Twp. man arraigned on sex charges

BY RANDY COBLE

It's a scenario that gives any parent nightmares.

A Plymouth Township resident was arrested and arraigned last week on charges that he sexually abused a Livonia teenager, and police are investigating the matter to see if more children may have been involved.

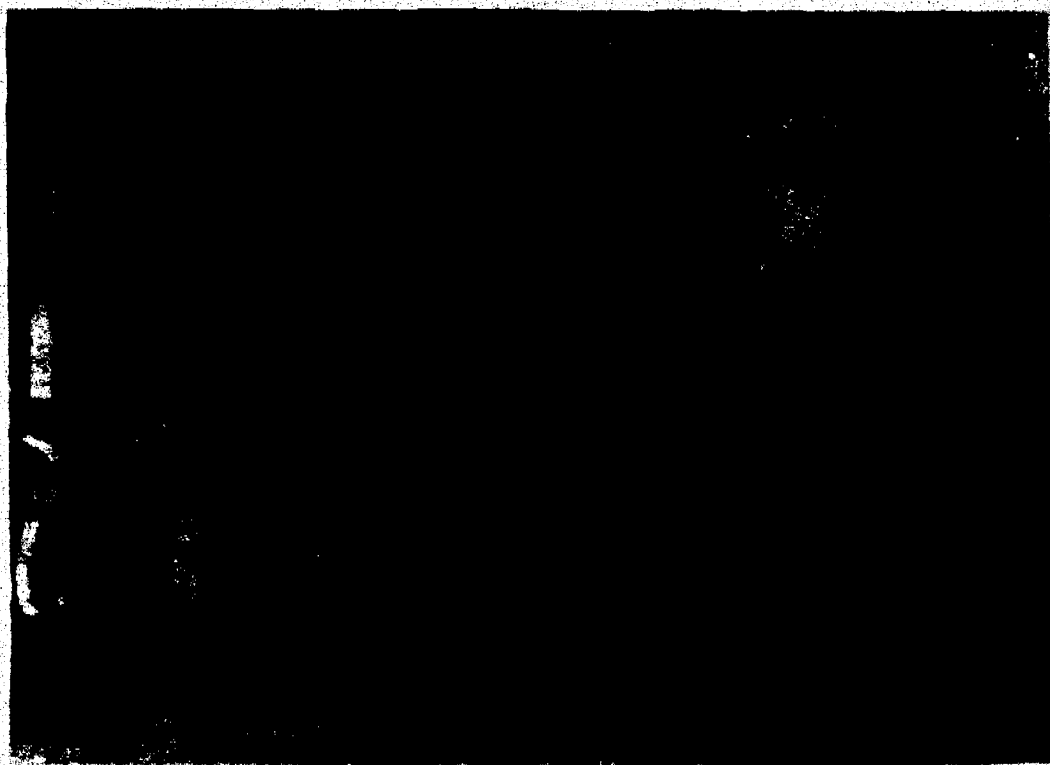

Plymouth Township police department investigator David Hayes said that Carl Richard Tucker, 42, was arrested Thursday at his place of employment in Milford and charged with two counts of criminal sexual conduct (CSC) in the third degree, and one count of CSC in the second degree.

The 16-year-old alleged that Tucker had invited him to his apartment numerous times, and even let him drive his car, Hayes said.

The teenager then told police that Tucker "performed oral sex on the victim, and engaged in masturbation," Hayes said. The activity occurred "approximately 30 to 35 times over the last three years," he said.

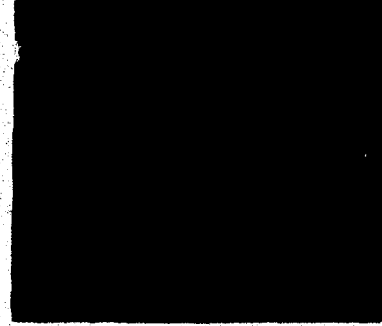

Tucker entered a not guilty plea before 35th District Court Magistrate Eric

Vetter quits school board race

BY RANDY COBLE

A candidate in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education trustee election has decided to call it quits, narrowing the race to fill the two open seats to six candidates.

Tim Vetter, one of five challengers pitted against two incumbents, said last week that he is no longer an active candidate.

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools still need a solid citizen who is informed and cares about the quality of education in our schools. As budget and program reductions are addressed, this task must be done by individuals who can completely anticipate the consequences of such decisions as well as the implications. E. J. McClendon can readily address this concern.

All citizens of the Plymouth-Canton School Community need to vote on June 8. This is a very important election for our schools and our community. We urge you to vote for E. J. McClendon. We need his knowledge and insight to help guide our schools during these times of legislative budgetary changes.

Dr. E. J. McClendon is supportive of quality education, he supports an increased awareness and utilization of educational/instructional technology, improved instructional support, fiscal responsibility, and an increased participation of citizens in program planning for the future.

Vote for Dr. E. J. McClendon on June 8.

Coltharst, Hayes said, and his preliminary exam is set for this Friday, May 29, before Judge James Garber.

"There are some other children that I'm going to speak to on this," Hayes said of his investigation. "We know that there were other kids at his apartment."

At this point, he said, the youths are all Livonia residents, some live in the township.

Hayes said that police learned of the matter when the alleged victim's mother made a report to township police a week ago.

"She found a pornographic videotape in her son's bedroom," Hayes said, "and she had noticed in the past that he had been spending a lot of time at his (Tucker's) apartment."

She also had heard rumors about other kids in the neighborhood going over there, and felt something was going on," he added.

Hayes said he then spoke with the teenager after a staff member at Churchill High School in Livonia, where he

Arrests follow 5-week investigation

BY KEN VOYLES

Further felony warrants were executed this week in the wake of raids on two massage parlors in the City of Plymouth last Tuesday.

Plymouth Police Commander Michael Gardner said Monday that the warrants are being sought against another owner of the Rainbow Spa and the owner of Yong Health Spa.

Last Tuesday's raids on the Plymouth businesses led to the arrest of six women on charges of accosting and soliciting, as well as the owner of the Rainbow Spa for allegedly running a house of prostitution.

The Plymouth raids were just part of a larger operation directed by Plymouth Police and involving police agencies in Canton, West Bloomfield and Dearborn Heights. Besides the two massage parlors police also raided homes in Canton, West Bloomfield and Dearborn Heights.

During the raids police confiscated a large collection of business records, about $21,000 in cash, a stash of condoms hidden in a plunger and other items possibly linking the two businesses to illegal activities, including an assortment of lingerie.

Police did not, however, find any customer lists from the two businesses, said Gardner, who added that no weapons were recovered or large amounts of drugs.

The raids in the city were conducted by city police along with undercover agents from the U.S. Immigration Service, U.S. Border Patrol and Internal Revenue Service (IRS), at 5:30 p.m. last Tuesday. The operation, which went well into Tuesday evening, also involved officers from the Canton Police Department.

Both the Rainbow Spa and Tan Inc., 265 Main Street and the Yong Health Spa, 995 Mill Street in Plymouth's Old Village, had been the targets of an intense undercover operation for the past five weeks, including the use of television surveillance, officers posing as customers and tailing of suspects.

Plymouth officers and those from other agencies took part in the undercover part of the operation.

"Through our undercover operation we discovered many incidents of prostitution," said Gardner.

"We didn't hit a thousand but we did pretty good," said Plymouth Chief Robert Scoggins. "Our investigation showed there was a criminal enterprise going on at these locations.

"Through an undercover operation we developed a sound case and obtained the necessary warrants," Scoggins added. "We have effectively stopped these operations."

Police said they also received information about the businesses through anonymous phone calls from residents.

"At this point we don't know if there is any connection between the two businesses," said Scoggins.

The owner of the Rainbow Spa, Kansas Iwan, 46, was arrested at his Rainbow Spa owner faces 4 felony counts

The 46-year-old man who owned the Rainbow Spa in the City of Plymouth was arraigned last Wednesday on four felony counts before 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald.

home in West Bloomfield during the raid and arraigned in 35th District Court on four felony charges last Wednesday for allegedly operating a house of prostitution.

The two other warrants issued this week had not been executed last week, said Gardner. One of the suspects had apparently fled the country to Korea, he said.

The Rainbow Spa lobby was small. Especially small for six or seven guys.

"Have a juice, but then you have to go," said the hostess, to the patrons on the way out.

"No one will come in with you all sitting here."

Then she turned her attention to us -- the newly arrived patrons.

"Be right with you."

She was back in a flash.

"Do you have a coupon?" Apparently modern marketing had hit the Plymouth massage parlor business.

Yes, I had a coupon from the Detroit Free Press. (Although Rainbow Spa had advertised in The Crier, no coupon was included.)

"You here; you here."

I was in a small room, a plywood table-bed.

A girl came in -- for the sake of this, call her, Momi -- and said take everything off.

She left a towel.

Three minutes later, towel clutched under the entry door, she led me to a large stall shower. As I showered, she wiped me down everywhere. "Momi" toweled me off and led me back to the room.

"Lay down," she commanded.

I kept my towel on as I did it; she took it off.

The message was a great one.

Then, she said, I should give her a massage with her "mighty" still on.

She laid on the table and I rubbed her back.

"Lay down," she said.

ELECTION '92

1 for 4 in elections

Candidate missed votes

BY RANDY COBLE

One candidate in the upcoming Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education election has voted only once in a local school election, despite being eligible to do so since 1988.

James Mills is among the four challengers taking on incumbents Barbara Graham and E.J. McClendon for their two four-year seats on the board.

Mills, 29, is the youngest candidate in the field and has lived in Canton since 1988.

He has been registered to vote in the district since Oct. 21, 1988. Since that time, there have been four schools elections. Mills voted only in the one held June 16 last year.

"I've been watching them all, and the last three elections I've followed very closely," said Mills.

The reason he has not voted in the three elections, Mills added, was that it was often difficult to fully understand candidates and issues.

"Sometimes it's very confusing," he said, "when you try to figure out who stands for what."

Graham, 57, has served on the board since 1988 and is seeking re-election for the first time. A 13-year Plymouth Township resident, she has been registered to vote in the district since Oct. 4, 1979.

Since that time she has voted in 10 of the 20 schools elections, but has not missed casting a ballot in over six years. The last schools election she did not vote in was held June 10, 1985.

Carol Bollman, 48, a Canton resident, is one of the four challengers. She registered to vote Sept. 25, 1979, and has voted in 13 of the 20 schools elections since then. She has not missed voting since the March 22, 1988.

Registered since Oct. 6, 1978, challenger Jack Farrow has voted in 20 of the 22 schools elections since that date. Farrow, 43, has lived in Plymouth since 1978.

Sixteen-year Plymouth Township resident Marilyn Schwinn, 47, has missed only two election votes since she registered to vote in the district on Sept. 28, 1976. There have been 26 local school elections since that time.

Topping the list, however, is current trustee E.J. McClendon.

McClendon, 71, has been on the board since 1972, serving three terms as its president. He has been registered to vote in the district since May 9, 1966. Of the 43 subsequent schools elections, he has voted in all but one race.

Along with selecting among this field of six to fill the two open trustee seats, voters this June will also decide the fate of a millage increase and the district's Schools of Choice plan.

Lawn signs become a battleground in schools race

BY KEN VOYLES

A sign war may be brewing these final weeks of the campaign for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education.

An apparent agreement between the six remaining school board candidates not to use lawn signs during the campaign has led to an unusual situation.

for June 8 when the two four-year seats are contested.

But McClendon said he must have misinterpreted the efforts of Beckman to get candidates to stay away from using lawn signs this year.

McClendon said he misunderstood Beckman's thought he was referring to lawn signs for the I Case group and not to lawn signs for the other candidates.

"I was confused about this," he said. "I thought he meant I Case signs."

impossible. The date for legally withdrawing from the race was April 9.

Vetter said he is now no longer interested in serving on the board.

"My name is on the ballot, but I will not be an active candidate," he said.

District officials said that Vetter had not contacted them about his decision as of last week.

Vetter, 37, is a nine-year Canton resident. He owns Drapery Design Studios in Canton and has two children in district schools.

Vetter said he was concerned over his wife's recent illness, and that prompted his decision.

"I've chosen to withdraw because by wife's recovery has taken a lot longer than we expected," Vetter said, "and all this has been tough on my business too."

Two seats, those of incumbent trustees Barbara Graham and E.J. McClendon, will be up for grabs next month. They have both chosen to run for re-election, and will face challengers Jack Farrow, Carol Bollman, James Mills and Marilyn Schwinn.

Also on the ballot June 8 will be two proposals. Voters will be asked to decide the fate of the district's Schools of Choice plan and a millage increase request.

State law requires every one of Michigan's 565 school districts to come up with an intra-district Schools of Choice plan.

Lansing, however, refuses to fund the program, requiring local districts to do it.

The choice issue has been a controversial one.

Supporters of the idea say it will give parents and students the freedom to attend a school that is more convenient for them to get to or to leave a school if a personality conflict with staff develops.

Opponents of the plan say it has no educational value and could cost the district up to $750,000 per year to pay for transporting choice children to their new schools.

The choice plan was developed by a special committee composed of educators, staff and parents at the behest of the school board.

The board had the option of accepting or rejecting the plan only as the committee presented, and turned it down.

The issue now belongs to district voters. If this plan is rejected, the district will still have to put one in place within two years.

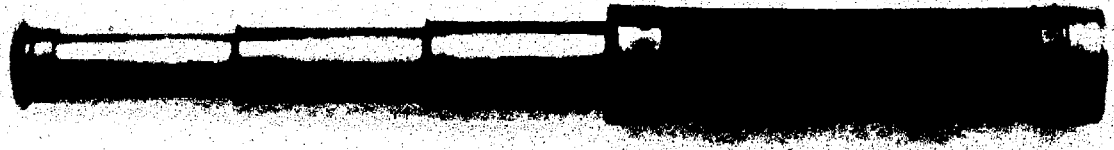

The proposed one-year, 1.5 mills increase request has created controversy in its own right.

The district currently levies 36.15 mills. One mill is equal to $1 for every $1000 of a property's State Equalized Valuation (SEV). SEV is equal to one half of the property's market value.

The owner of a $100,000 home, for example, is assessed an SEV of $50,000 and so pays $1,807.

That same homeowner will pay an additional $75 for one year if the millage passes.

FIRST RATE FUND FOR THE SHORT TERM.

The economy is recovering. But even the experts can't agree on what interest rates will do.

So First of America has two shrewd ways for you to invest. No matter what your strategy:

The long view.

If you think rates will drop or stay flat, you should go with a longer-term investment and get a rate guaranteed to rise every six months over the next two years. The Rising Rate CD.*

It starts at a bonus rate of 5 percent per annum. And you'll end up earning 6½ percent for the final term. You can withdraw part or all of your money in the first ten days of every six-month interval without penalty. All it takes to get started is a $1000 deposit.

The short view.

If you predict rates will keep going up beyond this election year, invest short term with the FirstRate Fund.™

You'll make a bonus return of 5¾ percent per annum from the day you sign up through July 31.

So the sooner you invest the more you'll make. After July 31, the per annum rate is based on the weekly Treasury Bill. So if the T-Bill goes up quickly, you'll continue to benefit from it.

A new deposit of $10,000* is required, and you can get your money seven days after notifying us.

It's a respectable rate of return plus liquidity in these uncertain times.

Of course, your investments are FDIC insured up to $100,000 per depositor. And bonus offers are good through July 31.

Misunderstood no-signs idea

EDITOR:

I am embarrassed and chagrined that my school board campaign committee and I did not understand that there was an agreement among the candidates not to use yard signs this year.

I was told by a citizen that no signs were to be used but I understood he was speaking of some "I Care" activity. Had I known, I would have strongly supported the "no signs" idea.

Four years ago I spent nothing on the campaign and came in second. I am strongly opposed to trying to buy a school election and will certainly spend less than $1,000. My committee discussed at length yard signs versus a campaign flyer and decided signs were more feasible. Last week I learned of the agreement and it is now too late to prepare a brochure and distribute it.

I must publicly apologize to the other candidates and the community for using the signs, but at this date we really feel we have no choice. My committee would much prefer this had never happened. We will seek to avoid violating any sign ordinance and will try to keep them on private property with the property owner's permission to the best of our ability.

Law unjustly targeted

Keep editorials responsible

EDITOR:

Your editorial lambasting Gerald Law is vindictive, back-biting and smacks of yellow journalism.

I question your motives in castigating a man who has already announced that he is retiring from public office after serving the people of the Plymouth-Northville communities so diligently for so many years.

Gerry is a truly a nice guy who happened to back into a buzzsaw (aka the WTUA) that was not of his making.

Decisions relating to the policies, some good, some questionable, of the WTUA commission has tarred

Gerry to the extent that he feels the only course of action left for him is to get out of the way of the unjust "slings and arrows" that unethical (there's that word again) editorial writing you and other malicious writers have loosed upon him.

I would suggest that an "ethics committee" be formed by each publisher to pass judgment on all editorial writing, not to censor it, but to insure that the content of the editorials live up to the high standards of responsible journalism.

ARCHIE C. BUNCH

Stewart probe is a farce

Twp. carrying out personal vendetta

EDITOR:

I just read your story "Stewart Probe Provoking Sair?" in your May 20, 1992 issue. It reads a bit like the defendants in the Nuremberg Trials, challenging a court official for jaywalking.

For the past year or so, the newspapers have been full of stories on cronyism and magnanimous fees being by WTUA and the township to certain individuals and firms closely connected by blood and otherwise to certain township officials.

What is being questioned in this cronyism has to do with the movement of millions of dollars from township residents' wallets to "friends" and relatives of certain township officials, past and present.

Now, one of those officials, Gerald Law, is pointing a finger at a township trustee, John Stewart, by twisting the expression, "Public officials cannot use township property for personal gain or benefit."

Ridiculous!

My wife and I attended the affair mentioned. I spent $10. We both had our fill of pizza, salad and soft drinks. Clearly, Stewart did not achieve "personal tangible gain" from this event. Further, Stewart did not use township property -- it was rented.

Throughout this scenario, it is clear just who are "the pot" and who is the "hustle."

After several years of chicanery, certain township officials are attempting to divert the spotlight from themselves to this minuscule event. Are they not, by these means, using township time and resources to carry out a personal vendetta?

The above is clearly one of the types of farces that is increasingly turning the American public against the ultra-political types in our midst.

Schools signs controversy raises candidate questions

Is the confusion over lawn signs in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education Trustees' race the result of an honest mistake or a deliberate attempt to gain an advantage in the campaign?

Trustee E.J. McClendon, seeking re-election to his four-year seat for the fifth time, said he "misunderstood" when challenger Jack Farrow's campaign manager Ray Buckman contacted him in early April, along with the other candidates, to agree not to have lawn signs printed or distributed touting their campaigns.

McClendon said he thought Buckman referred only to "I Care" campaign signs, and not to ones for candidates, and so had about 50 personal signs printed.

But how could that be? At that time, there was no "I Care" campaign, and with no millage proposal yet on the ballot, how could McClendon think that this organization would put up signs?

The campaign manager and the veteran school board member can't agree on what occurred? What does that say about their judgment?

The entire incident should raise questions in the minds of parents and voters.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Hail to the Chiefs!

Good luck to the Canton girls' soccer team tonight in their regional tournament game! They continue a proud tradition of athletic excellence in Plymouth-Canton. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

Since you asked . . .

by Randy Coble

What do Alexander the Great, Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Charlemagne, Gerald Ford, Pablo Picasso, Michelangelo, Harry Truman, Raphael, Benjamin Franklin, Charlie Brown, half the Beatles (Paul and Ringo), Leonardo da Vinci, the entire editorial staff of The Crier and about 11 per cent of the Plymouth-Canton Community have in common?

We're all southpaws.

Yes, we are the unrecognized, unappreciated, unloved and unremembered. As fellow lefty Plymouth City Manager Steven Walters put it, we're the minority left behind.

If you of the opposite persuasion are out in left field on this, just look around.

Left handed people make up more than one tenth of the population, and yet we are "trapped in a right-handed society," as Walters said.

This leads to "Southpaw Syndrome," which for example could account for our making up almost one half of remedial reading courses in schools.

Could it affect our health as well? Recent medical studies have speculated that left handers have a physiological condition which leads to higher rates of suicide, alcoholism, drug abuse and a reduction in life span of five to 10 years.

Despite all this, Walters noted that we don't have a lobbying group in Washington, or even a federal anti-discrimination statute.

And it's a shame, because everything is designed to work for righties and against our natural inclinations: saxophones, peanut butter jar tops, bottle caps, scissors, power tools, firearms, jet planes -- even our language leaves us out in the cold.

Dexterous, meaning skillful in the use of the hands or mind, comes from dexterus, the Latin term for right. The Latin word for left is sinisterus, which in English connotes an evil or ominous motive. Gauche, meaning tackless or socially bereft, comes from the French word for left.

A left-handed compliment would be to tell someone he has two left feet.

Left handers' writing is about as decipherable as an arthritic doctor's signature, because we operate in this right-handed system. "No one is proposing to teach messy penmanship as an alternative means of communication," Walters noted.

What ever happened to rights for lefts, he asked?

But take heart -- things can be better.

Think back to good old days of equality during the Neanderthal age. They invented purely ambidextrous tools: hammers, saws, axes, pails, knives, cups and so on.

Look at writing, then or now.

In their hieroglyphic system, the Egyptians wrote every which way: up, down, left or right as they wanted.

So what should the southpaws of Plymouth-Canton do to gain our rights, so to speak?

Do what James DeKay, author of The Left-Handed Book, from which many of these facts were taken, said: become a leftist.

"Be it resolved that all left-thinking citizens, mindful that their birthrights have been denied them, shall henceforth stand up for their lefts," he wrote.

Write, eat, drive, work and play in a militantly left-handed manner. To hell with the right-handed majority!

It's time to raise our hands (and don't forget which ones) along with our voices, and shout what John Jackson, founder of the Ambidextral Cultural Society, said: "justice and equality for the left hand!"

The revolution cometh!

Volunteer appointments: who's worthy?

EDITOR:

I am pleased to read that Dennis Campbell was able to discern that the persons who support Kathleen Keen McCarthy for supervisor are not members of Maurice Breen's committees or commissions.

Campbell was appointed to the planning commission by Breen and has actively campaigned for him in the past.

Secondly, there are those of us who were recommended by trustees for appointment to a committee or commission, but told Breen at a public meeting, "no never, never ever will I appoint them!"

Lastly, did Campbell mean to infer that the several hundreds of volunteers in the community who do not serve on Plymouth Township's committee or commissions are worthy?

Are Breen's appointees (and now Gerald Law's) the appointed ones?

Amazing!

CEP students organize AIDS assembly for seniors

BY ROBERT PARKER

"AIDS isn't a game you want to play." So the verse goes from a radio public service announcement warning about Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

For the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Executive Forum, a group of dedicated juniors at Canton and Salem high schools, the "game" of educating students about AIDS is serious business.

As a gift to this year's graduating seniors, the group will present an AIDS Assembly Program aimed at providing seniors with current information about the disease Thursday (May 28).

The assembly will feature HIV positive and AIDS infected guest speakers as well as speeches from AIDS experts from Midwest AIDS Prevention and the Association for Aids Education and Prevention (AAEP). Although the assembly is open only to seniors this year, student Katie O'Rourke, who will help introduce and conclude the assembly, said the group's plan is to eventually include the entire school in future programs.

"We were revolving around the basic idea that we wanted it open to the senior class," she said. "Eventually we want everyone to attend."

Dan Riggs, CEP teacher and sponsor of the Executive Forum, said the program will be forthright and direct on how it provides information about how AIDS is transmitted and prevention techniques.

John Vincent, who is co-founder of AAEP and has been HIV positive for seven years, is scheduled to speak at the assembly.

"I've been living with the syndrome for the last seven years, and I'm still okay," he said. "I'm going to basically talk about myself and how I've dealt with the disease. I think it gives them a better idea when they actually meet someone who has it."

According to Kevin Hileman, a program consultant for the Midwest AIDS prevention program and a teacher at the Bentley Center in Livonia, there are approximately 1,500 teens that have tested HIV positive in Michigan.

"We don't go up and preach to the students," Hileman said. "We relate to their own experiences."

Hileman stressed the importance of students taking responsibility for their own actions. "Decisions they make now will affect them later on in life," he said. "Students need to be responsible for their own lives. They have to be able to look into the mirror and say that was my fault."

"With AIDS, later on the consequences could be deadly." Hileman said his organization plans to participate in more than 500 programs this year, 100 more than 1991.

According to Canton High School Principal Thomas MacKenzie, Executive Forum students Colleen Baker, Todd Price, Blaine Schaefer, Laura Packard, Susan Brochery, Erika Swegles and O'Rourke were the key to organizing the program.

"They really were the prime force," he said. According to Riggs, students attending will need to have a signed parent permission slip to receive a ticket to the assembly.

Immaculate Conception Circle

Local group supports NY apparitions

BY ROBERT PARKER

The end is near.

The phrase evokes some common images -- Revelations in the Bible, someone wandering the streets preaching Armageddon, even nuclear destruction.

But for many, there is a much deeper meaning in this powerful combination of words, something so powerful that it has changed their lives and made them believe.

Veronica Lucken, commonly known as the seer of Bayside, is one of those "somethings." Her following includes people in all walks of life and from all over the country, including Plymouth-Canton.

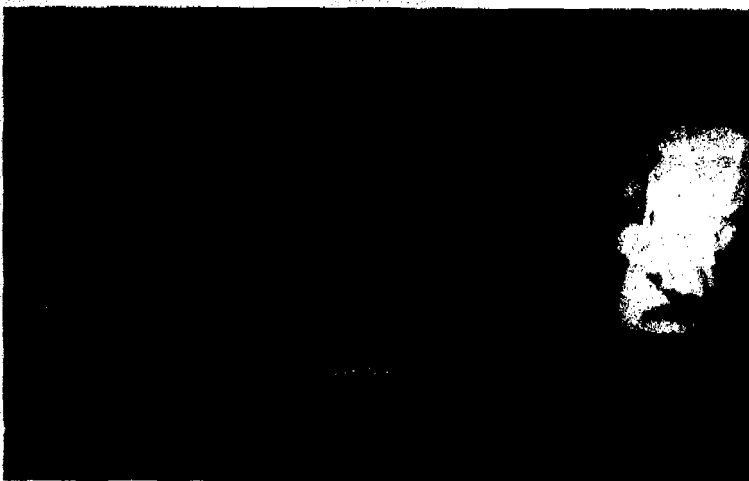

Lucken, in her late sixties, lives on Long Island, in New York. Since 1970 she has claimed to regularly come into contact with and receive messages from the Virgin Mary and Jesus Christ.

Many of the messages were about the coming Chastisement, or end of the world as it now exists, according to Lucken.

The faithful, curious and sick have sojourned to Bayside, NY, the place where Lucken said she was told by the Virgin Mary the world would appear, since the 1970s.

The encounters have apparently been recorded on tape and film by people who visit Lucken and attend the vigils that are held there. They claim images of the Virgin Mary, Jesus, and other phenomena have inexplicably been showing up on the film, and have been named the "Bayside Apparitions."

The Immaculate Conception Circle (ICC), based in Plymouth, is one of hundreds of groups promoting the "Bayside Apparitions."

Local resident Richard Seaman, president of ICC, promotes what his group claims to be apparitions of the Virgin Mary in Bayside, NY. (Crier photo by Ken Voytas)

ICC president, Richard Seaman, 59, said he became an immediate believer.

"I got a message about the apparitions on my door in 1980," he said. "What it told me, reminded me about what I had learned as a youth. I grasped it almost immediately."

Seaman's 10-member group has been meeting weekly in Detroit for more than 11 years to promote the Bayside messages, and they make annual trips to Bayside to visit the site.

Among other methods of promotion, the group has a radio program and a show on local cable television.

Seaman, a resident of Plymouth Township, said that it is very important for the messages to be spread throughout the world.

"The (Virgin Mary) is talking as through Veronica that God wants us to repent through sacrifices and penance for the sins of the world," Seaman said. "Nothing is supposed to take place until the whole world knows."

Seaman, a bank manager in Plymouth, who attends the Divine Savior Church, in Wheatland, said that he was concerned about how the community would react to such a controversial topic.

"I was worried at first, but I realized this is something I must do," he said.

Although Seaman speaks with local priests and pastors about the situation, the Catholic Church investigated and condemned the "Bayside Apparitions" in 1974.

The Pittsburg Center for Peace, a group dedicated to spreading the messages of visionaries who apparently see and speak with apparitions, has recently compiled a two part series outlining the appearance of apparitions of The Virgin Mary throughout the world.

The group describes the appearance of apparitions in Puerto Rico, Arizona, Italy, Syria and the Ukraine as well as other places worldwide.

According to the group, apparitions are intended to manifest the hidden presence of God, convert hearts, renew community life, reawaken and stimulate faith and renew hope and dynamism in the Church.

Sister Agnes McCormick, a Marian resource manager for the Pittsburg Center, said the "Bayside Apparitions" have been deemed, "not at all worthy of belief by the Catholic Church."

Seaman said he understands some people will never believe what he is promoting.

"It's hard to accept something you can't see," he said. "We have to go on the basis of what Christ told the Apostles -- 'dust off your feet, turn around and leave.'"

Seaman said his next trip to New York is scheduled for June 18, and that 70 people, from Lowell to Grand Rapids, are signed up to attend.

Tell it to Phyllis

By Phyllis Redferh

Having a biopsy can be a bit unnerving. While it isn't the most painful thing I've ever endured, it doesn't make it on my list of most fun things to do. The only real hard part of having a biopsy is waiting for the results.

A little over a year ago I had a benign lump removed from my breast. This year when I had a similar biopsy in the other breast, I assumed it would be much the same. When the doctor said, "I have some good news and some bad news -- the good news is it's in the beginning stages."

In the past couple of weeks I have read a lot about breast cancer and the different kinds of treatment. I have talked to many doctors and to women who have had breast cancer, and I've learned the doctor was right -- beginning stages is good news.

Most people react to cancer with fear, but once you learn more about it, it isn't nearly so scary. It is a disease that can be fatal, but if diagnosed early and treated, it is curable. I don't think I've talked to anyone in the last few weeks who didn't know someone who has had breast cancer. That in itself tells you how common the disease is. Newspapers and magazines are filled with articles on new treatment.

After talking to different doctors and doing some research, I decided on breast surgery with radiation therapy. I understand why some women opt for a mastectomy and I talked to a doctor who does different kinds of breast reconstruction, but as long as I had a choice I preferred not to have a mastectomy.

Once my choice was made, my next goal was to educate my family and friends. It is amazing the reactions people have when they find out you have cancer. Some people practically run the other way when they see you and I want to yell, "It's okay, I'm not contagious." Some people don't know what to say or how to say it, but that goes both ways -- I'm comfortable talking about it, but I don't want to dump my health problems on everyone.

My family and friends show more concern about my breast cancer than I do. Sometimes I think it takes all my energy trying to convince the world that this is a treatable disease. I don't plan to be an invalid for the rest of my life and I do plan to live a long, healthy life.

I admit I was taken back a bit when the doctor said six to eight weeks off work. For some reason that made the situation more serious than anything else. However, once we settled on the month of June off followed by a few weeks of part time work the idea started sounding better.

While some people look at this as something terrible, I feel positive about the situation because the cancer was discovered early and can be treated. It isn't life threatening and it isn't threatening my life style. In a few months no one will ever know I had breast cancer.

If it wasn't for a mammogram, my cancer would have gone undetected for some time. Needless to say I strongly urge every woman 35 to 40 and over to get a yearly mammogram. Don't put it off, it only takes a few minutes (and can save several years).

This column is scheduled to be published the day I have surgery. After I'm finished with therapy I plan to write a follow up column. If everything goes as easy as it appears from before surgery and treatment, we need to do more to educate the world so people are more informed and less worried.

Breast cancer is a way of life not a way of death.

Twp. approves woods parking plan

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees Planning Commission has approved a conceptual plan for a new parking lot next to Miller Woods.

The commission okayed the idea last Wednesday, said Shirley Barney, the township's director of community development.

Barney said the parking lot, which will be built at the expense of the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation, will be located west of the unique climax-beech woods along Powell Road.

Barney said the lot will be a gravel parking space, but, Barney added, the plan calls for ultimately paving it.

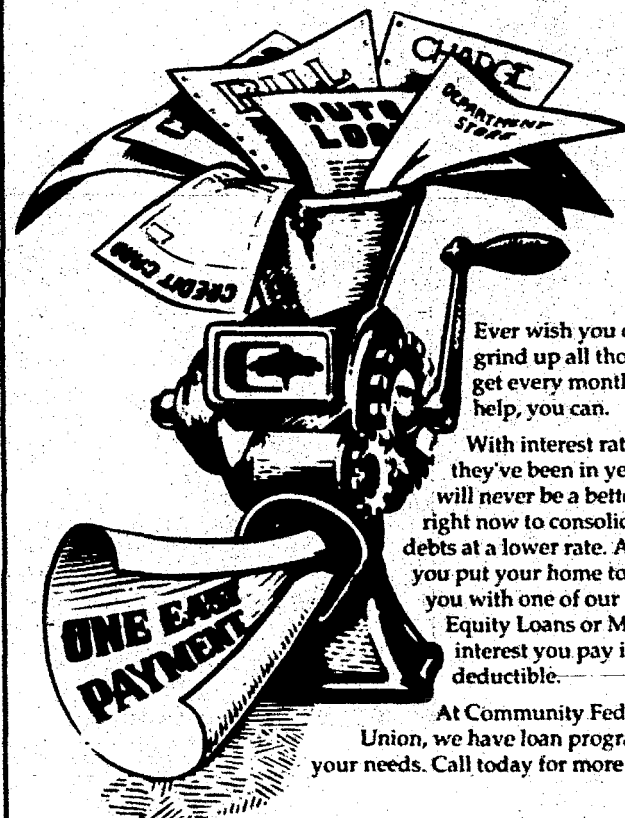

With last week's approval only a few final technical details need to be worked out, said Barney, before construction begins.

The parking lot plan was first suggested earlier this year.

The Kiwanis group has also approached the township and the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools about constructing a fence around the Miller Woods site to help protect it from vandalism.

Twp. ethics board to meet Thursday

By RANDY COBLE

Plymouth Township Board of Trustees member and township supervisor candidate John Stewart will face the township's board of ethics Thursday (May 28) at 6 p.m. in Township Hall.

Stewart will hear charges that he violated the township's ethics policy by holding an alleged political fundraiser on township property.

Stewart will square off against Kathleen Keen McCarthy, Stephen Boak and township Chief Building Official Charles McIlargey in the Republican supervisor primary Aug. 4.

The winner of the primary will likely take the general election Nov. 3, since no Democrat will be on the ballot.

Current Supervisor Gerald Law, who recently decided not to run for the post to which he was appointed last year, asked the board of trustees at its May 12 meeting to convene the board of ethics to deal with the allegations.

Under the ethics policy passed in 1989 the ethics group consists of the board of trustees itself.

The board can at most censure a trustee if it finds that unethical conduct has taken place, Trustee Ron Griffith said.

Both Law and Stewart voted to adopt the policy three years ago, and this is the first time the board of ethics has been convened.

Law said that he had received complaints that Stewart on May 8 held a campaign fundraiser at the township park's pavilion, which if true, he said, would be a violation of the ethics policy. The policy states that public officials can use township personnel, resources or property "for personal gain or benefit."

Stewart and his campaign advisor Robert Zaetta, who rented the pavilion for the event, said that what took place was a birthday party for Stewart. About 125 people attended the event, Zaetta said, and paid $10 per couple and $15 per family.

The money was intended to offset the cost of the all-you-can-eat pizza and soft drinks party, he said, so "it was hardly a money-maker."

"The emphasis was on fun, not on funds," Zaetta said.

Zaetta and his wife Shirley have retained a lawyer to investigate the possibility a defamation lawsuit against the township in connection with the event, he said. Stewart has said that his joining the suit was a possibility.

Law said that "due process is necessary here. The board (May 28) will receive information about complaints and write a letter to Mr. Stewart detailing them."

Law said that the entire process "could take two meetings, maybe three. This could go for a month. You can't jam it into one meeting," in order to ensure the investigation is fair and complete.

Law indicated that Stewart will be given the opportunity to respond fully to the allegations "at the appropriate time," including questioning any witnesses the ethics board may call.

Canton Place expansion considered

The stock of senior citizen housing in Canton may soon expand.

The Canton Board of Trustees was expected to approve a plan last night selling a one-acre parcel of land east of the current Canton Place seniors facility for the possible expansion of senior housing available in the township.

The land will be sold to National Church Residences (NCR), owner and operator of Canton Place, in the form of a gift, said Canton officials. At the same time Canton wants the NCR to agree to involve the township in the site plan review as well as in the exterior design of the new facility.

According to Canton officials, HUD has authorized a limited number of new senior housing units for Michigan.

NCR officials have told Canton that the township can justify additional units in light of a lengthy waiting list of seniors trying to get in Canton Place. They requested the township support the effort to expand the senior housing stock through HUD by selling NCR the one-acre site, which is located east of Canton Place.

Ginnie Hauck, manager of Canton Place, asked the board in a May 21 letter whether or not the piece of property adjacent to Canton place could be used for building "this much needed housing" for senior citizens.

Independents have to July 16 to get on ballot

BY KEN VOYLES

Residents in Plymouth-Canton who wish to get on local or state ballots for the general election in November can still do so as long as they run as an independent candidate.

Local clerks in Plymouth and Canton said last week that residents who might still want to be on the ballot have until 4 p.m. July 16 to file as independents.

The filing deadline in local, county and state races for Democrats and Republicans passed May 12.

Loren Bennett, Canton's clerk, said last week that potential independent candidates could circulate non-partisan petitions to win a spot on the November ballot. The candidates would not, however, take part in the Aug. 4 primaries involving Democrats and Republicans.

"I've never seen this used on a local level," said Bennett. "But we did have one individual call and inquire into circulating petitions as an independent trustee candidate."

Bennett said independents filing by July 16 need to collect more signatures on their petitions since it is based on a higher percentage of the voter total in the last election than candidates filing as Democrats or Republicans.

No one in Canton had pulled petitions as independents, said Bennett.

City mulls landfill proposals

BY ROBERT PARKER

Winning at the sight of expensive bid proposals to close the old Salem Landfill, the City of Plymouth has dug up a way of reducing the cost.

"The landfill was closed in the manner the DNR (Department of Natural Resources) required at the time," City Manager Steven Walters said. "But there have been some retroactive raising of standards."

The DNR (Department of Natural Resources) has required the city to add a two-foot layer of clay over the site to reduce rain penetration, and to test the water in the ground below the level of the landfill for any pollutants. The project is scheduled to be complete by November 1.

It was the issue of clay that raised the city's concern.

"We were taken back about how expensive the clay component of the project was," Walters said.

The city had a ballpark figure based on the cost of a project to remove clay from I-696 to close the landfill a few years ago, which was abandoned.

The current proposals are about two to three times that amount, Walters said.

The city has located a new source of clay in Salem Township, much closer to the landfill.

The city is currently negotiating with a developer, who is subdividing property in Salem Township, to remove clay from that property at no charge.

"In a week or two, we will have a contractual agreement with the developer to take clay from the site," Walters said.

By doing this, Walters said the hauling distance to the landfill will be reduced by 75 per cent, which represents about 130,000 trucking miles.

The city commission agreed at its meeting last week to seek alternative proposals from the original eight bidders based on the promise that the city controls the clay source.

The new bid, according to Walters, will differ only in the cost of hauling the clay to the landfill, which involves 3,600 truck loads of clay.

Line up for the 4th

It's almost that time again. The Plymouth-Canton Jaycees, in preparation for the 1992 Plymouth Fourth of July Parade, are looking for organizations interested in being in the parade.

The parade will feature retiring U.S. Congressman Carl Pursell as the grand marshall. (Fireworks are also in the works this year.)

Participation in the parade, which is scheduled for Saturday, July 4 at 1 p.m., is free of cost and is open to all community groups.

Call Scott Kappler at 464-4500 for more information.

Quilt exhibit at museum

Quilting enthusiasts won't want to miss the new exhibition on the art of quilt making at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

The exhibit runs through July 5 and features the talents of Michigan Quilter Gwen Marston and 70 of her miniature quilts. Marston is a professional quilt maker, author and teacher, and her second book on the subject of quilting is due for release this year. She has collaborated with Joe Cunningham on the publication of seven books and eight videos about quilt making and has been a regular columnist for Ladies Circle Patchwork Quilts for seven years.

In addition to the small quilts, the museum is also displaying its collection of antique quilts featuring many patchwork, applique and crazy quilt designs dating from 1840-1940.

Marston will be teaching a workshop and giving a lecture on her quilts June 20. The workshop is from 9 a.m. to noon, and the lecture is at 2 p.m. The cost is $25.

Call the museum at 455-8940 for reservations for the workshop. The cost of the lecture is $2 and can be paid at the door.

Flag day

In an effort to give residents a history of the American flag — past, present and future — members of the Plymouth Elks (BPOE 1780) will hold their fifth annual Flag Day ceremony June 14 from 2-4 p.m.

The ceremony, which will take place in the City of Plymouth's Kellogg Park, features a patriotic address and honors to Old Glory.

Members of the Plymouth Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) will act as color bearers, and pomp and circumstance will be provided by the Plymouth Fire and Drum Corps.

Places to be

Pioneer recreates history

Get a taste of the past and visit the Pioneer Village at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth Township.

Stroll into America's past during the special event featuring exhibits and demonstrations by American history students this Friday (May 29) from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The event will also feature the Pionside Heritage Crafters, a craft group from Manchester.

Those interested should stop by the north lawn of Pioneer Middle School along Ann Arbor Road.

YMCA run slated June 21

The Plymouth Community Family YMCA's 13th Annual Run is scheduled for Father's Day, Sunday, June 21 this year.

Runners of all ages are invited to join in the racing.

The day begins at 7:30 a.m. when there will be a junior jog for six to eight year olds, while at 7:45 a.m., a hot trot is planned for those to five year olds.

Then at 8 a.m., a one-mile run/walk will begin. There is also five kilometer event planned to start at 8:15 a.m., while the main event, the 10-kilometer race, kicks off at 8:45 a.m.

Call the Plymouth YMCA at 453-2904 for registration or for volunteer information.

Take time out with guild

After a six week acting workshop for its members, the Plymouth Theatre Guild (PTG) will present, "Time Out", an evening of monologues from various dramas and comedies June 6 at 8 p.m. in the Water Tower Theatre, located at outside grounds of Northville Regional Hospital.

Directors Francine Hachem and Sally Debats and their assistant Kathleen Lietz said that "Time Out" is an enjoyable, fascinating and unusual slice of theatre.

The show is a benefit performance from which the proceeds will go towards the purchase of new black curtains for the PTG stage. Suggested donation is $3 and tickets may be purchased at the door.

For more information call the PTG at 349-7110.

TAG classes set this summer

Summer art classes, aimed at providing challenging learning opportunities for students ages 9-14 in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, are being offered through the Talent and Gifted Art Program.

The program targets students who have demonstrated a skill in art and who are self motivated to explore art concepts. Students will learn about artists, famous works of art and art work of various cultures.

The three week classes will be held for two sessions, running from June 22 to July 10 and July 13-31. Classes will be held from 8:30-10:30 a.m. for ages 9-11 and 10:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. for ages 12-14 at East Middle School in Plymouth.

The deadline for registration is Friday, May 29, and application forms are available at all elementary school buildings.

League plans lunch

The Plymouth Symphony League Annual Meeting and Spring Luncheon will be held at the Mayflower Hotel on Monday, June 1.

Throughout the past year, the 140-member league has presented checks totaling $25,000 to Symphony Conductors Russell Reed.

Projects in 1991-92 included the home tour, flower sale, fall and winter antique show, an anti-fishing show, bookplate sale, Christmas Ball, card party, Festivity Fests and group meetings and sales.

The slate of officers for the 1992-93 is Jill Litwin, president; Bill Scyba, vice president; Leanna Vail, secretary; Avis Kaye, treasurer; Judy Lane, publicity; Judy Shagan, membership; Nancy Tibbitt, membership; Orlene... Volunteer representatives and Sharon Davy and Colleen Brown, fundraising.

The meeting will begin at 11 a.m. and the luncheon will be served from 12:30 to 2:00 p.m.

For more information or reservations call the Plymouth Symphony League at 455-5282 or 455-3323.

The six women arrested on prostitution charges ranged in age from the mid-20s to 47 years old. Police said three women were arrested at each of the two businesses. They were released last week on $100 bond and face a June 9 arraignment in 35th District Court.

Three of the women were also cited by U.S. Immigration for not having the proper green cards. Police said all six claimed not to be illegal aliens.

Gardner said police are still investigating the citizenship of the women, all of whom are of Asian descent, but it appears none are illegal aliens.

Police also ticketed a 38-year-old man in Yong's at the time of the raid under the city's disorderly conduct ordinance which makes it an offense to frequent a building being used for an illegal occupation. No other customers were arrested during the raids.

"We knew pretty much when customers were coming and going from our surveillance," said Gardner. "But we did not go in when we did based on how many customers might be there."

Besides the money, condoms and business records, Gardner said, "We found articles of clothing not associated with a legitimate massage enterprise."

The IRS, he added, is in the process of an inventory of all the assets seized. During the raids police and city DPW workers hauled away the entire contents of the two businesses.

"We seized so much stuff we're still wading through it," said Scoggins.

One Plymouth officer, during the raid itself, said, "We're taking the place apart right down to the nails."

Gardner said police also discovered a photograph of the city commission -- taken from the current city calendar -- pinned up on a back wall at the Rainbow

Spa owner Kazuo Iwata facing arraignment with his lawyer last Wednesday in 35th District Court.

Spa. Gardner said the significance of the page from the calendar was unclear.

Scoggins said the multi-jurisdictional operation could not have happened without the support and advice from the Dearborn Heights Police as well as the other agencies. The Wayne County Prosecutor helped the city obtain search and arrest warrants, which were signed by 35th District Court judges.

Police said the "intense" part of the undercover operation began about four or five weeks ago, but the entire investigation had gone on much longer.

Rainbow Spa has been open in the city for almost two years, said police, while the Yong Health Spa opened last year.

"From my perspective any time we feel we have a criminal enterprise operating in the city we're committed to take a strong stance to stop it," Scoggins said. "I'm proud of our department. This was a very complicated arrest. It required a tremendous amount of cooperation."

This is the first such raid in the city that both Scoggins and Gardener were aware of.

Prior to the raids members of the city commission was also apprised of the investigation. On the day of the operation police, fire and DPW units met in the city commission chambers to discuss strategy.

Police had also met with members of The Crier staff before the raids and requested the newspaper delay publishing any information about its own investigation until the raids were underway. The Crier had received complaints about activity at the two health spas from several anonymous sources.

At the time The Crier agreed to temporarily withhold the related story published here.

What happened at the spa?

"Roll over.

"Are you a policeman?"

"NO," I laughed.

"No, are you really a policeman?"

"No, I'm not."

As I said that, I thought she'd probably be madder to find out the newspaper had set me up to do this.

Then she asked if I "wanted anything else."

"Like what?"

"Show me," she said.

I moved her hands to my groin.

"How much tip," she asked.

I didn't know the appropriate tipping schedule for what was thus far a $40 massage.

I ventured, "$20."

It was enough.

What happened then surely broke the law(s).

When it was over, she thanked me. I thanked her.

I got out earlier than my friend. I waited in the small lobby.

This time, a man sat across the desk. "Want a juice?"

He then repeated the earlier line to move out quickly so other guys will come in.

I was just about to leave when my friend came out. He skipped the juice.

We went to the bar for a beer and to swap stories.

They were stories that, we assumed, would not make the good citizens of Plymouth very happy.

prostitution.

Released from Wayne County Jail Friday on a $20,000 bond Iwata was arrested at his home in West Bloomfield, but Plymouth Police said he told them he was a resident of California and not Michigan.

During his arraignment Plymouth Police requested a $200,000 bond since it was unclear where Iwata resided.

But Iwata's attorney, James Szafran, of Plymouth, said Iwata owns a restaurant in Southfield, has filed income tax returns in Michigan for three years and has "ties" to the state. The court then set bond at $200,000, or 10 per cent, which Iwata posted by Friday.

A preliminary examination for Iwata was originally scheduled for Friday (May 29). But that is now likely to be postponed until June 12, said Gardner, so that the prosecutor and defense attorney have time to finish reviewing all of the information on the case.

Chiefs win in double OT Kickers take districts

BY ANNE SULLIVAN

It was another nail biter game for the Canton girls soccer team Friday as the Chiefs captured the district championship in a 2-1 double overtime game against Ann Arbor Huron.

The Chiefs have won a district title for four of the last five years and now advance to the Class A regional competition.

"It was a very, very hard fought game, it was a character builder," said Don Smith, Canton coach, after Friday's district championship victory. "They're (Huron) a nice team and they came to play."

It was an evenly matched down and up game Friday night. Both teams made 10 shots on goal.

Huron scored its goal in the first half. Canton tied the game late in the second half on a corner kick by Colleen Connell on an assist by Alyson Nouné.

Leah Hutko kicked in the game winning goal, in the second sudden death overtime, on an assist from Britta Anderson.

"They all played well, I'm very, very proud of them," said Smith.

"Jori Welchans (goal keeper) had a good game. She saved one in the first overtime that would have ended it for us."

It was a tough week for the Canton kickers, who saw two of three district playoff games go into double overtime last week.

The Chiefs started the road to the district championship by defeating Salem last Monday 2-1 in double overtime, to take the first round of the district playoffs.

A 3-2 win over Pinckney last Wednesday led the Chiefs to Friday's district championship battle against Huron.

In Wednesday's game, the Chiefs were tired, and not performing up to their usual expectations, according to Smith, but they pulled off the win.

"The score was close, but they never did very much aggressively against us," said Smith. "The one goal just went through us, they didn't make many shots on us, but they stayed in the game."

Britta Anderson kicked in two goals for the Chiefs, and Mandy Salin had one goal.

Melissa Tomei and Becky Cifaldi each had one assist.

Pinckney was the first to score, but just before halftime, the Chiefs tied the game on a goal scored by Anderson with an assist from Cifaldi.

Pinckney scored its second goal on a penalty kick in the second half.

Canton scored two in the second half.

"We did it as a team, and we've done it as a team all season," said Smith. "We don't rely on one person, everybody buckled down and did a nice job. I'm proud of the team."

The Chiefs remain undefeated this season and have a 15-0-2 record, the best overall record the team has had. In 1988, when they won the state championship, their record was 17-2-1. A repeat of the state championship would delight Smith, who believes his team has it within themselves to capture the state title again.

"We'll have to go and play as hard as we can," said Smith.

"They've worked hard and are very tired, we played a tired game Wednesday (against Pinckney) after beating Salem (last Monday). I'm giving them the weekend off. They're very tired."

But Monday evening, the Chiefs resumed practice and tonight at CEP stadium will begin regional competition, facing the winner in the Woodhaven district.

First round regionals Chiefs play tonight

Canton begins its quest for a regional title this evening (May 27) when the Chiefs take on Dearborn in the first round of regional play.

The home contest will be played at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) starting at 7 p.m.

If the Chiefs win tonight they will grapple for the regional title Friday (May 29). That contest will also be played at CEP beginning at 7 p.m.

If Canton captures the regional title the Chiefs will play in the Class A semi-finals to be held at Brighton High School Wednesday, June 3.

State meet is next Rock tracksters roll to league win; Canton 2nd

BY JAY KEENAN

Who is this powerhouse of a team? Salem's girls' track team turned in yet another dazzling performance as the mighty Rocks rolled to a first place finish at the 12-team Western Lakes Activities Association Conference meet Tuesday at CEP.

After turning in a strong second place performance at the regionals just four days earlier, Salem started off slowly in the field events but snowballed in the races en route to a point total of 170.

Canton, the Western Division Champs, finished second with 137. Livonia Stevenson was next with 103.1, followed by Walled Lake Western (100).

"The girls were confident that they could do well," said Salem coach Mark Gregor, whose team captured the Lakes Division Crown the previous week. "It took us a while to get going. With all of the excitement and energy that they expended on Friday night, it sort of held us back a bit at first. But then things started to get going when we got them on the track."

The Rocks are now getting ready for the state finals on Saturday at Houseman Field in Grand Rapids, and will have 10 girls representing them in nine events.

Canton coach George Przygodski, whose team will have eight girls in eight events at the state finals, saluted his team's effort.

"We were very happy with the way we performed and we did the best that we could," said Przygodski.

When the meet boiled down to the running events, the Rocks took turns showing their opponents how it was done.

First there was Tonya Wheeler, who used her amazing speed, provided all the leadership in the world, and helped Salem gain our first place finishes.

Wheeler won the 400 meter run (59.0), 200 (26.9), and anchored the victorious 800 relay (Sarah Hamilton, Dana Driscoll, Marcia Parker) at 1:47.6, and 1600 relay (Hamilton, Courtney Sheldon, Lynda Sebestyen) with a 4:10.2 clocking.

"A lot of people thought that Tonya was the best individual in the conference meet since 1983," said Gregor.

Then there was Theresa Giacherio, who swiftly captured the title in both hurdles races -- the 100 and 300 with times of 15.9 and 47.2, respectively. Giacherio was complemented in both races by Sarah Makins, who placed third and fourth.

But it was the 300 hurdles where both were joined by Sheldon's sixth place effort (49.3) to help the Rocks break the meet open with a 21 point surge. That event gave Salem a 16 point advantage with four events remaining.

Two events later, Parker aided Wheeler's effort in the 200 with a third place at 27.2 and help add another 20 points to the team's total.

Gregor so cited the efforts of Hamilton, who also led off the second place 400 relay (Driscoll, Parker, Vanessa Benning).

Canton's crew of Becky Bockstanz, Olive Ikeh, Karina Kilpelainen and Ndu Okwumabua won the 400 relay at 51.8.

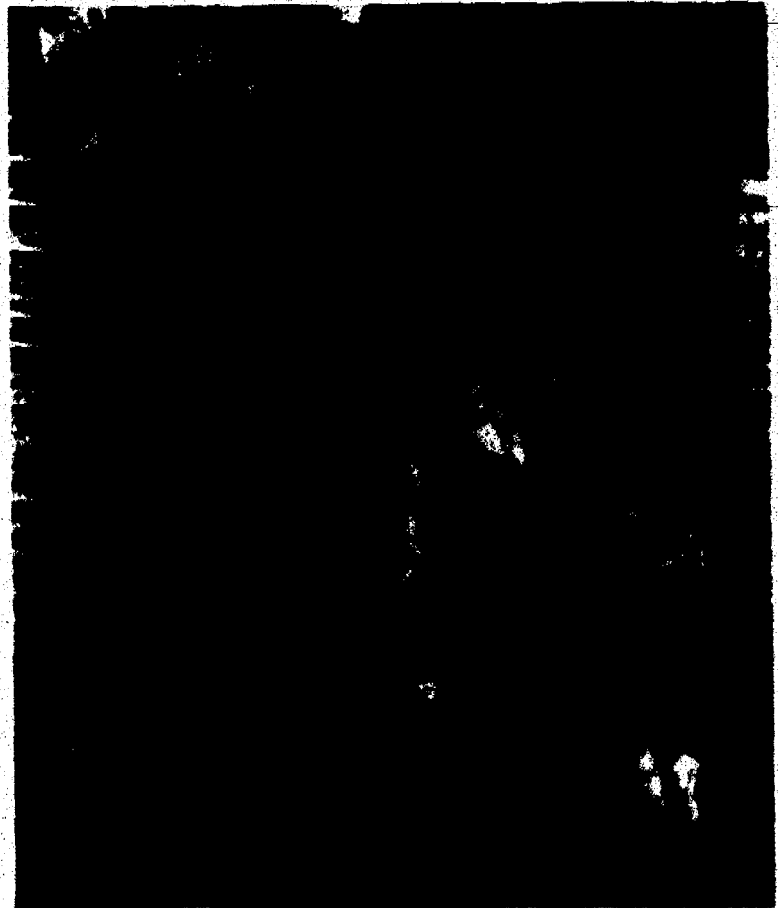

The 100 run was also a photo-finish, as a judges decision awarded a first place to Okwumabua, followed by Hamilton, then Benning when all three crossed the line at 13.1.

Stephanie Gray was victorious for Canton in the high jump (5-foot-2) while teammate Christie Saffron won the 800 (2:25.3).

Second place awards for the Chiefs went to Kilpelainen in the 100 hurdles and 300 hurdles and Salina Bastine in the discus. Canton also settled for runner-up status in the 3200 relay with Saffron, Jennifer Warnke, Lana Boroditsch and Kim Gudeth.

Other Canton tracksters to place included the 800 relay squad of Bockstanz, Ikeh, Alicia King and Okwumabua, third; the 1600 relay team of Saffron, Michelle Dean, Kilpelainen, and Gudeth, fourth; Angela Fountain, 100 hurdles, fourth; Heather Pastor, long jump, fifth; Bastine, shot put, fifth.

Salem settled for third in the 3200 relay as Sebestyen, Nicole Zavisa, Kelly Stankov and Stacey Withhoff clocked in at 10:00.8. The Rocks also took third in the high jump with Melissa Hopson (5-0) and in the 800 with Withhoff (2:26.5).

Also placing for Salem were Karen Boudreau, fourth, 1600; Rochelle Savola, fifth, high jump; Emily Farrell, fifth, 3200; Makins, sixth, long jump; Driscoll, seventh, long jump and Kathryn Ryan, seventh, discus.

Canton boys track finishes 5th in Farmington

BY JAY KEENAN

The Canton boys' track team tallied three second place finishes as the Chiefs took fifth place at the 12-team Western Lakes Activities Association Conference meet Wednesday at Farmington High.

The meet was dominated by the Western Division, as the top five spots were claimed by the West. Northville took first with 131.5 points, followed by Walled Lake Western (116), Farmington Harrison (98), Livonia Churchill (81) and Canton (76).

Salem was eighth overall with 51.

It was the second important meet for Canton in five days. The Chiefs placed seventh in the regionals and qualified two events for the state meet.

"We ran some of our best times of the season," said Canton coach Bob Richardson. "But some of our times were not quite as good as the regionals. It's hard for a team to peak for two huge meets when they're just five days apart."

The Chiefs were paced by second place finishes from the 800 meter relay crew of Mike Gurchak, Paul Chudyk, Dave Washenko and Craig Miller (1:32.91) and the 3200 relay cast of Brett Kearney, Matt

Demey, Kevin Gudeth and Washenko (8:17.29). Miller also was a runner-up in the 400 with a clocking of 51:42.

Third place efforts for Canton were recorded by Tom Raven in the discus, and Burns in the 3200.

Salem was led by second place efforts from Derek Cudini in the 1600 (4:32.51) and Don Johnson in the 100 hurdles (15:12). Jeff Schumacher settled for third in the shot put.

The Rocks' other third place effort came from the 3200 relay team of Cudini, Steve Boudreau, Josh Stickney and Jayson McDonald.

Other Canton tracksters to place included Kearney, fourth, 800; Dave Yack, sixth, 3200; Jeff Keith, sixth, 1600; Raven, sixth, shot put; Demey, sixth, 800 Washenko, seventh, 400; John Martin, eighth, 300 hurdles; Gudeth, eighth, 800; Eric Tomei, eighth, 100 hurdles; and Miller, eighth, 200.

The rest of Salem's top finishes were recorded by Cudini, fifth, 3200; Don Johnson, fifth, long jump; Dan Stevenson, sixth, discus; the 400 relay, sixth; the 800 relay, eighth; and Steve Boudreau, ninth, 1600.

The Canton team drew praise from its coach for its efforts this year.

"These kids worked real hard," Richardson said. "I think the progress that the kids this year made was outstanding."

CEP golfers whack way to 5th, 7th

BY ANNE SULLIVAN

The Canton and Salem girls golf teams competed last Tuesday in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Conference championship.

In an 18-hole dual, the Canton squad captured fifth place, shooting 462, and Salem took seventh with a 503.

The championship went to Livonia Stevenson who shot 437. Livonia Franklin came in second with 443, Northville was third with 450, and Walled Lake Western shot a 452 to take fourth.

Face Adrian Saturday

Rock baseball district bound

BY ANNE SULLIVAN

The 1991 Michigan Class A baseball champs are starting up that same road again this weekend.

Salem's boys team is now district bound after capturing a 5-4 pre-district win Thursday over Adrian. The Rocks advance to the district playoffs Saturday (May 30), at Ann Arbor Pioneer at 10 a.m.

The Rocks, 14-8-2 overall, will most likely face Belleville, 13-6, Saturday morning in the first round of district competition.

Chris Tomas, 7-0-3, took to the mound for Salem against Adrian and pitched the entire game. He gave up seven hits, four run, three walks and threw four strikeouts.

The Rocks welcomed back Ed Gundry Thursday. Gundry had been ill with mononucleosis and missed eight games.

"He made his presence known," said John Gravlin, Salem coach. "It's great to have Eddie back."

Gundry had a single and a home run, two RBIs, and scored two of Salem's five runs Thursday. Bryan Danek crossed the plate three times for the Rocks game total five runs.

Salem scored two runs in the first. Adrian started off the third by scoring three runs, and Salem recaptured the lead by coming home twice in the bottom of the third.

In the sixth inning, Adrian tied the ball game, and the Rocks took the win in the bottom of the seventh.

When Salem came to bat in the seventh, Danek led off with a single and got to second base on a steal.

Gundry was hit by a pitched ball, and Salem had runners on first and second.

Jim Cunningham went in to pinch hit for Chip Wadowski, and loaded the bases on a bunt.

Kurt Singleton was the next to bat. With no one out, two quick strikes were thrown at Singleton. He fouled off the next two balls. And hit the next pitch over the right fielders head. Danek scored, and the Rocks were heading for the districts.

"We made a few mistakes," said Gravlin. "But Chris Tomas pitched well enough to keep it close. Bryan Danek had a tremendous game, and getting Eddie (Gundry) back was a real boost."

The Rocks were 4-4 in the eight games Gundry missed.

Danek had two hits, two stolen bases, scored three of Salem's runs, including the game-winning run, and made several clutch plays in the field for the Rocks, Thursday.

Singleton and Jeff Hopson each had one RBI.

"Kurt Singleton is having a marvelous year," said Gravlin. "He hit in the winning run today (Thursday) and he's having a great year driving in runs."

Five seniors have RBI records this year in double digits. Gundry leads the team with 17 RBIs. Singleton has knocked in 16 runs. Wadowski has brought home 15 runners, Dan Hutchinson's has brought 14 across the plate, and Hopson has 12 RBIs.

At bat, Gundry is averaging .520 this year, and Salem has four hitters with an average over .300. Hutchinson is batting .387, Wadowski's average is .363, Singleton is batting .362, and Danek is hitting .327.

For this week, Gravlin plans to work hard on the basics and head into the first round of the district playoffs Saturday.

Gravlin sees Tomas' pitching performance as the key to the next game. If Tomas can maintain it, Gravlin feels the team is headed to victory.

"If we play to our ability, have solid defense and focus more on our offensive capabilities, have good at bats, we'll have as good a chance as any of the three other teams in the district," said Gravlin. "I enjoy the team," he continued. "It's a great team to watch."

Ann Arbor Pioneer is located at 601 W. Stadium, in Ann Arbor, across from Michigan Stadium.

Churchill placed between Canton and Salem, shooting a 494 and taking sixth place. Walled Lake Central came in eighth with 588.

The conference championship marked the end of the season for both Canton and Salem.

Competing for Canton in the conference was Ann Vernon, shooting 113; Audrey Meissner shot 114; Christine Wertanen shot 117; Katie Kosovaliv shot 118; Laura Schilling scored 121; and Melissa King scored 124.

The Chiefs end their season with a 6-3 overall record.

"We completed our season with only three losses, and loss (those matches) by a total of only 18 strokes for the season, that's an average of only six strokes (a match)" said Dan Riggs, Canton coach.

Looking toward the conference meet, Riggs anticipated a closer match between Canton, Northville and Strevenson.

"Franklin and Walled Lake Western played well and snuck in," said Riggs. "I thought we would place fourth at worst, we placed fifth."

Despite the fifth place finish in the conference, Riggs said those weren't any upsets this season for Chiefs. The three teams the Chiefs lost to in regular season competition, defeated them in the conference.

"Ann Vernon did a fine job (this year)," said Riggs. "In addition to being a real good golfer, she's a natural leader. She and Katie Kosovaliv were team captain and set real good examples not only in golf but also leadership. It was a nice season. I enjoyed being with the girls (golf team), they're a great group of young ladies."

Chief baseball

BY ANNE SULLIVAN

This year will not go down in Canton baseball history as one that coach Fred Crissey would like to see repeated. In his 18th year as head coach at Canton, the Chiefs suffered their first losing season.

Canton ended its season Thursday against Westland John Glenn with an 8-1 loss in pre-district competition, ending its 1992 season with an 8-13 overall record.

The Chiefs season finale went much the same way the last couple weeks had gone. The team played hard, but the balls just weren't falling right for the guys in red.

Canton started the game taking a one run lead in the first inning.

Frank Learned got a hit, and advanced to second on a bunt by Jon Paspor. Mike Stafford had a double, Learned scored, but it was downhill from there for the Chiefs.

John Sasmach started on the mound for Canton, went 2-1/3 innings, gave up six runs and got the loss.

He was relieved by Dan Conrad who gave up three hits, no walks, and threw five strikeouts.

"We're out. It's a situation that's sad because the kids played hard all the way," said Crissey. "It was sort of representative of the last 14 days. Our inability to play infield defense hurt us most of the year, we had the same problem Thursday."

It was a day where very little went right for the Chiefs. After scoring a run in the first inning, everything else went Glenn's way.

Convicts to provide repair assistance

BY RANDY COBLE

Plymouth Township's Board of Trustees and the Plymouth Rotary Club have put the final touches on a plan that will do a lot of good for less-fortunate township residents and will cost taxpayers virtually nothing.

The board at its meeting last Tuesday approved a request from the Rotary to split the cost of a van that will be used in a work release program for those convicted in 35th District Court of various misdemeanor offenses.

The first step of the program will be to offer household maintenance and repair assistance to low-income, elderly or handicapped residents who cannot complete such tasks on their own.

Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry said instead of the courts spending a great deal of taxpayer money to incarcerate minor offenders, they can be put on probation and required to perform a certain number of hours of community service.

Thanks to the board and the Rotary, within one month, probationers will begin to perform minor exterior home repairs and such tasks as leaf raking and grass cutting for township residents who are in need of help, due to their financial situation, age or handicap.

Eligibility will be determined by the township, and all information will be kept strictly confidential by the township, Tom Kennedy, Rotary official for the project, said.

He noted the need by such residents for the work.

"They want their homes to look as good as their neighbors'," Kennedy said. "This program will be a real help to those who physically can't a job done and are embarrassed."

"It's an excellent program," Berry said. "It's great for the township. We can use these people for the community's benefits instead of sending them to jail."

Kennedy said that the township would pay half of the $4700 needed to buy the 1989, 15-passenger Dodge van that will transport the workers to residents' homes. The Rotary will pick up the remaining $2350, but the van will be owned, insured, operated and maintained by the township.

Canton farm history will be recorded

BY KEN VOYLES

A one year program to document the cultural history of Canton farmsteads before all of the existing farm architecture is lost could become a reality if the Canton Board of Trustees approves a budget amendment plan.

The board was expected last night to approve the use of $8,000 in general fund money to match an $8,000 grant through the Michigan Historic Preservation Fund for the study.

The study calls for a survey of the agricultural resources in the township, as well as the submission of an application nominating the historic one-room schools in the community to the National Historic Register.

The Michigan Bureau of History, however, also wants Canton to begin a "very intense" survey of the township's farmsteads, especially on the west side of the community.

The project would look at about 75 farmsteads covering 11,520 acres, according to information in the grant application.

The report is expected to be completed by March of 1993.

Sign problem candidate forum last week.

The issue arose last week after the candidates detailed some of their election expenses for this year's race.

McClelland said he planned to spend about $600 on the campaign, including money for the signs.

"It stinks me," he said. "This is the first time I've taken money from anyone."

McClelland said he decided to raise funds this year for the election after his last school board race when he did not spend any money and barely won reelection.

All of the other candidates said they would spend under $1,000 during the election, mostly for campaign literature, mailings and advertising. None have had lawn signs pointed up.

WTUA settles on firms for final construction

The Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) last week settled on the three firms that will complete the system designed to carry the sewage of Plymouth, Canton and Northville townships to the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority (YCUA) treatment plant.

WTUA awarded the contracts after a competitive bidding and took the three lowest bidders. The authority has come under criticism for its no-bid policy for legal services, and recently announced that it would engage in a bidding process for representation.

Twp. van program

Kennedy said that the probationers involved "will be carefully selected. There will be no dangerous offenders, and none that might take advantage of the situation."

A township community service officer will drive the van and supervise the probationers, Berry said.

Kennedy said the van was found "after months of looking" and is in excellent condition. "It will last 10 years at least as it is right now," he said. "This is a long-term project, a long-term commitment to the needs of this community."

Rainbow Construction of Livonia will build the section of the waste transport line from Haggerty to Beck Road for $3.1 million. The firm has built several sewers in the three townships over the past five years.

The section of the line from the intersection of Michigan Avenue and Beck Road to the YCUA treatment plant will be built by Ric-Man Construction of Sterling Heights and carries a pricetag of $12.5 million. Ric-Man built the WTUA Phase I sewer network north of Joy Road.

WTUA selected Merriman Construction of Romulus to build the pumping station that will take the treated water from the YCUA plant back to the lower Rouge River. The station will cost $2.9 million.

If all goes as planned, WTUA officials said, the three companies will get the green light to proceed within the next three weeks from WTUA's consulting engineering firm Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May of Ann Arbor.

"WTUA has taken the final step to keeping the promise it made" to the community, said Tom Yack, WTUA chair and Canton supervisor. "We would provide them with a waste water transportation system that would ensure continued growth and control over costs."

Yack said that WTUA was on schedule to begin sending waste to YCUA by the fall of 1993.

WTUA Director Deloris Newell said that the bids submitted by the three companies were "well within the financial parameters established by WTUA."

LWV forum gives look at school candidates

Residents interested in learning more about the certified candidates for school board in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district won't want to miss a candidate forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton.

Candidates will be asked to open the forum with a two-minute statement on topics related to their candidacy in the election. Written question will be accepted from the audience following the presentations, and if time allows, candidates will give one-minute closing statements.

The forum is scheduled for Wednesday, May 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the Plymouth-Canton Schools Administrative Office at 454 S. Harvey, in Plymouth.

Call Kari Miller at 455-0630 for more information.

Close Up look at candidates

The Close Up program, made up of group of government students from Canton and Salem High School, is sponsoring a forum for candidates running in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education election in order to learn about their political views and opinions about the future of the district.

Candidates will be allowed a period of three minutes for opening remarks, and the balance of the hour will be devoted to questions that students have come up with. Each candidate will be allowed approximately one minute to answer questions.

The event will take place in the Salem High Auditorium on Wednesday, May 27 and the Canton Little Theatre Friday, May 29.

The schedule for candidates is as follows: Carol Boltman, Jack Farrow and James Mills will attend Wednesday from 7:25-10:26 a.m. at Salem and Friday from 12:15-2:15 p.m. at the Canton Little Theatre.

TRAIN CHRONICLES Trackside Musings...

Compiled while sitting away Mr.'s precious moments at the tracks in Plymouth, Michigan--

...Just how the hell does one file a complaint against the railroad after sitting in the car for WAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAYYYYYY over 5 minutes as that train with 4 engines on both ends starts to back up for the fourth time...

...We'll know Plymouth's in real trouble when the McDonnells elude...

...Possibly far less than the cost of the overtime and extra work involved in making cruises very uncomfortable, Plymouth just might be able to put its collective minds and inspiration together to make all these bored, but probably money loving, cruisers a positive thing for the city. NAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAHHH, something that doesn't require dozens of meetings by each of committees and cost less to promote and legally plug up all the streets anyway can't be worth anything...Could it?...

...You know the person you're talking to is probably in Plymouth when their end of the telephone conversation is blasted out by a train horn...

...Would someone lease the old Farmer Jack building if the owners put an outside dock (only) on it? Or, maybe it could be used to house the logskibbytat/public relation staff for the WTUA. NAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAHHH, too small...

...After being required to clean off the old sidewalks to read it, doesn't the new, maybe-it-only-seems-better-because-it's-surrounded-by-so-much-blank-space, hypotense used in a recently re-styled newspaper cry out for A Paid Advertisement to be printed at the top of each page?...

...Wedding at the Dolt Can a bride be far behind? Hold those certain lips, Rebel, and listen for the collective community sigh of, A what? ...

...Gates are up...
