SULTAN DETHRONED

ABDUL HAMID'S BROTHER NOW REIGNS AS THE RULER OF TURKEY.

CHANGE PLEASERS THE PEOPLE

Deposed Monarch Expresses Gratification That He Is Not to Be Put to Death—America and England Satisfied with Action.

Constantinople, Apr. 27.—The reign of Abdul Hamid II. ended to-day with his deposition and the accession of his brother, Mehmed Reschad Effendi, as Mehmed V. a variation of Mahomet, it being considered inappropriate to assume the precise name of the prophet.

Mehmed V. is the thirty-fifth sovereign of Turkey, in male descent, of the House of Osman, the founder of the empire, and the twenty-ninth sultan since the conquest of Constantinople.

The two houses of parliament, meeting as a national assembly, in the forenoon approved the decree of deposition, which was read by the Sheik-ul-Islam, chief of the ulemas and supreme judge on ecclesiastical questions.

Charges Against Abdul. The document recites that Abdul Hamid's acts were contrary to the sacred law, and set forth a long list of crimes, the whole making a terrible indictment.

The ceremonies connected with the transfer of the power were simple. The newly-chosen ruler came from his palace in Galata through streets lined with troops and cheering thousands and took the oath at the war office.

People Pleased with Action. Martial law was relaxed and the people gave themselves over to celebrating the victory of the Young Turks party and the end of Abdul Hamid's reign.

The question of the new cabinet has not yet been settled, but it is thought that Ahmed Riza will be grand vizier.

The Sheik-ul-Islam, supported by all the principal personages of the higher church administration, issued the fatwa as the decree of deposition is called. It informed Mehmed Reschad Effendi that he was chosen sultan by the will of the church, the will of the parliament, the will of the army and the will of the people.

The Sheik-ul-Islam, it is said, personally visited the sultan and read him the decree. He informed his majesty that the question having been put in canonical form before the sheik and his associates as to whether Abdul Hamid had not forfeited the right to rule over the faithful, they had decided "yes."

Abdul bowed his head, saying: "It is the will of Allah." At a secret sitting of the national assembly in the morning the decree was read. It declared that Abdul

Hamid II. must abdicate or be dethroned. The assembly unhesitatingly shouted: "Dethrone him."

A deputation, consisting of two senators and two deputies, thereupon visited the palace at Yildiz and communicated to the sultan the assembly's resolution. Abdul Hamid replied: "I expected this. It is fate. My only wish is that the lives of myself and family may be safeguarded and that I may reside at the palace of Cherraghan, as I wish to die where I was born."

A similar deputation proceeded to the Dolmabahatche palace in Galata and informed Mehmed Reschad Effendi of the nation's wish. The newly-proclaimed sultan replied that he bowed to the will of the people. Later the assembly debated the momentous question of Abdul Hamid's future residence. The suggestion that he be allowed to travel abroad was strongly opposed on the ground that it might cause complications. It was finally decided that he must remain in Constantinople.

At 2:30 in the afternoon a salute of 21 guns announced the departure of Mehmed Reschad to the Seraskerat to swear fidelity to the constitution. Had his succession followed the death of the sultan this ceremony would have occurred at the Topkapou palace, where the relics of the prophet are preserved, but as the succession ensued as the result of the dethronement of the ruler, the ceremony was held at the war office.

Troops Line the Route. The sultan-elect came by boat across the Bosphorus to Stamboul. Troops lined the entire route, comprising regulars and volunteers of all nationalities of the empire and enthusiastic crowds watched the procession and acclaimed the new ruler, Ahmed Riza, the former president of the chamber of deputies, and Gen. Scheffer and his officers received Mehmed Reschad at the portals of the war office. All kissed the prince's hand.

When the assembly deputation arrived at the Yildiz, the fetva of the Sheik-ul-Islam was handed to Ali Djevad Bey, first secretary, for communication to Abdul Hamid, who in an inner apartment was guarded by 15 eunuchs. The deputation was then ushered into his presence and the spokesman said: "You no longer reign over us."

Abdul Hamid gave a deep sigh of relief upon being informed that no designs were entertained against his life. Had Ruled Thirty-Three Years. For 33 years Abdul Hamid II., thirty-fourth sultan of the Ottoman empire, has held the powers of Europe at bay and with consummate political skill he has maintained most of his empire intact from foreign encroachment.

Abdul Hamid was born September 22, 1842. In spite of his long reign, little is known of his personal character. His predecessors had been autocrats, but he is described as having brought on Turkey a degree of despotism such as the country had not experienced in many generations. He lived in mortal fear of his life.

The Armenian massacres of 1895 and 1896 were laid at the door of the sultan, but whether he directly fostered them or not is not known.

Mehmed Reschad Effendi, younger brother of Abdul Hamid, was born November 3, 1844, and is, legally and according to the Mussulman law, the successor of Abdul Hamid.

America Satisfied with Change. Washington.—Prompt recognition will be given to the new government of Turkey by the administration when official news of the order of things in the Ottoman empire reaches Washington.

NEWS OF MICHIGAN

Detroit.—Coming from Fort Wayne, Ind., in automobiles and special trolley cars, 700 officers and men of the Seventh United States Infantry, who are under orders to leave next month for the Philippines, were guests of the city of Detroit at a special matinee of "The Round Up" at the Detroit Opera house.

Ann Arbor.—At Ann Arbor Deputy Sheriff Kelsey is in possession of the St. James hotel watching the interests of William H. Bowman, who holds a chattel mortgage for $1,000. The proprietor, James Ryan, is out of the city, but where he is his wife and step-daughter either do not know or refuse to admit if they do know.

Kalamazoo.—Department Commander C. E. Foote of the G. A. R. of Michigan issued general order, No. 7, which pertains to the coming state encampment in Kalamazoo. The order states that the encampment will begin with a meeting of the executive committee at the Burdick hotel at ten a. m., June 22, and will last until the night of June 24.

Grand Rapids.—Rev. Francis H. Devol, who preached his first sermon as pastor of the Central Christian church, is a member of the Missouri legislature, having been elected from a strong Democratic district on a local option platform. Mr. Devol lives at Union Star, Mo., where for five years he has been pastor of the Christian church.

Battle Creek.—For the first time since he was convicted of shooting his wife, Sylvanus Soules was brought back to Battle Creek from Jackson prison for a last farewell to his dying mother. The latter, Mrs. Catherine Soules, died soon after, and the son was taken back to prison, not being allowed to stay here for the funeral.

Lansing.—The supreme court met in special session and admitted five students who had passed the state bar examinations. The successful applicants were: Charles S. Bayley and John J. Wilson, Detroit; Wilford L. Coffee, Tower; Isaac S. Hughes, Port Huron, and Charles H. Chase, Lansing.

Niles.—A sensation has been created by a statement given to the public by B. F. Earle, the new mayor of Niles, to the effect that chaos exists in the various departments of the city, and that a private concern could not run a year upon the same plan that has heretofore marked the proceedings of the city.

Ann Arbor.—The Glazier matters are still on the legal circuit. A change of program was enacted before Judge Kinne. The American Safety Company had filed a bill asking that the state be made a preferred creditor. There are four other companies which bring up the same question.

Ann Arbor.—Four bright little children, ranging in age from two to 13 years, were held in the juvenile quarters at the courthouse till the necessary papers could be made out for their commitment to the Evangelical Lutheran Michigan Children's Friends Society home at Bay City.

Breckenridge.—A stock company has been organized to open a new bank in Breckenridge, with $20,000 capital, to be known as the Farmers' State bank of Breckenridge. Twenty-three men have taken stock and are mostly farmers.

Ann Arbor.—The first of a series of sales of the personal property belonging to Rufus Phelps, who skipped out after forging the names of prominent farmers to notes, and then putting the notes up as security with the banks, was held in Ann Arbor.

Millersburg.—Fred Remer, 30 years old, was almost instantly killed at S. F. Derry's sawmill. A board flying back from the edger struck him in the abdomen. He lived only a few minutes. He left a widow. He had only started to work at noon.

Muskegon.—At a meeting of the Muskegon Country club a bond issue of $25,000 was authorized, the money to be used in erecting a fine clubhouse and otherwise completing the building of the 18-hole golf links and auxiliary features.

Grand Rapids.—Albert Reitberg, the absconding employe of the city treasurer's office, who was brought back from Denver several days ago was arraigned before Judge Stuart in the supreme court and pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement.

Calumet.—During the year 1908 more than $2,000,000 was expended in new building and construction work in the Michigan copper country, aside from the work of the mining companies under ground.

Ann Arbor.—The new federal building for Ann Arbor is completed. The handsome new building will be occupied for postal business by May 10.

Traverse City.—For the second time Bert Webster of Williamsburg is homeless as the result of fire, each time it is said, sparks from Amos Webster's sawmill being the cause. The first time Bert Webster was burned out he was living in a frame house.

Saginaw.—At the concluding session of the Knights and Ladies of Honor convention here, Battle Creek was selected as next year's meeting place.

Alma.—The Alma board of trade held its annual banquet. E. A. Stone of Grand Rapids was the chief speaker.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Leonard de Long, a high school student, injured while playing baseball at Lamoni, Ia., died.

Capt. W. C. Cowles has been transferred from command of the battleship Kentucky to the battleship Kansas.

Charles Hobaugh, 25 years of age, was convicted of highway robbery and sentenced to the penitentiary for life at Tulsa, Okla.

The British royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with the king and queen of England and the dowager empress of Russia on board, called at Catania, Sicily.

Antonio F. Bonelli, Italian banker, was found guilty of embezzlement, in common pleas court at Cleveland. He is alleged to have absconded with $20,000.

Thomas C. Dawson, American minister to the United States of Colombia, who has been transferred to Chile, has left Bogota for Washington for a conference before going to Santiago.

The governor of the Balearic Isles, having learned of the report that ex-President Castro is likely to arrive there, has requested the government at Madrid to forward instructions as to what course he shall pursue.

James Corse of Racine, Wis., was the lowest of four bidders to construct a commandant's and six other houses at the Great Lakes United States training station at North Chicago, Ill. His bid for the buildings complete was $108,000.

A special grand jury ordered by Gov. Haskell to investigate the lynching at Ada, Okla., on April 19 of James Miller, Jesse West, Joseph Allen and W. T. Burrell, the cattlemen, for the murder of A. A. Bobbitt, a United States deputy marshal, convened.

Rev. S. V. Williams, pastor of the Christian church at Kankakee, Ill., committed suicide by taking carbolic acid while mentally deranged. He recently became a voluntary patient at the Illinois Hospital for the Insane, but had been home a few days at the time of his suicide.

Prospects for the president's proposed trip through the west during the coming summer assumed a brighter hue, Chairman Tawney of the house appropriations committee announcing after a conference with Mr. Taft that he would offer a bill appropriating $25,000 for the president's traveling expenses.

INDIANA "DRYS" VICTORS.

Jackson, White and Delaware Counties Put 109 Saloons Out of Business.

Indianapolis, Ind., Apr. 27.—Jackson and White counties voted "dry" in local option elections yesterday, the former by an unofficial majority of 370 and the latter by 1,439.

Twenty-five saloons will be closed in Jackson county and two in White. The total number of counties "dry" under the local option law now is 44.

Delaware county to-day voted "dry" by a majority estimated at 2,800. Muncie, the county seat, gave the "drys" a majority of 213. Eighty-two saloons will be closed.

The "wets" expected a majority of 1,500 and the result is the hardest blow they have had in the state. Center township, in which Muncie is situated, went "dry" by 650. The city was expected to go "wet" by 2,000.

HAINS JURY IS COMPLETE.

State Presents Its Case to Veniemen After Box is Filled—Trial Goes On.

Flushing, N. Y., Apr. 28.—The jury for the trial of Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., for the killing of W. E. Annis was completed at the afternoon session of the court here yesterday. The twelfth and last juror was Jacob Knecke, 29 years old, a garment cutter of Germania Heights.

Court adjourned immediately after the selection of the twelfth juror until Wednesday, when the state presented its case to the jury.

STATE NEWS

Escanaba.—Joseph Perrow, an Escanaba man, has closed a deal whereby he becomes owner of the village of Northland, in Marquette county. He bought 85 dwellings and two stores, all of the buildings in the place. Perrow's rapid rise from poverty to affluence reads like a fairy story.

Traverse City.—The first "bird nesting" accident of the season happened the other day, eight-year-old Donnis McMannan of Williamsburg, being the victim. The boy was in the woods looking for birds' nests, and seeing an old one, climbed a tree and went out on a limb about ten feet from the ground. The limb broke and the child fell, his right hip being fractured. He may be a cripple for life.

Traverse City.—John Warcup, 19 years old, broke this season's big fish records here. He was fishing in the Hannah & Lay Company's dam when he saw a big rainbow trout coming up stream and fished it in minnow at him. There was rush and a surge and the boy was in the swift running chute along with the fish. The young man clung to his line and finally got the fish ashore.

Vassar.—Odd Fellows from all over the Thumb gathered here to celebrate the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of the order and the sixteenth anniversary of the Thumb association. Lodges of Care, Cass City, Marlette, Millington, Brown City, Bad Axe, Silverwood and other points attended in a body.

Northville.—Though she was old enough to teach school, Miss Helen Peck's parents did not consider that she was old enough to wed, hence they refused their consent to her marriage to Robert Van Dressen. The young people took matters into their own hands, went to Detroit and were married there.

Big Rapids.—Having just finished his regular Sunday morning service and while baptizing a child. Rev. E. G. Franck, without the slightest warning, fell to the floor as if in a swoon. His friends, who rushed to the altar to raise him up, found him dead. He had seemingly been in perfect health.

Mount Morris.—S. Campbell, a farmer who lived in Forest township, committed suicide by swallowing carbolic acid. The act is said to have followed a spree at Otisville, but is attributed to poor health. Campbell left a widow and a large family of children.

Flint.—Horace P. Martin, former prosecuting attorney of this county, is said to have been given the indorsement of both Senator Burrows and Senator Smith for the appointment of supervisor of the census for the Sixth district of Michigan.

Battle Creek.—A. J. Mullen shot and fatally wounded Floyd Ketchim and tried to kill Mrs. Mary Fredeberg, proprietor of the boarding house where the men lived. Both had been paying attentions to the widowed Mrs. Fredeberg.

Grand Rapids.—Mattie F. Richter, formerly of Detroit, has begun suit for divorce against William Jean Richter, alleging extreme cruelty. She alleges that her husband once threatened to capsize the boat in which they were rowing.

Wolverine.—The village council passed an ordinance suppressing the saloons in this town. The council called a special election, which resulted in a victory for the "drys" by a majority of 13. Six saloons are put out of business.

Owosso.—Leona Harnhart, the Grand Rapids girl accused of stealing a suit case and dresses belonging to Mrs. W. B. Robinson of this city while she was employed as nurse at her Robinson home, will not be prosecuted, her parents having adjusted the case.

Ann Arbor.—The council committee on saloon licenses and bonds held a meeting and from the attitude expressed thereat it is evident that the number of saloons in Ann Arbor next year will be smaller by ten than at present.

Cadillac.—C. T. Ackley, coachman for the manager of the Antrim Iron works at Mancelona, was arrested here charged with robbing the company's general store of goods valued at $500.

Kalamazoo.—Emmett Muser, a 12-year-old boy, at Schoolcraft, has probably lost the sight of both his eyes in an explosion of powder. His face is also full of powder and is badly scarred for life.

Vassar.—Ephraim Foster, age 75, pioneer and prominent farmer of Tuscola township, is dead of pneumonia. He is survived by a widow and three sons and one daughter.

Lansing.—The Democratic state central committee elected E. C. Shields of Howell as state chairman to succeed John T. Winship of Saginaw, resigned.

Battle Creek.—Charles Wright, a local piano player, is at the sanitarium, recovering from the exhaustion of playing a piano 37 hours and 46 minutes, without cessation. He did the stunt in a local theater, to beat the world's record held by J. M. Waterbury of New York.

Bay City.—Darinda Bowman of Pe-tonsky and Anna Bowman of Brown City, though not related, are both missionaries in the same town in turbulent Turkey, Kadin. Mrs. Charles Hellman of this city received a letter from Darinda Bowman, who is her sister, about the middle of March.

Appears to Be in the Wrong

T. F. Chilson has a communication elsewhere in which statements are made that make it appear he is laboring under a misapprehension of facts. Other citizens may have obtained some of the same impressions Mr. Chilson sets forth. The most pertinent question he wants to know is, what has become of the water fund. A report is published every year showing just where every dollar of village funds goes to, and if the tarpayers will look over the report they cannot help but understand the situation.

Our correspondent says water money is transferred from that fund to other funds. Exactly the reverse is true, if the report is again examined. In 1908, $400 was so transferred from the general fund. In 1907, $2100 was transferred from the general fund, later $900 being transferred from the water to the electric, still leaving $1200 in the water fund taken from the general fund. In 1906, $450 was transferred from the general to the water fund, and so on every year. Some of the people, too, seem to forget that the village must pay interest on its water bonds, which amounts to $1,950 per year, as we understand it. This sum makes a large hole in the receipts and leaves but comparatively a small sum if any, to make extensions, after repairs are figured out. Creating a sinking fund besides, out of such receipts would appear impossible.

While it may seem to be an injustice to property owners who live on the outskirts of the village that they are not given more adequate fire protection, we believe the village authorities at present and in the past, have done all they could with the funds in their hands. In time it is hoped all property owners will receive all the fire protection desired, as with the exception of last year, extensions to the water mains have been regularly made.

Decision of Court Affects Titles.

For years the judges of probate in Wayne and other counties in the state have been observing a state law which provided that "When the personal estate of any deceased person in the hands of the executor or administrator shall be insufficient to pay all his debts, with the charges of administering the estate, or whenever it shall be made to appear to the probate court that it is necessary for the preservation of the estate, or to prevent a sacrifice thereof, or for the best interests of all concerned, therein, his executors or administrator may sell his real estate for that purpose upon obtaining license therefor from the probate court."

A case was recently decided by the state supreme court, which held that the act providing for the sale of property in such estates was unconstitutional, because the title of the act did not contain the intent of the entire act as required by law. Although this seems a mere technicality the higher court deems it sufficient to throw out the act.

They Eloped.

Though she was old enough to teach school, Miss Helen Peck's parents did not consider that she was old enough to wed, hence they refused their consent to her marriage to Robert Van Driessen. Thereupon the young people took matters into their own hands, went to Detroit on Saturday and were married there. Then they dispatched a note to the bride's parents telling what they had done, and took a train for Seattle, Wash., where the groom has employment.

The bride is the daughter of a well-to-do farmer of Livonia and has been teaching school in the Clark district. She is 18 years old, and the groom is 24.

The fourth quarterly trustees' social, held in the church Tuesday evening was an unqualified success, over one hundred persons being present and having enjoyed themselves for three full hours. This social is not a money-making scheme, as no money is received although the refreshments were excellent, thanks to the ladies and especially the committee. Its purpose is two-fold—social and educational. It aims to give those present a good time and an insight into the financial affairs of the church—both aims were realized Tuesday evening. Mr. Dan Murray proved himself an excellent master of ceremonies and Mr. John Wilcox's quarterly statement showed the church treasury to be in good condition.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Wanted—More high school boys who can close a door quietly.

A set of new books has been added to the 5th grade library, entitled "Heroes of Chivalry."

The Grades are painting program covers for the operetta. You will surely want one—or two.

Arbor Day exercises will be held in the high school Monday, May 3rd, at 2:30. Come, its free.

The Physiography class took another field trip Monday morning. Surely the "warm" weather hasn't given them the habit.

Visitors: Mrs. Bradley, Miss Crandall, Fred Pinckney, Gertrude Hunter, Cass Hough, Marguerite Hough and Nina Stuart.

We ought to report Miss Smith to the S. P. C. A. for cruelly catching mice which have been making their home in her desk.

The play "Cinderella in Flowerland," which was to have been given Friday evening, May 7th, has been postponed until May 14th. See next week's issue for cast of characters.

Miss Hanford's English classes are reading books extra fast this year. Eng. I have started "Sohrab and Rustum," Eng. III, American Literature, and Eng. IV, Silas Marner.

Wants to Know About Funds

What becomes of our water money? The water takers of this village are paying about $3000 annually for water and our plant costs practically nothing in run and still our village is without proper fire protection. Neither is any of the money being put into a sinking fund to pay the bonds that are bound to come due. I say that we have not proper protection. There are thousands of dollars' worth of property that can be gotten at with water only as was the case of Geo. White's. After waiting for all three companies to get there, and one of them having to go 1 1/2 miles, they could reach the fire with one line of water only, and there are thousands of dollars' worth of property that cannot be reached at all inside the corporation limits. We will take the two recent fires for instance. The night of Mr. White's fire if there had been a hydrant near his house so that the first company there could have gone to work, as there was no wind, and the one company could have saved the greater part of the property. What I say is proven by the fire of Mrs. Comstock's. Then the wind was very high and the fire had a big start, but the first company there went to work and held the blame in check until the other companies had arrived and the rest was short work. While the house was badly damaged, the upright part was not even scorched.

We claim that water money instead of being used in the street and light fund should be about 25 or 30 per cent. put in the sinking fund and the balance used just as fast as collected for extensions until our whole city has proper fire protection. Also, I contend that there never ought to be a water main laid less than six inches, instead of four, as is apt to be on back streets. When you come to put three or four lines of hose on a four inch main, it cannot supply the water and maintain its pressure.

Mrs. Frances Kenyon-West of Detroit, an old Plymouth girl, gave one of her popular recitals before a houseful of her friends at the Presbyterian church last Friday evening. Mrs. West was assisted by an accompanist, Mrs. Stoughton, but she took most of the program herself and the variety of her accomplishments was as astonishing as her excellence as an entertainer. The Gipsy Girl song and the impersonation of the naughty little girl were especially good. The entertainment was held under the auspices of one of the divisions of the Woman's Auxiliary and netted the ladies $23.75.

The local lodge of Odd Fellows celebrated the regular anniversary of the order Tuesday evening in a becoming manner, the lodge at Wayne being guests of the local fraternal. An address was made by Richard Rodaugh of Lansing, a grand lodge representative and remarks were also made by Wayne and local lodge members. Recitations were given and the high school glee club sang several numbers. After these exercises the woman's auxiliary, Daughters of Rebekah, served ice cream and cake. The occasion was much enjoyed by all fraters present, as these occasions always are.

The weatherman gave us a taste of weather Wednesday night and Thursday that has probably never been experienced before in this territory at this season of the year—April 29th. It began to snow Wednesday evening and continued until midnight when it rained more or less until night Thursday, the temperature remaining so near the freezing point that the snow and slush stayed on the ground an inch deep all day. Thunder and lightning prevailed intermittently from Wednesday night until Thursday noon. The "oldest inhabitant" doesn't remember the like.

Chelsea Standard.—The Free Press says in an editorial that "Chelsea has been sold out—again." The Free Press is wrong, Chelsea has merely been bought back. And as long as Chelsea bought back for less than fifteen thousand dollars what Griswold street paid seven hundred thousand dollars for, we certainly are for free trade and don't need any protective tariff as far as Griswold street is concerned. Welcome to our little city, gentlemen.

Although the bill creating an additional probate judge for Wayne county has been signed by the governor, it will not go into effect until 90 days after the legislature adjourns sine die. Gov. Warner will appoint Harry Hulbert, present probate register, to the new judgeship, but the appointment will run only to the next election, which will be in November, 1910. Hulbert will then have to stand for election.

FAT MAN'S MIRTH BROUGHT TO A SUDDEN END.

Things Moved When This Particular Warm Turned—Always Well to Know Just with Whom You Are Joking.

The thin man waited on the corner for the car. His overcoat was tightly buttoned across his narrow chest, and his collar jutted out behind like the rim of a funnel. His hat was pulled down until it rested on his ears—and looked as though it had been intended for some one with a head four sizes larger than his. His eyes were red and his nose was blue, and his mustache was about half inches with his frozen breath. Under each arm he held an assortment of packages which he was going to take down-town with him.

The fat man came blustering along and stood on the corner also. His overcoat was thrown open to the wind. The thin man looked at him with eyes that had the appearance of two blue buttons.

The fat man looked at the thin man and a wide, joyous smile stretched itself across his features. "Some snow, ain't it?" he shouted, jovially, his fat sides shaking as he contemplated the hunched-over attitude of the thin man. "Some wind, too! Wow! Ain't she a corker? Don't you like it? Why don't you learn to like it? So long as we've got it we might as well like it, huh? Gee! You're a sight, you are. You look like a ten-cent thermometer, you do. Wish you could see yourself standing there, with those bundles in your arms. I bet your fingers are so cold they burn your gloves! And your nose—say, it looks like a spotted pickle. And look at your hat! Say, the snow isn't down a thing but slides off it and into your coat collar! Well, you are a sight to behold! Ha, ha! Ho, ho! Hi! hi!"

He shook and shook and laughed and laughed until he had to lean against the lamp post to support himself, and all the time the thin man's eyes grew redder and his nose grew bluer and his face grew whiter until—"Ow! Ow! Whazzamatter!" yelled the fat man as the thin man suddenly kicked his feet from under him and with a sidewise scrape of his own foot shoveled a lot of snow into the fat man's eyes and ears as he fell.

The conductor of the car that stopped at the corner at that moment wondered somewhat why a large fat man was scrambling about in the snow looking for cigars and pencils and things, and why a shriveled, thin man, with red eyes and a blue nose and both arms laden with bundles, smiled merrily all the way down town, although the other passengers were demanding that the car have more heat. —Chicago Evening Post.

Suggests Lunch Menus.

A young woman, a public school teacher in a New York suburb, has formed a lunch club for the mothers of her pupils, to assist them in putting up suitable school lunches for their children. She noticed that the majority of her pupils brought a few cents to school each day and with the money bought their lunch at a shop near by. As a rule they bought the very things they should not have. One delicate little girl made her lunch on three pickles and a roll, another on two chocolate eclairs, for which she paid five cents, and a boy who seemed to have a healthy appetite would get a ham sandwich. The teacher, believing the trouble to be ignorance rather than laziness, has prepared a series of short talks to mothers on the need of good food for the growing child. She will also give recipes and suggests lunch menus, show how the lunch boxes may be packed attractively and when necessary which the way the various dishes should be cooked.

"Mole Tequop."

Col. Hugh I. Scott, superintendent of West Point, is credited with being more familiar with the life and personality of the American Indian than any other living man. Col. Scott has had the confidence of the Indians with whom he came into contact ever since the day of his first service in the army at Fort Abraham Lincoln, Dakota. He was appointed a lieutenant at that post in June, 1876. In the round of garrison duty, guarding a cattle trail through the Copanbe reservation and regulating "soomers" on public lands he made so thorough a study of Indian customs and languages that he became the best versed white man in the intricate sign language, by which the Indian tribes speaking different languages communicate. To the red man Col. Scott became "Mole Tequop"—"the man who talks with his hands."—Hampson's Magazine.

Same Old Style of Cooking.

Prof. Snaggs—Strange there's been no improvement made in cooking in the last 2,000 years. Now, down at my boarding house this morning I had a steak broiled in the regular Pompeian style.

Prof. Snaggs—Why, scorched to a splinter on one side and covered with ashes on the other.

Howard Goldie of Sabine, Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock, in the presence of immediate relatives and a few invited guests. A bounteous wedding supper was served after which the newly married couple departed for Alpena, their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Richwine's 14th wedding anniversary occurred last Saturday and although they did not anticipate anything more than an ordinary observance of the day, they were most agreeably surprised when in the evening Mr. Richwine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Richwine, Sr., Samuel Richwine, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Richwine, brothers and his sister, Gertrude, all from Detroit, came to visit them and make the occasion a merry one.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Micol celebrated their golden wedding April 24th, each being 73 years old. All the children were present—Mrs. Wm. Strong, Alex, August, William and Anna and six grandchildren, all residents of Plymouth, and Charles Micol of Detroit; also a few friends from town. A very pleasant evening was spent in playing five hundred and with music, after which a fine supper was served. The parents were then presented by the children with a purse of gold.

The hourly schedule on the Plymouth—Detroit electric line will go into effect May 3 as announced last week. The various changes in the time table will be published next week in The Mail. In the meantime our readers should remember that the cars will leave the Plymouth waiting room for Detroit at 5:50 a. m. and hourly thereafter until 7:50 p. m., and will leave the waiting room here for Northville at 6:08 a. m. (except Sundays) then 7:10 a. m. and hourly. Cars leave Detroit on the half hour as at present until 7:30 p. m., then 9 and 11 p. m., changing at Wayne.

Speaking of the dramatic recital by Rev. Burnett of Detroit, the Morand Observer, under date of April 9th, said: "So dramatically did Mr. Burnett present the theme that at times the audience barely breathed. We have heard many good speakers, but we give to Rev. Burnett the priority over all of them." Mr. Burnett gave his recital of Jean Valjean at Flushing last week, and it was pronounced better than any number of their $300.00 lecture course given there this winter. He returns shortly to give another of his popular numbers. You will want to hear him this Friday evening at the Methodist Church. Admission 25c and 15c. Tickets at Gittins'.

Heir to Property Found.

When the late John Ward died he left an estate valued at some $7,000 to a sister, Mrs. E. J. Dame. The lady formerly lived in Plymouth, but with her husband moved away some twenty years ago, since which time nothing had been heard from her until a few days ago.

A. H. Dibble was made administrator of the Ward estate and immediately made efforts to locate the sister. Among the effects left by the deceased was a letter written by the son of Mrs. Dame, dated at Elgin, Ill., 1902, he being then employed in a watch factory. The firm was communicated with and a reply was received to the effect that the young man had left there some years ago for South Bend, giving also the name of the factory he went to work for. The South Bend people were written to and Mr. Dibble learned that while the young man's whereabouts were unknown his wife still resided in South Bend. The woman was then written to and it was learned from her that Mr. and Mrs. Dame were living in Janesville, Wis.

After further correspondence with the Postmaster at Janesville, the couple were located as being inmates of an asylum, Mrs. Dame being critically ill. Mr. Dibble conferred with Probate Judge Durfee on Wednesday and at once left for Janesville to inform the couple of their good fortune and if able to travel to bring them to Plymouth, where they may spend the remainder of their days in comparative comfort.

In case of Mrs. Dame's death, the property, under the will, goes to her son. If he cannot be located or is dead, it will eventually revert to other heirs.

Begins Investigation.

Coroner Bassett and his jury, in the case of the death of P. H. Yorton in the D. U. wreck at Newburg on the night of April 17th, began their investigation of the cause of the wreck last Monday afternoon, Assistant Prosecutor Kosloski appearing for the people and Attorney Wm. Nelson for the D. U. R.

Mqorman Butler of Ypsilanti was the first to be examined and appeared very much disconcerted in his answers to the questions propounded by the Prosecutor, but admitted that the car was running fast, probably 30 miles an hour, which later under the skillful questioning of Attorney Nelson he modified by stating it might not have been running more than 12 miles an hour when he struck the curve.

Max Wright and Chas. Beech, passengers on the car, both testified to the speed of the car, the latter causing a ripple of amusement by stating he did not know what had happened until he found himself standing on his head in the debris of the car. H. J. Ostrander gave some unimportant testimony and Dr. Patterson was called to say that the cause of Mr. Yorton's death was a broken neck.

Conductor Morrissey, George Farrell and James Dunn were unable to be present at the inquest on account of not having sufficiently recovered from their injuries and the inquest was therefore adjourned for two weeks by the Coroner to give them an opportunity to testify.

Dr. Nichols Near Death.

Dr. H. A. Nichols sustained a stroke of paralysis last evening and his recovery is not expected.

TURPENTINING FROM THE PINE FORESTS

BY HERBERT F. JACKSON.

THROUGH the improvement in the systems of turpentine the south has taken a long step forward in the movement for the protection and development of one of the country's most important natural resources, the rich yellow pine forests which make the United States lead in those products. Improved methods of turpentine were first established to an appreciable extent during the producing season of 1904, when the cup and gutter system was installed by a number of the most enterprising manufacturers of naval stores in Georgia and Florida. Since that time there has been a steady and satisfactory increase in the percentage of turpentine and ro-and the industry is not so old in the two western states. But the improved conditions under which turpentine and rosin are manufactured in Texas and Louisiana will not account for more than one-fourth of the increase in yield.

To demonstrate more fully that the use of improved methods is largely responsible for the remarkable increase shown, the reports from two of the large establishments in Texas, one using the cup and apron system and the other cutting boxes into the tree, are compared. The establishment using the cup and apron system reported a yield of 1,372 barrels of turpentine for 20 crops, as against a yield of 1,500 barrels of turpentine for 35 crops where the old methods were employed, 68.2 casks per crop for the cup and apron system as against 42.8 for boxes.

Both companies were operating for

WHAT COLORS SHALL I USE?

This Question is Important in Painting a House or Other Building.

A proper color scheme is extremely important in painting a house. It makes all the difference between a really attractive home and one at which you wouldn't take a second glance. And it makes a big difference in the price the property will bring on the market.

As to the exterior, a good deal depends upon the size and architecture of the house, and upon its surroundings. For a good interior effect you must consider the size of the rooms, the light, etc.

You can avoid disappointment by studying the books of color schemes for both exterior and interior painting, which can be had free by writing National Lead Company, 1902 Trinity Building, New York, and asking for Houseowner's Painting Outfit No. 40. The outfit also includes specifications, and a simple instrument for testing the purity of paint materials. Pure White Lead which will stand the test in this outfit will stand the weather test. National Lead Company's famous Dutch Boy Painter trademark on the keg is a guarantee of that kind of white lead.

COUNTRY IN MOVEMENT.

Meeting of National Association for Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis Will Be Largely Attended.

The fifth annual meeting of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis will be held in Washington, D. C., at the New Willard hotel, on May 13, 14 and 15. Owing to the present interest in the campaign against tuberculosis, the meeting will be of unusual interest and importance. The membership of the national association now numbers nearly 2,000, and is distributed in almost every state in the United States. The national association has also a considerable membership in Canada, Cuba, Porto Rico, Philippine islands, and in several of the European countries. Ex-President Roosevelt and Dr. William Osler are honorary vice-presidents of the national association. Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch of Boston is the president; Mr. Homer Folks of New York city, and Dr. Charles L. Mmor of Asheville, N. C., are the vice-presidents; Gen. George M. Sternberg of Washington, D. C., is treasurer; Dr. Henry Barton Jacobs of Baltimore, is secretary, and Dr. Livingston Farrand of New York is the executive secretary of the association.

His Conscience.

"Will you have a cocktail, Mr. Snidgerly?"
"No, my wife does not permit me to drink intoxicants of any kind."
"Let me buy you a cigar."
"My wife has made me promise that I will never smoke any more."
"Well, well. I wish there was something I could do to make it pleasant for you."
"Is there a naughy show of any kind in town? If so, take me to it. My wife will not be able to smell it on my breath."

A DOUBLE EVENT.

Mrs. Highfly—And has she really got two servants?
Mrs. Flutter—Yes—one coming and one going.

Practical Gain.

Teacher—Lennie, if you were to take your father's razor and leave the steel blade open out in the grass overnight, what would happen?
Learned Lennie—It would get a result oxidation of the steel or what is commonly called rust.

Teacher—Quite right. Now, Willie, if you would put your mother's diamond ring in the fire, what result would you get?
Wise Willie—I'd get a lickin'.

FOOD FACTS

What an M. D. Learned.

A prominent Georgia physician went through a food experience which he makes public:

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know, from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful builder and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients always gain just as I did in strength and weight very rapidly."

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains of this state, but two months there did not improve me; in fact I was not quite as well as when I left home."

"My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life."

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers, I consider it a duty to make these facts public."

Trial 10 days on Grape-Nuts, when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body, will work miracles.

"There's a Reason."
Look in place for the famous Little Book, "The Road to Wellville."

CLEANING THE GUTTERS PREPARATORY TO DIPPING

In produced by these conservative methods. The work in conserving these vast turpentine orchards of the south has perhaps come in time to stay the early destruction of yellow pine forests threatened by years of careless management.

Experiments conducted by the United States forest service at Ocilla, Ga., and Green Cove Springs, Fla., as well as definite and reliable data received from operators throughout the naval stores belt, have effectively determined the great advantages of the new methods over the old. Not only has it been shown forcibly that the conservative methods are of great protection to the forests, but sufficient data has been collected to show that the increase in yield of both turpentine and rosin by the new and improved systems furnishes a strong argument in favor of their use.

Reports from the states where naval stores are produced show that where there is a greater percentage of turpentine produced by improved methods there is also a greater yield. The following table gives the average yield of turpentine per crop of 10,500 boxes or cups, reported and compiled by states, together with the percentage of turpentine produced in each state by either the cup and gutter or cup and apron systems:

State.	Yield per Crop.	Percentage produced by improved methods.
Alabama	35.6 casks	8
Florida	29.8 casks	16
Georgia	25.5 casks	9
Louisiana	44.7 casks	44
Mississippi	34.5 casks	11
Texas	43.5 casks	49

Note: In North and South Carolina improved methods are not in use.

BOXING A TREE

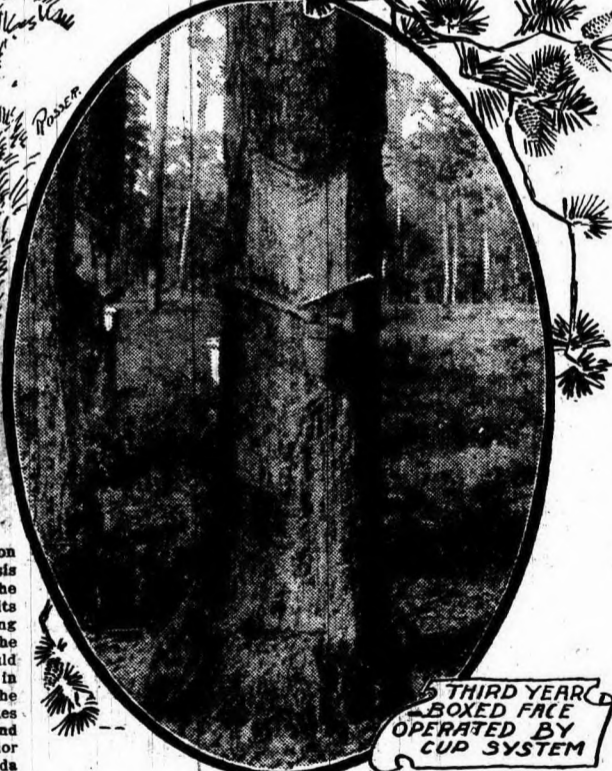

Accepting the information contained in this table as a basis for comparing the results of the new methods with the results of the old system of cutting the destructive boxes in the trees, some allowance should be made for the difference in quality of timber as well as the age of the industry in the states given. The timber in Texas and Louisiana is considered superior to that in Georgia and Florida the first year and timber and weather conditions were practically the same. The two establishments reporting these figures employ a high standard of business methods and the figures given are reliable. Forty-two barrels is considered a fair average yield for the first year the trees are bled and where boxes are used.

In Texas and Louisiana a greater percentage of operators own their own timber. Some of the most extensive places in these states are operated by large lumbering companies or corporations who are bleeding their trees for turpentine and rosin previous to converting them into lumber. These companies have carefully and systematically studied both methods of turpentine and the fact that the new methods are more generally in use in those states indicates their advantage over the old.

Work for More Kindergartens.

Mrs. Kate Douglass Wiggin Riggs addressed the meeting of kindergarten enthusiasts who met the other day in the New York home of Mrs. J. Greenough for the purpose of establishing kindergartens in small towns and villages. The scope of this new kindergarten society will be national, though its members declare that nowhere in the country is there such a demand for the schools as within a radius of 100 miles of New York city. Richard Watson Gilder, Mme. Maria Kraus-Boelte and Rev. Dr. David G. Wylie also made speeches in favor of the movement.

models were destroyed because the brothers didn't want to risk having any one steal their ideas.

They started off to France, which has been and is the foremost in aviation, and tried there to enlist funds for their enterprise. They apparently wanted the French government to take their aeroplane mostly on trust. As a Frenchman remarked long afterward: "If it were a fraudulent gold mine every one would have been willing to subscribe. But this turns out to be an honest enterprise, so of course there was no eagerness to possess it for France."

It was their manner of conversation that aroused the antagonism of the Frenchmen who came in contact. Not all, but some of the aviators frankly did not believe the Wrights and thought it all a bunco scheme to get money for nothing. The Wrights kept close mouthed and let the discussion run on. They started experiments down in a spot in North Carolina, near a town called Kittyhawk. From this place day after day came reports of flights, accidents, successes.

WRIGHT AEROPLANE "BLUFF" MAKES GOOD

By HOWARD S. COLTER

WILBUR WRIGHT has proved to the satisfaction of hundreds of persons in France that the pretensions of the Wright brothers that they had an aeroplane capable of flying were founded on fact, but for a long time they were under suspicion. They merely kept on saying that their aeroplane had solved the flying problem, but they never showed the machine and they never discussed its makeup or plans. This reticence had the effect naturally of making the French say: "That's just a bluff."

The Wrights, Wilbur and Orville, always have been very secretive about their invention. As is most generally known they took up the flying industry about eight years ago. As is the case with many folks all sorts of explanations, foolish and otherwise, were made of the way in which they happened to become interested. From the start, however, these Dayton-bicycle manufacturers were keen for aeroplanes. They believed that the soaring and flying of birds could best be imitated by aeroplanes.

The manner in which birds kept on mile after mile after vessels at sea, merely moving their wings now and again, interested these brothers, as it has interested thousands of persons who are not wrapped up in aeroplanes. The brothers knew or learned that the birds occasionally flapped their wings in the midst of soaring because they had to mount another or different air current.

Air resistance is a harder thing to tackle than water resistance. There are more quirks and twists to the stream of air than there are in the Mississippi water. All these things made dirigible balloon flying hard, and it had killed absolutely aeroplane endeavor up to the time the Wright brothers began. The earlier aeroplanists had not been able to work out a scheme whereby the air resistance could be accommodated so that it would help the flying machine instead of dashing it to the ground.

The Wrights, too, believed that a man could make a much better wing than Nature had done. The resistance of feathers would not be present in a wing made of silk. Furthermore, because a bird sometimes has to alight, Nature has fixed the wings so that they may be folded. With an aeroplane that has nothing to do but fly there need be no device for collapsing the wings. They may stay extended all the time.

The earlier attempts at aeroplanes, Lillienthal's, Picher's, Langley's and Chanute's, all lent something to the ideas of the Wrights. They studied aeroplanes for years before they evolved the idea. It was in 1903 that after framing the machine of parallel box kites they got the idea of putting in a gasoline engine to run the machine and to force those changes of plane that would be inevitable in unfavorable windage.

They had a machine then that was merely a glider. It was picked up at either extremity by two men who ran with it for a distance until finally it caught the air and started off on its gliding. It was about this time that reports came east that there were two men in Ohio who had a flying machine that would fly. The Wright aeroplane had glided for a distance over ground, how great no one knew but the brothers and certain chosen friends.

That started the controversy over them, a controversy that never was even partly settled until when the recent public flights began in France. The brothers made it a point that no unfriendly persons should see the aeroplanes, and many successful

LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN FREE

There is a great difference in the purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative—in fact, none other is needed by anyone, weak or strong though they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the use of the violent one?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved vogue among women and children and old folks—people who must necessarily be careful of what they take.

It is a healthy, laxative tonic and admits the greatest stomach, liver and bowel remedy before the American people. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, as it comes in either of the two sizes. It is pleasant to take and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, indigestion, heartburn and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future medication will be unnecessary. Its tonic properties build up the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they act naturally again. That this is so is the experience of many heads of families, like Mrs. E. H. Harriman, of Virginia, Va., Mrs. K. L. Stout, of Louisville, Ky., and numerous others. In fact, way out in Williams, Cal., as Mrs. J. E. Blackmore, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

If the remedy is new to you and you want to make a trial of it before buying, send your name to the doctor's address below and a free test bottle will be sent you. Then, if results are satisfactory you can buy it of your druggist.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. E. Caldwell, 301 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

SEEN AND HEARD NEW YORK

Hetty Green at Outs with Her Bank

NEW YORK—Financial men in Wall street are looking on in amused wonder at the continued strained relations between Mrs. Hetty Green and the Chemical National bank, an institution that she has used without let or stint for over a quarter of a century. Speculation as to the final outcome rather favors the bank.

Just at present Mrs. Green is having a period of forgetfulness as to the existence of the Chemical National bank, 270 Broadway, where she formerly maintained a safety deposit box, and from which institution she transacted her loan business for 24 years. The richest woman in the world does not have an office—she is like the curb offshoot of the New York stock exchange, and transacts her affairs from where she may stand when a proposition is presented for her decision.

Two months ago Mrs. Green ceased to keep her mortgages and stocks and bonds at the Chemical. She surrendered the key to her safety deposit box to President William H. Porter and transferred all of her securities to the safety deposit vaults of the National Park bank, 214 Broadway. Here Mrs. Green was given the use of an office over the bank, her nearest neighbor being another tenant, Stuyvesant Fish.

Eleven years ago the Chemical National bank assigned one of its most valued and faithful employees to the bank and call of Mrs. Green.

Then came an incident the character of which is still a carefully guarded secret. Some ascribed it to the fight between E. H. Harriman and Stuyvesant Fish for control of the Illinois Central. Others put it to decided views Mrs. Green held concerning certain financiers in Wall street.

Since Mrs. Green and the National Chemical bank came to the parting of the ways Wall street has speculated as to how long it would be before she would get over her huff and return to her old bank. Some weeks ago, when it was announced that Mrs. Green was housed in new banking quarters, there were denials issued that any breach existed between her and her old bankers. But time has failed to heal the wound, and this wonderful woman, who still appraises in person the value of every piece of real estate upon which she makes a loan, herself has said to intimate friends that she will remain in her present quarters.

Romantic Sister Disappoints Mrs. Astor

MRS. WILLIAM WALDORF ASTOR, Jr., of New York city, sister of Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, and one of the original "Gibson girls," has met the most bitter disappointment of her life. One of the most ambitious young women in society, this Virginia beauty, who was born Nannie Langhorne and whose first matrimonial experiment with Robert C. Shaw of Boston fell short of her expectations, has seen her dream castles topple one by one.

In addition to mapping out her own matrimonial affairs, and finally landing a Waldorf-Astor, the young woman carefully planned the lives of her equally attractive sisters. She intended to have at least two European titles in the family—good, unimpeachable titles that could get past the guardline of the royal courts. The remaining sisters were to get into the very inner ranks of American exclusives. Some way, the other sisters fell a little short of the prospectus. They married Americans, good enough, but not quite near enough the throne, so to speak.

Mrs. Astor's last hopes were pinned to beautiful Nora Langhorne. This, the youngest of the group, was to annex a peer of the proudest rank. The investments in titles of the Vanderbilt and Gould girls were to be shoved into a faded background. Mrs. Waldorf's cash gave her little sister all the benefits of European travel, introductions, opportunities innumerable. But Miss Nora didn't seem properly impressed. Her elder sister waited, planned and hoped.

Now it's all off. Nora has consented to marry Paul Phillips, an architect of London. No duke, nor earl, nor prime minister, nor marquis. Not even a French pretender. An architect who is poor, with only his professional earnings. He isn't even one of the Pittsburgh Phippses, multi-millionaires. He's half English, half American, and little Nora Langhorne has declared herself matrimonially with an emphasis which has forced her ambitious sister to give a reluctant consent rather than risk a scandal.

But the dream castles of Mrs. Waldorf Astor, years in the building, have tumbled to earth in ruins and her disappointment is of the bitterest.

Big Suit Over Dyeing of Poodle Dog

TRADESPEOPLE, servants and other plebeians are interested in Princess de Montigny's $50,000 damage suit against Mrs. Ada Olive Van Heusen, society member, who has a similar suit against the princess. Their interest in the princess' welfare dates back to last January, when she filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. Her liabilities were placed at $10,000. Her assets were represented by nothing.

The $100,000 worth of litigation is all because of a little Chinese poodle. Once white, the dog is now a deep mahogany, and in the dyeing lies a mystery which the American Kennel club, of which August Belmont is president, is trying to solve.

The princess says that she did not dye the dog. It was intimidated she did. She sued, and in suing said some things which caused Mrs. Van Heusen to retaliate with similar proceedings. The dyeing would not have caused such commotion, but as the mahogany entry of the princess the dog won the blue ribbon at the New England kennel show in Boston. Then came the discovery that the mahogany was like that of the present-day furniture and that a subterfuge had been perpetrated. Then the prize was given to Mrs. Heusen's entry. The word war and suits followed.

The princess, who is a relative of the king of Belgium, has gained publicity before because of her dogs. Once in Chicago she demanded that the program be reprinted so that her entry might be shown. After this was done, causing delay, rearrangement, and expense, the princess withdrew her entry without explanation.

Princess de Montigny comes of a noble Belgian family, whose ancestors had vast wealth. She is the divorced wife of the Duke d'Avary and daughter of Count Eugene de Marcy de Arzentau, with the title of Montigny, and a cousin of Prince Joseph de Cambray, who married Clara Ward of Detroit.

Princess de Montigny became the bride of Capt. "Jack" Bonavita, the animal trainer, in the office of the American consul at Paris, April 28, 1903.

Famous "Bowery" Gets Name from Home

NEW YORK CITY'S great East side thoroughfare gets its name of the "Bowery" through an ancient lineage that has come down through some ten thousand years, from the time of our Aryan ancestors, who planted the root that has grown into the well-known name.

At the head of that street stood the home of Peter Stuyvesant, the Dutch governor of New Netherlands, and it was known as "Stuyvesant's Bowery," which was another name for Stuyvesant's home, the grounds of which stretched southward toward Chatham square.

The growth from the Aryan root was simple enough, for it was only the expansion of "bu" into "bowery." This root "bu" meant to grow, dwell, be, become, or build, so we see how "bower" and "bowery," carrying the idea of a home, naturally grew from it. When that root "bu" began to grow there was no such thing as a collection of houses into a city or even a village, but where our ancestors lived was among the shades of forest growths, where branches and leaves were bunched into coverings that became homes.

This word "bowery" came directly to us through the Anglo-Saxon "buan," which meant to dwell. They also had the word "bur," which signified chamber, a covering in which to conceal or cover yourself, and from this Anglo-Saxon came our middle English "bower." In the Dutch, as it was used in New Netherlands in Peter Stuyvesant's time, it was "bowery."

STREETS OF MAINE CITY CLEARED BY ANGRY COW

ANIMAL GETS LOOSE AND BLOCKS TRAFFIC FOR AN HOUR—IS FINALLY SHOT.

Biddford, Me.—For nearly an hour an angered cow that had escaped from Stephen Meserve, an Alfred road farmer, held possession of the business section of the city, forcing pedestrians to flee for their lives and causing two horses to run away. The excitement ceased only after the animal had been killed by a rifle bullet.

Mr. Meserve was driving down Center street with two cows attached to the back of his pung on his way to a slaughter house where the animals were to be butchered. One of them got loose and a number of boys tried to get a rope around her horns. Soon becoming excited, and being chased by boys and dogs, the cow apparently went mad and, lowering her horns, rushed through the streets lunging at everybody in sight.

With head down and tail raised she made for two delivery pungs backed up to the store of the Andrews & Horgan Company, scaring the horses, which galloped wildly up the street, overturning the pungs and spilling the loads.

Dr. Daniel A. McNally, who attempted to catch the cow, was forced to take to a telephone pole to escape her fury. Melville Woodman was walking down Elm street when the cow rushed for him. Alarmed by a shout, Mr. Woodman dodged into a doorway just in time to escape. Nicholas L. Gibbon was struck by the cow's horns and knocked down, but he was not seriously hurt.

The cow then ran into Main street and made for the open door of Napoleon P. Dion's restaurant, the waiters heading her off in the nick of time. Two young women were forced to flee into John B. Morin's drug store. She was finally killed.

BABY ON CAR IS A TORCH.

Five Engines, Hose Carts, Hook and Ladder Companies and Police Called to Fight Blaze.

Cleveland, O.—Six fire engines, six hose wagons, four hook and ladder companies, 25 firemen and half a dozen policemen were called to East Sixth street and Euclid avenue to extinguish a fire in a baby's dress.

For 15 minutes during the rush hour traffic was tied up in the heart of the downtown district, while the firemen and police hunted desperately for the blaze.

When Mrs. May Vogelsang got through shopping she boarded a Euclid avenue car. She had Baby Vogelsang in a go-cart and this, with the child, she placed on the front vestibule, alongside the motorman. The mother took a seat in the front of the car.

When the motorman started the car there was a blinding flash and a deafening report as the fuse blew out. Smoke poured through the front doors of the vestibule. Then there was a rush of passengers to get off and somebody called the fire department.

When the fuse blew out Baby Vogelsang's clothes caught fire, but the motorman smothered the flames with his hands and, seizing baby, cart, and all, leaped to the pavement.

Bull Butts Man Over Wall.
Frankford, Pa.—Tossed over a high stone wall by an angry bull, George Walker, 39 years old, employed as a farmhand by David McKale of Frankford, hung in the branches of a tree where he landed until he was rescued and hurried to the Frankford hospital. He is being treated for a badly torn leg.

The McKale farm is on the Bristol side, and one of its most noted attractions is a prize bull, which has never been considered a "bad one." Walker was filling a water trough near the wall, which is the boundary line of the bull's domain. On the other side of the wall is a tree, the lowest branches of which are ten feet from the ground.

While Walker was leaning over the trough, with his back to the bull, the animal charged, and the impact came before the farmhand could change his posture. It was a lusty heave upon the part of the bull and Walker sailed over the wall and into the tree. There he hung until McKale answered his cries for help.

G. W. Winney, Medina, N. Y., writes kidney sufferers to write to him. To all who enclose postage he will reply, telling how Doan's Kidney Pills cured him after he had doctored and had been in two different hospitals for eighteen months, suffering intense pain in the back, lameness, twinges when stooping or sitting, languor, dizzy spells and rheumatism. "Before I used Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mr. Winney, "I weighed 143. After taking 10 or 12 boxes I weighed 162 and was completely cured."

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Paw Paw, Mich.—"I suffered terribly from female ills, including inflammation and congestion, for several years. My doctor said there was no hope for me but an operation. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I can now say I am a well woman."

EMMA DRAPER.

Another Operation Avoided.
Chicago, Ill.—"I want women to know what that wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has done for me. Two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation, and I never thought of seeing a well day again. I had a small tumor and female troubles so that I suffered day and night. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."

Mrs. ALVINA SPERLING, 11 Langdon St., Chicago, Ill.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

320 Acres of Wheat Land IN WESTERN CANADA WILL MAKE YOU RICH

Fifty bushels per acre have been grown. General average greater than in any other part of the continent. Under new regulations it is possible to secure a homestead of 160 acres free, and additional 160 acres at $3 per acre.
"The development of the country has made marvelous strides. It is a revelation, a record of conquest by settlement that is remarkable."—Extract from correspondence of a National Editor, who visited Canada in August last.

The grain crop of 1908 will net many farmers $20.00 to $25.00 per acre. Grain-raising, mixed farming and dairying are the principal industries. Climate is excellent; social conditions the best; railway advantages unequalled; schools, churches and markets close at hand. Land may also be purchased from railway and land companies.

For "Last Best West" pamphlets, maps and information as to how to secure lowest railway rates, apply to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the authorized Canadian Government Agent:

FEW OPPORTUNITIES IN CHINA.

Learned Professionals Offer Little Inducement to Foreigners.

There are three professions in particular which are attracting the attention of foreigners in China," said Dr. B. M. Perkins of Shanghai in a recent interview. Dr. Perkins has been in China over ten years and is in the United States on a visit to friends and relatives.

"These three professions are law, medicine and dentistry. The Chinese people have had all three for ages, but their practice has been different from that in other lands, and it will be some time before Chinese competition in any of them will be felt except, through foreign training and as a result of the efforts of foreigners.

"Chinese medical men have not been in very good standing among their own people for many years.

"Chinese dentists have done more than their fellows in the medical line, and all things considered, Chinese dentistry, while it cannot compare with modern dentistry as practiced in America and Europe, especially in the former, is far above what might have been expected.

"There are no requirements for admission to the bar in China, for the reason that there is no bar. Each consular court has its rules for admission, and when an attorney is allowed to practice in one court it is taken as an international discrimination if any other consular court does not extend like courtesy.

"There is but a limited field for the law in China at best, and most of it is already occupied by men who are well established, whose business is protected by the intense conservatism of the dominant British. It can safely be said that there is little to encourage a young man entering upon the practice of law in a Chinese port. Unless he is able to buy his way into an old established firm his struggle for business is fully as keen as it would have been at home, and he has neither the field to work in nor the restrictions to guide him and protect him from mistakes as he has at home."

Woman's Pen Picture of Jackson.

I shall see him, I thought, the brave, the intrepid, the invincible Jackson: I shall now be gratified with a sight of the brave Tennessean, whose valor has secured forever the honor of this state.

I was devouring Counselor Phillips' speeches in a corner, when I heard a loud cry, "Gen. Jackson comes." Running to my window I saw him slowly walking up the hill between two gentlemen, his aids. He was dressed in a blue frock coat with epaulets, a common hat with a black cockade, and a sword by his side. He walked on by our door to Maj. Wyatt's, his companion in arms, where he put up for the night. His person is finely shaped, and his features not handsome, but strikingly bold and determined. He appears to be about fifty years of age. There is a great deal of dignity about him. His language is pure and fluent, and he has the appearance of having kept the best company. He relates many hardships endured by his men, but never breathed a word of his own.—From "Life and Times of Anne Royal," by Sarah H. Porter.

Plans to Cure by Music.

That healing by music will ultimately be accepted as the panacea for hundreds of diseases which now baffle physicians is the belief of a Boston woman, Miss Christine Brown, who has founded a new health cult in that city.

"The secret of cure lies entirely in sweet, melodious and sequent strains of music," she says. "Musical harmony is a fundamental law of the inner self. To be well our bodies must not only be in tune with the self within, but in accord with external conditions. I believe that music scientifically employed in prisons and asylums for the demented, will eventually become the means of reforming criminals, and will result in a steady decrease in the thousands who now crowd the insane asylums. It is not necessary that a person should possess an artistic sense or that a sufferer should even have a musical ear to obtain the beneficent effects of harmony."

A Poor Dollar's Worth.

"I'm inclined to believe in fortune tellers," said the little grass widow, "and would if it hadn't been for one I saw up in Sixth avenue. I gave her a dollar and she began to tell me what a fine husband I had and how happily I was married, and what good fortune was coming to me.

"But it isn't true," I interrupted her. "I have a husband, but he is in England and I am here, and he never has supported me, and I never expect to live with him again. Never want to." All those fibs she was telling me and my dollar gone!

"Give me another dollar?" she said, "and I'll tell you some more."

"But not for me. What did she take me for?"—New York Press.

Business Reasons.

"That ninth juror held out firmly against acquitting the brain-frenzied murderer, didn't he?"

"Don't you know the reason?"

"No; what?"

"He believes in getting first of legal books, and then going to endorse any unwarranted law business."

Progress.

"How are you getting along at your Browning club?"

"Oh, beautifully. We talk about Browning every now and then."—Cleveland Leader.

New System of Car Dispatching.

Ann Arbor News: The Detroit United Railway Co. is to inaugurate the system of written orders for the conductors and motormen of the Detroit, Jackson and Chicago Ry. This system will go into effect on May 1.

By this method, which is in use in many places, in case of accident, the blame can be traced ordinarily to the one on whom it should rest, while another feature of the plan is that the crews have their orders to go ahead or wait in writing so that there is little chance of their not failing to remember as might be the case with the verbal orders as given in the present system of telephoning.

In each telephone box will be an arrangement for writing three copies of the order at the same time. The conductor takes the order from the operator at headquarters and writes it down. To make sure of its correctness it is then read back to headquarters by the motorman. Two of the copies are torn off, one for the motorman and one for the conductor, and the third is left in the box. Thus with the written copy at headquarters there are four copies of the order in writing.

This addition to the present telephone system is undoubtedly an improvement as far as the safety of the traveling public is concerned and anything done along this line is gladly received by those who use the line, as the memory of the last bad accident is still fresh in the minds of many.

Fine Salem Horses.

South Lyon Herald: Last Monday the Detroit Creamery Co. shipped three teams and one horse from Salem station, to Detroit, and the exceptionally good prices paid for these animals makes the shipment worthy of more than passing note.

One team, a span of matched bays, was purchased of Henry Deane and for which was paid $475; another, a large team, of Frank Casey for $475 and the other a span of matched grays of Bert Nelson, for which $425 was paid. The single horse was purchased of George VanSickle for $210 and was a fine black, making a total of $1560 paid for seven horses.

The people of Salem feel that seven of the best horses in the township have been taken away but no doubt are proud of the fact that seven such valuable horses could be found in that section. From the above it will be seen that the day of the horse has not yet gone by and it still pays to raise good horses.

The Johnny of Then and Now.

An exchange says: Nowadays when Johnny is bad at school the teacher takes down her book and gives him a black mark. Next day Johnny is worse than ever. Fifty years ago when Johnny was bad at school the teacher took down a dogwood sprout, made two dozen black marks around his bare legs and Johnny never repeated the offense. Fifty years ago Johnny got up at daylight, started a fire, fed the horses, milked a dozen cows, chopped and brought in wood to last mother all day, ate a hearty breakfast and walked five miles to school. Today Johnny does not get up at all unless he is forced to, eats little or no breakfast, goes out behind the house to smoke a cigarette and if the school-house is over three blocks away, grunts about the long distance he has to walk. The Johnny of fifty years ago is now a hale and hearty man. Fifty years from now and Johnny of today will be dead and buried.

Prospects for a ball team in Plymouth are looking favorable. It is believed a team will be in the field before many days and it will be a good one, too.
