All of the surfaces in the world requiring paint, varnish or stain are owned by somebody. It is those owners—millions of them—who have made it possible for The Sherwin-Williams Co. to become the largest paint and varnish makers in the world.

Whether they buy, influence the buying or hire the painter who buys, they pay for the treatment and judge the results.

Every drop of Sherwin-Williams Paints or Varnishes has, for the past forty years, been sold as the right quality—the best for the particular surface to be treated. The fact that The Sherwin-Williams Co. have become the largest paint and varnish makers in the world on this basis and with millions of surface owners as judges of their claims, is the best answer to any question of "who makes the best paints and varnishes?"

Come in and have a talk with us about Sherwin-Williams Products, if you have any surface to be finished or re-finished.

Seven Reasons Why I Buy Goods at Home

- Because my interests are here.
- Because I sell what I produce here at home.
- Because I believe in transacting business with my friends.
- Because the community that is good enough for me to live in, is good enough for me to buy in.
- Because I want to see the goods and get what I pay for.
- Because the man I buy from pays his part of the city and county taxes.
- Because every dollar I spend at home stays at home and helps work for the welfare of the city in which I live.

In and Around Plymouth

Williamston is going to have a homecoming August 6, 7 and 8.

Many a man starts to spade garden and is sent fishing by the display of bait.

R. L. Dixon, of Brooklyn, Mich., has been engaged as superintendent of schools at Milford.

Editor Pierce of the South Lyon Herald was a pleasant caller at the Mail office last Saturday afternoon.

A landscape artist from the Michigan Agricultural College has been engaged to make plans for the improvement of the cemetery grounds at South Lyon.

The village of Northville donated $200 for the relief of the Ohio flood sufferers, besides there were several individuals who donated cash. A car load of potatoes and apples were also sent.

A large crowd was present at the final party given by Mrs. Mrs. Adele Strassburg Hyde, in Penniman Hall last Monday evening. Mrs. Hyde expects to return next October and will not only form a children's class, but would like to have a large class for the older ones.

The fourth division of the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church gave a ten cent tea and bazaar at Mrs. J. E. Nash's home on W. Ann Arbor street last Tuesday afternoon. A large number of ladies were in attendance and the affair netted a nice little sum for the ladies.

The wife, son, daughter and son-in-law of William Jonah, of Northville, were drowned in the flood at Dayton. A. Bowman, also of Northville, lost his uncle, aunt and son-in-law in the flood. The bodies of Mr. Jonah's kin will be buried at Northville, while the bodies of the relatives of Mr. Bowman will be buried at Dearborn.

The meeting of Plymouth Grange held in Grange hall last Thursday afternoon was well attended considering the inclemency of the weather and the condition of the roads. The lecture hour was given up to a short program and an interesting debate on suffrage. Mrs. Wm. Tillotson read an excellent paper on the affirmative side.

Twenty ladies from the Markham Mfg. Co. gave Mrs. Byron Willet a miscellaneous shower at her home in North village last Friday evening. Mrs. Willet received many useful and dainty gifts. Miss Rose Willet was present and gave a very interesting talk on her trip through the West. Light refreshments were served, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

MADE IT MATTER OF RECORD

Mark Twain Bound to Satisfy His Better Half That He Had Obeyed Her Injunction.

Samuel L. Clemens immensely admired Grover Cleveland, also his young wife, and his visits to Washington were not infrequent. Mrs. Clemens was not always able to accompany him, and he has told us how once (it was his first visit after the president's marriage) she put a little note in the pocket of his evening waistcoat, which he would be sure to find when dressing, warning him about his department. Being presented to Mrs. Cleveland, he handed her a card on which he had written, "We didn't," and asked her to sign her name below those words. Mrs. Cleveland protested that she couldn't sign it unless she knew what it was he hadn't done; but he insisted, and she promised to sign it if he would tell her immediately afterward all about it. She signed, and he handed her Mrs. Clemens' note, which was very brief. It said:

"Don't wear your arctics in the White House."

Mrs. Cleveland summoned a messenger and had the card she had signed mailed at once to Mrs. Clemens at Hartford—Albert Bigelow Paine, in Harper's Magazine.

You Don't Yawn When Sleepy.

A good, wide, open-mouthed yawn is a splendid thing for the whole body, says a hygienist. A yawn is nature's demand for rest. Some people think they yawn only because they are sleepy. But this is not so. You yawn because you are tired. You may be sleepy also, but that is not the real cause of your yawning. You are sleepy because you are tired, and you yawn because you are tired. Whenever you feel like yawning, just yawn. Don't try to suppress it. And, if you are where you can stretch at the same time that you yawn, just stretch and yawn. This is nature's way of stretching and relaxing the muscles.

Indeed, if you are very tired but do not feel like yawning, there is nothing else that will rest you so quickly as to sit on a straight-backed chair, and lifting the feet from the floor, push them out in front of you as far as possible, stretching the arms, putting the head back, opening the mouth wide, and making yourself yawn. Those tense nerves will relax, the contracted muscles will stretch and the whole body will be rested.

Peanut as a "Civilizer."

The peanut seems to be playing the part of "civilizer" in some of the colonial districts of Africa. Traders give a negro a bushel of nuts for seed on condition that he returns four bushels from his crop, and since the yield in good years is twenty fold, the black man generally has a surplus that he can sell at the rate of a shilling a bushel. From a single station in Senegambia there were shipped in one year 20,000 tons. Small boys and scientists have long been in agreement as to the value of the peanut; now statesmen also will have to do it honor, since it seems likely to lead the native African into the paths of agriculture.

Shows Direction of Sound.

A machine has been recently granted a patent by the United States patent office covering a method of determining the direction of a sound wave or of locating a source of sound, and in doing this the waves emanating from such source are divided and the divided parts are compared by bringing first one part and then another through a common conductor. He employs an apparatus including two diametrically opposite receivers, the direction of the source of the sound waves being determined by stopping one of the said receivers, thus indicating into which of the receivers the particular sound wave was received.

WANTON WASTE.

Now that the whale fishers who valued that denizen of the deep merely for his oil and his ambergris and his bone have nearly depopulated the ocean of whales, it is beginning to be realized that the abandoning of the colossal carcasses after these spoils had been secured involved a shocking waste—that the flesh of the whale is valuable for human food. The inhabitants of West Africa, it is said, always have been aware of this fact, and have feasted upon many a whale abandoned by the whalers and tossed upon their coast. The Japanese can use the flesh of the whale and esteem it as a delicacy. There seems to be no reason whatever why hereafter it should be wasted by the seamen of any of the nations which are engaged in the pursuit of this monster of the deep. But think of the millions upon millions of tons of good whale meat that have been abandoned at sea! There is nothing to compare it with but the ruthless slaughter of the American buffaloes for their hides that followed the opening of railroad communication with the Pacific slope, and that in a few years nearly exterminated the race of those noble denizens of the plains.

The scheme of changing the Gulf stream, so that it will sweep up the east coast of this country instead of sliding over to Europe, has reached the dignity of a bill in congress providing an appropriation for advancing the project. The New York Tribune suggests a more practical way of ameliorating our climate by means of dams, increasing the oblateness of the earth and reducing the angle of the ecliptic so that the sun would not go so far south or come further north and providing the whole year the climate of the southern states, and thus make it possible to raise strawberries and peas the year round. But the real consideration concerning this change would not relate to the strawberries and citrus joys, but to the character of the people. Temperaments and temperatures are closely allied. A person who is used to frost and freezes can never get along with a tropical climate without losing some of his "get up" and enterprising dash. The fact is the earth as fashioned by the Creator in the first place cannot be improved upon. The Gulf stream is in the right place, and the oblateness of the spheroid likewise.

The lower house of the Pennsylvania legislature toyed with a bill proposing to make it criminal for finger bowls in public eating houses to be used a second time without having been thoroughly cleansed. After half an hour's humorous debate the bill was killed. The public is not ripe for what look like super-refinements of precaution growing out of the germ theory. Of course, however, nice people will want perfectly clean finger bowls or none at all.

The new Russian stamps have been called in because they could not be cancelled without stamping on the czar's face. If the latter is so sensitive, he should take pattern by the way in which George Washington smiles serenely on under the daily and hourly nutrition of his classic countenance, confident in the knowledge that while he is intact in the hearts of the nation, he cares not what becomes of his features on its letters.

White Burbark in California has been developing a spineless cactus, Hurrows in Essex, England, has been endeavoring to evolve a stingless bee. Many a farmer who would add the occupation of an apiarist to his other activities has refrained because he dreads the industrious insect's "hot feet." If Mr. Hurrows can give the world a honey-producing bee with cold feet, there will be a larger production of honey.

The governmental edict is that the name is "catchup" and not "ketchup." But, says the New York World, "all the power of government regulation will not cause it to be popularly pronounced that way." Will it not be so pronounced by the popular element that pronounces "catch" as if it were spelled "ketch"?

REPUBLICANS WIN AND SUFFRAGE LOSES IN STATE ELECTION MONDAY

FIGHT FOR VOTES FOR WOMEN FAILS BY LARGE MAJORITY—MOVEMENT SHOWS DECREASE IN STRENGTH.

DETROIT VOTERS FAVOR SUBMISSION OF CHARTER AMENDMENT.

Judge Murphy Runs Ahead of Democratic Ticket and Seems for Awhile to Have Beaten Moore for Supreme Judgeship—Some Local Results.

Success for the republican ticket and defeat for the equal suffrage amendment marked the results of the balloting in Michigan on Monday. Great interest was centered in the fight made for votes for women, but with the impassible condition of country roads making a light ballot vote inevitable and the heavy majorities rolled up against the amendment in the large cities it early became evident that the battle was lost to the women. Early returns indicated a sweeping victory for the republican state ticket, with the exception of one supreme judgeship which looked for awhile as though it would go to Murphy, democratic nominee.

HON. JOSEPH H. STEERE, Elected Judge of Supreme Court.

Much strength had been lost by the equal suffrage movement since the last election, many counties showing the large favorable majorities which they at that time gave to the amendment.

Municipal ownership amendment to Detroit's charter, won by a sweeping vote, approximating three to one. The equal suffrage amendment was defeated by a vote of four to one in Detroit. Thirty-two precincts in Wayne county evidenced a total vote of 4,793 against equal suffrage, and 1,639 for it.

Judge Alfred J. Murphy, democratic candidate for justice of the supreme court, was victorious in both city and county by a big lead, with Steere, Moore and Person trailing. The vote for Judge Murphy was much stronger in the city than in the county, his name carrying practically every precinct in Detroit.

150,000,000 Parcels Handled. More than 150,000,000 parcels post packages were mailed during the first three months this system was in operation, according to computations announced by postal reports and based on reports from the nearest post-offices. Approximately 50 per cent more business was handled in March than in January. Chicago leads in other cities, 6,987,711 parcels being handled in two months. New York handled 5,978,975, and Boston, 1,637,026.

Fire broke out in Heavin & Butler's general store at Port Austin, threatening for a time to wipe out the village under a stiff wind. Good work kept the fire from other buildings, but the general store was gutted.

Benjamin Taylor, 35 years old, a farmer who lived near Saranac, sent fire to the mattress in a cell in the jail at Lowell, and died from suffocation. It is thought Taylor attempted to light his pipe and dropped a blazing match on the bed.

Scores of persons narrowly escaped serious injury when a rush was made for the doors of the Bijou theater after some person had shouted "fire." The theater was packed with women and children. Prompt work on the part of the theater police prevented a serious panic.

Results of local elections throughout the state showed republican victories in many of the important towns.

Dr. J. H. Keyser, democrat, was elected mayor of Potoski. At Monroe, Dr. H. S. Davis, democrat, was also victorious. At Ann Arbor, the republican ticket elected the mayor, Dr. R. G. Mc-

FRANK F. ROGERS, Elected State Highway Commissioner.

Kenzie, and one justice of the peace, while all of the other offices went to the democrats.

The Progressives were victorious in South Haven, electing H. W. Barnes, mayor. Niles went democratic electing William E. Phillips over the present incumbent who is a republican. Mayor A. W. Chase, democrat, was re-elected at Adrian.

LUTHER L. WRIGHT, Elected Supt. Public Instruction.

Militant Suffragettes on Rampage. The campaign of revenge for the four sentences imposed upon Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst when the suffragettes threatened to proceed actively and soon, they to spread. Many arrests have been committed. These included the complete destruction of the residence of the Apr. Race Course in Scotland, where the principal Scottish message was held, the damage being estimated at $15,000, and an attempt to burn the new grandstand of the Kelso race course, also in Scotland.

China's First Congress Meets. The new Chinese national assembly has opened, being the first congress under republican government. There are about 900 members in the lower house and 300 in the upper chamber. For the first meeting the members will exercise a double function, being in the first place, practically delegates to a constitutional convention, for the body is charged with drafting a constitution and the establishment of a permanent form of government. After the function is over the members will resolve themselves into legislators.

Strike Breakers Refuse to Work. The 44 Gloucester fishermen who were brought by train from Massachusetts to man halibut vessels plying out of Seattle and refused to work when they found they were to be used as strike-breakers, were taken immediately into the halibut fisherman's union. The strike was won and all the newcomers got work, as well as the strikers.

Officers elected at Ann Arbor for the ensuing year by the Michigan Schoolmasters' club are as follows: President, Supt. J. M. Frost of Muskegon; vice-president, Gertrude Breed, Ann Arbor; secretary and treasurer, L. P. Jocelyn, Ann Arbor.

Samuel Maffett, city treasurer of Muskegon Heights for nearly a score of years, and nominee of the republican party for that office at the spring election, died at his home after a week's illness, aged 51 years. Mr. Maffett was a resident of Muskegon for 45 years.

MANY GATHER TO HEAR PRESIDENT

NOTABLES PRESENT WHEN MR. WILSON APPEARS BEFORE CONGRESS.

CLARK IS RE-ELECTED SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE.

Mann, of Illinois, is Candidate for Republicans and Victor Murdock, of Kansas, Gets Votes of the Republicans.

The sixty-third congress, the first in many years with the followers of Thomas Jefferson in a majority, began business at noon Monday.

In the house the first day's proceedings were principally of organization. The re-election of Speaker Clark was the first business after about a hundred new members had been sworn.

The democratic candidate received 271 votes; James R. Mann, of Illinois, Rep., 111 votes, and Victor Murdock, of Kansas, Prof., 18 votes.

Four progressive-republicans voted for Rep. Cooper, of Wisconsin. Mr. Cooper voted for Rep. Nelson, of Minnesota.

These votes (271, 111 and 18) represent the strength of the three parties in the house.

President Wilson stood on the speaker's rostrum in the hall of the house Tuesday and personally read his first message to congress, the first president since John Adams to exercise that privilege.

The renewal of a custom a century abandoned. Attracted to the capitol an assemblage necessarily less in numbers, but certainly no less distinguished than the company which attended the president's inauguration.

Galleries were packed with national figures. Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters and the women of the cabinet circle prominent among them. The diplomatic gallery probably contained a representative of every nation with an envoy in the foreign corps here. Distinguished public men who have received the thanks of congress and were therefore entitled to the floor of the house, attired themselves of the right, conspicuous among them Admiral Dewey. A moving picture machine was installed to preserve a record of the historic event for the government's archives.

Secretaries Lane, McAdoo, Daniels and Garrison took seats in the executive gallery for themselves and families to hear the president. Secretary Bryan said he had another engagement for the same hour and could not go.

The cabinet was in session at the regular hour, but adjourned to permit the president to leave the White House for the capitol at 12:30. Admiral Dewey was cheered as he entered the chamber.

The president concluded the reading at 1:30 amid a wave of applause and immediately left the chamber.

As the president concluded he said: "I thank you sincerely."

As the house and senate members arose and applauded, the president stepped quietly down from the clerk's desk and escorted by his reception committee, left the hall. The vice-president left the speaker's stand and headed the procession of senators as it left the chamber. The visit of the president to congress had lasted ten minutes and became historic.

The new Chinese national assembly has opened, being the first congress under republican government. There are about 900 members in the lower house and 300 in the upper chamber. For the first meeting the members will exercise a double function, being in the first place, practically delegates to a constitutional convention, for the body is charged with drafting a constitution and the establishment of a permanent form of government. After the function is over the members will resolve themselves into legislators.

Women Go on Hunger Strike. Emulating Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and other suffragettes in England, two women prisoners at Zion City, Ill., declared a hunger strike. The women and three men were arrested following a riot that was caused by an attempt by the followers of Wilbur Glenn Voliva to hold a street meeting.

For the purpose of inducing manufacturers to locate plants in Middleville, the business men have organized and raised $12,000.

John Sierminski, who on the afternoon of March 22 slew his 13-month-old baby, was found guilty of murder in the first degree and was sentenced by Judge Parkinson at Jackson to life imprisonment. The jury was out 30 minutes.

A robber attempted to gain entrance to the office of Gates brothers wood and coal yard at Pontiac. Charles Gates, a member of the firm, sleeps in the office and while the intruder was picking bits of broken glass out of the frame Gates walloped him over the head with a poker. The intruder ran.

NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

REP. MIDDLETON RESENTS THE CHARGES AGAINST HIM IN RESOLUTION

REFERS TO WARNER AS MODERN GOLIATH

Short Ballot Measure Fails to Receive Sufficient Votes and is Dead For Present Session. Boiler Bill Passed House

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Rep. E. T. Middleton of Flint caused another sensation in the house when the explanation of his interview charging liquor interests in the house with cutting the appropriation of the school for the door to punish him for activity in opposition to the liquor traffic, was read a few days ago.

Middleton opened with an attack on Rep. D. G. E. Warner when he said the champion of the liquor interests and the modern Goliath of the legislature. "I was very much surprised to learn of the resolution put in by Rep. Warner," said Middleton. "I think the condemnation in Mr. Warner's resolution was unjust and unfair. It seems to me that this modern Goliath of the house who for several years has posed as the champion of the liquor interests and now posing as injured innocence, has seized this opportunity to stir up opposition against me and put me in a false light with my fellow members in the house."

Rep. Newell Smith's bill amending the soldiers exemption act to put the burden of exemption upon the state rather than the local assessment fell by the wayside in the renewal of the old legislative feud between Rep. Smith and Rep. Moore. Those two members have been in several bills recently and when the Smith bill came up Rep. Moore dragged out his ax and proceeded to do a job of decapitation.

Rep. Moore had plenty of assistance. The house had just given the old soldiers $25,000 for a trip to Gettysburg and was in a particularly patriotic frame of mind and after Rep. Moore had made a stirring address, sentiment seemed pretty strong against the Smith measure. The motion to strike out all after the enacting clause provided in committee of the whole and Rep. Smith's attempt to resuscitate the measure on a record vote on the question of concurring in the action of the committee, was a failure.

The boiler inspection bill which has been presented in other sessions and facetiously termed a measure to create jobs and to further the interests of the boiler insurance companies, has passed the house. In order to get the votes however, the backers of the measure exempted about everything but fireless cookers and incubators.

As usual, the farmer's vote was obtained by exemptions. Under the bill the traction engine, which experts insist is responsible for 80 per cent of the boiler failures involving the loss of life and the limb, is not included under the provisions of the bill, and lest there be some indirect reference to the farmer's motive power unit, the bill was further amended to apply to all power used for sawing wood, drilling wells, threshing and all other agricultural work.

Owing to the fact that it lacked one vote, the Mobile bill, relative to the regulation of fraternal insurance companies, was defeated in the house. Friends of the measure announced that they will renew their fight in the near future and express confidence that they will be able to pass it, although enemies of the proposition are exceeding.

The bill places fraternal insurance societies under state regulation, requires the officials to make statements to members as to the exact standing of the finances of the organization and obliges the establishment of rates which will provide stable insurance.

Friends of the proposed short ballot which would enable the governor to appoint all state officers with the exception of lieutenant governor, were unable to muster the two thirds vote in the house required to pass the resolution to submit this constitutional amendment, and the proposition is dead for the present session.

The house passed the Mobile bill introduced by Rep. Ashley which regulates fraternal insurance societies. Jobyists have spent considerable time trying to kill this bill in the house. Speaker Currie and several other veterans voted against this progressive measure.

The bill introduced by Senator King which is intended as a companion to the Odell free text book bill, has been passed by the senate. The King bill requires publishers who sell books in Michigan to give bond that they will sell them as cheap here as they do in other states. Senator Straight opposed the bill, claiming it was not practical.

Senator Odell who pushed the free text book bill through the senate, says he will ask the house committee on education to report out his bill at once.

Attorney General Fellows has furnished the senate with an opinion in which he holds that the Burke bill which prohibits liquor dealers from extending credit for purchases of liquor in less than a quart, is unconstitutional. He holds that under the terms of the bill the legislature assumes police powers and declares that such legislation is repugnant to the state and federal constitutions. The bill has passed the house and is ready for final action in the senate. House members are considerably disturbed by the opinion Attorney General Fellows has furnished the senate to the effect that each county with a moiety of the ratio of representation fixed by the house in its bill reapportioning its representative districts, is entitled to a separate representative.

The moiety is 14,051 and under the opinion the following counties which are grouped with other counties must be given separate representatives, under the opinion: Cheboygan, Emmet, Alpena, Antrim, Charlevoix, Wexford, Osceola, Mason, Oceana, Newaygo and Iron. If Fellows' opinion is followed the whole system of representative will have to be changed or the representation of Wayne and other counties reduced. The constitution prohibits the house consisting of more than 100 members.

Already there are candidates in the field for speaker of the house of representatives for the session of 1915. As a general rule the aspirants get busy towards the close of one session, lining up support for the session to follow, and this year is no exception to the general rule.

Rep. James Henry from Battle Creek one of the republicans and a fourth term, has already announced that he would like to preside over the deliberations of the house at the session two years hence. As chairman of the committee on railroads Rep. Henry has made somewhat of a reputation in the house this year and he believes that he will be able to land the required number of votes in case he is returned in 1915.

There is another in the race, however, who promises to make things exceedingly interesting for any of his competitors and that man is Rep. Charles Weidenfeller of Bloomhills, Van Buren county. This is Weidenfeller's first term in the house, but his personal magnetism and his ability as an orator, has won him the position as leader of the first termers, and there are many in the house who believe that Weidenfeller is the logical man to wield the gavel at the next session. The Van Buren county representative has led the fight for all progressive measures and has expressed his opinions in a fearless and honest manner. It will be a merry battle for supremacy between Weidenfeller and Henry if they are both returned at the next session, but at the present time it appears that Weidenfeller has a slight lead. However, it is expected that other candidates will appear before the close of the present session, but if Weidenfeller can secure the pledges of the younger republicans in the house he will be a hard man to beat.

Senator Wood, Westdock, Fitzgibbon and George D. Scott led a determined fight to kill the effectiveness of the Copley corrupt practices act, when the bill was under consideration in the senate. The bill, which passed the house, is designed to regulate the use of money in elections, and would prevent a candidate for any office from spending in his campaign more than 25 per cent of the salary attached to the position to which he aspires.

They succeeded in getting but one amendment of importance attached to the bill and this will be eliminated when the bill comes up on the original third reading, it is claimed.

Senator Odell believes that his free text book bill which passed the senate, stands an excellent chance in the house. The bill as it passed the senate requires school districts to furnish free text books in the schools up to and including the eight grade, and may furnish them for the high school courses. Provision is made for the people of the district to vote on the proposition of supplying free text books in the higher grades.

Senator King's bill, which is a companion to the Odell bill, requires all text book publishers to file samples of their books with the state superintendent of public instruction and file a bond with the state treasurer that they will sell their books at as low prices in Michigan as they are sold elsewhere in the United States.

Although a majority of the members on education of the house favor the uniform text book scheme, yet members of it have stated that they will give the senate bills fair treatment and vote to report the bills out favorably, consideration in the house.

The bill introduced by Senator Alsweide providing for a trunk line system of highways has been agreed to in committee of the whole by the senate. Senator Woodworth had the bill amended so as to provide for a road across from Saginaw to Bad Axe, and when the measure comes up on third reading other senators will insist on changes.

The senate is inclined to treat the bill as a huge joke, but it will probably pass.

CANADA WINS AGAIN

THE COLORADO SILVER TROPHY FOR OATS WON A SECOND TIME BY CANADA.

The most recent achievement of Canada's West is winning for the second time the magnificent $1,500 silver trophy awarded by the State of Colorado for the best peck of oats. At Columbus, Ohio, in 1911, J. C. Hill & Sons of Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, placed a peck of oats grown on their farm in competition, with oats from every part of the world. The judges had no difficulty in deciding, and the award was given to the Saskatchewan grown oats. In 1912, the Corn Exposition had no exhibition, and our Canadian friends, although ready for a second contest had no opportunity. In 1913, the exhibition of the Society was held at Columbus, S. C., and it is said of it that it was one of the best yet held. At this exhibition, which comprised corn and all the smaller grains, Hill & Sons of Lloydminster had on exhibition for the contest another peck of oats grown on their Saskatchewan farm, in 1912. There was no trouble for the judges, no time necessarily lost in reaching a decision, Hill & Sons won, and for the second time their name will appear on the crest of the cup. The third space will doubtless be occupied by their name, and then this splendid trophy will be theirs.

During the past few years Western Canada grains—wheat, oats, barley and flax—have been in competition with grains from all other countries, and in every case their superiority has been shown. It is not only in oats, but it is in wheat, in barley and in flax that Canada more than holds its own, when placed side by side with grains from other parts.

Mixed farming is taking a strong hold not only in those parts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, which up to the present have been devoted solely to grain growing, but also in the districts contiguous, where the conditions of climate, shelter, water, grass and hay make farming of this kind, easy to prosecute and large in profits. It was in the Province of Manitoba that the steer was raised that carried off the Championship of the steer class, at Chicago last December. This beast had been fattened on the grass and hay of the Province and the only finishing grain it had was barley; not an ounce of corn.

Western Canada presents innumerable opportunities for the big farmer who wants to cultivate his thousands of acres, the medium man satisfied with a few hundred acres, the man who is content to farm his free homestead of one hundred and sixty acres: it has opportunities for the investor, the capitalist, the business man, the manufacturer and the laborer.

Agents of the Canadian Government located at different points in the United States will be pleased on application, to give any desired information, free of cost.—Advertisement.

Well-Furnished Expedition Returns Without the Riches It Had Been in Search Of.

The treasure-hunting party from Plymouth, England, which has been searching Cocos island in the Pacific for treasure supposed to have been buried there by pirates many years ago, has arrived at Panama on board the steamer Melmore without the hoped for pirate spoils. The Melmore sailed from Barry in September last, plying in addition to the officers and crew two London ladies and three gentlemen financially interested in a venture which was fondly hoped to return 100 per cent profit.

Two other unsuccessful attempts to locate the buried gold and jewels of the buccannery made by Earl Fitzwilliam and Mr. Harold Gray did not diminish the faith of the members of the Melmore expedition, who declared they had specific information of the exact position of the accumulated board.

One treasure was actually brought from Lima in 1820, consisting of gold bullion and articles to the value of about $25,000,000, and the other treasure, which is placed at an even higher figure, was taken to Cocos island by the famous pirate Bonito. Despite the care with which the Melmore was fitted out—the expedition was estimated to cost $500,000—the search appears to have been fruitless.

Bear's Grease and Baldness. In a recent volume of reminiscences the writer states that baldness is much more common now than in his early days, and ascribes the modern man's loss of hair to the decrease in the use of "bear's grease." This pomade was made principally of lard colored and scented, but "hairdressers" many of whom called themselves "professors," used to advertise the slaughter of another fine bear, exhibiting a canvas screen depicting in glaring colors a brown animal of elephantine proportions "exploring in a sea of gore."

Better Give Up Fish. Some people are always prepared for trouble which may not materialize, like the man who carried a raw egg wherever he went.

"Why must you always carry about a raw egg?" asked a friend one day. "Because it is such an excellent remedy for fishbone in the throat."

An Instance. "There is nothing in analogy." "Why not?" "Because if there was, it would be a little horse, wouldn't it? A Colt relative to a little horse-pistol!"

Absolutely Proof Against Punctures or Blow-Outs

Good for 20,000 Miles and do not SKID

The Only Pneumatic Tires Ever Made Suitable for Trucks
Will carry any load, 500 pounds up to 10 tons

A perfect Pneumatic tire for Electric or Gasoline Cars. Rides better and easier than any other tire, has perfect resilient action, fits any standard size wheel and uses any standard inner air tube.
A 5-passenger touring car, equipped with a full set of these tires has been in daily use all winter, has demonstrated to the satisfaction of hundreds of people, including Automobile Engineers and manufacturers, that this tire is the SOLUTION OF THE TIRE PROBLEM. This car may be seen any day by calling at 1802 Ford Building, Detroit. These tires will be manufactured in Detroit by the

This cut is reduced to one-half actual size. The tire cannot be punctured because there are 3 1/2 inches of the flexible rubber tread between the ground and the inner air tube. Illustration: The dark portion is the Flexible Rubber Tread, made all in one piece. The light portion is the ordinary Inner Air Tube, now in common use in other pneumatic tires. The outer tread surrounds the inner tube and both are held in place by the steel rims. These rims are made of Vanadium steel and are attached to the felloes of the wheel by a quick demountable device. They are firmly held in their relative positions with double shouldered studs passing through steel lined openings in the tread, over the periphery, shouldering against the steel rims and being held rigid by a rapid nut on the outside. Note where the shoulders on the rubber tread, cast against the inward curve of the rims, thus preventing the air pressure from forcing the tread outwardly beyond a certain point. It is impossible to throw this tread off the wheel.

Opportunities.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men," admits a wise writer, "but there is no gulf stream setting forever in one direction." The man who grows careless and self-confident because of success will soon find that no current of prosperity will take the place of thought and effort, and no one need think "luck" is so persistently against him that he is destined to falter whatever he does. There are opportunities and there are misfortunes, but there is no gulf stream of luck, good or bad.

Good Form.

Ellen is rounding out her sixteenth year, but she has never learned to read or write. When she was a girl, schools in Ireland were almost as scarce as snuff, and so the duty of telling the old folks at home that Ellen is still alive devolves upon her mistress. The task is carried out faithfully each month, and at Ellen's dictation the letters always end with: "Please excuse the writing."—Harper's Weekly.

Glor Life.

I look on the sentiments which make the glor of the human being, love, humility, faith, as being also the intimacy of divinity in the atoms; and that as soon as the man is right, as earnestness and provisions emanate from the interior of his body and his mind; as when flowers reach their ripeness, incense exhales, so man and as a beautiful star generated from the planet, use averaged emanations from all its rocks and soils.—Emerson.

Choir Invisible Has a Recruit.

A Kansas man who has lately been abroad reports that this inscription actually appears on an old tombstone in a cemetery at Saragossa, Spain. "Here lies John Cabota, presenter of my lord the king. When he is admitted to the choir of angels, whose company he will embellish, and where he will distinguish himself by his powers of song, God shall say to his angels: 'Cense, ye calves! and let me hear John Cabota, a presenter to the king of Spain!'"

Camel's Speed Considerable.

A camel with an average load will travel twenty-five miles a day, and when unencumbered it will reach ninety miles a day sometimes.

Daily Thought.

Comradeship is one of the finest facts, and one of the strongest forces in life.—Hugh Black.

Wanted His Body Above Ground.

Not so very long ago there died, in the north of England, a farmer who left instructions that his body should be put into a coffin, and then placed in the loft of one of the barns on the farm premises. It was done, and will probably remain there for generations.

No Romance in These.

Polly—"Having announced that they were going to live in an apartment, suppose the Newknyeds got a lot of useful presents." Dolly—"Yes, in deed! Among them I saw a snow shovel, a lawn mower and a set of garden tools."—Judge.

After Material.

Editor—"Why do you persist in coming here? I tell you I don't buy fiction." Author—"Oh, I don't wish to sell any of my stories. I am writing a short serial, entitled 'The I'lliest Man on Earth,' and came in merely to obtain local color."

Enlightening.

"Can't you remember the piece I mean, Mary? Miss What's-Her-Name played it that night at the Thingiering. It begins at the bottom of the piano and goes lam-tum-tum-tum-tum-tum."—Judge.

Some Darkness Beneficial.

I believe in the forest, and in the meadow, and in the night in which the stars grow. We require an infusion of hemlock, spruce or arbutus in our tea.—Thoreau.

Foundation of Republics.

It is an old maxim that republics live by virtue; that is, by the main tenance of a high level of public spirit and justice among the citizens.—James Bryce.

Jealous.

First Satanic Imp—"Who's the latest arrival? He's making quite a hit." Second Satanic Imp—"Traveling salesman, I guess. Old Rabelais and Montchaux are sore as pups over something."—Puck.

Dirty, Low-Down Trick.

Stealing of servants is a social crime that warrants the most severe condemnation. It is really discouraging to spend three or four years teaching a raw girl to wait on the table only to have the great of a previous evening entice her away. A servant in the household is a gem, and the stealing of gems ought not to be countenanced.—Charleston News and Courier.

Would Wear.

"I chose my wife," said the vicar of Wakefield, "as she did her wedding gown, not for a fine, glossy surface, but for such qualities as would wear well."

Fir Idea of Sewing Machine.

The earliest attempt at sewing machinery of which there is any authentic record was in 1755, in which year a machine was patented in England by Charles F. Weisenthal. In this machine the stitch was formed by a needle, having two points with an eye at mid-length, which passed completely through the goods in imitation of hand sewing.

Coffins Many Centuries Old.

Two tiny coffins have recently been found in the monastic burial ground of Peterborough, Northampton, England, and have been placed in Peterborough cathedral. They are said to be the coffins of the twin children of King Canute, who were drowned in Whittlesey Mere as they were crossing to be educated at Peterborough abbey.

Zones of Silence.

Zones of silence such as that discovered in the Alps have been known to scientists for a long time. Some years ago a committee conducted a series of experiments in the English channel with the kindest and most ear piercing sirens, whistles and hooters they could procure. It was found that sometimes on the clearest and quietest day a sound was unaccountably inaudible at a short distance. This demonstrated conclusively the existence of soundless zones and incidentally suggested an explanation of our main ocean disasters.

First Use of Stage Money.

Stage money, that is, money of no value off the stage, is first said to have been used by David Garrick in the eighteenth century. The money is said to have been made by the wealthy actor-manager so as to keep actually his real money. There was little money, even of this counterfeit kind, used in the days of Shakespeare, because of the scarcity of any kind of money, particularly among actors.

And He Got the Pardon.

The judge who kissed against her will is ready not to press for a conviction if you ask her pardon and express your regret. Accused (to the pretty prosecutrix)—Yes, I humbly ask your pardon, but as a truthful man I cannot honestly express my regret.

Lightweights.

"I understand Anybody's is paying Scribner a dollar a word for his stories." "They were, but he broke the contract because they refused to count the punctuation marks as words."

Evil of Too Much haste.

In the east and in tropical countries tomorrow is made use of in an incidental way. It is for us to make use of it in a way that is scientific, hurried legislation, rash enterprises, poorly constructed buildings—superficial work of all kinds—is due to our making a sort of fetish of haste. We are overhastened, overburdened, overanxious. It is the broader vision of life that takes into consideration tomorrow and the day after, that enables us to do well the essential work of today.

Unfortunate Display of Learning.

A candidate, for parliament at an election instead of giving the old adage, "Truth is mighty and will prevail," in English, resorted to Latin, and said: "Magna est veritas et prevalebit." His opponent got the laugh on him by saying that Magna est Veritas and other foreigners, on whom the gentlemen depended for success, might "prevail a bit," but it would be a mighty small bit, as the ballot boxes would show. Which they did.

Slippery.

"The Panama Baby" is the latest. "What's the banana baby?" "An eastern phreatic has reared a marvelous child on a diet of bananas." "Marvelous in what way?" "In mentality. Why, the little fellow can answer at almost incredible number of difficult questions." "Wonderful, indeed! One would naturally suppose that a banana baby, would be apt to slip up once in a while."

Bright Green.

A great time and labor saver, in keeping brass, copper and other metals bright and shining, either indoors or outdoors, in any kind of weather, is to clean and scour in the usual way, and give them a coat of organic varnish, to be obtained at a store. Many ornaments which look luster are also improved by one application.

Puts Him to Sleep.

"How many of these sheep got out of here?" asked the angry farmer. "I don't know," replied the new hired man, rubbing his eyes. "After I had watched five or six of 'em jump over the fence I seemed to lose the count, for that always puts me to sleep."

Tightwads.

"I understand Anybody's is paying Scribner a dollar a word for his stories." "They were, but he broke the contract because they refused to count the punctuation marks as words."

Sunflowers and Temperature.

Sunflowers reduce temperature, and are known to arrest the malaria that prevails in some localities. Hundreds of homes in Missouri and Arkansas, as well as in Texas, are provided with a southern or southwestern patch of sunflowers near the home. It is said to work wonders in that respect.

Large Demand for Silver Bullion.

In sensitizing film and paper for use in photography pure silver bullion is treated with nitric acid, and so large has the business grown that the leading producing firm in this country uses one-third of the silver output of American mines, or five tons a month.

Woman's Rights.

A woman has the same human nature that a man has, the same human rights, the same human duties and they are as inalienable in a woman as in a man.—Theodore Parker.

Man to Avoid.

The man who can laugh at a funny story after hearing it the third time should not be trusted. He is a hypocrite.—Washington Star.

Worth of Man of Force.

There is always room for a man of force, and he, in turn, makes room for many. Society is a troop of thinkers, and the best heads among them take the best places. A feeble man can see the farms that are fenced and tilled and the houses that are built. A strong man sees the possible houses and farms. His clear eye makes estates as fast as the sun breeds clouds.—Emerson.

Find Statue in Tree Trunk.

While cutting up a century-old fir tree on the Simplan (France) foresters found in the heart of the trunk a bronze statue of the Virgin Mary. It was about a foot tall and perfectly preserved. It is supposed that the statuette was placed in a niche carved in the tree and that the wood gradually grew all around it.

Rough on the Maid.

It is embarrassing when a young lady is in to one young gentleman and out to another, and they happen to call together.

Slightly Misunderstood.

"I understand that the young man in the house next to you is a fisher-cornetist." "Ge! Is he? I was just screwing up my courage to finish him myself! Who did it?"—Houston Post

Be Ready for Fortune.

A Roman cardinal said: "There is nobody whom fortune does not visit once in his life; but when she finds he is not ready to receive her, she goes in the door and out through the window!"

Surely Limit in Realism.

Real rain is to be a feature of a forthcoming play. Nervous playgoers are hoping that the Reinhardt craze will not cause it to enter from the auditorium.—London Punch.

Mistake.

Mrs. Vastee Rich (sentimentally)—"Longfellow says: 'We cannot buy with gold the old associations.'" Vastee Rich—"Don't you believe it, my dear. When I was in politics I found that cash would purchase the ancient set organization on earth."—Life.

Lamentable Ignorance.

Mrs. Kaller—Cooks are such ignorant things, nowadays. Mrs. Justwed—Aren't they? They can't do the simplest things. I asked mine to make some sweetbreads the other day and she said she couldn't.—McCall's Magazine.

Problems That Settle Themselves.

Subordinators are often impatient of delays "higher up." They make a suggestion or a request which no doubt to them has the appearance of urgency, and if the response is not immediate they shake their heads over official inactivity and waste their time complaining of the prostration of others. It may be that nothing is done at all and in the end they are surprised to find that nothing was necessary. An extraordinary number of problems settle themselves.—Exchange.

Belief in Luck Harmful.

Belief in luck retards progress, dulls the intellect, deadens the will, debases the body and saps its vitality ever behind in the race of life. The man who believes that his luck is against him—good luck—has cast over himself an insidious spell and soon will feel that it is useless to knock at the treasure-room of fame and fortune, that a deaf ear will be turned to him because he comes to believe that door to be open only to its favored children.

Outside the Family.

A strange woman with a hard-luck story can get a quarter out of a man when his own wife can't get a dime.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ROMAN ROAD BUILT TO LAST

Parts of Magnificent Marble-Paved Highway Across Macedonia Are Still Passable as in Days Past.

We do not know how Neapolis looked in Paul's time, though it must have been a place of some considerable importance, since the great Egnatian Way, a splendid road paved with marble, and which stretched all the way from Rome to this outermost boundary of Macedonia, ended here. This road, traversing the whole southern part of Italy, from the Mediterranean to Brindisi on the Adriatic, began again after the interruption of the Adriatic at Durazzo; then it went across the breadth of Macedonia to Salonica, Apollonia, Amphipolis, Philippi and Neapolis. With all our modern pride in road building, since time began there has perhaps never been constructed such a magnificent highway as this.

After passing some large modern tobacco warehouses and some fine homes belonging to the tobacco magnates, we came to the edge of the city and faced a tremendous rock hill, seemingly composed of solid granite, on which not a blade of grass or the smallest shrub could find lodgment. Black and forbidding is this great mass of rock, like the "black hills" of Montenegro. Beside the modern road, and not more than fifty yards away in many places, the old Roman road was plainly visible. It is now so out of repair as to be impassable, and yet in some small stretches it is as smooth and as well paved as in the ancient days, though I saw none of the marble slabs with which it is said to have been covered. I descended from our ancient chariot and walked upon some of these stones of the old road.—Christian Herald.

YOUTHS THROG TO MUSEUM

Famous London Collection is a Magnet for the Youngsters of the Poorer Class.

The British Museum, which is attracting an unusually large number of visitors these days, is always much loved by the poorest children of the neighborhood. They come in shabby little groups and stray wonderingly through the long Egyptian gallery, sometimes finding their way to forbidden country, the basement of the antiques, where they evidently take a puzzled interest in the chilly figures.

But they prefer the mummy-room, with its painted cases and the odd little animals from Egyptian tombs, and, above all, they enjoy themselves in the ethnological section, with its savage-weapons, hideous, lifelike models and strange native costumes. The boys especially may often be seen rapt in admiration before the red Indian case with its array of eagle feathers worn by famous braves. The attendants look with very kindly eyes on these poverty-stricken but admirably behaved little people, realizing how much it means to them to have such a dry and warm resort.

But while it interests the visitors, too, to notice some tattered, white-faced child gazing up at a 5,000-year-old Pharaoh, it is a humiliating thought that London can show old Pharaoh such a hapless product of centuries.—Manchester Guardian.

When a Man's in Love.

Love was under discussion and the time-old "When-a-man-is-in-love" question came up. "A man is in love," said one, "when it gives him physical pain to tear up the slightest of her notes." "When"—but it would be violating confidences to tell other answers. One only—the best—we begged leave to print—"A man isn't really in love," said this romantically astute old gentleman, "until he begins to skip the descriptions of heroines in novels he reads, saying, 'What's the use of reading that? I'll have her looking like her and talking like her anyway.'"—Metropolitan.

Obedient Orders.

"Now remember, Mary," began Miss Belle, "I am at home this afternoon to no one but Mr. Van Brownkins. If any one else should call I am not at home. You understand?" "Oh, yes, miss," replied Mary. "Half an hour later Mary reappeared evidently worried about something. "If you please, miss," she began, "I've told three lady callers and one gentleman caller that you were at home to none except this Mr. Van Brownkins and they all went away very angry indeed, miss. Will you—" But the "not at home" had fainted.

Toothsome.

Her head lay pillowed upon his broad shoulder, and her face was so near his that a lock of her hair swept his cheek. She spoke not a word, but her eyes gazed tearfully and appealingly into those dark orbs of his, now filled with a smiling sort of pity. Suddenly she spoke, and at his words the girl shuddered. "There are two cavities to be filled with gold," he said, and he drew up his wicked little drill.

Laura's Answer.

Laura, aged four, was asked by a visitor what nationality she was. "I'm an American," she replied, "the same as my papa is; but my mamma is French." "And what is your baby brother, then?" queried the visitor, just to see what the answer would be. "I know," she said, "yet—he ain't big enough to talk yet."
