Advertising the Church

We have been using this space for several months to advertise the church. We wonder if anyone has found fault with the idea. If so read what we think about the matter.

It is nothing new for the church to go after the people with the good news that they have friends, and a FRIEND, who seek their happiness. THE VERY EXISTENCE OF A CHURCH BUILDING IS AN INVITATION TO EVERY BEHOLDER.

Literally dozens of agencies are employed by organized Christianity to assure all men that God loves them, and that God's disciples love them, too.

Now, we are advertising this same friendly message. We would leave no method untried that gives promise of helping to bring to the people a sense of the actuality of religion. We want everybody to know that the church is in earnest in its desire to serve all people, and to make our Master real to men. Because we have THE MOST IMPORTANT MESSAGE IN ALL THE UNIVERSE to tell, we are advertising it in the newspaper, even as we proclaim it from our pulpits every week. We declare the GOOD NEWS that man's real life is his spirit-life, and that his relationship with a loving God should be his first care.

Class Night, Reception and Alumni Banquet Mark Close of Public Schools

Prof. W. N. Isbell, who was given a public reception at the high school building last Thursday evening at the close of ten years of successful service as superintendent of the Plymouth public schools.

Class Night and Reception

The class day exercises were given before a large audience at the opera house last week Thursday evening. The class play, entitled "The Last Senior Meeting," was presented by the graduating class with Victor Jolliffe presiding as president and Miss Mildred Butler as secretary. The uniform costumes of the class was very pleasing. The young ladies wore white Peter Thompson suits and the young gentlemen dark coats, with white trousers and shoes. Mr. A. C. Jackson of Detroit gave several fine vocal selections with Miss Bertha Beals as accompanist. At the close of the exercises a public reception was held at the school house for Prof. W. N. Isbell and family. About one hundred guests were in attendance and after all had assembled Rev. B. F. Farber introduced the following speakers, Miss Isabelle Hanford, Mr. Milton Wisley, Dr. J. J. Travis, Rev. A. L. Bell, Rev. Joseph Dutton, C. H. Ranch and P. W. Voorhies. Each in turn paid a tribute to Mr. Isbell and family. They spoke, not only of the good work that he had done in this school, but of his sterling qualities as a citizen, a true friend and Christian gentleman. At the close Rev. B. F. Farber in behalf of the citizens of Plymouth, presented Mr. Isbell with a purse of gold, after which fruit punch was served.

The Alumni Banquet

The Alumni banquet of the Plymouth High School was held in the school house last Friday evening. Covers were laid for one hundred guests in the kindergarten room, which was tastefully decorated with ferns, flowers and lavender and white crepe paper, the school colors. ## Opening Pinckney's New Drug Store

Pinckney's Pharmacy opened their new store in the Penniman block on Main street to the public last Saturday, and many friends and patrons took occasion to call during the day, and evening to inspect the handsome new store, and extend to the proprietors their enthusiastic congratulations for the progressive spirit they have displayed in giving to Plymouth a drug store that would be a credit to any city. The store room has been newly decorated, the walls being in buff, while the ceiling is in a tint of the same coloring. The store is well lighted, the indirect system of electric lights being used. Four handsome bowl chandeliers add much to the beauty of the room. On the right side of the room there extends a line of sleek salesmen's show cases for the display of toilet articles, cigars, etc., while the shelves contain a complete line of patent preparations, etc. Extending across the room at the rear of the store is a beautiful soda bar of the very latest and most improved pattern. The bar is finished in dark oak with trimmings in Vermont marble. The fountain is equipped with an automatic carbonizer which does away with the old system of carbonizing water by hand. The water used is pumped automatically as it is used from the city water system, keeping it always fresh and pure. The iceless system is used for cooling the fountain, all the working parts being in German silver to insure sanitation. A number of tables and chairs are arranged through the center of the store for the serving of patrons. The soda fountain is in charge of Miss Uma Willett. On the south side of the store is the confectionery department with a full line of McKenzies' home-made candies, as well as other well known brands. Near the front part of the store is the magazine and book department. The prescription department is at the extreme end of the store and has been especially fitted up and conveniently arranged to give this part of the business special attention. This department is in charge of E. L. Christwell, who has been the popular pharmacist at this store for the past two years. It is indeed a very fine store and Mrs. Pinckney and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are to be congratulated.

Grange Fourth of July Picnic

Don't forget the annual Fourth of July picnic held at the home of W. M. Tilton, just west of the village on the Penniman Ave. road. Come early and stay late. Don't forget to bring your lunch. There will be plenty of shade and some music by the orchestra. In the afternoon there will be various races. One feature will be the chicken race. So boys, get a string on the "hind" foot of your long legged rooster and get him to stepping. A ball game will be played by two picked teams. Everybody come and have a good time.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat. There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and swallowed. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and sluggish after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many serious cases of stomach troubles and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

STORIES OF U. S. FLEET ON DUTY AT THE PORT OF VERA CRUZ

Vera Cruz, Mexico.—Months before the landing of the American naval forces at Vera Cruz and the capture of the Mexican port plans had been worked out for the occupation of the city. They contemplated resistance by the Mexicans and were not merely plans for peaceful patrolling of streets and administration of civil duties. Five months ago the battleship New Jersey was sent to Vera Cruz and her officers were detailed immediately for a military survey of the city. Outwardly the groups of young officers who were ashore daily were merely sightseeing, riding or walking through the quaint old city and having the best of times. Actually, the city was as carefully charted as if it were a coast of dangerous reefs and shoals. The spots along its waterfront were selected where the men of the sea should land whenever hostilities might start. The straight streets which might be swept by the deadly hail of bullets from machine guns were marked.

Streets Vary Crooked. In a seventeenth century Spanish city such as this straight streets are an exception. Many streets are curved and more have jogs every few blocks, so that the street appears to end abruptly until the end is reached, when it is seen to continue a hundred feet or so to the right or left. The buildings whose commanding roofs would sweep these streets were listed. The dozen or more high parapeted stone and plaster towers which overlooked various parts of the city were known even to the location of stairways, so that no time might be lost in reaching their commanding turrets. The flat roofs were charted like steps. They were to be occupied in successive series, all the time advancing over the housetops until the city was swept and secured.

The developments of the day showed that the precautions were wisely taken. The capture of Vera Cruz in the warless war was a fight over the housetops. Behind the roof parapets and from the high towers the Mexican snipers fought like defenders of a beleaguered medieval castle. Each city block of the gray stone city made a separate castle. Had their defenses been as determined and as united as the attack of the men from the ships the story of American death and bloodshed would have been far more bitter. American foresight knew more about their own city than they did themselves. It struck straight for the high spots.

Fighting Sobers Jackies. To probably more than half the bluejackets and marines the first two days of fighting in Vera Cruz was a sudden awakening that life in the navy is not all pomp, parade, travel and play. Many had never seen a fellow being cold in death, much less a man killed, or been under fire before. It was a changed body of young men that came back to the ships. Shore expeditions before had been for display or pleasure. This had been grim business, in which comrades of the other happy shores had died, where the blood lust of revenge had run high, and in a twinkling they had changed from carefree boys to hardened men.

In the Plaza d' Cathedral the hospital corps gathered up the mangled remains of a Mexican defender. A three-inch shell had torn away both legs. The close fire of a machine gun had chopped the body as if with knives. Across the plaza to the ears of an officer to whom war had ceased to be play came the ribald chatter. "Carry the body down the street!" he directed the hospital orderlies.

It was lifted on a stretcher. The men with the red cross on their sleeves started at a brisk pace. Carefully the nearest boys stepped forward to look. With a shudder they drew back. The words from on their lips it was as if some invisible hand of ice had stifled their heartbeats. Aking the lilt moved the human wreckage of their bullet. It was death's muller. One glance sufficed.

Each sailor boy looked straight ahead. Thoughts flew to homes far away as war's realities were realized. The lesson had been learned. Tension at Snapping Point. In the weeks the fleet was assembling at Vera Cruz awaiting word from Washington or a chance which might unloose the flood of war, tension was at the snapping point. It was the vigilance of a stranger in the enemy's country. The island prison-fortress, San Juan del Ulua, lay grim and menacing. The Americans knew four torpedo tubes opened from the sides. Each night the harbor was dragged for mines or wires. Every moment the tubes were watched. The Maine disaster had not been forgotten. One night in December, across the moonlit waters came the steady thump of the air compressors working in the fort's torpedo magazines. On the battleship Rhode Island the big gongs which sound only the call to general quarters changed forth. The ship's searchlights illuminated the fort as if at noonday. Enough guns found the range to blow the island and fort out of the sea. The thump of the air compressors stopped. San Juan del Ulua hasn't found a torpedo yet.

During the fighting the cruiser Prairie, lying outside the breakerwater, was directly in front of one of the torpedo tubes. While her guns on the shore side were turned on the naval academy one of her eight-inch pieces on the fort side was trained on the torpedo tubes. The fort commandant had been warned that his first move would be the signal to fire a deadly fulminate shell into the ancient fort. The line to raise the sluice gate hung slack.

A picturesque grove of six cocconut palms stands on the sea promontory of the same fort. Coming into the harbor their waving tops stand clear against the colorless skyline. As the ship's launches come closer a gibbet—a single upright with a projecting arm, from which a now unused noose still dangles—also shows against the sky. Serve in Army or Be Hung. Back of the gibbet is a rectangular inclosure. Into this open air "bull pen" under the broiling sun were from one hundred and fifty to two hundred prisoners. Some were army deserters, others prisoners of war and more were conscripts picked up in the streets and sabanas. All were invited to enlist in the federal army. To invite them with the merits of the invitation each morning, one who had obstinately refused it was elevated on the gibbet. In the evening he was tossed over the sea wall to the sharks. The argument is said to have been effective in convincing most of the prisoners that their patriotic duty was to join Huerta's army.

Everything seemed quiet one night along one of the streets being patrolled by marines from the New Jersey, when suddenly a black form with arms waving shot across the narrow roadway. The machine gun crew down the street saw it and let loose with a roar and the bullets hummed down the street. A minute later it shot back with the same defiant waving of arms. The excited machine gun crew let loose again, but apparently with the same futile result. Lieut. C. D. Barrett, with a couple of his marines, stole down the street. If the uncanny apparition dodging back and forth through the hail of bullets was human it was the strongest man they had ever seen.

"It's only a cat," concluded the lieutenant. "And it's on a rope and a man is working it back and forth across the street." Cent Makes Last Trip. A minute later the coat started to flap across the street again. The machine gun two blocks away barked at it in vain. The arm appeared for half an inch. Half a dozen marines let go with their rifles. That was the troublesome coat's last trip. No traces of blood were found, but the woodwork of the door was bored as if by saws.

"Probably some native trying to become a hero in his senorita by getting his coat full of bullet holes," was the lieutenant's explanation of the strange performance. Those who form their ideas of the navy from comic operas may believe there was such a ridiculous person as the "admiral of the king's naeve," made famous in song. Perhaps there was, but more likely the famous English composer created a fictitious person from mistakes, real or imaginary, of many admirals. Admirals make mistakes. So do captains; also many other dignified, stern visaged officers of our own immaculate American navy.

Captain Boards Wrong Ship. Late one night when the fleet was off Vera Cruz a certain captain stepped into his launch and started for his ship. His thoughts were on the day's work and the plans for the next, and as his boat came to a stop off a gangway he stepped on the landing and mounted the stairs of the battleship's deck. "Tell the boat to cast off," he said to the officer who saluted him at the top of the ladder. The officer of the deck did so. He knew it was not his captain, but discipline laid down his rules. The captain stroled across the afterdeck. The commander—a commander is next in rank to a captain on a battleship, is on duty 24 hours a day and ranks with a major in the army—met him, saluted and passed on. That seemed strange to the captain. He looked around. It was just like his ship, but something seemed strange.

"What ship is this?" he asked. "The ———, sir," replied the commander, facing about at attention. "I thought it was my ship," said the captain. "That that coxswain, why did he put me off at this ship?" demanded the captain from the officer of the deck, which also was not according to rules. The captain descended the gangway. The ship's boat drew up to receive him. The coxswain looked up to the deck for his orders. "Proceed to the ——— with a passenger and return to ship," ordered the officer of the deck. "Ay, ay, sir," replied the coxswain. The bell rang and the boat was off.

CARE OF THE DAIRY PRODUCTS IN SUMMER

THE WATCHWORD OF THE CAREFUL DAIRYMAN SHOULD BE

"CLEANLINESS AND COOLNESS"

[By C. E. Newlander, Instructor in Dairying, Michigan Agricultural College.]

The dairy interests of the state suffer immense losses every year from spoiling and deterioration of products during the summer season. These losses occur all the way from the way from the dairy farm to the large dealers in dairy products and are the result of improper methods of handling milk on the farm, on the road and in the shipping stations. From the point of view of greater profit, as well as that of public health, every person who produces or handles milk should give thoughtful attention to the means by which milk may be kept cold and free from contaminations. The result will be greater satisfaction to the consumer and greater profits to the producer.

Importance of Cleanliness. Milk is one of the most perishable of foods. It will not remain in good condition more than a few hours, when produced and handled carelessly. It quickly ferments or sours and may undergo other changes. The changes in milk are due to bacteria, commonly called germs, some of which may cause disease. The chief source of bacteria in milk is the foreign matter which finds its way into milk, such as small particles of soil or manure, hairs, dust, old milk, impure water, etc., all of which are carriers of bacteria. The watchwords of the careful dairyman should always be cleanliness and low temperatures, but more especially so during the warm season. Since it is impossible to exclude all bacteria from milk, the producer should aim to exclude as many as possible and then to check the growth of those which have got into the milk. The first may be done by practicing cleanliness. The cows should be kept clean by brushing and by wiping off the teats and udders. This does not require much time and is necessary where the cows have access to marshes and dirty barnyards. The milking should take place in a clean, well lighted stable as free from dust as possible. The milker should wear a clean suit used only when milking, rather than his dusty working clothes. Above all he should milk with clean, dry hands. But with all the care that can be exercised some dirt and bacteria will be constantly falling where milking is in progress. The amount falling into the milk pail can be greatly reduced by the use of a pail with a small top.

Necessity for Cooling Milk. The second point, that of checking the growth of bacteria, can be accomplished by cooling the milk to a low temperature, 50 degrees F. or below, because bacteria do not readily grow at this temperature. The cooling can be done by pouring the milk over a cooler or by stirring it in cans set in cold water. Use a thermometer to note the temperature. It is not sufficient to simply cool the milk, it must be kept cold until delivered to the station or factory. Milk hauled to the station or factory in hot weather must be covered to protect it from heat. This can readily be done by covering the cans with blankets which have been thoroughly soaked in cold water. In case of long trips on exceptionally hot days it may be necessary to wet the blankets more than once.

In addition to the above it should be stated that milk should not be handled or stored in the stable. It is much better to have a separate milk room or milk house used for this purpose only, which can more readily be kept free from dust and odors. Also the proper cleaning and sterilization of utensils is a matter of great importance. The pails, cans, strainers, etc., should first be rinsed in lukewarm water, then thoroughly scrubbed with a brush in warm water to which some alkali like soda has been added, and then rinsed carefully in clean warm water. If possible the utensils should then be sterilized by the use of live steam, but good results may be obtained by dipping in boiling water for a minute or two. This will warm them sufficiently so they will dry of their own heat making wiping unnecessary.

Tobacco Spray Destroys Grape Insect. Washington, D. C.—The insect known as the leaf-hopper that has seriously menaced the vineyards of Ohio and Michigan may be controlled by the use of a tobacco spray, according to the scientists of the Department of Agriculture. The time for the application of this spray is during the last few days in June or very early in July. Successful control of the insect depends on thoroughly wetting all parts of the under side of the infested leaves with the spray liquid.

WRONG KING OF GARDENING

Form That Patient Had Been Indulging In Was Not What Doctor Would Have Recommended.

"Now comes the season when the wife goes to the country and the husband, in the words of the immortal song, shouts 'Hooray! Hooray!'"

Thus Jerome S. McWade, in an after dinner speech at Duluth began his response to a toast on "The Ladies." "When the ladies are with us, we are safe," he resumed, "but when they go off to country or shore, leaving us in town alone, then our troubles begin."

A man one summer day called on a doctor. "Doc," he said, "I'm all run down." "You look it, too," said the doctor sympathetically. "I'm not going to prescribe drugs for a man in your condition. No, sir, what I'm going to prescribe for you is gardening."

"The patient started and his unhealthy pallor turned to a dull brick red. "But, doc," he said, "gardening is the cause of all my trouble." "Humph, what kind of gardening?" said the doctor incredulously. "Roof," the man replied."

Limitation of Art. The head of a certain Washington family was recently approached by his son, just nearing his majority. "Father," said he, "I want a talk with you concerning my future. I have decided to become an artist. Have you any objections?"

The old man scratched his head effectively and replied: "Well, no, son—provided, of course, that you don't draw on me."

ERUPTION DISFIGURED FACE

Lock Box 35, Maurice, Ia.—"In the spring of 1911 our little daughter, age five years, had a breaking out on her lip and part of her cheek that we took for ringworm. It resembled a large ringworm, only it differed in that it was covered with watery blisters that itched and burned terribly, made worse by her scratching it. Then the blisters would break through and let out a watery substance. She was very cross and fretful while she had it and had very little rest at night. When the eruption was at its worst the teacher of the school sent her home and would not allow her to attend until the disfigurement of her face was gone.

Read What Another Woman Says. Cumming, Ga.—"I tell some suffering woman every day of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it has done for me. I could not eat or sleep, had a bad stomach and was miserable all the time. I could not do my housework or walk any distance without suffering great pain. I tried doctors' medicines and different patent medicines but failed to get relief. My husband brought home your Vegetable Compound and in two weeks I could eat anything, could sleep like a healthy baby, and walk a long distance without feeling tired. I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound to women who suffer as I did, and you are at liberty to use this letter."—Mrs. CHARLES BAILEY, R. S. Cumming, Ga.

Don't Poison Baby.

FOETY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep and a FEW DROPS OF MORPHINE. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is "a medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which on prolonged use produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The name and small of medicines containing opium are displayed, and sold under the name of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, it is the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Wyandotte or Trenton will play here next Saturday. Game called at 3 o'clock. Admission 15c.

Remove the Rye. According to all available statistics, the wheat crop of the United States is going to break all records, in 1914.

The figures gathered by the officials at Washington indicate a crop of nearly one billion bushels. A crop of this pretty certain to be a low priced crop.

The very quality of it is likely to effect prices to some extent. It, therefore, behooves farmers to gather their crop in the best possible condition, in order that they may receive the top price which is being offered.

A good farmer should be unwilling to take any discount from this, due to inferiority of grain which can be prevented. The thing which can be prevented in large measure is the mixture of rye with the wheat.

With good wheat as abundant as it will be, it is very certain that an unusual discount will be demanded at the markets here Detroit and Toledo for wheat mixed with rye. An unusual amount of rye is growing in the wheat. It ought to be cut out. The owners of all such fields should make an extra effort this year to cut out the rye. It will be the only way to get full price for your wheat crop. The rye is now visible everywhere and it ought to be cut out at once.

Indians at Philadelphia Zoo Laugh at Animals

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Whoever thinks an Indian never laughs should have been at the Zoological gardens the other afternoon when a group of seven Blackfoot braves and four squaws, in full warpaint and feathers, saw for the first time the curious wild animals from all parts of the world. The Redskins simply roared with mirth from the time they struck the garden until they left. Every animal amused them highly, particularly the monkeys, and both furnished amusement for the great crowd in attendance.

Medicine Owl, one of the huskiest of the braves, stopped stock still in front of the cage holding the largest baboon in the garden. He let loose several loud guffaws and attracted Mr. Baboon's attention. It's a mistake to try to make a monkey out of a baboon. He resents it. This particular baboon did, anyhow, and he showed his anger by shaking the bars of the cage, bawling shrilly and making the most horrible of faces. The madder he got the more Medicine Owl laughed and the more Medicine Owl laughed the madder the baboon became. The other Indians joined in Medicine Owl's screams and the baboon went into a frenzy. He tore around the cage until he could stand it no longer. With a last frightful grimace at the convulsed Redskins he dashed headfirst against a swinging door leading to the outside cage and disappeared through.

None of the other animals paid as much attention to the Indians' laughter as the baboon. The lions, tigers and other members of the cat family were too busy feeding to give any notice to the Indians as they passed through the carnivora house. The Indians, however, paid close heed to the table manners of the big cats and thoroughly enjoyed the sight. It was the same with the sea lions. The Indians watched them closely as they swallowed the fish thrown to them.

Before the giraffe, the Indians stopped laughing and gazed in awe. They could scarcely believe their own eyes and the zoo attendants had a hard time dragging them away from the cage.

Sporty Driver Finds "Uncle" Is the Town Police

BOSTON, MASS.—Ovide W. Meunier drove his rig jauntily through the streets of Holbrook. Carelessly he glanced to the right and left, drinking in the admiring looks of the populace. He looked like real money and he knew it. He was in high fettle.

But Ovide didn't know just how shrewd the Holbrookites are, and the result was that the next day he was fined $50 for carrying a loaded revolver by Judge Avery in the Quincy police court, and was wanted by the Fall River police for the larceny of the rig he so sportively drove.

When Ovide met up with Thomas Carrig he believed he had come to the very man who would buy the rig. The horse was a beautiful, high-stepping bay, and the carriage was one of the sporty variety. It was then that Ovide made his first mistake.

He offered the rig to Carrig for $22. But Carrig has a son who wasn't the "rube" Ovide thought he was. The son, John, became suspicious, for he knew horseflesh. He called up the police department, Chief Walter Crooker. The department responded, represented himself as John's uncle, and invited Ovide to take him to the uncle's office where the trade could be carried through.

Ovide didn't suspect any rube trick, so he drove to the office. There's where he made his second mistake, for on his arrival at the so-called uncle's office he found himself under arrest.

The police of Fall River declared they wanted Ovide for larceny. Chief Crooker dug into Ovide's hip pockets and brought forth two loaded revolvers. He dug into Ovide's suitcase and brought forth a complete kit of burglar's tools. So he put his guest in the town lockup.

Andrew Carnegie a Prisoner in His Own Garden

NEW YORK.—Andrew Carnegie left here the other day on board the Oceanic, singing a song of peace, but he told of having his temper ruffled on the previous night when he was accidentally made a prisoner in his own yard.

He found that he had closed a door with a spring lock and could not get back into his house, so he paced back and forth in the garden, eagerly looking through the steel pickets that rise 12 feet above the street. A boy about twelve years old came ambling up the street whistling a song of spring.

"Come here my boy," said Mr. Carnegie, peering out from the garden. "What do you want?" said the boy. "I am Mr. Carnegie and I find that you have locked myself out here in the garden. Will you please go around to the front door and tell the servants of my predicament."

"Not me," said the boy, with a wave of his hand. "You ain't Mr. Carnegie. If you were you wouldn't be kept out there in the yard."

"Now, really, my good boy, I am truly Mr. Carnegie. Will you do as I ask you, please?"

"Nobody home, nobody home," said the boy, starting to walk away.

"The thing was beginning to distract me," said Mr. Carnegie, as he told of the incident. "I had gone into the garden to pick a bouquet to take with me on shipboard. So I called to the boy again, telling him I would give him one of the flowers I had in my hand if he would notify the servants."

"Oh, I'll take a chance," said the boy. He did and he waited for a larger reward than the flower when he learned that the man who spoke to him really was Mr. Carnegie.

Wanted Charity Organization to Build Her Fire

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The women engaged in social service work at the Charity Organization society are skilled in the art of lending a sympathetic ear to the daily tales of woe that come to them. They are quick to discern the cases where aid is worthily deserved and gladly do everything in their power to put the unfortunate on his feet. And they are just as quick to see through the efforts of schemers to get something for nothing. But when a middle-aged woman, neatly dressed, walked into the office and placed her application for aid before one of the women, all the previous training and experience almost failed to serve her.

"I want you to send someone out to my house to build a fire," said the woman, smiling sweetly. Seeing the look of amazement spreading over the face of the woman behind the desk, she evidently thought some explanation was due. "You see I just rented a house," she said, "and I must have a fire built to warm it up. I thought the woman I rented the house of would see to that or I wouldn't have rented it."

"Well, the men of some people," was the sentiment the charity worker put the applicant to rest. But she did not. She guessed a very solemn air and she said the applicant for "aid" that the society was only too willing to supply the necessities of needy families, yet could not supply coal bins, and provide stoves for the winter, but that the society had not reached that millennium stage when it would assume the task of fire making for able-bodied people.

CUBAN SUGAR—Effort of Louisiana to prevent continued imports of Cuban sugar at 20 per cent under the regular duty, by enjoining the secretary of the treasury, is refused.

Washington, June 23.—Transcontinental railroads won their fight for title to about $700,000,000 worth of oil lands when the Supreme court held void the clause in the patents making the land revert to the government if found to contain minerals. Justice Vandevanter announced the decision.

The court held that the patents were irregular, but that they could not be attacked collaterally—by other claimants—but could be set aside only by a direct attack by the government.

Justice Vandevanter, for the court, incidentally emphasized the claim that the government's time in which it could attack the patents had expired in 1900 or 1901.

The government contended that when it gave the lands to the railroad it did not grant minerals not then known to exist. Each patent issued contained an exception and reservation reading:

"Excluding and excepting all mineral lands should any such be found in the tracts aforesaid."

Justice Vandevanter held that a general statute made it the duty of the secretary of the interior to inquire whether the lands were of the class for which a patent could be issued.

Spokane and other intermountain cities won their long fight against 16 railroads for reduced freight rates by the Supreme court's decision of the celebrated "intermountain rate" or "long-and-short-haul" case. The court approved the radical rate reduction on west-bound freight to western inland cities ordered by the interstate commerce commission.

MANY MINERS PERISH

20 WORKERS TAKEN OUT ALIVE AT HILLCREST COLLIERY.

300 Flee After Explosion—Bodies of 23 Dead Are Brought to Surface From Burning Shaft.

Hillcrest, Alta., June 23.—Figures given out by the Canadian Pacific railroad show that 185 men are still in the burning Hillcrest mine. They are all believed to be doomed. Twenty men were rescued alive and 23 bodies were recovered.

An explosion occurred in the mine, which is one of a group on the Crow's Nest line, at 9:30 a. m. on Friday. Three hours later 23 bodies had been recovered from the underground workings. Twenty men were rescued alive. Fifty of the men were still living, some horribly burned, others mangled by the force of the blast, all suffering from the effects of the poisonous gases.

At six o'clock two trains filled with expert mine workers, with doctors, nurses and officials of the railroads, reached here. At once the gangs of rescuers were supplemented and the work of rescue went on with better results, aided by the latest scientific devices for saving life in mining disasters.

The explosion blew out both ends of the pit, and instantly blocked up the interior of the workings. Most of the men were working about four hundred feet inside the mine.

Carrying pulmotors and clad in special dress to protect the rescuers from noxious fumes, the rescuers made considerable progress and debris at the entrance was soon cleared away.

It will take a week to get at the bodies of all those entombed, and some may never be reached.

FIRST SCHOOL TO DEAL WITH BOY PROBLEM

VISITING DAY AT THOMPSON'S ISLAND

The first organized effort in this country to deal with the ever complex "boy problem" and to solve it was made in Boston. The Farm and Trades school on Thompson's Island, Boston harbor, which recently celebrated its centennial anniversary, was the result.

This school has done remarkable work and has set the pace for all institutions of a like nature which have been established in various parts of the country. The first meeting to effect an organization for this school was held on March 21, 1814. Boston was then but a town. In it were boys bereft by death of one or both parents, and outside of the work carried on by the various charitable organizations, no adequate relief was available.

In the beginning the management provided principally shelter and food. An asylum was established in the West end. Boys from five to twelve years of age were gathered there, and were sent to the public schools for education. Six years later larger quarters were secured at the North end in the former residence of the colonial governor, Sir William Phipps.

As soon after the age of twelve as was possible the boys, following the custom of the day, were apprenticed to farmers or tradesmen in other parts of the state, and there the responsibility of the school for the time ended.

Meanwhile another institution was organized which conceived its object to be something more than providing shelter. It felt the boy, to attain better results in manhood, should receive industrial training. That was the Boston Farm school, which in 1832 secured a charter. In a few months the sum of $25,000 was raised in Boston for the school and Thompson's Island, containing 157 acres, was bought for $6,000.

Two years later the asylum at the North end sold its property there, and making a union with the Boston Farm school, removed to Thompson's Island. For nearly three-quarters of a century the name was the Boston Asylum and Farm school, and agriculture formed the basis of the educational system.

With an isolation that made conditions almost ideal for carrying out its purpose, little attention was attracted to the school, and it quietly pursued its unique work as a private school for worthy boys of limited means.

About ten years ago, more truly to describe its present functions, the name was changed by the legislature to the Farm and Trades school.

The school is supported by endowments, tuition fees and subscriptions. Its vested funds amount to nearly $250,000, but the income from this source and tuition leaves a deficit of nearly $30,000 a year, which is made up by subscriptions. Tuition fees amount to about $6,000 a year. The annual expenses are about $36,000.

Provision is made for 100 boys, whose eligibility for admission requires them to be between ten and fourteen years of age, of good moral character, in fair physical condition and who are not lower than the sixth grade in grammar school. Recommendations are required from the family physician, a clergyman and from three or four persons of recognized standing in the community.

Admissions are made four times a year. Only boys whose recommendations are satisfactory are admitted, and, if on trial, a boy proves to be unfitted for the school, he is not allowed to remain. After admission the school furnishes everything needed for the boy—clothing, shelter, subsistence, medical attendance and trade opportunities and moral discipline.

The school aims to fit the boy for higher pursuits, and, upon completing the course at school, to place him either in a higher school or in a position for which he seems adapted.

As the general farm work necessarily included some instructions in certain trades, and as carpentering and painting and the island location permitted practical instruction in the use and management of boats, the first enrichment of the curriculum occurred in 1857, when a brass band was organized and has been in existence since.

It is said to be the oldest boys' band in the country, and is one of the distinctive features of the school.

In 1882 the educational system was greatly broadened by the erection and equipment of Gardner hall, which contained a printing office, manual training outfits and woodworking lathes. Here the firstloyd lessons were given, so far as known, in this country.

Interest in these several branches was greatly stimulated, and the school course was so changed as to permit almost daily lessons in carpentry and printing, while ordinary school work still continued.

Today instruction is given on the following subjects: Preparation of the soil, planting of seed, cultivation, harvesting and rotation of crops, cultivation of fruits and care of orchards, setting out and caring for trees and shrubs, sowing and sowing seed, mixing of chemicals for fertilizers, mechanics, wood and instrumental music, sloyd, mechanical drawing, cabinet work, wood turning, carpentry, blacksmithing, machine work in metal, printing and binding, painting, cobbling, office work, the handling of boats and the whole realm of household duties.

ings have to be reckoned. All this sort of business is compressed into this one meeting.

Thompson's Island, the home of the school, takes its name from David Thompson, a London merchant and agent or attorney for the Council for New England, an early English corporation. From this he obtained a patent of land, signed November 16, 1622, including 6,000 acres and one island in New England.

In 1626 he moved to Thompson's Island with his wife, infant son and servants, and built his log house on the east shore of the island. Its ruins were discovered a few years ago and the site is now marked by a stone inscribed: "Site of David Thompson Cabin. First House in Boston Harbor, 1626."

After Thompson's death and the removal of his family the possession of the island became a subject of litigation. It had been included in the Massachusetts bay colony patent of 1627, and in 1634 was granted for the support of a free school to the inhabitants of the town of Dorchester, by which it was rented out as a cow pasture.

The island, attractive to its first white owner because of its harbor, has since then been so beautified with groves and rows of trees and orchards that it is probably not excelled in this respect by any island of equal size along the Atlantic coast.

For three-quarters of a century the work of development and beautifying has been going on. Spruce and other fir trees, oaks, elms, chestnut, linden, acacia and elm trees abound. The orchard contains apple, pear, cherry, plum and quince trees.

More than twenty years ago Mr. Bradley organized the Cottage Row government. This is a student municipality, but probably the most realistic organization of its kind. It includes not only political government, but the ownership of property and all that that implies.

Cottage Row consists of a dozen cottages, of various sizes, built by the boys, and each registered with the plot of land in a registry of deeds. There is a city hall, where the city council meets at stated intervals, and where questions of student control are discussed as well as the affairs of the city property.

The government consists of a judge, mayor, three shareholding or property-holding aldermen, and two non-shareholding aldermen, and a treasurer and an assessor.

The mayor appoints a chief of police, a lieutenant, sergeant and four patrolmen, a clerk, librarian, street commissioner and janitor. Each has his specified duties to perform. Thus nearly one-fifth of the boys at the school have a direct interest in the management of the municipal government.

Since the school has been on Thompson's Island there have been but four superintendents. Charles H. Bradley became superintendent in March, 1883, completing 34 years of service the present month. Under his direction the school has made wonderful progress, and its reputation has spread all over the country.

LETTER FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

ASSESSMENT ON CASH VALUATION TO BE ACCOMPLISHED WITHIN ONE YEAR.

BARNES PRAISES NEW LAW

Michigan to Have Most Complete Chain of Interurban Railways of Any State in Union in Few Years.

[By GURD M. HAYES.]

Lansing, Mich.—Within one year the entire state of Michigan will be assessed on a cash valuation basis according to O. F. Barnes, one of the three state tax commissioners. Nineteen counties have been appraised by the commission and at present the assessments in the other counties are being placed on a cash basis by the commissioners by supervision of the assessments of the supervisors throughout the state. This was made possible by action of the legislature at the last session and as a result the work of boosting the assessments of all property in the state to its cash valuation will be completed four years sooner than was anticipated two years ago when the commission began appraising various counties and placing the assessments on a cash basis.

The counties which were appraised by the commission follow: Charlevoix, Gogebic, Iron, Baraga, Marquette, Dickinson, Bay, Saginaw, Genesee, Allegan, Ingham, Oakland, Van Buren, Kalamazoo, Calhoun, Jackson, Berrien, Grand Traverse and Isocoo.

Commissioner Barnes highly commended the action of the law makers in passing the bill which is assisting the commission to a great extent.

"The last legislature, recognizing that the supervisors were sworn to assess at cash values greatly increased the powers and duties of the tax commission by passing the law which declares that the tax commission shall supervise and assist supervisors to the end that their assessments shall be at cash value," said Commissioner Barnes.

"Under this law the commission organized a plan to assist supervisors. It placed its entire force of examiners—50 in all—at the disposal of the supervisors of the state. It published a pamphlet on cash value assessments and in other ways assisted the local assessing officers.

"The result has far exceeded the best hopes of the commission. The great majority of the supervisors entered into the spirit of cash value assessments, and the reports which come hourly to the commission show that 75 per cent of the territory not before reassessed by the commission and not including Keat and Wayne counties, has been put up to approximately cash value by the supervisors themselves. In Kent county reassessment is now being made by the tax commission and a large force of our field men has been at work in Wayne County since last December. It is safe to say that the new program has pushed the time for cash values ahead four years. Another year the uneven assessments left can be adjusted and then cash value assessments will prevail over the entire state.

"Where ever the supervisors have honestly and heartily entered into the spirit of cash value assessments the tax commission will not reassess those townships but will endeavor to ascertain how near cash value the supervisors have got. The commission will recommend the amounts it thinks the supervisors differ from the commission's idea and will ask those townships to be increased by the county boards at the equalization sessions. This will be done on the promise that the assessments the next year shall be brought up to the full sum by the supervisors."

The state railroad commission has been advised of the sale of $5,000,000 worth of five-year six per cent gold notes out of an $8,000,000 authorization, which was recently given the Michigan Railways Co., an electric corporation with headquarters in Grand Rapids, and whose outside offices are in Chicago and New York. The sale of the notes was made to New York parties.

This means that the Michigan Railways Co. will complete its task of forming a chain of electric lines through central Michigan. Information has been given out that the proposed electric line from Owosso to Saginaw, already surveyed, will be started Jan. 1 next. The Michigan Railways Co., formerly known as the Chicago-Michigan Railways Co., has constructed an electric line from Kalamazoo to Grand Rapids and recently gained permission to enter the furniture city, a terminal already having been located there.

This line will be completed by Jan. 1. Work has been commenced on the line from Allegan to Battle Creek, now a steam line, which has been purchased by the company. It will be changed to an electric line. The Saginaw-Flint, operating from Bay City to Flint, is owned by the company, and with the Owosso-Saginaw line, the new assured, a direct connection between Grand Rapids and Bay City will be established through the connections via Jackson and Lansing. The Michigan Railways Co. now owns and operates the M. U. T.

When the chain is completed it will form one of the most complete chains of electric lines in any state. It has been known for some time that the new company was getting a hold in this state, and only needed to sell its recent note issue, authorized by the railroad commission, to perfect the chain of lines.

Those in close touch with the situation say that soon the company will have acquired all the electric lines in this section of the state, outside of the D. U. R.

Contracts were awarded a few days ago at Grand Rapids for bridges to be constructed in that vicinity and the maps of the line from Kalamazoo to Grand Rapids have all been approved by the railroad commission.

Governor Ferris will have three good appointments to make in the near future as one vacancy has already been created by the resignation of De Hull N. Travis as a member of the state pardon board and the terms of the state pardon board and the terms of the industrial accident board and John Owens as state oil inspector will expire this summer.

Members of the state pardon board receive $7 per day and expenses and as the work is pleasant and not very irksome, there is generally a large number of patriots who are willing to serve in this particular capacity. Travis, who was appointed by former governor Osborn quit the board in order to accept a position on the Chautauqua platform.

Ora Reeves of Jackson was placed on the industrial accident board by Osborn when the commission was created two years ago. Reeves is the only representative of organized labor on the board and it is reported that he may be reappointed by Governor Ferris because of the fact that he has made an excellent record. Members of the accident board were originally appointed for terms of two, four and six years. Reeves was appointed for the short term and if he is re-appointed by Gov. Ferris and confirmed by the senate he will be entitled to sit on the board for the next six years.

Although the term of State Oil Inspector John Owen will not expire until August, when Reeves' time is also up, there are many applications for the job. This position pays $2,500 per year and the appointment is good for two years from the date of appointment by the governor as confirmation by the senate is not necessary.

Since the first of January, 63,000 automobile licenses have been issued by the state department according to Secretary Martindale. The department has already issued 3,774 chauffeurs licenses and 5,524 motorcycle licenses. The number of licenses issued so far this year is considerably in excess of the number issued during 1913.

As the result of the decision of the supreme court which knocked out the new automobile tax law, the state department has been forced to spend considerable time in re-issuing to motorists who secured licenses by paying on a basis of the horse power of their machines. Already $100,923 has been returned and vouchers are being made out at the rate of 400 per day. It will take some time to complete the work of returning the funds, but the orders are being rushed through as rapidly as the force of clerks in Secretary Martindale's office can prepare them for the auditor general's office and the treasury department.

Several applications for bond issues and increases of capital stock have received the approval of the state railroad commission. An order has been signed by the commission authorizing the Detroit & Port Huron Shore line to issue $603,000 in bonds for the retirement of $600,000 bonds of the Rapid Railway company and $3,000 of the Port Huron, St. Clair & Marine City Railway company.

The Menominee & Marinette Light & Traction company has been authorized to increase its capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,250,000. Permission has been granted the Detroit, Bay City & Western to issue $65,000 of par value corporate bonds, while the Ecanaba & Garden Bay Transportation company is authorized to issue $10,000 of par value capital stock. The Detroit United Railway company has been authorized to issue $60,000 in bonds for the retirement of a like amount of bonds of the Detroit Railway company.

Hereafter the Ann Arbor railroad will be required to carry brakemen on all emergency trains on the main line south of Owosso. This decision on the part of the state railroad commission followed a hearing Thursday afternoon in which representatives of the railroad protested that such an order would cost at least $50 per month additional on each train.

"The Ann Arbor appears to be the only railroad in Michigan that is attempting to operate a steam passenger train on its main line with a co-elector and baggage men as a train crew in addition to the engineer and fireman," said Commissioner Cuzins, chairman.

DECIDE TO SELL SHIPS TO GREECE

CONGRESS CONCURS WITH THE SENATE IN APPROVING DEAL

$12,000,000 PRICE AGREED ON

Protests of Turkish Government Against Selling War Vessels to Ancient Enemy is Not Given Consideration.

Washington—Sale of the American battleships Idaho and Mississippi to Greece was approved late Tuesday by the house, which accepted by a vote of 174 to 87 a senate amendment to the naval appropriation bill to authorize the transaction and the building of a dreadnaught with the proceeds. Formal protest from Turkey has not altered the plans of the administration, and the two warships probably will be in the hands of agents of the Greek government within a week.

Representatives of the Newport News Shipbuilding Co. and the Bethlehem Steel Co., who have been acting as intermediaries in the negotiations, will call at the navy department and hand to Secretary Daniels a certified check for about $12,000,000, the price agreed on.

The Mississippi is now at Pensacola navy yard, and it will be necessary to unload from her the supplies and personal property of the officers and enlisted men and place her in the hands of officers and crew to be provided by the Newport News Co. to take her to Athens. The Idaho is at Gibraltar, with a number of midshipmen aboard on their summer cruise from the naval academy. Though no definite arrangements have been made, it is believed the boys will be transferred with the ship's company to the battleships Illinois and Missouri, also in the Mediterranean, and the Idaho will be turned over to a Greek crew.

RAILROAD WINS BIG SUIT

Land Worth Five Hundred Millions Given to Southern Pacific By Decision.

Washington—A decision favoring the title claimed by the Southern Pacific railroad to 200,000 acres of California oil land worth $500,000,000 was given Monday by the supreme court in two test cases of Edmund Burke and J. J. Lamprecht.

The decision was unanimous. The court, while holding generally in favor of the Southern Pacific railroad's title, held that the government still may bring suits to set aside the railroad patents for fraud, but the railroad's title is safe against collateral attack by private persons to get mineral grants for the lands and claiming title superior to that of the railroad.

LITTLE GIRL DIES OF BURNS

Clings to Mother When Flames Envelop Her Body.

Port Huron, Mich.—Her body a pillar of flames, 12-year-old Iest Pickard clung tenaciously to her mother Monday evening, and not until neighbors interfered would the little girl release her hold, with the result that she was burned so terribly that death resulted at the City hospital a short time later. The mother, while terribly seared about the hands and face, will recover.

The girl undertook to pour some kerosene into the kitchen stove and in a twinkling the oil exploded and she was enveloped in flames.
