NEWBURG.

Senator Charles Smith, of the 32nd District dubbed by the Scripps papers "Calumet and Hecla Smith," with his daughter, Miss Ruth, visited his old home and friends this week. He was on his way to the upper peninsula from Georgia. He says the cities of Tennessee and Georgia remind him in one particular of our chief city, Detroit. None of them have a sound Republican paper. The Southern Democrats, who are about the whole thing down there, seemed to be badly disappointed when told that the entire Republican party north and very many Democrats would in November vote for Roosevelt. It is his opinion that all gubernatorial candidates, except Fred M. Warner, are practically side-tracked. He feels sure that Roosevelt will have the greatest popular vote ever given any candidate and that the future of the Republican party and protective tariff is brighter than ever.

Mrs. Huffman, clerk at E. C. Bassett's store had a tooth extracted Saturday which threw her into spasms from which she did not recover for a number of hours.

Miss Carrie Ostrander is suffering much from salt rheum in her face. Miss Bertha Ostrander is sick with the measles.

Miss Nellie Hilliker, of Ann Arbor, called on friends here last week.

Mrs. L. B. Stark, of Farmington, visited here last week.

Miss Altha Woodworth, of Detroit, spent part of last week at home.

Mrs. F. Oldenburg was quite sick last week.

Children's Day exercises next Sunday will be very nice. All invited.

Mrs. Johnson, of Clarenceville, visited her daughter, Mrs. F. Oldenburg, Sunday.

Dr. S. M. Arnold, of Caro, is visiting his mother and sisters here.

D. L. Dickerson, who was at work on the Hough barn in Canton Monday was taken with a severe pain in his right knee and it began to swell so he had to come home and call the doctor who said the joint water had run out. He is suffering much.

No fault of Mr. Caldwell for he is ready to come, but on account of the services at Plymouth it is thought best that he and Mr. Foster and Mr. Hutton come June 19. They are all enthusiastic workers and should have a good reception.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25 cents, money back if not cured. Sold by John L. Gale and The Wolverine Drug Co.

LAPHAM'S CORNERS.

The Ladies' Aid Society met this week at the home of Mrs. A. C. Curtis. The children of Lapham church are preparing for Children's Day.

Mrs. Wm. O. Stewart and daughter of Plymouth, who have been staying with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Houk, have returned home.

Children's day exercises were held at the church last Sunday afternoon. The children all did nicely. Miss Shafer of Detroit sang two very fine solos. Rev. Willis, who was sent to take Rev. Bird's place, made a very appropriate speech for the occasion. After the service he gave a very interesting talk, taking for his text, "If the foundation be destroyed what shall the righteous do?"

CONQUISH

Chas. Snyder has the foundation laid for an addition to his house.

Mr. Huebler has been sick in bed with rheumatism.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hix called on relatives living west of Wayne on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bugeya, of Plymouth called on old friends here Sunday.

Miss Tillie Berger, of Canada, called on friends here last Sunday. She was a former resident here.

On Sunday evening about 7:00 p. m. the house occupied by Mrs. Goudy and family caught fire and was burned to the ground. The cause of the fire is unknown, as the family was away at the time. The house was situated along the D. P. & N., north of the marsh.

The Helping Hand society was entertained very pleasantly on Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Love. One name was placed on the roll. They adjourned to meet the first Wednesday in July with Mrs. Gilboe.

THE NEWS OF MICHIGAN.

LIFTED THE LID.

Why the Pere Marquette Assessment is Too High.

In the hearing of testimony in the railroad tax cases a curious admission has been made by a high official of the Pere Marquette railroad.

According to Assistant General Manager James H. Simpson, who testified the annual reports were stuffed in order to jolly the stockholders and make them feel good. Pictitious earnings of more than a million dollars were reported. Then the tax board came along and soaked the railroad on its padded returns.

This compelled the management to either pay taxes on the excess or own up. Mr. Simpson was finally authorized to remove the lid, and the matter became public property.

Mr. Simpson stated that items amounting to an average of a million dollars a year had been shifted from the operating expense account in the years 1900, 1901 and 1902. The object was to show a more prosperous condition of affairs than existed. In his direct testimony on behalf of the railroad, which is trying to reduce the intangible valuation given it, he produced the reports made by the directors to the stockholders in those three years. Going over the reports item by item, he specified those which were not correct.

In the 1900 report he picked out items aggregating over $940,000, which he said should have been added to operating expenses. Had this been done, instead of a dividend and surplus there would not have been enough net earnings to have paid interest on bonds.

The attorneys for the state maintain that even if they accept Simpson's testimony as correct, it will not greatly decrease the value of the property. The effect will be to detract from the intangible valuation and increase the physical valuation. Several items were come upon that had been omitted from the valuation of physical property made by the state.

A Great Colony.

Preparations to send the first lot of Polish settlers to northern Michigan—the vanguard of the largest colonization movement in the history of the northwest—are being completed by the agricultural commission of the Polish National Alliance. The settlers are coming over from Pennsylvania, and already it is assured that their numbers will exceed 20,000. The newcomers will be located on "out-er" lands in Delta county, which the alliance has secured at low prices from the Wells and Stephenson interests.

Each family will be awarded twenty to forty and even more acres, and they will be permitted to pay for the land in easy annual installments. The officers of the alliance are anxious that the first contingent of settlers be located in time so that the colonists will have the benefit of the present season, and they are arranging for special train service direct to Delta county. The cars will be boarded at Harrisburg, at which point the colonists assigned to the first party are being assembled, and one trainload at least is due at Escanaba within the next fortnight.

Damaged $20,000.

A terrific rain storm struck West Branch Saturday night, doing upwards of $20,000 damage. Over 100 feet of Michigan Central track, on a leve north of town, was washed out.

Washing all trains here until morning. All of the bridges in town but were swept out and three dams on the Rife, two miles east, including the electric dam, went out with a loss of $5,000. The water fell in such a way that everything was swept by it. The roads are mostly impassable for teams everywhere because of bridges being gone, although most of the water is near Saginaw bay now.

A big washout during the storm carried a few miles from Standish the Michigan Central railroad, derailing trains for several hours and causing a wreck of the night passenger train.

Traffic Very Light.

The record of the traffic through the canals at the Soo has so far this year reminded one of the old days of state locks, but few vessels have passed through and little freight as compared with former years.

The total number of vessels passing through the canals so far this year is 806 and they carried but 449,835 tons of freight as compared with 6,539 net tons for April of last year, 5,188,017 for May, thus making a total to June 1, 1903, of 6,839,856, or 5,068 more than to June 1 this year. An amount of ore carried through the canals was but 2,218 tons of copper, 4,625 tons of iron. Another interesting feature was that the Canadian tonnage was but 47,000 tons behind the American this year.

Capt. Duncan Dead.

Capt. John Duncan, assistant superintendent of the Calumet & Hecla and a prominent Mason, died at his home Saturday night after a few days' illness of heart trouble. Capt. Duncan was a pioneer of that section, being in the copper country in 1858. More than thirty years he has been identified with the mining and industrial development of the district, and was prominent in political circles. Thirty-three years he served on the board of supervisors and was chairman for thirty-one years up to the time of his death. Capt. Duncan was 62 years of age.

Search for Mayer Hudson.

The search for Negaunee's missing miner, Dr. J. H. Hudson, is still going through the majority have reached the conclusion that he is drowned. The business was generally suspended and all the available population of the rivers have been blocked up, and hundreds of men with poles are trying to find the body.

May Cause Death.

Three persons were probably fatally injured and five others received painful injuries in a collision between a north-bound and a south-bound car on the Rapid Railway about a quarter of a mile north of Anchorville shortly after 12 o'clock Saturday noon. With a fearful crash the north-bound car was heaved up into the air, falling in splinters on top of the south-bound car.

Harry Lane, aged about 42 years, a commercial traveler whose home is at Anderson, Ind., was found to be the most seriously injured and his condition is considered quite critical. He received three fractures and a dislocation of the left shoulder.

Emil Danmon, aged about 40, a well-to-do farmer, whose home is at Fair Haven, is suffering from a fracture of the left clavicle and several bruises about the face and nose.

Mrs. S. H. Marsden, aged 28, Algonquin, Mich., received several bruises and wounds about the face, head and arms.

Another woman who had received some severe injuries lapsed away before any person ascertained her name. Some four or five others received more or less serious injuries. The cars were badly wrecked.

The Floods Came.

A miniature Johnstown flood poured down through the valley Tuesday, says a Traverse City report, as the result of the washing out of the dam at the head of Brewster lake, two miles above Kingsley. The waters of both Brewster and Cedar lakes formed a torrent which swept orchards, outbuildings, telephone and telegraph poles away and drowned considerable live stock. Nicholson creek, the natural outlet of the lakes, was swollen to several times its natural size. It is almost a miracle that no lives were lost, though there were many narrow escapes. Owners of fruit farms are particularly heavy losers.

A Social Uplift.

Social circles in Whitehall are torn up by a written statement of a high school girl, belonging to a prominent family, stating that the superintendent of the public schools had made improper proposals to her. The statement was presented to the school board by the girl's parents and he was called before the board, but strenuously denied the charge. The young lady claims the superintendent called her into his private office to talk over educational matters and there made the proposal.

Died of Heart Disease.

Ed Hull, the aged farmer found unconscious at his home near Diamond, died, it was reported, from an overdose of morphine taken by accident or otherwise. But it is now said that he died of organic heart trouble. All rumors to the contrary are false. He was a brother of the late Dr. Hull and leaves two sons and one daughter.

Commissioner Atwood reports that the Michigan earnings of railroads for April were $4,254,055.15, this being an increase of $256,301 over April, 1902. The total Michigan earnings for the first quarter of this year were $14,678,462, being a decrease of $200,528, or 1 1/4 per cent, as compared with the first quarter of 1902.

According to the appointments by the quartermaster of funds allowed for barracks and quarters, Fort Wayne, Detroit, will receive $32,000, and Fort Brady, So. $2,700. The largest sum allowed is $323,990 for the post at Indianapolis. The smallest is $950 for Fort Logan H. Root, Arkansas.

Michigan fruit carrying conditions are being investigated by the interstate commerce commission at Chicago, where they are opening up many alleged abuses by private car companies, such as the Armour line. The outcome desired by shippers is a rule compelling railroads to furnish all equipment desired by patrons.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD.

FRIGHTFUL CRIME.

Dynamite Used by Union Miners With Deadly Effect.

The Colorado gold mining district, which has for months been the scene of lawlessness and disorder, has been thrown into a tumult by the blowing up of a railroad station with dynamite. Just as it was crowded with non-union miners who came to take a train for home after work, it had been believed lately that the situation was being clarified and that normal conditions would soon prevail once more. With this idea in mind Gov. Peabody ordered the troops withdrawn from one station only a few hours before the station was blown up.

Twelve miners were instantly killed and eight or ten badly injured by an explosion that occurred after midnight Sunday at the Independence station of the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad. The explosion was apparently the result of a plot against the non-union miners on the night shift at the Shurtlett, Findlay and Lost Dollar mines, who had just finished work, and were about to return to their homes. These men had no warning whatever of their impending fate.

The explosion occurred beneath the platform on which they were waiting for a train, hurling many of them high into the air, destroying the adjoining depot and rending a great hole in the earth. A large quantity of dynamite had been placed under the platform and set off by means of electricity or by the concussion caused by the approaching train.

Detectives found the machine which set off the dynamite under the platform. It consists of a revolver and 300 feet of steel wire. The revolver was placed underneath the platform close to the powder. The other end of the wire was fastened to a chair leg, which was used as a lever, from the cribbings of the Delmonico property. The whole district is aroused over the catastrophe and further trouble is feared.

An Armed Conflict On.

A posse of 300 deputy sheriffs, armed with rifles and revolvers, is scouring the hills of the Cripple Creek district with the object of rounding up every union man and every idler in the camp. They will be escorted to the county lines and warned never again to return to Teller county.

The union men are also well armed and say they will resist any attempt at deportation. Many of them are desperate, and serious trouble may occur.

In Victor business is practically suspended, and conditions in Cripple Creek are little if any better. All saloons have been closed by order of the authorities. Many merchants have closed their stores, and all who can do so are increasing their insurance.

Bloody rioting following the dastardly dynamite outrage at Independence, in which twelve non-union miners were killed, has added two more deaths to the list of tragedies in the mining district and produced a reign of terror in that region.

Roxie McGoss, of Victor, was shot dead during a mass meeting at that place Monday afternoon to discuss the outrage at Independence, and many others were wounded in the general melee, upwards of forty shots being fired. John Davis, another victim, died of his wounds Tuesday.

It is estimated that twenty-three persons are now dead as a result of the events leading up to the lawless conditions that prevail in the gold camp.

A bloodhound brought from Trinidad took the trail of the man or men who exploded the dynamite at Independence by pulling a wire attached to a revolver or some other instrument and thereby killed at least thirteen men. The trail was traced from Bull hill to the Colorado Springs wagon road. Detective Sterling, of the Mine Owners' association, then declared he was convinced that he knew who caused the explosion.

Martial Law Declared.

The labor situation in Colorado grows more tense every hour and greater violence is feared on all sides. The mine owners have been wrought almost to the pitch of frenzy by the discovery of marked photographs in a union hall, underneath a heap of rubbish. The pictures are of men who were employed as non-unionists in the mines, and also contain some of the owners themselves. Some of the marked men in the pictures have been killed or have mysteriously disappeared of late, and the mine owners believe they have unearthed a colossal conspiracy. Threats of lynching have become common and the mine owners threaten all their prisoners with the noose.

The Victor Record, organ of the Western Federation, has printed a strong editorial asking that the strike be called off on account of the many innocent people who are suffering on account of it, and says there is now no hope of the miners winning. The editorial says that the paper has no standing with any but the miners, but speaks in their interests. It remains to be seen whether this editorial was printed under compulsion. The editor was under arrest in the bull pen for 24 hours.

Martial law has been established by proclamation in the disturbed districts, and the state forces are backed up by 1,000 armed deputies under the leadership of Sheriff Bell.

War Reports and Rumors.

Heavy firing was heard at New Chwang Monday morning, coming from the direction of Liao Yang. The Russians have evacuated Sin Min Tung about 30 miles west of Mukden, and its vicinity. It is said that the troops which were at Sin Min Tung are joining troops on the road to Mukden. Nothing is known at New Chwang of the Japanese movements.

It is persistently reported in Liao Yang that the Port Arthur squadron made a sortie shortly before dawn Saturday, with the torpedo boat destroyers leading, and found the Japanese fleet quite unsuspecting (the presence of hostile warships, with the result that four of the Japanese ships were sunk during the attack).

It is reported in St. Petersburg that Gen. Kuropatkin's headquarters staff has moved 10 miles south of Liao Yang to a point between Hai Cheng and Bashihsalo.

Kuropatkin's move is considered to possibly foreshadow severe fighting in the northern part of the Liao Tung peninsula, but it is a mistake to assume that his action involves a change in the position of the Russian main army, which, according to the best information, remains at Liao Yang.

A Japanese correspondent from Dainy confirms the reported advance of the Japanese army on Port Arthur, news of which was brought by the Chinese. The correspondent states that there are 15 miles between the Japanese and Port Arthur, instead of seven, as reported by the Chinese. The Japanese army is advancing along both coasts. It is reported that the peninsula division on the east coast fought a battle within 15 miles of Port Arthur June 3. The result of the battle has not yet been learned.

The Denver & Rio Grande passenger train No. 5, west bound, was held up near Palisade, Col., early Wednesday. Brakeman Shellenberger was seriously wounded. The robbers detached the engine and express car and blew open this safe after ruffing some distance up the track. Only a small sum was secured.

THE WIND FROM THE OPEN SEA

Winnow me through with thy keen, clear
breath,
Wind with the tang of the sea!
Speed through the closing gates of the day.
Find me and fold me: have thy way
And take thy will of me!

Woe my soul as you used the sky—
Gray sky of this sultry day!
Clear the doubt as you speed its wrack
Of storm cloud bringing its splendor back.
Giving it gold for gray!

Bring me word of the moving ships,
Blizzard and straining spars!
Come to me clean from the sea's wide
West
While the last lights die in the yellow
breath
Under the first white stars!

Batter the closed doors of my heart
And set my spirit free!
For I still here in this crowded place,
Sick for the limitless fields of space,
Wind with the tang of the sea!

DONATION
BY BELLE HANNAH

Pretty Lena Winters tripped into the shoe store of E. Perkins & Co. and walked directly up to the sour-visaged proprietor.

"O, Mr. Perkins," she said, in her most coaxing tones and manner, "won't you buy a ticket to the wishbone social our church is to give Thursday night—only 25 cents?"

She looked so sweet and winsome that Walter Hodge, standing near, wondered how anyone could refuse her anything she asked.

Twenty-five cents, however, looked more handsome to E. Perkins than any vision of feminine beauty.

"No, I won't," he snapped out. "It's nothing but give, give all the time, and the more we give the bigger the church debt grows. It's just a big steal cloaked under rummage sales, fairs and all kinds of tomfoolery—just to give you women a chance to gad and hear an entertainment. You ain't working for the Lord. You're just trying to have a good time and catch a fellow."

Walter Hodge's eyes looked dangerous, but Lena's only twinkled merrily.

"Oh, Mr. Perkins!" she said, "you don't know how hard we work. It's no play to get up a church entertainment."

"I tell you that you don't know what work is. I'd give $100 to see any two of you church women do a half a day's work—man's work, I mean, if you could plow a field, you'd know what real work is."

Deacon Holmes had dropped in during this conversation and was a silent, but interested listener.

Lena contemplated Mr. Perkins' reactively for a moment.

"You've given me a new idea, Mr. Perkins," she said thoughtfully. "I was the member chosen to get up some sort of an entertainment this week. My wits suggested nothing but a wishbone social. Now I shall do as you suggest. With your $100 and the number of tickets I shall sell for such a novel entertainment the church will realize handsomely."

"What do you mean? Come back here!" cried Mr. Perkins.

But Lena was vanishing down the street. That night in the tri-weekly issue of the Hollyville Patriot appeared the following announcement:

"E. Perkins, the well-known shoe dealer, has offered $100 to see any two of the Plymouth church members plow a field. Mrs. Charles Logan and

"No, I won't!" he snapped. Miss Lena Winters had accepted the challenge and will plow a field at the Lucas farm southeast of Hollyville, on Thursday, 2 p. m. Price of admission 25 cents. Reserved seats on the rail fence. Proceeds of tickets and $100 offered by Mr. Perkins to go to the church!

Mr. Perkins gasped and paled and foamed at the mouth when he read this. He swore it was an outrage and a put-up job, and that he would not pay it. It was all a trick of that little wisp of Lena Winters, but Deacon Holmes and Walter Hodge quietly reminded him that they were witnesses, and that the offer and transaction had been explicit and exactly as Miss Winters had stated.

Mr. Perkins groaned in apprehension when posters announcing the contest stared him in the face for the next two days. Handbills were constantly thrown in his door and thrust into his hand.

One ray of hope was left to him. Lena Winters, that slight, frivolous little thing, would not be able to plow one row.

From different motives Walter Hodge was also concerned about Lena's part in the program. He met her on the street Wednesday evening and they strolled away in an opposite direction from Lena's home.

"I didn't mean it, and I'll never pay it!" he cried wrathfully.

for her father had quarreled with Walter's father, and he did not accord the young man welcome to his home.

"Lena," said Walter, "I am glad you took old Perkins up, and I will be glad to see the old miser shell out, but you two women can never do that plowing."

"I'll tell you a secret, Walter. Mrs. Logan in her younger days lived on a farm, and had often helped with the plowing when they were short of help, so her part will be perfectly done. A year ago I was at Uncle Joel's and helped with the plowing for the fun of it. The furrows may not be very straight, but we'll plow the field all right."

"But it's such hard work for you, Lena," he said deprecatingly. "Why didn't you let some of the other women do it?"

"Because, Walter, well—more depends on my plowing that field than you know. It isn't the church debt and coming up with old Perkins alone that inspired this plan—or the carrying out of it."

"What do you mean, Lena?" he asked in surprise.

"I'll tell you to-morrow after the last furrow is furrowed," she said, laughing. "There is one thing you must do. You must use your influence to help make old Perkins cash up."

The sale of tickets to the novel contest had been unprecedented. Thursday afternoon almost the whole town flocked to the field of Farmer Lucas, who lived on the outskirts of Hollyville.

In readiness for the signal stood Lena and Mrs. Logan, in short skirts, stout shoes and broad-brimmed hats. A pair of steady, sober dapple grays were hitched to the plow. Lena and Mrs. Logan were to share the labor equally, alternating in driving and guiding.

When the appointed hour came a bell sounded and amid the cheers of the multitude they started on the first furrow. Across the field they went and back again to the starting line.

"Good!" commented the men approvingly, noting the tolerably straight furrows.

The women halted long enough to drink a glass of refreshing lemonade Walter Hodge offered them, and then resolutely took up their work again.

When the field was plowed Mrs. Logan and Lena were escorted to their homes by the Hollyville band.

"I'll collect of Perkins," volunteered Walter, and as it was a commission no one else sought, he went alone to call on the irate shoe dealer. "I didn't mean it, and I'll never pay it!" he cried wrathfully. "I'm surprised at your expecting me to, Walter Hodge! I thought you were a friend of mine."

"I am, Mr. Perkins," replied Walter gravely, "and that is why I have come to you—to give you a pointer. A great many of the church members anticipated your refusal to pay, and will meet it by a resolution to boycott your shoe trade, and you know what stuff the women of that church are made of—you saw it in their afternoon's work. What they set out to do they'll do. My advice to you as from one business man to another is to pay the $100, which is the cheapest way out."

So, with groans and imprecations the old miser wrote his check for $100, and Walter triumphantly took it to Lena's father, who was the custodian of the church funds.

"I'll believe anything now," was the comment of Mr. Winters, as he read the check.

Then he looked at Walter and gave an odd little laugh. "You'd better go down and see Lena, Walter."

"Why, Mr. Winters," gasped Walter, "do you mean it?"

"Yes; I can't help myself, Walter, and perhaps it's just as well. Run along. Lena will explain matters."

"Will you tell me how this happens, Lena?" asked Walter joyfully a few moments later.

"It was just like this: When I told at dinner the other day about plowing the field and Mr. Perkins, papa said: 'Don't ever expect impossibilities, Lena. You can't plow a field, and you can't make old Shylock Perkins pay.' 'What'll you bet, papa?' I asked. 'Anything,' he replied. 'All right,' I answered. 'If we plow and Mr. Perkins pays, Walter shall come to the house again.' He agreed. He didn't expect me to win, but, Walter, he was glad of a chance to give in gracefully, for I know he likes you." —Boston Globe.

A Short Ride.

P. A. B. Widener, the traction magnate of Philadelphia, told the other day a story of the boyhood of his son Joseph.

"When Joe," he said, "was a little fellow, a visitor, calling at my house one day, found him in the drawing room, busy with the drawing room chairs, which he had ranged in a row. The visitor sat down on one of the chairs and Joe remonstrated. 'Here,' he said, 'this is a train of cars.'"

"Very well," said the visitor, "I'll be a passenger."

"But Joe didn't want this grown-up man for a passenger, and so he said: 'Where do you want to get off?'"

"Chicago," was the reply.

"All right," said Joe. "This is Chicago."

Little White Lily.

Little white lily, float on the stream,
Open your tender heart, wake from your dream;
Lift up your face to the kiss of the sun,
Wake and rejoice that the winter is done!
Though you are tiny and humble and frail,
Live and be happy, and fear not the gale;
Little white lily, though soon you will fade,
He loveth all things Who loveth us made!

Little white lily, there's given unto you,
Something to live for and something to do;
If to one heart you bring, seeing you there,
Thoughts of the land that created you,
If you lift one soul from earth for a space,
'Twas for that Heav'n gave you beauty
And grace;
Little white lily, although you are small,
You are His servant, Who fashioned us all!

Speaker Cannon Saved $1.50.

William H. Crane, the actor, was introduced to Speaker Cannon one day in the latter's office at the capitol. After shaking hands with the star the speaker backed off from him, tipped his head to one side and, looking at him critically, exclaimed: "Well, do you know, it is a peculiar pleasure to me to see you to-day. It is the first time I ever looked at you without being obliged to give you a dollar and a half for the privilege."

"That is the embarrassing part of visiting among these public men," retorted Crane. "It's awfully galling to have to show yourself without getting paid for it." —New York Tribune.

George Otis Draper of Hopedale, whose new book has caused much interest not only for the fact that he is a Draper of Hopedale, but also because his two works now published are unique and unusually original, tells of a humorous experience that recently befell him in one of the public libraries of a large city. He was interested, for a personal reason in getting a copy of Patmore's poems. The young woman attendant looked puzzled at the request and said: "I'm very sorry, sir, but we haven't Pat Moore's poems. I have here a copy of Tom Moore's poems, perhaps they will do just as well."

United States Battleships.

Our oldest battleship, the Texas, has a length of 301 feet and a displacement of 6,315 tons. The new Maine has a length of 388 feet and a displacement of 12,500 tons. The Georgia is to have a length of 425 feet and a displacement of 15,000 tons. The California, just launched at San Francisco, has a length of 503 feet and a displacement of 14,000 tons. The Texas has a speed of sixteen knots an hour. The California is to have a speed of twenty-two knots, or is to be, in spite of her great size, a faster ship than the Brooklyn or New York, and as fast a ship as that grayhound of the sea, the Columbia.

NAPLES,
THE CITY OF THE SIREN

† SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

It is natural for the traveler who approaches this city by the sea, especially if he prefers the firm land to the unsteady ocean, to consider any shore he touches endowed with some charm. Add to this, that Naples disputes with Constantinople the honor of possessing the most beautiful site of any city of Europe. And when one has climbed the height that leads to the tomb of Virgil, hard by the grotto of Pösilippo, and looks down over the city, rising like an ancient amphitheater on the slopes of the hills that encircle the azure bay, with Vesuvius in the distance, its smoky plume fading into the blue, the sight is one that brings a great joy with it such tempting to lighten his path with song; but he murders the tune, and there is a why uncertainty in the notes that affects the music.

Night or day, it is always the same—noise, shouting, cracking of whips loud as pistol shots, ringing laughter and the cries of the many vendors of all sorts of things who go about the streets. In the newer parts of the city, where the serious and important affairs are conducted, the streets are wide and splendid, the stores glittering and showy with a display of bright color and gilding such as the Neapolitans love. Memories of Paris or Milan come to one in looking on the fine buildings, the spacious streets as few scenes do that meet the eye of man. Forms and colors harmonize; a dreamy haze, luminous and tender, enwraps the scene. The thoughts go wandering vaguely over the expanse of sea, and away to the right in the purple hollow of the mountain you know that there lies that wondrous revelation of ancient life—the resurrected city of Pompeii.

The character of the population in its diversity is indicated by the various buildings of the city. Here, close to the royal palace, rises the Theater San Carlo, huge, grandiose, stately and heavy with the weight of a wealth and dignity—a grand temple to the lyric muse. However it stands in comparison with other theaters, it is a noble structure without, and within its six tiers of boxes, its wide proscenium and spacious stage, make it one of the finest theaters in Europe, while its musical record goes from the early half of the eighteenth century to the present time.

There is much that is peculiar and picturesque about this people. They group admirably; as you pass along the poorer streets and come upon an open sun-lighted space you find the women sitting around the shop doors, engaged in work or indulging in gossip. Here, in such streets as this, and that other high street—the Palonetto at Santa Lucia—that looks like Jacob's ladder, without the angels ascending and descending—the poorer people of Naples live. In many cases they have but sleeping places for the night; their day is passed in the sunshine; they live on and the gaiety and brilliancy of the whole scene. The vista at the beginning or the end of one of these streets is charming. On one side there is the sea; on another a monumental mountain whose abundant waters shine like jewels in the rays of the bright sun.

Down in the splendid gardens of the Villa Nazionale, where, amid white marble statues copied after the great masterpieces of Greece and Rome, and under the shade of palms and cedars and semi-tropical plants, rich and poor may wander. Over the low sea wall to the left the tiny waves of the Mediterranean may be seen gently caressing the shore and making a murmur rather than a splash. Between the dark branches of the thickly planted ilexes you get glimpses of the sea, and beyond in the shining distance the dream-like form of Capri's high hills form a darker blue outline against the blue sky. To the stranger who dwells in Naples for a short time the Villa Nazionale, with its silent charm and with all that induces to feed the imagination, becomes a place of resort.

There are other resorts for the tourist in search of the picturesque or historical. On the side of a hill overlooking the city, and surrounded by choice gardens, stands the Palace of Capo di Monte, a charming spring and summer retreat. It was built for King Charles III, who reigned here from 1734 to 1759. But perhaps the most pervading of the memories that little, and if not absolutely happy, are so notably cheerful as to deceive a tender-hearted philanthropist.

The movement of life, the multitudes hurrying to and fro, the bustle and the rumor of comparatively profitless labor, which fill the streets and lanes and squares of Naples, are what distinguishes it from other cities. In Naples the sounds never cease. The city, said one who went seeking quiet on these sunny shores, seems not to rest either by day or night. When darkness comes down, and you might expect silence to prevail, the twanging of a guitar is heard, and the rancorous voice of a belated serenade breaks upon your ear. Or it is some somewhat-bored wild reveler, attracted to this palace concentrate around the person of Giacobino Murat, at one time, through the disposition of his brother-in-law, the Emperor Napoleon I, king of Naples. Indeed, other royal residences in Naples and its immediate vicinity, such as the grandiose royal palace of the city and the smaller royal villa at Portici, are closely associated with this monarch, once a postillion for the visitors to his father's inn, then a soldier of fortune, finally the dashing and unequalled cavalry officer, the husband of Napoleon's sister Caroline, and finally king of Naples.

larly designed for a small house or flat where space is at a premium.

The sketch shows how to turn a recess into a capital contrivance for storing linen. The top part is covered in and has an ornamental front forming a sort of alcove where photographs, china and bric-a-brac can be prettily disposed.

Light wooden trays are placed underneath, each tray resting on wooden supports fixed to either side of the recess. A brass rod runs across the front of the recess, from which hangs a curtain of some pretty material, a stercled art linen being always fresh-looking. Put plenty of tiny bags of lavender, camphor and orris in the linen trays, and what a sweet-scented recess you will have.

The Chariot of the Sun.

This curious bronze object was dug up recently in Sweden. It represents the chariot of the sun, and was a votive offering to the sun god of the ancient Scandinavians. It is richly ornamented with fine chisel work, and the disk representing the sun shows traces of gilding. Of the six wheels only one remains entire.

Mouse Jumped Down His Throat.

A singular misadventure recently occurred to a young man named Arthur Fitzgibbon, of Brighton, Buzzard. Fitzgibbon was engaged in delivering a number of boxes. As he was in the act of lifting one of these boxes he heaved a deep breath, and while so going a mouse jumped from the box right down his throat. For a time the man suffered from a terrible choking sensation, and he could hardly see. He drove to a doctor's surgery, where a strong emetic was given to him, but without effect. For several hours the man suffered considerable discomfort, but he is now well again.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

By Edna Walker, Fayette Harris, Bertha Shattuck, Lulu Belknap.

The Plymouth Grammar Grades won the field meet with Wayne last Saturday by a score of 78 points to Wayne's 52. McLaren, Patterson, Evans and Leith were Plymouth's "star" men. Wayne's best men were Nuemer, Vealey and Hearn. Nuemer winning first in all the weight events. Schilling did good work in the mile race, being the only one to breast the tape. The rest dropped out.

The athletic association held a meeting Monday night to decide the question of whether they should have a field meet with the Western High School of Detroit or not on June 15; but the captain of the base ball team objected to this, as the team is scheduled to play at Howell on that day so the question was not decided.

REGULAR COUNCIL SESSION.

The was a regular session Monday evening of the common council, all members being present except President Robinson. More or less important business was transacted.

At a former meeting it was voted that an eight-inch tile drain be laid on Mill street, commencing at Ann Arbor street, provided the residents along the street would pay the difference in cost between a six-inch and an eight-inch drain. The action was reconsidered and on motion the whole matter was decided adversely. This leaves the residents in position to submit the matter to the county drain commissioner and every one will be assessed according to benefits.

Residents along the north side of Ann Arbor street are opposed to the building of a sidewalk along the line established by the surveyor, as it would compel them to move their shade trees. The council voted that the trees might remain and the walk built farther out in the street. We understand this brings the walk about eight feet into the street on the east end.

At the last regular meeting of the council a resolution was passed that a five-foot walk must hereafter be built on Church street, among others named. There is already some 300 feet of four foot walk built on the upper end of the street and residents along the street are of the opinion a four foot walk would answer all purposes. The council therefore adopted a resolution making the walk four feet wide from Mr. Draper's lot to Adams street. The walk will be built through as soon as possible.

Township highway commissioner Chilson came before the council and stated that he was about to build an iron bridge over the creek on Ann Arbor street, near the hotel; that he had only so much money, but if the council would pay $38 he would build the floor of the bridge with concrete on iron decking, otherwise he would have to build it of plank. The council voted the money.

A water main on Church street from Adams to its intersection with Sutton street will be laid as soon as piping can be obtained.

The ordinance amending the street railway franchise was passed on its third reading. It is published elsewhere.

Assessor Ladd was present and reported that the total assessment of the village was $983,954, of which $582,555 was real estate and $401,399 personal.

The council adjourned until Thursday evening to fix the rate per cent for taxation.

It may not be generally known that VanBuren county in this State has enjoyed prohibition under local option law for over thirteen years, being the only county that has held to the law since its first adoption; and it is safe to say that there is not a more prosperous county in the State, or one that has made such marked advancement in the past ten years.

Three unsuccessful attempts have been made to repeal the law by calling a vote on the subject. The last effort was made one year ago. Every township in the county stood firmly for prohibition and all together gave a majority of 1400 in its favor. The attorney for the liquor side announces that the question of license versus local option will never be brought up again in the county, at least during the life of the present generation. Why could not other counties do likewise?

At our meeting last week, Mrs. Bartlett gave an excellent report of the State convention. She said it was the best one she ever attended. The gain in membership during the year has been about four hundred.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Married, at the residence of Herbert Huges, Waterford, on the 8th, by Rev. T. B. Leith, Mr. Chas. Waterman and Miss Kate Hughes. A large number of relatives and friends were present to witness the ceremony. The young people intend residing at 382 24th Street, Detroit.

Into each life some ruins must fall. Wise people don't sit still and bawl; Only fools suicide or take to flight; Smart people take Rocky Mountain Tea at night. Ask your druggist.

A farmer named Gully left his team standing untied in front of the residence of E. Richmond last Monday. They became frightened and ran away, overturned the wagon and started up Sutton street with only the front wheels. At Conner's corner one of the axles broke, the loosened wheel making a race for Conner's show-window, narrowly missing it. The horses ran some distance up the street and were stopped.

Foot swollen to immense size.

"I had kidney trouble so bad that I could not work," says J. J. Cox of Valley View, Ky., "my feet were swollen to immense size and I was confined to my bed and physicians were unable to give me any relief. My doctor finally prescribed Foley's Kidney Cure which made a well man of me. The Wolverine Drug Co.

Startling Evidence.

Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds to be unequalled. A recent expression from T. J. McFarland Bentorville, Va. serves as example. He writes: "I had Bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all Lung and Throat troubles, Consumption, Pneumonia and Grip. Guaranteed by John L. Gale and The Wolverine Drug Co.

Wants Office Bld.

Cass Benton, of Northville, wants to go to the legislature. So does Editor Neal, of the Record. Messrs. Chadwick and Perrin are members of the township committee, being also late candidates for the Northville post-office and were opposed by Neal. At the request of Benton they called a primary election contrary to law for last Saturday to learn which was the most popular man—Benton or Neal. The polls were kept open until 9:30 in the evening when the vote counted gave Benton 246. Neal had repudiated the whole scheme and requested his friends to stay away, which they did. There are over 700 voters in the town and Mr. Neal thinks he rather has the advantage in the race for office. No legal primary can be held until next October when Mr. Neal says he will abide by the decision of the people. Benton's action has brought about discussion in the party there, and the attitude of Mr. Neal seems to be most generally approved.

Railroad Officers Moved.

A severe blow was struck the village last Friday when an order came from the headquarters of the Pere Marquette R. Y. to vacate the offices at Plymouth. The reason given is that expenses must be cut down. For some six months these offices have been maintained here, about two dozen men being employed. It was thought they were permanently located here and the order for removal fell like a thunderbolt from a clear sky. A number of the high officials were let go entirely, while the train dispatchers were divided between Saginaw and Grand Rapids. Many of the men had located their families here and there seems to be nothing to do but to again pull up and emigrate: Plymouth loses a very desirable class of citizens.

A large company of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greenlaw, assembled at their residence Livonia last Saturday evening, when their two children Florence Maude and Charles Baker were baptised, by Rev. T. B. Leith. A very pleasant evening was spent. The company were entertained by singing, reading and recitations, which were enjoyed by all present. Among those present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stevenson, Misses Florence and Irene Perry, Marcus Perry, Albert Perry, Misses Maude Baker, Dell and Florence Wiley, and Grace Greenlaw, all of Detroit.

The Michigan Fresh Air Society of Detroit is desirous of sending a number of children under 12 years out into the country during the months of July and August. The expense to farmers will be boarding them free. If any of the farmer readers would like the company of any of these children who otherwise will have no vacation, they may address Dr. James A. Post, 114 Bates street, Detroit.

Frank Prebo, Frank Merring and Chas. Grey were caught in a car of merchandise at the depot last Tuesday night. It could not be proven that they had broken open the car, so a complaint for unlawfully entering a freight car was made against them. Justice Valentine gave them thirty days in the work-house.

Justice Valentine's court was occupied until ten o'clock Wednesday night trying a case brought by Fred Dunke against Walter Wilson, of Livonia. Dunke had worked Wilson's farm for a year and the trouble arose over a final settlement. A jury gave Dunke $52.22.

There will be ten graduates of the Plymouth high school next Friday evening, as follows: Bertha Shattuck, Winifred Jolliffe, Elsie Eddy, Flora Whitbeck, Edna Nash, Pearl Jolliffe, Elizabeth Schilling, Arden Chilson, Edgar Jolliffe and Frank Spicer.

Maccabee memorial services will be held in the M. E. church Sunday evening, June 19, instead of June 12th, as had been announced. Sir Knights will meet at the hall at 7 p. m.

Florence Chalmers and Margaret Harrigan, Edward and Arthur McGrann and Edward Prout, of Detroit, are visiting at Samuel Ableson's.

The Baptist ladies will sell home baked goods in the old Plymouth Savings Bank room Saturday afternoon, June 12th.

Mr. Aiken, first vice president District Epworth League will conduct the meeting Sunday evening at 6:30.

Miss Nellie Tibbitts, of Detroit, is spending the week with Mrs. Will VanVleet.

The Spaldings, of Detroit, will engage with the Plymouths in a ball game to-morrow afternoon at 3:30. The Spaldings are said to be a fast aggregation, having defeated several good teams opposed to them. Admission 15 and 10 cents. Go and see the game.

There was not a large audience present at the concert given Tuesday evening by the Bright Concert Co., of Ann Arbor, at the opera house. Those present, however, enjoyed a musical and literary treat and speak in high commendation of each of the several members of the company. They left a most favorable impression which will undoubtedly guarantee them a packed house should they consent to come again at some future time.

The corner stone of the old Presbyterian church was uncovered last Tuesday and within its receptacle was found a sealed bottle in which had been placed the names and amounts of the subscribers to the building fund of the church, which was erected in 1848. The list was headed by Ebenezer Penniman who subscribed $500. The corner stone of the church now being remodeled will be laid this morning, and within it will be placed the original list of subscribers, together with the names of subscribers to the rebuilding fund. Other records will also be deposited in the stone.

The best game of ball seen on the local grounds this season was played last Saturday afternoon by the Eastern High school of Detroit and the Plymouths, the latter winning by the close score of 3 to 2 and in eleven innings at that. Both pitchers were in elegant form, but Wood of Plymouth was a little the most clever, and let the visitors down with but three hits, striking out 13 and passing one. Plymouth secured seven hits from the Detroiters and but seven struck out. Plymouth had three errors charged up and the visitors one. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband should be a woman's constant study. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Potts tell their stories for the benefit of all wives and mothers.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and weariness. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was, and the wonderful results she had had from your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time I was a different woman, the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. I had been suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, but your medicine cured that and built up my entire system, till I was indeed like a new woman. Sincerely yours, MRS. CHAS. F. BROWN, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., Vice President Mothers' Club."

Suffering women should not fail to profit by Mrs. Brown's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure other women who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration. Read the story of Mrs. Potts to all mothers:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—During the early part of my married life I was very delicate in health. I had two miscarriages, and both my husband and I felt very badly as we were anxious to have children. A neighbor who had been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it, and I decided to do so. I soon felt that my appetite was increasing, the headaches gradually decreased and finally disappeared, and my general health improved. I felt as if new blood coursed through my veins, the sluggish tired feeling disappeared, and I became strong and well. Within a year after I became the mother of a strong healthy child, the joy of our home. You certainly have a splendid remedy, and I wish every mother knew of it. Sincerely yours, Mrs. ANNA POTTS, 510 Park Ave., Hot Springs, Ark."

If you feel that there is anything at all unusual or puzzling about your case, or if you wish confidential advice of the most experienced, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and you will be advised free of charge. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured and is curing thousands of cases of female troubles—curing them inexpensively and absolutely. Remember this when you go to your druggist. Insist upon getting

Forces Vagrants to Work.
There are few able-bodied paupers in Holland. A tract of public land containing 5,000 acres is divided into six model farms, to one of which the person applying for public relief is sent. Here he is taught agriculture, and is subsequently permitted to rent a small farm for himself. Holland also has a forced labor colony, to which other vagrants are sent to do farm and other work, whether they like it or not.

Clever Aphorisms.
Among the aphorisms which have been produced by a prize contest in the Westminster Gazette, the following may be mentioned: "There is no God but gold, and infinite is its profit"; "All is not gold that glitters"; a reminiscence of Lamb is found in "Only good men die," and another contributor says, "A paradox is only a platitude in fancy dress."

First University in Japan.
As early as the eighth century a university had already been established in Japan that included such modern divisions as schools of medicine, ethics, mathematics, history, and some of the text books employed at that remote period dealt with such subjects as the diseases of women, materia medica, and veterinary surgery—types of text books which appear to have been unknown in European countries until about 1,000 years later.

True Economy.
In order to practice true economy it is necessary to distinguish between necessities and luxuries. Economy consists in getting the thing needed at the right time. One luckless man tells of having spoiled a $4 set of knives while economizing in the matter of purchasing a can-opener. After the destruction of the last knife he bought the much-needed article. He is not alone in such experiences. We can all plead guilty.

QUEER EFFECTS OF SUNSHINE.

Stone as Well as Metals Expands Under Heat Rays.

Every one knows that the heat of the sun will expand iron and steel. Stevenson's tubular bridge over the Menai straits is 400 feet long. The heaviest train passing over it bends it just half an inch, yet on a July day, after the sun has been shining on it for several hours, it is found to be bent an inch and a half below its usual horizontal line. The heat of the sun acts on stone as well as metal, a fact which is proved by the Washington monument. It is 555 feet high, but it will be found to be about two inches higher in the evening than in the morning of a sunny day. A strange effect of sunshine was noted at Plymouth, where to lay the foundation of a sea wall the workmen had to descend in a diving bell. These bells had studiously been fitted with convex circular glasses at the top. The sea was very calm and the glasses so concentrated the rays of the sun that the clothing of one of the workmen were set on fire, and that at no less than twenty-five feet below the surface of the water.

SEIZED BY A CROCODILE.

African Boy Had Narrow Escape From Awful Death.

A hunter in Africa tells some stories about crocodiles. He says: "One afternoon I went out to hunt lechwe (a kind of antelope), which were plentiful in the swamps. I wounded one splendid bull and gave chase, accompanied by two boys. We followed it across one or two channels, and finally the boy who was leading caught it up in an arm of the stream about two feet deep. As he was holding on to the buck a crocodile—drawn, no doubt, by the blood which flowed from the wounded animal—shot up and seized the boy by the leg below the knee. He hung on to the other boy, who had come up, and I arrived to the accompaniment of yells. Fortunately the crocodile was only a small one and we managed to get the boy from him. The lechwe meantime made his escape, and I went back to camp for men to carry in the wounded native. His leg was badly lacerated, but with careful treatment he recovered soon."

The Woman's Part.

No matter no matter! I yet will hold That woman's part in the infinite plan Is to add to the worth of human gold. That glories still the race of man. And this I know, and know it well: The best that I am and the best that I know. From my mother's lips in wisdom fell In the twilight shades of the long ago. Now, God help the man, for sore his need. When mother wisdom and mother love Have fallen through the days of his youth to lead To the bright, white light all the mists above. We men do stumble; we falter still; We daily with Sin when her robe seems fair. But stay as we may, or roam as we will, We never forget a mother's prayer. And so I say, and I say it again, That ever some woman is in our best, And, thinking of her, men lift again, The burden they dropped when it sorely pressed. What matter the fools of the woman kind Who barter their birthright for potage disdained? Somewhere is the one whom your soul enshrined. To lure you and lead to the heights attained. —Alfred J. Waterhouse, in San Francisco Bulletin.

Care of Circus Animals.

Great care must be taken during the winter months to preserve the health of circus animals, as nearly all of them are susceptible to some form of disease. Monkeys take cold easily, and unless quinine is given them at once quick consumption is almost certain to result. When a monkey has to take quinine it makes a great fuss. This is why a mother tells her young hopeful when he makes a grimace over his medicine: "Come, now; down with it, and no more monkey faces!" Elephants have rheumatism; camels have skin disease, and all members of the cat family must be given lime juice to overcome the bad effects of stomach trouble.

Frank Opinion.

A prominent English statesman when a boy at school was taken by his father to see Carlyle and was bidden to treasure in the depths of his soul the words of wisdom which would fall from the great man. At first Carlyle was taciturn and the boy, by way of opening the conversation, suitably said: "I have seen two philosophers today, for as we came along papa pointed out Mr. Herbert Spencer in a 'bus.' With majestic emphasis Carlyle replied: "And have ye seen Herbert Spencer, laddie? Then ye've seen the most unending ass in Christendom."

Snail's Sense of Smell.

According to the researches of M. Emile Yung, the sense of smell in the snail seems to be located not only in the feeling organs, but all over the body, as experiment proves that the snail can perceive odors by means of sensory cells which are placed in different parts of the body, quite apart from the special organs which might be supposed to be his only means of sensation.

High Honor Declined.

Party nominations for vice president have been declined a number of times. In the Democratic national convention of 1844 Silas Wright of New York was nominated for vice president on the first ballot, receiving 256 of the 266 votes. He declined to accept, and George M. Dallas of Pennsylvania was nominated on the ticket with James K. Polk. The Democratic ticket was successful in the election. The nomination for second place on a national ticket by third parties has been several times declined.

HAVE GIFT OF IMITATION.

Many Animals Seem to Adopt the Habits of Other Species.

Some animals have wonderful powers of imitation. Dogs brought up in the company of cats have been known to acquire the trick of licking the paws and then washing the face. When a cat has been taught to sit up for her food her kittens have been known to imitate her action. Darwin tells of a cat that was in the habit of putting her paw into the mouth of a narrow milk picher every time she got the chance and then licking the cream off her paw. Her kitten soon learned the same trick. A lady tells of a rabbit that she keeps in a cage with a monkey and says that Bunnie has caught many of the monkey's ways. It is said that starving pigeons that have been brought up on grain will not eat peas to save their lives, but that if pea-eating pigeons are put with them they follow their example and eat peas.

Valuable Manuscripts in America.

In the year 1900 two famous collections of Oriental, chiefly Arabic, manuscripts, were brought to this country; one, the private collection of a well-known Arabic scholar, Count Landberg, was secured for Yale university; the other, which originally had been in the library of a Mohammedan scholar at Medina, and then had been purchased by the publishing house of E. J. Brill at Leyden, through Count Land, was acquired and deposited in the library of their alma mater (Princeton). A third collection was acquired by Mr. Robert Garrett, also from the Brill house, and is at present in Princeton. As to numbers, there are between 800, and 900 manuscripts at Yale, and 1,678 at Princeton.

Men and Their Mistakes.

Some people go through this world making mistakes as freely as if they fully expected to have a chance to come back and try it all over again.

DOCTOR ADVOCATED OPERATION— PE-RU-NA MADE KNIFE UNNECESSARY.

MRS. EVA BARTHO, 133 East 12th St., New York City, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for three years with leucorrhoea and ulceration of the womb. The doctor advocated an operation which I dreaded very much, and strongly objected to go under it. Now I am a changed woman. Peruna cured me; it took nine bottles, but I felt so much improved I kept taking it, as I dreaded an operation so much. I am to-day in perfect health and have not felt so well for fifteen years."—Mrs. Eva Bartho.

Mrs. Senator Rosch, of Larimore, N. Dak.; Mrs. Senator Warren, of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Belva Lockwood and Mrs. General Longstreet, of Washington, D. C., are among the prominent ladies who indorse Peruna.

Miss Helen Rolof, Kankana, Wis., writes: "Several times during the past two years or more my system has been greatly in need of a tonic, and at those times Peruna has been of great help in building up the system, restoring my appetite and securing restful sleep."—Helen Rolof.

Miss Muriel Armitage, 36 Greenwood Ave., Detroit, Mich., District Organizer of the Royal Templars of Temperance, writes as follows:

"I suffered for five years with uterine irregularities, which brought on hysteria and made me a physical wreck. I tried doctors from the different schools of medicine, but without any perceptible change in my condition. In my despair I called on an old nurse, who advised me to try Peruna, and promised good results if I would persist and take it regularly. I kept this up for six months, and steadily gained strength and health, and when I had used fifteen bottles I considered myself entirely cured. I am a grateful, happy woman to-day."—Miss Muriel Armitage.

Miss Lucy M. Riley, 33 Davenport St., Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "I wish to add my indorsement to thousands of other women who have been cured through the use of Peruna. I suffered for five years with severe backache, and when weary or worried in the least I had prolonged headache. I am now in perfect health, enjoy life and have neither an ache or pain, thanks to Peruna."—Lucy M. Riley.

It is no longer a question as to whether Peruna can be relied on to cure all such cases. During the many years in which Peruna has been put to test in all forms and stages of acute and chronic catarrh no one year has put this remedy to greater test than the past year.

If all the women who are suffering with any form of female weakness would write to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, and give him a complete description of their symptoms and the peculiarities of their troubles, he will immediately reply with complete directions for treatment, free of charge.

ALL BUILT WITHOUT NAILS.

Peculiar Construction of Dwelling Houses in Burma.

In Burma a dwelling house is built without a nail. It is hung on four upright posts of teak or bamboo; seven or eight feet from the ground the planking of the floor is tied to the uprights with rattan; the walls are made of split bamboo plaited into beautiful and fanciful patterns. The roof consists of the leaves of the toddy palm, which have been soaked in salt water to make them insect-proof. There are no windows, but large flaps of the plaited bamboo walls are raised in the daytime to admit light and air. The house consists, in the case of the poor, of only one good-sized room, but when there are several chambers they lead from the common room and are separated from it by partitions of plaited bamboo. These are generally raised one or two feet from the floor of the common room, but in no case is one floor above the other in a Burmese house, it being thought a great indignity to have any one's feet over one's head. The thatched roofs are highly inflammable and leaning against every thatched house may be seen a long hooked stick with which to pull off the roof should it catch fire.

BLOOD AS A FERTILIZER.

Gave Renewed Life to Tree That Was Fast Dying.

For several seasons a very ancient walnut, with long, gaunt boughs carrying much dead wood, had been struggling to live, but each year manifested signs that its life was fast disappearing. The keeper in front of whose house the tree stood took to siling the carcass of each deer he killed over one of its boughs for dressing. During the process all the blood dripped on the ground and was absorbed. The following spring this tree put forth an astonishing crop of leaves, and in less than three seasons it was making new wood and showing all the vigor which had characterized it thirty years before. Its renewed youth was entirely attributable to the fertilizing properties of the blood with which it had been so liberally dressed.

—Country Gentleman.

Where Four States Meet.

The only place in the world where four states, territories or provinces join, is where the boundary lines of Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona meet. It is the only "four corners" combination of political divisions of the kind on earth, and the United States has marked the place with a stone monument, the names of the four divisions being inscribed on the shaft. The spot is in the heart of a country once densely populated by cliff-dwellers, and access to it is so difficult that few tourists make their way there. Mancos, Colo., is the nearest railroad town, and it is one hundred miles distant. Were it not for the boulders lying about a wagon could be set down with each wheel in a different state.

Blessings for the Weary.

But I think the King of that country comes out from among His tireless host.

And walks in this world of the weary, as if He loved it the most;

For here in the dusty confusion, with eyes that are heavy and dim, He meets us in the laboring men who are looking and longing for Him.

He conceals the curse of Eden, and brings them a blessing instead; Blessed are they that labor, for Jesus partakes of their bread!

He puts His hand to their burdens, He enters their homes at night; Who does His best shall have as guest the Master of life and light.

This is the gospel of labor—ring it, ye The Lord of love came down from above, to live with the men who work.

This is the rose that He planted here in the thorn-cursed soil— Heaven is blest with perfect rest, but the blessing of earth is toil.

—Henry Van Dyke.

Use Sulphur to Protect Vines.

All the large vineyard owners of California sulphur their vines as a protection against mildew and thrips. The method used is the sulphur bellows, which is so constructed that the operator can expel material without excess, thereby saving a large percentage. There is a receptacle on top of the bellows proper which is filled with powdered sulphur. A tube passes from the bellows through the sulphur to the lid. This tube has a cap which has four long holes cut in it and is kept on the tube by a little brass spring. When forcing air through, the tube lifts the cap up to the holes and forces the powdered sulphur out of the discharge tube.

Animal's Idea of Numbers.

Many animals have an idea of concrete numbers up to a few units and some go even farther. A dog which is accustomed to receive only three pieces of sugar will not ask for more after he has had his quota. In certain mines where horses are required to make thirty trips a day they walk at once to the stable after making the thirtieth trip. Montaigne tells of an ox employed in the royal gar of Suza, that refused to perform his great irrigation wheels the one hundred revolutions.

Their Opinion of Babies.

When Mark Twain, nursing his first born, was asked by a friend if he loved it, he drawled, in reply: "I don't exactly love it, but—I respect it." Dr. Johnson was of somewhat the same opinion, for when Boswell asked what he would do if he were shut up in a castle with a newborn infant the doctor confessed he should prefer solitude. When Charles Lamb was asked how he liked babies he made stammering answer, "Madam, I like them b-b-b-b."
