Library millage squeaks by

BY DAN NESS

The Canton Library one-mill increase request passed by an incredibly close vote of 1,928 to 1,900 last night, as of unofficial results early this morning.

Canton voters used the punch-card voting system for the first time in this vote and the effect of that on this narrow margin was questioned.

"The Canton residents were the big winners," said Katherine Baldrica, Canton Public Library Board member after the results were known.

The Canton Library Board had requested the one-mill increase to fund the construction of a new library building. It currently receives one mill of taxes.

Board members said they were mildly surprised at the extremely close vote, but were pleased with getting the extra millage after campaigning since only June, members said. "Winning this without even having a campaign committee is quite an endorsement," said Dr. James Gillig, board member.

Now, the board will go ahead with plans to build a new building between 25,000 and 27,000-square-feet of space on a property to be named within a few

Heintz edges out Tuttle

BY T.M. SMITH

Northville supervisor Susan Heintz has won the Republican primary in Wayne County's 10th District commission race, coming from behind late in vote tabulating to edge Elaine Tuttle by a slim margin of 5224 to 4625.

Election results released early this morning reveal that Heintz pulled in front of Tuttle with a strong showing in Plymouth and Plymouth Township, after trailing most of the night.

Fall Fest absorbed by City amid controversy

BY ED FITZGERALD
AND T.M. SMITH

The Fall Festival Board of Directors has been incorporated by the City of Plymouth, apparently to save skyrocketing liability insurance costs. But the move was made amid some controversy.

At Monday's city commission meeting Carol Levitt, an attorney in Plymouth and active in Fall Fest since 1973, spoke strongly to the council against the move.

Her voice fell on deaf ears, however, as the council voted unanimously to approve the incorporation of the board.

Levitt argued at the meeting that the move would "dilute" the Fall Festival Board and she described the move as "a fast, quick move without much thought."

No members of the Fall Fest Board were present at Monday's council meeting.

Cost of liability insurance for the Fall Festival last year was roughly $900. Now, the board will be covered under the City's blanket policy.

Board members approved the resolution 7-3 at last Wednesday's meeting. Three members were absent.

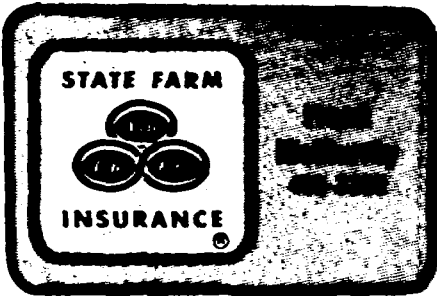

Don Skinner, representing the Plymouth Rotary, which began the festival 30 years ago, voted for the proposal. He said the move would make the board feel more "com-

Cantonites get reprieve from water rate hike

Cantonites can wait to pay more for their water and sewer rates, after the Canton Board of Trustees decided to let the township absorb higher water rates for six months before passing the costs on to residents.

The Detroit Board of Water Commissioners voted June 18 to approve a rate increase for the water it provides to Canton. The rate increase took effect July 1, and the first bills reflecting the increase will appear this month.

With the higher wholesale water rate, Canton residents would have been paying $1.50 per 1,000 gallons, instead of the $1.06 per 1,000 gallons they are now paying.

The Canton board decided to wait for six months when a rate increase for sewer treatment may be approved. Then, increased water and sewer rates would be factored in for Canton residents.

The water rate increase came about after three other communities —

Gibraltar, Garden City and Taylor — renegotiated contracts directly with Detroit, thus ending a multi-community contract that kept rates lower than they would have been, according to Canton Finance Director John Spencer.

Bill Burg is the new Vice-President of Finance, Michele Kirkman is Recording Secretary, and Beverly Smith will begin her third year as Treasurer.

Fire guts N'ville building

A Saturday night fire in Northville cost the Northville Fire Department a great deal of time for what Fire Chief Robert Toms called "the work of vandals." He said the run to the Child Development center, which has long been abandoned, is not the first by his department. This blaze at the old directors house was not put out until 4 a.m. More on page 23. Baker to face Pursell?

BY T.M. SMITH

At 1 a.m. this morning it appeared that Dean Baker had won the 2nd U.S. Congressional District with an upset victory over Don Grimes.

At 3 a.m. this morning Baker saw a television program that had Grimes as the winner.

At the time The Crier went to print at 4 a.m. there still no "official" results available that showed a clear winner. Some unofficial results had Baker ahead by several hundred votes. Late breaking results from the Wayne County at this morning showed Grimes still ahead by percentage points.

Baker believes he has won the race -- maybe.

The fact is the race was too close to call when deadline arrived.

Grimes was unavailable for comment.

One fact is that the winner of the race will face incumbent Carl Pursell in November's general election -- which has been the ultimate goal of both Grimes and Baker.

Baker admitted his strong hold in Ann Arbor, which earned him a 2-1 margin over Grimes in that city, "pushed him over the top" and gave him a healthy lead.

"Our proposal gained support, and we had a lot of people who came out and knew what issues that we felt were important," Baker said.

Many people put Baker as a underdog going into the race, but Baker believes this was based more on media perception than fact.

"We might have been the underdog in the minds of the media, but we knew we were going to win. We knew that Grimes would outspend us 10-1, and that he had endorsements, but money and endorsements don't go vote -- people do," Baker said.

The candidate also said that he is ready to face off with Pursell at the earliest possible date to debate "the important issues, like military spending and Central America."

Date set for sewer trial

BY DAN NESS

Canton and Plymouth townships will go to court Dec. 8 to argue that the state, Wayne County, the City of Detroit and the state Department of Natural Resources should reimburse the townships in the "Son of Super-sewer" project.

The townships will argue that action by the four defendants delayed construction on the sewer project which caused up to 20 per cent less federal funding for the townships in 1984, according to C. Gerald Hemming, the attorney representing Canton in the case.

The case will be heard by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Ada Kerwin, according to Hemming. The case had been scheduled several times, but had been adjourned for later dates each time, he said.

The jury trial should take between three to four weeks for a ruling, Hemming said.

Township and Canton signed contracts with Wayne County to be part of a sewer project for western Wayne County communities. On July 1, 1983, Canton and Plymouth townships were "kicked out" of the project, according to Hemming.

Federal funding for the first phase of the sewer improvements was reduced from 75 per cent to 55 per cent of the total project cost in October, 1984, Hemming said.

If the second and third phases of the sewer project receive no federal funding, sewer costs for Canton residents could triple, according to Canton Supervisor James Poole. Poole said that he received a notice from the DNR Monday telling him more environmental studies were needed for the sewer project. "Now, they've decided after 22 years they want some more environmental studies, and they want a blank check," Poole said.

In early 1985, Plymouth and Canton townships were awarded approximately $120,000 and $476,000, respectively, in a partial consent agreement, from other communities who were defendants in the case at the time, Hemming said. The communities were dropped from the suit after the partial consent agreement, he said.

Wilcox House moving to Hines Park?

BY T.M. SMITH

The Wilcox House is not out of the shadow of the wrecking ball yet, but it is very close.

The Friends of the Wilcox House have made what they believe is the most important step in saving the historic house from destruction.

Last week organizer Cheryl Szyniszewski received a 12 page report from the Wayne County Parks and Recreation Department, on several possible sites within the Hines Park system to relocate the house.

Parks Director Eric Rieckel said the report was prepared by his staff, and while there are "several steps the Wilcox people must meet," he believes the proposal has potential benefit to it, and could soon be reality.

The Wilcox House is currently owned by Jack Wilcox, who has plans to demolish the house to make room for a high rise condominium.

The house sits near Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth on the corner of Penniman and Union. The house was built by Charles Markham of air rifle fame.

The Friends of the House is a recently organized group that has committed itself to preserving the house for historical and sentimental reasons.

Szyniszewski, one of the leaders behind the group, said this recent step is the largest move to date, and could be the most important step in the success of the project.

Reickel said City Manager Henry Graper was also sent a copy of the report, but as of Monday Graper had not seen the report.

Szyniszewski said Reickel and his committee looked at about 10 sites throughout Hines Park and gave recommendations on which ones would meet the needs best for the group, the house and the park.

Three sites were given high recommendations by the park committee, and will be looked at more in depth.

"We are very, very happy about the report. Eric Reickel seems very excited and willing to help us. This report gives us a number of possibilities for sites," Szyniszewski said. "This is a big step, we really had to pin down a spot to put the house before we went further."

Still the group is under time constraints. The house was scheduled to be demolished sometime last spring, but lack of reservations in the condos gave the group one more time.

"We are still working with a deadline, but that continues to change with the status of the condos," Szyniszewski said.

The possible sites within the park include:

•Haggerty and Hines Dr.: This area was described by the park study as picturesque, with major access from Haggerty and Hines Drive, well drained, located in Plymouth Township and with room for parking.

The only drawback noted is that the area might be heavily used.

Summary: Highly recommended by parks.

•Parkside-Newburgh Lake Area: This area was described as picturesque, accessible, visible with room for parking and major utilities available.

The only drawback is that the site is located within the city limits of Livonia.

Summary: Highly recommended by parks.

•Wilcox Pond: This area was described as being located in Plymouth Township, with open sight lines and has the same name (Wilcox) as house.

The drawback list was more lengthy, being that it has poor environmental factors, poor drainage and limited space.

Summary: Area was recommended but with some reservations regarding suitability.

Why We Played A Supporting Role In The Restoration Of A Community Opera House.

Near the turn of the century, two-bits and a little bit of luck put you near the front of the standing room only crowds that were the hallmark of this opera house.

Mary Pickford, at the time just a blossoming star, graced its stage.

As did Annie Oakley's traveling show of six-guns and other assorted shootin' irons.

In fact, over the years, what with all the stars of vaudeville and theatre who performed here, you would have thought it was Broadway in New York.

Not a small midwest town's main street opera house.

Even talking movies couldn't do to the grand old place what a major fire, many years of neglect and then a condemnation notice would finally do.

Close its doors. Seemingly for good. But to the townspeople, the show just had to go on.

So when private citizens and business people got together to restore this priceless landmark, a lot of our people asked what part they could play.

You see, we're not just bankers. We're part of the community.

So we believe that sometimes it's just as important to lend a hand as it is to lend someone money.

At First of America Bank, we're proud we were part of the impressive community cast of characters that raised the money it took to bring the opera house back to life.

And we applaud the entire town's contribution to the performing arts.

Bakhaus injured

Herman Bakhaus, 75, of Plymouth Township, and a former owner of Cloverdale's, was severely injured in a three-car accident in Canton three weeks ago.

Bakhaus remains hospitalized in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Bakhaus was driving north on Lilley Road in Canton on July 16 when his car was struck by a car driven by Laura Neville, 56, of Brighton. Neville was driving west on Cherry Hill when her car struck Bakhaus' car at the intersection, according to police reports.

The impact of the collision forced Bakhaus' car into the air and onto the hood of another car at the intersection, according to police.

Laura Neville, 56, of Brighton, was cited for running a red light in the accident.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON BOARD PROCEEDINGS JULY 28, 1986

A special meeting of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Canton was held on Tuesday, July 29, 1986 at 1150 S. Canton Center Road. All members were present with the exception of Trustee Padgett. Moved by Preniczky, supported by Chuhran and unanimously carried to go to closed session at 6:30 to discuss employee negotiations with the personnel director.

Members present: Bennett, Brown, Chuhran, Larson, Poole, Preniczky.
absent: Padgett.

Agenda Changes:

Deleted #7 - Census Project.
Deleted #14 - Clerks demonstration of punch card voting.
Moved by Bennett, supported by Brown and unanimously carried to accept the agenda. This special meeting was called to replace the regularly-scheduled meeting which would have been held on Tuesday, August 5, 1986 Primary Election Day.
Moved by Larson, supported by Bennett and unanimously carried that in recognition of the unanimous approval to the Midas Muffler site plan by the planning commission, and the fact that this parcel is zoned C-3, and that the site plan is in compliance with all ordinances, that this site plan be approved contingent upon the applicant receiving appropriate MDOT permits.

Moved by Larson for disapproval of the proposed rezoning from Office (0-1) to Commercial (C-3) of parcels 43 99 0008 000 and 43 99 0009 000, because this action is not in compliance with the current and proposed Master Land Use Plan, which has the intent of providing Ford Road frontage with a break between the commercial properties from the Ford Road-I-275 interchange and the community commercial properties extending west from Morton Taylor on Ford Road.
Yes: Larson, Poole, Bennett, Brown.
No: Preniczky.

The motion to deny carried 4-1. Chuhran was absent from the room at the time of the vote because she was retrieving some file information.

Moved by Larson for disapproval of the proposed rezoning from Office (0-1) to Commercial (C-3) of parcels 43 99 0008 000 and 43 99 0009 000, because this action is not in compliance with beyond the consent judgement and is contrary to the intent of the community to provide a break between the highway oriented commercial on Ford Road to the east and the commercial that exists on Ford Road beginning at Morton-Taylor to the west. Brown supported.
Yes: Larson, Poole, Preniczky, Bennett, Brown.
No: Chuhran.

The motion to deny carried 5-1.
Moved by Larson, supported by Preniczky to approve the rezoning of part of parcel No. 027 99 0005 000 from AGI-Agricultural Industrial to R-1 Single Family Residential, 15 acres located on the south side of Hanford between Ridge and Napier Roads.
Yes: Preniczky, Bennett, Brown, Larson.
No: Poole, Chuhran.

The motion to approve carried 4-2.
Moved by Bennett and supported by Larson and unanimously carried to approve the rezoning of Parcel No. 141 99 0027 002 at the southeast corner of Michigan Ave. and Lotz Road from LI-2 Light Industrial to C-3 Highway Oriented Commercial, and to request the planning commission to discuss and make a recommendation for Michigan Avenue frontage from I-275 to Hannan Road.

Moved by Larson and supported by Chuhran that:
WHEREAS, Act 223, P.A. 1909, as last amended by Act 196, P.A. 1970 provides for the conveyance of State-owned tax-reverted lands to municipal units for public purposes, and
WHEREAS, such lands as described on Exhibit A attached hereto, are under the jurisdiction of the State of Michigan, Department of Natural Resources and are available for acquisition under the provision of the above mentioned act, and
WHEREAS, the Charter Township of Canton desires to acquire said lands for purposes of Recreation and Economic Development.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Charter Township of Canton is authorized to make application to the State of Michigan, Department of Natural Resources, Lands Division for conveyance of said land to the Charter Township of Canton for a nominal fee as set by the Natural Resources Commission, and FURTHER BE IT RESOLVED that the Charter Township of Canton shall set up necessary procedures and controls to provide for the proper distribution of funds arising from the subsequent sale of the acquired property in conformity with the above mentioned acts.

AYES: Bennett, Brown, Chuhran, Larson, Poole, Preniczky.
NAYS: None.
ABSENT: Padgett.

Moved by Larson, supported by Brown and unanimously carried to take the request from Magra, Inc. for a sidewalk variance, for two weeks for a report back from the Building Department.

There was a discussion of the Fence Ordinance. The supervisor stated that his is awaiting the comments of the attorney regarding maintenance enforcement.

Moved by Larson, supported by Preniczky and unanimously carried to expend an amount not to exceed $10,000, to dig a test water well and to authorize the engineering work and letting of bids for an irrigation system for the soccer fields in the Canton Recreation Complex.

Moved by Preniczky and supported by Larson and unanimously carried to approve payment not to exceed $9,738.00 to Bartell & Bartell for work performed on police sergeant promotional assessment center, to be paid from federal revenue sharing account number 249-301-801-002.

Moved by Brown, supported by Larson and unanimously carried to table discussion of the Balloon Festival until trustee Padgett is present.

Moved by Larson, supported by Chuhran and unanimously carried to authorize sale of the assets listed in the communications received from Linda Chuhran and Carol Quinn dated July 28, 1986, after the lists have been circulated throughout the departments inquiring if they have a need for any of the items.

Moved by Larson, supported by Bennett and unanimously carried to go to closed session to discuss employee negotiations at 10:00 p.m.

Moved by Brown, supported by Chuhran and unanimously carried to return to open session and to adjourn at 10:15 p.m.

ORDINANCE AMENDING THE UNIFORM TRAFFIC CODE OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON, BEING ORDINANCE NO. 66

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE UNIFORM TRAFFIC CODE FOR MICHIGAN CITIES, TOWNSHIPS AND VILLAGES; PROVIDING FOR NOTICE THEREOF; PROVIDING FOR AMENDMENTS AND CHANGES IN THE CODE; PROVIDING FOR THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF THE ORDINANCE; PROVIDING FOR THE REPEAL OF ALL OTHER ORDINANCES INCONSISTENT WITH THIS ORDINANCE; PROVIDING FOR THE SEVERABILITY OF THIS ORDINANCE AND THE PRESERVATION OF ALL PENDING PROSECUTIONS.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON ORDAINS:

Section 1 Amendments to Code Adopted

The Uniform Traffic Code for cities, townships and villages promulgated by the Director of the Department of State Police, effective January 27, 1981, and published in Quarterly Supplement No. 5 to the 1979 Edition of the Michigan Administrative Code, in accordance with Act No. 62 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1954, are hereby adopted by reference amending and adding similarly numbered sections of Ordinance No. 66 adopted on January 13, 1976, amended on July 7, 1981 and September 6, 1979, is hereby reaffirmed and/or adopted by reference as in this ordinance modified.

Section 2 Notice to be Published

The Township Clerk shall publish this ordinance in a manner required by law and shall at the same time publish a supplementary notice setting forth the purpose of the said Uniform Traffic Code and of the fact that a complete copy of the code is available at the office of the Clerk for inspection by the public at all times.

Section 3 Changes in Code

The following sections and subsections of the Uniform Traffic Code for cities, townships and villages are hereby amended or deleted as set forth and additional sections and subsections are added as indicated. Subsequent section numbers used in this ordinance shall refer to the like numbered sections of the Uniform Traffic Code.

Section 5.9 Speed Restrictions; Violation as Civil Infraction

(1) A person driving a vehicle on a highway shall drive at a careful and prudent speed not greater than nor less than is reasonable and proper, having due regard to the traffic surface, and width of the highway and of any other condition then existing. A person shall not drive a vehicle upon a highway at a speed greater than that which will permit a stop within the assured, clear distance ahead.

(2) A person who violates this section is responsible for a civil infraction.

Section 5.9(a) Driving at Slow Speeds; Violation as Civil Infraction

(1) A person shall not drive a motor vehicle at such slow speed as to impede the normal and reasonable movement of traffic, except when reduced speed is necessary for safe operation or to comply with law.

(2) A person who violates this section is responsible for a civil infraction.

Section 5.10 Prima Facie Speed Limits; Operation within a Mobile Home Park; Drawing Another Vehicle or Trailer; Operation of a Truck, Tractor or Tractor with Trailer; Operation of a School Bus; Maximum Rates of Speed; Operation within Designated Work Areas; Violation as Civil Infraction

(1) Subject to section 5.9 and except in those instances where a lower speed is specified in this ordinance, it shall be prima facie lawful for a driver of a vehicle to drive at a speed not exceeding the following, except when the speed would be unsafe:

- (a) 25 miles an hour on all highways in a business or residence district as defined in this act.
- (b) 25 miles an hour in public parks unless a different speed is fixed and duly posted.

(2) It shall be prima facie unlawful for a person to exceed any of the speed limits prescribed in subsection 5.10(1), except as hereinafter provided.

(3) The driver of a vehicle in a mobile home park as defined in Section 2 of Act No. 419 of the Public Acts of 1976, being Section 125.1102 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, shall drive at a careful and prudent speed not greater than a speed which is reasonable and proper, having due regard for the traffic, surface, width of the roadway, and any other condition existing, and not greater than a speed which will permit a stop within the assured clear distance ahead. It shall be prima facie unlawful for a driver of the vehicle to drive at a speed exceeding 15 miles per hour in a mobile home park as defined in Section 2 of Act No. 419 of the Public Acts of 1976.

(4) A person driving a passenger vehicle drawing another vehicle or trailer shall not exceed a speed of 55 miles per hour, unless the vehicle or trailer has two wheels or less and does not exceed the combined weight of 750 pounds for the vehicle or trailer and load, or a trailer coach of not more than 26 feet in length with brakes on each wheel and attached to the passenger vehicle with an equalized or stabilizing coupling unit.

(5) A person driving a truck, tractor, or tractor with trailer, or a combination of these vehicles with a gross weight, loaded or unloaded, in excess of 5,000 pounds, shall not exceed a speed limit of 55 miles per hour on highways, streets, or freeways, which shall be reduced to 35 miles per hour during the period when reduced loadings are being enforced in accordance with this ordinance.

(6) A person driving a school bus shall not exceed the speed of 50 miles per hour.

(7) The maximum rates of speeds allowed pursuant to this section are subject to the maximum rates established pursuant to section 5.12.

(8) A person who operates a vehicle on a highway shall not exceed a speed of 45 miles per hour when entering and passing through a designated work area where a normal lane or part of the lane of traffic has been closed due to the highway construction, maintenance, or surveying activities. The Department of State Highways and Transportation, County Road Commission, or local authorities shall identify a designated work area with traffic control devices which are in conformance with the Michigan Manual of Uniform Traffic Control Devices on streets and highways under its jurisdiction. A person shall not exceed the foregoing speed limitation or those established pursuant to this ordinance.

(9) A person who violates this section is responsible for a civil infraction.

Section 5.15 Operating Under the Influence

(1) A person, whether licensed or not, who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the Township. A peace officer, may without a warrant, arrest a person when the peace officer has reasonable cause to believe that the person was, at the time of an accident, the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident and was operating the vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the Township while in violation of this subsection or of subsection (2).

(2) A person, whether licensed or not, whose blood contains 0.10 per cent or more by weight of alcohol, shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the Township.

(3) The owner of a vehicle or a person in charge or in control of a vehicle shall not authorize or knowingly permit the vehicle to be operated upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of motor vehicles, within the Township by a person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a person who is convicted of a violation of subsection (1), (2) or (3) is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, or a fine of not less than $100.00 nor more than $500.00, or both, together with costs of the prosecution. As part of the sentence for a violation of subsection (1) or (2), the court shall order the Secretary of State to suspend the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person for a period of not less than six (6) months nor more than two (2) years. The court may order the Secretary of State to issue to the person a restricted license permitting the person during all or a specified portion of the period of suspension to drive only to and from the person's residence and work location; in the course of a person's employment or occupation; to and from an alcohol or drug education program or treatment program as ordered by the court; to and from the person's residence and an educational institution at which the person is enrolled as a student; or pursuant to a combination of these restrictions. The court shall not order the Secretary of State to issue a restricted chauffeur's license which would permit a person to operate a truck or truck tractor, including a trailer, which hauls hazardous material. The court shall not order the Secretary of State to issue a restricted license unless the person states under oath and the court finds that the person is unable to take public transportation to and from his or her work location, place of alcohol or drug education or treatment, or educational institution, and does not have any family members or others able to provide transportation. The court order and license shall indicate the person's work location and the approved route or routes and permitted times of travel.

For purposes of this subsection "work location" includes, as applicable, either or both of the following:

- i. The specific place or places of employment.
- ii. The territory or territories regularly visited by the person in pursuance of the person's occupation.

(5) A person who violates subsection (1) or (2), or a state statute or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to subsection (1) or (2) within seven (7) years of a prior conviction may be sentenced to imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days or a fine of not more than $500.00, or both. As part of this sentence, the court shall order the Secretary of State to revoke the operator's "prior conviction" means a conviction under subsection (1) or (2), or a state statute or local ordinance substantially corresponding to subsection (1) or (2), or a law or another state substantially corresponding to subsection (1) or (2).

(6) As part of the sentence for a violation of subsection (1) or (2), the court may order the person to perform service to the community, as designated by the court, without compensation, for a period not to exceed twelve (12) days. The person shall reimburse the appropriate local unit of government for the cost of insurance incurred by the local unit of government as a result of the person's activities under this subsection.

(7) Before imposing sentence for a violation of subsection (1) or (2), the court shall order the person to undergo screening and assessment by a person or agency designated by the office of substance-abuse service, to determine whether the person is likely to benefit from rehabilitative services, including alcohol or drug education and alcohol or drug treatment programs. As part of the sentence, the court may order the person to participate in and successfully complete one (1) or more appropriate rehabilitative programs. The person shall pay for the costs of the screening, assessment, and rehabilitative services.

(8) Before accepting a plea of guilty under this section, the court shall advise the accused of the statutory consequences possible as the result of a plea of guilty in respect to suspension or revocation or an operator's or chauffeur's license, the penalty imposed for violation of this section, and the limitation on the right of appeal.

(9) The operator's or chauffeur's license of a person found guilty of violating subsection (1) or (2), shall be surrendered to the court in which the person was convicted, and the court shall immediately forward the surrendered license and an abstract of conviction to the Secretary of State. The abstract of conviction shall indicate the sentence imposed. Upon receipt of, and pursuant to the abstract of conviction, the Secretary of State shall suspend or revoke the person's license and, if ordered by the court and the person is otherwise eligible for a license, issue to the person a restricted license stating the limited driving privileges indicated on the abstract. If the license is not forwarded to the Secretary of State, and explanation of the reason why the license is absent shall be attached. If the conviction is appealed to Circuit Court, that court may, ex parte, order the Secretary of State to rescind the suspension, revocation, or restricted license issued pursuant to this section.

Section 5.15a Chemical Analysis

(1) The amount of alcohol or presence of a controlled substance or both in the driver's blood at the time alleged as shown by chemical analysis of the person's blood, urine or breath shall be admissible into evidence in a criminal prosecution for any of the following:

- (a) A violation of Section 5.15 (1), (2), or (3), or 5.15b.
- (b) Felonious driving, negligent homicide, or manslaughter resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle while the driver is alleged to have been impaired by or under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, or to have had a blood alcohol content of 0.10 per cent or more by weight of alcohol.

(2) If a test is given, the results of the test shall be made available to the person charged or the person's attorney upon written request to the prosecution, with a copy of the request filed with the court. The prosecution shall furnish the report at least two (2) days before the day of the trial and the results shall be offered as evidence by the prosecution in a criminal proceeding. Failure to fully comply with the request shall bar the admission of the results into evidence by the prosecution.

(3) Except in prosecution relating solely to a violation of section 5.15(2), the amount of alcohol in the driver's blood at the time alleged as shown by chemical analysis of the person's blood, urine or breath shall give rise to the following presumptions:

- (a) If there was at the time 0.07 per cent or less by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was not under the influence of intoxicating liquor.
- (b) If there was at the time in excess of 0.07 per cent but less than 0.10 per cent by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant's ability to operate a vehicle was impaired within the provisions of section 5.15b due to the consumption of intoxicating liquor.
- (c) If there was at the time 0.10 per cent or more by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(4) A sample or specimen of urine or breath shall be taken and collected in a reasonable manner. Only a licensed physician, or a licensed nurse or medical technician under the direction of a licensed physician and qualified to withdraw blood acting in a medical environment, at the request of a peace officer, may withdraw blood for the purpose of determining the amount of alcohol or presence of a controlled substance or both in the person's blood, as provided in this act. Liability for a crime or civil damages predicated on the act of withdrawing blood and related procedures shall not attach to a qualified person who withdraws blood or assists in the withdrawal in accordance with this act unless the withdrawal is performed in a negligent manner.

(5) The tests shall be administered at the request of a peace officer having reasonable grounds to believe the person has committed a crime described in subsection (1). A person who takes a chemical test administered at the request of a peace officer, as provided in this section, shall be given a reasonable opportunity to have a person of his or her own choosing administer one (1) of the chemical tests described in this section within a reasonable time after his or her detention, and the results of the test shall be admissible and shall be considered with other competent evidence in determining the innocence or guilt of the defendant. If the person charged is administered a chemical test by a person of his or her own choosing, the person charged shall be responsible for obtaining a chemical analysis of the test sample. The person charged shall be informed that he or she has the right to demand that a person of his or her own choosing administer one (1) of the tests provided for in subsection (1), that the results of the test shall be admissible and shall be considered with other competent evidence in determining the innocence or guilt of the defendant and that the person charged shall be responsible for obtaining a chemical analysis of the test sample.

(6) The person charged shall be advised that if the person refuses the request of a peace officer to take a test described in this section, a test shall not be given without a court order. The person charged shall also be advised that the person's refusal of the request of a peace officer to take a test described in this section shall result in the suspension of his or her operator's or chauffeur's license or operating privilege, and in the addition of six (6) points to his or her driver record.

(7) This section shall not be construed as limiting the introduction of any other competent evidence bearing upon the question of whether or not the person was impaired by or under the influence of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, or whether the person had a blood alcohol content of 0.10 per cent or more by weight of alcohol.

(8) If a jury instruction regarding a defendant's refusal to submit to a chemical test under this section is requested by the prosecution or the defendant, the jury instruction shall be given as follows:

"Evidence was admitted in this case which, if believed by the jury, could prove that the defendant has exercised his or her right to refuse a chemical test. You are instructed that such a refusal is within the statutory rights of the defendant and is not evidence of his guilt. You are not to consider such a refusal in determining the guilt or innocence of the defendant."

(9) If, after an accident, the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident is transported to a medical facility and a sample of the driver's blood is withdrawn at that time for the purpose of medical treatment, the results of a chemical analysis of that sample shall be admissible in a criminal prosecution for a crime described in subsection (1) to show the amount of alcohol or presence of a controlled substance or both in the person's blood at the time alleged, regardless of whether the person had been offered or had refused a chemical test. The medical facility or person performing the chemical analysis shall disclose the results of the analysis to a prosecuting attorney who requests the results for use in a criminal prosecution as provided in this subsection. A medical facility or person disclosing information in compliance with this subsection will not be civilly or criminally liable for making the disclosure.

(10) If after a highway accident the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident is deceased, a sample of the decedent's blood shall be withdrawn in a manner directed by the medical examiner for the purpose of determining blood alcohol content or presence of a controlled substance or both.

Section 5.15b Impaired Driving

(1) A person shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the Township when, due to the consumption of an intoxicating liquor, a controlled substance, or a combination of an intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, the person has visibly impaired his or her ability to operate the vehicle. If a person is charged with violating section 5.15 (1) or (2), a finding of guilty is permissible under this section.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a person convicted of a violation of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, or a fine of not more than $300.00, or both, together with costs of the prosecution. As part of the sentence, the court shall order the Secretary of State to suspend the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person for a period of not less than ninety (90) days nor more than one (1) year. The court may order the Secretary of State to issue to the person a restricted license permitting the person a restricted license permitting the person during all or a specified portion of the period of suspension to drive only to and from the person's residence and work location; in the course of the person's employment or occupation; to and from an alcohol or drug education program or treatment program as ordered by the court; to and from the person's residence and an educational institution at which the person is enrolled as a student; or pursuant to a combination of these restrictions. The court shall not order the Secretary of State to issue a restricted chauffeur's license which would permit a person to operate a truck or truck tractor,

Spirit of Fall Fest dampened by City

The Plymouth City Commission voted Monday night to make the Fall Festival part of the city's functions, and the 30-year tradition of an autonomous, service organization-run Fall Festival has come to an end.

That is too bad.

This comes after the Fall Fest Board of Directors voted 7 to 3 last week to request the city to take over Fall Fest because of increasing liability insurance costs for the Fall Fest directors.

There has got to be another answer. There should have been, at the very least, more than one option to consider.

The way it now stands, a Plymouth institution faces the potential to become a toy of the politicians, despite assurances to the contrary by the present administration. And in a way, the independent spirit of the Fall Fest has been dampened by the incorporation.

The towel was thrown in before anyone had a reasonable chance to voice concern, discuss possible alternatives, or organize a community-wide effort to keep the Fest independent.

Thirty years of a unique celebration has now become an official function of the City.

In years to come, this scene may have a different look thanks to the city. (Crier file photo)

The real effects will not be seen for years to come. When they are, Fall Fest goes from years past may not recognize the new Fall Fest.

Dead skunk leaves lasting scent

I am the kind of person who wonders a lot. I wonder about things that nobody has a right to think twice about.

Things worry me. I don't know why I am this way, but it can be scary at times. For instance I wonder why nobody has written a book of "Small talk to make in the elevator." This would sell millions.

I stay up nights wondering why anyone would buy underwear out of a large bin in a factory outlet store. And I worry about what happened to the actor who played Greg on "The Brady Bunch."

But most of all, I have always wondered what happens to the lifeless animals on the side of the road. The ones that have obviously lost in a game of "Road chicken" to a large truck.

For years I wondered, while trying not to look too closely, what happens to these flattened critters. Was a gang of flies and the sound of zooming cars their forever fate.

Until Friday I left this morbid thought alone. Wondering about such things is grotesque enough without actually checking up on this problem — unprovoked.

Friday, however, was my day of reckoning with this thought. Finally a reason to delve deep into this subject was laid before.

At Facevalue

By T.M. Smith

A Plymouth Township resident called. It seemed Mr. Skunk met Mr. Truck Bumper and lost, and he lie motionless on the road in front of her house.

But as all good skunks will tell you, a skunk soul cannot go to skunk heaven if it fails to leave a "lasting scent" of its life.

This skunk will make it to heaven, but the resident was not real pleased with the lingering memorial left by the dearly departed animal.

She wanted this skunk gone. Plymouth Township, however, informed her that they don't perform that task.

She was given a number for a outfit that would perform this removal "for a nominal fee." Now I can understand this woman's reluctance to shell out $40 to have a dead skunk scraped off the roadway.

She called our offices as a last resort. That's right, when all else fails call The Crier. I assured her, with no degree of confidence, that I would get to the bottom of the story.

So, I pulled out the big phone book and started with "animal" and worked my way to "health department" at every step of the way I was greeted with "you want to do what?"

At each level I tried to reply without a hint of laughter, that I wanted a dead skunk picked up. Each office had a similar response. "We don't do that! Try a different office."

So I plugged away, until I found a place that will take care of the problem. Tucked away in some musty corner of the Wayne County Building, is a arm of the Environmental Health Department that will remove animals who have moved to a better life.

To this point, I am not sure what the moral of the story is. I feel as though a nagging question has been removed — I just pray that Greg Brady was not the guy who has the job of picking up dead skunks.

Strange bedfellows

Newspapers are in an awkward predicament when it comes to political campaigns. Turn to the editorial page and read a glowing endorsement for Joe Blow. On the next page, there's an advertisement, paid in full by Joseph himself.

Couldn't the paper be swayed by a guy whose money pays its reporters? Doesn't it, at least, show that the candidate is so smart, he knows to choose the right paper? Hopefully, people will make up their own minds.

In the first place, if you buy a newspaper or turn on the television, you'd better be ready to take things with a grain of salt.

Which brings us to this year's slate of candidates in local primary races. The Crier interviewed several of the candidates and then, well, then we sold them a few ads.

Running for the U.S. House in the 15th District are four Democrats. We tried to get the stumpers to speak on local issues. One, William Gardiner, a singer, and a follower of Lyndon LaRouche, said the planet Mars should be populated.

Glen Kassel, a Republican looking for the same seat, said the Soo Locks should be expanded. How could that help our district? More jobs, said Glen, of those who would quickly become ex-15th District voters.

In the 2nd District, Dems Dean Baker and Don Grimes squared off. A month ago we shortchanged Dean when we confused him with a conservative politico named Deane Baker, a regent at U-M. Dean showed up at our interview with two women supporters. I took off points when candidates showed up with anything other than their wits (Ford, and county executive candidates Robert Ficano and Frank Wilkerson also brought small entourages).

In the 10th District there will be a tight race for a seat on the county commission. Susie Heintz, supervisor for Northville Township, will face Elaine Tuttle, treasurer for Livonia. At the end of the interviews, the other Republican, Larry Schweiger, said everyone thought it was a "two-woman race." Who said politics is a man's world.

By the way, I like Heintz's campaign billboards which feature a pair of eyeglasses, apparently known as her trademark. If she ever gets contact lens her political career is over.

The county exec race is the biggest, because it largely involves putting up welcome signs in Metro Airport. The heavyweights are Livonia's mayor Ed McNamara, and Robert Ficano, Wayne County Sheriff. Ficano is a good guy, but you can see his resume jutting out of his pocket. After winning the county exec race, he would serve one term and run for governor. The American Dream.

A longshot for the exec job is Charles (Chuck) Nemeth, of Dearborn, who is a knowledgeable career politician. He also told the best story. He used to manage hotels. He worked for good motels, not dilapidated ones. Still, he found that people liked to commit suicide in their rooms. He found upwards of 400 people who were no longer.

That came up after Nemeth said he didn't want the county's Office of the Drain Commissioner abolished, a key issue in his race. Nemeth said the county had also erred in abolishing the Coroner's Office, which had made it easier for his maids to change the beds.

Nemeth's top campaign issue was an opposition to use of Detroit's abandoned salt mines as toxic waste dumps. He also said the drain office was similar to medieval days when a drain commissioner, of sorts, had to take care of moats.

Take that with a grain of salt the size of a toxic waste dump.

My favorite candidate is in a race that Plymouth-Canton voters won't decide. In Ann Arbor, a man is running as a write-in for state representative. He has run before and never won. Newspapers have done stories on him as a "perennial candidate."

When I went to school in Ann Arbor I lived with the man. He was nice enough, but one week he began to talk about fires and fire engines. A few days later, at a time when he was trying to break his lease, our house burned. He was the only one home and said he'd been smoking in bed.

I don't want to make any accusations. Especially when our ad department isn't busy. And perennials can always bloom in November, too.

know how beautiful but expensive many of these cards are these days.

If there were a group or organization which could make use of them from time to time, I would see that they were forwarded.

Thank you very much.

Arts Council backed out of contest commitment

EDITOR:

The Plymouth Community Arts Council recently held a "contest" of a new variety. In this contest, there were no winners.

The contest's purpose (which, incidentally, was publicized by The Crier for four weeks prior) asked local artists to submit an illustration, painting, etc. of a familiar Plymouth winter scene to be used on cards that, in turn, were to be sold in order to raise funds to support local programs in the arts. An award of $100 was to be given to the best qualified entrant.

The council received minimal responses to this contest. However, a few people did submit entries in hopes of winning, or at least gaining some recognition for their efforts. But the council, upon gathering to make their decision on July 28, suddenly decided to cancel the contest.

Why? Well, from what this entrant was told, the council felt that response to the contest was poor (which it was) as well as the fact that they believed the card project would not go over well enough to make money. I was also told that the council didn't feel there had been enough publicity. One has to wonder whose fault that is. I saw nothing posted around town to make more people aware. The responsibility to publicize lies with the sponsor -- and the effort seemed as half-hearted as their intention to follow through on the contest.

I'm afraid the council's decision (based after-the-fact) leaves something to be said for their ethics and reasoning. The council should have come to a solid decision BEFORE announcing the contest and soliciting the hard work of the artists. To put it bluntly, they backed out on their commitment.

It is a shame that the efforts of the artists who entered will go unnoticed. Worse yet is the fact that an organization like the PCAC will now probably have a few less supporters.

Why ignorance isn't bliss in downtown Plymouth

Kudos to cool heads of cops and kids

EDITOR:
To Chief Myers:
Yesterday, during our weekly Wednesday management meeting, the Skatin' Station spent time reviewing the impact of the July 26th "Plymouth Cruise" on our Plymouth-Canton Community. We would like to go on record as commending you on the excellent job performed by your officers on Saturday night. Although the Skatin' Station is located in Canton Township, I am a resident of the City of Plymouth, as well as a voter and taxpayer in the city, and we are always concerned with the current "happenings" anywhere in The Plymouth-Canton Community. We consider ourselves a community entertainment center for all age groups, but because a majority of our business deals with teens and young adults, we can really relate to the problems that your department has had to face.

We feel we have always provided the very best in a disciplined, supervised atmosphere of entertainment for the people of our community. However, the young people of our area do not seem to want this kind of structured environment at this time. They are now interested in "cruising" or "hanging around" in Plymouth, whether on Main Street, Penniman, or in Kellogg Park. Within limits, it is the right of every citizen to do so.

Unfortunately, some people feel that they also have the right to violate many of the rules and regulations that we must all live by, whether we like them or not, in order to maintain the civilized society that we cherish. I am in my forties and am a divorced parent. Many of the "kids" today in Wayne

The effect a newspaper has on attracting attention to an event may be impossible to measure. Results of a study into the question would be, at best, speculative.

A few readers, however, called or visited last week to complain about The Crier's coverage of the "Plymouth Cruise," two weeks ago. Those readers saw a direct causal relationship between a story we ran on Wednesday before the Cruise, and the high number of youth who showed up for the Cruise.

They said it was irresponsible for the newspaper to print anything on the Cruise before the fact, that it only attracted more kids to clog downtown that Saturday night.

Although their concern is legitimate, I believe it is misguided in this case.

Local police estimated that 3,000 cruisers hit Plymouth on that weekend. Organizers of the Cruise said they had distributed between 3,000 and 4,000 flyers on drivers throughout the Detroit suburban area 10 days before the Cruise night.

Out of the Cruisers who showed that night, an observer might have guessed that approximately 50 per cent were from outside The Plymouth-Canton Community. Certainly, Cruisers from Dearborn, Southfield and Farmington Hills didn't read about the event in The Crier on the Wednesday before the weekend.

Also, those who believe that our local kids are getting their weekend plans from reading The Crier are underestimating the word-of-mouth factor among the local youth. Even when County are from divorced parents, and many of them have had a hard time adjusting to that kind of situation. The youth of today are subjected to an immense amount of peer pressure, and overall I think they have done a great job of handling it.

We feel that the youth of our community need to be complimented for not allowing the peer pressure of the few "rowdies" in the crowd to entice them into similar actions. We hope that these young people realize that the Plymouth Police Department were present not only to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the homeowners and businesses on Main Street, but also those of the participants in the "Plymouth Cruise." If a full-scale confrontation had broken out, who knows how many young people may have been injured?

In the same vein, we would like to compliment the Plymouth Police Officers and the Wayne County Sheriff Patrol for not allowing the same few "rowdies" to cause them to act in an unprofessional manner. Having had the opportunity to observe this event first-hand, I was very impressed with the understanding attitudes and professionalism exhibited by the law enforcement people present.

Overall, I feel that both "sides" need to be commended for the way

Make a buck off cruisers downtown

EDITOR:
Like the rest of you, I heard there'd be a "cruise night" in Plymouth last Saturday night; and like, it would appear, most of you, I went to see it, too. What I saw after two passes down Main Street was a happening, an event. People, young and old, were driving down Main and walking the sidewalks talking to friends and making new ones. Most of the cars were, if not "real bitchin," at least clean and courteously driven. People were smiling and happy and the only ones causing anything resembling trouble tossed a few empty pop bottles on a lawn. Everyone was on their best behavior.

One of the reasons some were on their best behavior was undoubtedly the heavy police presence. There were probably more police on duty that night than on call in all of Detroit! For their part the police were initially well-behaved, but frustrated. Their heavy presence had the desired result and practically no one did anything wrong.

All this well-behaved cheeriness was obviously giving them fits so at 10:30 p.m. they resorted to closing the downtown area. It can only be assumed they felt that they couldn't sustain their large numbers for very long and when they left the well-behaved crowd would turn into the Hell's Angels. This self-prophecy came true when the police decided that everyone was up past bedtime, and in a rough manner pushed the citizenry out of Plymouth.

All of these well-mannered people were told to leave. Two or three people together constituted a crowd and were arrested. These were our streets they closed and our citizens discouraged from enjoying an event. This overreaction is not in the school is not in session, the kids will know about events that affect them long before this weekly paper hits the streets.

And, most importantly, a newspaper that knew about the Cruise beforehand and did NOT report it to its readers would be remiss in its duties to keep the readers informed -- especially in this case.

Those readers who did not hear about the event before it happened should be properly informed (or warned, in this case) when city streets are to be swamped with thousands of cars and onlookers. As a reader, I would have been very upset to learn about the Cruise firsthand, trapped in traffic and crowds downtown, instead of reading about and preparing for the Cruise ahead of time.

Looking back, I think the net effort of our pre-Cruise story may have increased the number of gawkers, some of which were parents of the Cruisers. The Cruisers knew what was going to happen before our story appeared. Another affect I hope our story had was to provoke conversation among parents with Cruise-age children. Ideally, the parents who read about the Cruise would then ask their children, "Do you know about this, and are you planning on going to this?"

If the tag of irresponsibility has to be placed somewhere, it should be with those parents who read about the Cruise and did not ask their kids about their plans for that night.

Less information on the Cruise would not have helped the situation. More responsible action by informed parents would have.

they handled this situation, although I don't think there were really two "sides," but rather a large group that wanted to have a peaceful, enjoyable evening, and a small minority that perhaps wanted to cause trouble. Whether you're a business owner, a police officer, or a "cruiser," no one wants to get hit in the head with a flying bottle, or get otherwise injured.

Under the circumstances, you could not have done a better job. Good luck and keep up the good work!

tradition of our founding fathers.

It would seem to me that, assuming a reason is required to allow the people to the downtown, the merchants could come up with one. If people will turn out at 5 a.m. to get 50 per cent off as they did during the Balloon Festival, the canny merchants of Plymouth could profit from a monthly or bi-monthly cruise night in Plymouth during the nicer weather. Imagine if all those people enjoying themselves could spend money while doing it! This could benefit all. The people would enjoy themselves, the merchants could profit, Plymouth would reap taxes more than enough to pay for the police presence, and enterprising kids could make money turning in deposit bottles Sunday morning. It's been shown many times that the free enterprise system and FREEDOM go hand-in-hand.

EDITOR:

I'm originally from Plymouth, but moved to Florida. Upon reading your article on 'Squids' (as you labeled them), I decided to write.

How can you write about something you know absolutely nothing about? I'm labeled a 'punk' here because I don't conform and look like the rest of society, my thoughts aren't the same, and my hair isn't kept in the latest so called 'trend.' What a joke, just like the person who wrote the article.

You owe the kids on Penniman Avenue an apology, though I'm sure you wouldn't want to ruin your 'reputation.' We're not 'weird,' it's you. A half of the world are Conservatives and you're all worried about what your (so called) "friends" think. If anything, the punks are probably helping the businesses out. You outta hire a professional photographer to take your pictures too.

Listen to the words of 'Minor Threats' (I'm Seein' Red), maybe you'll get the picture.

EDITOR:

Thanks, T.M. Smith, in reference to your story, "Cruise Rekindles Memories."

I never realized that my statement on the C.B. radio would find its way into newsprint.

However, please change Chamberlain, to Cambridge, Ohio.

As I think back over 20 years, our chief of police in Cambridge displayed a lot of down home common sense. He affected his solutions before, not after the fact. The businessmen and women of Cambridge were pretty sharp, too. They realized that a lot of fifties rebels and greasers paid for their Arizona and Florida retirements.

I wonder what would happen to Plymouth's economy if all the kids elected to spend their money at another city's Fall Festival.

In any case, T.M., have a nice day, from a grandfather that was forced to walk a line somewhere between Richie and Fonzie.

Papers assist police

EDITOR:

Each year the Plymouth and Canton communities have a large number of activities which attract citizens to our areas. Each year the local police agencies, fire departments, D.P.W.'s and others do extensive planning to ensure the success of the events as well as all of those attending.

This year being no exception to large amounts of activities occurring in our communities, two of which recently occurred, the Fourth of July and Balloon Festival. Both of these events were very successful and not just from a planning point, but from the assistance of the local newspapers.

Both local papers gave quality directions and information about these events. This type of reporting takes a large load off of the police departments and always assists in crowd control, while allowing for the maximum amount of enjoyment.

Departments wish to thank you for your efforts and assistance leading up to and during these festivals. Continued cooperation will always lead to success for communities and their festivals.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP

Nestled in the tall weeds on the northeast corner of Cherry Hill and Ridge roads in Canton, is a house where a man collects things.

A knock at the door will bring an invitation to see things "I bet you've never seen before," and if he likes you, Earl Buchner will offer you a cold beer and shot of ginger brandy.

Take him up on the invitation and step inside a place where old musty furniture rests, antique tools lay strewn everywhere and a pair of Kirby vacuum cleaners stand guard.

A 20-year-old Magnavox stereo pipes Christmas music through the stale air of Buchner's house, which he bought 50 years ago.

There are bar room beer signs, old clothes and mementoes from his days as a train engineer. Pictures, priceless pieces of past, worthless junk items and cob webbs give the home integrity and gives Buchner stories to pass on.

"The wife and I got a letter from the president for our 50th wedding anniversary," he boasts. "It's somewhere around here."

Maybe it's in the chest of drawers that holds up the east wall of Buchner's bedroom.

"Look at these watches. They're no good now, they've been through the wash. Left them in my damn pocket.

"Bet you don't know what this is. It's a nutcracker. Look at this. Bet

In Bold Print

By David Pierini

you've never seen this before," Buchner pulls out a bottle of white wine that sports Elvis Presley's mug.

"Come on, I'll show you the attic."

Climbing the stairs is a chore for old Buchner. "Broke my pelvis ice skating with my grandkids."

He is shoeless and shirtless with the fly of his cutoff trousers open.

"I'll be 76-years-old in October and I'm still chasing the girls." Mrs. Buchner was at church at the time.

Notched in the V of two nicotine-stained fingers is a smoldering cigarette from which ashes fall casually to the top step of the winding attic staircase.

"Look at that, a new toilet, still in the box," he says, greeting the camode. "See those typewriters. I payed a buck a piece for them. It's a damn shame the school got rid of them. They're still good."

There are clothes that have been hanging for 30 years, hand-made walnut dinning chairs and lots of diapers. "Got those for the grandkids. Look what I payed for them.

"Some collect clocks, some collect women, I collect miscellaneous."

So why did I stop at Buchner's home? Curious I guess. I saw him burning papers in his yard one time and also heard all about this eccentric little gentleman through other people. I had to meet him.

He has stories of Hungarian Mary, lazy railroad switchmen and the time he charged a dollar a form to do income taxes.

He likes to cuss, make a little fuss and reminisce. By the way, he's proud of the 1966 Chrysler Newport in his garage. "Mint condition. Next time you come, I'll show it to you."

At his cluttered kitchen table, he talks about whatever comes to mind. "Damn ordinance officer, he says I'm littering." A court summons comes in the mail, requesting Buchner to appear in court. Something about an overdue ticket. "Look, they spelt my name wrong. They can't get me now."

He picks up a tin eagle he pulled off a firewood basket a while back. "Now what the hell am I saving this for?"

Good question.

"I use to have a pickup truck and help people move. What they didn't want, I brought home."

Ah, that explains everything.

"My wife hates all this. She says it's all junk. She's right, I've got to get rid of all this junk."

'They think I'm nasty'

Local bus driver turns author to promote safety

P-C bus driver Joyce E. Dunn is so concerned with bus safety, she wrote and illustrated a book on the subject. (Crier photo by David Pierini)

BY DAVID PIERINI

School bus driver Joyce Dunn says the kids consider her one of the meanest drivers around.

"They think I'm nasty," she said.

Dunn isn't nasty, just concerned.

She's concerned about children's lack of understanding of how important it is to follow basic bus safety rules — so concerned, that she's written a book.

Her book is titled — what else — "Riding on a School Bus" and if you're a parent, she wants you to buy it.

"Many times, children and parents aren't aware of the hazards when kids don't follow simple little rules," she said. "The responsibility of the driver is to take kids to and from school safely."

That can't be done, she said, when children are standing on the seats, waving their arms out the window and making too much noise.

These pet peeves of all drivers along with safety rules and school bus terminology can be found in this illustrated book.

"Your child's life is in the hands of the bus driver," Dunn says in the closing of her book.

The book, which is for parents to read aloud to their children, costs $4.95 ($6 by mail) and was published by Vantage Press. It is available by calling 455-1910.

"It took me three years to get it (the book) to this form," said Dunn who also does wedding and portrait photography. She also did the book's illustrations.

So far, book sales haven't been big locally. Dunn said a few people have been interested and that several copies of the book have been sold to schools and transportation departments in the Cincinnati, OH. area.

"If it saves one child's life, that's my basic goal, making money is not."

Last act: Senility

All the world's a stage

I'm convinced kids spend their entire life going from one stage to another. We're all familiar with the terrible twos, awkward preteens and know-it-all teenagers.

It suddenly dawned on me that whenever a kid does something we don't like, we blame it on the fact that they are going through a stage. When the kid had a big mouth at 13, I said it was because of her age. Now at 19 the same kid still has trouble controlling the words that come out of her mouth and I heard myself saying something about youth.

My son knows all there is to know about everything, I'm still hopeful that he is going through some kind of stage and will out grow it.

The more I think about it, the more I wonder if every kid goes through every stage, or are these stages simply a mother's excuse for a spoiled kid? I know my two kids are spoiled, but for the most part I like them just the way they are.

I guess every kid goes through good and bad stages as they grow up. Since all of us are different, every kid reacts differently at certain stages.

My concern is what stage comes after teenager. I realize I'm starting to worry a little early, but what do I use for an excuse next year when the kid turns 20? There has to be something you can say about being young and foolish.

Once they turn 30 and are over the hill, it isn't long before it is time for the mid-life crisis. Oh no, I think I'm starting to understand why my mother was laughing at me while listening to me try to explain why the kid did what she did.

So much for deciding what stage the kids are in. I think I'm on my way to senility.

Healy to face Geake in Nov. vote

BY DAN NESS

Thomas Healy will face incumbent Republican 6th District State Senator Robert Geake in November, after staving off a challenge by fellow Democrat Scott Bassett last night.

Healy, as of press time, had received 4,802 votes. Bassett had received 2,754 votes.

Healy, a Plymouth attorney, said there was not much difference in the positions of himself and Bassett, but that he differed in degree on certain issues. During the campaign, Healy said he wanted to lower utility rates and provide tax assistance to senior citizens.

Bassett, of Livonia, ran on a platform of reforming the state's family law courts, with a specific plan to carry forth the plan.

Bassett conceded the race to Healy last night, and pledged his support of Healy in the Nov. 4 election against Geake.

The 6th District includes all of The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Kassel, Ford win

Congressman William Ford, of Taylor, ran away with the Democratic race for 15th Congressional District for the U.S. House of Representatives last night.

With 82 per cent of the district's vote tallied at press time, Ford had 14,158 votes compared to 534 for Daniel Eller, 532 for William Gardiner, and 422 for Burl Adkins.

The race for the Republican 15th District Congressional District was closer, with Glen Kassel, of Westland, outpacing Peter Bundarin, of Canton, at press time. Kassel had 3,983 votes as compared to Bundarin's 2,592 with 82 per cent of the vote in the district counted, according to the Wayne County Clerk's office.

Bundarin said he was "surprised at the close vote, especially in Canton." Canton voters chose Bundarin over Kassel by a margin of 980 to 747.

Mack outpaces Smith in 11th

BY DAN NESS

Incumbent Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack easily defeated challenger Robert Smith in the Democrat race for 11th District County Commission last night.

Mack will now face Republican Scott Press in the Nov. 4 general election.

As of press time, Mack led Smith by a tally of 2,367 to 919, with 70 per cent of the district's vote counted by the Wayne County Clerk.

"We're a little surprised by the margin of victory," Mack said. "We didn't expect to win by this margin, but it certainly encourages me to fight for the issues I've been fighting for."

One of the issues Mack has stressed during the campaign was his leadership role in attempting to eliminate the Wayne County Office of the Drain Commissioner and distribute the duties between the County Executive and the County Commission.

"I'm very grateful for the people's vote of confidence in this election," Mack said.

The 11th District includes all of Canton.

Heintz and Kopka will square off to fill the seat left by longtime commissioner Mary Dumas who announced her resignation following this term.

Heintz based her campaign going into the Republican primary on resolving the problem of the huge deficit the county has stacked up. She also said that the 10th District is fastly becoming the biggest and fastest growing district in the county and deserved an experienced politician.

One of the major differences between Heintz and Tuttle was the fact that Heintz pledged to make the position a full-time job, while Tuttle maintained that she would be able to keep her job as City of Livonia Treasurer. Heintz said she would step down from her position as Northville Supervisor.

Heintz also promised that one of her first duties as commissioner would be to set up a "priority list" for the county, with issues to be resolved placed in the proper kind of order.

She said she would push for all the commissioners to pool their pet projects and then develop a list from that.

"I have never seen any kind of list showing county wide priorities, this needs to be addressed, and then this needs to be followed," she said.

Tuttle pulled ahead early in the night to a huge lead, by taking more than 70 percent of Livonia's vote. Livonia released its results first.

Tuttle is currently the Treasurer of that city, and Heintz knew all along that Livonia would be her weak area.

The third candidate in the race,

Lawrence Schweiger, came in third with 2027 votes.

Heintz said that she had hoped to be able to take 30 percent of the vote in Livonia. She got close, as she came away with 28.8 percent.

"It was less than I had hoped for, but it wasn't that bad. What has happened is that I fell behind in Livonia and then I came back strong in Plymouth and Northville," Heintz said.

The hardest part for Heintz was sitting and waiting for her strong districts to start to trickle in.

"I knew that the voters in Plymouth knew me and they knew how I voted, it was just waiting for them to come in," she said.

Heintz will now face Democrat John Kopka in November's general election. Kopka ran uncontested, and advances automatically to the November election.

weeks, according to board member John Schwartz. The site may be on five acres of land behind the Canton Historical Museum on Canton Center and Proctor roads, which the Canton Board of Trustees allowed the library board to look at.

The new building will cost between $2.25 and $2.5 million, according to Schwartz.

Library Board members said the current library was too small for the needs of a growing Canton, and that the needed expansion could not be done at the current facility, on the third floor of the Canton Municipal Building.

Construction on the new library facility should take about 1½ years, board members said.

The Canton library now circulates more than 1,000 items every day and has the third largest circulation for an individual library in the Wayne-Oakland Library Federation (WOLF), which has more than 60 libraries.

Primary problems

Voter turnout for Tuesday's primary election was reported as "light" by area officials, and it was also plagued by irregularities and technical problems.

Both Plymouth Township and Canton Township were using the "Punch Card" voting system for the first time, and as was expected there were some problems.

Plymouth's machine that tabulates the absentee ballots "jammed" early this morning according to election officials. This delayed final results being released until past 2 a.m. this morning.

Canton also experienced some problems. At the time when the precincts closed down, it was reported that the phone lines at the township hall had gone down for an unknown reason.

"The biggest problem was when the phones went down in the whole building," Linda Chuhnan Canton Clerk said. This cause communications to be lost between the township hall and the individual precincts.

Despite the low voter turnout seen in The Plymouth-Canton Community, the figures reflect the votes cast by one young man who arrived at the City of Plymouth Cultural Center with 10 seconds before the polls closed.

Patient election workers sorted that he was in Pct. 5 -- not Pct. 4 -- and that he was in the voting room on time, so he was allowed to cast his ballot as the 234th voter in that city precinct.

McNamara tops Dem field in primary

BY ED FITZGERALD

After receiving endorsements from major newspapers and having led in polls, Livonia Mayor Ed McNamara has won the Democratic primary in the Wayne County Executive race.

It's likely that McNamara will win the November general election in a heavily democratic Wayne County. He will face just one Republican candidate, Robert Murphy, who has said he would take the job for just $1 a year. The four-year job pays $72,180 a year.

Finishing close behind McNamara was Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano. Also running a strong race was Frank Wilkerson, who has served as assistant to Bill Lucas, during his term as county executive. Another top contender was John Hertel, currently the chairman of the Wayne County Commission.

Other candidates were: Gerald Berg, a follower of Lyndon LaRouche, a dissident pro-nuclear Democrat; Thomas Gondek, treasurer for Sumpter Township, who was credited with bringing that township's financial matters under control, including an embezzlement conviction against a township official; Charles Nemeth, a longtime politician from Dearborn who had unsuccessfully tried twice to unseat that city's mayor Orville Hubbard; Samuel Turner, a current county commissioner, who has the support of Detroit's Mayor Coleman Young; Michael Tifrea, who withdrew from the race, but not in time to have his name removed from the ballot.

The candidates agreed that possibly the biggest issue facing the county executive is the county debt.

Also bandied about during the campaigns was the possible abolishment of the Office of the Drain Commissioner. All candidates either favored eliminating the office or insuring that the commissioner was more subject to checks and balances.

The debt of Wayne County has been estimated at $30 million. Ficano has said there was really no way to tell exactly, because "Lucas had changed the bookkeeping -- it could be up to $60 million."

Wilkerson took umbrage with charges of excess, saying he and Lucas had trimmed the debt by millions, and suggested a way to tighten belts was to have Wayne County take over Probate Court.

McNamara cited fiscal measures he'd taken in Livonia as proof of what he could do for the county. He said he cut Livonia's DPW and Fire Department without cutting service, and, taking a shot at Ficano, said, "The Sheriff's Department is not a sacred cow, either."

McNamara said, in reference to a top concern of The Plymouth-Canton Community, it "would be a terrible mistake to tamper with road funds."

Another issue both McNamara and Ficano talked of was indigent care. Ficano said the current county program "lacked incentive."

"You keep billing the county all you want, but you should set some aside," he said.

McNamara and Ficano also took jabs at each other concerning endorsements. McNamara said he had avoided seeking labor endorsements, but Ficano had not.

Poll workers see job as civic duty

BY DAVID PIERINI

Warning: this job is not for everyone.

The hours are long, the people dealt with aren't always pleasant and breaks are few and far between.

But the folks who run the election polls see things in a different light. They work the precincts because they enjoy meeting people and because they feel it's their civic duty.

"My mother worked the elections when I was a little girl and I couldn't wait until I was old enough to volunteer," said Betty Childs, who has worked in Plymouth Township precincts for 12 years and handled absentee ballots during last night's primary election. "It's interesting, it's hard work but it's a lot of fun."

For a day that starts at 6 a.m. and goes until all of the ballots are counted (sometimes until 10 or 11 p.m.) workers in Plymouth Township get around $55. Precinct chairmen get $5 more.

Precinct chairmen or captains are in charge of the paper work at the end of the election day, double checking the numbers before sending the totals on to the county.

Four to six people work a precinct. Up to four work with absentee ballots, but they're not required to work as many hours.

"We don't do it for the money," said precinct five chairman Delores Canever who has been working the polls for 14 years. "It's our civic duty. We're not active in politics, so this is our way to serve the community."

Most poll workers will say that being able to deal with people is an unwritten qualification, especially during primary elections.

"Most people are pretty nice," Canever said. "Some argue that they can split their vote up and that can't be done (during the primary)."

And then there are the people who cast write in votes. Dorothy Bassett knows all about them.

Bassett, who was chairman of precinct two, said a local business man a few years back came to vote with his two-year-old daughter on his back.

She said that the man, whom she didn't want to identify, cast his daughter's name as a write-in vote for state representative.

"I've never liked him since," she said.

Plymouth Township Clerk Esther Hulsing is in charge of all precinct workers, running the required training sessions and making sure that everything is organized before the workers get started.

"I have a policy of training workers before every election," Hulsing said. "The state law says you have to train every two years. I think that would be too long especially with this method of voting (punch card method)."

Hulsing also said that there are no formal qualifications in becoming a worker. Poll workers must be registered voters with the city or township he/she is working for.

"I want somebody pleasant," Hulsing said. "It's very important to be pleasant and learn to be helpful and be fairly intelligent."

Caring for early infants

The Henry Ford Preferred Medical Center in Plymouth will sponsor a free 'early-infant care' class for new and expecting parents from 4-6 p.m. Sunday Aug. 10.

The group discussion will be led by John Howard, M.D., a pediatrician at the Center.

The class will focus on care of infants up to six months old, including feeding, immunizations, and when to pick up that phone and call the doctor.

Advance registration is required. To do so, call the Preferred Medical Center at 453-5600. The Center is located at 261 S. Main St., Plymouth.

Crickets' picnic

The Canton Cricket Reunion Picnic is Friday, Aug. 8 at the Griffin Park Gazebo, from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. A picnic lunch and drinks will be provided. There will be games, prizes and surprise guests.

All past and present Crickets, their families and friends, are invited.

Former local leaves $ gift

BY DAVID PIERINI

Edwin Towle is best remembered as a loner who liked to spend time in libraries.

When he died of bone cancer in 1985, Towle (pronounced Toll) left $500,000 to Central Michigan University — a school he never attended.

A former Plymouth resident who died in Warren, Towle contributed the gift in memory of his father, William Towle, a 1909 graduate who spoke often of his fond memories at CMU.

"Edwin wanted the money used to educate students who were having difficulty paying for school," said Towle's younger brother Bruce, a Canton resident.

According to a press release, the gift will be used to create two distinguished professorships at Central.

"My concern is that the money isn't going to be used in a way he (Edwin) wanted it to," Bruce Towle said. "I guess they don't need scholarship money but I think it will be used in a way that would be acceptable to him and our parents also."

Edwin Towle, who lived in Warren at the time of his death, was born in South Lyon in 1914. The Towle family later moved to Plymouth, where Edwin graduated from Plymouth High School in 1931.

He attended Michigan State University for two years and then became a supervisor for the Railway Mail Service, retiring after 30 years.

getting down to business

Plymouth Hilton will cut no corners

BY DAVID PIERINI

Their business philosophy is simple: no cutting corners.

So when Columbia Sussex, a Kentucky investment group, bought the Plymouth Hilton in February, more than just a few changes were planned.

"They believe in running a first class operation," said new Plymouth Hilton manager Adel Abdo. "They probably could've gotten by with the way the hotel was, but that's not good enough. There's no cutting corners, we want to do everything just right."

When Abdo says everything, he means it.

The Hilton is currently under a $2.5 million renovation involving the entire hotel interior, scheduled to be completed in late September or early November.

"Basically, we're talking about a new everything," Abdo said.

Here's everything:

- A new mauve color theme, from the wallpaper right down to the new furniture and new carpeting.

- Modern light fixtures were installed to go with the new lighting system. "It was so dark before," Abdo said. "I can see now, I don't have to feel my way around."

- The completed Jolly Miller restaurant, with new furniture, wall paper, carpeting, utensils, the works. A new lighting system brightens up the atmosphere.

Plymouth Hilton manager Adel Abdo, Assistant Food & Beverages Director Sandy Navarne and Food & Beverages

Director Tom Jennings are just a part of the team that will give the Hilton its new look.

"It's very modern, very bright and you can feel comfortable here," Abdo said. "You don't have to be in a black suit."

- A new piano bar, currently in the works, will replace the small banquet rooms just left of the lobby.

- The pool area is also under renovation. The Park Restaurant, which was near the pool, will soon be an exercise and work-out area. An indoor playground will also be built near the pool.

- All guest rooms, offices, and banquet rooms will have a new look.

The lobby will have a marble floor and the gift shop will be expanded. A new telephone system and a satellite dish was also purchased.

"I predict a 10 per cent increase in business -- at least 10 per cent," Abdo said. "There isn't going to be a big rise in the prices. For all the money we've put into the hotel, maybe a $10 adjustment." Columbia Sussex, owned by William J. Yung, has been known to buy financially troubled hotels and turn business around.

"They'll take a place which is no longer profitable and make it profitable," Abdo said.

CEP student radio station announces scholarships

WSDP, the CEP student-run radio station, recently announced the results of its awards banquet.

Noelle Torrace received the $150 Bruce Gerish Scholarship. WSDP scholarships were awarded to Geoff Bankowski ($150) and Tani Secunda ($100). Both Torrace and Bankowski plan to attend MSU, while Secunda will start at Eastern Michigan University this fall.

The Bruce Gerish Scholarship is awarded to the graduating senior who is academically successful and has made a significant contribution to WSDP. Gerish, a 1977 Salem graduate and former station staff member, is a manufacturer representative for Osborne Industries in Troy. He has been a popular Detroit-area radio and nightclub performer.

Torrace was a three-year student director who achieved over a 3.8 grade point average.

Staff awards were given to: Bankowski - Best DJ; Most Improved DJ - Rachel Ramey, Secunda, and Julie Stuck; Best Announcer - Torrace; Most Improved Announcer -

Dan Johnston; and Staff Member of the Year - Torrace.

The student directors for next year are: Program/Music Director - Julie Stuck; Assistant Music Director - Carla Potter; News Director - Dan Johnston; Production and Public Service Director - Vince Messina; Promotions Director - Rachel Ramey; and Sports Director - Jeff Umbaugh.

Schoolcraft awards $500

Five graduates of The Plymouth-Canton School District have received Schoolcraft College Trustee scholarships for the 1986-87 school year.

Trustee Scholarships are $500 for the academic year and are renewable. Second-year renewal requires a 2.5 grade point average and completion of 26 credit hours.

Canton High School graduates receiving the awards are Laura Flaskamp and Michael Vanderveen. Salem High School graduates getting awards are Glen Josefosky, Glen Staton and Lynn Wazny.

Masons honored

Canton and Plymouth residents were in the class of 160 Masons who received Scottish Rite Freemasonry's 32nd degree at the final session of the 300th reunion at Detroit's Masonic Temple April 26.

Canton Masons in the class were Joseph Dzedziak, Daniel Mefford, Donald Shelby and Mohammed Odetella.

Public Notices

Section 5.15c Implied Consent

(1) A person who operates a vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the state is considered to have given consent to chemical tests of his or her blood, breath, or urine for the purpose of determining the amount of alcohol or presence of a controlled substance or both in his or her blood if:

(a) The person is arrested for a violation of section 5.15 (1) or (2) or 5.15b, or a state statute substantially corresponding to section 5.15 (1) or (2) or 5.15 b.

(b) The person is arrested for felonious driving, negligent homicide or manslaughter resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle, and the peace officer had reasonable grounds to believe that the person operating the vehicle while impaired by or under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or while having blood alcohol content of 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol.

(2) A person who is afflicted with hemophilia, diabetes, or a condition requiring the use of an anticoagulant under the direction of a physician shall not be considered to have given consent to the withdrawal of blood.

(3) The tests shall be administered as provided in Section 5.15a.

Section 5.15d Refusal of Chemical Test

If a person refuses the request of a peace officer to submit to a chemical test offered pursuant to section 5.15a, a test shall not be given without a court order. A written report shall be forwarded to the Secretary of State by the peace officer. The report shall state that the officer had reasonable grounds to believe that the person had committed a crime described in section 5.15c (1), and that the person had refused to submit to the test upon the request of the peace officer and had been advised of the consequences of the refusal. The form of the report shall be prescribed and furnished by the Secretary of State.

Section 5.15e Notice of Receipt of Report

(1) Upon receipt of the report made pursuant to section 5.15d, the Secretary of State shall immediately notify the person in writing, mailed to his or her last known address, that the report has been received and that within fourteen (14) days of the date of the notice the person may request a hearing as provided in section 5.15f.

(2) The notice shall specifically site the failure to request a hearing within fourteen (14) days will result in the suspension of the person's license or permit to drive. The notice shall also state that there is not a requirement that the person retain counsel for the hearing, though counsel would be permitted to represent the person at the hearing.

Section 5.15f Hearing; Failure to Request; Suspension, Revocation, or Denial of License, Permit or Operating Privileges

(1) If the person who refuses to submit to a chemical test pursuant to section 5.15d does not request a hearing within fourteen (14) days of the date of notice pursuant to section 5.15e, the Secretary of State shall suspend the person's operator's or chauffeur's license or permit to drive, or nonresident operating privilege, for a period of six (6) months, or for a second or subsequent refusal within a period of seven (7) years, for one (1) year. If the person is a resident without a license or permit for a period of six (6) months, or, for a second or subsequent refusal within a period of seven (7) years, for one (1) year.

(2) If a hearing is requested, the Secretary of State shall hold the hearing in the same manner and under the same conditions as provided in Public Act 310 of Public Act 310 of the Acts of 1982. At least ten (10) days' notice of the hearing shall be mailed to the person requesting the hearing, to the peace officer who filed the report under section 5.15d, and, if the prosecuting attorney requests receipt of the notice, to the prosecuting attorney of the county where the arrest was made. The hearing officer shall be authorized to administer oaths, issue subpoenas for the attendance of necessary witnesses, and may grant a reasonable request for an adjournment. The hearing shall cover only the following issues:

(a) Whether the peace officer had a reasonable grounds to believe that the person had committed a crime described in section 5.15 (1).

(b) Whether the person was placed under arrest for a crime described in section 5.15c (1)

(c) Whether the person reasonable refused to submit to the test upon the request of the officer.

(d) Whether the person was advised of the rights under section 5.15a and 5.15c.

(3) The hearing officer shall make a record of the proceedings held pursuant to subsection (2).

The record shall be prepared and transcribed in accordance with section 86 of the administrative procedures act of 1969, Act No. 306 of the Public Acts of 1969, being section 24.286 of the Michigan Compiled Laws. Upon notification of the filing of a petition for judicial review, the hearing officer shall transmit to the court in which the petition was filed, not less than ten (10) days before the matter is set for review, the original or a certified copy of the official record of the proceedings. Proceedings at which evidence was presented need not be transcribed and transmitted if the sole reason for review is to determine whether or not the court will order the issuance of a restricted license. The parties to the proceedings for judicial review may stipulate that the record be shortened. A party unreasonably refusing to stipulate to a shortened record may be taxed by the court which the petition is filed for the additional costs. The court may permit subsequent corrections to the record.

(4) After the hearing, the Secretary of State may suspend or deny issuance of a license or driving permit for a nonresident operating privilege of the person involved for a period of six (6) months or, for a second or subsequent refusal within seven (7) years, for one (1) year. If the person involved is a resident without a license or permit to operate a vehicle in the state, the Secretary of State may deny to the person the issuance of a license or permit for a period of six (6) months, or, for a second or subsequent refusal within (7) years, for one (1) year. The person involved may file a petition in the Circuit Court of the county in which the arrest was made to review the suspension or denial as provided in Public Act 310 of the Acts of 1982.

(3) When it has been finally determined that a nonresident's privilege to operate a vehicle in the state has been suspended or denied, the Department shall give notice in writing of the action taken to the motor vehicle administration of the state of the person's residence and of each state in which he or she has a license to operate a motor vehicle.

Section 5.15h Preliminary Breath Analysis

(1) A peace officer who has reasonable cause to believe that a person was operating a vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the state, and that the person by the consumption of intoxicating liquor may have affected his or her ability to operate a vehicle, may require the person to submit to a preliminary chemical breath analysis.

(2) A peace officer may arrest a person based in whole or in part upon the results of a preliminary chemical breath analysis.

(3) The results of a preliminary chemical breath analysis shall be admissible in a criminal prosecution for a crime enumerated in section 5.15a (1) or in an administrative hearing under section 5.15f, solely to assist the court or hearing officer in determining a challenge to the validity of an arrest. This subsection does not limit the introduction of other competent evidence offered to establish the validity of an arrest.

(4) A person who submits to preliminary chemical breath analysis shall remain subject to the requirements of sections 5.15a, 5.15c, 5.15d, 5.15e, and 5.15f for the purposes of chemical tests described in those sections.

(5) A person who refuses to submit to a preliminary chemical breath analysis upon a lawful request by a peace officer is responsible for a civil infraction.

(6) Section 5.15g shall apply to a preliminary chemical breath analysis.

Section 4 Conflicting Ordinance Repealed

All other ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of the Uniform Traffic Code as herein amended, are, to the extent of such inconsistency, hereby repealed.

Section 5 Severability

In the event any phrase, clause, sentence, or section of this ordinance is declared illegal or invalid in any final judgment by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remaining parts of this ordinance shall be deemed to have been adopted and shall continue in full force and effect without such illegal and invalid provision.

Section 6 Savings Clause

The repeal provided for herein shall not abrogate or affect any offense or act committed or done, or any penalty or forfeiture incurred, or any pending litigation or prosecution of any right established, or occurring prior to the effective date. This ordinance, as amended, shall become effective upon its publication.

including a trailer, which hauls hazardous material. The court shall not order the Secretary of State to issue a restricted license unless the person states under oath and the court finds that the person is unable to take public transportation to and from his or her work location, place of alcohol or drug education or treatment, or educational institution, and does not have any family members or others able to provide transportation. The court order and license shall indicate the person's work location and the approved route or routes and permitted times of travel. For purposes of the subsection, "work location" includes, as applicable, either or both of the following:

(i) The specific place or places of employment.

(ii) The territory or territories regularly visited by the person in pursuance of the person's occupation.

(3) A person who violates this section, or a state statute or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section within seven (7) years of a prior conviction may be sentenced to imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, a fine of not more than $500.00 or both. As part of the sentence, the court shall order the Secretary of State to suspend the operator's license or chauffeur's license of the person for a period of not less than six (6) months nor more than eighteen (18) months. The court may order the Secretary of State to issue to the person a restricted license as provided in subsection (2), except that a restricted license shall not be issued during the first sixty (60) days of the suspension period. For purposes of this section, "prior conviction" means a conviction under this section, section 5.15 (1) or (2), a state statute or local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section or section 5.15 (1) or (2).

(4) A person who violates this section, or a state statute or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section, within ten (10) years of two (2) or more prior convictions, as defined in subsection (3), may be sentenced as provided in subsection (3), except that as part of the sentence the court shall order the Secretary of State to revoke the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person.

(5) As part of the sentence for a violation of this section the court may order the person to perform service to the community, as designated by the court, without compensation, for a period not to exceed twelve (12) days. The person shall reimburse the appropriate local unit of government for the cost of the insurance incurred by the local unit of government as a result of the person's activities under this subsection.

(6) Before imposing sentence for a violation of this section, the court shall order the person to undergo screening and assessment by a person or agency designated by the office of substance abuse service to determine whether the person is likely to benefit from rehabilitative services, including alcohol or drug education and alcohol or drug treatment programs. As part of the sentence, the court may order the person to participate in and successfully complete one (1) or more appropriate rehabilitative programs. The person shall pay for the costs of the screening, assessment and rehabilitative service.

(7) Before accepting a plea of guilty under this section, the court shall advise the accused of the statutory consequences possible as a result of a plea of guilty in respect to suspension or revocation of an operator's or chauffeur's license, the penalty imposed for violation of this section and the limitation on the right of appeal.

(8) The operator's or chauffeur's license of a person found guilty of violating this section shall be surrendered to the court in which the person was convicted. The court shall immediately forward the surrendered license and an abstract of conviction to the Secretary of State. The abstract of conviction shall indicate the sentence imposed. Upon receipt of and pursuant to the abstract of conviction, the Secretary of State shall suspend or revoke the person's license and, if ordered by the court and the person is otherwise eligible for a license, issue to the person a restricted license stating the limited driving privileges indicated on the abstract. If the license is not forwarded to the Secretary of State, an explanation of the reason why the license is absent shall be attached. If the conviction is appealed to Circuit Court, that court may, ex parte, order the Secretary of State to rescind the suspension, revocation or restricted license issued pursuant to this section.

Section 5.15c Implied Consent

(1) A person who operates a vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the state is considered to have given consent to chemical tests of his or her blood, breath or urine for the purpose

Officials: Vandals caused blaze

Northville fire officials believe vandals touched off a fire Saturday night at the abandoned directors house on the grounds of the old Child Development Center. Fire Chief Robert Toms said his department has made repeated fire runs to the area and each time "kids playing around" has been determined to be the cause of the fire.

Toms said the blaze broke out at 9:30 p.m. Saturday night, and because of fire hydrants being out of service, it was 4 a.m. Sunday before the fire was totally out. (Crier photo by Chris Boyd)

Graper: Move to give bd. more autonomy

fortable."

"Now we have no coverage," Skinner said. "We've been acting like we were covered."

Member Darryl Dooley, of the YMCA, concurred, and said the board should be adequately insured.

"There was always that chance in a million that something might happen," he said.

The City has $22 million worth of liability insurance. Some members who voted against the resolution feared the high ceiling of coverage might make it more attractive for potential plaintiffs.

Sue McElroy, last year's board president, voted 'no.'

"I'm afraid the board will lose its identity," she said.

Skinner disagreed, saying "the concept that we're going to lose autonomy is a bunch of bull."

Board member and lawyer Michael Pollard, who had been asked to look into the insurance costs, also voted against the move.

He said, if needed, the City, would "step in and defend us."

Pollard called it "another symptom of the times."

City manager Henry Graper said the move would benefit the festival and its board members. He said instead of losing autonomy, the board would actually gain independence.

"We could put them under our policy and give them the autonomy they deserve," he said.

Graper also pointed out that the change could help keep "valuable members" on the board.

In a memo to the city commission, Graper said, "We are doing this so we can make sure that the highest degree of expertise will appear on the board, and so they will not have trouble getting people to serve because of the lack of public liability insurance for decisions made by the Board of Directors of the Fall Festival."

The resolution will change how board members are selected. The mayor will appoint members to the Festival Board, with approval by the city commissioners. Major festival participants would be asked to submit recommendations to the mayor, prior to filling expired terms. The size of the board would increase from 13 members to 16. Three-year terms will continue to be staggered. All festival planning would be coordinated with the city administration.

Plymouth worker saves Livonia girl

BY DAVID PIERINI

Mike Renner remembers the last time someone saved his life.

Saturday morning, he returned the favor.

Renner, 23, pulled two girls out of a car wreck at the Six Mile and Telegraph intersection.

"One of the girls was in shock, so I gave her mouth-to-mouth and revived her," said Renner who lives in Livonia and works for Plymouth Furniture Refinishing. "I experienced shock before and I know what the signs are when I had CPR done to me.

"I started to pound on her chest and when that didn't work, I tipped her head back, pulled her tongue forward to clear the air passage, pinched her nose and gave her mouth-to-mouth resuscitation."

The two girls each suffered a concussion and multiple bruises and are in good condition at Detroit's Sinai Hospital.

Renner, who witnessed the accident, said the collision occurred when the car he was following made an east-bound turn onto Six Mile.

Renner said he was told the man who was driving in front of him died of internal injuries.

Renner said he feels good and when asked if he feels like a hero, he said, "Not really, to tell you the truth. It's just one of those things."

Northville prison to open this fall

BY T.M. SMITH

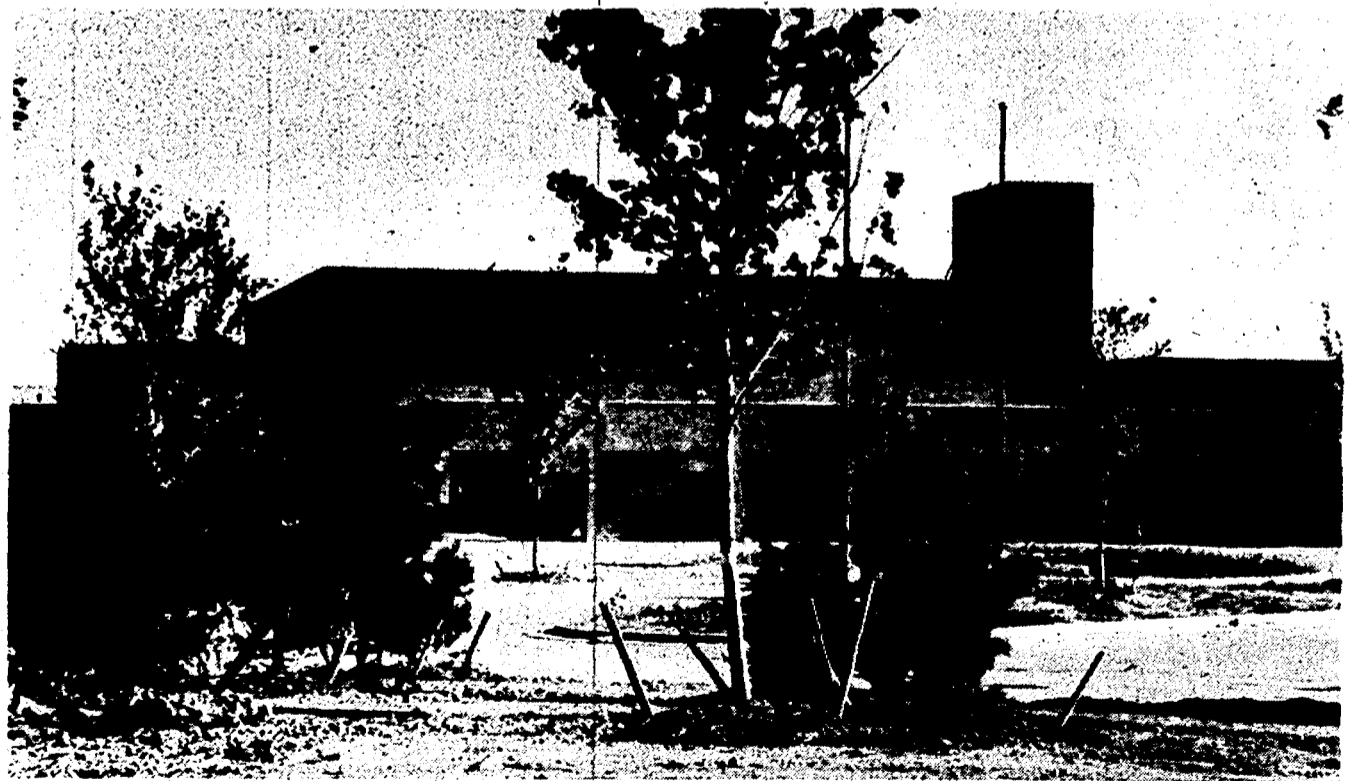

The Scott Regional Correctional Facility, currently being constructed in Northville Township on Five Mile Road, is scheduled to begin housing prisoners in late fall, Lansing prison authorities said.

Gail Light, the Public Information Director for Michigan prisons in Lansing said that the prison has been set to open up in November, putting prisoners in all 550 beds; which will house "medium" security prisoners, and employ 250 people.

"This is a proto-type prison, and if it goes well there could be several more built in the very near future. This is the first prison that we are going to classify as "multi-security" being that we will have some medium and some below medium security level prisoners," she said.

Light said the correctional system has recently named John Jaybee the warden for the prison. Jaybee was unavailable for comment on the new prison.

Light said that Northville Township is currently seeking an injunction which would prevent the prison from opening early and housing a number of prisoners before the November opening date.

"Northville believes that we would be unable to provide the proper security, but all that is still in court," she said.

The prison is being built next door to the Pheonix Correctional Facility on Five Mile Road near Sheldon Road, which is the other side of Plymouth Township.

New assessment center promotes Canton cops

BY DAN NESS

Promotion through analyzation, not observation.

That's the new policy for the Canton Police Department when it comes to promoting officers to the position of sergeant. And its sergeant assessment center is the first of its kind in the state, according to Police Chief John Santomauro.

"It's a really novel approach," Santomauro said. "Canton has taken a position that the essence of the police department is in the people," and not equipment and technology, Santomauro said.

The new assessment center is the first in the state to be used to promote mid-management personnel in law enforcement, Santomauro said. "In private industry, it's used very extensively," he said.

Canton had, in the past, used a more traditional method of promoting officers to sergeant, using a written exam, an oral presentation, a service review and seniority points in determining whether the person would be promoted. Santomauro said that method did not adequately determine the best leaders for the police department.

So, Dan Durack, personnel director for the township, met with police union officials, police officers and higher level police officers to discuss a better method of promoting. "It was a consensus of opinion with all parties involved -- there has to be a better way to do this," Durack said.

A promoting process that was equitable and just as importantly, perceived to be equitable, was needed, Durack said. "We had had some experience with the assessment center process," he said. "We figured, 'well, why not for these kind of promotions?'"

The assessment center was first used to promote three officers to the sergeant position three weeks ago. The personnel consulting firm of Bartell and Bartell was hired to carry out the assessment process, Durack said.

The first step in the process is a leadership profile that was decided upon by Durack, Santomauro and other township and police officials. "We basically developed a profile of what we'd like to see as a sergeant," Durack said.

Candidates for the promotion then fill out forms to be matched against the leadership profile, Durack said. This profile is used as the initial screening device, and is graded on a pass/fail basis, he said. Out of 17 candidates who filled out the profile, nine passed, Santomauro said. Those who did not pass are not "bad cops," Durack said, but were just not ready for a leadership position at this point in time.

After the leadership profile, the assessment process is broken into two parts: a written examination and an intensive high-stress interview, with the written exam counting as one-third of the final rating and the interview two-thirds.

The written exam consists of five "critical incidents," designed to test the candidate's leadership thinking abilities. The crime scenarios are presented to see what the candidates would do in each situation, Durack said.

Next, the candidates went through an "intensive, high-stress interview" with four panel members, Durack said. In the interviews -- which lasted for between two and 2½ hours for each of the nine candidates -- candidates and panel members engaged in role-playing and in-depth questioning, Durack said. The interviews were not "what-you-want-to-hear"-type interviews, he said. "You can fake it through a 15 minute interview, but you can't fake it through a 2½-hour stress interview," Durack said.

The panel members looked for certain responses in the interviews to give points for, Durack said. The scores for the written exam and the interviews were then added to rank the candidates for a promotion priority list.

Out of the nine candidates that passed the leadership profile, six advanced through the interviews. Those six were then ranked on the priority list, and three were actually promoted.

The new assessment process removed personality conflicts and "traditional suspicions" that go with the promotion process, Santomauro said. "The process really should promote, not the chief," Santomauro said.

A representative of the police officer's union was present during the interview process, and reported that they were fair, Santomauro said.

The priority promotion list is then used for two years, Durack said. If an opening exists, a promotion would come from that list. If the list is depleted, the process would be run again. And after two years, the process will be run again, regardless of the number of officers on the priority list, Durack said.

TRAVELERS CHECK DENOMINATIONS

The use of travelers checks has become a basic part of traveling. Carrying large amounts of cash in wallet or pocketbook is inviting monetary disaster. Theft or loss can put an effective stop to that long-planned and eagerly anticipated trip.

There are many reputable organizations that offer these checks and they can be bought at various places. No problem there. But the choice of denominations and quantities to buy can be rather puzzling. Should less checks be purchased in larger denominations or more in smaller amounts?

A good rule of thumb is to buy smaller denominations--ten's and twenty's--if you're on a tour of various countries that you'll visit in a relatively short period of time. The reason is that you might need, say...a couple rolls of film just before leaving that country and find you have to pay for them with a $100 travelers check. Then you've got to change what's left into the kind of money used at your NEXT destination. This could cost you something, even at a good rate of exchange. It would be much simpler and less complicated to pay for that film with a $10 check.

Our 30-years experience assures you of the finest travel service available. And, best of all, THERE IS NO CHARGE TO YOU FOR OUR SERVICES. We are reimbursed in commission fees by the airlines and hotels, ships and resorts that we book.

Paul Makara was not sitting for the entire East-West All Star football game in East Lansing last weekend. But even when he was sitting his mom was probably nervous. (Crier photo by David Pierini)

East-West football

Not bad for a little guy

BY DAVID PIERINI

In a way, Alice Makara is relieved her son's football career is over.

"To me, he's my baby and everytime he's on the field," she said, "I get nervous, just ask my husband."

It's her baby, Salem graduate and star athlete Paul Makara, that should be nervous.

Every time he steps on the field, his 5-foot-10, 175-pound frame — which has been vulnerable to injury in the past — usually faces beefier opponents.

Well, he was nervous Saturday afternoon at Michigan State's Spartan Stadium, but for different reasons.

Makara was showcased as one of high school football's elite in the Michigan High School All-Star game — nerve racking in itself.

"That first hit got the butterflies right out," said Makara who (wouldn't you know it) was playing with a bruised calf. "Right then, I knew I could play with these guys."

Mrs. Makara's baby didn't shy away at his defensive back position.

For the short time he was in, Makara managed two bone-crushing tackles and a recovered fumble at the half-time buzzer, contributing to the East's 24-14 victory.

Not bad for a little guy.

"I feel real good," Makara said. "I didn't expect the coaches to play me as much. I bruised my calf the first day and had to sit out a couple of practices."

For most of the game though, Makara was on the sidelines, hands on hips, watching, cheering and waiting for the word to go in.

When he was in the game, he did his job and looked pretty good doing it.

"We're proud," said Alice Makara, with every reason to be proud, just like Salem coach Tom Moshimer.

"We've been very fortunate in the last six years to have five players in this game," Moshimer said. "And in the one year we didn't have one in the game, Scott Jurek was selected but couldn't play because of a family commitment."

"He's a quiet kid who led more by example. He did everything asked of him. He played halfback, quarterback and played in our secondary."

As a senior, the versatile Makara rushed for 680 yards on 99 carries, scoring six touchdowns. He added 135 yards on six pass receptions, had six interceptions and fumble recoveries and averaged 25 yards on 11 kickoff and punt returns.

Shoulder and elbow surgery prevented Makara from perhaps greater statistics and also ended a promising baseball career.

The fact that the all-star game was probably his last football game, saddens him, he said, but the honor was great.

"It was a chance of a life time," he said. "I jumped when they told me I was chosen. It's a chance to play with the best."

"I'll miss it (football), but more importantly, I'll be healthy the rest of my life. There's an outside chance, though, if I strengthen my shoulder, I'll try again."

Nash smiles for x-ray camera

BY DAVID PIERINI

For Dan Nash, the Michigan High School Football All-Star Game was time in front of the big camera — x-ray camera, that is.

The Plymouth resident and Redford Catholic Central graduate played the first five minutes of the game, before sustaining a shoulder injury that sent him to Lansing's Sparrow Hospital.

"It's only a bruise, thank God," said Nash, who was able to make it back to the game in time to see his East squad route the West, 24-14. "I caught a helmet in the shoulder from one of our own guys. Whole thing just went numb."

At his offensive tackle position, the 6-foot-4-inch, 235-pound Nash was instrumental in the East's first scoring drive, only to suffer his injury on his team's next possession.

"It sucks," he said. "I got in a little, so I guess it could be worse."

"The week was great, though. I met a lot of people. Before, these guys were just names and faces in a newspaper, now, I'm able to get to know them."

Nash's selection to the East All-Star team is just one of many honors in his high school football career.

In his senior year on C.C.'s offensive line, Nash played so impressively, he was named All-State by Associated Press, United Press International and the Detroit News.

Nash tackled the books with the same toughness, racking up a 3.94 over-all grade point average and being recognized by the Detroit News with the H.G. Salsinger Scholar-Athlete award.

In the fall, Nash will attend Stanford University on a football scholarship with plans to study aerospace engineering.

How anxious is he to start college?

"Real big. I leave Aug. 16th at 7:25 p.m. I can't wait."

Anxious is an understatement.

Tennis anyone?

The Crier Tennis Tournament is all set to kick off this weekend. City Parks and Recreation Director Chuck Skene said he has extended the deadline to Thursday at noon. There is still time.

DiPonio slams its way into Series

BY JOHN FLOWER

The Salem DiPonio Mickey Mantle baseball players are of good cheer this afternoon. They have right to be. Thursday they are heading for Waterbury Connecticut to participate in the American Amateur Baseball Congress (AABC) World Series in hopes of continuing their hitting assault on a national level.

To qualify for the series Salem DiPonio won the regional tournament this past weekend in Coldwater. They started off with a 4-1 victory over Taylor and then a 2-0 victory over the Macomb Cardinals. After that DiPonio pounded home two mercy-rule victories, pelting Jansen Refrigeration 16-4 and then smashing Taylor again 15-7. They continued the heavy hitting in the final game over Jansen Refrigeration 12-2.

"The kids played great this weekend," said Jim Gee, who coaches the team along with Lou Bidolli, Niel Boyle, and Mike Michalek. "Here is a team that hit .250 all season long and they are suddenly hitting around .400. It was great."

The team had seven players that made the 12-member All Region team. Those that made it were Fidell Cashero, Tim Dowd, Bob Files, Andy Gee, Mike Howard, Jeff Irish, and Todd Marion.

Marion was also named the most valuable player of the tournament after notching two victories on the mound and knocking in 12 RBI's on four home runs including a grand slam.

"This weekend was like a dream for me," said Marion, who hit 10 for 17 on the weekend. "I have hit well before, but nothing like this ... this was definitely my best performance."

Andy Gee and Dowd were the other batting leaders hitting 8 of 17 and 7 of 17 respectively.

DiPonio compiled eight home runs with a second grand slam added by Howard.

Cashero, Dorocak, and Matt Sitko notched the other victories from the mound for DiPonio.

"We were really psyched up for this tournament," said Marion. "Our first game was against Taylor and we really wanted that one. Not only had they beaten us during the regular season, but our coach (Gee) teaches over there so he knew some of the players."

The tournament started out with more than 1400 teams from around the United States. DiPonio won its district two weeks ago in Farmington. They went 4-1 and out scored their opponents 50-25.

DiPonio qualified for the district by finishing in second place in Little Caesar's Amateur Baseball Federation League with a 16-4 record.

Over all for the tournament DiPonio is 9-1 and have out scored opponents 99-39.

"We are really happy to be where we are," said Gee. "I don't know how we will do (at the World Series), but we are going to have fun."

Plenty of parking on this street

The City paving program is now in full swing in Plymouth. There were, however, some questions about the placement of "Cultural Center Blvd." A quick look in the city directory will inform the reader that there is no such street. In actuality the street was given the name instead of the Cultural Center Parking Lot -- which was paved as part of the program. City officials explained that sometimes the curve behind the Cultural Center is called a boulevard. (Crier photo by Chris Boyd)

Northville hosts senior World Series

BY CHRIS FARINA

For the first time the National Amateur Baseball Federation Senior World Series was held in Northville.

Northville has hosted the N.A.B.F. Junior Series for the past four years, but this is the first time they have hosted the Senior Series.

During the weekend eight games were played in order to arrive at the championship matchup.

Plymouth-Canton was the host team for the weekend and the parents and coaches from the area did an outstanding job said Bob Frellick, the tournament organizer.

In the first game the Huber Heights Warriors lost to Shelby Utica TSI 10-8. Game two saw the host team, Plymouth Canton Craiger, lose to the 68th Precinct from Brooklyn New York 3-1. The 68th Precinct was later beat 7-5 by A1 Transfer, which hails from Renton Washington, in game No. 3.

Game four eliminated Plymouth-Canton Craiger from the double-elimination tourney when it lost to Huber Heights 12-4.

Huber Heights won the next two games, beating the 68th Precinct and Shelby Utica TSI both with 6-5 scores. A1 Transfer lost to Shelby Utica TSI in game seven 9-6, but still made it to the Championship game against Huber Heights.

A1 Transfer came out on top 24-3 for the championship trophy.

"We've done a pretty good job out here," said Frellick "And we hope it's recognized by the national committee."

teaching certificate from Central and later received a bachelors degree from U of M, served as superintendent of schools in Dryden for 10 years before moving to Plymouth in 1924 to open the Towle and Roe Lumber Company.

"He admired mother and father," said Towle's sister Mildred E. McGrath of Warren, who was with Edwin at the time of his death. "He thought he'd give the money to a smaller college."

"We're delighted the university will be able to recognize the Towle name by establishing the two distinguished professorships at CMU," Associate Vice President for Development and Alumni Bob Rulong said in a press release. "This gift is special because Edward Towle was able to honor his father, who is a CMU alumnus, and therefore benefit forever the education and business programs. It shows how private citizens can affect the quality of education through their generosity."

Makara

What few chances he has left, Makara will take them to Michigan State, after turning down offers from the Airforce Academy, Grand Valley State, University of Chicago, Alma and Dartmouth.

He may never play again, still, mom is proud.

"I'm going to go home and cook him a 10-course meal."

He's earned it.

The 31st Annual FALL FESTIVAL

It is the spirit and essence of The Plymouth-Canton Community.

It is the chance for us to show ourselves, and others, all of the things that make our community the great place it is: to live ... to work ... to do business.
