Could veto grant money for Mettetal

Canton may get final say on airport

BY PHILIP TARDANI

Canton may have something yet to say concerning the fate of Mettetal Airport.

State Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, has introduced an amendment to the Michigan House of Representatives capital outlay budget that would give the Canton Board of Trustees final say on a five per cent state matching grant to save the airport.

The Canton board voted 5-2 last month not to assume ownership of the airport, whose owners are looking to sell. Since that time, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees has voted to assume sponsorship of the Canton facility.

Kosteva, who represents most of Canton, said he thought the local government should have a voice in the airport's future.

"I'm thinking that the residents of Canton -- through their board of trustees -- should have something to say regarding how the (airport) land is used," he said.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen said if Canton gets a veto power over the grant money, the drive to save the airport will likely end.

"I would assume that would kill it," said Breen, who has led the new effort. "Obviously, the Canton board has already spoken on it (the issue)."

Breen said Kosteva is siding with the pro-development forces in Canton.

"I think it's quite clear that they want that property developed commercially and industrially," he said. "The amendment is designed to stop the purchase of Mettetal by a public authority.

"It's a development issue plain and simple," Breen added.

Thomas Yack, supervisor in Canton, said Kosteva's amendment sounded "logical" to him.

"Since the facility is in our community, I think that's appropriate," Yack said. "He (Kosteva) is protecting our interests and I really appreciate that."

Rising land values have put the fate of Mettetal -- the last privately owned airport in Wayne County -- up in the air because the land may be more valuable as a development site than an airport.

The Klochko family, owners of the facility, have said they are no longer interested in it and wish to sell.

Federal aviation officials have offered to cover 90 per cent of the purchase price. The state has said it will chip in five per cent and cover the remaining five per cent with a mat-

Canton police officers cleared in shooting

BY SCOTT DANIEL

Canton Police Department officers did not violate department policies and procedures in the May 21 shooting of township resident Paul Vachher.

Canton Public Safety Director John Santomauro made that determination Monday as part of the department's internal investigation report of the incident. Vachher, 25, was shot by officers three times after charging them with steak knives.

"Based on the department's internal investigation this office finds the officers were faced with not only a volatile, but life-threatening situation," Santomauro said, in a report to the Canton Board of Trustees.

"(Vachher's) actions from the start of the incident to the conclusion did not allow the officers, or the department," he continued, "any choice but to use that force that was necessary to stop the threat to themselves or other persons."

According to Canton Police Cpt. Laura Golles, who conducted the internal investigation, the department will ask the Wayne County Prosecutor's office to review the case for possible criminal charges against Vachher.

The prosecutor's office ruled in July, after an investigation of the incident by the Michigan State Police, that the three officers were justified in the wounding of Vachher.

Prosecution against Vachher wasn't sought because of his emotional condition at the time of the incident and his subsequent physical condition, the prosecutor's office also ruled.

County approves land sale

BY PHILIP TARDANI

Wayne County has approved the sale of 926 acres of land in Northville Township, clearing the way for a $2 billion development there.

The county board of commissioners voted unanimously Thursday to sell the parcel to the R. A. DeMattia firm for $31.75 million.

Robert DeMattia, president of the company, plans a development -- "Huntington Falls" -- on the site between Beck Road and Edward Hines Drive and Five and Six Mile roads. He said the sale has been a long time coming.

"It was a long, long deal with the county," DeMattia said. "I commend the county on their process."

At Canton High School board approves principal

BY KEN VOYLES

Dr. Thomas MacKenzie was formally named principal of Canton High School Monday by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education.

MacKenzie, who is currently principal at Rocky Mountain High School in Ft. Collins, CO, will start Oct. 1.

According to schools Superintendent John M. Hoben, MacKenzie has agreed to a five-year commitment with the Plymouth-Canton district.

Hoben called the former Ann Arbor Public Schools director of guidance an "outstanding candidate."

THOMAS MACKENZIE

Errol Goldman, the schools director of personnel, said MacKenzie "deals well with people," and offers "educational leadership and knowledge."

The district interviewed eight candidates for the job after Thomas

Tattan left his post at Canton earlier this year to become the schools director of secondary education, said Goldman.

Goldman and Tattan traveled to Colorado to interview MacKenzie and inspect his current high school. Goldman said he was "impressed" with what he saw at the school.

MacKenzie has also been a teacher and a director of pupil support services and has worked for Ann Arbor, Grand Haven, Ypsilanti and Portage public schools.

Edward Talbot, a former building inspector, filed suit against the city in 1983, claiming the city unjustly terminated his employment and discriminated on the basis of age.

Jail time increases for 35th District Court

PC-3 THE COMMUNITY CRIER, September 26, 1990

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

In the first six months of renting jail space in Hillsdale County, the 35th District Court has sent 101 "clients" to 1,521 days in jail.

According to court records, Canton leads the five local governmental units of the 35th Court, in both the number of prisoners sent to jail and in the number of days served. A total of 46 persons convicted of crimes in Canton were sentenced to a total of 855 days in the Hillsdale County Jail.

Prior to March 16, non-violent offenders in the 35th District Court could not be sentenced to jail because the Wayne County Jail was overcrowded. Since that time, the 35th Court has rented jail space at $40 per day per prisoner and is now deducting the cost to each of the five local governmental units from the court revenues. (The cost at the Wayne County Jail was far more.)

"Our only alternative" up to that point (March) was the Wayne County work release program," said Judge James Garber of the 35th District Court. "That was our last resort. Now we've got the last resort of jail.

"Now that we've got six months under our belt, (Judge) John (MacDonald) and I will sit down and see how it's working.

now. And there were very much aware it wasn't there before.

"I certainly believe there is some effect," Garber said.

Each Friday, the five departments take turns staffing two police officers to transport prisoners from the 35th Court to the Hillsdale Jail.

Behind Canton, Plymouth Township is second in using jail time (20 prisoners, 352 days), Northville Township is third (15 served 252 days), City of Plymouth is fourth (14 prisoners, 211 days), and Northville is fifth in jailing criminals (6 served 51 days).

Under the jail rules in Hillsdale, sentenced time is reduced one day per six days served for "good behavior."

City settles with restaurant over ordinance

BY PHILIP TARDANI

A lawsuit against the City of Plymouth over the city's sign ordinance was settled last week without cost to either party.

F. J. Pascaris Enterprises, owners of the Plymouth Landing, located at 340 N. Main St., brought the suit, claiming that city law was out of sync with state law.

Pascaris sought a variance before the zoning board of appeals (ZBA) to install a new sign east of the restaurant.

The ZBA vote was 3-1 in favor, but according to city law, four votes are required to grant a variance.

State law, which overrides municipal law, stipulates, however, that only a majority is required.

"The language in state law has changed," said City Attorney Ronald Lowe. "Now you only need a majority vote to grant a variance."

Lowe said Pascaris needed a variance because the new sign was too large and too high under the city's new sign ordinance.

Bruce Gerish, chairperson of the ZBA, said he still considers the sign as not in conformance with the ordinance.

"We rejected it (the variance) based upon the voting criteria set forth by the city," Gerish said. "We were told at our last meeting that subsequent to our vote, our ordinance was overruled by state law."

Angelo Plakas, the attorney representing Pascaris in this case, said he thought the outcome of the suit would be acceptable to both parties.

"We were all pleased, I think," he said. "I think they (the city) will be pleased with the sign that does go up."

"I understand where the city is coming from in wanting some measure of control aesthetically," Plakas added.

Gerish said, however, that there is a problem enforcing the new ordinance, which took effect in March of 1989 and is now being reviewed.

"I don't believe the sign ordinance works because there is an appearance of an inability to enforce it and a lack of cooperation on the part of merchants on changing or removing non-conforming signs," he said.

Under the ordinance, non-conforming signs -- those too big, or too high, among other things -- must be removed if they are altered, relocated, replaced or their wording is modified in any way.

All non-conforming signs must be replaced after Dec. 31, 1996.

Lowe said that though its language may need some clarification, the ordinance itself was "extremely defensible."

"I don't think our ordinance is any more prohibitive than any other municipality's," he said.

Salem principal receives reprimand

BY KEN VOYLES

Salem High School's principal has been reprimanded for failing to provide proper training to staff members under the Michigan Right-to-Know laws.

Gerald Ostoin, who has been the principal at Salem High since 1986, was issued a written reprimand on Aug. 31 by school district Superintendent John M. Hoben.

The reprimand followed an internal investigation into the Aug. 22 dumping incident when employees at Salem released three barrels of non-toxic chemicals into Willow Creek.

Two other district employees, members of Salem's custodial staff, were also disciplined following the incident -- one was suspended for a month without a pay and another was warned.

According to reprimand issued to Ostoin, it was the responsibility of the principal to provide the training to high school staff and "secure" signatures of each employe in the buildings to "assure that the training had been received."

It adds, "that this was not done at Salem High School, even after the citation," was issued by the state for failure to comply with the laws.

The school district was cited in June 1987 for failing to "provide employes with information and training on hazardous chemicals present in their workplace." A second citation, also issued in June 1987, said signs were not posted in the workplace advising employes of the required information on hazardous chemicals.

The citations were issued by the Michigan Department of Public Health, Bureau of Environmental and Occupational Health.

On Monday, Ostoin said, "I have never been more embarrassed or humiliated in my life. I've never had a reprimand in my life.

"It (dealing with the right-to-know information) was not taken lightly," he added. "It was not put aside."

Ostoin said some employes might have been "overlooked," but other Salem staff were told to review the information and failed to do so.

Some school district sources have questioned why the building principals at each school were delegated to follow through on the training for custodial and maintenance staff and not the head of the district's maintenance department.

Right-to-know information and training was completed last week for the staff at Salem, said district officials. It is also being reviewed with all school district personnel, they said.

The information on the disciplinary actions taken against Salem staff members was obtained by The Crier through the Michigan Freedom of Information Act.

35th judges do the right thing

Jail time is a deterrent

Although an infamous Detroit mayor is remembered for his advice to crooks, thieves and muggers, "Hit Eight Mile Road," it was only rhetoric.

The judges of the 35th District Court, however, are effectively getting the "take your crime elsewhere" message to the streets.

Until March 16 of this year -- roughly six months ago -- few scofflaws in Plymouth, Canton or Northville were sentenced to jail time. With the backlog and overcrowding at the Wayne County Jail, there just wasn't room at the inn for criminals not involved in violent assaults.

But starting in March, the 35th District Court has been renting jail space at the newly expanded Hillsdale County Sheriff Department facility. The rent is $40 per day per prisoner -- cheaper than at Wayne County, which had no room anyway.

As of Monday, 101 "clients" (as the court calls them) have spent a total of 1,521 days behind bars.

While jail time is not the only solution to crime, it is one component. And until the 35th started sending habitual offenders off to Hillsdale, incarceration was not an option.

And the thieves knew it.

Now that a regular Friday run to the Hillsdale calaboose is an option, the crooks may start to think twice. Jail is a deterrent to crime and the 35th District Court program is certainly a step in the right direction.

State supreme court rules on strike

A recent Michigan Supreme Court ruling brought back to light the 1980 Plymouth Stamping strike, which is technically still going on.

The court ruled 4-3 that the employees who were permanently replaced during the strike were eligible for unemployment benefits.

"Because the workers no longer voluntarily ceased their employment after they had been permanently replaced, they were eligible for unemployment compensation," wrote Justice Dennis Archer in the majority opinion.

The United Auto Workers local 985 went on strike in September of 1980 after management at Plymouth Stamping had asked for a reduction in wages and benefits. The strikers demanded that they be rehired as a group.

The company eventually permanently replaced the strikers, and those who did not return to work sought unemployment benefits from the time they were replaced. Ten years after the strike began, the Court affirmed that right.

For 76-year-old William Mazey, the lawyer representing the workers, the decision was the latest victory in a long career involving labor law.

"The people that received their benefits are really part of a landmark case," Mazey said. "Hopefully, as to some of the small employers, they will think twice before permanently replacing workers."

Mazey said the decision is important because it more firmly establishes a workers right to strike.

On the beat

By Phillip Tardani

"You're told you have a right to strike, but on the same hand, if as soon as you go out on strike they can replace you, where has your right to strike gone?" he said.

Mazey said he got his start in labor law by helping to organize the United Auto Workers in 1937. In the process he and his brother both accumulated dossiers in the Detroit Police's notorious Red Squad files.

The Red Squad files were kept from 1937-1974. Labor unionists, civil liberties advocates, and political activists were all targets for the secret list.

"We were radical in the sense that we opposed to the way workers were treated," Mazey said. "We helped establish democracy in the workplace."

William L. Hooth, who represented Plymouth Stamping in the case, said the issue is not the cost of unemployment benefits. The company payed its share long ago in unemployment compensation taxes, he added.

"This case is really more important for the principle than the actual cost," Hooth said.

The proceedings were remanded to the Michigan Employment Security Commission to individually determine when the workers became ineligible for benefits.

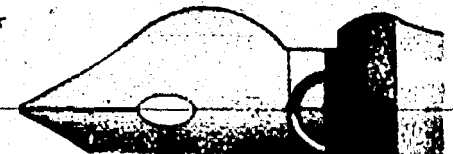

But Mazey said the remand won't change the basic principle established -- that permanently replaced workers are entitled to unemployment benefits.

Mazey said he will continue to concentrate on labor law.

"I get a lot of satisfaction out of representing workers," he said. "Labor law is a changing thing and a fascinating subject."

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

Schools digest...

Let's start with the good: Canton High School has a new principal, Dr. Thomas MacKenzie, an individual who just may be able to help lead Centennial Educational Park (CEP) through the 1990s.

But how prudent was it to send both Errol Goldman, the district's personnel director, and Tom Tattan, Canton's former principal, on an expensive trip to Colorado to check up on a man who appeared very qualified?

It also turns out that Goldman worked with MacKenzie while the latter was with the Ann Arbor Public Schools.

Now that, in and of itself, doesn't mean much, but like board member Carl Battishill, who asked about it, I was curious to hear that the two were acquainted professionally.

Battishill also wondered why MacKenzie would leave Rocky Mountain High School after the semester had already started. There was some talk of his long range goals, his boss in Ft. Collins also leaving, and a strong assistant principal to follow in his footsteps.

Drug free zones have been established around school district buildings raising some interesting questions about dealing with offenders, especially if those offenders are students or staff.

Besides being designed to keep drug traffickers off school grounds, the new plan subjects staff and students to full disciplinary action, termination and expulsion.

There also still remains the question of local law enforcement tactics under the new drug free zones.

Board VP Dave Artley said there were some "real fuzzy areas" in the law. He was interested in hearing how local police will deal with those issues.

Even more puzzling is the suggestion that the "zones" around schools extend 1,000 feet in every direction. If that's the case, then I guess patrons of the Sidestreet come under the Central Middle School "zone."

Board member Barb Graham recently inquired about the "presence" of a set of models illustrating the stages of fetal growth and development and the use of the materials in district instructional programs.

It appears the models were approved way back in 1979-80, though I doubt they're much out-of-date, and were reviewed by the district's health and sex education advisory group. The models are used at CEP in health, "Skills for Living," and biology classes.

Should they be considered audiovisual materials and fall under administrative review every time they are used? Is there a move afoot to file a complaint against the use of the models? What if we just put some clothes on them?

It looks like the school district removed a whole lot of asbestos for no reason. Huh, you say? Well, the good old EPA (Environmental "Propaganda" Agency) recently said that previous asbestos efforts were all unnecessary.

A whole bunch of schools were thus robbed of their asbestos including, Central, West, and East middle schools, Farrand, Allen, and Smith elementary schools, and Starkweather Center.

It cost the district in excess of a half million dollars to comply with previous government decrees. Oh well, you can't look back.

ABC's "20/20" program ran a segment on "Death Education" Friday night, but interviews with Board President Dean Swartzwelder and the Nalepa family were not used.

The well done report looked at several districts where classes are offered on the subject.

Should Canton tip its hat to the Twp. board?

If what Mike Duggan says is true, Canton should tip its hat to Plymouth Township.

"In the 1990s communities will develop around airports," said Duggan. "Proximity to airports, for industry, will be of major importance for (economic) growth."

Duggan, deputy Wayne County executive, made the statement at the Canton Economic Club breakfast Thursday. He spoke to club members about Metro Airport expansion and the new jobs it would create.

The proposed expansion would cost $100 million, according to Duggan. The money would go to create a new parking structure, an introduction of a food control program, a fourth north/south runway and a 50 foot noise barrier for Metro, he said.

The expansion would also mean 20,000 new jobs at the airport, said Duggan. He also predicted it would add $1 billion to the local economy.

The effect of the expansion on The Plymouth-Canton Community would "be very real," Duggan said. He added that an expanded airport would be a major "drawing card" in attracting industry to the area.

Which brings us to Plymouth Township, Canton and Mettetal Airport.

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees voted on Aug. 28 to "act as sponsor" for the purpose of applying for funds "that can be used to acquire the Mettetal Airport property."

They further resolved to turn the airport over to an authority for

One view*

*can be the difference

By Scott Daniel

operation after the purchase. Such an authority could be made up of any number of communities wishing to become involved with the airport.

Sources close to the situation say that an authority could be set up within the next six weeks.

Although Mettetal certainly is no Metro, the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees should be commended for its foresight in trying to save the airport.

The formation of an authority, to run Mettetal, eliminates many risks that that the Canton Board of Trustees were scared of. No risks, including increased taxes, to Plymouth Township, or any other community, now exist.

"If the authority loses money, it goes bankrupt," Township Supervisor Maurice Breen recently said. In that case, he said, the Federal Aviation Administration—and Michigan Aeronautics Commission would take it over.

So, in spite of itself, it appears that Canton will benefit from having an airport. If Mike Duggan is correct, the airport should help Canton to keep expanding its industrial and economic base.

In addition, the township's students will now have a chance to be trained for the aviation industry. Courses in such areas as piloting, avionics and airplane mechanics are being proposed and could provide many more jobs.

A tip of the hat, indeed.

Tax money would support Mettetal

EDITOR:

I have read with concern the statements from Plymouth Township about the purchase of Mettetal Airport. This purchase would indeed be paid for by the local taxpayers. Whether the money is federal, state or township, the taxpayers are the same.

The funding is not by "user fees," it is by taxes (the FAA's own words) of eight per cent on airline tickets, $.14 per gallon on jet fuel and $.12 per gallon on aviation fuel.

Certainly the four to six million dollars which would be spent on this small airport could be better spent (if it must be spent) on improving conditions at the public transportation airports and not on a recreational airport for the benefit of a handful.

You can tell him that "Everyone makes mistakes." You can say: "Don't pay attention to the other kids." You can even let him know he's not stupid. But that won't change the way he feels.

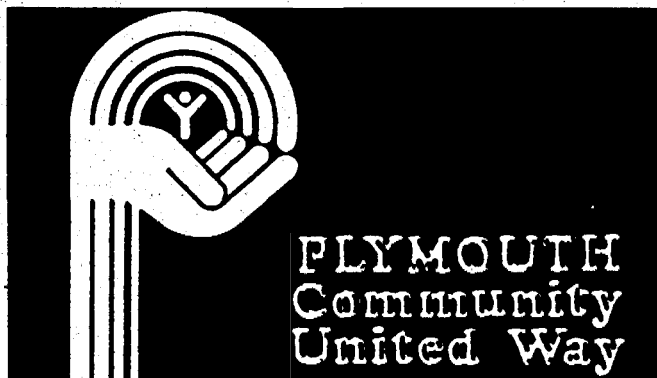

Where do you go when you're different from the other kids?

He's getting help at a center for children with learning disabilities. They got help from the United Way. All because the United Way got help from you.

Your single contribution helps provide day care for the child of a single parent, a reading program for an illiterate adult and a warm coat for a homeless man.

Or, in this case, therapy for a bright, six-year-old boy with a learning disability. He may never be the smartest kid in class. But he just might teach the other kids a lesson in determination.

Thanks to you, it works for all of us.

asked for if Vachher's physical condition improved, the office ruled, but added that a criminal warrant would still likely not be issued.

The Canton police department began its investigation in July after the prosecutor's ruling on the incident. The investigation, which is department policy in a shooting incident, was done to determine if the officers were in violation of department policy.

Clarence Constan, an attorney hired by the Vachher family, had "no comment" Monday on the findings of the investigation.

He also refused to comment on the possibility of the family asking the U.S. Attorney's office to review the case. Constan previously said that Vachher's civil rights may have been violated by police.

Canton police officers Dave Boljesic, Brian Darow and Eddie Tanner were involved in the incident. They were placed on "administrative" (non-disciplinary) leave after the incident and were restored to active duty following the prosecutor's findings in July, Santomauro said.

The incident began at about 1 a.m. on May 21, according to the internal investigation report.

Tanner was stopped by Dr. Prehlad Vachher, father of Paul, at a gas station on the corner of Ford and Canton Center roads. He asked for assistance because his son had chased the family out of their home with a knife.

According to the report, police responded to the home on Bricklan. After arriving police observed Vachher standing near the garage holding "a knife in his right hand and several other knives in his left hand," the report said.

A short time later Vachher allegedly charged Tanner while holding a knife above his head, the report stated. Officers then fired at Vachher, after which he backed up.

Vachher allegedly charged at Tanner again, the report said, and threw a knife. Officers responded by firing at Vachher again.

Vachher retreated into the home and was later taken into custody. According to the report a minimum of 12 rounds were fired at Vachher during the incident.

Canton police wounded Vachher three times. He underwent several operations at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor after the incident and wasn't released until August.

Canton adds command center

BY SCOTT DANIEL

The Canton Public Safety Department just got a little better prepared.

The department recently spent about $2,500 to convert an old ambulance into a mobile command center for emergency situations.

"When you get to a major incident you have to have command people together," said Canton Fire Lt. Don Adams. "Everyone will get the same information now."

"It's kind of a rolling office."

The command center will have three primary uses, Adams said. Major incidents, such as the chemical spill into Willow Creek, accident and fire investigations, will make up the bulk of its usage, he said.

"It could be used two times a week or two times a month," Adams said. "It depends on the misfortunes of what happens in the township."

Conversion of the ambulance started at the beginning of August and took about six weeks to complete, he said. Adams added that minor mechanical problems, such as air conditioning, and re-lettering of the ambulance had to be done to get it ready.

All medical equipment also had to be taken out of the 1986 model vehicle, he said.

"It was an ambulance that was due to go out of service," Adams said. "Instead of trading it in we decided to put some work into it."

The command center will feature two radios and three telephones, he said. Good lighting and several tables will allow for better coordination in emergency situations, Adams added.

"It was a cheap investment," he said, "and a real good thing to have."

Barn volunteers needed

BY SCOTT DANIEL

Attention barn raisers!

The Canton Historic District Commission will be moving three small barns from the Hasselbach farm, located at Van Born and Hannan roads, this weekend, according to chairperson David Artley.

He said the barns will be disassembled, piece by piece, and then taken and stored at the Cherry Hill Historic District. Artley added that the barns will be reassembled on the site next spring.

The commission needs volunteers for the project. Anyone interested in helping can contact David Artley at 459-1352 or Melissa McLaughlin at 495-0304.

Cultural exchange

Plymouth chats with Moscow -- four Plymouth youths met up with a native of Moscow while touring Mackinac Island's Fort Mackinac, a cradle of Americana, recently. They were on the island for a family reunion, and Zhenya Kanikousku, (right) a resident of Beltsy, the Moldavian S.S. Republic, but Moscow-born, is studying business administration at nearby Lake Superior State University. Later, at lunch in the Grand Hotel he found Beef Stroganoff on the menu, said it was very good "but not as good as my mother makes." Court, which declined to hear the case. Mayor Dennis Bila said the commission wants to investigate the case more intensely and "find out exactly what happened."

"We're very concerned about spending any more money on this suit, but we need to know more of what's going on with the history of it," Bila said.

Travel expenses to Sault Ste. Marie to discuss the matter with former City Manager Henry Graper, who was city manager when Talbot sued, are one way the $3,500 may be used, Bila said.

Commissioner Mary Childs voted against the resolution.

Commissioner Ronald Loiselle, who moved the resolution, said it was just a preliminary action.

"We're kind of in an exploratory mode right now to see if there is information to be gathered," he said. "There could be things that we should take a look at," he added, declining to discuss specifics.

The city was not covered under its insurer -- Risk Management -- for any of the judgement in Talbot's favor or the interest that accrued on it, according to William Graham, city finance director. He was also acting city manager when the judgement came down.

Graham also said it was his understanding the city could have settled the matter for $11,000 at one time.

Why Graper chose to move ahead with litigation, and whether or not it was on the advice of the city's attorneys -- Cummings, McCloy, Davis & Aho -- is not clear.

Ronald Lowe, city attorney, said he has been gathering information on the case for some time.

"There's still some questions they (the commission) would like answers to," he said.

City Manager Gordon Jaeger said he was letting the commission take care of the matter entirely.

Vogras knew Plymouth

BY PHILIP TARDANI

After spending a good portion of his life with the City of Plymouth Department of Public Works (DPW), Kenneth Vogras is finding it hard to walk away from his job.

"I've had a lot of good years there," said Vogras, who took an early retirement last week. "You don't work 34 years and just quit."

Vogras, who was director for 24 years, takes with him a wealth of experience concerning the day-to-day operation of a city he came to know as well as himself.

Vogras, 53, was hired by then-DPW director Joe Bida in 1956 and started out working with the sanitation crew on a garbage truck. He left the city in 1965 for about six months, but came back in March of 1966 as DPW director.

It was about a month before his 29th birthday.

"Joe recommended to (then-City Manager) Blodgett to hire me, and I don't regret it since," Vogras said. "It's probably the best thing that ever happened to me."

Over the years, Vogras said, facing problems in the city became second nature.

"If we ever had a broken water main, I didn't need to look at a map," he said. "I could just tell the guys, 'This is the gate you have to shut off.'"

But the job wasn't just seeing that people got water and sewer service and garbage pickup, Vogras said.

"I was supposed to be in charge of maintaining, but it was more than that," he said.

Specifically, Vogras said he enjoyed helping with special events such as the Fall Festival and the Ice Spectacular.

The DPW did all the set up for the events and "whatever it took" to see that they came off well.

"We have 25 special events in town," he said. "It's good for the community to draw people in."

Vogras has seen some key changes since 1956. One came in 1971 when the city closed its well field in Northville Township and switched over to Detroit water.

"At the time I was not in favor of going to Detroit water," he said. "But it proved out to be the best."

Vogras can also remember when the city got its first "vactor" -- a vacuum to clean out sewers -- in the late '60s. He recalls putting it to use in a different situation, however, when a worker at concrete company went into a sand pit and got buried up to his neck.

The fire department tried a rescue but only succeeded in knocking more dirt down.

Vogras said he used the vactor to "suck the dirt from all around him."

"If it hadn't been for the vactor, they would never have gotten him out of there," he said.

There have been disasters, too, such as the 1978 flood of the Tonquish Creek, which inundated the central parking lot.

"We had a five year rain in four hours," Vogras said. "Some lady had her car in the lot and the water was running in one window and out the other."

And there was the 1981 Penniman Avenue theater fire, when DPW workers helped the firemen by holding hoses.

"I never want to go through that again," Vogras said. "I don't think my men should have been involved."

The long-time DPW director has also tried to keep Plymouth "the City of Trees" despite an onslaught of Dutch elm disease that is taking its toll on the city's elm population.

"I think it's important we have a comprehensive tree planting program," he said. "Eventually, the elms are going to go."

Vogras estimates he has planted over 3,500 trees as director, most of them losusts, norweigan maples or crimson kings.

Vogras said he enjoyed working under former City Manager Henry E. Graper, Jr. and credits the often controversial manager for bringing development to the city.

"We got more done in the 10 years Hank was here than any previous city manager, you can include them all," Vogras said.

CANTON TOWNSHIP PLANNING COMMISSION
CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943 of the State of Michigan, as amended, that the Planning Commission of the Charter Township of Canton will hold a Public Hearing on Monday, October 1, 1990, at the Canton Township Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center Road at 7:00 p.m. on the following:

CONSIDER THE ADOPTION OF THE REVISED MASTER LAND USE PLAN AND REVISED MASTER LAND USE PLAN MAP. THE MASTER LAND USE PLAN AND MASTER LAND USE MAP, IF ADOPTED, WOULD AFFECT NUMEROUS PARCELS OF LAND IN AREAS THROUGHOUT THE TOWNSHIP, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, THE FOLLOWING:

1. GENERALLY WEST OF CANTON CENTER ROAD FROM SALTZ ROAD SOUTH TO GEDDES ROAD. THE PROPOSAL IS TO CHANGE THE AGRICULTURAL CLASSIFICATION TO RESIDENTIAL, 2 DWELLING UNITS PER ACRE.
2. GENERALLY SOUTH OF KOPERNICK ROAD SOUTH TO FORD ROAD BETWEEN LILLEY AND HANNAN ROADS. THE PROPOSAL IS TO CHANGE THE LIGHT INDUSTRIAL CLASSIFICATION TO OFFICE/INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH.
3. GENERALLY THE LAND EAST OF I-275 BETWEEN CHERRY HILL ROAD AND MICHIGAN AVENUE. THE PROPOSAL IS TO CHANGE THE RESIDENTIAL 1 DWELLING UNIT PER ACRE CLASSIFICATION TO RESIDENTIAL, 3 DWELLING UNITS PER ACRE.
4. GENERALLY TO CHANGE THE MID-RISE DEVELOPMENT CLASSIFICATION ON EITHER SIDE OF HAGGERTY ROAD BETWEEN PALMER ROAD AND MICHIGAN AVENUE TO OFFICE/INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH.
5. GENERALLY THE LAND SOUTH OF THE LOWER ROUGE RIVER SOUTH TO MICHIGAN AVENUE BETWEEN SHELDON AND LILLEY ROADS. THE PROPOSAL IS TO CHANGE THE CLASSIFICATION FROM RESIDENTIAL AND OFFICE TO OFFICE/INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH.
6. GENERALLY THE LAND SOUTH OF THE LOWER ROUGE RIVER SOUTH TO MICHIGAN AVENUE BETWEEN CANTON CENTER AND SHELDON ROADS. THE PROPOSAL IS TO CHANGE THE RESIDENTIAL CLASSIFICATION FROM 1 DWELLING UNIT PER ACRE TO 3 DWELLING UNITS PER ACRE.
7. GENERALLY THE LAND SOUTH OF BECK ROAD SOUTH TO CHERRY HILL ROAD BETWEEN BECK AND CANTON CENTER ROADS. THE PROPOSAL IS TO CHANGE THE RESIDENTIAL CLASSIFICATION, FROM 1 DWELLING UNIT PER ACRE TO 3 DWELLING UNITS PER ACRE.

For look at future

Schools tap '2010' leaders

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education Monday formally appointed the leadership team to head its "Vision 2010" Blue Ribbon Study Committee.

Co-chairs of the study committees will be Dick Hoerner, Kathleen Keen-McCarthy and Gary Davis.

Heading the three sub-committees will be Jim Gillig, Steve Harper, Jean Tabor ("Vision 2010"); Harold Fischer and Glenn Schroeder ("Existing Facilities"); and Dave Campbell, Rus Murphy and Carey Peters ("New Facilities").

The board also approved the appointment of Norman Stockmeyer as the group's consultant.

Ray Buckman was also tapped by the board to be the school district's "legislative liaison."

The group will look ahead to the district's future physical needs as well as come up with some ideas for preparing students for the 21st Century.

Addenda & errata

Board addition underway

BY KEN VOYLES

Work on an addition to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education and administrative facility is moving ahead.

Last week crews began preparation work for the foundation and "basement" of the addition, making sewer and water connections, according to Ray Hoedel, the school district's associate superintendent for business.

Hoedel said digging work on the basement would begin this week.

"Our goal is to get the building up and a roof on it yet in the next three months," said Hoedel.

The board was expected Monday to award bids for the panel bricking, roof trusses and floor joists systems for the addition and renovation project.

Hoedel said all of the construction bids for the project were "falling into place." He expected all of the bids for work on the project will be awarded by the end of October.

Once the addition exterior is in place, work on the inside of the facility is expected to begin. Hoedel said May 15, 1991 remains the goal to complete the addition project.

Work on the existing board facility is expected to be completed by next July (first floor renovation) and September (second floor renovation).

Apple Fest is coming to OV

With the fall season upon Plymouth-Canton it's time for the annual Old Village Apple Festival held in the City of Plymouth's historic Old Village.

This year the festival is set for Sept. 29-30 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on both days.

The festival will feature street performers, booths offering arts, crafts, antiques and collectibles, food and other refreshments, entertainment and sidewalk sales throughout Old Village.

The festival is centered on Old Village's Liberty Street, a historic area dating to the 1870s and featuring Victorian-era buildings.

For further information about the Apple Festival or Old Village itself call the Old Village Association (sponsors of the event) at 455-7011.

The new Old Village walking map shows shops (numbers) and restaurants. The fest will be held mainly along Division, Liberty, Mill and Spring streets.

Model planes take off

More than 50 pilots and 60-65 model airplanes will be on hand for the annual International Miniature Aircraft Association (IMAA) Chapter 31 "Fall Fly for Fun Phase Out."

The "Phase Out" is being hosted by the local Flying Pilgrims Model Airplane Club and will be held Sept. 29-30 at the Joe Haas Memorial Field in Canton (at Lilley and Van Born roads).

The flying display, to be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days, will feature a wide variety of model airplanes including monoplanes, biplanes, giant size planes, and several jets. Also usually featured are unusual model airplanes, such as a "flying lawnmower."

Nearly 2,000 spectators are expected for the event, said Don Kehoe of the local model airplane group. A concession stand and camping area will also be available during the event.

For further information call Don Kehoe at 397-0410.

Artisans meet in Northville

The Northville Historical Society is hosting the 1990 Tivoli Arts and Crafts Show this weekend (Friday, Sept. 28, and Saturday, Sept. 29).

The two-day event features hundreds of arts and crafts, with artisans coming from all over the state and midwest. It will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

The show is being staged at the Northville Downs Racetrack in the City of Northville (at the corner of Sheldon and Seven Mile roads).

There is a $2 donation to visit the working artists area during the show.

Proceeds from the show will go for the restoration and maintenance of Mill Race Historical Village, an eight building living museum located on Griswold, just north of downtown Northville. The museum is open Sundays from 1-4 p.m.

Canton BPW plans auction

The Canton Business and Professional Women's (BPW) group is hosting its Second Annual Chinese Auction Oct. 6 at the Canton Public Library.

The auction, which begins at 12:30 p.m., is a fundraiser for the group's scholarship fund. A raffle will be drawn also, at 2 p.m.

Tickets are available from Canton BPW members or at the door for $3 per card.

For further information call Joan Bollek at 453-4040.

Woman's club to hold benefit

The Woman's Club of Plymouth is hosting a Benefit Luncheon to support civic projects on Friday, Oct. 5 at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

A reception will begin at noon, followed by lunch at 12:30 p.m.

A fall fashion show is also planned featuring several local businesses.

Tickets for the benefit are $10. For reservations call 453-5178 by Oct. 1.

Ad Advice #10

Your Market Changes

You say your customers know you and for a while at least they'll keep coming in even if you don't promote? That's partly true, but shortsighted. Remember, one out of five Americans moves every year. So there's a steady flow of your customers out of your market, and a corresponding influx of new folks who don't know you at all. Tell them about yourself. Advertise consistently.

$2 billion development to move forward

forward. "We don't really expect any serious differences (with the township)," he said. "Their planners have already looked at our plans."

Huntington Falls plans call for 933 acres of mixed-use development, including residential homes, light industrial facilities and office buildings, as well as a golf course and equestrian facility.

Township Supervisor Georgina Goss said DeMattia will bring his plan to the township board of trustees, who will see if it meets planned unit development criteria.

From there, she said, it goes to the planning commission for site-plan approval.

Rezoning on such a large scale is unprecedented in the township, Goss added.

"It's the first time we've ever done anything like this," she said. "It's exciting."

Huntington Falls -- estimated as a $2 billion development -- would increase the total valuation of the township four-fold.

Susan Heintz, county commissioner representing all of Plymouth and Northville, said the project is a boon to the area.

"I believe this is going to be a wonderful project for the Plymouth-Northville community," she said. "It's not something that either community is going to object to."

The county parcel currently contains many buildings from a training school that was opened in 1926. That facility was closed in the 1970s and its buildings stand vacant, many of them vandalized.

Heintz said the land can now be put to good use.

"It's just sitting idle," she said. "It's all tax-exempt and created a lot of trouble for Northville, with vandalism and fires."

The Huntington Falls proposal beat out bids from all over the nation. It was selected by a seven member review committee from four final bids, with a ranking score of 7,889.

The next closest score, from the Farmington Hills building firm of Holtzman and Silverman, was 5,142.

Getting down to business

Twp. firm pioneers space concept

BY SCOTT DANIEL

A local firm is making an outer space connection.

Concept Analysis Corporation, located in Plymouth Township, is developing a material that may ultimately be used by the U.S. Air Force in the deployment of communications and other types of equipment in space.

"If successful, the material would work like an erector set for space," said Patrick Glance, director of Concept Analysis. "Any structure could be built (with it)."

The firm was recently awarded a Small Business Administration (SBA) grant after being chosen by the U.S. Department of Defense in August for the project. The grant, for some $54,529, was provided from the SBA's Small Business Innovation program.

"It's an honor to get the award because of the competition for government contracts in the small business world," Glance said. "We have a very good track record for getting government contracts."

Patrick Glance, director of Concept Analysis Corporation, said the firm's new technology could make building in space like an erector set. (Crier photo by Robert Richards)

Glance started the firm in the City of Plymouth in October of 1979 and moved it to the township in 1986. Glance added that product development, testing services and engineering software development form the focus of the business.

"Basically, we tell people how strong to make things," he said.

A rendering of a space structure that could be made possible by technology developed by Concept Analysis Corporation of Plymouth Township. The firm began in the City of Plymouth in 1979.

Concept Analysis is studying the feasibility of making a material that would allow for roll-up self deploying space structures. According to Dave Rourk, a research engineer with the firm, the material is a fiber re-enforced thermalplastic.

Essentially, he said, the material would allow structures -- such as communication antennas -- to be rolled up into compact, lighter packages for transportation into space.

Once in space the thermalplastic would be heated by electric current through wiring in the material and would unfold, like the blooming of a flower, into the original configuration of the structure, Rourk said.

He added that theoretically any structure could be put in space with the new technology.

"If you can have a structure that can be already assembled and compacted," Rourk said, "you would be able to deploy many more of them in one shuttle mission."

The concept behind developing the material is known as Plastic Memory Phenomenon (PMP), Rourk said. He added that the firm developed the PMP concept over about a year.

Concept Analysis has already proven through testing that the PMP idea is feasible with thermalplastics, Rourk said.

The next step in developing the concept will be to win another grant from the government, of up to $500,000, he said. Then the firm would be able to test if the concept works in conjunction with actual structures, Rourk said.

"The proposal for phase II funding has already been made," he said. "We hope to find out by early 1991 if we've received it."

According to Rourk, the firm has received about 10 government contracts over the years. He added that the Small Business Development Center at Schoolcraft College helped Concept Analysis get several of the contracts.

"We help small businesses adjust to the unique aspects of dealing with the government," said John Chichester, a procurement specialist with the college. "We help them market themselves to the government."

The biggest part of marketing a small business to the government is steering them to the right agency, he said. Chichester added that the center helps the businesses to be aware of regulations and informs them of contract postings.

"In the case of Concept Analysis we helped them with paperwork," he said. "They were having a little trouble understanding it."

Canton linksters fall

BY RITA DERBIN

The Canton golf team is 4-2 following Monday afternoon's loss to Livonia Stevenson, 224-237. Senior Kevin Holmes shot 46 to lead the Chiefs.

Last week the Canton squad defeated two conference rivals before being rained out on Friday. The Chiefs defeated Livonia Franklin, 227-286, on Wednesday, and on Monday, they defeated Walled Lake Central, 227-257.

In an earlier dual meet, Canton was defeated by Salem, 216-233 on Sept. 13. Prior to that, the Chiefs shot a 158 to defeat Salem (159) and Trenton (167) in a tri-meet.

According to coach Fred Libbing, Holmes has been the most consistent golfer so far this season. The senior has been getting the team low score at the matches, usually a 39 or a score in the low 40s. Junior Jon Paupore has also been getting consistent scores, according to Libbing.

"I expected a little more at the start of the season but we've had injuries and our top golfer the last three years dropped out because of his schedule," said Libbing. "But we have some good young golfers and we only lost two matches so far. We're doing okay."

Netters lose

The Canton girls tennis team lost to Livonia Stevenson, 4-3, on Wednesday in a close meet.

Winning for the Chiefs were two singles Denise Gildo 6-3, 5-7, 6-1; three singles Reetika Aulakh 6-2, 6-1; and four singles Jennifer Davis 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Losing were one singles Leanne Gurchak 6-4, 6-1; one doubles, Lorena Sanford and Gina Fuerst 4-6, 7-6, 6-1; two doubles Dorothy Pao and Pam Reynolds 3-6, 6-2, 6-2; and three doubles Jenny Schafer and Ellen Gaston 6-3, 6-1.

Canton hoopsters win 55-40

BY RITA DERBIN

The Chiefs are off to a fast start.

The Canton girls basketball team is 2-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association following two crossover victories last week.

Three Chiefs scored in double figures on Thursday when the Canton squad defeated Walled Lake Central, 55-40.

Junior Julie Nicastrì led the team with 16 points. Stephanie Gray added 13 and Mary Barna chipped in 12 for the Chiefs. Kelly Holmes also scored nine in the victory.

"We had good balance inside and outside against a very good team," said coach Bob Blohm.

Gray, Holmes and Nicastrì also did a good job on the offensive and defensive glass, according to Blohm.

"(Those three) were getting the offensive and defensive rebounds," said Blohm. "And they were getting the job done on the offense."

Last Tuesday, the Chiefs defeated Farmington, 56-31.

Nicastrì led the Canton squad with 14 points, 12 rebounds and six steals.

"It was a good game for us overall," said Blohm. "The whole team has really stepped up and gained a lot of direction both on the court and in practice. We're playing a lot better basketball now."

Tomorrow night the Chiefs take the first step in defending their Western Division crown when they host Walled Lake Western. Junior varsity begins at 5:30 and the varsity game will start at 7:30 p.m.

Rock linksters drop dual meet to N'ville

BY RITA DERBIN

Northville outshot the Rocks, 216-232, on Monday afternoon to drop the Salem golf team to 3-3 in dual meets this season.

Senior Jason Behnke (42) and junior Brian Botwinski (43) had the low scores for the Rocks against the Mustangs.

Last Wednesday, the Salem squad played well, but was defeated by a very good Farmington club, 207-218.

"We played well," said coach Rick Wilson. "They just have a real fine team. They're the team to beat in the conference."

Top golfer for the Rocks was junior Dave Weaver, who shot a 42. He was followed by junior Brian Botwinski (43), junior Jeff Hopson (45), senior Tom Fennelly (44), senior Jason Behnke (43), and junior Jeff Kotlarczyk (45).

"The team is like I expected. I have good kids who work hard and like the game," said Wilson. "I felt we'd be in the middle of the pack, winning more than we lose, that's where we want to be -- I'm pleased with the team."

"We don't have a superstar but we do have four or five players who turn in pretty solid golf scores," he added. "We don't have someone to carry the team but we get five scores in the low 40s consistently."

Last Monday the Rocks defeated Livonia Franklin, 218-258. Weaver was the Salem medalist, scoring a 40. He was followed by Behnke (43), Hopson (45), Botwinski (45) and Kotlarczyk (45).

Football competition held

The City of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department in cooperation with the Canton Parks and Recreation Department is hosting the annual Punt, Pass, and Kick competition for Plymouth-Canton this Saturday (Sept. 29).

The competition, open to boys and girls ages eight to 13, will be held at Griffin Park in Canton (on the Sheldon Road side).

Registration at Griffin Park begins at 9:30 a.m. with the competition set to start at 10 a.m.

There will be separate events for Canton residents and Plymouth residents. The age classification is as of Nov. 1, 1990.

Top winners in each age division will move on the regional competition later this year.

No cleats or football shoes will be allowed during this weekend's competition; only gym shoes can be worn by the participants.

For further information call the Plymouth Parks and Recreation at 455-6620 or the Canton Parks and Recreation at 397-1000.

Harriers win

BY RITA DERBIN

The Canton boys cross country team defeated Farmington Harrison on Wednesday, 18-36.

The top Chief runners were Mike Ream, Jason Crain, Chris Nelson, Jason Napolitano, Dave Yack, Shawn McNamara and Jim Carnes.

Chiefs charge to victory

Canton quarterback Karl Wukie drives around a Patriot tackler. Canton shutout Livonia Franklin 23-0 Friday night to improve their record to 3-1. Salem also won over the weekend, defeating Farmington 29-2 on Saturday to improve the Rocks' record to 2-2. (Crier photo by Eriq Lukasik)

Rock harriers 'capable of better'

BY RITA DERBIN

The Rocks were up against unfamiliar competition in the Fennville Invitational on Saturday and came away with a second place finish.

Sophomore Stacy Witthoff led the Salem girls cross country team with a seventh place finish in the nine team race.

Grandville won the meet with 57 points and Salem was second with 69 points. Rounding out the top five were Holland (70 points), Lake Forest (90 points) and West Ottawa (90 points).

Witthoff finished first for the Rocks with a time of 21:32. She was followed by teammates junior Beth Turomsha, 12th (22:05); sophomore Corey Gulkewicz, 15th (22:13); freshman Emily Farrell, 20th (22:42); junior captain Jill Czapliski, 23rd (22:52); sophomore Kelly Morante, 25th (23:03) and Marsha Woodburn, 39th (24:04).

"We didn't run particularly well," said coach Mike Krafchak. "The girls are capable of much better."

"We just went there to have fun and race against teams from the other side of the state," he added. "This was a diversion meet before the difficult conference meets coming up."

The Rocks will travel to Farmington tomorrow at 4 p.m. in a key Lakes Division matchup before hosting Livonia Stevenson at Cass Benton next Thursday at 4 p.m. According to Krafchak, Farmington and Stevenson are the teams to beat within the division.

At Carlson invite Salem harriers finish 2nd

BY RITA DERBIN

The Rocks ran a good race but finished second at the Carlson Invitational on Saturday.

Monroe won the 13-team race with 23 points. Salem was second with 75 points and Brighton finished third with 11 points.

Senior co-captain John Thomas was the first Salem runner across the finish line. He was fifth overall with a time of 16:39. Thomas was followed by senior co-captain Mike Patterson, ninth (17:07); junior Steve Boudreau, 19th (17:35); sophomore Derek Cudini, 20th (17:35); senior Andy Hellmers, 22nd (17:47); junior Jayson McDonald, 24th (17:53); and sophomore Matt Erickson, 32nd (18:14).

"It was a soggy course and I'm happy with the times," said coach Geoff Baker, whose top six runners received medals at the invitational, and the seventh runner was only a few seconds off.

"We had six runners under 18 minutes -- that's good no matter what course you're on," he said. "It was a real mental boost for the guys after our slow start."

Baker added that as the team improves and the times fall, the boys are gaining confidence and momentum.

"We're not going to do anything but get better," he said. "And hopefully we'll peak at the right time."

The Salem squad defeated Westland John Glenn on Thursday, 15-50, taking the top seven places in the division dual meet.

Thomas took first place with a time of 16:57. He was followed by teammates Boudreau (17:55), Patterson (17:58), Cudini (17:58), Hellmers (18:01), McDonald (18:46) and Erickson (18:52).

"We went out and ran a tough race," said coach Geoff Baker. "It was nice to get a win after falling on some hard times."

The Rocks are 1-1 in dual meets this season, falling to Canton earlier.

Salem also participated in two invitationals early in the season, finishing 10th at West Bloomfield and eighth at the Holly Invitational.

"We're getting better," said Baker. "Canton and Walled Lake Western are tops in our league but hopefully we'll be right there by the end of the season."

"We're hoping to finish strong like last year," he added.

The Rocks will travel to Farmington tomorrow at 4 p.m. for a Lakes division dual meet.

Canton tracksters win meet

BY RITA DERBIN

The Chiefs were slipping and sliding but still managed to win the Carlson Invitational on Saturday.

Westland John Glenn on Thursday afternoon, 15-49.

The Salem girls took seven of the top eight places on the afternoon to even their dual meet record to 1-1 following an earlier loss to Canton.

Against the Rockets, Witthoff led the Rocks, taking first place with a time of 21:34. The next five places also went to Salem. Gulkewicz was second (21:55); Czapliski, third (22:34); Turomsha, fourth (22:47); Emily Farrell, fifth (22:56); and Morante, sixth (22:59). Freshman Julie Cutting was eighth (24:14) in the meet.

"We beat them soundly, that's nice every once in while," said coach Mike Krafchak. "The girls are doing an excellent job."

This season the Rocks are without a senior in their top seven spots, but Krafchak is impressed with the improvement the young, inexperienced girls are showing.

"The girls are dropping their times incredibly fast," he said. "This is the first year running cross country for most of the girls and they're really doing a good job."

The Canton girls cross country team had four top 10 finishes on the day as they won the eight-team invitational. The Chiefs had 38 points on the day. They were followed by Monroe, Woodhaven, Wyandotte Roosevelt and Ypsilanti rounded out the top five.

Amy Smith was the Chief's top runner, finishing third overall with a time of 20:54. Other top 10 finishers were Kim Gudeth, seventh (21:55); Heather Myer, eighth (21:56); and Lana Boroditch, ninth (21:59). Other Canton finishers were Anne Dibble, 11th (22:03); Carolyn Way, 16th (22:32) and Lara Antczak, 18th (22:39).

"Our strategy was to have Smith run with the front runners and have the others pack run," said coach George Przygodski. "I thought we ran real well considering the course was wet and the grass was high."

The Chiefs improved their dual meet record to 2-0 last Wednesday when they took the top seven spots in a 15-50 romp over Farmington Harrison.

Smith finished first with a time of 22:05. She was followed by teammates Gudeth (22:22), Myer (22:45), Boroditch (23:20), Antczak (23:53), Way (25:07) and Nicole Kozma (25:33).

The Chiefs will host Livonia Franklin at Cass Benton tomorrow. The Western division dual meet will begin at 4 p.m.

Lions win, tie, lose homecoming

Homecoming was just what the Canton Lions Freshmen junior football team needed over the weekend as they defeated the Belleville Cougars, 12-7.

Jordan Jones scored on a three-yard run for the Lions and quarterback Phil Bahrou, took the ball in for another score in the fourth quarter.

The Varsity Lions fought the Cougars to a 6-6 standoff. Andy Bahrou led the offense with a third quarter touchdown and 50 yards rushing.

The Junior Varsity Lions fell, however, 12-7. Bill Styles turned a second quarter interception into the Lions' lone touchdown.

The Lions play again at home on Oct. 21 against the Westland Comets at Central Middle School. Games begin at 1 p.m.

Steelers win, tie, lose

The Plymouth Canton Steelers came away with one win, one tie and one loss over the weekend against the Novi-Northville Colts.

The Freshmen Steelers garnered the lone victory, 12-0, over the Colts. Brent Mellis ran for a 45-yard touchdown and Kevin Salla scored from the seven-yard line.

The Junior Varsity Steelers ended in a 6-6 tie with the Colts. Mike Brannan ran the Steelers lone touchdown from the 30-yard line. The defense held on until the final three minutes before the Colts scored to tie it up.

The Varsity Steelers fell in their contest despite a Lenny Gardner's touchdown.

The Steelers are home this weekend hosting the Ann Arbor East Eagles.

Salem kickers now 10-1

BY RITA DERBIN

Another game, another shutout.

Goalie Derek Olson recorded his ninth shutout, and the Salem soccer squad defeated Northville, 2-0, Monday night to improve their record to 10-1.

Eric Stemmer scored both goals for the Rocks in the first 11 minutes of the game and the defense, which has given up only four goals this season, held on for the shutout. Assisting on Stemmer's goals were Brad Fisch and Joe Nunez.

On Saturday, Andy Cosenza scored four goals and added an assist as the Rocks defeated Dearborn Edsel Ford, 6-0. Nunez and Ryan Fitzpatrick also added goals in the victory. Fisch and Joe Tippman added two assist each, and Todd LaJoy also added an assist in the game.

Saturday the Rocks will host Troy Athens, the team that beat them in the state finals last year, at 1 p.m. at the Centennial Educational Park stadium. Salem will then host Farmington on Monday night at 7 p.m. in a division matchup.

SECOND ANNUAL CORN ROAST

Over 200 people enjoyed the second annual Canton Corn Roast, sponsored by the Canton Big Boy. 40 dozen ears of corn and over 200 hot dogs were consumed by Canton residents and friends of Canton.

The Second Annual Canton Corn Roast, held Sunday, September 23rd at the Recreation Complex, raised $200 for the Canton Senior Citizen Athletic Fund. The money will be donated at the October 2nd Canton Economic Club meeting.

"It is appropriate that we held the Corn Roast on the last weekend of the corn season. Canton was once known as the corn capitol of the State of Michigan," stated Mitch Howard, chairman of the event.

Basem Qandah, co-owner of the Big Boy on Ford Road, stated that he "hopes that this tradition of a Corn Roast continues to grow, because Canton needs to recognize its heritage."

Honorary Chairmen of the event were Township Supervisor Tom Yack and State Representative Jim Kosteva.

We Get Letters

On behalf of the Board of Directors and staff of Growth Works, I extend our sincere appreciation for your donation. This generous contribution will greatly assist us in continuing our programs for the youth in our community. This past year has provided some exciting developments. We've expanded our youth assistance program for our local police departments and juvenile court, broadened the scope of our employment service, and expanded our adolescent drug treatment program to include a step down component. Additionally, we have added a special delinquency prevention component to our youth assistance program.

Stephen G. Harper
President
Board of Directors

ANOTHER CANTON SUCCESS

A Canton success story. 13 years ago Dr. James Bohdan, Optometrist, opened a practice in Canton. This past month he moved his practice to Canton Corners. Since his relocation he has realized a 300% increase in walk-ins, a 400% increase in outside prescriptions and a 40% increase in each patient's purchase.

He held a grand opening of his new location and invited the Canton Community Foundation to cut the ribbon. After the ribbon-cutting ceremony a donation was made to the Foundation. Representing the Foundation was Executive Director Cynthia Burgess and William Joyner.

FRIENDS OF THE CANTON LIBRARY

OCTOBER BOOK SALE - a mini (paperback only) sale is scheduled for October 27th and 28th. Books will be on sale at the great price of 4 for $1.00. Proceeds from this sale will go toward the Sculpture Fund and the purchase of holiday decorations for the Library.

In other Friends of the Library news... plans are under way to have a National Library Week Kick-off Brunch this coming April. It will be on a Sunday and feature three well-known local writers.

Stay tuned for details.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Encore! Encore!
If you missed the Living Will talk at the Canton Library in September, then be sure to attend the Canton Historical Society Meeting when Bruce Patterson and Representative Jim Kosteva will give it again. The meeting is Thursday, October 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Floor Meeting Room of the Township Building. The Public is invited to attend. For more information, please call the Museum (387-0000) or Marta McCabe (463-1827).

SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE ANNOUNCED

Plans are underway for the selection of 1990-91 scholarship recipients. The Canton Community Foundation has earmarked $5,000 for scholarships this year, including a $500 scholarship for a deserving music student, sponsored by First of America.

Applications for scholarships will be available December 1st. To put your name on the list for an application you should call the Foundation office at 454-5427. Names will be collected and applications will be mailed out when available.

Serving on the Scholarship Committee include Susan Kopinski, Mike Gaubatz, Gloria Banks, Tom Taitan, and Joe Van Esley.

Current board member of the Canton Community Foundation, Bruce Patterson, challenged Executive Director William Joyner to a game of basketball at Hoben Elementary School during the past Summer's Challenge Fest. The score? 20 to 0, and 20 to 0... won by Bruce Patterson. In a second series, the team of Bruce and Justin Patterson defeated Bill and Paul Joyner 20 to 8.

The basketball had a better quality later in the day when the Pat Dennis Financial Services One-on-one basketball tournament was held.

Mark your calendar now for the 1991 Challenge Fest... May 24 to June 2.
