Making the best of it

UNDAUNTED BY THE WEEKEND STORM, Steve Repasky of Plymouth took to his cross country skis for a jaunt along Main Street on Sunday afternoon. Repasky said he couldn't resist taking advantage of the skiing opportunity right in his own neighborhood—and it sure was easier than driving or wallowing in the snow. Others in the Plymouth-Canton Community weren't quite so lucky. The area roads and streets were not only clogged with 12 inches of snow, but they were clogged with snowbound cars. For other pictures of the weekend weather dished up by Mother Nature on the last day of January, see Page 4 of this week's Crier. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Twp, City closer to joint police agreement

BY KEN VOYLES

Plymouth Township Board of Trustees unanimously passed a resolution at last night's special meeting approving the "concept" of a perpetual contract for police service with the City of Plymouth.

The wording of the contract, however, will stay much the same as the 1981 agreement, said Township Supervisor Maurice Breen. The contract must still be written and approved in final form by the board and the City Commission.

At Tuesday's meeting, City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. along with Police Chief Carl Berry, and Breen, presented details and various options for service that had been discussed this past weekend between the two communities.

The new net cost of basic service to the township, such as response and accident investigation, but not including regular neighborhood patrol, is estimated at $394,213 said Graper.

All of the services of the department such as detective investigation, fuel costs, and possible increases in the department manpower, will be charged to the township as the services requested by the township.

Last year the township paid $298,921, or 37 percent of the overall budget but received 45 percent of the service according to statistics, said Breen.

A perpetual contract does not provide termination date, but calls for an annual reopening of cost discussions. Township trustees will also yearly reaffirm their commitment.

Graper estimated the police budget this year to be $1.37 million, with the city covering over 60 percent of the cost and the township 40. Cost without the township's share would be $853,000, he added.

Fire fighter issue flares up at Twp. meeting

BY KEN VOYLES

Getting answers to specific questions about the vacancy in the Plymouth Township Fire Department has not been an easy matter for Township Trustee Lee Fidge, or community residents either, for that matter.

Last Tuesday Fidge requested a clarification on the matter from Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, because, she said, "this subject has become known to the public and because of some things said in the newspaper." She was unsuccessful in getting the clarification.

Her main concern was whether or not the vacancy in the department causes a longer response time on emergency runs.

To that, Breen replied that Fidge should "ask the newspapers about it."

Fidge then asked whether or not Fire Chief Larry Groth was being allowed to fill the weakened duty shift with other personnel working overtime.

Breen recommended that Fidge contact Groth for the answer. He said, "You can ask (the chief) anything you want."

Fidge replied, "I think the administration should handle this since it is the administration that will make a recommendation to the board on the subject of the vacancy."

Clayton Miller, president of firefighters Local 1496, was in the audience and requested permission to answer Fidge's questions. Breen said Miller would not be allowed to speak.

Fidge then put her request in a motion, for Breen to seek answers to her questions in time for the next regular board meeting. Her motion died for lack of support from the other board members.

"I didn't ask for the clarification as a political chastisement," Fidge said. "I just wanted to know if (the supervisor) knew the answers since he is the one who will make the decision on filling the position.

"I guess everyone else on the board knew the answers because the motion died for lack of support. I hope they knew the answers and didn't fail to speak out out of ignorance," she added.

Copies of the minutes of that meeting fail to show that the subject was even discussed. Township Clerk Esther Hulsing said that Fidge's motion is the only portion of the discussion in the minutes at Township Hall.

Since the meeting Fidge contacted Chief Groth, but learned he was unable to comment on the subject. "He told me he was contacted by Mr. Breen to conduct a study concerning the position and not to talk to anyone or answer anyone's questions until after the study was complete. That's his directive," said Fidge.

Groth confirmed that he was unable to comment on the subject of the vacancy until after his study was complete.

Fidge said on Monday that she has drafted a letter to the chief with her specific questions. "I know what the answer is going to be after our conversation but I want it in writing," she said.

The subject will come up again at

Centennial program planned for Sunday
Cherry Hill church to celebrate

A centennial celebration is coming up for the Cherry Hill United Methodist Church, which can measure part of its history by the height of its ceiling.

Dorothy West, a Canton historian, says the church really began with the Cherry Hill Methodist Society, formed in 1834 (two years before Michigan became a state). In those days, she says, the congregation met in local cabins and were served by circuit rider Marcus Swift. Directed by the Detroit Conference, Swift rode a 25 mile circuit which included 10 Methodist congregations ranging from Northville to Canton.

In 1848 a parcel of land was donated to the church, and a small, frame church building was constructed with $600 and volunteer labor. The first building was cold in the winter and hot in the summer, however, and West says in 1880 the congregation decided to construct a more substantial worshipping place. Two years later, the brick structure which still stands today was raised, for a cost of $2,500.

West says major renovations took place in 1949, when the ceiling was lowered to conserve heat, and in 1973 when the first parsonage was built so a full-time preacher could take up residence. And this year the ceiling was raised again as part of a restoration project.

The church was recognized as a state historical site in 1976, and designated a Canton historical building this year.

West says the congregation has grown tremendously over the years. "Membership was about 120," she explains, "And now it's up over 150, but more come to the services than in the membership."

The centennial will be celebrated this Sunday with two services, at 9 and 11 a.m. conducted by Cherry Hill Methodist's minister, The Rev. Bert Hosking. In addition, a Methodist potluck will begin at noon, and an afternoon of fellowship and singing will follow. "As long as the weather doesn't shut us out," says The Rev. Hosking.

City police nab
burglary suspect

A 26-year-old Detroit man is being held by Plymouth Police after he was apprehended Saturday night for breaking and entering March Tire Co., 767 S. Main.

Acting on information from a city resident, police converged at the address and made the arrest as the suspect was pulling from a driveway near the business in his vehicle.

Found with the man was a knife and a hammer that appeared to have been used in prying open one of the backdoor panels of the business, said police.

The suspect's description fits that of one an eyewitness had given police.

The witness spotted the suspect as he climbed over a fence between the witness' apartment building and the back of the tire store. He then observed as the suspect pried away one of the panels and made a quick retreat.

Police speculate that the suspect broke into the building then decided to back off and wait until a later hour that night before returning to the scene.

Architect's rendering of Canton Center Park

Phase 1 to begin in spring

Canton trustees OK rec complex plan

BY DICK BROWN

All that stands in the way of Canton Township's new recreation complex is winter weather—and money.

At the Jan. 26 meeting Canton trustees approved a master plan for long range development of the complex behind the Canton Township Administration Building on Canton Center Road, and agreed to go ahead with Phase One of the multi-phase development plan.

Phase One will include the site preparation, parking and drainage facilities, seeding and planting of trees, construction of two softball fields and three soccer fields, fencing, benches and goals.

Cost of Phase One is estimated at $162,000. The funds for that portion of the master plan are already budgeted out of revenue sharing funds available.

As conceived, the recreation building would have an outdoor pool, ice arena, facilities for basketball and volleyball, club rooms and craft rooms.

The hangup after Phase One is the funding. With state and federal funding drying up, completion of the total recreation complex at this point is a little iffy.

The complex as conceived by the township recreation committee and Beckett, Raeder, Rankin, Ann Arbor architects, would be built on township property behind the administration building with the main access coming off Proctor Road.

According to the architects, the complex could be developed in several stages with no particular priority on the order of development.

Kenneth Neumann and Associates developed the master plan for the multi-use recreation center part of the grand plan and developed the preliminary cost figures for the building. That cost has been estimated at $2 million.

Phase one is just a small portion of the master plan which has been developed. The master plan, when and if completed, would include a recreation building, new library, outdoor swimming pool, four tennis courts, seven soccer fields, a baseball diamond, two play areas, three combination soccer-football fields, two picnic groves and parking for 850 cars.

Slaying suspect has trial set in

Circuit Court

Darol Wayne Holbrook, 31, of Wyandotte, accused in the Dec. 3 slaying of Plymouth Township resident Janet Reynolds, 27, is scheduled to stand trial Feb. 25 in Wayne County Circuit Court.

But, according to Wayne County Prosecutor for the case Bob Agaciski, there is a good chance the case will be postponed for a week.

Agaciski said he has another trial on Feb. 22, and will seek a postponement to at least March 1, if that case extends to the 25th.

Judge Harry Dingeman will hear the case.

Canton Police report a bruising weekend

Last weekend was not a quiet one for Canton Police.

In an incident early Saturday morning, a township patrolman was injured while trying to subdue a man who had fled the scene of an accident.

Lt. Dennis Joker says Patrolman Bruce Sutzer stopped a vehicle driven by Jerald Thomas, 32, of Sumpter Township, at Cherry Hill and Lilley Roads shortly past midnight after Thomas allegedly fled the scene of an accident at Ford and Lilley.

According to a police report, Thomas got out of his car, told Sutzer he was armed and then struck the patrolman in the chest with his fist. A scuffle ensued and Sutzer was soon assisted by two other Canton policemen who helped subdue Thomas, who was not armed.

Sutzer, however, was sent to the hospital where it was determined he had sustained a bruised bone, torn ligaments, bruises and a possible broken bone in his foot.

Thomas is being held in the Canton jail until he calms down enough to be arraigned, Joker says.

And on Sunday a man allegedly pulled the trigger of a rifle aimed at his neighbor, after an argument.

Canton Police say Robert Falatine, 25, of 880 N. Lotz Rd. became stuck in his driveway and went next door to the home of Judy Stockwell, 870 N. Lotz, for assistance.

According to the police report Falatine argued with Stockwell, and after the woman told Falatine he was too high to drive, he "went berserk," she said. Police say the man later admitted to being intoxicated on narcotics.

Falatine then allegedly struck Stockwell, and police say she then ran into the house and got a .22 caliber rifle.

Police say Falatine also ran in the house and grabbed the woman from behind. Stockwell says during a scuffle she was struck in the head with the rifle butt. According to the report, the fight progressed to the front porch where Falatine allegedly got the rifle away from the woman, pointed it at her head and pulled the trigger. The rifle was empty.

Canton police responded and arrested Falatine. He was arraigned yesterday on a charge of felonious assault with a firearm.

Canton supervisor set to address state of township

Thursday night, Feb. 4, is the night Canton Township residents will have an opportunity to get the word on the "State of the Township."

Canton Township Supervisor Jim Poole has called a public forum for 7 p.m. to discuss Canton's condition, upcoming projects and problems facing the township. There will be an opportunity to toss questions at Poole, township department heads and representatives of Wayne County Road Commission, Wayne County and the state.

The meeting will be at the Canton Township Administration Building.

Mayor is League VP

City of Plymouth Mayor Eldon "Bud" Martin was elected vice chairman of Region 3 of the Michigan Municipal League at a gathering last week.

Plymouth is one of approximately 80 municipalities which belong to the region. Each government sends its elected officials to attend the annual meeting to discuss such items as stimulating local economy and promoting the community.

Snow doesn't halt services

Mother Nature can't beat this community

BY DAN BODENE

Although Mother Nature dumped almost a foot of snow on The Plymouth-Canton Community over the weekend, not all was at a standstill - public services reported business almost as usual.

Police and Fire Departments in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton all logged few serious incidents relating to bad weather. Canton Police, however, pressed into service a four-wheel-drive truck and a snowmobile to patrol back roads in the township.

Lt. Dennis Joker of the Canton Police said only cars abandoned in dangerous places were towed away, although more were simply left for owners to take care of. "We're tearing up our budget with overtime," Joker said after the weekend of assisting stranded motorists.

Chief Carl Berry of the Plymouth Police said things went "extremely well - there were no real emergencies and we lost no power." Berry also said there were few stranded cars, and the city received excellent cooperation from local wrecker crews.

The situation in western Plymouth Township was still bad as of Monday afternoon. "It's a disaster area," Berry said. "The county just plowed it last night (Sunday) and it's the farmers that are really opening it up. You should see North Territorial."

Ken Vogras, superintendent of the Plymouth Department of Public Works, said no real problems were encountered with snow removal although private contractors were hired to transport mountains of excess snow out of the city.

Rescue runs were apparently at a minimum. Chief Mel Paulun of Canton, Chief Larry Groth of Plymouth Township and Cpt. Tom Lenaghan of Plymouth all reported normal, routine shifts throughout the weekend.

Local innkeepers apparently did the best business. Scott Lorenz of the Mayflower said a choir group from Central University in Columbus, Ohio who performed for Detroit alumni in the Meeting House Sunday morning, decided to stay over when the weather worsened later in the day. Their bus driver was particularly impressed with the Mayflower's hospitality - he liked things so much he promised to bring another tour back in the summer, Lorenz said.

Michael Haggerty of the Plymouth Hilton said 120 guests from the "Confusion 11" science fiction convention also stayed over, as well as 30 Hilton employees.

"There certainly was an onslaught of checkouts Monday morning," said Haggerty, who was himself snowed in his apartment complex in Canton on Monday.

Business in Canton and Plymouth Township was slower. Jack McKellar of Knight's Inn in Canton reported a few travellers pulled in who had given up driving on I-275, "but not very many." A desk clerk at the Red Roof Inn in Plymouth Township who wished to remain anonymous said Monday afternoon her facility had no extra guests, and everyone else got out on schedule.

Many Plymouth-Canton businesses, following the schools' example, extended their weekend with a snow day Monday while other stores, which did open, reported a run on milk, bread and beer.

Enterprising youths on school furlough and adults who were home for the day attacked clogged roads and driveways with snowblowers and shovels and, especially on some of the heavily drifted roads in the western Plymouth and Canton Township areas, pushed and pulled cars free of drifts.

All in all, the nasty bit of weather did little but provide another day's vacation for many. But then again, it's only February - there's probably more to come.

DIGGING OUT took many forms after the weekend storm, powered by sources ranging from elbow grease to diesel engines. Top left, a motorist takes to the hood of his truck to chisel the ice off his windshield Monday morning, in the parking lot of Mayflower Townhouses. Right, an industrious resident makes use of horsepower to clear his drive, while Chuck VanVleck of the Township Fire Department relies on old-fashioned muscle to clear his walk. VanVleck does seem to look a wee bit bushed, however. Cleanup (bottom right) was in full swing on Monday morning, including a massive operation to haul excess snow out of the city. Front loaders and tandem trailers were pressed into service in the central parking lot to clear out the mountains of white stuff taking up valuable parking spaces. By late Monday all but some of the outlying areas of Plymouth Township and Canton were nearly dug out. (Crier photos by Robert Cameron)

Jury convicts Hartwig in hammer killing

Ronald Hartwig, 32, of Plymouth, was found guilty of first degree murder, mentally ill, Thursday afternoon in Wayne County Circuit Court.

A jury deliberated for approximately one hour and a half, according to Asst. Prosecutor Herb Roberts. Roberts took over the prosecution's case from Lewis Gutter last week after Gutter injured his back.

Roberts added that the charge carries a mandatory life sentence without parole. "If he has mental problems, treatment will be made available," said Roberts.

Hartwig was accused in the August slaying of Stacy Hurrelbrink, 21, of Plymouth. He is slated for sentencing on Feb. 17, said Roberts.

Currently in Wayne County Jail, Hartwig will be turned over to the State Prison of Southern Michigan in Jackson after sentencing.

Hartwig's trial began on Jan. 13, but was adjourned for a week after Gutter injured himself and picked up again on the 25th.

Canton Police apprehend burglar and recover loot

Canton Police recently solved a breaking and entering incident in the township, culminating with one arrest and the recovery of property.

Lt. Dennis Joker of the Canton Police says after the home of Colleen and Ed Bretzlaff was broken into on Jan. 26, an alert neighbor who noticed a strange car in the neighborhood took down its make, model and license number.

Canton Det. John MacDiarmid then traced the car, and after talking to other persons in the neighborhood three warrants were secured.

Arrested was Monica C. Dodes, 17, of 47807 Hanford, Canton. Joker said Dodes made a confession and implicated two other men in the incident. She was arraigned on breaking and entering charges on Jan. 29 and released on personal bond. Joker said police also recovered property thought to be stolen from the Bretzlaff house, as well as some possibly from other homes.

Canton Police are still seeking Glenn Barnstable, 20, of Westland; and Thomas Nader, 17, of Farmington.

Twp. fire staffing debated

Tuesday's (Feb. 9) regular meeting of the board, said Fidge.

Miller said that the fire department is not allowed to fill a vacant slot on a given shift until the number of firefighters on a shift drops to two (normally there are five men per shift). He said overtime is used to get the shift up to three. "The township won't call in overtime to get the shift up to four, however," Miller said.

Miller added that during the weakened shift (four men) Station 2 is sometimes manned by just one firefighter. "That means that a Station 2 ambulance can't respond to a call in its area."

The end result, he adds, is that a Station 1 ambulance must be called in to cover the entire township, increasing response time in the area usually covered by Station 2.

Carbine still missing

A Plymouth Police Department rifle found missing from the department's arsenal following the shooting incident at City Hall on Jan. 4 has not been found, according to Police Chief Carl Berry.

The weapon, a semi-automatic M1 carbine was discovered missing approximately four days after the shooting. The last time it had been used, said police, was during the incident behind City Hall.

Worth $200, police speculate it could be in the hands of another department that was also involved in helping Plymouth during the attack, either Canton or Michigan State Police.

addenda & errata

A story in last week's Crier incorrectly gave the impression that Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry was supporting the concept of a police authority to administer law enforcement in the city and township of Plymouth.

In fact, Berry has not supported the idea, but was discussing it as one of several possible routes to sharing police services.

Fannishness rules Hilton

SCIENCE FICTION fans converged on the Plymouth Hilton over the weekend for the 11th annual Confusion convention, which featured an impressive roster of writers in attendance, movies, art show, auction, dinners and the famed Masquerade on Saturday. People of all ages gathered at the Hilton to discuss the finer points of neos, mundanes, prozines, TAFF and DUFF, filksinging and all manner of fannishness. For instance, above is John Droillard (left), a former Plymouth resident and Crier carrier who now lives in Williamston, talking fandom with Mary Gross of Lansing. Also at the Masquerade was Margie Price of Battle Creek (right photo), here displaying her out-worldly accoutrements complete with shaved and painted pate. Mundanes never had it so good. Snowsnake tourney debuts in Plymouth

An authentic American Indian snowsnake tournament will be held in the City of Plymouth this Saturday at Central Middle School.

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Indian Education program is hosting the 4th Annual Snowsnake Tournament from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

A total of 16 school districts from the Detroit metro area will participate in the event bringing in over 600 guests.

Besides the snowsnaking, American Indian Traders will have their artwork, beadwork, leather, baskets, woodwork and other items on display and for sale throughout the event.

At 1 p.m. students and other guests will partake of a real American Indian dinner of corn soup, buffalo meat in gravy, wild rice, potatoes and fried bread.

Then at 2 p.m., running four hours, will be a performance of American Indian dances and music inside the Central Middle School auditorium. The musical component of the performance will be led by Benjamin Bearskin II, and dancers will be clad in full Indian regalia.

The Snowsnake competition will be held throughout the day on the nearby school soccer field. The event consists of hurling a specially carved snowsnake, constructed from a one inch dowl rod up to 36 inches in length and tipped with lead, down a pre-made frozen track.

Snowsnake originated as a game for the northern range of Indian tribes locked in by snow and ice. The snowsnakes are made to slide along a frozen crust, or in a rut in the snow. Whoever send his snake the farthest wins a prize.

Rick Smith, head of the Plymouth-Canton Indian Education Program, said spectators of all ages are welcome for the tournament, the trading, the music and the eating.

Wood truck wouldn't hold the wood

THERE WERE FEW SMILES SHOWING on the faces of these woodcutters Wednesday morning. The sides of their big stake truck loaded with fireplace wood gave way just south of the Joy Road-Canton Center intersection dumping expensive firewood into Canton Center Road. That necessitated a gigantic transfer job to a pickup truck which took most of the day. (Crier photo by Dick Brown)

Shared police concept makes a lot of sense

It appears that the City and Township of Plymouth are moving towards a long-term sharing of police services.

This can only be of benefit to both communities in the long run.

The temporary contract extension and the tentative new contract, both calling for continued patrol and investigative services, serve to offer a beefed up law enforcement effort for those times its needed. Neither the city nor the township could afford a staff supported by a combined effort.

Many township residents have criticized the Plymouth Police during the past year of township service for not having the visibility that the Wayne County Sheriff had. But they forget that a large portion of the sheriff patrol was subsidized - and the Wayne County gravy train has run out. Additionally, the county backing out of its contracted sheriff service (then jumping back in) proves that the county cannot be relied upon to provide anything so vital.

City taxpayers have criticized the city-township police pact saying that the city is subsidizing township law enforcement to some degree. This criticism has some validity, but in the long run it proves to be a solid course of action. The township, which is just getting geared up in collecting and spending its police millage, needs an adjustment period and the city, faced with serious police cutbacks without contract revenues, needs time to adjust its force as well.

In a short span of time, with the cooperation of the Plymouth Police personnel and their union, a combined city-township law enforcement effort should prove to be financially equitable and maintain the high quality of service the city has historically enjoyed.

For the long run, however, the current city and township procedures necessary for sharing services will not suffice. Eventually, a police authority is probably the best route to provide shared autonomy for the police operation.

But the sharing of police between the two communities must walk before it can run. It's out of the crawling stages and only because of the patient efforts by city and township officials - who worked long hours this past weekend to hammer out contract items.

Eventually, the cop sharing should be on a permanent footing and might then even be attractive to other neighboring communities such as Northville, Northville Township and Canton. A regional force combining those currently separate departments could make much sense for providing efficient, expert law enforcement.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Basically

by Ken Voyles

Things that make me mad...

...Reading over a copy of the minutes from the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees meeting of Jan. 23, published in The Crier, and being unable to find any mention of the agenda item that dealt with the firefighters vacancy situation - the latest raging controversy in the township.

Not only was all of the discussion left out of those minutes (see The Crier classifieds) but Trustee Lee Fidge's motion, that died for lack of a support, was also not recorded.

When asked about the gap in minutes Township Clerk Esther Hulsing said that published minutes as a rule only include motions. Fidge's motion that Supervisor Maurice Breen contact Fire Chief Larry Groth to answer several questions she had over the vacancy in the department was not in the minutes, however.

The public's right to know what happened at the meeting the way it happened, even in synopsis form, is at stake here as is the reputation of Fidge, who put the item on the agenda. Besides, publishing erroneous minutes makes its look like The Crier is in on the scam, and it definitely is not.

...Gas station nozzles that operate at a snail's pace and pump a dollar's worth of gas every full moon.

For a long time self service gas pumping was a minor victory for the consumers - even if you have no control over how much you pay for the stuff at least you can feel secure in pumping the amount you want.

In cold weather it's plain murder fighting a nozzle that locks up every 60 cents worth when you're trying to put $20 in a tank. It's also unfair.

The days are over when I could use any self service pump and watch the dial flick at the speed of sound. Now I'm tempted to return to the days of old and have an attendant fill my tank. How bourgeois.

...Vandals who destroy snow sculptures.

A perfect example of that is in the City of Plymouth where a group of Mormon missionaries from southwestern Michigan have been trying to build a snow temple, as they call it, in the fountain at Kellogg Park for two months now.

...Driving through piles of snow thrown from people's driveways out onto the street after it had just been cleared by the slow motion trucks of the county.

...Livonia for letting the length of Five Mile Road, even in front of city hall, become an icy waltz this recent blizzard. Other city streets averaged 30-35 miles and hour, while Five Mile stayed at 20 miles an hour even on Tuesday. The road was no better in Plymouth Township.

...Listening to emotional weathermen tell people to stay off the roads because of blizzard conditions. I wonder how many of these weathermen are from Florida or Georgia, where people are frightened off the roads at the first hint of snow. I think the doomsayers should get out and see how Michigan residents drive in 18 inches of snow. No problem.

Cable TV assignment was interesting

Last week I finished a series on cable television in the community, specifically on the involvement of Omnicom of Michigan.

There were a lot of things that bothered me about the way cable arrived in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton. In my opinion, none of the local municipalities paid enough attention to what they were getting, and they still don't take an active role in shaping what has arrived.

Part of that die is cast - local cable TV agreements were signed years ago and ordinances already placed on the books. Believe me, compared to the ordinances in communities like Wayne, our local cable laws are pretty lax.

However, I do concede that when they were drawn up there were few precedents.

In addition

by Dan Bodene

I also acknowledge that they were enacted when Omnicom was under different management. Peter Newell, who heads the company now, seems to me genuinely interested in providing a quality product after the initial installation headaches are solved.

This piece is about helping to make that quality product.

Newell is as surprised as I am at the lack of community participation in an aspect of cable television I harped on in my series - public access.

It's something that bothers me, and the problem certainly isn't Omnicom's fault. They, by the way, have done more to train people in the care and feeding of video equipment than any other company in the metro area.

I have not attended the Omnicom video classes, but I'm a firm believer in using the facilities Omnicom makes available to anyone who requests them.

I do write the nightly news broadcasts for Video Services Cable 13, and through working with Cable 13's Denny Campbell and George Neidson and Omnicom's Shawn Bredin and (former Omnicom employe) Hugh Jencks, I've learned a lot about production.

Although my involvement has been on the peripheral edge, from what I've seen so far it seems that the availability of cable television access ought to convince more people to use it.

Let's face it, there's a lot of talent out there and Omnicom has a good way to use it. There has to be quite a few Plymouth-Canton residents who know someone "that oughta be on TV." Community groups, clubs, budding journalists, would-be personalities - the medium is there, almost for the asking.

It's not that tough to get started. All you have to do is call the Omnicom folks at 459-1900 and ask about the video classes. After you learn how to use the equipment, ask about creating something.

Believe me, it's more fun (and more work) than you can imagine.

Or you can call Denny Campbell at Cable 13 at 459-5840 and ask him about his programming. I'm not saying you'll get a shot at Dan Rather's job, but the Cable 13 people would like to hear your ideas.

Gee whiz, folks. What's stopping you?

Attending trade and professional association conventions usually leaves me cold-particularly when it is the Michigan Press Association Winter Convention on the Michigan State University campus. The cold feeling comes from knowing that the MPA track record for picking the worst winter week end for the convention is unbelievable.

Last week end was no exception. I didn't think I was going to make it back from the convention Sunday night without a dog sled and team.

Conventions, at least newspaper conventions, offer a wonderful opportunity to pick up the latest information on the art of the newspaper craft. The information doesn't come from the structured speeches and seminars as much as it comes from the hallway and lobby talk with other newspaper people.

In these impromptu discussions there is a lot to be learned after you get past the snake oil talk and bragging about how terrific business has been.

The best education from this year's MPA convention didn't come from the seminars, high powered speakers and extemporaneous gatherings, though.

The most impressive information I obtained came from a piece of paper I picked up from the floor of a Kellogg Center john.

It was a piece of information scratched out by a student of management and human relations and it gave an assessment of modern man and listed five basic human attitudes which cause all the troubles of this vale of tears we call earth.

They go like this:

1. Savagery-The other guy is my enemy. I should try to destroy him.
2. Slavery-The other guy is to be conquered and put at my service.
3. Servitude-The other fellow should serve me at what I am willing to pay and be satisfied with it and be grateful that I am willing to do this for him.
4. Paternalism-The other fellow needs help. I will determine what is best for him and do it for him at what I think is the right time and what I think is the right manner because he is ignorant of what is good for him. And besides, I am paying for it.
5. Brotherhood-The other fellow is capable of being far more than he is. It is my responsibility to help him develop to his fullest potential because I know more about what he wants to do with his life than he does. Take the test. Do you find that your feelings toward any group, race, nationality, country or individual include these basic attitudes?

Canton Goodfellows say 'Thanks' for Yule help

EDITOR:

The holiday season is just a memory now. Ornaments are put back in their boxes and the tree is only in our minds and in a few pictures.

The Canton Goodfellows has finished its yearly task of helping families, especially children, have a Christmas. This can only be accomplished when people like you respond-kind, generous folks who are willing to share.

Many things are necessary-papers to be sold, people to shop, people to wrap gifts, people to deliver, and of course, donations of money, gifts, food and toys.

It is with a deep sense of appreciation that the Canton Goodfellows say "thank you" to you for your gifts, great or small. Without your help some home may not have had a Christmas.

"Peace on earth, good will towards men." People helping people-that is the meaning of Christmas; giving to others.

We wish you and yours a prosperous year ahead.

Young student authors collect Laureate Prizes for Literature

Six "Young Authors" were recently awarded brand new prizes for their works, which were judged to be the most outstanding in Plymouth-Canton elementary schools.

At a special reception at the Jan. 25 Board of Education meeting, six writers each received a "Laureate Prize for Literature" after their books took top honors in the Young Authors program. Although the Plymouth-Canton district participated in the program last year, this was the first for presentation of the newly-created Laureate Prizes.

According to Luan Brownlee, learning specialist at Field Elementary, the Young Authors program was begun in 1978 by the Michigan Reading Association as a model for good writing. It was adopted in 1980 in the Plymouth-Canton district, and last year the first awards were made for outstanding achievements in writing.

This year the six most notable books were designated as Laureate Prize for Literature winners, and three were awarded in each of two divisions: primary, for grades one through three; and intermediate, for grades four through six.

Prize winners include Mark Campagna, an Isbister first grader; Cristy Eppright, a first grader from Field; Geoff Saffron, a Field second grader; and fourth graders Steven Simmons from Fiegel, Heather Schlachter from Smith and Vanessa Regan from Field Schools.

Brownlee says 60 entries were evaluated this year, and in addition to the six Laureate winners there were 21 honorable mentions and four runners-up.

Young Authors' books were collected into an anthology by Fiegel Learning Specialist Sandra Lanese, and presented to School Board members, administrators and Learning Specialists along with special bookplates. Each Laureate winner was also presented with an anthology, bookplate and medal for their achievements.

An Orchestra Gala is coming

THIS SUNDAY, concert-goers will be able to enjoy the talents of these artists at the "All Orchestra Gala" of the Plymouth Symphony. Featured artists include, from left, horn player Louis Stout; Glennis Stout and Allen Warner, both flutists; Kristy Meretta on oboe; John Mohler, clarinetist; and Jennifer Kelley on bassoon. The program, which will begin at 4 p.m. at the Salem High auditorium, will include selections by Doppler, Mozart, Liszt and Tchaikowsky. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

It's new Plymouth Township senior citizen center

'Friendship Station' almost ready

Things are really cooking for Plymouth Township senior citizens these days. Plymouth Township seniors organized the community's newest group last summer and now have 60 members.

Right now they are in the process of getting organized and refurbishing a former church at 42375 Schoolcraft which was purchased for the use of the senior citizen group by the Plymouth Township Board. Named Friendship Station, the facility is in the process of undergoing refurbishing.

Membership in the organization is open to any township seniors who have reached the age of 55. Monthly general meetings are conducted the first Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. although a switch in meeting time to a daytime hour is being considered because some seniors prefer not to drive at night.

Plymouth Township seniors have a slate of officers elected for 1982 which includes Carl Peterson, president; Sparky Kallunki, vice-president; Virginia Ziel, secretary; and Anna Milligan, treasurer.

Board members, besides the officers, includes Irving Milligan, Frank Millington, Jim Powell, Ray Roble and Terry Roe.

With the adoption of the by-laws in December the board is now dedicated to the goals of the membership. The fun time is all ahead as the directors plan activities to meet the needs of township senior citizens.

Right now the group is busy planning the refurbishing of the building.

In the works is a formal dedication and grand opening of Friendship Station.

"Since we are the newest and the smallest senior citizen organization in the community," Peterson said, "We are running it with volunteer help from our own membership. We intend to develop the facility into an interesting place where the senior residents of the township will have a place to go for some real fun times with their neighbors."

"It will enable people to make new friends and establish stronger ties to the township and the community at large," he added.

Mrs. Kallunki said that all senior citizens living in Plymouth Township are being urged to become members.

"Keeping busy and active is a very important ingredient to a happy life," she said. "There is nothing more gratifying than to have a great time among friends from your own community."

At the new Friendship Station the Plymouth Township Board hopes to provide an atmosphere for the seniors that will be a home away from home and the organization is aiming to provide activities such as picnics, trips, dances and educational programs to interest everyone.

By next fall the board is aiming to have a wide variety of educational opportunities available in the form of work shops, classes, crafts, current events and other activities.

With Valentine's Day just a matter of days ahead, the group is putting together a Valentine's Day dinner and dance for the first social event at Friendship Station.

Live music will be provided, along with a potluck dinner.

Plymouth Council on Aging plans program on crime

This month's meeting of the Plymouth Community Council on Aging, Inc. has a dual purpose, both of which are important to local senior citizens.

The meeting, to be held on Feb. 9 at 2 p.m. at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer, will feature a talk on the Neighborhood Watch program. Officer Michael Gardner of the Plymouth Police Department will explain the program, and inform seniors of how to better protect themselves against crime and ways to be alert to prevent it. According to Council officers, the meeting may save a life or prevent serious injury or property damage.

After the presentation, the regular business meeting will be held. The Board of Directors will be introduced, and seniors will be asked to tell the group what the Council is doing right or wrong, what services are needed and how to implement them.

Senior citizens not already holding membership in the Council can join for $1 at the meeting. The council needs you.

Rotary provides township with bus Canton seniors can travel in style

Canton senior citizen groups are ready to roll on trips, thanks to the Canton Rotary Club and the Canton Parks and recreation Department.

Rotarians turned over the keys of a school bus to the township Jan. 11. The Rotarians purchased the bus from the Plymouth-Canton School District with proceeds from the October Rotary variety show.

Senior citizens groups are mapping plans for some activities which will utilize the bus to the fullest.

The bus will be maintained by the Canton Township DPW.

Rotary President Charles Bares, in making the presentation to the township, said, "This year we chose the Parks and Recreation Department to be the recipient of our fund-raising efforts because of the need for this bus. We look forward to the service it will provide, not only for the senior citizen clubs, but for others who will make use of it through the Parks and Recreation Department."

City offers seniors variety of programs

Services for senior citizens in Plymouth come in a wide assortment at Tonquish Creek Manor and the city's Cultural Center, and range from recreation classes to lunches.

Traci Johnson, the city's senior citizens coordinator, says activities such as recreation classes in cooperation with district schools, free use of the Cultural Center, exercise, arts and crafts, painting and current event classes are all available to seniors.

Plymouth, she adds, is more dedicated than many other communities to senior citizens -- the job she does and the city-owned van that provides hot meals are rarities in most municipalities in Wayne County.

Many services are also offered in conjunction with other agencies. The nutrition program is federally funded through the Out Wayne County Agency on Aging, and managed at Tonquish Creek Manor (the same program is also offered at the Canton Recreation Center at 44237 Michigan Ave. at Sheldon).

The Agency on Aging also co-sponsors the home chore program. Small jobs such as grass cutting and snow shoveling are available to any senior over 60 years of age in The Plymouth-Canton Community regardless of income.

Yet another Agency on Aging-city sponsored effort is the production of the "Senior Sentinel" publication.

One of the most popular programs, Johnson says, is the opportunity for travel. Plymouth's Recreation Department sponsors several trips per year, and in the past several months seniors have ridden to Toronto, Frankenmuth and Lansing.

For more information on programs for senior citizens, call 455-6623.

Chiefs reach playoffs, Rocks miss out, at Plymouth Invite

BY DAVID CALLAHAN

High school women spikers from around the state invaded Canton High's Phase III and Salem High's gymnasium Saturday in the Plymouth Invitational volleyball tournament.

Portage Northern High walked away with the crown defeating Livonia Bentley, 15-12, and 15-5, in the final match Saturday night.

Canton and Salem didn't fare as well among the 22 - the Chiefs finished best, fighting their way into the final round, while the Rocks failed to reach the playoffs.

Teams were divided into four pools of five, five, six and six teams. Each team played all its opposites in the pool with the top two squads making playoffs.

At Salem each team played one game of 16 points, while at Phase III two games of 11 were played.

The Chiefs made it to the semifinals before losing to Wayne Memorial, 15-12, and 15-10.

Salem failed to reach the finals finishing fifth in its pool. The Rocks did give tournament winners, Northern a scare, losing 15-12 in tough pool play.

"It was very exciting," said Salem coach Jeanne Martin. "That was the best that we've played all season. I hope it will carry over into league play."

In addition to losing to the tournament champs, the Rocks also lost to Redford Union and Kearsly, while beating Livonia Churchill, 15-6, and Allen Park, 16-14.

Canton won its pool winning seven of eight 11-point games against teams in its pool. Among the Canton wins were matches against South Haven, Harper Woods Regina, and Walled Lake Central. The Chiefs split two games with Livonia Franklin.

In the first round of playoffs Canton dumped South Haven, 16-18, 15-9 and 15-7, to play Wayne.

Overall, Canton won nine games while losing four.

"I was very happy," said Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein. "We had the best finish that we've had in a long while. We were steady and consistent, and played as a team."

Rock grapplers win 2 of 3 duals

Salem High mens wrestlers knocked off Suburban Eight League rival Belleville, 55-10, Thursday to win its 10th dual match this season. The Rocks are 10-2 overall and 5-0 in the conference.

Four Salem wrestlers won on pins against Belleville, Bill Hall at 107 pounds, Rob McDonald at 134, John Beaudoin at 140, and John Wochuck at 169.

Earlier in the week, Salem split a double dual, beating Hazel Park, 46-12, and falling to Temperence-Bedford, 34-24.

Double winners for the Rocks that night included Marty Piper at heavyweight, the Beaudoin brothers, and Bruce Bachman.

Westland John Glenn also wrestled in the double-dual competition.

Salem will travel to Dearborn Edsel Ford tomorrow night for a 6:30 p.m. conference match-up. On Saturday the Rocks will host the Salem Quad competition.

Wrestling on cable

Area wrestling fans can tune in to Omnicom Cable Channel 8 today, tomorrow, and Friday, for taped highlights of the finals of the Canton Wrestling Invitational, held last Dec. 30.

"With three of the top teams in the state competing, (Salem High, Wayne Memorial, Warren Lincoln) there will be some excellent wrestling," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko.

Today, the one-hour presentation will be aired at 4:30 p.m. Tomorrow it will be shown at 5:30, and on Friday at 1 p.m.

Rock cagers smash Trenton, 78-54

Salem High's mens basketball squad downed Trenton for the second time this season, 78-54, Friday, and upped its Suburban Eight League record to 6-0 in the process. The Rocks are 9-3 overall.

In its previous outing with the Trojans, Salem snatched a 49-43 win.

Friday's offensive effort was considerably more, however, as tri-captain Mike McBride scored 26 points, 10 of those in the third quarter, to pace the Rocks.

The score at the end of the second quarter was 26-25, Salem, on a last second basket by John Kelliher.

The Rocks then tallied 23 points in the third period, while holding Trenton to 12 to take a 49-37 lead.

Salem added a 29-point fourth quarter to put the game away.

The Rocks will face Belleville Friday in another conference match-up. Salem defeated the Tigers in a game earlier this year, 66-51. Game time at the Belleville gym is 6:15 p.m. for junior varsity and 8 p.m. for varsity.

Chief grapplers hit high gear

BY DAVID CALLAHAN

With just over a week until the Western Six League meet, Canton High's wrestling program has hit high gear.

The Chief grapplers thrashed Farmington Harrison Thursday, 52-16, to end their conference season undefeated, after splitting a triple dual meet last Tuesday. Canton's dual meet record now stands at 11-2.

"This is our second season without a conference loss," said coach Dan Chrenko, "and with our record, we're having a fine season."

Canton was victorious in the first 10 weight classes, and took an insurmountable 52-0 lead in the dual with Harrison.

In its double dual, Canton lost to Harper Woods, 33-30, then came back to beat Detroit Catholic Central, 53-18.

Canton's junior varsity also continues to do well. Thursday, the Chief reserves wrapped up the Western Six title with a 27-0 win over Harrison. The JV squad finished its season with a 4-0 league record.

With one dual meet remaining, the JV's are 7-2 in dual meets on the year.

The next competition for the Chiefs will be the Western Six League meet, to be held at Northville High, on Saturday, Feb. 16. The preliminary competition will begin at 2:15 p.m., with the finals at 6:15 p.m.

Chief cagers down but not out

BY DAVID CALLAHAN

Down, but not out.

That's the way Canton High basketball coach Dave VanWagoner looks at the rest of his team's season.

Friday, the Chiefs dropped to 1-12 with a 49-26 loss to state-ranked Livonia Stevenson.

Despite the final score, the Chiefs were within striking distance of the Spartans until the fourth quarter, having played a stall offense which kept Stevenson from running away with the game.

In addition to the loss, the Chiefs will be playing without center Steve Tuttle for the remainder of the season. Tuttle left the team early last week for personal reasons. He is the fourth player to have left from VanWagoner's original squad.

VanWagoner said that his team could have beaten Stevenson, had they executed the stall better. Canton committed 21 turnovers, to the Spartans nine.

"I think we'll be using a similar game plan for the rest of the year," said VanWagoner. "We are definitely going to win some games."

The stall was successful in the opening minutes of the game, as Canton picked up a 3-2 lead. It was the only time, however, that the Chiefs would lead, as several key mistakes allowed Stevenson to take an 8-3 lead at the end of the opening period.

Stevenson upped its lead to 10-3 in the second quarter, as Pat Martin hit a lay-up at 6:10. Canton came right back, as Mark

Bennett, brought up from the junior varsity ranks, drove to the basket for a lay-up of his own, cutting the score to 10-5. Canton did little else offensively, and gave up a 14-6 halftime lead to the Spartans.

In the third quarter, the stall finally began to pay off. Mike Scarello hit a drive to the basket for a lay-up to cut the margin to six, 14-8. After Gary Mexicotte hit a basket to put the Spartans up by eight, Scarpello came back to make a steal and cut the Stevenson lead back to six. By the end of the quarter, though, Stevenson had built a 21-10 lead.

Canton abandon the stall in the final period, and tried to catch the Spartans. Stevenson didn't collapse, and both squads played a run and shoot quarter, with Stevenson outscoring the Chiefs, 24-12.

Canton was led in points by Scarpello and Matt Thomas, who had six points each.

The Spartans, now 11-1, were paced by Pat Martin, with 13, and Curt Ullstrom, who had 10 fourth quarter points.

Playing without Bennett, the Canton JV also lost to Stevenson, dropping a 40-25 contest. Mike Jennings led the Canton reserves with seven points.

Canton plays at home Friday, facing Western Six League foe Farmington Harrison. Harrison is in first place in the contest, and the Chiefs are in last. The junior varsity contest begins at 6:15 p.m., with the varsity to follow.

Salem swimmers win 2 dual meets

It was another winning week for the Salem High mens swim team.

The Rocks downed Suburban Eight League foe Belleville on Thursday, 100.5-65.5, and defeated non-league foe Livonia Stevenson, 92-80, last Tuesday.

Against Belleville, the Rocks scored seven first place finishes.

"I think we swam our best overall meet of the year," said Salem coach Chuck Olson after the Belleville win. "Before we'd have one or two guys in each event do well, while the third swimmer would be off on his time. Last night everybody swam their best times or nearly. It makes a meet much easier when that happens."

Burnstein added though, that the Chiefs should have done better against Wayne. "I really thought that we could have won," she said.

Salem dropped a Suburban Eight League dual match to Allen Park earlier in the week, losing 16-14, 8-15, and 11-15. The Rocks are 2-2 overall.

Canton also geared up for the invitational earlier in the week, beating Farmington Harrison, 15-2, and 15-2. The Chiefs are now 3-2 in dual meets overall, and 2-2 in the Western Six League.

Both teams had their Monday meets postponed due to the weather.

The Rocks face Bentley's Bulldogs tonight at Bentley. Match time is 7 p.m.

Meanwhile the Chiefs travel to Walled Lake Western for a 7 p.m. clash.

The Rocks will swim Suburban Eight opponent Dearborn Edsel Ford tomorrow night. Meet time is 7 p.m. at the Edsel Ford pool.

The Rocks are 8-1 overall in dual meet competition.

Canton swim

BY DAVID CALLAHAN

"Some serious hard work," is what Canton High mens swimming coach Bill McCord has to promise his team, now that the team is focusing its attention on the state meet, to be held on March 5 and 6.

After the team's Tuesday meet against Northville, the Chiefs will have a nine-day layoff until their next meet, Feb. 18, at Churchill.

The Chiefs are giving added attention to the state meet after ripping Farmington Harrison, 108-56, on Thursday. Harrison had been the only Western Six League squad still to face the Chiefs.

Canton had no problem defeating Harrison, winning eight of 11 events, despite the fact that Ron Hurley and Peter Stern did not swim.

Salem gymnasts

Salem High's women gymnasts may not have won a meet yet this season, but the Rocks continue to show improvement over the past four matches.

Last Wednesday the Rocks fell to non-league foe Farmington Harrison, 95-81.8, and improved their score from their previous meet, a 77.5 performance against Trenton.

"We are improving with each meet. We've got Belleville next - they have done very well thus far. I'm hoping our score can go up. They are a good team and it will be hard to match that 81.8 performance," said Salem coach Kathy Kinsella.

The Rocks will travel to Suburban Eight League foe Belleville tonight with the match starting at 7 p.m.

Against Harrison the Rocks best finish came on the parallel bars as Sarah Rubadue finished second with a score of 6.75. Julie Mann was fourth on the bars, 4.45, while Debbie Bahna was fifth, 4.4.

Skate competition

This weekend the Plymouth Community Cultural Center will be the scene of the Plymouth Open ISIA (Ice Skating Institute of America) Mixed Skating Competition.

Figure skating events start at 8 a.m. and will run to 9 p.m. in the Cultural Center's ice arena. Admission will be 50 cents for an all day pass.

Cruisers win

The Plymouth-Canton Cruisers swim team won the first Ypsilanti Invitational Swim on Jan. 16. The squad scored 1,416 points, while Ypsilanti was second, 1,166.

Other teams included Chelsea, Brighton, Milan, Willow Run and Erie Mason.

Skaters see Sweden

THIS IS THE Plymouth-Canton Bantam A hockey squad, sponsored by Rebmann Plastic Products, along with members from the Swedish host team, Lidingo, during the team's recent trip to Sweden. The squad spent several weeks in the country during the New Year holiday and played four exhibition games as well as winning the Pharos Cup Tournament over four other

Chiefs down Wayne in gymnastics

Going into the meet with little notice and even less preparation, Canton High's women's gymnastics squad almost picked up another qualifying score for the state meet. The Chiefs beat Wayne Memorial, 111.5-97, last Wednesday.

Coach John Cunningham was not aware that his squad would be competing until that morning and was still pleased with the outcome. "It was an uninspiring meet, and we still got 111.5. I'm fairly confident in terms of qualifying now."

Sophomore Linda Beale led the Chiefs taking first place in the overall competition. She had scores of 8.0 on parallel bars, for first, 7.7 on balance beam, second, 6.9 on vaulting, third, and 7.5 in floor exercise, third.

Laura Michalik finished second overall, placing first in vaulting, 8.1. She also finished second on bars, 7.0, second in the floor, 7.7, and third on beam, 7.2.

Amy Albaugh also had a second-place finish, with a 7.9 score on the vault.

Canton's next meet is today, when it travels to Farmington Harrison for a Western Six League meet, to begin at 7 p.m.
