Getaway car DOA at Mel's Auto Clinic

BY DAN NESS

The lesson to be learned is, don't mess with Mel.

Mel's Auto Clinic, owned by Mel Morris on Ford Road in Canton, was the target of another break-in last week, but the cold weather helped Canton police arrest a Dearborn man in connection with the incident.

Three Dearborn Heights men were arrested two weeks ago after a neighbor called police on a break-in at the auto business.

This time, according to police, a man was inside Mel's Auto Clinic at about 7:30 a.m. Saturday when an employe showed up for work. The employe saw broken glass, and went to an office to call the police. Meanwhile, the man got in a car to drive away with tools and equipment, but the car wouldn't start.

Mel's 26-year-old son, Mike, was arriving for work when he saw the man trying to start his car. The man even asked Mike for a jump start.

While Mike helped the man look for jumper cables in the car, Canton police arrived, and arrested the man and a female companion.

Michael Phillip Horun, 34, was arrested and charged with breaking and entering of a business, according to Canton Police Information Officer David Boljesic. The female was not charged.

Horun was arraigned Sunday and faces preliminary examination, on Monday in 35th District Court.

And thanks to the cold, Mel's business is intact.

High-speed chase ends in S. Lyon

BY T.M. SMITH

A Plymouth man led Canton, Plymouth Township and several other police departments on two separate car chases Monday morning before crashing his car and being arrested near South Lyon.

The man, identified by police as Michael Taylor Minton, 19, of Plymouth, was first seen and chased by Canton police as a suspect in an accident at approximately 1 a.m. Monday morning, police said.

The man apparently eluded the Canton police, but was spotted a short time later by Plymouth Township police pulling out of a gas station at Sheldon and Canton Center roads.

When the police attempted to stop the car for questioning, the man fled again.

This time, he was speeding through downtown Plymouth and the city's sidestreets at speeds that peaked at 60 mph, police said.

Cantonite held in 9 sexual assaults

BY DAN NESS

A Canton man faces nine counts of criminal sexual conduct involving three Redford Township juveniles, according to police.

Lorance Lee Watson, 58, of 6731 Edgewood, was arrested Jan. 22 by Canton police and arraigned in 35th District Court on Jan. 23 on six counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and three counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct, according to Police Information Officer David Boljesic.

Watson will face preliminary examination on Monday in 35th District Court.

The sexual assaults allegedly occurred between May and Sept. 1, 1986 involving a 9-year-old boy, a 9-year-old girl and a 12-year-old boy from the same family, according to Boljesic. A 14-year-old boy who allegedly was involved has chosen not to testify, but could do so at a later date, Boljesic said.

The incidents were reported to police on Nov. 28.

Watson and the children's mother had met through Metropolitan Community Church in Birmingham, and "he more or less became a grandfather to the children," according to Boljesic. Watson allegedly would take the children individually to movies, and they would sleep over at his home in Canton, Boljesic said.

Watson is being held without bond at the Wayne County Jail in Detroit.

Salem wins computer competition

Salem High's computer whiz kids -- Mark Peterson, Blaine Groves, Jim Lamb, and Mark Schang -- won first prize at the 10th annual Computer Contest state finals Sunday.

The University of Detroit hosted the two-day competition.

The prize, a $1,000 U-D scholarship, will be presented to a student at the school at a later date.

Canton, also a finalist, placed 14th out of the 17-team field of computer teams from districts throughout the state.

Teams were judged on the numbers of problems completed accurately and the speed in which they were solved.

Tom Cotner, Salem's coach, and computer programming and math teacher, led the all senior squad.

"This is our first win," he said, "although we have made the finals twice in our four times here."

Canton's team, headed by another computer programming teacher, Ron Carlson, included seniors Anoop Gupta, Mark Bessey, Mark Augystyne and Aravin Bali.

Gas station robbed Monday

Canton police have no suspects in an armed robbery that occurred on Monday night at Hopin gas station, at Canton Center Road and Michigan Avenue.

The suspect was described as a black male, between 25-30 years old, 6' 1" weighing 170 lbs., wearing a green army jacket, black Levi's and a gold watch. The suspect fled in a black 1983 or 1984 Ford Escort, two-door, eastbound on Michigan Avenue, according to police.

Chase ends

through the city and onto northbound I-275, where speeds reached 120 m.p.h. police said.

The car finally spun out at Eight Mile Road and Pontiac Trail near South Lyon, 30 minutes after Plymouth police spotted the car.

Minton was arrested and charged with "fleeing and eluding" police, and arraigned Monday in 35th District Court where he pled not guilty in front of Judge James Garber, police reports show. He was released on a $200 bond.

A pre-trial has been set for March 5.

Bennetts guilty in home-school trial

BY KEN VOYLES

John and Sandra Bennett were found guilty by 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald Friday on charges of failing to send their four children to The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The Canton couple was fined $50 each and was ordered to contact the school district through Shirley Waters to comply with any requests for testing of the home-schooled children to determine their grade placement.

The couple was also told to arrange for instruction of their children to be done by or under the supervision of a teacher certified by the state.

John Bennett said his family would consider an appeal following Friday's ruling. "We've got to talk about this still with our attorney," he said.

Meanwhile, he said, his family would comply with the ruling.

"Our kids have all been doing good," Bennett said. "Their test scores show they'd done fine so far. I don't see where this has hurt the kids at all."

Bennett said he hopes to retain a certified teacher through his church sometime this week. "This was their civics lesson," he said of his kids' day in court on Friday.

"I still think this case is winable," said the Bennett's attorney Leonard Mazor.

District Superintendent John M. Hoben declined to comment on advice of the district attorney.

Judge MacDonald's ruling said the defendants did not satisfy the criteria of teacher certification and comparable curriculum for each child as requested by the court and set forth in state statute MCLA 300.1561.

Specifically:

The Bennetts

The Bennetts failed to supply a qualified teacher, failed to offer comparable curriculum to that in the public schools; failed to provide a minimum of 180 days and 900 hours of instruction; and failed to file attendance records to substantiate the instruction the children did receive.

According to MacDonald, the defendants asserted that Pearl Wander and Julie Kuhar were the certified teachers assigned to the Bennett children for the school year 1985-86.

MacDonald said Wander was not in the Bennett household during a "substantial" portion of the school to satisfy the certified teaching requirement.

The only contact between the Bennett children and Wander was through the "occasional" use of speaker phones and 4-6 visits per month to Ann Arbor and the Clonlara School. The Bennett children were enrolled through the Home Based Education Program (HBEP) with Clonlara.

MacDonald said Wander's role was that of "supervisor" and not that of a teacher.

Kuhar, it was established, is not certified by the state. Her certification expired on June 13, 1980 and she was not qualified to teach the Bennett children during the 1985-86 school year.

The Bennetts were sued by the school district for truancy last year.

Hearing Mon. for Hulbert murder case

Two Ypsilanti Township 16-year-olds being held in connection with the death of a Canton girl will face a hearing to determine probable cause Monday in Washtenaw County Juvenile Court.

The hearing consists of three parts; to determine whether there is probable cause to charge the juveniles with murder; to determine whether the juveniles should be detained in the juvenile detention center; and the first phase of process to determine whether the juveniles should be tried as adults in the case, according to Elizabeth Pollard, first assistant prosecutor for Washtenaw County.

Mary Anne Hulbert, 13, was found dead in a field in Superior Township on Jan. 8. She had died of multiple gunshot wounds, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Hulbert had been reported missing to the Canton Police Department on Dec. 30.

Geer offers unique setting

All too often landmarks are ignored or forgotten for so long that it becomes too late to save them for our children or our children's children.

Take Geer School, for example.

After it was shut down in 1982, it was left to the mercy of the weather, which has since taken a heavy toll upon a building that is both a historic site and a community relic.

Now the school district wants to bring the 157-year-old school back to life before it is too late.

And that's a great idea.

It's just too bad the district waited for so long before deciding that Geer School was indeed a valuable commodity and that restoration was not only appropriate but necessary to prove to the community that it is committed to saving our heritage.

Geer is the ideal environment for teaching youngsters about the history of this state and this country. It can also give youths perspective on what it was like to be a kid back in the days of horse-drawn carriages.

Turning the single room schoolhouse into a learning tool is the most obvious reason for supporting the decision to fund the project. But there are other reasons as well -- reasons that are harder to define but just as important.

We speak of the cultural heritage -- something that isn't easily defined for most people.

But the district needs help to make the Geer project both a success and a community-wide endeavor. Restorations are expensive.

That's where local groups and organizations have to step in and lend their support.

Without the community's backing the district would probably never really succeed in saving Geer, and it's too valuable to be neglected anymore.

And while the district is looking at bringing back Geer it should also consider re-opening the school farm, another worthwhile district project that has been discontinued.

Save Geer.

Let's not lose a piece of history.

Students need sound of music

EDITOR:

I have recently heard a rumor that the Plymouth Youth Symphony, which has been non-existent for a time, may be resurrected. Let me PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE, encourage your readers to evaluate the Plymouth-Canton Schools' policy toward instrumental music.

No program exists in the elementary school. Students are not introduced to a musical instrument until they reach middle school. Without the support from the public school system, a community youth symphony has little chance of surviving.

We continue to offer other outlets for children, such as sports, gymnastics, and dance. We have always searched for quality programs to enrich our children. Allowing them to have as many enriching experiences as we can offer gives the youngsters a chance to be more productive and vital to our community as they become young adults.

It is my hope that the Plymouth-Canton Schools will reinstate a much-needed instrumental program in the elementary school.

Did you see this accident?

EDITOR:

This is a plea to anyone who may have witnessed the minor accident which occurred at the Classy Chassis Car Wash on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 21, just before 3 p.m. Anyone who saw this incident occur knows the details and I would hope would be willing to call the Canton Police Department to verify what actually did happen.

As one of the parties involved, I was, unfortunately, a little too trusting of my fellow man -- the other person involved in the accident. I did not call the police to the scene or get witnesses, many of which were most likely available. As a result, I may have to pay the $250 deductible to get my car repaired, while the owner of the other car, which was in questionable condition to begin with, will probably not have to pay a cent.

As a parent with school-age children, I would also like to plead to this person and his parents to get help before this type of dishonesty becomes a life pattern. I try to instill in my own children how important honesty is. If this young person does not get caught, just what will this teach them?

AN HONEST VICTIM

Good neighbors!!

Plymouth-Canton has lots of them

The Plymouth-Canton Community takes care of its own.

The more cynical among us who would point to break-ins of homes, car thefts and vandalism as signs of the times should be inclined to soften their attitude after witnessing some of the actions undertaken by members of our community.

Out on west Ford Road, all it took was Pete Kyryluk looking out for his neighbor's business, and the result was three arrests and nearly $50,000 in equipment recovered in a burglary attempt a few weeks ago.

Robert Denham said he "lost all common sense" when he took on a would-be bank robber two weeks ago at First Federal Savings Bank and Trust, but in the community's eyes, it was a commendable "loss of common sense" that Denham displayed that day.

Denham reacted by grabbing a masked man in his bank and struggling with him after he thought one of the tellers had been assaulted. If Denham erred by his actions, nobody is complaining. Any admitted error in judgment was based on caring for fellow citizens.

And it was Bill Beitner looking out for one of his neighbor merchants that saved The Clubhouse clothes store from fire last week in downtown Plymouth.

It's good to know there are people like Kyryluk, Denham and Beitner in our community. It's even better to know that it isn't so surprising.

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

The school district is currently wrestling with the problem of how to reduce the noise levels in its open classrooms at three different schools without at the same time ruining the effect of the open space by adding walls or a lot of soundproof paneling.

There is a special charm to open classrooms, and a lot of research which suggests such learning environments are the best for young students.

Maybe because of that the administration has been careful to make sure any work done to reduce the noise will not also destroy the purpose of the rooms and the aesthetic beauty of the internal space.

So the district has made some choices.

With about $25,000 available for each school (Field, Eriksson and Hulsing) plans are underway to use acoustical hanging panels between each open area as well as permanent hollow metal and glass partitions.

TMP Associates, the architectural firm which designed the buildings, has been called in. The consultants suggest the schools should also have their mudrooms and art rooms enclosed.

All of it makes sense.

I had the chance to visit some elementary grade class at both Hulsing and Eriksson for a hands-on science story.

I found the classrooms overcrowded, with as many as 32 students crammed in a space no bigger than a living room/dinning room area in the average home. Between the desks, the students and the instructional materials, the room was indeed small.

And the noise from the other classrooms on each side of us (divided only by eight-foot storage cabinets) was very noticeable, enough so that the instructors had to be careful to retain the attention of their students by speaking firmly and with some force.

Noise may or may not take away from a child's ability to learn, but from my perspective noise isn't as offensive as four gray walls, white tile floors and ugly fluorescent lights glaring down at you.

That's the kind of environment I learned in. And it was noisy inside those four walls as well.

So I remain a supporter of both the philosophy behind the designs and what happens in practice at the schools despite the limitations and problems.

If change must be made to satisfy our adult concerns about something the children may hardly even notice, let it be harmonious and in line with the symmetrical beauty and function of the buildings.

Gimme' winter

John Stout had some very discouraging news for me last week.

Stout called to report his evidence that this will be a short winter.

And he was excited about it.

Stout based his prediction on a traditional sign Mother Nature gives for the ending of winter. He saw what he is claiming to be "the first robin of spring" in our community.

He and his son heard chirping in one of their trees in their Canton backyard, "we looked up, and sure enough, there it was."

Well, I happen to be one of those who loves winter -- not just likes winter, as some do, or appreciates winter, as still more do, or puts up with winter, as most do, but actually loves the winter season.

So you can understand that John Stout's news came hard for one who believes there's never enough snow around.

"Maybe it will help your readers to think of spring," Stout suggested cheerfully. Probably will. I suggested cheerfully that all those who grumble about winter move to Louisiana, where robins abound in backyards year-round.

Actually, I didn't. I mean, you just can't talk these kind of people into faking winter, let alone loving it. It's like trying to convert a smoker.

No, instead we winter-lovers put up with cold-hearted television weather reporters who shrug and frown and wince at forecasts involving snowfall or temperatures below 30 degrees. "Well, the Lions won the Super Bowl yesterday/Mort, but looks like the celebration will be cut short as three inches of snow are forecast for southeastern Michigan tonight."

To The Point

By Dan Ness

they'll say. Just you wait and see.

And obviously, those television weather people are playing the odds. Most people do hate winter. Start smiling about Arctic express cold-fronts or growing snow drifts, and their ratings plummet along with the thermometer mercury. They're wrong, but, what can those of us who know better do about it . . . .

"Yep, there it was," Stout gleefully recollected regarding his freak robin sighting last week. "Right in my backyard," he continued, unwittingly grating his fingernails against this winter-lover's mental chalkboard. I could actually hear him smiling.

At least he admits he's looking forward to the end of this wonderful season. It's those pseudo-winter-loving hypocrites -- oooh, they're the worst. They're the ones humming "White Christmas," and saying things like "Gee, I hope those beautiful ice sculptures last awhile," loudly in the grocery store.

Yeah, right. Let's hear them say that at the end of March.

It's the season after winter -- Slush -- that I dread. It's during Slush that the robins should be coming back, not now, when winter is just getting started.

But, I suppose it's not fair to hold John Stout responsible for this early sign of the coming of Slush. After all, he just saw the evidence, he didn't ask for it.

But, he didn't have to sound so happy about it.

Public schools here offer many experiences to benefit all students

EDITOR:

Recent events that have been taking place in our school district have disturbed me greatly.

When people like Ms. Diane Daskalakis presume to dictate what should be shown and taught in a classroom, it scares me. We have employed professional teachers who know what they are doing in the educating of our children. Profanity and sex are a part of our culture. Man kind has always been a part of that whether we like it or not. When a minority, through censorship, tries to dictate educational policies to well-trained, dedicated educators, what that minority is saying is "this material is not what I believe."

Education is an exploration of many experiences, as it should be. Goethe, the great German poet and philosopher once said, "Let me control the minds of the young and I can control that nation." Hitler did just this. First, the book burnings and then confiscation of all firearms. Thank God we are protected by the Bill of Rights of our Constitution from this happening in America, or are we?

Our American culture is composed of many different viewpoints. The melding of these viewpoints is what has made us a great nation. I don't deny Ms. Daskalakis her right to hold any belief she might have, just don't try to foist those ideas on the rest of us in the Plymouth-Canton School District. What does she think our teenagers discuss in VERY GRAPHIC DETAIL when they are with their peers? The latest exhibit at the historical museum?

I don't believe the theory, families, no matter how well educated, are equipped to give their children the education their children are going to need. In the real world they are going to have to enter, sooner or later, they will have to cope and interact with their fellow beings. I am all in favor of the spiritual and moral training of our young. This is the responsibility of the church and the family. Too many parents do not accept this responsibility. If they did, a great load of responsibility would be taken off the backs of our teachers.

John and Sandra Bennett, you have condemned a school system of which you know very little. I taught school for 32 years, with certification, in three school systems in Minnesota, Colorado and Iowa. After teaching in Plymouth for 21 years, take my word for it, we are very fortunate to have such a fine school system to teach the young of The Plymouth-Canton Community.

I know, besides being a teacher for 21 years, I watched my three children grow and flourish through our school system. They were all well prepared, to not only get into college, but to get their degrees from the colleges of their choice.

No matter how you wish to protect your children from life, the best way you can do this is to let them know what life is all about.

I would like to ask you one question Mr. and Mrs. Bennett -- when was the last time, if ever, you observed how our schools are conducted for a full day? To find this out just might be an education for you also. Too few of our citizens know about the concerns our dedicated teachers have for your children.

Teaching materials reviewed by schools, citizens

BY KEN VOYLES

A tentative date has been set for the hearing of five appeals filed by local resident Diane Daskalakis over the use of certain controversial materials by instructors in The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

According to Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, the appeals will be reviewed by the Board of Education on Monday, Feb. 16.

That date is currently set aside as a workshop.

According to Board President E.J. McClendon, the appeals will be heard at the meeting, but any decision will have to wait for the next regular board meeting.

"Someone might offer a motion but we won't take any action at the workshop," McClendon said after Monday's regular board meeting.

Daskalakis said on Monday that she is planning to file two new complaints this week over the showing of the films "The Things" and "The Lottery" in the school district.

She also said she plans to attend the appeals hearing on the 16th.

The local business owner has appealed five of six review committee decisions which upheld the use of the films "The Breakfast Club" and "Excalibur," the book "Rules for Radicals," a Ouija board, and the study of palmistry and Tarot card reading.

Beaman honored by state

Scott Beaman, a social studies teacher with the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools since 1966, was recently named one of 25 outstanding social studies teachers in Michigan.

Beaman developed the district's advanced placement American History program and continues to teach modern European history as well as U.S. government.

Throughout 21 years of teaching, Beaman has also been head of the National Honor Society, the athletic ticket manager and meet director at swim meets.

The Salem instructor regularly conducts spring vacation trips to places like Gettysburg, Boston, Williamsburg and Washington, D.C.

He is also involved in the Academic Quiz Bowl, mock elections, mock trial competitions, "This Day in History" for the student station WSDP, and a voter registration of students.

Addenda

John Moehle's name was misspelled in last week's edition of The Crier.

In a related note, Daskalakis said the organization she helped found -- Citizens for Better Education -- will host an informational meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 23.

"We plan to share our files and findings with the community," said Daskalakis. "The entire community is invited to see the overall picture of what's being taught in our schools."

Residents will also have a chance to screen films like "The Breakfast Club."

The meeting will be held at Canton Calvary Assembly of God.

7th-graders get high school assignments

During the first week of February, seventh graders in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will learn which building they've been assigned to at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) -- either Canton or Salem.

The assignment is completed through a random selection process, according to Dick Egli, community relations, and helps balance the population of the schools in numbers, racial make-up, talent and socio-economic background.

High school assignments are made without reference to a home address or to the present school which the student attends. Each student has equal chance of going to either Canton or Salem.

Although a student may be assigned to one school as a home base, that student will most likely attend class at both high schools.

The "sibling rule" gives a student the option to attend the same school as a brother or sister currently attends. Those eligible will receive a letter notifying them of their eligibility.

Special help with special prayer

BY DAN NESS

It sounds like a lot of people out there are quietly missing Lucille McKinney.

McKinney, 78, recently retired as a social worker for the Salvation Army in Plymouth. "When I first started there (in 1976), we would take care of maybe 25 families per month," she said. "Then, our case load just kept building and building, and now it's almost 100 cases per month."

McKinney's attitude could serve as a motto for the Salvation Army. "My aim in life was to help people. People that were less fortunate than I. That's all I ever wanted to do, even from the first day of college."

Before joining the Salvation Army, McKinney was a teacher of students who were homebound. "I taught for 33 years out of Wayne-Westland Schools as a home teacher," she said. "I was the first home teacher outside of the City of Detroit. I'm proud of that."

McKinney continues to receive thank-you letters from those she assisted during her years at the Salvation Army. But, she didn't need the thank-you's to keep inspired at the Army, she said.

"It was such a rewarding thing, just to see some of the kids coming in . . . just to see the light in their eyes," she smiled. "Regardless of what kind of condition they were in, I cared for them, because they were human beings, and there is good in every human being."

"I never started the day without this prayer to God -- Thank you God for bringing me to the beginning of this new day; I shall use it minute by minute to do thy will; guide me in every problem I shall face and every decision I shall make; help me to be fair, kind, just and thoughtful; and if I shall forget thee during this day, please do not forget me, and I will give thee praise forever.

"I used that prayer for 50 years," she said.

"I'll never stop helping people."

VFW sponsors essay contest for students

The Mayflower Lt. Gamble Post and Auxiliary 6695 Veterans of Foreign Wars are sponsoring an essay contest for seventh, eighth and ninth graders on the theme "What It Means To Be An American."

The essay should be between 600 and 750 words and should be neat, legible and written with proper English and punctuation. Typing is not essential.

The contest deadline is March 14. The winner of the local contest will be entered in a state contest where the top award is a $500 bond.

For more information call Alice Fisher at 453-6144.

Najarian is super student for January

Peggy Najarian has been selected as the January Elk's Student-of-the-month for Canton High School.

Najarian was chosen not only because of her academics but her activities in and out of school. She is presently mayor of the executive forum, past vice-president of her junior class, a member of the varsity softball and varsity volleyball teams, National German Honor Society and

NAJARIAN

National Honor Society.

Najarian was recently accepted at Michigan State University. She is planning a pre-med curriculum. She is the daughter of James and Margaret Najarian, of Plymouth.

WINNER OF THE WEEK

Louis Pervine and Ruth McDonald are special members of the Fiegel Elementary School family. The pair were recently honored by 32 other staff members at the school and by the school district as "extra milers" for work done fixing up Fiegel last summer. It was the first time two extra milers were honored at one time.

Both are nearing 20 years custodial service in the district doing the unsung things necessary to make an elementary school function every day. Because of the twosome, Fiegel is one of the best cared for schools in the district.

(Winner of the Week is selected by The Crier Editorial Staff without knowledge of the sponsor. Nominations for this honor may be submitted to The Crier Editorial Staff.)

A sport to worry over -- skiing nightmares

Skiing is a great sport for those who are coordinated enough to enjoy it. I learned many years ago that down hill skiing wasn't for me. In fact my experience of making a fool of myself on the slopes probably adds to my worrying when the kids go skiing.

Last weekend the kid and some of her friends at MSU went up north to try out the new skis. I thought about her many times during the weekend but I figured I'd get a phone call if she broke her neck. By 10 p.m. Sunday night I couldn't stand it any longer and had to call to make sure she got back in one piece.

I was so glad to hear the sound of her voice. Then she proceeded to tell me about her first time down the hill -- on her face. That took about two seconds for my imagination to start working overtime. I immediately pictured the kid with a broken nose and scars and bruises all over her face. She quickly explained that that first fall was really no big deal.

There was a moments hesitation before she told me about the real wipe out. There I was on the phone listening to her tell about being up in the air upside down with skis and poles flying every which way. She admitted it was a little scary with "oh no" thoughts running through her mind, but she said it was worse when she heard the chorus of all her friends saying "oh no."

She somehow managed not to break anything (including the skis) but I think it will take a few weeks for some bruises to heal. Thank heavens for all her friends at the dorm who keep teasing her. On a scale of one to 10 they rated her wipe out a nine and a half (they didn't want to hurt her feelings with a full 10). They also voted her the next replacement for the Agony of Defeat.

And the kid wonders why I worry about her. I can hardly wait until the next time she goes skiing, with any luck she won't remember to tell me until she's back safe and sound.

JAMAICA

An Indian word "Xaymaca" meaning "Island of Springs" is the basis for the name "Jamaica". Its appropriateness can be attested to by the thousands of tourists who go there and see the beautiful streams, springs, and waterfalls throughout the country.

These stunning natural water wonders add to the charm of a truly varied topography. The east-west mountain ridge rises to Blue Mountain peak behind Kingston (7,402 feet above sea level) while lowlands can be found at the western end of the island. The southern coast has a narrow strip of flatland. Jamaica's climate is also diversified, with trade winds and ocean breezes modifying the sub-tropical climate. And the mountain areas can sometimes get quite cool!

When many people think of Jamaica they think of tourism, and it is, of course, an important business. But there are natural resources there too, including and especially the fertile soil. Tropical crops thrive there and products include sugar cane, citrus fruits, cocoa, bananas, coffee, tobacco, coconuts, and allspice.

Over 30 years experience assures you of the finest travel service available. And, best of all, THERE IS NO CHARGE TO YOU FOR OUR SERVICES. We are reimbursed, in commission fees by the airlines and hotels, ships and resorts that we book.

Video captures emotions of wedding

BY COLLEEN GRANT

Sometime during the year-long preparation for your wedding day, you will undoubtedly ask yourself, "Is this really worth it?" With trying to arrange for the food, hall, music, clothes, people and everything else for one eight-hour event, even the most organized person is bound to question their sanity.

Everyone who makes it through the ordeal, however, assures those who haven't that it's a most worthwhile experience. About the only complaint that's ever heard is that the evening passes in a blurr, or the "happy couple" was so busy they didn't have time to enjoy themselves.

These reasons must be why some brilliant entrepreneur came up with the idea of videotaping weddings.

Videotaping is not new to weddings, at least according to Ron Maruska, owner of Creative Video in Canton. "I got into videotaping weddings about five years ago, and the demand has been fairly steady ever since," Maruska said, who turned his basement hobby into a profitable business.

Most videotaping services offer several different packages depending on the couple's wants and budget. Prices range from $175 for a single camera, unedited version of the actual ceremony to $450 for a completely edited version of two-camera coverage of ceremony and reception. Considering that a 90 to 120 minute film actually involves about 40 hours of editing and filming work, these prices are not unreasonable.

The videotaping usually begins an hour or so before the wedding and can last until midnight. Many studios offer extras such as videotaping the preparation for the wedding, at the bride's or groom's home. Be sure to check to see what optional packages are available to you.

Ceremony coverage includes everything from walking up the aisle, the couples vows to the recessional. Check with the church before booking a "videographer" to verify that it will allow camera coverage during the ceremony. Most do allow an out-of-the-way camera, but it's good to be sure.

Most couples who have had their weddings taped agree that videotaping and photography are two separate items.

"One does not take the place of the other, they capture two different aspects of the ceremony," said Allison Ellingson who had her wedding to her husband Brett videotaped. "The photography is much more formal than the videotaping, and doesn't really capture the emotions like the film does."

Following the ceremony, film clips of the birdseed toss or the limousine ride are the next stages to tape. This takes the couple to the reception, which often times is not videotaped. A fact many come to regret.

"We chose not to have our reception videotaped," said Laura Wright, of Canton who married her husband Eddie in August. "At the time we were worried about the cost, but now we really regret not having it done. It is a great way to capture the fun of the reception and to remember who attended."

"Everyone has a montage made up. It is just a neat way to summarize their lives, and it really has a lot of special meaning for the couples and their families."

-- Ron Maruska

Looking back

Laura and Eddie Wright both enjoy showing people the ceremony, even six months after the reception. They say the ability to rewatch the marriage is an invaluable experience each time. (Crier photo by T.M. Smith)

Maruska agrees the reception is frequently omitted. "I have stopped offering interviews of the guests during the reception. More often than not, the guests end up saying something that really doesn't belong on a special tape such as this, and is edited out anyway."

There are plenty of other reasons to have the reception videotaped. Moments such as the cutting of the cake, the garter and bouquet toss and the bridal dances are all special moments to preserve and relive.

Videotaping the reception also allows a chance to look back and see who the guests were at your wedding. This can be especially enjoyable when watching the tape a few years after the wedding.

One of the more creative aspects that can be achieved with videotaping is the montage. This consists of 20 or so pictures of both the bride and groom, from childhood up through the engagement pictures, all filmed and edited to coordinate with a favorite song.

"Everyone has a montage made up," said Maruska. "It is just a neat way to summarize their lives, and really has a lot of special meaning for the couples and their families."

For those who are considering whether or not to videotape your wedding and reception, just think for a minute what it would be like to be able to watch your favorite aunt's or your older brother's or even your own parent's wedding.

If that won't convince you, think again about all the work and walking and worrying you're putting into this eight-hour event. You'd better believe you're gonna want something to show for all of that!

Honeymoons

Experts offer easy tips for perfect trips

BY DAN NESS

Plan early, decide upon a budget and stick to it, and don't drink the water.

Three points to be remembered, honeymooners-to-be.

Travel consultants in The Plymouth-Canton Community who deal regularly with engaged couples agree that planning well in advance is the key to a happy honeymoon.

"Three months in advance, at least," advises Renee Sinta, a travel consultant with Port to Port Travel in Plymouth. Sinta recommends between three to six months planning time, depending on the type of honeymoon.

But planning ahead is obvious, isn't it?

Sometimes, even the most obvious concerns are forgotten during the planning process. "Take into consideration your new spouse's interests," Susan Keezer, manager of Plymouth Travel Consultants, says. "Two people may have two ideas of what constitutes a good trip."

Keezer recommends having more than one travel destination in mind, to allow for more flexibility while planning for the honeymoon.

And the bottom line on honeymoon planning remains money.

"The most important thing is knowing how much money they want to spend, then they don't waste their time and they don't waste our time," says Nora Smith, manager of Harvard Square Travel Service in Canton.

Hawaii and cruises to the Caribbean seem to still be the honeymoon favorites, according to the travel consultants. And the cost of traveling to those and other destinations this spring and summer should be fairly low.

"As far as we know, the travel costs are encouraging," Smith said. The reason for the optimism is the addition of more airline companies and charter flight companies which will help make summer airline ticket prices lower, Smith said.

Newlyweds can plan on spending between $500 and $2,500 for a Caribbean cruise, the consultants said. The average price for a Caribbean cruise is around $1,400 for a seven-day cruise, according to Sinta.

Trips to Hawaii can be arranged for $1,500, while destinations to Mexico's hot spots run from between $1,000 and $1,200, Smith said.

And, the consultants agreed, the advice given last, while the happy couples are walking out the office door, is the advice most easily accepted.

"Remember to have a good time."

P-C bakeries offer

A wedding cake just for you

BY JILL SCHAUFLE

Today cakes are used to symbolize many special events -- birthdays, anniversaries, graduations and many holidays. However, what seems to be the most spectacular celebration and the most glamorous cake of them all is the wedding cake. The most delicious way to top off a perfect wedding reception would, of course, be the grand wedding cake.

With a variety of shapes, sizes, flavors, and decorations, you can create the cake that is perfect for you. The Plymouth-Canton Community has several bakeries, all of which are more than willing to meet your own personal needs.

The popular flavors offered at local bakeries range from a simple chiffon in yellow, vanilla and chocolate, to a step up for banana and marble, to the even more delicious chocolate nut, cherry nut, banana nut, and even carrot cake. Or how about the ever-popular divided batters, where two flavors are combined.

There are those bakeries such as the Canton Bakery located on Lilley Road that will make any flavor cake you want, and if they don't have it, they will get it.

The Canton Bakery can offer this cake for a minimal price of around $200.

PLUS

But for those expensive tastes Canton Bakery can also whip something up for a mere $2,000 for one cake!

Sugar coated roses

Manager and owner George Trajkovski said, "Customers can bring in their own creations and we will make it. We are very versatile and will make anything they want."

Prices range from 70 cents a slice all the way up to 95 cents, which seems to be the highest price in this area. Torts, cakes with fruit used between the layers instead of frosting, are included in the high price range.

Wedding cake pieces are smaller than your average cake. The standard size is approximately one inch wide by two inches deep and four to five inches high.

For an idea of how to gauge cake size to your guest list, follow this simple formula:

- A six-inch diameter cake will serve 16 guests;
- An eight-inch cake will serve 30;
- A 10-inch cake will serve 48;
- A 12-inch cake will serve 68;
- A 14-inch cake will serve 92;
- A 16-inch cake will serve 118;
- An 18-inch cake will serve 148.

However, don't feel you have to fit the traditional norms with a round wedding cake with layers on top of each other. You might want a heart-shaped cake, or a cake with stairs leading up to another layer, or a cake that looks like a giant chapel. Or, perhaps you'll want one with a water fountain underneath, or with a garden of flowers surrounding heavenly butter-cream icing. Whether it will be fresh, silk or edible frosted flowers, they again will cost, of course. Some bakeries will order the flowers for you and others will send you to a florist.

Sugar-coated roses will run you from 18 cents to 38 cents each. As for the stairs and separators or pedestals, they can run you from seven to 20 dollars at a supply store and certain bakeries, such as Baker's Rack. However, Cake World and Canton Bakery only charge a security deposit with the return of their items. The same goes for the more expensive water fountain which could burn about $75 out of your check book at INA's Cake Decorating Supplies and Novelties.

To top off the cake there are the ornaments. They can be made of simple plastic and cost about $9. Or to the other extreme, they can be made out of hand-blown crystal which could range all the way up to $150 for the very elite.

Set up and delivery is up to the bakery for charge. Canton Bakery will go anywhere with no cost to you, as opposed to Cake World who will travel up to 10 miles with no charge and after that it will be between $5 and $7.

The bakeries do insist upon one week to 30 days advanced ordering.

These desserts at your wedding could almost be created into something sinful.

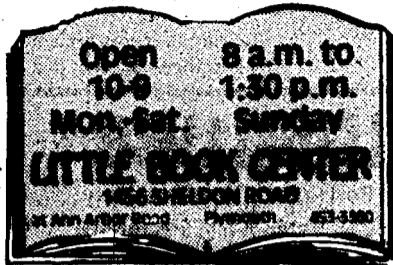

Wedding cakes -- simply an old tradition at its best.

Places to be

Pianists slated for PSO concert

Duo pianists Dai Uk Lee and Yong Hi Moon will be the guest artists for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's Feb. 8 concert at Novi High.

The show will be the orchestra's fourth of the season under Director Leon Gregorian. The program begins at 3 p.m. in the Novi auditorium. It will conclude at approximately 4:30 p.m.

Novi High is located on 10 Mile at Taft Road.

The husband and wife piano duo are natives of Korea. They have played two-piano, four-handed recitals in cities like Baltimore, Washington D.C., Cleveland and Los Angeles. They also played the Korean premiere of Bartok's "Sonata for Two Pianos and Percussion."

In 1975, the couple were honored by the Korean government and were invited to participate in a special tour commemorating the 30th anniversary of the Korean liberation.

Moon is a graduate from the Vienna Academy. She has also studied at Indiana University and, until her recent move to Michigan, was a member of the Preparatory Department Faculty at the Peabody Institute.

YONG HI MOON-DAI UK LEE.

She has played extensively throughout Europe and the United States and has appeared with the Tokyo, Osaka and Seoul Philharmonic Orchestras.

Lee studied at the Juilliard School on a scholarship. He has conducted such orchestras as the American Symphony and the Korean Philharmonic Orchestra. He is currently a member of the music faculty at Michigan State University.

The program for Sunday's show will include Verdi's overture to "La Forza del Destino," Poulenc's "Concerto in D minor" for two pianos and orchestra, Barber's "Adagio for Strings" and Respighi's "The Pines of Rome."

Tickets for the concert are on sale at Beitner Jewelry, in Plymouth; Arnoldt Williams Music, in Canton, and Hammell Music, in Livonia.

Single concert tickets are $6 for adults and $3.50 for senior citizens and full time college students. Students in grades 12 and under will be admitted free.

The concert is made possible by sponsorship from the Unisys Corporation, a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Plymouth Symphony League.

Tickets will also be on sale at the door.

Council auction planned

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will present an "unusual" auction -- Your Heart's Desire -- on Saturday, Feb. 7 at the Don Massy Cadillac showroom in Plymouth Township.

At 7:30 p.m. the doors will open to tables of auction items including crafts, gift certificates, baskets filled with candy and flowers, paintings and much more.

The live auction will be hosted by Fred Hill and L. John Miller as auctioneers. They will also offer a plane trip, glider rides, condo vacations, art work, parties (including a mystery party) and dinners out.

Refreshments will be available as well as entertainment.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council is a non-profit agency and the auction is one of the group's major fundraisers.

Tickets for the event are $12.50 and are on sale at Me and Mr. Jones in downtown Plymouth.

At the House of Woo, you're only a stranger once, according to the wait staff there. The friendly atmosphere; the tantalizing Oriental food, served Cantonese style of course; and the quick service make the restaurant at 44011 Ford Road a favorite for Plymouth-Canton residents. One of the more popular dishes is the Almond Chicken, according to Yukiko "Bunny" Woo, owner of the establishment. Woo opened the restaurant at its present location seven years ago. The House of Woo also offers its famous specialty drinks from the bar. Luncheon specials are offered Monday through Saturday, and dinner is served all day on Sundays.

Newest business rates as black tie affair

BY T.M. SMITH

The co-owners of the newly opened Village Tux Shop in downtown Plymouth firmly believe in the axiom that 'word of mouth and quality service are the best forms of advertising.'

With that idea, and a great deal of experience in the tuxedo business, John Woodruff hung a sign on Penniman Avenue Jan. 5 and officially opened his store for the 'Black tie' customer.

Woodruff, explained that he earned his experience and reputation as a service-minded businessman in Ann Arbor, where he was manager of a tuxedo shop, owned by another individual.

"It got to a point where I was known as the 'tuxedo man' out there, and everywhere I would go people would recognize me," Woodruff said.

To the nines

Both John Ventura, left, and John Woodruff, believe in giving the customer quality service, and the new owners of Village Tux Shop hope that will launch the business. (Crier photo by T.M. Smith)

That was due, he said, to his attention to detail, getting precise measurements and making sure the customer was happy above all else.

"I really enjoy hearing when everything works out well, and I just decided that it was time to go into business for myself and reap some of the benefits," he said.

And although Woodruff said, he and his partner John Ventura, looked in many towns, it was the friendly atmosphere of Plymouth that drew them to this downtown.

"I really like the town, and it didn't have a formal wear store so it worked out very well," he said.

He admitted that business is slow now, but added that the busy season is only a few months off and that he is counting on word of mouth to help him during the months of May and April.

"This was the time to start up, so we would be ready once the big season hit," Woodruff said.

He also added that because of his experience and knowledge of people in the business he has been able to start out right away with competitive prices, and the ability to pull all of the major designs and quick service to his store.

Salem gymnasts get taste of victory

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Salem gymnasts got their first taste of victory this season beating Farmington Harrison 125.7 to 100.55 on Monday night.

It was more than a taste of victory -- it was a nice blow-out for the lady Rocks, according to head coach Kathy Kinsella.

"It was great to get that first win under our belt," Kinsella said.

The Rocks captured first, second, and third place in the vault. Dana Holda took first with a 8.7, Jackie Huff placed second with a 8.5, and Becky Talbot captured third with a 8.15.

The Rocks captured second and third on the uneven bars. Holda placed second, 7.5, and Huff finished up third, 7.05.

Salem went also went one, two, three on the balance beam -- Jennie Syria captured first, 7.9, while Huff and Talbot tied for second, at 7.7.

"We did real well on the beam tonight," said Kinsella.

In the floor routine the Rocks again went one, two, and three, and also took the fourth place spot.

Talbot was again first in the floor with what Kinsella called a "great score," an 8.85, followed by Huff with a 8.75. Pastori finished in third, 8.2, and Jenny Breed fourth, 8.0.

"Those were some great scores for the girls," Kinsella added.

The Rocks then placed first in the all-around competition.

"We had a fine meet," Kinsella said, "I think the girls are really starting to work hard."

The Rocks are now at 1-2 on the year.

Canton spikers winless; Rocks keep improving

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Canton's volleyball squad remains winless (0-8) this season, but hopes remain high among the spikers at Phase III.

The Chiefs most recent lost was to Livonia Franklin 15-6, 15-2 Monday night.

"The girls are playing well, but they just can't seem to come up with the knock-out punch, to put the other team away," said coach Allie Suffety.

Although the Chiefs remain without a victory the girls continue to work hard, according to Suffety.

"We played pretty bad against Franklin," Suffety added, "we were out of position too many times tonight."

The Chiefs went into the competition without some of it's key players.

Kelly McCumber is fighting the flu, as is Vicky Ferko.

"There has been no let down for us, even though we have yet to beat a opposing team," Suffety said.

"We're building a program here, you can't expect the team to take the state title the first year"

Salem's spike squad, meanwhile, came back to knock off Farmington Monday night, losing 15-11 in the first game, but then winning the next two 18-16, and 15-7.

The Rocks came out a little surprised in the first match against Farmington.

Then in the second match the Rocks jumped out to an early 6-1 lead, then lost that lead, as Farmington came storming back scoring 10 points to lead 11-6.

With the score 14-9, the Rocks made their own comeback to shock the Falcons, and took the lead, a lead they never gave up, and won the second match 18-16.

"The momentum had gone our way after that match," said head coach Betty Smith. "The Falcons just could not regain control, so we took it to them in the third."

And that they did winning it quite easily, 15-7.

Senior captain Jessica Handley, and Amiee Hayden served well for the Rocks, as Handley marked 13 aces on the night.

"We served well," Smith said. "The stats speak for themselves."

Denice Tackett notched six spikes for points, while Rosanne Sumpter had three kills on 13 attempts.

The bench for the Rocks made their presence known against the Falcons. Sarah Dupret has done a fine job coming off the bench for the Rocks, said Smith. Dupret recorded nine kills against the Falcons.

"Sarah did a great job for us coming off the bench," Smith said.

The much improved Rocks are now at 4-6 on the year.

Salem hoop team stunned by John Glenn

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Salem's cage squad lost its first conference game Friday night to Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) powerhouse Westland John Glenn, 74-70.

It was by far the Rocks' toughest conference test of the year, according to Salem head coach Bob Brodie.

"The Rockets are a tough team, home or away," Brodie said.

John Glenn was able to take a 36-33 lead going into the lockerroom at the

PCA Eagles win, now 9-1

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Plymouth Christian Academy blew past Oakland Christian 83-58 last week.

The PCA Eagles were lead by senior Pat McCarthy, who had a triple double.

McCarthy lit up the scoreboard by pumping in 27 points, grabbing 10 rebounds, and dishing off for 10 assists.

Jeff Leach followed McCarthy with 14 points.

PCA is now at 9-1 on the year, with Zion Christian as their next opponent at Pioneer. Tip-off is slated for 7:30 p.m.

half.

But Salem was far from out of the game.

The Rocks continue to battle the highly potent Rockets, and managed to come back and tie the score late in the third quarter, 53-53.

Then early on in the fourth quarter the Rocks took a one-point lead and the packed house at Salem went wild.

But that was as close as Salem came to victory.

The Rockets were near to perfect from the charity strip in the closing minutes, which iced the game for the Rockets and sent the Salem home with a loss.

The stats were amazing for both ball clubs, according to one fan.

The Rocks were led by senior center Rick Taylor with 24 points. Taylor also ripped down 15 rebounds. Senior co-captain Bryan Kearis pumped in 22 points, while senior co-captain Mike Hale tossed 18 points, and grabbed 10 boards on the night.

The Rockets were led by senior guard Steve Hawley, who had 30 points for the victors.

The Rocks faced neighbor rival Canton Tuesday night, at the Phase III gym.

"It was a tough loss for us (to Glenn), but I'm sure we'll re-group for our next game," Brodie added.

Canton gymnasts qualify for regionals

BY KEN VOYLES

A surprising Canton gymnastics squad continues to drive toward state regional glory.

Last week the Chiefs beat both Ann Arbor Huron and Walled Lake Western with scores of over 115 and have already qualified for the regionals in March. It takes three scores over 115 to qualify for the competition.

Canton beat Huron 125.6 to 119.4 last Wednesday and knocked off

Western 123.4 to 103.5 the day before. The squad is 3-1 in dual meets.

The Chiefs are also on their way to earning All-American team status from the National High School Coaches Association (NHSCA) for dual scores of over 120. The gymnasts have won the honor for the past two seasons.

"Actually we're way ahead of my expectations," said Canton mentor John Cunningham. "I didn't think this would happen so quick. I thought we might even have to wait until next year.

"But the girls have done exceptionally well," he continued. "I'm extremely pleased."

Cunningham said his squad will have a good season if the girls remain "consistent." There is still another month of competition left for the Chiefs.

Against Huron, Apryl Mosakowski was first all-around with a total of 31.6. She finished second on the balance beam (8.25) and third on the uneven bars (7.2) and the floor exercise (8.15).

Darcy Gignac and Maureen McLean tied for first in the vaulting competition for the Chiefs with scores of 8.35, while Brenda Perry was third with an 8.2 score.

McLean and Gignac tied with Mosakowski for third on the uneven bars. They all scored 7.2.

Mary Jo Charron set a new Canton record in winning the balance beam. Her score of 8.8 bested the previous mark of 8.75 set in 1984 by Linda Beale.

Perry won the floor exercise with an 8.6, while Charron was second in 8.55.

Gignac was first all-round for Canton against Western with a 30.6 total. She won the vaulting with an 8.5, but did not place in the top three in any other events.

Mosakowski won the uneven bars with a 7.35 and finished second in the floor exercise. Sharon Moran was first on the balance beam with an 8.15 and Perry won the floor with an 8.35.

Debbi Borke, "the Ladywood (High) team," according to Cunningham, recorded her second qualifying score for the regionals as an individual. Borke works out with Canton and competes for scores at Chief meets.

Rocks now 5-1

Tankers win again

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Salem's tankers continue to dominate opposing swimming squads as it sank Walled Lake Central, 123-47, on Thursday.

Salem was again lead by freshmen sensations Ron Orris and Don Harwood, who each captured two first place finishes for the Rocks.

Harwood won the 200 individual medley in 2:11.9 and captured the 100 backstroke in 59.5 seconds.

Orris, who has been hot of late, won the 200 freestyle with a time of 1:51.6. He also managed to capture the 500 freestyle in 4:58.1

Mike Hill took a first place finish for the Rocks in the 50 freestyle in a time of 24.3

John Hobgood also had a first place in the 100 breaststroke, in a time of 1:12.1

The Rocks are 5-1 on the year.

"Things don't get to easy from this point on," Olson added. The Rocks have to face powerhouses Livonia Stevenson and Ann Arbor Huron still.

Cruisers surprise league foes

The Plymouth-Canton Cruisers swim team won its league championship in December, besting seven other teams with a total of 1729.5 points.

The Cruisers won the Southern Michigan Swim League (SMSL) title by edging Ann Arbor, a team which has dominated the conference for the past 10 years. Ann Arbor finished second with 1462 points.

The Cruisers are a part of The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Continuing Education. Over 100 boys and girls ages five to 14 swim with the squad.

Matt Stried captured a first for the Cruisers in the eight and under boys 25 butterfly, while John Farrar won the 9-10 boys 50 freestyle. Farrar also won the 9-10 boys 50 butterfly.

Craig Zeleji won the 9-10 boys 50 backstroke for the Cruisers and Elaine Luzano won the 9-10 girls 50 breastroke.

Janet Roberts was first in the 11-12 girls 100 individual medley and the 100 freestyle.

Matt Erickson won the 11-12 boys 50 backstroke.

In the 13-14 championships, Jeff Homan won the boys 50 freestyle, while Dave Nevi won the boys 100 butterfly. Homan also won the 100 breastroke.

Melinda Wiltrout captured the girls 100 breastroke for the Cruisers in the 13-14 races.

Popular soccer continues in Canton

A third session of indoor soccer, sponsored by Canton's Parks and Recreation Department, will begin March 1.

Game are played at the indoor soccer dome.

The entry fee is $415 per team; $240 for the under-8 division. That includes a six-game playing schedule.

Leagues are for all ages youths through over 30.

For further details call 397-5110.

T-Birds, Kings capture PCJBA titles

BY KEN VOYLES

The T-Birds and the Kings won their respective divisions of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association (PCJBA) Saturday in championship games played at Pioneer Middle School.

The T-Birds captured the girls B

League (grades six, seven and eight) with a 46-39 triumph over the Dolphins, while the Kings downed the Bullets, 59-58, in the finals of the boys A League (grades seven and eight).

PCJBA action

The Kings battled the Bullets in the Boys A League championship game Saturday. (Crier photo by Kelly Sauter)

Betsy McAllister led the T-Birds with 32 points, including 11 field goals. She also connected on 10 of 11 shots at the free throw line. Gwen Valentine contributed five points for the T-Birds.

Mary Barna led the Dolphins with 16 points, while Toni Trapani added seven.

The T-Birds finished the regular season with a perfect 7-0 mark. The squad also went 4-1 in the championship tournament, losing only to the Dolphins.

The Dolphins were 6-1 on the regular season (losing only to the T-Birds) and 4-1 in the tournament.

Chris Tebben, Jason Behnke and Dave Donaldson led the Kings to victory in the boys contest, while Mike Mulder, Jason Riggs and Brad Fisch played well in defeat for the Bullets.

The Kings finished the season with a 16-1 record. The squad's lone loss was against the Bullets in the post-season tournament last Wednesday.

The Bullets finished out the year with a 13-3 mark. All three loses came against the Kings.

PCJBA action continues with the girls and boys ninth through 12th grade leagues, including boys AA and AAA and girls AA. Those divisions will wrap up play in early March.

Golf lessons offered by city P & R

Golf lessons in February?

That's what the City of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department will offer starting on Tuesday, Feb. 17 for both children and adults.

The cost of the lessons is $25, which includes four sessions and balls.

The lessons are divided into two groups. Golfers ages eight through 14 will meet on Tuesdays from 4:30-5:30 p.m., while golfers ages 15 and over will be taught from 6:30-7:30 p.m.

The lessons will be held at His & Hers Golf at Six Mile and Newburgh roads.

For further information contact the department at 455-6620.

Chief swimmers turn it around, win 3

BY KEN VOYLES

Losing had become too much of a habit for Canton's boys swimming squad. Until two weeks ago.

That's when the Chiefs downed Westland John Glenn 95-77. Since then the tankers have also beaten Walled Lake Western and Farmington, both last week.

Canton knocked off Western, 102-57, on Thursday after beating Farmington, 113-59, last Tuesday. The squad began the season with five straight losses but has now won three matches for an overall mark of 3-5 so far this season.

"We're doing a whole lot better," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman. "Winning is a lot better than losing."

"We've got some good meets ahead of us and we're looking pretty good," he added.

Wellman called the win over Western a "real exciting" one. The Chiefs garnered eight individual firsts and won both the 200 medley relay and the 400 free relay.

The quartet of Don Kleist, Scott LaPointe, Steve Geddes and Justin LaBond teamed to win the medley relay in 1:58, while LaBond, Andy Lang, Jim Hartnett and Mitch Timberlake combined to win the free relay in 3:55.7.

Hartnett also won the 200 free in 2:06.6 and the 100 free in 58.16 seconds, while Scott Swartzwelder won the 200 individual medley in 2:19.5.

LaBond captured the 50 free in 25.48 seconds and Keith Corley won diving with 179.8 points.

Lang won the 500 free in 5:39.7, while LaPointe captured the 100 breaststroke in 1:16.72.

Jim Riemenschneider rounded out Canton's firsts as he won the 100 backstroke in 1:04.8.

Against Farmington, Tom Hone won both the 50 and 100 free races, while Dean Roberts, Bryce Anderson, Brad Flowers and Jeff Homan also captured first places in their respective events.

Last minute ticket leads local man to Superbowl

BY KEN VOYLES

A local man, Tom McNamara, had a dream come true Sunday.

The transplanted New York City native made a special plea for a ticket to attend Sunday's Superbowl XXI and at the 11th hour one became available.

It was the New York Giant's first Superbowl and McNamara's as well.

"It was great, tremendous," he said after returning Monday. "Everything was perfect."

McNamara got wind of a ticket on Saturday. It was waiting for him when he arrived at the Rose Bowl Sunday afternoon, less than 45 minutes before the kickoff.

"I held on to that ticket like it was the Hope diamond," McNamara said. He said he paid $200 for it.

"It was well worth it."

The 42-year-old General Motors employee called it "luck" his finding a ticket just one day before the coveted contest.

"The ad helped but it was really just word of mouth," said McNamara. He added that he would prefer to let his last-minute savior remain anonymous.

McNamara was born 10 minutes from Yankee Stadium. He currently lives in Canton with his family.

"We had some trouble getting to the game," he said. "Our bus broke down for a while. Some guys were ready to start running for the stadium."

Curiosities

Q. How many publishers does it take to attend an MPA convention?
A. Two. One to drive, and one to remind the other that 1987 is not a leap year.

Sallye - Sorry we missed the bash, good luck in the 'real' world.

Colleen eats a 'T&P' in Lansing.

God I love Crier parties

Ken and Dan both need new column mug shots to go with their new mugs.

Red - "Let those eyes rest. You need them to see us with." Other Colors.

A week off, ready to go and back in the curio game.

Rocket Eyes - when will I see those flares on fire again? A warrior humbly asks his majesty. A Musketeer

Colleen starts to laugh at awkward times.

My Friends - Unilateral friendship always. Zen.

A flooded darkroom Saturday. And who accidentally discovers it and then cleans it up? Your welcome photographer!

Ed Wendover made his first (?) mistake of the year and it's only January.

Sallye Roby is a great guest of honor at a party - but I don't know what I'm going to do without her.

Thanks Monica for helping me clean house.

Ed, I'd buy you a new calendar if I thought it would help.

Colleen & Kathie make great birthday cakes. Maybe we could have birthdays every week - and weight 500 pounds.

Sallye, I have lots of messages for you - but you have to stay to find out what they are.

SOME OF US are ahead of our time even if only by a week.

JON ALBERT walks dogs well.

"LAST TIME I did my laundry, I forgot to put the soap in," Claudia Hendries

"THAT'S NOTHING, I forgot which was which, fabric softener or soap," Phyllis Redfern.
