Lecture Course Tonight Memories of the Past A Successful Banquet

The second number on the lecture course will take place at the opera house tonight (Friday.) The Weatherwax Brothers' quartet will be the attraction. The Weatherwax Brothers' first public work was in the fall of '96, when they sang throughout northern Iowa in the notable McKinley campaign. They made such a hit everywhere that year that there was an immediate demand for them to do other public work. This quartet, in addition to vocal music, also appears in a trumpet quartet which always brings forth the admiration of those who love rich, heroic music. Trumpets are comparatively seldom used on the Lyceum platform, and it is a treat to hear them when well played. The trumpets which they

J. R. Hamilton, late of Bay City, has opened a photograph gallery in the Pumphes building.

We received a postal card last Friday from H. A. Spicer, dated Boston, Mass., Nov. 7, 1888, and containing the following: "Victory! Hurrah for Harrison and Morton."

During the demonstrations Monday evening a horse driven by a young German, of Livonia, became frightened and endeavored to run away. The animal was held down in good shape so that he did not get under much headway; but when opposite Dr. Collier's they got too far to one side of the road and the carriage upset, throwing out the occupants, one of whom was a Miss Minehart. The horse failed to get away, the occupants were unhurt and they soon started on their way again.

Tuesday evening as Fred Peck came out of his residence, he heard someone near by crying. Upon investigating he found a young lad about twelve years old, who said his parents lived at 515 Barney street, Bay City. That his brother, older and himself had run away from home, and that after reaching this place his brother had run away from him, and that was what he was crying about. He didn't appear to be very bright and it was a hard matter to learn very much from him. Peck and Marshal Dunn took him to the telegraph office and sent a message to his parents. He was kept over night and the next day Peck collected money enough about town to send him home.

One of the funny incidents of the campaign just over was three bets made by Ed Bennett with Harry McClumpha, Bert Bennett with Fred Dibble and Ed Hough with Bert Roe, that if Cleveland won, McClumpha, Dibble and Roe were to wheel the other three around the park and vice versa. As Cleveland failed to win, the two Bennetts and Hough made known their willingness to pay the bet and the time was set for three o'clock Saturday afternoon. Quite a crowd assembled to witness the affair, but it was about 3:15 before they made their appearance. The boys wore long linen dusters, and white plug hats trimmed with orange. The wheelbarrows were profusely decorated with flags. Bert Bennett led the procession, Dibble setting on the barrow with his feet over the front and carrying a banner with the inscription "Ben and Levi, get there Eli." Ed Bennett came next, wheeling McClumpha and wearing a large card with this inscription: "Reducing the surplus." As Ed is inclined to be somewhat flashy, he struck a good plan for "reducing the surplus" flash. Hough and Roe came next, the former with a large bandana handkerchief thrown over his shoulders. The procession was followed by a large number of boys, some of them carrying tin horns with which they kept up a continuous blast. The affair created considerable sport.

Special Election Next Monday

An election is to be held next Monday on the question of granting a franchise to a Pontiac party, which involves the laying of mains and pipes upon, across and along the village streets. No reservations are made in this franchise in the use of such streets, and there has been some discussion as to the effect it may have in the probable tearing up of the brick pavement on Main street. It is conceded by everyone that gas in the village would be a good thing, but tearing up the pavement is not a good thing. The people who are back of the proposition are bound by this franchise in the sum of $5,000 that their work must be done right, and their own statement is to the effect that they intend to do this work as well as it may possibly be done, if for no other reason than that of acquiring and holding the good will of the people of Plymouth who may become prospective patrons of the gas plant. They will certainly work under the supervision of the council when it comes to using the streets of the village and if it possibly may be done, the Main street pavement will not be touched, but mains laid in alleys or along lot lines on private property. We believe the property owners along Main street would grant the company this right rather than see the pavement torn up. We believe it to be safe to vote for the franchise.

An Enjoyable Event

Mrs. Willard Roe of this place entertained about twenty-five guests at her home Friday evening at a miscellaneous shower for her niece, Miss Una Gunsoolly of Northville. The house was tastefully decorated in pink and white. The bride-to-be was most generously showered with beautiful and useful gifts and the best wishes of those present. A dainty lunch of ice cream and cake was served.

Mrs. DeForest Truesdell died at her home in Canton very suddenly early Wednesday morning. She had been in her usual health, but upon arising Wednesday morning suffered a stroke and almost immediately passed away. She leaves beside her husband three children, two daughters, Mrs. Geo. Knapp and Mrs. Jay Sankost of this place and one son, Clyde Truesdell of Canton, also a brother, Geo. Sankost of Canton, and a sister, Mrs. Icy McCloughry of Ballville, besides many friends. The funeral will be held from the Sheldons church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

use were made specially for this quartet.

As to their vocal work, all four brothers have fine voices and have had years of practice together, which has resulted in most excellent harmony. They have all been natural musicians from their infancy, and as some one has truly said, "Their voices have a decided family blend." A unique feature of this organization is that there are two readers in the company.

Will Vote on Fish Screens

County clerk F. B. Babcock has only just had his attention called to a special act of the legislature which affects fish screens in Walled Lake and provides that the electors of Novi and Commerce townships shall vote at the April election whether they wish the fish screens removed from the outlet and inlet of the lake. The act is known as 342 of the public acts of 1913. The screens have prevented fish from coming into or going out of the lake since they were placed there by a special act of the legislature known as act 113 of the public acts of 1903. This act also provides that the fish shall not be removed from the lake by other means than a hook and line. Sentiment in the community is now divided on the advisability of keeping the fish screens in the lake. Many would have them taken out so the fish can go into adjoining streams. Others wish them to remain.—Press Gazette.

State School for Farmers

Michigan farmers are to be given the opportunity by the Michigan Agricultural college to go to school at home. Plans have been completed looking to the establishment in each county where the farmers desire it of a county school to last a week, with discussions of such topics as live stock, crops, soil, dairying, bee keeping, etc., led by college instructors.

To put the plan in operation 25 or more farmers in each county must agree to pay $1 each for the instruction, and a local organization must make all the arrangements and obtain a room suitable for holding the school sessions. Soil will be examined, special local conditions will be studied and efforts will be made to make the course of specific rather than general interest. President Snyder is urging the farmers to write their congressmen urging the passage of the Lever bill, which will obtain for Michigan within ten years an annual income of $100,000 for farm extension work.

Pop Mullen Stars in the Capture of Small Pig

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—Sneels of a sucking pig mingled with the "cofs" and grunts in dust by Pop Mullen, patrolman of much emboument, under the sputtering of electric arc lights, awakened residents of East Washington street at two o'clock the other morning to view a spectacle that proved the performance of Ursus, the head waiter for Lygia, in "Quo Vadis," didn't furnish Nerc with the most exciting arena feature by catching and embodying a bull.

Mullen was sauntering serenely along his silent beat thinking of nothing in particular when he heard a soft grunt behind him.

Roars of Zoo Beasts Awaken Timid Schoolgirls

ST. LOUIS, MO.—And in the stilly night (stilly is the poetic term for very still) there came to their ears the chilling roar of lions, the blood-curdling defiance of the king of beasts.

Marriage License Has Hard Tussle With Hoodoo

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—When Madel Hasset Gibbs, aged nineteen, of Colorado Springs discovered in the marriage license clerk's office the other day that her prospective husband, James J. Pottos of Vallejo, was twenty-three years old she suffered a little shock.

"That's a hoodoo number, James," she remarked. And then she glanced at the calendar and discovered that it was the 13th of the month. This was the week.

MAY BE CALLED LAST WORD IN EVENING GOWNS

THIS evening gown, although originated in a French salon, is not impossible to those who wish to copy it. It looks very simple, and if one can manage to copy its "hang" exactly so as to retain the all-important direction of its lines, this gown may be successfully made at home.

The pretty afternoon or evening gown pictured here sets forth the carriage of the figure and the pose of the apparel described in this discourse, but not in the exaggerated measure which may be discovered if one set out to look for it.
