Ben Rathbone of Detroit visited with his daughter, Mrs. H. E. Meldrum last week.

Mrs. Mae Winchester was in Detroit last week Thursday.

The Ferrinsville bridge is being repaired, which it needed badly, as it was in a dangerous condition.

The Sunday-school will give a social at the hall Tuesday evening, June 21st. All are cordially invited to attend.

Driven to Desperation.

Living at an out of the way place, remote from civilization, a family is often driven to desperation in case of accident, resulting in Burns, Cuts, Wounds Ulcers, etc. Lay in a supply of Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's the best on earth. 25c. at John L. Gale's and The Wolverine Drug Co.

NEWBURG.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Cochrane, who are on their way to his charge, are visiting friends here a few days. He conducted the League meeting Sunday evening and gave a very pleasant talk. She occupied her old place at the organ.

Rev. Wm. Rawlinson, of Greenbush, made a short visit to friends last week. He is always welcome to his many friends here.

Ladies' Aid at the Norris home was a success. There were seventy-two at supper. The ladies are doing a lot of good work. They are making up a box to send to a worthy family on Mr. Rawlinson's charge.

Mrs. J. Stark and Miss Mary Stark visited Detroit last week.

Mrs. Dickerson, Sr., has returned from an extended visit to her daughter in west Plymouth.

Children's day exercises were fine. Some of our little people did extra well, and all did good work, showing that we can look for some bright marks from Newburg in the future. There were four children baptised.

Miss Ira Everets is visiting her aunts, Mrs. Grow and Mrs. Macender.

Mrs. Stella Davey and daughter, of Detroit, visited here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Congdon, daughter and son-in-law, of Ypsilanti, were here Sunday.

Messrs. Caldwell, Foster and Hutton will all be with us Sunday evening. All should hear them.

The Ladies' Aid will give a "stocking" social at the hall June 25th. Everybody bring a stocking, containing as many cents as the size of their hose. Ice cream and cake served; all invited.

Incredible as it may seem, there is no such place as Chow-chow on the map.

It's a wise husband who lets his wife make all the arrangements for the summer vacation.

Rev. Dr. Locke says that only the good are brave, but fortunately others besides the brave are good.

It is sad to hear that Bill Nye's widow is in want. That is too frequently the legacy of humorists.

We don't know where the fly has been all winter long, but it was somewhere where he got nicely rested.

After all is said and done the disease microbe still remains the most deadly implement of modern warfare.

In Korea they sell the offices to the highest bidder. They could hardly be expected to let them go to the lowest.

As no news is reported from Brazil or Peru, it is supposed that war is going on there in the same old monotonous way.

An English parish church has changed its hour of service to suit the golf players—including the parson, perhaps.

The eighteen miles between Nanshan hill and Port Arthur is generally recognized as the longest eighteen miles in all Asia.

One of the club women at St. Louis declared that "Good pies will not hurt any one," but she didn't add that she could make them.

A fashion journal declares that the summer girl this year will wear suspenders, but unfortunately neglects to say whose suspenders.

In Korea widows are not permitted to remarry, but there are no statistics to show what effect this custom has on masculine longevity.

An Ohio justice of the peace makes every couple he marries promise not to seek divorce. Don't have to "seek it"—it just comes natural.

A passenger brakeman who is around depots a good deal says no man is so ornery that somebody does not want to kiss him.

Why is it that every successful test of a flying machine ends with some disablement of the machinery that prevents further experimenting?

A Baltimore man has been fined $100 for kissing his typewriter girl. The dispatches don't say how much it cost him to square it with his wife.

"In these days," said Prof. Burleigh, "too many society women bring up a child in the way the nurse girl says it shall go—when they bring them up at all."

In a New Jersey town the mayor recently cut out an appropriation to buy pocketknives for the aldermen. They probably found their own pocket-books.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has gone on record in opposition to divorces. This is a magnificent compliment to the husbands the ladies now possess.

A Baltimore preacher has been sued by his brokers for the "commissions" on a recent "fyer" in the stock market. What might be called a "high-frown" preacher.

A Milwaukee contemporary says that "the man with a small income is passing through a trying time." The trouble is that so many never get through, but get stuck.

One of the Indian chiefs on exhibition at the St. Louis fair wears eye glasses. This is perhaps the strongest possible indication that the noble redman can be civilized.

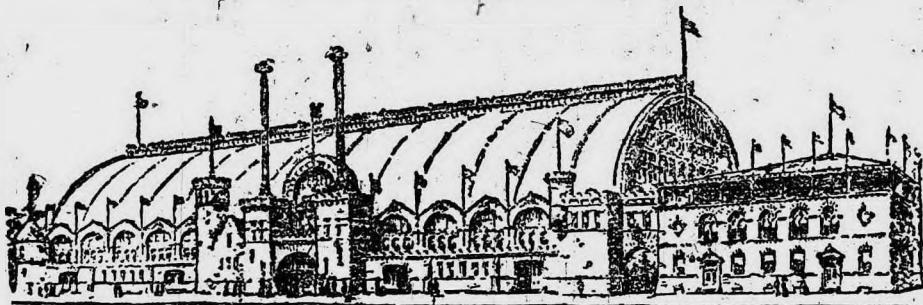

Now it is settled that the insurance companies do not have to settle the policies of men who have been hanged or committed suicide, who is going to take chances on paying premiums?

It has been discovered by an eminent Boston authority that Paul Revere's morals were far from being what they should have been. This renders it impossible for us to revere him as we did.

Letters from Mr. Perdicaris say that his health is good and that he is well cared for; but there is no postscript to add that he is really enjoying his outing in the hills with the Moorish brigands.

Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, the New York alum expert, spent a whole night recently visiting saloons in Gotham, and unlike many others who did the same thing he had no trouble in getting his hat on in the morning.

The Boston Globe states that there is a sad-eyed man down in Maine whom the neighbors call "Mrs. Capt. Johnson's husband." Some men have greatness thrust upon 'em. "Capt. Johnson" might never have been heard of if it wasn't for this borrowed radiance.

The Chicago committee in charge of the preparations for the convention promised the Republican national committee that the finest convention hall in the world would be placed at its disposal if it would bring the convention to this city. Having secured the convention, the committee went to work to make good its promise. All the seats are sloping, so that each delegate can have a splendid view of the chairman's platform and the convention hall proper. The balcony is reserved for spectators, the location of the platform making it possible for every person in the building to see and hear without difficulty.

IN CRIPPLE CREEK.

Some Will Hang for Dynamite Outrage—Late Phases.

The committee of safety was in session nearly all day Saturday holding examinations. A number of men have stated that they were willing to live up their unions cards as there was no longer any union, but they were not willing to take out a permit to work from the Mine Owners' association, but preferred to leave town. The committee states that it has extremely damaging evidence against a number of persons, connecting them with the Independence dynamite outrage and it is likely some very important evidence will be introduced when the trial comes up. A member of the court of inquiry says: "We have evidence that will hang five and possibly double that number, and enough to fill the pentitentiary. We have unearthed a state of things that the public will be slow to believe; that we ourselves are appalled at, even knowing, as we have, that they are bad. We would be doing a wrong to turn these people loose. They must be punished, and will be, now that the laws are enforced."

Gen. Bell says: "I have indisputable evidence which will lead to the conviction of a number of union men for the murder of the non-union miners who were killed in the Independence depot explosion. We have between thirty-five and forty men in the bull pen who will swing for this crime. We are only waiting to capture two or three more men before we tell what our evidence is." He has announced that the troops will not be needed much longer as the civil authorities have control of the situation and the people are looking forward to a speedy end of the military rule.

In following up the determination to exterminate the Western Federation of Miners, from the district, Gen. Bell, as military commander of the district, has issued a proclamation similar in wording and intent to that concerning the Portland mine, directed to the operators of the Pride of Cripple Creek district mine and the Winchester & Morgan leases. These were prepared to be operated with men who are alleged to be a menace to the welfare and safety of the good people of the county and a hindrance to the restoration of peace and good order, and their arrest was ordered as a military necessity.

The reopening of the mines continues, and by the end of next week practically every mine conforming to the military necessity restriction will be working full force.

The announcement is made of a combination of mining interests of America, with John D. Rockefeller at its head. The capital of the merged companies, it is said, will be $2,500,000 and the purpose is to control the mineral output of the United States with the possible exception of the Calumet & Hecla copper mine in Michigan.

Smoke from burning cigars in the basement of Holtz's cafe, on Broadway, New York, overcame 30 firemen, their eyes burning so intensely that they could not continue work.

When the Perdicaris matter is settled at Tangier, the U. S. warships may go to Turkey to induce the ports to settle missionaries' grievances.

"Bully" McRae and his son Jack, of Glace Bay, G. B., men of giant physique, fought with bare fists over a money argument, and the son killed his father, after being terribly injured himself.

Rafael Ortiz, the Porto Rican who killed a United States soldier and was sentenced to five years' imprisonment, has been released from the Minnesota penitentiary. Senator Alger's interest in the man's case had much to do with his term being shortened.

SECRETARY CORTELYOU.

Secretary Cortelyou, head of the department of commerce and labor, is said to have been selected by President Roosevelt for chairman of the Republican national committee. No official announcement has been made, and it is quite likely at present that one will be made until the new national committee shall have taken formal action that shall have taken formal action by electing Mr. Cortelyou as chairman. The matter is recognized, however, as being quite as well settled now as it can be in advance oratorical ability.

No Legal Power.

President Roosevelt has received a telegram from W. D. Haywood, secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, urging him to institute an investigation of the present serious condition of affairs in the Cripple Creek mining district of Colorado. At least twice heretofore, in the last six months, the president has been asked to interfere in the Colorado troubles, but declined, after mature consideration, because he had no legal power to take action in the matter. It is regarded by those in close touch with him to be unlikely that the president will interfere in any way with the action of the constituted authorities of the state of Colorado.

Wounded Officers.

Wounded officers who have returned to Japan, give interesting details of the battle of Nanshan hill. After the first ineffectual attack on the hill Japanese scouts discovered that there were mines at the foot of the hill. It was determined that they could be definitely located only by the sacrifice of some men. Hundreds volunteered to go to what appeared to be certain death. They led the second advance and found that heavy rains had washed away the covering of earth and had exposed the mines. Engineers cut the connecting wires. The volunteers were nearly all killed in the subsequent ineffectual attack on the hill.

The Osaka men from the right wing, while advancing through the water along the shore, encountered a body of Russians also in the water. A fierce fight ensued, both sides being waist deep in the sea. When the Russians finally retreated the water was literally crimson. Both sides lost heavily.

Shot His Tormentor.

Matt Wilson, about 35 years of age, was shot by a shoemaker named Thos. Doonin at Corvina Friday night. Wilson was brought to Manistique hospital, and died at midnight. Doonin is about 70 years old. He was bothered by young men, took a shotgun loaded with buckshot and fired. Seven shot took effect in Wilson's left side above the hip. Wilson was a Canadian and had no relatives in this vicinity. Doonin gave himself up.

No Bees to Be Grown.

It is reported that the Tawas sugar factory, completed by the sugar trust last year at a cost of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars, will not be operated this season owing to inability to secure beet acreage. Contracts for only 2,000 acres have been secured, and plans are being made to ship these to the Bay City factory owned by the trust, and which has also had difficulty in securing a sufficient acreage.

Two Hundred Homeless.

The village of Naluma, 35 miles east of Escanaba, had a $40,000 fire Friday, in which 18 buildings were burned and 200 people rendered homeless. Little was saved from the burning buildings. A new water works system was finished a month ago, and had it not been for this the entire village would have been wiped out. The entire village is owned by the Bay De Noc Lumber Co., whose head offices are in Chicago.

Knox Is Senator.

Gov. Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, officially appointed Mr. Knox successor to the late United States Senator Quay. Gen. Knox said: "My retirement from the cabinet will in no way affect the policy of the administration. Mr. Roosevelt stands for certain principles. Upon my resignation he will experience no difficulty in selecting a man who will continue to represent those principles and carry out the national policy as set down by him."

Tobaccoers are just as bad as tale-makers—Sheridan.

Punishing the Russians.

Information was received in New Chwang Monday night through heretofore reliable channels that part of the Japanese force left at Pu-Lan-Tien to checkmate the Russians' southward movement to relieve Port Arthur was attacked southeast of Shun guamo Sunday.

After slight fighting the Japanese made a false retreat, the Russians hotly following them, when the Japanese made a flank movement, catching the Russians in a trap. The Russian losses are placed at 800 men. They then fell back on Kai-Chou and began to retreat along the Baimatgu-Tsai-chou road.

About 2,000 Russian infantry from Kai Chou passed through New Chwang, accompanied by a large supply and hospital train. The troops appeared fagged out and showed every indication of a long forced march.

The officers refused to furnish any information, but a non-commissioned officer told a correspondent that all of the troops were retreating from Tsai-chou. Before he could say anything further he was reprimanded by a captain. Stragglers are closely watched by non-commissioned officers to prevent them from talking.

The Russians have abandoned the ground mines eight miles south of New Chwang. A native messenger just in from the Russian camp east reports that there are many wounded men there.

The Courageous Japs.

Wounded officers who have returned to Japan, give interesting details of the battle of Nanshan hill. After the first ineffectual attack on the hill Japanese scouts discovered that there were mines at the foot of the hill. It was determined that they could be definitely located only by the sacrifice of some men. Hundreds volunteered to go to what appeared to be certain death. They led the second advance and found that heavy rains had washed away the covering of earth and had exposed the mines. Engineers cut the connecting wires. The volunteers were nearly all killed in the subsequent ineffectual attack on the hill.

W. H. Comstock Hurt.

William H. Comstock, the well known Alpena, Mich., capitalist and railroad owner, who is building an interurban trolley line between Rochester and Geneva and through Canandaigua, N. Y., was injured in a collision on the line Sunday Mr. Comstock, F. W. Walker, H. A. Haigh, of Detroit, and others of the company were on board two work trains that came together and all were badly shaken and sustained minor injuries. Mr. Comstock's were the most serious injuries and his physicians fear internal complications.

Claimed He Was Swindled.

A man registered at the Wayne hotel as George Andrews of Kansas, was arrested near the Michigan Central depot, Detroit, Sunday night at the instance of ex-Congressman F. W. Wheeler, who alleges Andrews swindled him out of $6,000 some time ago. Mr. Wheeler was walking on the street when he saw Andrews. On being seized by a policeman the prisoner tried to chew up and swallow a letter giving the police many pointers when they secured it. The officers claim Andrews is an important capture.

Important News From All Parts of Michigan

Happenings of the Week Chronicled Briefly For Busy Readers

Five Years in Court.

When Judge Wauty, of the United States court at Grand Rapids, in whose jurisdiction the railroad taxation case was started and is now pending, receives the testimony taken at various times since early last fall, he will have a mass of technical stuff to wade through, undoubtedly bigger than he has ever tackled before. As was usual in such cases, to save the time of the court, the matter was referred to a special master in chancery, Charles L. Fitch, of Grand Rapids, and he was given a roving commission that authorized the production of witnesses before him in any part of the United States, if he had at least a month before the testimony is passed up to the court of appeals and the United States supreme court for four or five years.

Detroit Murderer Caught.

William Stevens, who was wanted in Detroit for the murder of Ralph Calkins, a bartender in Bowman Bros. Cratich avenue saloon, on the night of May 13, has been captured in St. Louis while it is claimed, he was perpetrating a hold-up similar to that in which he is alleged to have shot down Calkins.

After being in jail a week his true identity has been established through the Detroit police receiving photographs and identifying them as those of Stevens. In St. Louis he went under the name of Bert Pearson. The authorities declare they will not hand over Stevens to the Detroit police until he is tried on the charges against him there.

Prisoners at Large.

Though the woods over a wide radius have been searched and the roads watched, the convicts who escaped from the Marquette penitentiary Wednesday noon are still at liberty. Asa Taft, George Wilson and George Taylor, all long-termers from lower Michigan, constitute the trio. Their escape was cunningly planned, was made possible by building operations in progress as the result of the last winter, and was not discovered until last night. The escape is laid to Taft, who, as librarian, has considerable freedom within the walls and who undoubtedly found an opportunity at odd times for cutting through and concealing his work till it was completed.

W. H. Comstock Hurt.

To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation because of ill health of Probate Judge John C. Hanson, of Crawford county, Gov. Bliss has appointed E. E. Turner, of Grayling.

The 3-year-old son of Joseph Heiver son, living with the family of Peter Johnson at Pt. Auclair, fell over a pair of hot water, scalding the entire front of his body. The babe died of its injuries.

Benjamin Ferris, a Bell telephone line foreman, was killed at Bridgeport during Wednesday night, supposedly by a train. His body was found in the morning on the Pere Marquette trestle.

The body of Mrs. Albert Anderson, missing since Tuesday, was found Friday morning in Muskegon lake. It is supposed she became dizzy and fell in while fishing alone on Tuesday evening.

Miss Ethel Luckenbill, of Venice township, took a large dose of poison by mistake, thinking it was her medicine. With timely assistance of physicians the young lady's life was soon out of danger.

The Menominee shingleweavers' strike is settled and the 300 or more men have returned to their work and nearly all of the mills in the district will resume operations after being idle for weeks.

William Stevens, the alleged murderer of Ralph Calkins, of Detroit, is believed to be in the upper peninsula. A man fitting his description in every way and acting suspiciously has been in Ishpeming and the environs of Ne-gawee.

The 9-year-old son of John Dulanda, of Mapleton, was brought to Traverse City for an operation to remove a hard swelling on his breast. The knife brought to light a No. 4 shot, but the boy says he has no idea how it got there.

Edward Pratt, while suffering from apoplexy, was picked up by the Bay City police and lodged in jail as a drunk. It was not until 12 hours later that the real state of affairs was discovered, and then it was too late. Pratt died shortly afterward without recovering consciousness.

MaJ. Charles W. Bennett, of Coldwater, has returned from the University hospital, where he has been the past four months. MaJ. Bennett, who is an ex-Union war veteran, underwent the operation of having removed the greater part of his larynx, and his recovery is something remarkable.

For the first time in his life, which has covered a period of 90 years, Thos. Bullion, is bedridden in his home. His shoulder was dislocated Friday afternoon by being jolted from his wagon to the pavement. His father is said to have lived to the age of 115 and his mother 112.

Picnic and Fourth of July Celebration at Northville.

The Modern Woodmen of Wayne county are to hold their annual picnic at Northville this year and the fourth of July has been selected as the date, so that the people of Northville can turn in and help make the affair a grand success by having a big Fourth of July celebration in connection.

There are to be bands, fireworks, ball games, athletic contest with prizes galore, a basket picnic and a dance and fireworks in the evening, besides all the other regulation features of a typical Fourth of July "blow out." Even the red lemonade, pop corn and candy will be in evidence, and if all the Woodmen in Wayne county and their families get together there is sure to be a crowd, besides all the rest of the inhabitants of the county, who are also invited. There are two electric lines and one steam road leading into Northville, and all the highways will lead there, too, on the glorious Fourth.

The citizens will be ready to welcome all who come, as they are very proud of their pretty little town among the hill, which has been named "the Switzerland of Wayne county," and has within its limits the highest point of land in the county. Everybody is invited and everybody will be welcome.

The Old and the New.

Fifty-six years ago, the 24th day of July, was laid the corner stone of the Presbyterian church now being remodeled. The copper box in the stone contained among other things a document written by E. J. Penniman and this when the stone was uncovered last week, was found yet to be in good state preservation. A list of 67 names was also contained in the box, who were subscribers to the building fund, and of this whole number, not one is said to be now living. The paper written by Mr. Penniman is as follows:

Plymouth, July 14, 1848.
This day commenced the brick work of the Second Presbyterian Society church. Mason work by Adolphus Brigham and George Peters. Woodwork by Christopher G. Cramer, Jonathan Shearer and Henry Fralick, building committee. E. S. Shepard, pastor. Erasmus G. Landon, Luther Safford, Jonathan Sherer, Henry Fralick, trustees.

The town of Plymouth in 1845, 1846, 1847 and 1848 voted by majorities from 66 to 165 against license for the sale of intoxicating drinks. Population of township, census of 1845, 2802. Plymouth division No. 7, Sons of Temperance, numbers about 90 men.

Ebenezer J. Penniman writes the above paper.

This paper was copied by Mrs. W. O. Allen, daughter of Mr. Penniman, and the copy with the original was placed in the new corner stone laid last Friday afternoon. In this box was also deposited copies of the Herald and Presbyterian-Westminster and Michigan Presbyterian, a list of the present members of the church, a list of the names of subscribers to the building fund of present improvements, the names of the family of Rev. Thos. B. Leith and names of elders, trustees and building committee. The ceremony, which was conducted by Rev. Leith, was most impressive and was participated in by a number of church members and friends.

Broke an Arm.

It was a rather "mixed" ball game—that of the Plymouths vs. Spaldings, of Detroit. The latter club had a good battery, but that is all that can be said of them. Had their fielders been of any support, Plymouth would have been badly beaten. Pitcher Wood, for Plymouth, was out of form and was rather freely belted. In the fifth inning, while a Detroit base runner was making third, Will Smith, who occupied the sack, was thrown to the ground, falling in such a way as to break his left wrist. Dr. Kenyon, who was among the spectators, took the young man to his office and set the bones, the ball player then pluckily returning to the ball grounds to see the balance of the game. Umpire Roe also let it be known that he was in the game by benching a couple of Detroiters because of too much kicking on decisions, which was the right thing for him to do. The score was 9 to 7 in favor of Plymouth.

A reunion of the Safford family was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Ella Safford. Dinner was served, there being present quite a company of guests, including Maj. and Mrs. Louis Safford and Dr. J. P. Safford, of Detroit.

Vile Language Alleged.

E. Hall lives on the line of the electric road near Newburg and the street car people say has been more or less troublesome. Last Monday he drove on the track with a load of timber and held the car up over half an hour. When Conductor H. A. Roe talked to him, it is alleged he used vile language in the presence of ladies and children. Conductor Roe reported the matter to Supt. Richmond and it was decided to lodge a complaint against him, which was done before Justice Valentine. Officer Springer served the warrant and the examination was set for Tuesday afternoon, at which time Hall appeared in court with an attorney. The latter found a flaw in the papers and Hall was discharged by the Justice. A new warrant was immediately issued and Hall was re-arrested. He gave bail for his appearance next Wednesday.

Seven Mills on the Dollar.

At a special meeting of the council last week Thursday evening, estimates for the various village funds were made by the committees and it was resolved that Assessor Ladd spread a tax of seven mills on the dollar to raise the amount needed. This will place about $2,000 in the street fund, and it is hoped something will be done with Main street, at least to the extent of draining the same and making it ready for some kind of pavement next year. This work ought to begin at once and not put off until the first of October and then allowed to slumber another year.

The council also passed a resolution ordering the building within ninety days of a cement sidewalk on the north side of Church street and on the north side of Ann Arbor, east of Sutton street.

Fix Up the Park.

There are not many towns in this State, or any other State, that have a public park located as is the park in Plymouth. If there are, we feel quite sure that the people take some sort of pride in it and keep it in at least fairly decent shape. The people of Plymouth do not appreciate a park, or they would certainly make some effort to make it a place attractive to the eye and a pleasure to sit beneath the shady branches of the trees. As it is, it is a disgrace to the town, and might better be abandoned and allowed to revert to the original owners or heirs, and be sold for building lots. Strangers speak of our handsome residences and beautifully kept lawns, but refer to the park as a cow pasture and even worse than that.

House Burned Down.

The house of James Boyd, situated about half mile south of the village, was burned to the ground last Monday afternoon about four o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd were working out doors when the fire was first discovered and the cause is not definitely known, but supposed to have originated from a gasoline stove. Most of the contents were saved by energetic work of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd and their neighbors. The loss will reach about $1500, being partially covered by insurance. An alarm was sent down to the village, but the village fire department was not called out as the nearest hydrant was too far away to have been reached by hose.

Baccalaureate.

There was a crowded congregation in the Baptist church Sunday evening to hear the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. W. O. Stovall. The church had been prettily decorated with the class colors, gold and white, and flowers and potted plants were in profusion. The class were escorted to their seats in the church by the Juniors and were also accompanied by the teachers. Rev. Stovall made a most impressive and effective address, giving excellent and wholesome advice to those who were now about to enter upon the responsibilities of life. Revs. Stephens and Leith also took a part in the services.

You Will Feel Like a New Woman.

Zoe Flora Instills New Life into Weak and Suffering Women—Trial Bottle Free to All Women.
Zoe Flora has been proved by overwhelming and conclusive evidence to be the greatest remedy on earth for weak and suffering women. Many thousands of women who have used it say:
"Zoe Flora cures nervousness and permanently all rheumatism, irregularities, suppressed and painful periods, leucorrhoea, piles, kidney, liver and bladder troubles and all weaknesses and diseases peculiar to the sex. We have thousands of testimonial letters telling of its wonderful cures of each and every one of these troubles."
Mrs. M. L. Bahr, Box 228, Reynoldsburg, Ohio, says: "I had been sick and unable to do much for a long time, when I saw your ad. in a paper and I wrote to you for a sample bottle, which you kindly sent me. I took it and felt so much better that I got me a large bottle and took it with the result that I now feel like a new woman. I had been doctoring for two years, and still I was not able to do my household work after I had taken your medicine. I think Zoe Flora is the best thing a woman can take during change of life and a run-down system from overwork; that was what was the matter with me."
Write to the Zoe Flora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich., for a free trial bottle and a copy of their illustrated medical book, "Dr. Ross's Advice to Women." The doctor will gladly give free medical advice when needed. Zoe Flora is for sale at drug stores.

Sunday evening, at 7:30, Dr. Lee S. McClester will preach at the Universalist church, upon "The Ideal of Today for the Average Man."

Worship with preaching by the pastor at the Baptist Church Sunday morning. In the evening the service will be given over to the Sunday school for children's day exercises.

Services in the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath morning. The pastor will preach. Children's day exercises and reception of members and baptismal service. C. E. Society at 6:30 P. M. Mrs. Maude Schrader will lead. Subject "Unhesitating Confidence in Christ." All are cordially invited. There will be no preaching service in the evening on account of the K. O. T. M. meeting in the M. E. church.

F. M. Smith has purchased a lot of W. O. Allen on the corner of Harvey and Church streets and will build a fine house thereon as soon as possible. John Lundy has the contract. With the new cement walk to be built on Church street, it will be one of the finest streets in town. For all of which much credit is to be given to Mr. Allen.

The ninth, tenth and eleventh grades tendered a farewell reception to the senior class and Prof. Mealley and Miss Howes at the school-house last Friday evening. Games and refreshments were indulged in when President Markham, of the Junior class, made some pertinent remarks, and then called upon others to further add to the interest of the occasion.

The Plymouth ball club has arranged to play with the Chelsea Stars on July 4th. The boys ought to win one, if not both of the games, and to help them along, they are going to ask all ball enthusiasts to accompany them on the trip and do the rooting. They ought to succeed in getting up several car loads, as every one will want to take an outing on that day.

Many Plymouth ladies attended the O. E. S. baby show at Northville last Saturday afternoon and evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roe's children were awarded the prize as the youngest twins.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century, discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for anything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Birmingham, N. Y., on every bottle.

Startling Evidence.

Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds to be unequalled. A recent expression from T. J. McFarland Bentorville, Va. serves as an example. He writes: "I had Bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all Lung and Throat troubles, Consumption, Pneumonia and Grip. Guaranteed by John L. Gale and The Wolverine Drug Co.

There will be an ice cream social on H. J. Fisher's lawn on Oak street, near the depot, Tuesday evening, June 21st. Benefit German church. Everybody welcome.

Wm. Streng, of Detroit, and Miss Mary Dingeldey were married at the home of the bride in Canton Wednesday evening, only immediate relatives being present. Rev. G. D. Ehnis officiated.

E. N. Passage has purchased the property of V. E. Hill on Main street, also the lot in the rear of the property of Geo. A. Starkweather, upon which he will erect a barn. Mr. Hill has purchased of Mr. Passage the Miller property on Oak street.

The decision of the judges, appointed by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, to examine the essays of the pupils of our public school upon the subject of Alcohol and Nicotine, was as follows: Of the high school—best—Clyde Bentley; 8th and 7th grades, Evelyn Thomas; 6th and 5th grades, Viola Wright; 4th grade, Pierre Bennett. The prizes given were books—"The Making of a Man," by Grover Cleveland, "Van and Vet" and "Prove It," companion volumes, "Over the Gate" and "The Strike at Shane's" in respective order. Most of the compositions showed careful preparation and reflected great credit, not only upon the pupils who participated in the contest, but also upon their respective teachers.

NOTICE.

The Cemetery Commission desires to call attention to the following facts:

1st. It is known that recently several persons have been making a business of taking plants and cut flowers from the lots in the cemetery. There being a State law punishing this offense, the same will be used and enforced against the offenders if the act is repeated.

2nd. Lot owners are requested to be certain that all hydrants are shut off before they leave the cemetery. This should be done even though there may be no water running through the pipes at the time, as the supply tank is liable to fill in their absence and the water be wasted.

THE SEA.

Come down with me to the moon-lit sea,
Where the long wave ebb and flow—
Are these the tides that will—
As the lunar tides will?

Nay, rather this is the heart of God,
Naked under the sky,
And we hear its pulses with wonder—
The shore, and the clouds, and it

Uncertainly, awful, unimpelled,
Eternity framed in clay,
The urge of exhausted passions
Rocking beneath the gray!

Its life is the blood of the universe
Through cosmic arteries buried,
With the throbs of its giant pulses
God feeds the veins of the world!

And the lands are wrinkled and gray
With time
And scored with a thousand scars,
But the sea is the soul of the infinite,
Bathing beneath the stars!

LEONARD CAWTHORNE'S HOMECOMING

BY FRED J. COX

As Leonard Cawthorne walked down the narrow lane under the shade of the overarching hedges, he glanced about him with an eye of sober delight. The surrounding landscape was precisely that which had always formed the background of his dreams when at nighttime in his lone Canadian ranch current of his thoughts had involuntarily set homeward. As he remembered it as a boy, as he had dreamed of it as a man, so the picture remained, true down to the smallest of its details, even to the wisps of straw caught by the projecting forks in the hedgerow when the corn-laden wain had passed.

It was in such a setting that he had always thought of her. Indeed, the landscape without her would for Leonard Cawthorne's eyes at least have lost more than half its charm.

Presently the corn lands ceased, and the lane broadening out ran by the side of undulating meadows to the village of Nethercote lying in the valley below.

Nethercote farm lay back from the roadway, just at the edge of the village. As Leonard walked up the path which led to the house a troop of early memories crowded in upon him. He had a clear right to a share of the property after their father's death, but Mark seized everything, with that grasping nature of his end soon made it plain to Leonard that his room in Nethercote would be preferable to his company. Feeling this, like a sensitive man he had resolved to emigrate, and this resolve was industriously fed by Mark, who lent him £150 to start ranch life in Canada. Fortune had smiled so pleasantly upon him that the repayment of that sum was now, after fifteen years, quite an easy matter.

He knocked at the door, which was presently opened by a round-shouldered figure of a man, who with one hand held aloft a small metal lamp and with the other shaded his eyes and peered at the stranger.

"Well, Mark! You'll hardly know me, I guess?"

"Oh, it's you, is it? You'd best come in," answered the other.

He led the way into the farm parlor, a large room meagerly furnished, for the illumination of which the glimmer of the little lamp was absurdly inadequate. Leonard took a chair facing his brother and leaned his arm on a round deal table, ridiculously small to serve as the centerpiece of so large an apartment.

"Well, Mark," he said, "how've things gone with you all these years?"

Mark replied, "Not overgrand."

Leonard laughed. "Why, the farm's twice the size it used to be!"

"Don't judge by appearance. I suppose you've made your fortune?" answered Mark.

"Not exactly that," Leonard replied, "but I've nothing much to complain about. Married yet?"

The wrinkles deepened on the low

"A nice, brotherly welcome!" cried Leonard, bitterly.

forehead of the elder man as he replied, "Are you?"

"No, I'm not married," was the answer.

"Still waiting for Thirza Loveday, is 'pose?"

"Well, and what of it?" Leonard asked, more sharply than he had yet spoken.

"She'll never have thee, that's all," was the other's sullen reply.

"She is your wife?" said Leonard hoarsely.

"And what if she is?" retorted Mark savagely.

"Can't you answer a plain question, man?" cried Leonard.

Mark did not stir nor speak, he only went on smoking.

"A nice brotherly welcome!" cried Leonard, bitterly. "I see how it is. The sooner I'm out of Nethercote the better it will please you. I won't trouble you long, but before I leave your house to-night I've determined to settle up a little business with you."

"What business?" asked Mark.

"Look here," exclaimed Leonard quickly, "stow that kind of talk. I've come to pay back your money, for I wouldn't be beholden to you for a farthing."

A strange glitter came into the other's eyes.

"Here's the money," shouted Leonard, laying a bundle of bank notes on the table.

Just then the click of a latch at the back of the farm was heard. Both men started. The door leading from the farm kitchen into the parlor now opened and a woman entered, bearing a lamp which at once gave a cheerier aspect to the room.

She was fairly tall, apparently a little over 30 years of age and dressed becomingly in black. Dark brown curls clustered above her forehead, and her eyes as they glanced inquiringly at Leonard Cawthorne had a rare sweetness of expression.

He rose quickly as she approached and held out his hand. "Thirza!" he cried.

"Why, it's Leonard!" she said in a voice that was tremulous with excitement. "How well you look and how glad I am to see you back in Nethercote again!"

"Yes, Thirza, I'm back again," said Leonard. "I wanted to see the old village again. Though perhaps 'twas hardly worth while, for there's not much in Nethercote to interest me now. But there was a little business with Mark I wanted to settle."

"But what business?" she asked eagerly. She glanced across at Mark, who sat crouching in his chair, and as she did so her eye caught the glint of gold lying on top of the notes.

"A business which don't concern no one but us two," growled Mark.

"Why be so secret about it?" said Leonard contemptuously. "The fact is, Thirza, I owed your husband—he noticed that she started violently at the word—"a little sum of money which he lent me when I went away. I've now repaid him—that's all."

Without waiting to hear more she walked over to Mark and pointing to the money on the table, said sternly: "Return that at once!"

"But why?" asked Leonard, thunderstruck at her strange behavior.

"It has been paid already. Let us go away," she said to Leonard. She moved quickly to the door, and Leonard, after taking a last look at his stepbrother, left him to his feelings.

"Thirza," said Leonard as they walked away from Nethercote in the direction he had come only an hour before, "there are two things that puzzle me greatly. What is this about the money, and why did you marry—him?"

"I have not married him," she said quietly.

"Thank God," he cried fervently. "But why were you in his house to-night? You came as though you belonged to the place."

Slowly he gathered from her that her family, having fallen on evil days, with her father dead and her mother constantly ailing, she was obliged to work. Mark Cawthorne, finding that she could not come to Nethercote farm in any other capacity, begged that she

She only nestled closer to him, the farm kitchen into the parlor now opened and a woman entered, bearing a lamp which at once gave a cheerier aspect to the room.

With hands benumbed, but happy face. Past us the wild sea-horse race. Leap up to seize each twanging brace Or slip beneath our lifting keel. Dream that light, beyond the clouds, And let me make in the forward shrouds, And all the long waves topped with foam—

Yet heed them not: I'm going home. Night's Northern stars draw nigh. The Southern constellations sink. Soon we shall see along the brink Of these cold seas fire island blink Its welcome in the frosty sky. Behold that light, beyond the glow Of our great city spread below. Thine eyes now wait to welcome me. Back where my heart has longed to be. —L. Frank Tooker.

Woman Had Her Wits With Her. Lawyers are so prone to demand answers to embarrassing and relevant questions that when a sharp witness can pay them back they get nothing but their deserts.

A middle-aged woman once stood in court as a minor witness. Among other trivial questions of no bearing on the case the counsel for the defendant asked the witness to state her age.

"Sir," said she, "I refuse to answer that question."

"But you must," persisted the lawyer: "why won't you tell the Court your age?"

"Well," replied the witness, "my age I only know by hearsay, and hearsay evidence is never taken in court."

Dogs Know the Road Rules. On the trail through Bannock valley, in the Klondike, dogs are used as pack animals, and dog trains are commonly met with by the traveler. The dogs make better time than donkeys. They carry little canvas bags across their backs, filled with freight. Dogs used for packing are much larger, as a rule, than sled dogs.

A miner will invariably step aside when he meets a dog on the trail. If the man is going up, the dog will take the siding. The dogs appear to understand the laws of the trail as well as the men do, and the miners respect the rights of the dogs just as the Turks respect the sacred dogs of Constantinople.

Wine from Missouri. Missouri is not often thought of as a wine-producing state, yet recent statistics compiled by the State Board of Agriculture show that the state produces annually more than 100,000 gallons of wine, and that more than 13,000,000 pounds of grapes are raised each year. These figures apply to the products which are shipped out, as no record can be kept of the large amount of both grapes and wine that are produced for home use.

world at least come in every day and tidy up the place for him. He paid her for this, she said, and it was a great help.

"Better a thousand times be that man's servant than his wife," he cried. "But, dear Thirza, I am still in the dark about the money."

It was some time before she answered.

"It's a long time ago now," she said at last. "He wanted me to marry him and threatened that if I didn't he would do all sorts of things against you. And he was beginning to talk about you in the village, and—"

"So you paid the money to save my good name," broke in Leonard: "Darling Thirza! 'Twasn't much of a name to save, but you have a right to it because you saved it. Will you take it for your own, and its owner with it into the bargain?"

For answer she only nestled closer to him, while the stars and the round harvest moon smiled down upon them in benediction.—Fred J. Cox in Chicago Chronicle.

GET YOUR OWN LICENSE.

Old Dinky Was Easy to Please, but You Might Not Be.

Uncle Joe is an old negro on a farm near Chesapeake City, a farm owned by the family whose slave he was years ago. He is a widower, and lately has spruced up to a degree. Not long since one of the young men of the place started for the city, when he was hailed by Uncle Joe.

"Mistah George," he said, sheepishly, "you done goin' to town? You might do a favor for me."

"Certainly, Uncle," was the response. "What is it?"

"Well, you might—you might git a marriage license for me."

The white man was amused; but seeing that the old negro was offended, he said, "I'll get the license sure, Uncle, I'll get it," and rode off.

After attending to his own affairs in town, he suddenly remembered the marriage license, but was nonplussed, for he had not asked the name of Uncle Joe's fiancée. He happened to recall that he had noticed Uncle Joe around the kitchen a good deal of late, and that Amanda, dusky, fat and 40, and the best cook in the county, always had a delectable morsel reserved for the old man; so, of course, it must be Amanda. Armed with the happy credentials, Mr. George galloped home and handed the paper to the old man, who took it and looked at it. The license was read to him.

"Mandy Jones!" he cried, when the bride's name was pronounced. "Why, it ain't her—it's Lize Allen down by de creek."

Here was a dilemma. "Well," said the white man, "there's only one thing to do: You must get another license. It is just $3 thrown away."

Uncle Joe took the paper, folded it and put it in his pocket.

"I'll done ask 'Mandy to have me," he said; "for I don't think dar's $3 diff'rence 'tween dem ladies."

Shorten the Feeding Period.

In grading up the herd the farmer should have one object in view if he is trying to produce profitable beef.

That one aim should be to produce an animal that will mature in a short time and be of a conformation that will yield the largest possible amount of high-priced cuts. This is a great item in the matter of profits, as the less time required to get an animal ready for market, the less feed will be used and the less money paid out for care, which must always be figured as having some marketable value. The work of more than a hundred years in scientific breeding has been to produce an animal that would mature rapidly. In grading up this should be kept fully in mind. Also at time of putting such cattle into the feed lot the fact should not be forgotten that the herdsman is dealing with cattle that have been bred up to be fattened in a short instead of a long time. A good many herdsmen that have been accustomed to feeding the old-fashioned steer make the mistake of feeding the improved steer for too long a time, and so both over-finish him and lose valuable time and feed. Beyond a certain point every pound of feed put into the steer is so much money thrown away. The professional feeder must watch this matter and turn off his animals as soon as they are ready to go to the slaughter pens, and at once put in a new lot of animals to be fed. In this way it is perfectly easy to feed to ripeness three bunches of cattle in the same time it took to feed two of the scrub variety.

Poultry Culture in Denmark.

Poultry culture has assumed large proportions in Denmark during recent years. In 1871 only 50,000 dozen of eggs were exported, but the next year it jumped up to 555,000 dozen, and in 1873 it made another great gain, 2,210,000 dozen being exported that year. In 1895 the Danish Co-operative Egg Export association was organized, and the next year the eggs exported amounted to 20,379,000 dozen. In 1902, the last year for which we have statistics, there were exported 55,967,000 dozen. The producers of these eggs are mostly small farmers with only two or three acres of land.

The breeds most popular in Denmark are said to be the Brown Leghorns, Spanish Minorcas and the Andalusians. Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes have been introduced there, and are growing in favor. Langshans and Orpingtons are also beginning to draw attention. Brahas and Cochins are not popular, being considered too coarse and too often "broody."

Mechanical incubators and brooders are being used, but the most popular brooder is said to be the turkey. Few people, however, make a specialty of poultry farming, and there are few large poultry establishments in the kingdom. Egg production is carried on as a side issue.

The color of butter is too high for the best grade of the butter making industry, if vegetable coloring matter is to be used. We are trying to get back to vegetable coloring matter, as the aniline dyes are now being prohibited in different states and are likely to be in all states where butter-making is largely carried on. The use of these coal tar dyes has led to the higher coloring of the butter than formerly, and the vegetable colors being weaker have to be used in too large quantities if the same color is to be kept up. The large use of these vegetable colors does not injure the food value of the butter, but does sometimes affect the flavor, according to the testimony of experts. The remedy would seem to be to lower the standard of color.

Dairy-Breed Scores.

The attempt that is frequently made to make beef out of dairy steers should be abandoned, except where an animal has passed his usefulness and has to be turned off, or where a cow or calf is unprofitable to keep for some reason. A good many farmers have been fooled by their own experiments in this matter. They have fed such steers and have kept an account of the gains made and have seen that in many instances a dairy animal will make as rapid gains as a beef animal. If that were the only test to be made we would have nothing to say against trying to make beef with dairy blood.

At some of our stations dairy steers and beef steers have been fed side by side and the dairy steer has compared favorably with the animal at his side. The difference came when the animal was marketed. Then the dairy steer was found to have put an immense amount of fat on the intestines, where it could be of little commercial value, and to have a great abundance of low priced cuts. The beef steer, on the other hand, was found to have put much of his added fat into the high-priced cuts, and at time of being cut up for meat furnished a very large proportion of these high-priced cuts. This difference was so great that it amounted to a considerable sum of money. The buyers of cattle understand this and make due allowance. Sometimes they make more than a fair deduction, as they do not seem to care to encourage the making of beef from dairy blood. It will not in the main pay any farmer to try to raise beeves from dairy cows.

Old Soldier's Story.

Sonoma, Mich., June 13.—That even in actual warfare disease is more terrible than bullets is the experience of Delos Hutchins of this place. Mr. Hutchins as a Union soldier saw three years of service under Butler Barke in the Louisiana swamps, and as a result got crippled with rheumatism so that his hands and feet got all twisted out of shape, and how he suffered only a rheumatic will ever know.

For twenty-five years he was in misery, then one lucky day his druggist advised him to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Of the result Mr. Hutchins says:

"The first two boxes did not help me much, but I got two more, and before I got them used up I was a great deal better. I kept on taking them and now my pains are all gone and I feel better than I have in years. I know Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure rheumatism."

When strappings come up it never comes back empty-handed.

Fewer married men than bachelors commit suicide.

There is more stomach in this section of the country than all other sections put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be invulnerable. For a great many years a disease pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. George has proven Leonard to be an incurable disease and therefore requires a medicinal treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Married Life in Abyssinia.

In Abyssinia, a husband who can afford the expense is continually adding to his household of wives. As seen as his favorite begins to pall on him he deposits her for another. The new wife rules the house, dictates orders to the other wives, who, strange as it may seem, obey her without open remonstrance. If any of the former favorites ever cared for their lord they soon cease to be jealous of his affectless. They know, too, that the time will surely come when they will be turned out into the streets to look for another master.

Show Surgical Operations.

Cinematograph records are now made of all operations performed by a certain famous physician and surgeon in Paris. He entered some time ago into an arrangement with an operator of the bioscope, who has taken pictures for the doctor on several occasions. It is stated that the records in question are invaluable as scientific documents. One of the surgeon's operations which has been cinematographed was that by which the link of flesh connecting the Hindu twins, Redda and Dadda, was severed.

Miss M. Cartledge gives some helpful advice to young girls. Her letter is but one of thousands which prove that nothing is so helpful to young girls who are just arriving at the period of womanhood as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly, for it is the only medicine I ever tried which cured me. I suffered much from my first menstrual period. I felt so weak and dizzy at times I could not pursue my studies with the usual interest. My thoughts became sluggish, I had headaches, backaches and staking spells, also pains in the back and lower limbs. In fact, I was sick all over.

"Finally, after many other remedies had been tried, we were advised to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am pleased to say that after taking it only two weeks, a wonderful change for the better took place, and in a short time I was in perfect health. I felt buoyant, full of life, and found all work a pastime. I am indeed glad to tell my experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it made a different girl of me. Yours very truly, Miss M. CARLEDGE, 524 Whitehall St., Atlanta, Ga."—$5.00 per bottle. If original of above letter enclosed, remittance cannot be produced.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE between the fruit sprayed with a common spray pump and one that is not. There is a still greater difference from fruit sprayed with the SPRAMOTOR. Why is it? The entomologists get such bounteous returns while the average grower fails? Why do these experts who have used the Spramotor recommend it? Why does the Spramotor kill the San Jose Scale and let the tree live, while the ordinary spray pump kills the tree?

The SPRAMOTOR

will apply soap and oil, or bordeaux and oil and water, or any combination of them in the right proportion. The Spramotor will paint your barns and buildings with oil or Spramotor Water Paint. The Spramotor was winner of the Canadian Government Spraying Contest, and the Gold Medal at the Pan-American Exhibition. Send for 80 page Copyrighted Treatise, "A Cold Mine on Your Farm." It tells about the uses of fruit trees and their remedies. It's free.

Misnamed Street.
One of the frigid nights last week the man from out of town was "seeing Nellie home." He did not know where Nellie lived, but the party which they both had been attending was down near Mill river. The trolley cars had gone off on one of their thoughtless strikes and were not working, so the man and Nellie walked home.

Nellie trotted along happily, for she was well wrapped up in warm furs and the man was an awfully nice man—besides she didn't know his ears were freezing. He wondered if she was going out of her way just to give him a little exercise, or if she really lived miles and miles distant from Mill river. Finally she said as they turned a corner: "This is the street I live on." The man made an effort to arouse his frozen interest and asked politely: "What street is it?"

"Summer street," she replied sweetly, and then wondered why the man from out of town groaned.—Springfield Union.

Gallant Warrior.

"Suppose," said the fair grass widow, "that you and I were out strolling along a lonely road, miles and miles from any house, and where nobody was likely to come along with a wagon or a buggy for a week, and I should suddenly happen to—to sprain my ankle so that I couldn't walk what would you do?"

"Well, I'll tell you," replied, the colonel, "there's one thing I learned in the army that seems to come in kind of pat here."

"Yes?" she eagerly urged. "Something about first aid to the injured? Ah, colonel, you soldiers must be so handy at such times. What was it you learned in the army?"

"Never to worry before a mule gets sick about the kind of treatment he may need."—Chicago Record-Herald

The Vogue of Pantalots.
Pantalots came into vogue about 1820. They were loose, flapping frills tied on under the knee and hanging over the foot. The strings generally broke or slipped down, and one learns of a young mother's trials with those horrid things in a letter quoted by Mrs. Earle, which says: "My dearest dimity pair, with real Swiss lace, is quite useless to me, for I lost off one leg. I saw that mean Mrs. Spring wearing it last week for a tucker. My help says she won't stay if she has to wash more than seven pairs a week for Myrtille."

True Daughter of Revolution.
Mrs. Catherine K. Steele, who died recently at Lyndeborough, N. H., aged nearly 102 years, was a cousin of Franklin Pierce, fourteenth president of the United States, and was the oldest daughter of the American Revolution in her state. Her father, then scarcely more than a lad, fought at Bunker hill, in Starke's brigade.

Woman's Literary Club.
On Friday, June 10th, the Woman's Literary Club closed a very successful year, at which time, to celebrate President's day, 23 of its active members took their lunch baskets and embarked for Belle Isle. After an enjoyable sojourn on the island they returned to the city and spent the remainder of the afternoon at the Detroit Museum of Art, where they were pleasantly entertained by Prof. Griffith, who gave them a complete history of the Scripps collection, thus permanently impressing upon their minds many facts of their year's work.—Sec.

Worst of All Experiences.
Can anything be worse than to feel that every minute will be your last? Such was the experience of Mrs. S. H. Newton, Decatur, Ala. "For three years she writes, 'I endured insufferable pain from indigestion, stomach and bowel trouble. Death seemed inevitable when doctors and all remedies failed. At length I was induced to try Electric Bitters and the result was miraculous. I improved at once and now I'm completely recovered. For Liver, Kidney, Stomach and Bowel troubles Electric Bitters is the only medicine. Only 50c. It's guaranteed by John Gale and The Wolverine Drug Co. Trial bottles free, regular sizes 50c. and $1."

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

stops the cough and heals lungs.

After Everything Else Has Failed.

After physicians have tried in vain and finally said, "I can't cure you," after dozens of other medicines have not given temporary relief, in absolute hopelessness, Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure has, as a last resort, been "tried" and never in all its record of forty-two years has it failed to cure any and every disease for which it was intended.

It is positively guaranteed to quickly and permanently cure Bright's Disease, Backache, Dropsy, Gravel, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Gout, Weak Heart, every Urinary Disorder, Aching Pains over the Hips and Kidneys, Dimmed Vision, Periodical Headaches, Pain in Urethra, Dependancy or "Blues," Sallow Complexion, Foul Breath, Bad Taste in the Mouth, in fact all Irregularities caused by and associate symptoms of Bladder and Kidney Trouble in any form. No matter how long you have suffered, nor how terrible your affliction may be, Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure will cure you. It eradicates totally and completely any irregularity or symptom of Kidney and Bladder Trouble and puts those most vital organs in as perfect and healthy condition as in childhood. It never fails.

It Is Guaranteed to Cure
It destroys the very roots of these diseases. It fortifies the body against the attack of disease germs of every kind. It tones up, renews and invigorates the entire system. It is the only remedy in the world which completely and permanently drains out of the blood every particle of Uric Acid, Urates, etc., which cause these terrible diseases. It has cured thousands of others. It will cure you. Why shorten your life by neglect when health can be yours now.

Had Almost Given Up In Despair.
Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure Brought Health.
It is with a feeling of thankfulness that I write you this letter, and if it will be of any benefit to suffering humanity, you have my permission to publish it.
I was suffering with my kidneys when I saw your advertisement offering a free sample of Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure. I got the sample and was so much benefited by it that I continued taking the medicine, and now I am entirely well. I had tried many things to relieve me of the awful pain in my back and when I had almost given up in despair, Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure brought the relief for which I had so long hoped.
