PERRY TRIAL.

A Detective Holds $50,000 In Cash for Salisbury.

On Saturday the trial of ex-Mayor Perry, of Grand Rapids, developed some new matters. Lant K. Salisbury was hard pressed on cross-examination. Forced by Judge Perkins to reveal the name of the man who assisted him in securing the box in a Chicago safety deposit vault which was used in connection with the Barton $50,000 transaction, Salisbury named his brother, Walter Salisbury, of Hanover. It was also stated by the witness that the $50,000 supposed to have been returned to the Bartons was still in the hands of a detective.

Witness was again asked if he did not pay back the $50,000 to the Bartons on the express agreement that he would not be prosecuted. "I will not discuss that matter," he answered.

Mr. Ellis insisted on an answer to his question and Prosecutor Ward objected. The court ruled that inasmuch as the Barton case had been drawn into the present case, witness must answer. Before answering the question Mr. Salisbury stated:

"I wish to make a statement on the record before I do so."

Attorney Jenkins objected to any record being made, but Judge Perkins told the witness to proceed with his statement.

"I wish to say," said the witness, "that in making this statement I may be implicating others, who may be prosecuted in Illinois, but I do not do it voluntarily. I left that $50,000 in the hands of Detective McGuire, with the understanding that if prosecuted and convicted the money should be mine. The case is still pending against me and McGuire still holds the money."

Ernest Cook, a farmer of Mattawan, has been very persistent in wooing his divorced wife, who was separated from him five years ago, the divorce being granted in Van Buren county, the wife's charge being extreme cruelty. Both parties to the divorce were in England at the time the divorce was granted. Mr. Cook returned to Chicago, where he engaged in the lumber business, but found life unendurable without his wife. He has made several trips to England during the five years to try and induce her to marry him again, and the last one, which he made in June, was successful. Mrs. Cook, accompanied by her parents, has arrived from Bristol, England, and the marriage will take place in Kalamazoo.

Mr. Pickles Still Missing.

Ex-Mayor Samuel Pickles, who disappeared from Jackson some six weeks ago, is still missing. He was last heard of in Chicago and Kansas City. He was sub-contractor for the stone work of the new Shawasssee county court house at Corunna, where he is said to have left his work without a word of explanation. Rickman Bros., the contractors, have taken the work in hand and will complete the contract. His friends say there is nothing in the affairs of the company to cause him to want to disappear, but it is thought he was in financial straits from having trusted his friends too fully.

Both Killed.

As William Alden and his aged wife were driving into Battle Creek to visit relatives, their carriage was struck by a D. & M. train. They were carried about 60 feet by the locomotive and thrown against a fence. Mrs. Alden died immediately, and her husband expired after being taken to Nichols hospital. At the place where the accident occurred the view of the tracks is obstructed by buildings. Coroner Merrill is investigating the case, but it is believed that the railroad will be exonerated from all blame. It is claimed that the train was running at slow speed.

Boy's Horrible Death.

Farrar Plimutt, 6 years old, son of M. C. R. R. Engineer Frank Plimutt, of Detroit, was "hitching on behind" a wagon loaded with crushed stone. Tuesday afternoon, when he lost his hold, as the wagon lurched, and he fell to his death under the wheels. His head was squeezed off the flattened corpse with her apron and wailed, weeping, for the coroner.

He Is Ninety-Eight.

Christopher Coffman, the oldest person in Branch county, has just celebrated his 98th birthday. His wife, with whom he had lived more than 70 years, died three years ago. Coffman has two children, 13 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. He is in good health, and up to the time he was 94, frequently walked from his son's home to Coldwater, a distance of seven miles.

While Elmer Powers, of Waverly, was cutting a bee tree the tree fell on him, killing him instantly.

Royal Albertson, a 7-year-old lad, of Jonesville, while attempting to catch a ride, fell under the wheels. The wagon, weighing 1,200 pounds, and containing cabbages weighing one and one-half tons, passed over his hip. Although no bones were broken, internal injuries are feared, as he complains of excruciating pains in his back.

Pathetic indeed was the death of Mrs. Mary Stinson, at Battle Creek hospital. Rescued by the police from unsanitary rooms on Glenwood avenue, the woman was cared for until her paralysis showed the fatal turn. Then an attempt was made to find her relatives, but a 10-year-old girl was all that could be found. She sat at her mother's bedside when her only relative on earth passed away, and then, broken-hearted and alone, the little white girl sought refuge in the home of a negro family who had taken in the mother when she became too ill to work.

WHERE IS MR. PHELPS?

Battle Creek Has a Mystery That Is Baffling.

The mystery surrounding the fate of Nell S. Phelps, the once millionaire, of Battle Creek, grows deeper every hour. That he has not committed suicide is confidently asserted by everyone engaged in the search, for they say that every nook and corner where it was possible for a dead body to be has been gone over.

It is equally certain that he was not out of his mind on Sunday afternoon when he disappeared, for he had spoken to a number of his friends during the day. He had gone to the office of the Ellis Publishing Co., where he had his office, with one of that firm to open his mail. He had answered such letters as called for immediate reply, and did his work as carefully as ever he had done it, and everything was left in good shape.

Shortly before 5 o'clock he was seen by several persons, and he was then in apparently normal state of health, physical and mental. Then he disappeared as completely as if the ground had swallowed him.

Now comes the most peculiar part of the whole affair. The Michigan Central train for Chicago pulled out at 4:57, just about the time he disappeared, and a young man asserts positively that when he was waiting at Main street for the train to pass he saw Phelps's face in a Pullman car window. None of the railway employees seem to have seen him, although he was well known to all of them.

A telephone message came to Mr. Phelps from a Detroit woman, who said she had been in Chicago on Sunday. While she was dining with friends there a Mr. Hartley excused himself, saying he had to go to a train to meet Mr. Phelps. He left and did not return. The lady thought nothing of the matter until, on returning, she read that Phelps was missing.

KILLED HIS CHUM.

Thought It Was Not Loaded—Horrible Result.

Romeo's most horrible accident came on Sunday, when a loaded shotgun in the hands of 14-year-old Albert Lemm was discharged, blowing off the entire top of the head of 11-year-old Ray Kaiser and scattering fragments of his skull and brains over the entire walls and ceiling of the room in which the tragedy occurred.

Lemm says he cleaned both barrels of the gun a few days ago and left it unloaded. An older brother, it is learned, later used the weapon and left a charge in both barrels. Lemm got out the gun to show Kaiser how it worked, and believing it to be empty, was working the mechanism. With the fall of the hammers, came a double report, and young Kaiser received the full effect of both barrels in the forehead.

Screaming with fright the Lemm boy ran to the nearest neighbor's house and told the story of the tragedy. Among those present was the mother of young Kaiser. All immediately ran to the scene of the accident, but the condition of the house was so ghastly that the stricken mother was restrained from entering where the mangled corpse of her son lay.

The Smith's Creek Shooting.

Under Sheriff Davidson has returned from Smith's Creek, where he made a searching investigation into the Halloween escapade, in which eight young men of that place were shot by Joseph Lambert and his hired men. According to the under-sheriff, the sentiment of the village appears to be with Lambert. At intervals, it is alleged, these men have antagonized his labors by carrying his farm implements away and spreading them over the country. Roy Lindsay, the most seriously injured of the marauders, will be crippled for life, his physicians say. Twenty-three shot entered his groin and legs. The others are steadily improving. No action will be taken pending the outcome of Lindsay's injuries.

Concealed the Cases.

Health Officer Beebe has discovered two cases of smallpox in a colony boarding house in Kalamazoo. Symptoms of smallpox have been prevalent for two weeks, but they were so mild that the two persons who have the disease had not informed anybody. They are Mrs. Edwards, landlady, and a boarder, William Smead. The house is now quarantined. The health officer says other cases may develop, but he does not expect an epidemic.

Oxford has a juvenile band under process of instruction, but it is said few people have as yet commenced to move out of town.

By an almost unanimous vote the members of the Grand Rapids battalion of Michigan National Guard decided to bar intoxicating liquors from the armory. Since the battalion was established liquors have been sold in the battalion cafe. The decision is effective Nov. 1.

The third sudden death within a week occurred Saturday when Mrs. J. J. Baker, aged 70, died at her home in Hagar township. Mrs. Baker was a pioneer resident. She had done her household work and was eating an apple when she dropped dead from heart failure.

During a funeral in Port Huron Saturday a runaway occurred in which Miss Mary Cahill was thrown from a carriage and sustained a broken collar bone and other injuries of a slight nature. Ten-year-old Nellie Johnson and Mr. Charles E. Chambers were also slightly injured.

Homeer Winches was showing some friends how handy he was with the gloves in a Battle Creek bar room. His opponent administered one vigorous punch that knocked Winches among some wine casks, one of which cut a gash in his head five inches long, exposing the skull and requiring 49 stitches.

EIGHT SHOT.

Halloween Celebrators Shot by An Irrate Farmer.

Eight young men, among the best known in the village, were shot at Smith's Creek, eight miles from Port Huron, by Farmer Joseph Lambert and his three hired men John, George and Chas. Sirion, while on a Halloween lark. One of them will probably die and others are badly injured. They are as follows:

Roy Lindsay, shot in the groin and legs and will probably die.

Chas. Gaffney, shot in the hands and arms.

Ralph McCormick, shot in the head and arms.

Russell Moore shot in the legs.

Wm. Sturtevant, George Nell, James Waterworth, Roy Robertson.

These young fellows had started out for a little fun about 11 o'clock and were approaching Lambert's place when a volley was fired from the shelter of a straw stack. Apparently Lambert and the three hired men had all fired at the same time, using shot-guns.

Lambert had threatened that if "any Halloween foolshness was started about his place he'd show 'em." He made good his word with a vengeance.

Roy Lindsay, the worst injured, is 27 years old and married. He is a son of James Lindsay, a well-to-do resident of Smith's Creek. The father came to Port Huron today to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Lambert and the Sirion brothers.

William Fred Jones, of Grand Rapids, fell from a Lake Shore train at New Durham, Ind., and received injuries which will probably prove fatal. He was found in an unconscious condition by section men. He is 25 years of age.

Manual training, which for some years has been confined strictly to Kalamazoo city schools, will be pushed out this winter to the rural schools of the county, there being five outside districts in which it will be introduced.

Mrs. Jacob Hulbert died from the effects of injuries received in an automobile accident. Loyde Greenland, of Sturgis, was passing along in his machine when he met Mrs. Hulbert in a rig. She got out to hold her horse while the auto went past. The horse broke away and knocked her down, the buggy passing over her.

The state labor bureau statistics in regard to the electric railroads in Michigan shows that there are upwards of 1,000 miles of electric railroads in the state. The Detroit United Railway alone has 300 miles of single track road. This company employs 2,844 men, at an average wage of $2 per day, and last year it carried a total of 104,118,880 passengers.

A young fellow, who gave the name of Louie Hunt, was arrested in Flint for stealing a pair of shoes which he sold to a shoe dealer for 50 cents. When searched he had on two suits of clothing and two suits of underwear. He pleaded guilty and was sent to jail for 20 days. He claimed Delton as his home and said he was sent to the industrial school at Lansing for running away from home.

A sensation was started in Coldwater when workmen found a man's arm loosely covered in a gravel pit. Investigation resulted in finding several parts of human bodies. A local physician, when he learned of it, quelled the excitement by stating that the pieces of human flesh were from his laboratory, and that the man hired to properly dispose of them simply dumped them in the dirt in the gravel pit.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD

HUNTING MEN.

Wyoming Bank Robbers Fanned by "Buffalo Bill."

Four heavily armed outlaws in the "Hole in the Wall" country held up and robbed the First National bank of Cody, Wyo., Tuesday, and after shooting and killing Cashier Frank Midguth of the bank, had a running fight with cowboys and hunters and escaped into Rattlesnake mountains, where they are pursued by half a dozen different posses. A battle is imminent. The "Hole in the Wall" gang are noted as the most desperate outlaws in the west, and the Cody posse are determined to wipe the bandits out of existence. William F. Cody's private car, containing Cody's English friends and Indian scouts and guides and Col. Cody himself, went from Omaha Tuesday night on the Burlington flyer. Excitement was at fever heat over the man hunt which the party will have at Cody instead of the bear hunts expected. Col. Cody will take the trail himself as soon as he reaches the scene of the hold-up. On leaving Omaha he said: "I wired White Beaver, my manager at Cody, to offer a large reward for the capture of the outlaws and to double the reward in case an outlaw is killed. We want to kill them, not capture them. Within ten minutes after we reach Cody we will be in the saddle ready for the trail. My best horses will be in readiness at the depot, and I have with me my old scout, the Sioux chief, Iron Tail. The old fellow is now cleaning up his guns and is overjoyed at the chance of getting into a scrimmage."

"The government has several hundred thousand dollars on deposit in that bank, and it was a narrow escape for the funds. The government is putting in a $5,000,000 irrigation system in the Big Horn, and had cash there to pay off the workmen. The outlaws evidently knew this."

FOR PEACE.

Secretary Hay Negotiating Peace Treaties for the U. S.

Secretary Hay is negotiating treaties with the leading European countries which, if put into effect, will go a great way toward insuring against war between the United States and any of the nations of the old world. The proposed conventions are treaties of arbitration, which make provision for the peaceful settlement of international disputes that are not covered by the articles of agreement adopted at The Hague conference.

It is the expectation of Secretary Hay that he will have the new arbitration treaties finished in time to submit them to the senate for ratification on the convening of congress in December. No hitch has yet been encountered in the effort to make for international peace. The treaties are brief, containing merely two articles, and it is proposed that they shall be identical. They are made in pursuance of Article XIX of The Hague convention, which reserves to the contracting parties the right of making agreements among themselves for the independent settlement of controversies.

Compelled to smoke 20 cigarettes, as punishment for smoking, is the complaint of Arthur Livermore, aged 12, of Corcoranville, Pa., against Principal E. R. Thomas, of the Corcoranville school. Young Livermore is seriously ill and his parents say they will sue the teacher.

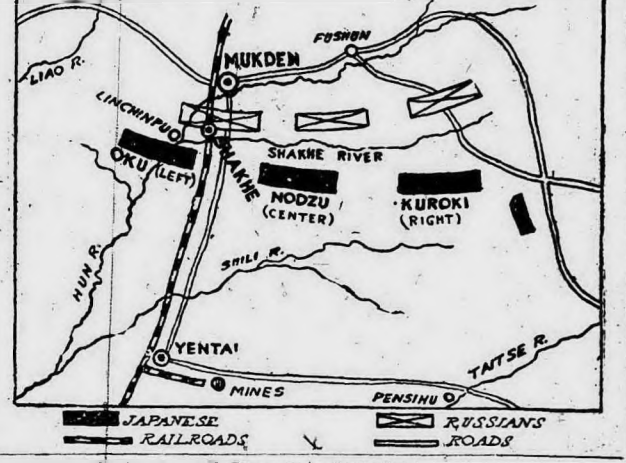

Gen. Emilio Nunez, governor of Havana who is in Washington, says the situation in Cuba is splendid, and that foreign capital is coming in rapidly in search of safe and productive investments. The government is devoting large sums to the building of public roads, vice in every form has decreased, and there has been an enormous increase of public and private schools. Regarding the reciprocity treaty, Gen. Nunez said its moral effect had been great, but it was yet too early to calculate the advantages due from it.

It Was Horrible.

A second murder in Mason town was made known Sunday when Steve Borok, employed at the Bessener coke plant, reported that he saw a man thrown into a coke oven and cremated. Borok says he saw three men scuffling on top of an oven and a moment later saw two of the men jump to the ground and disappear in the darkness. Just then flames issued from the oven as though fuel had been tossed into it. Coroner Hazen ordered the oven drawn, when blackened human bones and teeth were found. The murdered man and his assailants are unknown.

A warrant has been issued for Mayor Alfred M. Crotty, of Montvale, N. J., who has been missing for ten days, along with $5,000 worth of street improvement bonds.

MAP OF THE THEATER OF WAR.

Thomas Mottimore, aged 36 years, was struck by a train on the Blackstone street crossing, Jackson, Wednesday evening, causing injuries which resulted in his death shortly after.

The statement of the year's loss of life and property in connection with the fisheries of Gloucester, Mass., shows that twenty lives have been lost and ten vessels wrecked since November 1, 1903. This is fewer men than have been lost from Gloucester vessels in any year since 1865. The financial loss is $130,800, and is greater than in any but three previous years since 1830.

SCARE IS OVER.

The Prospect of War With Russia Never Existed.

Negotiations between Great Britain and Russia looking to a settlement of the North sea affair are progressing favorably and there is not the slightest danger of any friction arising between the two governments. The constitution of the international commission under The Hague convention is on the verge of settlement.

In spite of these pacific conditions, Great Britain on Tuesday experienced a war panic that can only be compared to the panic created on Sunday, October 23, when the news of the sinking of the trawlers in the North sea was received. Not for years have so many alarmist reports and flaming extras flooded London. The most extraordinary feature of this scare, which was serious enough while it lasted, is that there was not one single circumstance to justify it. It started early in the day when the newspapers announced the departure of the Russian Baltic squadron from Vigo. The public were not in possession of the information cabled to the United States that only the officers concerned in the firing on the British trawlers would be detached, and jumped at the conclusion that Russia had broken faith by not detaining the vessels involved in the affair. Finally the foreign office decided to adopt a course most unusual for it, and in order to allay the public excitement, gave out to the press the following statement:

"Before the Russian fleet left Vigo instructions were given to the Russian admiral with the view to preventing injury or inconvenience to neutral shipping during the passage of the Russian fleet to the far east."

"The two governments are now discussing the terms with reference to the international commission which will be entrusted with the proposed inquiry."

PORT ARTHUR.

The Japs Make Another Fierce Onslaught.

The general assault upon Port Arthur which began in a preliminary way on Oct. 24, developed into a fiercely raging battle Sunday when, according to a hitherto infallible authority, the Japanese flung heavy forces against the fortress in their third attempt to secure a commanding position. The result of the fighting is unknown.

The Japanese have been preparing for this assault for a month. It is believed that the Japanese did not expect to capture the town on this occasion but to accomplish another important forward step. The plan was adopted following the first assault, when thousands of lives were sacrificed in an attempt to swarm over the fortifications by a mere force of numbers regardless of loss.

This assault, like the previous one, was a climactic incident of weary weeks of trench digging, gun mounting and small engagements. In the opinion of experts the assault will cease when the Japanese have secured such position as will enable them to keep steadily closer under the noses of the Russian guns. It is believed that two more general assaults will be necessary before the distance between the beleaguered lines is sufficiently shortened to make an attempt to enter the main forts and make the end of the siege practicable.

It Was Horrible.

A second murder in Mason town was made known Sunday when Steve Borok, employed at the Bessener coke plant, reported that he saw a man thrown into a coke oven and cremated. Borok says he saw three men scuffling on top of an oven and a moment later saw two of the men jump to the ground and disappear in the darkness. Just then flames issued from the oven as though fuel had been tossed into it. Coroner Hazen ordered the oven drawn, when blackened human bones and teeth were found. The murdered man and his assailants are unknown.

A warrant has been issued for Mayor Alfred M. Crotty, of Montvale, N. J., who has been missing for ten days, along with $5,000 worth of street improvement bonds.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1904.

Probate Judge Durfee.

The election this fall again brings before the people more prominently the name of Edgar O. Durfee, Judge of Probate. The Mail does not mention this fact because it believes Judge Durfee is unknown in Wayne county, but because the State constitution never was amended so that the Honorable Judge could be elected for life, as he would be, and as it does provide for the election of a Judge of Probate every four years, the people are again expected to cast their votes for this office at the election next Tuesday. Judge Durfee has filled this most important office for twenty-eight years and his connection therewith seems to be almost inseparable to the people of the county. The Judge is a product of Plymouth township and our citizens always stand loyally together in his support, as they will in this year.

Judge Durfee conducts the business of his office in a most economical manner, to say nothing of his efficiency otherwise. While the business of the office has increased in the past fifteen years by 185 per cent, the expenses within the same period have increased by but 22 per cent. This is a most remarkable showing and bears a comparison with other county officers hardly conceivable. The Judge is a worker himself and the business of the office is done with celerity as well as with accuracy. If our Democratic friends wish to cast a vote to retain the Judge for another term mark a cross opposite his name. Our republican friends will all vote for him, of course.

COL. JOHN P. KIRK

Democratic Candidate for Congress, Second District.

Col. John P. Kirk, democratic candidate for Congress from this district, is a young man who has risen by his own efforts. While he was educating himself attending the Ypsilanti high school and the University of Michigan, he worked as a printer, paying his own expenses. After his graduation from the University he began the practice of law in his home city, Ypsilanti. He was twice elected prosecuting attorney of Washtenaw county, when the people sought him as a candidate for State legislature, defeating such a strong opponent as Capt. E. P. Allen. In the legislature he did his work so well that his party tendered him the nomination for Congress. He accepted, although at a great financial and business loss to himself. But his rise in civil life has been no greater than in military life. He entered the National Guards at Ypsilanti as private, worked his way up to corporal, sergeant, lieutenant and captain. He entered the Spanish-American war as captain Co. G, 31st Michigan, was soon promoted to Major and has since earned the title of lieutenant-colonel. In his army life, he gained the same respect and admiration that he has gained in his civil life, and this is shown by the fact that his opponents have had only the kindest words to say of him.

Col. Kirk is the sort of man the American people admire. One who has courage and pluck; one who has perseverance; one who can raise himself up in the world and at the same time raise up those with whom he comes in contact. Such a man, we say, is Col. John P. Kirk, the democratic candidate for Congress. If this is the people's year, as was said by Judge Cahill, a life-long republican, in supporting Mr. Ferris, this year surely should be Col. John P. Kirk's, for not only is he a man of the people but he is also a candidate of the people.

D., of Ann Arbor, will preach at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Suitable music will be furnished by the choir. The village band will also play several selections during the morning service. HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Beatrice Hood, Howard Brown, Robert Jolliffe and Clara Lyon.
Hallowe'en—"The best laid schemes of mice and men, gang aft astray." A string was tied to the school-house bell Monday noon. It was found during the afternoon, and three freshmen were tried and found guilty by the "boss." They promised never to do so again, so they were let off with a light lecture.

The high school foot ball team, feeling quite encouraged after winning the game last Friday, have arranged to play the fast Wayne team Friday at Wayne. A car will be chartered to accommodate all "rooters" who wish to go.

Turn around, C. B., you'll turn bald headed, the teacher looks at you so hard.

The high school visitors this week—the Misses Warner, Beals, Eva Merrell, Regina Polley and Elizabeth Conner. The morning after Hallowe'en one of the teachers for an instrument used her bell as a foot-pedal, while the children enjoyed the entertainment.

Last week, a brilliant little lass A member of the Senior class. Gazed on a sheet of paper white And her profile saw in the shadowy light.

She traced her form on the square of white. Making it angular as a kite. She proved, indirectly, the head equaled zero.

The heart, the acts, and every thing ditto.

Who this little maid might be You will now presently see. She is a Walker, as every one knows. Because number ten is the size of her hose.

The hallowe'en party given at the home of Clara Patterson was an object of great excitement and wonderment. The gypsy Fortune Teller, Japanese, and trained nurse; and the fashionable "Belles of 1890," all caused great merriment. All were participants of an enjoyable evening.

Several of the high school boys had great practice for the dashes and long distance runs Monday night, when they tried to go faster than the contents of a shot-gun loaded with rock salt.

The president of the freshmen class does not set the best of examples for his subjects, as he takes great delight in bedecking his face with ink so that he looks more like an American Indian than a high school student.

Rav Smith is among the absent members of the high school this week. The new book entitled, "The Practical Joker," published by the Junior class, is now on sale by all members of that class.

Mr. Isbell's classes received a rest Wednesday, he being unable to be present.

The meeting of the class of Algebra I was well attended Tuesday night at 3:40, as Mr. Isbell wished to improve their knowledge; and that he did, as the auditors were very attentive.

Some of the high school were surprised Wednesday noon to find their hats missing and so took those of their friends which were three sizes too large.

A. W. who was too noisy for the high school, spent an enjoyable(?) noon in the garret.

Some of the girls are getting so weak that they cannot walk up stairs, so they try to fall up.

A few of the little boys of the high school who cannot wait until recess, bring their candy into the school room with them.

Rex Woodworth, a highly respected and well-to-do farmer living two miles east of Farmington was struck and instantly killed at the railway crossing at Volney Smith's by the east-bound North western electric car, at 6 o'clock Monday evening. He had been to Detroit with a load of produce and on his return apparently misjudged the distance of the car. The deceased was was about 70 years old and leaves a widow and several children.

Monroe Correspondence Detroit Tribune:—Ever since the party of eastern capitalists and railway magnates have been in this city they have made frequent inspection trips north of here in the private car of President Zimmermann of the Pere Marquette. They have gone over every inch of the ground very carefully between this city and Romulus, 18 miles north of here, and it is stated that before long a short cut off will be built from near this city into Detroit, which would give the Pere Marquette the shortest route between Toledo and Detroit and enable the company to give a much quicker schedule between the two cities, both with passenger and fast freight runs.

A Policeman's Testimony.
J. N. Patterson, night policeman of Nashua, Ia., writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two-thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung remedy in the world." Sold by The Wolverine Drug Co.

Mr. Jacklin is the last field officer left of the 16th Mich. Inf. The day was spent in telling stories of the war, which was enjoyed very much especially by the younger ones present.

Albert Merritt, of Chicago, is visiting his brother, Chas. Merritt.

Mrs. Doherty has an Extraordinary Experience and Undergoes a Marvellous Change.

Mrs. E. Doherty, of No. 118 Coates street, Moberly, Mo., is today a picture of robust health, and yet five years ago, she barely escaped death from progressive emaciation. To a reporter she told the following story:

"In 1896 I began to have distressing attacks of indigestion that continued for two years. My stomach was constantly sore and burned as if it was on fire. It became finally so delicate that it would not retain even plain water. My inability to take food reduced my weight to ninety-eight pounds, and faintness and dizziness kept me in bed most of the time. I was really starving to death and besides I was extremely nervous. The doctor was perplexed. He gave me tonics which did me no good, and prescribed exercise which I was too weak to attempt.

"One day when I was so faint and chilled that I could do nothing but crouch down on the floor by the fire, my father brought me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I found on trial that they would stay on my stomach unlike everything else. I really felt better after three doses and I kept on using them. Food began to taste well and to stay down. The pain and the burning in the pit of my stomach lessened and at last went away altogether. My weight began to increase until it reached 165 pounds and my neighbors, who were convinced that I was wasting to death before, were astonished at the change. I resumed my housework and have hardly had occasion to call a doctor since. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to several friends, and I say to the pale, thin ones particularly, if you want to get strong and well take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

These pills cure stomach trouble by their tonic action, building up the digestive organs and enabling them to do the work that nature intended them to do. They are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box or six boxes for two dollars and a half, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. A diet book giving useful information will be sent free on request.

The Ward of King Canute

A Romance of the Danish Conquest.
By OTTILIE A. LILJENCRANTZ, author of The Thrill of Lied the Lucky.
Copyright, 1903, by A. C. McCLURG & CO.

Elfgiva turned quickly. "Yes—Teboen my nurse. Have you seen her?"

"I saw her between cockcrow and dawn, noble one, when I let down the bars for the cattle to come in to the milking. The herd-boy who drives them said something to her—it seemed to me that he named a Danish name and said that person was waiting in the wood to speak with her—whereat she set down her pitcher and went up the lane. I have not seen her since."

The lady's little white hands beat the air like a frightened child's. "Three candles have burned out since then; it is certain that evil has fallen her—" She paused to gaze eagerly toward a figure that at this moment appeared in the low arch of the doorway. "Tata! do you bring me news of her?"

Though she shook her head, Randalin's manner was full of suppressed excitement as she advanced. "Not of her, lady, yet tidings, great tidings! The King has sent—"
"His Marshal again? I will not see him."

"Nay, the Marshal but accompanies the messenger. In truth, lady, it is my belief that the token has accomplished its mission. The message is brought by Thorkel Jarl, as this has not been done before."
"Earl Thorkel?" Elfgiva cried. "By the Saints, it can be nothing less than the token!" She dropped down upon the rustic seat that stood under the green canopy of the old apple tree and sat there a long time. After a while, an enchanting smile touched her lips. "Surely, a rose garden is a fitting place to receive the ambassadors of a lover," she said, and straightened herself on her rustic throne, sweeping her draperies into more graceful folds. "Bring them here, ladybird. Candida, fetch hither the lace veil from my bower, and call the other maids as you go, and all the pages you can find."

her eyes fell on the house-door, and her expression changed from rage to amazement and from amazement to horror. Catching Randalin's arm in fear, she began to gasp over and over the name of Teboen the nurse.

In the doorway the British woman was standing, wagging her head in time to a silly quavering song that she was singing with lips so distorted as to be almost unrecognizable. Her once florid face was ashen gray, and now as she quitted the door post and came toward them she reeled in her walk, stumbling over stones and groping blindly with her huge bony hands.

"A devil has possession of her," Elfgiva shrieked. "Take her out of my sight, or I shall go mad! Take her away—take her away!" Shrieking in wildest terror she fled before her, and for a moment the garden seemed given over to a grotesque game of blind-man's buff as women and boys scattered with renewed screaming at each approach of the ghastly face. It did not stop until the two soldiers, who had been made keepers of the wretched creature came running out of the house and led her away.

Then it was Thorkel's sardonic voice that brought the Lady of Northampton back to herself. "Now, is this how you take the sight of your own handiwork? One thoughtful and no more has she had of the blood of the colled snake."

Stopping where she was, Elfgiva gazed at him, and with a dawning comprehension came back her interrupted fury. "The colled snake," she repeated slowly, and after that, in a rush of words, "Then it was you who enticed her away and mistreated her? But what does it concern you that I sent a snake? Where saw you it? How knew you it had blood?" Without waiting for an answer, she turned upon the Marshal, her lids contracted into narrow slits behind which her eyes raged like prisoned animals. "It is you who are to blame for this!

Take her away! Take her away!

The Tall One always gives me the feeling of a lamb before a wolf. Even had the likeness never occurred to her before, it would not have been strange if she had thought of it to-day as, followed by the Marshal and preceded by their fair usher, the old warrior came across the grass to the little court under the apple tree. She relapsed into a kind of lamb-like tremor as she invited them to be seated and commanded the attendance of her cup-bearer. When she caught sight of the misery of discomfort in Sebert's frank face, she lost her voice entirely and waited in utter silence while they drank their wine.

Yet Thorkel's manner was unwontedly gentle when at last he broached his errand. "You lack the eagerness that is to be expected, lady," he said as he gave his mouth a last polish with the delicate napkin. "Will it not interest you to hear that at last the Palace is ready for a Queen? Canute is going to give the Angles a gift of the elves."

For an instant, she was betrayed into believing him, and bent forward, her flushing face transfigured with delight. She was starting to speak when the Etheling rose abruptly from his seat.

"Lord Thorkel," he said angrily, "this cat-play would bring you little thanks from your King, nor will I longer endure it. I pray you to explain without delay that the name of 'Elfgiva' is borne also by Emma of Normandy."

He did not address the King's wife—indeed, he refrained even from looking at her—but he spoke swiftly to the dark-haired girl who stood beside the seat. "Randalin, I beg you to tell your lady that Elfgiva Emma, who is Ethelred's widow and the Lady of Normandy, arrives at Dover to-morrow to be made Queen of the English."

You who miscarried my message. You have betrayed me, and I tell you—" Hysterical tears broke her voice, but she pieced it together with her temper and went on telling him all the bitter things she could think of, while he stood before her in the grim silence of one who has long foreseen the disagreeable aspects of his undertaking and made up his mind to endurance.

When she stopped for breath, he said steadily, "I declare with truth that you cannot dislike what I have done much more than I, Lady of Northampton. I hope it will be an excuse with you, as it is a comfort to me, that instead of fetching you into trouble—"

Thorkel took the words from his lips, and no longer with sinister deliberation but with a ferocity that showed itself in the gathering swiftness of his speech. "Trouble—yes! By the Hammer of Thor, I think you deserve to have trouble! Had any of your witches' brew done harm to the King, I can tell you that you would not have lived much longer. What! Are the plans of men to be upset by your baby face, and a kingdom lost because a little fool chooses to play with poison as a child with fire?"

"Poison?" she screamed. She had been facing him with whitening lips, and now the little breath that she had left went from her in a sharp cry. "Not poison; love-philtres! To win him back! Love-philtres—can you not hear?"

"Love-philtres!" The old warrior's voice made the words bite with contempt. "Did the mouthful she swallowed have that effect upon your woman? Or do you think you planted love in the breasts of the dead scullions? Had you seen their writhings I think you would have called it by another name."

He was standing over her now, and she was cowering before him, her shaking hands rising as though to ward off his eyes. "I meant no harm," she was wailing with stiff lips. "The scroll said not a word that it was hurtful. Do not kill me. I meant no—" The word ended in an inarticulate sound and she swayed backward.

The Etheling turned fiercely to the Jarl. "For God's sake, tell her that no one suspects her of seeking his life, and give her his true message, or I will go and hang myself for loathing."

"Tell her yourself!" the old Dane snapped. "It is seen that you are as rabbit-hearted as the woe who makes her such an offer. Were I in his place, I would have them all drowned for a litter of wailing kittens."

The young soldier, having braved the outburst of hysterics that redoubled at his approach, managed to slip a soothing word into the lull.

"It is true, noble one, that for state reasons the King has consented to this union with Emma of Normandy, who will bring him the friendship of Duke Richard besides causing pleasure to the English. But the crown of Denmark is also at his disposal, lady, and this he purposes to bestow upon your son Sven, for whom he has much love. And it is his will and pleasure that you accompany the boy across the sea and, together with the earls of his guardianship, hold the power for him until his hands shall be big enough to grasp it alone. For this he gives you the name of 'queen' and all the honor you shall desire."

"It was as though a rainbow had been set in her showery eyes. 'Ho purposes this?' she murmured; and rose out of her seat in a kind of ecstasy—then caught at its back, glooming with doubt. 'I cannot believe it—it is too beautiful. Swear that you are not mocking me.'"

"I swear it," he said gravely, but his lips curled a little as he watched her delight bring back her color, her smiles, her every fairy charm.

Throwing her arms about Dearnwyn, who chanced to be nearest, she kissed her repeatedly. "Think, mouse—a queen! a queen! It was not for naught that I dreamed an eagle flew over my head. Ah, how I shall cherish the dear little one who has brought me this! I pray you tell me when I am to leave, and who goes with me, and every word of the plan, for I could eat them like sweets."

"Ulf Jarl will feed your ears later," Thorkel said gruffly. "You will leave for Northampton this afternoon, to get the boy—and to get rid of you before the Lady of Normandy arrives."

The shaft fell pointless as she turned her sparkling face toward her women. "You hear that, my lams? This afternoon—not one more night in this prison! Randalin, learn what disposal is to be made of you, and that quickly. Nobles, if I am not yet enough queen to dismiss you, still am I queen enough to depart without your leave." Chiming the sweet bells of her laughter, she glided away among her excited attendants, the silver mockery reaching them after she had vanished into the house.

Randalin awoke to a sense of bewilderment. "It is true that I do not know where to go, now that this place is upset."

The question was repeated in her lover's attitude; but Thorkel Jarl answered it, coming between them and drawing her aside.

"I will remedy that," he said. "My men are to fetch you to the Palace so soon as ever your lady has left. The King has a use for you." The rest he spoke into her ear, but its effect was to blanch her cheeks and cause her hands to clasp each other in terror as she started back.

"I cannot!" she cried. "I cannot." "You must," he said harshly. "Or you will do little credit to the blood that is in you. Do you no longer think your father and brother of any importance?"

"They are pitiless to demand it of me," she murmured, and buried her face in her hands.

PROBLEM OF OLD AGE.
Question for Political Economists to Puzzle Over.

What the country shall do with its ex-presidents is not nearly so vital a problem as what it shall do with its old men.

According to the new gospel of business economics a man is "old" at fifty. That is to say, he can no longer remain an integral part of the industrial machine.

Young men are in demand everywhere. Old men are in demand nowhere. The commercialism of the age feeds upon young blood and rejects everything else.

WASTE AND RUIN IN MOROCCO.

Beautiful Dwellings Erected and Allowed to Decay.

In Morocco they build and make, and they do both things beautifully and well, according to one who has been there. But they seldom finish. "In a house dainty with fountains and arabesques and colored tiles," he says, "you will still find a corner uncompleted, a pillar which lacks the delicate fluting of the other pillars, an embrasure for a clock half ornamented with gold flagree and half left plain. And, if they seldom finish, they never by any chance repair. The mansion is built and decorated within; artists fit tiles together in a mosaic of cool colors and carve and gild and paint the little pieces of cedar wood and glue them into the light and pointed arches; the rich curtains are hung; and the master enters into his possession. There follows the procession of the generations. The tiles crack, the woodwork of the arches splits and falls and the walls break and crumble. The householder sits indifferent and the whole house corrodes. So, in the narrow streets, holes gap and the water wears a channel where it will and the mud lies thick and slippery on the rounded stones; the streets run steeply up and down the hills, wind abruptly round corners and dive into tunnels."

Temple of Serpents.
The small town of Werda, in Dahomey, is celebrated for its temple of serpents, a long building in which the priests keep upwards of 1,000 serpents of all sizes, which they feed with birds and frogs brought to them as offerings by the natives.

Cured Her Rheumatism.
Deep Valley, Pa., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—There is deep interest in Green county over the cure of the little daughter of I. N. Whipkey of Rheumatism. She was a great sufferer for five or six years and nothing seemed to do her any good till she tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. She began to improve almost at once and now she is cured and can run and play as other children do. Mr. Whipkey says: "I am indeed thankful for what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for my daughter; they saved her from being a cripple perhaps for life." Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved that Rheumatism is one of the results of diseased kidneys. Rheumatism is caused by Uric Acid in the blood. If the kidneys are right there can be no Uric Acid in the blood and consequently no Rheumatism. Dodd's Kidney Pills make the kidneys right.

How Tibetans Make Tea.
Tea forms one of the principal articles of commerce throughout Tibet and Mongolia. The native is miserably without it, and when it cannot be obtained is willing to cheat himself by various expedients, such as boiling dried onion heads, herbs or even an infusion of chips of woods in water, in order that he may not be without at least a suggestion of his favorite beverage. The tea imported from China is pressed into small oblong shaped bricks, made up into cases of nine bricks securely sewed in rawhide, and not only is used as a beverage, but in fact forms a staple of currency as negotiable as the Bank of England notes or American currency.—Outing.

The Present the Only Time.
"Now" is the constant syllable ticking from the clock of time. "Now" is the watchword of the wise. "Now" is on the banner of the prudent. Let us keep this little word always in our mind, and whenever anything presents itself in the shape of work, whether mental or physical, we should do it with all our might, remembering that "now" is the only time for us.—Dr. Parr.

Village Without Government.
In the village of Altenburg, on whose borders three countries meet, there are no soldiers, no police, no taxes, and its people are ruled by no monarch. The inhabitants speak a queer jargon of French and German combined, and spend their time cultivating the land or working the valuable calamine mine, which is the boast of the village.

BY PROXY.
What the Baby Needed.
I suffered from nervousness and headache until one day about a year ago it suddenly occurred to me what a great coffee drinker I was and I thought may be this might have something to do with my trouble, so I shifted to tea for awhile but was not better, if anything worse.

"At that time I had a baby four months old that we had to feed on a bottle, until an old lady friend told me to try Postum Food Coffee. Three months ago I commenced using Postum, leaving off the tea and coffee, and not only have my headaches and nervous troubles entirely disappeared, but since then I have been giving plenty of nurse for my baby, and have a large, healthy child now.

"I have no desire to drink anything but Postum and know it has benefited my children, and I hope all who have children will try Postum and find out for themselves what a really wonderful food drink it is." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Both tea and coffee contain quantities of a poisonous drug called Caffeine that directly affects the heart, kidneys, stomach and nerves. Postum is made from cereals only, scientifically blended to get the coffee flavor. Ten days trial of Postum in place of tea or coffee will show a health secret worth more than a gold mine. There's a reason. Get the book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Mrs. Pars, wife of C. B. Pars, a prominent resident of Glasgow, Ky., says: "I was suffering from a complication of kidney troubles. Besides a bad back, I had a great deal of trouble with the secretions, which were exceedingly variable, sometimes excessive and at other times scanty. The color was high, and passages were accompanied with a scalding sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills soon regulated the kidney secretions, making their color normal, and banished the inflammation which caused the scalding sensation. I can rest well, my back is strong and sound, and I feel much better in every way."

THOUGHT SHE WAS WARM.

Imagination as Good as Fire to Absent-Minded Lady.
It was a cold, drizzly afternoon, in spite of the calendar's assertion that the month was August. Mrs. Parker, who was much interested in one of the latest novels, decided that a grate fire would add materially to her enjoyment of the book.

It was the maid's day out, so the chilly woman, who was rather proud of her ability along practical lines, proceeded to build her fire. First she crumpled a newspaper and thrust it deep into the grate. Next, she carefully built an Indian tepee of slender sticks of kindling. To this, with a practiced hand, she added a selected piece of hardwood and two neat chunks of soft coal. Then, surveying the arrangement with pride, she drew her chair before the fireplace, placed her feet on the fender, and with a pleasurable sense of warmth and comfort stealing over her began to read.

Two hours later Mrs. Parker's sister bustled in.

"My!" she exclaimed. "Isn't it wretchedly cold? I'm just chilled through."

"Draw up a chair," urged Mrs. Parker, without taking her eyes from her fascinating book, "and do let me finish this page—it's the very last one. It's delightfully warm here by the fire."

"Fire?" exclaimed the visitor. "I don't see any fire."

"Why, bless me!" cried Mrs. Parker, suddenly coming to life. "Here's the match in my hand! I forgot to scratch it."—New York Tribune.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remediation. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed it has a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; the cause of deafness is caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, the Take-Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TIMES MUST HAVE BEEN HARD.

Limit of Financial Embarrassment Humorously Described.
Two society women were talking together a few days ago, each having run up to town on some important business matter. They were sitting in the station waiting for the special Long Island train on which each was to make her return home.

The first to speak was a large, florid, handsome blonde, who, hurrying into the waiting room, was accompanied by her maid laden up to the skies with bundles of every kind, sort and description. Noting her friend already seated and absolutely bundleless, she at once began her discourse, volubly extolling the charms and amazing cheapness of some of the midsummer bargains of which, as the maid bore ample evidence, she had so plentifully availed herself.

The bundleless one listened in rather pathetic silence until the first full period. Taking advantage of it with a deep, pathetic sigh, she turned and gazed covetously at her friend's spoils of war.

"My dear," she said, "if macaroon was a cent a mile I couldn't afford enough this season to lace my shoes with!"—New York Times.

Stay in Bed.
There is something exceedingly satisfactory in the statement of an eminent London physician that "criminals are always recruited from the early rising class." There is usually something dark and devious in the ways of the man who rises before sunrise.—Boston Transcript.

Value of Pure Air.
Cultivate air hunger. We should learn to be as hungry for fresh air as we are naturally thirsty for pure water. The old-fashioned ideas concerning stuffy living or bed rooms are now, fortunately, out of date and should never be revived.

Attributes of Beautiful Woman.
A beautiful woman is a practical poem, planting tenderness, hope and eloquence in all whom she approaches.—Emerson.

Store Whisky in Church.

Young women may avoid much sickness and pain, says Miss Alma Pratt, if they will only have faith in the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months."

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—Miss ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO YOUNG GIRLS.

All young girls at this period of life are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; her advice is freely and cheerfully given, and her address is Lynn, Mass.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries. Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality.—often it is never recovered.

A Young Chicago Girl Saved from Despair.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more."—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life; without she can go through with courage and safety the work she must accomplish, and fortify her physical well being so that her future life may be insured against sickness and suffering.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

ARE NO WHITE ELEPHANTS.

Circus Man Explains How the Idea Was Originated.

"White elephant" is a term that oughtn't to exist," said a circus man. "White elephant" is an error—a mis-translation. 'Sin pyu' is the Burmese phrase that has been translated white elephant, but 'sin pyu' means light, a blonde elephant. Sin means elephant, pyu means paler, or lighter-hued, than the average.

"On account of this error everybody was disappointed when a sin pyu was brought to America by Barnum. The people expected to see a white instead of a blonde elephant. They looked for an animal with a skin like a white rose petal.

"A sin pyu is a light brownish red, with pink eyes, and with the nails and the interior of the ears and trunk white. It is thought to be sacred, and is worshiped like a god.

"When they catch a sin pyu they tie him with ropes of silk, and he is tamed by priests. After his taming they build a palace for him, and they put a gold crown on his forehead, and they make him a wardrobe of silk and velvet and gold embroidery, such as princes wear.

"The sin pyu's house is built of rare woods, and it abounds in gilding, in carvings, and in silken banners. The sin pyu has a prime minister, a hundred slaves, nine priests and a corps de ballet. He never lives long. The luxuries heaped upon him soon crowd him into the grave.

PLAYED ALTOGETHER TOO WELL

Reginald De Koven Not a Success at Dismissing Congregation.

"Reginald de Koven was touring the country with one of his operas," said a New York musician, "and a certain Sunday found him in the town of Dayton.

"They told Mr. de Koven that an Episcopal church in the neighborhood had a superb organ. Accordingly he went to that church, ascended to the organ loft, and sat beside the organist during the morning's service.

"You seem 'to know something about music,' said the organist in a condescending way. 'I'll let you dismiss the congregation if you'd like.'

"Why, yes," said de Koven, "I would like that very much." "Accordingly, at the end of the recessional, he exchanged places with the organist and began to play Mendelssohn's 'Spring Song.' He played beautifully. The Dayton people, enthralled by the wonderful music, refused to depart. They sat in rapt enjoyment, and after the 'Spring Song' was finished Mr. de Koven began Chopin's 'Funeral March.'

"Suddenly a heavy hand was laid on his shoulder and he was pushed off the music stool.

"You can't dismiss a congregation," said the organist impatiently. "Watch and see how soon I'll get them out."

Caper Sauce.

Caper sauce is one of the most delicious and healthful of sauces. It is served with boiled mutton and boiled fish, such as halibut and fresh cod.

Never use a drop of water in its making. Put two heaping tablespoonsful of butter in a sauce pan over a very slow fire. In another sauce pan over the fire put a pint of rich milk. When the butter begins to bubble in the sauce pan, stir in briskly two heaping tablespoonsful of flour that has been sifted twice. Keep stirring the butter and flour until it is as smooth as cream; then pour in a little at a time the hot milk, stirring the sauce constantly to keep it from sticking or lumping. When the milk is all in and the sauce has boiled gently till it is very thick and very smooth, stir in another tablespoonful of butter, then remove from the fire and stir in a small bottleful of capers, then juice and all. Serve the sauce in a separate dish.

Keep the Faith.

Roun' en roun' de ole worl' go—Keep de faith, believers! Summer heat en winter snow, Keep de faith, believers! Trouble come lak a railroad train—Toss you higher dan a hurricane; Peace'll come wen you done wid pain—Keep de faith, believers! Keep right on in de way you gwine—Keep de faith, believers! De blackes' sinner kin rise en shine—Keep de faith, believers! Keep de faith 'twel de trumpet sound! En de big stars fall, en de sky come down. En you'll git to glory wen de worl' turn roun' Keep de faith, believers!—Atlanta Constitution.

The Truthful Fisher.

"Yes, sir," said the sunburned man; "yes, sir, on my last trip I caught—" Promptly but gently we out-houled him. "I caught the—" said he again, when we checked him by the same means. "Ding dong you!" shrieked he, out-houling us at last. "I was going to tell you chumps that I caught the darndest cold that I ever had, but I'll be everlastingly jiggered if I'll tell you anything now!"

Admiral Schley Uses Pe-ru-na In His Home.

Peruna Drug Co., Columbus, Ohio. Gentlemen:—"I can cheerfully state that Mrs. Schley has taken Peruna and I believe with good effect."—W. S. SCHLEY.

Battle of Santiago, Where Admiral Schley Made History.

ONE of the greatest naval battles in the world was the Fight of Santiago. Never since the dispersion of the Spanish Armada has there been a more epoch-making victory in the onward march of civilization than in the notable event of July 23, 1898, in which the great hero, Admiral Schley, took a leading part.

A GREAT NAVAL BATTLE.

It was a great naval battle. Without a moment's warning it began. Quick decision, undaunted courage, excellent discipline, resolute self-confidence—these combined in Admiral Schley to produce that dash and daring so characteristic of the American soldier.

A man must think quickly in these days. There is no time for slow action. New enterprises arise in an hour. Old ones pass away in a moment.

A multitude of great themes clamor for notice. A man must take sides for or against by intuition, rather than logical deduction.

ADMIRAL'S OPINION OF PE-RU-NA.

One day this fighting admiral, Schley, happened to be in company with others who were talking on various topics of popular interest. The subject of Peruna was raised,—its popularity as a catarrh remedy, its national importance, its extensive use.

One asked his opinion. Without a moment's hesitation, he said: "I can cheerfully say that Mrs. Schley has taken Peruna and I believe with good effect."

Like the Battle of Santiago, the thought was sprung upon him without any warning, and he disposed of it with the same vim and decision as he did with the Spanish fleet led by the ill-fated Viscaya.

His words concerning Peruna have gone out into the world to be repeated by a thousand tongues, because he has said them.

Like the news of his victory over Cervera, his words concerning will be caught up by the multitudes and passed from mouth to mouth, across oceans and continents.

Except for an in-born manly independence, in a country of free speech, these words never would have been uttered by an officer in such a notable position as that of Admiral Schley. Except for a world-wide notoriety and popularity, such as Peruna enjoys, no remedy could ever have received such outspoken public endorsement by such a man.

PROUD DAY FOR FATHER.

Four of Frenchman's Children Married on Same Day.

It is not every father who can see four of his children married on the same day, so no one need feel surprised if M. Girard, a farmer of the village of Huguetiere, in the Vendee, France, on such an event occurring in his own family, determined to celebrate it in style. On the day of the weddings Huguetiere gave himself up to rejoicing, as did numerous guests from the surrounding countryside who had assembled to see the four couples and the imposing procession which accompanied them. At midday a banquet was held, at which more than 400 guests sat down.

Roused Her Enthusiasm.

A tiny girl riding in a car became deeply interested in a baby held by a woman seated beside her, frequently calling to her mother to join in her enthusiasm, culminating with: "And see its dear little hands, and its fingers, and its cute little nails; and oh, mother, isn't this too cunning there's dirt in them!"

The reason W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the greatest sellers in the world is because of their excellent style, easy fitting and superior wearing qualities.
