Flash fire rages in City

BY PAUL GARGARO

The raging flames of a "flash" fire resulted in the destruction of a garage at 502 N. Harvey Street at 11:58 a.m. Friday morning.

Plymouth Fire Chief Alan Matthews said that the fire started when one of the home's residents was cleaning auto parts in gasoline, while using a kerosene space heater in the garage.

Matthews said the gas fumes were ignited by the kerosene heater, creating an explosion or flash fire.

While there were no serious injuries, the resident working in the garage received minor flash burns on the face, said Matthews.

Matthews also said the resident was able to save his car from damage by pushing it out of the garage and onto Farmer Street.

"We received the call at 11:58 and were on the scene at 11:59," said Matthews. "We had the fire under control in approximately 15 minutes."

The garage, which was attached to the home by a narrow breezeway, was completely destroyed, said Matthews.

"The fire spread quickly in the garage," Matthews said. "But, it didn't penetrate the brick (on the house) and the flames didn't spread into the house."

Schools consider $5 million in cuts

BY KEN VOYLES

Among the more drastic ideas under consideration by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education, following the defeat of a two mills increase on March 22, is the closing of Lowell Middle School and the "mothballing" of the new Hoben Elementary School.

On Saturday, the Board of Education looked at budget options, which call for reductions anywhere from $1.1 million in operating expenses to as much as $5 million.

The board will meet again on Thursday, April 21 to finalize plans for the upcoming budget, as well as consider another millage election. By that date district administrators hope to have concrete information on the effects of the Headlee Amendment.

Superintendent John M. Hoben said the district has only until April 26 to make a decision on whether to try another millage election or not. The board will announce its plan at the April 25 regular meeting.

"From an administrative standpoint our priority is the classroom," Hoben told the board Saturday. "So we need to talk about priorities."

He added, "The irony of all this is that if we had gotten the two mills we'd still need a $1 million in cuts."

"We have three or four weeks before we have to say 'this or that' needs to be cut," said Ray Hoedel, the district's associate superintendent for business.

"I think we owe it to the students of the community to give this (another election) one last shot," said Trustee Roland Thomas.

"I just don't think it's necessary to come right back," said Trustee Jeanette Wines. "We need to make some cuts and do some organizing."

"I'm really hesitant to put another millage back on the ballot in June," said Trustee Marilyn Schwinn. "I think the public told us what they wanted."

Hoedel told the board that the district could expect as much as a three mills drop in funding because of the Headlee Amendment. Although revenues are up slightly (thanks somewhat to increased SEVS), expenditures are also on the rise.

"We have about six million in excess expenditures based on a rollback and the state aid picture," Hoedel said. "We might want to ask for another Headlee override in June but no additional millage."

The "maintenance level budget" projects $53.5 million in revenues but $59.5 million in expenditures, said Hoedel. State aid has fallen by more than $2 million.

Among the many options being considered by the board:

- Freeze all "discretionary" spending in the district.

- Reduce staff. One figure mentioned was 62. That would at the same time probably increase classroom sizes.

- Close Lowell Middle School. The school is currently leased from the

Protests halt Haggerty Road paving

BY KAY FAHEY

A special assessment to finance the paving of Haggerty Road between Joy and Koppernick roads in Canton was halted by protests from property owners at the Canton Board last week.

The project, which has been on the books since 1982-83, calls for straightening the jog in Haggerty Road and drainage improvements, as well as paving with a two-lane concrete top.

The special assessment would have provided over 1.5 million from the property owners whose lots front on the stretch of Haggerty slated for improvement. Canton's Engineer Tom Casari estimated the total cost of the project would be approximately $2 million.

Property owner Jack Cook told the board, "I'm not opposed to sewers and paving. I just don't like the special assessment means of funding. This is an unusual stretch because Haggerty is being realigned, and plans call for a new railroad crossing. The property owners shouldn't have to pay for this. The Cherry Hill to Palmer stretch of Haggerty is being paid for with city, county and federal funds. Why not this section?"

Land Company of Michigan owner Gregory Donovan also addressed the board.

"We are looking for an equity situation," he said. "The township should take into consideration who the beneficiaries of this paving will be." Donovan said he considers the project to be important, and is willing to donate four and one half acres to the project free of charge.

"Haggerty is an inter-community road, it works as freeway relief for people traveling between Plymouth and Canton. This is the only part of Haggerty from Palmer down not paved. We've been looking for this for some time," Donovan said.

Toys R Us representative Wasyl Hnatiw agreed with Cook and Donovan.

"The special assessment involves unfair representation," he said, adding that the county may need to get involved. Toys R Us will have a large warehouse on this section of Haggerty Road.

Opposition by property owners rendered the special assessment invalid.

The Canton Board passed a motion that an outline for funding be drawn up which will draw upon city and county funds, as well as upon property owners. The Chessie System and the county will be approached to help finance the new railroad crossing.

Water main to tie up Joy Road

BY PAUL GARGARO

The construction of a water main along Joy Road between Ann Arbor and Sheldon roads will begin this spring and, as a result, area travellers can expect minor inconveniences.

The three-phase construction plan is scheduled to begin April 18 and could greatly affect residents along McClumpha, Sheldon Center, and Canton Center roads, according to Township Police Chief Carl Berry.

Berry estimated that four to 5,000 cars will travel daily on McClumpha Road as a result of the construction.

"The McClumpha and Ann Arbor roads intersection could be a serious concern," said Berry.

On April 18 the portion of Joy Road from Sheldon to Canton Center roads will be closed except for one lane of local traffic. Portions of Joy Road will be re-opened as the construction moves west.

According to Berry, a significant impact will be felt at the high schools.

At a Monday meeting of school officials, ideas to circumvent the problem were discussed. Plans to close the east side student parking lot at Salem High School or to construct a temporary road may through the Centennial Education Park and reroute travellers onto Canton Center Road were considered, said Berry.

While Berry expressed concerns with the maintenance of McClumpha Road during the period of construction, plans for paving the road from Joy to Beck roads are in the future.

According to Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, developers along McClumpha Road plan to pave the road south of Ann Arbor Road. Paving plans, though, are still undetermined.

"The problem is working it into a paving schedule with the county," said Breen.

Township officials expect the Joy Road construction to be completed by early fall.

Local Dems pick Dukakis

BY KEN VOYLES

Democratic voters in all four Plymouth-Canton polling centers favored Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis during Saturday's caucus vote.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson won the state Democratic vote, however, while retaining a close second place at all of the local voting spots.

Voters in the 2nd District, which includes Plymouth, Northville and Livonia, favored Jackson 6,598 to Dukakis' 4,957, but locally Dukakis tallied 258 votes to Jackson's 90.

Crier closed

The Community Crier/COMMA offices will be closed this Friday (April 1) at noon so that staffers can partake in Good Friday worship. The offices will be open again for regular business on Monday, April 4 at 9 a.m.

Richard Gephardt garnered 82 votes in the Plymouth precinct, while Paul Simon collected 24 and Albert Gord Jr. had 17.

Voters in the 15th District, which includes Canton, cast 3,836 votes for Jackson and 3,168 for Dukakis. Locally, though, at all three Canton voting precincts, Dukakis came out on top.

At Canton High School, Dukakis collected 56 votes to Jackson's 43. Gephardt picked up 19. At The Winds polling center, Dukakis counted 75 votes, while Jackson had 52. Gephardt was a close third with 51 votes.

Dukakis also took the top spot at the UAW Local 735 polling center with 45 votes. Jackson picked up 31 and Gephardt had 28.

From four to six delegates were up for grabs in each of the two districts.

P-C police consider mutual aid plans

BY PAUL GARGARO

The three police departments in The Plymouth-Canton Community are currently reviewing two plans which would establish formal procedures for mutual police aid and assistance to cover emergency situations within western Wayne County.

The two plans currently under review are Annex H, which strictly covers law enforcement responsibilities and is part of the overall Wayne County Emergency Plan, and the Western Wayne County Mutual Aid (WWCMA) program, which is a localized plan for mutual police aid between the sixteen western Wayne County police departments.

While both set up guidelines for cooperative police response in western Wayne County, Annex H is a county developed plan which is only one part of a much larger mutual aid program, which includes the deployment of rescue vehicles, fire equipment, public works, volunteers, etc.

"Annex H is part of an overall Wayne County plan," said Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry. "It fits into an overall program to cover disasters like flight 255."

Canton's Public Safety Director John Santomauro described WWCMA police task force program as the formalization of "unwritten" policy of mutual police aid already in place in the area. He pointed to the multi-community police response during the recent disturbance at Salem and Canton high schools as an example.

Cooperation with the programs is still being discussed by area police departments. To date, neither the Canton Board of Trustees, the Plymouth City Commission, nor the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees have given their formal approval of either plan.

"We want to have a coordinated system, so that there won't be an unnecessary response of police officers," said Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers.

Twp. denies renewal for Plymouthrock

BY PAUL GARGARO

In round two of the battle between the Plymouthrock Saloon and Plymouth Township, township trustees voted last Tuesday to deny the renewal of the saloon/restaurant's Class C Liquor License.

On Feb. 24, the board of trustees voted to recommend that the Rock's liquor license be revoked by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (LCC) based on supposed nuisances created by the establishment and its alleged sale of alcohol to minors.

Plymouthrock attorney Norman

Farhat questioned the importance of last Tuesday's decision, citing that the recommended revocation is more severe than the non-renewal.

"It's rather innocuous," said Farhat. "What further action could be taken? The LCC won't reject your recommendation."

No hearing date has yet been set for an LCC hearing.

In an earlier interview with the Crier, Plymouthrock manager and shareholder Pete Eleferio said that the revocation would be appealed in court.

Alternative Education report suggests expansion

BY KEN VOYLES

In the final report of the Alternative Education Task Force issued last week to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education, there is a suggestion to expand the programs to the elementary school level.

The task force also recommended continuing existing programs at the middle school and high school level. The group also suggested that the district begin an "in-house" program to reach students who have difficulty functioning in the traditional school setting.

"The task force found that the programs we already have are excellent," said Kent Buikema, chairman of the committee and director of secondary education in the school district. "Our feeling is that they should be continued as is, but that wasn't one of the options given us."

Currently, the district also funds the Learning Options program through Growth Works, Inc., a non-profit organization in Plymouth which helps troubled youths.

There was some suggestion last week that the district pull out of the Growth Works program and begin its own "in-house" effort at the high schools.

"We'd be starting from scratch if we did that," Buikema said. "There'd be some gains and losses."

One of the disadvantages, said Buikema, would be the reduced number of students the district could help, at first anyway.

The Growth Works program reaches nearly 90 youths a year. A new school program might reach only 40 students a year, said Buikema.

"We've got to look at what we can do if we're forced to do it with very little resources," said Board Trustee Lester Walker.

"We've got some tough decisions to look at," said Board President David Artley. "The bottom line is that we should be able to deliver this service."

Artley said the board would consider what to do with the Alternative Education program in the school district when it looks at next year's budget during the coming weeks.

Let's get this straight

Let's straighten this one out.

It appears two of most crooked (and in many ways the most dangerous) intersections in The Plymouth-Canton Community will be straightened sometime this year.

Work could begin at both the Lilley Road-Joy Road and Haggerty Road-Joy Road intersections, though whether they get done this year is not a concrete fact. Still, both seem to be on the high road to a straighter future. Haggerty will also get paved south of Joy.

It's encouraging to see the plans for Lilley -- the jagged corner fronting Mettetal Airport -- and Haggerty. It's also encouraging to see the Mettetal family offer a slab of their land for right-of-way.

That's the right way.

At Haggerty and Joy there is concern, though, by some of the businesses which front what is currently a dirt road. They are not so sure the cost -- which will come mostly from their pockets -- is worth it.

Whether the funds come from government or private pockets, eliminating the jogs at both intersections should go forward at top speed.

Once realigned the intersections could become magnets for new business. That's a plus, of course, as is making the community's roadways even safer.

Make way for a straighter future along the Plymouth-Canton road system.

Explain SEV, schools' taxes

EDITOR:

I would like to have someone explain to me -- and to all the other people who voted against additional school millage -- why the additional school tax derived from raised property assessments is not enough to keep schools running efficiently?

Our area (Salem Twp.) is rapidly building up with very expensive homes, and not many children. What happens to all the school tax? Can anyone explain -- so all of us can understand it? What will be enough? Where will it stop? Why isn't an assessment raise an automatic increase for the schools? I want to know!

Who is planning to run for what in P-C?

It's that time... elections are at hand. Who's running for what?

Some of this is speculation -- some of it is hot news (like Tom Yack deciding Monday night to take out petitions for Canton supervisor). None of it is etched in stone until the filing deadline of 4 p.m. Tuesday, May 31... or maybe not until the withdrawal deadline three days later.

First, the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools board race with 17 persons taking out petitions so far. (One has said he's decided not to run, two -- Richard Sumpter and Leon Watkins -- have been certified.) Incumbent Les Walker has taken out petitions but hasn't returned them yet; the other veteran, E. J. McClendon has hinted he'd rather not run, but may do so just to keep the religious fanatics from grabbing an easy, vacant seat.

Diane Daskalakis isn't in the race YET, but then neither is John Lore. Would Mike Burley leave the Schoolcraft College board to assume a leadership role on the local school board? Watch for them.

The major election focus, though, will be on the partisan offices at the township levels that affect The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurie Breen will undoubtedly face opposition this time (unlike four years ago). Either Jerry Raymor and-or Jim Irvine will challenge him. Bill Joyner may hop into the race too. Then there's always Carol Levitte. How about Jim McKeon? Maybe Tom Bohlander on a platform of hiring a full-time superintendent while making the supervisor part-time? Jim Anulewicz won't go for it unless Breen retires.

In the clerk's race there, Esther Hulsing will run again. And Mary Brooks says she's found a home as treasurer. Of course, that doesn't mean that some energetic soul won't jump in the races.

For trustee, (assuming that Irvine won't re-seeek that) there are incumbents Smitty (he was elevated from Smitty by his new English in-laws) Horton, Abe Munfakh and Andy Pruner will lead the Breen-slate charge. Add John Stewart and Denny Campbell to that group. And will Dick Gornick, Don Skinner, Bill Brown, or Marianne Garber get into the contest?

Canton's fight adopting a superintendent form of government will heat up the races there almost as much as Linda Chuhran's antics (the operative word there is "almost").

Elaine Kirchgatter, the recent trustee appointee will likely be the foremost challenger for clerk. Chuhran has already threatened to sue the newspapers if -- make that after -- she loses the contest.

Will Carol Bodenmiller jump in that race too?

Yack will give Supervisor Jim Poole a run, even though Poole is the only supervisor in modern history to have been re-elected to the job. Maybe, Loren Bennett will hop into that fray -- if he doesn't run against State Rep. Jim Kosteva.

Treasurer Gerald Brown has taken out petitions, but who'll run against him? Bodenmiller? How about another run by Dick Wolfe?

On the trustee side, John Preniczky will run; probably Bob Padgett won't (although with a superintendent running things he might even challenge Poole). Also: Phil LaJoy, Ed Rasmussen, Burley, Jim Driesbach, Vic Gustafson, Melissa McLaughlin, John Burdziak, Jim Gillig, Bob Greenstein (shades o' the past), Bruce Patterson, Bob Shefferly, and the many others who applied for the appointment to the vacancy left by Steve Larson's resignation. (Frank McMurray will be listing his house soon, so he won't be in the race.)

OLGC parking affects all City property owners

EDITOR:

The uproar that the purchase of 179 Arthur by Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church caused among concerned citizens should be taken seriously by all citizens of Plymouth and their elected representatives on the city commission.

It is more than just the fear of declining property values that motivates people to speak out strongly against the vague, but nevertheless determined plans of OLGC to "grow." It is the fear that the Plymouth we inhabit, love, and help support with our tax dollars could be vanishing rapidly.

OLGC letter was appalling

EDITOR:

I am appalled at the letter from Dorothy Leahy regarding Our Lady of Good Counsel. I am a member of OLGC Home School Guild and I attended the best meeting in which the new amendment was announced. If she did not speak up at that time, why does she feel she must express her opinions in newspaper. I feel it is in very poor taste.

I give strong support to Fr. Perfetto and Peggy Hoarz for speaking for the vast majority of parishioners instead of making a few spoil the good name of OLGC.

My prayers are with Fr. Perfetto and the HSC for the good job that has been done.

DARLENE RUCINSKI

It should especially concern the Plymouth business community that profits from visitors to Plymouth who shop here because Plymouth is not another Eastland, Westland, Northland, or 12 Oaks shopping mall.

With five churches in the immediate vicinity of the city center surrounded by or bordering on prime residential areas, the city commission should address the prospective growth needs of these churches head-on and with candor. It should not let developments take place unchecked over which it will have no control later on.

The question should be asked whether accommodating the needs of large numbers of parishioners from outside Plymouth is compatible with the city's obligation to its tax-paying residents.

The prospect of additional blacktop or concrete parking space defacing residential areas around OLGC, St. Peter's, First Presbyterian, Central Baptist, and First Church of Christian Science is horrible, but unfortunately no longer a futuristic fantasy. When these churches were founded and built in Plymouth, their viability was based on the population of Plymouth and the space available.

Since then housing and population around Plymouth have exploded while the space available within city limits of Plymouth has remained the same.

The churches, in this case Our Lady of Good Counsel, should acknowledge these changed realities rather than insist on their rights to grow on the basis of outdated zoning laws and codes. Their needs for growth may be better served outside Plymouth where the present and anticipated increase in parishioners really occurs, where land is available and encroachment upon residential areas less likely.

Other alternatives to more blacktop in Plymouth have been suggested: the use of the centrally located city parking structure (in walking distance of all the churches mentioned above), the neighboring streets, more masses and services on Sundays etc.

Our Land of Good Counsel was ill-advised to camouflage its identity while purchasing 179 Arthur for undetermined future use. Neighbors reacted with disbelief and outrage. It is easy to imagine the amount of uncertainty and suspicion created in the community when "for sale" signs are put up on properties in the vicinity of churches. Has my neighbor given up the fight or simply been brought out by a church? Will another "European corporation" be the buyer who later on turns out to be your friendly neighborhood church?

Since the city of Plymouth cannot stop churches from buying property, it should find ways to stop them from turning this property into parking lots. Responsible city planning involves conservation of the treasures you have.

Our tree-lined streets with well-maintained old homes are a vital contribution to the city's identity and the well-being of all citizens. If a city commission can rezone residential property to accommodate commercial growth, it should find ways to stop churches from destroying the city's residential areas.

I cannot see any reason why the city of Plymouth should commit urban suicide simply because one big, non-taxpaying resident wants to grow.

Letter author not 'authority'

EDITOR:

In response to "Parishioner Looks for Support" by Dorothy Leahy, I would like to challenge her perception of "authority." Perhaps it was unwise for Father Perfetto to create a new amendment stating that all nominees for an office must have his acceptance.

However, in light of the radical, malicious, and destructive group formed to fight the teaching of "New Creation," I support his decision. Dorothy Leahy is not the "authority" on how doctrine will be taught at Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish; Father Perfetto is.

"The Spirit of Vatican II" is alive and vibrant at OLGC, despite the scandalous efforts of people like Dorothy Leahy to squelch it.

Save Canton's Boosters

EDITOR:

Help, we need help to save a dying institution. The Canton Booster Club was established many years ago to promote athletic endeavors. Students and parents joined forces in fund raisers to help Canton High School athletes. If teams needed financial assistance, such as money for equipment, supplies or uniforms, teams needed only to request their desires to the booster club and wait for the members to vote on the proposal. Most likely all requests were granted. Over the years less enthusiasm has been shown by the parents to help organizing and running the Booster Club. Today only two or three people show up at meetings and two of them are officers. Request for money is still there but lack of interest is obviously missing.

Please help save this club that helps your children by attending general membership meetings held on the 3rd Monday of Sept., Nov., Feb., and May in room 108 at the Canton High School at 7:30 p.m. or call John Olszewski at 455-8197 or Lee Nichols at 981-0408.

School tidbits...

Just when a real budget crunch seems on the horizon more bad news is flowing from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district.

This time it is in the nature of new federal regulations on friable and non-friable asbestos.

The district faces an additional cost of $120,000 to inspect all of its buildings for friable asbestos this year.

Superintendent John M. Hoben said the district's program needs to identify a coordinator, inform the staff, qualify an inspector, begin building inspections (by October this year), formulate a management plan and have that plan in place by 1989.

The district will also have to begin removing friable asbestos this year.

The federal regulation calls for it to be removed by October.

"They recommend we buy the moon suits and other equipment," said Hoben.

The district is looking at a cost of about six cents per square foot just to inspect each building.

"We think it's rather extreme," said Hoben, who added that the inspections would have to be far more thorough than ever before. "They're telling all school districts to go back and inspect again even if they have already."

Hoben added there was some legislation in the U.S. Senate which would give districts more time to comply with the new regulations.

Joint Resolution K is the current vehicle bill for state school funding. It could reduce property taxes by $1.5 billion, according to Hoben.

The state would collect two cents more in state sales tax, while property taxes would be reduced by reducing the percentage of valuation assessed against a home or business.

Currently, all state equalized valuations (SEVs) are at 50 per cent of the real value of a home or business. Under the bill, property would be assessed at only 25 per cent of its real value (35 per cent for businesses).

Hoben said the bill has bi-partisan support, but that a public referendum on the sales tax must first be passed (possibly on the August primary vote).

Classes at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) may be disrupted this spring by the construction on a new water main along Joy Road.

Hoben said construction could limit entrance and egress for both student drivers and school buses.

Hoben said he has talked to a district attorney about a possible restraining order, which would back the work up from an April start to a June start.

"We have some serious concerns about safety as well as entrance and egress to the grounds," Hoben said.

Students survey: clean Rouge, but who pays?

EDITOR:

We are eighth grade students at Central Middle School and have done a survey on the pollution of the Rouge River for a school science project. Since this subject concerns a great amount of the population in the Detroit area we would like you to publish the results of our survey in an issue of your paper.

We conducted our survey during two weekends in February asking people leaving Plymouth-Canton stores to answer five questions. We received 50 responses.

Of the 50 people we surveyed, 100 per cent acknowledge that they would rather clean the Rouge River than find alternative water supplies. However, only 10 per cent of the people we surveyed said that they have helped cleaned the Rouge River, and more than 60 per cent said they would not help clean the river. In answer to our question about increasing taxes to provide money to clean the river, 50 per cent said yes they would want taxes increased to clean the river and the other 50 per cent said they would not. Finally 15 per cent of the people said that they think they contribute to water pollution in the Rouge River, while the other 85 per cent said that they did not increase pollution in the river.

The results of our survey indicate that people want to have the river cleaned, but do not want to help clean it up or pay money to have someone else clean the river.

For Twp. Chief

It's a small world

The following story is meant for storage in the "It's A Small World" file.

Last Friday, Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry (an avid motorcyclist), his wife, and another couple were out enjoying an evening cruise on their bikes.

Following the lead of the mild, spring night, Berry et al. toured the roadways until they found themselves somewhere in the vicinity of 12 Mile and Telegraph roads.

To make a short story shorter, the Chief and his companions witnessed an auto accident near this location. Fortunately, Berry and his friends were able to narrowly escape in the wake of the crash.

Pulling off to the side of the road, Berry hurried off of his bike and walked back to the accident scene to do a little impromptu police work and make sure that all was well.

At the scene, he noticed that the car, which had been cut off, had Illinois plates. Interesting?

Not yet, but there's more to come.

The accident claimed no injuries. Noting this, Berry turned to the man with the Illinois plates and told him that if he needed a witness, he'd be glad to help. He then gave the guy his card and prepared to be on his way.

This is where things get a little wierd.

The last detail
by Paul Gargaro

Fate would have it that the unfortunate motorist from Illinois (Chicago) is moving shortly to (you guessed it) Plymouth Township. To make matters even stranger, not only is this guy moving to the Township, but he's moving to Berry's street and is going to be the chief's new neighbor.

Imagine this fellow's shock when he read Berry's card and saw 'Plymouth Township Police Chief' printed boldly in black and white.

I wonder if this soon-to-be Township resident hurried back to Chicago with tales of a great new neighborhood with a police chief, dressed in leather, who scours the streets of metropolitan Detroit on a motorcycle doing good deeds and welcoming lost strangers to the area?

I doubt it.

Actually, our friend from the Windy City probably scratched his head all the way home. I'm sure he's still pondering this bizarre coincidence and wondering just what kind of a place is it that he's moving to.

Residents line up for Board race

BY KEN VOYLES

With only 12 days remaining to file nominating petitions for the two seats open this year on the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education, the number of potential candidates has risen.

Currently 16 residents have taken out nominating petitions. Of those, only two have turned in the petitions and become certified for the June race. They are Richard W. Sumpter, 42675 Beechwood in Canton, and Leon R. Watkins, 8893 Tavistock in Plymouth.

Fourteen other Plymouth-Canton residents, including incumbent Lester Walker, have taken out petitions but not returned them. Residents have until 4 p.m. on Monday, April 11 to return nominating petitions.

The other incumbent this year — E.J. McClendon — has also taken out petitions but said he has yet to decide if he will turn them in.

Residents of Plymouth who have already taken out petitions include Gerald C. VanDusen, Cameron A. Miller, Annette J. Remsburg, Janet Drass, Allen Kinsler, Frank Riley, Walker and Milan A. Emanuele.

Residents of Canton who have taken out petitions include Robert R. Stearns, Mark D. Beauchene, Mary P. Dahn, Joan Kotcher, Mary M. Roberson, and Royce Disbrow.

There are two four-seats vacant on the board this June. Potential candidates need 28 valid signatures to become certified for the June election race.

Schools take 1st budget step

Livonia Public Schools through 1988.

- Mothball Hoben Elementary School. The new school (funded by the 1986 Bond Issue) is nearly complete. It will be furnished through bond money but might not open for another year.

- Re-examine the status of Central Middle School. There had been hopes the district could discontinue Central as a regular classroom setting.

- Speed up early staff retirements. There are about 170 staff who are on their way to retirement.

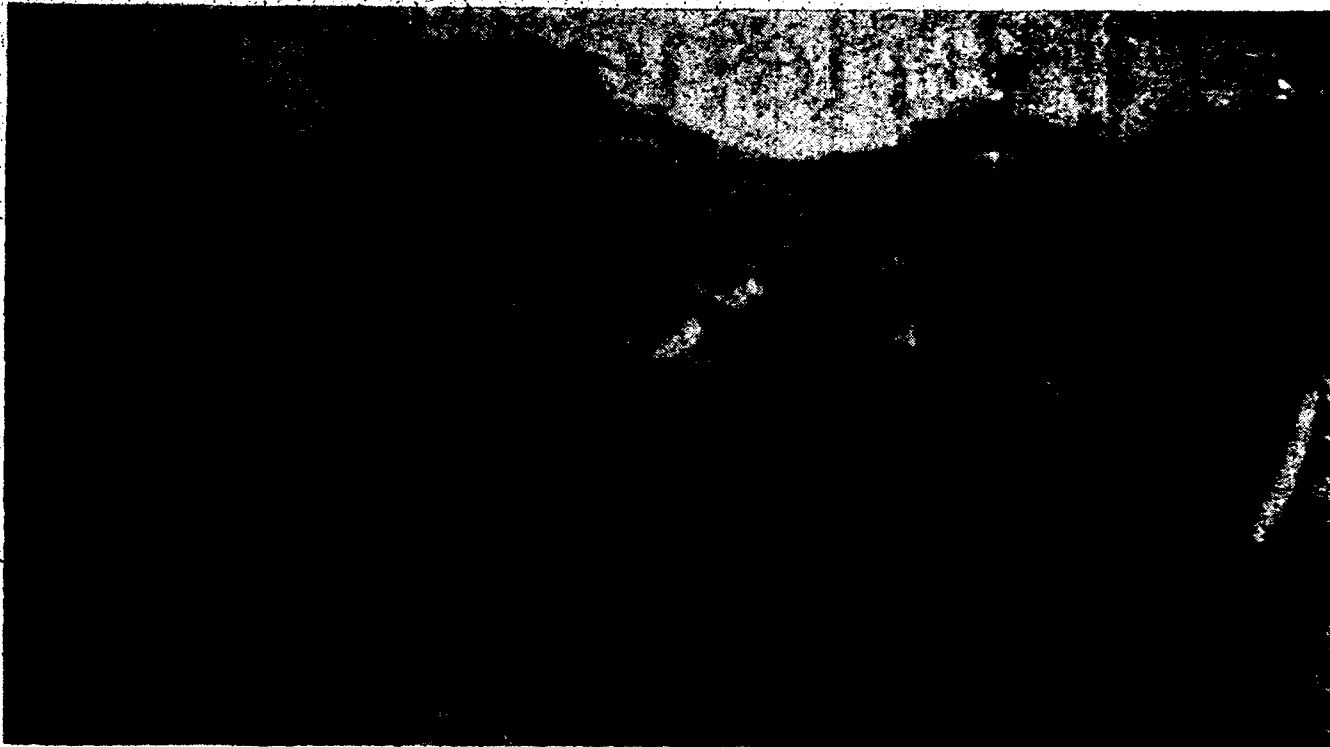

- Use fund balance money and reduce the board's own contingency.

- Re-open Tanger School to K-5 students or close it all together.

- Reduce extracurricular activities, including athletics.

"I feel we've taken the first step. We can't take another until we know the Headlee effects," said Trustee E.J. McClendon.

Dean Swartzweber said he wasn't sure if there was time to close Lowell before the start of the 1988-89 school year.

Rollover

Kathleen Pyne, 38, of Birmingham, escaped injury when her car rolled over in the median on M-14, just west of Beck road. State Police said that Pyne's westbound car was drawn into the right, front fender of a semi-truck travelling in the neighboring lane by strong winds. Pyne's car was pushed away and rolled as it hit the median. Police said Pyne was saved by her seatbelt. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

Over creek, motor mall

Canton residents raise concerns

BY KAY FAHEY

Canton residents expressed concern over the flooding of Willow Creek and the building of a new motor mall at last week's meeting of the Canton Board of Trustees.

Representatives of the Pickwick Homeowners Association said they were both angered and concerned over repeated flooding of the creek. "Our requests to have the creek cleaned up have been ignored. I want to know what the board is going to do about it (flooding)? homeowner Robert Cieslak asked.

Canton Supervisor James Poole responded that the only avenue open to the township at this point is to restrict building along the creek. "We tried a special assessment to widen the creek on the south side, but it failed," he said.

Chief Building Official Aaron Machnik said that the creek had been cleaned five years ago as a part of routine maintenance. He added, "The creek is doing what it is supposed to do. It's hard to get permission to clean the creek from people who have landscaped their lawns with shrubs and trees."

Resident Polly Pepler expressed concern over the problems caused by the removal of trees and shrubbery from the creek banks. "The trees are gone, and there is nothing to stop the water," she said.

Both Pepler and Cieslak were frustrated over continued building along the creek. Cieslak asked if zoning ordinances could force builders to place homes further from the creek.

"We can't stop them from building," Poole said.

"We are limited in how far we can go with zoning," said Trustee Robert Padget. "We have to be reasonable."

Pepler also voiced concern about the proposed building of the Canton Motor Mall on Ford Road between Lilley and Haggerty roads.

"It's going to be right across the creek from me," she said.

Architect Stanley Tkacz, who represented Canton Motor Mall at the meeting, outlined plans for the mall's major dealership to the board. Site plans for additional dealerships will be submitted later, Tkacz said.

Tkacz also told the board that the owners of the proposed mall are willing to landscape in order to make the property less offensive to residents.

Director of Canton Community and Economic Development, Dave Nicholson, said that earlier plans called for a six-foot berm to be built across the back of the property and the construction of a retention pond. In addition, the south side of Willow Creek will be widened. The motor mall owners have obtained permits from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) for the plan.

Canton's Engineering Department has recommended the plans be altered so that the retention pond is elongated across the back of the lot and landscaping is employed to make the property more attractive. The berm will be eliminated, subject to approval from the Zoning Board of Appeals and further permission must be obtained from the DNR.

The trustees approved the new site plan, with the understanding that a sound and sight shield of trees and plants will be erected across the back of the property.

Fisher found guilty

Charles Fisher was found guilty of first-degree murder recently in the 1984 slaying of his wife Ella Maria Mercado Fisher, 30.

Fisher was charged with staging a burglary attack in the couple's Thornwood home in Canton in July of 1984. He said his wife was bound in rope and her face wrapped in duct tape.

The prosecution maintained that Fisher planned the attack and then carried it out.

Fisher is scheduled to be sentenced for the crime, which carries a maximum term of life imprisonment, today (March 30) in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Fisher's attorneys plan to appeal the decision, which followed a four-week trial.

Narcotics Anonymous forms group in City

BY KEN VOYLES

A new meeting group of Narcotics Anonymous (NA) formed less than two months ago in Plymouth.

The local meeting group, which is an NA fellowship of recovering addicts who get together regularly to help each other stay clean, meets every Friday night at 8 p.m.

It is the newest NA group in western Wayne County, according to a member and spokesperson known only as David.

"We've borrowed some of AA's (Alcoholic's Anonymous) steps and adapted them," said David. "We believe addiction is a disease. We're not bad people, we just have a disease."

There are more than 200 NA meetings in southeast Michigan. They are open to both men and women, boys and girls, of all ages. So far attendance at the Plymouth meeting has hovered between 15-20 people.

"I can't say enough about NA," said another member and lifelong resident of Plymouth. "It's changed my life drastically and for the better."

David, who says he is an addict "just like the others" in NA, wants newcomers to feel welcome at the meeting.

"We think newcomers to the meetings can be helped by dealing directly with other addicts," he said.

Most members of NA, a nation-wide organization which began in 1973, use what is known as a "surrender chip" to help them "surrender" to the group's principles and stay off of drugs.

"Our only goal is to stay clean today. Today is all we have," David said. "We share experiences and try and help each other."

NA is a self supporting group. It raises money at meetings or through fundraisers. The group meets in a variety of places, from churches and schools to halls or government buildings.

The Plymouth group meets at Growth Works, Inc., on Main Street.

NA also sponsors a 24-hour helpline. Locally, it is 543-7200. The line is manned by recovering addicts as well.

One NA member really got the ball rolling in Plymouth by approaching Growth Works with the idea of setting up a regular meeting there.

"I've gotten so much from NA, I just wanted to give something back," he said.

SOUTHERN METROPOLIS — ATLANTA

"April in Paris" is a familiar saying and also a popular song, but there's another place that many people enjoy in April. It's a city down-south with a population of about a million, and over a million within the metropolitan area. That's Atlanta, Georgia, also sometimes called the "Hub" of the south. The white dogwood blooms in Atlanta in April, covering the city with a lovely white "veil."

To visit Atlanta is to see the New South, in all its throbbing dynamism. Popular and famous Peachtree Street is typically cosmopolitan, with its fine shops, stores, restaurants, and looming skyscrapers. As a visitor soon finds out, Atlanta actually has twenty-eight streets (count 'em!) named Peachtree! There's also another fascinating "City" there, called "Underground Atlanta."

But cosmopolitan though it may be, Atlanta still retains much of the charm of the Old South. Vacationers there soon detect this in the friendliness of the people and the general air of hospitality — Southern style!

Spring Preview '88

Spring. The grass begins turning green. The first sprouting of new flowers. The return of leaves on the long barren trees.

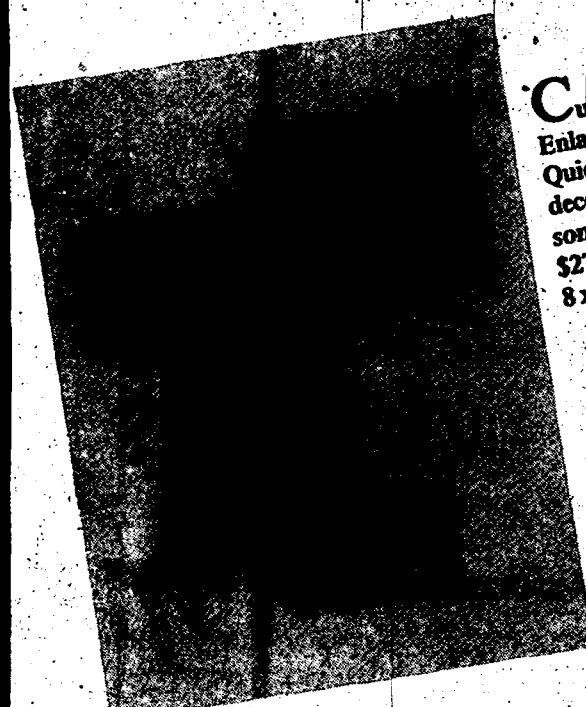

It is a time of renewal, a time of rebirth, and a time to look ahead to the future.

Spring. Fashions take on a new look — more light colors such as whites, grays, pinks, yellows — and feel. Time to put away those wool blends and heavy duty coats.

Spring. When young hearts turn to love (and their cars). This is traditionally the time of year many people tie the knot, or at least pledge their love to someone special and close. It is also traditionally a time to get out the wax and assault the dirt and salt built on one's automobile.

Spring. It is a time to preview what lies ahead this year, from fashion to books to movies to furniture and home furnishings.

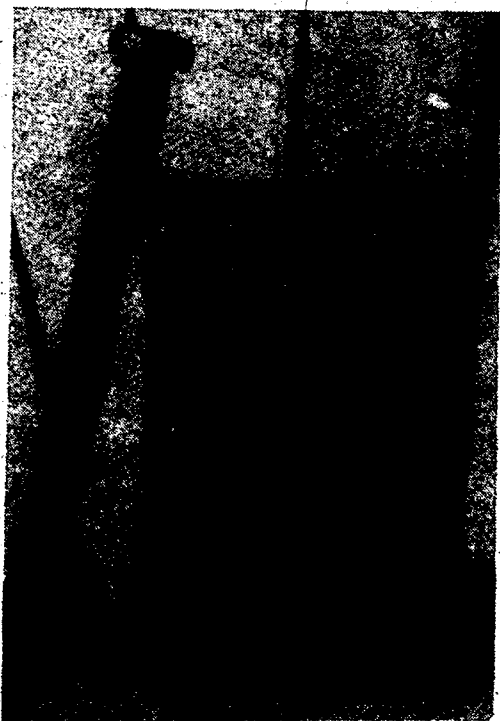

So, here's a preview of some things that might be hot tickets this year.

About our cover

A touch of COLOR

Keeping in mind that we are fast heading into spring, The 'Crier decided to try something different with its Spring Preview PLUS section. Not only will you find the content different from previous years, but take a look at our cover.

The color photograph epitomizes our feelings about spring -- it includes some items that are both new and "hot" this spring. The cover was organized and shot by Robert Cameron of Image Concepts in Plymouth.

Our model, Christiane Tiseo, is framed by some of the items shoppers might find both new and exciting this year. There are plenty of gift items among them -- silk flowers, a stuffed dinosaur, art glass, clothes, dishware, a mandolin, books, and a stone rhino.

Fashions for Prom Night

Every year students at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) put together their annual Prom Fashion Show. Two weeks ago the students did it again, modeling what is new in the way of evening gowns and tuxedos. The show features both Canton High School and Salem High School students, with fashions from stores throughout The Plymouth-Canton Community.

You really know its spring time when students are getting ready for both their proms and graduation. And what better way to get ready than to take a close look at what's new on the fashion front this year.

Grand Opening planned

Shopping center aims to cross boundaries

BY PAUL GARGARO

Coventry Commons, Canton's new shopping center on the southeast corner of Joy and Morton-Taylor roads, is steadily filling and making a name for itself among shoppers in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Lisa Morrison, leasing director for the Farmington-based Nelson/Ross, Inc. development and construction firm, which owns the center, is confident that Coventry Commons will soon be filled to capacity.

"We have about 10 more spaces, maximum, to lease," said Morrison. "Most developers don't take as much time or care to figure out the right use of space in centers like this. Nelson/Ross has:

"We want to fill a void in the community and find tenants that won't conflict with one another," added Morrison.

Currently, Coventry Commons has 11 tenants including a bookstore, a supermarket, restaurants, clothing retailers, a video store, a dry cleaners, a photo shop, a drug store, and a travel agency.

To celebrate the success of the shopping center, Coventry Commons will be holding a Grand Opening celebration on April 29, 30, and May 1. The bash will feature celebrities including Detroit Lions quarterback Chuck Long. In addition, a drawing will be held with a trip to Hawaii as the grand prize.

Morrison said that the aim of Coventry Commons is to attract shoppers from all over The Plymouth-Canton Community.

"Part of our efforts in the Grand Opening will be to make Plymouth residents aware of our presence," said Morrison. "We really believe that this center will be a plus for both Plymouth and Canton."

Nelson/Ross, Inc. is an experienced company which has completed similar projects in Livonia, Plymouth, Sterling Heights and Farmington. Their latest venture in Canton, however, has met with marked success.

"This has been a great area," said Morrison. "The Canton location has leased faster than any of the other developments.

"We're looking at more land around here," Morrison added. "This is definitely an area that we like."

Rock tracksters look good on new track

BY MARTY TUNGATE

The spring sports season at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) is ready to go into high gear as the Salem boys and girls track squads took advantage of the recent warm weather to workout on CEP's new track.

The Salem boys tracksters are coached by Gary Balconi, and according to Balconi, this could be a fine team, if he can find some jumpers.

"We should have a strong distance team and shot-put and discus squad," Balconi said. "But were hurting at the long jump spot."

Due to graduation the Rocks lost one of their key long jumpers in Sean Hunter, and Balconi is searching for someone who will come in and fill that key spot on the team.

"If you know someone who can long jump send them down to see me," Balconi laughed.

Salem will be led on the distance team by co-captain Bill Atwell.

"Bill is good runner, and his going to have some good runners to help back him up," Balconi added.

In the shot-put and discus events, Salem will be lead by Jay Blaylock.

"I'm Looking for big things from Jay this year, and I think he'll have a good year," Balconi said.

The Rock tracksters will also be strong in the relays and sprints, but they will also be missing speedsters Brian Neuhardt and Chris Hill. Balconi feels he has the legs to fill those spots.

LaMarshall Crayston, Garrett Bowie will add the speed to the Rocks in the sprinting events.

The Salem girls will be answering to a new face on the track this year, as Fred Thomann has stepped down as the girls track coach.

Newcomer Mark Greger has taken over for Thomann, and he has high hopes for his squad.

"We have a nice combination of girls on our team this year, and that should help us out in the long run," the coach said.

Salem will be very strong in the distance events, as well as the sprints, but like the boys team they lack jumpers.

"We really need to find someone who will come out and jump for the team," Greger added. "But that is probably our weakest event, but it's real early yet to get a real clear picture."

Jenny Sample, Kim Mishler and Shanon Donnelly will be in the forefront of the Rocks' distance squad.

"Our distance team should be real tough, we have a lot of girls back from the cross country team and that should really help us out," Greger said.

The Rock tracksters will also be

Canton missing experience

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Canton's boys track team will be heading into their third season under head coach Rob Neu, and this is the year that Neu is missing experience.

"That will be our biggest problem this year, we lost a lot of kids to graduation, so experience will play a key in the early going," Neu added. "But hopefully after we get a few meets under our belt we'll have that needed experience."

The Canton boys tracksters under Neu have had great success.

In 1986 the Chiefs took first place in the Western Lakes Activities

Association (WLAA), and in 1987 the Chiefs finished second.

Canton will be led once again by the leadership of it's distance team. Jay Swiecki, Al Byrnes and Bob Beebe will be the strength of the Canton distance squad.

"These guys just came off great seasons on the cross country team, and Swiecki holds the Canton record in the mile, so they should be tough," Neu said.

Canton will also be led by senior Roger Trice.

Trice will compete in the long jump for Canton, and he will also give Canton a speedster with their sprints.

"Roger is a very strong long jumper, and he should really add some speed to our sprinters," Neu said.

Neu also has high hopes for Matt Littleton and Mitch Fyke.

"Littleton will be going the 400 and 800 meters, as will Fyke. Fyke will also long jump and high jump for us," Neu added. "If these guys work hard and do well then that will really help out the cause."

Neu is also looking for big things from his hurdlers, in Pete Wong and

March Madness comes to junior hoop league

March Madness got into full swing as the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association wrapped up its season in a flurry at Central Middle School Saturday.

In the girls 'AA' league, the Celtics captured the league tournament championship with a win over the Pistons 42-32.

In the boys 'AA' second round action, the Pistons advanced to the finals with a 88-86 win over the Kings, while the Rockets also advanced to the championship game with a win over the Celtics 74-71.

In the boys 'AA' championship, the Rockets were one point better than the Pistons, as the Rockets dropped the Pistons 71-70.

The big boys in 'AAA' then took the court for their championship showdown, as the Pistons slipped past the Suns with a 76-72 victory to capture the league tournament championship.

Football sign-up set

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers Junior League Football sign-ups will be held on Saturdays, April 23 and April 30 from 10:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. in the Canton High School Cafeteria.

Players and cheerleaders age 9-14 are eligible. Cost per player is $50, while cheerleader cost is $35 per cheerleader and $125 family maximum.

For further information call Sue Herman at 455-7299 or Shirley Henning at 453-1090. Bring birth certificate signed and dated for the Steeler files.

Dan Innes, as well as discus thrower Jerry French.

"I'm looking for big things from Jerry this year, and I think he'll do the job," Neu said.

Canton's girls tracksters will have an experienced distance squad this year, as well as state champion Angie Miller.

Miller captured the state title in the high jump last year as a junior, and she'll be back to defend her title for the Chiefs.

Canton's distance squad will should be a strong one this year, as the Chiefs will have many of the girls who were apart of Canton's successful cross country team.

Lori Penland, will be the leader among the distance runners, as well as Sherri Figurski.

Canton's weak point could be in the sprinting spots, but it may be to early to tell.

Holly Fody.

"These girls are real good runners and they're quick," Greger added.

Salem's girls track squad will also be strong in the shot-put and discus, as they'll be led by captain Shelly Bohlen, as well as Nancy Rekuc and Keri McBride.

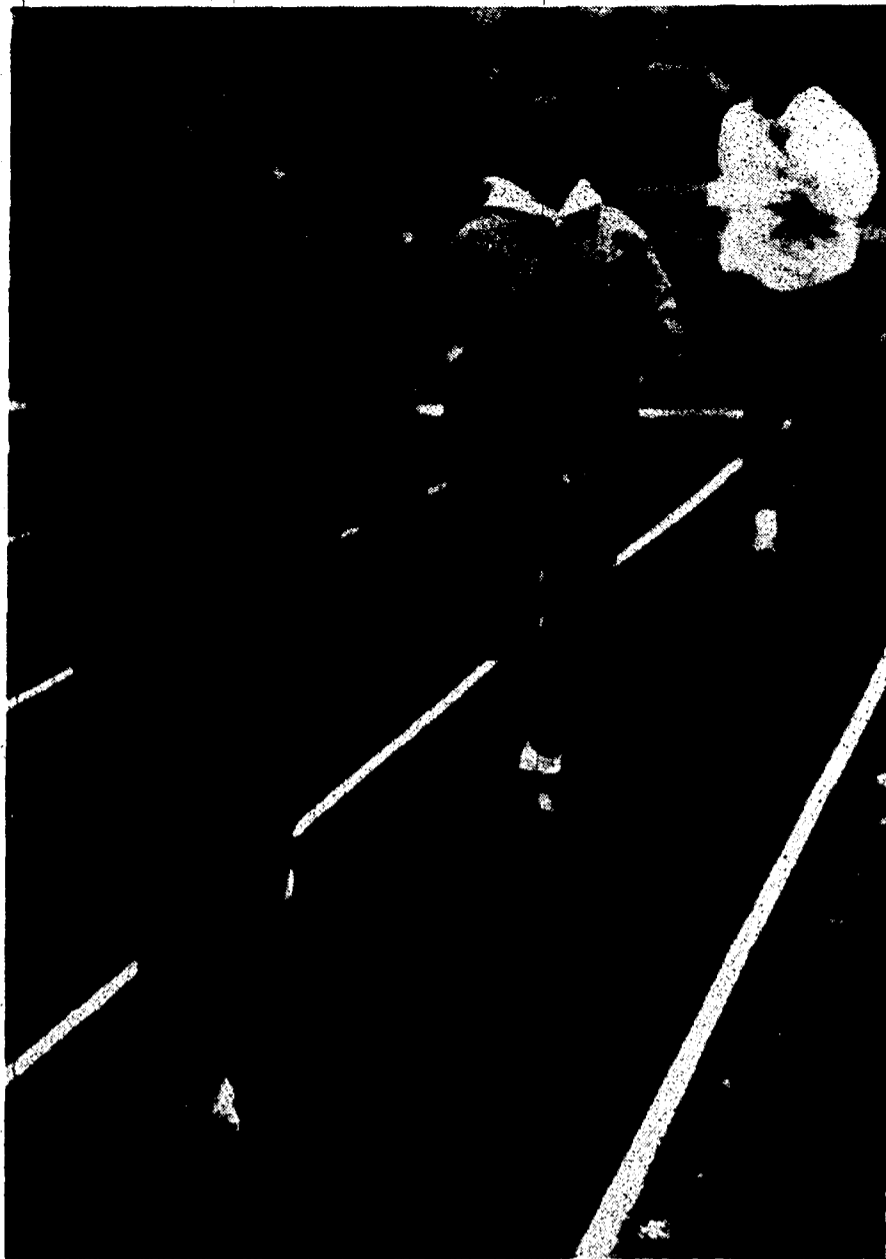

Something else may add to the Rocks' speed as well as to Canton's speed.

The CEP athletic department recently installed a state of the art, which, according to Balconi, is the best track surface available currently.

"It's really good for the kids. It's softer, and that should prevent knee and hip injuries, and according to the installer it should improve our times," Balconi said.

The new track, which replaced a decaying 15 year old track, cost $120,000.
