

State cites firm in building collapse

BY KEN VOYLES

A Dearborn Heights construction company working on a building project in Canton has been cited by the Michigan Department of Labor for a "serious and willful" violation of the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act.

The citation, and a $2,000 fine, were issued following the department's investigation into the Aug. 4 collapse of an office building under construction on Lilley Road in Canton. Four workers were injured in the mishap.

Bill Castanier, a spokesperson for the labor office, said the citation was officially issued on Sept. 1 to Carmen Construction Company. The company

They came, they saw — they got soaking wet.

But between rainstorms, wind, and a tornado warning, festival goers at the 34th annual Fall Festival still found time to enjoy themselves — and spend money.

The festival was evacuated at about 8 p.m. Friday, after police were warned of a severe storm, and a possible tornado in the area.

"Our dispatch got a call about a possible funnel cloud. The National Weather Service said there was a storm with 50 mph winds, lightning, and possibly hail," said Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers. "So after consulting with the festival manager, we started making announcements.

"It only took about 10 minutes for much of the crowd to disperse, and after about 20 minutes, most anyone left took shelter under the parking deck," he said.

Police directed traffic at all major intersections in town, to help get people out of town safely, Myers said, adding that the evacuation went as smoothly as could be expected.

A Canton High School football game was also evacuated Friday night — stands were cleared, and

Canton police wound suspect

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

A 31-year-old Westland man is in fair condition after he was shot three times by Canton Police who were investigating a knife-point robbery of a Canton party store Sunday evening.

Jeffrey Bushbacher, 31, of H14 at 37790 Oakview Lane in Westland, was charged with armed robbery during a hospital bedside arraignment before 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald Tuesday afternoon. He is being held in lieu of $500,000 cash bond pending a pre-trial examination on Oct. 13.

Other charges are pending but waiting until a full investigation by Michigan State Police said Canton Public Safety Director John Santomauro.

The police chief gave the following account of the incident:

Two patrons of the Dairy Mart at Warren and Morton Taylor arrived at the store at 7:44 p.m. to find the doors locked. Thinking that suspicious, they then watched a man leave the store and observed his car, license plate and direction.

At the same time, the store's employee reported a robbery by a man armed "with either a knife or a screwdriver."

Shortly after those reports, a Canton patrol car heading eastward on Joy

Graper hired as manager of Sault Ste. Marie

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER
Henry E. Graper will become the city manager of Sault Ste. Marie, MI on Monday.

Graper, who resigned as Plymouth City Manager July 3 after nearly 10 years here, will be awarded a contract at the Sault City Commission meeting Monday, according to that city's mayor, Bill Lynn.

(Although the Sault position had been vacant just about as long as Plymouth's, the City Commission here is just beginning its search process to replace Graper. City Clerk Bill Graham is serving as Plymouth's acting city manager in the interim.)

Lynn said Graper's "unanimous" appointment came after a split vote by the Sault City Commission 4-3, with one of the dissenters preferring another candidate and the other two seeking to begin the search anew. Following that vote, the three commissioners joined the other four in unanimously offering the position to Graper.

"We struck a very good agreement," Graper said. Laughing about the Sault's location in the top of Michigan's upper peninsula on Canada's border, the former Plymouth manager said, "The snow's not a problem." (Graper had served as city manager in Dowagiac which receives a high snowfall as well.)

The agreement between Graper and the Sault sets a $53,000 salary, a vehicle, moving expenses, and temporary living expenses, both Graper and Lynn said.

But the Sault's current economic recovery is making it tough for Graper to find a suitable house for sale. "We'll build if I can't buy a house," Graper said, hoping to move his family up in the spring.

Graper said the city's population of 15,000 is also swelled by Canadian visitors. A new $17 million shopping center, new nearby state prisons, the free trade agreement with Canada and a proposed new marina are helping reverse what had been a high unemployment area, said the Sault's new city manager.

Lynn said the Sault City Commission was aware of the circumstances surrounding Graper's resignation under pressure in Plymouth. (City auditors are currently reviewing Graper's expense account and other records before turning materials over to state auditors who were asked in by Graper and City Commissioner Jim Jabara.)

"We heard all about it," Lynn said, adding that city manager expenses in the Sault "pretty much has to come through the commission. There's no free hand."

The Sault mayor said of Graper, "We're glad to find someone with that much experience."

He also said the commission felt fortunate to hire a manager so quickly. "We thought it would take about four months. Instead it took 10 weeks."

Commission discusses Graper's contract at closed door meeting

The Plymouth City Commission held a special closed door meeting on Saturday to discuss various aspects of the contract of former city manager Henry Graper.

The commission took no public action at the two hour meeting and decided to further investigate the issue.

City writes off ice festival bill

BY TODD LANGTON

The Plymouth City Commission voted at its Tuesday, Sept. 15 meeting to write off as uncollectible a $14,015 invoice that resulted from the annual Ice Sculpture event three years ago.

Without fanfare the commission listened as William Graham, acting city manager, explain that because the invoice was listed as "fully reserved" the cash position of the city would not be effected at all.

This means, he said, that the invoice has actually been considered uncollectible for several years.

Graham said he could find no agreement which stated that the people who put on the spectacular would reimburse the city.

Former city manager Henry Graper indicated that the invoice started out as a work order and expenditure tracking device and somehow ended up as an invoice, Graham said.

The invoice "should have been dealt with the first year it was on the books," he added.

Road near Ronda observed a car fitting the description directly in front of him and started pursuit.

As that patrol car followed the suspect's car across the railroad tracks on Joy, another Canton patrol car was heading westbound on Joy. The two patrol cars — facing in opposite directions — pulled the suspect's car over onto the south shoulder of Joy just east of the tracks.

The two Canton officers "ordered the suspect out of his car and he got out brandishing a knife above his head and charged across the road towards the one officer.

"Both officers yelled 'halt' and both fired" when he did not.

The suspect was wounded three times — once each in the wrist, the thigh and the side. He was taken from the scene to Westland Medical Center where he was listed in fair condition Monday.

A knife with a black handle and a six-inch chrome blade was recovered from the grass on the north side of Joy Road where the suspect fell wounded.

Santomauro said the two Canton officers met with the police department's chaplain and psychologist late Sunday and will be on paid leave for a brief time.

Detective Sgt. Gregory Leach of the Michigan State Police said his investigation might be concluded Thursday or Friday and that his findings would be given to the Wayne County Prosecutor's office to determine whether any charges should be brought against the officers.

Five witnesses were interviewed by Canton Police.

Representatives from Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth police departments also assisted at the scene of the shooting.

is owned by Carmen Naccarato, he said.

Naccarato did not return several phone calls from The Community Crier.

The citation follows an investigation which showed that the company removed wall support bracings before "the structural integrity of the building could be established, resulting in the collapse of the building," said Castanier.

The four workers were injured when 180 feet of the structure collapsed. Two of the workers were taken to local medical facilities for treatment.

Another company — Steve O'Guin Construction, of Taylor — was also cited for a "serious violation" of the state act and fined $200.

The citations and fines can be appealed through an administrative hearing with the department.

"This is serious," Castanier said. "There could have easily been serious injuries, but it's fortunate that there were no serious injuries." As of

This is the structure in Canton which collapsed on Aug. 4. Two workers were treated for injuries. State officials have cited two companies involved in the work. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

Tuesday no appeal had been filed, he said.

Aaron Machnik, chief building official in Canton, said the building collapsed because of a combination of factors.

Besides the incomplete nature of the structure at the time of the collapse, Machnik said, there is also a "loading issue" since a stack of plywood and shingles were on the roof at the time of the collapse. He said the other factor was "wind disruption."

"The catalyst was the wind," he said. "And with the structure incomplete and loading question, it was an event looking to happen."

Machnik said his department's investigation could not pinpoint whether support bracings had been removed. He said department photographs taken of the building only show an incomplete structure.

"Every building reaches a critical point," he said, "when the roof goes on but the structure isn't complete."

Machnik said the builders did not violate any local ordinances.

City considers making EMS switch

BY TODD LANGTON

The Plymouth City Commission is considering replacing Community Emergency Medical Service, Inc. (CEMS) as the private ambulance provider for the city.

Plymouth Fire Chief Alan Matthews has recommended that the commission enlist Huron Valley Ambulance (HVA), the only other ambulance service which operates in the Plymouth community, as the city's primary advanced life support (ALS) carrier.

Matthews cited increasing CEMS response times and problems with communication systems as the primary reasons for the suggested change in ALS providers.

One reason for the increased response times could be the expansion into other communities that CEMS has undertaken, Matthews said.

Since 1983, when the CEMS service area basically consisted of the City of Plymouth, the organization has expanded to serve the City of Northville, Northville Township, Novi, Farmington and Farmington Hills, he said.

As a result, Matthews said, CEMS has opened ambulance bases farther and farther from Plymouth.

A three month study conducted by the Plymouth Fire Department in 1989 found that CEMS vehicles took longer than 10 minutes to respond to emergencies in the city more than 24 per cent of the time.

An acceptable emergency response time is up to four minutes for initial basic life support (BLS), which is usually provided by firefighters, and up to eight minutes for ALS units, Matthews said.

Greg Beauchemin, president of CEMS, disputes the findings of the department's study.

CEMS response times in the fire department's study were arrived at by calculating the time from the moment that the fire department left the garage to the time that CEMS personnel were noted at the scene of the incident.

Beauchemin said he feels that a response time study completed by CEMS is more accurate because times were calculated from the moment CEMS received the emergency call to the time the vehicle arrived at the scene.

The CEMS study found that its vehicles had response times of longer than 10 minutes seven per cent of the time.

The study also found that the average response time for CEMS vehicles, in regards to emergencies in the city, was just over six minutes.

Beauchemin said that he was surprised by the recent recommendation.

"We are quite shocked by the whole thing," he said. "We feel we're providing a very good service, and what we are providing now is better than what Huron Valley proposes."

Despite the CEMS study, Matthews said that he does not believe in average response times.

"What about the one instance when the private ambulance carrier exceeds times of 10 to 14 minutes," he said.

Problems in communication within the organization have resulted in an emergency vehicle actually heading away from an emergency, he added.

The specific problems cited do not reflect on the overall service provided by CEMS, Matthews said.

"I think they do provide a good service," he said. "But we want to provide a better service."

Soil cleanup costs could reach $300,000

BY JOHN BRODERICK

About 2,200 cubic yards of contaminated soil has been removed from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools bus yard, according to school officials.

When three underground fuel storage tanks were removed from the ground — they were being replaced because of new required standards for such tanks — it was found that the soil around the tanks was contaminated, officials said.

"We had the ETS Engineering firm out there throughout the replacement process. When they tested the soil they found it was contaminated, but not at hazardous levels," said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business.

Hoedel said that although the total cost of the cleanup would be over $300,000, the district could be reimbursed for much of that money through a federal program.

"There was 2,200 cubic yards, at about $65 per yard, or about $143,000, as well as other costs, but much of that can be reimbursed, under Public Act 518," Hoedel said.

The school board awarded a contract to a Brighton firm in August, to replace the tanks, and the administration hired ETS to do the engineering work for the project. ETS found the contaminated soil on August HVA will be evaluated in the same manner as CEMS if the commission decides to enlist HVA as the primary ALS carrier for the city, Matthews said.

22, after the tanks had been removed. Hoedel said.

One 10,000 gallon, and two 6,000 gallon tanks at the district's bus yard, in the City of Plymouth, have been replaced, and two more are scheduled to be removed.

Brett Gourdie, an engineer with ETS said that the firm will now work with the Department of Natural Resources to plan a course for the rest of the cleanup.

"We tell them what we found, and they will recommend what to do," Gourdie said.

"The levels of contamination were borderline — not much higher than the DNR standards. They may say, 'you're all set' or they may say that you need to do more," he said.

That could mean the installation of a "ground water purging system," to flush out remaining contaminants, and bring them to levels within DNR standards. The purging system "could take a week, or could take a month," Gourdie said.

Soil around the two tanks still in the ground have been tested, and Gourdie said that there was no more contamination, but, "we don't know for sure until we pull the tanks out."

Gourdie said it could be next spring before the site gets a clean bill of health from the DNR.

'Going great guns'

Donations pour in for Ice Festival

BY TODD LANGTON

Out of the frying pan and into the freezer — it looks as though the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular will take place in 1990 after all.

The Ice Fest was put in question after Henry Graper resigned as Plymouth City Manager and Scott Lorenz resigned as general manager of the Mayflower Hotel. The pair had co-owned the non-profit corporation that staged the past Ice Fests.

Pam Kosteva, president of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, said she will report at the next chamber board meeting that both Don Massey Cadillac and Governmental Risk Management in Plymouth Township, have agreed to be major sponsors for the event.

A major sponsor is one which contributes at least $25,000 to the event, Kosteva said.

The Michigan Travel and Tourism Bureau, through the aid of Kosteva's brother-in-law, State Rep. James Kosteva (D - whose district includes part of Canton) has also agreed to make a one time contribution of $10,000 to the event, she said. The representative said, "It's worth it. The Ice Festival is a fantastic event."

More contributions are also expected from BFI, the waste firm with a major facility on the Salem-Northville line, and the Michigan Restaurant Association, sources said.

Amoco Oil is also considering sponsorship of the annual event.

This means that the chamber already has commitments for two-thirds of the approximately $90,000 that it estimates it will cost to put on the event, the chamber president said. "We are going great guns.

"We felt that if we were able to generate commitments for $50,000 that then we would feel safe saying, 'let's do the ice spectacular,'" Kosteva said.

"Things are looking very positive," she added. "I have great hopes."

Kosteva said she will discuss the possibility of a chamber sponsored 1990 Ice Spectacular at the chamber board meeting on Sept. 21.

She will also suggest the formation of a non-profit organization and-or community board to put on the event in 1991 and beyond, Kosteva said.

The chamber will probably have to hire someone to put on the event in 1990, she said.

Lorenz, who has organized the event since its inception, is a possible candidate for the job, Kosteva admitted. Chamber representatives have met with him to discuss the possibility of his organizing the event.

"Hopefully Scott is available and hopefully the details could be worked out," she said.

City DDA, Commission hire design firm

BY TODD LANGTON

The downtown area of the City of Plymouth is one step closer to getting a facelift.

The plastic surgeon, or architectural and landscape design firm in this case, is Schervish, Vogel and Merz out of Detroit.

The Plymouth City Commission, after some debate last week, voted to affirm a contract worked out by the Downtown Development Authority

(DDA) under which the city will pay the firm an estimated $51,500 to design and present up to three different landscape and streetscape designs using a one block section of the downtown area as a model.

The plan will address such items as signage, parking, lighting, landscaping, paving materials and Kellogg Park enhancements.

Mayor Pro-Tem John Kenyon, in keeping with much of the debate, expressed the concern that the city might not be getting a proper return on a $51,500 investment under the terms of the contract.

Commissioner Robert Jones expressed the concern that the agreement did not include building facade design as well as streetscape design.

William Graham, acting city manager, said during an interview that the DDA decided as a first step to go solely with a streetscape design.

The DDA will need an attractive and coordinated streetscape design to make the idea of a coordinated building facade more attractive, he said.

The owners of the buildings in the downtown area probably have their own ideas about what they want their buildings to look like, he added.

Graham also addressed the concern over the cost of the project.

"My feeling is that it is well worth the expenditure to get the plan designs," he said. "I think in order to keep Plymouth viable in the retail business community that these kinds of things are really necessary."

"Whether we can implement the design over a period of five years or one year or ten years remains to be seen," Graham said. "The point is that unless you start someplace nothing is ever going to be accomplished."

Probes stolen

BY TODD LANGTON

Three 1989 Ford Probes were stolen from a fenced in section of a parking area at the Blackwell Ford dealership between the close of business on Tuesday, Sept. 5 and the opening of business on Wednesday, Sept. 6, according to Plymouth Township Police reports.

The vehicles had an estimated combined value of more than $45,000, the report stated.

The perpetrators apparently entered the lot by cutting a hole in a section of the six foot high fence which surrounded the lot, said police. They then folded back the open section and drove the vehicles out through the hole in the fence.

Police, Fest officials acted correctly in Fest evacuation

Who ya' gonna' call when a tornado warning threatens the crowded Fall Festival?

As a rapidly-moving storm front hit The Plymouth-Canton Community Friday evening, several thousand Fall Festival revelers were endangered by the weather conditions.

The Fall Fest Board and the Plymouth and Plymouth Township Police quickly decided to evacuate the area and close down the Fest for the evening. Their quick decision-making and implementation of the evacuation plan was a prudent move.

Had tornadoes developed, or had lightning struck (as it did during a Fall Festival Friday morning six years ago), the Festival area is no place for crowds to be exposed.

Paul Sincock, the Fest's PR man, was in his usual position atop the press box at the high schools' football stadium just as Canton's game was starting Friday night. He saw the weather front and recognized its similarity to the scene in Ghostbusters -- the football game was cancelled after two minutes and Sincock radioed ahead to the Festival Board that the storm was approaching.

Into action went the Fest's disaster plan, and the crowd was sent home.

Weather has always been the big uncertainty of the Festival, but severe storms have more potential danger than just dampening the sale of fish dinners. (Just ask those surprised Lions Club members who were there when lightning bounced off the Penn Theatre next to them six years ago.)

It was wise to act so quickly Friday.

Weather was the top story of the 1989 Fall Festival, to be sure. It hurt many group's activities.

But the crowd's spirits were upbeat -- certainly a reflection that the Fall Fest volunteers simply rolled with the raindrops.

It was fortunate that the many changes made to improve the Festival this year meant that Festgoers had something positive to talk about while huddled under cover from the rain.

Aside from the weather... the 1989 Fest was one of the best.

I'm glad I'm not on school board

There are times when I'm glad I'm not on the school board.

There's a student at Salem High School, a senior, who has a part-time job, but can't get a parking permit, and so cannot get to work on time.

There's a girl who just moved into a new subdivision in southern Canton. All the other kids in the neighborhood go to the very crowded Pioneer Middle School, and she has to go to Central -- way up in the center of Plymouth.

A working mother asked if her kindergartener could attend Smith School, which is walking distance from the home of the child's babysitter, instead of Bird, where she would normally attend.

When the parents of each of these students asked the school board to grant exceptions, each met with a polite, but resounding, "no."

Each request was presented to the board (one written) very politely, and very rationally. But each time the request was denied.

Is one more kid at Smith, or at Pioneer, going to make the school burst?

Is one more parking permit going to cause make traffic any worse at CEP? Not likely.

So why is the board and the administration being so cold-hearted and uncaring -- especially just after voters so altruistically passed a millage hike?

"They don't care," one parent said last week. "That I Care slogan makes me sick -- they don't care."

In defense of the board members, and administrators involved -- yes, they do care.

But granting an exception in one case means that the only fair way is to grant another, and another, and another.

"The flood gates would be open," in Superintendent John Hoben's words.

Each year the board receives a number of such requests and does not grant exceptions.

Growth in Plymouth-Canton has been enormous, and thus has made the task of drawing and redrawing boundaries a nightmare.

And there is no end in sight.

The board ought to look into creating a panel of administrators which would have the authority to grant exceptions. Such a panel could look at each case individually, and grant exceptions where possible.

Officials would not be forced to remain consistent when the facts show that an exception can be reasonably granted. The panel would be the final appeal -- board time would not have to be taken up for such requests any more, and when there is space in another school, a child could be switched.

Sometimes it takes guts to be inconsistent, for the good of kids.

By John Broderick

Either way, the boundary problem is extremely difficult.

But it is beyond me why parking has to be so difficult.

On a 300 acre site (CEP), parking should be the least of anybody's worries.

There are 585 spaces for students, most of which are designated for athletes, co-op students, and those with early dismissal.

Why not pour some asphalt, or even gravel, and make a few hundred more? Maybe out near the old school farm. Give the current lot to seniors, and make the rest walk a long way from the distant lot.

The parking problem at CEP is solvable. The boundary problem is not as easy.

If the board would set up a panel to review individual requests for changes, it might just see a higher level of participation, involvement, and closer communication, that it has been striving for.

And maybe parents will understand that board members really do care.

Anarchists don't believe in cults... or police harassment either

Does an "anarchy" t-shirt warrant alleged harassment? That's what one resident of Plymouth Hills Mobile Home Park wants to know.

Recently a 21-year-old resident, Aaron Bruton, was walking toward home along North Territorial Road after visiting a friend in Plymouth's Old Village when a Plymouth Township police unit pulled up to the youth and his friend:

"He took one look at my t-shirt and started asking me all kinds of questions about cults, whether I knew about them or belonged to them," said Bruton, who feels he was harassed that night for wearing the black and white shirt, which depicts a circle with a giant 'A' in the middle of it and the word "Anarchy" scrawled underneath.

"He just kept giving me a hard time about it," Bruton continued. "I don't know if I'm attracting the police, but if I'm not causing trouble why are they giving me trouble?"

Bruton said he was not hitchhiking along the road, so he couldn't understand why he was being harassed.

"I was just trying to get home," said Bruton.

Bruton, who likes to wear his blond hair down to his shoulders, said the incident wasn't the first time he's been bothered by police, but he insists that he is not a rowdy youth or one to cause trouble.

Shortly after the first Plymouth Township unit drove off (without giving Bruton any kind of citation) another unit drove up, flashing its spotlight in Bruton's face.

"He asked me what we were doing," said Bruton. "I told him I was trying to get home. I really would have liked a ride."

Instead of a ride, though, Bruton said the officer told him that he was in an "emergency situation" and that he had to leave.

"He didn't have his flashers on," Bruton said. "And he wasn't driving very fast for someone who's supposedly in an emergency situation."

Does this shirt warrant police "harassment"? One Plymouth Township man would like to know. (Crier photo by Ken Voyles)

Planning commission

Fair is fair

Bureaucracy or necessity? That is the question.

Every democratic form of government is loaded down with what are deemed unnecessary laws or programs which make it difficult if not impossible to get things done.

The words triplicate and quadruplicate send shivers down the spine of persons dealing with, or working in, a governmental unit.

But some procedures and programs, difficult as they may be to deal with, are there to protect those who govern and those who are governed.

Take the ever popular planning commission for instance.

Almost everyone, from major developers to the guy who wants to add on to his garage, dreads going before the planning commission.

How many people in this area have gone before their planning commission only to find that plans needed to be changed. Good try! Thanks. See you next month.

As big a pain as a planning commission can be, it is a necessary part of local government.

The planning commission is responsible for stemming the tide of uncontrolled or irresponsible construction.

The one problem with the entire situation is that local governments, i.e.

the City of Plymouth and the Townships of Plymouth and Canton, are not required to go before their own planning commissions when they are building on property belonging to their municipalities.

Now, standard policy for Plymouth and Canton townships is to go through the same steps that the two municipalities make everyone else go through.

The City of Plymouth does basically the same thing by "informing" the planning commission that it is working on a project.

The current leaders of the three communities are taking the right and proper steps when working on a project.

Because we all know that government officials, like all people, sometimes stray from the path of righteousness, they should be required to follow the same steps that are asked of private citizens.

Sure it is difficult and time consuming to go before the planning commission, but that is the only way to ensure that, some day, maybe in a galaxy far far away, or maybe right here in Plymouth, some unscrupulous official does not take advantage of building freedoms which the average Joes of this world do not possess.

Have a nice day.

Thanks to VFW, friends

EDITOR:

To the Mayflower Lt. Gamble Post and Auxiliary 6695 Veterans of Foreign Wars and to my many friends in and around the Plymouth Community:

Thank you for the wonderful "farewell" party given for me Sunday Aug. 27 at the VFW Hall.

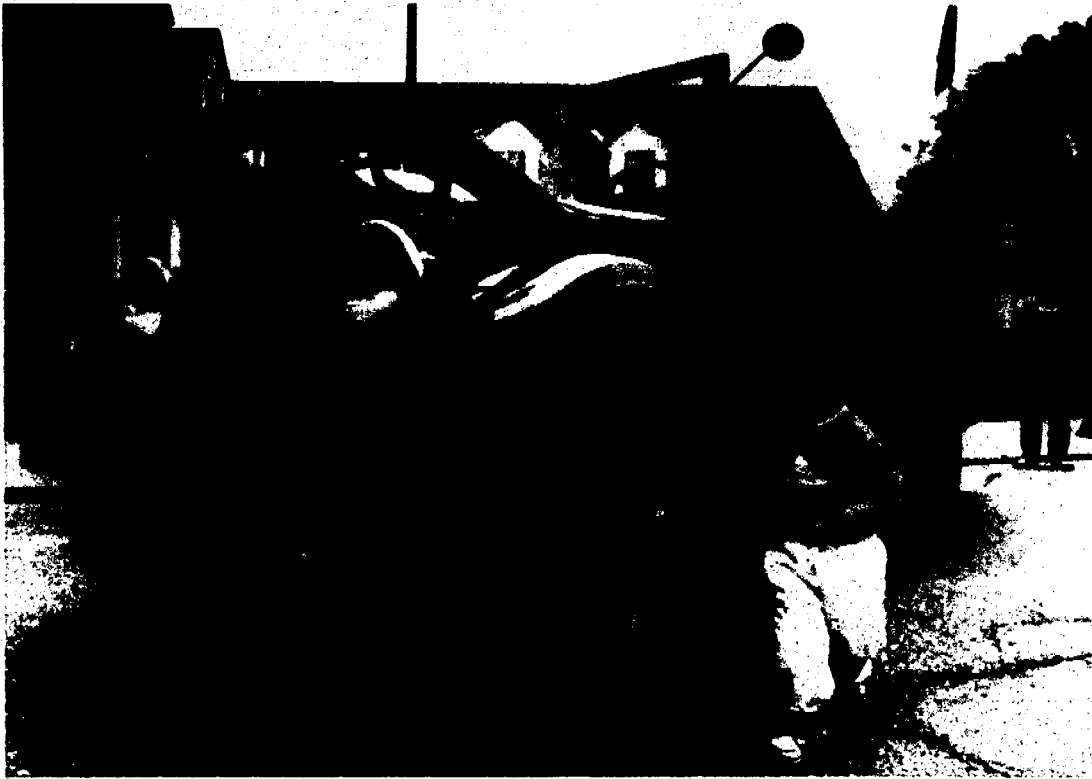

I have lived in Plymouth for 68 years. Plymouth has been good to me, I have raised my children here and have many precious memories to take away with me.

I am moving to Gaylord to be nearer to my family. I sincerely appreciate all you have done for me over the years. Your friendship has helped me through many difficult moments.

I will miss you. When heading north, please stop in and visit. Thanks very much.

MSU student interns for State

BY MINAL HAJRATWALA

Walter Bartels, of Plymouth, spent his summer in a somewhat unconventional way.

Bartels was one of 22 Michigan State University students who participated in Governor James Blanchard's new Executive Intern Program, which drew college students from around the state.

For 11 weeks, Bartels worked in the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulation, which oversees approximately 40 professions. His main project was the design and publication of a pamphlet, which "explains to the public what their rights are if they have a complaint about the department" according to Bartels.

"I also had a chance to attend senate and house hearings, and find out a lot about state government," he said.

Bartels is completing his BA in political economy and economics, and will begin his MA this fall in labor and industrial relations. He plays hockey and intramural sports, and enjoys fishing and hunting in his spare time.

A luncheon at Blanchard's residence proved to be the highlight of the summer.

"It was as informal as a meeting with the governor can be," said Bartels.

Teacher finds students in Plymouth

Reeling away on Irish steps

BY JULIE ZASADNY

When Tim O'Hare was six his parents dragged him to an Irish dance class in Detroit.

After the second week of lessons, he was hooked.

And now, 22 years and two world champion titles later, O'Hare still can't get enough of the jigs, reels, hornpipes and other traditional Irish dances.

O'Hare is the instructor of the Irish Dancers, one of the ethnic dance groups that performed at the Fall Festival this year. Comprised of champion and beginning dancers from ages five to 20, the group is led by an energetic man who is devoted to Irish dancing.

"It's almost like an addiction," O'Hare said, lounging in a yellow t-shirt and blue sweatpants after a full day of teaching classes. "Dancing has been great for me."

O'Hare's fixation with Irish dancing began when he started participating in national competitions at 10. After he first experienced the thrill of competition, O'Hare said he became obsessed with the idea of winning.

"When I first started out, I lived for the competition," he said, propping his feet up on a desk, the empty dance studio in front of him. "Other kids used to play cowboys and Indians, but I played winning the competition."

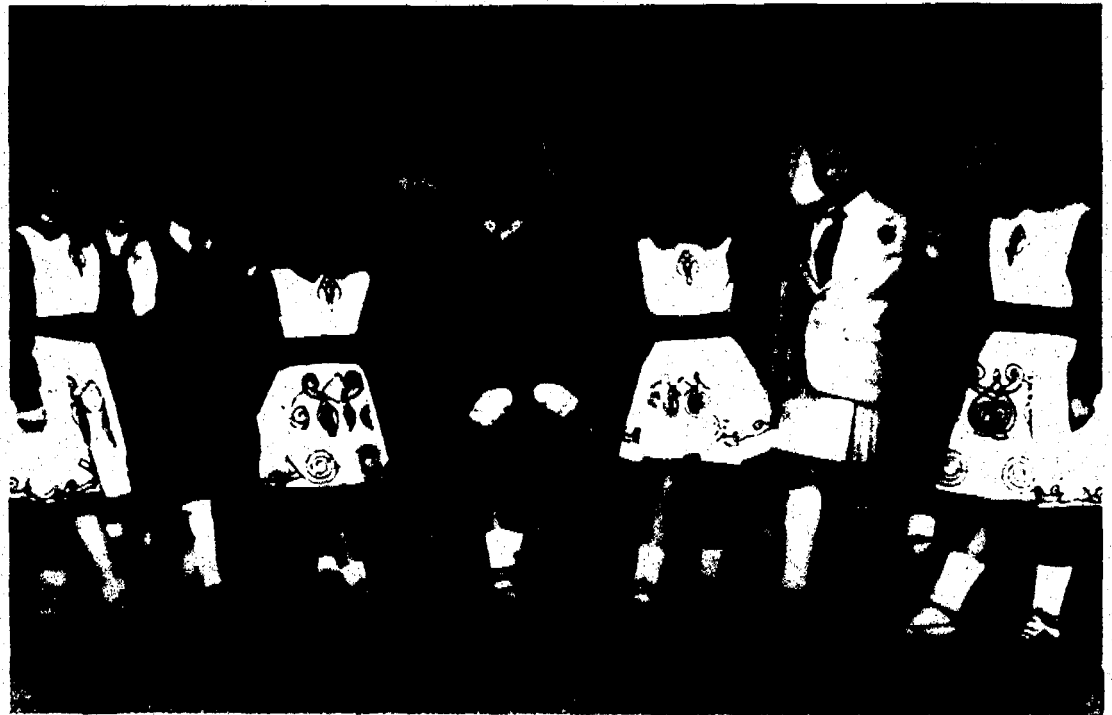

O'Hare's dreams came true as he captured a string of titles. He was national and midwest champion from 1970 to 1979, placed third in the world competition in 1975 and reigned as Junior World Champion at 15 in 1976 and Senior World Champion at 16 in 1977. O'Hare was the first American to win the world title two years in a row.

Not all dancers start out as champions, and O'Hare had his fair share of setback. O'Hare said he was surprised by the results from first time he competed in the world championships in Ireland.

"I was used to winning everything in America," he said. "But the first time in Ireland, I wasn't even noticed."

Although he said his years of competing were the happiest of his life, O'Hare began teaching Irish dancing in Plymouth in 1979, just after he graduated from high school.

With only seven students in his first class, O'Hare's reputation as a tough but good instructor was established. The following fall, with a little help from advertising and word of mouth, the class grew to about 20 students.

Seven years later, O'Hare began classes in Cleveland, Toledo and Akron.

But after moving to Chicago two years ago, O'Hare cut the number of classes to just in Plymouth and Akron. He currently commutes between his home and the two communities, teaching classes on the weekends.

O'Hare said his love of dancing has made it difficult for him to lead a normal life.

"Dancing has stopped me from doing a lot of things," O'Hare said. "I mean, who's going to marry me if I'm out of town three or four days a week?"

Although O'Hare said he believes he may have quit competing a few years too soon, 15-year-old Erin Curtis, one of his students, is glad he decided to teach when he did.

Curtis has taken lessons from O'Hare for 11 years and said he is a dedicated but tough teacher.

"He's a great guy and fun to be with," she said. "He can get things across to students without yelling, but he expects a lot of you."

Nancy Curtis, Erin's mother, said O'Hare has had a positive influence on Erin's life because he has given her a drive to succeed and be independent.

"Whatever she does, she does her best," Nancy Curtis said. "I think he gave her that."

Both O'Hare and his students hope he will continue teaching Irish dancing in the future.

"Right now I'm happy doing what I'm doing," O'Hare said, and smiled.

Tell it to Phyllis

By Phyllis Redfern

Back to school is met with mixed emotions. The kids are nervous and the moms are elated. As teachers and students mourn the end of summer, we all complain that the season went by too fast.

September (as much as January) means the beginning of a new year. Many groups and organizations are scheduled around the school year beginning in the fall.

As the kids grow, each new school year has a different meaning. It's fun to watch kids through elementary, middle and high school as they check out teachers and classmates. Having your best friend in class and getting the best teacher is almost a life or death matter.

Then before you know it, they graduate from high school and go off the college. The first time a kid goes away to school has got to be the hardest -- for the parent. After the kids deal with homesickness, they grow with the new situation and learn to live away from home.

Returning to college the following years isn't nearly as hard on parents or students. In fact, once kids are home after having lived away for a year, everyone is happy to see the beginning of the next school year.

As my son packed last week, we talked about the fact that he was half way through college and next year will be his senior year. Wow, it doesn't see possible. I liked his comment, "It takes 17 years to become a senior the first time and only four the next time."

We were both ready for him to go back to school. Then I started thinking -- what if he gets an internship and doesn't come home next summer and gets a job right out of college in another area.

Just as I was starting to think that my baby might never come home again, in walked my daughter. Oh yes, I seem to remember having similar thoughts about her a couple of years ago and here she is -- still at home.

It is amazing how quickly the little things in life can bring you back to reality.

Alexander K. Williams, son of Kay and Karl Williams of Plymouth, has been appointed a sergeant in the US Air Force. He is a 1985 Canton High School graduate.

Air Force Airman Kevin S. Tatum, son of Paula Tatum-Fenn of Wayne and Ford E. Tatum of Canton, has arrived for duty at Holloman Air Force Base, NM.

Airman Michael B. Austin has graduated from basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, TX. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Austin of Plymouth.

Army Spec. Jin S. Kim, daughter of I.T. and Yang S. Kim of Plymouth, has been named soldier of the quarter. She is a finance specialist with the 78th Finance Support Unit in West Germany.

Nicholas Purzer, son of Andrea and Richard Purzer of Plymouth, was awarded the Rensselaer Medal for outstanding achievement in math and science. He is a Canton High School senior.

James Tinsley of Plymouth, a teacher at Novi High School, attended one of Albion College's intensive week-long courses for high school teachers this summer.

Two Canton residents, both Canton High School graduates, won 1989 Honors and Competitive Scholarships from Kalamazoo College. Joseph Gondoly, son of David and Susan Gondoly, received a fine arts competitive scholarship for photography. Candice Jones, daughter of Stephen and Karen Jones, received a Kalamazoo College honors scholarship.

Jennifer Ratcliffe, a 1989 Salem High School graduate, was awarded a Presidential Scholarship from Grand Valley State University. She will major in art and design at Grand Valley this fall.

Plymouth BPW seeking nominations

Plymouth's Business and Professional Women are seeking nominations for Woman of the Year and Employers of the Year. The awards will be presented during National Businesswomen's Week, Oct. 15-21.

The BPW will recognize a local woman for her career accomplishments and/or service to the community. Employers who are responsive to the needs of working women will also be recognized.

Applications are due Sept. 30, and are available at Baskets and Bows in Plymouth. For further information or to apply, call 429-2022, ext. 235, or 437-0317.

Deer in sight

The Western Wayne County Conservation Association will hold archery sighting-in days prior to the bow and arrow deer-hunting season which opens statewide Oct. 1.

Targets and backstops will be provided. The bow and arrow are short range hunting tools, requiring the hunter to get close to the prey. Sighting-in will be from 10-40 yards.

The dates for the sighting-in will be Sept. 23-30. Certified instructors will be on the range Sept. 23-30.

The phone number of the club, located in Plymouth Township, is 453-9843.

Places to be

Ballet prep's under way

PSO going "nuts"

Preparations are underway for the "Nutcracker Ballet," to be performed by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra in conjunction with the Ann Arbor Ballet Theatre.

Boys and girls of ages seven to 11 can audition for children's parts in the musical holiday performances. Auditions will be held at Dance Unlimited in downtown Plymouth on Sept. 23, from 4-6 p.m.

Tickets are available for the Nutcracker show at $10 per adult or $5 per student, at the PSO office, 451-2112.

The ballet will be performed at 8 p.m. in the Salem High School auditorium on Dec. 15-16.

Males and females may also audition to join the Ann Arbor Ballet Theatre Junior Company (ages 10-14) or Senior Company (14 to adult). More information is available by calling 662-2942.

Civil War slide show on tap

Civil War buffs will find the September meeting of the Friends of the Canton Library right up their alley.

Gary Pritchard, commissioner with the Livonia Historical Group and a member of the Regimental and Lincoln Roundtables, will present an hourlong talk and slide show on the 17th Michigan Volunteer Infantry. The unit was comprised of men mostly from the Livonia area, and participated in two major battles.

The free program will take place on Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. in the library's meeting room. Refreshments will be served.

Kids and parents learn together

School is beckoning for four-year-olds -- and their parents.

PLUS preschool, which stands for Pupils Learning Useful Skills, is now taking registrations for 1989-90.

Operated by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools in conjunction with a federal government grant, the program is open to children who turn four by Dec. 1, 1989, and who live in the areas of Eriksson, Farrand, Field, Gallimore, and Hoben elementary schools.

Parents attend classes once a week while the children attend school. In addition, a group of parents will be able to take part in a home program.

Experiences will include "hands-on" computer programs, nutrition activities, and critical thinking exercises. Parent topics include nutrition, child management and development, health and safety. Trips are also planned.

Registration information is available by calling 451-6656.

EMU scholarship night

Eastern Michigan University and the Canton Chamber of Commerce will co-sponsor an event toward the creation of a Canton Chamber of Commerce Scholarship.

Oct. 14 will be "Canton Night" as part of the Eastern Michigan University football program.

Tickets to the game, against Liberty College, are priced at $8. A game car caravan will leave the Canton Administration Building at 4 p.m.

EMU has arranged for a tent, food, and a tailgate party for all Canton residents. Tickets may be reserved by calling 397-5110 or 453-4040.

Miller Woods lovers meet

Friends of the Miller Woods will hold their third annual meeting at 2 p.m. on Sept. 17 in the first floor community room of the Arbor Health Building in downtown Plymouth.

Geology, botany, political history and reminiscing are part of the Miller Woods story. Long-time residents with memories of the woods and newer residents who wish to become acquainted with the preserve are invited.

U of M club dinner planned

George Cavendar, former director of the University of Michigan Marching Band, will speak at the U of M Club of Plymouth's third annual scholarship dinner.

Tickets to the Sept. 30 event -- held in the Mayflower Meeting House -- are $30 apiece.

A choice of chicken cordon bleu or roast sirloin of beef will be available.

For further information call 326-4463 or 453-8457.

'Busting' stress in P-C

BY MINAL HAJRATWALA

With sermons named for soap operas and services held in a school, this is no conventional Baptist church.

West Plymouth Community Church, under the spiritual guidance of Pastor Phil Roger, will hold a "Stress Busters" series of lectures/sermons.

Beginning on Sept. 17 with "DAZE of our lives: How to keep calm in the rat race," the sermons will cover a variety of timely topics.

The church, founded less than three years ago does not currently have a home building, although plans are underway to construct one. Services are currently held at West Middle School, in Plymouth Township.

Nursery and children's ministry is provided.

Future stress topics include "One life TWO live: How to make the most of marriage," and "CALL my children: Raising positive kids in a negative world."

Further information is available at the church's office, 340 N. Main, Suite 302, Plymouth. Or call 455-8200.

Getting down to business

What's underfoot? Creative Floors

BY LAUREN SMITH

Taking a look at what's underfoot in a house may prompt a change, and Creative Floors, now located in Canton could be the place to give an old floor that special facelift.

Carpeting, linoleum, ceramic tile and wood floors are all an option at this store, full of color and variety.

Dan Tulik, the original owner with his brother, now has a partnership with Mans Do-It Center. The brothers operate another Creative Floors outlets in Wyandotte and the people at Mans Do-It, then only a neighbor, suggested they open up a shop in Canton.

The company has been in business for about three months.

Tulik and his brother were carpet installers for 15 years before they became business owners, and now they have 12 installers working solely for Creative Floors.

The outfit has done work at the Grand Traverse Resort, Mazda Headquarters, and Ford Climate Control. Tulik said they do about half of their work with residences and half with businesses.

"We take pride in customer service. That's our number one thing," said Tulik.

Tulik, who opened in Canton three months ago, said he is happy to be in the community. He is hoping people who are remodeling will come in and see what the company has to offer.

Creative Floors is located in the Heritage Mall next to Mans Do-It. Hours are Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Sunday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

IBC looks forward to growth in Canton

International Business Centers announces the arrival of executive office space and services in the Canton Landing office complex on Ford Road.

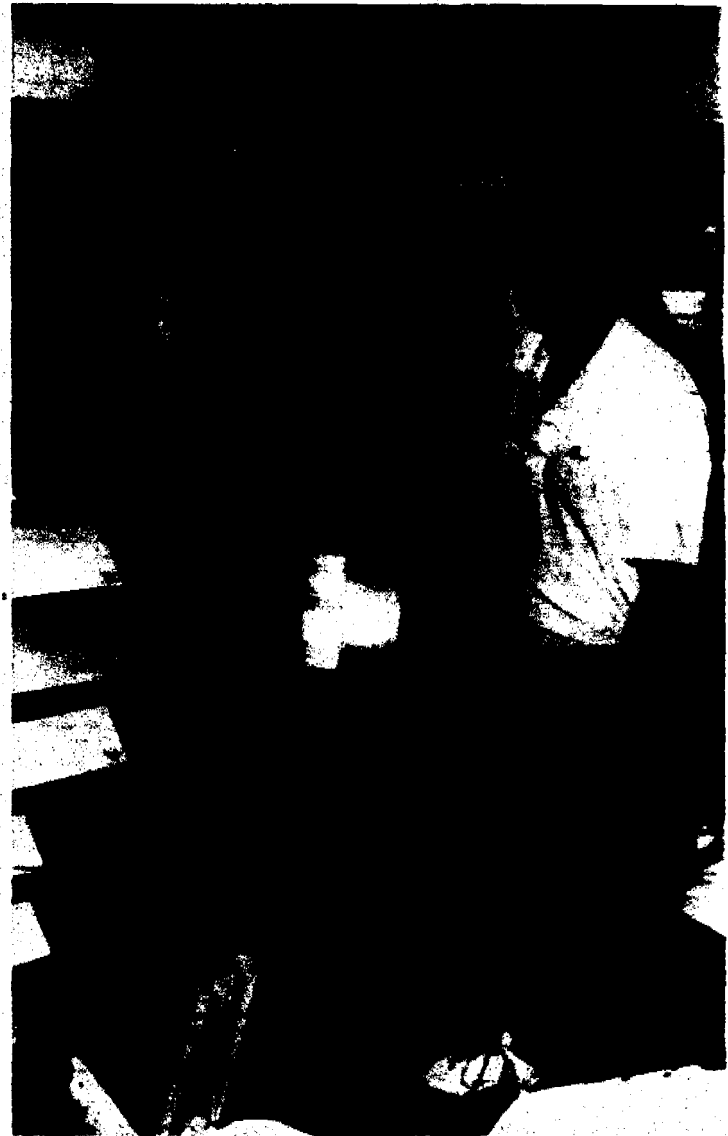

Gary Cobb, IBC president and former Canton resident, said he is excited about the prospect for growth in the Canton business sector.

IBC is the answer to the dilemma of businesses that need an office and a secretary, but can't afford both according to Cobb.

With Detroit area locations in Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Farmington Hills and Troy, these centers provide a professional atmosphere to smaller businesses or single-office executives who would otherwise be unable to afford the high costs associated with office start-up.

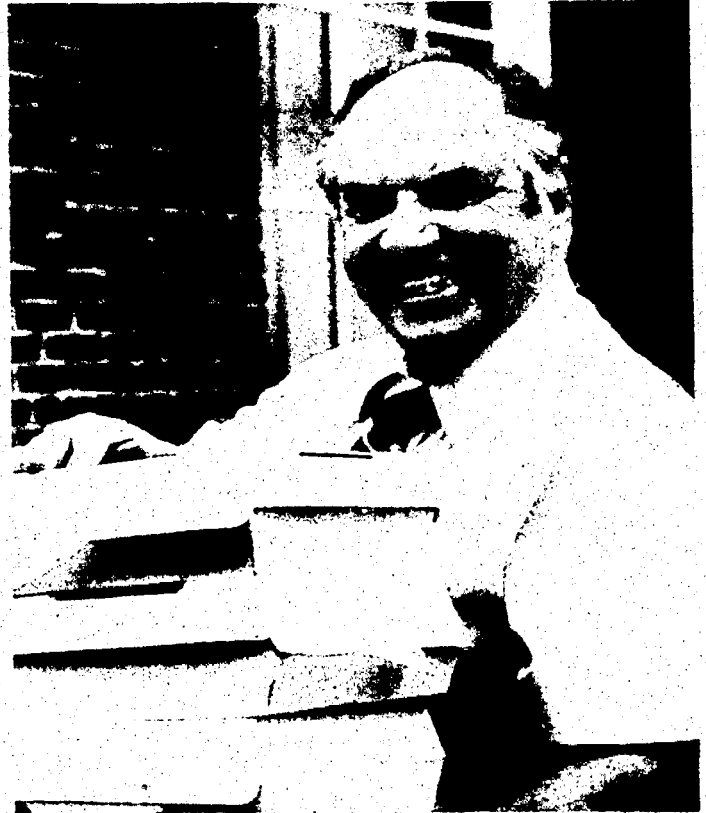

Businesses located at IBC are able to avoid the expenses involved with maintaining office equipment and hiring a full-time staff because these services are offered within the office complex.

IBC tenants are provided with a fully-equipped conference room, reception are and personal phone answering. Services such as word processing, desktop publishing, fax and copy machines, bookkeeping, marketing and advertising are also available.

Engagements & Weddings

Nowicki, Kunkle to marry

Kathleen Nowicki, of Canton, daughter of David and Mary Lou Nowicki of Canton, and Thomas Kunkle of Novi, son of Erich and JoAnn Kunkle of Swartz Creek, announce their plans for a September wedding.

The bride-to-be is a 1985 graduate of Canton High School, and is employed at Sheraton-Oaks in Novi. The groom-elect works at Banker's Real Estate Outlet and Dana Realty in Livonia, and is a part-time bartender and waiter at Hennigan's in Plymouth.

The couple met as employes at Bennigan's. They plan to honeymoon in Myrtle Beach and will reside in Novi.

NOWICKI-KUNKLE

Climie, McLoughlin wed

Jeanne Darlene Climie and Alfred Francois McLoughlin were married Aug. 12 at St. Michael Church in Livonia.

Climie is a 1959 Plymouth High School graduate, and has been actively working with the Muscular Dystrophy Association. She has made several television appearances on the MDA telethon. She is a lifetime Plymouth resident for 48 years.

McLoughlin, the son of William McLoughlin, of Ann Arbor, attended Michigan State University. He is now a semi-truck driver for Sharco Express in Livonia. He was a long-time bachelor, for almost 55 years.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid were, respectively, daughters Sharlene and Shella Climie. The best man was Thomas Martin, who introduced the couple to each other 13 years ago. James Sherzer, McLoughlin's nephew, was the other attendant.

CLIMIE-MCLOUGHLIN

The couple took a wedding trip to Walt Disney World in Florida. They will reside in Plymouth.

BFI landfill rates increasing by 52 per cent

The stuff that gets picked up from the curb every week, even though it is called garbage, is far from worthless.

The BFI landfill at the corner of Six Mile and Napier roads in Salem Township will raise the rate for disposal at the facility by 52 per cent as of Oct. 1, Dan Nelson, BFI district manager said.

Disposal costs at the facility will increase from $6.50 per compacted yard of garbage to $9.90 per compacted yard, he said.

The main reason for the increase is the expansion and improvement the landfill, Nelson said.

"If the public is going to have confidence we are simply going to have to construct landfills the best way that we know how to do with today's technology," he said.

The investment involved with constructing a technologically advanced landfill is "very dramatic", he added.

BFI may lose some of its customers in the short run as a result of the increase but Nelson said he is confident that in the long run the investment will be well worth it.

City, Twp. ending dispute over fields

BY TODD LANGTON

The soccer fields war may be over. The Plymouth City Commission passed a resolution at its Sept. 5 meeting which may end a three month long dispute between the city and Plymouth Township over the construction of another soccer field on Ford Motor Company property.

The dispute began when the city expressed interest in constructing a soccer field on property within the boundaries of Plymouth Township.

Township officials expressed concern about the possibility of the city annexing the property, which belongs to Ford Motor Company.

Officials were also concerned about the possible liability involved with allowing the soccer field to be built on township property.

"The city has never had any in-attention of annexing any township or Ford Motor Company property," said William Graham, Plymouth's acting city manager. "The other concern regarding liability is certainly a serious concern on their part."

The township, he said, does not want to get sued simply because it allowed a soccer field to be built on its property.

The resolution passed by the City Commission should solve the problem, Graham said.

"The city, by virtue of this resolution, has accepted the liability of injury occurring on the soccer fields," he said.

The new soccer field, should it be constructed, would cost approximately $18,000, Graham said. The city would increase league fees over the next three years to help pay for the project, he said.

Canton foundation tops $50,000

The Canton Foundation, which is holding its debut public forum this morning, has topped $50,000 in donations and pledges.

As of Tuesday, some 34 donors had contributed or pledged a total of $50,800 to be used for the Foundation's various goals such as establishment of a Canton Arts Council.

This morning's meeting at Fellows Creek Golf Club will detail the Foundation's purposes and introduce its board members to Canton civic and business leaders.

City police make drug haul

City of Plymouth Police confiscated two baggies of what they think are marijuana and cocaine, from two men in the Plymouth Cultural Center parking lot Friday afternoon.

Acting on a tip from a neighbor, police went to the lot and found two men in a car -- one had a baggie sticking partially out of his pocket.

No arrests were made, police said.

Festival a wet affair

most spectators were moved from the Centennial Educational Park football field, into the Canton High School building.

Major organizations that sponsored booths at the festival generally grossed less money than last year. Some were scrambling this week to sell off unused meat and other food.

"We lost two hours worth of business, and that's a lot of money for our group," said a spokesman for the Polish Centennial Dancers.

"Civilians grossed about $8,200 -- down about $1,600 from last year," said Zan Kafila, the group's Fall Festival board representative. "We lost about $1,100 on our photo booth -- it was just not a weekend to take pictures."

The YMCA grossed about $10,000, also down a bit from last year, according to representative Ken Holmes.

Power failure shuts schools down

BY JOHN BRODERICK

Students at four Plymouth-Canton schools had a day off last week -- and they have a small, furry creature to thank.

Isbister Elementary, Pioneer Middle, and Salem and Canton High School students were sent home shortly after they arrived at school on Tuesday. A squirrel had chewed through power lines, leaving the buildings without electricity.

"Consumers Power informed us that it would take about two hours after crews arrived to restore power," said Superintendent John M. Hoben.

"At about 7:30 a.m. we decided to close the schools," he said.

Then at 8:12 a.m., school officials learned that Gallimore Elementary School was without power as well.

"Most of the kids were already there by that time, so we decided to keep them there. Gallimore had partial power restored by 8:45 a.m.," he said.

Greenwood, postal worker

James R. Greenwood, 59, of Canton, died Sept. 4 in Canton. Services were held Sept. 8 at the Johnston Funeral Home in Ina, IL., with the Rev. Dale Burzynski officiating.

He retired from the US Postal Service in 1985 after 33 years of service, and was most recently a letter carrier for rural number one, west of Plymouth. He came to The Plymouth-Canton Community in 1961 from Livonia.

He was a member of the Plymouth Elks BPOE No. 780 and the Canton Moose Lodge, and was an honorary member of the Plymouth Mayflower-Lt. Gamble VFW Post No. 6695.

Survivors include: wife Barbara of Canton; sons James R., Jr., of Westland, Randy J., of Plymouth, Martin Akers, of Livonia, Timothy Akers, of Canton; daughters Denise Cunningham, of Tecumseh, Debra Gray, of Mansfield, TX, Kim Crawford, of Palmdale, CA, Dee Burns, of Westland, Janet Akers, of Canton, Amy Zalewski, of Redford, and Nancy Greenwood, of Westland; and 14 grandchildren.

Other survivors include: brothers Donald C., of Washington, Gerald S., of Ohio; sister Patricia Dobbs, of Mississippi; and father Clyde Greenwood, of Johnston City, IL.

Burial was in Ewing Cemetery in Illinois. Local arrangements by Schrader Funeral Home.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Rock kickers win, ready for Canton

BY RITA DERBIN

With a liberal dose of scoring and a stingy defense the Rocks are on a roll.

The Salem boys soccer team is undefeated and ranked number four in the state after shutting out Livonia Franklin Monday afternoon 7-0.

Spreading out the scoring, Chris Olson and Greg Christensen had two goals apiece; and Jeff Gold, Andy Cosenza, and Joe Tippmann, one goal apiece. Assists were given to Billy Joker (two), Cosenza, Matt Gold, John Truskowski and freshman Tom Baker, who scored his first varsity point.

Goalie and co-captain Matt Tudor has four shutouts in five games including a 3-0 shutout of Canton in the Plymouth Invitational final over Labor Day weekend.

The Rocks shelled Farmington Harrison 17-0 on Wednesday. Senior co-captain Jeff Gold led the attack with four goals and three assists.

Other outstanding performances included Christensen's three goals and three assists, Matt Gold's one goal and four assists and Tudor's shutout.

"The whole team has been playing outstanding soccer," said coach Ken Johnson. "The co-captains are doing a great job and the defense and the bench are doing their job - everyone is contributing."

Next up for Salem will be upset-minded Canton.

The two teams will play tonight at 7 p.m.

"Canton will be out for revenge," said Johnson. "We're going to have to be ready because they will."

Canton will be coming off a difficult 1-0 loss to Livonia Churchill on Monday night. Their record now is 3-2-1.

"We played real well (against Churchill) and we had a couple chances," said Canton coach Don Smith. "It was a great game, and even with the loss, we played probably our best game - we're improving every game and really coming along."

The Chiefs tied Brighton on Saturday 2-2.

Daryl Magreta and Mike Presley each had a goal and Steve Shiner had two assists.

Friday, goalie Andy Collins shutout Farmington Harrison 4-0.

Scoring for the Chiefs were Rick McFeely (one assist), Shiner, Kristian Kilpelainen and Dan Martin (one assist).

On Wednesday, Canton defeated Livonia Franklin 4-0.

Scorers in the game were Magreta (one goal, one assist), Rick McFeely (one goal), Shiner (one goal, one assist) and Kristian Kilpelainen (one goal, two assists).

"The team is playing well together," said Smith. "They're getting stronger every game and gaining momentum as everyone has scoring chances."

Smith said that the Chiefs will be ready for Salem and expects a good game.

"We'll definitely be ready to play and sure, we'd like to get even," Smith said. "We're looking forward to playing them."

Canton girls harriers familiar with winning

BY RITA DERBIN

With a 19-0 record over the last three years, the Canton High girls cross country team has obviously taken that unspeakable four-letter word "lose" out of their dictionaries.

The Chiefs cross country team have gotten used to winning but don't plan on resting on their past achievements this fall.

"We were ninth in the state last year and we want to improve," said coach George Przygodski. "We've got the team to do it, too."

Led by returning seniors Lori Penland, Missy Jasnowski, Adrienne Garrow and Kim Rice, the Chiefs are going for a fourth consecutive division title and third consecutive conference championship. They would also like to have another perfect 6-0 dual match record.

"We're going to win with our seniors," said Przygodski. "We have great senior leadership and other runners who we'll build around them."

Returning sophomore Carolyn Way is also expected to contribute to the winning tradition at Canton and be one of the top four runners.

With the loss of graduated stars Cindy Spessard, Kris Marquard and Lynda Schendell, other runners will have a chance to make the team. A few that were running well in early practices include junior Marisa Dersey, sophomores Amy Smith and Alicia King, and freshman Laura Antezak.

"We've got 20 kids running right now," Przygodski said. "And there's a lot of talent -- lots of experience and the youth pushing the seniors to work harder -- this is a very competitive group of girls."

Right now, Przygodski is looking 10 weeks ahead and not rushing his team.

"I anticipate a good season which is injury-free," Przygodski said. "It's better to be a step out of shape now and be healthy down the road in the important meets. We just want to be ready for the season."

Przygodski feels that Farmington is the team to beat this year and should be favored to take the conference title away from Canton.

"They've got an outstanding program and look strong," Przygodski added. "But we're up for the challenge."

Girls win

BY RITA DERBIN

The Canton girls cross country team started off their season with a win.

The Chiefs continued their undefeated streak with a victory at the Early Bird Invitational in Ypsilanti last Thursday.

Canton won the eight-team tournament with 35 points. Salem was fourth with 94 points.

Top scorer for the Chiefs was second-place finisher Amy Smith (21:53).

Other Chiefs placing included Adrienne Garrow (23:14), 6th; Missy Jasnowski (23:15), 7th; Lori Penland (23:28), 9th; Marisa Dersey (23:44), 11th and Kim Rice (24:31), 19th.

Individuals key to Canton boys harriers

BY RITA DERBIN

Cross country is a unique sport -- it's a team competition where individuals run for personal success, and in turn bring success for the whole team.

The Canton boys cross country team is hoping personal success will bring team success this fall.

The Chiefs' team is filled with experienced seniors and juniors who will use their individual abilities to bring success to the team, according to coach Jim Hayes.

The top three runners on the team have impressive records behind them and are expected to improve this year.

Senior Brian Beach, a state finalist last year, is the team's top runner. He will be joined by senior Matt Hall, who was all-division last year, and junior Mike Ream, another all-division runner, to make up a solid top three runners, according to Hayes.

The next four returning runners will be senior Matt Boland and juniors Jason Crain, Jim Carnes and Jason Napoleone.

"The top three spots are definitely set," Hayes said. "But there's about five or six other runners that could take the last spots on the varsity team depending on who's running well -- anyone can be bumped from the top seven depending on performance.

Led by the senior tri-captains, Beach, Hall and Boland, the Chiefs have been progressing well in practice and are ready to take on the rest of Western Division.

Last year Canton was 5-1 overall and came in third at the league meet and fifth in the state regional tournament.

The Chiefs were 4-1 in the Western Division -- their only loss coming to defending division champs Walled Lake Western. They also won the Redford Union Invitational and came in second at the Schoolcraft Invitational.

"We have to work hard individually and hopefully do as well this year as last year," Hayes said. "The team to beat, again, will be Western -- they're always good."

In the Western Lakes Activities Association, Hayes thinks the Chiefs will be in the race along with Western, Farmington and Salem.

Despite weather Rocks win again

BY RITA DERBIN

Playing under adverse conditions did not seem to faze the Salem football team -- they didn't play their best football but were happy to come out winners.

The Rocks, playing on the road, defeated Northville on Friday night 14-0. The game was played in wind and rain.

In the game, Ryan Johnson scored on a one-yard run to make the game 6-0 and the extra point was missed. Scott Austin later returned an interception for a 20-yard touchdown return. Rob Kowalski completed a two-point conversion when he successfully passed to Brian Burlison to make the score 14-0.

"This team doesn't think on an individual basis," said coach Tom Moshimer. "We've had some fine performances but we like to think as a team rather than individual statistics."

In their first game, a 21-12 victory over Trenton, Johnson played a part in every score when he ran for two touchdowns and threw an option for the third touchdown. He also gained 156 yards on 13 carries and had 13 tackles.

"He had an outstanding game but the defense has also played well," Moshimer added. "Don Parrish, Pat Boyd, Joe Roza -- they played real well against Trenton."

Moshimer feels his team is progressing but has a way to go.

"We're coming along," Moshimer said. "We have to get better, though, if we want to contend."

The Rocks' next challenge will be a home game Friday night at 7:30 against Farmington.

Farmington is 0-2 but the Rocks aren't taking them lightly because anything can happen in football.

"We look better on paper," Moshimer explained. "But we've got to prove ourselves on the field -- we've got a good chance to win and we want to win. It should be a good game."

Canton wins delayed gridiron clash

BY RITA DERBIN

With the confidence they've acquired from winning their first two games, who knows how far the Canton football team can go.

The Chiefs are 2-0 after defeating Farmington 28-0 in their home opener which took two days to complete. A bad storm Friday night postponed the game until Saturday.

When play resumed, Scott Hanna scored on a 23-yard pass from quarterback Karl Wukie and Jason Eby scored on a nine-yard pass from Wukie.

Jason Riggs scored on a 13-yard run and Wukie added a touchdown when he scored on two-yard run.

"Wukie has been playing real well," said coach Bob Khoenle. "In two games he's thrown four touchdown passes and ran for three more.

Khoenle said that the whole team has been playing well, running back Riggs has been playing good early on. David Cessante has had two interceptions and Jason Lee has one.

In their first game, the Chiefs upset Monroe 30-14.

"Coming out of the block real well has given us a lot of confidence," said Khoenle. "And we're also lucky to have a healthy team -- no real injuries."

Saturday the Chiefs will travel to Livonia Franklin to open their division schedule. The game will begin at 1 p.m.

They're a good team -- big and strong players," said Khoenle. "It should be a good game."

3 on 3 hoop

The City of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department will once again be offering a men's three on three basketball league.

Games will be played on Monday and Thursday nights at Central Middle School. The entry fee is $45, plus $5 for each non-resident.

Registration for the league will run through Sept. 14, while league play will begin during the week of Sept. 19.
