

Trustee Lee Fidge gets admission of 'technical violation'

Twp. violates Open Meeting law

Plymouth Township Board of Trustees admitted that a "technical" violation of the Open Meetings Act had been committed by the township during the meetings of June 29 and Sept. 25 of this year, but still voted 6-1 to call those two meetings "informational."

But Supervisor Maurice Breen, as well as other trustees, staunchly defended the "informational" aspect of the meetings. "There were no deliberations made at those meetings," said Breen.

"The meetings were strictly informational," Breen said.

Lee Fidge, the trustee that had brought the subject before the board, after contacting the state's attorney general's office said, "It's very simple to follow the act. I just want to protect my rights as a member of this board." Fidge also insisted that deliberations were a part of the two meetings, which were held to discuss the Alexander Grant employe efficiency program.

Breen said, in reply, that the meetings were called as informational meetings for the township's department heads and for township employes, not for the trustees.

Trustees were not required to attend the meetings but were invited to sit in on the discussions.

Trustees to write specs for one-hauler trash contract

Township Okays trash pickup plan

BY KEN VOYLES

Despite claims to the contrary Plymouth Township is not getting into the solid waste disposal business.

However, at Tuesday's regular gathering of the township's Board of Trustees, a resolution was passed 4-3 to formalize specifications and seek bids which would lead to just one garbage collector in the township.

That one contractor, it was added, would not be the township, but a collector with the lowest bid, thus assuring a reduced rate from what most township residents currently pay.

The township will not, it was said, get into the business, buy equipment or hire workers. It will only set the specifications and keep the internal records.

Trustees Gerald Law, Andy Pruner, Barb Lynch, and Supervisor Maurice Breen voted for the plan, while Trustee Lee Fidge, Clerk Esther Hulsing and Treasurer Joseph West dissented. It was the second such vote for the trustees this year. The first time the issue came up it failed.

Currently there are 11 licensed contractors in the township serving approximately 5,300 single-family residents.

The average service cost is $7, according to a study put together by Law, and that cost shows a 75 per cent increase since 1978.

Of those 11 garbage collectors, half a dozen showed up for the Tuesday meeting to protest the township's attempts to seek one contractor. Also on hand was a full house of residents, some for the move, others opposed to the move.

The purpose of Law's study was "to examine the cost effectiveness or economic side of this service." Besides fire protection, police protection, water and sewer services, the township is also involved in solid waste disposal, but currently acts only as a licenser and has no control over the price of the service.

"Right now it costs our residents more to have their garbage collected than for police protection, that's how expensive it has gotten," Law said. Township

City's block grant program may get cut

BY KEN VOYLES

The City of Plymouth will receive $19,000 less per year in the next three-year installment of the federally funded Community Block Grant program.

Despite the decrease in funds from $99,000 yearly to $80,000, the city will put together a package - or shopping list as the city's Federal Grants Coordinator John Behmann calls it - of future projects that fit the guidelines of the block grant program, by April 1 of 1982.

For that "shopping list" Behmann, and members of Plymouth's Advisory Council for Block Grants, need input from city residents. Future money from the program must go for projects that, either benefit low income residents, prevent or eliminate community blight, or meet urgent community need.

Money from the program is based on population. Cities with less than 10,000 residents receive less than cities with over 10,000 people. Because Plymouth, according to the 1980 census, has 9,984 residents, or 16 residents short of 10,000, it will receive $80,000 yearly instead of the $99,000 it had been receiving.

At a November meeting of the Wayne County Advisory Board to the Community Block Grant program, it was decided in consortium that Plymouth would receive $80,000, despite protest by the city.

City Commissioner Jack Kenyon, the city's member of that consortium, along with Behmann, pleaded the city's case at the meeting, but they were unsuccessful.

The pair appealed the decision on the grounds that the 1980 census must have a margin of error greater than two-tenths of one per cent - the difference by which the city missed 10,000 residents. They also argued that the new 48-room addition to the city's senior citizen center, Tonquish Creek Manor, has brought in 33 senior citizen from outside the community. The addition was not complete until this past summer, after the census was conducted.

Behmann said if the city could convince the Federal Census Bureau to acknowledge the margin of error, and the increase in senior citizens, the Wayne County board would do so also. He added,

Canton Police checking out shooting story

Canton Township Police and State Police are trying to sort out fact from fiction in a shooting incident purported to have taken place Friday afternoon in the parking lot area of Canton's Meijer's Thrifty Acres.

Michael Horn, Ypsilanti, sought medical treatment at Beyer Memorial Hospital 6:30 p.m. Friday night for a gunshot wound.

He told police he had been shot by a man who attempted to rob him in the parking lot at Ford and Canton Center Road.

Horn was accompanied by three other men who have all given what police call "contradictory stories."

Police have also checked out the incident with many other people who were at Meijer's at the time the incident was reported to have taken place and that not one has related any incident in the crowded store or parking lot.

Police are continuing the investigation. Horn is reported in stable condition. He was shot in the upper chest and arms.

Ford Road widening project contracts ready to be let

The long-awaited widening of Ford Road is in the works with the start of construction scheduled for spring of 1982.

The Michigan Department of Transportation will open bids for the estimated $8.5 million project on Jan. 20.

While the Ford Road widening will affect Canton residents as a main artery to the east the actual work will not take in the section in Canton Township from I-275 west.

The widening job will start at Venoy Road in Garden City and run west to I-275, just inside the Canton Township-Westland line.

Completion date for the massive road job is scheduled for June in 1984.

Plymouth Twp. makes changes in Hilltop golf course contract

BY KEN VOYLES

An addendum to the Hilltop Golf Course contract between Plymouth Township and Hilltop's current Manager John Jawor was passed 6-1 by Township Trustees at their regular gathering on Tuesday.

The resolution completed an eight month process of deliberation between the two parties. The addendum was designed to take into account the course's expansion this year from nine to 18 holes.

It calls for an extension of Jawor's lease of the property from the township to 1988. Jawor will also have five years to renew his lease once the original lease is complete.

The addendum also recognizes the change from nine to 18 holes and calls for Jawor to assume responsibility for general maintenance of the course. Jawor will also be responsible for repairs of all equipment provided and must assume liability for the construction of cart paths already in progress.

According to Township Attorney Charles Bokos, the reason for the addendum, besides taking into account the course's expansion, was to eliminate any further liability for the township. "This is to get the township off the hook in terms of liability," said Bokos. "Beyond that there really are no obligations."

According to Jawor he has never had a problem with the township over the contract, since the settlement of litigation in 1978, and that the addendum was just to recognize the course's expansion.

Under the contract the township receives 50 per cent of the greens fees per year or a guaranteed $35,000 per year. That will not change, despite a suggestion by Trustee Lee Fidge that the guaranteed amount be raised to $75,000 yearly. Fidge was the only trustee to vote against the addendum.

There was also some discussion at the gathering of Jawor's accountability and his handling of financial statements, but Township Treasurer Joseph West assured other trustees, and those in the audience, that he has audited Jawor in the past and has had no problems with his financial records.

Jawor said the township, and anyone else for that matter, can have access to his records

CEP students can take career guidance program

Centennial Education Park students will have an opportunity to participate in a career guidance session on Jan. 16 - the ACT Career Planning Program.

The program is designed to help students better make educational and career decisions. Students participating in the program first complete an assessment on career-related interests, experiences, abilities and plans.

That information is then processed into a report, to be reviewed with the student in group and individual counseling sessions.

According to spokesmen in the CEP Guidance offices, the majority of students surveyed who have taken the Career Planning Program report that it was their best testing experience, or a very good one. Most also recommended that it be administered to other students.

Students can register for the test by bringing a check for $4.75 made to Canton or Salem High School, to the Canton or Salem Guidance offices, by Thursday, Dec. 22.

County commissioner dons hospital whites

Wayne County Commissioner Bill Joyner of Plymouth donned hospital whites Dec. 14 to become a "midnight nurse" at Wayne County General Hospital.

Joyner agreed to make a first-hand investigation of Wayne General Hospital staffing in the intensive care and new born care wards.

Joyner agreed to discuss the problem of understaffing with 17 nurses who have made the claim that the wards are "grossly understaffed." The 27th District commissioner said, "I'm going to see for myself whether the nurses' charges are valid."

According to Joyner, the employees claim there is but one nurse per 45-50 patients on the midnight shift and that there isn't even time for them to eat lunch.

Bed usage at the hospital has jumped nearly 30 per cent and income by $8 million since last July when Wayne County Commissioners allowed the medical doctors to contract their services to the hospital under an MSP program rather than remain as hospital employees, according to the nurses.

According to this Plymouth Township resident

Trash pickup contract is good idea

EDITOR:

I would like to comment on the letter that was illegally stuffed into my mailbox for me to read about Plymouth Township rubbish collectors getting cheated.

First of all, they misinformed the township because the township will not be picking up the trash. The township will be soliciting bids for trash removal. Now if these collectors will be smart, all they have to do is get together and join as one, then bid on the whole township as one collection company.

If there are six firms in the township already, if they win the bid, they can divide the township into six equal parts.

As far as the four questions asked in this letter—so called, I will answer in my own opinion.

1.—Would I benefit from controlled pickup? Yes. Instead of my neighbors paying $9 a month and me paying $8 and the guy down the street paying $7, we would all pay the same amount which would make the cost much lower.

2.—How much would I pay and to whom? I would pay about $4 per month at the most to the township on either my water bill or on my taxes to the township and they would contract with the most reasonable contractor and his restrictions. Paying $48 a year or $12 at the most every 3 months is a lot cheaper than paying $96 a year—saving about half of my present bill.

3.—Would the service be as competitive as the private companies currently offer? Yes, it would because the companies would be bidding on the contract and if the company did not do a good job, when the contract ran out another bid could be taken. The contract would be a one or two year contract, and at least we, the people, would know the price would not jump every three months as it is doing at the present time.

4.—What would the rules and restrictions on pickup be? I have talked to some city people and to some people living in Canton Township and they like their service and their restrictions are even better than some of the private companies. In fact if they have something big to haul away they can call a number and the object is picked up without any extra charge unlike some of the private companies do in this township.

The rubbish removal is not new because when the township became a charter township, it was one of the stipulations in becoming a charter township to contract for private rubbish removal.

I'm in favor of the township board's decision 100 per cent, because I see it working in other communities and they are paying a lot less that we are for the same service.

This letter that was passed out and so misinformed the public that it did not even mention that the meeting started at 7:30 p.m. instead of 7 p.m.

Canton seniors appreciate Center parking lot blacktop

EDITOR:

Open letter to Canton Township trustees:

On behalf of the Royals, Zesters and Pioneer Senior Citizens Clubs of Canton, I would like to convey our appreciation for the blacktop paving which was recently completed on the parking area of the Recreation Center.

The sore feet from walking on gravel chunks, and muddy shoes and slacks will be a happily forgotten memory.

Please accept our sincere thanks for a much-needed improvement in the parking conditions at the Center. It is being greatly enjoyed by the Seniors.

Coloring It Brown

By Dick Brown

This is the time of the year when all of us are supposed to have that happy Christmas feeling. This year it is particularly difficult for a lot of people to get into the holiday cheer bit.

There is the international unrest of major proportions. There is the general problems of inflation, the dire situation in the auto industry which so affects all of us right here in our own community.

There is the arrival of the December tax statement which climbs higher and higher. There are the stories of the Plymouth-Canton School District having to pare the budget even more, of cutbacks in state and federal funds which threaten to have cities and townships wallowing in red ink.

There is the increase of crime in our own Plymouth-Canton Community with home breakins, armed robberies, narcotics and alcoholism.

Just about everywhere we look, there appears to be something that dampens Christmas 1981 enthusiasm.

The true meaning of Christmas is still there, though, for those who want to share it, for by taking a look at the list of those many problems affecting all of us, it is obvious that all the problems are man-made.

So there really should be more of an incentive this year to return to the true meaning of the season by putting Christ back into Christ-Mas.

Now that us mortals have generally botched things up, maybe we ought to give Him a chance to straighten things out.

IPSEP program is great

EDITOR:

I would like to say a few words with regard to your article on Tony Coscia.

I have a four and a half year old grandson with cerebral palsy. No trips were made to Philadelphia for treatment as there was none to spend.

Brian Williams has been helped through the greatest program I have ever known, called Infant Pre-School Special Ed Program. This program is financed by you, the tax payers, so I would like to say "Thank You" for your help.

At six months Brian couldn't do anything but sleep and he ate very little. The doctors at U of M suggested IPSEP. It was so cold that winter and he was so tiny Marilyn Thams (nurse) and Phoebe Vance (therapist) came to the house to start therapy.

Then he started to have therapy twice a week until he reached the age of three, at which time he started class room therapy. Now he attends four days and a half day of Headstart Plus.

Because of the help of these women, Marilyn, Phoebe, Mary Kay Herr and Lori Newman, teachers and Lori Franzen, occupational therapist, he is able to do many things. He can put on his coat, take it off, is toilet trained, takes his braces off, zips zippers, walks with braces and walker and much more.

In March he is scheduled for surgery to help him walk without help of walker or braces. He now goes on his knees which, in his words, "he's running," or goes with his walker or rides in a stroller.

His wish for Christmas is a little piano to help tiny fingers to function better.

Do you have one you will give?

I have written this to let parents know you don't need to leave Plymouth for help. These people give all the hope and aid possible.

Thank you, again, taxpayers, Good-fellows, Salvation Army and, especially, IPSEP. It is a program that works.

community opinions

It sure beats working -- right, Pat?

Two friends of mine were married Saturday.

One I just met a few weeks ago, and the other many of you probably know -- Pat Bartold, who was managing editor of The Crier before me.

Jim and Pat both work in Oakland, California, making their living at writing. I probably shouldn't have to tell you what a life that is, but this is my column and I'm going to anyway.

When I came to The Crier it was after a year at a petroleum magazine. My head was filled with Niagaran zones and sand fracs, Ideco drawworks and doghouse rumors.

The first day on the job I was unceremoniously handed over to Pat so she could teach me the biz. I was the new "cherry," we used to call 'em in the Army. Anyway, imagine trying to learn the finer points of What's Happenings when I didn't even know what an Apple Run was.

God, what a first day. It was a Monday, the toughest, longest, most frustrating and exasperating day in a Crier week. When I'd screw up, Pat had a wonderful way of smiling with teeth gritted so tight they squeaked.

Pat had to smile a lot that day.

In addition

by Dan Bodene

Truth be told, she was patient as a saint. A good thing, because I was slow as sin. The weeks went on, though, and I started to get the hang of a lot of the work I was responsible for. Then I started to get crafty.

You see, it didn't take long before I started to make my own news judgements (a cub reporter, yet!) on what to try to slip past Pat. For example, I sort of became attached to the notices the Ypsi Ballroom Dancers would send in so I'd try to get them printed, but Pat was adamant that it was out of the coverage area.

So I'd tell her that someone local was in the band, or was catering the dance. She never bought it.

So I started trying to slip in odd phrases in stories. A story on Kellogg Park might include a veiled reference to a breakfast cereal. Pat caught every one of these, and liked them less each time.

Then I became feature editor. I read a few of Pat's stories, and then tried my own. She patiently explained I was writing my features like news stories (they're often still too much like that, but Pat's not here to box my ears) and suggested I take a more human angle. I tried and tried, with little success.

So she suggested I get more involved. I did. And my first participatory feature was born -- with no training I ran the Jaycees Fourth of July Run a year and a half ago. Good for my writing, bad for my feet.

Pat taught me about driving to fires -- she was the worst driver on washboard roads I ever saw. Volkswagon could have used her Bug for an ad.

She taught me about news style. She made my stories concise. After my copy went through a session with her blue pencil, Karen the typesetter needed a translation. And I needed an aspirin.

But best of all, she taught me that working six days a week, twelve hours a day isn't so bad if you like what you're doing.

I do, and I think she and Jim both do too.

And they get all the nice weather.

Now that the last of the Christmas cookies are baked and decorated, and most of the shopping is completed except for those few last minute things and the never ending grocery shopping, it's easy to say, "I love Christmas".

As adults we all complain that there's never enough time before the holidays to get everything done. While children are busy making their lists for Santa, we are running around trying to make some of those dreams come true. Then Christmas Eve arrives and something magical happens - we all become children.

Christmas through the eyes of a child is very special. As a child stands looking at a Christmas tree you can see the glitter and colored lights reflect in their eyes. As their eyes shift to the packages under the tree, you know they're wondering what treasures are hidden in the gaily wrapped boxes.

The smell of the pine tree drifts through the house, and the aroma of Christmas goodies baking makes your stomach growl. The wreath on the front door, candles on the table and mistletoe above the archway are all traditions a child remembers.

Adults many times say they go through all the hustle and bustle of Christmas for the kids, and it's true, but they also do it for the child inside themselves. We all have fond memories of childhood Christmases and those little things that meant so much.

One of the best parts of the holidays is getting together with family and friends. Excitement builds as you anxiously wait for grandma and grandpa, aunts and uncles, cousins and family friends to arrive. After all, what would Christmas be if you didn't have friends to share it with? Sitting around the fireplace the warmth of the fire blends with the warmth of the friendship.

Then there's the one special visitor that we all anxiously await. As you drift off to sleep on Christmas Eve, you can almost hear the bells on his sleigh as it glides across the roof. Everyone loves dear ole Santa.

Yes, Christmas is for children - of all ages.
Merry Christmas!

State cutbacks compound problem

School cash crisis is hard to explain

BY DAN BODENE

Plymouth-Canton Schools administrators are worried that taxpayers are misunderstanding many of the district's financial problems.

Compounding the problem, they say, is the difficulty of explaining the situation to the community.

During reports this semester from a 12x12x12 committee on budget, chairman Bruce Mirto said a significant public relations problem exists between district management and the public.

In the committee's final report to the Board of Education, it was noted "The Board is also responsible for the credibility of the district's budget, including both revenue and expenditures.

The Board must insist that the Administration provide reasonable, accurate, concrete financial planning data to board members and to citizens."

So, information is being distributed to area residents in several ways.

One part of the informational campaign is "News Briefs" published every week with details of board meetings and workshops. In each edition, assistant superintendent for community relations Richard Egli has also been providing detailed information on the district financial picture.

The Sept. 30 edition, for example, detailed many of the impending financial problems the district faces. Included were explanations of major concerns such as executive order cutbacks, enrollment decline and resulting state aid reductions, the cost of borrowing money due to cash flow problems, serious reductions in budget surplus, and the status of present cutbacks.

The most recent edition of "News Briefs" presented an explanation of local property taxes and resulting school revenues, cited by the schools' administration as one of the most frequently misunderstood issues.

The article explained because of the State Equalized Valuation increase this year the district will receive almost $300 less per child in state aid than was received last year.

Egli also makes use of another medium of communication. Information is broadcast on television, on the Plymouth-Canton Schools cable TV channel 11.

Superintendent John Hoben provides more information with financial updates at school board meetings and workshops. Hoben also travels to school Parent Teacher Organization meetings to explain budget issues.

The district's standing budget committee, composed of administrators, building principals, department heads and other officials, also meets monthly and provides minutes and reports of the gatherings to the school board.

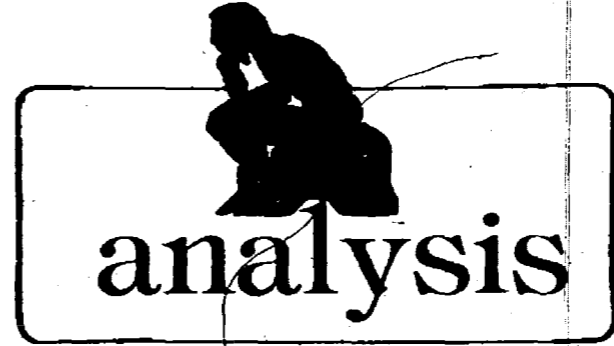

The school board holds budget workshops open to the public, as well as reports on financial status during regular board meetings. Special reports are also provided - the district's food service company, Interstate United, must provide monthly reports and a mid-year review.

Although the district provides information through many different this month the board almost unanimously rejected a proposal to hold a special millage election in March, citing the extremely unlikely possibility district voters would approve such a measure.

One problem seems to lead to another, and it remains to be seen whether the dichotomy of community support and schools operation can be unified.

sources, the problem of community awareness still seems significant.

One example is voter support. Earlier

Local Bantam hockey squad Sweden bound

BY KEN VOYLES

For many it will be their first true adventure beyond the borders of the United States, let alone the borders of The Plymouth-Canton Community.

A Bantam AA hockey team of the Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association will travel to Sweden Dec. 26 and stay for a nine-day tour and tournament.

Sponsored by the Little Caesars in Brighton, the team, consisting of 13-14 year olds, is made up of boys from Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Westland, Northville, Brighton, South Lyon, Farmington Hills, Dearborn Heights and West Bloomfield.

While in Sweden the 16 players will be housed with the families of Swedish hockey players of their same age in Ekero, a suburb of Stockholm. Thirteen parents, including four coaches, will travel with the team.

According to team manager Ed Bozyk each player will be "adopted" by a Swedish family and that family will be responsible for getting the players to each of the games, be it in Stockholm or on the road. Bozyk said the squad will play four or five games on tour and four games in a tournament in Ekero.

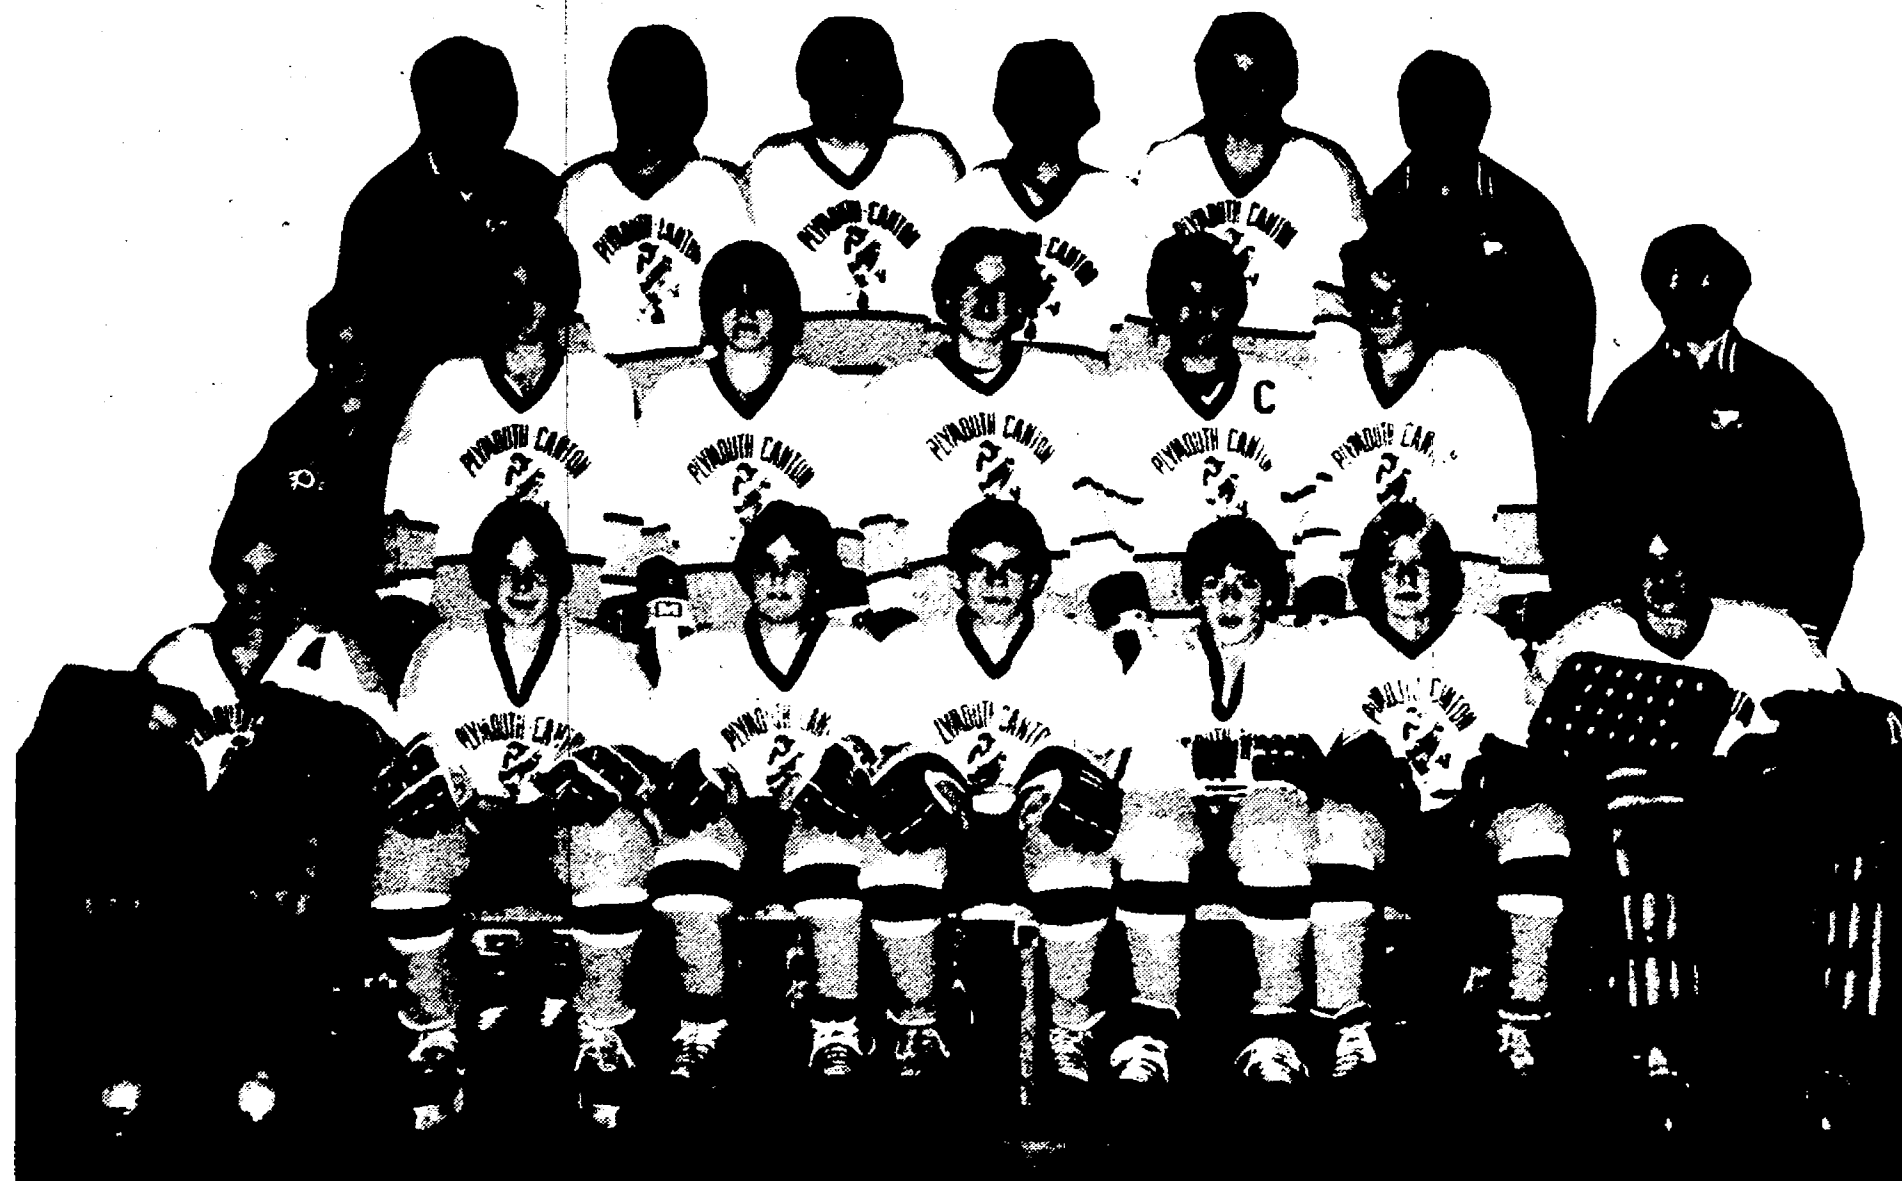

"The kids won't even see the parents that are going along except at the games. It should be a wonderful experience for the boys," said Bozyk.

He added that although the players will miss some schooling in the U.S., players must attend Swedish school if the player his lives with in Sweden is also attending school during that time.

The invitation came to current Plymouth Hockey Association President Al Campbell in early August.

The Swedes requested a Bantam AA team from the ranks of the Adray League, even before such a team had been formed.

To make the trip each player had to raise $564, or enough for air fare. The total needed is $13,000, including money for exchange gifts.

The players worked the past eight weeks in an attempt to raise the money. They chopped split and delivered over 50 face cords of wood. They also sold over $6,000 worth of garbage bags. Their third money maker is publication of a profile booklet on the team, including individual pictures, advertisements and a spotlight on the team.

Plymouth-Canton players include Scott Bozyk, Mike German, Ed LaRoche, Doug Campbell, Andy Justice and Eric Shobe.

Coaches are Dennis German and Frank

Renko Sr., while Bozyk manages and Keith Bozyk is the trainer.

Other team members include Paul Rockett, Greg Abraham, Danny Nelson, Kevin McHugh, Cam McIntosh, Mike Bayoff, Bob Seruga, Jim Rudberg, Jeff Gerish, and Frank Renko Jr.

Canton gets hit big for excess sewage discharge

BY DICK BROWN

There were a lot of groans at the Canton Township board meeting Dec. 8 when Finance Director Mike Gorman presented two past due bills from the Wayne County Public Works Department which totalled $95,505 for excess discharge into the Rouge Valley Sewage Disposal System.

The excess flow charges were for the first and second quarters of 1981.

The excess flow charges are figured by metering the sewage flow out of Canton and comparing it with the amount of water purchased by the township.

Holiday library hours

Dunning-Hough Public Library, serving both the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, will be closed Dec. 24-27 and Dec. 31-Jan. 3.

Gorman told the board that Canton's excess flow was high because most homes in Canton had their foundation drains hooked into the sanitary sewers allowing surface water runoff to get into the sewage system.

The high cost of disconnecting those footing tiles and installing sump pumps makes such a cure impractical, the township trustees were told. Current costs would average $6,000 per home, Gorman said.

The cost of paying the excess flow charge over a year's time would amount to an average of $16 a household, according to the finance director.

In recommending that the township pay the overdue bills, Gorman warned that there were rumblings from Wayne DPW that a late charge would be added if the bills were not paid immediately.

Dear Santa,
I hope you bring something real nice to the dentists at cause they are extra nice to us kids and smile and make us feel good while they take care of our teeth. And Santa, they have emergency hours to take care of us, even on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. You, too, Santa. If you need them while you're in town just call 455-2890. If any of your reindeer has a toothache guess you'll have to call someone else.

Love,
Chrissy

Twp trash pick-up contract

residents spend approximately $330,000 for police protection, while dishing out $445,200 for garbage disposal, according to Law's figures.

"The only way to look at this service is to compare it with a known quantity." For that Law chose the other members of The Plymouth-Canton Community, the City of Plymouth and Canton Township.

Using the township's 5,300 residents as a standard number, Law compared what it would cost the city (3,000 homes) if it had 5,300 homes and came up with $241,680, while in Canton (with 11,000 homes) the cost is $157,192 for 5,300 single-family residences. Both have single contractors.

Individual costs for city residents for monthly collection is $3.80, while in Canton it's $2.47. It must be noted that Canton has its own landfill which reduces the price even further.

Township residents currently pay their collection fee in advance, sometimes even a year in advance, according to Law, who added that the only way to get figures on solid waste collection in the township is to talk to residents and use past checks to compare the cost for 1978 as compared with 1981. The township has never kept records on waste collection.

By paying in advance, said Law, township residents also lose interest income. He also noted that city residents pay their garbage collection bill as a part of their property taxes. The township is not considering billing in such a way, however, because a millage would have to be passed, and millages have not been successful recently.

In the city's and Canton's cases interest is earned by the municipality which in turn puts money back into the service.

For many of the residents who spoke during the open debate Tuesday, the quality of service they receive is good to great, and the price is fair. One resident considered the service a private matter and none of the township's business, while another mentioned the fact that most current contractors will deal with any type of solid waste left to be picked up.

Township resident Carol Levitte said, "Fire and police protection is not a type of service you can put a value on. I can't bargain individually over my fire and police bill, but with garbage collection, I can. I prefer to bargain where I can." She also said she was afraid if the motion passed the board would later return to push for a new millage.

Gene Hornback, an 18-year veteran collector in the township, and 43 years in the business, said the reason for the increases in collection are due to increases in the price to dump garbage in a landfill. He said the cost has jumped from 65 cents a cubic yard to $1.40.

Hornback, with approximately 1,200 township customers added that gasoline prices are another factor in increased costs. "I look at this as the Gestapo telling me they are taking me out of the business and that they're going into the business," Hornback said.

Other contractors mentioned the larger plots of land in the township as compared with the city and Canton and the fact that the current contractors pick up just about anything.

Trustee Fidge said of the administration's claim that future collection costs would be less, "Cheaper is not necessarily better."

Breen assured residents that the township was not getting into the business. "We only want to offer comparable or better service at a comparable price to what other communities pay."

Plymouth Twp. board opposes new group home

Plymouth Township Board of Trustees unanimously passed a resolution denying a license for a proposed group home at 8827 Sheldon Road, during Tuesday's regular meeting of the board.

Board members cited another group home, located at 44450 Forest Trails, in Canton Township, as being within 1500 feet of the proposed group home at the residence of John and Judy Eskra in the township.

The board also decided not to send out notices to residents within 1,500 feet of the proposed property until it was determined by the state whether or not boundaries of communities can act as a dividing line and separate two group homes that might be within 1,500 feet of each other.

state does not currently have a moratorium on group homes and action could come quickly unless the board acted. He also said that the proposed home is 400 feet short of the 1,500 feet clearance needed, despite the community borders.

however, that the city has already confronted the bureau with an appeal, but it was denied after a recount still showed the city's population below 10,000.

The city is currently drafting a letter to the FCB, as well as to U.S. Congressman Carl Pursell, who represents The Plymouth-Canton Community, asking for assistance in getting the city's case heard a second time.

"My primary feeling (after the meeting) is one of disappointment. Disappointment that we didn't get what we asked for and disappointment that the board didn't see fit to acknowledge a margin of error from the census activities," said Kenyon.

He added that he is sympathetic to the advisory board, but he is also sympathetic to Plymouth. "But they have to draw a line somewhere, I guess," Kenyon said.

To qualify for the $80,000 year the city must have a priority list of projects submitted to the county by April of 1982. The Plymouth Advisory Board will make a list from among resident input, and will recommend that list to the City Commission sometime in February, said Behmann.

Behmann stressed the need of getting resident input for possible project ideas that fit one of the above criteria. Residents can call Behmann at Plymouth's City Hall, 453-1234.

Ideas already advanced for the next block grant period include a commercial rehabilitation program to renovate the fronts of commercial establishments in the city's commercial districts, a second senior citizens van, a community wide CPR program, and an arson van for the Plymouth Fire Department.

Special Ed advisory group seeks members

The Special Education Parent Advisory Committee is seeking membership in the organization. The committee is composed of parents of handicapped children and was formed to advise the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education and parents of Plymouth-Canton Schools of issues pertaining to special education students.

The committee assists in developing public awareness of the needs of the handicapped by holding parent meetings, serving as a support group for parents, securing services for all special education children and encouraging communications between the Plymouth-Canton School District and the state legislature

Created in 1979, the group has sponsored the Kids on the Block Troupe of Puppets with various handicaps, a summer recreation program for handicapped children and for siblings of disabled children.

SEPAC also has published a handbook for parents, puts out a newsletter and has an advocacy committee to aid parents in understanding and receiving the services handicapped children need.

The organization meets monthly throughout the school year on the fourth Thursday of the month. Meetings are conducted in the pupil personnel office at 1024 S. Mill Street and are open to all parents and other interested people.

Meetings start at 7 p.m.

Canton youngsters get Track A-B day camp

A variety of activities will be provided, including swimming lessons and open swims, trampoline, arts and crafts, games, gymnastics, various sports, movies, air rifles and archery.

Dates for the program are: Week 1, Dec. 14-18; Week 2, Dec. 21-24; Week 3, Dec. 28-31; Week 4, Jan. 4-8; Week 5, Jan. 11-15; Week 6, Jan. 18-22. All sessions will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Sitter service will be available for working parents between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. at $1 per child and from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. at $1.50 per child.

Day camp fee is $30 with a membership and $35 for non-members. For weeks 2 and 3, it is $25 with a membership and $30 for non-members.

As a special bonus, the second child in each family will pay half the price each session. Campers will bring their lunches each day.

Canton police chief offers holiday safety tips

Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox issued the warning that the holidays traditionally build up needless pressures in Canton traffic—as well as people.

"We know better," he explained, "but we still get caught in a complex turmoil of last minute shopping, parties and heavier than normal drinking."

Persons subjected to such stress-walkers as well as drivers—are less able to cope with the everyday problems of avoiding accidents.

Chief Cox's holiday "behavior modification" tips include:

- 1.—Plan shopping trips well in advance. Give yourself a chance to slow your pace and take it easy.
- 2.—When walking, don't hide behind a pile of packages. Cross streets only at crosswalks where drivers expect you.
- 3.—Driving or walking, keep alert for bad weather that causes traffic tie-ups and unsure footing.

As for over-enthusiastic party-goers, the chief reminded that alcohol slows reflexes, impairs coordination and reduces visual acuity.

"Put a person in this condition behind the wheel of a car, add winter's poor visibility and inadequate traction, and you multiply the chances of a tragic crash," he warned.

Those who overdo would do well to heed the advice: Black coffee, cold showers, fresh air or other folklore remedies won't help. Time is the only answer—time for your body to dispose of the alcohol. After several drinks, that time may be several hours.

"Ride home with a friend or take public transportation," Chief Cox recommended, and concluded with this warning:

"If you can't watch out for yourself—we'll have to watch out for you."

Local DAR chapter accepting essay entries

Members of the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), are asking for essay contestants with a special knowledge of people born in February.

The contest is sponsored by the DAR National Society, and entrants are asked to write on "A Famous American Born in February." They can write on any famous American born before 1900 in the month of February, and must explain how the person influenced American history and why the individual was chosen for the essay.

Deadline for essays to the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter is January 1, 1982. Late arrivals cannot be accepted.

For 5th and 6th graders, essays must be from 300 to 600 words; for 7th and 8th graders, essays must be from 600 to 1,000 words. Every word must be counted (except dates, such as February 1, 1981, which will count as one word) and noted at the end of the essay.

All essays will be judged by a panel of three judges selected by the sponsoring chapter, on historical accuracy, adherence to subject, originality, interest, neatness, spelling and punctuation.

Essays must be handwritten in ink.

The name of the contestant, full home address, school and grade and the name of the sponsoring chapter (Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter) must be written on the essay. Essays cannot be returned, although a Xeroxed copy may be kept by the chapter.

The winning essay in each grade will be sent by the chapter to the state chairman, and will be judged at state, divisional and national levels by a panel of non-DAR judges.

A bibliography of books, pamphlets, letters or other research material used in writing the essay must be included. If personal family items are used, the name of the owner must be given.

Entrants are reminded to plainly write on the essay the title, contestant's name and full address with zip code, name of school, grade and Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter name.

Send essays to Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, DAR, Mrs. H. Scott, H3785 Darisa Ct., Northville, MI 48167.

Plymouth Twp. fire insurance rates may be lowered

A new classification may result in lowered insurance rates for Plymouth Township residents.

According to Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, the Fire Insurance Classification determined by the Insurance Services Office of Michigan was recently improved from the former rating of class eight to the new rating of class six.

That means property owners in Plymouth Township should contact their own insurance agents to see if the improved township classification can be used to lower their individual fire insurance rates.

The township's improved fire insurance classification was the result of an extensive field review conducted by the Insurance Services Office. Water facilities and the township's Fire Department structure were examined as part of the review.

CEP math students place high in competition

Eight CEP students finished in the top four per cent on Part I of the 25th Annual Michigan Mathematics Prize competition and were among the approximately 1,000 Michigan students to compete in the final examination Dec. 9.

Math students from Centennial Educational Park who participated in the finals were Michael Blischke, Ron Ernst, Jin Kim, Michael McClennen, Sandhya Narayan, Dan Prather, Jeff Stillson and Robert Ziegler.

The competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to foster a wider interest in mathematics, to focus attention on the necessity of mathematical training in most professions and trades and to identify and provide scholarships for capable mathematics students.

The 100 winners of the competition will be honored at the awards program to be held at Central Michigan University on Feb. 13, with half of the winners receiving college scholarships. These scholarships totaled $12,000 in last year's competition.

Included in the list of scholarship contributors are Burroughs Corporation, Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Kuhlman Corporation and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Frederick Libbing, Canton counselor, has served as the school supervisor for CEP students competing in the examination.

Marda Benson fails to file election report

PCEP variety show to include talent auditions

"Variety Is . . .," the PCEP band's variety show, is offering a new twist this year for its presentation on Jan 15.

There will be open talent auditions for anyone interested in performing. Although high school age participants are preferred, talented adults will be welcome. The acts may be musical or variety, but must be performed in a limited area as the PCEP bands will be using the actual behind-the-curtains stage.

The show will have a Walt Disney theme this year and all acts should be suited to a family audience.

The auditions will take place on Jan. 5 at 2:05 p.m. in Room 300 of the Phase III building on the high school grounds.

A committee composed of PCEP Band Director James Griffiths and music students will determine which acts are selected.

Tickets for the show are priced at $2 per person with a family group ticket costing $7. All proceeds will go toward funding the band programs.

Canton man appointed to draft board standby

Ernest Rumsby of Canton has been nominated by Governor William Milliken as a standby member of Local Selective Service Board No.219.

Rumsby, a candidate in last summer's Plymouth-Canton Board of Education race, received a letter from the governor's office informing him of the nomination. "I am sure you join me in the hope that we will not have a national emergency which necessitates activation of the boards," the governor wrote. "However, if such a situation were to develop after you are appointed, your willingness to be a member of a local board, and to participate in necessary training now, will guarantee that your draft-eligible neighbors and everyone else in Michigan will receive fair and equitable treatment."

KEN WINDSOR Plymouth Hilton's new manager

Hilton GM is settling in

It isn't as though Ken Windsor had all kinds of time to gently get his feet on the ground in his new job as general manager of the Plymouth Hilton.

He's had to hit the ground running.

But after 22 years in the hotel, catering and restaurant business, that's nothing new.

So at the same time Ken and his wife are settling into their new Canton home (he was recently seen outfitted in grubbies while tinkering with the furnace and water heater), he's been busy working out details at the Hilton for holiday parties and the Superbowl weekend.

Windsor swapped places with John Dithmer in a management change at the two Hilton hotels owned by Motor Hotel Management of Dallas, Texas - the Allentown, Pa. Hilton and the hotel here in Plymouth Township.

"Right now I feel pretty comfortable," he admitted now that he's had an opportunity to survey the local situation and the hotel's operation.

"I'd like to think we'll stay here for some time. I like it here, I know that."

The 47-year-old hosteler has spent most of his career in catering in-flight service and hotel management for the Marriott Corporation but even set out on his own and opened a restaurant in Virginia.

Windsor hired on with the Motor Hotel Management Co. to oversee construction and the opening of the Allentown Hilton and while in that process, visited the Plymouth Hilton some years ago to look at this operation.

He's already begun making changes in the sales and catering thrust here and foresees attracting smaller groups to getting down to business

"mini-conventions" and seminars here.

"I plan on continuing the local orientation of the hotel too," Windsor said. "We've already started getting more involved with the Chambers."

Among the traditions Windsor inherited with the Plymouth Hilton is one he's probably quietly going to try to change - he doesn't want to follow Dithmer's path in the traditional swimming pool dunking given to departing management by the Hilton employes. Whenever and if he leaves here - his family's used to frequent moves around the country - it might take all 195 of the Hilton employes to get the bear-like new manager anywhere near the pool.

Christmas Bucks termed successful

"I've got 17 of yours, how many of mine do you have?"

"Do you ever get the feeling you're a broker?"

"I'll trade you seven of these for seven of theirs."

No it wasn't the annual open trade day for the American League or the Zurich gold market.

It was last Tuesday's trade back day for the Plymouth merchants who participated in the Plymouth Bucks campaign.

High trader honors went to Hugh Jarvis who took in some 770 of the bonus shopper bucks while some of the large ticket shops paid out more to recover their bucks than they took in.

Most merchants reported their customers were happy with the bonus bucks and some wondered whether the program should be offered during slow rather than peak times.

But the trade back day was obviously a delight to the participants.

"Does the Before and After Shoppe owe anybody at this table?"

"I owe you a dollar."

"It's going to end up that I owe you, I'm sure."

Chief Buck Eye Fred Hill said he was pleased with the merchants' promotion and expressed relief that he and Chamber Manager Diane Dart escaped with their lives when a few of the stores with bucks outstanding didn't show to settle their accounts.

Hill denied that he coined the promotion's name to glorify an unnamed football team from Ohio.

The Canton Chamber of Commerce is getting into the political arena in matters affecting local and state legislation with impact on business.

The Chamber board of directors has approved the formation of a mini-political action committee.

Named to the committee were Mary Perna, Catherine Foege, Noel Culbert, Hank Johnson and John Schultz.

By-laws for the political action committee are awaiting approval from the board of directors. Once those are approved the statement of organization will be filed with the Michigan Secretary of State.

To fund the political action committee work, the Chamber will start seeking small donations to provide a war chest for operations.

Buy and sell Plymouth?

Try your hand at owning Plymouth.

Sponsored by the Michigan Historical Association, "The Game of Plymouth" allows any shrewd player to buy and sell businesses in town.

The game is modeled after Monopoly, and players move around a board divided into "properties" of actual Plymouth businesses. Wheeler-Dealer cards provide directions for moving and other surprises.

Other complications arise when players must invest in the "Commodities Future Exchange" or are audited by the Internal Revenue Service.

The game is available at any of 30 businesses depicted on the board, for a suggested retail price of $9.95. In addition, community groups who wish to sell the game as a fundraiser can purchase the games at a wholesale price. The current board layout will remain unchanged for the next five years.

Rick Jedlowski of the Michigan Historical Association says Plymouth is the only city his organization has commissioned games of. "Plymouth is unique," he says. "It has the history and the heritage. It's fitting for our association to have it as the location of the game."

Members of the Michigan Historical Association can be reached at 874-0636.

What a day

Bill and Lorraine Waun somehow made it through that first day of the new Station 885 Thursday.

With a hectic lunch rush and the uncertainties of planning, ordering and staffing to meet with a customer rush no one ever expected, it was a long day.

"We learned a few things," smiled Lorraine. Bill, who was running on nervous energy by the evening and threw himself into dishwashing when the bar crowd died down, praised the help of Les Shelley of Shelley's Chicken Manor, another Old Village restaurant.

As Shelley left after a long day, his parting advice to Bill was "Get the bacon on early for the clubs and start the soups."

The Wauns praised the local contractors who helped complete the building - started many years ago for the Golden Spike Restaurant which went bankrupt before the building was ever completed. The restaurant, located at 885 Starkweather, held a thank you dinner for the contractors the night before it opened for business.

BEST FOOT FORWARD CLUBFOOT

Clubfoot, or talipes, is a congenital deformity in which the muscles and bones of the foot are twisted into abnormal positions. The form most often encountered is talipes equinovarus, which has two distinct characteristics: the sole of the foot turns inward, with its outer edge turned down; and the foot is noticeably arched so that, when the baby is standing erect, the heel will not touch the ground.

The formation of a clubfoot is attributed to the position of the fetus in the womb. If the foot and leg are somehow forced into an unusual position and held there for several months during pregnancy, the pressure of the uterine wall may deform the extremely pliable bones of the foot and ankle. Almost all treatment tries to make structural changes by reversing the forces that initially caused the deformity.

Canton 2nd, Salem 3rd at Saturday's Rotary swim

BY KEN VOYLES

Brighton successfully defended its first place title at the Plymouth Rotary Swim Invitational Salem High Saturday, racking up 287 points.

Salem and rival Canton High fought for second place most of the meet and as it turned out the Chiefs edged the Rocks by two points. Canton had 262 points and Salem scored 260. Westland John Glenn was fourth, Livonia Franklin fifth and Northville sixth.

The Chiefs scored four first during the meet, including a meet record, while the Rocks scored two firsts, including one meet record.

"We're really pleased with our effort today," said Canton coach Bill McCord. "Anytime you beat Salem it feels good. The team is coming around. They swam like crazy on Thursday (against Salem) and that gave them the confidence to swim like they did today."

Salem coach Chuck Olson was also pleased with his squad's effort. He said, "We swam really well. It's been a tough week for us with the Ypsilanti and Canton meets back-to-back and then this."

Canton's foursome of Bob Simrak, Ron Hurley, Pete Stern and Jim Luce clocked 1:46.46 for first place in the 200-yard medley relay. Salem's crew of Paul Neschich, Jeff Kleinsmith, Ashley Long and Bob Bowling were third, 1:46.88. Canton's other foursome was seventh, while Salem's other crew was ninth.

Stern set a meet record in the 50-yard freestyle as he clocked 22.73 for first. Salem's best finish was a seventh place for Bowling, 24.16. The Rocks were also eighth and Canton's Hurley was sixth.

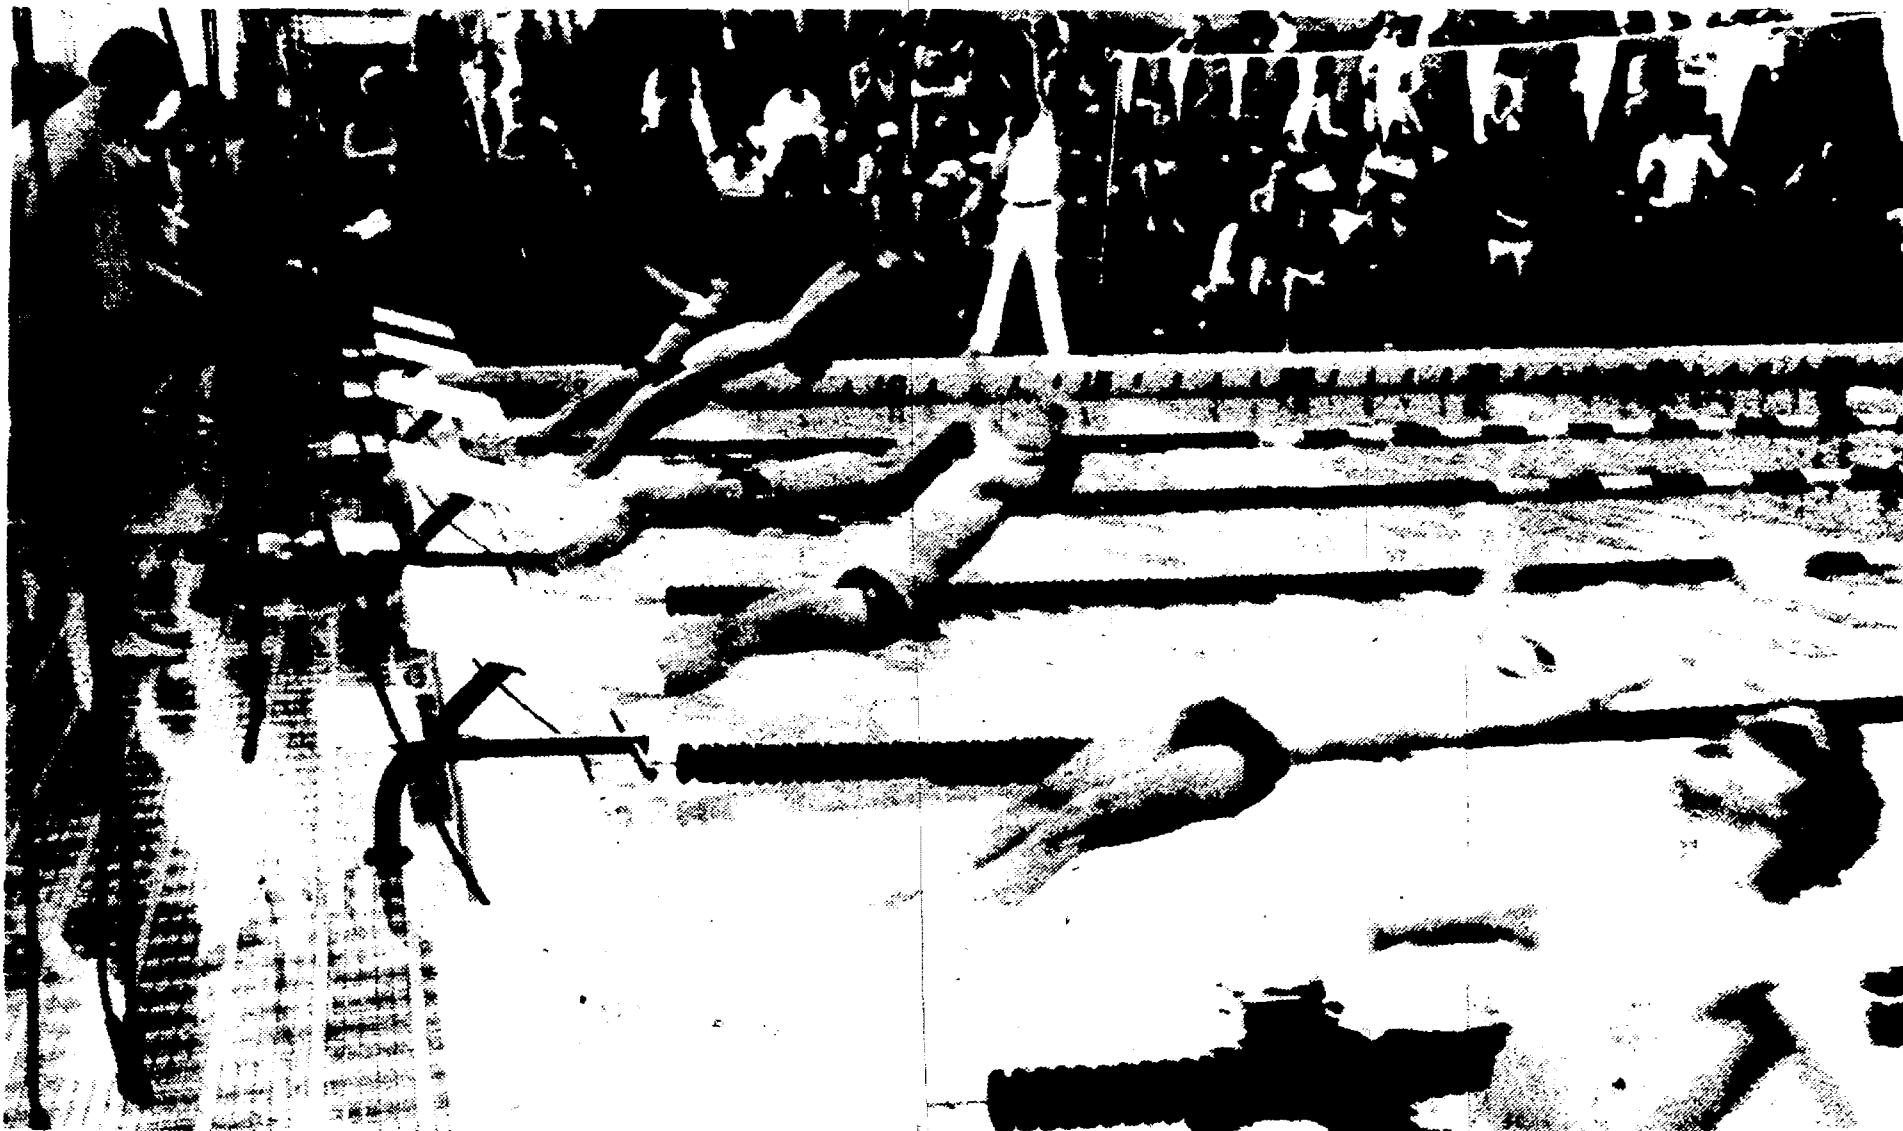

Stern broke a second meet record when

After losing its first four games, Canton High basketball coach Dave VanWagoner's squad has no where to go but up.

Friday night, the Chiefs suffered their latest setback, falling to Western Six League rival Farmington Harrison, 62-56.

"I thought that we played pretty well," said VanWagoner, "now that we have our starting line-up all set we can only get better and better."

In the first quarter, the Chiefs played even with the Hawks. Both teams were slow offensively, and Farmington took a 10-9 lead at the end of the period.

Despite six second quarter points from

Tim McFarland, who started for the first time on Friday, the Chiefs fell further behind, as the Hawks outscored them 15-10 to take a 25-19 lead at the half.

Canton played well in the second half, but was unable to overcome the Hawks lead. Farmington outscored the Chiefs 20-17 in the third quarter, while Canton came back to outscore the Hawks 18-17 in the final period.

McFarland led the Canton scoring attack with 16 points. He was followed by Matt Thomas and Ron Rienas, who scored 10 points apiece.

Canton plays again tonight when they face Salem High in the Christmas Classic, at Salem. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Rock cagers get their act together, knock off league foe Belleville

BY KEN VOYLES

What a turn around.

Salem High's mens basketball team played its best game of the 1981-82 season Thursday night as it swept past Suburban Eight League foe Belleville, 66-51. The Rocks are now 3-0 going into tonight's Christmas Classic.

Salem won its first two games of the season, and yet the squad looked anything but a maturing team in both contests. Riddled by mental mistakes the Rocks barely pulled out wins over Walled Lake Central and Trenton. Thursday was a different story as Salem seemed to do everything right.

"We did a nice job. Our size and physical strength helped us deal with Belleville's quickness," said Salem coach Fred Thomann after the game. "We wanted to keep Belleville on the perimeter and keep them from getting the offensive rebounds."

"I thought the kids played really well for the most part. We made the perimeter shots and got the offensive rebounds," Thomann continued. "On defense we always had pressure to their players and that way we were able to contain their quickness."

Thomann added that his team has a lot of potential that has yet to be tapped. "We scored more points tonight than the first two games because we were looking to score. In the first games we weren't looking to score."

Nine players saw action for Salem against the Tigers. Thomann said the sorting process continues, and added that his job right now is "to find a place where everybody can play." Because of the quality of depth, Thomann's Rocks may never have a set lineup.

Salem opened the Belleville game scoring 10 points. The Tigers came back to 10-9 before the Rocks went into front 14-9 and 16-11 at the end of the period. Mike McBride scored eight points for Salem.

In the second quarter, the Rocks went in front 21-15 at the 5:12 mark, and then got out in front by 10 points 29-19 at 2:31. The Rocks held that margin throughout the period and led at the half, 35-25. John Cohen scored seven points for Salem and Rick Berberet scored six.

Salem continued to recognize its scoring chances as they came along and continued to play tough defense into the third quarter. The Rocks held a 10-point margin through most of the period and led 50-40 at its end. McBride scored four points.

In the final eight minutes the Rocks expanded their lead. Salem went in front by 18 points with 5:21 left to play. The score was 62-49 when the Rocks went into a stall. The Tigers failed to score a point from the 3:10 mark until 26 seconds remained. The Rocks missed free throws chances with less than three minutes left before Berberet and McBride scored their final points.

McBride paced Salem with 18 points, while Cohen had 16, Berberet nine, Dave Houle, eight, Marvin Zurek five and Norm Haygood and Dave Miller four points each.

Salem edges Canton in swimming

BY DAVID CALLAHAN

Despite some of the stiffest competition it has faced this year, Salem High's mens' swim team held on for a 91-80 victory over Canton High on Thursday.

Salem coach Chuck Olson was impressed with the Canton squad, saying "This is the finest Canton team that I have ever seen. If they swim this well for the rest of the year, they'll be tough to beat."

Olson added that his team was forced to swim well to beat the Canton tankers.

Canton coach Bill McCord agreed with Olson, saying "We swam really well, and had 30 best times. They just swam a little bit better."

Russ Shaffer of Salem, and Pete Stern of Canton both paced their teams with two first places apiece.

Shaffer was first in both the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard backstroke. Stern scored firsts in the 50-yard freestyle and the 100-yard freestyle.

Canton took an early lead, picking up first and third in the 200-yard relay. The crew of Bob Simrak, Jim Luce, Ron Hurley, and Stern finished first, while the other Canton foursome, comprised of Bob Lewelling, Matt Krawzak, Joe Gibbons, and John Luce finished third.

The Salem quartet of Paul Nescich, Ashley Long, Jeff Kleinsmith, and Bob Bowling were second.

Canton's Bob Simone was first in the 200-yard freestyle, while Salem's John Thompson finished second. Scott Simmons, of Canton, finished third.

Besides Shaffer, teammate Mark Roehrig was a finisher in the 200-yard individual medley, finishing second. The Chiefs' Simrak was third.

Salem dominated the diving competition, as Joe Rudelic scored 287.2 points, to place him well ahead of teammate Todd Riedel, who finished second with 167.95 points, and Canton's Rob Fleischer, who was third with 156.45 points.

Jeff Kleinsmith of Salem was first in the 100-yard butterfly, with Ron Hurley of Canton second, and Neschich third.

In the 500-yard freestyle, the Chiefs' Simone was first, Roehrig took second, and Thompson scored third. Canton's Luce brothers, Jim and John, dominated the 100-yard breaststroke, with Jim scoring first, and John second. Long of Salem was second.

In the 400-yard medley relay, the Rocks foursomes scored first and third places, with the Chiefs picking up second.

Both teams came into the meet off of dual meet wins earlier in the week. Salem, now 3-0 in dual meet competition, beat Ypsilanti 91-81, while Canton, 3-1 in dual meets, defeated Belleville 88-78.

Chief wrestlers slip by WL Western

BY DAVID CALLAHAN

Canton High's mens' wrestling team knew that Walled Lake Western would be a tough match. The Chiefs scored two crucial pins and went on to narrowly defeat the Warriors, 34-33, on Wednesday.

"I thought that we wrestled a little sloppy, and maybe a little bit flat," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko. "We knew that Walled Lake would be our toughest match in the Western Six, and I thought that we really did a good job under a lot of pressure."

Chrenko had to shuffle his team around in the lower weight classes due to the illness of Tim Collins, the Chiefs regular 112-pounder. Todd Gattoni, normally at 98 pounds, filled in for Collins, while Chris Cifaldi, a junior varsity grappler, wrestled at 98.

Chrenko's move paid off, as both of the displaced members of his team turned in pins.

At 105 pounds, Todd Bartlett, who has not been scored upon in his last five matches, had a victory, while Brian Lee, the Chiefs 132 pounder, won a decision over Walled Lake's Rob Wescott.

Brett Haarala, Canton's 138-pounder won, as did Steve Hamblin, who pinned his Walled Lake opponent.

Canton picked up what would be its final win of the evening when Marty Heaton at 155 pounds, won by a pin. At that point in the match, the Chiefs were ahead 34-11, forcing Walled Lake to win all four of the last matches by a pin to win the meet.

Don Page kept the Chiefs from losing, as he avoided the pin from Walled Lake's Craig McCallum, who beat Page 11-1.

"It was not a great day for our upper weights," said Chrenko, "but they won the meet for us."

The Chiefs have the Christmas holiday off, and wrestle next at the Canton Invitational, to be held on Wednesday, Dec. 30. "We will have some great teams there," said Chrenko, "this could be one of the best eight team tournaments around."
