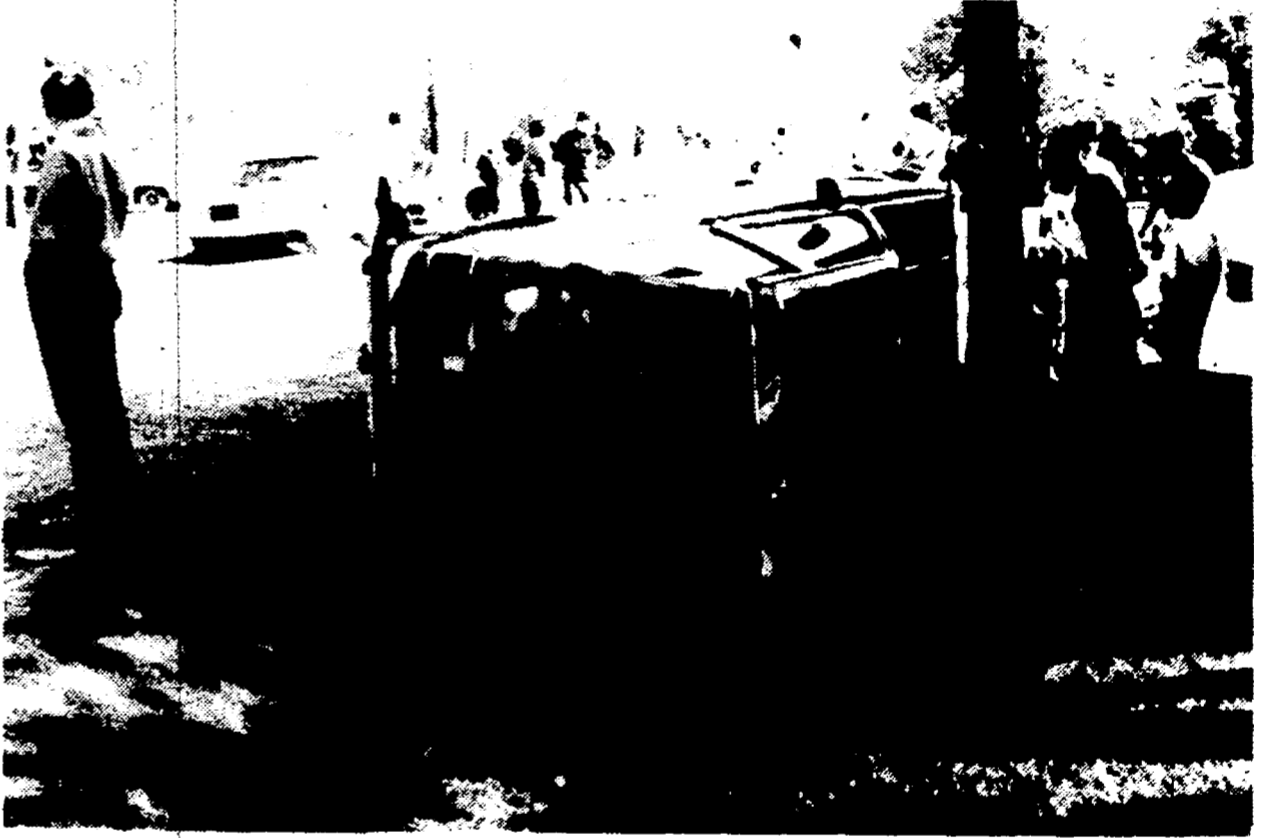

According to the report, Kinchsular pulled out onto Plymouth Road from his home and was hit by Carlson, who stated he did not remember what happened.

Kinchsular's truck rolled over, injuring his wife Patricia, 47, who was transported to St. Mary Hospital.

Late Friday night John Harn, 60, 18652 Lexington in Redford was struck by a

THIS IS THE RESULT of an accident that took place Wednesday evening at Joy and Sheldon Roads in Canton. According to a Canton Police report Pamela Willoughby, 17, of 8201 Marringon in Canton, driving the Hornet (right) turned from westbound Joy to southbound Sheldon into the path of the Ford, driven by Kandy Ulrich, 21, of 44216 Brandywyne, in Canton. Ulrich and her passenger Judy Wheble, 16, of 44604 Albert in Plymouth were injured as was Wendy Bryeckner, 18, passenger in Willoughby's car. Willoughby received a citation for failing to yield to right-of-way traffic. (Crier photo by Phyllis Redfern)

FAILURE TO SEE THE ONCOMING CAR. That was the cause of this rollover on Oakview in Plymouth Township Wednesday evening, minutes after an accident at Sheldon and Joy Roads. In this case, Ronald Reger, 39, 6590 Boston Hill in Canton and his family, Judith Reger, Timothy Reger and Stephen Reger were headed northbound on Oakview. As they crossed the open intersection at Mayville Street they were struck by Keith Mavin, 16, 47900 Joy Road in Plymouth Township. Judith, Timothy and Stephen were injured and transported to St. Marys Hospital by Plymouth units. (Crier photo by Ken Voyles) vehicle as he turned through the intersection at Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty.

According to the Plymouth Police report, Harn had his bright headlights on as he prepared to turn north bound on Haggerty from Ann Arbor Trail through a flashing yellow light. He was driving a 1978 Chevrolet.

Charles E. Krappitz, 36, of 41525 Ann Arbor Trail was headed west bound on the Trail. He flashed his bright lights at Harn as he closed on the intersection and then struck Harn in the right front.

Krappitz and two unidentified occupants of the 1978 Mercury were transported by Plymouth ambulance units for minor injuries.

Parents could pay 'indirectly' Schools' athletic costs may be shifted next year

BY DAN BODENE

John Sandmann, director of athletics for the Plymouth-Canton school district, predicts the same number of high school sports will be available next year despite massive budget cuts.

Much of the cost, however, will have to be borne by parents.

Sandmann presented his proposed program for middle and high school sports at a board of education workshop Monday night, noting that a proposed funding cutback of $171,000 was worse than he originally anticipated.

Middle school sports, he said for example, will be structured with a total budget of approximately $11,000.

Sandmann told the board "I believe that an intramural-extramural program in the middle schools is maybe the way to go." Such a program would be set up, he said, "So that all can participate in a competitive way."

Intramurals, he explained, would be within each building, while extramurals would schedule competition between schools. Some transportation would be provided.

Either four or five sports could be funded for middle schools, Sandmann said. A committee now in existence composed of a liaison from each school is currently deciding which sports will be offered, he added.

Sandmann also said there would not be funds for a coach in every homeroom — one per sport per middle school would be available, however. Although there would be no affiliation with the Michigan High School Athletic Association, most of the group's rules could be adopted for middle school sports, he said.

High school sports, although unchanged in number, would also feel the pinch across the board, Sandmann told the board. "We're counting a lot on fundraising, gate receipts and the contingency fund for capital improvements," he said.

Among the cuts he proposed were drastic reductions in scheduling, security, department mileage expenses, state meet expenditures, awards costs, supplies and equipment purchases.

He also proposed completely eliminating equipment reconditioning costs, game filming and reduced-cost physical examinations for prospective players.

Sandmann said although he did not favor charging a straight fee for athletic participation, "There are a lot of things parents and kids will be paying for, indirectly."

Most of the expense of high school athletics, he said, are due to transportation, coaches' and officials' salaries.

Jack Erps, a member of the Plymouth-

Canton Hockey Association, suggested "piloting" a program of hockey supported financially by boosters. "We believe financing from the private sector is the wave of the future," he said.

Erps said his organization was not proposing to sacrifice a school athletic program, nor was it asking for funds. "We just want an opportunity," he said. "We are here, and we have the program."

Earlier, Carol Saunders of the Parents Committee to Promote Soccer in Plymouth-Canton also made a presentation to the board, noting "Parents say they will continue their support as long as they can."

Sandmann, however, cautioned the board to examine such alternatives carefully — members of existing programs forced to operate under severe budget constraints, he said, might object to the addition of another sport.

School board members will again debate the issue on June 9, when a resolution on schools' athletics is scheduled for consideration.

City, Twp. come to terms on library management duties

Members of the Plymouth City Commission were expected Tuesday night to adopt an ordinance establishing the Plymouth Public Library.

The ordinance amends the city code with the addition of a new chapter entitled "Establishment and Organization of the Plymouth Public Library."

It also establishes a five-member board of directors, or administrative board, as City Manager Henry Graper Jr. calls it, which will handle the money aspects of the new institution.

A contract with Plymouth Township has also been worked out, said Graper, and is currently being reviewed by city attorneys and will be presented to the commission at its next meeting.

The contract calls for the city to operate the library for the first six months with funding already budgeted for it. Between now and January 1, 1982, Graper said, the library commission made up of city and township residents will look at possible cost reductions to streamline the library operation.

Graper added that the size of the library staff will remain the same but a wage reduction from Wayne County standards to city standards will be implemented. Some of the present staff may be replaced by co-op personnel or volunteer workers.

"The library will continue to be run by the library commission. The administrative board will handle the money. It will be made up of three or four city staff members and a couple of citizens," said Graper.

The passing of the ordinance allows Mayor Mary Childs to appoint the administrative board to control the funds. Those funds will be split equally between the city and township and will be close to $90,000, said Graper.

"Already the staff has trimmed the budget by almost $40,000, considerably less than the county's budget," Graper said.

The city-township agreement was worked out over several meetings between Graper and Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

"The main thing we want to emphasize is that we are starting with the present system but we'll be looking at hours and services variations to make the library even more cost effective," Graper said. "Mr. Breen asked for those things to be studied closely."

Other elements of the ordinance include the establishment of a library fund to be kept separate from city monies. An annual report will also be prepared.

The ordinance will be operative July 1.

Twp. Trustee Fidge wants court case discussed openly

Plymouth Township Trustee Lee Fidge has taken action which she hopes will forestall what she calls "a violation of her rights to be part of the decision making body representing the Charter Township of Plymouth as duly elected to the board of trustees."

In a letter to Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, copies of which also went to other board members and the township attorney, she challenged a written request from Breen asking that board members call his office last Monday to present their "feelings" concerning a decision needed by the township attorney in a consent judgment involving a court case listing the township as one of the defendants.

In her reply, Trustee Fidge said, "I will not discuss this matter except at a meeting of the board of trustees that falls under the Michigan Open Meetings Act."

The court case in question concerns a suit brought by James E. McCarthy in 1976 against Plymouth Township and the Plymouth Community School District. The suit concerned the responsibility of financial support for paying school crossing guards.

Ms. Fidge suggested in her letter to Breen that the matter either be taken up at a special meeting called for the matter or that it be placed on the agenda for the May 26 board meeting.

Lake Pointe tower to be painted

After some discussion as to whether the basic color of white should be changed, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees voted, last Tuesday, to send out for bids on the repainting of the township's water tower in Lake Pointe.

The landmark has been in the township since 1959 and currently reads "Lake Pointe, Twp. of Plym."

After repainting the wording will read "Lake Pointe, Charter Township of Plymouth."

One color suggested was sky blue.

Another tree for Kellogg

Canton sign ordinance questioned

Canton's sign ordinance came under fire last Tuesday night when Arthur W. Stiles, vice-president of Knight's Inn, made a video-tape presentation of the lack of proper signage for the Atlanta-based motel chain's Knight's Inn located at the Ford Road interchange of I-275.

Stiles maintained that the Canton Knight's Inn was in financial trouble because motorists were not aware that the motel was there until they were beyond the exit ramps.

He proposed that the township's sign ordinance be changed to offer a means of providing variances to the code to handle specific cases.

Stiles said that the Knight Inn needed a free standing sign 50 feet high containing 156 square feet of message area in order to be seen from the freeway.

Canton's sign ordinance limits the sign message area to 116 square feet and would not allow a sign to be placed that high.

The Knight Inn sign problem was echoed by Bob Card, owner of the McDonald's franchise at Michigan Avenue and I-275 freeway.

"When we built here," Card said, "We were depending on motorists who we believed would come off the expressway. That business has not materialized therefore, we are in trouble."

"Something has to be done," he warned, "if we are not going to go out of business."

After the lengthy discussion the township board asked Trustee Loren Bennett, who also serves on the township zoning committee, to take the sign matter to the committee for its consideration.

City may expand inspection duties

Plymouth City Commissioners were expected to pass a resolution Tuesday night contracting with Northville to do fire inspections in that city.

Under the contract Northville would reimburse Plymouth at a daily rate of $230 or $30.66 per hour for the use of Plymouth's Fire Inspector Tom Lenaghan.

The city would also start a record file of Northville inspections and would be reimbursed for administrative overhead that might be incurred with the addition of Northville inspections.

Northville would also pay for Lenaghan's mileage on a flat rate of 25 cents per mile.

The agreement would in no way change the authority of Northville to modify its fire codes.

Either Plymouth or Northville may terminate the agreement by submitting a 30-day written notice, but the city would still complete any work being done at that time.

"We really don't have enough work to keep our inspector busy," said City Manager Henry Graper Jr. "We don't need to hire anyone else or increase the staff in the Fire Department to undertake the service."

The agreement as presented to City Commissioners was prepared by City Attorney Charles Lowe.

Sneva aids Legion memorial drive

The American Legion's supportive effort to raise funds for a memorial to veterans of the Vietnam War was given a boost last week when veteran race driver Tom Sneva announced he would retain The American Legion name and emblem on his Indianapolis 500-mile race car.

Sneva qualified for the race with the top speed but due to Indy rules will be in the 24th starting position.

Car owners George Bignotti and Dan Cotter have also approved a by-the-lap pledge drive during Sneva's racing efforts during the May 24 race.

In addition to making pledges at local posts, pledges can be called in to a toll-free number - 1-800-428-4400 - from now until the race.

AMONG THE MANY HOMES in the Plymouth Central Business District included in the Surrey Trail plan for one-way streets is this home of Marion Bernash at the corner of South Harvey and Church Streets. The top picture shows the home as it was in 1936. The bottom photo shows it as it is today. Mrs. Bernash has questions as to how the Surrey Trail might affect her property.

Will Surrey Trail bring change?

The Bernash house at the corner of South Harvey and Church Streets in Plymouth didn't look the same back in 1936.

Marion Bernash wonders if it will look the same as it does today if the proposed "Surrey Trail" traffic routing plan is adopted.

The house was purchased for $1250 by Allen and Marion Bernash in 1935 after a long history on Penniman Avenue as an office.

That year, the Bernashes removed the poplar trees in front of the house and put in maples instead.

To the left of the house was a huge sand pile separating the house from the cemetery next door. At that time Allen Bernash also designed and built a landscaped wall which still stands. He worked as a landscaper, as well as another job of guard at the Detroit House of Correction.

When the picture was taken Harvey Street was still unpaved.

In 1937 the Bernash's decided to remodel their home. They removed the front porch and added two rooms. They also built a garage for $75.

Allen Bernash died two years ago, but Marion continues to live in the home. "I could never live anywhere as cheap as I do here," she said, "even though the taxes I pay on the house are more than what we originally paid for the house."

She added that the house is appraised at more than $65,000 today.

"If they decide to go ahead with the Surrey Loop will I lose the corner of my property?" Marion asked at the last City Planning Commission meeting.

Commissioners explained it was unlikely she would lose any property under the proposed Surrey Trail plan.

But the controversy continues.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Roadside outhouse and strike shack should be moved

In all probability, more people get their first impression of Plymouth while traveling into or through town on Ann Arbor Road. It is a good impression, for the most part.

Business places along Ann Arbor Road have taken an interest in keeping their buildings up, replacing old buildings with new, landscaping the grounds and keeping the business section spruced up with regular maintenance.

Both the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township have passed ordinances in an attempt to further create a good impression, both for those who regularly drive through the area and for visitors.

So, why, in the midst of the effort of creating a good impression, is the continued presence of the strike headquarters shack and portable john right at the edge of the road at Plymouth Stamping Company allowed to remain?

It isn't a question of sticking a collective nose into what is obviously a tough labor situation. It is a question of equitable enforcement of existing building and zoning codes.

If a private property owner had a shack and outside john showing that close to a main street, the ordinance enforcer would swing into action at once.

In this particular case Plymouth Township should take steps to see that the eyesore is removed.

County commissioner chides charter group for lack of backbone

EDITOR:

I commend you on your article, "With Malice Toward None," but first you have to put backbone in the Charter Commission; and, if you read the Charter, what has not been given away by the State Legislators is now being given away by the Wayne County Charter Commissioners.

Keep up the good work and I will try to do the same.

Coloring It Brown

By Dick Brown

A parlor game in vogue these days is called "Cut the Budget." Sometimes it goes under the name of "Get Government off Our Backs."

Just like the old American faithfuls of Mother, Apple Pie and the Flag, it is now very popular to espouse cutting back government at all levels. It's particularly popular here in Michigan.

The trouble is that those playing the game want to cut in somebody else's kingdom.

Canton Township Board members found that out last Wednesday night when they considered recommendations on reorganizing Canton Township government. Playing before a large crowd composed mostly of Canton Township employees, the recommendations presented by a board committee composed of Supervisor Jim Poole, Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz and Clerk John Flodin dealt with the department of public works, the ordinance department and the building department. The problems involved in cutting back on government in the interest of savings and efficiency was certainly evident.

The general idea of consolidating departments and duties, cutting back on expenses and making government more efficient, according to the general tone of the discussion Wednesday night, was accepted as a good one, but when it came to the specifics, those directly involved wanted the cuts to be made in some other area of township government.

As proposed by the committee the ordinance department duties would be taken over by the building department which is snoozing through the current construction slump. That idea was okay with the building department but it wasn't saleable to the ordinance department.

That's why government at all levels continues to grow.

There are always the demands for providing more services, expanding existing services, spending more money to provide more employees and seeking more ways to get more money from the taxpayers to finance government growth. Once a new service or a batch of new employees are added, it suddenly becomes impossible to cut back.

So, it is going to be interesting to follow the Canton reorganization debate as the township board moves through department after department. The board goal is laudable and long overdue but it will be a tough chore to accomplish.

Maybe Canton township can show the way to other governmental units—but don't count on it.

School cuts to hurt kids

EDITOR:

In these times we all have to watch our pennies. The Board of Education is doing its part by laying off teachers, custodians, secretaries and educational aides.

Some of these layoffs we question. Will it really save us money? Many of our programs will be seriously hurt or ruined.

Who suffers? It's the kids and they are supposed to be the most important.

In laying off secretaries and aides there will be a lot of bookwork and communication that will not be done. Should one person have to do the work of two and only get paid for the work of one?

Those people still on the job will be asked to do double the work and be unable to handle it consistently and should not be asked to do the work of two people.

In laying off aides there will be more destruction, more equipment lost and not accounted for. Some of these things are library books, AV equipment. Teachers will not and cannot be expected to take care of these things. If they do take care of these things properly it leaves very little time in the classroom to teach.

So, eventually we will have to buy more books, more AV equipment, fix and replace lockers, etc. All of this will cost much more in the long run than it would to keep the people doing these jobs now.

Now, after all is said and done, the board cannot tell some of its employees whether they have a job until after May 19 and June 8. Will they even tell them at that time or will they wait until a day or so before school starts to tell them?

Yet the Board can and did ratify a 7.5 percent increase for the Plymouth-Canton administrators plus improved mileage by $20 a month and approved compensation for the superintendent and the three assistant superintendents by 7.5 percent for the 1981-1982 school year.

We are not saying they do not deserve it. What we are saying is the Board says we are in a budget crunch yet it finds money to give our highest-paid employees a raise.

We could save a lot of money by not giving them a raise and could save even more if an assistant position were cut instead. We have too many chiefs and forget that the indians are important, too, and get paid a lot less. Their (indians) positions are just as important, sometimes more.

CONCERNED SCHOOL EMPLOYEES, AND TAXPAYERS

Education is at crossroads

EDITOR:

The future of public education may be in doubt. As one school board member indicated at the Plymouth-Canton School Board meeting last Monday night (May 11), there are several proposed bills in the U.S. Congress that would allow federal income tax deductions for tuition paid to private elementary, middle and high schools. If these deductions are allowed, public education will suffer a decline in participation and ultimately, in funding.

Can a public or private school systems best perform the educational function? To answer the question, one should determine who is controlling each system because whoever is controlling the system will significantly influence how it will perform in the future.

In the public system one thing is clear—parents are not in control today. You can talk to parent after parent and the story is the same. It is next to impossible to get results on any issue you care to mention. The answer is always a series of reasons why something can't or won't be done. Parents are frustrated!

It appears that political forces are taking over the public school system. These forces include taxpayers (and rightly so because they pay the bills), employee unions (and rightly so because it is their workplace), top district administrators (because they are in charge), School Board (elected public representatives), and units of government (both state and county, that are involved in funding). All of these forces are so strong that parents (whose children are the reason for the system) are nearly overwhelmed. Will this political arena improve in the future? It may get worse as funding becomes more difficult, unions gain added strength from contract negotiations and School Boards become more involved with administrators and removed from parents.

Do public schools offer an alternative? They may. Parents will have more direct control in a private school system because they have the option of withdrawing their children, in this way, they have more power. And many of the political forces from the public school system are excluded: taxpayers, employee unions, school boards, and governmental funding units. But there is one major question.

Does our society in 1981 owe each child the right to an equal education based on the child's need? The federal courts have indicated that society has an educational obligation, and many citizens also support this belief. One point is very clear: the private school system helps those who can afford the price, and it hurts those who cannot pay.

Which system is best? What is your conclusion? In my opinion, the School Board, the administrators, the employee unions, and the parents must cooperate more in the future to provide a quality education for each child in the public system. If any single political force upsets the delicate balance and gains too much political power, the result may be an active private educational system. There are signs that this is already happening (the proposed bills in the U.S. congress). Do we really want a private system?

Think it over! Make your choice! And then put it into action here in this district. If you support public education, regardless of your political motivation, you should show it by responsive actions before it is too late.

WSDP staff says thanks

The student, administration and teaching staff of WSDP-radio wishes to extend a gracious thank you to everyone in the Plymouth-Canton community who helped make the second Annual Radiothon Auction such a success.

Through the contributions of over 240 different merchants, WSDP was able to auction over 320 different items. Without the merchants' willingness and cooperation to contribute, the station would never have been able to auction off nearly $8,400 worth of goods and services.

That total fell only $300 short of our goal of $6,000 that station personnel had set prior to the auction.

Thanks also should be extended to the Parent Booster Committee, Co-Chairman Chet Latka, and especially to all of the listeners who participated throughout the auction. Without your efforts, the auction would not have been a success.

Preceding the May 7, 8 and 9 auction, WSDP broadcast a special "Booster Day" remote from the Old Village Shopping District and Kellogg Park. This joint effort was made possible through the efforts of the Plymouth Community

Chamber of Commerce; Diane Dart, executive director. Other contributors included The New Gal in Town for providing electricity; Larry Janes for providing a mobile van; and Denny Campbell, owner of Cable Channel 13, who provided support throughout the day.

WSDP extends a big "thank you" for again another year of outstanding support from everyone.

Police blotter is frightening

This week I went with our city reporter, Ken Voyles, on his regular rounds to the police desk. What I saw on the police blotter frightened me.

Last week was a busy one for community police - our first indication was that in The Crier's newsroom, the police monitor didn't stop beeping for days on end.

The complaint log told the story, however. There were three rollovers, for example, within three days. Dispatcher Ann Brown says there usually aren't that many in six months.

There were several other traffic incidents, with and without injuries. While I was standing there, Brown took three more traffic accident inquiries.

The worst part was that the whole thing doesn't seem to be letting up - more and more calls are coming in every day. To top it off, the Plymouth-Canton Community can no longer look to the kind of assistance the Wayne County Sheriff road patrols used to be able to give.

The burden of dealing with motor vehicle foul-ups of one sort or another now rests almost solely with Plymouth and Canton Police Departments, and the State Police patrols based in

That means we're all going to have to do a little more to protect ourselves.

Summer naturally means more people will be out and about, in one type of vehicle or another, all over the community. More people out and about naturally means more accidents, and injuries that go with them.

Some can be prevented. It's really not that hard to take a little extra caution in driving. It's not that hard to realize that after a day in the sun with a cold six-pack, driving skill drops to nil. And it's not hard to realize that no matter how careful you are, it's also up to the other guy.

There are also more kids on the street. And if you've ever seen one, a car accident involving an injured child can be one of the most sobering experiences of your life. There were several last week.

Please, drive friendly. The life you save may be your own. Or your child's.

Basically

by Ken Voyles

Parents make best critics

I always get sentimental when it comes to vacation time. It's not my vacation this time, though I wish it was, but my folks.

It's just that with them gone from the state I feel free to write behind their backs. (While they're off to Salem, Ind.)

We each work and take our free time seriously, and although we live together we are not a team as we were in my younger days. So when they go off on a week's worth of vacation I too get a vacation of sorts.

Being the ardent fans of this newspaper that they are and loyal supporters of their number two son's efforts they eye The Crier every week.

But there's the rub. I can't seem to get them interested enough to read anything in the paper, but these words I scribble under Basically or the occasional story about Wayne County.

Week by week without fail, the current issue of the paper is placed before them. They scan it page by page and sometimes make expressions that mean who knows what. There is mild curiosity, but being separated by a mere geographic distance seems to stifle their interest in the guts of the paper.

I don't blame them. In fact, that's the reason for this sentimental column, for mom and dad, so they would have something to read in the May 20 edition. They've put in the time and energy to blast my literary efforts in times past so I expect they still have some constructive criticism left in them. So now to bring it out, but how?

Living in Livonia and upholding many ideals far beyond my imagination, Marge and Tom have come to expect the best. I'm not much on tributes, though, and besides, you probably don't want to read glowing phrases about my parents in times that force one to cry for justice. I just wanted to disprove the myth that all reporters are made from stone.

So now while they sit enjoying the southern Indiana sun, and I too, am enjoying my vacation, there's time for reflection.

So now, when's your vacation? Who said that? Was it you, Mom?

Media does disservice in ignoring recall move

EDITOR:

On May 20, the different staffs of the news media in this area should feel very proud of themselves.

That is the date the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has set to close the Wayne county sheriff's patrol.

The media, either through silence, inaccurate reporting or biased editorials, has encouraged this tragic occurrence.

The majority of commissioners (I purposely excluded the only two honorable members) has seen fit to deprive our citizens of a police service that benefits the residents of every city and township in this county.

The issue involved here has nothing to do with the budget. Depending on where you live in Wayne county, property taxes are scheduled to go up between 10 and 50 percent this year. This will pump untold millions of dollars into the county coffers.

The commissioners do not plan to reduce these taxes, but will continue to line their pockets and the pockets of their cronies. No other county employee is being asked to give up any benefits. In fact, big raises are forecast.

The real issue is that the closing of the road patrol is part of a vendetta against Sheriff William Lucas and Local 502, National Union of Police Officers, AFL-CIO.

The commissioners are like a bunch of small fish in a big pond and they are petty jealous of the sheriff's popularity.

When the commissioners attacked Local 502 in the past they found they had a tiger by the tail. Now they figure the easiest way to defang that tiger is to abolish the road patrol division.

For several years the media has been screaming about the incompetency of this same board. Yet, you now remain silent when confronted with a chance to rectify the situation.

I am referring to the rapidly escalating recall petition drive that has been launched. You should be urging the people to sign the petitions and then "throw the rascals out."

However, you must feel that it is easier to wait and let the new county charter take effect and resolve the problem.

The sad part about waiting is that these same people have two more years to short change the people and two more budgets to manipulate.

Plymouth Symphony League thanks home tour hosts

EDITOR:

On behalf of the Plymouth Symphony League, I want to publicly thank the couples who opened their homes for our recent Home Tour. Because of their special talents and creativity we had the most successful home tour ever. A sincere thank you also to all who gave their time to make it a memorable event.

We do apologize to those who were unable to secure tickets. Our first concern had to be for our home owners and we had to limit the number of people touring.

We are sorry for those who were turned away, but hope they will understand our position. The tremendous interest in the Home Tour was something we had never previously experienced.

If there is another Home Tour I am sure those planning it will learn from our mistakes and it will be even better.

Thank you for your understanding and support.

'Tom Sawyer' coverage is praised

EDITOR:

The students and staff at Bird School wish to express our thanks for the superior coverage you gave to our play "Tom Sawyer." We were very impressed with your photographer, Rick Smith, who spent much of the whole first act taking shots from behind the screen, thus not distracting from the performance. The students were excited about the publicity they received.

So...thank you heaps for the attention you gave to a group of kids who did a super job.

Canton board okays police computer contract

Canton Township trustees okayed a contract at last Tuesday night's board meeting which will put the township police department in the "computer age."

By a 5-2 vote with only Supervisor Jim Poole and Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz casting negative votes, the township board approved the purchase of a $65,000 computer from Sincom Corporation of Virginia.

The schedule calls for the computer to be delivered in mid-July and in operation one week later, according to Don James, Sincom representative, who headed back to Virginia with the signed contract in his pocket.

The computer purchase was made with the goal of eliminating a lot of paper work and improving the department's record keeping ability, according to Police Chief Jerry Cox.

"The bottom line is that we will be able to save the department manpower," he said. "The intent is to reduce the amount of time the police officers spend in doing paper work."

In voicing her objections to the purchase, Ms. Falkiewicz said, "I agree with the computer committee's recommendation on the purchase, but because of the lack of manpower and the needs of the department today, I would have preferred to hold off the purchase for some later date."

Young Plymouth-Canton authors celebrate 'The Good Old Days'

First Baptist banquet features bridal gowns

"Parade of Brides" was the theme of this year's Mother-Daughter Banquet, held May 7, by the Women's Missionary Board of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth.

This year's banquet was a pot luck dinner which served 220 guests. Dessert was a cake donated by Farmer Jacks, and was decorated at the banquet.

After the meal, wedding gowns were modeled. Gowns from several different years were displayed, the oldest originally worn in 1900 and the latest worn in 1980.

Flowergirls were also on parade at the banquet. Some young ladies modeled flowergirl dresses worn in their mothers wedding.

To top off the evening, five-year-old Katie Sullivan was dressed as the bride of the future. She wore a flowergirl dress and wedding veil that matched the bride's dress worn in the wedding.

Mildred Domke was narrator for the evening. Susan Norquist and Betty Swanson were co-chairpersons for the event.

was "The Good Old Days." Young authors watched a play performed by Dick Johnson's fifth grade class entitled, "Life in the Good Old Days." The play was created by Johnson especially for this Young Authors Conference.

During the conference, students attended special sessions, choosing from among 13 different sessions.

"C&O Trains" was a session open to all students. It involved a hike to the Eckles track siding and a tour of a C&O locomotive and caboose. Leader of the session was Eugene Pydynkowski, who was assisted by Ellen Head.

"What They Did For Fun" was a special session which showed toys and games the students' grandparents may have played with. Students were allowed to try the toys. Margaret Mitchell was the leader of this session, assisted by Doris Balconi.

"The Candle Shoppe" session made candles as they did "in the old days." Terri Rittenhouse was the leader of this session, assisted by Helen Kelly.

"Young Authors' Almanac" was a session that let students act as reporters and record the events of this year's Young Authors Conference in the annual newspaper.

The conference was coordinated by 13 elementary school Learning Specialists in the Plymouth-Canton school district. Planning for the conference was done by Klo Phillippi, Learning Specialist at Starkweather, who was thanked for her long hours of work with the presentation of a floral bouquet.

THE TENTH ANNUAL Young Authors Conference at Starkweather School was a time of learning and fun. Students shown above are participating in one of 13 interest sessions offered at the conference. PCAC awards winners... in three different ways

Some kids love a challenge.

Several who met an artistic challenge were recently recognized for their efforts by the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) during its annual Spring Luncheon.

Three sets of awards were presented to Plymouth-Canton students at the luncheon, including the Fine Arts Awards, Isbister Award and JoAnne Winkleman Hulce Award. Students were recognized for their outstanding work in music, sculpture, painting and drawing - certainly a well-rounded artistic representation.

Fine Arts Awards, for middle school level students, were presented to Christen Lynn Dyas, a vocalist who performed at the luncheon, Jamie Case, Terry Lynn Tang, Shawn Carson, Scott Casper, Douglas Campbell, Ferdinand de Chavez, Pat Stark, Kurt Zeeman, Shawn Jimmerson, Tracy Lester, Lisa Pata, Paul Tchorzynski and Tina Murphy.

Established in 1978, the Fine Arts Awards were established "to encourage students, with a monetary award, to further their studies," according to award committee chairman Dee Schulte. "The talent was just fantastic," she added. "They all did such a fine job."

Assisting Schulte in the selection of winners were Marge Thrasher, Lois Gilmor, Jan Gattoni, Pat Rhinehart, Johnnie Crosby, Lillian Payne and Sharon Rucinski.

Isbister Award winners announced by the PCAC will enjoy a special honor - their works will be displayed throughout the district on a rotating basis. In honor of Russell Isbister, former schools superintendent, the award is bestowed every other year. Chairman of the selection committee this season was Susan Schrader.

This year's winners included Kenneth Brill, from Canton High; Richard Roman, also from Canton; Janine Bologna, from Our Lady of Good Counsel; Cindy Fowler, a Tanger student; Betty Jacobsen, from Eriksson; and Lisa Pata, from West Middle School. Honorable mentions were garnered by Mitzi Wells from Isbister and Jane McKenstry from Canton.

Achievements at the high school level were recognized with the Hulce Award, presented to two outstanding seniors every year. Nan Cooper, chairman of the award committee, led the selection of winners from among a total of 16 entries this year.

Paul Swantek, a violinist from Salem, and Mark Gladden, an artist from Canton, were this year's recipients of the award, in honor of a founder of the PCAC, JoAnne Winkleman Hulce. Both were on hand for the luncheon - Gladden displayed an example of his work and Swantek performed two selections for the gathering.

Many congratulations are in order for a fine group of up-and-coming artists.

Local artists' work displayed at art show

Three local artists now have their works displayed in a juried art show in Ann Arbor.

Johnnie Crosby has three paintings exhibited. Her work "Sand Dunes" was judged best of show, while "Darn Yarn," a water color collage, received a merit award. Her water color "Betty's Beach" is also exhibited.

Doreen Lawton contributed her water color collage "Day Lilies" to the show.

Jessie Hudson will have two paintings on display. "Provencal Landscape," which was painted while she was in southern France, won a merit award. "Tease," an acrylic painting, is also on display.

All three women are members of the Ann Arbor Women Painters. Their paintings will be exhibited in the lower floor gallery of the Ann Arbor Public Library May 1 to May 29.

WINNERS OF THE RUSSELL ISBISTER AWARD are (from left) William Jacobson, Eriksson third grader; Lisa Pata, West eighth grader; and Cindy Fowler, Tanger first grader. The Isbister award is given every other year by the Arts Council to students of all ages in the Plymouth-Canton schools. The art works are then framed and displayed throughout the schools. Other winners not pictured are Janine Bologna, Our Lady of Good Counsel eighth grader, Billy Jacobson, Erikson third grader, Kenneth Brill and Richard Roman, Canton High. (Crier photo by Rick Smith).

TWO OUTSTANDING HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS were presented with the JoAnne Winkleman Hulce Award recently. Nancy Cooper, chairperson of the Hulce Award, is shown flanked by Paul Swantek, a Salem violinist, and Mark Gladden, art student from Canton High. The award is given in honor of Hulce, who was a founder of the PCAC. (Crier photo by Rick Smith).

tell it to Phyllis

Gardening is a natural talent for many people. However there are those of us that no matter how hard we try, the only things that grow are weeds.

Every spring I start with great determination, hoping that this is the year my garden will be beautiful. I turn the soil and fertilize, and read the instructions so I know when and where to plant the seeds. I plant vegetables as well as flowers, and always try to remember to give them a drink of water every so often.

Every morning I look out the kitchen window, to see if any little green things have appeared. Finally after a couple of weeks, little plants start popping up through out the garden.

This is when my first big problem starts -- how can you tell the green beans, carrots, daisies, and zinnias from the weeds? I always try to mark the rows and make sure they are straight, but somehow while bending over in the garden, straight loses some perspective.

Last year I tried something different. I planted vegetables at one end of the garden and bought packages of flower seeds with many varieties all mixed together for the other end. It was great -- in between the mixture of weeds there was a conglomeration of flowers. If anything grew more than 12 inches high and didn't have a bud on it, I considered it a weed and pulled it.

By the end of the summer, my prize plant was five feet tall and had pretty orange blossoms. I was proud that anything I had planted had grown so well, until one of my neighbors tactfully informed me that it was a weed and not something I planted. Oh well, if weeds are that pretty I guess they have a right to grow. Besides I welcome almost anything that grows in my garden, especially if it adds a little color.

Many area students received degrees from Eastern Michigan University at spring commencement. Those graduating with honors were: Carol Strube of Canton, Summa Cum Laude; and Cum Laude honors went to Andrew DiMaggio and Maureen McAllinden of Canton, and Barbara Heaton of Plymouth.

Plymouth students receiving degrees are; Alma Bahmer of McClumpha Road, Barbara Costabile, Jody Deck of Tower Road, Kevin Driscoll of Marc Trail, Richard Frankhart of Herald, Gary Gibson of Greenbrier Lane, Barbara Heaton of Northville Forest Drive, Bonnie Lake of Garling Drive, Donna Mandle of Cherry Lane, Bradford Markwood of Caprice, Laurel Nicholas of Irvin, Cynthia Owens of Wilcox, Scott Pedersen of Hammill Lane, Nancy Peterson of Greenbrook, Ann Posuniak of Beck Road, and Ronald Rice of Shadywood.

Schoolcraft College board names interim president

Schoolcraft College Student Affairs Vice President Edward McNally was named by the college board of trustees as interim president August 1. He will replace Dr. Nelson Grote who will be leaving for his new position in Washington.

The board of trustees voted McNally $500 a month supplemental compensation and a college car in addition to his salary, fringe benefits and performance appraisal award as vice president.

In the meantime the board has set a tentative timetable for selecting a new president. The interim study subcommittee will meet with the executive search consultants on June 15. At that meeting a list of candidates screened by the consultants will submitted for review. The top 10 to 12 applications will then go to an advisory committee appointed from all employee bargaining groups, executive administration, classified personnel, students and Schoolcraft College Foundation.

The board will then take the top four applications and invite applicants to the campus for an interview. The procedure is expected to take up most of the summer.

Tonda warns community of legislation

Flossie Tonda, a Plymouth-Canton School Board trustee, is cautioning the community on a series of legislation she says is threatening public schools.

Tonda says 10 bills have been introduced in Congress which will allow tax credits for private school tuition. The results of such legislation, she says, will take money from public school funding.

"I think everybody should be concerned," she said at Monday night's school board meeting, adding that public schools may be left with more and more low-income and disadvantaged students "while private schools pick and choose."

"The public school system may not be perfect, but it takes everyone to make it better. We've got to get on board and do something -- if we don't, it'll be too late."

Local hockey player joins team visit to Finland

BY KEN VOYLES

While many of his school friends from Canton High were in Florida enjoying the sun, Dave Brass, 17, of Plymouth Township, was in Finland enjoying the people, places and even the winter weather.

Brass was one of 21 players and six parents to pay a return visit to Finland after a Finnish hockey team had come to Detroit last year. As a member of the Detroit area Adray All-Stars (Michigan Stars), Brass was the lone hockey player from the community to make the team.

Tryouts were conducted last December and the team started playing together in early April. They left for Finland April 16 and returned last weekend.

"It was definitely worth the cost of the plane ticket. The only bad thing was flying in on the plane for 13 hours," said Brass. "I think I would like to return there someday."

Upon arrival the squad was immediately recognized for being from America. "We were wearing hats that said U.S. on them and this guy walks up to us asking to buy them in perfect English for five dollars," said Brass. "When the people knew we from the U.S. they treated us very nicely."

The team stayed in Tampere, home of the country's national junior champions, the Bobcats, and stayed with various families of the Tampere team members.

While in Finland the squad had four games. In their first game with Helsinki the team won 4-3. They then suffered a 6-2 loss to Tampere and had a 2-2 tie with the squad. In their other game, the Stars played a team from Lahti and tied 4-4. Brass captained the U.S. team and had two assists.

On the ice it was a contrast of skating styles. The Finnish teams, said Brass, played an all out skating game with little checking, while the Michigan team played a rougher, checking style.

"They played very well as a team. They've been playing since early age," said Brass.

Brass and his fellow teammates got around on foot or by bus through Tampere and to other Finnish cities. "The people were always very nice. They always spoke English for us and showed us how to get around and feel at home."

Brass said most of the buildings in Tampere were made of stone and that statues abounded in all the streets. "At 11 o'clock at night the city shuts down," said Brass.

Brass was thrilled with the wide open country of Finland, the fresh air, the woods, the rolling farms and the countryside, but he wasn't as excited about the daily snow that fell.

"We had to get used to walking. There was one car to a family and most families had more than two kids. Most people lived in townhouses or apartments but I stayed in a home," Brass said.

"They really liked our U.S. stuff like those hats. We did a lot of trading of extra equipment and jerseys," he continued.

Tampere was full of small shops, much like Plymouth, Brass said. "There were all kinds of shops for all kinds of things. They had a few bigger stores like a K-Mart," he said. "On our last day we spent all day shopping for things to bring home. Since crystal items are a thing of pride for the country I bought a lot of crystal. I also bought a bunch of Finnish flags."

Brass spent the better part of the day trying to find those flags. "They really didn't have anywhere to buy their countries flag. Finally we found one shop that had a bunch in a corner. About the only place we saw a flag was at the capital in Helsinki."

Every home in Finland has a sauna and Brass and his teammates took advantage of them daily. "That's what most Finnish people do. Their saunas were so much hotter than the ones here," said Brass. "Everybody trusts everybody. We went over to a friends house once with some Finnish friends but he wasn't home so we got the key to the home from under the mat and went in and used the sauna until he returned.

"They don't think anything of something like that," Brass continued.

Brass has spent 11 years in the sport of hockey and this past hockey season he played for the Plymouth Juniors. After he graduates this summer, Brass said he would like to attend Northern Michigan University.

2 Canton students show their talent at Ontario Science Centre

Two Canton school students spent a few days last week at the Ontario Science Centre in Don Mills, Ontario, working with the electron microscope display.

The brother and sister pair, Ken and Mary Christensen, were among 5 students selected for the assignment throughout United States and Canada.

Ken is a sophomore at Plymouth Canton while Mary is an eighth grader at West Middle School. Both are outstanding biology students.

The Ontario Science Centre was constructed in 1969 and is internationally known for its unique approach to learning, its exhibit design and its architecture. The 45,000 square foot facility houses space for 1,009 exhibits, demonstrations, workshops and other programs. Each year over 1.7 million people from all over the world visit the Science Centre.

Plymouth pastor plans 600-mile bike trip to aid missionary fund

Pastor George Rickman of The Evangelistic Temple in Plymouth will bike over 600 miles in approximately six days, all in the name of a worthy cause.

Small business confab is just the beginning

Paul Van Hull of Plymouth Township has a message for area merchants - "Nobody else can help small business; we have to help ourselves."

Van Hull, owner of March Tire in Plymouth, recently attended the Michigan Conference on Small Business, hosted by Governor William Milliken. As Detroit delegate, Van Hull sat on the taxation and capital availability committee.

The conference grew out of a recommendation by former President Jimmy Carter for a nation-wide small business conference. Since many concerns are more state-oriented, says Van Hull, the governor hosted the state gathering.

Initially, 400 delegates were chosen from around the state to gather in-original 1,400 to 60 concerns, and eventually narrowed down to a core group of the top 15 recommendations at the governor's conference.

"It's amazing how it worked," says Van Hull, "that you could get agreement from that many people."

Plans called for the dissolution of the statewide delegation 60 days after the conference, after the final position paper was presented to the governor and legislature. Not so, says Van Hull.

"We passed a resolution keeping the delegation intact," explains Van Hull. "Management will be transferred from the Executive Committee, chosen by the governor, to 24 elected directors."

The organization will probably be called the Michigan Alliance for Small Business, he said, and will be a non-profit group "managed and run by small business people for the benefit of small business people."

One aim of the new group, says Van Hull, is to work with and through existing professional and local business organizations.

"We want to carry on," he says. But the new alliance needs volunteers, he adds. "We have no financial motives - our financial motives are solving those 15 objectives presented to the governor."

Anyone interested in the Michigan Alliance for Small Business can contact Van Hull at 459-3380.

Carne Associates, Inc., Plymouth architects and planners, has appointed Cary J. Gingras as an associate of the firm in charge of construction services. Gingras has worked with Carne Associates since September of 1978. He recently received a master's degree in architecture from the University of Michigan.

His advance studies and special interests in the field of architecture are focused on energy audits and building evaluations, daylight design, solar-tempered architecture in the urban environment and redesign of existing buildings.

Orville Tungate of Plymouth Township recently resigned as Wayne County Deputy Clerk, to pursue opportunities in the private business sector.

Tungate, appointed to the office by Clerk James Killeen in 1975, turned over the reins to Robert Ficano of Livonia on May 11.

Four diamonds awarded

HONORS CAME THE WAY of the Plymouth Hilton Inn Thursday, May 14, when the Automobile Club of Michigan Board Chairman James Wineman, right, presented a four-diamond plaque to Jerry Davidson, food and beverage director of the Plymouth Hilton. A four-diamond establishment exceeds AAA requirements in hotel physical and operational categories. In all, Michigan has 24 four-diamond hostelrys with nine of them in the Detroit Metro area.

MTI Corporation, makers and distributors of precision measuring instruments, headquartered in New Jersey with a sales office in Livonia, will be expanding into Plymouth Township.

The company received final approval for the project from the township Board of Trustees last Tuesday.

The project received preliminary site plan approval from the township's Planning Commission on April 15.

It calls for a 30,000 sq. ft. manufacturing, distributing and office facility in the township's Sheldon-Five Mile Industrial park.

The project is being completed through the Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County (EDC) which issues tax-exempt industrial revenue bonds. MTI will receive $1,035,000 assistance in tax-exempt bonds.

Twenty-six full time positions are expected from the project.

Projected taxes are $4,920 to the county, $2,860 to the township and $25,000 to the Plymouth-Canton School District.

Lyle J. Schmidt, Plymouth, senior account manager for Taylor Instrument Company, has been named to the Taylor Hall of Fame for the second year in recognition of annual sales exceeding a million dollars worth of instrumentation systems.

Schmidt was honored at a program in

All secretary of state branch offices will be closed for four days over Memorial Day weekend. The closing on Friday is part of the governor's directive furloughing all state employees without pay.

Canton's Country Festival needs you. According to organizers of the event, more volunteers are needed to work on projects, more floats are needed for the first annual Country Festival Parade and there's still lots of booth space available at the festival site.

Festival committee president Flossie Tonda says there is still time to reserve a booth space or enter a float - interested persons or groups can either contact the Festival headquarters at the Wayne Bank on Sheldon Road at Michigan Avenue in Canton, telephone 397-1150, or contact her at 453-2534.

The Chessie Safety Express to make stops in Plymouth

The Chessie Safety Express will be stopping in Plymouth May 30, May 31 and June 6.

Pulled by a 250-ton 1948 steam locomotive, the train carries on board a life-saving message. To promote "Operation Lifesaver," the train contains displays reminding people to take care at highway railroad crossings.

The train is much more than that, however. Three excursion trips will leave Detroit for one-day sojourns into the Michigan countryside.

On May 30, the trip will go from Detroit to Clio and Saginaw and return. Leaving Detroit at 8:30 a.m. the train will pass through Plymouth and Holly before it arrives in Clio at 11:30 a.m. On the return trip the train will again hit Plymouth, sometime after 3:30 p.m.

On May 31, the trip from Detroit is to Grand Ledge. Again the train leaves at 8:30 a.m. and stops in Plymouth shortly thereafter before stopping in Lansing. The train will also stop in Plymouth on its return.

The June 6 excursion will leave Detroit at 8:30 a.m. and stop in Plymouth before moving on to Lansing and from there to Grand Rapids. The train will not return but a return bus (fare $15) will hit all the stops on its way back to Detroit.

Tickets are sold by the Michigan State Trust for Railway Preservation and proceeds will be used to restore the Trust's steam engine, Locomotive 1225.

Tickets are available at Beitner's Jewelry, 904 W. Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth and Joe's Hobby Center, 7845 Wyoming in Dearborn.

Fares are $33 for adult coach, $25 for children under 12 and $60 first class for Tours 9 and 10. Tour 11 is $20, $15 and $40.

Tickets are also available by writing to Michigan State Trust for Railway Preservation, P.O. Box 815, East Lansing, 48823.

In Plymouth, the train will stop at the C&O Freight Office on Starkweather in Old Village.

Alcohol awareness program planned

An Alcohol Awareness Program will be held at the 35th District Court in Plymouth's City Hall (second floor) on June 2, 9 and 16.

Sponsored by the court, the program is open to the public. The meetings will include open discussion.

On June 2 at 8 p.m. the pharmacology of alcohol - effects on the body - will be discussed. Frank Hollingsworth will lead the discussion.

On June 9, also at 8 p.m. progression of alcohol to disease state will be discussed. Again Hollingsworth will head the panel.

At 8 p.m. on June 16 a two-member panel from Alanon will head a discussion on how alcohol affected their lives and how A.A. and Alanon helped them.

Most dragons would pale next to a pink one

Princess Pinkie falls in love with a commoner, but Queen Contemptua and Pea Green plot with the wicked witch to turn Pinkie into a scaly green dragon.

Don't worry - Prince Hal saves the day.

If all of this makes little sense, it's probably because you haven't seen the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "Pale Pink Dragon," to be presented May 23 and 30 at Central Middle School.

The first Guild production in several years solely for youngster's entertainment, the play is directed by Bruce Allen Scudder assisted by Dave Higginbotham, and produced by Clemie Cyburt.

It also features a cast of young adults and children, including Bonnie Knaus, a senior at Canton High, playing Princess Pinkie; Anne Marie Roberts, a Salem sophomore, playing Queen Contemptua; Monique Hineman, a Hilbert Junior High 7th grader, playing Pea Green; Erika Odom, a Salem High student, playing the witch; and Andy Wagner, a Salem senior, playing Prince Hal.

Three performances of "Pale Pink Dragon" are scheduled, at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Tickets are available at the door or by calling Karen Groves at 420-2161. For more information, call Phyllis Counts at 453-1186.

Salem, Canton girls run at Class A regions

Neither of the Salem or Canton girls' track squads scored in the top teams at the Class A Regional at Livonia Churchill Saturday, but head coaches from each team still felt satisfied with the effort.

The Rocks scored 12 points, while Canton failed to get on the scoreboard.

Kelly Bemiss was fourth in the 200-meter race with a time of 27.2 seconds, while Dawn Johnson was fourth in the long jump with a leap of 16 feet six and three-quarters inches to account for the Rocks points.

Shelly Simons was sixth in the 800-meter race with a time of 2:30, while Ruth Sample was sixth in the 3200-meter race, 11:59. Sample set a school record in that event.

Linda Lybarger was sixth in the 400-meter race with an effort of 62.3 seconds and Cindy McSurely was seventh in the 200-meter low hurdles, 32.2 seconds.

Salem's 400-meter relay of Jane Gary, Beth Moskal, Kelly Bemiss and Johnson. They clocked 51.9 seconds.

In dual action, last week, the Rocks fell to Trenton 71-52 and are 3-3 in dual meets.

"We didn't send anybody to state but felt good about our performances," said

Salem coach Scott Kurtz.

Canton's highlight of the meet, according to coach Bob Richardson, was the 4:20.8 clocking by the Chiefs mile relay team. (Richardson gave scores in yards to be consistent with earlier information.)

Lori Shufeldt, Ruthann Trout, Ida Williams and Kathy Brophy teamed for that time, which was seven full seconds off the foursome's best previous time.

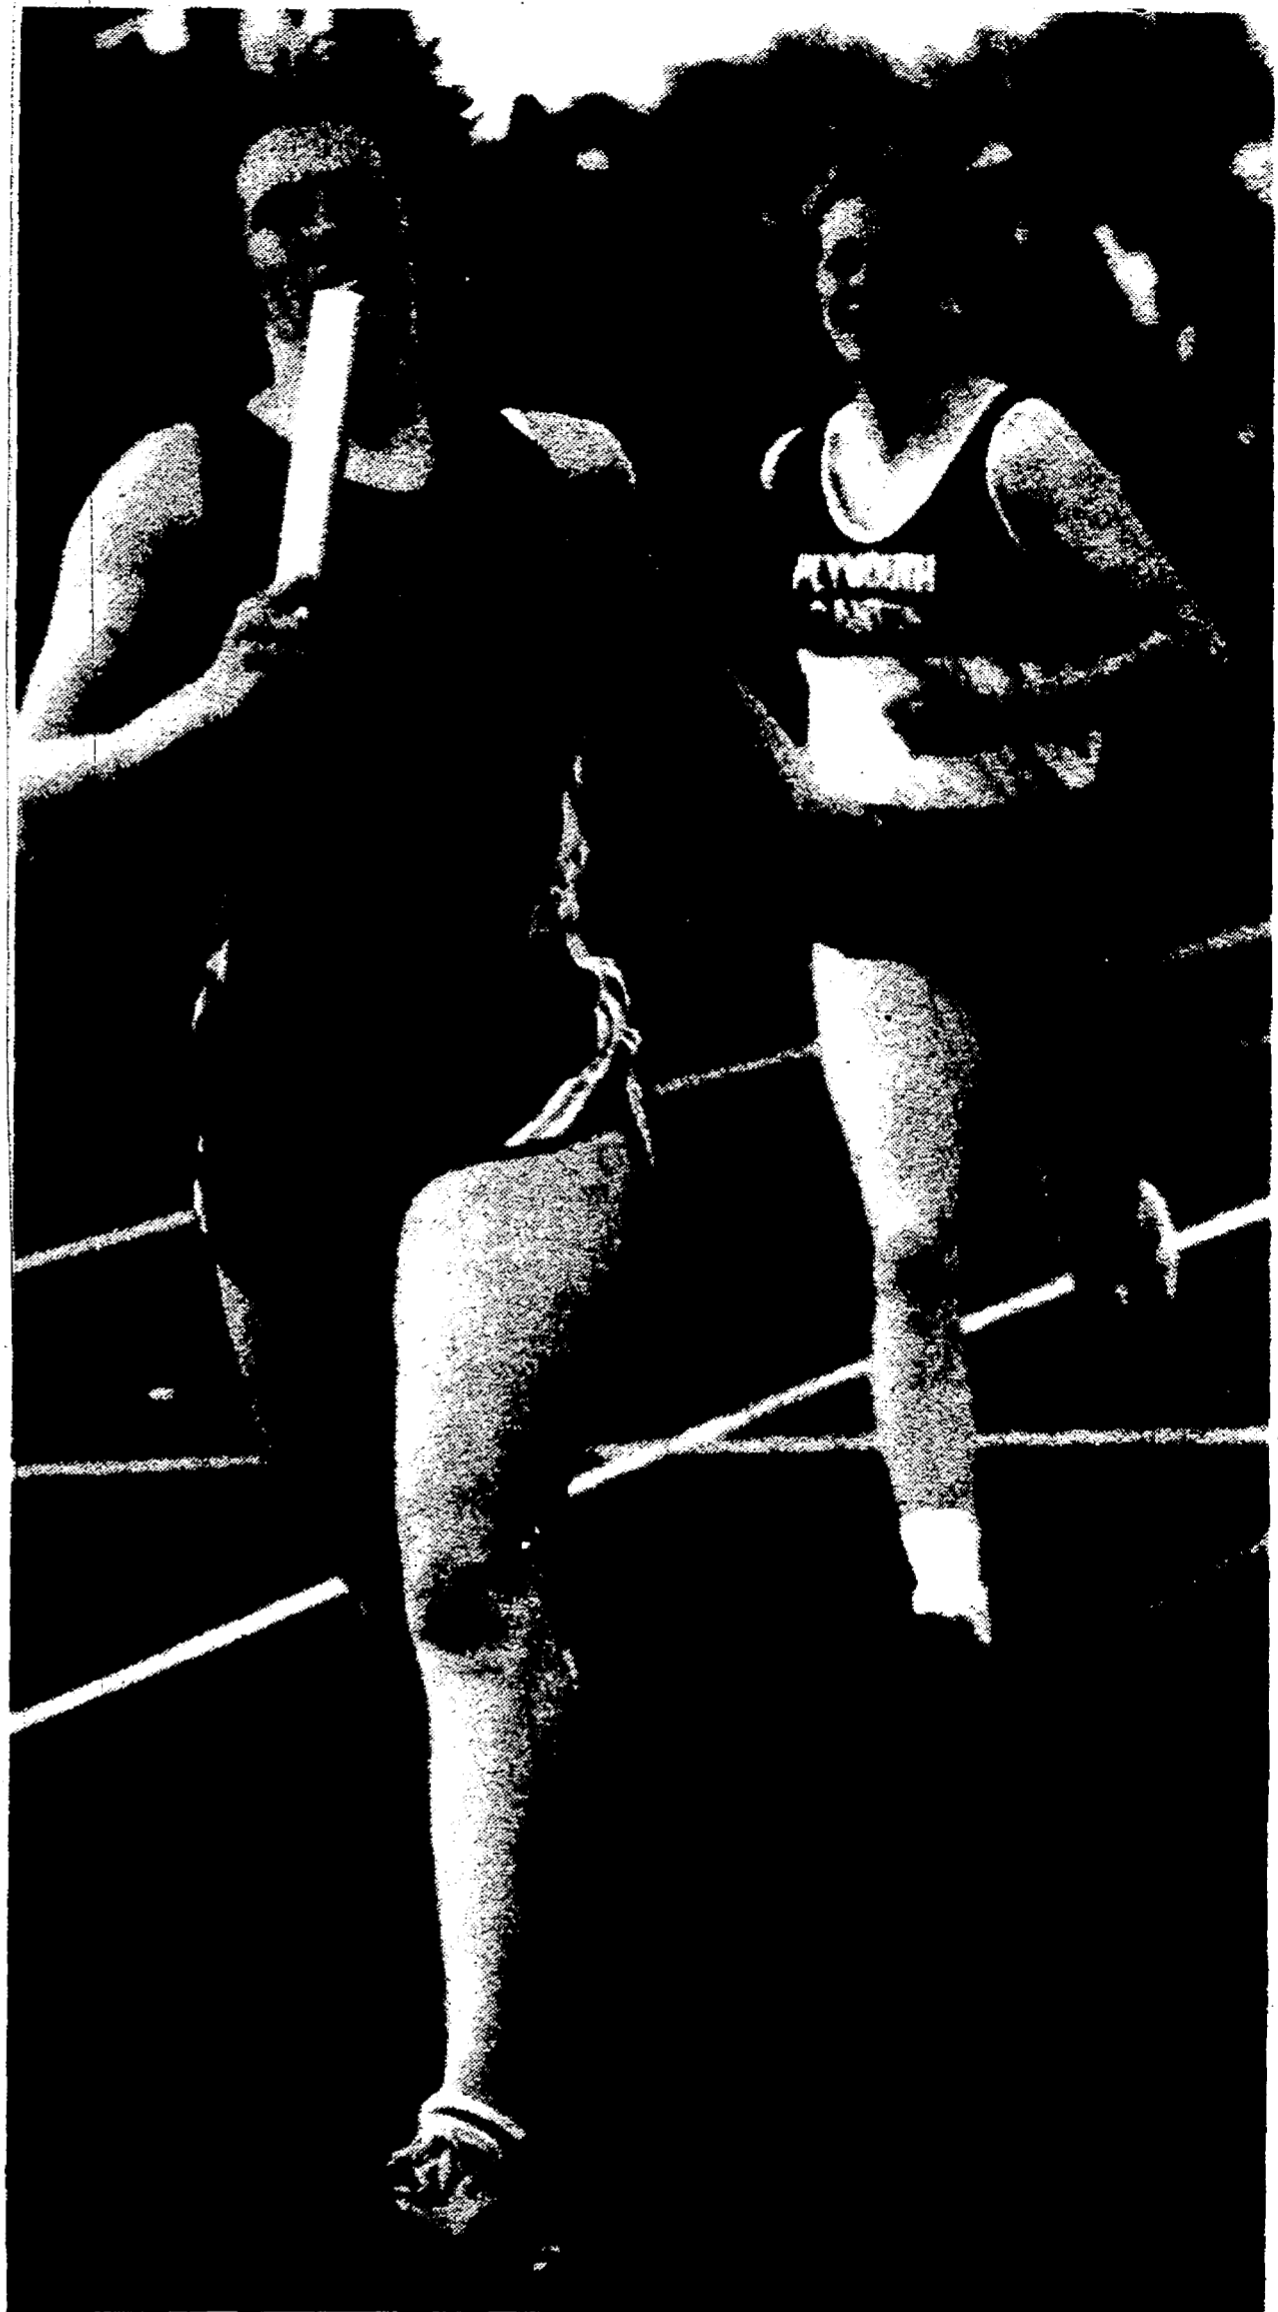

Other performances for Canton included Lisa Wood's 12.6 seconds in the 100-yard dash; Pam Chelian's 18.2 in the 110-yard low hurdles; Sue Kaske's 18.7 in the same race; Katharina Seiler's 29.6 in the 220-yard dash; Trout's 63.2 in the 440-yard dash; Chelian's 35.2 in the 220 low hurdles and Williams 2:37.7 in the 880-yard run.

The 440-yard crew of Colleen Crissey, Wood, Seiler and Jill Osmon clocked 54.8.

Both the Rocks and the Chiefs will compete in their league meets May 27.

The Rocks will travel to Dearborn Edsel Ford for the league match after a Dearborn dual today at home at 3:30 p.m. The league finals will begin at 6 p.m.

Canton will be at Farmington Harrison for its league meet. Field events start at 4 p.m. and finals at 6 p.m. Admission is $1.

Canton diamondmen 19-2 overall, 2nd in the state

BY KEN VOYLES

Canton's baseball squad continued to show its strength last week as the Chiefs won their seventh Western Six League game, without defeat, Monday night, after taking the Midland Invitational over the weekend.

The Chiefs also beat Northville in both ends of a conference doubleheader last week and knocked off Walled Lake Central 11-0 in a state qualifying game. Canton is now 19-2 overall and 7-0 in the league.

According to Canton coach Fred Crissey the Chiefs are rated second in the state in Class A baseball by the Detroit Free Press.

On Monday, the Chiefs dumped Farmington Harrison 5-4 in a nine-inning clash.

Canton scored the winning run when Dan Smith singled. Tommie Harris came in to run for him. He went to second on a sacrifice by Scott Bricker and scored on Jeff Stemberger's single.

Canton scored three runs in the first inning and one in the third, while Harrison scored two in the first, one in the second and one in the third.

Dave Malek picked up the pitching win. He is now 5-1 for the season. He struck out four and walked two while on the mound. Mike Battaglia also hurled for the Chiefs.

Steve Schumacher and Keith Stone clubbed two hits each to pace Canton's hitters.

On Saturday, the Chiefs won three games at Midland to gain the tourney title.

Canton opened with 4-0 win over seventh ranked Midland Dow. They then knocked off fourth ranked Alpena 6-5 and Mt. Pleasant 12-11 in the championship game.

Smith was voted the tournament's Most Valuable Player after he pitched in three games for Canton. He picked up two wins and a save. While on the mound, he had 17 strikeouts, allowed three hits and two walks. Todd Bergman got the other Canton pitching win against Mt. Pleasant.

Crissey called the competition, 'a pitchers tourney,' but cited several Canton players for hitting. Stone went 2-3 against Dow, while Stemberger was 2-3 against Alpena and Brian Capnerhurst and Jeff Cousino were 2-3 each against Mt. Pleasant.

"It's one of the more prestigious tournaments in the state. Four of the eight teams were ranked. It was obviously an exciting tournament for us," said Crissey.

Against Northville, last Wednesday, the Chiefs won 19-6 and 12-5.

In the first game Mike Fifer was 4-4 including a home run and had five RBIs. Schumacher, Stemberger, Cousino, Stone and Fred Rumberger added two hits each.

Malek got the pitching win. Mark Gladden and Smith also saw work in that first game.

In the second, Bricker and Steve Johnson went 3-3 at the plate and Stemberger added two hits to give Jamie Chilciff his fourth win of the season.

In the state qualifying matchup the Chiefs had no trouble with Western winning 11-0.

Smith got the shutout win. He threw nine strikeouts without a walk. He received relief from Bergman.

Bricker had three hits, Schumacher, Stemberger and Capnerhurst added two hits each.

Canton will face Walled Lake Western today at home at 4 p.m. in a league tussle and compete in pre-district action Friday at North Farmington. Game time is 4 p.m. On Saturday the Chiefs will compete in the Windsor Invitational and play at noon that day against Detroit Northwestern.

Rock netters win dual Monday

Monday night the Salem tennis squad dumped Suburban Eight League Livonia Bentley 6-1 in a conference dual.

Scott Crespo won his match at No. 1 singles, 6-1 and 6-1. Dave Goodsir won No. 2 singles, 6-2 and 6-1, while Doug Baker won No. 3 singles, 6-3 and 6-3 and Charlie Ploughman lost his No. 4 singles match 6-0 and 6-3.

Jeff Howell and Jack Thomas teamed for a 6-1 and 6-2 win at No 2 doubles. Rob Rowland and Marck Purcell won No. 2 doubles, 6-3 and 6-1, and John Wimmer and Paul Weber won No. 3 doubles 6-3 and 6-3.

Salem also fell to Dearborn 5-2 last week.

The Rocks will face Northville Friday at home. Match time is 4 p.m.

Salem coach protests outcome of state golf regions

BY KEN VOYLES

Salem girls golf coach Jim Stevens has filed a protest over the result of the 1981 Class A Regional at Travis Point Golf Course in Ann Arbor.

The Rocks finished with a score of 420, while Ann Arbor Pioneer had a 419. Our Lady of Mercy won the region title with a 389 and Ann Arbor Huron was second at 401. The result of the coming ruling will decide third place and as trip to the state tourney.

Stevens claims that the Pioneer school used an illegal caddy thus breaking state high school rules.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association governs the varsity sport and will make a ruling sometime this week.

"The state says if you use caddies they must be members of the team and on the eligibility list. They (Pioneer) used a kid from another team," said Stevens Monday night.

Stevens added that the director of the tournament Richard Dodd went along with the use of the caddy by Pioneer.

Individually, Lisa Marino paced the Rocks with a 95. Carol Ross shot a 103, Nancy Stevens a 110 and Beth Miller a 112.

"Travis Point is a very difficult course to hold a girls regional on," said Stevens. "There were a tremendous number of water hazards and other hazards that made it difficult. Don't get me wrong it's a fine course.

"All the coaches agreed that the course was just too difficult based on what the girls are used to. That's why the scores were so high."

"It was a real mess," said Canton coach Ann Buie who was still unable to obtain the Chiefs individual scores by press time.

If the ruling goes for the Rocks, they will travel to Marshall for the state finals on June 1 at the Marshall Country Club.

If not they will round out the dual season with a match against Pinckney at Pinckney.

Salem also bested Canton early last week 205-235.

Marino shot a 45, while Stevens shot a 55 and Miller a 57.

Janis McClone shot 52 to pace Canton. Debbie Dickinson had a 58, Cindy Sochacki a 59 and Kim Massey a 66.

The Chiefs end the season with a dual match against Saline tomorrow and the league competition, along with Salem, May 27. The league meet will take place at Burroughs Farms.

WSDP will broadcast baseball

WSDP (88.1) FM will carry its first baseball game ever live when the Salem Rocks face Belleville in a homestand tomorrow.

The broadcast will begin at 4 p.m. and include play-by-play coverage by sportscasters Dave Callahan and Ross Rhinehart.

The experimental broadcast will help determine the feasibility of expanded baseball coverage in the future.

Jr. football sign-up

Junior baseball season just started and already its time to think junior football.

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Football Association's Lions and Steelers will begin their registration for players ages nine to 13, May 30 and continue June 6 and June 13.

Registration will be held in the cafeteria at Canton High from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Players fees are $35 for one member of a family, $30 for the second, $25 for the third and so on. Cost for cheerleaders is $20 each.

A birth certificate is needed when you register.

Salem boys 3rd at regions, several qualify for state

Salem's boys track squad had its best showing ever at the Class A Regionals Saturday at Livonia Churchill.

The Rocks scored 62 points for third place behind Ann Arbor Huron, 103 and a half, and Ann Arbor Pioneer, 79.

Salem will be sending its three relay teams and five individuals to the state finals May 30 at Flint Northwestern. Tomorrow the Rocks will finish their dual season with a home meet against Dearborn. The Rocks are now 5-2 overall in duals.

Bob Pittaway and Dave Skone were crowned regional champs for Salem. Pittaway won the discus with a throw of 165 feet eight inches, while Skone cleared 12 feet one inch to win the pole vault.

The Rocks' other first came in the 440-yard relay as Scott Bublin, Pittaway, Brian Lewandowski and Tom Kelliher teamed for 44.2 seconds.

Leigh Langkabel also advanced to the state meet with a second in the 440-yard dash, clocking 51 seconds.

Mark Tanski was third in the discus for Salem with a throw of 147 feet two inches, while Bublin was third in the 220-yard dash, 23.1 seconds and the 880-yard relay foursome of Bublin, Lewandowski, Scott Smith and Pittaway clocked 1:32.8 for third.

The mile relay crew of Lewandowski, Mike McBride, Pittaway and Langkabel clocked 3:27 to make the state meet.

McBride missed making the finals in the 880-yard run when he clocked 2:00.7 for fifth place. Rob Hanschu was seventh in the shot put, 44-9 and Smith was eighth in the 220-yard dash, 23.7 seconds.

"That was one of the highest point totals we've ever had at a regional. There were good performances by everybody on the team," said Salem coach Gary Balconi.

Earlier in the week, the Rocks dumped Trenton 96-36 in a Suburban Eight League match.

Salem took the top three spots in the discus with Pittaway, Tanski and Pat Tortora, in that order.

Hanschu was second in the shot put, while Jim Spooner and Yung Hvo-Cho went one-two in the long jump.

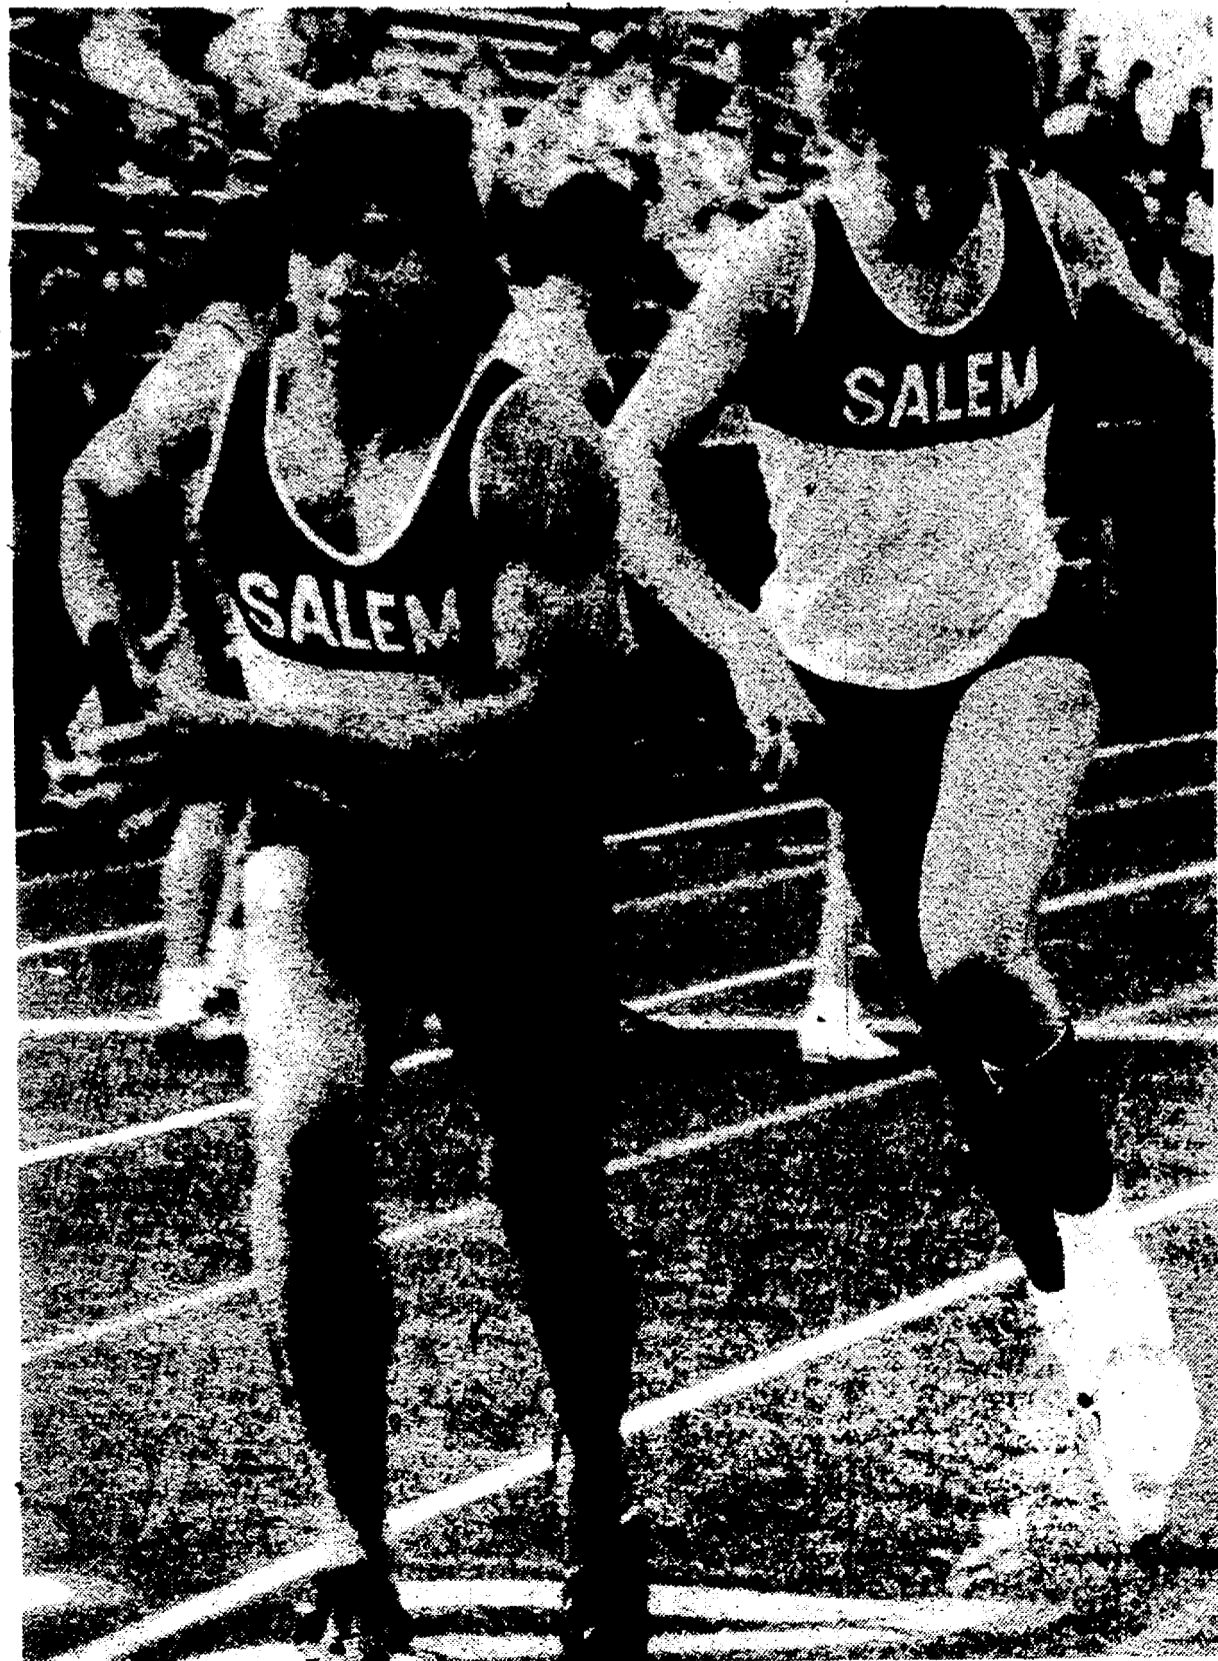

Scott Fuller won the high jump, six feet two inches, while Skone was second in the pole vault at 12 feet and Mike Perkowski was third, 11-6.

Steve Schaffer won the high hurdles, 15.8 seconds, and the low hurdles, 42.2 seconds. Arvinder Sooch was second in the high hurdles and Mike Sharp was second in the low hurdles for Salem.

Langkabel won the 100-yard dash, 10.5 seconds, and Smith was third, 10.6.

Van Wagoner new basketball mentor at Canton

BY MIKE HENSHAW

Dave Van Wagoner, a five-year freshman and junior varsity coach in the Canton basketball program, was selected as the new Chief varsity coach Thursday.

"I'm really happy, and I'm looking forward to the challenge," said Van Wagoner Monday. "My goal has always been to be a head coach, and I feel very fortunate to be head coach here at Canton."

Van Wagoner, who at 27 is one of the area's youngest head coaches, was appointed to succeed three-year coach Craig Bell. Bell resigned last month, to spend more time with his family. During his three-year stint Bell recorded a 44-22 mark including two Western Six League titles and Canton's first district title.

Van Wagoner's first freshman team at Canton went undefeated in 1976-77, and seniors from that squad in 1980 served as the nucleus of the Chiefs first district champions. Over the past two years Van Wagoner coached at the junior varsity level and posted a 22-17 record.

A guard and captain of the 1972 Plymouth High team, he went on to earn a degree in physical education and recreation from Central Michigan University in 1976. Currently a health and physical education teacher at Pioneer Middle School, Van Wagoner has taught in the Plymouth-Canton District for five years. He and his wife Ann reside in Westland.

Van Wagoner landed his new position after extensive interviews conducted by Canton principal Kent Buikema, Plymouth-Canton Athletic Director John Sandman and Assistant AD Paul Cummings. He inherits a Chief squad which posted a 10-10 mark last year.

"We have three starters returning next year as seniors, and a good JV squad of players coming up," said Van Wagoner. "Having been in the program for five years I have worked with these players already, which I feel will definitely work to our advantage."

"There will be a few changes in our game, offensively and defensively, but we'll basically use the same style of play," he continued. "One of our goals in addition to being competitive will be to generate greater community interest in the team."

Basketball enthusiasm is an underlying characteristic of the Van Wagoner family. Dave's brothers, Tim and John, played for Salem and his father, John Sr., is the organizer of the Plymouth over-40 Three-on-Three League. In addition, his uncle, George, has been the head coach of Livonia Stevenson's team for 16 years.

Thirteen teams competed in the event. Finals were conducted Saturday.

Canton wins 6th in league, ready for pre-districts

BY KEN VOYLES

Canton's softball squad bombed Farmington Harrison Monday night 19-0 and continued to dominate the Western Six League conference. The Chiefs also suffered their lone league loss thus far in a loss earlier in the week to Northville.

On Monday, the Chiefs got a mess of power from Pearly Cunningham with four hits including a home run, three hits from Marianne Pink including a double, three hits from Marie Krashovetz and two hits from Joni Sommerville to gain their sixth conference win in seven outings. Canton is 7-4 overall.

"We were really hitting the ball. Just ripping it real well," said Canton coach Max Sommerville.

Pink pitched the first four innings of the Harrison game and got the win. She struck out five and walked two. Cindy Sovine finished the contest and struck out three with two walks. The pair gave up two hits.

Canton scored five runs in the first inning, three of those earned; six in the third, three earned; one in the fourth; and seven in the fifth, all earned.

This week the Chiefs finish their conference season with a game at Walled Lake Western at 4 p.m. today. On Friday, Canton will play at home against Milford Lakeland in pre-district action. Game time is 4 p.m.

Salem softball team wins Monday

Salem's girls softball contingent defeated Milford Monday night 7-2. The Rocks are now 7-10 overall.

Salem baseball team 10-10

Salem's varsity baseball squad dropped a Suburban Eight League game last week to Dearborn and evened its record at 10-10 overall and 4-5 in the conference.

The Rocks tallied a lone run in the fifth inning and scattered five hits in the game. Dearborn scored one run in the first inning and two in the fifth. Both teams were charged with an error.

John Hetkowski singled to start the Rocks lone scoring rally. He moved to second on a wild pitch and went to third base on sacrifice from Kevin Merrill. He then crossed the plate on a wild pitch.

Mick Madsen paced Salem's hitting with three in four trips to the plate and Merrill added the Rocks fifth hit of the day.

Jim Jimmerson started the game and took the defeat. He pitched four and one-third innings. He struck out three and walked three while on the mound.

Bill Culver finished the game for Salem. He had a one strikeout.

Ahead for the Rocks are games with Belleville and Milford on Thursday and Friday, respectively. Salem will be home against the Tigers, at 4 p.m. and travel to Milford.

The Milford game is the Rocks' pre-district contest. It starts at 4 p.m.

If the Rocks win that game they will face the winner of the Farmington-Walled Lake Western game, next Saturday in district competition at Canton High's diamond.

Then on Saturday Canton will face Westland John Glenn in a non-league doubleheader at home. First game starts at noon.

Canton's weekend games with Livonia Churchill and Redford Union were rained out.

On Wednesday, the Chiefs split a doubleheader with Northville winning the first game 23-3 and dropping the second, 11-10.

In the first game, Sovine hurled her second no hitter of the season as the Chiefs won on the mercy ruling.

Krashovetz, Barb Ruppercht and Vikci Skeen each had four hits in four trips to the plate to lead Canton. Brenda Stoner and Sommerville had three hits each and Pink added two.

Pink was the loser in the second game. She threw six walks in the first inning and allowed four runs on one hit. Northville added five in the second inning on two hits and two in the fifth on a walk and a home run.

Canton scored two in the first, one in the second, four in the third, two in the sixth and one in the seventh to close.

Pink had three hits in three trips, while Krashovetz added two hits including a double and Robyn Hudgins had two hits including a triple.

Pink started the game for the Chiefs but Cunningham suffered the loss when she threw the two run homer in the fifth frame.

Diane Murphy got the pitching victory for the Rocks. She went the distance, struck out one and had two walks.

Milford scored single runs in the first and fifth frames, while the Rocks tallied three in the second, two in the third and two in the fifth.

In the second inning, Laurie Larski was safe on an error. She stole second and went to third when Mary Pryslak singled. Theresa Cooney was then safe on an error and two runs scored. Denise Zonca singled in the other run.

Jarski singled to start the Rocks third frame. Pryslak then singled and they both moved on wild pitches. Jarski then scored on a wild pitch and Cooney hit into a fielder's choice to score the other run.

In the fifth inning, Cheryl Sobkow singled, stole second, Pryslak singled and Sobkow went to third. Pryslak then stole second and Chris Breean singled to score Sobkow. Cooney hit a sacrifice to bring in Pryslak.

Pryslak had four hits in four trips to the plate for Salem, while Zonca had two hits.

Last week, the Rocks dropped both ends of a Suburban Eight League doubleheader to Dearborn, 13-9 and 14-7.

The Rocks will travel to Belleville for another league contest tomorrow and then play Northville at home on Friday at 4 p.m. in pre-district action.

Chief tennis win

Monday night the Canton tennis team was beaten by Western Six League foe 6-1 in a conference match. The Chiefs are now 7-2 overall.
