GOOD BUSINESS

We have been told by those who travel throughout the country that Plymouth is to be congratulated upon her good business. In almost all other places men are out of work and factories are running on partial time. In Plymouth we do not face this state of affairs. Moreover, we trust we may never be compelled to do so. But there are those who say that if Plymouth should go "dry" it will hurt business. We do not believe this to be true and our contention is upheld by letters received from business men in various parts of the state telling us how a dry town helps business. We will present these letters next Sunday morning in a sermon intended to answer the objections raised to voting for a dry village.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Themes for February 21st:
 10 a. m.—"Objections to Plymouth's voting 'dry' answered."
 7 p. m.—Rev. J. Earl Webber of Northville, preaches.

Dwight Peebles, a resident of Salem township for 73 years, died Feb. 6.

The Farmington Enterprise wants a larger town hall in that village.

A Farmington resident has a clock that is over 200 years old and is still running.

Chelsea has hopes that an automobile factory may locate in that hustling town.

A greenhouse at Howell has shipped over five tons of lettuce to Detroit so far this winter.

The village of Redford has let the contract for the erection of a lower and water tank for the village water works system.

We are glad to note that Editor F. S. Neal of the Northville Record, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is convalescent.

The little village of Clarkston, in Oakland county, has a men's club of 74 members and it is arranging to build a permanent home of its own.

The graduating class of the Pontiac high school, or at least the girls in it, will make their own graduation dresses at a cost not to exceed $5.

The Wayne village council have given the Edison Company a ten year contract to light their streets. The contract calls for a price of $18 for incandescent lighting and $80 for arc lights.

In a shipment of hogs bought by L. W. Lovell of South Lyon recently was a lot of 38 bought of W. K. Smith which brought $435.50, and a lot of 40 bought of Sidney Smith which brought $228.

The Northville O. E. S. will give another dancing party this (Friday) evening. One of the features of the evening will be an exhibition drill by the Northville commandery, who will also lead the grand march.

A one-day Farmers' Institute was held in the Northville Baptist church yesterday. State Speaker, C. W. Melick, graduate of the Nebraska agricultural college, was present, besides other interesting speakers.

A large home grown lemon has been on exhibition at C. E. Ryder's grocery store at Northville for the week. The fruit was raised by Mrs. Fred Brosgan and weighs 13 1/8 ounces. The size of an ordinary lemon averages about 5 ounces.

The people of the village of Plymouth want a manager of that place, and to get a good man and keep him they want the charter amended so that they can employ one at a salary not to exceed $200 a month. And they would save money at that.—South Lyon Herald.

The idea advanced recently by the Plymouth Mail for a Carnegie library for Plymouth seems to be meeting with general approval, and the matter has been taken up by the Woman's Literary club. We hope the people of Plymouth may succeed in getting this much desired acquisition to any town.—Farmington Enterprise.

Plymouth Honors Lincoln's Memory

The seating capacity of the village hall was taxed to its utmost last Friday afternoon by a large audience who had assembled to honor the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, the great emancipator. The exercises were under the auspices of Eddy Post, G. A. R. assisted by the public school and others. Supt. C. F. Reeves acted as chairman of the day. Thirty-five members of the G. A. R. occupied seats at the front of the house. The stage and the entire building was profusely decorated with flags and bunting. On one side of the stage was a large portrait of Lincoln while on the opposite side there was a portrait of Washington, the two greatest men in the annals of American history.

The exercises were opened with scripture lesson by Rev. Joseph Dutton followed by invocation by Rev. A. L. Leitch. The songs, recitations and dialogues rendered by the pupils of the school were all excellent and elicited hearty applause. Prof. Reeves made a short address in which he paid a glowing tribute to the memory of Lincoln, and gave some of the characteristics of Lincoln which made him the greatest and most beloved man in American history. His remarks were most timely and fitting for the occasion. Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address was splendidly rendered by Miss Elsie Hartung. A flag drill by the Seventh and Eighth grade girls was one of the pleasing features of the afternoon's program, and they were roundly applauded for the splendid manner in which they executed the various maneuvers of the drill. At the close of the flag drill came a most interesting part of the exercises—the presentation of a large American flag to the village of Plymouth by Eddy Post. The flag was carried to the front of the stage by three veterans of the Post, A. N. Brown, Capt. T. V. Quackenbush and Henry Robinson, and it is a noteworthy fact that the combined ages of these three men total 254 years. Commander of Eddy Post, Asa Joy, in a few appropriate remarks in which he expressed the wish of the Post that the flag be kept flying whenever weather conditions permitted it, that it might serve as an inspiration to the youth of today, presented the flag to the village in the name of Eddy Post and commended its care to its chief executive, President Louis Hillmer. In accepting the flag, President Hillmer stated that no act during his incumbency of office had given him greater pleasure than did the acceptance of the flag in the name of the village of Plymouth from the members of Eddy Post. In expressing his thanks for the beautiful gift, he said he knew he voiced the sentiment of the entire village, and that its citizens would ever hold the members of Eddy Post in grateful remembrance for their generous gift. The exercises closed with the singing of America and the benediction by Rev. B. F. Farber.

Death of Lieutenant Sylvanus Backus

Lieutenant Sylvanus Backus, an old and esteemed resident of Plymouth, was found dead in his bed Thursday morning, February 11, 1915. Lieutenant Backus was born at Tecumseh, Mich., Oct. 22, 1836, the youngest child and only son of Andrew and Harriet Backus, early settlers of the state. He received the best education afforded at that period, no doubt being greatly helped in his studies by his father, who was a graduate of Brown University, and his mother an attractive and accomplished woman. He was appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, from which he graduated in 1857, and was appointed a midshipman Sept. 28, 1857. He served on several vessels and because of his conscientious and faithful discharge of duty, he was made a lieutenant of the U. S. Navy, February 21, 1863, by President Abraham Lincoln. Among others, he served on the Mohongo and Constellation, and was sent to Rome on important business. He served throughout the Civil war in the entire confidence of the government. July 22, 1866, he resigned and devoted himself to private business. He lived in Plymouth for many years, a highly respected citizen, devotedly caring for his only surviving sister, an invalid, Mrs. Charlotte F. Fuller. He was a member of St. John's Episcopal church, Detroit, and of Eddy Post, G. A. R., No. 431, of Plymouth.

Last Saturday morning at ten o'clock the funeral services were held from his late residence, H. Midworth of Detroit, conducting the services at the house and grave. He was borne to his last resting place by Senior Vice Commander Baker, Junior Vice Commander Maynard, Quartermaster Partridge, Adjutant Showers and Comrades Weed and McGrath of Eddy Post, G. A. R. He was laid to rest in Woodmere cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Samuel Adams and brother, Ed. Nowland, of New Boston, visited relatives here last Monday.

May Get Another Factory

A committee of citizens were in Detroit Tuesday to investigate a proposition of a manufacturing concern in that city, who are desirous of moving their plant to Plymouth. The company are manufacturing an automobile wind shield and a toy automobile for children. They have all the necessary machinery, etc., for the production of these articles. It is very likely a public meeting will be called in the very near future when representatives of the factory will be present and explain what they would expect of Plymouth to locate their plant here.

NEW SWITCHING LOCOMOTIVE

MOTIVE POWER IS GASOLINE Switching Locomotive That Can Be Operated at Comparatively Small Expense.

In some places it is considered a luxury to use a switching locomotive because of the expense of maintenance and the consumption of fuel, while the locomotive is not in service, says the Scientific American. Hence, unless there is enough work for the locomotive to do the 24 hours of the day the work of switching is done by the engines of freight trains.

FEWER ACCIDENTS ON LINES

Safety Devices and Greater Care Have Reduced the Number in a Gratifying Degree. The accidents on United States railroads in proportion to the total number of passengers varied widely from year to year. The table shows that in 1900 the amazing toll of 2,550 deaths occurred among the employees of railroads, while 40,000 were injured.

Shows Perils of Rail Men. The hazardous nature of the work of locomotive firemen and engineers formed the subject of the testimony presented at Chicago before the federal board of arbitration hearing the wage dispute of 65,000 employees and 98 western railroads.

Largest Locomotive.

A hundred years ago the first locomotive weighed about six tons, and drew eight loaded cars. At present the largest locomotive reported to be in use is a huge compound engine which measures 120 feet over all and weighs 750,000 pounds. It is an oil burner and carries 4,000 gallons of oil and 13,000 gallons of water. It cost $45,000 to build. These giants have reached a point where one locomotive is so long that it is hinged in the middle with a flexible joint so that it can turn a curve without upsetting.

With a general stagnation of business throughout the country, that has compelled many factories to run on half time or in many instances to close down entirely, thus throwing many thousands of men out of employment, it is a state of affairs that the people of Plymouth know nothing about by actual experience. We are indeed fortunate, and we wonder if we really appreciate the splendid town in which we are living and the manufacturing institutions that in a very large measure have made it so. With all of our factories running full blast, we are enjoying a general prosperity and thrift that is not felt in many towns in Michigan. Yes, we are indeed fortunate in having within our village an industry of which Plymouth is the center, and in a class by itself, for these factories have not been built up in one or two years, but they have been growing for many years like "great oaks from little acorns grow" until today they supply the world, so to speak. Do we appreciate what they have done for Plymouth and what they are doing today? We are indebted to these various institutions for the prosperity that is now ours, and we as citizens should feel a great pride and satisfaction in having them in our midst and give them every aid and encouragement that is due them as successful industries. They are the main bulwarks upon which the advancement and prosperity of Plymouth depends. We hope the year of 1915 may prove one of the most prosperous years in the history of every manufacturing institution in Plymouth. As long as the wheels are humming in our factories, so, too, will Plymouth continue to grow, and we will have a prosperous and contented people.

BIBLE STUDENTS.

How to ascertain the date of the beginning of the grandest and most glorious of all jubilees that has ever come to earth. It is the cycles that tell the story. A cycle of days produced the jubilee day. A cycle of years produced the jubilee year. Here was the type. So another great anti-typical cycle of jubilee years produces the grand finale of jubilees, the 1000 years of "restoration" glory for earth. Seven times seven days equals forty-nine days. Seven times seven years equals forty-nine years. The fifth jubilee year. Fifty times fifty years equals 2500 years, the length of the great anti-typical silent cycle which began to count at the exact date of last typical jubilee held by the Jews just before they were carried away captive to Babylon by Neb. for 70 years. More next week.

OBITUARY.

Henry E. Bissell was born near Toledo, Ohio, July 11, 1858, and departed this life Friday, Feb. 12, 1915, aged 56 years, eight months and two days. When he was about 9 years of age his parents moved to Michigan and settled in Canton township. On March 8, 1878, he was united in marriage to Annie McFinney at Plymouth, Mich. To this union three children were born, one boy and two girls—Hattie E., dying in infancy; Thomas N., who lives with his mother, and Mrs. H. H. Patterson of Detroit. For upwards of twenty years he was a resident of Plymouth. He was a quiet, unassuming man, a lover of home and always ready to lend a helping hand to the needy. For the past eight years he had been in poor health. On the last day of September he was taken seriously ill and although at times he seemed to rally so as to be able to be around, he kept growing weaker until death relieved him of his suffering. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, conducted by his pastor, Rev. A. L. Bell, and this remains laid to rest in Riverside cemetery. He leaves a wife, son and daughter, three brothers and one sister, Jas. Bissell of Midland, Mich.; George, of McMinnville, Tenn.; W. E. of Bethany, Grant county, Mich., and Mrs. Harriet E. Renner of Alma, Mich. We bow submissively to the Divine will, but will look forward to the reunion in that better land.

From different parts of the country come stories of a swindle successfully worked on farmers who thought they were going to get cheap groceries.

Two smooth strangers went through the communities taking orders for a house in Chicago, pretending to sell a standard brand of sugar and flour so cheaply that every farmer visited took from $20 to $30 worth, and other things because of the low prices the flour and sugar had to be "paid in advance." It is alleged that in one village $2000 had been taken.

HARNESSES!

The time for the purchase of Harness, Collars and Horse Goods of all kinds for the summer work on the farm is at hand, and on account of the recent increase in the price of leather, harness prices have advanced about 10%. We were fortunate in having purchased our stock for this spring's business, so far as we could anticipate, before the advance in price, and will give our customers the advantage of the low prices as long as the stock will last, but when the present stock is exhausted we will be compelled to advance our prices. If you contemplate buying harness soon we would advise that you do so now, although we have a large stock now it will not last long at the present prices.

Farm Team Harness $35.00 and up. Breeding and Heel Chain Harness $42.00 to $50.00.

All our own make from good heavy stock and 10% better than factory harness at the same price.

Let us repair and oil your old harness now before you commence your spring work.

CASCARETS' FOR LIVER, BOWELS

For sick headache, bad breath, Sour Stomach and constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now. No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get the desired results with Cascarets.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable. Take Cascarets to-night; put an end to the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other distress; cleanse your inside organs of all the bile, gases and constipated matter which is producing the misery.

A 10-cent box means health, happiness and a clear head for months. No more days of gloom and distress if you will take a Cascaret now and then. All stores sell Cascarets. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a cleansing, too. Adv.

HUMAN LIFE AT TEN DOLLARS

That Chinese Hold Existence Cheap is Proved by Experience of Traveler in That Country.

There are 100,000,000 children in China under ten years of age. One wonders how there are so many remaining, for multitudes of children die off through exposure, ill care, starvation and disease. Hundreds of thousands of these children live in the Chinese sampans, which ply the rivers and through the water fronts of the great cities. For generations these boatmen knew no other home than these boats. In case of babies, a rope it slipped over the side of the sampans into the water they are fished out the best way possible.

But life is plenty and cheap in China. "How much this is a man better than a sheep?" Not much better in China. A friend of mine, a Brooklyn judge, who arrived late at the daily public execution in Canton, and who could only stay for the day was told that for $10 they would secure a special victim to satisfy the American's curiosity. And they proceeded to find a man who for the sake of his family was willing to barter his life for $10. Of course, he got the $10—and his life.—Christian Herald.

REFUSED TO TAKE ADVICE

Foxes, Unlike Men, Could Not See Things From the Viewpoint of the Politicians.

The foxes were new to politics, and so they listened to the advice of the politicians.

"The thing for you to do," declared these, "is to belong to parties and always vote the straight ticket."

The foxes thought a moment. "If we do so," they objected, "are we not in danger of voting, inadvertently, for yellow dogs now and then? Of course, we don't wish to vote for yellow dogs."

"Of course not," replied the politicians. "There's no danger—none in the world. If you really and truly belong to a party it follows that there are no yellow dogs in that party, and if there are no yellow dogs in the party, how are you going to vote for such, provided you always vote the straight ticket?"

But, the foxes were not convinced. Indeed, after thinking a little more, they resolved to have nothing to do with parties.

This fable teaches that foxes are sometimes wiser than men.—New York Evening Post.

KNOW NOW

And Will Never Forget the Experience.

The coffee drinker who has suffered and then been completely relieved by changing from coffee to Postum knows something valuable. There's no doubt about it.

"I learned the truth about coffee in a peculiar way," says a California woman. "My husband who has, for years, been of a bilious temperament decided to leave off coffee and give Postum a trial, and as I did not want the trouble of making two beverages for meals I concluded to try Postum, too. The results have been that while my husband has been greatly benefited, I have myself received even greater benefit."

"When I began to drink Postum I was thin in flesh and very nervous. Now I actually weigh 15 pounds more than I did at that time and I am stronger physically and in my nerves, while my husband is free from all his ills."

"We have learned our little lesson about coffee and we know something about Postum, too, for we have used Postum now steadily for the last three years and we shall continue to do so."

"We have no more use for coffee—the drug drink. We prefer Postum and health."

Given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Well-being" in page.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum—must be boiled. The 15c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage in 10, 15 and 30 seconds.

Send for one cup of both kinds in the same box.

FULL TICKET IS NOMINATED

About Ninety Delegates Are Present—Democrats Criticized for Tariff and Republicans for Fostering Panic.

Jackson—Following a warm debate with Theodore M. Joslin, of Adrian, candidate for United States senator at the 1912 election, leading the opposition, the state convention of the National Progressive party placed the prohibition plank in its state platform and went on record Tuesday as favoring both state and nation-wide prohibition.

This was the only tilt of the convention and the opponents to the prohibition plank were completely snowed under when the vote was taken.

The convention voted to indorse both the national and state platforms of two years ago together with the prohibition plank.

Nominations for state offices, which were made with but few contests, followed:

Regents, C. G. Farnall, Jackson, L. L. Tyler, Traverse City.

State board of education, W. S. Leavenworth, Olivet.

Justice of the supreme court, A. E. Ewing, Grand Rapids, W. T. Pope, Bad Axe.

State board of agriculture, Joseph Wilson, Washtenaw county, O. C. Hollister, Lainsburg.

Superintendent of public instruction, Garrett Masselluk, Big Rapids.

There were about 90 delegates present, 40 of these being from Detroit. H. R. Pattengill was made state chairman. A simplified primary law and a no-partisan scientific tariff commission were indorsed. The resolutions adopted declared that, "the industrial depression of this country is due to three factors, the Democratic tariff, the European war and the deliberate program of attempting to create a panic indulged in by Republican office holders."

BILL PASSES LOWER HOUSE

Ship Purchase Measure Has Majority of 215 to 121.

Washington—The government ship purchase bill, as an amendment to the Week's naval auxiliary bill, was passed by the house at 1:20 o'clock Wednesday morning, by a vote of 215 to 121.

The passage of the bill followed a 14-hour parliamentary struggle, which, until long after midnight, threatened to extend interminably because of a determined filibuster lead by Minority Leader Mann, who yielded only after administration leaders decided to apply a second special rule to bring the fight to an end.

Nineteen Democrats voted against the bill. They were:

All of the Republicans present voted against the bill and five Progressive joined with the Democratic majority for it, as follows: Bryan, Kelly of Pennsylvania, MacDonald, LaFerty and Murdock.

TELEGRAPHIC FLASHES

Deal, England—The British steamer Wavelet struck a mine off the coast Monday and had to be beached near Deal. Twelve of her crew were drowned when a boat in which they were trying to reach shore capsized. The Wavelet was bound from Pensacola, Fla., for Leith with a cargo of timber.

Turin, Italy—Several avalanches fell in the mountains in this region. One colossal slide near Col. Di Tenda, a pass of the Maritime Alps in the province of Cuneo, buried a group of workmen. Thus far 16 bodies have been recovered. Soldiers and doctors have been dispatched hurriedly to the rescue.

Panama—A fight between soldiers and native policemen here Saturday night resulted, according to first reports of the conflict, in the deaths of five policemen and three soldiers and the wounding of many of the combatants. A carnival is in progress and many soldiers were on leave to attend the festivity.

Paris—President Poincare Saturday signed a decree authorizing the issue of one billion francs ($200,000,000) national defense bonds, bearing 5 per cent interest at the emission price of 96 francs 50 centimes, and payable at par in 1925.

London—Forty-nine thousand Turkish prisoners, including 57,000 officers, have passed through Fratigrick, in the territory of Terek, Ciscaucasia, en route to the interior since the war with Turkey began, according to the Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co.

Berlin, via London—The following German official statement was given out Saturday night: "German East Africa is now completely cleared of the enemy. German troops have entered Uganda, British East Africa."

Washington—Senator William Alden Smith named the following Annapolis cadet last Saturday. Principal, Kenneth Davidson Muir, Grand Rapids; first alternate, John Vell Kelly, Mt. Pleasant; second alternate, Clarence Norton Waite, Gladwin; third alternate, Arthur Harvey Gilman, Okla. Creek.

Vom Schauplatz des europäischen Völker-Krieges

Am 17. Dezember hat General Staff in einem Armeebefehl bekanntgegeben, die Stunde sei gekommen, wo die französischen Heere die Schimpfe des Feldes benutzen und zum Angriff übergehen wurden. Der zweite Monat des neuen Jahres ist beinahe verfließen und auf die sichtbarsten Erfolge der allgemeinen Offensive warten die Alliierten noch. Man hat sich im englisch-französischen Heere die frage gestellt, die deutsche Offensive gegen die Russen in Polen offenbar nicht anders verlaufen können als ermöglichend durch eine bedenkliche Schwächung der deutschen Armee.

Man hat sich inzwischen wohl oder übel davon überzeugen müssen, dass die Weiser, die die deutschen Heere aus französischem Boden errichtet haben, deshalb noch ein feiner Stelle brüchig geworden ist, weil der Aufschwung stärker Abwehrmaßregeln erforderlich.

Über auch davon hat man sich überzeugen müssen, dass die sogenannten Verbündeten gefest hat, trügerisch waren. Von der Belagerung Straßens ist längst nicht mehr die Rede, dagegen erörtert man in der Entente-Prese emig die Frage, ob die Russen in Bessarabien Widerstand leisten oder die Hauptstadt Polens ohne Kampf räumen werden! Möglich, dass die Russen erklären, sie hätten das Menschenmögliche versucht, nun möge Herr Staffener mit seinen neugeschickten Heeren das Seine tun! Deutschlands ermarkt sie in Aufse, die neue Heere. Haben die alten Berufsgehören Deutschlands den eisenring der Deutschen nicht zu sprengen vermocht, so ist von seinen jungen Söhnen diese Leistung wohl noch weniger zu erwarten, so willkommen die Vergrößerung jede, nie immer geartete Vergrößerung auch sein wird. Sie mag ihren erschöpfen Kräfte eine dringend nötige Erleichterung bringen — den Deutschen wird sie den Willen zum Siege nicht brechen. Wir halten aus, so lautet der Wahrspruch im deutschen Heere, und wir wissen: für Deutschland arbeitet die Zeit, im Westen, mehr noch im Osten. Der Wirtschaftsförderung des Deutschen Reiches, der sich allmählich ganz auf die Kriegsziele eingestellt hat, ist jetzt keine Leistungsmöglichkeit, während der russische, von aller Verbindung mit der Außenwelt abgeschnitten, unjähig, aus eigener Kraft neue Werte herauszubringen, mit jedem Monate verfallender Kriegsführung mehr einmüdig. Das Ende kann nicht zweifelhaft sein.

Zeit wird das obige geschrieben, ist die Kriegsvorstellung seitens Deutschlands erfolgt, die die ganze Welt, die neutralen sowohl wie die kriegführenden Mächte, in ernsthafte Aufregung versetzte. Der Eindruck, den die von der deutschen Admiralität erlassene Ankündigung, dass von 18. Februar an die Gemahler von Großbritannien und Irland, einschließlich des ganzen englischen Kanals, als Kriegsziele betrachtet werden sollen, ist ein gewaltiger. Die Drohung des Admiral Tirpitz, welche von gewisser Seite als „Anstif“ verflochten wurde, ist zur Heberausforderung der Welt Aufgebot geworden. Die erfolgreiche Tätigkeit der deutschen U-Boote in der Britischen See hat der Welt die Augen geöffnet, dass Deutschland keine Zehnjährige machen will und vor allem auch kann.

Ein Spruch ohnmächtiger Mut und Verzweiflung geht durch das englische Volk und hält wieder in einem kläglichen Gewinns dießestes des Meeres in der Anglophilenpresse diefer neutralen (!) Landes. Wie immer, wenn er in Gedräng ist, so ruft John Bull aus jetzt wieder die Neutrals, an erster Stelle Oskel Egg — zu Hilfe unter dem Vorbehalt, dass diese Handlungsmache Deutschlands gegen die neutralen Staaten gerichtet ist. Doch was nur einigermaßen gerecht sein will, muß klar erkennen, dass das perlide Alibion damit nur seine eigenen Schandthaten auf die Schindeln des Gegners legen möchte.

Deutschland hat mit seiner Vlodade-Erklärung ganz dasselbe getan wie England, nur mit dem Unterschied, dass es viel rücksichtsvoller gegen die neutralen Schiffahrt handelt. Die britische Nordsee Vlodade — Erklärung erfolgte nur einen Tag im voraus, während Deutschland seine Vlodade zwei Wochen an voraus ankündigte. Die britische Vlodade richtete sich gegen die Neutralen, die deutsche dagegen einzig und allein gegen England und Frankreich. Die britische Vlodade der Nordsee hat Deutschland fall gelassen, da das deutsche Volk in sich selbst hat genug ist, um auf die Hilfe über See verzichtend zu seinem England dagegen bringt unter der deutschen Vlodade des Kanals und der englischen Gemahler fieser zusammen, da es ohne Zutun von Deutschland überhaupt nicht lebensfähig ist.

Die Hohenzollernfamilie im Felde

Außer dem Kaiser und seinen Söhnen stehen achtzehn Mitglieder der Hohenzollernfamilie im Felde. Von den regierenden deutschen Fürsten sind die Könige von Bayern, Sachsen und Württemberg in ihrer Feldzüge verblieben und haben von dort ihre Truppen im Felde befehligt. Ein Teil der anderen Fürstentümer hat aus Gesundheitsrücksichten der kriegsfähigen Tätigkeit fernbleiben müssen, ein Teil hat sich seinen im Felde stehenden Landesherrn angeschlossen, und ein anderer Teil, nämlich die Fürsten und Prinzen, hat ein Truppenkommando übernommen. Mit Kronprinz Rupprecht von Bayern stehen eine große Anzahl bayerischer Prinzen im Rheinland. Sieben deutsche Fürsten aus regierenden Häusern haben bereits ihre Heere in diesen Krieges gelassen: zwei Prinzen von Sachsen — Weiningen, zwei Prinzen zur Lippe und je ein Prinz von Meissen, Reuß jüngere Linie und Waldeck und Pyrmont. „In der Tat, schreibt dazu ein deutsch-amerikanisches Blatt, „dieser Krieg hat Deutschland zum demokratischsten Lande der Welt gemacht.“

Türkisch-italienischer Zwischenfall beigest.

Rom. Es wurde amtlich angekündigt, dass die türkischen Behörden in Jemen vollständige Genehmigung auf die italienische Regierung für das Eindringen in das italienische Konjulat in Godeba und die Entfernung des britischen Konjuls gegeben haben, der dort Zuflucht gesucht hatte.

Die Behörden in Godeba salutieren die italienische Forderung auf dem Konjulat. Der britische Konjulat, George Alexander Richardson, war bei der Jeremie anwesend, verließ aber sofort darauf die Stadt auf einem britischen Hilfsfahrzeug. Der Zwischenfall ist jetzt wohl erledigt. (Aus diesem Vorfall hatte die deutschfeindliche Presse vor einiger Zeit eine Beteiligung Italiens am Krieg gegen Deutschland und seine Verbündeten konstruiert.)

Englands Arbeiterklasse gegen den Krieg.

WASHINGTON'S MOTHER DID NOT WANT HIM TO BE FAMOUS

THE HONORABLE GEORGE WASHINGTON

In the portrait of Washington's mother, the only known likeness of her in existence, there is abundant proof of the assertion that he owed his personal appearance to the maternal side of the family. Mary Ball's facial characteristics were impressed not only upon her son George, but upon her daughter Betty.

When the brother had become commander in chief of the Continental army Betty, then the wife of Col. Fielding Lewis, used to amuse her friends by "dressing up" in the great man's military hat and cloak, and it was the general verdict that when she was so disguised nobody could tell her from George. How much of his character was derived from the same source is in doubt, because so little is known of his mother and her family. Mary Ball was the granddaughter of a soldier who sought his fortune in Virginia in the latter part of the seventeenth century, and settled at the mouth of the River Corotoman, in Lancaster county. This Col. William Ball may have been a good soldier, but was an indifferent farmer. He left two sons, William and Joseph, and the latter was the father of Mary.

When her son's fame attracted attention to her, and inquiries began to be made about her youth, most of those who could testify about it had passed away, and those who remained could tell little. But upon one point there was unanimous agreement, and that was that in her girlhood she was celebrated for her beauty—was even styled "the bell of Northern Neck." But it was mainly her character which had impressed them, and they described her as "high-spirited, yet of great simplicity of manners, uncommon strength of mind and decision of character." That remained a good description of her to the end of her days, and these traits were her gifts to her son.

She was an awe-inspiring person, as was her son later in life, though probably neither of them had the least idea of the fact that most of those with whom they came in contact stood beneath in fear of them. This fear did not prevent people from living Mrs. Washington any more than it afterward prevented them from living her son.

Yet a contemporary called her course with her son George "fond and unthinking." He was her favorite child. All through her life she struggled desperately to keep him from the dangerous path of glory. She cared nothing for his achievements and nothing did not understand their importance; certainly she did not understand his fame. Each time he entered upon a new venture she saw only, as she heart-brokenly expressed it, "more fighting, more bloodshed." Whether or not her course with him as a boy was "fond and unthinking," it surely merited that description in his manhood.

But the first manifestation of this spirit resulted in her rendering an inestimable service to mankind. When George was fourteen he wanted to enter the navy, and his half-brothers and their friends, men of the world and Lawrence, a man of naval experience, were eager for him to do so. The mother opposed it, but the arguments of her seasoned and experienced friends overcame her him her blessing. She had given up her tory predilections of necessity. On one occasion, at a time when a battle was imminent, a courier named George Kiger, came riding hard to deliver her a letter from the front. She was busy with her work; she dropped the packet in one of her capacious pockets and went on with what she was doing. "It is all right," she remarked placidly; "I am well assured of that."

Kiger breathlessly explained to her that there was a crowd at the gate waiting for the news. "There may have been a battle," he said; "the neighbors would like to know."

Mrs. Washington fished the letter out, glanced over it, and dropped it back. "There has been a victory," she said, and added complacently, "George generally carries through whatever he undertakes."

Lafayette, who had met her before, visited her after the battle of Yorktown, and came upon her working in her garden in a homespun dress and a straw hat. She did not change her dress in honor of the young nobleman. She listened to his enthusiasm over his idol, Washington, and merely said: "I am not surprised at what George has done, for he was always a good boy."

Washington came with his suite of French and American officers to Fredericksburg after the decisive battle. An orderly preceded him. "Madam," announced the orderly, "his excellency will be here within an hour."

"His excellency!" repeated Mrs. Washington. "Tell George I shall be glad to see him," and then, to her maid servant, "Patsy, I shall need another apron."

The conqueror of Cornwallis arrived and was affectionately greeted. But during the conversation that followed she made no reference whatever to his military exploits. There was a ball that night in the town in Washington's honor, and she appeared leaning on his arm and danced a minuet with him.

In these later years their relations were not pleasant, to tell the truth. She spread reports that he was not treating her well in money matters, and she suffered a great deal of pain on this account. Her statements were not true, but they were believed nevertheless, and were so widely spread that strange undertook the work of providing for her supposed wants. To the intense mortification of her son. But worse was to come. He found that she was borrowing and accepting gifts from neighbors. He wrote that he had learned "that she has, upon all occasions and in all companies, complained . . . of her wants and difficulties; and if not in direct terms, at least by strong intimation, endeavors to excite a belief that times are much altered, &c., &c., which not only makes her appear in an unfavorable point of view, but those who are connected with her."

He asked a relative to find out if there was any basis for her talk and "see what is necessary to make her comfortable." "While I have anything," he wrote, "I will part with it to make her easy." He also asked his correspondent "to represent to her in delicate terms the impropriety of her complaints and acceptance of favors, even when they are voluntarily offered, from any but relations."

But at last he was provoked into giving up the renting of her plantation, not because, as he explained, "I mean to withhold any aid or support I can give you, for while I have a shilling you shall have part," but because "what I shall then give I shall have credit for," and not be "viewed as a delinquent, and considered perhaps before the world as an unjust and unfeeling son."

Grand National "Crews" composed in a great part of English officers, have been decimated by war. During the retreat to the Marne and the advance to the Aisne, Captain Bentley, Capt. R. S. Dawson and Lieut. E. Quick were killed and Capt. J. All-Boy was seriously wounded. All four of them steered bobleighs to victory in the Grand National several winters, beating the crown prince with the German crew. Among the wounded officers are Captain Stutz, the well-known Alpinist and skier; Captain

Abberromby, a daring Cresta Run rider, and young Lord Carberry, who revolutionized the bobblelighting at St. Moritz by introducing the prone position of the crew.

St. Moritz will be "dead" this winter and perhaps for many winters, without the elite of its English sportsmen. The crown prince of Germany was a personal friend of all the English officers mentioned, and on frequent occasions during his winter visits to St. Moritz in five years they were his guests at dinners and luncheons.

Fundamental Principles of Health

By ALBERT S. GRAY, M.D.

THE PARATHYROID GLAND.

We are compelled to use animals such as the dog, the cat, the monkey and the like for the purpose of securing experimental corroborations of many theories because physiological chemistry experiments along such lines generally necessitate extensive and dangerous surgical procedures.

And although an abundance of experimental material is readily obtainable, the demonstrations of theories enormously important to man are necessarily slow, largely because of a widespread prejudice against considering conditions in the lower animals analogous to those found in the human.

Schiff noted fatal results to dogs following removal of the thyroid in 1855 and wrote about it in 1883, but no notice was taken of his work by the surgical profession. Again in 1884, following reports of the removal of human thyroids by Raverdin in 1882 and Kocher in 1883, Schiff wrote showing that after complete extirpation of the thyroid all the animals died in four to twenty-seven days. These experiments were confirmed by various observers, but in many instances the symptoms shown by the animals subsequent to the operation proved to be of most variable character, not only in different species, but also in different individuals of the same species.

A few of the animals succumbed in a few days, frequently with the accompaniment of convulsions; others lived for some months or even longer and sank gradually from general lack of nutrition, but occasionally a dog would survive the operation.

In the case of the human being complete removal induced a like variety of symptoms, a state resembling myxedema and cretinism (a condition of deficient development and idocy), besides anemia, a readiness to fatigue, a sensation of cold and occasionally tetany (convulsions).

The four insignificant, pea-like parathyroid (near-thyroid) glands tucked away behind the more prominent thyroid gland for a long time escaped the eye of the anatomist, and for a long time after they were discovered they were given no particular consideration. But careful investigation of these baby glands by anatomist, histologist and embryologist proved them to be independent organs structurally and functionally distinct from any other tissues, and of vast importance in the economy.

Experimental investigations demonstrated the parathyroids to be vital organs of remarkable physiological activity in a wide range of animal organisms. It was demonstrated that rabbits deprived of these tiny bodies died in convulsions. Gradually the significance of this observation dawned upon surgeons and physiologists.

When the parathyroids alone are removed the animal dies quickly with acute symptoms, including convulsions; but when the thyroids alone are removed the animal may survive for a long period, but will develop a condition of chronic malnutrition similar to the disease known as myxedema in man.

The experimental evidence in the case of the parathyroids tends to support the view that their function consists in some way neutralizing toxic substances formed elsewhere in the body; they are poison destroying organs, whose principal function most probably is to neutralize the metabolic poisons particularly detrimental to the nervous system. Therefore, after removal of these glands, death occurs from the accumulation of the so-called metabolic tetany poisons formed in the blood and tissues, attacking the nerves in the absence of the normal parathyroid secretions.

The tetany (convulsion) of pregnancy and lactation, epilepsy, exophthalmic goiter, paralysis agitans (shaking palsy) and other conditions associated with muscular tremor is closely identified with parathyroid insufficiency. And so, too, is osteomalacia (morbid softening of bone), decaying teeth and rickets. It is known that lime (calcium) in the organism tends to tetany, hence calcium metabolism is doubtless influenced by the parathyroid glands and the parathyroids in turn are, of course, gravely influenced by lack of calcium. This is a fact of vast importance, as later investigations will prove.

Many observers have reported that a good husband and children. Every father is anxious to have his daughters marry well. To secure a wife one must pay a dowry in cattle to the father, or, should the father be dead, to the nearest male relative. If a girl is much sought after her father naturally asks a larger dowry. When a man has paid part of the dowry the father may give consent to a provisional marriage and permit the couple to live together, rather to refuse to marry one who does not please her, the Southern Workman says. There are two grim reasons for this. First, women married against their wills have shown a tendency to strangling their husbands. And to these reasons may be added the fact that a woman whose dowry is less than she needs is likely to be a bad wife.

PET SNAKE SAVES HIM FROM JAILER

No One Remembers Charge Against Man With Reptile Three Feet Long.

St. Paul, Minn.—A mah with "snakes" is not uncommon at Central police station. The officials have their own way of handling them. A man with a single snake, and that more than three feet long, is another proposition, and caused more activity on the part of portly jailers and patrolmen than anything which has entered the station in years.

An innocent-looking offender was brought to the desk. Sgt. M. J. Fallon took the man's name, and Jailer Ed Neuman began to search him. He had went well until he passed his hand under the man's coat. Then came a muffled curse and Jailer Neuman, who weighs 357 pounds, established a new record for the standing broad jump.

From under the man's coat appeared the head of a snake, followed by about three feet and a half more snake, which coiled on the desk and looked first at Sergeant Fallon and then at Detective John Rowan.

For a moment not a word was spoken, but there was a mighty shuffling of feet toward the door. The man who owned the snake picked the pet up and held it to his face, explaining that it would harm no one.

With the snake in his hands the man walked out the door. When he had left someone asked what the charges against the man were. The question is unanswered.

STEAL THE SHERIFF'S GUN

Officer Sleeps While Burglars Also Take His Star and Some Mince Pies.

Boulder, Colo.—While peacefully sleeping and dreaming of a raid he had planned at Hygiene, Sheriff Buster suffered a blow to his pride. Two thieves entered his apartments in the courthouse, removed a revolver from beneath his pillow, unplanned the star from his vest, which was hanging on a chair, picked up two pairs of trousers, took two mince pies intended for Christmas from the cupboard, and then started to walk out of the room with the sewing machine. In the hallway one of the invaders caught his foot in a rug and stumbled with the machine against the wall. The noise aroused the sheriff, who ran into the hall, only to see the two burglars disappear down the stairway.

Buster said that the loss of the mince pies perplexed him more than the humiliation of being caught asleep.

SEES SPECTER STAGE COACH

California Driver, After Preparing for Cold Ride, Sees Apparition on Trail.

San Bernardino, Cal.—What is declared to be a strange apparition in the form of a "phantom" stage coach traversing the mountain trails in Moorland pass, is reported by O. W. Herford, driver of the San Bernardino mountain automobile stage line.

Herford says he has witnessed the strange and uncanny phenomenon of a specter coach of the "forty-niners" days. Sometimes, he says, it team with fearful speed down the steep grades and, when it finally disappears as it crosses the divide, the driver can hear the rattling of its wheels.

MOTHER! LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs"

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailments, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleaning" is often the key that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

Good Place to Keep Away From. Bacon—Didn't some of the warning factions on the other side try to get into Greece? Bacon—I believe so. "What for?" "I don't know." "Neither do I. TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS WHEN BLADDER BOTHERS Harmless to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids—Splendid for the System.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

"You Can't Do It." Henry N. Span tells a story of John S. Duncan, illustrating how quickly Mr. Duncan took advantage of any unwise occurrence in the trial of a case. The witness was being cross-examined with all the vigor John S. Duncan possessed. Finally he protested, "What are you trying to do to me?" The witness shouted at Mr. Duncan, "I am simply trying to get you to tell the truth," replied Mr. Duncan, instantly.

"You can't do it, you can't do it!" exclaimed the witness exultantly. That reply terminated the cross-examination.—Indianapolis News.

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR DARKENS YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Years Younger! Try Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. WAR TAKES "ICE JOCKEYS"

Bobleigh Crews Who Were Accustomed to Races at St. Moritz Decimated by War.

The famous Cresta bobleigh run at St. Moritz will never again see many of its well-known "ice jockeys," whose exploits excited interest among the visitors, including the crown prince of Germany, and the heir to the Austrian throne, a Geneva correspondent of the Philadelphia Record writes. "The

Grand National "Crews" composed in a great part of English officers, have been decimated by war. During the retreat to the Marne and the advance to the Aisne, Captain Bentley, Capt. R. S. Dawson and Lieut. E. Quick were killed and Capt. J. All-Boy was seriously wounded. All four of them steered bobleighs to victory in the Grand National several winters, beating the crown prince with the German crew. Among the wounded officers are Captain Stutz, the well-known Alpinist and skier; Captain

Abberromby, a daring Cresta Run rider, and young Lord Carberry, who revolutionized the bobblelighting at St. Moritz by introducing the prone position of the crew.

St. Moritz will be "dead" this winter and perhaps for many winters, without the elite of its English sportsmen. The crown prince of Germany was a personal friend of all the English officers mentioned, and on frequent occasions during his winter visits to St. Moritz in five years they were his guests at dinners and luncheons.

Remember, this is the all around car, show, mud or good roads.

Look here, Mr. Consumer, before you buy a Car this Spring we want to have the privilege of showcasing one of these 1915 Ford's to you. Remember a demonstration is worth a thousand words.

The 1915 Ford has the appearance of a $2500 Car and the Durability of one of $500.

And the price is 1-4 to 1-10 of that of the one or more trouble Car. The upshot is only a fraction of the price cost of that of the large Car. The Ford's economy of upkeep and operation is less than two cents per mile.

We are here in a position to take in and make you a liberal proposition on your old Car, if you come in early. Early Orders means getting the best and a shortage of Cars. A shortage is being professed from all parts of the country, only in the Spring.

NOTICE

RESOLVED: To submit the following question to the electors of the village of Plymouth, state of Michigan.

To amend Act 3, Public Acts of Michigan, 1886, by which the village is now governed by substituting for the whole of Chapter II thereof, the following:

Section 1. The following officers shall be elected: viz., a president, six trustees and a clerk. The president and trustees shall constitute the council.

Section 2. There shall be chosen by the council an officer who shall be known as the manager and who shall exercise all the executive and administrative powers of the village except those reserved to the president. He shall not at the time of his first appointment be a resident of the village.

Section 3. The salary of the manager shall be fixed by the council but shall not exceed $200 per month.

Section 4. The term of the manager shall be at the pleasure of the council which may, however, contract for penalties to be incurred for dismissal upon less than three months' notice.

Section 5. The manager shall be dismissed by the council only after notice stating the reasons therefor, has been given him in writing and an opportunity given him to be heard in his defense in an open meeting.

Section 6. The manager shall appoint a village trustee and shall assume the entire control, direction and supervision of the various officers and departments of the village and shall be wholly responsible to the council for the conduct of his business.

Section 7. The manager shall have the exclusive power to appoint, promote, reduce, suspend or remove all persons in the employ of the village except the clerk. He may designate these powers subject to his responsibility.

Section 8. The council shall in no way interfere with the manager in the performance of his purely executive and administrative duties, but shall merely hold him responsible for the statement of results.

Section 9. The council may provide by ordinance or resolution for the appointment of such other officers as they shall deem necessary.

Section 10. The president and clerk shall hold their respective offices for the term of one year from the second Monday of March of the year when elected and until their successors enter upon the duties of their offices.

Section 11. The trustees shall hold their offices for the term of two years from the second Monday in March of the year when elected and until their successors are qualified and enter upon the duties of their offices, except that at the first election held in any village incorporated subject to the provisions of this act, six trustees shall be elected, three for the term of one year and three for the term of two years from the second Monday of March of the year when elected and annually thereafter three trustees shall be elected for the term of two years.

Section 12. No person shall be elected to any office unless he shall be a citizen of the village. All officers of the village shall be qualified and shall hold their offices until their successors are qualified and enter upon the duties of their offices, except that at the first election held in any village incorporated subject to the provisions of this act, six trustees shall be elected, three for the term of one year and three for the term of two years from the second Monday of March of the year when elected and annually thereafter three trustees shall be elected for the term of two years.

Section 13. Every officer elected or appointed in the village, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take an oath to support the constitution of the United States and to support the laws of the State of Michigan.

Recognized Advantages.

You will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has many advantages over most medicines in the treatment of coughs and colds. It does not suppress a cough but loosens and relieves it. It aids expectoration and opens the bronchial tubes, which enables the patient to throw off a cold. It counteracts the tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. It contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Men and women, young and old, find this reliable remedy relieves rheumatism, backache, stiff joints and illness by weak or diseased kidneys or bladder. For sale at Rockwell Pharmacy.—Adv.

Falling Chimneys.

Fall chimneys are usually destroyed by removing part of the masonry just above the base, and replacing it with timbers and wooden wedges. These are soaked with inflammable oils and set on fire. Before they are wholly burned, the chimney becomes weak and falls. When a well-built chimney falls from this cause, the motion begins at the bottom and the top drops back, like the tip of a whip when it is swung quickly. This effect of inertia results in the chimney's breaking long before it reaches the ground.

Still Waiting.

The guest was an Englishman, and his host did not wish him to miss any of the good things that were being said at the dinner. "Did you catch that last joke?" he asked the young man, whose face wore a cheerful, but not too animated, expression as the fire of stories rattled from side to side of the table. "The one about the place where they had two skulls of the saint—one when he was a boy and one when he was a man?" "No," said the guest, "I missed that one." "I'd like to hear it now, if you're good enough to repeat it."

Still Waiting.

The guest was an Englishman, and his host did not wish him to miss any of the good things that were being said at the dinner. "Did you catch that last joke?" he asked the young man, whose face wore a cheerful, but not too animated, expression as the fire of stories rattled from side to side of the table. "The one about the place where they had two skulls of the saint—one when he was a boy and one when he was a man?" "No," said the guest, "I missed that one." "I'd like to hear it now, if you're good enough to repeat it."
