

New location, name for fundraising group

BY PAUL GARGARO

If you're looking for the Community Fund offices at 595 Forest Avenue, you've already made two mistakes.

First, the organization has a new location. As of Saturday, the old Forest Avenue offices were transferred to the former offices of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, which moved on Friday to its new location at Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail.

Second, the fundraising outfit no longer calls itself the Community Fund. Following a recent decision by its board of directors, its new name will be the Plymouth Community

United Way (PCUW).

"It's not really new," said PCUW Director Marie Morrow. "This year, the board decided to take the "Fund" out of the name. Basically, it's just updated."

Morrow said that the board had been contemplating a move for a long time. When the chamber vacated the office at 960 W. Ann Arbor Trail, the decision was easy.

Morrow said that she hopes PCUW will be fully functioning in its new offices by Monday.

Morrow assumed administrative control of the PCUW following the resignation of Executive Director Clarence DuCharme last Fall.

Property destroyed in Cloverdale B & E

BY PAUL GARGARO

While most people were relaxing and enjoying the weather on Independence Day, Cloverdale Farms Dairy in Plymouth was kept busy counting its losses following a break-in and robbery, which resulted in the theft of cash from two safes and a number of Michigan Instant Lotto tickets.

Cloverdale owner Joyce Kallos estimates that the thieves made off with $3,700, including $2,700 in cash.

Plymouth Police responded to the scene shortly after 7 a.m. on Monday. Police said that it appeared that the suspects entered the dairy/restaurant through an overhead door that faces Forest Avenue.

Inside the door, police said that the tracks of a small cart were visible on the floor. Police said that the cart was

Riegle honors Canton with Senate tribute

BY KEN VOYLES

A tribute to Canton was entered into the Congressional Record in May by Michigan Senator Donald Riegle, it was revealed at last week's meeting of the Canton Board of Trustees.

The rare tribute — only five entries of its kind are authorized each year — was made by Riegle on the Senate floor, according to Jim Lamb from the senator's office.

The statement pays tribute to the "accomplishments and growth of Canton." It goes on to note that despite trying economic times Canton has "forged ahead creating residential, commercial and industrial growth."

The tribute also mentions the $20 million in private projects "planted" in the community in the last few years and the more than 1,000 new jobs.

Besides the growth and development of Canton, Riegle told the Senate that Canton had been honored by the Michigan Townships Association with the prestigious Excellence Award and had also won the Michigan Plaque from the Keep Michigan Beautiful Committee for its "outstanding environmental efforts."

Canton is the only community in Michigan to have received both of those awards. Riegle called that "no small accomplishment."

He added in the tribute, "I believe the continuing growth and advancement of this community deserves special recognition."

"This is very nice," said Canton Supervisor James Poole. "I think the recognition is long overdue."

Lamb said the tribute was "not routine at all."

LCC delays decision on Plymouthrock's future

BY PAUL GARGARO

While the LCC tries to reach a decision on the fate of the Plymouthrock Saloon's Class C Liquor License, it's business as usual for the bar/restaurant.

A June 2 hearing in front of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (LCC) resulted in a two week delay allowing Plymouthrock attorney Norman Farhat and LCC prosecutor Richard Rubin to present briefs on the case.

Over a month later, no decision has been reached.

According to Plymouth Township attorney John Stewart, Farhat did not comply with the two week deadline.

As a result, a decision on the revocation of the saloon's license still has not been reached.

Stewart said that the hearing to determine whether minors, who were used by Stewart to collect evidence against the 'Rock' in a February hearing before the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees, were served in the Rock has been postponed and re-scheduled for August.

That, however, was recently postponed. Included in the charge are four counts of illegal sales to minors, according to a spokesperson with the LCC.

The entire matter was brought before the LCC following the February hearing in Plymouth Township. At that hearing, Township voted to recommend to the LCC that the Rock's license be revoked based on alleged cases of serving alcohol to minors.

During that hearing, the tragic events of December 1986 were emphasized. That night Canton resident Dorcas Ruth Aumann was killed when her car was struck by two allegedly intoxicated female patrons of the Plymouthrock. Both of the women were underage and one of them, Yvonne Hillier, is now serving a prison sentence for that drink-related accident.

Since that time the Rock has been granted a reprieve in Ingham County Circuit Court. The bar was granted an injunction by Circuit Court Judge Thomas Brown until the question a license renewal can be determined this month.

Stewart tried unsuccessfully to reverse the injunction.

"I'm just disgusted with the whole thing said Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry. "We've put a lot of work into this thing. The decision is up to them."

Board of Education expected to elect officers

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education was expected to elect a new slate of officers, including a new board president, during last night's organizational meeting.

The routine move follows the recent election in which E.J. McClendon was re-elected and newcomer Barbara Graham was tapped for the Board of Education. Yesterday's meeting was to have been Graham's first since winning a slot on the board.

The current board president, David Artley, will lead the election of officers. Other outgoing officers include Lester Walker, vice president, Dean Swartzwelter, secretary and Marilyn Schwinn, treasurer.

Walker, the other incumbent during the recent election, was defeated and will not return to the board.

Besides electing new officers the board was expected to set up its schedule of meeting dates.

probably used to cart the acetylene torches, which were used to cut open the two safes inside the building.

Police said that the suspects removed a surveillance camera inside the building and knocked out an overnight ceiling light.

The upstairs safe and the downstairs safe were both cut open with torches, according to the police.

"We've been broken into before, but they've never broken into the safe," said Kallos' son Jim Tomlinson. "You can tell they were kids. They did a lot of stupid things. They did a really poor job."

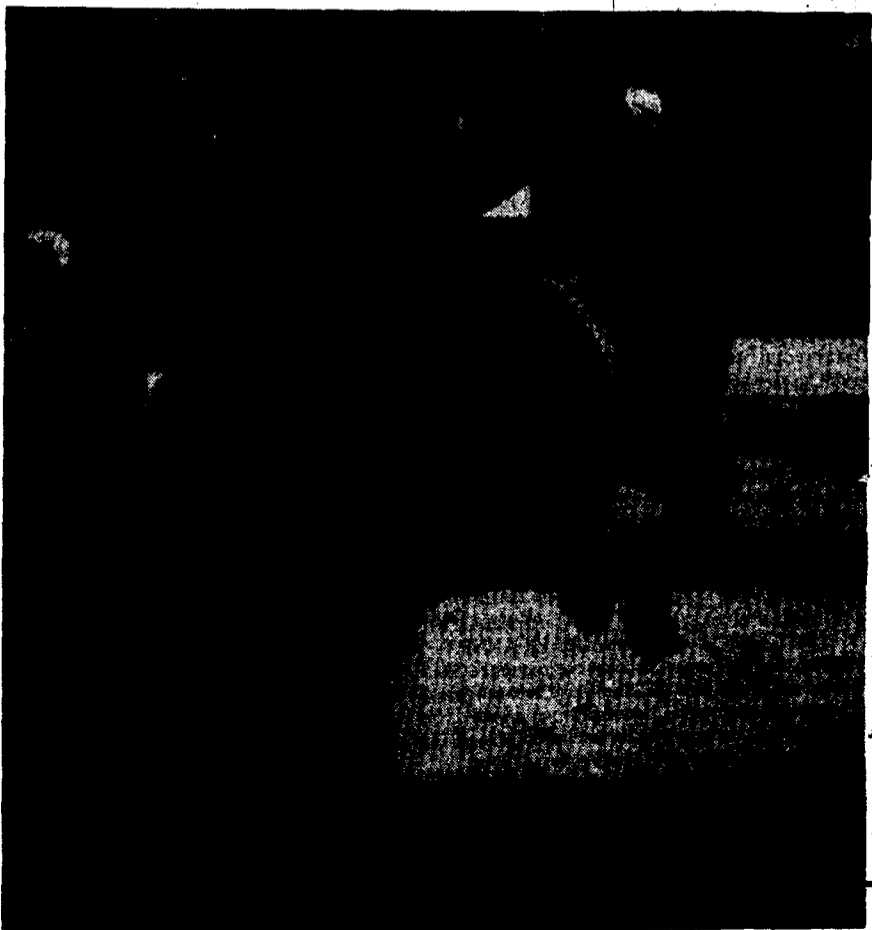

Kallos said that she has a bag filled with charred money locked in her office and Tomlinson estimates that the damage to the safes is worth more than what the suspects stole.

Police said that the incident is still under investigation.

Mr. Bill Grady has contacted Mr. Casari regarding the potential of relocating a wetland area from northeast Canton to the Canton Township property. The Board will consider the Wetlands trade for a retention pond at a future Board Meeting.

Item no.3: MASTER STORM DRAINAGE MANAGEMENT

Some items discussed were as follows:

- The controlled rate of flow in regard to retention ponds, and the effect in both the down stream and up stream areas.
- The impact to Canton Township if other communities do not participate in the Storm Water Management Plan.
- Open Channel Improvements versus Enclosure Improvements.
- Water run-off from retention ponds in commercial and industrial areas.
- Policies, Administration, Legislation and Financing.
- Design criteria for swales.
- Excess water in the sanitary sewers.
- Controls and Regulations
- Canton Township's Water and Sewer Ordinance.
- The following design technique graphs and slides were discussed:

Mr. Roberts has drafted a proposal to Mr. Casari for the next step, after the Master Storm Drainage Management Program is approved. He stated that nine specific projects have been identified for project and engineering cost.

After the problem areas have been identified, a localized Master Plan will be prepared. Then an overall Master Plan for the Township will be created from the priority sections.

Mr. Casari will prepare a Resolution to be presented to the Board for adoption of the Storm Water Drainage Management Program at the Meeting of July 12, 1988.

The Planning Commission will be provided copies of the Program document for their input and recommendation.

Consider a wage freeze

Timing wrong for raise

Following yet another millage-related defeat at the polls, one has to wonder about the timing behind giving Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Superintendent John M. Hoben a raise -- and his wisdom at taking one.

Hoben, the highest-paid appointed official in the community, is not to blame for the district's financial problems, but, as the schools' top administrator, he is at least partly responsible.

Majority of the blame falls to the school board which has the poorest sense of timing since the City of Plymouth filed annexation petitions against Plymouth Township on the eve of a consolidation election. The school board, remember, scheduled a millage election just after the new assessments (with whopping increases) were mailed out -- and now Hoben's raise.

Giving Hoben a raise while the district struggles with major program and service cuts just doesn't make any sense. His salary is a very visible thermometer of the district's financial course.

What are those parents with kids in kindergarden going to say? Or how about the athletes who will have to pay to play varsity athletics at the two high schools?

One might suggest, instead of wage increases, that the district look at wage freezes across the board. Of course, that's nearly impossible when dealing with employe unions, but the district's top administrators could surely stand a wage freeze.

Now, though, the district is in a real bind since recently negotiating hefty salary adjustments with the teachers union. Other employe groups may also want a bigger chunk of the pie.

A wage increase for Hoben is an intergal part of the annual review of the superintendent; but as leader of the district, it's time he stepped forward and put a halt to salary increases of any kind while the district remains in its financial cul de sac.

It's not that the school superintendent's job isn't worth the money -- it'd be a tough job at twice the price.

Taken as a sign from on high, Hoben's move to freeze his own salary would do little to relieve the budget burden facing the Board of Education, but it might be considered a positive effort on the administration's part.

The move would also please voters who seem to have lost respect for the school district and its top officials for continuing to harass them with repeated requests for either a Headlee Amendment override or a millage increase.

It sure couldn't hurt in the eyes of the voters.

Real life Americana

Yippee!! It's the Fourth of July in Plymouth -- real life Americana right in your own backyard.

Sound great? You betcha!

For the first time in a long while, I had the pleasure of standing streetside during the Plymouth Jaycees' Ump-teenth Annual Fourth of July Parade.

The parade's a great tradition and Plymouth sets the stage for one of the finest, most authentic Independence Day parades around.

It's small town, mid-America stuff at its best. The antique fire trucks, the 'smile so hard 'til it hurts' politicians, the impressive fife and drum core, Fred Hill's briefcase drill team, and the swarms of satisfied people gathered along Main Street all contributed to the flavor of the day.

This year, I watched the parade from behind a camera lens. On a pseudo-newspaper assignment, five of us strapped on cameras to search out worthy shots (fortunately, two of the crew were accomplished photographers).

Plowing through the crowd, I decided a column on-the atmosphere might be worth writing.

However, by the time I reached my car after the parade, the theme of this week's composition had taken an ugly turn for the worse, complete with all of the elements of a bad dime-store tragedy.

While parked on the main floor of the Central Parking Deck, my car stereo was stolen.

From the looks of it, it was a discreet operation. No windows were smashed and the radio was neatly removed.

Calling the cops, I was put on hold and then informed that it would be awhile before they could send an officer over to the scene.

Standing around, looking at my naked dashboard, my initial shock melted into cynicism.

There I was, only a few minutes earlier, marvelling at the crowd on Main Street with their great sense of patriotism and fellowship. Meanwhile, Public Enemy Number One (no doubt, an out-of-towner) was two blocks away lifting my radio.

In retrospect, I suppose I shouldn't give in to easy cynicism and overreact.

I'm sure that my car was one of the few hit during the parade. No sense lashing out at the Jaycees. I can't imagine them being party to such audacity. I can't even rationalize being miffed at the local constabulary. I'm sure they had their hands full with the downtown crowds.

That's what makes this experience so frustrating.

There's really no one to blame except for the remorseless slug who heisted my merchandise. Perhaps the chance at reenacting the Battle of Yorktown on his (her) thieving hands

The last detail

by Paul Gargaro

Parades are great, but what goes on behind the scenes can be downright painful. What's this town coming to when parade goers have to worry about their car stereos? (Crier photo by Chris Farina) would be of some solace. It would be a patriotic demonstration, of course.

This, however, seems unlikely.

As time passes, I'm sure my recently tarnished view of a Plymouth Fourth of July will most likely give way to fonder thoughts of the day.

After all, no number of smiling faces and patriotic marchers (and there were plenty) can stop a bum from plying his trade behind the scenes.

That, unfortunately, is reality.

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

It looks like Canton and Omnicom Cablevision might have to forego not only the taping of regular meetings of the Canton Board of Trustees but the broadcast of a weekly "update" show which features information about what's going on in the township.

Apparently, there's an unhappy Canton resident out there who is demanding "equal time" on the update show. Whether or not the township will have to succumb to that citizen's demand is still uncertain but it's becoming clear that some people in the township are fidgety over what seems to be a threat.

"We just might not be able to televise these meetings any more," said Poole, lamenting the possible loss of quality entertainment for those who have a hard time sleeping at night.

Poole said the Federal Communications Commission was looking closely at the situation and would probably be making a ruling in the near future.

Giving equal time to a resident seems only fair, unless of course the original intent of the program is only to provide information to residents (as is the case with the update show, says Poole), and then it seems more like sour grapes.

Sure, we'd all like equal time most of the time. I get a chance (probably more than I deserve) with this column each week.

Other residents have to turn to other forums -- the citizens comment period during board meetings, or by letters to this newspaper or their elected officials.

Still, cable is supposed to be a community-oriented medium, one which involves residents of all ages who are interested in communicating with their neighbors.

Maybe, though, cable is an elitist medium, one which only those who have power or the natural instinct for power and communicating can use and manipulate to their own benefit.

Maybe, we'd all be better off by turning off the cable box and reading the minutes of the Canton meetings instead.

Now there's a boring idea.

Is lying to an officer a good example?

EDITOR:

I never thought I would write in defense of anything related to the railroads around Plymouth because there are times when they drive me to distraction.

But after reading Patty Jamison's two-column tirade against the railroad plainclothes officer who confronted her son playing on the railroad tracks, I would like to offer my viewpoint.

First and foremost, she probably had forbidden her "little" boy (is 12 years of age really "little"?) to go near those tracks and he chose to ignore those orders. Second, she admits that Carolyn said the railroad detective had shown a badge and "waved" his identification but still came to the boy's "rescue" by setting an example of lying to the officer about knowing the boy and that she would take him to his home.

Since she did not even know Carolyn's last name or anything about her, how did she know that Carolyn might not have been a kidnapper removing her son from an officer with a badge and I.D.?

Lastly, the officer's "Godlike" behavior in putting the fear of God in that boy to stay away from railroad tracks may have accomplished doing what the parents had failed to enforce. I earnestly hope so.

With malice toward none

So it shall be written, so it shall be done

Will there be new handwriting on the wall... er ballots?

With the large number of vacant spots on the Democratic ticket of the Aug. 2 primary for Plymouth and Canton townships, it's not surprising that at least one write-in possibility has been discussed for each of the two communities.

In Plymouth Township, Lorraine Halmekangas has been proposed as a Democratic write-in for clerk by a group of local supporters. She's accepted the offer to run (she had withdrawn her petitions filed to run as a Republican) and has now taken a "medical" leave from her job in the clerk's office.

As of yesterday though, Halmekangas said she would prefer to have her name written in for clerk on the Republican side since most Plymouth Township voters will be voting in the GOP supervisor's race. That means an uphill battle against incumbent Republican Clerk Esther Hulsing whose name is on the August ballot.

In Canton, a supporter of Republican Bob Padget for supervisor has suggested that at least a few write-in votes for Padget on the Democratic side be cast to insure that if he loses in the primary, there'll still be November. (The danger there, of course, is siphoning off needed votes in the primary.)

Is it possible to create some November races in otherwise uncontested elections?

Yes, but it's not easy, according to the Wayne County Clerk's office.

In a race where one person is to be elected, an August write-in candidate must, first of all, get more votes than anyone else, and then get more than the greatest of:

- A) 10 votes.
- B) Fifteen one-hundredths of one per cent of the total population. (In Canton, that's about 86 votes, in Plymouth Township it's approximately 35 votes.)
- C) Five per cent of the greatest number of votes cast by that party within the township for any candidate. (That would mean, for example, four years ago in Canton, five per cent of the 990 votes cast for Carl Levin -- or 50 votes -- for a Democratic write-in on that ballot. In Plymouth Township, the top Democratic vote-getter four years ago was also Levin with 299 -- meaning a 15-vote requirement under that provision.)

These three factors are called "a vote threshold" requirement in the law, but they make it more difficult than it might seem to put a write-in candidate on the ballot. It would appear that the population clause is the vote threshold to beat.

"It's almost impossible," opined the county clerk's office.

But stranger things have happened in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Defeated in a primary election re-election bid, then-Canton supervisor Bob Greenstein and crew nearly won in 1976 by staging a write-in vote using stickers for the ballots.

As Halmekangas surmised, the problem for hopeful write-in candidates is that with all the vacant positions occurring on the Democratic slate, there's really very little reason to expect even Democrats to vote the Democratic ticket on Aug. 2. (Since that's the partisan primary, a voter cannot vote for a Republican supervisor candidate and a Democratic clerk candidate.)

Unless there's a strong corps of committed voters, who are willing -- in essence -- to plunk their votes for a given write-in candidate, don't look for any ballot additions in November.

Finding 86 voters in Canton or 35 electors in Plymouth Township who are that dedicated to a write-in candidate won't be easy.

It's about time Townships approve YCUA

Approval by both the elected governing bodies in Canton and Plymouth Township to allow the Western Townships Utility Authority to negotiate with YCUA (Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority) is a step in the right direction.

And it's about time.

Both the communities involved (Northville Township has also agreed) are in dire need of straightening out the future of their wastewater.

Turning to YCUA is the right move -- Washtenaw may be the place to look for such support from now on since it is clear that Detroit's system just isn't capable of handling the needs of the two townships.

Future costs to connect Canton and Plymouth Township to YCUA have yet to be examined closely but those costs could be well worth it if the community is finally relieved of the "Son of Super Sewer" stigma.

It will take a lot of hard work from here on out to make the agreement work to the benefit of all concerned but at least it will be work that is worth the effort.

Maurice Breen and James Poole have been forces behind the switch, and they, along with the boards of trustees in the respective governments, can now look the future straight in the eye knowing full well that a much needed wastewater idea is at hand.

As Poole told the Canton Board last week the most important aspect of the new agreement is the "good faith" of the communities involved. What at first seemed like a collision course with the DNR may instead be viewed as a precedent setting move.

It's the kind of precedent this community needs.

Vet surrounds himself with animals

BY KEN VOYLES

Dr. Cliff McClumpha has always been surrounded by animals, be they on the farm on which he grew up, or today at his Parkway Veterinary Clinic in Plymouth Township.

Cliff, 58, is of the famed McClumpha family. McClumpha Road in the township was named after his great grandfather Edgar. Born and raised on a farm in Canton, McClumpha still lives in the family home (the same place he was born).

"I've always been surrounded by farm animals or pets," said McClumpha who has been a veterinarian for 32 years. "Oh yeah, I really enjoy animals. I love pets. It may be a cliché but when you lose one it really is like losing a member of the family."

A 1950 graduate of Plymouth High School, McClumpha got his degree from Michigan State University in 1956. By 1958 he had come home to work for Dr. Wesley Lickfeldt, who originally started the clinic McClumpha now runs.

"I had decided I wanted to go into veterinary medicine when I was a senior in high school. I've always had this agricultural background and been around animals," McClumpha said.

As a youth McClumpha raised some hogs to help pay his way through college. He also worked on different farms in Plymouth-Canton and up in Lansing did a lot of odd jobs to pay his way.

McClumpha loves to use his hands, at the clinic or working in his garden at home. He jokes that if he lost them "I'd be finished."

"No they're not insured," McClumpha said.

Dr. Lickfeldt was a mentor to the young McClumpha who said recently that he never would have thought 30 years ago that he'd be doing small animal medicine.

"Dr. Lickfeldt specialized in large animals — horses and the like," said

Dr. Cliff McClumpha, of the famous McClumpha family, loves working with animals. The vet runs a clinic in Plymouth Township. (Crier photo by Ken Voyles)

McClumpha, who has made household animals his forte. "I'm just your run of the mill vet. This is like any other business. Ninety-nine per cent of it is routine, but occasionally you get some interesting things that come along." McClumpha still remembers the time back in the late 1960s when the clinic housed a tiger for two weeks.

The clinic originally specialized in farm animals but that changed slowly over the years with the explosion of household pets and the urbanization of The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Today much of McClumpha's time is spent doing the routine stuff — disease prevention, correcting injuries and helping sick animals. In 32 years it hasn't been all excitement, but the vet wouldn't give up his work for anything.

"I love what I do," he said. "It's a lot easier now that we have a big staff (there are five vets working out of Parkway). I don't have to work 70 or 80 hours a week anymore. I usually work 35 to 40 now."

McClumpha said not only has he seen a lot of change in the community, but also in veterinary medicine. Advances in technology offer the vet a wider range of tools and drugs than even 20 years ago.

"It's so much safer," he said. "I guess I'm rewarded when we can successfully treat an animal and keep it healthy when maybe before we wouldn't have been able to do that."

McClumpha's clinic also houses a large boarding area in the back — probably one of the noisiest places under one roof this side of I-275. It's a wild mixture of mostly dogs and cats, but there are other young and old animals in there as well.

"It's the animals first," McClumpha said. "But you also have to deal with lots of different people every day. That's another big aspect of this business — dealing with the owners."

Cooking up a storm with Microwave Today

BY LAUREN SMITH

It's another Thursday night at Omnicom Cablevision and they're taping the show "Microwave Today," but there is nothing "regular" about this show.

Chili Joe and Chef Curtis stand behind a counter crowded with the ingredients they need for the show, sharpening knives in unison.

Off the show they are Joseph Wnuk and Curtis Rellinger of Westland. Wnuk is an automotive designer and Rellinger is an electronic technician. On Thursday nights, though, they are transformed into the witty, yet very professional cooking duo.

Chili Joe, with measuring spoons around his neck, is busy showing the crew his Polish delicacies before the taping begins. The topic today is Polish food done in a microwave, actually two microwaves, one positioned beside each chef.

Off stage are two young members of the Polish Centennial Dancers of Plymouth. They will be featured throughout the show dancing traditional Polish dances.

Warning! Warning!

Everything you see and hear may be contaminated with political jargon. For months we've been watching the presidential candidates bring out the worst in each other, as they vie for the top office in the country.

If you think the air is foul on a national level only, keep your windows closed. That odor in your backyard may be coming from a two legged creature, not a four-legged one with a stripe down his back.

I'm not saying that all politicians are crooks. On the contrary, some are not only my best friends but people I would trust under any situation.

In friendly, neighborly communities like Canton and Plymouth Township you would think the people attracted to the political arena would be honest, outstanding citizens.

Okay, so anyone can live in the community and therefore anyone can run for office. I don't mean to sound snobish, but if this is middle class, doesn't that mean the average intelligence of the residents and voters should rank high on the scale?

If politicians had half the brains, it would seem they would know better than to play stupid political games in our communities. The voters here are smart enough to see through them. Of course, these "smart voters" have to wake up and pay attention to what's happening in their local governments, then they have to care enough to take the time to go to the polls and vote.

The races in Plymouth Township and Canton are heating up and the mud is starting to surface.

As residents of these communities, you owe it to yourself and everyone in the community to take a good hard look at those currently holding the offices. Is their state really as clean as it looks -- do you smell anything hiding in a corner? Then take a good look at the challengers -- why are they so anxious to hold office? Find out who's playing what kind of political game.

Wake up voters!

Learn everything you can about them, take the time to talk to them, ask questions.

Then vote.

Remember the August 2 primary election is as important as the general election, because if the candidates for an office are all running in the same party, the final outcome will be determined in the primary.

Belgium is practically a non-stop festival. So no matter when you visit, you're sure to land right smack in the middle of one.

Did you know that the world famous painters Reubens, Breughal and Van Eyck were Belgian? Their masterpieces can be seen and savored in museums throughout Belgium.

Belgium is everything you never expected. Food to rival Paris. Castles that will capture your heart. Scenery that will take your breath away. And festivals that will take your inhibitions away.

If you have a passion for seafood and shellfish, Brussels is a must for your passion. Mussels in Brussels are a must. But be warned: in Belgian restaurants, a serving for one is more than enough for two hungry people.

If you like castles, Belgium is for you. Belgium probably has more castles per square mile than any other country in Europe.

ASK MOLLY

Dear Molly:

I read recently that exercise can help you lose weight. As a salesperson I'm on my feet all day long. I always come home tired, isn't that exercise enough?

Reply:

Although you are busy, the exercise you are getting is not the kind of exercise that is responsible for burning fat. Diet Center recommends "aerobic" exercise for at least half an hour four times a week to burn excess fat and to help you maintain your ideal weight.

As with any single component of any weight-loss program, exercise by itself is not the answer. Scientific research

Twp. approves YCUA wastewater proposal

BY PAUL GARGARO

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees unanimously voted to allow the Western Township Utilities Authority (WTUA) to sign the lease with the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority (YCUA) which will ultimately dispose of the participating communities waste water.

The lease permits WTUA the right to 8.7 million gallons a day of capacity in the existing YCUA Wastewater Treatment Plant.

YCUA's present capacity is 28.9 million gallons per day.

Also included in last Tuesday night's proceedings was the adoption of the YCUA -- WCUA Wastewater Disposal Agreement.

Set up by state law to make arrangements on solid waste and sewage disposal, WTUA consists of Canton, Plymouth Township, and Northville Township.

All of the townships have adopted the lease agreement and the wastewater disposal agreement.

"All of the documentation necessary has been completed," said Township Supervisor Maurice Breen. "All that is left is for the DNR to complete the paperwork."

CEP band invited to the Orange Bowl and Disney

Hold on it's Orange Bowl fever.

Yes, the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Marching Band has been selected to participate in the Orange Bowl Parade in Miami on Dec. 31 this year.

The band will be one of only 10 high school bands invited to take part in the parade. The CEP band is also the only one from Michigan to travel to the Orange Bowl this year.

In addition to the Orange Bowl Parade appearance, the 165-member band will perform at Disney World and Epcot Center.

Band members and their entourage will leave Detroit on Dec. 28. They will spend the next two days at Disney World before travelling by bus to Miami. The group returns on Sunday, Jan. 1, 1989.

The cost for each band member for the trip is $520. Band members and the Plymouth-Canton Music Boosters will be planning fund raisers between now and December to help raise money for each student to make the trip. Scholarship money will also be raised through fund raisers and donations.

The CEP Marching Band won the Michigan Marching Band Championship in 1984, 1985 and 1986. The band is working to reclaim the title during competition this fall.

The band is also planning to make The Plymouth-Canton Community aware of its programs by providing small ensemble groups to perform at meetings throughout the fall.

If a group is interested in such a presentation they should contact Judy Lore, Plymouth-Canton Music Booster president, at 453-5181.

Twp. grants Ford tax abatement

Another substantial tax abatement was granted by the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees on Tuesday.

The $5 million-12-year tax abatement, granted to the Ford Motor Company's Sheldon Road Plant, comes in the wake of a recently approved abatement to A.W. Transmission Engineering U.S.A., Inc. (AWTEC).

The AWTEC abatement, worth $8.4 million, was the largest abatement ever granted in Plymouth Township.

According to Ford Motor Company, the purpose of the abatement is to aid in the purchase of ten injection molding presses to replace the existing molding presses at the Sheldon Road Plant.

Under Michigan State Act 198, industrial firms can be granted abatements, which allow a 50 per cent tax break, to renovate old facilities or build new plants.

Last year Plymouth Township granted 20 abatements, this year they are already close to that number.

During the public hearing on the Ford abatement, a variety of opinions were expressed.

"It appalls me to see a company as rich as Ford Motor Company come to us and ask for an abatement," said Jerry Raymor, a candidate for Township Supervisor and a Ford Motor Company employee. "This board lacks the leadership to stop this tax erosion in our community and I ask this board to disallow all current and future tax abatement (requests)."

Supervisor Maurice Breen disagreed. "Unless it's eliminated on a national basis, it doesn't make sense for us to sit up here and decide on an individual basis," said Breen. "Particular applicants should not be picked on.

"They (tax abatements) don't have a negative effect on the community. We've increased our tax base 100 per cent over the last five years and a large portion of that has been industrial," Breen said.

Breen also said that the abatements do not threaten the Plymouth-Canton Schools District.

"In-formula school district (P-C Schools District is in-formula) are not hurt," said Breen. "They get reimbursed by the state."

Trustee and candidate for supervisor James Irvine voted to deny the abatement request along with treasurer Mary Brooks.

"We're approving an abatement that could outlast their new equipment," said Irvine. "Will we be expected in eight years to grant them another abatement for 12 more years to replace this equipment which may be obsolete?"

Irvine also disagreed with Breen's statement that the board should not "pick" on individual applicants.

Irvine said that under state law, municipalities are authorized to hold public hearings on abatements to balance the issues and concerns involved in the decision. Therefore, Irvine said that every abatement issue is subject to the content of the public hearing.

Caremark Homecare was also granted an abatement at Tuesday's meeting.

A light industrial company specializing in the manufacture of sterile I.V. solutions for home use, Caremark was the recipient of a $1,007,000 tax abatement from Plymouth Township for 12 years.

Caremark is located on Mast Street in Plymouth Township.

Both Irvine and Brooks voted to deny the abatement.

School officials get raise

John M. Hoben, superintendent to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, received a raise and contract extension at last week's regular meeting of the Board of Education.

Hoben, who earned $84,000 in 1987-88, will now make $89,769 during 1988-89 school year.

The one-year renewal extends Hoben's contract through June 30, 1991.

Hoben was also evaluated by the board and received an annual report card. His performance was looked at in 15 different areas on a rating scale of one to five, with five outstanding. Hoben's average was 4.6 for the entire evaluation.

Contracts were also extended for three of the district's top administrators -- Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business; Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction; and Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel.

The threesome all received slight pay increases. Hoedel's new salary will be $72,442, while both Homes' and Kee's salaries will be $70,254.

Twp. official fired

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees voted unanimously on Tuesday to fire Chief Township Building Official Virgil Mooney.

Mooney was dismissed on what Township Supervisor Maurice Breen alleged were incidents of verbal sexual harassment in the township offices.

Mooney has worked for the township since 1983. He was named chief building official in October of 1986.

The board named Director of Public Services Paul Jones as Mooney's replacement.

League forums

The Plymouth-Canton-Northville-Novj League of Women Voters group will present a forum on "The Pros and Cons of a Fulltime, Hired Superintendent as Opposed to a Fulltime, Elected Supervisor" on July 13.

The forum will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Canton Administration Building on Canton Center Road.

Kenneth Verburg, a political science professor at Michigan State University and author of "Managing the Modern Michigan Township," will speak.

The open meeting will preview a proposal question Canton voters will have to face on the Aug. 2 primary ballot which asks whether or not the Merit Ordinance should be changed.

Then on July 20 at 7:30 p.m., also in the Administration Building, the League will host a Candidates Forum for all of the candidates in Canton.

Next to be moved?

Huff school targeted by trustees

Huff School in Canton may be the next historic building to be moved to the township's historic park.

Last week Canton Supervisor James Poole suggested Huff, a one-room school which dates from the 1900s, also be moved to the fledgling historic park. Canton's Board of Trustees have already approved taking bids out to the Travis House.

"I'd suggest we look into moving it (Huff School) to a new location also," said Poole. "That along with the Cherry Hill School on Ridge Road."

Poole said his staff will come back with a cost estimate for the board to study in the next few weeks. He said the school could be moved "now or in a few years."

Trustee Robert Padget agreed, saying he was on record for doing whatever the township can to save its heritage.

The school is currently being used by a nursery cooperative but will be vacated shortly. With the school vacant, Poole said now is the time to consider moving it.

Chili Joe and Chef Curtis are cookin'

"Microwave Today" airs on Omnicom's channel 8 each Monday and Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. and Tuesday and Friday at 8:30 p.m. The show can be seen in Plymouth, Canton, and Northville.

The show usually features a theme which can be anything from an ethnic theme to their upcoming show on 10 different microwave recipes for spam. Another one to look for is their microwave for kids show which will air in a few weeks.

Before they became a team, Rellinger had spent a lot of time cooking and it "blossomed into a hobby."

Wnuk and Rellinger became a cooking team about seven years ago and they entered a chili cookoff. Rellinger recalled Wnuk asking him, "Can you cook chili and win?" That was how it all started.

"We learn from every show," Wnuk said.

They have entered cookoffs not only locally but in areas including Kentucky and Canada.

They have a number of trophies and even a few world records. They use 74 ingredients in their chili which is a world record. They have the record for the most hamburgers cooked at one time in a microwave -- 107. They also have a record for the most golf balls hit off the top of a working microwave.

They also hold the position of "official chili team" on the FM radio station on WLLZ.

They do have a serious side, though and a professional approach to cooking on the show.

"Deep down they are very serious," said Jerry Walter, associate producer at Omnicom.

Rellinger said that his co-workers are "amazed about the recipes and how easy they are." He also said that they are trying to show their audience that they can "do things other than heat up pizza and water in a microwave."

Wnuk described the show as "informative, and very fast" but definitely unique.

Maria Holmes, program director at Omnicom said that the audience includes "anyone from the busy working woman who wants to learn tricks about her microwave to the gourmet who wants to use a microwave in gourmet cooking."

She also said that a lot of people watch it for fun.

John Martin, the show's producer, signed them on after producing another show where they did a guest appearance.

He wanted a cooking show with "something different." He didn't want anything "regular." He decided on a microwave cooking show so that he would be spared the difficulty of constructing a kitchen set. The idea has become quite a novelty, surpassing the benefits of convenience.

Rellinger said that one of their goals is to go to California where they hold an annual cookoff with a $25,000 prize. They also said that right now they want to concentrate on their show, though they would like to move on to regular television at some point. They are working on a cookbook and Wnuk said that they want to be the "first people in Westland to come up with a famous cookbook."

Their skill is illustrated clearly at the end of taping on Thursday nights when the production staff and the cameramen huddle around the counter to relish the dishes the team has created during the show.

Musical interlude

The Plymouth Rotary will be treated to a musical interlude following the group's noon luncheon meeting on Friday, July 8 by members of the Plymouth Symphony's Youth Strings group.

Showcasing their winning solo pieces in the Plymouth Symphony Youth Strings Contest in the elementary division will be winner Justin Carinci and second place winner David Milewski.

Other winners in the Youth Strings contest included middle school winner Matthew Milewski and second place finisher Christian Hebel.

The high school first place was captured by Danielle Walquist and second place went to Leslie Capozzoli.

A former Salem star

Marion throws his way to U of M

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

It might be considered a dream coming true.

Todd Marion, of Canton, has always wanted to go to the University of Michigan.

"U of M has always been my favorite school," said Marion.

As it turns out, Marion will be going to his favorite school on a four year, two-thirds baseball scholarship.

Marion, who finished up his pitching career at Plymouth Salem with a season record of four wins two losses, missed the second half of the season with an elbow injury.

"I was 4-1 and had a .3 earned run average when I got hurt," explained Marion.

"It was real scary, I've never had an arm injury before," said Marion. "It took me out for six weeks."

Marion, who was chosen to play in the East-West All-Star Game two weeks ago, said that there really wasn't any decision to make when U of M offered him the scholarship.

"It was almost definite that I was going to choose Michigan," Marion said.

He did, however, check his other options. He visited the Michigan State campus and received letters from Kent State, Western Michigan, and Oklahoma.

But when it came down to making a decision, there was really only one place he wanted to go.

"I've always been a Wolverine fan," said Marion.

U of M baseball coach Bud Middaugh would like Marion to be a force right away.

"I'm hoping he can come in and play well right away," said Middaugh.

According to Middaugh, the only real adjustment Marion will have to make from high school ball to college ball is the strike zone and that everyone in the lineup is a good hitter.

"But, he'll be able to handle it," said Middaugh.

Middaugh first noticed Marion when Marion attended one of Middaugh's baseball camps.

"I saw him at one of our camps," said Middaugh "I saw him again at a Cincinnati Reds tryout and followed it up.

"He'll (Marion) represent the University well," Middaugh said. "Academically I'm sure he'll be very responsible."

The University of Michigan isn't the only thing on Marion's mind right now.

Recently, he was chosen to tryout for the junior olympic baseball team in South Dakota.

"They (the baseball committee) sent me a pamphlet of time trials and stuff, I filled it all out and sent it back, and they picked me."

Marion would like to take his pitching as far he can go.

"I've dreamed ever since I was a little boy of playing in the Majors," explained Marion. "I've always been a hometown guy, I'd like to play for the Tigers.

"But I'd play for anyone. Just the thrill of playing in the Majors would be great," added Marion.

Marion is well on his way to attaining his goals.

"They (U of M) lost their two top pitchers this year in the draft," said Marion. "So I'm just going to go in there and give 100 per cent. I'm going to go in and play hard and work my way up."

Perhaps we're looking at a future Cy Young award winner.

Golf to benefit Straight Inc.

The Parent Booster Club for Straight, Inc., in Plymouth, is looking for players and hole sponsors for the first Straight Benefit Golf Classic on Saturday, July 16 at the Fox Hills Country Club.

Golfers are needed to participate in the benefit tournament, which is formed as a scramble round. Tee times are between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Players will have a chance to win a computer, Detroit Tigers tickets, a color television and other prizes to be determined by a random drawing.

There is also a brand new 1988 Dodge Daytona for the player who can make a hole-in-one on the fifth hole of the "On the Lakes" course.

The cost is $150 per player and includes lunch, green fees and dinner.

"We are actively recruiting hole sponsors for a donation of $250," said Ivan Waterbury, tournament chairperson.

A dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. after play and costs $50 per person for those not wishing to participate in the competition.

The tournament is hosted by the Parent Booster Club for Straight, Inc., a non-profit drug and alcohol treatment center for adolescents and their families. The club is made up of concerned parents who raise funds to aid in the support of the treatment facility

For more information call 453-2610.

Salem high gridder guards East Team

The 1988 Michigan High School East-West All Star Football Game is scheduled for Saturday, July 30 at Spartan Stadium on the Michigan State University campus.

Pre-game announcements and introductions will be at 1:20 and game time is 1:35 p.m.

This year's game will feature Salem High offensive guard Jay Blaylock on the East team.

The game, which features 80 of the top 1988 high school graduates, is sponsored by Michigan High School Football Coaches Association, General Motors Parts Division-General Motors Corporation, Lakeshore Marketing Association, and Oldsmobile Division-General Motors Corporation.

Ticket price at the gate is $5.

Softball marathon on tap

Team registrations are being accepted for the Sixth Annual Easter Seal Softball Tournament/Marathon which will be held on Aug. 6-7 at the Canton Softball Center.

Men's C and D and women's C and D teams will take to the diamond in the sanctioned, double elimination tournaments. Paid National Berths, trophies and Stroh's prizes will be awarded.

Teams not interested in playing the tourney can instead play in the Marathon, two hours of softball against a team of the same classification.

The cost is $75 deposit to register a team. Another $90 is needed on the day of the competition. Due to a lack of available fields, only a limited number of teams will be registered.

For further information call Phyllis Hodges at 722-3055.

Wanted: new director

YMCA continues search

BY BRYAN J. WILLIAMS

Although the Plymouth YMCA has been without a director since the end of May, the organization's selection board has narrowed the field of applicants to five, said Joann McCarthy, interim director.

The board is looking for a "candidate willing to work toward senior director status (with) experience in programming, membership development, fundraising, volunteer recruitment and special events," according to the YMCA's Report of Vacancy.

According to a YMCA spokesperson, the board would like to install a new director by Aug. 1.

The office of director was left open after the retirement of former YMCA Director Janet Luce in May. Luce had been the director of the Plymouth YMCA for 14 years.

"We are looking for someone with good qualifications to expand this YMCA and develop a plan to get the needed funds and volunteers to run it," said McCarthy. "We really need someone who can accomplish the goal of becoming a full-facility YMCA."

A few years ago, the YMCA had established a very good swim program that was held at the Plymouth Hilton, but it got to the point that the classes were using the pool from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. which the Hilton management found unacceptable, said McCarthy.

"That was quite a detriment to our swim program. We went through a couple of other hotel pools and Central Middle School before we found a recreational center out at Five Mile and Sheldon Road," said McCarthy.

"The recreational center has really been working out and we would like to stay there, but Wayne County plans to close the facility in October and not renew the lease with us," said McCarthy. "The recreational center has a pool, a gym and six classrooms and is the type of 'expansion' we hope to continue in the future."

The YMCA indicated that all of its applicants are out of state.

"It is kind of strange that they are all from out of state, but the local applicants did not have what we were looking for in the way of qualifications," said McCarthy.

The director's position requires "full time-plus" hours from a very dedicated person. The YMCA hopes that it can find a qualified replacement, McCarthy said.

"It's hard to draw in any senior directors because the salary is only in the $20,000 range," said McCarthy.

The YMCA selection board is conducting individual interviews with the five remaining candidates.
