

Good news: school millage to drop

Taxpayers living in the Plymouth-Canton school district got a bit of good news Monday night.

The Board of Education set the total annual school millage at 37 mills. It's the lowest tax rate approved by a school board in eight years.

Assistant superintendent for business Ray Hoedel said a drop in the debt levy allowed a one-half mill reduction for 1983. Another development helped, he added. "Normally, we couldn't have done this, but we got the summer tax collection."

If the district did not have a summer collection, the debt levy would have remained at 2.24 mills and prohibited an overall reduction, Hoedel reported.

A total tax of $36,055,650.98 will be collected for 1983. The biggest contributor will be Canton, which will pay $16,522,396.62. Plymouth Township will add another $12,843,389.31 and Plymouth will contribute $5,309,206.22.

The remaining taxes will be collected in Salem, Superior Township and the Salem-Plymouth-Northville Annex in Washtenaw County; and in Northville Township.

Over the last five years, as the district paid off its capital expenses and reduced the debt levy, the school millage dropped 2 mills, Hoedel said.

Superintendent John Hoben said the last millage increase was in 1979; a one-mill hike in the operating levy.

Board president Glenn Schroeder said the school millage, "Is one thing that hasn't risen in the last few years."

The board unanimously approved the millage resolution.

Collection of the summer levy of 18.50 mills is underway, Hoedel said. "There's not a whole lot in, but escrow accounts are slowly coming in." Deadline is Sept. 15.

The winter levy of 18.50 mills will be billed on Dec. 1.

Traffic accidents claim 3 in Canton

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

Three people died in two unrelated car accidents in Canton Township last week, Canton Police said. Both accidents were single car incidents.

John Maurice Paquette, 19, of Washtenaw Avenue in Ypsilanti died Aug. 17 when the car he was driving spun out of control on westbound Michigan Avenue, police said.

Jeffrey Scott Primeau, 21, of Canton Center Road in Plymouth and Cheryl Ann Baker, 24, of Palmer Street in Plymouth both died of injuries sustained when the car hit a tree on Ridge Road approximately 200 feet from the Ford Road intersection. A third passenger, Jon Milton Kabel, 20, of McClumpha Street, Plymouth, sustained face and leg lacerations in the accident, police said.

According to Canton police and fire reports, Paquette was traveling at a high rate of speed on Michigan Avenue east of Lilley Road at approximately 12:30 p.m. when he lost control of his vehicle. Paquette entered a construction area on Michigan Avenue and could not control his vehicle on the gravel surface covering the road.

Police said Paquette left the roadway and struck a stake truck parked on the side of the road, causing fatal injuries. Canton rescue workers said Paquette suffered multiple injuries to his head in the crash.

Primeau and Baker suffered first, second and third degree burns Aug. 21 when the car they were in hit a tree and later caught fire, police said. The accident occurred at approximately 3:30 a.m. but police said they were not notified of the incident until nearly 4 a.m. Police said callers reported the blaze as a rubbish fire.

Canton Police Lieutenant Larry Stewart said Primeau was driving the vehicle at the time the Aug. 21 accident occurred. Primeau failed to negotiate a curve over a Fellows Creek bridge on Ridge Road just south of Ford Road.

Stewart said Primeau's car left the road and struck a tree, then turned on its side in the creek. When police and fire units responded to the scene, they found the car engulfed in flames.

Primeau was found dead at the scene of the crash by the Canton Fire Department. Baker was found, still living, under the right front side of the vehicle, fire reports said. In addition to severe burns, she suffered multiple broken bones and shock.

Canton rescue workers transported Baker to Wayne County General Hospital, but she died later that morning of injuries sustained in the accident.

Kabel, the only survivor in the accident, was apparently thrown free of the Bad news: teachers may vote to strike

With negotiations slated for Thursday and Friday, Plymouth-Canton teachers say they are prepared to strike.

Mickey Edell, president of the Plymouth Canton Education Association, said that if a settlement is not reached a strike vote will be taken by the membership Monday.

"We're prepared to take a 'job action' if necessary," Edell said.

Richard Egli, assistant superintendent for community relations, said he is optimistic a strike will not occur. A provision of the current contract prohibits teachers from striking, he said.

"That, as much as anything, makes me think they will honor the contract," Egli said. "They have the opportunity to continue working whether or not they have a contract."

Egli said he does not yet know whether schools will close if teachers decide on a walkout. Students are scheduled to report for their first day - a half-day session - on Tuesday.

"I think that if teachers see some progress (in contract talks) or potential progress, they will continue working," Egli said.

Parents are advised to watch cable television channel 11 or call the schools' Newsline at 423-0271 for more information.

"In the event contract talks break down, we may need to reach as many people as possible with as much information as possible," Egli said.

School trustees deny teacher grievance

BY DAN BODENE

Teacher's union representatives and school board members argued Monday night on the limits of tenure rights, and their effect on laid-off teachers.

Plymouth-Canton Board of Education members heard a grievance presented by Travis Griffith of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association (PCEA) on behalf of eight teachers. The board denied the grievance.

Griffith said the issue was, "Basically, an argument on the recall section (of the contract)."

Assistant superintendent for personnel Norm Kee said the matter began with requests for full-time employment.

Several teachers who had requested part-time schedules asked to resume full-time work, but board policy has been to deny such requests if the district has laid off teachers, Kee said.

Griffith said the PCEA position was that the Tenure Act recognized identical rights for all tenured teachers, whether full or part time. Recalls should be made on the basis of tenure and seniority, he said.

Irene Finkbeiner, a learning specialist at Farrand, said she requested a reduction from positions at several schools, to a part-time assignment at Farrand. She said she believed the .7 assignment would expand with the school's growth.

Griffith said, "Never in their wildest dreams did they suspect they would not be able to come back on full time."

PCEA representative Lori Manoojian added that if the board denied the grievance, it would be denying hiring priority to teachers with 12-15 years of district service.

Kee told the board that the schools' policy was to treat the requests as a hiring action. "And we don't feel the board has the right to hire additional teachers with tenured teachers on layoff."

School board members agreed, and voted unanimously to deny the grievance.

Trustee Thomas Yack said, "If we take this (union contention) one step further and give revolving door rights at the expense of teachers with less seniority, it's the kids, ultimately, who will be affected."

Board president Glenn Schroeder said attorneys for the district gave an opinion favorable to a board action for denial.

vehicle and did not sustain burns, police said. Kabel told police that he and Primeau had been out at a bar where they met Baker, an acquaintance of theirs. Kabel said they had dropped off a fourth passenger in the car at his home and were driving Baker to her home when the crash occurred.

Primeau's car was carrying house paint at the time of the accident, and this may have contributed to the fire, Stewart said. He added the length of time it took for the department to be notified of the accident may have also been a contributing factor in the blaze.

Police are investigating the accident to determine its cause. Stewart said there could be any number of reasons why the incident occurred.

"The reason he didn't make the curve is under investigation," Stewart said. "It could be alcohol-related or he could have fallen asleep at the wheel or had a seizure, or any number of other things."

City police drop labor practice claim

BY RACHAEL DOLSON
City of Plymouth policemen have dropped a grievance and an unfair labor practice case they have filed against the city over the eight-hour work day.

Police Officers of Association of Michigan (POAM) local president Michael Gardner said, "This is quite significant. We are not accustomed to walking backward, usually we go forward, but we felt it was in the best interests of all concerned."

POAM filed a grievance with the city and an unfair labor practice claim with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) after the city began scheduling officers to work eight-hour shifts. In the past, policemen had worked ten-hour shifts.

"The eight-hour day has lowered overtime costs. We decided to take a few steps back and try and look at the whole thing with a broader picture ... to make a move like this is in the best interest of the whole city," Gardner said. The withdrawal of the grievance was not "bargained," Gardner said, but came with no strings attached.

"We had discussions with them six months ago on ways we thought they could save money. We made them a proposal. They rejected it and made it clear that this was the way they wanted to save money. It means each police officer has to work 52 more days a year -- but we have decided to accept it," Gardner said.

The POAM president said he hoped this would be the first step to a better understanding between the union and the administration. "We stand ready to enter discussions on further concessions if it would mean a longer term contract between the City and the Township, and enhance our job security."

City Manager Henry Graper said, "We are certainly going to be sitting down at the table and trying to negotiate some terms that would allow us to offer the township a three or four year contract.

"We are extremely happy (about their decision to drop it). Obviously it is going to save us money (in fight the unfair labor practice) but it is going to save them money as well," Graper said.

Gardner disagreed with Graper's contention that the police officers would save money. "It would cost POAM, it would not cost us (to pursue it). POAM wanted to continue, it's the local guys that wanted to drop it."

Both Graper and Gardner agreed that the atmosphere may be right to negotiation further changes in the contract. "We have never been that far apart," Graper said. "We have disagreed, but never been disagreeable."

Be on lookout for con men

Four elderly Plymouth and Plymouth Township residents were swindled during a four-hour period Wednesday, losing a total of $1,800.

Plymouth Police have warned residents to be cautious and on the look out for the con men, although Monday they believed the swindlers had moved south to the Garden City area.

"Yesterday (Sunday) and today we started getting reports that they had moved up that way," Plymouth Police Commander Ralph White said.

In all four of the cases, and in a fifth unsuccessful attempt Thursday, the men posed as driveway or roof repair men and used the same tactics, police said.

Men arrive in a pick up truck and offer to do driveway or roof repair work free, or say it has been ordered by someone else.

The men then distract the resident's with questions or requests while another member of the team searches other rooms in the house for cash.

In the Plymouth cases the swindlers were able to find large sums of cash, bank books, and other papers in strong boxes or hidden in drawers.

The con men are described as dark skinned, around 5' 4", in their late 20s and early 30s.

Two weeks ago, two other Plymouth residents were conned out of money by men who claimed to have done roof work. In both cases the men were paid by a person who believed the con men's story that the work had been ordered by another person.

City volunteer firefighter hopefuls will include pair of local women

Plymouth Council on Aging director Sarah Delmore and attorney Carole Levitte have applied to take volunteer firefighter training for the City of Plymouth.

Fire Chief Roy Hall said that he is currently in the middle of training eight new volunteers, but that the female pair will be considered in the next round of volunteers -- possibly after the first of the year.

Ypsilanti man surrenders

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

An Ypsilanti man has surrendered to police following the issuance of warrants for his arrest on charges of criminal sexual conduct and arson.

Sheldon Bleye, 26, surrendered yesterday and was arraigned before 36th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis on five counts of criminal sexual conduct in the 3rd degree, and arson. He is being held in lieu of $15,000 bond.

The warrants were issued by the Wayne County Prosecutors Office.

A 23-year-old Plymouth woman told police she was held at her apartment against her will for two hours last Sunday and raped repeatedly by Bleye, a former boyfriend.

She escaped and fled to the neighbors to call police, and returned to find her apartment in flames, police said.

Fire Chief Roy Hall said it has been determined that the apartment fire was arson. The fire was confined to the bedroom of the apartment, but most of her apartment as well as portions of three other apartments were damaged by smoke.

The woman told police that she let Bleye in her apartment at about 8:30 a.m. because she was afraid of what he would do if upset. He forced her into the bedroom and sexually assaulted her, she told police.

Felon sentenced

A Canton woman charged with assault with intent to rob while armed and a felony firearm charge was sentenced to serve 20 to 60 years in prison yesterday.

Delores Jean Federico, 26, of Canton was sentenced before Judge Thomas Foley of Wayne County Circuit Court to serve 20 to 60 years for the assault conviction and two years for the felony firearm conviction.

Federico was convicted of the charges two weeks ago before Foley. She was originally charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of an Ann Arbor man last Oct. 18. Federico was acquitted of murder but convicted of the other charges.

Federico and two acquaintances, George McCue, 25, and Ricki Sparks, 31, both of Canton, were arrested as suspects in the incident.

McCue and Sparks were convicted of assault with intent to rob while armed before Judge Charles Kaufman of Wayne County Circuit Court last week.

east especially you see husband and wife volunteer teams even," Hall said.

"We have had women apply for full-time firefighters jobs. They were right up in the running to the end when they didn't show up for the tests," Hall said.

"I don't know when they will be considered. If all of the seven or eight volunteers work out and are faithful to the job, we may not need to consider a new crew for some time. The current volunteers we started four months ago, may fill our needs for awhile.

Group rates Canton's performance

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

Superintendent over supervisor, five year plans, joint police-fire dispatchers and no swimming pools.

Those were but a few of the recommendations made to the Canton Township Board by a special committee formed to review current township activities and financing.

The Blue Ribbon Committee, as officially dubbed by Supervisor James Poole who organized the citizen group, presented board representatives with a five-page report Aug. 9 on Canton's present state of affairs. The report highlights several different areas of township government where changes are seen by the committee as necessary and beneficial for residents.

Board members were scheduled to discuss the plan and its implementation at last night's township meeting.

"What we need to learn is how to turn some excellent citizen input into an action program," Trustee Robert Padgett said at the Aug. 9 presentation.

Among the recommendations made by the committee, was a suggestion that the township phase out the use of a supervisor and instead appoint a township superintendent who would be directly accountable to the township board.

"We feel that a professional municipal administrator, as Superintendent, could more adequately address the administrative problems of the township without being influenced by vested interest groups and political pressures," the committee said in its report.

The role of supervisor would be reduced to one of public relations for the township under the committee's recommendations.

The committee also suggested that township department heads submit long-range plans on activities and their budgets. The plan would provide township officials with a gauge for directing future township growth, the committee said.

Economic growth strategies were highly recommended by the committee as another way of planning for the township's future. The committee specifically recommended that a Ford Road commercial corridor plan be prepared and that Canton become more involved in public economic development activities.

But if long-range planning had the approval of the Blue Ribbon citizens, long term investments in recreation did not. Swimming pools, ice arenas, skating rinks and cultural centers were seen as economic boondoggles by the committee.

"Structures which are specialized in use and restricted, by implication, to a narrow range of citizens are constantly struggling to meet cash outflow for current maintenance and program planning," the committee wrote. "We think it is inadvisable for Canton to invest in such capital."

The group urged the township to weigh the cost of proposed recreation programs against the number of citizens the program would serve.

Committee members were concerned with other costs the township is presently incurring as well. More stringent control of overtime accumulation from township employees was suggested as a means of resolving what the group saw as an excessive amount of overtime hours. The committee also recommended that township employees be allowed to use sick days only when sick and not for subsequent pay-outs later.

Joint police and fire civilian dispatchers were seen as a way to save costs in the police and fire departments and increase the efficiency of both agencies. The township has already adopted this recommendation, and will begin hiring joint dispatchers in January of next year.

Other concerns which the committee highlighted for the board included the improvement of Canton's gravel roads and allowing citizens to have more input into governmental affairs through advisory ballots.

The committee also recommended the continuation of rubbish disposal services, maintenance of emergency medical services in the township and an investigation of whether or not Canton should consider city status.

'Gypsy' schemers arrested for scam

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

Plymouth Police arrested Peter S. Bimbo and Joe S. John last Wednesday on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, violation of the residential licensing act, and carrying a concealed weapon.

Bimbo and John had reportedly obtained $300 from two elderly Plymouth residents using "a gypsy scheme of feigning driveway repairs," police said.

An unidentified citizen came into the station at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday and told police "some gypsies are trying to ripoff my friends." The man had apparently read newspaper accounts of other elderly resident who had been swindled lately. He gave police an address on Eastside Drive and said men in a yellow pickup were pretending to do driveway work.

Two officers in a regular police vehicle waited outside the area of Eastside Drive, while Lt. Robert Commire -- in an unmarked car checked the residence.

When the yellow pickup left the home, the officers in the marked vehicle stopped it as it turned on to Ann Arbor Trail.

As the officers approached the truck, the men reached under their seats, police said. The officers told them to raise their hands above their heads, and they complied, police said.

Officers found two "black jack" weapons under the front seats of the car. Bimbo and John were arrested on charges of carrying a concealed weapon.

Commire interviewed the elderly couple who gave this account:

The two men came up to the house about 3 p.m. and asked the couple if they would like to have their driveway cemented for $10 a pound.

When the man saw that a black substance, not cement, was being poured on to the driveway, he ordered them to stop.

The men then came into the house and asked the wife for $300. She said they had no money. Bimbo pointed to the black substance, demanded payment, and said "You know me. I've talked to you before about this work, even gave you one of my cards."

Bimbo and John finally convinced the couple that they would come back next week and finished the job, and the couple gave them $300.

Omnicom closing doors

Omnicom of Michigan has closed its doors -- but only temporarily.

Suzanne Skubick, community affairs and program director for the cable television company said operations will be shut down the entire week of Aug. 22. Skubick said the closing will allow company employees to make much-needed maintenance repairs on the cable system, and to re-familiarize themselves with cable operations through training courses.

"We hope our public access users and our viewers will understand the need for Both men have been released pending further investigation, police said. An expert has been asked to look at the driveway work and determine an actual value of the services rendered, police said.

Also, the police are waiting written confirmation from the State of Michigan that the pair are not licensed to do such work.

this week long shut down of operations," Skubick said.

Community and access programming on channel 15 will not be aired as a result of the shut down. Family Home Theater, another Omnicom program, will also not be shown this week.

Skubick said, however, that special adult vocational education programs will be aired throughout the week at various times between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. on channel 11.

The portapak workshop scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 27, will be delayed until the following Saturday to allow trainees to finish their projects.

Murder trial delayed

The trial of Gary Lee Cook, accused of murder by arson, has been postponed until Sept. 21.

Cook is charged with setting the fire which burned through the Old Village Inn in Plymouth in January, taking the life of one of the hotel's residents.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Joseph B. Sullivan adjourned the trial, originally scheduled to begin yesterday, because no jurors or judges are available until next month.

Robert Delaney, Cook's attorney, objected to the delay.

Crier announces staff appointments

Two new department heads have been appointed at The Community Crier.

Dan Bodene, who served in The Crier's editorial department from 1980 to 1982, has been named managing editor of the newspaper. He will direct the day-to-day operations of the newspaper's editorial operations and will be responsible for covering the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools — a beat he had previously covered.

Bodene, 28, is a Central Michigan University graduate and has worked for the Oil and Gas News, the Lapeer County Press and the Observer and Eccentric newspapers.

Joining him in the editorial department is Tim McKercher as sports editor. McKercher is a 17-year-old senior at Canton High School and is editor of the Centennial Education Park Perspective. He served as sports editor of the student newspaper last year.

Also appointed to a management position at The Crier is Sallie Roby, who will become advertising director, supervising the display advertising staff.

Roby served as an advertising consultant with The Crier in 1979 to 1982 and most recently as co-owner-publisher of Metro Cable Magazine.

She attended Wayne State University and formerly worked with radio station WJOR in South Haven. She is 51.

"We're very pleased to have Dan and Sallie rejoining us," said Crier General Manager Phyllis Redfern. "They both have demonstrated great concern for The Plymouth-Canton Community and we're very fortunate to have them back on The Crier team. And Tim is a bright student who'll help our sports coverage continue as the best."

Schools' phone system delayed by Bell strike switch from the current Dimension System to CENTREX III on Aug. 19 and secondary phones were to switch yesterday, according to Administrative Assistant for Community Relations Richard Egli.

But because of the strike by local telephone company employes, both deadlines have passed and Egli is not sure when the new phone system will be operational.

The delay has caused headaches for school officials as well as local residents trying to call school offices.

Phone lines at Farrand Elementary School were inoperative last Friday, Aug. 19, due to the delay, Egli said. The school had disconnected lines at the school, planning to have the new system working by Aug. 19, Egli said.

On Aug. 10 the entire school system lost phone service for one day when phone company supervisors, filling in for striking workers, tried to switch the phone systems prematurely.

The Bell Telephone Company hasn't broken its agreement with the school since the contract includes a clause which refers to a strike, Egli said.

School administrators decided to change over from the Dimension System to CENTREX III in 1982 when telephone companies were deregulated and the threat of rate increase loomed.

The new system will replace the school's current switchboard system and allow direct dialing to individual school offices, Egli said. The first four digits of every number will be 451-6. The last three digits will be the same as the current extension number.

School officials expect to save $50,000 during the first year with CENTREX III because there will be better accountability on long distance calls and because there will not be a rate increase with the new system.

Costly lights

In a story in the Aug. 10 issue of The Plymouth-Canton Community Crier, it was reported that the cost to move the street lights a second time due to the Main Street road improvement project was $2,100. The cost to move the lights again was actually $21,000.

That's one thing I've learned to appreciate about Canton - although the community is 150 years old, it's still young enough to seek continuous change and improvement.

At the Aug. 9 board meeting, township officials voted to start a beautification committee for the township. The board, in passing the resolution, placed the authority and responsibility of this new committee on the citizens who would eventually serve on it.

While I may have had my doubts about this strategy on first consideration, I now applaud the move. I only hope that the residents of Canton will come through for the board, themselves and the future establishment of the committee.

It's with an admitted bias that I'll say beautification committees are vital to every community. My natural resources background has made me sensitive of the need for municipal trees, landscaping, historic preservation and park development.

But more and more, all residents are beginning to realize that a community is really no community if its trees have been sacrificed for roads, if its parks are parking lots and its landscaping consists of plastic bushes in a white gravel plantbeds.

Mike Gouin, recreation director for Canton told the board he did not want the beautification committee run by the township board and Canton politics. He stressed the importance of allowing residents to identify what kind of beautification program they would like to see in Canton. He also applauded the idea of giving them a direct means for achieving those things.

It's a big responsibility - running any committee successfully. It is even more difficult to establish a committee from the ground level and work your way up to a smoothly functioning organization.

But I hope at least some of you will see the significance of this committee in the future development of Canton. Step forward and be a part of the pioneering effort behind this group. This is your chance as residents to take the ball and run with it.

From the Inside Looking Out

By Cheryl Eberwein

If Canton has become, in your mind, an endless stream of subdivisions and small commercial zones, then voice your feelings through the beautification committee. Set up that permanent tree fund you've always thought Canton needed, recognize those neighborhoods who have done outstanding jobs with their landscaping, hold outdoor Christmas decorating contests like you've always planned out in your mind. The committee could be whatever you as residents choose to make it.

The board is looking for a few people with a genuine interest in the betterment of Canton. Without the constraints of local government, a beautification committee in Canton could become an irreplaceable source of community pride

I know some of you have the time, energy and interest to see such a committee through to inception. Let Gouin, or Canton Planner Jim Kosteva know who you are. Once the first meeting is arranged, hurdles can be set up one by one and systematically eliminated.

Canton has a great deal of aesthetic potential - and it's begging for a chance to show it. Afford everyone the opportunity to see that potential by becoming a part of the entire beautification process. Canton needs you, the beautification committee needs you, and you need you.

Liquor decision was right

Governmental decisions are rarely easy.

Officials are damned if they do, damned if they don't.

One such case, was the City Commission's formal approval of a liquor license for the Cultural Center.

It's sad that alcohol is necessary to make hall rental attractive, but that's what the Cultural Center faces in trying to rent out space and become a profitable operation. There's also the argument that with a license, the city is even more in competition with private halls, although the major taxpaying halls are not competitors of a Cultural Center room.

So it was a tough choice for the City Commission.

Yet, the commissioners must also face the fact that with tight budgets, making the Center more attractive and - hopefully - profitable is one way of easing the taxpayers' burden.

Taking the city administration's pledge that the license will be used appropriately, the license was a necessary step, even though it wasn't an easy decision.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Unsolicited Remarks

By Rachael Dolson

The Plymouth Township Board decided to cancel its second August meeting due to lack of agenda items, lack of available board members, and general lack of interest.

I think the township board has got the right idea - in fact I think we can take the idea one step further - let's cancel the whole month of August due to lack of interest.

Who likes August anyways?

It's too hot to sleep at night, it's too hot to work, it's even too hot to go to the park. And even worse, it's muggy as heck.

Moms and Dads dislike August because the kids are getting restless, moping around the house saying, "I'm bored.

There's nothin' around here to do."

You can't get anything done in August work-wise, because the people you need to talk to are on vacation, at a turf management seminar, or working "summer hours."

All kinds of vermin and plagues are at their worst in August - I think the flies are taking over this year.

The whole world is hot, sticky and grouchy (especially me). Reams of poetic verse have been written on the long, hot, endless, scorching month of August - I can't even begin to scratch the surface on everything bad about August.

So, if no one has any objections, let's just skip it, alright?

Lightning strikes twice as Bodene returns

Well, I'm back.

To make a short story long, I've come roundabout because of economics.

I left last year to take a job in Lapeer County. Up there I reported on a handful of townships, the oil and gas industry in the county, natural resources, agriculture, sports and various municipalities. I wasn't sitting around idle too much.

It was a great job. I was doing some things I'd never done before. And getting my stories ripped up until they were done correctly.

Unfortunately, while my reporting was getting better the economy was not.

On my first day on my first job in journalism, a very wise (and financially successful) editor sat me down for a talk. He patiently explained that although it's good and necessary to hold on to lofty ideals of the craft, the bottom line was that journalism is a business, too.

That's why I understood when my bosses in Lapeer when they told me I couldn't be afforded. They felt much worse than I did about the whole thing.

My next employment was with an outfit The Crier refers to as "a regional newspaper chain with headquarters in Livonia."

I worked mainly in Oakland County as a "floater," writing sports for one paper for a week, then features for another paper the next week, then straight news for another paper the following week. And so on.

That was a great job, too. From a purely selfish point of view it was a pinch-

Only $33 a day!

EDITOR:

The Plymouth-Canton Community School system considers substitute teachers to be a very vital part of maintaining quality education within our schools.

If our job is vital and important why are we never given a fair pay increase?

Getting paid $33 per day is somewhat demoralizing when substituting for teachers who are getting paid four to six times that amount.

Just want to emphasize that a professional job should be given professional status in a fair wage.

But floater work is seasonal. When everybody comes back from vacation, there's nowhere to float.

I've decided to continue my formal education. All these layoffs are an omen. This winter I'll start a full-time

However, the folks at The Crier made me an offer I couldn't refuse. I can stay here until school starts.

Now I'm happy, my bosses here are happy and the MESC is happy.

IT WAS KICK UP YOUR HEELS and have fun Sunday night at the Plymouth Cultural Center when Don Santure's beginning square dancing class met. Santure teaches western square dancing to his students. Howdy partner!! Ready to do-sa?!

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

When it comes to do-sa-do-ing and promenading with partners do you have two left feet? Do hoedowns and sign calls leave you turned in every direction but the right one?

If square dancing is not your forte but you're interested in learning more about the national dance of America, The Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department may have a solution.

The Rec department is offering beginners and advanced square dancing lessons this summer and fall to all Plymouth-Canton residents.

The classes are taught by Don Santure, a Wayne dance caller and member of the Michigan Square Dance Leader Association. Although Santure has only been calling dances for a year, he and his wife Anne have been square dancing for six years.

Santure said he teaches the western style of square dancing. Western square dancing, he explained, is different from American dancing because there is less repetition and more basic movements in the dance. The caller also makes up the dance in the western style.

"More people are active and doing more things in western square dancing," Santure said.

Square dancing originated in California in the 1840's, Santure said. This is why so many of the dance calls are directed to the men.

"Back then they didn't have many women around," Santure said. "Sorry ladies but that's the way it was and still is!"

Santure added there are over 3,000 square dancing calls in existence today but only the most popular are used in dances.

Santure's first dance class is scheduled to end Sept. 11. Another session of classes is scheduled to begin Sept. 18.

Classes are held at the Cultural Center on Sundays. Beginning classes run from 6 to 8 p.m. and advanced or mainstream classes run from 8 to 10 p.m.

Although there is no limit on the number of people who participate, Santure will only hold registration for the Sept. 8 classes open for three weeks after the first dance session.

Square dancing classes cost $3.50 per couple per night. Interested individuals may call Santure at 721-1448 for further information on the classes.

Will they strike, or will the teachers be in the classrooms the first day of school. That is the question being asked by parents and students throughout the Plymouth-Canton School District.

Once again negotiations with the teacher's union have failed to reach an agreement and no contract has been signed. Like most people, I have a lot of questions. How close are they to reaching an agreement? Why do both sides always wait until the last minute to start negotiating? Will the teachers return to the classrooms without a signed contract?

I realize there are many things that have to be taken into consideration by both the teacher's union and the school board before they can agree on a contract. However, it seems like they always have to play a game with each other.

The teachers start by asking for more money than they expect to receive and the school board starts out by offering less than what they hope to agree to. As the talks continue, both sides start to make a few concessions. The real negotiations begin when both sides stop making concessions and there is still a gap between what they will agree to.

Sure it takes time to go through all these steps. However, I still don't understand why it has to be dragged out until the last minute. It would be easier on everyone if a settlement was already agreed to and a contract signed.

Maybe it's time to change the rules of the game and set up an earlier time table. If neither side wants to negotiate in July, what's wrong with May or June?

I wonder if we dug deep enough into the history books we could find a school district that actually signed a contract in the spring. Obviously it's too late to consider that this year, but it's a thought to keep in mind next time.

With less than a week to go until the first day of school, there's still a chance a miracle will happen and a contract will be signed. All we can do now is keep our fingers crossed and hope the kids and teachers will be in the classroom next Tuesday.

Guards learn fire safety

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

Eighty-eight corrections officers at Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) are currently participating in a fire safety program conducted by Plymouth Township firemen.

Instruction classes, with about a dozen cellblock officers in each, are being given on proper use of Scott Air Park units so that officers can enter a smoke filled area to release confined prisoners.

"The Detroit House of Correction ... has vowed we will not have a Biloxi, MS. disaster here," said Richard Ellyson, DeHoCo's consultant for the Institute of Fire and Burn Education in Washington.

Twenty-nine inmates of the Harrison County Jail in Biloxi died in a November 28, 1982 fire. "Mattresses are the main source of combustible material in a prison. Also, some cells used by mental or disoriented prisoners are padded with polyurethane foam. These two materials combined or alone are sufficient to cause death by asphyxiation when ignition occurs," Ellyson said.

After the tragic Biloxi fire, DeHoCo director Emmett R. Baylor, Jr. and deputy director Kenny Robinson began to work on a program so that "we would not have this happen here."

The first project in DeHoCo's three-part fire safety program is the training of the corrections officers. "The residents of an institution of confinement must rely on the knowledge and training of the officers who are placed in charge of a cellblock," Baylor said.

Baylor contacted Plymouth Township Fire Chief Larry Groth (Plymouth Township has the responsibility of initial response to DeHoCo), and he "was very cooperative in supplying us with his professional instruction and aid for any classes we need for our correctional officers in the line of fire education."

Working with limited funds, Baylor said DeHoCo was about to acquire four Scott Air Pak, self-contained breathing apparatus, from the Royal Oak Fire Department auction.

Last Wednesday, Plymouth Township firemen began training the corrections officers in the use of the apparatus. After viewing a film on safe conduct during a fire, each man was shown how to put the air pack and breathing mask on, and start the air flowing.

Then, township firemen placed shower caps over the masks to simulate the sightlessness of a smoke-filled room. The DeHoCo officers had to navigate their way through their own locker room, in a virtually blind state with the air packs on.

"It certainly gives you a whole new perspective, on what it would be like in a fire," said one officer after he tripped over benches and walked into walls. "I've been in that room everyday for years, but it is different when you can't see anything," he said.

Township fire training officer Don Hahn said the simulation exercise gives the officers a feel for the disorientation and loss of direction that can occur in the smokey room.

Hahn, Sergeant Frederick Honke, firemen Greg Westfall, and the chief will continue holding the small-group training classes until all the guards and officers at DeHoCo have received instruction.

The training is one program of DeHoCo's fire safety plan. The second program is the evacuation plan developed by DeHoCo's inspector Adam Houghton to release all confined prisoners and still maintain maximum security.

The third program is instruction and written procedures on evacuation. Instruction are posted in each cellblock or ward, and six residents have been designated as "fire monitors" who will see that all new men in their cellblocks or wards are made aware of the evacuation instructions.

All in all, Ellyson said, "The officer's training, the residents participation and the fire monitors activities have brought a team-like atmosphere to all concerned."

Fall Fest produce highlighted

Okay all you green thumbs in The Plymouth-Canton Community - listen up!!

The Fall Festival Produce Tent may not have been exactly the place where Jack and his mighty beanstalk found their way to riches, but it could be your claim to local gardening fame.

All gardeners in The Plymouth-Canton Community are invited to participate in the many contests the Produce Tent will offer again this year at the Fall Festival.

Sponsored by The Community Crier, the produce tent judgments will take place on Sunday, Sept. 11 in front of the Wilcox house at Penniman and Union Streets.

Those who aspire to be like Jack may be interested in entering the category for the tallest sunflower or stalk of corn. For those residents whose gardening talents are a little more earthbound, categories for the largest squash, largest pumpkin, best fresh floral bouquet, and best dried floral bouquet may bring more rewards.

There are seventeen produce categories in all. Junior and adult categories exist in some contests. Other categories in the Produce tent competition include: largest sunflower, best miniature floral bouquet, largest zucchini, canning displays, and displays of one garden vegetable.

To register for the produce competitions, call Mary O'Connell at 459-1999. Contestants are asked to drop off their entries tagged with their name, age and category on each display. Entries should be dropped off at the produce tent between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. for the 1 p.m. judging.

The Trailwood branch of the Women's Farm and Garden Association organizes and hosts the event.

And for those of you who have thought about planting a garden all season but never really made it - try showing up at the Optimist Pet Show on Saturday, Sept. 10. With luck, you'll find someone who wants another pet and will be happy to part with those silly beans that just don't stop growing!

Christian

open house

Plymouth Seventh-day Adventist Church Elementary School will hold an open house on Sunday, Aug. 21 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. to hold registration for the upcoming year and give the public a chance to see the school's new addition.

The school will open this year with a third classroom, built by the joint effort between construction workers and church members, said Sheryl Swanson of the school.

The new classroom also includes a lounge area, principal's office and custodial room, she said.

"The school's history began in 1977 when the Plymouth congregation decided they had a great need for Christian education but no adequate funds," she said. Prayers and donations made the two-classroom school a reality within 45 days, she said, and it open in the fall of 1977 with 15 students.

Since then the school has been growing steadily to approximately 40 students from Plymouth, Canton and the surrounding areas.

Swanson said a few opening for children from the community exist at the school, 4295 Napier Road, between Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail, phone 459-8222.

Wash-thon

They're prize pots

Is it Rockingham or is it Bennington pottery?
 From 1835 to 1885, all pottery made of a common yellow clay with the added glaze of Magnesium and Umnber was called "Rockingham" pottery. It is called "Bennington" only if it was made in Bennington, Vermont.
 The glaze was applied in various ways -- it could be dipped, brushed or splattered, depending on how the glazer felt that day!
 Some of the rare pieces on display at the Plymouth Historical Musuem are a whiskey bottle dated 1849; seated Toby mug; a pitcher with a frog inside dated 1880; a teapot with the scene of Rebecca at the well; and a pitcher with a hunting scene.
 Also on display: handmade marionettes and puppets of the Raymond Masters Studio; a display of various size heads for china dolls; a collection of Hamilton guns manufactured in Plymouth between 1889 and 1945.
 The musuem, located at 155 S. Main Street in Plymouth, is open to the public Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults; 50 cents for youth aged 12 to 17; and 25 for children age 5 to 11.

Gridders need to think Football more than contact

BY JOE SLEZAK

This fall's high school sports season is creeping up faster than you think.

The Salem and Canton football teams start their seasons on September 10 and 9, respectively.

Both squads attended camp at Northwood Institute last week and it wasn't exactly a campfire sing-along.

Last week was designated by the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) as the first week of the year practice could be held, but with no pads and no blocking dummies.

Each squad had three workouts on the field a day and had what's referred to as "skull sessions." The skull sessions are classroom lectures on the basic strategy of the first week.

Just about everything is emphasized—except for the contact. That comes this week, when both squads practice "two-a-days."

Mental preparation, according to Salem mentor Tom Moshimer, is one of the most important parts of the game. "For years, people have associated the football player as a dummy," said Moshimer. The veteran coach feels that football is the most complicated sport on the high school scene today.

"The game is a lot different than it was ten years ago. It's more sophisticated every year," he said.

Mental awareness, said Canton coach Rich Barr, is important on the practice field. "We try to get them to think about their jobs. It's a continuous thing throughout the whole year," said Barr. He emphasizes that players not in a particular drill are to watch other players to notice mistakes so they can avoid those errors.

Barr encourages his charges to go out for other sports and if they have an open season, to keep lifting weights. He opens the weight room in Phase Three twice a week after school during spring term and three times during the summer.

Salem players can lift twice a week now and twice weekly during the season.

Neither team has a training table, but eating the right foods is harped on. Moshimer has a recommendation for his players on game day. He wants his team to eat carbohydrates four hours before kickoff. Spaghetti, potatoes and other carbohydrates begin to digest in two and a half hours, according to Moshimer.

The actual week-by-week workout during the season changes drastically. Canton works on offense on Mondays, while Salem practices defense. The opposite is true on Tuesday, Wednesday,

State title holders train, lift in Canton

BY PATTI EDDINGTON

Walk into Sampson and Delilah's Fitness Center and you half expect to hear Diana Ross belting out, "I want muscles, muscles, muscles..."

She would have come to the right place. Bulging biceps, triceps, deltoids and pectorals abound at the Canton Township center.

Mr. Michigan trains at Sampson and Delilah's. So do Jr. Mr. Michigan, Mr. Wolverine, and the 1983 Michigan pairs champions.

Sampson and Delilah's is owned by petite Denise Lozon, a registered dental assistant. It is managed by her not-so-petite husband Fred Lozon, also known as "Mr. Ironman 1983."

The body building center, located in the King's Row Shopping Center on Lilley Road, is the culmination of a dream, Fred said.

As a student at U of M, he lifted weights and wrestled. He has dual degrees in physical education and health and has started working on a master's degree in exercise physiology. Following college graduation in 1976 he taught at a boy's school for five years then worked for awhile for General Motors at Detroit Diesel.

Denise, who graduated from Oakland Community College, has worked in the Plymouth office of Dr. Gary Hall for more than 10 years. Her interest in body building developed after the couple married six years ago, she said. While she doesn't participate in body building (posing) competitions, she does try to work out at the center every evening.

The couple, who live in Redford, decided to open their body-building business in Canton because they thought there would be a market for such a center in the area.

They were right.

Sampson and Delilah's opened last December. With an average of 65 to 80 people attending the center seven days every week, the couple are making plans to expand into some empty office space in the shopping center. Renovations are expected to be complete in mid to late

One Student's View

Sports transition easy

Sooner than I really want to, I'll be among the many student who will leave for their first year of college.

I suspect the transition from the halls of Canton High School to Eastern Michigan University won't be easy. But there are a few things I'll be used to.

Three sports in particular seem to remarkably parallel each other. Football, basketball and baseball are all undergoing about the same fortunes at both schools.

The Canton football squad has never had a winning season since the first year in 1973. Fourth-year coach Rich Barr is developing a nice pattern, though. In 1980, his squad won one and lost eight. During 1981, the Chiefs were 2-7 and last year they doubled the previous year (4-5).

Who knows, maybe Canton will finish 8-1 this year to keep the pattern of doubling the previous year's record. Doubtful, but you never know.

The EMU squad isn't exactly a Mid-American powerhouse; they haven't had a winning season since 1977. Four coaches later, they're trying again with Jim Harkema.

The two teams aren't area powers but they are both getting better. Canton's got a better winning percentage on their level.

The 1981-82 Chief basketball team and the 82-3 Hurons had some strikingly similar traits.

Both teams had records far below their real skill levels. The reason in both cases is the same, personnel problems. Both teams had three or four players quit during frustrating seasons and both improved by year's end to their real playing abilities.

If the 83-84 EMU team is to follow Canton's pattern of a year ago there will be a lot of new faces, an attitude change for the better and a dramatically improved record.

Well, I can tell you there is already a lot of new blood in the EMU program. If the other two come true, I'll be a son-of-a-gun.

Both baseball teams have outstanding reputations because of outstanding coaches, but both had off-years in 1983.

They had good years by most standards, but not as great as previous team standards.

Ron Oestrike's teams at Eastern have taken second and fifth at the College World Series and won two regional titles in the last few years.

Fred Crissey's reign at Canton has seen a second place finish in the state in 1981 and three regional titles.

The transition for this sports nut won't be that hard. But, that's NOT going to be the most important difference between high school and college.

110 play at Williams

More than a hundred golfers gathered at Fellows Creek Golf Course last Saturday for the annual Randy Williams Golf Tournament fundraiser.

The tournament was organized to raise money for two funds. One is an educational fund for three sons of a cancer victim in the Plymouth area. The other fund is a Salem-Canton athletic fund which will be used to help send Salem and Canton athletes and teams to state competitions.

The tournament was set up in three men teams, the winners were Paul Rothert, Gary Rothert and Ken Titoff. Charlie Heid, John Gillis and Mike Kisabeth made up the second place team and Nelson Keller, John Strunski and Mike Gordon were the third place finishers.

The winner of the closest-to-the-pin competition was Gary Balconi, and the man with the longest drive was Larry Wells.

YMCA plans Fall Run

BY TIM MCKERCHER

Once again the streets of Plymouth will be filled with runners competing in the Fourth Annual Plymouth YMCA Fall Run.

There will actually be three runs taking place, a one mile run, a five kilometer (three mile) run and a ten kilometer (six mile) run. All three of these runs will take place Sunday, September 25.

Check-in and late registration will take place between 8:00 A.M. and 8:45 A.M. The one mile run will start at 9:00 and the five and ten kilometer runs will take off at 9:30.

Both runs will start at Kellog Park and travel through the streets of Plymouth. There is a $4.00 entry fee for the one mile run and a $6.00 entry fee for the five and ten kilometer runs. A $1.00 charge will be added to both fees for those runners registering on the day of the race.

Included with the entry fee will be ribbons for all one mile runners, as well as trophies for the first, second and third place finishers both male and female. Medals will be awarded to the top three finishers in all age divisions for the five and ten kilometer races. All runners who register before the day of the race will be given T-shirts, refreshments will be available to all runners after the race.

The YMCA has arranged for Charlie Blanchard, one of the nations top tri-athletes, to race in the ten kilometer run. Blanchard, who won the 1982 Hawaii Triathlon, will speak to the runners before the race.

On Wednesday, September 21, Dr. Bruce Kaczander will hold a free pre-race clinic. He will speak in the the cafeteria of the Ford Motor Plant-Climate Control Division on Sheldon Road Plymouth. Kaczander is a Podiatrist in sports medicine, he will give tips on running for both the experienced and beginning runners.

For more information on the run contact the Plymouth YMCA at 453-2904.

Iron Man training for Mr. USA and Mr. America

September, they said.

While a good number of Michigan's leading body builders train at the center, Sampson and Delilah's also welcomes neophyte muscle men and women.

Body building is for everyone, Fred said.

He or his brother, Bruce, who works part-time at the center, assist newcomers and show them the correct way to use the body building machines.

"We take it really easy on new people and show them the correct way to do the exercises," he said. "It's more important to do the movements correctly. The amount of weight you lift is not important."

The body builders who frequent the fitness center are a close-knit group of all ages, Fred and Denise said.

"What really makes this place great is all the people," Fred said.

When someone who trains at the center is entered in a body-building or power-lifting competition, a large group of supporters often attends to lend moral support," he said.

"The people who come here are all so nice," Denise adds.

An impressive, and very muscular, 5 foot 5, 176 pounds, Fred was named Mr. Ironman over 27 other contenders in competition held recently in Wayne.

While training for a competition he said he follows a strict body-building regimen. To ready himself for the Mr. Ironman contest he worked-out at least two and a half hours every day and followed a low carbohydrate diet. Breakfast consisted of coffee and five egg whites, lunch was a can of low sodium tuna fish and dinner was usually two chicken breasts, a vegetable and, occasionally, a small baked-potato.

Although she does not compete, Denise follows the same training diet Fred does.

"I wouldn't eat a cookie or ice cream in front of him," she said. "Not after he works so hard."

Fred plans to compete next year in the Mr. USA and Mr. America competitions. He placed in the top 15 in the Mr. America competition last year and hopes to do even better next year.

In the meantime he and Denise will continue to push their body building business.

"Every day people get more and more interested in this," he said. "We see a new face in here every couple of days."

HS Grid scrimmages Sat

emphasis is placed on both with a lighter workout and Thursday is a review day with very little if no contact, according to both coaches.

Moshimer feels that spring practice right after the spring sports season ends would help many teams. But spring practices are not sanctioned by the MHSAA and can not be held.

Both teams have inter-squad games set for Saturday at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP). Canton's game is at 9 a.m. and Salem will take the field at 7 p.m.

Salem opens the year on September 10 at North Farmington, while Canton plays Livonia Bentley at home on September 9. Salem and Canton will play on the second Friday of the year.

Softball tournaments set up for weekend

Softball is normally just a leisure sport, but don't tell it to the American Softball Association (ASA).

The A.S.A. will have a benefit Slow Pitch tournament on August 26, 27 and 28 at Griffin Park in Canton. The benefit is for the Michigan Society of Autistic Children.

The fee for the double elimination tourney is $100 per team. Teams unregistered with the A.S.A. can do so for a $15 fee.

For more information, call Ed Wer-tanen at 455-8289 or Ken Rudolph at 778-5359.

The burning question of who is the best area softball team will be answered this weekend at Massey Field.

Don Massey is sponsoring the "Tournament of Champions" Friday, Saturday and Sunday for the two best teams in eight different communities. The towns represented will be Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Inkster, Wayne, Westland, Farmington and Redford.

The first game is slated to start at 6:15 p.m. on Friday.

The tourney also features a home run hitting contest, no easy feat at Massey Field, at 1 p.m. on Sunday.

There will be no admission charged.
