Farmers' Building Association / The Home Talent Play Name of New Company

A number of the members of the Plymouth Grange met last Friday afternoon and formed a stock company which is to be known as the Farmers Building Association. The new company have filed articles of incorporation and will be capitalized at $4 000. The following officers were elected: President—P. L. Bennett. Vice President—Norman Miller. Secretary-Treasurer—Chas. Roberts Trustees—Wm. Blunk, James Gates and John Root.

Adrian Anderson was given the contract for the remodeling of the building recently purchased of Geo. Wilcox, and mention of which was made in last week's Mail. The work of remodeling will commence just as soon as possible. The company expect to rent both the lower and upper floors of their building for public gatherings, meetings, etc., when it is completed. The ground floor will be used for a dining room, with a seating capacity for about two hundred people, while the kitchen will be fully equipped with a range, dishes and all modern conveniences. This is something that has long been needed in Plymouth on occasions when banquets are given, and it will be greatly appreciated by the public.

Arrested for Carrying Concealed Weapons

At an early hour last Friday morning Deputy Sheriff George Springer arrested two men giving their names as Fred Walker and W. Forgarthschat the Pere Marquette depot as suspicious characters. While the officer was in the act of searching Walker he attempted to pull a gun, but the officer was too quick for him and had him covered first and Walker meekly handed over his gun, as did also his partner. Officer Springer then marched them up before Justice Campbell on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Both pleaded guilty and the justice imposed a fine of $25 and costs or thirty days in the House of Correction. They chose the latter.

The home Talent Play

The play "The Joily Widow," given by local talent at the opera house last week Thursday evening, water the disection of the baselie by evening have the baselie to the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church, drew a crowded house and was a decided success in every particular. The drama is one of much merit, affu the players all handled their parts in a most able manner and their efforts were greatly appreciated by the large audience. Alton Richwine as Hon. Augustus Cholmondeley, took that part is a most clever manner. Robt. Joilliffe, as George Fane, was exceptionally good. Archie Collins in the character of Raffair of Rivola was very spod. Mrs. Merryweather, the widow, was taken by Mrs. F. J. Tousey, and, considering the very short time in which she had to get the part did excedingly well isdeed and is entitled to much credit for her splendid effort. Mrs. Harry Brown, as Beatrife Fane, took that difficult part in a most able and pleasing manner. Little Trixie, was excellent.) The dainty little miss took her part in a most charming way and completely won the hearts of the audience. Mrs. Bert Bowerman as Wilson, Gladys Felt as Jane and Amiel Schilling as Hawkins all took their parts most excellently. (Penney's orchestra furnished the music) and they are entitled to much credit for the splendid music rendered, and every selection was roundly applauded. Rev. B. F. Farber M. A. Jones and Calvin Whipple rendered vocal solos between the acts, in such a pleasing manner that they were obliged to respond to encores.

The play Friday evening was fairly well attended and taking their share of the receipts for both nights the Ladies' Aid Society will realize a neat sum for their treasury.

The Basket Ball

Game at Elm

The basket ball game between the Elm and Redford basket ball teams at Burke hall, Elm, Tuesday evening was a closely contested one from start to nnish. In the first half Redford got a good lead that the Elm boys could not overcome although they made a good showing in the second half. The playing of Clyde Bentley of the Elm tea was one of the features of the game, he securing five baskets. The foul shooting of Grover Place, the accurate passing of Wilson and the clever work of McKinney and Maynard for Elm are worthy of special mention. Burges and Tupper starred for Redfod, making some pretty basket shots from the field. The final score was 23 to 19 in favor of Redford. Ed. Prindle won the basket throwing contest.

Lineup and summary: Tupper Burgess Wilson McKinney Hutchins

Maynard r. g. Burr Final score 23 to 19. Score first half Redford 13 and Elm 8. Baskets from field-Burgess 2, Tupper 1, Burr 2, Lang 4, Bentley 5, Place 2. Baskets from foul-Burr 3 out of 3, Lang 2 out of 5, Place 5 out of 8.

Profit-Sharing Scheme, So Loudly Vaunted is Alleged to Swell the Coffers of the Company.

Even the vaunted profit sharing and pension plans of the steel corpora-tion are like bait in traps to snare away the liberties of the men in its employ, declares a writer in the Met-

They tell us that this profit sharing plan costs the company $450,000 a year. After studying this plan, however, one is compelled to believe that the corporation gets value received it; that this expenditure stands on about the same basis as that for the Hill ore leases, and the pig iron purchases. Furthermore, it is a profit sharing plan only to this extent, that the employes are allowed to buy a certain amount of stock under certain conditions, and to pay for it in annual installments. Those who do buy such stock will share in the profits of the corporation to the extent of their holdings, and to a further extent, as follows: The corporation agrees to put sugar in this stock in the way of a bonus of $5 per share per year. But—the bonus will only be paid in case the employe remains continually in the employment of the company and can present annually a letter from a proper official declaring that he has "shown a proper interest in its (the corporation's) welfare and progress."

It is known that there are some members of the legislature who do not want Anthony appointed again, as they believe that with another new man on the board of control they will stand some chance of getting Warden Rus-sell's scalp, Senator Ogg and Senator Straight are vigorously opposed to Warden Russell and they have been the prime movers in the investigations into conditions at the upper peninsula penitentlary in the past

Barred by Constitution.

Although Governor Ferris is in fav or of government ownership of railroads, and expressed an opinion that it would be a good thing for the state to purchase the property of the Pere Marquette, the constitution of Michi gan is a barrier in the pathway of the chief executive along the lines of gov-ernment ownership, and until that barrier is removed, it will be impossible for the state government to own or operate public utilities corporations.

For The Recall

Secretary of State Frederick C. Martindale is one of the few republican state officials who favors the initiat ive, referendum and recall, and he went on record in favor of all these progressive measures in an address be fore the members of Capitol Grange.

"The time has passed by in our state when the politician can tell the people what legislation it is best for them to have, and what legislation he in his profound wisdom, will withold from them," said Secretary Martindale.

"I do believe the time has arrived when the electors should have the right to recall any official who is derelict in his trust of conserving their best interests. The private employer has the right to conserve his own wel-fare by dispensing with the services of an employe who is recreant to his The public are entitled to the

"And at any time when the legis lative power does not respond to the demand of the people in regard to the enactment of legislation, that is essential to the conservation of their roperty and well being, then I believe the people should have the right to initiate such legislation. I do not think the initiative should be the usual way of promoting legislation, but it should certainly be the means by which the people can secure desired legislation when their representatives either re-fuse to act or are ignorant of the people's real needs. The right to depose faithless officials must work out as a panacea for many of the ills of mis government.

The Private Banks.

It is expected that a bill will be in troduced very soon to place private banking concerns under the jurisdic tion of the state banking department and word has reached Lansing that the small capitalists are preparing to fight this measure with all the powe at their command.

of the private banks as operated in this state, that they are an absolute necessity in the business of small towns and if these banks were required to capitalize for the amount prescribed for state banks, it would be prohibitive because the business is too small for such capitalization. On the other hand it is contended that some degree of supervision is necessary for the protection of those who entrust their funds to such institutions.

The suggestion has been made by a business man familiar with both state and private banking in Michigan that the private banks could be placed up der one form of regulation which would accomplish to a fair degree the purpose without being a burden burden or hardship to othem. His suggestion is that a law be enacted requiring the bankers of this class to go before the circuit judge and make a showing as to their as sets and then furnish a bond for the security of their depositors.

It is pointed out that in this way the security companies would have a rea watch these institutions, and in addition they might be required file annual reports with the secretary of state. In all probability a bill of this character will be proposed before the close of the session.

What Butter Costs State.

Secretary Murl T. Murray of the state board of corrections and chari ties, favors a repeal of the present law which prohibits the use of oleomargarine in state institutions, as Murray contends, and most of the au thorities agree with him, that a good grade of oleomargarine is superior to a cheap grade of butter.

Murry has compiled statistics show-ing that a total of 383,862 pounds of butter are used annually in the state institutions at an average cost of 27.3 cents per pound, making the butter bill for the year $104,862.73. On this basis, Secretary Murry says the state would save $58,000 annually if oleo margarine could be used instead of butter. At the present time there are only six states, including Michigan. where the substitute is barred from the state institutions

Senator Leonard Verdier of Grand Panide who introduced the bill placing all state employes under civil ser vice, has the hearty co-operation am support of every man and woman now on the state pay roll. Whether it is a to depend on one's position and political affiliations in Lansing. The father of this bill realizes that he has a vast army of volunteer lobbyists right on the job and this influence is bound to he felt. Not only has the parcel post saved the people of the United States in the first 15 days of its existence more than $500,000, according to Senator Jona than Bourne, Jr., author of the law, but it has not proved a hardship to the overworked letter carrier. Senator Bourne announced that reports from 45 leading cities of the country, which produce almost half of the postal revenues, showed that during the 12 working days between Jan. 1 and 15, a total of 5.094.027 outgoing parcels were dispatched at a cost of $395,286, or about 7.7 cents a in force, one cent an ounce," said the senator, "the postage would have been total of $942,394,99, thus showing a saving to shippers of $547,508.12 on 12 days' business. It should also be remembered that the usual minimum charge of express companies is 25 cents a parcel, whereas the average charge on the parcel post packages was only 7.7 cents.

"It is also worthy of note that although the business was large, it was distributed through a large postal organization, so that no concestion has resulted. The postoffice clerks in these 45 cities have handled an average of only 28 parcels each a day, this in cluding both incoming and outgoing parcels. The total number of parcels delivered in these cities makes an average of only nine and one-third parcarrier each day.

Further sharp fighting between the American troops and the Moros was reported when, as the result of an enragement near the city of Jolo, the American troops lost one man killed and six wounded.

A large force of bolomen made a sudden onslaught and succeeded in rushing two troops of U. S. cavalry and a detachment of Philippine constabulary.

After a severe fight the Moros were beaten off, it is believed with heavy loss, but the number of their casualties has not yet been ascertained.

THE BANKS OF CANADA

The closing of the year 1912 has brought out the usual bank statements accompanied by the addresses of the Presidents and General Managera of these institutions. Their reading is interesting as they show in a striking manner the prosperity of the country, and deal with economic matters in a first hand way. Those who know anything of Canadian banking methods know the stability of these institutions, and the high character of the tions, and the high character of the men who are placed in charge. In discussing the land situation the Pres-ident of the Union Bank of Canada. whose branches are to be found in all whose branches are to be found in an parts of the Canadian West, said:—

"A good deal has been said about speculation in land. The increase in land values has added enormously to the assets of Western business, and has to some extent formed a basis for extended credit, but this is not felt to extended credit, but this is not left to be a drawback when the value is real and convertible. We consider that a business standing which is strength-ened and enhanced by property hold-ings is entitled to a reasonable en-largement of credit for legitimate busi-ess operations."

It will thus be seen that the banks recognize the certain rise in the value of farm lands in Western Canada. When the facts are known of the wonderful producing qualities of farm lands in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Albertä, it is sim-ple to understand the liberal stand taken by the banks. Living not far-from Lashburn, Sask.

is a farmer named Clarke who in 1912 secured a crop of Marquis Wheat, yielding 76 bushels per acre. This is spoken of as a record yield, and this is doubtless true, but several cases have been brought to notice where yields almost as large have been projected, and in different parts of the duced, and in different parts of duced, and in different parts of the country. During the past year there have been reported many yields of from 35 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Oats, too, were a successful crop, and so was the barley crop. Wheat that would yield 40 bushels per acre, would bring on the market 70c fa fair figure) per bushels. a gross return of $28.00 per acre. · Al low $12.00 per acre (an outside figure) there would be a balance of $16.00 per acre net profit. This figure should satisfy anyone having land that cost less than $100.00 per acre. Very much less return than this proves satisfactory to those holding lands in Iowa and Illinois worth from $250 to $300 per acre.

The latest Government returns give an approximate estimate of four hundred thousand of an immigration to dred thousand of an immigration to Canada during 1912. Of this number 200,000 will be from the United States. Most of these are of the farming class and it is not difficult to understand why farming lands in Canada will advance from ten to twenty per cent within the next twelve months. There-fore investment in Western Canadian lands is not looked upon as being in the speculative class. Those fortunate enough to secure free homesteads in Canada will acquire in the intrinsic value of the land alone the best pos sible start for a splendid future. Ad-

CHAPTER IX.

When Miss Jackie Vining went to her room after her unsatisfactory at-tempt to wring from Bedight the name of the unconventional young woman, who walked with him in the moonwho walked with him in the moun-light, she was angry. And it is pos-sible that, knowing his feelings to-ward her she was angrier still because with this influence she could not se-cure the confession she sought. It is likewise true that she felt in her heart likewise true that she felt in her heart that Bedight was right in protecting the name of the girl and should be eulogized rather, than scourged for it—and yet, when a man has almost told a woman he loves her, she has a right to expect that he will do almost anything quasi-reasonable that she asks of him. Failing to handle him augurs complications for the future. And most of us are alike in this, that we love to appear melodramatic to curselves, doing all sorts of drastic things that, slept over, we undo, saying things that we inflate with self at the time being and stick a pin into later when our ardor has cooled. In the time being and state a pin in this mood Jackle Vining seated herself at a small writing desk in her room and indited the following letter to the chairman of the woman's clubs in Bedight's district:

"Well, anyhow," she mused, as she dropped off to sleep, "I'll hold the letter a few days longer."

Thursday was Mayor Bedight's day of attendance upon Margaret Farmsworth, who prosecuted the case against him on the morning of his arrival. She entered the arena after an earnest conference with "Judge' Vining, who seemed unusually distrait and worried. Vining, who seen trait and worried.

"Mr. Bedight," began the lady attor-ney, in a professional tone, "I want to get some balsam for a pillow this morning. Do you know the tree

STUDIES BIG PROBLEM

BUREAU OF SOCIAL HYGIENE IS EXPLAINED.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Tells of its Origin, Work and Plans for the Investigation of Vice Conditions.

New York, Jan. 27 .- In order that the public might better understand the Bureau of Social Hygiene, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today gave out a statement explaining the origin, work and plans of that institution. The bureau, he said, came into existence about two years ago as a result of the work of a special grand jury pointed to investigate the white traffic in New York city. This jury recommended that a public commis-sion be appointed to study the social evil.

Mr. Rockefeller was foreman of that grand jury and he thereafter gave the subject deep thought and conferred with a large number of leading men and women. "These conferences," says Mr. Rockefeller. "developed the feeling that a public commission would labor under a number of disadvantages, such as the fact that it would be short lived; that its work would be done publicly; that at best it could hardly do more than pre-sent recommendations. So the conviction grew that in order to make a real and lasting improvement in conditions, a permanent organization should be created, the continuation of which would not be dependent upon a temporary wave of reform, nor upon the life of any man or group of men. but which would go on generation after generation, continuously making warfare against the forces of evil. It also appeared that a private organization would have, among other advantages, a certain freedom from publicity and from political bias, which a publicly appointed commission could "Therefore, as the initial step, in the winter of 1911 the Bureau of Social Hygiene was formed. Its pres-ent members are Miss Katharine Bement Davis, superintendent of the New York state reformatory for women at Bedford Hills, N. Y.; Paul M. Warburg, of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Starr J. Murphy, of the New York bar, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. As the work develops new members may be added.

"One of the first things undertaken by the bureau was the establishment at Bedford Hills, adjacent to the reformatory, of a laboratory of social bygiene, under Miss Davis' direction. In this laboratory it is proposed to In this laboratory it is proposed to study from the physical, mental, social and moral side each person committed to the reformatory. This study will be carried on by experts and each base will be kept under observation for from three weeks to three months, as may be required. When the diagnoels is completed, it is hoped that the laboratory will be in position to recommend the treatment most likely to individual, or, if reforma-tion is impossible, to recommend permanent custodial care. Furthermore, reaching out beyond the individuals involved, it is believed my thus important contributions may be made to a fuller knowledge of the conditions ultimately responsible for vice. If this experiment is successful the principle may prove applicable to all classes of criminals and the conditions precedent to crime, and lead to lines of action not only more scientific and humane but also less wasteful than those at present followed." That its work might be done intelligently the bureau employed George J. Kneeland to make a comprehensive surrey of vice conditions in New York, and Abraham Flexner to study the social evil in Europe, and their reports are now being prepared. These studies will be followed by others in various American cities, and it is the hope of the bureau that based upon all of them, may be devised a prac-tical plan for dealing with the social evil. In conclusion Mr. Rockefeller's statement says: "It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the spirit which dominates the work of the bu reau is not sensational or sentimental or hysterical; that it is not a spirit of criticism of public officials; but that it is essentially a spirit of con entific as well as humane interest in a great world problem."

LAST GIRL COTTAGER RIOTS IN SENTIMENT

"Tam rioting in sentiment out here," who the last girl cottager at the Michigan resort. "The woods and I have things all to ourselves now and we are having the time of our lives.

"They stand stient in the October sunahine. But it is a silence of a different quality from that of the summer—it is breathless, eager. That is strange, since what they are waiting for is desolation to them—the touch of frost, the sad whirl of the winds. There is a golden quality to the very air, the reflection of the yellow of the beeches, the indian orange and red of the sassafras, the yellowing brown of the oaks darkening into splashes of rusty crimson and streaks of luminous bronze. There is nothing in the world so like bronze ag certain of the oak leaves.

"Occasionally by some roadside, acrost some clearing, the eye falls on a great conflagration running close to the ground. It is the dwarf sumach, which is a veritable living fiame. The goldenrod is all rusty and the wild asters have vanished. The ground is half covered by a patterned carpet from the trees above. Shashing through from the trees above. Slashing through this riot of tones is something that glitters with an uncanny, rippling brilliance in the soft, steady rays of the sun—it is the inland lake, which was commonplace enough when just blue or gray in the summer. Now it is a abeet of quicksilver pricked by diamond points. diamond points.

"All through the woods is a rustling and scurrying and chattering, for the squirrels are getting ready for winter and making a great uproar about it.

May, the coille, passes his days in and making a great uproar about it Max, the collie, passes his days in hysterical chases, covering the ground in the splendid, long leaps that only a collie can manage, but always the little red-brown squirrel flashes up a tree just in the nick of time and barks staccato defiance in answer to the dog's yells of diagust and defeat below. Max has been known to dash wildly into the bungalow and drag any handy human being to the tree where some particularly exasperating aquirrel was safely ensconced and demand excitedly that his friend get the willain down and deliver him over for punishment. If you speak collie English, you can recally understand Max.

"The squirrels are tolerably tame. They will sit within armibrow of you on a branch and eat if you are quiet. Once I saw one clamber up a hemlock with smushroom that must have weighed a pound, and, sitting up on his haunchest eliberately, eat it to the last, shred winking defiance when I insisted that it was a tondstool. There was no dead squirrel under that tree next day, schemust have won the bet.

"The air is full of wings. The same advanced and crows and wrens and black birds and woodpeckers are yet in evidence, though the robins are gone.

"Some morning, when it is particularly golden and still, on your throwing open the doors the world will be filled with a tremendous chatter oil birds—not of a few, but apparently of all the birds on earth, all talking at once. Rushing out, you find a dozen trees inky with blackbirds, gathering for their migration. For two or three days this din keeps up and occasionally the thousands will move up to another set of trees with a sweet through the air like waves. Then old sudden they are gone. You did not see them on their grand flight—nobods ever does catch them at it. They simply were and now are not, so far at you are concerned.

the acorns best on the root like but state and there is no wild scamper of aguirrels or raccoons above your head—nothing but a steady fall of some thing crisp and whispering and myse the village has a new Buick truck.

"In the morning you find as you try to walk against that relentless cold wind whipping the lake into white caps that only a few leaves still clins to the naked trees. The burgalow, the ground, the paths are buried in brown leaves. There is an edge to brown leaves. There is a remedy that will cure out. ### The great importance of bread in your household justifies precaution to insure the utmost nourishment. Only by taking pains in selecting the flour can you be sure that the bread you bake for your family reaches the highest point of food efficiency.

Try this scientific test for quality: Aristos Flour, when pressed in the hands, falls loosely apart. Flour that stays in lumps is too moist. Beware of the flour that feels too smooth and pówdery when rubbed between the fingers. In Aristos Flour notice that the individual particles are vaguely distinguishable. Aristos "crunches" a little between your teeth—and the taste is sweet and nutty with no suggestion of acidity.

Aristos is all that a flour should be. It is the sound basis for the perfect loal—the loaf that repairs, restores, rebuilds. A spiendid all-round flour for home-baking. Sold with a money-back guarantee. Try a sack—order it from your grocer today.

Clock Talk

In buying Clocks, the public regards the outward appearance or show that the case makes, without havng proper thought to its mechanical perfection -the vital part of the clock.

Clocks shat do not keep perfect time are an aggravation, and one that emits harsh, grinding sounds in striking is grating on the nerves.

Our clocks are mechanically perfect, and are encased as elaborately as the prices asked will allow.

First, the Mech anism; Second, the Appearance;

Third, the Price. These three constitute a harmonious whole that makes it to your interest to bvy clocks here.

a common thing in the west a few years ago. In nearly all sections the evil has a few years ago. In nearly all sections the evil has been suppressed by law. In the few portions where it is still followed it is carried on under cover and in constant dread of police interference.

Not so long ago, however, the cry of the roulette man and the click of the ball could be heard in the lobbies of many of the principal hotels. This was particularly true of El Paso, Cripple Creek, Leadville, Gold-field, Butte, the Coeur d'Alene, and many other sections. The practice prevailed to greater or less extent in the larger towns. Everybody has money in the early days of a mining camp.

It was an era of speculation. The country had not "been proven," and hence a. "find" in a new section resulted in a great rush to that locality. Property changed hands at fabulous prices overnight. The ragged prospector of today might be rolling in wealth tomorrow. It has happened so many times.

When there is money to throw at the birds, the gamblers. like so many vultures, assemble at the point to which it is being cast

A stockman in Colorado "sat into" a poker game in Denver, and by midnight had not only lost all the cash he had with him, but had exhausted a large bank balance.

He owned, on the range in Colorado, the neutral strip ("No Man's Land," now extreme west-ern Oklahoma), and in Texas ten thousand head of cattle, worth twenty dollars a head, or a total

He possessed land in three states and a hand some residence in Denver. He made a bet of a thousand steers—worth twenty thousand dollars— —and lost. He continued this until the herd of ten thousand head of stock belonged to another man. Day dawned, and he was still playing. Breakfast was sent in from a restaurant main-tained at the end of the gambling hall for just such people.

"Now," he said to the men who had won his cattle, "you have the critters, but no place to keep them. I will play you my Texas ranch."

He lost that. Then followed the Colorado ranch, finally the residence in Denver, together with the furniture, his horses, his watch and chain. At eight o'clock at night—twenty-four hours later—he was penniless, and started for the Rio Grande country of Texas, where he found employment hauling logs to a sawmill. He had lost more than a quarter of a million dollars in twenty-four hours

The noid-up man had stopped the stage going into Leadville to 'collect toil.' He had just purchased the rond, he said, and needed the money. He passed down the line and, by means of a pasenger whom he forced into service, gathered up all the money and jewelry, until he came to the last man in the line. Then he asked the man to take off his shoes. He found four thousand dollars under the inner soles!

Millions were taken from the mine within a few years. It became one of the most famous in the entire Rocky Mountain country.

In the early days of the Comstock Lode, in Virginia, Nevada, some men made money so fast that they did not know what to do with it. Those who were not making it spent their time devising ways and means to talk the others out of a por then of their weight. Gamblers were in full evidence, and there were some big stakes; but it remained for a bunch of Mexicans to play for the largest stake on record in the United States—without the use of cards.

One of the many claims, located in the mids of the district, had not shown any ore. Even the men who had millions hesitated to sink a shaft on it. The people were in a fever of excitement. The Mexicans owned practically nothing. In fact, the "greasers" could not get a "look in." Altogether it was very discouraging—to, them.

Then it occurred to some bright genius to capitalize the labor of the Mexicans. Gathering a bunch of them together, it was proposed that they sink a shaft on one of the well-known claims, which was twelve hundred feet in length.

claims, which was twelve hundred feet in length. "For each foot you sink, we will give you a one-foot surface interest in the claim." they were told," provided you sink to ore."

In other words, if they abandoned the work at any time before reaching ore, they would get nothing, and the owners would have the shaft. It looked like a cheap way to prospect.

The Mexicans pow-powed and jabbered at one another for half a night and then started to work.

Everybody laughed. They were comparatively everybody laughed. They were comparatively poor men. They could ill afford the expense they were undergoing. They drilled by hand, fought the hard granite, and gradually lowered that shaft. They balled water that flowed in so fast that it threatened to drown them, but they stuck to the work with desperation.

At three hundred feet they uncovered the rich-est portion of the world-famous silver deposit, and from the vein they opened, more wealth was taken out than from any other portion of that richest single mile of ground in the world.

The Mexicans' share was one-quarter. Nearly one hundred million dollars came out of the hole they sank! It was a gamble pure and simple. They played for high stakes—and won.

In the Coeur d'Alene, of Idaho, when that min-ing region was the center of the earth, there were some big games. The story is told of one man who conceived the idea that he could make money in gambling faster than he could take it out of the ground. It was so much easier. With count up to one hundred and fifty dollars. what cash he had after selling his mine, he could

He had evolved a wonderful system.
"I simply can't lose," he told his friends.

His plan was to play steadily for sixteen hours daily, and, by a complicated series of beta, to retrieve when he lost. Everything wont along swimingly for the first few days. At times he was as much as twenty-

Nine days after he started top lay he suddenly

Nine days after he started top lay he suddenly found that he was just where he had started—he had one hundred and fifty thousand dollars when the cards came a certain way, which would involve, according to his system, betting the entire amount on a single "turn." He played the queen to win, and the fickle creature played false to him.

Women are the cause of all trouble, anywa he muttered, as he rose from the table. "I ought to have known better than that, for that was the queen of spades, and I showld not have made that et except when all the queens except the queen

It was the irony or fate that, when the queen hearts came out of the box, it so happened in the days when Cheyenne, Wyoming, was the in the days when Caeyenne, wyoming was the headquarters for the cattlemen of the northwest, gambling ran wide open. When the cowboys came to town they made things hum. Money grew on trees. The gat ing spirit was in the air. A dealer standing behind a roviette table one night suddenly motioned the proprietor. A few moments later he was paid off. It is customary to pay a gambler his miary at the end of each

In roulette there is a distinct percentage in favor of "the house." Everybody knows that.

This dealer took a seat in front of the table and in the course of a few hours had won fifty dollars. Then he stopped. He would pass in and out a dozen times a day, play a little here and some there, but always he would bring up in front of the roulette table, and more often than otherwise left it winner. His luck was amazing. He started a bank account. He was saving his money to get into business with, he said.

He won so steadily that it made the proprietor of the place shiver every time he came in

One day, while the ex-dealer was playing, an old man dropped in and, glancing around the room for a moment, asked: Who runs this place?"

I do," answered a bewhiskered individual ho was watching his former employe rake in "Will you do me the favor to tell 'me where

"It you show me, I'm game."
"It's a bargain," said the drummer.
Walking over to the wheel, he waited until the ball dropped, stopped it, and turning to the proprietor asked:
"See anything area."

See anything strange with that wheel?"

Well, see, there are two nineteens and two twenty-three on this wheel. They are unusual numbers—so that the fellow who plays them has about the same percentage in his favor, on those numbers, that you have when a man plays on a regular wheel. We made this wheel more than thirty years ago. It was sold to a house by a couple of 'sure thing' men, who almost broke the outfit. Then we lost track of it."

The ex-dealer had noticed the double numbers.

and therein was the secret of his "luck." How the numbers had escaped attention so many years is one of those mysteries of gambling that
