The Big Chicago Stock Show Attempted to Pass Worthless Check

With its $75,000 offered in prizes and its entries closed, the International Live Stock Exposition, which will be held on the dates of November 30, to December 7 inclusive, at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, has broken all records in every department in regard to the number of exhibits. Every breed of cattle, sheep, swine and horses will be represented on a much larger scale, the arrangements for the show have been better provided for, and the great Stock Show of 1912 will go down into history as the most comprehensive, the most complete, the most modern, and up to date of all the exhibitions wonderful as they have been, which have preceded it. Such a statement of facts as this, is positive proof of the importance of the event and how it is regarded by the stock men of the country.

It not only offers to breeders, feeders, farmers and others who are interested in the live stock industry, a school of analysis but a free and liberal education in everything that a stockman requires and presents to the sons of these men an opportunity for obtaining that information and insight to the stockman's business so necessary, so indispensable to them in after years.

Dr. Bennett of Wayne Shot on Hunting Trip

Dr. Joseph E. Bennett of Wayne, and well known in this village was wounded several days ago while hunting in a party of seven of which several Plymouth gentlemen were also members, in the upper woods, 60 miles from Marquette.

The doctor was accidentally shot from behind, and the bone in his right thigh just above the knee was badly shattered. The whole party hurried to his assistance, and after much of trouble a physician was secured. This doctor with excellent skill prepared a frame or cradle for the wounded limb so that Dr. Bennett could travel. He was brought to Detroit after 36 hours of travel and taken to St. Mary's hospital. Detroit surgeons are of the opinion that owing to his good health and to the care that was taken of him that they will be able to save the leg, in spite of the fact that it was badly shattered, in case no infection of any kind sets in. The doctor's many Plymouth friends are hoping for his speedy recovery.

The Rural School Fair

Everything is in readiness for the rural school fair which will be held under the auspices of the Plymouth Grange this Friday and tomorrow afternoons and evenings. The doors will be open from 2 to 4 each afternoon and 7 to 8 each evening. There is a splendid exhibit in the seed collections, wood work and bread making contests by the pupils of our township schools. The collections of curios of every description is one of the big features of the fair. Don't miss the sale of home made candies Friday afternoon and the sale of baked goods Saturday afternoon. On Saturday evening hot coffee and doughnuts will be served and the Grange orchestra will furnish music. The admission to the fair is only 10 cents and you can't afford to miss it.

If you want to cut down the high cost of living in part eat more mutton and lamb, and not so much beef and pork, is the solution of the meat problem advanced by Jackson butchers, who state that in point of quality and price it is the cheapest meat that can be bought at the present time. This it is said owing to the fact a good many farmers have not the room to stable their entire flock through the winter and are shoving large numbers onto the market.

A farmer carrying an express package from a Chicago mail order house was accosted by a merchant, who said: "Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express charges on them, and besides you would have been patronizing a home store". The farmer looked at the merchant for a full minute and then said: "Why don't you patronize your home papers and advertise? I read them and didn't know you had this particular line

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

Attempted to Pass Worthless Check

William Golding, a young man who has been about town for the past month or two, was arrested by Marshal Springer Wednesday on a charge of attempting to pass a worthless check on the Plymouth Lumber & Coal Co. Young Golding appeared at the company's yard Tuesday afternoon, and after purchasing about $13.00 worth of lumber, tendered a check for $25.00 to Charles Mather, the manager, in payment for the same. The check was on the First National Bank of Detroit, and bore the signature of M. E. Golding, whom the young man claimed to be his brother, and who had given him the check. Mr. Mather was suspicious that all was not right and would not accept the check and pay the difference in cash, but told Golding to call again. Mr. Mather called up the First National Bank at Detroit and was told that no such party had any funds there and the check was worthless. The bank people also told Mr. Mather that this was the third check to come in bearing the same signature. Golding was taken before Justice Campbell and the hearing was set for Saturday, Nov. 16, and in default of $2,000 bail he was taken to the county jail.

"Everybody Is Doing It"

Everybody's boosting it, Boosting it; Boosting what? Science of Optometry, we want a law without a flaw In this State so prosperous and fine; Then Optometry will shine Fortune surely will be thine. Everybody's boosting it, Everybody's boosting it; Everybody's boosting it now. Everybody's wearing them, wearing them; wearing what? Glasses that are right for them, but some are not not Some are not! Victims of fakers ever so slick We'll get the fakers and we'll get them quick Give us a law; we'll turn the trick. Everybody's on to them, Everybody's on to them. Everybody's on to them now. Everybody's doing it, doing it, doing what? Everybody's doing it, doing it, doing what? Taking the best care of their eyes, Not patronizing cheap advertising lies; They've been stung and now they are wise; Everybody's saving them, Everybody's saving them. Everybody's saving their eyes.

Don't neglect your eyes any longer. It is rather important. Come and have a talk with me personally, I will advise you whether your eyes need correction or not. We form perfect and scientific examination of the eye.

TERROR REIGNS IN TURK ARMY

Famishing Swarms Retreat in Disorganized Mass to Constantinople.

AS SEEN BY CORRESPONDENTS

Soldiers Claw Each Other for Food—Wounded From Tchatalja Seek Refuge in Capital as Bulgars Push Their Advantage.

Paris, Nov. 13.—Jean Rodes, a staff correspondent of the Temps, who has reached Constantinople from the war zone, sends a vivid picture of the misery of the Turkish soldiers and the disorganization of the Turkish army.

"We have witnessed the failure of the Turk as a soldier," says Rodes. "We have seen him dying of hunger, worn out by fatigue, wrecked by suffering, and running away after having abandoned his place in the combat."

"I have never seen a more poignant picture of human distress than that presented by these unhappy men, thrown into one of the most terrible wars in history without food, without medical attention, almost without chiefs, almost without arms. At Seidler I saw a soldier whose right hand had been severed held out to us, begging for medical help, the bleeding stump around which he had tied a piece of twine."

"I saw long lines of famished men who came to our tent begging for a crumb of bread and staggering away without a murmur of complaint when told that we had none to give. I saw a thousand wounded leaving a trail of blood as they dragged themselves toward Tchobur. I saw hundreds of others fall by the wayside dying from wounds and fatigue."

Soldiers Fight for Food. "At Tchobur a column of soldiers, terrible in appearance, staggered through the streets in a driving rain and wind storm. No one paid any attention to them. They had no shelter, nothing to eat. From a nearby bakery an officer threw out handfuls of bread and the soldiers fought for the loaves. More than half of them got nothing, and turned away, ragged, pallid, and weak."

ferno. One of the most miserable of the wanderers succeeded in getting into a house where we were staying, drenched to the skin and teeth chattering. "Take all my money; take my clothing, if you will," he cried, "but I beg of you to give me some bread."

"I questioned him. He said he came from Asia Minor and had not eaten for eight days. I gave him a slice of bread and a chocolate tablet, and he went away to join the remnants of the retreating army, of which this was the end."

"Thus did the Turkish soldier appear to me. He seemed to have no understanding of the great drama in which he was participating, but his infinite misery and his horrible animal distress were enough to break one's heart."

RAILROADS LIABLE

High Tribunal Upholds Act; Brakeman Awarded $12,000.

The supreme court in an opinion handed down upheld the constitutionality of Act No. 104, of the Public Acts of 1909, an act holding common carrier railroad companies liable to their employees. By this decision not only the constitutionality of the act upheld, but George Soussan, a brakeman employed by the Pere Marquette Railroad Co., secures a judgment against the road of more than $12,000 for the loss of a leg, the amount of the damages being figured on the amount of wage received at the time of the injury and a life expectancy of 40 years.

This decision is regarded by attorneys here as one of the most important handed down by the highest tribunal in the state in years. In Wisconsin the supreme court of that state recently upheld the constitutionality of a similar act.

Postal Banks of U. S. Not Paying Expenses

The Postal Savings system is not paying expenses. After something more than a year of operation, this governmental venture gives indication of needing to get money from home. Its hope of independence lies in the future. Theodore L. Wood, director of the postal savings system, thinks that the system will be self-sustaining when the deposits aggregate $100,000,000. The deposits now amount to about $28,000,000.

Enterprising. In a section of Washington, says Harper's Magazine, where there are a number of restaurants, one enterprising concern has displayed in great illuminating letters, "Open all Night."

Next to it was a restaurant bearing with equal prominence the legend: "We Never Close."

Third in order was a Chinese laundry, in a little, low-framed, tumble-down hotel, and upon the front of this building was the sign in great scrawling letters:

"Me Wakee, Too."

No Strangers Allowed. Frank H. Hitchcock, the postmaster general of the United States, takes the deepest interest in even the smallest details of the postal service. One evening he was at the Union station in Washington, when he decided to go into one of the railway mail service cars to see how the mail matter was being handled.

Being a tall man and very athletic, he easily swung himself from the platform into the car, but he did not find it an easy matter to stay put. A burly postal clerk grabbed him by the shoulders, propelled him toward the side door, and practically ejected him to the platform below.

"What do you mean by that?" asked Hitchcock indignantly.

"I mean to keep you out of this car," replied the clerk roughly. "That fellow Hitchcock has given us strict orders to keep all strangers out of these cars."—Popular Magazine.

NO MEDICINE But Change of Food Gave Final Relief.

Most diseases start in the alimentary canal—stomach and bowels.

A great deal of our stomach and bowel troubles come from eating too much starchy and greasy food.

The stomach does not digest any of the starchy food we eat—white bread, pastry, potatoes, oats, etc.—these things are digested in the small intestines, and if we eat too much, as most of us do, the organs that should digest this kind of food are overborne by excess of work, so that fermentation, indigestion, and a long train of ailments result.

Too much fat also is hard to digest and this is changed into acids, sour stomach, belching gas, and a bloated, heavy feeling.

In these conditions a change from indigestible foods to Grape-Nuts will work wonders in not only relieving the distress but in building up a strong digestion, clear brain and steady nerves. A Wash woman writes:

"About five years ago I suffered with bad stomach—dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation—caused, I know now, from overeating starchy and greasy food."

"I doctored for two years without any benefit. The doctor told me there was no cure for me. I could not eat anything without suffering severe pain in my back and sides, and I became discouraged."

"A friend recommended Grape-Nuts and I began to use it. In less than two weeks I began to feel better and inside of two months I was a well woman and have been ever since."

"I can eat anything I wish with pleasure. We eat Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast and are very fond of it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

MANDARIN AND HIS BUTTON

He Must Be Studious and Able to Earn Insignia of the Higher Grades.

It will be interesting to note what effect the Chinese revolutionary movement will have upon the status of the mandarin, who with his gorgeous dress, the glittering button signifying his rank and his combined powers of authority has always been an extraordinary figure to the western eye. Heretofore, however, the mandarins' life has not been all ease and glitter, nor has their power been unlimited.

It has always been the custom to promote them from the ranks of the people after the passing of severe examinations. A man may win the rank of mandarin of the ninth, or lowest rank, continuing the while at his trade, say of mason or carpenter. Above that rank he may become an official, but is allowed only the salary that he may earn at his trade.

As a matter of fact the mandarins generally enrich themselves from the fees which they exact from suitors, but in accordance with the doctrine of the Emperor Kang-hi, the mandarins are supposed to make the bringing of law-suits as uninviting as possible. Kang-hi said:

"It is well that all men should have a wholesome fear of the tribunals. I desire that all having recourse to the magistrates may be treated mercifully, so that all may dread to appear before them. Let all good citizens settle their disputes like brothers, submitting to the arbitration of the elders and mayors of the commune. Let all obstinate suitors be crushed by the judges, for such is their desert."

When the student has won the silver button, the mark of the ninth grade of mandarin, he may persevere and make himself by hard study and ability, a mandarin of the first class. As he passes up the scale his insignia are as follows: Ninth and eighth classes of mandarin, a button of silver; seventh class, a gold button; sixth class, a bone button; fifth class, a crystal button; fourth class, a dark blue button; third class, a light blue button; second class, a light coral button; first class, a dark coral button.

This button is about the size of a pigeon's egg and is worn on the top of the hat on ceremonial occasions.—Harper's Weekly.

VIRGINIA, MESSALINE, AND PANNIER OF ROSEBUDS

"Pink messaline with pannier of rose point and a wee cluster of rosebuds on the ruffe and fichu. Inexpressibly sweet!" Kitty was an exclamation point of admiration.

Virginia regarded her younger sister with the expression of a yearning missionary. "Kitty, I wish you'd devote less thought to mere externals, she said.

Undisturbed, Kitty surveyed her sister, immaculate in unruined, unrumpled, tailored linen. "Of course, Virginia, you're a distinguished settlement angel and all that, but if you don't think more about clothes you'll gradually drop off even the semi-feminine touches and emerge as Dr. Mary Walker," she declared, severely. "And sis is really a good looker," put in Tom.

Virginia, patient disapproval personified, absent-mindedly salted her breakfast food instead of her egg. "A woman with a sense of her responsibilities," she murmured, "realizes that life is too short to waste on such a trivial consideration. Uplifting humanity—"

Tom said "Excuse me!" and fled. "Or the pursuit of some equally serious and worthy purpose should occupy her time and thoughts to the exclusion of frivolous, light-headed—"

Kitty rose. "Sorry, Jinny. I'd love to listen. Makes me feel like a little demon, but I'm going to don my ravishing pink batiste and lol over to Dorothy's. Her cousin, fresh from Harvard, arrived yesterday, and I think I'll wake up Bob to the treasure he's won if I chain the welcome stranger to my chariot wheels, first chance."

Virginia was truly shocked. "Kitty! Have you so far forgotten the modesty becoming a young woman newly engaged as to race off in actual pursuit of another young man?"

Kitty flushed, bit a sharp retort in two and came over to rub her hand lovingly over Virginia's glossy curls, brushed into unwillingly smoothness. "I can't do Dot's cousin a bit of harm," she said meekly, "because he isn't engaged. I wish you'd get through saving humanity, Jinny, so you could have a good time with me. I've just six more months at home now."

Virginia slipped an arm around her sister. "I only hope I can lead you to a true appreciation of woman's life and work during those six months, Kitty. Why not begin by coming to the club, with me this morning? I have a paper, 'The Influence of Woman in Civic Life.'"

Kitty was squinting critically. "I wish I could persuade you to cut off those ugly high collars in this hot weather. You've the prettiest throat of anyone I know, and you bury it under all that chuffy linen. Collarless blouses are so fashionable, too."

Whizzing along in the Maynard's touring car that afternoon, Kitty and Dot's cousin from Harvard were discussing brunettes versus blondes. "By Jove!" he said enthusiastically, "I saw a splendid brunette on your street this morning. Raving beauty, Italian eyes. Serious as a saint. Tall. Stately. I'm sure she never giggled in her life."

Kitty wriggled excitedly. "Awfully plain clothes?" He stammered. "Um-er. Rather reminded me of a nurse's costume. Dot's promised me an introduction, but that's as much as I can get out of her. Do you know her?"

Kitty laughed appreciatively. "She's my sister and a practical humanitarian." "You don't say!" His face fell. "What'll I have to go in for to impress her? She thinks I'm frightfully rude. I forgot my manners completely and stared at her."

"Dot's going to bring you to dinner tomorrow night," said Kitty, soothingly. "You'd better read up on social settlements."

The next afternoon Kitty was applying powder over cold cream in anticipation of a round of tennis when Virginia appeared at her door, a blouse in one hand, a long pink ribbon and a scrap of lace in the other. Her eyes were perplexed and her face was flushed.

"Kitty, you know so much about fashion, will you advise me? Do you think some lace at the throat would add a pleasing feminine touch to this blouse? And is this pink too bright for a belt?"

In spite of the shock Kitty contrived a coherent commonplace. "Very becoming, Jinny. Shall I tie the ribbon for you?"

Virginia handed it to her with a grateful look. "I wish to be a credit to the club this afternoon because I've been delegated to explain our settlement system to your friend Dorothy's cousin, Mr. Rogers. His aunt introduced him this morning after the kindergarten class. She told me in confidence that he has shown remarkable interest in settlement work."

Kitty choked and coughed hurriedly. "Look at yourself in the glass, sis," she said.

Virginia gasped. "You've improved me wonderfully, Kitty. Perhaps I ought to pay more attention to clothes."—Chicago Daily News.

You'll say it's the best cup of tea you ever tasted when you try Pleasant Valley.

They have a delicate flavor and at the same time brace the tired nerves.

Our Coffees are of equal merit to the Pleasant Valley Tea.

We have four brands.
Nero . . . 30c
Marigold . . 32c
Tzar . . . 35c
Pleasant Valley 40c

Tzar Coffee is especially recommended. It has a smooth, rich flavor and its fragrance is, in itself, a great factor in the sale of it. The aroma, which is a sign of freshness, is retained by reason of the air-tight packages in which Tzar Coffee is delivered to you.

Why not order a trial of Pleasant Valley Tea and Pleasant Valley Coffee and get into the habit of using the best?
