For $1, city seeks to unload old dump

BY KEN VOYLES

The 40-acre dumpsite in Salem Township owned by the City of Plymouth is up for sale and it's going for a bargain price, so say city officials.

The property, out of use as a dumpsite since 1970, has been the scene of much controversy between the city, the state's Department of Natural Resources and the Washtenaw County Board of Health.

The city was given an ultimatum by the DNR in 1980 to clean up the site after accusations from the DNR, the Washtenaw Board of Health and local residents that hazardous wastes were leaking out into the streams and water table near the property in a form called "leachate."

According to City Engineer Kenneth West, the city was told to clean up the property, located just north of Five Mile Road and west of Chubb Road, once and for all. The repairs, said West, would have totaled over $2 million.

At the time the city balked on the costly repairs, partly because it was dealing with a half dozen different agencies of the DNR and Washtenaw County and partly because of the arbitrary selection of

Canton residents upset over road conditions

BY DICK BROWN

Canton Township's Nov. 10 board meeting played to a full house, thanks to an item on the agenda concerning the bad condition of several Canton Township roads.

Over 100 people jammed the board chambers and stood in the hall to hear complaint after complaint about the conditions of roads in south Canton township.

The township board is looking for ways to improve unpaved portions of Lilley, Sheldon, Warren, Morton-Taylor and Palmer.

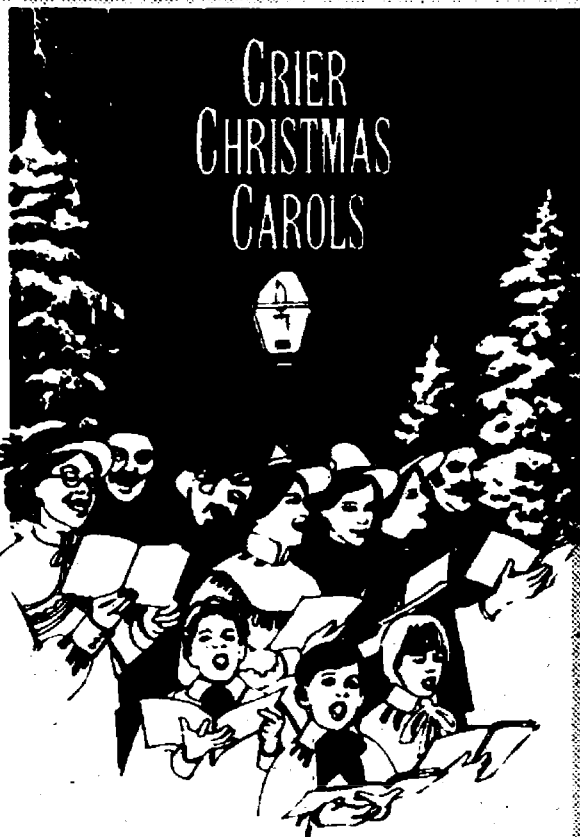

There has been correspondence and meetings with Wayne County Road Commission officials but while county officials are sympathetic to the problems of the township's unpaved roads, there is

City offers tree bargain

Sturdy young Maple trees are still available through Plymouth's 1981 Tree Planting Program. The City Commission passed a resolution Monday night accepting the bid of Green Ridge Nursery for $6,892 for 68 trees already on order.

The trees can be ordered for city property on the street section of residential lots at a cost of $25. The trees the city is buying cost $118, a cut rate for trees, which average over $200, according to City Manager Henry Graper Jr.

One-way Penniman draws public comments

The Plymouth administration has received several complaints recently over the new one-way patterns on Penniman Avenue between Harvey and Deer Streets.

The complaints, said City Manager Henry Graper Jr. at Monday night's regular City Commission meeting, have been concerned with the slowing up of traffic by the newly created parking malls; one-way west from Main and one-way east from Main.

"In most cases we can't even get the people to identify themselves or their specific complaint," said Graper. "People have either been 100 per cent for or 100 per cent against the one-way streets."

City Engineer Kenneth West recently completed an informal time study around Penniman. As a part of that study two alternate routes around Penniman were tested for time differences. The first route is Union to Church and back to Main, the second is Ann Arbor Trail to Harvey. The former route takes between 90 and 120 seconds, while the latter can be traversed in 57 to 88 seconds.

"The time never goes over the 120 second mark," Graper said.

Commissioner Karl Gansler said his 12-year-old daughter pointed out that the traffic light at Penniman and Main is still functioning.

Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry said his department and the West's engineer department are looking into removing the light or changing it to a flashing light.

Berry said a timing pattern with Ann Arbor Trail was being worked out to allow for safe pedestrian traffic across Penniman and Main.

Plymouth energy program to be model

BY KEN VOYLES

The Plymouth Energy Program (PEP) has proved to be a very successful way of reaching and teaching community residents about energy efficiency, according to the results of the PEP survey conducted by PEP head John Behmann.

The returns were compiled last week and this week. Behmann mailed 975 surveys, which are designed for three purposes, and received a 22 per cent response. In comparison, the PEP program reached 46 per cent of the Plymouth residents through its infrared outreach program.

Behmann said the survey was planned to find out if any of those 46 per cent made energy improvements since seeing their homes on infrared, and if so what types of improvements. Also, Behmann needed to complete the final stage of the PEP outreach program and find out how much PEP influenced those actions.

The results are encouraging. Of those returning the survey 82 per cent said yes they had taken energy efficient measures since the last heating season.

Sixty-four per cent said the infrared program influenced their decision to take those efficiency measures. The majority also felt that the most valuable source of information from the program was the infrared photography.

To date, says Behmann, the total cost (via Federal Grant) of photographing the entire city, researching, and compiling information, preparing packets, and coordinating meetings and workers, came to $6.23 per building. Of those surveyed 54.1 per cent considered that figure a very cost efficient one.

Behmann said he will now go back to the state's energy administration and present it with the final step of the PEP program, the survey results.

The state is entering into a new phase of energy planning with 10 communities slated to start an infrared program based upon the Plymouth experience. Because Plymouth is the expert on the grass roots project its experiences will be very valuable for future use, says Behmann.

Behmann also said that Plymouth will continue to have its infrared photos on file for residents to view. PEP is also going to start production on a series of Cable tv programs designed to show step-by-step methods for making energy efficient improvements.

"Ideally we would like the program to be ongoing. We still have our volunteers, but we got cut back on funding and it's put a crimp in our plans," said Behmann.

The PEP energy center located in the Dunning-Hough Library is also on standby, and Behmann is reluctant to open it until it can be put to good use.

"Because this is a new phenomenon this is a process of education," said Behmann.

Getting close

Plymouth Community Fund is getting close to the $340,000 goal. At last Friday's report luncheon pledges and cash donations hit $259,757, representing 76.4 per cent of the goal.

Shop Plymouth program is initiated

First National Bank of Plymouth kicked off its "Christmas Shop Plymouth" program Nov. 11 at a Plymouth Chamber of Commerce brunch.

Each participating merchant in Plymouth will display window posters and counter cards encouraging residents to do their Christmas shopping in Plymouth.

Kenneth Currie, president of First National Bank of Plymouth, said, "It's not necessary that people shop only in Plymouth, but because our dollars really work harder when they're spent at home, we encourage everyone to 'Christmas Shop Plymouth.'"

Woodland Land Fill, against Canton Township for three weeks.

The postponement was granted to give attorneys more time to gather information.

Michigan Waste Systems is challenging the action of the township board in rejecting a request to expand the existing landfill at Hannan road south of Michigan Avenue. The firm has received approval from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for developing 105 acres lying south of the Conrail right of way. If the expansion is made the landfill will extend all the way to Van Born road.

The landfill firm contends in its bill of complaint that the DNR approval supercedes any local regulations.

The new hearing date before Judge Farmer has been set for Dec. 4, but because of a crowded court docket, there may even be a further delay.

Canton trustees refuse C-2 zoning request

BY DICK BROWN

Canton Township board members unanimously denied a rezoning request of Jack Lechnar at the Nov. 10 board meeting.

Lechnar, who owns a 2.2 acre site on Canton Center road occupied by Canton Gas and Oil Company, had requested that the property be rezoned from its present R-3 single family residential designation to a C-2 commercial designation to allow for a strip commercial development project.

The township board, in rejecting the request, went along with the Canton Township Planning Commission and Wayne County Planning Commission recommendations that the request be denied.

Planners based their objections on the arguments that approval would constitute spot zoning, that a commercial strip would be incompatible with adjacent land uses, would be inconsistent with intentions of township's master land use plan and that an adequate amount of commercial property is available in the vicinity.

The land, which is located between Cherry Hill Road and Palmer Road, currently is used for a gas station and car repair operation.

After the board reached its decision Lechnar and Fred Hacker, speaking for Lechnar, told the trustees that they would pursue the rezoning of the property through the courts.

Goodfellows get ready

The Christmas season is edging closer and Plymouth and Canton Goodfellows organizations are seeking help in compiling lists of needy families in Plymouth and Canton in need of some extra holiday cheer.

Suggestions of names to add to the list of Plymouth and Plymouth Township Goodfellows can be made by calling Plymouth Fire Department, 453-1234, ext. 44, or by calling 453-7284.

Those with names of families to add to the Canton Goodfellow list should call 397-1000 and ask for Building Department.

Both Goodfellow groups will be on the streets hawking newspapers on Dec. 5.

Main-Ann Arbor Rd. widening plan contested

BY KEN VOYLES

The preliminary hearing in the case of the Michigan Department of Transportation and the owners of Daly's Restaurant at Main and Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth was held Friday afternoon, but no final court date was set.

The suit filed by the state is over the widening of the Main-Ann Arbor intersection. The state has argued it needs 17 feet from the Daly's parking lot to construct a right hand turn lane, which would allow the creation of a center turn lane for north-south traffic on Main.

According to Gary Grace, son of Bud Grace, owner of the operation which has been at the Main-Ann Arbor intersection for 63 years, no court date was set at the hearing. And although Daly's attorney made an offer to the state, said Grace who did not attend the hearing, no response had come forth as of Monday.

The controversy started when the state requested 17 feet of the Daly's parking lot to widen the intersection for a left hand turn lane. The four lanes at the intersection currently are each 10 feet wide. The state's plans were to increase each lane to 11 feet, make a turn lane, and add two foot curbs on each side of that part of the intersection.

Daly's offered the state seven feet originally and ended up with a suit on its hands. "We feel it is unfair for one side of the road to provide all 17 feet," said Grace. "We would lose one row of parking and be forced to provide angle parking."

Grace claims losing the piece of property would make a difference in his business' in-out volume. "We still do 40 per cent of our volume with curb service," he said.

Daly's has 24 curb places, where customers are served in their cars, plus 40 to 45 other parking places. At one time, says Grace, Daly's had angle parking and a double row of canopies supporting 48 curb spaces. He says half the curb capacity was eliminated after customers had problems getting in and out of the business.

"Why in a 25 mile-an-hour intersection does the state need 11 foot lanes and curbing?" Grace said. "If the state went to 10 foot lanes, as are in there now, and eliminated the curbing they would only need eight or nine feet of our property. This would be fair," said Grace. "On paper there is no reason why the state can't take 50-50 from each side of Main."

Grace adds that if the restaurant loses the coming court battle he will ask to have the state buy the entire piece of property on the basis of their resulting condemnation of the 17 feet of property.

"My father (Bud) told me when he first built the restaurant he went to the city administration at the time to check and see if any further right-of-way would be needed. Of course it's not easy to see way down the road," Grace said.

The city administration, meanwhile, is supportive of Grace's claim that 10 feet lanes would suit the intersection. City Manager Henry Graper Jr. said Monday that he has no problems with 10 foot lanes.

"Frankly we want to see a lane there," said Grace. "We've been at the intersection for a long time and know what it's like."

Grace is hoping to settle the matter out of court with the state, and feels the lack of a court date after the preliminary hearing is a good sign the state is rethinking its suit.

The project to widen the intersection is slated to start in March of 1982 if funding is available at that time.

City seeks buyer for old dump site

2 THE COMMUNITY CRIER November 18, 1981

improvements called for, West said.
The city was then told to start a complete hydro-geological survey of the section of land. That has since been completed and turned over the DNR, where it waits to this day for evaluation. According to Susan Norton in the Water Quality Department of the DNR, major fund losses and shifts to other projects have prevented her group from studying the report.
The report, prepared for the city by Geotechnical and Materials Consultants of Plymouth, concludes that very little leachate is seeping from the site.
West said the original complaint on the property came in 1967. Water was running from the north end of the site southward through the site and out again at the south and east sides. At that time a clay dike was constructed at the north of the site to prevent the flow of water through the site.
Earlier a sewer pipe had been run through the middle of the dumpsite on a west-east axis. West said that also contributed to the fears about leachate because the pipe ran right through the dump. In his opinion the sewer should never have been implanted. Then the only water runoff on the site would have been from the crest of the property with surface water running off on both sides, and no fear of it coming in contact with the dumped material.
As part of the cleanup the DNR called for a cleaning of that sewer line. West says to clean that up properly would wash much of the material downstream and affect other property. The city doesn't want to be responsible for that result.

His claim is that that pipe should never have been run through the middle of the dumpsite if the DNR wanted to avoid moving leachate material downstream. Now he says the DNR has called for the abandonment of that pipe and the construction of a new pipe around the west, south and east edges of site. Again the dollars involved are staggering. The pipe construction alone would run $250,000.
As part of the recently completed study two borings were tested, one on the north end and one on the south. According to West both borings went 20 feet below the level of rubbish at the site and found no leaking water from the dump at all.
West said "Our chemist said he found nothing unusual in the samples we took from the streams around the site." He added that Washtenaw's Board of Health recently approved the sinking of an individual well within a quarter mile of the site. "That has to mean something," he said.
So the city is trying to sell off the property and put the whole matter to rest. The price, according to both West and City Manager Henry Graper Jr. would be minimal, maybe even $1, depending on the interested party.
West said if an individual owned the property and not the city, the DNR just might back off, for a while anyway.

"The study also said the dike at the north has been effective," said West. He added that the city would make improvements at the site if they were proved absolutely necessary and in his mind they have not been proved so.
The report concludes that "Groundwater levels in the area appear to be of sufficient depth to avoid contact with the buried refuse...the dike constructed at the north end has indeed served its purpose of intercepting north-south flowing groundwater that might otherwise seep into the disposal site."

The report does call for the sealing of the left flank of the landfill where some leachate had been originally discovered.

Bee Jay's fire called arson

Last Tuesday's fire at Bee Jays Pizza, 628, S. Main in Plymouth, has been classified an arson following preliminary investigations, Plymouth Fire Department Captain Tom Lenaghan revealed Tuesday afternoon.
"There are indications an accelerant was used," said Lenaghan. "As far as whether it was a breaking and entering and arson, or just arson we are unable to say at this time."
The fire was confined mainly to the kitchen area of the business, but caused heavy damage nonetheless, said Lenaghan, who added that the building is still structurally sound. The Pilgrim Printer shop right next door to Bee Jays suffered smoke damage.

According to a Plymouth Police report the southwest window of the business was knocked in, and the northwest window was found wide open. There was also other evidence pointing to a possible breaking and entering before the blaze, including a fresh foot print, and the displacement of a steel drawer in which money is usually kept.

Salvation Army gets variance

The Plymouth Township Zoning Board of Appeals passed a resolution granting the request by the Salvation Army for a change in sideyard requirements for its proposed building at the former Main St. Baptist Church on S. Main Street.
The variance is 7.5 feet for the southside front section, and 13 feet for the rear southside lot.

residential the sideyard must be 20 feet, or 28 feet if the residential property is a conditional use, as it is in the Salvation Army case.
The changes were granted passed a 4-1 vote. Barb Lynch was the only dissenter.

First plans call for Plymouth-Canton changes

Legislative re-districting battle starts

BY KEELY KALESKI
Lansing Bureau

The following story covers the first proposals for re-apportioning Michigan senate and house of representative districts. In the next few weeks many more versions of redistricting will be tossed into the hopper. The congressional redistricting is also underway. In next week's edition of The Crier, Publisher Ed Wendover will report on how this controversial issue is being done, following his week in Washington where he discussed redistricting with several Michigan congressmen, including Rep. Carl Pursell and Rep. William Ford.

The 1982 Michigan Legislative Apportionment Commission composed of four Democrats and four Republicans, has before it a pair of plans for new Michigan Legislative and Senate districts. Makeup of the districts will bring some changes to City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton representation.

"Apportionment is very political; each side wants to draw lines advantageous to their party," said George Herstek, staff assistant for the Elections Division, Michigan Secretary of State Office. "The commissioners are attempting to reach a compromise on a plan. I would anticipate there are going to be more plans."

The two plans submitted initially by GOP and Democratic members of the commission would significantly alter legislative boundaries in the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township. Population increases in these areas from 1970 to 1980 unbalanced the districts based on the principle of one man, one vote, which requires districts of equal population.

Re-apportionment occurs every 10 years by decree of the 1963 Michigan state constitution which created the eight-member Legislative Apportionment Commission.

Present districts line up like this:

The City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township in Wayne County are currently in House District 52 with York, Augusta, Superior and Salem Townships, part of Ann Arbor Township, part of the City of Ann Arbor, part of Pittsfield Township, and the cities of Milan and Saline.

Present senatorial districting puts the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township in Senate District 14 with Northville Township, Redford Township, Livonia,

City of Northville (Wayne County portion) and part of the City of Westland.

Canton is in Senate District 13 which includes part of Ypsilanti Township in Washtenaw County, Romulus Township, Sumpter Township, VanBuren Township, City of Belleville, City of Garden City, City of Wayne and part of the cities of Taylor and Westland.

New districts would line up like this:

The new 1982 Democratic plan for the House would create three House districts instead of the present two.

"House District 28 would include the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, City of Northville, all but the northeast corner of Northville Township and the Washtenaw County Townships of Salem, Superior, Northfield, Webster, Scio, Dexter, Lima, Sylvan and Lyndon," said Eric Barr, data systems analyst for the Democratic commissioners.

"House District 21 would include the west side of Canton Township, Northeast Canton Township, the northern part of Westland and Garden City.

"House District 22 would take in the rest of Canton Township, VanBuren Township and part of the City of Westland," said Barr.

The Democratic senate plan for District 13 would include the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, the City of Northville, Northville Township, VanBuren Township, Belleville, Romulus and Taylor.

"The 1982 Republican House Plan would create a whole new house district," said Gary Maurina, data systems analyst for the Republican commissioners.

Under the Republican plan for District 14 it would include Canton Township, City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, City of Northville, Northville Township and part of Livonia and would cross over into Oakland County to pick up Farmington, Farmington Hills and southern part of Novi.

Any plan must receive a majority vote of five from the bi-partisan commission before it can be adopted.

"Ten years ago the commissioners submitted 20 plans," said Herstek. "They could not agree on a plan and it went to the Michigan Supreme Court for decision."

The procedure for adopting an apportionment plan is outlined in the state constitution. Each side, Democratic and Republican, submits its own plans.

Theoretically if a plan isn't approved, the commissioners compromise, re-draw and re-submit their plans to the commission.

If a majority of the commission, five votes, cannot agree on a plan, members individually or jointly may submit their plans to the Michigan Supreme Court.

The court then decides which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and directs that it be adopted by the commission.

The 1982 Apportionment Commission has been meeting since June.

"The commissioners have 180 days from when all necessary census information is available to decide on a plan," said Herstek.

The current apportionment plan was adopted on May 12, 1972. Until a new plan is adopted, no candidates can file for legislative office. The last day to file for public office in Michigan next year is June 1.

Legislative Apportionment Commission meetings are held every Friday at 10:30 a.m. in the Mutual Building in Lansing, and are open to the public.

The Democratic senate plan for District 13 would include the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, the City of Northville, Northville Township, VanBuren Township, Belleville, Romulus and Taylor.

"The 1982 Republican House Plan would create a whole new house district," said Gary Maurina, data systems analyst for the Republican commissioners.

Under the Republican plan, Canton Township, City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and the western half of Northville Township would be House District 19.

Under the Republican senate plan for District 14 it would include Canton Township, City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, City of Northville, Northville Township and part of Livonia and would cross over into Oakland County to pick up Farmington, Farmington Hills and southern part of Novi.

Any plan must receive a majority vote of five from the bi-partisan commission before it can be adopted.

Plymouth commissioners to discuss annual audit

Plymouth City Commission will discuss the annual audit by Post, Smythe, Lutz and Ziel, 1225 S. Main, Plymouth, during the committee-of-the-whole gathering at the end of the Dec. 7 regular meeting.

Commissioners agreed Monday night to accept the annual study of Plymouth government in action. With the report is a management letter relating 12 ways in which to bring the city in closer compliance with the government accounting and financial reporting principals of the Christian Scientists will have services on Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving Day worship services are scheduled at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth, on Nov. 26 at 10:30 a.m. The church is located at 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

There is particular emphasis in this year's Thanksgiving lesson-sermon on the love and prayer that so importantly supports families.

In addition to readings and presentation of a Thanksgiving proclamation, the hour-long public service will include a time for silent prayer, a sharing of the Lord's Prayer, hymns and spontaneous expressions of gratitude for blessings experienced through Christian Science study and healing.

Child care will be provided during the service.

National Council of Governmental Accounting.

In a preliminary remark City Manager Henry Graper Jr. said he was very happy with the finished study.

According to the study, city revenues for 1981 will come mainly from property taxes, 51.58 per cent. The other major revenue makers are state shared revenues 19.84 per cent, and the Federal revenues and grants, 9.89 per cent. Service and the police contract bring in 5.80 per cent of the total revenues.

In terms of expenditures 30.20 per cent goes for public safety and lighting, another 18.20 per cent for general government, another 9.3 per cent for capital improvement and 8.2 per cent for fringe benefits

Highways and streets take an 8.14 per cent slice of the dollar pie and culture and recreation take about 6.14 per cent of the total.

Commissioner Mark Wehmeyer pointed out that nursery industry is at a low point right now and trees are becoming a bargain, even more so through the city program.

County Road Board is broke--Residents would have to foot bill

Improving Canton roads takes cash

The natives are restless. The Nov. 10 Canton board meeting proved that when 200 plus people jammed the board room to complain about the conditions of several roads in the township.

Unfortunately the issue is a muddy one—no pun intended. The roads in question are county roads with the Wayne County Road Commission responsible for the maintenance. The cold facts of the matter are that Wayne County Road Commission, like all county road commissions in the state, does not have the money it used to have. Road funding comes from fuel taxes and from vehicle license fees.

That's where the rub comes in. With the nation's drivers taking to the road less, with the advent of vehicles getting more fuel economy and with emphasis being placed on such things as car pools and mass transit, the state is taking in less gas tax money. In addition, vehicles are being made smaller and lighter in the interest of fuel economy. The cash taken in from the sale of licenses is also less.

At the same time the costs of road maintenance, influenced by the same inflationary pressures which have boosted the cost of everything from housing to hamburgers, has soared out of sight.

Those people who crowded the Canton board chambers got no arguments from township trustees. They have long recognized that roads in the township, particularly Warren, Sheldon, Haggerty and Lilley, are bad.

For months they have been writing, setting up conferences and pleading with Wayne County Road Commission officials in an effort to improve the township's 9 miles of unpaved roads. The county road people have proved to be good conversationalists but poor in delivering road maintenance.

There's also confusion as to what constitutes good roads. At the Canton meeting there were people who demanded paved concrete roads. Some wanted blacktopped roads. Others pushed for just getting the gravel roads scraped and the drainage improved. There were even a couple of people who wanted the roads in question left just as they are—full of potholes and mud.

But those who want action should bear in mind that Canton township isn't in the road maintenance business. It is the county's responsibility.

Canton officials are seeking ways to get the roads surfaced, but the high cost would have to come from township taxpayers—one way or another. One figure tossed out at the Canton meeting for surfacing Canton roads was $26 million.

Good roads are essential for safety and convenience. They are also expensive.

The Wayne County Road Commission doesn't have a good track record in efficiency and response to the needs of county residents. The way to get the attention of those who are responsible for the county road system is to take the complaints to the Wayne County Road Commission. They might get the message if those people who jammed the Canton board meeting wrote and called with their complaints.

Morton-Taylor clean-up project is good example

News of today's youth isn't all bad

EDITOR:

As a newcomer to Canton Township I would like to share something positive in these times when there is so much of the negative.

On Nov. 7 and 8, I witnessed an invasion of young people—those much maligned teenagers—as they made a two-day attempt to clean up the town dump appearance of a section of Morton-Taylor Road.

That mess was not left by young people. It was left by adults who have no pride in their community.

These youngsters worked hard and when they were done they had a mountain of old tires, tin cans, bottles, pieces of rusty sheet metal, car parts and plain old garbage.

It is a shame that we all do not have the same pride in our community as displayed by these youngsters.

I tip my hat to them.

Sports funding should be balanced

There is no more fat that can be trimmed from the Plymouth-Canton School District athletic programs at the middle and high school levels, without cutting of specific sports programs at the high school.

That is the picture painted by CEP Athletic Director John Sandmann. He says the athletic programs are now leaner than he has ever seen since starting work in the school system some 28 years ago.

Despite the lean budget for sports — three tenths of one percent of the total school budget — there are hopes that the new middle school program can be geared to replace the expensive interscholastic program formerly at the middle schools.

The newly created intramural and extramural program for middle schoolers just recently completed its first sport, soccer, and will enter volleyball competition in December.

Basically by Ken Voyles

The intramural program, if you recall, is developed around homeroom teams at each middle school playing other homeroom teams from their school during regular school hours.

Extramural competition, after school play, had involved only the winning homeroom team of each middle school in action against other winning homeroom teams. The concept for volleyball is to make up the extramural squads with all-star teams consisting of players from each of the intramural homeroom teams.

According to John Telford, executive director secondary education, the plan is to allow more players to participate in after-school competition. The extramural teams will get a chance to play each team from the five middle schools, according to Sandmann.

Sandmann added that developing the two middle school programs actually added expenses to middle school athletics because five programs had to be developed, instead of two, as when the ninth graders were at the high schools.

Telford has said that to reform the interscholastic program between the five schools would cost in the range of $60-70,000. The budget for the current program is a mere $25,000.

And since athletics have always been a low priority, for schools it is unlikely that true interscholastic athletics will return in the near future. So it's time to make due with the new program, develop it, refine it, provide the kids with interest and a true league, and spend a little money.

The new concept of all-stars makes sense. The more players involved in after-school, interscholastic like, competition the better. The death of interscholastic competition is not the death of middle school sports.

It's just too bad that when someone offers to help generate funds for a dying program such as this, the school board falls back on its heels and cringes in refusal. The board has to realize the potential of their brain child or stop having so much pride they can't except money from outside their tax base.

Sandmann says the program will be closely studied and assessed for some time. Budget cuts are already on the horizon again for 1982 and if its lean now wait until another millage fails because people are sick of a board that will not consider outside intervention.

So for now all the fat that was all the fat is gone from the athletic program. Or so it would seem.

Maybe the district administration staff should be trimmed of its bulk so that a low priority program doesn't die. Or maybe specific sports programs should be dropped to help support the middle school.

Or, to think in the extreme, trim the football programs at Canton and Salem.

There has been a shameful lack of fan interest in the two programs lately, especially from the student bodies, leaving the stands half empty at most home games. That's no justification for cutting the program, actually, but with costs sky rocketing all the time, the most expensive sport on the block needs the closest look for further trimming.

Besides such costs as equipment and travel, each team supports a troupe of paid coaches. There is little, or no justification for five or six assistant coaches per team, plus one head coach, when the middle school athletes can't even play football any longer.

Surely Tom Moshimer and Richard Barr could make due with less assistance. It just doesn't make sense to have such an expensive sport if there are no player sources from below.

It would be a worthy sacrifice to help save the middle school program.

Vandalism is deplored

EDITOR:

To the parents in Lakepointe Subdivision:

We must make you aware of the ornery, bratty vandals some of you have as kids!

They are breaking the glass in the gas yard lights in the subdivision (last week end). They are probably the same unappreciative, mouthy kids who pushed ahead of the 7-8 year olds on Halloween night.

I'm sure glad you parents have the teen years to look forward to when, obviously, now you don't care about or know the whereabouts and actions of your 11-12 year olds.

History repeats itself—can these be the offspring of the irresponsible ones who in times past have stolen or broken lights and accompanying insignia, driven over yards, margins, shrubs, etc.?

What a difference 30 years, inflation and several thousand additional people make.

In last week's agenda packet for a Canton Township board meeting in November of 1981, Clerk John Flodin included the Canton Township general fund balance sheet for the fiscal year 1951-52.

Total township expenditures for 1951-52 were listed at $17,548.52. The proposed general fund budget for Canton 30 years later is $4,083,436. That's a whopping 232.7 per cent increase. Progress comes with a high cost.

Here are some comparisons:

Cost of 10 township board meetings back in Canton Township Clerk Andy Smith's days was $200, plus the annual salary of Treasurer Ina Woolger which hit a whopping $600. In 1982 the township board has budgeted $132,900 for its own operation plus the salaries of supervisor, clerk and treasurer.

Legal representation for Canton in 1952 cost the township $1,273. For 1982 the township has budgeted $77,000 to keep itself out of trouble.

Back in 1952 Canton township paid a whopping $269 to Ma Bell for telephone service. It cost $352 to heat the township hall and the light bill paid Edison was $287.

Listed as capital improvements in 1952 was an $85 typewriter, $73 for lumber, $7.50 for a new mail box and $90 for new screen door and window screens.

On the income side the township took in $57,584 and finished the year with $29,723 in the black.

Oh, for the good old days.

In 1982 the Canton general fund is anticipating revenues of $4,118,410 and projects a general fund balance at the end of the year of $34,974.

But before calling the current Canton Township board members and all the other board members of the last 30 years spendthrifts, a critic should also look at the different directions township services have expanded.

And most of these different directions have come because the fast-growing Canton population has demanded these services.

The 1952 township financial statement showed no expenditures for library operations. There was no such thing as a parks and recreation department.

There were no tennis courts and no lighted softball fields. Instead of story time at the library for pre-schoolers, the only stories were told by mothers tucking their own kids in bed and husbands who came home late on Saturday night.

Water came from a well put down at the expense of the homeowner and was pumped with the homeowner paying the electric bill. Rural Canton residents had to pay for installing and maintaining septic tank systems and there were even a few who still had to take that long cold walk to the outhouse on cold winter mornings.

There was no police department. The fire department was strictly a volunteer operation with a total budget of $3,764.

The total gasoline and oil bill for operating the township fire equipment amounted to only $98.73.

The probability is, though, that the township board of 1952 fielded just as many complaints about high taxes, extravagant spending and lack of service for money spent as Supervisor Jim Poole and Company receive in 1981.

LINDA UNTERKIRCHER AND JOHN SELLMAN

Unterkircher-Sellman vows said in Bronson

Linda Anne Unterkircher and John Robert Sellman were married on Oct. 10 at the Pleasant Hills Community Church, Bronson, with the Rev. Dale Walterhouse officiating.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Unterkircher of Bronson, is a 1979 graduate of Michigan State University. She is currently employed as a medical technologist at Sparrow Hospital, Lansing.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sellman, Plymouth. He is a 1974 graduate of Plymouth-Salem High and a 1980 graduate of Michigan State. He is employed as a cost estimator for Denver Drywall Company, Denver, Colorado.

The bride chose an Alfred Angelo gown for the wedding. She carried a cascade of red roses. The maid of honor wore a gown of blue satin and the three other attendants wore gowns of royal blue satin.

Canton residents are angry over roads

no money available to make improvements.

Supervisor Jim Poole pointed out the big problem.

"Keep in mind that we're talking about roads we don't have any control over," he said. "We're talking about someone else's property."

During the course of the two-hour discussion there were lots of opinions expressed, all pointing to the extremely bad and unsafe conditions of the roads. One resident held up a grocery sack dripping oil and containing a shock off his car lost in one of the deep chuck holes.

While there was a concensus that the roads were in terrible shape, there was a difference in opinions as to what should be done.

Some of the protesters just wanted to have the roads brought up to gravel road standards, drained properly and graded regularly. Others spoke out for blacktopping the roads. Some wanted concrete paving. One resident, Pam Potter, presented an entirely different view. "I like the unpaved roads just as they are. I moved out here for the country roads," she said.

The great road debate was precipitated by a request made weeks ago by the township board to have the township planning department come up with some suggestions on what needed to be done, how much the road improvements would cost, how the projects would be financed and who would provide the cash. The preliminary report was made at the meeting.

Dave Nicholson, assistant township planner, presented maps and rough cost estimates showing some of the projects. Included in the list were a mile of Haggerty Road from Cherry Hill to Palmer, a quarter mile of Lilley Road south from Cherry Hill, 1,500 feet of Morton-Taylor Road north of Warren, two miles of Palmer Road from Canton Center to Haggerty, a half-mile section of Sheldon Road south of Cherry Hill and a quarter-mile section of Sheldon north of Palmer, plus Warren Road from Canton Center Road east to the edge of the township.

When it came to estimated costs, not including necessary drainage and bridge work, the figure ranged from $8 million figured from formula presented by Wade-Trim, township engineering consultant, to $9.9 million figured on the Wayne County Road Commission formula.

For the township to go ahead with such a road improvement project, permission would have to be obtained from the county road board and the township would have to come up with the financing.

One funding option presented by the planners was to create one large or several special assessment districts and assess the property owners along the roads to be improved.

Clerk John Flodin pointed out that "Owners of 51 per cent of the property in such a district would have to approve such a plan. In most of the areas under consideration one property owner owning over 51 per cent of the land being considered in the assessment district could stymie the plan."

Another alternative presented called for funding the project through a special bonding issue which would have to be approved by township voters.

A third alternative which received strong opposition from Sup. Poole called for the township board to increase the township millage by its own action to pay for the road improvements.

There were many other suggestions coming from the audience. A petition bearing 300 signatures opposed the current road maintenance practices of the Wayne County Road Commission.

Another resident suggested that the county gets its own grading equipment and take over the maintenance of the gravel roads in the township. That idea was shot down when it was again pointed out that the township had no jurisdiction over the roads in question.

There were also complaints that because of the economic climate and unemployment, property owners could not pay special assessments of extra millage for roads.

After all the shouting was over, the township trustees requested more information on costs and methods of financing and also agreed to set up a study committee composed of township officials and representatives from subdivision associations to work on setting up priorities for road projects.

Canton firemen okay new union contract after long negotiations

BY DICK BROWN

Canton firemen have a new 18-month contract, even though it will expire in seven months.

Firemen overwhelmingly approved the contract, which had been in negotiations with township officials since December of 1980, when the previous three-year contract expired. The new contract offered by the township will expire in June, 1982, at the same time the Canton Township police contract expires.

Canton trustees are studying a move which would consolidate the police department and the fire department into one public safety department.

The new contract ratified by the firemen calls for wage increases of slightly more than eight per cent, made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1981, and four per cent increase starting Jan. 1, 1982.

The contract also provides increases in food and clothing allowances and an annual bonus of $300 for firemen certified by the state as Emergency Medical Technicians.

The contract covers 29 employees.

Salem grad's comedies performed at U-M

BY NANCY FERGUSON

Two original one-act plays written by David Wine, a 1975 graduate of Salem High, are being performed by the Residential College of the University of Michigan.

The 24-year-old playwright's "Clyde Evades the Draft," a dark comedy and "Serve The Public," a lighter comedy, opened on campus Friday.

"Clyde Evades the Draft," is about a young man trying to avoid the draft by convincing psychiatrists that he is insane.

"Serve The Public" is the story of a one-man restaurant operation. The owner pretends to be the cook, waiter, bus boy, etc. by changing his clothing and appearance. He also attempts to collect tips while pretending to be each of these people. Soon the customers catch on and then the trouble begins.

Wine graduated from the university with a BA in creative writing and drama in 1980.

While an undergraduate at the university, he was heavily involved with the drama department, both as a writer and as an actor. Wine said he enjoys acting but has always been serious about writing.

"I am more willing to put up with the sacrifices it takes to be a writer than I am to be an actor," he added.

Wine attributes his success at writing to his high school and college teachers. He said it was his American Literature instructor at Salem High, Ruth Tonner, who helped him get started as a writer and encouraged his efforts.

Divorce overview

The YWCA of Western Wayne County will sponsor a Divorce Legal Overview program from 7-9 p.m., Nov. 19, at the Geneva United Presbyterian Church, 5835 Sheldon, Canton.

The program will be a review of the process a woman can expect to go through during divorce proceedings.

A divorce support group will also be starting Dec. 3 at the church. The group will meet every first and third Thursday from 7-9 p.m.

For more information call 561-4110.

He also gives credit to U. of M. professors, Peter Ferran, head of the drama department at the Residential

JEFF WINE

College; Martin Walsh, a lecturer in the drama program and Warren Hecht, his creative writing instructor.

Kiwanis present balloon flight

The Kiwanis Clubs of Plymouth will present Rudi Thurau's "The Condor Over America" as its third attraction in the Kiwanis adventure and travel series. It will be shown Wednesday, Nov. 18, at Salem High School Auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

The program will feature scenes of America as he floats over the country from coast to coast in his 7-story tall hot air balloon.

The audience will be able to see Yosemite, Zion, the Grand Canyons, Lake Powell, the Black Hills and the Wisconsin Dells and see Niagara Falls as these natural wonders look from the wicker basket of a balloon.

Thurau will also take his audience to the great balloon race in Indianola, Iowa, and learn why ballooning intrigues so many people.

Besides writing plays, Wine also writes poems. He was at Salem High Thursday to do a reading of his poetry for Ms. Tonner's class.

Asked about the future, Wine said he hopes one day to open his own theater. He is attempting to acquire grants to help with the funding, but said it is very difficult to obtain the monies.

"Clyde Evades The Draft" and "Serve The Public" are playing Nov. 20-21 at the Residential College Auditorium, U. of M. campus, Hill Street and East University.

Tickets are $2 and will be available at the door.

Resident teaches students ups and downs of business

Joy Hansen, of Plymouth, has gone from buying expensive furs to selling hand knitted mittens. This may not seem like progress to some of you, but Mrs. Hansen says she enjoys her work a great deal.

She has been an instructor in the fashion merchandising department at Eastern Michigan University for the last nine years.

Prior to becoming a teacher, Mrs. Hansen was a fur buyer for the J.L. Hudson Company in Detroit. As part of a class project "The Red Mitten General Store," she is helping students learn to market hand-crafted items such as mittens, holiday decorations, candles, and dozens of other articles.

Several Plymouth residents are involved with the merchandising program. Marsha Woods, of Plymouth, co-owner of "Spare Moments" a needlework craft business, is one of Mrs. Hansen's students.

Sandra Grahl, of Canton Township, worked at Geneva's Bridal Salon as part of the fashion merchandising curriculum. Mrs. Grahl plans a career in the bridal industry upon completion of her education at EMU in April, 1982.

Working at Geneva's, she was exposed to all phases of the bridal business such as sales, consulting with the brides, inventory, and bookkeeping.

The purpose of the program, said Mrs. Hansen, is to prepare students for careers as retail buyers, managers and consultants.

Currently, they have constructed a country store out of their classroom. The students have put a great deal of time and effort into making the store as attractive as possible.

JOY HANSEN

They are completely responsible for all aspects of the store operation from stocking the merchandise to counting up the sales at the end of the day.

The items for sale are contributed by members of the community. They are sold on consignment with the store keeping a 20 percent commission to cover operating costs.

tell it to Phyllis

Last week was parent teacher conference time in our school district. The annual event is met with mixed emotions from everyone involved.

Students like conference time because they get a day or two off school. However the idea of mom or dad talking to some teachers isn't exactly what you call exciting.

Conferences for teachers means making sure all records are up to date, and being ready to talk to any parent about any problem. It has to be a hard situation for teachers, not knowing how some parents will take suggestions on how to improve their child's study habits. Another thing teachers have to deal with is the students who need help are the ones whose parents don't bother showing up at conference time.

Parents look at conferences with teachers differently, depending on the age of a child or how he or she is doing in school. Sometimes parents go just to see if the teacher is as bad an animal at the kids portrait him or her to be. If a student has a low grade in a certain subject, parents want to know what they can do to work with a child to bring the grade up or where the problem is, and sometimes parents just want to let teachers know they are interested in what their child is doing.

I had a new experience with conferences last week. Central Middle School set things up like the high schools do, where every teacher is in the gym and parents wait in line to see each teacher. The idea is probably good, but after spending two and a half hours waiting in lines and only getting to talk to four teachers, I think there are some bugs that need to be worked out.

I don't claim to have all the answers, but maybe it's time to look at what parent teacher conferences are really for. Should parents only talk to those teachers in classes where they think their child is having a problem? If that's the case parents should remember there are others waiting in line behind them and not hog 30 minutes of someone's time.

I have never liked waiting in line for anything, and by the end of the conference evening I was tired and haggard. However, after looking at some of the teachers I realized I had it easier than they did. It would be nice if we could come up with an easier solution. Maybe next year my kids will both get straight A's and I can simply send all the teachers a note thanking them for their great teaching ability.

James Mortensen, a Michigan State University senior from Plymouth, is one of 16 MSU Army cadets who completed summer ROTC Advanced Camp in Fort Lewis, Washington this past summer. He is an accounting major and has been active in the MSU Marching Band and has received the Academic Excellence Award. Son of Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Mortensen of Homestead, Mortensen is a 1978 graduate of Plymouth High School.

Listen, this crew-neck style sweater is so tough, writing about it sends little spasms of adrenaline through our system. In fact, just wearing it while sitting in an easy chair is vaguely fatiguing.

Yet its good for more than football playing and hand-to-hand combat. You can wear it while going to the 7-11 for milk or even playing golf.

The tough poly-wool fabric is tear-resistant, so important when you're crawling over an obstacle course. And the ribbed waist and cuffs, will hold their shape long after you've lost yours.

Oh yes, on your not so rugged days you'd look nifty with this sweater under a sport coat or with an old pair of comfy corduroys.

As a special incentive, if you stop in and pick one up soon, we'll suspend the usual physical exam requirement, and let you choose from eleven colors, at a neat

Scouts clean up road in Eagle project

BY DICK BROWN

Kevin Von Otten, a Boy Scout from Field School Troop 898 sponsored by the Canton Firefighters, had an idea for his Eagle Scout service project and a dead end stretch of Morton-Taylor Road is a lot cleaner because of it.

The stretch of county road was a dumping ground for trash throwers. Enlisting the assistance of 36 fellow Scouts and young friends, Troop leaders and other interested adults, Von Otten organized a two-day work session Nov. 7 and 8, and cleaned and hauled truckloads of old tires and trash of all kinds from the sides of the road.

The group put in 310 man hours cleaning up a little corner of Canton Township with VonOtten working 23 hours and 40 minutes on the project himself.

There were lots of support people involved in the project. Helen Fossett arranged donations for feeding the work crew. Jean Golchuck prepared the lunches.

Scoutmaster Norm Krazel assisted with the organization of the work crew. Barry Fossett, Assistant Scoutmaster Chuck Ferguson, Frank Faver, Steve Boyd, Assistant Scoutmaster Dick VanOtten and Bob Robertson helped with transportation and in cleaning the area.

Then there were the willing Scouts and friends of VonOtten who did the dirty work. They were Robert Clough, James Swiecki, Gary Golchuck, Scott Yettaw, Mark Yettaw, Mark Gould, Trevor Boyd, Dave Krazel, Andy Ferguson, Dave Pfiffer, Joe Griffis, Kurt Steigerwald, Jeremy Norman, John Norman, Kurt Norman, Scott Fossett, Jeff Wyrabkiewicz, Byron Mullins, Dan Ferguson, Eril Ferguson, George Markley, Greg Markley, Ken Clark, Rich Clark, Rich Mailloux, Mike Mailloux, Todd Robertson, Steve Robertson, Mark Spielman, Scott Spielman, Robert Krazel, James Krazel, Doug Faurer, Tim Crapentine and Kevin VonOtten.

It took a lot of food to feed the troops. Helping out in that department with donations were Rick Cervi, Maria's Bakery, Canton Kroger, Meijers Thrifty Acres, McDonald's in Canton, Burger King, Plymouth Orchard, and Canton Police Department.

When the project was completed the Morton-Taylor illegal dumping ground had been turned back into a country road.

THIS EAGLE IMPROVED THE SCENERY along a section of Morton-Taylor Road with a two-day work project. As part of his Eagle Scout requirements Kevin VonOtten, on the right, organized a cleanup along the Canton roadway. Checking the pile of trash out with VonOtten is Scoutmaster Norm Krazel.

LOTS OF HANDS MADE THE CLEANUP JOB on Morton-Taylor Road easier as Scouts and friends pitched in to clean up what a lot of people pitched out along the road. The two-day sprucing up not only was productive in a mound of trash but it also was fun with area merchants donating food for the work crew.

Belanger joins select Eagle winners

Seventeen-year-old Jim Belanger, of Canton, has earned Scouting's highest honor, the Eagle Medal, and induction in a select fraternity of Eagle Scouts.

Belanger has pursued the quest to soar as the Eagle for the past six years with Boy Scout Troop 854 of Miller School headed by Scoutmaster Dave Lyndrup. Before that he was a Cub for three years. He was rewarded for his efforts last Wednesday at a special ceremony.

The time and work it takes to earn the Eagle is sometimes overlooked in this fast paced society. The length of time spent in reaching the goal makes for a range of honored, from the 13-year-old Eagle winners to the 25-year-old members. For others the process can last half a life time.

As the Salem High student says it's not always a step-by-step process that gets a Scout to the Eagle. Often times there are long periods of hard work to get the merit badge. Other times the work is second nature, or fun, or exciting and the pace is slow and enjoyable.

There are 21 merit badges in Boy Scouting. They range from sports, to crafts, to history and lore, to citizenship. Once the badges are won and the Scout has picked up enough 'service' hours he is truly ready to become an Eagle. An Eagle Project must then be completed.

For Belanger he spent last summer painting the ancient home of an elderly Canton woman, putting in 60 hours on the project. "Some of my Scout friends helped me paint the house. That's part of it, working with friends on their projects, and having them work with you on yours," said Belanger, who spends much of his time with Scout friends.

After the project Belanger went through a board of review. At the ceremony honoring his effort, he received the Eagle medal and was inducted with the traditional Eagle Dance.

"Winning the Eagle brings respect from the troop. The other Scouts look upon you as someone who can guide and lead," said Belanger. He added that nationally one out of every 100 Scouts make the Eagle. Locally it's more like one of every 50.

There is even a special fraternity on the college level for Eagle Scouts, says Belanger, who plans to attend Michigan State University after graduation from Salem.

He will also become a member of the honorary Order of The Arrows, a leadership program geared to keep the older Scouts interested in the organization. "The Order of The Arrows brings out new ideas. We discuss Scouting today and in the future," said Belanger.

JIM BELANGER

The public's attitude toward Scouting as a form of leadership training has gone through some extreme changes, the past decades. As Belanger says, the attitudes have gone from the shallow "big deal" of 10 years ago to the "that's great," of today.

Troop 743 Court of Honor

Members of Boy Scout Troop 743, including an adult scouter, individual scouts and the unit as a whole, recently participated in a Court of Honor.

Ken Kramer, assistant scoutmaster, was awarded the Scouter's Key by the Detroit Council, recognizing his service in scouting and denoting additional leadership training. A former cubmaster for Pack 743, he has been active in Boy Scouting for three years. Kramer was also recently inducted into the Order of the Arrow, an honorary scouting organization.

In addition, 19 scouts shared honors by receiving awards, merit badges or rank advancements.

Scoutmaster Charles Hahn closed the Court of Honor by presenting the troop a "Campsite Inspection" award. The troop, sponsored by the Plymouth Elks Club, won the streamer at the annual Scout Fall Camporee at D-Bar-A.

Belanger also works as a summer camp staff member for one month every year, studies Indian dancing, and while in school, performs in school plays. In other words there is no time to lose interest, you have to be dedicated to be a Scout, to get the homework done, to read your lines, and to live a full life.

Basar wins Silver Beaver

Scoutmaster Edward J. Basar of Troop 435 will be presented with the Silver Beaver award, one of the top honors in Scouting.

It is the highest award a volunteer adult can receive from a local Scout Council and is awarded for distinguished service to youth in the community.

ED BASAR

The award will be presented at Gemini District's annual recognition dinner on Oct. 23.

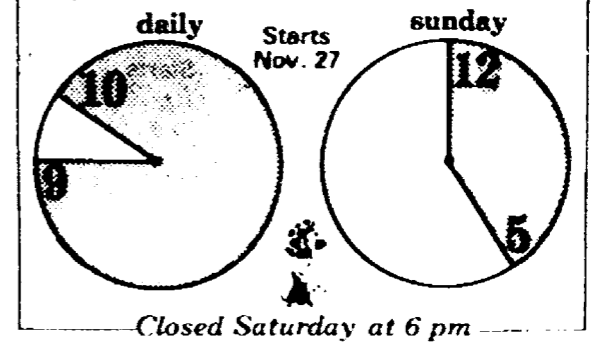

Basar has been a Scout Camp Counselor at Charles Howell Scout Reservation and D-Bar-A Scout Ranch for 25 years. For the past five years he has been ranch director of D-Bar-A Scout Ranch near Matamora.

Basar is the author of "Pathways to History," a Scouting Camp book.

He is employed by the Detroit Board of Education at Pelham Junior High School in Detroit.

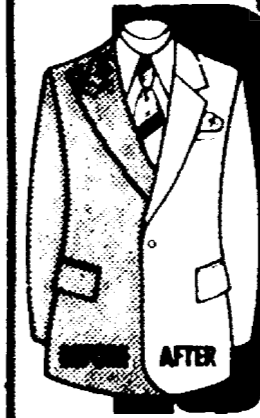

Basar, who lives at 46770 Betty Hill in Plymouth, is an alumnus of Wayne State University, married and has two Eagle Scout sons.

P.A.C.T. looking for a few good volunteers

Plymouth Area Citizen's Teams (PACT) is looking for volunteers willing to spend four hours on two nights a month in an effort to keep the community safe.

PACT has been set up through the Plymouth Police Department and using the communications network of Plymouth REACT to provide an "eyes and ears" service. PACT members will patrol the Plymouth area in private radio-equipped cars each Friday and Saturday night from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. as extra eyes and ears for the police. Each vehicle will be in contact with the PACT base by CB radio.

Patrol training is provided by the Plymouth Community Police and PACT instructors. Those joining the organization must be at least 16 years old. A mobile CB radio is not a requirement.

The mobile patrol was started on Oct. 30 with just 10 members. In three weeks the membership has jumped to 25. Chuck VanVleck, PACT organizer, reports that at least 75 members are needed to keep the operation going at full strength.

PACT responsibility is to observe and report to the police any situation requiring their attention.

VanVleck urged all interested citizens to contact him by calling him at 453-7377.

Stress counselline available

Stress, grief and depression are the topics of four new tapes added to the phone-in library of TEL-MED, a free Plymouth area telephone health information service.

The tapes, initiating a new TEL-MED mental health series called "Counseline," deal with emotional problems increasing increasing in Michigan as the economy worsens.

To listen to a tape, call TEL-MED toll-free at 572-3978.

Tape No. CL 431 is entitled "What is Depression." CL 432 is "How to Deal with Depression." Tape CL 38 is "Coping with Stress," and Tape CL 85 is "Understanding Grief."

Denski

John Denski, 85, died Nov. 14 in St. Joseph's Hospital, Ypsilanti. Services were conducted by Lambert Funeral Home on Nov. 16 with Pastor Royce Snyman of Plymouth Seventh Day Adventist Church officiating.

Mr. Denski was born on June 12, 1896, in Tarnow, Poland. He was the youngest of five children. In 1918, at the age of 18, the Polish army drafted him, but his father suggested that he go to America. With the sponsorship of one of his sisters he made it to Detroit. Unable to find work, he moved on to Chicago where he worked in the stockyards.

Later, he returned to Detroit and took a job at Kelsey Hayes. He was married to Stella Baronn in May of 1920.

He moved to Belleville and was employed by a French Landing fertilizer plant. In 1927 the Denski family moved to a home on Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth where he started a metal business. From there the Denskis moved to a farm on Ann Arbor Road near Sheldon. He obtained a job in the 1930s working on the old Plymouth High School, now Central Middle School.

The family made another move to a home on Lilley Road north of Ford Road where the Denskis lived until 1957 when they moved to Florida where he managed his three sons' orange groves. Mr. and Mrs. Denski had recently moved back to the old family home in Canton.

Besides his wife, Stella, he is survived by sons, Cass of Umatilla, Fla., Stan of Ann Arbor, John of Canton, Henry of Plymouth, Paul of Canton, David of Plymouth; daughters, Alice Bugbee of community deaths

Sterling and Mary Francescon of Key Largo, Fla.; 34 grandchildren; and 15 great-grandchildren.

Tocco

Angela Christine Tocco, two months and 15 days, died Nov. 10 in Wayne of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome. Funeral services were held Nov. 13 at Schrader Funeral Home with Fr. Thomas F. Frisby and Fr. Thomas S. Wilson officiating. Burial was at Cadillac Memorial Gardens, West.

Angela is survived by parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tocco Sr., of Canton, and three brothers, Robert Jr., James and Vincent.

She is also survived by grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller, of Garden City, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pankow of Westland; great grandmother Harriet Brown, of Detroit; three uncles and one aunt.

Memorial contributions should be sent to Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Research at Detroit's Children's Hospital.

Gondek

Thaddeus (Ted) Gondek, 69, Canton, died Nov. 10 at Beyer Memorial Hospital. Funeral services were conducted by Lambert-Lochniskar and Vermeulen Funeral Home at St. John Neumann Catholic Church with The Rev. Fr. Edward J. Baldwin officiating.

Mr. Gondek was born Oct. 28, 1912, in Michigan. Eight years ago he moved from Dearborn Heights to Canton. He was a retired building maintenance foreman for Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

He is survived by his wife, Sphia; daughters, Mrs. James (Donna) Lewendowski of Canton, Mrs. Paul (Connie) Salley and Ms. Michele Gondek of Los Angeles, Calif.; five sisters; three brothers; and three grandchildren.

Burial was in St. John's Cemetery, Ypsilanti.

Ryder

Earl M. Ryder, 89, of Livonia, died Nov. 10. Funeral arrangements were made by Schrader Funeral Home. Burial was at Newburg Cemetery.

He is survived by his brother, Leigh Ryder of Livonia; sister, Mrs. Clyde (Beulah) Smith of Westland and 10 nieces and nephews.

Mr. Ryder was a former farmer in Livonia. The farm, which has been in the family since 1827, was located where the Ford Transmission Plant now stands.

Mr. Ryder was a lifelong resident of Livonia and a member of the Newburg United Methodist Church.

Timlin

Lois V. Timlin, 78, of Plymouth Township, died Nov. 9. Memorial services were held at St. Kenneth's Catholic Church, Plymouth. Arrangements were made by Schrader Funeral Home. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mrs. Timlin is survived by her sons, James of Plymouth and Raymond of Sparta, New Jersey; her sister, Mrs. Beryl Whyte of Brownsburg, Quebec, Canada and six grandchildren.

Griffin

Elsie L. Griffin, 89, of Westland, died Nov. 7. Memorial services were held at the White-Ranson Funeral Home, Union City, Tennessee. Burial was at Hornbeak Cemetery, Hornbeak, Tennessee.

Mrs. Griffin is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Homer (Doris) Cruce of Plymouth; son, Wayne of Covington, Kentucky; six grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

Mrs. Griffin had lived in Plymouth since 1955 and was a member of the Plymouth Church of Christ.

Krumm

Anna M. Krumm, 93, of Plymouth died Nov. 8. Funeral arrangements were made by Schrader Funeral Home. Interment was at Riverside Cemetery.

She is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Ione Gow and Mrs. Marion Robertson, both of Plymouth, Mrs. Gladys McBride, of West Branch; son, Gerald (Bud) of Plymouth; sister, Miss Emma Dumka of Redford; sister-in-law, Mrs. Lillian Kahrl, of Plymouth, eight grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Krumm had lived in Plymouth for the last 73 years and was a member of St. Peter's Evan. Lutheran Church.

Wooley

Floyd E. Wooley, 68, of Westland, died Nov. 7. Mr. Wooley was retired from Ford Motor Co. in 1979 after 23 years. He had been a Westland resident since 1939.

Mr. Wooley is survived by his wife, Dolores; sons, Donald of Whitmore Lake and Floyd G. of Plymouth; sisters, Mrs. Kathleen Gardner of Muscatine, Iowa, Mrs. Willie Justus, Mrs. Vera Maddox, and a brother, Ralph, all of Westland; nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral arrangements were made by Schrader Funeral Home and burial was at Parkview Memorial Cemetery.

Thomas

Margaret I. Thomas, 73, of Plymouth Township, died Nov. 8. She was a member of the Church of the Risen Christ and a 10 year resident of Plymouth Township.

Mrs. Thomas is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Patrick (Barbara) Pascal of Plymouth, Mrs. James (Jo Ann) Jamieson-Cole of South Lyon, three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral arrangements were handled by Schrader Funeral Home. Burial was at Roseland Park Cemetery, Berkley.

COACHES HAVE A GRAB bag of expressions they use when confronting stubborn referees, as Salem basketball coach Bob Blohm clearly displays in this series of photos by Crier photographer Robert Cameron. Blohm hotly disputed the call of the refs, Tom Vaughn and Jim Jensen, late in Thursday's Salem-Bentley Suburban Eight League title matchup. But, as is usual, the show of emotions did nothing for the refs, who clamly went about their business. (See page 32 for more pictures)

Chief swimmers beat Chargers

BY DAVID CALLAHAN

Canton High's women's swim team will invade Livonia Churchill today, in their attempt to capture the Western Six League championship.

The Chiefs warmed up for the conference meet with a dual meet on Thursday, defeating league foe Churchill 101-79.

Canton ended its league dual meet season with only one loss, a factor that should give the team "a psychological advantage in the league meet," according to coach Hooker Wellman.

Preliminary heats will be held today, beginning at 4 p.m., while the finals will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. Churchill is

Burgundy Bunch wins soccer title

The Plymouth Burgundy Bunch, a 12 and under boys soccer team from the Western Suburban Soccer League, won the championship game of the Local Playoffs for Plymouth teams of the WSSL, 2-0, over the Plymouth Spartans, Sunday.

Bunch goals were scored by Scott Hoffman and Todd Saunders. Bunch goalie duties were shared by Billy Piercy and Matt Setlak.

Other members of the winning club, from 11 Plymouth teams are Tom Johnson, Jeff Kling, Dustin Wyman, Brian Juchartz, Mike Cygan, Scott Ziobro, Jerry Staszal, Joe Gondoly, Scott Hauncher, Bill Miller, Mike Sherman and Greg Darby.

Darrel Saunders, Robert Setlak and Wayne Ziobro coach the team.

The Bunch defeated the Plymouth Firebirds and the Plymouth Lightning to qualify for the final game. The Spartans knocked off the Plymouth Cosmos and the Plymouth Raiders to reach the championship.

The Plymouth Hornets and the Plymouth Tornado fell victim to the Cosmos, while the Plymouth All Stars defeated the Plymouth Cougars before losing to the Firebirds in the semi-finals.

The Burgundy Bunch finished the WSSL season with a 4-3-1 games, good for third place.

Meanwhile, the Plymouth Avengers defeated the Plymouth Strikers last Sunday, 3-2, to win the local playoff for the WSSL 12 and under boys teams.

Chief, Rock wrestlers selling citrus

Canton and Salem High's wrestling squads will be providing community citrus lovers with a chance to support high school athletics, as they will be holding their annual citrus sale from now through Dec. 2.

The grapplers will sell large and small boxes of both oranges and grapefruits. A small box of 20 to 40 oranges, will cost $10. A large box, with 40-80 oranges, will run $19. Small boxes of Texas Ruby grapefruits, with 18-24 fruits, will cost $9, while a large box, with 36-48, will run $15.

"The citrus sales have been very successful in the past," said Canton wrestling coach Dan Chrenko, "because we are selling a very good product."

The fruit is picked on Dec. 17, and it is delivered by the wrestlers on Dec. 20. Any persons interested in placing an order should talk to any Salem or Canton wrestler. Orders can also be given to Chrenko by calling 453-3100 ext. 398, or to Salem coach Ron Krueger at 453-3100 ext. 247.

Eben Nash scored two goals and Scott Swisher one for the Avengers. The squad collected a 11-0 record including post season play.

Clydesdales coming to N'ville Downs

The world renown Budweiser Clydesdales are coming to Northville Downs Raceway next Tuesday (Nov. 24) in a special benefit to help the Northville and Plymouth Jaycees in their Christmas For Kids campaign.

The Jaycees, in conjunction with Jackson Trotting Association, will host a free public viewing of the horses at the race track from 3-5 p.m. At 7:45 p.m. the Clydesdale will be fully dressed to lead a post parade. The horses will be available for viewing the rest of the evening.

The fifth race of the night's card will be the Clydesdales Cup.

Members of both Jaycees organizations will be selling clubhouse admission tickets prior to the event for $2.50. Collector's steins of the horses will also be on sale. Proceeds will be used for several holiday programs which benefit handicapped and abused children in Northville and Plymouth.

Tickets can be purchased by calling Jim Owens at 459-1597 or Jim Steel at 348-0303. They can also be purchased at the Big Red Q Quickprint at 810 S. Main in Plymouth.

GO BUCKS!

We surely never thought it would happen this year, But once again the game for the Rose Bowl is here. This year the Big Two have taken their knocks Now Michigan will be lucky to be left with their socks.

But, wait a minute now -- could Iowa be the one, To head for Pasadena, and all that Rose Bowl fun? Perish the thought -- that could never come true. So this week we Bucks cheer for Ole M.S.U.

located at Joy and Newburgh Roads. Ticket prices range from $1.50 to $2, said Wellman.

Wellman feels that because his team has beaten everyone else in the conference, they will be favored to win. However, he also added that "Churchill will be a real threat, and so will Harrison and Northville. The championship will be up for grabs to whoever wants it. Whoever can hang on at the end will win."

One of Canton's strengths will be diving, where Wellman feels "We could place all three of our divers in the top four."

As for the rest of the team, Wellman said, "They are looking better every week, and they're all well rested."

The Chiefs looked ready to go on Thursday, as they took seven first places, and set two new varsity records.

Kim Elliott set a new school record in the 100-yard breaststroke, with a time of 1:16.98.

Elliott was also in on the other school record, as she and teammates Kris Burns, Kathy Stern, and Missy McMurray swam the 200-yard medley relay in 2:04.65 for the mark. The other Canton foursome of Bronwyn Fitzgerald, Darlene Egbert, Juli Silber, and Heather Crain finished third.

Denise DeBell captured first place in the 200-yard freestyle, clocking a time of 2:22.29.

Other firsts for the Chiefs were Burns, in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:13.55, and McMurray, who won the 100-

Chief cagers win 5th West 6 League crown

BY DAVID CALLAHAN

It's great to be number one. For Canton High's women's basketball team, being number one in the Western Six League has become a habit.

Last Wednesday, the Chiefs wrapped up their fifth consecutive league title, beating Livonia Churchill, 56-34, for their 51st consecutive conference win. With one regular season game left to be played, the Chiefs raised their overall record to 18-1.

"We really slowed it down against them," said Canton coach Mike McCauley. "They didn't know what to do."

The Chargers played without center Julie Steadmann, who scored 15 points against the Chiefs the last time the two teams met. "Anytime a team loses someone like that it has to hurt them," McCauley said.

The Chiefs alternated a slow-down offense with the fast break to keep the Chargers off balance. Canton took the early lead, with a tough zone defense holding Churchill to just five first quarter points. The Chiefs meanwhile, scored 14, with Robyn Hudgins hitting for six to pace the attack.

Both teams went to the zone in the second period, with Canton outscoring the Chargers 12-9 to gain a 26-14 margin at halftime. Pearly Cunningham led the way with four points.

The opening minutes of the second half saw both teams still playing zone defense. Canton came alive in the last three minutes, as it went back to the press, reeling off 10 consecutive points to take a 41-24 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Canton continued the press in the final period, and outscored the Chargers 15-10 to finish the game. Polly Roberts sparked the Canton offense, as she scored six points in the final period.

The only sore spot for the Chiefs came at the free throw line. Canton hit 10 of 23 from the charity stripe for 41 percent.

Cunningham led the Canton scoring attack, as she finished the night with 13 points. Hudgins scored 11, and Cindy Sovine chipped in seven points.

The Chiefs now head into district competition, where they will face Ann Arbor Pioneer tomorrow night at 7:45 p.m. McCauley said, "They (Pioneer) will be tough, but we'll be ready to play."

Rock swimmers set for Sub 8

There is no looking back now.

The Salem High women's swim team ended its dual meet season last week with a 112-50 win over Suburban Eight League foe Belleville.

That leaves the conference meet to decide the league winner. The Rocks are currently second behind Livonia Bentley with a 5-1 dual meet record in the league.

Salem hosts the Suburban Eight meet today and Friday. Preliminaries will be held today starting at 2:30 p.m. with the finals starting at 7:30 p.m. Friday night.

Cost is $1 for the swimming preliminaries, 50 cents for diving preliminaries and $1.50 for the finals on Friday.

"We've had an awfully lot of girls out sick with the flu lately. Hopefully we can be straightened away over the week end and ready for the league meet," said Salem Coach Chuck Olson. He added that Bentley's Bulldogs will be the team his squad is gunning for at the conference swim off.

Against Belleville the Rocks scored seven individual first places and won both relay events.

The foursome of Debbie Darlington, Corinne Cabadas, Terri Eudy and Amy Dunn clocked 2:01.1 to win the 200-yard medley relay. The team of Nancy Workman, Cheryl Truskowski, B.J. Bing and Lisa Trahey clocked 2:14.7 for second place.

Kelly Brandt won the 200-yard freestyle for the Rocks with a time of 2:15.3, while Chris Graham was third with an effort of 2:29. Brandt was also first in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 6:05.8.

Kim Leesch was second in that race with an effort of 6:26.2, and Robin Cummings was third, 6:35.9.

Leesch also won the individual medley for Salem with a time of 2:48.3.

Cindy McSurely captured the diving competition with 208.4 points, while Kathy LaVoie was third with 156.45 points.

Bing won the 100-yard butterfly with an effort of 1:08.8, while Ruth Ettinger was second with a time of 1:18.9.

Darlington won the 100-yard backstroke with a clocking of 1:11.6. Workman was third with a time of 1:24.4.

Eudy was first in the 100-yard breaststroke with an effort of 1:14.4 while Cabadas was second with time of 1:16.5.

yard freestyle, clocking a time of 1:00.6. McMurray also captured first place in the 50-yard freestyle, with a time of 27.19 seconds.

Wellman said "We are really going to miss both of our seniors (McMurray and Fitzgerald.) We can always count on a first from Missy."

Cindy Sherwood captured swimmer of the week honors, scoring 164.65 points in the diving competition and leading the Chiefs to a 1-2-3 finish in that event.

Carrie Lewis finished second in diving, as she tallied 157.25 points, and Shawn Neville took third place with 147.05 points.

DeBell and Kelly Salyer were second and third in the 500-yard freestyle, with times of 6:36.24 and 6:56.68, respectively.

In addition to being in on two new school records, Elliott also scored second in the 200-yard individual medley, with a clocking of 2:32.96.

The other Canton finishers were the team of Noelle Murphy, Burns, Salyer, and DeBell, and the foursome of Neville, Sawyer, Crain, and Karyn Stetz, who took second and third in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

PLYMOUTH'S DEVENY DECK and partner Keith Poit competed in the Eastern Great Lakes Regionals two weeks ago and came away with a silver medal, good enough to win a chance to compete in the Midwesterns slated for sometime this January.

Skaters win bid to regionals

The Plymouth Community is loaded with fine young ice figure skating talent. Through the Plymouth Figure Skating Club that talent is given the chance to bloom at various competitions.

Just that happened at the Detroit Skating Club in Bloomfield Township recently. Last year the PFSC had hosted the Eastern Great Lakes Regional Ice Skating Championships. This year the DSC sponsored the championships.

Several local skaters qualified for the event held Nov. 2-7, and through outstanding efforts scored medals and the right to compete in the next step to nationals, the Midwestern Championships to be held in January.

Gwen Cirbes, 11, and the twosome of Deveny Deck, 13, and Kevin Poit, 19, qualified for the Midwestern with a bronze medal and a silver medal, respectively, in their classes.

Plymouth's Cirbes competed in the Intermediate Ladies class, along with fellow PFSC members Colleen Armstrong, and Susan Moffatt. All three skaters made the final rounds of their class. Cirbes scored the bronze.

The pair of Deck, from Plymouth, and Poit, of Lapeer, Mi., got a silver in the Novice Pair Skating class at the regionals.

Other Plymouth skaters included Junvenile Ladies representatives Michelle and Jennifer Hirschaur; Novice Ladies, Deck; and Junior Ladies, Sherry Snider.

Skaters were divided into semi-final groups of 10 to 12 skaters. The top three skaters in each group made the finals. Snider in Junior Ladies and Deck in the Novice Ladies also made the final rounds.

In all single events, skaters are required to compete in figures and freestyle program, final results being a combination score.

Over 358 skaters participated in the regional.

The quartet of Urban, Shelly Mullen, Dunn and Bing clocked 4:11.7 to win the 400-yard freestyle relay, while Workman, Darlington, Brandt and Eudy clocked 4:23.8 for third in the race.

Bulldogs stop Rocks, district action tomorrow

progressed until a boiling point was touched in the final minute of play. The Rocks were unable, however, to take a second win from Bentley - this time at the Rocks home court - and lost, 45-38.

Both squad's had been 10-1 in the league, Bentley losing to Salem in the first game at Bentley's home gym, and Salem losing to Trenton in double overtime also at home.

After Thursday's game ended Bentley was crowned Suburban Eight champions, the third straight title win for Tom Lang's Bulldogs. The 10-2 and 17-3 Rocks fell to second place.

For Salem coach Bob Blohm and his squad Thursday's game is already forgotten. District 11 action starts tomorrow night with Salem the host squad. (The Rocks final regular season game came last night against non-league foe Redford Union).

Salem will sit out the first round of district play Thursday night, but meanwhile inter-district rival Canton High will face Ann Arbor Pioneer at 7:45 p.m. and Wayne and Westland will also play.

The Rocks are scheduled to play the winner of the Canton-Pioneer tussle at 2:45 p.m. this Saturday.

"We look at each game one at a time," said coach Blohm. "If we didn't we'd stub our toe along the way and just end up mad at ourselves."

"I now this team will come back off this lose," Blohm continued. "The girls have tremendous pride and tremendous work habits. They've had a fabulous season thus far, doing some things I didn't think possible at the start of the year."

Indeed the Rocks have come a long way from their rapid, and successful season start, through loses to Ann Arbor Huron - also in District 11 - and Trenton and the ego boosting triumph over the highly rated Bulldogs.

Bentley coach Lang said of the game, "One of the biggest things was our attitude coming into this game. In the first game we had an invincible attitude, but not this time. The squad was ready to play."

"Nobody really had a free regin out there tonight," he continued. "Salem got into foul problems later in the game. If we haven't been on top at that stage I don't know if things would have turned out differently."

Bentley opened the scoring with the first four of the first quarter. The Rocks missed four shots and threw away two passes before Eileen Moore got them on the board at 3:10. Jan MacKenzie then tied it 4-4 at 2:22. Bentley added three points and Moore hit another basket for Salem to make the score 7-6, Bentley, at the end of the first eight minutes.

Salem got off to a good start in the second quarter and even went in front, 9-8, on a basket by Ann Glomski at 7:02:

Bentley continued to hit and extended its margin to 16-9 at 4:59. The Rocks fought back to 16-15 when MacKenzie, Pam McBride and Glomski hit three straight Salem baskets. Bentley's Kim Archer scored at 1:20 to push the Bulldogs to 18-15, and the Rocks missed their final two shots of the half to keep the score at that.

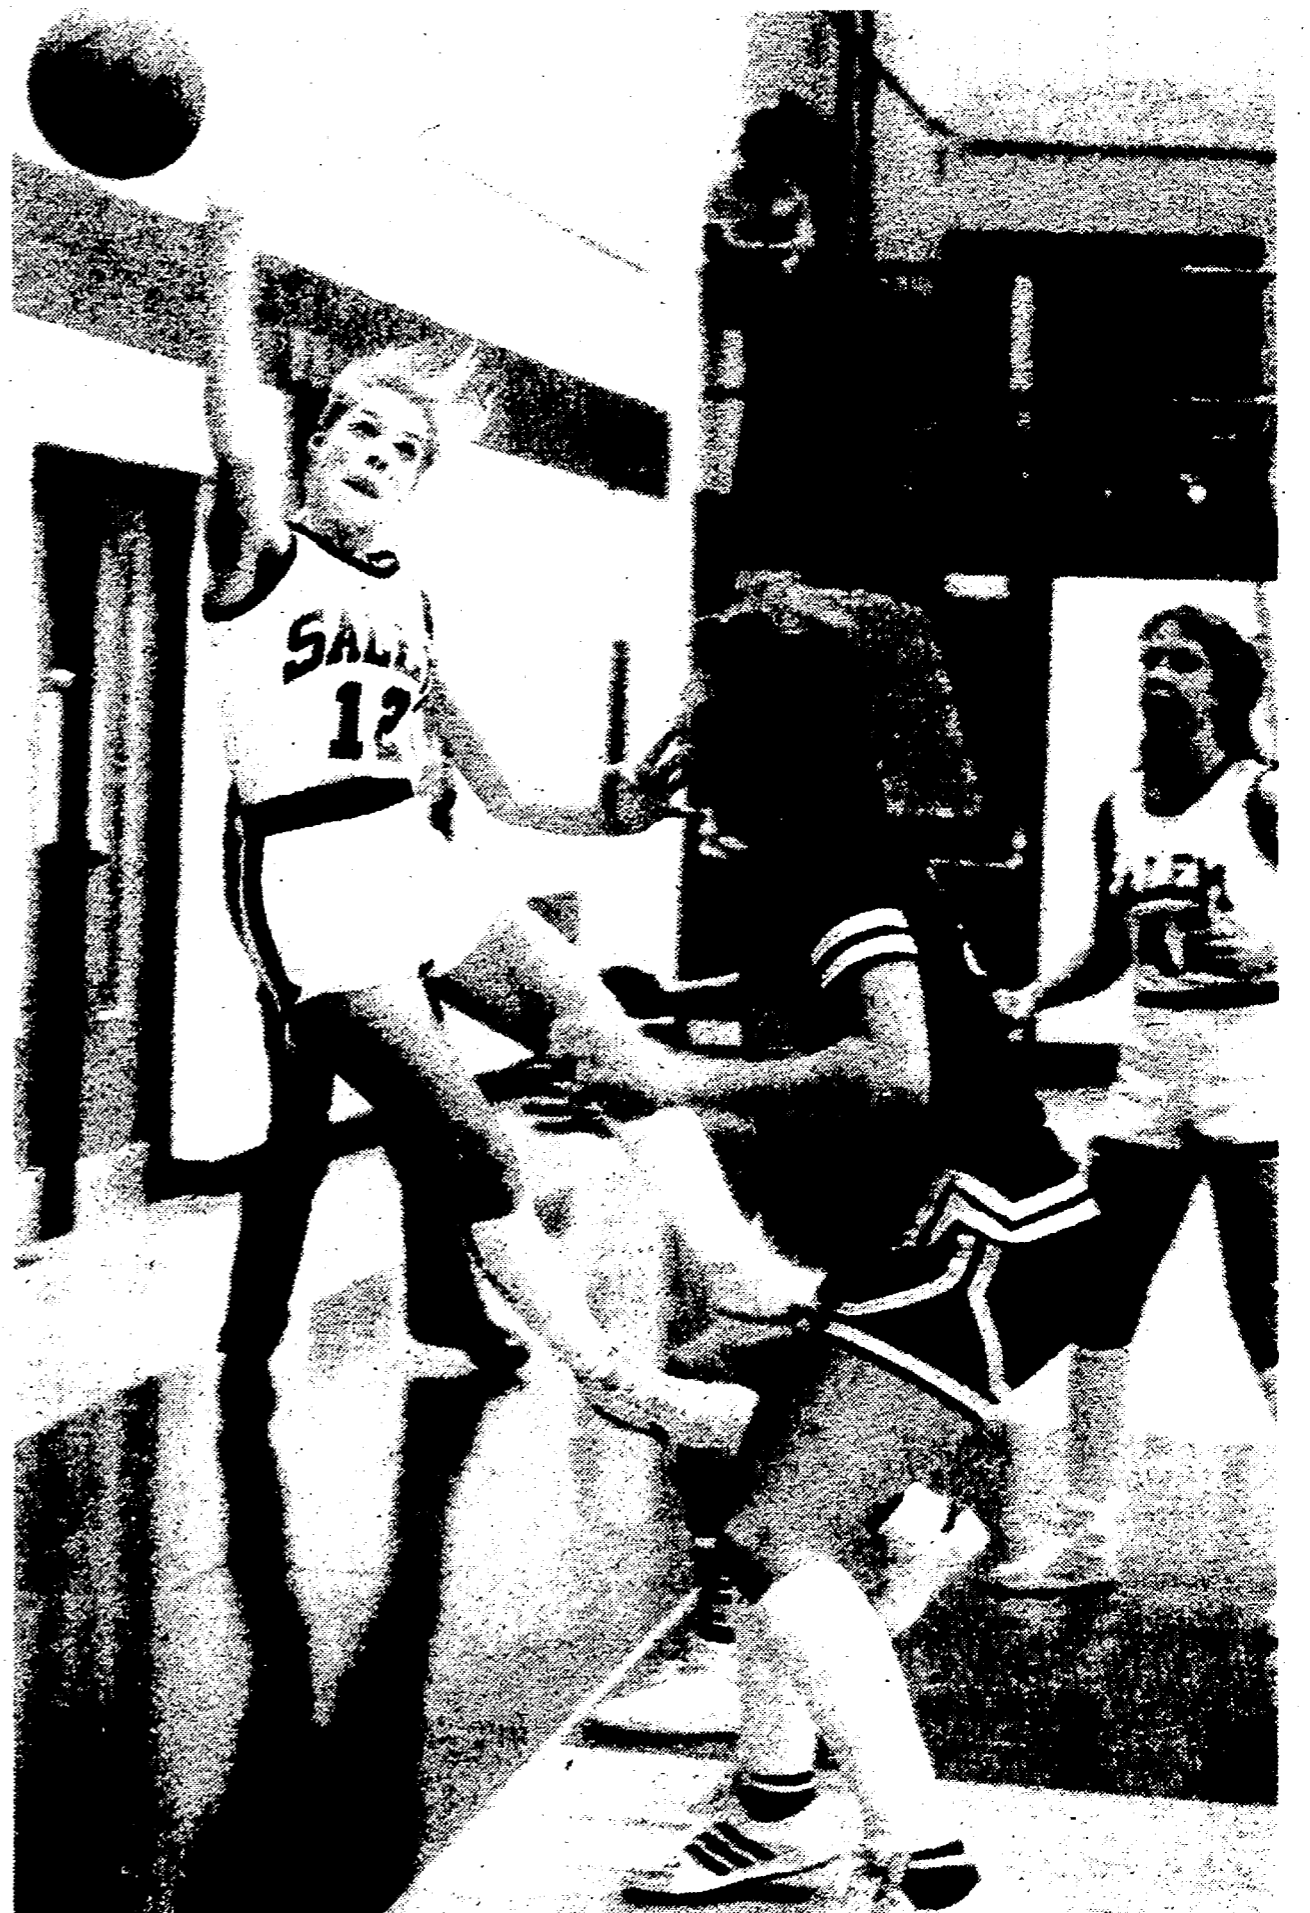

The first five minutes of the second half were all defense. Glomski managed to score at 5:25 and MacKenzie pushed Salem in the lead, 19-18, with a basket at 3:59. The Bulldogs did not score until 3:07 left in the third quarter. At 1:48 MacKenzie hit two free throws to bring Salem to within one points, 22-21, but a spurt by Bentley pushed them ahead 27-21 and 29-23 at the end of the quarter.

Moore had eight points in the final quarter for Salem, while MacKenzie pumped in four. The Rocks battled to 41-36 with 35 seconds left but Bentley connected on four free throws to get ahead 45-36. Moore scored Salem's final points with a basket at the buzzer.

Moore paced Salem scorers with 14. MacKenzie had 11 and Glomski seven.

"That was a very physical game for us. I was pleased with our effort. Both teams played very hard and very tight the whole way."

SALEM CAGER Ann Glomski may be little, but she sure can jump. The little guard scored seven points for the Rocks during their lose to Livonia Bentley on Thursday night and went after many loose balls such as this one. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)
