Everybody's - Lonesome

This is the title of a little book, but even the title expresses that which we are very slow in learning. It is not a question of material assistance. The individual members of the human race are "lonesome" for that neighborliness which is the spontaneous expression of a feeling of brotherhood. That is what we miss giving and taking when we withdraw into our shells. We need to better understand and know those whom we pass amid the shifting scenes of daily life. We will feel better and those with whom we neighbor will be less lonesome, and the community will be richer for our having exercised this spirit of closer fellowship. Perhaps something in the sermon next Sunday morning may prove helpful along this line. You are invited to hear it.

Literary Club Favor Carnegie Library

EDITOR PLYMOUTH MAIL:

The Woman's Literary Club of Plymouth desires to express through the columns of your paper, its deep interest in the proposition to establish a Carnegie Library in the village of Plymouth.

It has been the aim of the Club for many years to establish, or aid in establishing, a library in our town, and to that end a lecture course was conducted by the Club for several years. But the net returns from these courses were so meagre that it came to seem like a futile effort and was finally abandoned by the Club. Nevertheless, the fund so accumulated has been carefully preserved for the specific purpose for which it was raised, so that if the time ever came when a library seemed possible, this money should be ready to be used to aid this work. It seems now that this time has come, and to this end the Club at its meeting Feb. 19th, adopted the following resolution:

"The members of this Club realizing the great advantage to our community of the establishment of a public library in our midst, pledge our hearty support to the movement now under way, to secure a Carnegie Library, and authorize the library committee to co-operate with the citizens' committee in their efforts to secure the same.

"And we would also urge that every possible effort be made to hasten negotiations with the persons concerned so that the matter may be placed before the voters at the coming township election."

Library Committee of the Woman's Literary Club.

Pleasant Meeting of Woman's Literary Club

A pleasant meeting of the Woman's Literary Club was held at Mrs. J. R. Rauch's home last Friday afternoon. Many members were in attendance and the house was filled. As usual the business of the meeting was transacted before the program was given. The roll call was responded to by giving one of the States of the Union and its nick-name. The library committee gave a report, and while nothing definite has yet been done, the members of the club are unanimously in favor of the movement and are willing to do all in their power to bring a Carnegie library to Plymouth. The afternoon's program was in charge of the second division with Mrs. Paul Bennett, leader, and was given as follows: Current Events—Mrs. Paul Bennett; Paper, Our Inland Waterways—Mrs. Adelade Hudd; Paper, Alaska, Its Development—Mrs. Geo. Richwine; Paper, Queen Wilhelmina—Mrs. Wm. Rattenbury; Paper, War Against War—Miss Besse Hood. The Club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Miss Marguerite Hough.

Mrs. Nancy Bradner, who has been visiting her brother, Lewis Caine, and family for the past two weeks, has returned to her home at Lansing.

Colds and Croup in Children

Many people rely upon Chamberlain's Cough Remedy implicitly in cases of colds and croup, and it never disappoints them. Mrs. E. H. Thomas, Logansport, Ind., writes: "I have found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best medicine for colds and croup I have ever used, and never tire of recommending it to my neighbors and friends. It has always given it to my children when suffering from croup, and it has never failed to give them prompt relief." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Death of Mrs. Harriett Merryweather

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Merryweather, mother of Mrs. Arthur Torre and Mrs. Will Henry, who passed away on Saturday evening Feb. 20th, at the residence of Mrs. Arthur Torre. Mrs. Merryweather had been failing rapidly during the past year or more, and on Wednesday night, February 16th, she had another stroke from which she never recovered. She had always lived a very active and useful life, and was indeed a loving and devoted mother. Her death was very beautiful and the end was peaceful and calm, as she just passed away into that one long sleep "until the Resurrection Morn."

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 23, at 11 o'clock, at St. John's Episcopal Mission, conducted the services, both at the house and at the graveside in Riverside cemetery. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

Two Numbers on the Lecture Course

The next two numbers on the Citizens' Entertainment Course come on this (Friday) evening, February 26, and next Wednesday evening, March 3. The Military Girls will appear this evening. This company is composed of six young ladies, all of whom are musically and athletic. The orchestra and life and drum corps are features of their entertainment.

Rogers and Griley, entertainers, will furnish the entertainment for Wednesday evening, March 3. Mr. Rogers is a harpist who has no equal in this country, while Mr. Griley gives a varied program of impersonations and original selections. Don't forget these two attractions and the dates.

Plymouth Man Honored

An Jay has been appointed by Gov. Ferris as a member of the board of managers of the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids. Everyone in Plymouth is pleased with the appointment, as all the plans of the Soldiers' Home are in the hands of Mr. Jay, capable of filling the place.

Primary Election

On March 3, 1915, a Primary Election of considerable importance to the voters of the county is to be held. At this primary, some counties will elect their representatives to the State Legislature, and some will elect their representatives to the State Senate.

The O. E. S. Party

The card and dancing party given by the order of the Eastern Star last week Thursday evening was largely attended. Pleasant hall was tastefully decorated with hunting flags, and crepe paper, while Masonic hall was made attractive with potted plants, kindly loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Hilda Knapp. About sixty couples took part in the Grand March, which was led by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Leach. Directly following the March contest and serpentine paper, which was distributed among the dancers, Mrs. Knapp arranged a table where the couples took care to dance, enjoyed a social game of cards at Masonic hall, and a buffet lunch was served to all from ten to twelve. Stone's famous orchestra discovered excellent music, as usual, and dancing continued until a late hour.

ATTENTION DRIVERS

All members of the Plymouth Motor Club are urged to attend the meeting of the club on Wednesday, March 3, at 8 o'clock, at the Grand Hotel, Plymouth, Mich. The meeting will be held in the ball room, and will be a most interesting one. The program will include a report on the work of the club during the past year, and a discussion of the proposed new constitution. The meeting is free and all are invited to attend.

"We are going on, I and my guns, on to the best yet—in the pursuit! Nothing can stop us! We shall hit the Grays so fast and hard that they can never get their machine in order again. God bless you! Everything that is fine in me will always think of you! You and Lanny—two fixed stars for me!"

"Truly!" She was radiant. "Truly!" she asked whitely. "Yes, yes—a yes as real as the gun!"

"Then it helps! Oh, how it helps!" she murmured almost inaudibly. "Good-by! God bless you!" he cried as he started to go, adding over his shoulder merrily: "I'll send you a picture post-card from the Grays' capital of my guns parked in the palace square."

"She watched him leap the garden wall as lightly as he had come and gallop away, an impersonation of the gay, adventurous spirit of war, counting death and wounds and hardship as the delights of the game. Yes, he would follow the Grays, throwing shells in the irresponsible joy of toiling content in a carnival. Pursuit! Was Feller's the sentiment of the army? Were the Browns not to stop at the frontier? Were they to charge their guns to the hilt? Now we have our own shall take some of theirs? The thought was fresh fuel to the live coals that still remained under the ashes."

such was her emotion; and he, too, was held in a spell, as the reality of her, after all that had passed, filled his eyes. He waited for her to speak, but she was silent.

"Marta—that handsome! You have been hurt!" he exclaimed. "It's the fashion to be wounded," she said, eyebrows lifted and lashes lowered, with a nervous smile. "I played Florence Nightingale, the natural woman's part. I bowled. We should never protest; only nurse the victims of war. After helping to send men to death I went under fire myself, and—and that helped."

"Yes, that would help," he agreed, wincing as from a knife thrust. Her old taunt, standing men to death and taking no risk himself! She saw that he winced; she realized that she had stayed words that were about to come in a flood. She was marshaling her thoughts to begin when the brittle silence was broken by a rumbling of voices, a stirring of feet, and a cheer. "Lanstron! Lanstron! Hurrah for Lanstron!"

The soldiers in the garden did not bother with any "Your Excellency, the chief of staff" formula when word had been passed of his presence. Marta looked around to see their tempestuous enthusiasm as they tossed their caps in the air and sent up their spontaneous tribute from the depths of their lungs. Conqueror and hero to the living, but the dead could not speak, whispered some feld in her heart.

Lanstron uncovered to the demonstration impulsively, when the conventional military acknowledgment would have been a salute. He always looked more like the real Lanny to her with his forehead bare. It completed the ensemble of his sensitive features. She saw that he was blinking almost boyishly at the compliment and noted the little deprecatory shake of his head, as much as to say that they were making a mistake.

"Thank you!" he called, and the cheerfulness of his voice, she thought, expressed his real self; the delight of victory and the glowing anticipation of further victories. "Thank you!" called the private with a big voice. "Yes, thank you!" repeated some of the officers in quick appreciation of a compliment as real as human courage. He stood smiling for a moment in reply to their smiles; then, still smiling, but in a different way, he said to Marta: "As you say, that helps!" with a nod toward the bandage on her forearm, and hurriedly turned away.

the wreck appeared so distant. She could see every detail of his looks; feel his twinges of pain while he smiled. Was the revelation the more vivid because it had once occurred to her since the war began? It shut out the presence of the officers; she no longer heard what they were saying. Black fear was enveloping her. Vaguely she understood that they were looking away at something. She heard the roar of artillery not far distant and following their gaze toward the knoll where DeLarrone's men had received their baptism of fire, now under a canopy of shrapnel smoke.

"That's about their last stand in the tangent, their last stand on our soil," remarked the brigade commander. "And were raining shells on it!" said his aide. "With our glasses we'll be able to watch the infantry go in." "Yes, very well."

"We're all used to how it feels, now we'll see how it looks at a distance," piped one of the soldiers. Not until he had shouted to them did they notice a division staff-officer who had come up from the road. He had a piece of astounding news to impart before he mentioned official business.

"What do you think of this?" he cried. "Nothing could stop him! Lanstron—yes, Lanstron has gone into that charge with the African Braves!" "Why? Making after their exclamation of amazement at the news that Lanstron was going in the charge. "Why should the chief of staff risk his life in this fashion?"

Marta knew. All her taunts about sending others to death from his office chair, uttered as the fugitive sarcasm of a mood, recurred in the merciless hammerbeat of recollection. For a moment she was aghast, speechless. Then the officers, occupied with the startling news, heard a voice, wrenched from a dry throat in anguish, saying: "The telephone! Try to reach him! Tell him he must not!"

"We can hardly say 'must not' to a chief of staff," said the general automatically. "Tell him I ask him not to! Try to reach him—try—you can try!" "Yes, yes!" exclaimed the general, turning to the telephone operator. He had seen now what the younger men had seen at a glance. They were recalling Lanstron's relief at seeing her; how he had passed them by to speak to her; the intensity of the two in their almost wordless meeting. Her bloodless lips, the imploring passion in her eyes, her quivering impatience told the rest.

Without him—what then? It seemed that the fatality that had let him escape miraculously from the aeroplane accident, made him chief of staff, and brought him victory, might well choose to ring down the curtain of destiny for him in the charge that drove the last foot of the invader off the soil of the Browns. "A voice was calling. . . . She heard it hazily, with a sudden access of giddy fear, before it became a cheerful, clarion cry that seemed to be repeating a message that had already been spoken without her understanding it."

"He's safe, safe, safe, Miss Gailand! He was not hit! He is on his way back and ought to be here very soon!" She heard herself saying "Thank you!" But that was not for some time. The aide was already gone. He had had his thanks in the effect of the news, which made him think that a chief of staff should not receive congratulations for victory alone.

Lanny would return through the garden. She remained leaning against the wagon body, still faint from happiness, waiting for him. She was drawing deeper and longer breaths that were velvety with the glow of sunshine. A flame, the flame that Lanny had desired, of many gentle yet passionate tongues, leaping hither and thither in glad freedom, was in possession of her being. When he figured appearing out of the darkness the flame swept her to her feet and toward him. Though he might reject her he should know that she loved him; this glad thing, after all the shame she had endured, she could confess triumphantly.

But she stopped short under the whip of conscience. Where was her courage? Where her sense of duty? What right had she, who had played such a horrible part, to think of self? There were other sweethearts with lovers alive who might be dead on the morrow if war continued. The flame sank to a live coal in her secret heart. Another passion possessed her as she seized Lanstron's hand in both her own.

"Lanny, listen! Not the sound of a shot for the first time since the war began! Oh, the blessed silence! It's peace, peace— isn't it to be peace?" As they ascended the steps she was pouring out a flood of broken, feverish sentences which permitted of no interruption. "You kept on fighting today, but you won't tomorrow, will you? It isn't I who plead—it's the women, more women than there are men in the army, who want you to stop now! Can't you hear them? Can't you see them?"

In the fervor of appeal, before she realized his purpose, they were on the veranda and at the door of the dining-room, where the Brown staff was gathered around the table. "I still rely on you to help me, Marta!" he whispered as he stood to one side for her to enter.

TO SERVE WITH LUNCH

SUGGESTIONS FOR DISHES EASY TO COMPOUND.

Will Frequently Be Found Valuable In Emergencies That Alt Housewives Experience.—Piquant Suggestions From France.

Hors d'oeuvres are an essential part of the French defenestration, but here they are not often served at the family luncheon. They are often convenient, however, to eke out and give a little appetizer to a luncheon that might otherwise be scanty, and a few good ideas for hors d'oeuvres are given here for the housewife. Here are a few simple recipes that can be made and worked into a luncheon at the last moment:

Devilled Sardines.—Take sardines, warm them in their own oil, add a little lemon juice, season highly with salt, pepper and English sauce, serve very hot on small rounds of toast.

Savory Toast.—Chop very finely, or run through a meat chopper, any pieces of cold chicken, beef, ham or tongue. Pound to a paste with the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs, a piece of butter, pepper, salt, a little Chutney and Worcestershire. Spread rather thickly on thin strips of toast and set in the oven to heat.

Cheese Canapés.—Cut bread into pieces one-half inch thick, then stamp them into circles with a biscuit cutter. Saute the bread in a little butter until it is of an amber color on both sides. Cover the slices with a thick layer of grated cheese, sprinkle with salt, pepper and a dash of cayenne. Fifteen minutes before the time to serve place them in the oven for a few minutes to soften the cheese.

MEAT CLOGS KIDNEYS THEN YOUR BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothered You—Drink Lots of Water.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by making the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat digests slowly and excites the kidneys, they become overworked, the strain, not sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

A Mild Hint. "Can you understand why I can't get a job? I've been very patient and persistent."

"You don't go about it right," replied Farmer Cornstout. "When you want a job you ought to ask somebody besides your senator to get it for you."

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HER GRAY HAIR. She Made Up a Mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to Bring Back Color, Gloss, Thickness.

zation. Our dirigibles having command of the air—we had a wireless from one reporting all clear half-way to the Gray capital—why, we shall know their concentrations while they are ignorant of ours. It's the nation's great opportunity to gain even ground provinces to even the balance of population with the Grays. With the urea emitting offensive, blow on blow, using the spirit of our men to drive in mass attacks at the right points, the Gray range is ours!"

Marta scanned the faces of the staff for some sign of dissent only to find nothing but the ardor of victory calling for more victory, which reflected the feeling of the coursing crowds in the capital. Though Lanny wished to stop the war, he was only a chip on the crest of a wave. Public opinion, which had made him an idol, would discard him as soon as he ceased to be a hero in the likeness of his desires. She saw him aloof as the others, in preoccupation, bent over the map outlining the plan of attack that their chief's return from the charge. He was taking a paper from his pocket and looking from one to another of his colleagues studiously; and she was conscious of that determination in his smile which she had first seen when he rose from the wreck of his plane.

"This is from Partow: a message for you and the nation!" he announced, as he spread a few thin, typewritten pages out on the table. "I was under promise never to reveal its contents unless our army drove the Grays back across the frontier. The original is in the staff vaults. I have carried this copy with me."

SLEEP TO AVOID EXHAUSTION

Theory of Swiss Physiologist Seems to Fit into Common Sense View of the Matter.

Most of us believe we sleep because we are exhausted. But Doctor Claude, Swiss physiologist, advanced a new theory, which is to the effect that we sleep to avoid being exhausted. The theory is that sleep, instead of being the result of fatigue, is an impulsive self-direction which the body conducts in order to get rid of the waste products before they have time to produce exhaustion.

Just as combustion of fuel for the production of heat and energy always is attended by ashes and slag, so the slow combustion which produces heat and energy in the body likewise is attended by waste.

Spanish Royal Bodyguard.—The Spanish royal bodyguard to preserve such institutions as that which has occurred at Buckingham palace at London. For centuries the Monarchs, who must be natives of the town of Ajppinoza and have served with honor in the army, have had the exclusive privilege of guarding the royal palaces by night. In their historic costume and wearing felt shoes they take up their posts at midnight outside the rooms of the king, queen and other royals, while attendants patrol the halls and corridors all night long.

CHAPTER XXII

The Last Shot. Blinking as she came out of the darkness into the bright light, with a look of her dew-sprinkled dark hair free and brushing her flushed cheeks, Marta saw the division chiefs of the Browns, after their start when Lanstron spoke her name, all stand at the salute, looking at her rather than at him. The reality in the flesh of the woman who had been a comrade in service, sacrificing her sensibilities for their cause, appealed to them as a true likeness of their conceptions of her. In their eyes she might read the finest thing that can pass from man's to woman's or from man's to man's.

These were the strong men of her people who had driven the burglar from her house with the sword of justice. Their tribute had the most fastidious soldierly who were craving to do any soldier in the world that she might ask, whether to go on their knees to her or to kill dragons for her. "I may come in!" she asked. "Who if not you is entitled to the privilege of the staff council?" exclaimed the vice-chief.

The others did not propose to let him do all the honors. Each murmured words of welcome on his own account. "We are here, thanks to you!" "And, thanks to you, our flag will float over the Gray range!"

She must be tired, was their next thought. Four or five of them hurried to place a chair for her, the vice-chief winning over his rivals, more through the exercise of the rights of rank than by any superior alacrity.

"I think you had better stop her if you can," said the general to his aide. The aide overtook her at the gate. "We shall know about his excellency before you can find out for yourself," he said; and, young himself, he could put the sympathy of youth with romance into his tone. "You might miss the road, even miss him, when he was without a scratch, and be for hours in ignorance," she explained. "In a few minutes he will be out to have word."

"You Have Been Hurt," He Exclaimed.

heard some other self answering their polite questions; and a fear, a new kind of fear, was taking hold of her real self; a fear inexplicable, but seriously growing. Lanstron was still in the officers' minds after his strange appearance and stranger departure. They began to talk of him, and Marta listened.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR A CHILD'S BOWELS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.
Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on - castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.
With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.
If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Adv.

OPERATING UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Stalled in an Alaskan Snowdrift.
Digging Down to the Railroad Through 40 Feet of Snow.

ON ALASKAN RAILROAD HAS MADE ITS SLOGGON GOOD

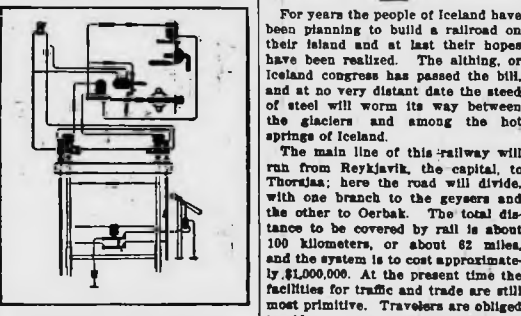

Eastern Railroad Able to Regard With Pride the Success of its Safety-First Movement.

Despite its System of Snowsheds, Road is Frequently Blocked and All Trains Stalled for Weeks, or Even Months.
Keeping the line cleared of snow and ice is the biggest problem in the operation of the railroad that runs from Cordova, Alaska, to the Bonanza copper mines. Although snowsheds have been built along the most dangerous places, it is not an uncommon thing for this railroad to become blocked with snow so that trains are stalled for weeks, and on one occasion there were no trains for nearly two months. Rotary snowplows are in almost constant service during the winter, but when the snow drifts to such depths as 40 feet, as it sometimes does, even these powerful machines are unable to keep the line open. On one occasion the fuel was used up and the rotary was caught in a snowdrift. The conductor managed to reach a relief telephone and notify the Cordova office of his plight. Oil and several dog teams were sent out on a relief engine. When this engine was stopped by the snow the oil was loaded on the dog sleds and taken over miles of drifts to the stalled rotary. The railway follows a river bank for much of its length, and during seasons when there is alternate freezing and thawing, the overflow from the river forms over the track a solid sheet of ice that can be removed only by dynamite.—Modern Mechanica.

Automatic Train-Stop System for Use in Connection With Block Signals on Railroads.

This train-stopping apparatus is adapted for use in connection with a block-signal system, whereby a train is automatically stopped or slowed down or a signal given when a train enters a block already occupied by another train and a stop signal is disregarded, or when the train travels at excessively high speed or when part of the circuit is interrupted or deranged for any reason.—Scientific American.

Dead Year for Railroads.

The year 1914 was the deadest in a generation for the railroads. Mileage construction fell from an average of 4,450 miles during the preceding 15 years to 1,531 miles. Only 3,691 steel passenger cars were constructed, as against 4,246 in 1913, 4,412 in 1912 and 5,457 in 1909. Only about half as many freight cars, 104,541, were built in 1914 as in 1913. The number of locomotives constructed in 1914 was only 2,335; in 1913 the number was 5,332 and in 1912 it was 4,915. This loss in constructive business meant a difference in expenditure of many millions of dollars and it meant thousands of men idle.

The Oldest Metal Things.

The oldest metallic objects are thought to be those found in a royal tomb in Egypt, supposed to have been that of King Menes. In one of the chambers were some bits of gold and a bead, a button and a fine wire of nearly pure copper. These objects are believed to be 5,300 years old.

Improved Railroad Gates.

The Canadian Pacific railroad is erecting seven gates that will be operated by electricity to safeguard traffic across its tracks along the waterfront in Vancouver. They are of the portculcille type, and the pressure of an electric button will lower or raise them.

BREAD DRESSING FOR STEAK

Many Prefer Meat Prepared in a Casserole to That Dressed in the Regular Way.

If you wish to stuff a flank steak use bread dressing; use it with vegetables and a small quantity of liquid in a casserole. If you do not own one (and you should in these times of high prices) use any tightly covered dish. Be sure it is tight so the steam cannot escape.

Bread Stuffing.—Two cupfuls soft bread crumbs, one-half cupful butter melted in one-third cupful hot water or milk, one-quarter teaspoonful powdered sweet herbs or spiced poultry seasoning, one egg. Mix the ingredients together thoroughly. The bread should be 24 hours old and taken from the crumb of the loaf. The seasoning is a matter of individual taste, so you can use the above quantities or suit your taste. The egg may be omitted if the flank is to be eaten hot, but will show better when cold if egg is used. Cracker crumbs give a drier stuffing.

Spread your flank steak with above and roll tightly. Fry out some fat and then brown the flank so as to hold the juices. Put in casserole, add little water and when half done season with salt and pepper, chopped, and plenty of fine minced vegetables or rice, whichever you may prefer. The flank is quite juicy, so you will need but little water. It lacks flavor, so the high spices and vegetables make up what the flank lacks. It is much better this way than broiled as regular steak.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

Pickles will never become moldy if you put a tiny bag of mustard in the top of the receptacle in which they are kept.
If your silk dress looks rusty you can revive it by sponging it with water in which potatoes have been boiled.
Mice can be most successfully exterminated if you stuff all their holes with a piece of rag which has been dipped in water and then in cayenne pepper.
A very quick way to cool a hot liquid is to pass it through a clean cloth saturated with cold water. And if the liquor is soup no trace of grease will remain.
If you lay your silver away in common flour it will remain bright for some time.
You can warm over meat much more quickly if you wrap it in greased paper. The steam will prevent the meat from becoming hard and dry.
Perspiration stains can be removed from a thin shirtwaist by soaking it in cold water, to which you have added a little sodium bicarbonate before it has been washed.
There is a new square meshed veiling that is much liked.

Hot-Water Chocolate Cake.

Two tablespoonfuls butter, one cupful sugar, yolk of one egg, two tablespoonfuls cocoa dissolved in one-half cupful boiling water, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one-half cupful boiling water, one teaspoonful of baking powder, sifted with one and one-half cupfuls of flour and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix in order given and bake in square tin about thirty minutes. Frost with white of egg beaten stiff. Boli one cupful sugar in little water till it hairs, then turn on egg and beat till stiff.

When Steak is Tough.

To make a tough steak tender, put three tablespoonfuls of salad oil and one tablespoonful vinegar on a large flat dish.
Lay the steak on the mixture and let it rest in this way for half an hour, then turn it over, and let it rest another half hour in the same quantity of vinegar. This will yield to this treatment, and be nice and tender when served.

Little Cake Decorations.

Decorate your small cakes with white icing and form a bowknot on each cake with pale green icing. Before laying the knot place a narrow strip of white paper on, slightly raised. When the ends are set in the icing, ice over the knot with the green. Before serving slip a small spray of holly with the bright red berries on through the loop.

Fish Puff.

This is a delicious dish made from remnants of cold cooked fish. Chop fish and mix it with equal parts of mashed potato. Season with salt and pepper and a tablespoonful of melted butter. Stir into it two eggs, form into a roll, brush with a beaten egg, roll in bread crumbs and bake in a quick oven until brown.

Wine Jelly.

Take a half box of gelatin, soaked in a half pint of cold water for 15 minutes, and add three gills of boiling water and two-thirds of a cupful of sugar. Let this come to the boiling point, then add seven tablespoonfuls of best sherry wine and two teaspoonfuls of French brandy. Boil up once, strain and cool.

Cape May Omelet.

Soak one-half cupful stale bread-crumbs in milk. Beat one egg well, add salt, pepper and a tablespoonful melted butter. Add one-half cupful canned corn and mix with the bread-crumbs. The mixture should be quite thick. Bake in a buttered dish just long enough to set the egg and brown the top.

Rendering Leaf Lard.

A quick way to render leaf lard is to cut it in strips about the size that will fit into a meat grinder, using the largest opening, which will allow it to come through very fine. Put in a kettle and place in a hot oven until the lard is extracted, strain through cheesecloth and put in crocks.

Golden Meat.

Prepare a new wash, made of equal parts of salt and pepper, and wash each slice of meat with water.

Winter Chills Bring Kidney Ills

A spell of cold, damp weather is always followed by a fine crop of kidney troubles and backache. Colds and chills damage the kidneys. Other troubles common to winter weather are just as bad. Grip, tonsillitis, quinsy, pneumonia or any other infectious disease hurts the kidneys by overloading the blood with poisons. The kidneys get worn, weak and inflamed trying to work it off.
It is hard to strengthen weak kidneys through, if you act quickly. At the first sign of backache, dizzy spells, headaches, loss of weight, nervousness, depression and painful, irregular kidney action, start using Doan's Kidney Pills. Rest the kidneys by simple eating, avoidance of overwork and worry, and getting more rest and sleep. A milk diet is fine.
This sensible treatment should bring quick benefit and prevent serious kidney diseases like dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease.
Clip this advertisement and mail it to the address below for a free trial of Doan's Kidney Pills, the best recommended kidney remedy in the world. You'll decide it worth a trial, when you read this enthusiastic testimony.

Life Despaired of Specialist Said Operation Was Only Hope for Recovery.

James Greenman, mail carrier, 161 St. Adams St., Iron Mich., says: "I suffered terribly from kidney disease and at one time my life was despaired of. In the fall of 1907 I was laid up for three months. I had terrible pains in my back and sides and was so nervous that the least thing irritated me. I felt languid nearly all the time and was also subject to headaches and dizzy spells. The kidney secretions became highly colored and at times were retained. I was again laid up for a few days and I was forced to take to my bed and a specialist who was called in consultation, said that the only thing for me was an operation. I wouldn't consent to this, however, and when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills I started using them. After taking one box I gained a large stone and then I felt better. The ache and pains left and I had more strength and energy. Doan's Kidney Pills certainly saved my life."

Never Good at Mathematics Anyhow.
"This year is getting to be too thundering mathematical for comfort!" grumbled old Dad Bing. "Tut-tut, as I was standing on a corner a taxicab ran over my toes, and then stopped just beyond me."
"Here, confound you!" says I to the driver. "These your toes that you just smashed are mine!"
"Well, why didn't you drag 'em out of the way?" he asked.
"Drag the devil!" I yelled. "How did I know how far they protruded? Expect a visitor in your fair city to do nothing all the time but figger up his own feet?"—Kansas City Star.

The Flight of 'rime.
Uncle Rastus lives in a pleasant little bungalow on the outskirts of a large town. Wending his way thither on the Saturday evening before Easter he stopped as suddenly as colliding with safety gates and uttered a cry of dismay.

Several people hastened up to see what was the matter. On the ground was a broken bottle. On the face of Rastus was an expression of great sadness.
"What in the world has happened, Uncle Rastus?" solicitously asked one of the party. "Have you broken your bottle of gin?"
"Yes, sah, boss! Yes, sah!" was the mournful reply of Uncle Rastus, as he pointed to the broken bottle. "Dar' Eastah come an' gone."

Kiddle's Hard Lot.
For some time the six-year-old boy of a Philadelphia mch, the third in the family, had found it his duty to sift the family ashes, as his brother did before him. One morning the kiddle was told that a baby had arrived, whereat the youngster looked very much pleased.

"And," continued the father, as he observed the pleased expression of his son's countenance, "it's a nice little girl."
"The boy's smile vanished instantly. 'A girl!' he exclaimed, disgusted. 'Must I always sift ashes?'"

Safety First.

In a certain village down South there was a physician noted for his reckless automobile driving. One day when he answered the telephone, a woman's voice asked him if he was going out driving that afternoon.

"No, I hardly think I will have time this afternoon," replied the doctor. "But why do you ask?"
"Well," replied his anonymous caller, "I want to send my little daughter to school for some time if you see fit."

Hard to Land.
An English correspondent said in Washington:
"I once tried to interview Lord Kitchener, the English war minister. I tackled him after dinner in a hotel lounge as he sipped his coffee and puffed on a huge cigar. He stared at me when I proffered my request, then he blew a cloud of smoke and said:—
"I never gave an interview in my life, and I never intend to."
"That seemed decisive enough. I felt myself getting red, and I stammered, as I prepared to go:
"Well, then, Lord Kitchener, will you at least give me your autograph? It would be worth having."
"He blew another cloud of smoke. Then he answered:
"You'd better go off and make your own autograph worth having."

Mar Difficulty.
A young lady who slipped very badly was treated by a specialist, and after diligent practice and the expenditure of some money, learned to say, "Buster Susie's sewing shirts for soldiers."

She repeated it to her friends at a private rehearsal, and was congratulated upon her masterly performance. "What?" she said dubiously, "but it is but an exceedingly difficult remark to work into a conversation—especially when you consider that I have no thittler Thuthle."

Quite So.
"Now they are advertising dreadnaught gray. They ought not to drag the various colors into this imbroglie."
"What do you mean?"
"Gray has always been considered a neutral tint."—Kansas City Journal.

Right Food Works Wonders

It is often the case that people drift into wrong habits of food, although they should know better.

When one gets into trouble of this sort it's a fine thing to know how to get out of it. The "food route" is the common sense way back to health and comfort.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

is made of wheat and barley, so perfectly cooked that it is partially pre-digested and contains the vital tissue-making elements required for the rebuilding of body and brain.

Grape-Nuts food is delicious and economical; and for breakfast regularly, helps mightily to put one in mental and physical condition for a good day's work.

BIBLE STUDENTS.

The date of the last typical jubilee must have been just before the 70 years captivity, as no jubilee could have been kept by the Jews in a strange land in captivity to others. Besides 70 years is a greater period than 50 years. There then the type ceased and the anti-type began. We also note that the cycles were as much a part of the type as the jubilees themselves, thus they could not be disposed with but must be taken into account in the anti-type. Thus it was that a great anti-typical cycle 50x50 or 2500 years in length there began to count where the type ceased. We shall certainly be surprised, no doubt, to find that this great anti-typical cycle ended in 1875 and that we have already been 40 years in the anti-typical period. This is the reason for all the changes (and more to come) we see about us in this our most wonderful day. Figures next week.

BIBLE STUDENTS.

The date of the last typical jubilee must have been just before the 70 years captivity, as no jubilee could have been kept by the Jews in a strange land in captivity to others. Besides 70 years is a greater period than 50 years. There then the type ceased and the anti-type began. We also note that the cycles were as much a part of the type as the jubilees themselves, thus they could not be disposed with but must be taken into account in the anti-type. Thus it was that a great anti-typical cycle 50x50 or 2500 years in length there began to count where the type ceased. We shall certainly be surprised, no doubt, to find that this great anti-typical cycle ended in 1875 and that we have already been 40 years in the anti-typical period. This is the reason for all the changes (and more to come) we see about us in this our most wonderful day. Figures next week.

INFORMAL PROPOSALS SENT TO LONDON AND BERLIN FOR UNDERSTANDING.

ANOTHER SHIP IS BLOWN UP

It is Understood That Germany Will Abandon Submarine Warfare if Foodstuffs Are Allowed to Enter Fatherland.

Washington—Proposals have been made informally by the United States government to both Great Britain and Germany suggesting a basis for an understanding on the subject of foodstuffs for the civilian population of belligerents and submarine warfare against merchant ships.

As for the proposals made to the belligerents, it is known that they are of far-reaching importance. They were embodied in a confidential memorandum which both Ambassadors Page and Gerard were instructed by President Wilson to take up informally with the respective foreign offices at London and Berlin.
