OUR WEEKLY LIMERICK

There was a good farmer, by name Mr. York,
Who had hay to pitch, but had no Pitchfork.

So he came to our Store

Where we have them galore.

And he now pitches hay, from sunrise until dark.

We are HEADQUARTERS for PITCHFORKS

As well as all other farm and Garden Tools.
When it rains Pitchforks it is a poor time to use Hay Forks, but a good time to buy them

Make this your Headquarters,

And when it rains, come in out of the wet.
You're always welcome.

NEWBURG.

Those who attended church last Sabbath were amply repaid for going, Rev. Warren giving us a fine sermon. Next Sunday Elder Caster will preach in the morning, service commencing a quarter of ten, local. Every one invited to remain to Sunday-school.

Several from here attended the home coming at the Patchin school grounds and enjoyed meeting the old friends as well as listening to a fine program.

Miss Isabelle Pottullo spent the week end with Mrs. C. E. Ryder.

Don't forget the shadow and box social Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Krumm.

The L. A. S. will give an ice cream social on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryder Wednesday evening, August 28th. Ladies, please bring cake. Every one cordially invited to attend.

Messrs. Broadbent and Grovenstein have purchased a 200 acre farm near Gaylord and expect to move thereon in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langs, formerly of this place, have moved to Detroit. Mr. Langs has a position in the Capitol Electric Co.

Edgar Cochrane has returned from the west and is with his family at Ed. Bassett's.

Harry Armstrong of Detroit called on Mr. and Mrs. John Stark Tuesday. He is talking of going west soon.

Faye Ryder and brother Donald of Chicago are expected home Sunday morning.

Marvin Arnold of Los Angeles is visiting his sisters, Prescilla and Emma.

Mrs. Emma Hacking of Detroit is the guest of Miss Edith Pickett; also Mrs. Ina Pickett of Ypsilanti spent a few days there.

Frank Hake took Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Paddock and Beulah Ryder for a 45 mile spin in his auto last week Wednesday.

Every one on the Plymouth road is wearing a broad smile, as the long wished for good road is nearing completion.

A Proud Man

Is one who holds the lines over a spirited team. Harvell's Condition Powder puts spirit into a horse that is run down and in poor condition. Put a little in the feed for a few days and note the improvement. The frame gradually fills out with firm flesh, the coat becomes smooth and glossy, and the run-down animal soon shows the vigor and spirit of a colt. Price 25 cts. Sold by Jones, the Druggist, and Beyer's Pharmacy.

WEST PLYMOUTH.

Miss Bertha Hager of Detroit visited her sister, Mrs. Gus. Gates, last week. Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith and children of Salem visited at Dan Murray's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harshburger and family of Canton were visitors at C. F. Smith's Sunday.

Mrs. F. L. Becker, Mabel and Thurber, left August 14th to attend the Jayne family reunion at Fenton, and Mr. Becker went Tuesday to attend the Cornell reunion held this Wednesday, the two family reunions being held only a week apart. Mr. and Mrs. Becker will return home some time this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Shook and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Nate Lucas in Wayne Sunday.

We understand that F. L. Becker had some expert carpenter work done last Monday by a carpenter from the city.

Mrs. Cora Johnson of Texas is visiting at J. C. O'Bryan's this week.

E. A. Holden of Lansing, secretary of the State Grange Insurance Co., accompanied by John Root, was in this vicinity Tuesday attending to the local grange insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Holtz were seriously ill last week. Two doctors were in attendance.

N. J. Moore of Hanover, Jackson county, State Grange speaker and institute lecturer for the M. A. C., was a guest at the home of James Purdy over Sunday.

A number of West Plymouth people attended the school reunion and picnic at the Patchin school near Wayne Saturday. N. J. Moore of Hanover gave a fine address.

A Newly Married Couple

Is usually very happy, but the reverse is the case with people who have rheumatism, lame back, sore muscles, cramps in the bowels, dysentery, sick stomach. These latter can have their misery relieved by using Renne's Pain-Killing Magic Oil. It is a most efficient remedy for both internal and external pain. Insist on having the genuine. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by Jones, the Druggist, and Beyer's Pharmacy.

TONQUISH.

The School Reunion and picnic in the Patchin school-yard was quite a success in spite of the fact that the weather was threatening in the morning. A fine program was rendered by teachers, pupils and friends. Officers were elected and a program was rendered by teachers, pupils and friends. Officers were elected and a program committee appointed to make arrangements for the reunion to be held next year on the Saturday nearest the 15th of August.

The Misses Anna and Lillie Gust of Detroit visited friends and relatives in this neighborhood the first of the week.

Mrs. Fred Esslinger (Mabel Moran) and daughter of Ann Arbor attended the School Reunion and visited the first of the week at Maple Grove Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson Taylor of Oxford attended the reunion and spent Sunday and Monday at A. Warner's.

STARK.

Mrs. John Rattenbury is entertaining her little granddaughters of Northville this week.

Mrs. Sarah Hoisington is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Ike Gunsoly of Plymouth.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kuhn is better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Gunsoly and Mrs. Huffman spent Sunday at Rose Lawn. Don't forget the social at Lou Krumm this Saturday night. Every one come and bring every one else with you.

Mr. and Mrs. Seiloff spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Detroit.

Mrs. Croft of Newburg called on her mother, Mrs. John Rattenbury, Tuesday. Mrs. Elizabeth Wherry and daughter Camilla of Detroit are visiting at the Dean farm.

Mrs. Wherry and daughter and Mrs. Dean visited at Frank Hake's Monday and at W. H. Coates Tuesday.

LIVONIA CENTER.

Frank Seiting now drives a Maxwell car and is more than pleased with it. They take a spin nearly every evening, are surely enjoying the pleasantest part of the day.

Frank Peck and wife visited at Paul Helm's Sunday evening.

Joe McEachran has a very sick horse. Dr. Johnson of Northville is handling it.

A whole house full of friends gathered at Godfrey Gates' last Sunday, it being Harmon's birthday. A bounteous dinner was served and a general good time had by all. Some very nice presents were received by the gentleman in whose honor it was given.

Mrs. Trumble, an entertaining company this week.

Mrs. Marlette and Mildred returned Saturday from a week's visit with friends in Ohio.

Suit Cases Restored.

It will be remembered that a few weeks ago Wm. Hammond was arrested at Pierce's hotel, charged with robbing a railroad fireman of a pocket-book and diamond ring. Hammond was sent to jail and is still there awaiting trial. In his possession also at the time of his arrest were two valuable suit cases filled with ladies' and gentleman's wearing apparel. On the strength of what the prisoner had said that he had traveled with Buffalo Bill's show, officer Springer communicated with these people and learned that members of the company had been robbed and later a complete description of the goods lost was furnished Mr. Springer. The suit cases were returned to the owners Wednesday last by Mr. Springer. It may be said here that shortly after Hammond's arrest a woman telephoned Springer from Detroit that the suit cases belonged to her and to send them on, but the officer was too alert to be caught at that kind of a game, and told her to come and get them. She never came.

The "Plymouth I. B. Students" are to hold their convention at this place next week, Aug. 31-Sept. 1. All who are interested in deep bible study and valuable helps thereto are cordially invited.

FRANKNESS A LARGE ASSET

Did Time Air of Mystery No Longer Avail in Business and Politics.

A few very successful politicians to the contrary notwithstanding, frankness is a mighty big asset in any kind of business, and he who knows how to use it wins.

The other day a new "grease joint" opened up in our block. It wasn't much of a place to look at—just the ordinary cheap restaurant, except that it was new and clean and there was a very frank sign on the wall. It conveyed this information:

"Pay your bill and go out through the kitchen if you want to. There are no secrets in our business."

That "grease joint" is rapidly putting its two nearest competitors out of business. And thus far nobody has paid his bill and made his exit through the kitchen. Frankness bred faith in the breast of the hungry. They looked at the sign and cared to look no farther. Most of us are willing to accept on faith that which we are permitted to examine.

The air of mystery which used to cloak big business in industry and politics isn't so much of an asset any more. In these days we are poking our fingers into pretty nearly everything from the milk cans to the wheels that go round at 26 Broadway.

Instead of the old superstitious awe of mystery, there is now a distrust of that which is hidden. Put up any sort of prohibitive sign and we consider it an invitation to get busy with the probe. If the sign says "wet paint," we stick our fingers in it; if it says "No admittance," we promptly bring on the battering ram to get in and find out why.

But frankness, confidence in your neighbor and the public promptly allays curiosity and begets confidence in return. The man who throws his cards face up on the table and reaches for the money can pocket it without protest. Permission to get into the kitchen and find out what we are eating and how it is prepared is all we ask. We take it for granted that whatever is in the open is right, honest and satisfactory.

And the moral of the tale applies with equal force and equal practicality to business and to personal conduct.

Useful Word Indeed.

Apparently the popular word of the moment in America (where the election is) is "bolt," says the London Chronicle. We read that some one is preparing to bolt (meaning to change sides) and some one else will probably bolt Taft (meaning throw him over). But these do not end its meanings. A glance at the dictionary shows that when you bolt you may be running away, rushing forward, or lifting something through a sieve, according to the context. Further, a bolt can be an arrow, a roll of canvas, a bundle of sticks, and a narrow passage between two houses. And a plant bits when it runs to seed. A very useful word.

Cleaning Up a Mystery.

The teacher was giving a lesson in mathematics and English combined. "A fathom," she said, "is a nautical word used in defining distance. It means six feet. Now I want some little girl to give me a sentence using the word fathom."

Instantly a hand shot up in the rear of the room. "Well, Mary, you may give your sentence."

Mary stood up proudly. "The reason flies can walk on the ceiling," said the observant child, "is because they have a fathom."

A Rust Preventive.

To keep iron goods of any kind, and especially those parts of machines which are made of steel or iron, from rusting, take one-third ounce of powdered camphor and melt it before the fire in one pound of good lard. To give it a dark color, add as much fine black lead as is necessary to produce the desired effect. Clean the iron work and smear it over with this preparation. After this it should be allowed to remain untouched for twenty-four hours, when the grease should be removed by wiping the ironwork with a soft cloth.

Mrs. Eve Petulant.

"What shall we have for dinner, today, Adam?" asked Eve, laying aside a fig leaf on which she had embroidered a letter "A."

"Oh," Adam replied, "let's have some nice spareribs and apple sauce, for a change."

"There you go again, Adam," exclaimed Eve, petulantly, "reminding me of your lost rib and that hateful apple we ate in the garden."

And Adam stole away to tell his troubles to little Cain.

Electric Lights.

The cost of installing electric lights on a farm, including outbuildings, is estimated at $650. The engine needs to be operated only about eight hours every week. There is no danger from handling the live wires of such a home plant, since the voltage seldom exceeds 30, and with good wire there is little danger from fire. Many farmers have begun to install electric plants of this kind. Electric lights in the barn are particularly desirable in the winter months, when it gets dark early.

STAND FALLS AS PARKER SPEAKS

Nearly 100 Hurt at Marshall Notification Meeting.

BELIEVED NONE WILL DIE

Invited Guests Are Precipitated to Ground When Indiana Governor is Told He is Vice-Presidential Nominee.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 22.—Five persons were seriously injured and forty were bruised and cut in the collapse of a grandstand seating 400 in University place during the formal notification of Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of his nomination as Democrat candidate for vice-president on Tuesday.

The break came while Alton B. Parker of New York was delivering the notification speech to Governor Marshall.

For a time there was much confusion, but in a few minutes the crowd had recovered its composure, and the work of rescue began. After the removal of the injured, who were taken into buildings nearby and later removed to hospitals and their homes, Mr. Parker continued his speech, and he was followed by Governor Marshall with his speech of acceptance of the nomination for vice-president.

A number of the members of the German-American Democratic club occupied a section of seats near the point where the break first occurred, and all of them went down with the stand. Several of them were injured. Many women were in the stand. The break started near the northeast end of the stand, but as soon as the first sound of the crashing timber was heard the entire stand dropped with its load of human freight.

The stand was a total wreck. Few persons were under the wreckage and this kept down the number of injured. There was a rush of the 3,000 people in the crowd in front of the stand and the squad of police had their hands full to keep the crowd from overrunning the wreckage.

The injured were carried into the Indiana Democratic club and the fire department and several ambulances called.

Most of the injured were Indianapolis people, but the following from other Indiana towns also were hurt: O. N. Henderson, Montezuma, Ind.; Joseph Mankin, Montezuma, Ind.; both legs injured; James Howard, New Augusta, Ind.; Benjamin Boese, chairman of First district, Evansville, hurt about the legs; J. A. Lewis, Tipton, Ind., injured about the back and legs; Henry Bretz, New Albany, Ind., hurt about the ankles; Tom Morrison, Frankfort, Ind., bruised about the legs; J. M. Fippin, Salem, left foot mashed, hip injured, not serious; William H. Payne, Martinsville, county clerk of Morgan county, chest injured, both legs badly bruised and skinned; David Strouse, Rockville, broken leg; Lewis Sartor, Martinsville, chairman Morgan county Democratic committee, ribs fractured; Walter R. St. John, Martinsville, right leg injured; W. R. Ray, Holton, Ind., side injured; John W. Hanan, Lagrange, injured internally.

BANKS TO HANDLE FUNDS.

Wilson Indorses McAdoo's Plan For Collecting Campaign Contributions.

New York, Aug. 20.—A novel and unprecedented plan for collecting and transmitting campaign contributions was announced by Acting Chairman William G. McAdoo of the Democratic national committee, with the approval of Governor Wilson.

The scheme is that subscriptions shall be received and forwarded from all sections of the country by banks and trust companies.

McAdoo's idea is that this will not only emphasize and make good the proposition for a "campaign financed by popular subscriptions," but that all "suspicion of sinister influence" shall be removed.

The project is being put into operation through letters addressed to every bank and trust company in the country, requesting them to cooperate.

ALLEN FUGITIVES ARE FOUND.

Escape Again Into Ravines of the Blue Ridge.

Bristol, Tenn., Aug. 22.—Contrary to reports that Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards, Allen gang fugitives, had been seen in the state of Washington on route for Klondike, Hillsville reports they were located Monday in the Carroll county mountains by two detectives through the aid of a confidant of Sidna Allen, who had become offended because of the nonfulfillment of a promise made him by Allen. The detectives' force was too small to surround the men and they escaped into the ravines of the Blue Ridge.

8,000 Truckers on Strike.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 22.—Canadian Northern railway truckers on docks and in freight sheds at Port Arthur, Ont., struck Tuesday for higher wages. They demand 27 1/2 cents an hour. Eight thousand men are affected.

Lunch Counter on Train.

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—Built for travelers of moderate means, the first "lunch counter car" ever put into the service by an American railroad was attached Tuesday to trains running from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

430 MEN ARE SLAIN AFTER THEY SURRENDER

Almost Entire Nicaragua Garrison Massacred—Only Seventy Escape Death.

San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, Aug. 22.—Nearly the entire detachment of 500 Nicaraguan troops, comprising the garrison of the city of Leon, to the north of Managua, was massacred by a force of insurgents under General Mena last Saturday night, according to dispatches which have just reached this city from Managua.

The massacre at Leon was a horrible example of savagery. The insurgents attacked the city in the morning, and after a sharp engagement the government forces, greatly outnumbered, surrendered. Soon after darkness fell the insurgents set upon their prisoners, shooting and stabbing them to death and subjecting to hideous tortures. Only 70 men of the entire garrison escaped.

The insurgents went to Leon following their defeat at Managua and are believed to have executed the slaughter in a frenzy of anger over their previous repulse.

General Mena, the insurrecto leader, is reported to be ill and to have given up active command of the rebels to Generals Rebit and Amend.

DETECTIVE TELLS OF TRAP.

Details How He Caught Alleged Grafters at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—The testimony of W. J. Brennan, a Burns operative, was the feature of the police court examination of "Honest Tom" Glinnan on Tuesday, the first of the eighteen aldermen recently arrested on bribery charges, to be tried in court.

It was Brennan's evidence that resulted in the arrests of the aldermen and Common Council Clerk Edward Schreiter, the latter having since made a complete confession.

Brennan went into all of the details of the trapping of the aldermen up to the time he alleges that he, representing himself to be an official of the Wabash railroad, paid Glinnan $1,000 for his influence in granting the railroad's request for the use of the city street for building purposes.

EX-GAMBLING KING DIES.

George V. Hankins, Who Lost $50,000 on Turn of Card, Succumbs.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—George V. Hankins is dead. The ex-gambling king, who once bet $50,000 on the turn of a card and lost without the flicker of an eyelash, whose wealth at one time was conservatively estimated at $4,000,000, crossed "the divide" at the home of John Storey, an old-time friend. He was sixty-seven years old.

One of the most spectacular characters in the history of Chicago, George Hankins was a member of the old school of gamblers who in years past, when Chicago was "wide open," made this city one of the most famous gambling centers in the world; and he died virtually penniless.

TAFT SPEAKS TO EDITORS.

Denounces Presidential Electors Who Threaten to Bolt.

Washington, Aug. 19.—President Taft, addressing members of the Maryland Republican Editorial association in the east room of the White House on Friday, declared bluntly that presidential electors were "dishonest men" if they let their names appear on the Republican ballot and intended to vote for the candidate of another party.

"All we ask is a fair fight. A man cannot be in the Republican party and in a third party at the same time and should be compelled to make his selection," said the president.

BARRED OIL CASH IN 1904.

That is Roosevelt's Reply to Senator Penrose's Charge.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 21.—Colonel Roosevelt issued a statement on Monday in reply to a published interview in which Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania was quoted as saying that he believed the $25,000 check sent to him in 1904 by the Standard Oil company was used by the Republican national committee to help in carrying New York state for Roosevelt. The colonel said that in 1904 he had written to George B. Cortelyou, Republican national chairman, stating that no campaign contributions should be received from the Standard Oil company. He said that if any such contribution was received it was without his knowledge and in spite of his prohibition.

LEAPS FROM FOURTH STORY.

Grand Nephew of Mrs. Leland Stanford Kills Self While Drugged.

Boston, Aug. 20.—Daniel Shields Gunning, aged twenty-three and a member of a prominent New York family, leaped from a window on the fourth floor at the Hotel Touraine here. He was dead when picked up.

Senator Kenyon's Brother Held.

Sioux City, Ia., Aug. 22.—Accused of forgery in connection with a land and gravel company, F. A. Kenyon, brother of United States Senator Kenyon, surrendered himself here Tuesday.

Sheldon Is Taft Treasurer.

Washington, Aug. 22.—George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican national committee in 1908, was selected Tuesday as treasurer of the committee for the present campaign by Charles D. Hillis.

GEN. BOOTH DEAD; SON IS SUCCESSOR

Founder of Salvation Army Passes Away in England.

HIS CAREER LIKE WESLEY'S

Aged Evangelist Has Steadily Failed in Health Since the Operation on His Eyes Last May—Was 83 Years Old.

London, Aug. 22.—Rev. William Booth, general and commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, passed away at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night. The veteran leader was unconscious for 48 hours previous to his death. The medical bulletins had not revealed the seriousness of the general's condition, which for a week past, it is now admitted, was hopeless.

He had been ailing since last spring. In May he underwent an operation for the removal of a cataract in the left eye. The operation was not successful and since that time the aged evangelist has been steadily failing. General Booth was in his eighty-fourth year.

Think Son Will Succeed Him.

Public interest now centers in a successor to the late commander. Under the constitution of the Salvation Army the general nominates his successor. That Gen. Booth did several years ago, placing the name in a sealed envelope, which was deposited with the Salvation Army's lawyers, with instructions that it shall not be opened until after his death.

While nobody knows what name the envelope discloses, the general believed in the Salvation Army is that it will be that of Bramwell Booth, who for thirty years has been its chief of staff.

Was Son of a Carpenter.

Gen. William Booth, who developed the greatest organized movement since the beginning of Christianity, for the saving of human souls, was a son of a Nottingham (Eng.) carpenter. He was born in that city on April 10, 1828.

He chose preaching for a profession and studied theology under a private tutor for the Methodist New Connection church. In 1852 he entered the ministry but was not formally ordained until six years later.

In the meantime he was appointed to do circuit work but he had received a taste of evangelism and it appealed to him.

Founded Army in 1865.

On July 5, 1865, General Booth took the first step which led afterwards to the founding of the Salvation Army.

From an humble beginning in London this great organization has grown until it has 8,972 corps, circles and societies established in 56 countries and colonies with about 21,203 officers and employees. In almost every city of consequence there is a branch with barracks where beds are maintained and food is dispensed at a very cheap rate.

As a concrete example of the material benefits of the army 6,327,349 persons are supplied with beds in a single year while in the same length of time nearly 12,000,000 are fed.

SLAIN REBELS CITY PERIL.

Managua Fears Outbreak of Disease Because of Unburied Dead.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Conditions in Managua took a new turn for the worse when Minister Weitzel cabled the state department that the entire city is threatened by the pestilence caused by 1,000 unburied bodies of the rebels which lie outside the walls. The citizens of Managua are unable to gather outside the walls to bury the bodies on account of the fire of rebel sharpshooters located in the hills. An expedition guarded by American marines is planned to enter the bodies and remove the cause of the pestilence.

DARROW JUDGE PREJUDICED.

Hutton Asks Colleague to Hear Second Trial of Lawyer.

Los Angeles, Aug. 22.—Declaring himself to be prejudiced after hearing all of the evidence submitted in the trial of Clarence S. Darrow that was concluded Saturday, and for that reason preferring not to rule on any phase of the second, or Bain, indictment against the Chicago attorney, Judge Hutton assigned the case to Presiding Judge Willis of the superior court and ordered a continuance until Monday. In the Bain indictment Darrow is charged with the second offense of jury bribery while chief counsel in the McNamara case.

House Votes One Battleship.

Washington, Aug. 22.—By a vote of 151 to 50 the house adopted the conference report on the naval appropriation bill Tuesday. The measure, which will go to the president provides for one battleship.

Pennsylvania Storm Kills.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 22.—Pittsburg and western Pennsylvania was visited by a most disastrous series of electrical storms and cloudburst Tuesday, and immense damage and loss of life resulted.

SEVEN INDICTED FOR ROSENTHAL SLAYING

New True Bill Against Lieutenant Becker; Two of the Accused Men Still at Large.

New York, Aug. 22.—A blanket indictment against seven men, five of whom are now under arrest, charging murder in the first degree, was returned on Tuesday by the grand jury before Judge Mulqueen in the court of general sessions, in connection with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler.

The men named are: Lieut. Charles Becker, accused of having plotted to kill Rosenthal; William Shapiro, driver of the gray automobile in which the gangsters went to the Hotel Metropole and killed Rosenthal; Jacob Reich, better known as "Jack" Sullivan, accused of having given the signal for the murder; Frank Cloufal, also known as "Dago Frank"; Frank Muller, known as "Whitey" Lewis; Harry Horowitz, known as "Gyp, the Blood"; Louis Rosenzweig, known as "Lefty Louie," gangster, alleged to have been in the automobile.

The four last named are the men supposed to have done the actual shooting. Rosenzweig and Horowitz are still at large, but, although they have been reported at various places throughout the country, it has been strongly intimated that they are still in the city.

MICHIGAN STORM KILLS TWO.

Niles and Vicinity Visited by Cloudburst That Destroys.

Niles, Mich., Aug. 20.—Two persons are dead and several others more or less severely injured, seven railway bridges were swept away, miles of railroad tracks destroyed, stopping street car traffic between Niles and other towns, and holding up all trains on the Michigan Central and Big Four roads, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of other property damaged is the result of a heavy cloudburst which swept this city and vicinity.

In seven hours 14 inches of rain fell in Niles and the neighborhood. Lightning Kills Two.

The following were killed by lightning: Otto Seaver, thirty-four years old; farmer near Niles.

Billwock, seventy years old; farmer near Niles. Seaver and Billwock were putting up a house on the outskirts of Niles.

KANSAS HAS MIMIC WAR.

Ten Day Maneuvers Between Reds and Blues Are Started.

Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 20.—With 6,000 troops in the field, supplied with thousands of rounds of blank ammunition which will be used when the Red and Blue armies meet, the biggest mimic war ever held in this state began on Monday. The maneuvers will continue for ten days.

It is known that there will be a spectacular "battle" in which all forces will take part, near the Soldiers' home on August 27. In this engagement men will be "killed" and "wounded" and technically buried or taken to hospital tents. The tag system will be used to identify the dead and wounded. Tags will also be used during the maneuvers to distinguish bridges that have been technically destroyed. When the enemy reach one of these, they must find some other means of crossing.

VIOLENCE KILLS FIVE BROTHERS.

Pastor Struck by a Train is the Last to Die.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 22.—Rev. G. S. Gill, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Monticello, Ill., who died here from injuries when he was struck by a train at Harpers Ferry, was the fifth Gill brother who has met a violent death. One died in a burning building, another fell on a picket fence, a third fell from the top of a house and the fourth was robbed and murdered.

GATES FORTUNE IN TEXAS.

Will Show Only $62,989 in New York Estate.

New York, Aug. 22.—John W. Gates, New York, Aug. 21.—John W. Gates, who died August 9, 1911, left an estate of only $62,989 in New York state. This was made known when the state tax appraisers' report was filed. Mr. Gates' estate in Texas is worth several millions. Mr. Gates' will was filed in Jefferson county, Texas. It named Dolora R. Gates, his widow, and Charles G. Gates, his son, as executors and beneficiaries.

KILLS WIFE AND HER MOTHER.

Ashton (Ill.) Man is Jailed for Double Murder.

Dixon, Ill., Aug. 20.—Mrs. Westens Sanders and her mother, Mrs. Griffith, were shot to death at the depot in Ashton, this county, by Warren Sanders, husband of the former on Sunday. Sanders was arrested and lodged in jail.

Names Judge Hanford's Successor.

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Taft sent to the senate Monday the nomination of Clinton W. Howard of Bellingham, Wash., to be judge for the western district of Washington, succeeding Cornelius H. Hanford.

Brings 10,000,000 Herring.

New York, Aug. 21.—The largest shipment of kippered herring ever received in this country was unloaded Monday from the liner Caledonia. The shipment consists of 12,000 barrels or about 10,000,000 fish.

Ideals.

"What is your idea of a perfect husband?"

"One with about a million, who would lose no time in making me a merry widow."

Fitting Crime.

He—I know who egged you on to this. She—Who egged me on? He—That old hen.

In the Hotel Lobby.

Mary—That tall man has been divorced five times. Alice—Goodness! Who is he? Mary—He's the man who invented the safety match.

Accounted For.

"How is it so many people seem able to get the money to buy automobiles with?"

"If you only notice, they are the easiest things in the world with which to raise the dust."

His Reason.

He—Dearest—During the first dance I have with you be sure and say something to me. She—Why? He—Because you're so light, if you don't speak I will not know I have you in my arms.—Princeton Tiger.

Moving Pictures Popular.

In a recent number of the Daily Consular Reports are collected memoranda from cities and towns in various distant parts of the world showing the universal quality of the popular interest which the moving pictures excite. England, Japan, Turkey, Mexico, India, Australia and the islands of the sea all have the same story to tell: wherever the cinematograph goes it finds an instant and sustained welcome.

Too Slot Machine at Its Word.

A Kansas City woman recently took her two small daughters to make their first visit to her husband's people, living in a small Kansas town. Naturally she was anxious to make as favorable an impression as possible. So the two little people, on going on an errand to the depot, were cautioned to be on their very best behavior. To the mother's surprise, they returned vigorously chewing gum. As they had no money, she asked them where they got it.

"Oh," explained the older one, "it said on the slot machine, 'Ask the agent for pennies,' so we did."

Matter of Justice.

Where shall justice begin, with those who have power or with those who suffer wrong? If exact and ideal justice were done, the weak would make an effort to give to the strong all that is their due, and the strong would try to put their affairs in order so that no just cause of complaint should exist anywhere. The unhappy element in the relations of the strong and the weak is that both are thinking too much about exacting justice and not enough about doing that which is just and right. "Pay what thou owest" is the cry most often heard. "Give me that which is my due, then I will pay you what I owe."—The Christian Register.

Accorded Full Title.

One of the New York representatives in congress tells of a social function in an assembly district political club on the East side, whereat the chairman of the entertainment committee acted as master of ceremonies.

The chairman was very busy introducing the newly-arrived members of the club to the guests, who included a number of municipal officers. The representative mentioned was presented in a way to halve his official honors with his wife, as "The Honorable and Mrs. Congressman Blank." Next came a couple who were not known to the master of ceremonies, but, after receiving the correct name in a whisper, he announced: "Mr. and Mrs. Inspector of Hydrants, Faucets and Shopworks Casey."—Lippincott's.

WELL PEOPLE TOO

Wise Doctor Gives Postum to Convalescents.

A wise doctor tries to give nature its best chance by saving the little strength of the already exhausted patient, and building up wasted energy with simple but powerful nourishment.

"Five years ago," writes a doctor "I commenced to use Postum in my own family instead of coffee." (It's a well-known fact that tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.) "I was so well pleased with the results that I had two grocers place it in stock, guaranteeing its sale."

"I then commenced to recommend it to my patients in place of coffee, as a nutritious beverage. The consequence is, every store in town is now selling it, as it has become a household necessity in many homes."

"I'm sure I prescribe Postum as often as any one remedy in the Materia Medica—in almost every case of indigestion and nervousness I treat, and with the best results."

"When I once introduce it into a family, it is quite sure to remain. I shall continue to use it and prescribe it in families where I practice."

"In convalescence from pneumonia, typhoid fever and other cases I give it as a liquid, easily absorbed diet. You may use my letter as a reference any way you see fit." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

PREPARING FOR MICHIGAN FAIR

Exposition Is Expected to Be Greatest Ever Held.

NEW FEATURES ARE PLANNED

President of Nearly Every State in the Union and of Canada Will Be Shown at the Great Land Show.

Lansing.—With the opening of the Michigan state fair, September 16 to 31 inclusive, but five weeks away, the committees and superintendents of the 16 departments are busily at work preparing for the greatest state fair ever held in Michigan or this country, they say.

Every effort has been made to present this year a fair so different from other events of like character as to excite wonder. Not only have agricultural features been added, but the management has also added one event that is national in character, the great land show, in which will be seen the products of nearly every state in the union and of Canada. In attractions the best have been secured, and in moving the midway from the very center of the grounds to one corner and in cleansing from the midway all attractions of questionable character, the management has undertaken a step forward in fair promotion.

The officers for 1912 are: President, Thomas E. Newton, Detroit; vice-president, N. P. Hull, Diamond Lake; secretary, J. E. Hannan, Detroit; treasurer, John McKay, Romeo; members of the executive committee, T. F. Marston, Bay City; A. E. Stevenson, Port Huron; W. H. Wallace, Saginaw; Vincent V. Green, Detroit; George Kelly, North Branch; Archibald J. Peck, Jackson; Comfort A. Tyler, Coldwater; J. Fred Smith, Byron; L. W. Snell, Highland Park; F. J. Lester, Clarkston; A. J. Heath, Richmond; H. H. Dow, Midland; W. J. Terney, Roscommon; Thomas M. Sattler, Jackson; S. T. Handy, Sault Ste. Marie; C. F. Gates, Sandusky; Frank Coward, Bronson; F. B. Ransford, Caro; Leonard B. Freeman, Fenton; and George W. Dickinson, Pontiac; ex-presidents who are members ex-officio of the executive committee are T. W. Palmer, Detroit; John T. Rich, Pontiac; L. H. Butterfield, Hartford; E. Howland, Pontiac; Eugene Pfield, Bay City, and Fred Postal, Detroit.

$1,000 in Prizes to Be Given at Show.

There will be prizes for fruit growers to the amount of $1,000 at the second Michigan land and apple show, to be held in the Coliseum, Grand Rapids, November 12 to 16. These prizes are offered by the Land and Apple Show association in co-operation with the State Humane society. Prizes of goodly amounts will be offered for the best exhibits in the various classes by individual fruit growers, and for attractive displays.

Perry G. Holden, the Iowa corn expert, who grew up in western Michigan, has been secured as one of the speakers for the educational program to be conducted in connection with the show. In addition to talks by Professor Holden, there will be demonstrations in box and barrel apple sorting, grading and packing. There will also be a series of illustrated lectures in which the fruit industry, dairy industry, general farming and road activities of western Michigan will be presented. The Michigan Agricultural college has decided to make a display of fruit tree pests that cause the growers trouble, and to furnish information as to how to fight these pests. A musical program is to be rendered as one of the features of the show.

Adventists Plan to Spread Faith.

At the business session of the East Michigan conference of Seventh-Day Adventists at the fair grounds in Bay City it was decided to hold religious liberty institutes in different parts of the state during the coming year. The Bay City religious liberty secretaries will plan these meetings. It was voted to memorialize congress to vote against any Sunday measures that may come before that body. Seventh-Day Adventists are opposed to Sunday laws, claiming that they are religious measures and tend to abridge the freedom of conscience.

That the denomination has made wonderful progress in its aims to spread the gospel to every nation during the last ten years was stated by Elder W. T. Knox, vice-president of the general conference. He said that the missionary fields in Europe, Australia and portions of Africa are now self-supporting and that the denomination is now appropriating large sums of money for the enlightenment of the heathen in China, India, Burma, Korea and Japan.

Thousands of Germans Meet.

Germans from all the principal cities in Michigan gathered at the Arboretum in Detroit for the fourteenth annual bandedfest. Much of the success of the meeting was due to the efforts of Ernest Keller, who has been working on the proposition for several weeks and succeeded in interesting the various societies throughout the state in the matter. It is estimated that about 4,000 visitors attended meeting.

Decries Cutting of State Trees.

Superintendent Bennett of the state grounds and buildings has applied to the attorney general's department to ascertain what can be done in regard to the mutilating of the trees on the state property by employees of the Michigan Power company. The trees in question are located on Washtenaw and Chestnut streets, adjoining the lots now occupied by the league ball grounds.

"It's an outrage," said the superintendent, in speaking of the action. "Much more of the trees was cut than was necessary even if the state had given permission. In many places the trees were left jagged and ill-trimmed. I intend to put the matter up to the state board of auditors at their first meeting."

"We were given a right of way past this lot some time ago," says F. B. Dress of the Michigan Power company. "We're using 60 foot poles for a power line and that ought to raise it above most trees. But in a few instances it has been necessary to trim away the tops of trees or cut away some limbs. These linemen know what they are trying to do. The trees will look all right and be all right when they get them shaped up."

At least a dozen trees were mutilated, according to the superintendent, including two of the largest and oldest elms in the city.

Agriculture Now a Required Subject.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction L. L. Wright, in a communication given out makes the following recommendations and gives out the following regulations for teachers' eighth grade examinations for the coming year:

"The dates of the teachers' examinations are April 24-26 and August 14-16. The dates of the eighth grade examinations are May 15-18.

"I recommend that 100 per cent credit be given on the subject of theory and art to teachers who carefully pursue this course during the year. No credit should be allowed in counties where the work is not done under the direct supervision of the commissioner or his authorized deputy, or where teachers do not submit a written report of the work at the end of the year. About one-half of the examination questions in geography in 1913 will be based on Sutherland's 'Teaching of Geography.' A portion of the grammar questions will relate to the pedagogy of story-telling.

"The reading examinations for the teachers' examinations will be based on 'Merchant of Venice,' by Shakespeare. The reading for the eighth grade examination will be based on 'Snow Bound,' by Whittier.

"Because of the emphasis being placed on rapid oral work, especially in arithmetic and language, greater stress will be placed upon this part of the work in examinations and the number of problems in mental arithmetic will be increased and the time allowed for that work will be shortened.

"Agriculture is now a required subject in the eighth grade, and that subject will be included in the eighth grade examination. The outline for the work is given in the course of study."

Opinion Favors Bull Moosers.

Attorney General Kuhn has ruled that election commissioners should provide blank spaces on the ballots of the new party at the primary so that names can be written in where no petitions have been filed. The question is an important one to the Bull Moosers because it will be necessary to name much of their slate in that way. The other parties hoped to block the plan.

The opinion is as follows:

"Section 22 of the general primary election act provides in part: 'That the number of official primary election ballots which shall be prepared for any new party shall be such number as the chairman and secretary of the city, county, district or state committee shall certify to the respective boards of election commissioners shall be necessary for use at said primary election; provided further, that unless ballots are required for new parties in the manner herein provided, it shall be unnecessary for any board of election commissioners to prepare ballots for any such new political party, even though there may be candidates who have filed nominating petitions.'"

"The question is involved in some doubt. Nevertheless, I am inclined to the opinion, and believe the courts would hold, that it would be the duty of a board of election commissioners to prepare and print ballots containing blank spaces in which voters may write the names of the candidates of their choice, notwithstanding the fact that there may not be nominating petitions on file, provided that the proper committee certifies to the election commissioners a proper request for the printing of such ballots."

Osborn Favors Smith.

Governor Osborn said he is greatly pleased to learn that some of the Progressive United States senators are coming to Michigan to speak in behalf of Senator William Alden Smith. "I hope Senator Smith will be returned," said he.

Granges Working for Suffrage.

The woman suffrage committee of the State Grange, of which Miss Ida Chittenden of Lansing is chairman, and which as headquarters in Lansing, is carrying on a vigorous and well-organized campaign in the interest of suffrage for women. There are already 850 granges, representing all but six counties of the state, organized and working for woman suffrage, and it is believed that at the present rate every one of the 900 granges of the state will be organized and working by September 15.

WOLVERINE NEWS BREVITIES

Ann Arbor.—John Jedele of Lodi narrowly escaped death under an overturned motor car when he and a party of three other young men, riding in a new car driven by Albert Jedele, suddenly struck a sandy road which had become deeply rutted. The wheels slipped sharply to the right and the machine turned turtle, striking John Jedele underneath. The others were thrown out of the car and were unhurt. Jedele was pinned down by the seat rim. But for the fact that there was a slight depression in the seat rim just where it rested on his neck, he would most surely have been instantly killed. As it is he has a badly strained neck and is under the care of a physician.

Hastings.—Charged with going on the warpath against pigs owned by Charles Mahoney, his neighbor, Ardean Youngs of Barry township has been arrested. Mahoney claims that when he returned home recently he missed two valuable sows, one of which he afterwards found dead and the other wounded. They had been shot and he accuses Youngs, stating that the act was the result of a family grudge. Youngs was bound over to circuit court.

Cheboygan.—Gus Undernaber, while threshing on the farm of John Nolgroski, slipped and his arm was drawn rapidly into the revolving cylinders. His brother Edward, the engineer, happened to see the accident and by quick action stopped the machine in time to prevent his brother being drawn into the engine and crushed to death. Gus' right hand was badly crushed and torn.

Ann Arbor.—Wesley Foust of Ypsilanti, a young married man, was instantly killed by a high tension wire while he was working near Broadway for the Eastern Michigan Edison company. In some way his right hand became entangled with the wire upon which he was working in such a manner that it threw him over and across the high tension wires and death was instantaneous. His right arm and right leg were burned to a crisp.

Monroe.—Louis Young, colored, arrested by Officer Frankhouse, charged with carrying concealed weapons, pleaded guilty and was bound over for sentence. Young is the first one here to be arrested under the new state law making it a felony carrying concealed weapons.

Grand Rapids.—Jilted by his sweetheart, Norman Monroe, balloonist, who has made ascensions in many Michigan towns, drank carbolic acid in a local Chinese restaurant in the presence of Laverne Hubert, who had "trun him down." A Chinese waiter saved his life by dashing part of the poison from Monroe's lips. Monroe came here from Pontiac. His condition is critical.

Menominee.—With a business meeting, the principal feature of which was the election of officers for the ensuing year, the state grand lodge of the Sons of Herman concluded its session here. The following officers were elected: President, Joseph Walsh, Escanaba; secretary, Charles Borst, Hancock; treasurer, William Wass, Laurium.

Grand Rapids.—Frank Vanhorn, a Grand Trunk railroad painter, was run down by a train near Ionia while attempting to save the hand-car upon which he was riding. His leg was broken in three places and his skull fractured, and his condition is critical. A Polish companion was perhaps fatally injured.

Petoskey.—Earl Vance and Lawrence Lawler pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny and were fined $50 each, with combined costs amounting to $8. This is the climax of the whisky barrel case upon which Detective Robert Logan of the G. R. & I. force has been working two weeks. A barrel of whisky was stolen from the G. R. & I. freight depot.

Bessemer.—Despondent for some time, John Erickson committed suicide by shooting himself through the head beside the C. & N. railroad track near this city. He fell with his head on a rail and when a freight train came along it ran over and crushed the body. Erickson was sixty years old and leaves a widow and six children.

Menominee.—On the eve of giving birth to a child, Mrs. Louis Heraska, twenty-four years old, was killed by falling downstairs. The child, which was born immediately afterward, also died. This is the second misfortune to befall the family, a child having perished last year in a fire which destroyed the Heraska home.

Battle Creek.—While at work at the foot of a 175-foot tower which is being erected by the Commonwealth Power company, Henry Smith miraculously escaped death when the bricklayers' scaffolding at the top of the tower broke loose and fell upon him. The only thing that saved his life was the fact that when first struck he was knocked full length into a mortar box and the timbers piled up over him, the sides of the box sustaining them. He was rendered unconscious by the blow, but soon recovered.

SHERMAN NOTIFIED

Home Town of Vice-President Celebrates Elaborately for Him.

Vice-President Sherman was formally notified on Tuesday at his home in Utica, N. Y., that for the second time the Republican party had selected him to run on the ticket with President Taft. Rep. George Sutherland, at the head of the notification party, delivered the address.

The celebration incident to the notification of Mr. Sherman was the most elaborate affair ever staged in Utica, and cost many thousands of dollars, subscribed by local citizens who have been inspired by civic pride and a desire to fittingly observe the high honor conferred on the city's foremost son.

Aside from the fact that the notification ceremony itself was a Republican function, there was nothing in the huge celebration of a partisan nature. The festivities started with an elaborate carnival parade participated in by organizations from Syracuse, Oneida, Canistota, Rome and local people.

William Houz, nearly blind, was electrocuted when he stepped on a live wire which had fallen in a business street during an electrical storm in Toledo.

General William booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army is dead.

It is proposed to establish at the Michigan State Fair grounds for the Fair of Sept. 16 to 21, children's play grounds where the youngsters may find amusement while their elders travel around the grounds. These grounds will be established this year providing the necessary articles for the amusement of the little ones may be obtained in time and should take not be the case this year provisions for such a play grounds will be provided for 1912.

THE GREAT MIDWAY

Sterling List of Attractions at the Michigan State Fair.

In arranging for its Midway attractions this year, the Michigan State Fair dealt with Herbert A. Kline, who conducts a Carnival Company, and who puts on none but clean cut and interesting shows, varying in with the policy of the State Fair management.

Mr. Kline has a sterling list of attractions and the women and the children as well as the men will seek the Midway eagerly and find it removed from the center of the grounds as was planned in the first place. There are many new and novel shows this year filling twenty-one huge tents and including the best of it. There are no moving picture shows, and nothing is seen that is stale or out of the ordinary. There are animals galore and many of them are performers. There are trained bees and an Indian village, a large case of Japanese-splaining mice, an inevitable fat woman, merry-go-round, dancers, an ostrich farm, and above all a lot of courteous attendants. The ostrich farm contains seven birds which are hitched to sulkeys. Some will cover the half-mile in very near the minute mark. The London Cakewalk and Roulette cause a roar of laughter all the time. The Marie is an electrical show, the Oriental dancers, assisted by Arabs, are good in fencing bouts. Quincy's three diving girls, Mills' Four-in-One, the Circling Wave and Jumping Horse Carousel, and other attractions are reported excellent. There is a large boat constructor, and Rucker & Company's zoo contains a great collection of animals, including one or more specimens of every monkey in existence today. Purple storks, ant eaters and porcupines are to be seen by those able to withstand the spectacle. In the wild beast show a tiger does a horse-back act. Benita the horse that does arithmetical sums, is also a great drawing card. The Samar twins are two youngsters joined by nature at the back. Ruhl's original flea circus shows what human patience can do in training anything. There is also a dog and monkey hotel with no human being in the cast and the largest piece of amusement is the Indian village, several of the Indians being college graduates from Carlisle Indian School. These Indians indulge in some of the picturesque dances of their tribes.

Births in the Air. The International Congress on Aerial Legislation, sitting at Geneva, Switzerland, is evolving a very detailed code of laws. One of its suggested paragraphs reads: "In the event of a birth occurring in an air craft the pilot is to enter the event in his log book and must notify the fact to the authorities at the first place at which he descends."

Got His Answer. When Oscar Wilde came to the United States to lecture on aesthetics in his highly aesthetic velvet costume—and incidentally to prepare the public mind for the proper appreciation of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience," in which the aesthetic movement was held up to ridicule—he used to complain that America was very uninteresting since it had "no antiquities and no curiosities." But he ventured on this disparagement once too often, for in the course of his travels he uttered it to the American Girl, and she replied with the demure depravity of candid innocence that this was not quite a fair reproach, since "we shall have the antiquities in time, and we are already importing the curiosities."

Carrying It Too Far. "Scientific management, like any other good thing, may be carried to excess."

The speaker was R. Marriott Thompson, the San Francisco scientific management expert. He continued, says the New York Tribune:

"We scientific managers mustn't go as far as Hussler went."

Hussler was the proprietor of a tremendous factory where scientific management had reduced the motions of every hand from 300 to 17. Hussler attended a very fashionable wedding one day, a wedding where the ceremony was performed by a bishop, assisted by a dean and a canon, and in the most impressive part of the writ Hussler, overcome by his scientific management ideas, rushed up to the altar and pushed the bishop and canon rudely back.

John Bollinski, aged 25, a Polish laborer, is dying in a Saginaw hospital from wounds received when attacked by several of his countrymen. Mother's Lingular Attainment. The mother of a little boy in Kansas City, Kan., recites negro dialect stories charmingly. Her small son is quite proud of her accomplishment and frequently boasts of it. One day recently, when some of his playmates were vaunting the achievements of their several mothers, the little boy braggingly remarked:

"My mother is smarter than any of yours; she can talk two languages."

"What are they?" demanded his companions.

"White and colored."

How He Left. The servants were discussing the matter below stairs.

"Master and mistress 'ad something of a row last night, I 'ear," said the butler ponderously.

"You should have heard 'em," answered the parlor maid in a shocked tone. "Scandalous is what I call it!"

"They tell me 'e ran out, cranked 'is motor car and left in it."

"No," said the maid, positively, "he didn't leave in his machine; I distinctly heard the mistress say he left in a huff."—London Answers.

Births in the Air. The International Congress on Aerial Legislation, sitting at Geneva, Switzerland, is evolving a very detailed code of laws. One of its suggested paragraphs reads: "In the event of a birth occurring in an air craft the pilot is to enter the event in his log book and must notify the fact to the authorities at the first place at which he descends."

Got His Answer. When Oscar Wilde came to the United States to lecture on aesthetics in his highly aesthetic velvet costume—and incidentally to prepare the public mind for the proper appreciation of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience," in which the aesthetic movement was held up to ridicule—he used to complain that America was very uninteresting since it had "no antiquities and no curiosities." But he ventured on this disparagement once too often, for in the course of his travels he uttered it to the American Girl, and she replied with the demure depravity of candid innocence that this was not quite a fair reproach, since "we shall have the antiquities in time, and we are already importing the curiosities."

Carrying It Too Far. "Scientific management, like any other good thing, may be carried to excess."

The speaker was R. Marriott Thompson, the San Francisco scientific management expert. He continued, says the New York Tribune:

"We scientific managers mustn't go as far as Hussler went."

Popular Republican Candidate

Wm. H. Green, Out for County Clerk, Deserves Popular Recognition.

Few men are more widely or familiarly known throughout Wayne county than Wm. H. Green Jr., who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for county clerk. Mr. Green was born, reared and educated in Detroit. All his life he has been a straightforward and ardent Republican, always using his best endeavors towards promoting harmony in the party and urging principles to the welfare of the people and it was, perhaps, this trait which enabled him to successfully hold the position of Secretary of the Wayne County Republican Committee for 15 years through the many changes of its personnel.

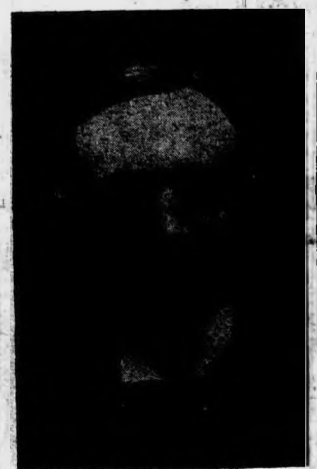

About seven years ago, Mr. Green was made chief clerk in the office of the County Auditors and in that position has met thousands of people who have business dealings with the office. That this opportunity has widened his acquaintance and established his reputation for reliability and efficiency goes without saying, as all who have come in contact with him have always found him ready to serve the public in a most polite and painstaking manner, whether rich or poor. His connection in the Auditors' office has thoroughly familiarized him with the details and duties of the County Clerk's office, which is one of the reasons for him to become a candidate for the place. Another is the fact that Mr. Green's opponent has served two full terms, which has been the customary time for county officials to serve. This last reason ought to be received by the voters in a spirit of fairness to those seeking nominations, as long as they are equipped with the qualifications necessary for the office.

Four years ago, Mr. Green entered the race for County Clerk. He made a clean, straightforward fight for the nomination and that his worth was appreciated was shown by the fact that he received a majority of the votes in every election district outside of the city of Detroit, with the exception of one, in which he was defeated by only a small majority.

It is well known that it has been the custom of Republican office holders, as sheriff and others, to hold office for two terms, which they always considered sufficient. When Mr. Green was defeated four years ago, he said he would wait until his opponent had held the office for two terms and would then run for the office again. His political and personal friendship has been extended, not only during the past four years, but all his life, and his friends assure him of success this year. Mr. Green is associated with numerous fraternal organizations and happy in the association of a grown-up family prominent in Detroit's social affairs, and in the event of his election, he promises to give the public the most efficient and economical service possible, never forgetting that at all times he is a public servant.

Office of County Drain Com.

Henry A. Caughey of Detroit is a candidate on the Republican ticket for county drain commissioner. Mr. Caughey has lived in the county for twenty years and is known to many people by reason of having been for some years a court clerk in Judges Brooke and Murfin's room. If chosen to the office he will undoubtedly administer its affairs with credit and ability, and the Republican voters are asked to place a cross before his name on primary day.

Hugh Shepherd for Prosecuting Attorney

Hugh Shepherd, at present prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, was appointed to that office on October 3rd, 1911, by the Circuit Judges to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of former prosecuting attorney, Philip T. VanZile. Upon assuming the office he decided that it was not the main duty of the Prosecutor to be forever posing personally before judge and jury, but to act rather as the executive head of his office. With this point in view he set about to cause a careful re-organization in the work of the office and also to make such changes as he thought desirable in the personnel of his office force.

At the present time it is considered by disinterested persons that the details of the office work are more carefully looked after than at any time heretofore and that he has as capable a corps of assistants and helpers as have ever been connected with the Prosecuting Attorney's office.

That Mr. Shepherd has not been idle since assuming the duties of his office is apparent from the things that have been accomplished by him. His first effort or crusade was directed toward the abolition of the slot machine in Wayne county. He found 500 or more such machines being operated unlawfully in this county, all of which were confiscated and destroyed.

His attention was next directed toward the loan shark evil. It was found that there were twenty-one loan companies operating illegally in the city of Detroit and that they had loans aggregating $700,000, at least $300,000 of which represented illegal interest charges. The operators of these companies were arrested and all parties having loans with them were advised to refuse to pay any unlawful interest charges. An unusual thing was also done, in that the services of the Prosecuting Attorney's office were offered gratuitously to any parties who might be sued civilly by loan companies for the recovery of unlawful loans. During the operation of this crusade it is safe to say that at least $300,000 has been saved to the citizens of Wayne county and untold suffering and humiliation caused by the methods of collectors employed by these human monsters absolutely stopped.

His next effort was directed toward the so-called quack doctors or medical sharks. It was ascertained that these parties through unlawful advertising were imposing especially upon the poor and ignorant of the city and county, and that immense sums of money were being taken without any good, and that really actual harm was being done to those treated. The offices of these medical quacks were raided, their correspondence confiscated, and criminal prosecutions instituted against them, which have been carried to a successful termination.

At the present time Mr. Shepherd and his assistants are busily engaged in the prosecution of the graft charges against the aldermen of the city of Detroit and a earnest effort is being made to clarify the conditions existing in the common council and other public bodies.

It is also worthy of note that the record of convictions as secured by Mr. Shepherd and his staff during the past few months has never been equalled, and that at the present time the jail is practically empty, and that all criminal cases now pending are such as have originated since the first of August.

For the things that have been accomplished by Mr. Shepherd since taking office he believes that he is justified in appealing to the citizens of the county for a nomination and election at their hands at the coming primaries and the annual general election to be held in November. If you approve of the record he has made he requests your vote on August 27th.

The Detroit Journal begins the publication of Theodore Roosevelt's account of his African wanderings in search of jungle beasts and other wild animals, on Monday, August 26. This is the famous narrative for which Col. Roosevelt was paid $1 a word. It is illustrated from photographs by Kermit Roosevelt and others.

"The Net," a romance of mystery, love and adventure, by Rex Beach, than whom there is no more interesting writer, will begin in the Detroit Journal September 3. This story is directly from the author's manuscript, and has never appeared in print in any form.

Mrs. Geo. Richwine and children and Mrs. W. N. Isbell and children are spending the week at Pottsville Lake.

Nelson for State Senator.

Leroy A. Nelson is a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator in the first district and is making his appeal upon the platform of principles he gave to the voters three months ago. Mr. Nelson entered the race after his opponents were in the field, but up to date he is the senatorial candidate who has given his platform to the public. On May 8th, in a three thousand word article through the Detroit News, under the title of "If I were Senator," Mr. Nelson told the electors where he stood upon every vital issue before the public. The News in-visited his opponents to give their platform publicity, offering to print the matter on their title page gratis. One declined, while the other used the offer merely to announce that he was a candidate for the office and a progressive, but "not as progressive as Nelson."

The question we wish to put to the voter is this: Does a man who seeks the support of his fellow-men, but refuses to give views publicly, inspire the confidence a constituency should have in its legislator? As Republicans, we ask you which man can be of greater service to the party and the people, the man who came out and told you where his every conviction lay, or the one who straddled the fence and feared to tell the people where he stood?—The Nelson for Senator Club, by W. F. Kah, M. D., Pres.

Forbes Robertson.

Forbes Robertson is a candidate for re-election, second term, as County Auditor on the Republican ticket at the primaries August 27, 1912, and opposed by Alderman Gutman of the third ward, should have the support of all fair-minded citizens. Honesty, integrity and executive ability have certainly earned for him a return to this important office, which of all the offices should have high-class men, who should conserve our taxes and above all oppose graft. These qualifications have characterized Mr. Robertson's administration. He should be returned by an overwhelming majority to stimulate and reward him for his valuable service rendered the people of Wayne county.

Though opposed by the other two Auditors, his stand was positive to reduce the number of janitors and guards in the county building on account of the expense to taxpayers, and also his opposition to having a large force of employes that stood for machine purposes of those who appointed them, and held amongst them ringleaders of chicken fights, which is strictly in violation of the law.

His strong stand against the Detention home site as favored by Oakman and Buhner, won for him the support of all interested citizens and the confirmation of the board of supervisors at their last meeting. Robertson pointed out that the growth of the county absolutely required anticipating ahead of our present requirements by 25 years, and that adequate ground and fresh air space should be provided for the children, and that he was opposed to buying new land when land now owned by the city of Detroit (about 25 acres) could be secured for nothing by making a request to the Aldermen for it. The city of Detroit represents six-sevenths of the county of Wayne and much money would thereby be saved to the taxpayers.

His stand in giving financial support to Prosecuting Attorney Shepherd and his office in their crusade against the nickel slot machine, chicken fights, quack doctors and loan sharks, stamps him as the right kind of man to have on the Board of Auditors, one who does not stand in with his fellow Auditors, for political reasons, but stands independent for the peoples' interests, for fair play and a fair deal to every one, irrespective of politics.

Deputy Sheriff George Springer on Wednesday made complaint against Drs. K. & K. of Detroit for causing to be circulated in Plymouth and Northville unfit literature pertaining to their business. The doctors were arraigned in the city police court and gave bond for their appearance for trial.

Mr. C. Mining of Chicago, Ill., is visiting his sister, Mrs. John Kruman and other relatives.

CORONERS

Primaries, August 27th

In asking for the nomination and re-election as Coroners, we feel that our record in the past entitles us to re-election. The records of the office show that for the past year, when 1000 cases were investigated, the expense of the office was only one-quarter of what it was a few years ago, when only 342 cases were investigated. It is acknowledged by all that the office has never had better attention than that given it the past two years. Kind and courteous treatment to all has been the rule in the Coroner's office the past two years and will be if Drs. Burgess and Rothaker are returned. On our record while in the office we go before the electors and ask for our nomination and re-election.

SERIAL STORY

EXCUSE ME!

Serialized from the Comedy of the Same Name

SYNOPSIS.

Lieut. Harry Mallory is ordered to the Philippines. He and Marjorie Newton decide to elope, but wreck of taxicab prevents their seeing minister on way to the train. Transcontinental train is taking on passengers. Foster has a lively time with an Englishman and Ira Lathrop, a Yankee business man. The elopers have an exciting time getting to the train. "Little Jimmie" Wellington, bound for Reno to get a divorce, boards train in meek condition. Later Mrs. Jimmie appears. She is also bound for Reno with same object. Likewise Mrs. Sammy Whitcomb. Later, Mrs. Jimmie reports for marital troubles. Classroom of Marjorie's wedding is held. Marjorie is distracted. Ira Lathrop, woman-hating bachelor, discovers an old sweetheart, Anne Gattie, a fellow passenger. Marjorie vainly hunts for a preacher among the passengers. Mrs. Wellington hears little Jimmie's voice. Later she meets Mrs. Whitcomb. Marjorie reports to Marjorie her failure to find a preacher. They decide to pretend a quarrel and Marjorie sends a vacant berth. Mrs. Jimmie discovers Wellington on the train. Marjorie again makes an unsuccessful hunt for a preacher. Dr. Temple poses as a physician. Mrs. Temple is teased by Mrs. Wellington to smoke a cigar.

And a lady who was evidently Mrs. Deacon spoke up:

"We'll miss you terrible. We all say you are the best pastor our church ever had."

Mallory prepared to spring on his grey and drag him to his lair, but Marjorie held him back.

"He's taking our train, Lord bless his dear old soul."

And Mallory could have hugged him. But he kept close watch. To the rapture of the wedding-hungry twin, the preacher shook hands with such of his flock as had followed him to the station, picked up his valise and walked up to the porter, extending his ticket. But the porter said—and Mallory could have throttled him for saying it:

"Excuse me, posson, but that's yo' train ova yonda. You betta move right smart, for it's gettin' ready to pull out."

With a little shriek of dismay, the groom clutched his valise and set off at a run. Mallory dashed after him and Marjorie after Mallory. They observed as they ran, but the conductor of the east-bound train sang out "All aboard!" and swung on.

The parson made a sprint and caught the ultimate rail of the moving train. Mallory made a frantic leap at a flying coat-tail and missed. As he and Marjorie stood gazing reproachfully at the train which was giving a beautiful illustration of the laws of repelling perspective, they heard wild howls of "Hi! hi!" and "Hay! hay!" and turned to see their own train in motion, and the porter dancing a minuet step alongside.

CHAPTER XX.

Foiled Again.

Mallory tucked Marjorie under his arm and Marjorie tucked Snoozeleums under hers, and they did a sort of three-legged race down the platform. The porter was pale blue with excitement, and it was with the last gasp of breath in all three bodies that they scrambled up the steps of the only open vestibule.

The porter was mad enough to give them a piece of his mind, and they were meek enough to take it without a word of explanation or resentment.

And the train sped on into the heart of Nebraska, along the unpoetic valley of the Platte. When lunch-time came, they ate it together, but in gloomy silence. They sat in Marjorie's berth throughout the appalling monotony of afternoon in a stupor of disappointment and helpless dejection, speaking little and saying nothing.

CHAPTER XXI.

Matrimony to and Fro.

And the next morning they were in Wyoming—well toward the center of that State. They had left behind the same levels and the truly rural towns and they were among foothills and mountains, passing cities of wildly picturesque repute, like Cheyenne and Laramie, Bowie, and Medicine Bow, and Bitter Creek, whose very names imply literature and war whoops, cowboy yelps, barking revolvers, another redskin biting the dust, cattle stampedes, town-paintings, humorous lynchings and bronchos in epileptic frenzy.

But the talk of this train was concerned with none of these wonders, which the novelists and the magazine writers have perhaps a trifle over-published. The talk of this train was concerned with the eighth wonder of the world, a semi-detached bridal couple.

Mrs. Whitcomb was eager enough to voice the sentiment of the whole party, when she looked up from her novel in the observation room and nudging Mrs. Temple, drawled: "By the way, my dear, has that bridal Mallory would have suspected him. He vowed in his haste that Marjorie might die an old maid before he would approach anybody else on that subject.

Nebraska would have been a nice long state for a honeymoon, but its four hundred-odd miles were a dreary length for the couple so near and yet so far. The railroad clinging to the meandering Platte made the way far longer, and Mallory and Marjorie left like Pyramus and Thisbe wandering along an eternal wall, through which they could see, but not reach, one another.

They dined together as solemnly as if they had been married for twenty years. Then the slow twilight soaked them in its melancholy. The porter lit up the car, and the angels lit up the stars, but nothing lit up their hopes.

"We've got to quarrel again, my beloved," Mallory groaned to Marjorie. Somehow they were too dreary even to nag one another with an outburst for the benefit of the eager-eyed passengers.

A little excitement bestirred them as they realized that they were confronted with another night-robeless night and a morrow without change of gear.

"What a pity that we left our things in the taxicab," Marjorie sighed. And this time she said, "we left them," instead of "you left them." It was very gracious of her, but Mallory did not acknowledge the courtesy. Instead he gave a start and a gasp:

"Good Lord, Marjorie, we never paid the second taxicab!"

"Great heavens, how shall we ever pay him? He's been waiting there twenty-four hours. How much do you suppose we owe him?"

"About a year of my pay, I guess." "You must send him a telegram of apology and ask him to read his meter. He was such a nice man—the kindest eyes—for a chauffeur."

"But how can I telegraph him? I don't know his name, or his number, or his company, or anything."

"It's too bad. He'll go through life hating us and thinking we cheated him."

"Well, he doesn't know our names either."

And then they forgot him temporarily for the more immediate need of clothes. All the passengers knew that they had left behind what baggage they had not sent ahead, and much sympathy had been expressed. But most people would rather give you their sympathy than lend you their clothes. Mallory did not mind the men, but Marjorie dreaded the women. She was afraid of all of them but Mrs. Temple.

She threw herself on the little lady's mercy and was asked to help herself. She borrowed a nightgown of extraordinary simplicity, a shirt waist of an ancient mode, and a number of other things.

If there had been anyone there to see she would have made a most anachronistic bride.

Mallory canvassed the men and obtained a shockingly purple shirt from Wedgewood, who meant to put him in his case, but somehow failed when he said in answer to Mallory's thanks:

"God bless my soul, old top, don't you think of thanking me. I ought to thank you. You see, the idiot who makes my shirts, made that by mistake, and I'd be no end grateful if you'd jolly well take the loathsome thing off my hands. I mean to say, I shouldn't dream of being seen in it myself. You quite understand, don't you?"

Ashton contributed a maroon atrocity in hosiery, with equal tact:

"If they fit you, keep 'em. I got stung on that batch of socks. That pair was originally lavender, but they washed like that. Keep 'em. I wouldn't be found dead in 'em."

The mysterious Fossilick, who lived a lonely life in the observation car and slept in the other sleeper, lent Mallory a pair of pyjamas evidently intended for a bridegroom of romantic disposition. Mallory blushed as he accepted them and when he found himself in them, he whisked out the light, he was so ashamed of himself.

Once more the whole car gaped at the unheard of behavior of its newly wedded pair. The poor porter had been hungry for a bridal couple, but as he went about gathering up the cast-off footwear of his large family and found Mallory's shoes at number three and Marjorie's tiny boots at number five, he shook his head and groaned.

"Times has certainly changed for the worse. If this is a bridal couple, gimme divorces."

couple made up its second-night's quarrel yet?"

"The Mallorys?" Mrs. Temple flushed as she answered, mercifully. "Oh, yes, they were very friendly again this morning."

Mrs. Whitcomb's countenance was cynical: "My dear, I've been married twice and I ought to know something about honeymoons, but this honeymoon—she cast up her eyes and her hands in despair."

The women were so concerned about Mr. and Mrs. Mallory, that they hardly noticed the uncomfortable plight of the Wellingtons, or the curious behavior of the lady from the statesman who seemed to be afraid of something and never spoke to anybody. The strange behavior of Anne Gattie and Ira Lathrop even escaped much comment, though they were forever being stumbled on when anybody went out to the observation platform. When they were dislodged from there, they sat playing checkers and talking very little, but making eyes at one another and sighing like furnaces.

They had evidently concocted some secret of their own, for Ira, looking at his watch, murmured sentimentally to Anne: "Only a few hours more, Anne."

And Anne turned geranium-color and dropped a handful of checkers. "I don't know how I can face it."

Ira growled like a lovesick lion: "Aw, what do you care?"

"But I was never married before, Ira," Anne protested, "and on a train, too."

"Why, all the bridal couples take to the railroads."

"I should think it would be the last place they'd go," said Anne—a sensible woman, Anne! "Look at the Mallories—how miserable they are."

"I thought they were happy," said Ira, whose great virtue it was to pay little heed to what was none of his business.

"Oh, Ira," cried Anne, "I hope we shan't begin to quarrel as soon as we are married."

"As if anybody could quarrel with you, Anne," he said.

"Do you think I'll be so monotonous as that?" she retorted.

Her spunk delighted him beyond words. He whispered: "Anne, you're so gold-darned sweet if I don't get a chance to kiss you, I'll bust."

"Why, Ira—we're on the train."

"Da—darn the train! Who ever heard of a fellow proposing and getting engaged to a girl and not even kissing her."

"But our engagement is so short."

"Well, I'm not going to marry you until I get a kiss."

Perhaps innocent old Anne really believed this blood-curdling threat. It brought her instantly to terms, though she blushed: "But everybody's always looking."

"Come out on the observation platform."

"Oh, Ira, again?"

"I dare you."

"I take you—but seeing that Mrs. Whitcomb was trying to overhear, she whispered: 'Let's pretend it's the scenery.'"

So Ira rose, pushed the checkers aside, and said in an unusually positive tone: "Ah, Miss Gattie, won't you have a look at the landscape?"

"Oh, thank you, Mr. Lathrop," said Anne, "I just love scenery."

They wandered forth like the Sleeping Beauty and her princely awakener, and never dreamed what giggles and nudgings and wise head-noddings went on back of them. Mrs. Wellington laughed loudest of all at the lovers whose heads had grown gray while their hearts were still so green.

It was shortly after this that the Wellingtons themselves came into prominence in the train life.

As the train approached Green River, and its copper-basined stream, the engineer began to set the air-brakes for the stop. Jimmie Wellington, boozily half-awake in the smoking room, wanted to know what the name of the station was. Everybody is always eager to oblige a drunken man, so Ashton and Fossilick tried to get a window open to look out.

FEEDER RACKS SAVE FODDER AND LABOR

Self-Feeder Racks Which Save Fodder and Considerable Labor.

Self-feeder racks for supplying roughage to sheep or cattle are not only the means of saving considerable labor, but, according to tests made at the Colorado experiment station, are the means of saving a great deal of hay. One lot of lambs at this station were fed whole hay in a self-feeder rack, and another lot whole hay in racks on the ground, such as are in common use in many sections of the country. The average gain of these two lots was practically the same, the lot feeding from the self-feeder averaging only one pound heavier than the other, says the American Agriculturist. Also, the grain consumed varied but little, being only nine pounds more for a 100-pound gain in the first lot than in the second. The great saving came in the cost of roughage.

The lot eating from the self-feeder consumed 601 pounds of hay for each 100 pounds of gain, and those eating off the ground consumed 738 pounds of hay for each 100 pounds of gain. This indicates a difference of practically 20 per cent. in favor of the self-feeder racks. It makes a difference of 41 cents in the cost securing each 100 pounds of gain. These results were secured on alfalfa valued at $5 per ton. With a higher price the difference would be correspondingly greater.

These self-feeding racks cost $1 per running foot completed. They had the ordinary capacity of four lambs per running foot, two on each side, not so much space being required at a self-feeder as at an ordinary rack, since all the lambs will not eat at one time. As already stated, the saving in this one experiment amounted to 42 cents per 100 pounds of gain. This is equal to about 14 cents on each lamb. Counting four lambs per running foot, this would make a saving on one season's operations of 56 cents. In other words, the rack would pay for itself in two years. It is thought that when a type of self-feeder is developed for handling chopped hay better results may be secured from it than have hitherto been possible, by reducing the waste caused by wind.

KEY TO SUCCESS ON DAIRY FARM

More Can be Accomplished When Farmer and Animals are Care-Free and Contented in Mind.

(By B. L. OUTNAM.)

The dairyman who is looking for results will not allow the dog or the small boy to worry his cows. He knows that if he wants a well filled pail they must not be frightened but kept quiet and content.

The grower of beef cattle is sure to weed out the one that is continually bawling, when it should be grazing, for the simple reason that there is more waste than gain of adipose tissue at such a time. The stock content to feed upon the good pasture at hand rather than busy themselves trying to break into forbidden fields, possibly not nearly as good, are the ones that make the most gain in weight.

The hen that is dogged every time she finds a nice soft place to scratch is not the one that makes the best egg record. She may be hard on the garden, but a good fence would easily fix that. Do not discourage her natural efforts and then expect her to do her best for you.

The horse that is compelled to fight flies continually cannot get in a full day's work, or at least if it does there is less in stamina, which eventually tells on the life work of the animal. Neither can it do its best with an ill-fitting harness. The horse that is comfortable and in good spirits is the one which makes the record.

A flock of sheep harassed by dogs soon show the trouble in their general condition as surely as in their manner. Fleetness of foot is not one of the characteristics of the animal and when this is enforced as a means of preservation it is to the detriment of the flock.

The farmer and his family, as well as his stock, accomplish more when care-free and in a happy turn of mind. All nature is fresh and cheerful. It is profitable for us to be likewise!

CULTIVATE IN CELERY PATCH

Work Should Begin After Plants are Well Started in July—Keep Soil Out of Plant.

After the celery plants are well started in July, commence to cultivate. It is much better to give a shallow cultivation rather than deeper ones, as the roots of celery grow quite near the surface, and cultivating two inches deep will accomplish just as much as four inches, provided, of course, that the ground is cultivated often enough to keep a mulch of loose soil. When the plants have attained a height of about ten inches blanching may be started.

Usually the plants will be quite spreading, and they should be first gathered together, and held in place with one hand, while the soil is drawn to them with a hoe in the other hand. Care should be exercised that no soil gets into the heart of the plant. This is likely to cause the plant to rot.

Hilling should not be done when the ground is dry enough to crumble. If done when the soil is wet the plants are liable to rot. On a small scale celery may be blanched by putting boards 1 inch thick and 3 to 14 inches wide on each side of the row and filling the space around the plants with sawdust or soil.

Good Hog Pastures.

A good pasture for hogs is one which is tender and nutritive. Blue grass makes a good pasture during the spring and late fall. Rye and timothy make a little winter pasture.

BATS OF VALUE TO THE FARMER

Besides Destroying Mosquitoes and Other Noxious Insects Guano Deposits Are Rich.

(By H. W. HENSHAW, Chief Biological Survey, Department of Agriculture.)

There is no doubt of the great value of bats in the destruction of mosquitoes and other noxious insects, especially beetles. For years we have been interested in the subject and have examined many bat stomachs, with a view to finding out the precise species upon which the different bats feed.

The investigation, however, is beset with difficulties owing to the fact that bats habitually seem to thoroughly chew their insect food before swallowing it, with the result that the determination even of general insects taken for food is very difficult, while the identification of soft-bodied insects like mosquitoes is practically impossible. Because they destroy so many insects we advocate the protection of bats wherever they occur.

None of the species that inhabit the United States do any harm, although they sometimes cause annoyance by congregating in large numbers in the attics or under the eaves of country houses, when the noise they make coming and going frequently disturbs the inmates of the house. This trouble, however, can always be easily cured by stopping up the holes and compelling the bats to take up their residence elsewhere.

In connection with the economic importance of bats the value of their guano as a fertilizer is not to be overlooked, as it brings a high price wherever it can be obtained in marketable quantities. In fact, the erection of artificial shelters for bats for the purpose of obtaining the guano has frequently been advocated, as also has an attempt to increase the number of the mammals, having in mind their destruction of noxious insects, especially mosquitoes.

We know of at least one instance, in Mexico, where a small dwelling was given up to the exclusive use of bats for the purpose of annually or semi-annually gathering the guano for sale.

SECURE FERTILE HATCHING EGGS

Time Required After Introduction of Male Into Breeding Pen Varies From Four to Seven Days.

The Maryland station recently made a test to determine the time required for eggs to become fertile after a male has been added to the breeding pen. Twenty single comb White Leghorns, housed without runs, were kept from the male birds for three months. A cockerel of the same variety was added, and on the fourth day following ten eggs were laid, seven of which were fertile.

In another test, using eighteen Rhode Island Red pullets and one White Plymouth Rock cockerel, four eggs were laid on the seventh day, and all were fertile, six laid on the eighth day, three being fertile. In another test, using a pen of the same breeds, eight eggs were laid on the eighth day, all being fertile.

These tests, while not conclusive, seem to indicate that it is safe to save eggs for hatching from a pen of Leghorn hens after the male bird has been in four days. In the case of the larger or the general purpose fowl, the results show that possibly a longer period should be allowed to lapse; seven days being the time in this instance where the Rhode Island Reds are used. It is possible, however, that the crossing of the breeds may have something to do with the longer period.

The KITCHEN CABINET

NEVER bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three—all they have now, all they ever had, and all they expect to have.

COMPANY DISHES.

What a feeling of security it gives a housekeeper to have in her store room, pantry or cake box some of the needed accessories for a meal. She is a more gracious hostess and one which it is a delight to visit. Behind the forced smile of welcome, how many a heart has sunk because there was nothing in the house to offer a friend.

Just have a few things that are kept for emergencies, and if used are quickly supplied. One does not like to offer boughten cakes or cookies to guests, as the recipes which we consider so choice and of which we are justly proud, make such delightful things at much less cost.

A small cake which can be put into the store room in a jar and covered to keep from drying will keep for months, and be sure your friends will always ask for it. The recipe is:

Fruit Cake.—Seed and cut in quarters a pound of dates, add a cup of coconut or other nuts as desired; two cups of flour, a cup of shortening, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, a grating of nutmeg, teaspoonful each of vanilla and lemon, less of lemon if it is not agreeable, a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in half a cup of boiling water, a cup and a half of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt and three well beaten eggs. Add the soda and water the very last. Bake in gem pans, a tablespoonful in each. This recipe makes about thirty small cakes, which will keep and grow better with age.

There is something uncommonly appetizing about sardines used in sandwiches. One may always have a few boxes of these on hand for a quick lunch.

Pimento cheese, with saltines and coffee, is a dessert which will be enjoyed.

A cup of dry cheese grated and mixed with a little tabasco sauce or cream, red pepper and onion juice or other seasonings, will keep, if covered with a cloth dampened with vinegar.

The delicious sauces which may be added to ice creams and make them so much more elegant may be put up in fruit season, and will always be ready when needed.

Salmón mixed with coconut and a few chopped pickles, moistened with a small amount of salad dressing, served on lettuce, makes a very nice salad, and not a common one.

A few cooked peas left from dinner, if washed from the sauce in which they were served, added to a slice or two of tomato, a bit of chopped onion and a lettuce leaf makes another salad good enough to set before company.

WAYS TO USE PEANUTS.

Peanuts are good with bread crumbs prepared as a loaf baked, served with tomato sauce as a meat loaf.

When the nuts are ground and mixed with creamed butter or sweet cream, a very good sandwich filling results.

For salad, they are good in combination with cabbage or sprinkled over lettuce, served with French dressing. Peanut butter makes a variety for the flavor of soup, using the peanut butter and one tablespoonful of butter with two of flour for the binding of a cream soup.

Peanut Nougat.—Shell and remove the skins from a pound of peanuts; chop fine and sprinkle with a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Put a pound of sugar in a clean granite sauce pan and stir over the heat until melted. When a rich brown, add the nuts and pour into a greased pan. Mark off in squares. If the nuts are added as soon as the sugar is melted, the candy is of a different consistency, liked by many.

Peanut Candy.—Prepare a quart of peanuts, as above; roll them in a rolling pin until like coarse bread-crumbs. Boil together six ounces of butter and a pound of light brown sugar for ten minutes, stirring constantly to keep from burning; add the peanuts, and when cool mark off in squares. If carefully made, this is by far the best peanut candy one may make at home.

RESINOL

Legs raw with itching, burning eczema

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 21, 1912.—"A friend of mine had big red blotches form all over his legs, body and arms. It was pronounced a very bad case of eczema. After two months' treatment he was suffering untold tortures, and would awake at night and find himself scratching, with hands all over blood. His legs were like a piece of raw meat, itching and burning. For two months he slept scarcely any, but would get up and walk the floor. He says he simply felt as if he were burning up. After the case had lasted six months he began the use of Resinol Soap and Ointment. He was cured, and his skin was as clear as crystal."

ABOUT "GROUNDING" LIGHTNING RODS

By A. R. Sawyer, Professor of Electrical Engineering.

An interesting experience in connection with the protection of buildings from lightning by means of "lightning rods" has just come to notice.

In the southern part of the state a barn was rodged and some time last fall (probably) the rod was pulled in two due to the barn being struck. The severed lightning rod was discovered this spring and repaired and since being repaired the barn was struck again and set on fire and four pigs outside the barn but near the rod were killed. The way in which the barn was rodged will throw some light on the cause of this.

In order to protect the copper cable from mechanical injury an inch and a quarter iron pipe was slipped over the rod and allowed to extend into the earth six inches or a foot, the pipe not being well grounded. The agent who put the rod up stated that the copper cable was buried in two about six inches below the top of the iron pipe, supposedly by a stroke which occurred last fall, the severed condition not being found until this spring. The short piece of rod was taken out and spliced. This piece which was taken out tells the story which is of considerable interest.

Upon examining the broken piece it was found that the rod was not burned in two as there is no indication of any burning at all. On the other hand the part that was in the upper six inches of the pipe was drawn up and expanded which put a tremendous pull on the lower part of the rod, and below the break the copper cable was reduced in diameter from seven-sixteenths to three-eighths, of an inch in diameter, which shows the tremendous pull that it took to break the cable in two.

The question of why the rod was pulled in two needs to be explained. In general, most lightning strokes constitute an alternating current of high frequency and this current in trying to go down the cable induced in the iron pipe by transformer action. The two reacted on each other just as often occurs at the time of a short circuit in connection with commercial circuits.

As stated before, after this was repaired the barn was struck again this spring and the discharge instead of going down the cable inside of the pipe jumped over to the iron track from which a door was hung and went to earth another way, setting fire to the building. At the same time the discharge going down the cable at the diagonally opposite corner met with similar difficulty in going down through the iron pipe surrounding the cable and instead was deflected and killed four pigs standing near.

The lesson to be learned from all this is just what one would predict who is acquainted with the action of alternating currents and just the mistake that is forbidden by the underwriters in wiring a house, that it is not allowable to run a single conductor in an iron pipe.

If one drives an iron pipe down into permanently moist earth and uses that for a ground this is usually approved, but should not be approved where the rod goes through an iron pipe which is not well grounded.

VALUE OF SANDY SOILS EXPLAINED

By J. A. JEFFERY, Professor of Soils, Michigan Agricultural College.

At the present time considerable areas of sandy soil are being offered for sale in Michigan. These soils range from the coarser dune sands to the finer Miami fine sands. The greater part of the soils offered for sale are properly embraced under what is known as Miami sands.

The dune sands possess little or no agricultural value.

The Miami sands vary from soils that possess much intrinsic agricultural value to soils that can never be profitably productive under ordinary methods of management.

Intrinsic Value. The value of Miami sand will depend chiefly upon four things:

1. Its origin—Whether made up largely of material produced from the breaking down of granitic rocks and other rocks rich in plant food constituents, or whether made up of material chiefly silicious—pure quartz.

2. Upon the fineness of the material—the finer the material the greater is its water-holding capacity and the greater, also, the amounts of plant foods which it will give up for the use of the plant.

3. The subsoil—The finer the subsoil the more valuable are these lands for cropping purposes. It is not an uncommon thing to find areas of these Miami sands so coarse in appearance as to cause the observer to wonder at the excellent crops which they produce. The secret is found usually in an underlying subsoil of clay located 18 to 60 inches below the surface and having a depth of a few to several feet. This subsoil of clay is of value that: (a) It acts as a reservoir to hold the water in the soil above, and in itself, which otherwise would disappear downward by gravity; and (b) in that when close enough to the surface the roots of the growing crop above find their way into the clay itself, and thus procure a larger supply of plant food.

4. The distance of the water table from the surface, regardless of the kind of underlying subsoil. That is, the distance which should have to be dug or driven to secure a well.

Indications of Cropping Values. The possible cropping value of these lands is indicated by the original vegetation which they are supporting or have supported.

1. Nearly all of these sands originally covered by hard wood, such as maple, oak, beech, elm, etc., can be depended upon to produce fair to good crops.

2. Areas which originally supported good growths of white pine usually prove reasonably productive, and for some crops, such as potatoes and clover, quite productive.

3. Areas originally covered with Norway pines are uncertain.

4. Areas originally covered with Jack pine can rarely be depended upon for profitable crops, and never under ordinary methods of soil management.

5. Where the original forest vegetation has been removed the productivity of these soils is indicated by the density of the growth of grass, shrubs, brakes and other plants which occupy the ground.

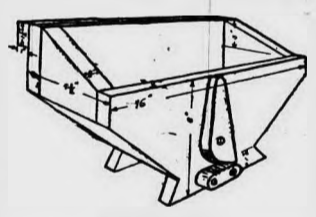

It sometimes happens that the prospective purchaser of wild lands may form a fair estimate of the cropping value by observing the crops growing upon nearby cultivated areas having the same formation.

GRAIN BAGGER IS CONVENIENT

By H. H. MUSSELMAN, Instructor in Farm Mechanics.

A cut is presented herewith of a convenient bagger which may be easily constructed by one at all familiar with the hammer and saw. The advantage of its use will be appreciated by the man who is obliged to fill bags with grain and without assistance.

The bagger is designed to be hung up at any convenient place on the wall or bin where screws, nails or spikes may be driven. The bagger may also be moved from one place to another. Another feature of the bag-holding attachment is that it will not tear the bags. In many schemes of this kind the bags are held by wire hooks, by which the bags are very likely to be torn, particularly if any considerable weight comes upon them, as for instance when a short bag is used, or when the bag happens to be hung rather high. In attaching the bag to the holder it is opened and caught over the four points. The right hand still holding the top of the bag is brought over the knob from below, hooking one thickness of the bag over the knob. The bag is then drawn taut and the second thickness brought over the knob and under the clamp which is closed by simply pulling the handle to the right with the right hand. To make the clamp hold more securely the lower end may be notched slightly with a wood rasp or pocket knife.

The dimensions shown in the cut give about the right proportion to take the bag properly. Holes are bored in the back of the bagger, one on each end, for hanging over spikes or nails driven at any convenient place, as for instance, the front of a bin from which the grain is to be bagged.

Wheat as a Food for Horses.

Concerning wheat as a horse food Shepperd of North Dakota writes: "It was with difficulty that they (the horses) were kept from getting 'off feed' and otherwise deranged in digestion, when fed this ration of pure wheat. A large proportion of the kernels were passed through the alimentary tract unbroken, while other grains were broken but only partly digested. . . . The test demonstrated clearly that it is not advisable to use wheat alone as a grain ration for horses, and the less expert the feeder the greater the risk."

Reliable Information.

The most reliable sources of information on farm questions are the experiment stations and agricultural colleges. The results of experiments performed and experiences gained by these institutions are published in bulletin form and these are free for distribution. If you are interested in better farming your name should be on the mailing list, and you should secure a list of the available bulletins of the Michigan experiment station, East Lansing, Mich.

Use for Cow Peas.

On the sandy soils of southern Michigan the cow pea is being much used as a green manuring crop. Peas are sown at the rate of 3 pecks per acre, about the first week in June, and the crop is plowed under from the first to the middle of September. When wheat is sown after cow peas thus plowed under, the yields of wheat are greatly increased; and when clover is seeded with the wheat the following spring, it seldom fails to make an excellent catch.

POPULAR SYMBOL OF VALUE

Young Man Evidently Was Lacking in His Appreciation of the Country's Statesmen.

There is plenty of food for cynical thoughts in the national capital, as is shown by the following incident which happened on a Washington street car:

A worldly young man, prone to criticize, was gazing at the advertisements which decorate the interior of the car. One advertised a new kind of collar for men. The dome of the capitol was represented encircled by one of the collars, and on the other side and house wings of the building were placards giving prices and sizes. The placard on the senate end of the capitol read, "Quarter size," and that on the other end said, "Two for a quarter."

The worldly cynical young man turned to his companion.

"That," he remarked, "just about expresses my opinion of some of these here congressmen."

Instinctive.

"So you took your wife to the baseball game?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Meekton.

"Did she enjoy it?"

"Only part of it. She thought they wasted a great deal of time running around the lot, but she thought the arguments with the umpire were quite interesting."—Washington Star.

CHILD'S FACE ALL RED SPOTS

632 N. 5th St., Terre Haute, Ind.—"My little nephew, a boy of four years, had a breaking out on his face. It was little red spots at first, then he would rub and scratch and water blisters would form, and wherever the water would run another would come until his face was covered with them. He would cry and fret. His mother got some medicine, but it did not do any good. He would scream and cry and say it hurt. We hardly knew him, his little face was all red spots and blisters. So I begged him to let me put some Cuticura Ointment on them. The next morning I made a strong soap suds with Cuticura Soap and washed his face in the warm suds. The little blisters burst by pressing the cloth on them. After I had his face washed, I put the Cuticura Ointment on and in a short time his little face was all red and dry. I kept using the Cuticura Soap and putting on the Cuticura Ointment and his face got as well and it did not leave a scar. He was entirely cured in about one week and a half." (Signed) Mrs. Arthur Haworth, Jan. 10, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."

Child's Fear of the Dark.

If mothers notice that the brains of very susceptible organization and the sights and thoughts from the shadows of a room more or less dark, let the light burn brightly. To force a child to become accustomed to the darkness is a grave error, if its nervous system is so organized that this forcing is productive of a fright.

The nervous system of a child is a very susceptible organization and the deleterious impressions made upon it will often make their influence felt throughout its whole after life. If the child asks for a light under such circumstances do not refuse it.

Lots of people are more anxious to pay their social obligations than their debts.

Liquid blue is a weak solution. Avoid it. Buy Red Cross Ball Blue, the blue that's all blue. Ask your grocer.

A man knows more at 21 than he can unlearn between that and 60.

SMALL WONDER.

The Fisherman—Doggone it, I've sit here for an hour and ain't even got a bite yet.

Really Mad Best of It.

John Burroughs is well known as one of the foremost of nature writers in this country. Some time ago he visited his brother, Eden Burroughs, who lives in the Catskills, at a place called Hobart. The two brothers went for hunting together. The honor of the hunt came to Eden, who shot the only fox. It so happened that fox-skins were worth five dollars at that time, and the successful Nimrod took much pride in telling how he got the 'beast'.

The other way 'round. A good little story, long current in England, is just now gaining American circulation. It has for leading characters Rudyard Kipling and Dorothy Drew, Mr. Gladstone's little grandchild. Kipling was visiting Hawarden, and, being fond of children, devoted himself to little Miss Dorothy until her anxious mother expressed the hope that the child had not been wearing the great author.

"Oh, no, mamma," spoke up Dorothy, before any one else had a chance to say anything, "but you have no idea how Mr. Kipling has been wearying me!"

Kind Man.

A local philanthropist ordered a fan for himself, a nice electric buzzer. He also took the key out of the door so that some of the air could go through the keyhole into the adjoining room, where there are eight perspiring clerks.

The Paxton Toilet Co. of Boston, Mass., will send a large trial box of Paxtine Antiseptic, a delightful cleansing and germicidal toilet preparation, to any woman, free, upon request.

Job Not Satisfactory. "I'm a self-made man," said the proud individual.

"Well, you are all right except as to your head," commented the listener.

"How's that?"

"The part you talk with is too big for the part you think with."

HARD FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

It's hard enough to keep house in perfect health, but a woman who is weak, tired and suffering all of the time with an aching back has a heavy burden to carry. Any woman in this condition has good cause to suspect kidney trouble, especially if the kidney action seems disordered at all. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of women suffering in this way. It is the best-recommended special kidney remedy.

"Who on earth would ever think on getting up in the morning of telling a perfectly well brought up child that he must not on any account put on a red coat and ride an elephant! Between you and your son you'll drive me crazy!"
