

School board targets new Canton H.S. principal

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

Thomas J. Tattan -- a principal from a medium-sized high school in northeastern Ohio -- has been chosen as the new principal of Canton High School.

Tattan's appointment was expected to be approved by the school board at last night's meeting.

Tattan, 36, said during his visit here he was impressed with the friendliness of people at Plymouth-Canton Schools, the unique facilities of Centennial Education Park, and the diversity of three curriculum. "The people that I met during the search process were very friendly, very nice, and welcoming," he said in a phone interview from Norwalk High School.

Norwalk is a district of about 2,600 students near Sandusky, OH. It's single high school has a 9-12 grade population of 850 students. Tattan has been principal there since 1979, and served as assistant principal for two years prior to that.

As principal of Canton High School, Tattan will be responsible for the educational day of 1,200 students in grades 10 to 12. Canton and Salem high schools are located on one site, Centennial Education Park.

"I was born and raised in the Detroit area -- although I went away to college and my teaching experience has been in Ohio -- I have always known of the Plymouth area and look forward to moving my family there," Tattan said.

Tattan's undergraduate and graduate degrees are from Bowling Green State University. He also has a specialist in educational administration degree from Bowling Green and is currently enrolled in a doctoral program in educational administration there.

Following graduation, Tattan taught social studies at McCormick Middle School and coached wrestling. Teaching assignments at Elyria Catholic High School and Sandusky High School followed. Tattan taught social studies at both, coaching football and wrestling at Elyria

Freeway mishap...

'IT HAPPENED BEFORE he could stop.' Canton police and firefighters responded to the scene of this accident at approximately 3 a.m. Saturday. According to police, James Lavey, 34, of Westland Estates Drive in Westland, stopped his pickup in the slow lane of northbound I-275 south of Joy Road. Police said Lavey shut off his lights and was struck by a semi traveling behind him in the same lane. The driver of the semi was unable to stop his rig in time to avoid the accident. Lavey's truck was pushed 336 feet into the median. Eight firefighters worked for an hour to cut Lavey out of the wreckage. He was transported to Westland Medical Center and released Monday with stitches police said. Police said alcohol is suspected in the accident and charges against Lavey are pending further investigation. (Crier photo by Cheryl Eberwein)

Gun-wielding CEP student arrested

BY ED FITZGERALD

A 17-year-old Plymouth Salem High student was found carrying a .25 snub-nose automatic revolver on school grounds last Thursday.

A school security guard saw the student with the gun and stopped him in the school parking lot at 11:50 a.m.

Dick Egli, head of community relations for Plymouth-Canton Schools, said it was "not a life-threatening situation."

"It's unfortunate....but the boy did not argue with the guard," Egli said.

"He just gave him the gun. I don't think the boy wanted to shoot anyone -- just scare some."

Egli said if there was a good side to the incident it was the guard's alertness in stopping the boy before he entered the school.

But the Canton Police Department doesn't think there is a good side. Police were disturbed not to learn of the gun seizure until the following morning.

"I have concern that a student can walk onto school property with a gun and the school will not report it," said Canton Police Lt. Al Wilson. "That concerns me as a resident with children in the school system."

Egli said the school had attempted to contact Cpl. William Lenaghan of the Canton Police Thursday afternoon but he was out.

"Lenaghan is on the school's safety committee and is the officer we are

Incumbents claim voter victories

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

When the gavel sounds on July 8 at the first school board meeting of the 1985-86 school year the same seven smiles will face the crowd.

Monday voters elected David Artley and Dean Swartzwelter to four and two years terms, respectively, in one of the lightest voter turnouts in the history of the Plymouth-Canton Schools. Artley was the incumbent and Swartzwelter a current appointee.

Superintendent John M. Hoben said the total votes cast of 1,719 voters (about 3.5 per cent of those registered) was the lightest turnout he could remember. Only 36 resident voted in precinct 12 at Field School. "The lack of a millage question, the lack of any big issues this year, ...the extension of the teachers' contract" contributed to the low traffic at the polls, he said.

Vote totals released by the schools Monday are unofficial and subject to approval by the local and county board of canvassers.

Incumbent Artley (770) edged Stephen G. Harper (704) to earn a four-year spot on the board. "I feel good about it. The voters recognized I had something to offer. The closeness Plymouth Township residents will get a chance Monday to learn more about a millage proposal they decide in a July 29 special election.

A committee of township politicians and officials supporting the proposal will explain and answer questions about the proposal, which asks voters to approve an up-to-four mill levy.

The board approved the placing of the proposal on the ballot last month.

Abe Munfakh, a township trustee, is forming the committee to support and explain the proposal. The committee will present the

Artley, Swartzwelter claim board victories

 of the election says that Steve (Harper) has something to offer too. I wouldn't be surprised to see him back next spring."

Artley has been on the ballot in three of the last four general school elections including an unsuccessful bid in 1982 and winning a two-year term in 1983. His victory Monday put him in for his first full term, but the incumbent said he will not be resting on his laurels. "It's an even bigger responsibility. I have to maintain my lines of communications that I have established. It would be easy to get comfortable, some would, but I'm not like that."

Harper said Monday night that the outcome of the vote would not influence or diminish his active participation in the schools. "Seven people upstairs (the board members) can't do the whole job, they need a lot of help from the community."

"I went into this thing with the spirit of putting my name out there and volunteer for service on the school board," said Harper, who served on the school board from 1977-81.

"There was not a lot of voter interest this year. I don't think this election was a mandate for anything, people stayed home or went to work (instead of voting)," Harper said.

Harper took four Plymouth-Plymouth Township precincts — Central, Isbister, West (his home ground) and Bird — but failed to win them by large enough margins to offset Canton Township resident Artley's victories in the other 10 precincts. As expected, Artley did well in such Canton strongholds as Miller with 45 votes to Harper's 23.

Swartzwelter outdistanced his competition for the two-year seat by a margin in excess of three-to-one. He earned 1,138 according to the unofficial totals compared to 326 tallied by Renee Vermeersch Casillas and 163 votes for George Johnson. Swartzwelter won in every precinct.

Swartzwelter has run unsuccessfully for the board twice and gained a temporary seat by appointment eight months ago when Tom Yack resigned. "It will be a great feeling on July 1 to walk in the 'front' door having been elected, instead of coming in the 'back' door through appointment," Swartzwelter said.

Swartzwelter said his showing at the polls indicates the voters think he's qualified, they agree with the philosophy and approach he has taken for the past eight months, and in some respects indicates an endorsement of some of the issues and policies he has taken before the board.

"I want to commend Casillas and Johnson for having the courage and conviction to follow up when they believe something should be changed or fixed for everyone," Swartzwelter said.

Voters in the Plymouth-Canton School District were given three separate paper ballots before they entered the voting booths Monday. Ballot 'A' was for the four-year seat, ballot 'B' for the two-year seat, and ballot 'C' for the Schoolcraft College candidates.

About four per cent of the paper ballots were ruled invalid by election inspectors — 43 in the four-year race and 54 in the two-year contest. Although election inspectors did not indicate what had led to the disqualification of specific ballots, in the past the most common mistake has been voters marking their ballots with a check mark rather than an 'X'.

Schoolcraft incumbents Michael W. Burley of Canton and Sharon L. Sarris of Livonia were re-elected with 4,662 and 4,904 respectively, according to unofficial totals available Tuesday. Challenger Hussein S. Karzun of Livonia garnered 1,373 votes.

Locally, Schoolcraft totals followed nearly the same lines with Burley leading his home field with 1,163, Sarris with 1,059, and Karzun with 213. Of the 1,719 ballots cast locally, 113 of the Schoolcraft votes were ruled invalid.

Several interesting write-in votes appeared on the local ballots — including, for the four-year term Robert Delaney, Jack Morris and Tom Moyer.

Write-ins for the two year seat included Robert Delaney, Steve Harper, Lance Parrish, Martha Bentley, Gordon Kisabeth, Felix Kotter and Richard Sumpter.

Canton moves on dispatch

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

In a move which shocked some union and township officials last night, the Canton Township Board of Trustees approved a series of four resolutions which call for the planning and possible implementation of a central dispatch in Canton.

Five clerks will be hired immediately to start training for police department dispatching at a cost of approximately $16,500 each. The addition will free up five police officers from desk duty.

The move came on the heels of a strong anti-central dispatch campaign waged by members of the Canton Fire Department at a meeting held last Wednesday.

Some board members had indicated after that meeting central dispatch was a dead issue in Canton and would not be pursued further. Trustee Steve Larson, who voiced the strongest objection to the board's decision last night, had earlier indicated he planned to introduce a resolution to preclude the discussion of central dispatch in Canton. Larson said the move was based on firefighter opposition to the concept.

James Davison, president of the firefighter's union, expressed surprise and anger over the board's action.

"Obviously the board didn't listen to what we had to say," Davison said. "We had no idea these motions were going to be on the agenda—we were told 'Hey guys don't worry about a thing.' We presented our views to the board for the safety of the residents and firefighters. By law they will have to negotiate this and if it reaches an impasse, an arbitrator will decide.

The four resolutions passed were originally submitted for board approval as one motion by Trustee Loren Bennett. Bennett is currently chairing the Canton Police Committee.

Larson objected to the resolution being considered jointly and requested they be split. He also objected to a mandatory negotiating position the township adopted as a result of the resolution.

The four resolutions which were approved included:

A goal of long-term implementation of a joint police and fire dispatch.

The hiring of five clerks to start a civilian dispatch system in the Canton Police Department which could be worked into a joint dispatch later.

Authorization of the township negotiating team to begin negotiating with the police and fire unions to implement central dispatch.

The direction of Fire Chief Melvin Paulun and the fire union to begin assessing what training would be necessary to establish an efficient joint dispatch with the police department.

Earlier in the month, board members had agreed the idea of central dispatch might be a feasible alternative for Canton. After last Wednesday's session with the firefighters, board members indicated they did not feel the concept would work in Canton

Rape suspect faces courts

BY ED FITZGERALD

Darrell Paul Morey, 35, of Canton, was arraigned Friday for assaulting a young girl on the I-275 bike path in Van Buren Township May 13.

Morey was freed on a $10,000 - 10 per cent bond by Judge James Stone of the 34th District Court in Romulus.

After Morey's arrest in the incident last month, he was also charged with seven counts of sexually attacking four women on the path last summer. He is free on a $250,000 - 10 per cent bond in those cases.

Before Stone, Morey entered a plea of not guilty to assault with intent to commit sexual conduct. He is scheduled for a preliminary hearing on the charge June 19, 9 a.m. in the same court.

On May 13 Morey was found near the bike path after a girl was pushed from her bicycle. He claimed to be chasing the assailant. According to Canton Police, the girl identified Morey at the scene.

On May 24 Morey was identified in a line-up at Wayne County Jail by four women assaulted on the path last summer. At a June 3 preliminary exam at Plymouth's 35th District Court, Morey was charged with seven counts of criminal sexual conduct (CSC) in those four cases.

Morey is scheduled for a June 18 "re-arraignment" in Detroit's Circuit Court on those seven counts.

At the Van Buren arraignment, Stone originally set Morey's bond at $10,000 without 10 per cent. At that, Morey's wife, in the courtroom with a friend, said, "Oh, no."

Morey's lawyer, Seymour Berger, reminded the judge bond in the other cases required only 10 per cent posted. Stone changed the bond, warning, "But if he doesn't show up for a hearing, I'll set a bond that will make sure he's available."

Canton police have expressed dissatisfaction with the low bonds set in the cases. When Lieutenant Al Wilson of Canton Police was told Morey had to raise only $1000 on the Van Buren charge, he shook his head and said, "That is too bad."

"I have no problem with the judge's decision (Judge John MacDonald, 35th District Court). He has been reasonable in the past and in this case he just felt differently than we do."

County repays sewer funds

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

Supersewer, Son of Supersewer and Grandson of Supersewer have left a nasty taste in local politicians' mouths, but that bitter taste is becoming just a little more palatable last week.

Canton Supervisor James Poole said his community has been reimbursed for most of the engineering costs it invested in the original system. Plymouth Township also received funding back from the county.

The reimbursement, part of the language Wayne County and the state of Michigan had originally agreed to, was secured as a result of a controversial lawsuit started by Canton and Plymouth townships when they were removed from the gigantic sewer system by the DNR nearly two years ago.

Poole said Canton has received approximately $476,000 from Wayne County. The money, originally removed from Canton's water and sewer fund, will be returned to this department. Poole estimated Plymouth Township has received $270,000 from the county through the same lawsuit.

"A lot of people thought we shouldn't get involved in this lawsuit," Poole said. "Now we're getting deposition from (Wayne County Executive William) Lucas on the matter."

Poole said Canton and Plymouth townships will pursue the lawsuit they have filed against the state, Wayne County and the DNR. He said both communities are seeking four things in the suit:

- The return of the money invested into engineering costs on Supersewer

City primary is necessary

It looks like the City of Plymouth has a primary election on its hands. The primary is scheduled for Aug. 6.

Nine candidates have collected signatures and filed petitions seeking one of four available city commission seats.

Nine candidates must file to force the primary, according to the City Charter. But those who filed have the option of withdrawing their petitions by the June 18 filing deadline, so the primary will not be called officially until that deadline passes.

A primary would cut the field to seven candidates, who would then face-off in the general election scheduled for Nov. 5.

Those who have filed petitions include: Tony Anason; William Bingley; Karl Gansler; Robert Jones; Donald Keller; Robert Kroeger; Mel Meck; Jean Morrow; and William Robinson.

Two residents - Lloyd Dustin and Greg Green - have taken out petitions but not returned nominating petitions.

Rape suspect claims mistaken i.d. in court cases

Wilson did say he considered Morey too dangerous to be free on bond.

On June 6 Berger told the Crier his client would pursue a "mistaken identity" defense.

"He has professed his innocence throughout," Berger said. "His family and church are 100 per cent behind him."

Berger said neither he or his client doubted the four women had been attacked.

"At one point in the exam my client leaned over to me and said, 'These women have definitely been abused.' There's no question these are legitimate victims."

Morey, whose father is a retired minister, is a member of the Church of The Nazarene of Plymouth. Congregation members have been present in the courts. Also in Morey's corner is his boss, Service Master of Chicago, where Morey is the Michigan sales representative, selling janitorial services to hospitals and other institutions in Michigan.

The company has arranged for an undisclosed portion of the bond.

Berger said the nature of Morey's job would help provide an alibi.

"I think we will be able to prove on one of those days he was at a hospital in Pontiac," he said.

"With his work he has appointments and has to be in certain places at documented times. We're talking about a substantiated alibi—not one where he says he was in a bar or something."

Berger said if Morey's whereabouts could be proved for one of the days it would weaken the case for the other attacks.

"It's an odd case," Berger said. "There were seven attacks last year and my client has only been charged with four of them. And they allowed a man (Jeffrey Gruber) to plead guilty to a misdemeanor in one of them."

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON BOARD PROCEEDINGS JUNE 5, 1985

A special meeting of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Canton was held on Wednesday, June 5, 1985 at 7:00 p.m. at 1150 Canton Center Road.

Members present: Bennett, Brown, Chuhran, Padget, Poole, Prencizky. Absent: Larson. (Arrived at 7:31 p.m.)

The purpose of the special meeting was to discuss central dispatch. The meeting was called at the request of the Canton Local 2289 Fire Union.

President of the union, James Davison, showed a film demonstrating the need for quick response to fires.

Tom Battistone, of the fire department, spoke to the importance of quick response, and how bad it is to experience a one or two minute delay where lives are at stake. He stated that there is a high turnover in dispatchers when civilians are used. He cited Dearborn Heights case where a fire incident was placed behind breakings and enterings in importance. Explanation was given to the board about the chain of events in both stations when the hot line rings, and the importance of a cadet remaining in place at stadium #1 as part of the important team work involved. They said that Dearborn Heights had tried civilian dispatch, but were now going back to fire dispatch.

There was further discussion. Dan Durack will present cost comparisons.

Motion by Chuhran, supported by Prencizky and unanimously carried to adjourn at 8:16 p.m.

Canton principal targeted

Catholic and football and basketball at Sandusky.

He then joined Norwalk as its assistant principal.

Tattan said "professional advancement" prompted his application for the Canton principalship. He applied for the job during the second round of applicants (deadline May 15). An attempt earlier this year to hire a principal for Canton was thwarted when the top candidate decided not to take the job. School personnel director Norm Kee said the position was re-advertised in the spring, a time when administrators are more likely to be considering a change, and Tattan's application was received.

Tattan said he hopes to begin work in the district by July 1, with some type of flexible division of his time between Plymouth-Canton and Norwalk for a time. He said he plans to move his wife and 8-year-old son here this summer. His wife, a primary teacher, will be looking for a new job in the area.

A successful school administrator, Tattan said, should be a leader, a motivator, a change agent and a role model.

"Professional educators must take the lead in focusing attention and support to the vital role played by our public schools ... (and should) generate networks of strong support for public schools from industry and other social service organizations," he said.

"The leadership aspect must include the ability to generate direction of employes and plan for growth and progress in organizational management.

"The motivator role requires that the administrator ... must set the tone for the staff and then ensure that others are stimulated to meet the needs of the students, the schools and the community," he said. Motivation should come through in everyday working relationships, in public relations activities, and in providing staff opportunities to improve, he said.

"The change agent aspect includes curriculum, staffing arrangements, financial decision-making, contractual negotiations and a wide array of daily personnel management experiences." An educational leader must remain alert to new ideas for improving the schools, he said.

"Finally, I firmly believe the administrator must be a positive role model in setting a proper example. The importance of acting properly, dressing properly and conducting business in a highly professional manner is essential. The only way to provide strong leadership is to be and act like a strong leader," he said.

Tattan has been involved with the North Central Ohio Arts Council. He worked on a local committee to establish, fund and administer two artists-in-resident programs at his high school. He said he has also been involved in a promotional effort to enhance fine arts instruction for art, music and the performing arts.

Tattan has authored a number of his district's manuals and handbooks including most of the board policy manual, the high school student handbook, registration bulletin, and teacher discipline code (a part of the master agreement in Norwalk).

Tattan is a member of the Kiwanis and Knights of Columbus in Norwalk and has been an officer of the Northern Ohio League. He was appointed to the advisory board of Firelands College at Bowling Green State University for a four-year term which began this year. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa and a number of professional organizations for educational administrators.

Tattan's exact salary was not disclosed this week, but the position of principal was advertised as a salary of $46,400 to $52,473.

Canton dispatch

without complete firefighter agreement.

"I thought before and think now central dispatch is a dead issue," Larson had said. "If the concept doesn't have the wholehearted support of the firefighters, we will run a risk in the township no matter how well trained our dispatchers are."

Currently the fire department and police department use separate, in-house dispatching. Fire cadets dispatch for the fire department and police officers dispatch police runs.

Firefighter protest to central dispatch centers around two concerns: efficiency and time delay and proper dispatch training.

Firefighters indicated last Wednesday central dispatch causes a one to two minute time delay in runs. "That one or two minutes really counts," Davison told board members. "We listen to communities where central dispatch is working efficiently and they still experience a time delay."

Firefighters also expressed concern that dispatchers would not be properly trained to handle fire and police calls.

Trustee Robert Padgett indicated the time delay concerned him but said he felt it could be addressed with proper training. Padgett strongly supported the central dispatch resolution, and did not re-address his concern at last night's session.

Clerk Linda Chuhuran was the only board member to vote against all four resolutions at the meeting.

used to (talking with)," Egli said. "It was a judgement call (not reporting it until following day). Anyway you do it someone is going to be unhappy."

Wilson said Lenaghan was never established as the liaison between the police and the school.

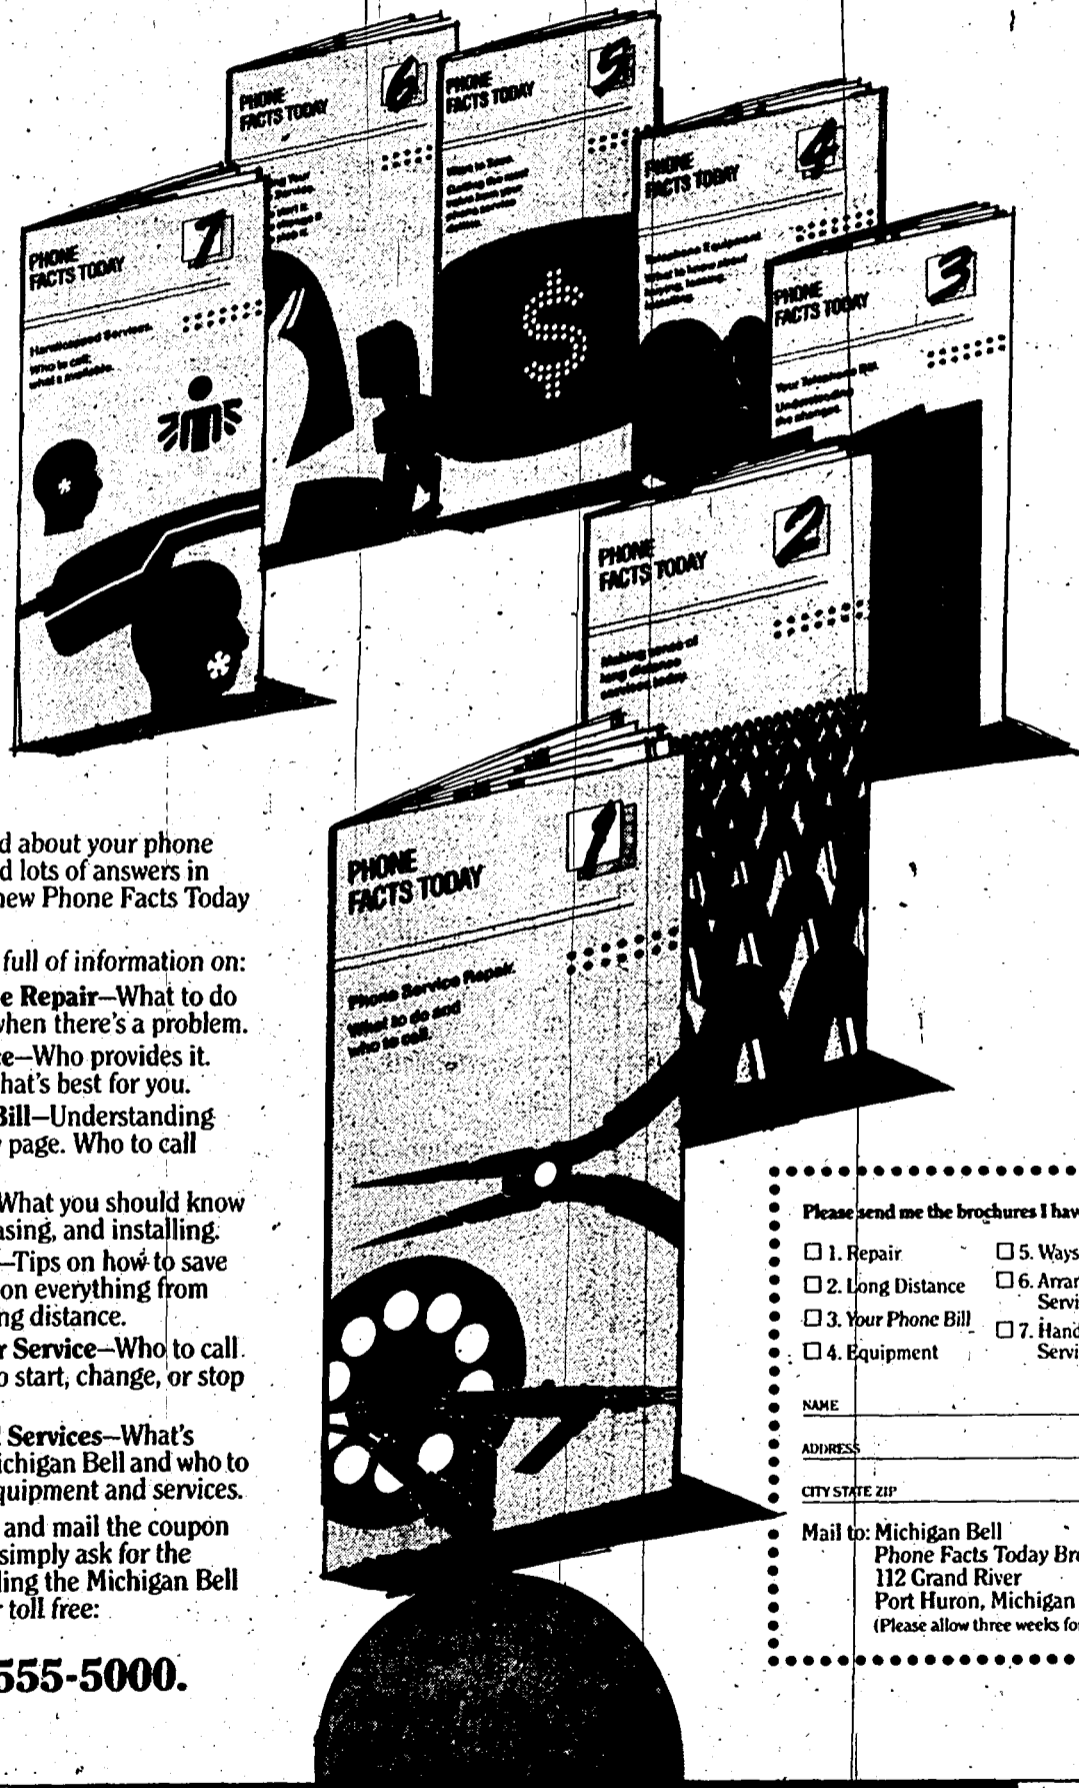

"He (Lenaghan) was no different than any other officer. If he had dealt with the schools an abnormal amount as of late it was only because he was available."

Wilson said the matter was still under investigation but it was likely the boy would be prosecuted for carrying a concealed weapon.

The school suspended the boy, a senior, from graduation ceremonies.

Did Symphony Board abuse power?

Knowledge gives power, but power should not be interpreted as knowledge.

Last month when the Plymouth Symphony Society decided to dismiss conductor Johan van der Merwe, they infuriated many orchestra members and their supportive public.

Are the actions of the symphony board in the best interests of The Plymouth-Canton Community or just in the interest of the Plymouth Symphony Board?

The symphony has had a turbulent year. Struggles for power and shifting alliances are evident throughout the entire organization.

The dismissal of van der Merwe and the hiring of a paid manager were not approached in a well-informed, professional manner.

Changes that affect the entire fiscal structure of the symphony and the future of the symphony as a community service organization have not been thoroughly considered.

In his five years in Plymouth, van der Merwe has proven his abilities as a conductor and has given the community a full-range of musical experiences to appreciate.

A renewal of his contract, with some alterations, was approved by the symphony board at their February meeting.

Obligations to the Toledo Opera Theatre were not the direct cause of van der Merwe's firing in May. More specifically, according to the board, he associated with the "wrong people" and recently encouraged a sampling of opinion, without board approval, to help show the orchestra members' feelings on current symphony affairs.

When an organization experiences the rapid and unexpected financial growth that the Plymouth Symphony has in the past two years, new goals and priorities must be set.

In an effort to solve internal communication problems, the symphony board hired a general manager, former board member Rex Hatt, in March.

The manager's job description was investigated and created by Hatt and accepted by the board of directors after a few revisions.

Rather than opening the manager position to the public and looking for the specific qualifications needed to be the force behind the symphony, the directors hired an individual familiar with and sympathetic to their interests.

To take the position that a symphony manager does not need specific background in fiscal management because the directors make the financial decisions is absurd.

A hired manager needs a solid financial background to be able to give the board of directors reliable and statistically comparable information to base their decisions and judgements on.

Hatt's position was not budgeted this past season. Next season, the allocation of money for guest artists will be drastically reduced to compensate for the manager's salary.

In a recent move the symphony board gave pay increases to orchestra members that doubles or nearly doubles almost all members' performance compensations.

For Art's Sake

By Cheryl Sznyszewski

Of the four symphonies chosen by Hatt for salary comparisons, one finished its current season with a $20,000 deficit, another has carried a large deficit for years, and a third estimated its annual budget at $550,000 for the next season. The Plymouth Symphony, with an annual budget below $100,000, has never operated in the red.

Where is the symphony headed with two orchestra pay increases in a year and a half?

A community symphony exists to serve the community by providing live performances locally, giving the public a chance to increase its aesthetic awareness, and to give local musicians the opportunity to perform.

It is an excellent training ground for young musicians.

Will the large salaries paid by the Plymouth Symphony encourage such competition that musicians from our community will soon be discouraged?

Community musicians often have full time jobs and other responsibilities. They do not have the time to practice like the student or professional musicians. Community musicians are not expected to be perfect.

In another recent decision, the symphony board decided to cancel the children's concert and spoke of limiting the musical styles to be performed.

The fine arts give us the ability to experience and enlarge our range of emotional perception and to learn about humanity. Aesthetic experiences need not be nice and pretty to be worthwhile. Ideally, the experience should challenge and awaken a new awareness in us and our perception of the artist's understanding of humanity.

Children are the future audience and are future orchestral performers. In this highly technical society, their aesthetic growth cannot be overlooked.

During his life each individual establishes himself as a humane being according to his actions and feelings. He develops his humanity through an evaluation of the actions and experiences of others. Resulting values and beliefs are incorporated in his moral character.

If the symphony board was truly displeased with van der Merwe for valid reasons they should have given him the opportunity to resign rather than damage his reputation. Their tyrannical behavior shows they have learned little from their exposure to the exceptional programs recently offered by the Plymouth Symphony under van der Merwe.

The symphony board has learned to use its power. However, I question its knowledge and reasoning.

Whose interests are at heart?

We remember our children without special days

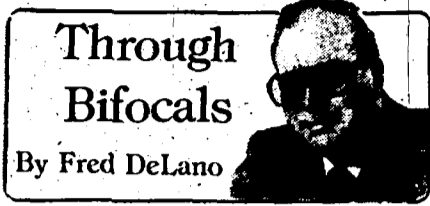

Sunday's Father's Day gift came early this year; I call it Pride.

I share it with every dad within readership reach, not directed toward one egg more than the other, boy or girl, according to God's will.

My offspring, one of each, don't need to send factory-produced poetry, bouquets, or even cigars Sunday. These two people are my gifts — and their mother's. If there is to be an expression of love, let it be from us to them (even if the operator tells us they're calling collect).

Late last week, the boys and girls track and field teams of our five middle schools — East, West, Central, Pioneer and Lowell — engaged in season-ending competition in some of mankind's oldest athletic tests. Footracing does go back a long way, you know.

Our daughter, Betty DeLano Smith, coached Central's team. Compatriots were Bob DeBear (East), Dave Balge (West), Mark Gregor (Pioneer) and John Venning (Lowell). In staging the meet, they had help from a host of

Through Bifocals

By Fred DeLano

aides headed by Canton High School's Bob Richardson, George Przygodski and Fred Palmer.

They ran a great show, efficiently, on schedule, and with precision. It was held at the Centennial Educational Park sports complex, which quite likely is the envy of many a small college. It was done with the smoothness typical of all athletic events held under the direction of retiring athletic director John Sandmann.

For years I have intended to write something flattering about the man's contribution to The Plymouth/Canton Community, but time and again some other journalist beat me to it. Yet I'm sure John knows the respect I feel. There's just one suggestion to pass along: Let's name it Sandmann Stadium!

It would be unfair to print names of any track and field champions without listing all those who excelled, so let it just be mentioned that by combining boys' and girls' scores, our middle school finished in this order in total points: East, Central, West, Pioneer, Lowell.

As human beings, those who finished last were just as good as those who finished first.

To recite accomplishments in the professional world of our Bob and Betty (and their marital mates) would have no place here. But there's another name I'd like to bring in.

About a month ago, Debbie

Redfern, a senior hurdler on the Canton girls track team, suddenly was stricken with mononucleosis. By the time the middle school meet was held, she was back on her feet and able to handle the stopwatch as one of the timers. Her grin told it all.

In case you're probing your mind to remember where you have seen the name Redfern, turn a few pages of The Crier to the column by Phyllis of-the-same-name. This talented lady also knows the meaning of Pride, and so do you.

Father's Day and Mother's Day are nice designations, but what we parents feel about our kids doesn't need a calendar reminder. After all, it lives the year 'round.

Where are Symphony ethics?

EDITOR:

An open letter to the Plymouth Symphony Society Board of Directors.

My wife and I have been members of the Plymouth Symphony Society for approximately 25 years. We still remember taking our little girls to the concerts when they were performed in the gymnasium of what is now Central Middle School. We used to sit in the bleachers off to the side. We felt fortunate to be able to take little children to those concerts and to give them the opportunity to experience live symphonic music at their young ages.

Many said the orchestra was one of the best semi-professional orchestras in the Midwest and so, I was honored when I was asked to serve on its board of directors. I remember when it happened: I had visions of sitting around the fire with other directors and Wayne Dunlap and helping Wayne select music to be played in upcoming concerts. I soon found that that was not our charge as directors, as much as I would have enjoyed that idyllic pursuit. In fact, I found that the board's main task was to promote the orchestra and to do the many behind-the-scenes chores necessary to permit all those wonderful musicians to make all their wonderful music. We did everything we could to serve that orchestra. We encouraged and maintained a close liaison with the orchestra. We specifically arranged our board meetings to occur on the evenings of rehearsal so that Wayne could participate. And he did, even after he began teaching at Grand Valley College. Often, when driving was difficult, I was invited by Bill Beitner to fly with him in his plane over to Grand Rapids to pick up Wayne to save him the trip. The commuting may have been difficult for Wayne at times but somehow he did it, even after suffering a heart attack. But the music was beautiful. And we all did it together.

When Wayne retired, I was no longer on the board, but my wife was. I remember how carefully the board pursued the process of helping the orchestra select its new conductor. The orchestra had the opportunity to work for several prospects over a period of time. When the orchestra members did select their new conductor, it was a decision reached after careful deliberation. I think the music improved. And I thought that the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra continued to be one of the best semi-professional orchestras in the Midwest.

Therefore, I must say that the Plymouth Symphony Society Board of Directors' recent unilateral action in dismissing Johan van der Merwe from the conductorship of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra strikes me as insensitive and ill-considered. The orchestra members were never consulted, almost as if to avoid their interference. Instead of working with the orchestra, the board has apparently chosen to ignore it. Where are the ethics here?

Put stolen bike back please!

EDITOR:

Warning. We don't live in the safe community I thought we did. Here's a message to the parents in the community:

Has your child come home in the last month with a 10-speed bike in practically new condition?

I went out this weekend to take mine down from winter storage in the garage rafters and it was gone! The thief came into my backyard, bypassed an older bike and a less sportier bike on the garage floor and climbed into the rafters to get this one.

I live in the Ann Arbor Trail/I-275 vicinity and the bicycle is a light blue "Schwinn Le Tour IV" with chrome fenders and a low-mileage odometer.

Check your garages and if it's there I'd be happy to take it back with no questions asked.

NAME WITHHELD

Trustee: 'I'm a fraidy cat'

Twp. gets too much trust

EDITOR:

A few corrections to and observations concerning Lysaght's recent column about the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees bill approval procedure.

Throughout, Lysaght refers to a "list" of the bills, which he understands doesn't tell board members much anyway. What list? No list of any kind is given to the trustees. The total information given to the Board concerning the more than half million dollars approved at the May 28 meeting was set forth in the agenda as follows:

General Fund	$279,649.60
Water & Sewer	224,431.43
F.R.S.	1,062.09

Total $505,143.12

Payables are available for perusal by board members during the township's regular office hours after noon on the Friday preceding the meeting, and up to the half hour preceding Tuesday's meeting. What is available to peruse is one or more piles of bills, in no discernible order.

A trustee's involvement is intended to be part-time, and all of the trustees have other jobs or businesses that make it impossible to "peruse" the bills in any meaningful way under the present rules. I understand that in the 1960s board members were regularly given some sort of lists of payees, reasons and amounts. Given the computer power and programming that the township has today, some such report could be easily prepared and distributed. It would be a start.

My colleagues on the board all seem satisfied with the system. Their faith and courage is notable. I am essentially a fraidy cat, and I don't think my homeowner policy would cover me in the event of a discovery of improprieties followed by a taxpayer's suit for nonfeasance or misfeasance in office. Within the scope of my duties as a trustee, I cannot trust even my best friends, much less those who aren't so friendly.

Lastly, I would not characterize anything at the meeting as an argument. I asked the other board members if they wished they had some further information about the bills. Supervisor Maurie Breen talked for several minutes, and would not allow anyone else to talk. His invitation to me to make a motion came while there was already a motion on the floor to be discussed (i.e. a motion to approve payment of the bills), so any motion I might have made would have been out of order. Also, I think it would have been futile, given the "rubber stamp" board Breen has to serve him.

This is the board that is asking the public to "trust" it with authority to levy the maximum millage allowed by statute, although no need for such a level of millage has been demonstrated. I have heard no reason for asking the public vote such authority, other than Breen's frequent statement that it is time "to bite the bullet." Whose bullet? Who is to do the biting?

With Malice Toward None

Even we feel for our friends

A house fire can be tragic -- but it never happens to you. Right?

Every tragedy happens to SOMEBODY. It could be you.

Take the house fire in Plymouth at noon Monday.

Jim and Joan Wright have been good neighborhood folks on Ross Street. The payback came Monday when their house caught on fire.

The clothes dryer in the basement was the apparent cause of the blaze. Five-year-old Beth became the hero when she noticed the smoke and alerted her mom to the fire.

That block of Ross Street has always been tightknit and the neighbors' help provided after the fire proved it.

Joan credits City of Plymouth firefighters with quick response. Jim said that another five minutes and the place might have been a total loss.

"As bad as it was, it could have been worse," he said poetically late Monday night. Actually, Jim was reasonably calm considering that he was having lunch Monday at a restaurant in Delaware (while on a business trip) when Joan's frantic phone call got through with the news and urgent plea to hop the first plane back.

"It was a long plane ride," he admitted.

This particular house fire hit a special nerve at The Community Crier - the Wrights were The Crier's next door neighbors for five years at our old Main Street office.

There are lots of times that the community's newspaper staffers find themselves at newsworthy scenes which involve friends or even relatives. The closer a paper is to its community, the more apt that is to happen.

During the crunch of the crisis (like at the Wrights on Monday), newspaper reporters and photographers try to observe and gather news.

If a firefighter or a policeman shows up at the scene where a friend is involved -- and that happens too -- he or she is expected to separate the emotions from the job. The same is true of newspaper folks.

Yet, like in the Wright's case, it's impossible to hide tears for ex-neighbors, ignore a bit of pride for young Beth, or to withhold an appreciation for the fire and police folks.

Sure, the reporters are objective; but they feel the tragedy too.

Joan wondered, "Will you be kind with the photos?" Obviously, the tearful homeowner collapsed on the neighbors' lawn is a compelling shot. And whether that person is a friend, or someone the newsfolk are meeting for just the first time, the feeling is there.

Even in a case like the Wrights (you should have seen the melted lamp shades and child car seat), the community's professionals involved must do their job.

But readers should know -- the paper folks feel too.

No one likes to see tragedy of any type -- especially when it happens to your friends. So next time you see some catastrophe, remember to keep the human element in perspective.

That could pay you back when the "it never happens to me" tragedy occurs to you.

Paper customers were honest in Old Village

EDITOR:

This past Sunday, unfortunately, our store was late in opening.

A number of our early customers come to buy their newspapers -- which had been dropped off in bundles at our front door.

They helped themselves and PAID for the papers.

In fact, when our help arrived (late), there were our remaining papers and ALL of the money. This amounted to some $20 in bills and change... all sitting at our front door.

We'd like to thank all our customers, the passersby who left the money, and everyone in The Plymouth-Canton, Community for making this a great place to do business.

Poole is helpful; columnist was ludicrous

EDITOR:

Just recently on separate occasions three neighbors and I shared the similar experiences we had when seeking assistance from Supervisor James Poole. Our phone calls were promptly returned and attention was given to our requests. His manner was neither "rude" or "erratic."

My family members have received letters from Poole congratulating them on professional and scholastic achievements. We did not receive this type of personal attention in the several communities that we've resided in in the past.

I was puzzled by the vitriolic tone of Cheryl Eberwein's May 15 column regarding Poole. Some of her statements were ludicrous and illogical. I cannot help but believe that this type of "quasi-acceptable" writing is done solely to elicit public response. Eventually these ploys could lead to reader apathy.

Judging by their weekly genre perhaps Eberwein should change the name of her column to "Have Axe Will Grind."

He returned my wallet with its $300, credit cards

Cameron is an honest fellow; Community lucky

EDITOR:

I'm writing this letter to bring to your attention an incident that happened to me on June 4 while on a business trip in your community.

I had concluded my business there and was half way home to South Bend, In., when, in a panic, I discovered I had lost my wallet! I immediately phoned the company I had just left and had them search, with no luck. A couple more calls, still no sign of it. Bummed-out and angry with myself for being so careless, I continued on home, convinced that it was lost forever.

The following morning, upon reporting to work, I was shocked to discover the state police had called my office and informed them that they had my wallet.

It seems that it had fallen out of my sport coat that I was carrying onto the middle of Amelia Street and was discovered by Mr.

Robert Cameron. Not knowing where to locate the owner, he took it to the police department to have them track me down.

I might mention that it contained nearly $300 in cash and a handful of credit cards -- tempting to say the least.

There is an old saying that "Actions speak louder than words." The action that Cameron took speaks very highly of his character and his integrity. He has certainly renewed my faith in mankind and you can be proud to have him as a member of your community.

My thanks to you and to Cameron.

Supersewer $

(which has already been done, Poole said.)

• The state and county cannot place a sewer ban on either community;

• Plymouth and Canton should receive 55 per cent federal funding for the development of a sewer project plus 10 per cent state funding.

• The state, county and DNR provide Plymouth and Canton with a viable sewer alternative.

Canton and Plymouth townships were thrown out of the main Supersewer project by Wayne County and the state in 1983. A second alternative, which split the system into two parts, left Canton and Plymouth in the North Huron Valley-Rouge Valley Wastewater Control System, or Supersewer two.

In a letter sent by a DNR official, Poole said the agency discussed Supersewer two and did not recommend its construction. The letter said additional effluent flows into the Rouge River would have a negative impact on the already poor quality water.

"We were told 'you gotta have supersewer' and then were thrown out of it," Poole said. "But we never got an answer on whether the system could handle the flows and whether there would be any hidden costs. No system that leaves us with Detroit at the cost of $15 million and added unknown expenses is viable."

Currently the city of Detroit handles Canton's and Plymouth Township's sewage.

Poole said the lawsuit will begin on Wednesday.

Boys assaulted

A Canton live-in babysitter has been charged with sexually assaulting two boys, ages seven and nine years.

Dennis Robert Prince, 19, was a babysitter in a home on Alleghany Dr. Police first received a complaint June 3, from a mother of the nine-year old, who did not live in the house. She said her son had been molested on two separate occasions while spending the night at the house.

The next day the mother of the other boy brought Prince into the Canton Police station and filed a second complaint. Canton Lieutenant Al Wilson said Prince was arrested at that time. The next day warrants were obtained from the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office charging Prince with two counts of criminal sexual conduct (CSC) first degree and two counts of CSC second degree.

Prince was arraigned June 5th at 35th District Court before Judge John MacDonald. A plea of not guilty was entered for him. He is being held in Wayne County Jail in lieu of $100,000 - 10 per cent bond.

Prince is scheduled for a preliminary exam June 13 at 35th District Court at 10:30 a.m.

"They are knowledgeable about the community and have said they are willing to get the word out in the community," Munfakh said of the committee which will include Supervisor Maurice Breen, Clerk Esther Hulsing and planning commissioners Don Skinner and Richard Gornak.

Munfakh said he will register the committee with the county as a lobby group.

"What we want to do is pass the word to the public as to why we want a vote on the millage levy," Munfakh said.

The board of trustees voted unanimously last month to place the up-to-four mill levy before township voters. The current township levy is 2.85 mills plus another 1.43 mills for debt retirement.

"We want to pass the word ... on the millage levy."

— Abe Munfakh

The up-to-four mill proposal, if passed, would allow the board to fix the millage rate within the four mill limit. The up-to-four-mills would be earmarked for general township operations and the 1.43 mill debt retirement levy would be added on top.

The township allowed one-half mill for fire protection to retire last year and one mill for police protection is set to expire this year.

Breen has said the additional millage levy is required as the township faces increased demands from services from its residents.

Munfakh said he would present the meeting Monday with information on past, and current township levies, and projected revenue tax needs in the future.

Township funds aren't being used to support the committee's work, Munfakh said. Committee members, he said, have volunteered their time.

At the threshold of new beginnings

tell it to Phyllis

Graduation day is special for many reasons. It represents a goal that took 13 years to achieve. It means the end of one phase of life and the beginning of another. Just think no more standing at the bus stop on rainy days with friends, waiting for the school bus.

Graduation is an emotional time. A time of joy and happiness for accomplishing a goal, and a time for tears and sadness for having to say goodbye to many friends.

Sharing some of these special moments with the kid is almost like reliving some of the experiences of my own graduation. It was fun to compare prom pictures, but thank heavens the kid is much better looking than her mom. Thinking back, I think some of the disagreements I had with my mom at graduation time are similar to those the kid and I are having now. However, my mom didn't know how lucky she had it. She didn't have to put up with me having mono the last three weeks of school.

As I watched this beautiful young woman in her white cap and gown, I wondered what happened to my cute little girl in pigtails. It seems like only yesterday she hopped on that big school bus on her way to her first day of school. I remember blinking back tears that day as I waved goodbye to her. My eyes seemed to have a similar problem with tears as I watched her at commencement.

No matter how hard I try, there just aren't enough words to tell the kid how much I love her and how proud of her I am. As I look around me, I see other moms with the same problem. Somehow I think we know how lucky we are that we don't have to translate our feelings into words. A simple hug can say it all.

Congratulations to all the graduates and their families.

Cristin Leah Halpin of Plymouth was among the graduates receiving degrees from Averett College, Danville, VA. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Halpin, she received a BS in management and psychology.

Students from Plymouth named to the Dean's List at Madonna College are: Renee DeZell of Maxwell; Brenda Dougherty of Northern; Lisa Duynslager of Willowbrook; Jacquelyn Dyer of Firwood; Myrtle Ebert of Colony Farm Drive; Karen Kivisto of Ann Arbor Trail; Valerie Marchand of Inbrook Drive; Florence Remski of Gotfredson Road; Linda Renny of Briarwood Drive; Susan Smith of Spicer; Kathryn Sochacki of Brentwood Drive; and Barbara Totzke of Aspen Drive.

Plymouth students initiated into freshman scholastic honor societies this spring at WMU are: Annette Bryce, daughter of Robert and Marilyn Bryce of Crabtree, Alpha Lambda Delta; and Cheri Muneio, daughter of James and Louann Muneio of Rocker, Alpha Lambda Delta.

Larry Lanphear, son of Janet and Lawrence Lanphear of Ross Street in Plymouth was inducted into the 1985 Golden Key National Honor Society at MSU.

Students from Plymouth receiving degrees from Albion College are: William Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Guthrie of Jo-Ann Lane; Jeffrey Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scott of Portsmouth; David Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Elm Street; Andrew Wagner, son of Mrs. Wilma Wagner of Appletree Drive; and Michelle Wegienek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wegienek of Danbridge.

Brian Jones, son of Mary and Martin Jones of Amesbury Drive in Plymouth, was "tapped" into the distinguished Tower Guard at MSU's annual May Morning Sing ceremonies.

Scott Bozyk of Canton has been awarded an academic scholarship from Northwood Institute and will begin studies in Sept. A graduate of Redford Catholic Central High School, he is the son of Edward and MaryAnn Bozyk.

GIFT-BUYING ABROAD

Every traveler with any social conscience at all is haunted by the knowledge that he must buy gifts for friends or family back home. Before you part with your foreign exchange, here are a few tips:

You're allowed to bring back $400 worth of goods duty-free, so don't waste the privilege. Air mail back one gift per day to a different person on your list, keeping its value under $25. This way you'll avoid duty, as it's declared "gift," and you'll have a lighter suitcase during your trip, in addition to giving yourself leeway on that final $400 custom evaluation. I say "air mail" because it's positively unbelievable the way packages sent from abroad via surface mail can disappear.

Remember that your concierge in the hotel can be a very good friend and that his judgement and advice can usually be relied upon. But always check the local export rules before buying something special. You might not be allowed to take it out of the country.

S-craft business students honored

Seventy-five outstanding business students — including many from the local area — were honored by the Schoolcraft College Business Division for their academic achievement. The high achieving collegians were treated to the 12th annual recognition dinner on April 10. There were guests of the College and 17 area businesses.

Dr. Conway Jeffress, vice president of instruction, was the guest speaker. Dr. Jeffress noted, "Schoolcraft College has been a valuable community resource for more than 20 years." He added, "This evening affords an opportunity to bring members of the business community, relatives and special guests of the honorees and departments on the campus to participate in our recognition efforts."

Honors are given to students who have completed 40 credit hours with a minimum of 15 credit hours in their respective disciplines at a minimum grade point average of 3.25.

Plymouth/Canton residents honored were: Judith M. Bendig, James R. Boyce, Donna J. Bryden, Julie Cavell, Steven Cavell, Debra K. Dallago, Susan Golden, Janene E. Gray, Diana H. Heames, Marcia M. Marsh, Laura L. Michalik, Darryl P. Nowacki, Ranjan R. Panchal, Linda M. Pankratz, Susan L. Pierce, Linda A. Reynolds, William Searles, Michael Thomas, Christine M. Ward, Linda Wigley and Ellen J. Zunich.

A LOT OF MAGIC is planned for the 10th annual Canton Country Fest. A parade, fireworks, a carnival, arts and crafts, a cow chip fling, and a rodeo are planned.

'Magical Eras' is theme of '85 Country Fest

Welcome to the Canton Country Festival -- that homespun celebration which emerged from Canton's rich, golden sweet corn and has become an annual event celebrating many aspects of the community.

This year, the Country Festival is 10-years-old and plans to celebrate that birthday with the theme "Magical Eras -- Days Gone By." The festival is scheduled to run Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

A parade, fireworks, a carnival, arts and crafts, a cow chip fling, a donkey baseball game, a tug-of-war, a watermelon eating contest and rodeo are only a few of the many events planned for the three day event. Some activities, like musical entertainment and performances, will continue throughout the celebration while others have specific times. A schedule of events is printed elsewhere in this section.

The Country Festival originated out of a Canton Chamber of Commerce sweet corn festival -- a one day event originally planned to promote Canton's sweet corn industry. When the festival grew in popularity, however, it was expanded into a larger event through the hard work and cooperation of many civic groups in the community.

A Country Festival board was created five years ago to handle the ever-increasing complexity of the festival. The Corn Festival became the Canton Country Festival under this board's guidance, and its 14-member team has assumed all the responsibility for entertaining 60,000 people annually at the festival.

Three years ago, the Country Festival was moved from Griffin park to the Canton Recreation Complex. The festival is now also celebrated in June rather than August.

This year, the event was reduced in size from a week to three days. Those days, however, are packed with even more events than in the past and will entertain every member of the family.

Come and feel the magic the Country Fest has in store for visitors this year. The festival is three days of hooting, hollering and good times nobody will want to miss.

Goodies, elephant ears, pop, hot chocolate, ice cream, hot pretzels, beer, kielbasa, pancakes, steakburgers, beans

There will be plenty to see and do at this year's Canton Country Festival — from rodeos and casinos to carnival rides, cow chip flings and donkey baseball games.

All that activity and excitement is enough to cause even the smallest of appetites to roar for something yummy, and a host of civic groups are ready to treat the palate to a variety of mouth-watering treats.

Concessions of every type will be available during the three-day event. Among the groups who will bring their taste tempters, are:

- The Cherry Hill United Methodist Church which will serve baked goods and lemonade.
- The Canton Lion's Club which will serve elephant ears, pop, coffee and hot chocolate.
- The Canton Republican's Club which will offer hot dogs, chili dogs, lemonade and potato chips.
- The Canton Chamber of Commerce which will wet the whistle with beer.
- Girl Scout Troop 1495 which will serve ice cream.
- The Wayne Country Achievers Association which will serve pop corn, cotton candy, hot pretzels and candy.
- The Canton Jay Teens which will operate a dunk tank to feed the eyes.
- The Canton Historical Commission which will help festivalgoers take their memories home via Sesquicentennial books and cookbooks.
- The Canton Knights of Columbus which will serve kielbasa, pizza and pop.
- The Canton Kiwanis Club which will serve oriental food.

For those seeking a more complete meal fare, four different feasts have been planned.

Friday night the Canton Jaycees will host a shish kabob dinner. The dinner includes a shish kabob, baked potato, cole slaw and roll. Tickets are $3 in advance (available at Bob Olson Realty on Ford Road) and $3.50 at the site. The meal will be served from 5 to 10 p.m.

Saturday morning will begin bright and early when the Canton Rotary holds a pancake breakfast at the festival grounds. Steaming, golden flapjacks will be served from 7 a.m. to noon and all proceeds from the sale will go to the Plymouth-Canton Substance Abuse Intervention Program. Adult meal tickets are $2.25 and children under 12 are $1.75. Advance tickets are 50 cents less and are available at Bob Olson Realty on Ford Road or from any Canton Rotary member.

Saturday night and Business and Professional Women's Club in Canton will serve up big, juicy steakburgers. Jim Mather's Mr. Steak restaurant on Ford Road will help the BPW get the meal sizzling. The menu includes a steakburger, cole slaw and beans for $3. Advance tickets are available from any Canton BPW member and at Mr. Steak.

The grand finale festival meal will be served Sunday. Members of the Canton Chamber of Commerce will roll up their sleeves, tie on an apron and serve up barbeque chicken and potatoe chips. Chicken dinners will be sold for $2.75 and advance tickets are available from any Chamber member and at the Chamber of Commerce office on Canton Center Road.

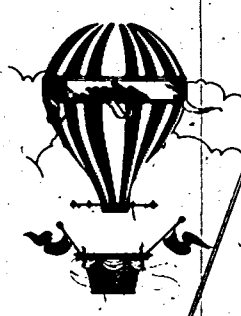

All meals and concessions will be served on the festival grounds behind Canton Township Hall.

Big parade Sat.

Bands, floats and plenty of marchers will help kick off this Saturday's festival events when one of the biggest parades in Michigan rolls through Canton.

This year the Country Festival parade will begin and end at Saltz Road. It will move north up Sheldon from Saltz, west on Ford, south on Canton Center and back to Saltz again.

Approximately 66 parade units will help make the Country Festival line-up a success. Among those units are five bands, six floats and eight groups driving antique vehicles or displaying antiques in the parade.

A 40-foot Chinese dragon will dance its way through the streets and characters like Ronald McDonald, Cabbage Patch kids, Flying Pilgrims, Chamber chickens, and a host of local and state politicians will file past viewers.

There will be plenty of baton twirlers, cub scouts and guards to watch and clowns and horses will add to the festivity.

The parade begins at 10 a.m. Saturday -- arrive early to get the best viewing along Ford and Sheldon roads.

55 crafters in tents

Country Fest, country crafts and much more!

Over 55 talented craftspeople will be selling their wares at the Country Festival this weekend. Everything from pottery, quilts, tiles, jewelry, wreaths and ceramics to weavings, etched glass, wood designs and leather work will be on display in two large tents at the festival grounds behind Canton Township Hall. Artists from throughout Michigan will make Canton their temporary gallery for festival goers to enjoy.

The arts and crafts tents will be open Friday from 4 to 10 p.m., Saturday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

How do you tell the players from the donkeys? Read on

There is more than one way to play baseball and Canton Township employes and elected officials will demonstrate one of the strangest ways.

They'll play atop donkeys.

And it might just turn into a grudge match. The township employes challenged the Canton Township Board of Trustees as part of the Country Fest festivities. The trustees accepted and game time is scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday, June 15 at the west end of the township recreation complex behind the administrative offices.

About a dozen donkeys will add the strange twist to this game. Jim Davison, a township firefighter who is the man behind this project, said he played in one of the games a few years back.

Pitchers, catchers and batters do not sit on donkeys. But batters must mount a donkey and ride to first base when they hit, Davison said. Fielders have to ride the donkey to field the ball and must throw the ball while aboard the animal, he said.

"You can walk, drag, push, anything that works to get your donkey to get to the ball," said Davison.

The entire Board of Trustees will take part in the game with the exception of Treasurer Gerald Brown who had a previous commitment.

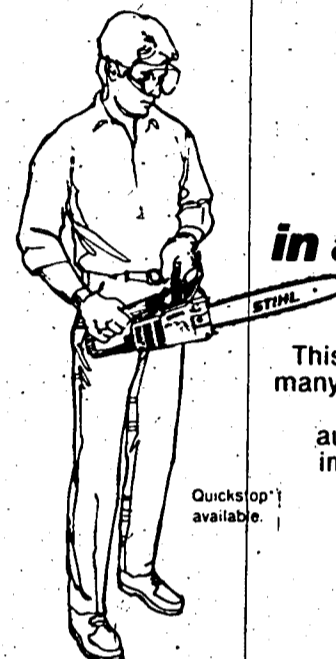

"What I'm trying to do is get the employes and the bosses doing something fun together," he said.

Tickets for the game are $2.50 in advance and $3 at the gate. Preschoolers are admitted free of charge.

Corliss Hoffman wins; many Dads praised

The competition was tough for Dad-of-Year

My dad is very patient with me. He spends a lot of time with me. He helps me with projects and home work. He thinks of real great vacations. He has good ideas of pictures to draw, projects to make, and books to read. He takes me out to eat, to the library, to my grandma's, or maybe we just ride around in the car.

And when we go on vacation before we leave he takes out a map and shows me the route.

He takes me to baseball, football, and hockey games. Sometimes we talk and laugh. He takes me to see movies. He even tapes my favorite movie on video tape.

We do a lot of things outside. We play Frisbee, and sometimes we ride bikes. I have a lot of fun with him.

*****

My daddy is the best daddy because he tickles me and I love him and he reads me books. And he brushes Eleanor's (our dog) teeth and he gives me fresh pies and stuff.

*****

I think my father deserves the Father of the Year award because he is nice and generous. Whenever he isn't working to feed and shelter our family, he is taking us out to a bunch of places.

He is always being kind and buying me stuff.

Whenever my dad is yelling at me I deserve it a lot. He wouldn't just yell at me for nothing. That's why my dad is the best.

*****

I Love dad. I liked because he gets us stuff and I like him to be proud. He lets us go with him to the store. He takes us bike riding and lets us play base ball. He lets us buy a foot ball. He lets me on the dad express and takes me up to my bed. He takes me bowling
He's the best
Dad

Our dad should be dad of the year because he makes us and my mom the number one thing in his life.

He works two jobs so that we can have extra money to enjoy. He spends all his extra time with us. Our favorite time is tickle time when he has a day off. The best thing about him is that he loves us just the way we are.

*****

Our dad is 54-years-old and has retired to stay home and care for my younger brother who has Down Syndrome and also my mother who is very sick with cancer and requires a lot of care.

He cooks, cleans, runs the household, participates with the retarded kids, Knights of Columbus and the church too!

He is and has always been there for all of us, never complaining. We all love him and appreciate all the happiness he brings to those who know him. And of course he is the father of every year to us. I think if you knew him you would agree.

I can't imagine what my life would be like if I didn't have my dad around. He has always been around when I needed him. Nobody has the kind of dad I've got.

My dad is a full-time teacher at Livonia. He also likes to work on his apple orchard. Some dads just have time for their work, but my dad even though he's busy, always finds time for my brother and I.

He is there when I need him to help me with some homework or if I have a concert he'll make time to come to it.

Some people just tell you to go and come to it.

Some people just tell you to go and do something. My dad shows us how to do a task or an assignment right, and then he helps you with it. My dad believes in setting a good example. I don't think I'd be a good person if it wasn't for my dad.

There is one more thing that my dad believes in, a close family. Like whenever we go out to dinner or on a trip he makes sure the whole family goes. I love my dad and I think he's the best dad in the whole entire world. I know he would represent our community well.

*****

My dad is very nice to me and
and I get to help him. Dad wash the car and saw with him. Mr
Dad works at
Kmart. Mr
Dad loves me

I think my dad should win because he is there to help me through hard times. He is there by my side if I need him. He is there for my brothers and sisters if they need him. He helps other people if they have a problem.

Let me explain what I mean. I have a brother that is not from the U.S. He is from Viet Nam. He came by boat. He spent six months on it. He had to hide in the day from the pirates. He went through a lot. Now my dad is helping other Viet Nam families get out the rest of their family that are still there.

He cares a lot. Please pick him for Father of the Year.

WE THINK
OUR DAD IS THE GREATEST.
HE PLAYS BALL
WITH US. HE PUSHES ON THE SWINGS
HE MAKES GOOD FRENCH
WORKS HARD
TO BUY US
PRIZES.
WE LOVE HIM.

I think my father is the best in Canton township because he helps me with homework. What I mean about helping me is he doesn't tell me the answer and sometimes he doesn't even tell me the problem that is wrong. He believes in doing it by myself.

My dad understands people and he cares. He may be my second dad but I know he's the best.

He bought me and my brother a ten-speed bike for Christmas (when I was in third grade), and all sorts of other things.

But that's not why I'm writing this letter to you. A lot of other dads yell or lose their temper. But not my dad; he never yells or loses his temper (if he has one). He just explains things to us or tells us what we're doing wrong. Before my mom married him, he told me to my "Father and Daughter" banquet for Brownies.

And after my mom married him, he bought a house so we all could live together. He bought me pictures for my new room, a desk, and a bedspread. A lot more too.

For Christmas he bought me a pewter unicorn to go with my collection and unicorn slippers.

He coached my brother's baseball team and he was a line person for my brother's football team.

He's very honest too.

Fling tradition continues Ginny Grotjohn's queen!

The Cow Chip Fling which almost wasn't. This year's fifth annual Cow Chip Fling comes to Canton via the hard work of a group of people unwilling to let the tradition die.

When the Country Festival Board decided to eliminate the fling from the festival events, citizens everywhere made a big enough stink to convince the board to reinstate it.

Presiding over this year's event as Canton's fifth Cow Chip Queen is Virginia "Ginny" Grotjohn. Grotjohn grew up on a farm in Defiance County, Ohio and was a middle child in a family of 11 children.

"Each summer, at Canton Festival time I happily recall the many hours I spent herding my father's cattle along a country road to graze on the grass, the many mornings when they were the first sounds I heard on the farm, along with the chickens, and I wonder how many people in Canton even know what a cow chip is!

"I would like so much to represent Canton for this part of its heritage, for you may be able to take me off the farm, but you will never be able to take the farm out of me."

Grotjohn attended Capital University in Columbus, OH. and taught school for four years while her husband Ted attended seminary. He is now assistant pastor at St. Michael Lutheran Church on Sheldon Road in Canton.

Grotjohn has two daughters, Karen Ann, 24, and Joy Renee, 23. She has started her own business in sewing products and is active in scouting, 4-H, and the Heart Association. Grotjohn has also been active in church activities and did substitute teaching for several years.

The Cow Chip Fling is scheduled to take place on Sunday at 1 p.m. at the festival grounds. Everyone is invited to stop by and watch the fun.

Fest board cooks up another successful event

RECIPE: ONE CANTON COUNTRY FESTIVAL: Combine three parts interest, five parts hard work and nine parts enthusiasm and stir vigorously for several months. Toss in several spicy new events, several large dashes of excitement and let rise for several weeks. Bake and serve over three warm, sunny days, garnishing with plenty of laughter, color and fun. Serve generous portions to all. This is a no-fail recipe.

And so the ingredients which go into another successful Country Festival are less mysterious and more common than one would think. Hard work, dedication, fun and enthusiasms are all a part of the list which Canton Country Festival Board members toss into their batter when baking up another successful event.

President of the Canton Country Festival Board this year is Deborah O'Connor.

Larry Bowerman is serving as the group's first vice-president this year. Bowerman is also in charge of meals and concessions for the group.

A glint in Rebecca Havenstein-Coughlin eye? Havenstein-Coughlin is in charge of handling all the Country Festival's funds as the board treasurer. She is serving a one-year term with the board and is also in charge of arts and crafts for the group.

Denise Krauser, a new three year member of the Country Festival board is acting as secretary this year. Krauser, whose term expires in 1987, has also handled parade arrangements for this year's extravaganza.

Other board members who have dedicated their time and effort to make this year's Canton Country Festival a success include:

Jim Davison, who has been responsible for handling all signage for the event.

Kay Baldrice, who has handled publicity for the festival this year.

James Gillig, who danced and sang his way through arrangements for all of this year's Country Festival entertainment.

David Gerzewski, who is handling all traffic and parking for the event.

Lorraine Kayes, who is in charge of information and sales for the Country Festival.

Cindy Owens, the board member in charge of special events for the festival.

Dan Pope is in charge of bringing a little Las Vegas excitement to Canton in the form of a casino and raffle.

John Schwartz, who is in charge of grounds.

Bill Simmerer, who is helping Schwartz as a vice-chairman of grounds.

Terry Chuhran, the board's newest member, who is serving as a compliance officer.

IT WILL BE three days of bucking broncos, calf roping and barrel racing when the Budweiser Championship Canton Rodeo starts at 7 p.m. every night of the festival.

3 days of rodeo fun

The Budweiser Championship Canton Rodeo at this year's Country Festival is not going to be a piece of cake for anyone.

Including its organizer Mike Walden of Ypsilanti.

"We've got some rank bulls coming in," Walden laughs. "A lot of cowboys are going to be thrown in the dirt. I hate to say it because I ride on Sunday."

Walden is expecting over 300 riders from 14 different states for the three-day event. Cowboys and cowgirls come from as far away as Texas and Florida. The bulls come from the Texas-Oklahoma area and the horses from the Dakotas. The total purse is expected to be near $9,000.

Slated to compete is Jerry Mosteler, seven-time champ of the Mid-States Rodeo Association. Ropin' Rick Betts, an attorney from Lansing, and Mike Geary of Clinton, last year's winner, will also hold on for dear life.

Walden says there are three rodeos in Wisconsin the same weekend so many of the riders will be driving all night to reach Canton. Those are the full-time cowboys who are on the road four days a week. And when they get to where they're going, big 1800 pound bulls like El Dorado await them.

"The riders don't know which bull they'll ride until they draw a number out of a hat," Walden says. He says El Dorado is Mexican-bred and a real fighter.

"If a rider isn't strong of heart and he draws El Dorado he just might turn him out."

There will be a $100 prize tagged to El Dorado. If the rider stays on, he wins the money. If not, it goes to charity.

"I know I wouldn't ride him for fun," Walden says.

Events this year include saddle-bronc, bare back, steer wrestling, calf roping and girl's barrel racing.

New this year, and Walden says a first for this area, is team-roping, where one buckaroo ties the horns while his partner ties the back heels. And there'll also be girls' goat tying.

"It's an 80 pound goat but a lot of the girls are only 105 pounds," Walden says. "The girls are real competitive."

The show starts at 7 p.m. Tickets cost $2 advance and $4 at the gate and are available at Burger King, McDonald's, Mr. Steak and Big Boy in Canton. Also at the Canton Recreation Dept., the Canton Chamber of Commerce, and don't forget Lucille's on Michigan Avenue, "the best country bar in the Detroit area," according to Walden.

Walden says Lucille's, one of the rodeo's main sponsors, will host a party Friday and Saturday nights.

"It's a party and a half," he says. "We'll squeeze in over 300 cowboys."

Dixon, Twp. resident

Ervin A. Dixon, 79, of Plymouth Township, died May 29 in Livonia. Services were held June 1 at Newburg United Methodist Church with the Rev. Edward C. Coley and the Rev. Roy D. Forsyth officiating.

Mr. Dixon was born in Illinois in 1905 and moved to Plymouth Township from Port Huron in 1965. He was retired from his job as an accounting office manager with Dreisbach and Sons Cadillac and was a member of the Jackson Lodge No. 50 F and AM.

Survivors include his wife Martha; sons Charles of Canton and Bryan of San Diego, CA.; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be given to the organ fund at Newburg United Methodist Church.

Local arrangements by Schrader Funeral Home, Inc.

Wilkes, ex-FBI agent

Clement Wade Wilkes, 98, of Plymouth, died May 25 in Plymouth.

Mr. Wilkes was born in Culleoka, TN, in 1896 and moved to Plymouth from Nashville, TN, in 1975. He was an attorney and member of the Society of Former Agents of the FBI. He was affiliated with the Culleoka Methodist Church.

Survivors include daughters Annette Heindryckx of Plymouth, and Dorothy Wilkes Whitel of Coral Gables, FL.; a son, John Davis Wilkes of Destin, FL.; a sister, Jane Love Fulghem of Sioux City, IA.; eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Wilkes Cemetery in Culleoka, TN, on May 30.

White, of the community

Agnes White, 62, of Walnut Ridge in Canton, died June 2 in Ann Arbor. Services were held June 6 at the Vermeulen Memorial Funeral Home with the Rev. Kenneth F. Gruebel officiating.

Mrs. White was born in Yugoslavia in 1923. She was a clerical worker for a chiropractic newspaper.

Survivors include her husband, John R.; a son, Robert Schmittling of Canton; daughters Mildred Miller of Canton, and Janet Lager and Donna Evanoff, both of Westland; a sister, Mary Landa of Westland; and four grandchildren.

Matson, Church member

Ethel R. Matson, 74, of Drew Circle in Westland, died June 1 in Garden City. Services were held June 4 at the Schrader Funeral Home with Mr. Gary Collins officiating. Burial was in Knollwood Cemetery, Canton.

Mrs. Matson was born in New Jersey in 1910. She was a homemaker and member of the Plymouth First Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband Carl R.; sons Daniel C. of DeWitt; David C. of Bloomfield; two grandchildren; a brother, Frank Fuzesari of Birmingham; and a sister, Helen Fuzesari of Westland.

Memorial contributions to the Plymouth Church of Christ are appreciated.

Cowdell, born in England

Frederick Charles Cowdell, 89, of Plymouth, died May 26 in Garden City. Services were held May 29 at Jefferson Memorial Park, Pleasant Hills, PA.

Mr. Cowdell was born in England in 1896. He came to Plymouth in 1979 from Pennsylvania. He was an electrician with United States Steel.

Survivors include his daughter Ethel May Murphy of Plymouth; four grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; two nieces and one nephew.

Jimmerson, city resident

William G. Jimmerson, 76, of Church Street in Plymouth, died June 8 in Wayne. Services will be held at 11 a.m. today at the Schrader Funeral Home with the Rev. Thomas Pals officiating. Burial will follow in Riverside Cemetery.

Mr. Jimmerson was born in Portageville, MO, in 1908 and came to the Plymouth area in 1952 from Union City, TN. He retired in 1972 from Great Scott Supermakets, where he worked as a butcher. He was a butcher for 30 years.

Survivors include a daughter, Betty Long of DeBray, FL.; a son, James W. Jimmerson of Canton; seven grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; sisters Beulah Bozer of Union City, TN, and Myrtle Frahm of St. Louis, MO.; and a sister-in-law, Nona Eddington of Plymouth.

Memorial contributions may be given to the Crippled Children Association.

King, East teacher

Leanne M. King, 44, of Westland, died June 9 in Garden City. Services were held June 11 at Risco-Ziomek Funeral Home in Livonia.

Miss King was a science teacher for the last eight years at East Middle School and heavily involved in the school's science program. She earned her BS and MS degrees at Wayne State University and taught chemistry and algebra at Detroit Northeastern High School. She was involved in numerous school committees and extra-curricular activities.

"She was highly respected by students and teachers," said William R. Bartlett, a fellow teacher. "She had 10,000 friends around Plymouth."

Survivors include her mother Elanor Gensen, step-father James Gensen; sisters Eileen Engler-Stearns and Cheryl Staats; a grandfather, Carl Martin; and nephews Leanne and Ernie Stats.

Memorial contributions to the Leanne King Memorial Fund are appreciated. Send to: William R. Bartlett, care of East Middle School, 1042 S. Mill St., Plymouth, MI. 48170.

Places to be

Give them shelter

When it comes time to pay your bill next week at the Plymouth Landing reach for your wallet with pride. You'll be contributing to a good cause.

The week of June 17-22, the restaurant's owner Sam Panzica, for each dinner sold, will donate $1 to First Step.

First Step, also known as the Western Wayne County Project on Domestic Assault, provides temporary shelter for abused wives and children. Its free services also include food and clothing. First Step also has a 24-hour hotline.

Chuck Childs of First Step said the group's annual operating budget is about $240,000. "About half of the money is raised through contributions such as Mr. Panzica's," Childs said.

"They needed help with their shelter and we thought we might be able to do some kind of promotion," Panzica said. "They thought donating $1 per dinner was an excellent idea."

Panzica said he hopes it'll turn into a sort of matching-funds benefit.

"With each guest check we'll present a pamphlet on First Step," he said. "Maybe the customer will get the idea to write a check themselves."

The Plymouth Landing, located at 340 N. Main serves dinner 5-11 p.m. It closes at midnight.

on a written test-standard, a theoretical perfect. "Each cat is judged against each other and against the standard," he said.

The show is open to the public Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Cost is $3 for adults, $2 for seniors and $1 for kids under 12.

Free speech

Canton's Oakwood Hospital will hold its 1985 Summer Speech Program for speech and language impaired children June 24 through Aug. 16. Group therapy sessions will be offered hourly each day from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. For more information, call Lorraine Zaksek, speech pathologist at 459-7030.

Also offered, May 10, is a program to promote public awareness of the benefits of early detection and treatment of speech, language and hearing impairment. Consultations will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Call for an appointment. The program is offered free to the public.

Fine felines

Judgement will be passed on lots of kitties at the Cultural Center this weekend. There will be Somalis, Abyssians, Birman's, Japanese Bobtails and Exotic Shorthairs.

It's all part of the 1985 Great Lakes Region Cat Show sponsored by the Midwest Persian and Tabby Fanciers.

Show cats, their owners and judges from across the midwest, Canada and as far away as Oregon will be on hand to show their stuff. Plain old household cats will be judged, too.

"We're expecting 180-some owners with 300 cats of all types, shapes and sizes," said Tom Bowling, co-manager of the event. Bowling and his wife, Char raise Persians and Himalayans in Plymouth.

He said the cats will be judged based

PRIVATE PARTIES! FUND RAISERS! (GROUP RATES)

BY ED FITZGERALD

The dust has barely settled on the new 12 diamond Canton Softball Center.

It's not really dust though, owner Aaron Jade is quick to point out.

"It's the highest quality limestone available and we mix it into the infield," he says. "The players say we have one of the best infields they've played on."

getting down to business

Jade likes to talk about how happy the players are. The Softball Center may be a nice place to come and watch a free game but Jade knows the players are his customers.

And Jade, of West Bloomfield, wants his to be as fine a softball complex as there is anywhere. His plans for championship tournaments will be realized June 28-30 when Miller Beer will fly in some of the nation's finest softball players for a tourney.

"I think there's a real need for this kind of recreational facility," Jade says. "Some of this area's parks have residency rules and people can't use them."

Softball Center, located on Michigan Ave one mile west of I-275, has everything a sports complex could have, except a dome. Each lighted field has an electronic scoreboard. Computerized vapor lighting has been installed, the same kind used to light the Olympics.

Computers play another part in Jade's thinking. He's betting that with increased technology people are going to have more spare time. And he says the baby boomers, as they age, will be inclined to play less strenuous sports, such as softball.

"Softball has become one of the fastest growing sports in the country," Jade says. "It's a sport that either gender can play at any age. It's easier than going up and down a basketball court."

The numbers would seem to back Jade up. Though only half of the diamonds opened back on April 2, 500 teams have signed up, at $275 per team. All of the diamonds are open now.

Jade said his complex, complete with a full-service bar called Cleats and an independent pro shop, is similar to Softball City in Livonia.

Softball for the masses

AARON JADE, owner of the Canton softball Center, says softball is one of the country's fastest growing sports.

But as manager Bernie Goodstein says: "The similarity ends there."

Ken Hull runs Cleats, which opened May 3. The chef is Kevin Downey, formerly with the Fox and Hounds in Birmingham. While softball will be played from April 15-November 15, Jade will keep Cleats open year-round. Jade will also arrange to have a subcontracted video firm film your team, at $17 a game. Jade says it's popular for the players to return inside and watch their games replayed on the big screen. In urging family participation there's daytime child care offered too.

"We want the people of Canton and Plymouth to know we are part of the community," Jade says. "We employ 100 people."

Then he added, leaning closer, "We pay a lot of taxes too."

The Mentally Ill Rarely Recover

Recovery from many illnesses-physical and mental-is very possible.

The outlook for recovery from mental illness is improving every day. Nearly two-thirds of all mental health patients show significant signs of recovery; of these, half will never need treatment again.

EAST MIDDLE SCHOOL'S track team won the annual Plymouth-Canton middle school meet Wednesday at CEP. East had 112½ points and Central had 97 points for second. Pioneer, West and Lowell followed. East went 4-0 in dual meets this season. But there was plenty of action at last week's meet. (Top left) Jenni Sung, a Pioneer eighth grader, sweats out the final leg of the 800 relay. ## Medicine Hat Blue Jays beckon local

BY BRIAN LYSAGHT

The Toronto Blue Jays came a-knockin' on Joe Humphries' door. Humphries signed a contract with the club last week and flew to Medicine Hat, Alberta, Sunday to join the Medicine Hat Blue Jays, a class A farm team.

Blue Jay scout Don Welke spotted the 21-year-old Salem High graduate pitching for Western Michigan University this year.

Although this past season was Humphries' first as a college pitcher, Welke called the right-hander's fastballs and curveballs above average.

"He is a young man whose, in my opinion, better days are ahead of him," Welke said.

The Jays picked Humphries in the third round of the major league draft. He will play a 60-game season with Medicine Hat.

Humphries, who completed his junior year at Western, said he was happy to be given a shot in the majors.

"When I was playing high school ball, the jump was always to college ball and I did that," he said. "Now the jump is from 'A' to 'AA' to 'AAA' to the bigs."

Humphries threw consistently above 90 miles per hour at Western. He says

Chief tracksters get year end kudos

BY JEFF BENNETT

Canton girls track coach Bob Richardson knew his team had "something" at the beginning of the season but didn't know what.

But throughout the season, Richardson and the team came to know and live up to their potential. They finished with a division meet duel record of 4-0, an overall duel record of 7-2, and tied for second in the conference meet.

"We had a lot more than anyone expected," said Richardson.

Last Wednesday, Canton chose their top athletes and rewarded their efforts. Senior Deborah Redfern received the coaches' award for her performances in the hurdles and discus. Redfern was the coaches' unanimous choice.

The most improved athlete was freshman Jenny Kincer for outstanding performances in the long jump, and the 800 run.

The most valuable player was sprinter senior Kim Bennett.

Looking over the finish for the season, Richardson said Canton's finish was some reward for the team's seniors who had struggled on years with teams with poor records.

For the Canton boys track team, physical performance was a strong point. Coach Mike Spitz said the team was not outstanding, but very respectable.

Matt Flower, Pat McGow, and Tom Bowie were voted most valuable player last Wednesday night.

The coaches' award went to Bryan Whiteley and the comeback of the year award was given to James Ratliff.

The most improved was awarded to Dan Houdek, Bill Flemming, and Greg Houston.

These athletes helped Canton to finish the highest ever in the conference meet.

Spitz said that the team was pushed by the seniors who had a positive attitude and goals they took very seriously. Another reason was the help that came from assistant coaches John

Ten run inning helps lead Harrison to state finals

BY DAVID PIERINI

John Herrington doesn't like doing things the hard way, but if it gets his Harrison team to the state baseball finals, the tough route will be just fine.

The Hawks, after squeezing past Stevenson 4-3 in game one, did some more squeezing with a 10 run inning to beat Dearborn 10-9 to win the region two tournament on Saturday, at Canton.

Not bad for a team that finished seventh in the league, but wound up winning 14 of their last 16 games.

Harrison travels to Western Michigan University on Friday to play Jenison High in the semi-final.

"We didn't want Dearborn to beat us in two sports," said Herrington who is also the head football coach at Harrison. "Fordson knocked us out of the football championship."

Game one pitted father against son. Hawk Ken George hit a three run double to beat Stevenson, coached by his father Jim George.

No words were said, the two embraced at the game's conclusion.

"I didn't expect it when the inning started," Ken George said. "But Vince (Enright) and (Dan) Murray came through with singles, then (Brian) Smolinski walked and there I was. I couldn't say, 'Well this is my dad's team,' and give up. I just tried to make contact."

The dramatics didn't end there. Down 6-0 going into the third in the second game, the Hawks used 15 batters for 10 runs. Murray started the inning off with a single and then moved to third on Smolinski's ground rule double.

Dearborn pitcher Scott Mason then loaded the bases hitting George. John Miller followed with a single scoring Murray and Smolinski. Mike Colovas then blasted a three run homer over the centerfield fence.

Dearborn then replaced Mason with Chris Hales who gave up three singles, a walk and a hit batsman to give Harrison a 10-6 lead.

Dearborn kept chipping away with two more runs in the bottom of the third and one more in the sixth.

Mike Inch who recorded his eighth win in game one and in game two notched a save.

Harrison's berth in the state finals is their first since 1981. This is the seventh consecutive year that the league has sent a team to the state finals.

HARRISON'S Brad Rounds slid safely to second after a Stevenson pick off attempt at first failed. Canton and Salem hosted the tournament which Harrison won. (Crier photo by Chris Boyd).

Tarr and Mark Kowalczyk, Spitz said. They worked with and pushed the kids, he said. The seniors have now graduated, but Spitz is not too worried about next year.

"We will be losing key people that are hard to replace, but I think we have the personnel to move up and improve the open spots," said Spitz. "The guys coming back next year are excited and if we keep on improving, we will keep moving up."

On designated hitters and versatile ball players...

The designated hitter.
 It has been 12 years since the birth of the now not-so-new position and already it has made its way into nearly every baseball league in the world.
 The stubborn National League and Japan's Central League haven't adopted it, they want baseball to remain in its purist form.
 The Mickey Mantle Leagues and on down don't use it, but it's probably just a matter of time. Don't count out T-ball; coaches will do anything to win.
 But the DH adds intrigue to the course of a game. It forces managers to handle every decision separately and

In Bold Print

By David Pierini

rationally. Mostly, though, it serves its main purpose -- increased offense.
 The days of pitchers batting with the bases loaded and two outs are near extinct.
 What about when a pitcher is struggling in the middle of an inning, but he's due to lead off when his team comes to bat? What usually happens is the manager stays with the pitcher, instead of sparing the expense of using an extra pitcher.

 The hurler is then forced to make pressure pitches, trying to get an extra out when he has already lost his best stuff.
 The DH eliminates the problem by adding that extra man for balancing the line-up. It lets a pitcher worry about pitching and nothing else.

 But while that's good for pro ball, the DH only hurts players in lower leagues, especially in high school baseball.

"I like it, because it provides an opportunity for more kids to play," said Salem coach John Gravlin. "Even when I have an outstanding hitter who pitches, pitching is enough of a duty if you want to do it right."

Good point, more kids should get the chance to play.

Is that the only reason? Many coaches find it as another tool for winning. Let us not forget what high school sports is all about. It builds character, it teaches a kid how to compete, it teaches good sportsmanship, it teaches a kid how to work in a group situation.

Winning falls in there somewhere, but it doesn't fall first, at least it shouldn't.

In high school sports, especially in baseball, isn't it important for a kid to develop all around skills?

The kid who is just a DH in high school has a lesser chance to continue on with his baseball, than the kid who played outfield, did some spot relieving, spent a little time at first and hit.

Former Tiger Jason Thompson, now a first baseman with the Pittsburgh Pirates, used to pitch. He pitched all the way through double 'A' ball until he hurt his arm.

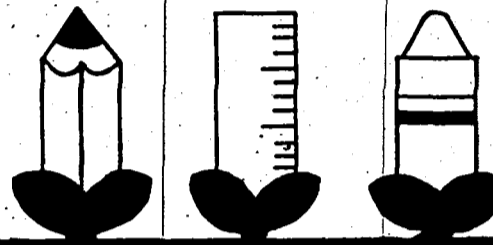

Fortunately for Thompson, he could hit and play first.

Salem sophomore pitcher Shane Smith went on to finish 3-3 for the varsity this season. He never swung a bat which cost him in summer ball. In his first three at bats this year in Mickey Mantle League he struck out three times.

Must have been terrifying to suddenly be forced to bat.

The more versatile, the more valuable, plain and simple.

Pitcher ready for Jay duty

he has the strength to pitch major league ball but not the experience.

He compiled a 5-5 record and 4.57 ERA in 67 innings on the mound for Western last season.

"I got signed (by Western) as a hitter not a pitcher," Humphries said. He played leftfield as a freshman and first, and third base and outfield as a sophomore.

Western Michigan coach Fred Decker said Humphries showed he had a good arm while playing in the outfield. Humphries said Decker approached him last season and asked if he'd like to pitch.

"He said 'I heard you were a pitcher in high school, Do you want to give it a try?' I said 'Whoa.'"

In his college pitching debut, Humphries threw a two-hitter against Kent State University but Western lost the game 1-0.

As Decker moved Humphries into the pitching rotation, Humphries was forced to quit batting, something he said he enjoyed. "I had to give up one of them because you can't be a pitcher and a hitter in college ball," he said.

Decker said he didn't mind switching Humphries to the mound because he wasn't a strong runner or fielder. "After we saw him pitch, we knew that would be his strongest chance of getting to the majors," Decker said.

Decker said it took time to build Humphries arm strength so he could take a regular spot in the rotation. He lost his first four starts, and Decker says it took time for Humphries to simplify his pitching.

JIM HUMPHRIES

"Joe's just learning how to pitch now," Decker said. "His first five starts he was throwing, his second five he was pitching."

And, Decker says, Humphries won't be easy to replace. "You don't find many guys who throw as hard as Joe," he said.

Humphries was 19-2 pitching for Salem as a senior, under coach Brian Gilles. Humphries credited both Gilles and his father Joe Sr. for help along the way. Humphries said his father, who coached him up to high school, was "real excited" about his signing.

Humphries said he will try to complete his final year's coursework at Western in the off-season.

He said he was invited to the Blue Jay's seven-week instructional league which follows the summer season.

Curiosities

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT. Holy Spirit, You who make me see everything and show me the way to reach my Ideal; You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and You who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank You for your love toward me and my loved ones. Persons must pray this prayer three consecutive days without asking for their wish. After third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as this favor is granted.

WITH PURCHASE OF NEW LAWN BOY

THE LAWN-BOY ENGINE IS THE DIFFERENCE

A true commercial-grade four H.P. rated two-cycle engine designed and built by Lawn-Boy, specifically for lawn mowing. It's designed and built to last 50% longer than most mower engines... to start easily year after year... to mow and operate year after year with a minimum of maintenance.

Two-Cycle Economy and Reliability—four parts and every revolution is a power stroke for smooth, dependable operation.

Two-Cycle Lubrication—all parts are constantly lubricated with fresh oil, even when mowing up, down, across hills. Fuel reservoir to check or change.

Cut Iron Cylinder—blends used on premium quality engines to extend engine life.

Die-Cast Aluminum Engine—lightweight, extra strong for longer life.

Pressure-Seal™ Piston Ring—seals combustion chamber for maximum power and performance.

Loop Seawing Cylinder Design—provides a complete fresh fuel/air charge with every revolution for more power and engine efficiency.

Crankshaft—forged one-piece, case-hardened for strength and for years of service.

Headed Bearings—reduce friction, extend engine life.

Shockless Ignition—no points or condensers to adjust or replace—delivers high-intensity spark for easy starts, efficient operation.

Basic Compression Release—reduces starting effort without moving parts.

Advance Blower—provides quick response for maximum power when the mowing gets tough.

Performance Designed Chamber—for smooth, efficient fuel/air mixture—no choke to adjust or fail.

Overhead Air Filter—keeps engine cleaner for longer life—easily cleaned, easily replaced.

Primer—gate fuel to engine on the first pull for quick, easy starting.
