DRINKS THAT ARE UNUSUAL

"Acorn Cup" is Liked by Tanners— Peculiar Tittle of the Ironstone Workers.

Some men boast of knowing the taste of every drink except water. They do not. One tittle they have never sampled is "acorn cup," or "the liquor," the stuff in which hides are tanned into leather.

Made from oak bark and acorns and acorn cups, it has a sharp, bitter taste that is anything but agreeable to the ordinary palate; but the men engaged in some tanneries habitually drink it in small quantities—a wineglassful at a time is the limit—as a pick me up.

Another drink unknown to the general tippier is a favorite among ironstone workers. It is a natural product of a very curious kind. In the best sort of stone are found hollow pieces, inside of which is about a pint of mush, a cold liquor with a sweet, sharp taste, and either red or white in color. Strangers seldom want more than one sip of mush, but the workers quaff it with avidity.

There are, too, many kinds of alcoholic products which are rarely if ever tasted outside particular trades. Methylated spirit is drunk not only by furniture polishers but by haters and others who use it in their work, and it seems impossible to make it so vile that they cannot swallow it.

A man engaged in one of the shops of a London warehouse was found to be drinking considerable quantities of methylated spirit, whereupon the remainder of the stock was dosed with this noisome drug as aforesaid, which it was thought would make the stuff undrinkable. But the spirit actually disappeared faster than ever!

In the same way some of the alcohol used in scent works is drunk by those who have the handling of it, and some men engaged at drug warehouses get into the dangerous habit of taking "alps" of essences and the like. "Not long ago a man employed by a large firm of wholesale chemists was seriously ill through long indulgence in the practice.—TH-Bits.

Record for Chewing.

It might be well for those who adopt the one meal a day system to become chewers at the same time. A chews, according to a dietetic expert, is one who chews all things so long as they have any taste in them. Gladstone, it is recorded, used to take 32 bites to every mouthful of food. This would be considered dangerously rapid eating by the modern school of chews. "I have tried chewing conscientiously," writes Mr. Eustace Miles. "A banana has cost 800 bites, a small mouthful of bread and cheese 840 bites, a greedy mouthful of biscuit (while I was walking on a Yorkshire moor) more than 1,000 bites. It still seemed to taste about as much as at first; but I knew that taste by then, so I swallowed.—London Chronicle.

The County Fair

A thousand boyhood memories cluster round the county fair—the glorious autumnal weather, the joy of harvest, the strife for excellency, the greetings of friends. But it is the simplicity of the fun that is most worthy of remark. In these days of the costly show and spectacle, with theaters that are palaces and opera houses maintained by fabulous outlay, the inexpensive joys of the county fairs of the fathers are suggestive. There is nothing extravagant in the old fair. Yet for a royal good time and an amusement that was all-comprising and genuine it never had a rival.—New York Mail.

The Girl Who Helps Mother.

Why not give us a few moving pictures of the girl who helps mother? They are worth more than the Nan Pattersons, the Evelyn Thaws and the Beniah Binfordes, who appeal to nothing but morbid curiosity and a taste for tragedy and depravity. Why don't the film makers pay big prices to the real heroine to pose for human interest shows?—Washington Star.

Hard Hit.

"Did the recent drought hurt you farmers much?"

"I should say it did," answered Mr. Cornstall. "We used to make a heap of money hauling out automobiles that got stalled. While that drought was on we couldn't afford to haul water to keep up some of our best mud holes.—Washington Star.

A Sedative.

"It's terrible to see the eccentricities of stock quotations," said the speculator.

"Yes," replied the statesman "it's a pity we can't hold things to a steadier course by feeding some governmental red tape into the stock ticker."

A Frank Preference.

"Doesn't your wife want the privilege of going to the polls and casting a ballot, as an enlightened and responsible citizen?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher, "but she'd rather have a new hat."

Heard in Advance.

"Fathers of small boys report that their sons are much easier to manage now than they were a month ago."

"I'll bet I know why."

"You've seen the MIBs, haven't you?"

"Yes. A circus is coming to town."

MASONIC BODIES HOLD REUNION

MICHIGAN SOVEREIGN CONSTITORY AND CO-ORDINATE LODGES MEET.

BANQUET HELD EACH DAY

Masons From All Parts of the State and Several From Cities of the Middle West Attending the Gathering.

Lansing.—With a class of 63 members initiated, the Michigan Sovereign Constitory and co-ordinate Masonic bodies for the Valley of Detroit held the one hundred and eleventh reunion with a series of ceremonies that lasted three days, with a banquet each day and a general feast of reason and flow of soul after the conclusion of the series.

There was a big attendance of Masons, many from all parts of the state and several from other cities of the middle west.

J. E. Dewey of Buffalo was a speaker, and among the local orators were Harry O. Walker and William Van Sickle, the newly elected commander-in-chief. The event was made still more notable by the attendance of four past commanders-in-chief—John B. Corliss, Arthur E. Meigs, F. B. Stevens and Frank T. Lodge. The term being three years, they represent 12 years of service in that eminent office.

Jackson Prison Has Ideal Farm.

The state prison at Jackson, in some respects, is taking on the aspects of a farm. Not a very large one, however, as there are only about 30 acres of tillable land, but every foot of this ground is being made to bring good returns. During the past summer there have been employed on the farm on an average of 15 convicts each day. At times when the prison plants were closed for inventory, this force has been increased. Three teams have been kept at work much of the time. More than 500 bushels of potatoes have been raised, while more than enough cabbage, beets, carrots, parsnips, turnips and onions have been produced than were necessary for the winter consumption. Enough potatoes were raised to bridge over the period of high prices of early potatoes. Other farm produce raised and consumed in season included green peas, string beans, spinach, vegetable oysters, asparagus, strawberries and grapes. More tomatoes were raised than it was possible to consume. Two acres of land was set out to tomatoes, and it is estimated that fully 5,000 gallons of tomatoes will be secured for canning purposes for this year. The institution has just installed a canning plant at a cost of exactly $28.50, and 5,000 gallons of tomatoes have already been canned. The canned tomatoes alone will be worth at the market price $1,500.

Odd Fellows Favor Detroit.

Detroit for 1912 is the slogan of the delegates from the City of the Straits to the sixty-seventh annual convention of the Michigan Odd Fellows and seventeenth annual assembly of Rebekahs, which opened at Saginaw. There are 11 Rebekah and 10 Odd Fellow lodges in Detroit, and every one of the delegates to the state convention are out for the 1912 meeting, which seems certain to go to that city.

This is the largest convention held at Saginaw this year. Thirty-three thousand ladies and 50,000 Odd Fellows are represented. Eight years ago the convention was held here and since then 17,000 members have been added to rolls of the Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs correspondingly. According to the secretary's figures, there are 450 Rebekah lodges, 565 Odd Fellow lodges in Michigan, which gives a delegate representation of 2,200.

The grand lodge and past official degrees were conferred. Charles F. Ganschow of Saginaw is grand master and Hattie Jackson of Detroit is president of the grand assembly.

Bay City Not Complying With Law.

In his monthly report submitted to the commissioner of insurance Deputy Fire Marshal Wolf states that reports from different cities of the state show a disposition on the part of the people to comply with the law requiring the elimination of old buildings which are a fire menace to nearby property. Many such buildings are being replaced by new buildings, he states. In all 379 buildings in various cities were examined and recommendations made regarding them.

Bay City comes in for criticism, the marshal stating that the city has some "very dangerous and dilapidated buildings, and should have more time spent on the examination of its buildings."

Michigan Patents.

Michigan patents were issued as follows: James D. Campbell Detroit, means for packing ammonia cylinders; Oscar Carleton, Felch, grain door; Florence L. Cromble, Detroit, electrically heated tray; Charles L. Davis, Detroit, envelope feeder; David M. Dearing, Jackson, running gear for motor vehicle; Henry Ford, Detroit, transmission mechanism; Clarence L. Hoffman, Detroit, lock for lamps; Alfred H. Kay, Detroit, railway joint and chair.

Contest for Seat on State Board.

Another bitter contest is promised by one of ex-Governor Warner's recess appointees. The contesting party is George E. Harrington of Kalamazoo, who was appointed a member of the state board of health to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Charles Blake of Detroit. On July 19 Governor Osborn appointed Dr. Edward Abrams of Dollar Bay to fill the vacancy.

Both Doctor Harrington and Doctor Abrams were in Lansing to attend the meeting of the board. Doctor Harrington gave out the following interview:

"I have never received any notice from Governor Osborn or from the attorney general, that my services on the board was no longer needed. I came to Lansing with the intention of taking my place on the board. A decision of the supreme court is all that will make me vacate my seat."

Secretary Dixon of the state board of health conferred with the attorney general with the intention of getting his decision in the matter. It is expected that some action will be taken at the meeting.

Recently Doctor Harrington made a trip to Philadelphia as a representative of the board, and one of the questions which will be brought up is the paying of his expense account.

Many Protests Against Scheme.

Expressions of interest from various parts of the state indicate that when the commission of tax inquiry begins its hearings on the proposed new plan of taxation, which includes the separation of state and local taxes, a storm will break, and representatives of corporate interests in Michigan will make a vigorous assault on the scheme. The hearings will be held in the senate chamber beginning Tuesday, October 24.

While the manufacturers of the state have arrived at no definite plan for combating the corporation tax advocated by Governor Osborn's special committee, it is known that steps have already been taken to submit the report to competent persons for their opinion. A number of taxation experts are at work on the report, as the manufacturers want to be prepared if Governor Osborn calls a special session of the legislature to consider it.

A new angle developed which will have an important bearing in the discussion of any plan to separate state and local taxes. In order to augment the general fund of the state the commission advocates taking certain properties, including interurban railroads, out of the field of local taxation and assessing them solely for state purposes. Such a plan would increase the taxes of the railroads and telephone companies of the state, which pay the average rate of taxation, which is secured by dividing the amount paid by general property throughout the state by the assessed valuation of general property.

Meeting of Women's Clubs.

The Michigan Federation of Women's clubs met in Detroit. The opening session was held in the Central M. E. church and all other meetings at the Pontchartrain.

Miss Emma A. Fox gave a parliamentary drill to which the public were invited.

The following program on conservation and forestry was given: "Audubon," Sarah Wright Lanchester, of Alma; "Conservation and Forestry," Lena L. Maulner; "Waterways," Harriet Sebring, of Manistee; "What the Public Woman Commission Has Done for Conservation in Michigan," Hon. Frederick C. Martindale; "A Message From the National Conservation Conference," Mrs. John C. Sharp, of Jackson; "Forestry," Prof. Flibert Roth, of the University of Michigan. The program will be followed by a discussion.

Mayor William B. Thompson gave the address of welcome and Mr. Milton A. McRae, president Detroit Board of Commerce; Mrs. George G. Caron, Mrs. Lucy White Williams and Mrs. Philip N. Moore, president general Federation of Women's clubs, spoke, and the following musical numbers were given:

Organ solo, "Triumphal March," Miss Minnie Caldwell; soprano solo, "Miriam's Song of Triumph," Reinicke, Mrs. Frederick W. Brown; quartet, "My Love's Like a Red, Red Rose," Rogers, Chaminade quartet.

Many Dangerous Dams in State?

Has Michigan any dams which threaten the lives of communities? The question is raised by H. Von Schon, a well-known civil engineer of Detroit, in a letter to Governor Osborn, in which he refers to the Austin (Pa.) tragedy and suggests the advisability of precautionary measures against similar catastrophes in Michigan. He states there are many old dams in Michigan, which perhaps are not kept up and might be a source of danger and offered to submit his views as to feasibility of protection.

In a reply to Von Schon, Governor Osborn expresses his appreciation of the timely and interesting letter.

Counties Aid West Michigan.

The supervisors of Kent, Newaygo and Emmet counties made appropriations for advertising the general farming and fruit advantages of western Michigan. Kent voted $1,000, Newaygo's appropriation was better than $500 and Emmet's $300 in addition to $300 last June. Nine counties have through supervisors made appropriations for advertising the past week, namely, Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim, Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Lake, Newaygo, Mecosta and Kent.

ITALY FORMS SECOND ARMY IN RESERVE

WILL BE READY TO SEND 15,000 MORE MEN TO TRIPOLI IF THEY ARE NEEDED.

REPORT OF A SERIOUS FIGHT IS NOT CONFIRMED.

The Turkish Government Has Ordered the Expulsion of All Italian Correspondents From the Empire.

Although the Italian government considers that the present expedition of 40,000 men will be sufficient for the complete occupation of Tripoli, the ministry of war has prepared for an additional expedition in case of need. This is composed of six regiments of foot soldiers including two from the regular infantry, two from the Alpine district and two of sharpshooters, with a contingent of cavalry and artillery, numbering in all 15,000 men. This reserve force is prepared to reach Tripoli within 48 hours.

A report from Tripoli says that Gen. Caneva, commander-in-chief of the Italian forces there, is awaiting the arrival of the final contingent of the first expedition before he begins a march into the interior.

Four aeroplanes have arrived in Rome from France. They will be sent to Tripoli, where it is proposed to make the first experiments in the use of flying machines in actual warfare. They will be piloted by Italian officers who will undertake to drop bombs into the enemy's encampments.

Turkey Orders Expulsions.

The Turkish government ordered the expulsion of all Italian correspondents in Constantinople.

A society has been organized to wage an economic war against Italy. All Ottomans are asked to sign a declaration undertaking on oath to cease all dealings with Italians. The newspapers endorsing this campaign advise Ottomans to inculcate the young with a hatred for Italy and Italians.

A prize court has been formed to deal with the captures of war, which up to the present time include two tramp steamers, a yacht, a motorboat and a number of tugs, lighters and steam launches.

Unconfirmed Battle Report.

The Frankfurter Zeitung's correspondent at Constantinople forwards a dispatch dated Tripoli saying: "A fierce engagement occurred between the Turks and Italians on a hill in the neighborhood of the city. The Italians lost 1,600 killed and wounded. The Turkish casualties were slight."

There is no confirmation of the dispatch, which is at variance with recent Tripolitan news reaching here through other channels.

ATTEMPT ON TAFT'S LIFE.

Thirty Sticks of Dynamite Placed Under Railroad Bridge in California.

An attempt was made to wreck President Taft's train on the Southern Pacific at a big trestle near Santa Barbara, California, and that it failed was due to the watchfulness of railroad men. Thirty sticks of dynamite and a ten-foot fuse placed on the track is in the possession of Southern Pacific officials.

The railroad watchman at El Capitlan bridge, a structure about 700 feet long across the gorge near Gaviota station, 10 miles north of Santa Barbara, saw two men walk down the track about 2 o'clock this morning and stop near the middle of the big bridge. His suspicions were aroused and he gave chase. As the men ran he fired several shots at them, but they made their escape in the darkness.

PHILLIES WIN THE THIRD

30,000 People Witness Third Game of World's Series.

Thirty thousand or more people filled the wide reaches of the Brust stadium, New York, to see the New York Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans engage in the third contest of the world's baseball series.

Each contender had won a game, and many believed where the tide of victory would set in would point the way to the final winner of the series.

A dull gray day that was filled with a portents of rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the crowds, which widely applauded the batting and fielding.

The weather prospects grew more discouraging as the day advanced. The clouds became darker and more threatening and rain seemed a certainty before the end of the day.

Combs and Lapp were opposed to Mathewson and Meyers, Philadelphia winning with a score of 3 to 2 in an eleven-inning game.

An expenditure of $1,458,929.22 is called for at Yale university the coming year, according to the budget submitted to the regular meeting of the corporation.

FIGHTING IN CHINA

German Marines and Chinese Rebels Join to Battle Mobs.

Defying the revolutionary leaders who forbade pillaging and wanton slaughter, mobs took possession of the native quarters of the city of Hankow, China, and in the fighting which followed many were killed and wounded. The rioters threatened to sweep over the foreign concessions, carrying their slaughter among the foreign families which are under the protection of foreign flags.

German marines, landed from the boats in the harbor, fought side by side with the Chinese troops that were trying to disperse the pillagers and put down the disorder. The marines fought with desperate courage.

Grand Rapids banks report that more mortgages are being discharged in that city and county than at any period for the last five years.

THE FESTIVAL OF THE BOGIE MAN

By RAY CHARLES MORRIS

Now comes the festival of the Bogie Man. If you want to try something that is novel and amusing in connection with it you cannot do better than make a few experiments in the construction of vegetable mannikins, which are particularly appropriate to Hallowe'en. They are usually made at home with the aid of a few vegetables such as potatoes, beets, carrots and the like, and the contriving of them will afford a lot of amusement.

For example, with a fair-sized potato for a body, a beet for a head and a couple of carrots for legs you can turn out quite a humanlike figure. Stand him firmly on his "pins," paint a couple of eyes and a nose, cut a round hole beneath the nose for the insertion of a cigar and you will have a sporty-looking goblin, which only needs some sort of a hat and a stick in his hand—his arms are carrots also—to be perfect in its way.

The deft handling of a penknife will accomplish wonders in the manufacture of such vegetable mannikins, helping out here and there in a sculptural way, while a little ingenuity in the contribution of minor accessories is an important aid. For instance, a po-Heeman, with a potato body, a turnip head and a couple of cucumbers for legs requires some sort of a helmet (easily made out of pasteboard, as well as a club in his hand, to lend him a proper verisimilitude. A final touch in the shape of a pair of mustaches consisting of two ears of wheat stuck with mudlage beneath the nose contributes ferocity to his expression.

Or, if you like, you may construct a clown, with a small beet for a head and a couple of carrots for legs, lady apples serving admirably for buttons and topknobs. Here, of course, a bit of paint is desirable—but not very much, because it is well to rely as far as possible upon the vegetables themselves for the effects to be produced. The clown should have a peaked cap on top of his head, which is easily cut out of the substance of the beet so as to have the desired shape, and in his hand he may carry a plum, attached to a short string, to represent the distended bladder, which Mr. Merryman is accustomed to use in his business.

The question of feet for the mannikins may be a bit puzzling, but small potatoes will serve the purpose satisfactorily, and radishes are excellent. One or two incidentals of clothing may be discreetly added, such as a necktie for a dude mannikin, or a veil for a lady goblin. The lady goblin, by the way, may be provided appropriately with a skirt of lettuce leaves, and if she can be supplied with a parasol to carry in her hand, the effect will be more picturesque.

Some girls are very clever at contriving such things as these, and, with the suggestions here given, almost any bright young woman ought to be able to put together a few Hallowe'en mannikins that will be a surprise to her friends. If she chooses to celebrate the occasion by a party, she ought to devise a vegetable goblin for each guest, to serve as a present, and it is desirable that in each case the bogie doll (if such may be called) shall be a "take-off" in some way upon the recipient. Thus a dude mannikin might be bestowed upon a young man conspicuous for the elegance of his apparel. This will make a great deal of fun.

Jack-o'-Lanterns are always appropriate to Hallowe'en, and small ones, made out of little pumpkins and provided with grinning teeth and staring eyes painted on paper and glued on the inside of the lantern, will help out the array of gifts for the guests on such an occasion. A small-sized lantern of the sort makes a first-rate head for a goblin, whose body may be an orange if desired.

The reason why vegetables, fruits and nuts always figure so conspicuously in the celebration of Hallowe'en is simply that the festival is by origin a harvest rejoicing. It is a thanksgiving for the safe and successful garnering of the crops in autumn. Therefore it is that apples, pumpkins and nuts, which are typical autumn products, are most used as symbols in connection with the occasion.

The ceremonies appropriate to Hallowe'en are of wholly pagan origin, and even to this day the ancient rites are celebrated in parts of Scotland. Great fires (a relic of the pagan Baal fires) are built outdoors on heaps of stones. All the home fires are put out, and, until midnight, only these are permitted to burn. Then, at the stroke of 12, each person takes a bit of the fire to his home, and with it kindles a fresh blaze upon his hearth. At this ceremonial many centuries ago the Druid priests officiated. The fires they kindled were sacred.

In the ninth century Pope Gregory IV. appointed November 1 as a day for the celebration of the memory of all saints and martyrs not already honored by an allotment of special days in er the eve of the night preceding it, was the occasion of the ancient pagan festival of the harvest. For it was the policy of the church to supplant heathen by Christian observances.

If you give a Hallowe'en party you can amuse your guests by placing upon a table a large dish full of vegetables—beets, carrots, turnips, potatoes and onions—the number being the same as that of the men present. To each vegetable should be tied with a gay ribbon a card bearing a man's name. Then the ladies should in turn be blindfolded, and, being led to the table one at a time, should pick out a vegetable, which, according to the card it bears, will decide who shall be the partner of its possessor for the evening.

Another amusing game requires that each girl in turn shall go out in the yard, or into the street, blindfolded, and led by somebody else and pick up the first fallen leaf that comes to hand. If it is ragged and dirty her future husband will be poor. If yellow he will be wealthy; if red he will be a witty and brilliant man; if green he will be a fool.

In case you are puzzled to choose between two lovers place three nuts on a stove or before the fire so close that they will be ignited. One you name for yourself and other two for the young men respectively. If one of the nuts jumps and bounces away, you know that the person it represents will prove fickle and an undesirable husband. As for the other, if it remains close by and the two nuts burn to ashes together you have reason to believe that this lover and yourself will make a happy match. Some quite ancient verses describe the test as follows:

These glowing nuts are emblems true
Of what in human life we view;
The ill-matched couple fret and fume
And thus in strife themselves consume,
Or from each other wildly start,
And with a noise forever part.
But see the happy, happy pair,
Of genuine love and truth sincere;
With mutual fondness while they burn,
Still to each other kindly turn;
And as the vital sparks decay
Together gently sink away.
Fill, life's ordeal over passed,
Their mingled ashes rest at last.

Some of the most amusing of Hallowe'en games have for their object the solving of problems of destiny in regard to matrimony. In one of them three small bowls are placed on the table—the first one empty, the second filled with clear water and the third containing soapy water. Girls are blindfolded in turn and led to the table, with instructions to dip the left hand into one of the bowls. If the hand is dipped into the clear water, the maid will marry a bachelor; if into the soapy water she will capture a widower, and if into the empty receptacle, she will remain a spinster all her life.

First the invitations must, of course, be appropriate. Tiny note paper, with fairies and hobgoblins on it, can be bought; but any girl or boy with a very little trouble can make nicer ones. You might write the invitations on silver paper half moons, on which you can sketch (or paste, if you cannot draw) owls, gypsy fortune-tellers or horseshoes. Or, take pieces of red card board about four inches square; then cut out of black paper funny little goblins, witches and fairies. Arrange them on the red card as artistically as possible, and print the invitations in black or gilt paper. If you can put it in rhyme, all the better.

The decorations should be of autumn leaves or bunches of wheat, jack-o'-lanterns, strings of popcorn, or pine cones tied from narrow strips of deep yellow cheesecloth or bunting. The little gourds or squashes, deep yellow, striped green and ruddy brown, make cunning favors for each child's plate. Cut off the top and fill them with the old-fashioned round, red peppermint drops. If you can find one of the very long gourds (sometimes they are a couple of feet long), they are very attractive scooped out and filled with trailing vines or autumn leaves.

For refreshments be sure to have sticky molasses taffy, popcorn balls, doughnuts and hot green pickles, if you have nothing else. The ices can be bought in witch moulds; but if that is too expensive, serve it in a huge scooped-out pumpkin set on a platter surrounded with a wreath of ivy or autumn leaves.

If you like games for prizes, why not have a winter four-leaf clover party for good luck? Cut any amount of three-leaved and a few four-leaved clovers out of green tissue paper and numbered on the back. Hide them everywhere, the more out-of-the-way places the better, so long as a tiny edge is in view. When the hunt is over each boy and girl adds up the numbers on the back of the leaves found, counting 25 for every four-leaved clover. The person having the highest sum total wins the prize.

Or you might try tossing peanuts. Each player in turn is given 15 peanuts, and standing about eight feet off tries to throw as many as possible into a small round basket. The one getting in the most nuts wins the game.

A similar test of fate is made by means of the so-called "fortune cake," in which are baked a ring, a thimble, and a silver dime. Each maiden in turn cuts a slice of it, and she who secures the piece that contains the ring may expect to be the first bride. The one who gets the coin will have a rich husband, but she to whose lot the thimble falls is doomed to spinsterhood.

There are a number of ways of performing the famous mirror experiment, but the correct method is to take a candle, go alone into a dark room, and eat an apple before a looking glass. The hour must be midnight exactly, else nothing will happen. But, if these directions are strictly obeyed, at the very stroke of 12 the young woman will see in the mirror the face of her future husband looking over her shoulder.

Of course it may be a stranger's face, but that only makes it more interesting and romantic. Bobbing for apples is a favorite Hallowe'en amusement, and as a means of diversion is highly regarded. The apples are placed in a tub of water, and, as they float about, each person tries in turn to capture one of them by biting it. It is not an easy task, and the frantic efforts of the participants in the game are bound to excite much merriment. It is required that the hands shall be held behind the back, and the understanding is that any young woman who fails to secure an apple will never get a husband.

Occasionally, as a variation on this method, an apple is suspended by a string in a doorway or from a chandelier, and one person after another tries to get hold of it with the teeth as it bobs about. The difficulty of the task is greater in proportion to the size of the apple. For some reason never satisfactorily explained, apples play a very important part in most of the doings connected with this witches' festival, and even the seeds of the fruit are counted, like daisy petals, for magical purposes.

The seeds in an apple, of course, vary in number, and hence the opportunity for speculation. As she counts them, the maiden recites: "One, I love; two, I love; three, I love, I say; four, I love with all my heart; five, I cast away; six, he loves; seven, she loves; eight, both love; nine, he comes; ten, he carries; eleven, he courts; twelve, he marries; thirteen, they part; fourteen, die of broken heart."

A future husband's occupation in life may be ascertained by pouring melted lead into a glass at midnight on Hallowe'en. As it chills, it will take the shape of the tools he uses. Another plan that may be adopted by the inquisitive damsel is to fill her mouth with water, take a handful of salt and run around the block. The first name she hears as she regains her starting place will be that of her destined spouse. When a merry party of girls take part together in this experiment it is sure to make a lot of fun; for most of them are bound to giggle, thus losing the water they hold in their mouths, and incidentally they forget the salt they hold in their hands and drop it. Naturally, under such circumstances the charm fails to work.

A story is told of an American girl traveling in Ireland, who chanced to visit on Hallowe'en a humble dwelling. The old woman whose home it was told her that she would show to her future husband's face, if she would pay a shilling. The maiden willingly complied, whereupon the old woman bade her look in the mirror. "I see nothing but my own face," said the girl. "Never mind, my dear," quoth the old woman. "It will be your husband's face when you get married."

Scene of First Protestant Settlement in America.

Colony Was Early Founded Near Port Royal on the Shores of South Carolina and by the Huguenots.

Port Royal, S. C.—The first Protestant settlement in America was made on the shores of South Carolina, not far from the present town of Port Royal, and by the Huguenots. This colony came out under the leadership of Jean Ribaut in the spring of 1562. This settlement of South Carolina by a Protestant colony antedates that of the English settlement of Virginia by 45 years, and was 58 years before the arrival of the pilgrim fathers at Plymouth, Mass. But this settlement at Port Royal did not have the success that was hoped for it, and had to be abandoned—not before seed had been planted, however, that bears its fruit to this day.

On landing, one of the first things the Huguenots did was to unite in a service of thanksgiving to God for their safe arrival. They erected a monument to commemorate the occasion. To quote from the Rev. Dr. Vedder, "The stone pillar of John Ribaut was the corner stone of the temple of Protestantism in the Western hemisphere."

It was not until after the edict of Nantes, October, 1685, that the great immigration of Huguenots to South Carolina took place. Four prominent settlements were made—one on the Santee river, one on the Cooper river, one at St. Johns, Berkeley, and the other in the city of Charleston. One of the first steps taken by each of these colonies was toward the establishment of a church wherein they might worship according to their faith.

The Huguenots of Charleston make two distinct claims outside that of having the only Huguenot church in America. One is that theirs is the first church organization established in South Carolina; and the other that they were the first to carry the gospel to the state outside the city of Charleston.

The first Huguenot church organization was about 1681-2. In the cemetery surrounding it lies entombed the dust of many who have slept there for more than two centuries, the pioneers of the church. On the tombs are engraved names that have become historic in the annals of South Carolina.

The present building was erected in 1845. It is stone, in Gothic style, with ornamental masonry extending in pointed columns above the roof. It suffered, greatly, as did all of the churches of Charleston, from the terrible earthquake of 1886. The first church building was burned in 1740. The congregation took steps to erect another, which shared the same fate; and still another, which was also burned. The present building stands today unique in history, the only Huguenot church in America.

KEEPS GIANT SONS IN BED

Under Mother's Hypnotic Influence They Fear to Move—All in Good Health.

Northville, N. Y.—Hypnotized by their mother into the belief that they are suffering from hereditary heart disease in an aggravated form, three grown men have been lying in bed for years in their home here. Physicians have examined the three men and declare they are in as sound physical trim as can be three six-footers who have remained in bed such a length of time.

The men are sons of John Bennett, a farmer. The mother is a robust woman, intelligent in appearance, about sixty years old. The sons are George, thirty-two years old; Ward, twenty-nine, and Frank, twenty-seven years. They are under the impression that the slightest shock will result in sudden death. George has been in bed for eight years, Ward ten years and Frank six years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bennett insist the men are awful sufferers. They had trouble this summer with a firm of contractors putting through a state highway near their home because the blasting had a serious effect on their sons' condition.

Trolley Car Sets Man Afire. Philadelphia, Pa.—Edward Higgins, sixty-seven years old, was carrying a package of matches in a back pocket of his trousers when he was struck by a trolley car. The matches were ignited and before the flames were extinguished Higgins was badly burned.

Relieves Backache Instantly

Sloan's Liniment is a great remedy for backache. It penetrates and relieves the pain instantly—no rubbing necessary—just lay it on lightly.

Here's Proof.

"I had my back hurt in the Bear Wagon and in San Francisco two years ago I was hit by a street car in the same place. I tried all kinds of dose without success. Two weeks ago I saw your liniment in a drug store and got a bottle to try. The first application caused instant relief, and now except for a little stiffness, I am almost well."

Some Shakespeare Statistics. A Shakespearean enthusiast with a turn for statistics has discovered that the plays contain 106,007 lines and 814,780 words. "Hamlet" is the longest play, with 3,930 lines, and the "Comedy of Errors" the shortest, with 1,777 lines. Altogether the plays contain 1,227 characters, of which 157 are females. The longest part is that of Hamlet. The part with the longest word in it is that of Costard in "Love's Labor Lost," who tells Moth that he is "not so long by the head as honorificabilitudinitatibus."

The Angler's Bait. A well-known angler at Peterborough having obtained a wasp's nest containing a large number of grubs, placed the nest in the kitchen over to kill the grubs so that he could use them for bait.

The next morning he went to get the grubs, but on opening the oven door a swarm of wasps flew out. The oven was not hot enough to kill the grubs, but was sufficiently warm to hatch them.—London Daily Mail.

FROM TEXAS. Some Coffee Facts From the Lone Star State.

From a beautiful farm down in Texas, where gushing springs unite to form babbling brooks that wind their sparkling way through flowery meads, comes a note of gratitude for delivery from the coffee habit.

"When my baby boy came to me five years ago, I began to drink Postum, having a feeling that it would be better for him and me than the old kind of drug-laden coffee. I was not disappointed in it, for it enabled me, a small, delicate woman, to nurse a bouncing, healthy baby 14 months.

"I have since continued the use of Postum for I have grown fond of it, and have discovered to my joy that it has entirely relieved me of a bilious habit which used to prostrate me two or three times a year, causing much discomfort to my family and suffering to myself.

"My brother-in-law was cured of chronic constipation by leaving off coffee and using Postum. He has become even more fond of it than he was of the old coffee.

"In fact, the entire family, from the latest arrival (a 2-year-old who always calls for his 'potle' first thing in the morning), up to the head of the household, think there is no drink so good or so wholesome as Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FARM BEAUTY AND FARM SPIRIT

By R. J. BALDWIN
Michigan Agricultural College

The farm which is run exclusively as a money-making proposition quite often lacks the attractive features which ought to be found on every farm that is the home of a family. The first consideration must always be to make the farm pay, but fields and stock will yield none the less profit if the farm possesses features of beauty. Some places have natural beauty in streams and trees such as is shown in the picture of the College lane bridge; every place can be made pleasingly attractive by trees, lawns, well-kept fences and neat painted buildings.

The far-reaching effects of the appearance of farm surroundings may be appreciated when it is remembered that these things appeal to a part of man's nature and make up, which is deeper and more important than his instinct of possession and his ability to make money. It is the barren monotony of unattractive farm homes that has made many a boy become restless and look forward to the time when he could leave it all and find things more to his taste in city surroundings. Farmers themselves who are not thoughtful of "the looks of things" will soon find that they are losing interest and respect for the business they ought continually to learn more to love. Business and life affairs are so curiously knit and interwoven that the pride and care taken in one thing will show its effect in all things. It is an observable fact that the farms on which most attention is given to neatness and beauty, there also is found the greatest profit in business.

The things we remember longest about our old farm homes are not how much the fat porkers weighed or how many bushels or tons per acre were ours on a certain field, although that was of first importance at the time. We remember mostly the spring with climbing vines and limbs, the elms and maples, the evergreens in the corner of the house yard, the red barns where we kept the silky-coated jerseys and the old house with all its comforts and conveniences.

To live the farm life ideal is to know the beauty of open fields and sky and trees; to appreciate the sacred blessing of home ties and neighbors' friendships. Nowhere is there more excellent opportunity to know the really great things of life than in the open country, if it is not forgotten that "making a life" comes first and is the very purpose of making a living.

CARE OF THE GRINDSTONE

By H. H. MUSSELMAN, Instructor in Farm Mechanics, Michigan Agricultural College.

Perhaps no farm implement or machine receives less attention than the grindstone, and yet it is as indispensable as the small boy who turns it. The efficient man takes some heed to the care he gives it since his efficiency depend upon it. A man cannot do the maximum amount of work with dull tools, and dull tools cannot be sharpened satisfactorily on a wobbly or eccentric stone. Especially at this season of the year should the stone be put in shape after the season's rush of grinding everything from penknives to mower knives. In grinding the latter it is difficult to prevent wearing away the corners of the stone.

Very often the stone is run in a trough of water in which the water is allowed to stand and soften one side of the stone when not in use, so that it wears away faster with use than the drier part, thus making the stone eccentric or out of true. A better method of supplying water while grinding is to hang above the stone a vessel having a small pet-cock or opening through which the flow of water may be controlled and made to drip upon the stone while grinding.

The grindstone and frame should be protected from the weather at all seasons of the year, though it appears that they are often left out of doors to furnish an excuse for not grinding dull tools on rainy days.

To true up the face of a grindstone get a piece of gas pipe about three-quarters of an inch in diameter and two or three feet long. Get a steady rest for the pipe about two or three inches from the stone and, at a height that will allow the pipe to be held nearly horizontal with the end squarely against the stone; then turning the stone hold the pipe firmly at such a distance from the stone that it will strike and wear away the high part of the surface. Continue until the pipe wears the entire circumference of the stone, noting that the stone has no crown or high center on the face. Of course the pipe will be ground away rapidly, but as it becomes worn at an angle it may be turned over and the pointed side held against the stone.

Get Out Four Ewes.

During the early autumn the farm flock should be subjected to a rigid selection. All ewes known to have defects or poor records as breeders should now be in shops for the mutton season. This can be done much more conveniently if each sheep has an ear tag number and a record is kept of her performance during the year.

Products of Wholesome High Grade Dairy Products

By W. B. LIVERANCE, Instructor in Dairying, Michigan Agricultural College.

So many lives are dependent upon the purity of milk that clean milk has become a practical moral of the day. Infant mortality, the spread of typhoid fever and the possibility of contracting tuberculosis from milk have brought the attention of boards of health and the public in general to the conditions under which milk and cream are produced.

If the following points are observed the products of the dairy will be wholesome and healthful:

1. Healthy cows—made certain by the herd being subjected to the tuberculin test.
2. Clean stables, clean yards, clean water supply for the animals.
3. Clean cows, made so by frequent brushing, especially about flanks and udder before milking.
4. A milker with clean clothes and clean hands.
5. All utensils in which milk is to be placed should be scalded before using.
6. Do not leave milk uncovered in the barn and remove it to a special dairy house as soon as possible.

The points to be considered in producing good cream are as follows:

1. The cream separator should be thoroughly washed and scalded.
2. The cream should be cooled at once.
3. Never mix warm and cold milk.
4. Keep cream in cool well ventilated room free from bad odors.
5. Stir the cream frequently to prevent lumps.
6. Deliver the cream to the factory three times per week in the summer and twice in the winter.

It costs more to produce a clean high-grade dairy article, but customers are willing to pay more and there will always be a demand for pure wholesome dairy products at high prices.

The milking organs of the heifer must be well developed if she makes a good cow. While the dairy heifers are growing, if the udders are handled occasionally they will become accustomed to being milked much sooner and with less trouble.

Regular Supply of Eggs.

Some poultrymen, in order to have a regular supply of eggs throughout the year, have a pen of two-year-old hens, one of yearlings, and one each of February, March, April and May hatched pullets.

GIRL WHO COST KING MANUEL'S ROYAL LID

Gaby Deslys, Actress, Credited With Portuguese Monarch's Overthrow, Now Here.

New York.—Gaby Deslys, who is credited by common report with having overthrown the kingdom of Portugal by infatuating King Manuel and enticing from him what was left in the royal treasury, is now here to fill professional engagements. She says she is to receive $18,000 a week and it is probable that some of the $18,000 will be real money. She brought a bewildering array of clothes and jewels and also her reputation as a monarchy destroyer.

The wonder is that this talented actress has not come over sooner. Why this strange delay? A lady with a redolent past and the destroyer of monarchy, she certainly had a right to expect sympathy and appreciation in republican America from the first.

The only reason imaginable for her delay in coming to the country to which foreign artists hasten to make their money as a rule is that she is so modest she did not realize the extent of her exploit. No doubt she said to herself that Manuel was such a little king that his destroying siren would hardly receive credit for having done anything worth while.

And, to tell the truth, Manuel was a very little king even at his best. To one who knew him as intimately as Mlle. Deslys he probably seemed even smaller than he appeared to the average newspaper reader. Compared even with a medium king like the late Leopold of Belgium, he paled into insignificance.

But the people over here are not so carping and critical as to hold that against her. She took the only king that was probably in sight at the time, and if he didn't happen to be one whose conduct amounted to very much internationally, that was the lady's misfortune and not her fault. She did her best with the material at hand. Of course, her reception would naturally be a little warmer and her receipts a little larger if she had managed to bring down larger game from the European royal preserves. Had she done that, it might not have been necessary for her to go to the trouble even of dancing in order to make the show a success. But that is another story.

MOOSE CHASES AUTOMOBILE

that is believed to have escaped from Harry Payne Whitney's mountain preserve.

The pursuit was watched by Daniel Camp, who lives near Jacob's Ladder. The automobile gained on the moose, which gave up the chase, left the road and disappeared in the forest. The moose was seen later by James Galtner of Becket while on a hike near Redtop, the villa of Mrs. Fannie Burgess in Becket.

EVER TAKE A MUSIC BATH?

They Are as Good for the Soul, Holmes Says, as Water for the Body.

One must be educated, no doubt, to understand the more complex and difficult kinds of musical composition. Go to the concerts where you know that the music is good, and that you ought to like it whether you do or not. Take a music bath once or twice a week for a few seasons, and you will find that it is to the soul what the water bath is to the body. I wouldn't trouble myself about the affectations of people who go to this or that series of concerts chiefly because it is fashionable. Some of these people whom we think so silly will perhaps find, sooner or later, that they have a dormant faculty which is at last waking up, and that they who came because others came, and began by staring at the audience, are listening with a newly found delight. Everyone of us has a harp under the bodice or waistcoat, and if it can only once get properly strung and tuned it will respond to all outside harmonies.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

PIMPLES ON FACE 3 YEARS

"I was troubled with acne for three long years. My face was the only part affected, but it caused great disfigurement, also suffering and loss of sleep. At first there appeared red, hard pimples which later contained white matter. I suffered a great deal caused by the itching. I was in a state of perplexity when walking the streets or anywhere before the public.

"I used pills and other remedies but they failed completely. I thought of giving up when nothing would help, but something told me to try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a Cuticura Booklet which I read carefully. Then I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and by following the directions I was relieved in a few days. I used Cuticura Soap for washing my face, and applied the Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. This treatment brought marvelous results so I continued with it for a few weeks and was cured completely. I can truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are not only all, but more than they claim to be." (Signed) G. Baumel, 1015 W. 20th Place, Chicago, Ill., May 28, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 28 K, Boston.

The Universal Franchise. A small number of men sympathizers took part in the suffragist parade in New York city, among them several members of the faculty of Teachers' college. One of these professors had the honor of leading the male contingent and of carrying a banner.

"No," replied his friend, "you carried it as if you were afraid some one would decipher it."

"It read," chuckled the professor, "The men vote—why not we?"—Success Magazine.

To Farm on Copper Lands. A party of Houghton capitalists have under consideration the establishment at a point on the Copper Range railroad south of Houghton of a 600-acre experimental farm. The lands have already been secured, but are at present heavily timbered. Steps will be taken during the coming winter to cut the timber, and early next spring the stumps will be removed and the land made ready for cultivation. It is hardly probable that crops will be planted before 1913, but the enterprise when established will prove one of the biggest from an agricultural standpoint in the copper country.—Michigan Manufacturer.

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." Mrs. CHAS. No other medicine for woman's ills has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

SERIAL STORY

The Courtship of Miles Standish

With Illustrations by Howard Chandler Christy

The March of Miles Standish

Meanwhile the stalwart Miles Standish was marching steadily northward, winding through forest and swamp, and along the trend of the seashore. All day long, with hardly a halt, the fire of his anger burning and crackling within, and the sulphurous odor of powder seeming more sweet to his nostrils than all the scents of the forest. Silent and moody he went, and much he revolved his discomfort; he who was used to success, and to easy victories always. Thus to be scouted, rejected, and laughed to scorn by a maiden, thus to be mocked and betrayed by the friend whom most he had trusted! Ah! 'twas too much to be borne, and he fretted and chafed in his armor. "I alone am to blame," he muttered, "for mine was the folly. What has a rough old soldier, grown grim and gray in the harness, used to the camp and its ways, to do with the wooing of maidens? 'Twas but a dream—let it pass,—let it vanish like so many others! What I thought was a flower, is only a weed, and is worthless; out of my heart will I pluck it, and throw it away, and henceforward be but a fighter of battles, a lover and wooer of dangers!" Thus he revolved in his mind his sorry defeat and discomfort, while he was marching by day or lying at night in the forest, looking up at the trees, and the constellations beyond them. After a three days' march he came to an Indian encampment pitched on the edge of a meadow, between the sea and the forest; women at work by the tents, and the warriors, horrid with war-paint, seated about a fire, and smoking and talking together; who, when they saw from afar the sudden approach of the white men.

Forth He Sprang at a Bound. Saw the flash of the sun on breast-plate and saber and musket. Straightway leaped to their feet, and two, from among them advancing, came to parley with Standish, and offer him fire as a present; Friendship was in their looks, but in their heads there was hatred. Braves of the tribe were these, and brothers gigantic in stature. Huge as Goliath of Gath, or the terrible Og, king of Bashan; One was Pecksuot named, and the other was called Wattawamat. Round their necks were suspended their knives in scabbards of wampum. Two-edged, trenchant knives, with points as sharp as a needle. Other arms had they none, for they were cunning and crafty.

"Welcome, English!" they said.—these words they had learned from the traders. Touching at times on the coast to barter and chaffer for peltries. Then in their native tongue they began to parley with Standish, through his guide and interpreter, Hobomok, friend of the white man. Begging for blankets and knives, but mostly for muskets and powder. Kept by the white man, they said, concealed, with the plague, in his cellars. Ready to be let loose, and destroy his brother, the red man! But when Standish refused, and said he would give them the Bible. Suddenly changing their tone, they began to boast and to bluster. Then Wattawamat advanced with a stride in front of the other. And, with a lofty demeanor, thus vauntingly spake to the Captain: "Now Wattawamat can see, by the fiery eyes of the Captain. Angry is he in his heart; but the heart of the brave Wattawamat is not afraid at the sight. He was not born of a woman. But on a mountain, at night, from an oak-tree riven by lightning, forth he sprang at a bound, with all his weapons about him. Shouting, 'Who is here here to fight with the brave Wattawamat?' Then he unsheathed his knife, and, whetting the blade on his left hand, held it aloft and displayed a woman's face on the handle.

Plunged It into His Heart.

Saying, with bitter expression and look of sinister meaning: "I have another at home, with the face of a man on the handle." By and by they shall marry; and there will be plenty of children!" Then stood Pecksuot forth, self-vaunting, insulting Miles Standish: While with his fingers he patted the knife that hung at his bosom, and drawing it half from its sheath, and plunging it back, as he muttered: "By and by it shall see; it shall eat; ah, ah! but shall speak not! This is the mighty Captain the white men have sent to destroy us! He is a little man; let him go and work with the women!" Meanwhile Standish had noted the faces and figures of Indians peeping and creeping about from bush to tree in the forest, feigning to look for game, with arrows set on their bow-strings, drawing about him still closer and closer the net of their ambush. But undaunted he stood, and dissembled and treated them smoothly; so the old chronicles say, that were

Smiling, at length he exclaimed to the stalwart Captain of Plymouth: "Pecksuot bragged very loud, of his courage, his strength and his stature.—Mocked the great Captain, and called him a little man; but I see now Big enough have you been to lay him speechless before you!" Thus the first battle was fought and won by the stalwart Miles Standish. When the tidings thereof were brought to the village of Plymouth, and as a trophy of war the head of the brave Wattawamat. Scowled from the roof of the fort, which at once was a church and a fortress. All who beheld it rejoiced, and praised the Lord, and took courage. Only Priscilla averted her face from this specter of terror, thanking God in her heart that she had not married Miles Standish; shrinking, fearing almost, lest coming home from his battles, he should lay claim to her hand, as the prize and reward of his valor. BIGGEST CITIES OF WORLD

London Still Far in Lead, but New York is Growing Faster Than Any Other.

London, the largest city in the world, has a population, as now officially announced, of 7,252,963, as against 6,881,402 in 1901—an increase in ten years of 671,561, or only 10.2 per cent. The population of New York is 4,766,883, and with a gain in the ten years of 38.7 per cent, is growing faster than any other great city in the world. At the rate at which the two largest cities are growing it will take a long time for New York to catch up with London; but it would be a great misfortune if it ever did catch up—there is too much congestion in New York already. The third city in size is Paris, whose population is probably 3,000,000. The fourth city is perhaps Berlin, which had a little over 2,000,000 five years ago. Tokyo and Chicago fall a little under the 2,500,000 mark, and St. Petersburg, Vienna, Canton, Peking, Moscow and Philadelphia are below 2,000,000.—Rochester Post-Express.

write in the days of the fathers. But when he heard their defiance, the boast, the taunt, and the insult, Ah! the hot blood of his race, of Sir Hugh and of Thurston de Standish, Boiled and beat in his heart, and swelled in the veins of his temples. Headlong he leaped on the boaster, and, snatching his knife from its scabbard, Plunged it into his heart, and, reeling backward, the savage Fell with his face to the sky, and a fiendlike fierceness upon it. Straight there arose from the forest the awful sound of the war-whoop. And, like a flurry of snow on the whistling wind of December, Swift and sudden and keen came a flight of feathered arrows. Then came a cloud of smoke, and out of the cloud came the lightning. Out of the lightning, thunder; and death unseen ran before it. Frightened the savages fled for shelter in swamp and in thicket, Hotly pursued and beset; but their sachem, the brave Wattawamat, Fled not; he was dead. Unswerving and swift had a bullet Passed through his brain, and he fell with both hands clutching the greensward. Seeming in death to hold back from his foe the land of his fathers. There on the flowers of the meadow the warriors lay, and above them, Silent, with folded arms, stood Hobomok, friend of the white man.

Backache Means Dying Kidneys

A Remarkable Treatment That Saves the Kidneys. How You May Cure Yourself Quickly and Thoroughly.

With the progress of science comes one remarkable treatment for kidney diseases. It has been so thoroughly tested and its results have proven so revolutionary that a well-known firm in Michigan has undertaken its distribution into every part of the country. Those who suffer from kidney trouble and the diseases resulting from it will be pleased to know that every package of this treatment is thoroughly guaranteed. This should assure at last a positive cure to every sufferer. Every man and woman should know that backache is usually a well-defined symptom of advancing kidney disease which may end fatally unless treated in time; that rheumatism and bladder trouble are caused from nothing more nor less than kidneys that do not filter the poison from the blood; that dropsy, Bright's disease, diabetes and bladder-stones are caused by bad kidneys. Once they are made to work properly, these diseases should quickly disappear. This is done by the new treatment, Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills. We urge everyone who has pain in the small of the back, profuse or scanty urination, pain in the bladder, cloudy or foul urine, not to fail to get a package today of Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and drop all other kidney treatments. Senator Stevenson of Washington writes from Olympia: "There is no question about the efficacy of Dr. Derby's Pure Kidney Pills in curing kidney and bladder trouble. I know whereof I speak." Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are now sold at all drug stores—25 and 50 cents. If you would like to try them first, ask your druggist for a free sample package. Then buy a package; you will not regret it. Derby Medicine Co., Eaton Rapids, Mich.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

There are two ways to tell if you have weak kidneys. The first is through pains in the back. The second by examining the kidney secretions. If you suspect your kidneys, begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at once. Mrs. J. L. Warrick, 406 W. Mulberry St., Lebanon, Ohio, says: "No tongue can tell the agonies I suffered. My feet and limbs were lifeless and there were weeks when I could not put my feet to the floor or stand alone. As a last resort, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. In six weeks I was as free from kidney trouble as if I had never had it." "When Your Back Is Lame, Remember the Name—DOAN'S." 50c. a box at all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Aerial Scout Work. As an example of what German military airmen are already able to do, the performance of Lieutenant Mackenthun recently is cited. In a space of 35 minutes Lieutenant Mackenthun, who was acting for the Red force, rose and flew along the enemy's front and was back on the ground at his headquarters ready to report. To obtain the same results would have taken a strong force of cavalry four hours.

It's all right to help others, but it doesn't pay to be too busy to stop and help yourself.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength. Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY. You can't afford to accept a second nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine or known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. PRETTY PLACE CARDS

PRESSED FLOWERS MAKE EFFECTIVE DECORATION.

At This Season Particularly Nothing Can Be More Appropriate—Some Good Ideas That May Be Employed.

The place card is one of the factors in luncheons and birthday parties with which we must reckon these days. The drawn varieties are always attractive, but in the season of flowers there is excellent opportunity to use the forms that nature has already colored for you. Why not make pressed flowers do the work of decorating place cards? It is an excellent idea, so easy that a little boy or girl can enjoy the work. The results ...speak for themselves in the suggestions before you.

The fuchsia is a colorful flower in its pretty red and purple shadings. It presses easily and can be curved in a graceful line while wet. Paste it on a long card and add the name in a little space at the bottom.

Always is the daisy, in either white or yellow, a decorative flower. Pressed, with a few leaves on the stem, and pasted on a card. The name can be placed anywhere. The holder will be delighted, you may be sure.

Thin flowers are lovely when pressed and placed separately around the edge of a round card. A few of the leaves should be mixed in also. Forget-me-nots, asters, yellow violets, lilacs, lilies-of-the-valley are easily made to contribute to your work.

It is well to carry out the same idea in decoration that you have used for the cards. A bunch of flowers at each place to match is a pretty idea. A huge bowl of flowers in the center of the table gives a delightful completeness to the decorative scheme.

But the use of pressed flowers is unusual and so easy that you simply must do it the very next chance you have!

WHEN THE CHILDREN PLAY

Appropriate Frocks for the Little Ones Are in Order, and Many Varieties Are Offered.

Our local shops are showing most attractive little frocks to be worn during play hours by the little tots, and it can readily be seen how very interesting they are made for these tiny folks.

The trimming is mostly in band form, some showing on a white background a faint sea upon which floats little blue vessels suggestive of Dutch origin, while upon a blue background a group of little tots may be found playing ring-around-rosie, or wild dancing animals may be diverting themselves doing funny stunts, or if one is a lover of pussy cats you will find the story of "The Cat and the Fiddle" attractively told in pictures of some of these little rocks, and as for the dearly loved Teddy bear, do not think he has been forgotten.

Naturally a dress apron or romper portraying such interesting feats would be the pride of its small possessor, and such care would be taken of it that the mother would realize an advantage and saving in the purchase. The imaginative mind of youth might even find an inspiration, while admiring the rollicking blue ships, playful tots, or wondrous stunts of the animals, for story tanying, and to many a lonesome tot these little friends will become playmates and the finding of real names for them, and the weaving of wondrous plots around them will occasion the spending of many happy hours that might otherwise have been lonely.—Boston Herald.

Furs for Next Winter.
The most popular furs for next winter bid fair to be seal, pony, caracul and for those who can afford it, of course, sable. Fox and opossum are favored for neckpieces. Mole skin, almost as prohibitive in price as sable, is gaining popularity in Europe. Ermine and chinchilla are always in demand for dressy garments, and with the craze for black, Persian lamb is advancing even more in fashion. Lambing, however, will come in delicate shades of violet, yellow, coral and cream.

Deeds of Opinion.
Let us not say to ourselves that the best truth always lies in moderation. In the deceptively average. At the time of the British invasion the opinion of good sense and of the just medium was certainly that people ought not to burn too large a number of heretics, extreme and unreasonable opinion demanded that they should burn none at all.—Macfarlane.

Penitence of a Natural Gas.
Penitence came on her first wall of natural gas in 1912, since which time she has been consumed in the United States.

Primitive medicines.
Some of the early medical practitioners were very limited in the choice of remedies. Victor Hugo's family physician used only ammonia and camphor in different combinations.

Franklin's Wife.
It is interesting to read of an English farmer who was an instructor for his wife in the art of a legacy of one hundred pounds to his widow. Being a widower in case the widow married, he doubled the sum; and when she died he was quite contrary to her wish, with heart-felt regret, for his possible successor, that him as gets her'll deserve it.

Boy at Home.
A New York boy went to his office boy to deliver a note marked "Mr. Williams' Person." In a few minutes the boy returned with his report: "Mr. Person" was not in," he said.

STOVE BUYER WARNINGS

Caution
ASK for the book on "The Only Safe Way to Buy Stoves and Ranges." As a matter of simple justice to the public, we, as agents of the largest makers of stoves and ranges in the world, give here, and in this special book, the facts about mail-order stove buying. We wish it understood that we are not fighting any Mail-Order Stove Concern. We air our blow at the system, where the buyer takes great chances of getting his money's worth. Consider carefully the questions involved in the purchase of a stove or range, which must either give years of day-to-day service and satisfaction or prove an absolutely worthless investment.

Risks of Mail-Order Stove Buying

- 1—Quality!
No matter how attractive the price, however, you must be sure that the stove or range you buy is of the highest quality. Experience, skill, science and plain, old-fashioned honesty in materials and workmanship must all be brought into the stove or range before it has the quality that will stand the test of years.
- 2—Guarantee!
Your guarantee of quality, when you buy Garland Stoves or Ranges, is based on forty years of stove building and the satisfaction-giving of Garlands in over 4,000,000 homes.
- 3—Bargains!
Every stove or range sold by mail is (on paper) the "greatest bargain ever offered."
- 4—Delays!
In buying a stove or range by mail, you must be sure that the stove or range is on hand when you order it. If it is not, you will have to wait for it to be made, and you will have to wait for it to be shipped.
- 5—"Knock-Down" Stoves!
No mail-order stove is shipped up, ready for use. The buyer must assemble it, get it up and set it in place. In some cases, the stove is shipped in pieces, and the buyer must assemble it.
- 6—"Money Back!"
We do not question the good faith of mail-order stove concerns who offer a "money back" guarantee.
- 7—The Best Way!
A good dealer, right in your home town—just a few minutes' drive or 100 miles away—is the one who is most sincerely interested in giving you full value and lifetime satisfaction.
