PROFANITY

Ten good reasons why every respectable man should swear just as often and as hard as he can.

1. Because it is such an elegant way of expressing one's thoughts.
2. Because it is such a conclusive proof of taste and good breeding.
3. Because it is such a sure way of making one's self agreeable.
4. Because it is a positive evidence of acquaintance with good books.
5. Because it furnishes such a good example and training for boys.
6. Because it is just what a man's mother enjoys having her son do.
7. Because it would look so nice in print.
8. Because it is such a good way of increasing one's self-respect.
9. Because it is such a help to manhood and virtue in many ways.
10. Because it is such an infallible way of proving one's chances in the hereafter.

These reasons come from another pen, but we approve of them. Moreover, because we know of a great deal of profanity in our own community, we are going to preach upon the subject next Sunday evening.

Woman's Club

Observes Pioneer Day

One of the most interesting meetings of the Woman's Literary Club was held at Mrs. R. E. Cooper's home on Penniman avenue last Friday afternoon. This was Pioneer Day and nearly every member brought some relic of olden times, a bit of handmade lace, a rare piece of china, clothing, quilts and many other interesting articles. The president called the meeting to order, and voting to give ten dollars toward the children's playground, the order of business was suspended and the time was given over to the program of the afternoon. About forty members responded to roll call, the response being, "What year did your family come to Michigan? And also an explanation of the articles brought by the different members. The program was in charge of the fifth division, Mrs. Carman Root, chairman. The following papers were given: Current Events, Mrs. O. A. Frazer. The Quakers, Mrs. O. M. Rockwell. Lucretia Mott—Her life and work, Mrs. R. G. Samsen. Our Grandmother's Way and Ours, Mrs. R. E. Cooper. This paper contained many interesting facts concerning the pioneer life of Plymouth, when only a store stood where the business block now stands and it was known through the surrounding country as the "Corners." When a trip to Detroit by ox-team was a journey of three days' duration. An ox-team could travel about ten miles a day. Then followed a paper on Lace Lore by Mrs. Carman Root. At the conclusion of the program a rising vote of thanks was given the fifth division for the splendid afternoon they had furnished us. It was suggested that the data and early history of pioneer life of Plymouth given that afternoon, be put in the hands of the library committee and placed on file for future reference. The next meeting will be held Friday afternoon, April 16th, at Mrs. F. A. Dibble's home.

Bom. Schauplatz des europäischen Völker-Krieges

Zum Falle Brzemsyl's.

Der Fall der Festung Brzemsyl hat die mannigfaltigsten Gefühle ausgelöst. Noch läßt sich kein klares Bild gewinnen über die nach Russen in die Hände gefallene Besatzung und damit über die von den Österreichern erlittenen Verluste. Jedenfalls dürfte die russische Behauptung, daß 120,000 Mann der Besatzung Kriegsgefangenen seien, eine starke Übertreibung bedeuten, was man ja von der Petrograder Rügenfabrik schon längst gewohnt ist.

Das Ende wurde durch Mangel an Munition und Proviant herbeigeführt, die Garnison, die nach Wiener Meldungen auf 25,000 Mann zusammengekommen war, nährte sich in der letzten Zeit von Viehfleisch und die russische Lebermasse wurde von Tag zu Tag größer. Aber eine die spätere Schär die Festung übergab, geriet sie die Festungswerte, die Geschütze und die noch vorhandene Munition. Sodas die Hoffnung der Russen auf den Gewinn der von ihnen infolge der Gindenburg - Siege so schwerlich erbeuteten Kanonen jedenfalls zu Wasser geporden sein dürfte.

Die Alliierten befinden sich neben ihren bisherigen Erfolgen über den Fall der österreichischen Festung in einem wahrenden Zerknirschung. Und die getreue Korrespondenz hierzulande sieht die Russen schon Strafen übernehmen und auf dem Wege durch die reiche deutsche Provinz Schichten in Berlin einziehen. Doch das soll uns nicht beunruhigen; auf diesem Wege befinden sich Russen, Engländer und Franzosen in Begleitung ihres geliebten Schwärzen und gelben Lumpenpads schon seit über acht Monaten, jedoch um auszuweichen, daß "it is a long way to Berlin".

Wir wollen uns seiner Selbstbehauptung hingeben, auch die Berliner Meldung tut dies nicht, indem sie offen eingesteht, daß der Fall von Brzemsyl immerhin einen größeren Schlag für den tapferen treuen Bundesgenossen bedeutet. Die Festung bietet zweifellos von nun an den Russen einen starken Stützpunkt und macht jedenfalls über 100,000 Mann für die Feuerlinie frei. Wo diese Verstärkungen für die russische Front einleiten werden, ist uns nicht bekannt, sicherlich ist aber die österreichische Seeresleitung darüber unterrichtet und darauf vorbereitet, denselben Wirkungsbol zu begegnen. Sodas der Fall der Festung außer ihrem Verluste von einem strategischen Einfluß auf den Verlauf der Kämpfe im allgemeinen sein wird.

Die Russen bezeichneten zu Anfang des Krieges Brzemsyl als die erste Etappe auf Straun und von dort auf Breslau. Die erste Belagerung mußte aufgegeben werden, die zweite Belagerung hat jetzt seit mehreren Monaten eine starke russische Seeresmacht vor der Feste gehalten und ein Entlasten der russischen Front ist nicht zu erwarten, da sich auf andern Kriegsschauplätzen ungleich wichtigere Operationen abspielen.

Zwischen der ersten Belagerung und der zweiten haben sich aber nun die Verhältnisse so gestaltet, daß der Fall der Festung keine Wichtigkeit als strategische Ereignis hat.

Bei dem gerüttelten Zustande, in welchem sich die russische Armee infolge der mehreren schweren Niederlagen befindet, kann von einem fröhlichen Vorstoß auf Straun und die deutsch - östliche Grenze keine Rede mehr sein, um so weniger, als eine deutsch - österreichische Truppenmacht jetzt in Anmarsch auf die Festung ist. Wäre Brzemsyl im September, als die russische Armee noch gewissermaßen intact war, gefallen, so wäre die Möglichkeit, daß sich von diesem Stützpunkte aus der Vormarsch nach Straun und die deutsche Grenze den Händen der russischen Seeresleitung gemäß vollzogen hätte, nicht von der Hand zu weisen gewesen. Es ist Tatsache, daß man damals in Breslau mit der Möglichkeit einer Belagerung rechnete. Wie die Verhältnisse heute liegen, ist die Möglichkeit eines weiteren Vordringens der Russen über die Festung hinaus völlig ausgeschlossen.

So ist bei klarem Verstand der Fall Brzemsyl's ein wichtiger russischer Einzelfall, und die Besetzung der Festung dürfte bald einen weiteren Rückschlag erfahren, indem sich der demnächstigen Offensiven nicht entgegen, sondern ins Gegenteil umschlagen, da Österreich - Ungarn mit dem kommenden Frühjahr ebenso wie Deutschland eine große Heeresarmee an die Front stellt.

Die Verteidigung der Festung Brzemsyl aber bildet ein ruhmvolles Blatt in der Geschichte der österreichisch - ungarischen Armee. Vergleichen wir damit nur einmal den rühmlichen Fall der Festung Gindenburg, Antwerpen, Antwerpen, etc., die kaum einige Wochen dem Anprall der Deutschen stand zu halten vermochten, so muß jeder eingestehen, daß der Kommandant und die Besatzung von Brzemsyl sich als Helden mit Ruhm bedeckt haben, wie auch die Feinde, selbst London, offen eingestehen.

Brzemsyl hat eine schwierige Aufgabe in bester Weise gelöst, indem es den russischen Ansturm monatelang aufgehalten und weit über 100,000 Feinde in erfolgreichem Verteidigungskampfe außer Gefecht gesetzt hat. Solange es eine Weltgeschichte gibt, wird der heldenhafte Verteidigung des heldenmütigen Kommandanten Hermann von Kusmanek mit Hochachtung und Anerkennung gedacht werden.

Die niederliegende Wirkung der Nachricht vom Falle von Brzemsyl ist durch die offiziellen Meldungen aufgehoben worden, daß der Erfolg des Angriffs der Alliierten auf die Festung der Dardanellen unter jetzigen Umständen vollständig unmöglich ist. Das hiesige Publikum erfährt heute zum ersten Male, daß die türkischen Besatzungen in der Meerenge beim Ausbruch des Krieges vertrieben wurden, jedoch sie fast unannehmbar sind. Verborgene Landbatterien, mit deutschen Kanonen besetzt, und jetzt von Deutschen besetzt, wurden aufgestellt. Dieselben sind so geschickt maskiert, daß die Flieger der Alliierten sie nicht entdecken konnten.

Bisher haben die englisch - französischen Kriegsschiffe nach eingelaufenen Berichten nur die alten Strandbatterien zerstört. Sie haben noch nicht das wichtige Problem in Angriff genommen, das gelöst werden muß, ehe der Weg nach Konstantinopel frei liegt. Militärische Sachverständige sind der Ansicht, daß nur ein Angriff zu Lande mit ungeheurer Lebermasse zugleich mit einem energischen Bombardement seitens des englisch - französischen Geschwaders die verborgenen Verteidiger der Landbatterien auch nur beseitigen können. Entwürfen dieser unerwarteten Stärke der Türken haben das deutsche Publikum sehr begeistert. Überall wird eine weitere Niederlage der Alliierten, vergleichbar mit dem Sinken der englisch - französischen Kriegsschiffe, gedeutet.

Wir können uns darum des Gefühls nicht erwehren, daß die Niederlage der Alliierten bei den Dardanellen von größerer Bedeutung auf den weiteren Gang der kriegerischen Ereignisse ist, als der Fall von Brzemsyl. Jedenfalls aber wird der Schmerz der Alliierten durch diesen russischen Erfolg in etwa gemildert.

Dank Sam als Helfer der englischen Seeräuber.

Bekanntlich ist von verschiedenen Seiten die Anregung ausgegangen, Lebensmittel in Vorkapfen nach Deutschland und Österreich - Ungarn zu schicken. Die Ansicht liegt darin klar zutage, daß man auf diese Weise der durch die englische Auslieferungspolitik auf bebrängten Zivilbevölkerung in Deutschland und Österreich - Ungarn Hilfe leisten wollte. Bekanntlich haben die Engländer nicht nur alle für Deutschland bestimmten Lebensmittel als Konterbande erklärt, sondern überhaupt jeden Handelverkehr Deutschlands mit dem Ausland unterbunden.

Auf dem Wege der Vorkapfen hofften nun die Deutschamerikaner, sowie Österreich und Ungarn diese unterdrückte Bevölkerung Englands, wie sie sich in der Auslieferungspolitik zu erkennen gibt, wenigstens teilweise unwirksam zu machen. Und der Plan ist an und für sich nicht nur zweckmäßig, sondern entspricht auch allen gesetzlichen Anforderungen.

Als man darum von der Anregung in Washington hörte, bekam man keinen gefunden Schreden. In der ersten Ueberrassigung wurde von aufständiger Seite erklärt, der Plan sei nicht durchführbar, Lebensmittel seien von England auf die Konterbandeliste gesetzt worden, und sie blieben Konterbande auch dann, wenn sie der Post zur Beförderung übergeben würden. Damit war die Unterbrechung der amerikanischen Verbindungen preisgegeben. Weidenschaft wurde angedeutet, daß die Postämter des Landes doch instruiert werden würden, die nach Deutschland und Österreich - Ungarn bestimmten Lebensmittelpakete zurückzuweisen. Von diesem Entschluß ist man abgekommen. Durch eine von Generalpostmeister Burleson erlassene Verfügung werden die Postämter angewiesen, solche Pakete nun anzunehmen, aber den Absendern zu bezeugen, daß die Beförderung auf ihr Risiko geschieht. Die Postmeister sollen auch darauf achten, daß diese Pakete gefondert bleiben, damit, wenn die Postämter von englischen Seeräubern angehalten und auf Konterbande durchsucht werden, möglichst wenig Verzögerung in der Beförderung der übrigen Poststücke eintritt.

Man sieht, Herr Burleson macht es den Engländern möglichst bequem. Er läßt sie nicht bloß mit der Nase davor, daß man in Washington nichts dagegen haben wird, wenn sie die nach Deutschland und Österreich - Ungarn bestimmten Poststücke konfiszieren, er läßt sie ihnen auch noch hübsch zuhören, damit sie sie leicht finden, ohne Verurteilung auf ihre Schritte zu leiden und in den nächsten Tagen abgeholt werden können.

DRY FORCES MAKE IMPORTANT GAINS

ELECTIONS IN MICHIGAN ADD SEVERAL COUNTIES TO ARID TERRITORY.

REPUBLICAN TICKET WINS

Little Intersect Shown in Contest for State Officers in Election Monday. Vote is Very Light.

Lansing—The entire republican state ticket was victorious at the polls on Monday. The vote was very light all over the state. The only light of any consequence was against Julius Beal, of Ann Arbor, in the race for university regent, but it was unaccountable. The election so far as the state ticket was concerned was apathetic and featureless.

The successful candidates are: Justice of the supreme court—Aaron V. McAlvay, Lansing; Flavius L. Brooks, Lansing.

Regents of the university—Junius E. Beal, Ann Arbor; Frank B. Leland, Detroit.

Superintendent of public instruction—Fred L. Keeler, Mt. Pleasant.

Member state board of education—Fred A. Jeffers, Painesdale.

Members state board of agriculture—William H. Wallace, Bay Port; I. Roy Waterbury, Highland.

Dry Win Thirteen Counties. The greatest point of interest in Monday's voting was the test of strength between "wets" and "drys" in sixteen counties. This was a sweeping victory for local option, twelve of the counties voting to expel the saloons, two voting to remain wet and the result doubtful in two.

The "drys" not only held Eaton, Genesee, Lenawee and Sanilac, which were already arid, but also captured Berrien, Calhoun, Emmet, Kalamazoo, Leapeur, Mason, Oakland and Tuscola, which had been "wet".

The "wets" carried one county by a decisive majority, Grand Traverse, which voted 2,282 Yes and 2,713 No, and made a gallant fight for Chippewa, winning by a majority of 37.

Berrien furnished the surprise of the day by flipping into the "dry" column, by 200 majority.

Dry Counties Are Increased. Counties already "dry" before the election Monday were: Alcona, Allegan, Antrim, Barry, Benzie, Branch, Cass, Charlevoix, Clinton, Eaton, Genesee, Gladwin, Gratiot, Hillsdale, Ingham, Ionia, Isabella, Kalamazoo, Leapeur, Livingston, Mecosta, Midland, Missaukee, Montcalm, Newaygo, Oceana, Oshtemo, Oscoda, Oshtemo, Sanilac, Shiawassee, St. Joseph, Van Buren, Westford—total 34.

Counties which remained "wet" and the majorities are: Grand Traverse, 431; Chippewa, 61.

"Dry" counties that remained "dry" and majorities are: Eaton, 1,600; Genesee, 554; Lenawee, 1,688; Sanilac, 900 (estimated). It will require the official canvass to determine the results in Alger and Oakland, both of which are claimed by the drys.

Statistics of Accident Board.

Lansing—The industrial accident board furnishes these statistics for the quarter ending April 1: Number of employers that came under the act during the quarter, 1,099; employees, 16,714; accidents reported, 7,189; accidents embracing compensation period, 3,198; accidents causing temporary total disability, 3,363; accidents causing permanent partial disability, 1,183; fatal accidents, 75; compensation paid, $298,614.81; medical and hospital bills paid, $34,741.13.

State Wide Bill Reported Out.

Lansing—The straight bill, submitting state-wide prohibition to a vote of the people in 1916, was reported out favorably by the senate liquor committee Friday. Senator Straight, father of the bill, is chairman of the committee.

MICHIGAN NEWS ITEMS

Dr. W. H. Hale, formerly of Jackson, is now Gen. Francisco Villa's personal physician at Columbia, Mexico.

The bill providing that rail-paid freemen in cities be given one day's leave in every four and a 30-day furlough each year was killed by the house Friday. The vote was 29 to 43. The objection raised to the bill was that freemen's furloughs should be left to cities. Two years ago a bill for the like purpose was passed, but it applies only to Detroit freemen.

State Fire Marshal John T. Winship announced that May 3 will be annual clean-up day. Gov. Ferris will make an official proclamation to inaugurate the fire warden's action.

Mayor William Sparks, of Jackson, had to appear in police court because he tested the watchfulness of the police officers under his supervision and found them on the job. He removed the license plate from his automobile and left it standing downtown Saturday night. He promptly received a summons to answer to the charge of violating the automobile law.

THOMPSON WINS RACE IN CHICAGO

ELECTED MAYOR OVER SWEIT ZER BY PLURALITY OF 140,000.

WOMEN AIDED IN VICTORY

Republican Candidate is Supported by Progressives and Independents in Bitterest Campaign of City.

Chicago—William Hale Thompson, Republican, was Tuesday elected mayor of Chicago over Robert M. SweitZER, Democrat, by an indicated plurality of 140,000.

The election was the culmination of the most intense and bitter campaign in Chicago's history. Injection of the religious question was the chief cause for the bitterness. The campaign was marked by great rallies, riots, street fights, breaking up of rival meetings, destruction of property and sharp alignment of the voters on the religious question.

The vote was the biggest ever cast in a municipal election in Chicago; about 85 per cent of the 750,000 registered voters were cast. Of this number approximately 200,000 were cast by women. The total registration of women was 282,433.

Thompson owes much of his success to the women who for the first time, were permitted to vote for mayor. The returns indicate that he was given 66 per cent of the women's votes. His woman watchers and lieutenants worked unflinchingly in the tough wards, despite the taunts and insults of river-rats, hoboes and bums.

The big plurality given Thompson carries in with him the entire Republican city ticket. This ticket was made up of Republicans, Progressives and Independents.

ILLINOIS DRYS GAIN GROUND

Election Tuesday Agde Three Counties to Arid Territory.

Chicago—The "dry" forces voted 100 more saloons out of Illinois in the local option elections Tuesday, and by wiping out certain "wet" spots added three counties to those already completely "dry" (a total of 45 out of 102 in the state).

The "wets" retain the largest cities where local option was an issue at the polls. Danville, Murphysboro and Kankakee remain "wet" by larger majorities than at the previous elections. At no point in the state did "dry" territory go "wet".

JOHNSON LOSES HIS TITLE

Big Negro Defeated at Havana By Jess Willard, of Kansas.

Havana, Cuba—Jack Johnson lost the heavyweight championship of the world to Jess Willard, the Kansas cowboy, in the twenty-sixth round of a prize fight here Monday. The big negro showed all of his old time speed and skill in the early rounds but his blows lacked force to knock out his opponent. The new champion is ten years younger than Johnson.

Bulgars Attack Greek Town.

"Another band of 200 Bulgarian irregular troops tried to cross the Greek frontier, but was dispersed with the aid of a machine gun and left numerous dead or wounded on the field."

SOCIAL CASTE SYSTEMS OF THE WHITE ANT

PREPARED BY THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

THE white ant or "termite" is one of the so-called social insects that lives in a highly organized community where there are castes—royal, military, working and colonizing. Unfortunately for man, however, the caste system is designed to aid "white ant" communities in destroying timber, and has helped to gain for it the reputation of being one of the most destructive pests. Crumbling walls, collapsing floors, breaking beam poles and weakened fence posts are evidences of the ravages of this tiny insidious insect.

The term "white ant" is misleading, as it causes many people to consider this insect merely a variety of the ordinary ant, and therefore scientists use the word "termite" in preference, to describe the insect. As a matter of fact, the real ant is one of the enemies most to be feared by the termite. The two insects may be commonly found inhabiting the same log or stump, and yet the former will capture and carry away members of a colony of termites if they are at all disorganized by being exposed. Such a helpless colony will attract from a distance ants of several species and will offer little resistance to the marauders.

The caste system, which is such a distinctive feature of the life of the white ant, is evident only among the adults of a colony. When the young have just hatched from the eggs, as soft white grubs, they seem more or less the same, but after a series of dormant stages and molts they develop along particular lines.

The "workers" are probably the most important caste in any colony. They make the excavations where the ants are to live, and help care for the royal couples and the young.

The "soldiers" are more highly specialized workers, but are functionally less important than the workers. The soldiers are armed with a powerful head and "pinchers" which afford protection to the colony when there is an attack made through the opening of the narrow channels leading to the nests. Their suit of armor is not complete, however, and their soft bodies are quite defenseless when a colony is opened up and an energetic army of real ants attacks them.

The "colonists" are the winged members of the community, who in the spring fly away in great numbers to found new colonies. These establish themselves in pairs and immediately devote themselves to raising a new community. Each original pair becomes a "royal couple" in its new environment.

Among other social insects, like the bee, the king of a new colony dies immediately after he has fulfilled his usefulness. However, the king termite continues to inhabit the cell with the

WORK OF TERMITES IN WOODS. SHEDS SOUTHERN YELLOW PINE.

Queen, the latter caring for the young and moving the newly hatched grubs from place to place when the colony is disturbed.

Notwithstanding the fact that the white ant is such an interesting insect. It is one of the most destructive in North America. While in a way they serve in a favorable role by converting the wood of dead stumps and trees into valuable soil material, this is more than offset by the damage they inflict on injured living trees, to say nothing of their insidious borings in all manner of timbers, props, poles and posts, which often give way without the slightest warning. White ants will infest the heartwood of living trees injured at the base by fire, disease or other insects, and sometimes in such trees they excavate upward throughout the dead heartwood, longitudinal tunnels, irregular in diameter.

These insects also infest the roots of living trees, finding ingress through abandoned burrows of the large round-headed borers. Sometimes they girdle young trees—forest tree nursery stock, for example—eventually cutting the trees off near the ground, and examination disclosing that the stems were honeycombed. This is not necessarily due to the presence of dead wood near by, since termites will tunnel for long distances underground.

While usually confining their work to moist or decaying timber or to vegetable material of any sort, and to books and papers that are somewhat moist, termites will attack seasoned, dry wood, provided there is access to moisture elsewhere; i. e. they use moist grass and earth in extending the burrows, thus creating more favorable conditions. In the southern states termites will infest the bark and outer layers of the wood of the base of yellow pines killed by bark beetles before the foliage has fallen; trees that have been killed in the spring and show reddish-brown needles and much fallen foliage being infested by the middle of August. Trees killed in the spring will have the outer layers of wood of the base honeycombed by the following December. The larger-celled, thin-walled, spring wood is eaten away first, leaving the smaller-celled, harder, summer wood unharmed.

The United States department of agriculture has issued a bulletin describing the white ant from a scientific standpoint, and suggesting many remedies for limiting the ravages of these little creatures.

The Aggression of States.

The world is divided, politically, into states. These states are a kind of abstract beings, distinct from the men, women and children who inhabit them. They are in perpetual and inevitable antagonism to one another; and though they may group themselves in alliances, these can be only for temporary purposes to meet some other alliance or single power. For states are bound by a moral or physical obligation to expand indefinitely, each at the cost of the others. They are natural enemies, they always have been so, and they always will be; and force is the only arbiter between them. That being so, war is an eternal necessity. As a necessity, it should be accepted, if not welcomed, by all sound-thinking and sound-feeling men. Pacifists are men at once weak and dangerous. They deny a fact as fundamental as any of the facts of the natural world. And their influence, if they have any, can only be disastrous to their state in its ceaseless and inevitable contact with other states.—From the Atlantic.

The Married Life of Helen and Warren

By MABEL HERBERT URNER

Originator of "Their Married Life," Author of "The Journal of a Neglected Wife," "The Woman Alone," etc.

Warren Decides to Go to London and Helen Determines to Accompany Him

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"It means a cool three thousand! Think I'll turn that down?"

Helen did not answer. With trembling fingers she was tearing at the margin of the "Final Extra" with its flaring war headlines.

"There's no risk, I tell you," persisted Warren. "London's all right, and I'll be back in less than a month. Now, for heaven's sake, cut the hysteria. Business here is dead! I'm not making enough to pay the office rent. If I've got a chance like this—I'd be a champ not to take it."

Helen swallowed hard at the lump in her throat.

"Jove, I'll have to hustle to meet Griffin at 8:30," glancing at his watch. "You'd better be getting my things together. That small steamer trunk in the storeroom?"

She nodded.

"Well, give me the storeroom key and I'll have the elevator boy bring it up. Get me an umbrella, will you? Drizzling when I came in."

Helen got the key and the umbrella, and followed him to the door. As he took his hat from the hall rack he stooped to kiss her with a brisk:

"Now, don't be silly. You ought to be proud glad this offer came my way. Don't sit up for me. Griffin's going over the whole case tonight—only chance we'll have." And with a cheerful "So long," Warren stepped into the elevator.

From the front room window Helen gazed down at the umbrella that came out and bobbed up the street. She was still dazed from the announcement he had made at dinner with such brutal abruptness.

Mr. Griffin had today offered him $3,000 if he would make a rush trip to London to look after some interest in a stock company that had become involved since the war.

Helen had heard the details only vaguely. "Sailing on the St. Paul tomorrow noon," was the part that had seared into her mind. Warren had taunted her fears. London was safe, perfectly safe, and he would be home in less than a month. Three thousand and all expenses paid—it was an offer to jump at.

A deafening thunder crash, a zig-zagging streak of lightning—and the rain came down in sheets. It was the climax, as it were, to her own terrifying thoughts. The curtains were soaked before her hands, weak with trembling, could put down the windows.

Then, with her nerves still a-quiver, she hurried to answer a startling ring. What could it be? No one would call so late!

It was the bellboy with the trunk. "Mr. Curtis said you wanted this up tonight."

"Oh, yes, just—just take it in there—in the bedroom."

With the lump tightening in her throat, Helen looked down at the trunk, which bore the labels of their London trip two years ago. She had been going with him then. She thought of all the joyous preparation for that trip!

Now he was going alone—with all Europe at war! What might not happen? Her mind was filled with lurid pictures of possible dangers. How could he consider the money a compensation?

Mechanically Helen unlocked the trunk. The tray was empty. Underneath were two steamer rugs, a straw strap, a heavy trunk strap, Warren's traveling cap and an air pillow.

Slowly she took out the things and scooped up the scattered mothballs. For a long time she knelt there, the rugs on her knee, fumbling with the balls she had thrown into the cap.

Her breath came fast. Her hand clenched tight over the crunching balls. Then she started up, threw the things on the bed, rushed out to the hall and rang peremptorily for the elevator. Not until the car shot up did she take her tense finger from the button.

"There—there's another steamer trunk in the basement," breathlessly, "that Mr. Curtis forgot. We're sailing tomorrow, so I must pack tonight. Will you bring it up at once?"

In a few moments the trunk was in her room. With a desperate, feverish haste she began to pack—Warren's trunk first and then her own.

There was no hesitancy or uncertainty in her movements. Her usual indecision was swept away by a resolute decisiveness. Her tense excitement acted as a stimulant that urged her on.

It was after twelve and she was crowding in her tray the last few things when she heard his key in the door.

"Hello, you up yet? Take this, will you?" thrusting at her the dripping umbrella. Then as he entered his room: "Got the trunk packed? That's fine. Put in plenty of underwear! Don't know when I'll get any washing done."

"I put in five suits," her voice misleadingly quiet; "that's all you have clean."

"Ought to be enough. Phew, I'm tired," peeling off his coat and vest. As he threw them on a chair his glance fell on Helen's packed trunk, which stood conspicuously by the open door of her room.

"Why, what's all this?" gazing at it with a puzzled frown. "What the devil—"

"I'm all packed except a few things I'll need in the morning."

"You're packed! What in thunder are you crazy?"

"No, dear, but I would be if I'd let you go on this trip alone," wrapping her hand mirror in an underkirt and putting it in the tray.

For a moment he stared at her, then turned away with a sneering:

"Don't be a fool! Cut that stage acting and help pack my suit case."

"It's already packed. Do you want to take that gray sweater? I left it there on the chair," deftly sitting in her bedroom slippers.

"See here, we'll settle this right now! I've got enough to put up with without any new capers from you."

Helen rose from the trunk and turned to him with a fierce intensity.

"Warren, I'm going! I've thought it all out. You've a steamer alone—you can easily get another passage. But if you won't do that—I shall go anyway. I've enough money of my own."

"Have you gone stark, staring mad?" bellowed Warren.

"There's no use roaring at me. This time it won't help. I'm going on the St. Paul tomorrow—if I have to go steamer. Dear," she said a pleading hand on his arm. "I've never felt about anything as I do about this. I'm enduring anything—but the thought of your taking this trip alone."

Warren looked at her in astonishment. It was a phase of her character he had never seen.

In the mildest and meekest woman there is always the possibility of a desperation, an emotional recklessness that may never be aroused. Tonight it had been aroused in Helen. Whatever she might feel tomorrow, tonight she had this reckless courage that knew no fear. She could have hurled herself from the window without a tremor.

If Warren went alone he might never return, he might in some way become involved in the war—it was this thought that impelled her.

With a muttered oath Warren strode into the library and began sorting over some papers he was to take with him. He did not speak or even glance toward Helen again. The papers packed, still in a glowing silence he took his bath and threw himself heavily into bed.

When Helen crept in beside him, she pressed a wistful, caressing cheek against his shoulder as he lay with his back toward her. But he shook her off with a savage:

"Let me alone, will you?"

With a sigh she turned away. For hours she lay watching the white curtain as it fluttered out in the faint light from the street.

There is nothing so intimidating, so fatal to self-confidence, as a sleepless night, and gradually Helen felt her courage weakening. Her plans so boldly conceived now seemed impossible.

Yet for Warren to go alone—to take the risks she felt he would take if she were not with him! She turned and threw her arms about him with a protective tenderness, softly kissing his hair and neck and shoulder until he stirred uneasily in his sleep.

It was dawn before Helen's torturing thoughts grew confused. . . . A street in a foreign city crowded with a riotous mob. Was it London? Soldiers with glittering bayonets were shouting at something overhead—an airplane. The man leaning out of it was—Warren. The soldiers took aim—a crash—the machine shot down—

"See here, it's almost seven." Warren was standing by the bed in his bathrobe. "If we sail at noon—you can't lie there all day."

Dazed, bewildered, Helen gazed up at him. The sound of his words was still in the air, "If we sail at noon—"

Then her mind cleared.

"Warren!" She drew him down to the bed beside her. "You said 'we.' You mean—you are—"

"Huh, from the way you ranted last night—I haven't much choice."

"Oh, you have—you have," as she clung to him. "I was desperate last night—but I couldn't have carried it through. But, oh, to have you take me willingly!" The words ended in an ecstatic sob.

"Well, I've mulled it over. It'll be about as cheap to take you as to be cabling back every hour. Now hustle—you'll have to move fast!"

And, dodging Helen's clinging arms, next moment Warren was whistling in his bath.

The California Way.

A New York man who recently returned from California has been telling some stories of the way things are done in the Golden state. One of them is of the development of a tract of 25,000 acres of land near Pleasant Grove, undertaken by some Stockton men. The entire tract is being put under cultivation, and seeding was under way at the rate of 800 acres a day, when the New York man saw the operation. This was made possible by the use of ten tractor outfits, six of them steam and four gasoline. These are kept in operation day and night, the night work being illuminated by immense searchlights, which make the field almost as light as day. When the seeding is finished a part of the tract will be set out in young fruit trees.—Wall Street Journal.

NO WAR TAX ON CANADIAN LANDS

Untruthful Reports Circulated by Interested Parties.

Defaming a neighbor at the expense of the truth does not help those who are guilty of the practice, and it may be said that those spreading false reports about Canadian lands, in the hope that they may secure customers for their own, will certainly fall of their purpose. False statements so maliciously circulated will sooner or later be disproved. And, as in the case of the lands of Western Canada, the fertility of which is now so well known to people of every state in the United States, the folly of this work shows an exceeding short sightedness on the part of those guilty of the practice.

The present war has given some of these people the opportunity to exercise their art, but in doing it they are only arousing the curiosity of those who read the statements and a trifling investigation will only reveal their untruthfulness.

A very foolish statement has recently appeared in a number of papers, reading in part as follows:—

"It is believed that as a result of the war tax on land imposed by the Canadian Government a number of former Dakota farmers who went to the British Northwest will be compelled to return to the United States. Information has been received that the tax will amount to about $500 for each farm of 160 acres, which in the case of many of the former residents of the two Dakotas would practically amount to confiscation."

To show that the public has doubted, hundreds of inquiries have been made the Government at Ottawa, Canada, only to bring out the most emphatic denial. A full-fledged lie of this kind, of course, only a short life, and will tell in the end against those who forge it and spread it, but, as a Winnipeg paper points out, it is most complimentary to the agricultural possibilities of Western Canada to find that rival farming propositions need audacious mendacity of this description to help them.

What is the truth? The Saskatchewan Government has authorized a levy of $10 per quarter section on uncultivated lands owned by non-residents. The Alberta Government has imposed a Provincial tax of 10 mills on the assessed value of all uncultivated lands. There are some special applications of these taxes, but the main provisions are as above. Those vacant lands held by non-residents in Western Canada form a grave problem. They are making for poor communities, poor schools and poor social and economic conditions generally. By having them cultivated the owners as well as the districts in which they are located will benefit alike. It is for this reason that the Government has recently asked the co-operation of the non-residents. The high price of grain for some years to come, and the general splendid character of Western Canada land will make the question well worth consideration.—Advertisement.

COLD SURFACES GATHER DUST

Why Rooms Lighted by Electricity Are Free From the Bane of the Housewife.

The reason that lath and plaster walls become streaked is explained by John Aitken in Nature as due to the tendency of hot air to deposit its dust on cold surfaces; and the colder the surface the weaker the power of resistance. So where the laths protect the plaster from the cold outside the plaster receives less deposit of dust than where it is between the laths.

Wherever a hot steam or water pipe comes through a wall a vertical streak of dust may be seen above it, due to the hot air driving the dust against the cold wall. Rooms that are heated by open grates are much less dusty than those heated by radiators, because in the former the furniture is heated principally by radiation, and being warmer than the air, it repels the particles of dust instead of catching them, while in the latter the air heats the furniture and in so doing deposits its dust on it.

Rooms lighted by electricity keep clean longer than those heated by gas, simply because the light is almost cold.

Mr. Aitken sums it up as follows: "Any surface hotter than the air keeps free from dust."

Next to the United States, Germany has the greatest number of telegraph offices and the largest line mileage.

Education in Russia.

The Russians are a great people today who only need education to be a far greater people. They have far to go to catch up with Germany, France and Great Britain in general intelligence, but they have already made a better beginning than all the world realizes. Exclusive of Finland, there were even four years ago nearly 2,000,000 persons attending schools in the empire, and since that date successive dumas have pushed the expansion of the educational system.

There are at least 10,000 students in the normal schools and normal seminaries of Russia, a fact which shows that Russia's face is set toward the morning.—Boston Transcript.

City of Bucharest.

Bucharest, the Rumanian capital, has a population of about 340,000, and is strongly fortified by 18 forts and many batteries. The city has been several times besieged, and between 1793 and 1812 suffered twice from earthquakes, once from fire and twice from pestilence. Bucharest is noted for its gambling houses, cafes, and its innu-merable churches, the metal-plated copes of which give the place a picturesque appearance.

The Most Beautiful Girl in Detroit

Who is she? The Sunday News Tribune is going to find out through its contest which woman started on Sunday last. It costs nothing to enter, there will be no solicitation of votes or subscriptions--just a photograph of each pretty girl who must be at least 18 years old.
The most beautiful girl will be sent on a trip to the Panama-Pacific and San Diego exhibitions and also to the University of Calif. All her expenses will be paid. But see next Sunday's News Tribune for all details.

Easter at the Churches

The Easter services held in the First Presbyterian church last Sunday were well attended. The pastor's theme for the morning service was "What does Easter mean to you?" A splendid discourse was given. Special music was furnished by the choir. After the morning service twelve persons were taken into membership, several uniting by letter from other places. The church was handsomely decorated, appropriate for the day, in white and green and beautiful Easter lilies. Special Easter services were held in the evening. At this service a fine musical program was rendered by the quartette, and the pastor gave a brief talk, taking for his subject, "The Easter Earthquake."

At the Methodist church the morning service was given over to the Easter exercises by the Sunday-school. The platform was prettily decorated with plants and flowers in keeping with the occasion. The members of the Sunday-school rendered a splendid program of recitations, songs, etc., that were much enjoyed by all present. Mrs. William Burke and Miss Hazel Conner rendered a beautiful duet, with violin accompaniment by Lester VanDeCar. At the evening service the main auditorium and Epworth League room were filled by a large audience to listen to the Easter Cantata and sermon by the pastor. The cantata, "Death and Life," as sung by a quartette from Ypsilanti, composed of Miss Mary Flint, soprano; Norman Hunt, tenor; Miss Nellie Sturtevant, contralto, and Ernest Miller, baritone, was most beautifully rendered, indeed. Miss Nellie Sturtevant also rendered a beautiful solo. The singing of the young people from Ypsilanti was greatly appreciated, and it is hoped that they will be heard here again at some future time. Rev. Dutton preached a splendid sermon befitting the occasion. A number of persons were taken into membership.

Easter was observed at the Baptist church in the morning service with scripture lessons and music appropriate for the occasion. Pastor Bell delivered a forceful and instructive sermon on the doctrine of the resurrection to a large audience. The Sunday-school session was one of the largest in its history. The hour of evening service was given over to the Sunday-school, which was the climax of the day's worship. The younger grades were the participants, and one would be at a loss to single out a particular feature as most attractive. The primary exercises were perfect in drill and discipline, the little tots winning their way into the hearts of the auditors; the recitations of the older grades well along perfect. An exercise by three young Misses, "At the foot of the cross" quite moved the audience.

while a recitation by little Alta Hammi displayed a talent of more than ordinary ability, which drew words of praise from everyone. The ladies quartette rendered a couple of selections. The auditorium was filled to its seating capacity and all felt the evening profitably spent.

Carnegie Library Meeting

The citizens' meeting held in the parlors of the Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening, for the purpose of ascertaining what could be done toward the establishment of a Carnegie library in Plymouth was only fairly well attended. W. J. Burrows was chosen chairman of the meeting and C. F. Reeb, secretary. Mr. Burrows explained the requirements that Mr. Carnegie expects of the village and township if he is to give a sum of money for a building of this kind. He also read a letter from the secretary of the Carnegie library at Howell, giving the cost of maintenance, etc. The question was discussed pro and con with the sentiment strongly in favor of making a determined effort to get a Carnegie library here, and be in line with other progressive towns. A motion was made that the chairman appoint a committee of five to investigate the question of a suitable site, etc., and report at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Keesey-Huffman

Mrs. Hulda Huffman of this place, and Rev. John T. Keesey of Columbus City, Indiana, were quietly married in Detroit last Monday morning at the home of the bride's daughter, Miss Charlotte Huffman. Rev. James B. Jeffreys, pastor of the Second Memorial Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony in the presence of only a few friends. The happy couple left the same day for the groom's home in Indiana, where he is pastor of the United Brethren church. This marriage was the culmination of a romance of former days, as the contracting parties were sweethearts in their earlier years. Mrs. Geo. Peterhans and Mrs. Wm. Hawthorne of this place, were present at the marriage ceremony.

We have seen that there are logical reasons for believing that the Gentile times may have closed in October, 1914; that this does not mean the destruction of our planet, but the termination of a certain lease of power granted to the Gentile nations. It is also that the second advent of our Lord came in a manner little dreamed of by any of us, quiet and unobserved, as he went away known only by a few; that the Jubilee was a great type and if figures can be relied upon the great antitype is upon us; and now again as though this were not enough "He who never slumbers or sleeps" and who is intensely interested in our faltering faith gives us yet more evidence still in the great "Parallels Dispositions." Search and see. Would we dare touch the truth if we saw it was there? or would we say "It is not there" "He that touch my will shall touch the truth and the truth shall make men free."

Englishwomen Urge Goat Keeping.
With the object of obtaining for the children of farm laborers a constant supply of pure milk, which is almost impossible in the calf rearing districts, Devonshire cottagers are being encouraged by Lady Acland of Killerton, Mrs. Charles Carew of Warricombe and other women to keep goats.

Some of the best goats have been introduced into the country districts of Devon, and at Tiverton Agricultural Show recently valuable prizes were offered. It is claimed that goats cost little to keep and that their milk is in some respects superior to that given by cows.—London Times.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

Gulls and Some Men.
In a great ship's wake flew a flock of gulls, now soaring aloft, anon swooping to seize a bit of garbage. Mile after mile they pursued the ship, shrieking, soaring or fighting over a piece of spoil. For every one that tired of the long quest and withdrew to rest on the water, two others with ravenous appetites seemed to join in the chase. At times the whirl of their flapping wings and the chorus of their raucous screams made a din eclipsing the noise of the ship's propellers. And all they got for their strident effort was an occasional discard from the kitchen. They reminded one of the human retinue of a man of wealth: the chaps who hang around to cash in on a dropped tip or snatch greedily a financial crumb. Indeed, the comparison rather favored the feathered followers, for the gulls are useful as scavengers—they help to keep the waters clean.

Lincoln Beachey, it is said, left an estate of $20,000, which is enough for any man to fall for.

THE CALLA AND ITS CULTURE

By BESSIE L. PUTNAM.
Rich soil, moisture, warmth, and sunshine are the key notes to success with the calla. It can—yes—must be made to bloom in winter without much sunshine if the other essentials are supplied.

If wanted for winter blooming it is best to let it rest in summer, turning the pot on its side, in some out of the way corner. Report in September, filling in a layer of charcoal for drainage and food.

Over this put a layer of manure well rotted and finish with a rich compost. Water sparingly until growth commences, and then the water can hardly be supplied too freely.

Always use warm water. The roots will enjoy it quite hot, but this is best to be avoided. Some place a ring of tin around the base of the stem, pressing it down an inch into the soil. With this protection the hot water can be freely used.

Bottom heat may also be supplied by placing the pot on a hot brick. By a pair of bricks for this purpose, alternating every 12 hours, the heat can be forced more freely.

Liquid manure once or twice a week gradually increasing the dose as the plant seems to thrive.

At the red sprig by spraying with cold water, and the scale with kerosene.

When leaves appear successively the same stalk, watch for a sign of Others will succeed if the winter if the treatment is adhered to. Bottom heat, and all the sunshine possible, best incentives to growth.

WATERING UP THE LAWN

Water on the lawn by either cutting off the plant below the ground, or by watering the lawn too closely heated term; but do not go to seed.

Working, thorough pulverization, effective fertilization and a thorough raking and rolling down to smooth level are all necessary to a good, level lawn.

Get your lawn seeds of a reliable dealer, and ask for the best and freshest. Don't use old seed left over from last year, but insist on having it fresh, and of a good mixture.

The best time to seed a lawn is during the latter part of August or the early part of September. At that time the heat is over and showers are just sure to come, and the grass will have several months of moist weather in which to grow before winter.

PERENNIAL FLOWER BED

LILLIE ADAMS POWELL.
In the month we talked about the perennial flower bed, we are going to make a flower border of perennials, plants which sow their seeds, and of plants that are biennial, we are going to buy or beg.

We have a border from four feet in length and from six feet in depth. Or to fit the space, our border can be made larger or very much smaller.

Planted by a woman should be twenty by eight feet in length if she did all the work except heavy digging, it might not be for her to give a larger border should run north and south, if possible, face the east. Ground may be of hollyhocks, gladioli and double, golden-glow, tiger lily, the ever blooming flower, the tall meadow-rue, meadow-sweet, set out alternately.

Education that does not fit a man or woman for the practical work of life is worse than no education and a half-baked education is a curse. The boy who attends an agricultural college and does not demonstrate the truth of the lessons taught, by actual work with his own hands, is wasting time.

NOW GERMANY'S IDOL

Interesting Sidelights on Career of Von Hindenburg.

Brother of Great Field Marshal Writes His Biography—Served in War of 1866 and in Franco-Prussian War.

By STEVEN BURNETT.
Berlin.—Some interesting sidelights on the career of Field Marshal von Hindenburg are contained in a biography of the leader of Germany's eastern forces just issued by his brother, who takes the pen name "Bernhard von Burgdorf."

The future hero of all Germany fought through the war of 1866 and the Franco-Prussian war. Included in the book are letters sent by Von Hindenburg to his parents from the front. Shortly before the beginning of the war of 1866, Hindenburg wrote:

"It is high time for the Hindenburgs to smell powder. Our family has been singularly neglected in that respect."
Less than a week later he wrote: "Sorry as I am for not having had an opportunity to see you once more before going to the front, I am happy, on the other hand, when I look into the future, so full of promise and real life. For a soldier war is the normal thing, and I know that God watches over me."

"If I die it will be the most beautiful and most honorable death; if I am wounded I will have done my best and if I return unharmed so much the better!"

In another letter written a few days later Hindenburg says: "My highest aim has been reached; I have smelled powder; I have heard the bullets whistle, all kinds of them, grenades, shrapnel, rifle bullets. I have been slightly wounded and therefore am an interesting personality! I captured five cannon! Hurrah! Above all, however, my beloved parents, I have experienced God's love and mercy; to him be glory unto eternity. Amen!"

Soon after this was written Hindenburg came within an inch of being killed. He describes his experience as follows: "A bullet pierced the eagle on my helmet, struck my head without wounding me severely and came out behind the eagle. I fell unconscious; my men gathered around me, thinking me dead. Half an inch deeper and the bullet would have penetrated into the brain and I would be lying on the battlefield."

A vivid description of the feelings of a soldier during his first battle is given in another letter as follows: "If I had to describe the feelings that permeated my soul just before the battle I would say they were these: First, a certain joy that at last one is to smell the powder, then a hesitating timidity and doubt whether, as a young soldier, one will do his duty sufficiently and come up to expectations."

"Then if you hear the first bullets whistle (they are always accompanied by thundering 'Hurrah!') you are carried away by enthusiasm; a short prayer; a thought of the loved ones at home and of the old name—then: Forward!"

"With the increasing number of wounded around you the enthusiasm yields to a certain cold-bloodedness or even indifference. The real excitement does not come until after the battle, when one has to see the horrors of war in their most ghastly form; to describe this is impossible. My pen revolts. Later there will be a chance to tell about this or that striking feature."

CHICKEN WEARS WOODEN LEG

Hen Supplied by Its Owner With Good Working Substitute for Broken Member.

Sandusky, O.—A Milan hen, according to information coming from what is considered a reliable source in the town east of here, famed as the birthplace of Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, finds a wooden leg every bit as useful as the genuine article.

The hen is owned by Leonard O'Dell, Lake Shore Electric conductor, who carved the leg out of a piece of hickory with a pocketknife and fastened it with plaster of paris and bicycle tape.

The hen broke her leg trying to scratch gravel while the mercury was ten degrees below zero.

SUBMARINES IN RAID

Lone German Craft Sinks Five Ships in 24 Hours.

Undersea Raider Operated in British Channel and Gave Each Crew Ten Minutes to Leave Their Ship Before Using Bombs.

Berlin.—The German submarine, U-29, made a recent raid on British shipping off the Scilly islands and within 24 hours sunk five ships and damaged two merchantmen so badly that they were abandoned by their crews. The commander of the submarine gave the crews of most of the steamships time to leave their vessels, and in some cases towed the ship's lifeboats with the crew to passing steamers by which they were carried to port.

Members of the crew of the Auguste Consul, who were landed at Falmouth, stated that the German commander informed them that he had been away from his base at Cuxhaven six days and was planning to return after completing the work of destruction near Scilly islands. He declared his boat would be replaced by another undersea raider.

The British steamship Adenwen was torpedoed by the U-29 in the British channel, 25 miles off Casquets. Next came the torpedoing of the Auguste Consul. On the next day the U-29 claimed three victims in short order. They were the Indian City, the Headlands and the Andalusian. The Florizan and Hartdale were wrecked so badly that they were abandoned by their crews and sank later. When last seen the craft was pursuing a steamer out to sea. It is believed the submarine continued on its journey for Cuxhaven.

In the destruction of the British ships it is believed bombs were used, especially on crafts from which the crews were taken by the Germans. The bombs are far smaller than the regular torpedoes and a far greater number can be carried.

The work of the U-29 was watched by scores of people off Bideford, within sight of Hughtown, on St. Mary's Island. Immediately after the craft was sighted patrol boats were sent out, but as they approached the submarine the latter submerged itself and was seen a few minutes later more than two miles away. In this manner it proceeded in its work of destruction, outmaneuvering the slow merchantmen as they sought to zig-zag out of the course of the speedy raider.

FIRST AID TO "CHAIRLADIES"

Highwayman's Command Strikes Young Ladies as Being Excruciatingly Funny.

Spokane, Wash.—The command of a highwayman to throw up their hands was so execrably funny to the Misses Elsie and Emily Bergman that they giggled and passed on. They were going north on Hamilton street, near Mission avenue, when confronted by the man with the gun at 11:15 o'clock at night.

"I'll dump it in your haire," said Emily, emptying her purse. He refused to take the two cents that comprised Elsie's resources. The girls were still giggling when visited by Chester Edwards, city detective, at their residence, No. 1405 Hamilton street.

Donnelly. "Just because we lived under the same roof don't think the dove of peace always perched on the peak." Mrs. Donnelly said she had given her the money to do with as she saw fit. Decision was reserved.

Saved $50,000 on $1.50 Per. Binghamton, N. Y.—Peter Barika, who conducted a trucking business for 35 years at which he had never made more than $1.50 a day, died at the age of sixty-three. Now it is discovered he had saved $50,000.

Jersey City.—James W. Donnelly, one of the oldest engineers on the Pennsylvania railroad, appeared as complainant before Vice-Chancellor Stevenson to compel his wife to turn over to him half of the $12,000 she has saved during their 33 years of married life. Donnelly says that sum was stored up by Mrs. Donnelly out of money he gave her, and, according to an agreement made on their wedding day, he is entitled to one-half.

The old engineer said he would never have started the suit had not his wife kept him in ignorance about her savings. He was asked if it were not a fact that he and his wife often talked about their nest egg at the supper table.

"No, I never got much of a chance to talk at our supper table," said

Supremacy of Thought.
Thoughts are important factors in the molding of a life. They may not be seen but they bespeak of latent power, the trend of the mind, the hopes and aspirations of the heart. We marvel at some of the inventions and achievements of the age. But the thoughts of the inventor rushed on ahead of the invention. The mind of the man who achieves sees the possibility, and works it out, long before the world is aware of it. This is true in all the varied phases of life. The thought is the father of the act, the word of the deed. Tell me the thoughts uppermost in a man's mind and I will tell you what he will do and become tomorrow. If his thoughts are miserly he will become niggardly, if benevolent then charitable, if lewd then base, if pure then a man in whom there is no guile. If you master the inner world of thought victory will be yours in the outer world of achievement.—Frank Willard Court.

Some Lost Motion.
A Philadelphia mathematician has figured it out that the telephone companies lose 125 hours' work every day through the use of the word "please" by all operators and patrons. Another has discovered that the froth on the beer pays the freight. But as yet no one has estimated the total horse power wasted in swallowing cigarette smoke and forcing it through the nose instead of blowing it from the mouth.—Newark News.

Making Sleep a Business.
Eight hours' sleep, eight hours of work and eight hours of recreation is a good recipe for the average man and woman. This may vary more or less, according to strength, nerves and occupation. When you feel worn out, drop every other consideration and try to re-establish normal rest. Though the causes and needs of sleep are still somewhat of a mystery, we know that the activity of the brain cells is reduced. They are occupied in taking nourishment from the blood. Better results are had when the head rests low and the windows are wide open, giving plenty of oxygen to the lungs. This creates a new supply of energy for the waking and working hours.

Lucky Jade.
Since early times the idea has existed in China that a cup made of jade gave health to him who drank it, and, naturally, would counteract a poison. Indeed, the faintest drop of poison was supposed to cause the liquid in which it lay hidden to foam up when brought in contact with jade. Emperors, princes, governors and others who were exposed to the underhand attacks of rivals, would of course give high prices for cups of jade. In China jade is pre-eminently the lucky stone, so that a scupper carved out of it in one of the gifts the emperor of China is apt to make to a man whom he wishes to honor.

Daily Thought.
A wrongdoer is often a man that has left something undone, not always he that has done something.—Marcus Aurelius.

Poor Man's Riches.
A poor man that hath little, and desires no more, is in truth richer than the greatest monarch that thinketh he hath not what he should or what he might, or that grieves there is no more to have.—Bishop Hall.

Jealous Woman Unable to Imagine That Any Other Man Would Flirt With Her.

"Was at the masked ball! Smilax and battleax were the chief note in the decorative scheme.

Mrs. Mullinger Tawne, the jealous-est woman of our set, turned green underneath her mask.

"That man in the mauve domino is my husband!" she hissed to herself. "Oh, if I catch him actually flirting!"

Just then the man in the mauve domino stroled over to her.

"Ah, beauteous one—for I know you are beauteous even though your features are hidden," he began with a low, but not common bow.

"It he but knew!" she thought greedily. "Oh, but I will make him rue this day!"

"You do not answer," continued the man in mauve. And he leaned suddenly over and kissed one of her two cheeks. A wild, baleful light sprang into her eyes.

"I will divorce you for this!" she muttered. And just then the bell rang for unmasking. The man in mauve slipped his mask off, and Mrs. Mullinger Tawne started back, fainting from disappointment.

Next evening the same man got on, and again fell fast asleep. This time the conductor determined to be more cautious. At Seventy-ninth street he awakened the sleeper.

"But I don't want to get out until Eighty-third," he protested angrily.

"Well," was the logical reply, "you owe the two blocks since yesterday morning."

LETTER FROM STATE CAPITOL

BILL ESTABLISHING PROHIBITION IN LUMBER CAMPS PASSED.

APPROPRIATIONS PASSED

Measure to Replace County Boards of Supervisors by Commissioners Falls in Lower House.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Lansing—Michigan's widening arid territory was further extended Tuesday night by the action of the house of representatives in passing Senator Damon's bill to prohibit the selling, giving away or delivering of any intoxicating liquors in lumber camps, yards, mills or along logging railroads.

Representative Charles Culver, of Detroit, had the bill amended to bring within the scope of its penalties any person found with the liquor in his possession in the restricted territory.

The bill now goes back to the senate for action on the Culver amendment.

Several appropriation bills for state institutions were disposed of in rapid order. These bills provided appropriations for: The Traverse City State hospital; the state board of fish commissioners, for extra help for the attorney general's office, the Newberry State hospital, the Kalamazoo State hospital, the Michigan State Normal college, and to provide for a Michigan exhibit at the "half-century of Negro freedom creation." An amendment to the act creating the Michigan Historical commission, entered by Representative Charles A. Flowers, was passed. Forty-seven votes were not enough to pass Representative Noble Ashley's joint resolution proposing an amendment relative to abolishing boards of supervisors and establishing boards of county commissioners instead.

Representative Roy M. Watkins' bill to permit the doubling of the $15,000 a year appropriation for the national guard armories, until the quota due Grand Rapids is exhausted, was passed.

A bill by Representative Place to provide for the publication of the records of Michigan soldiers and sailors was passed, as was Representative Harry Whiteley's amendment to provide for an arrangement by the state with Crawford county for the construction of highways leading to the National Guard maneuver grounds.

The house Tuesday night passed the Robertson bill to provide for the naming and numbering of state and county highways and for the placing of signs.

Lansing—Senator Walter still wants the legislature to pass a bill providing for stenographic reports of the legislative proceedings. Early in the session he introduced a bill along this line, which was passed by the senate but killed in the house. Last week he introduced it again and will try and get it through the house before the close of the session, three weeks away.

Senator Foster introduced a bill to authorize the attorney-general to prepare a measure for the revision, consolidation and classification of the insurance laws of the state.

Senator Covert would increase the salary of the circuit court stenographer in the sixth judicial circuit to $1,200 per year.

A bill introduced by Senator Odell, of Shelby, would change the judicial circuits of the state in several sections. The bill provides that the eleventh judicial circuit be composed hereafter of the counties of Chippewa, Schoolcraft, Luce, Alger and Mackinac. This adds the county of Mackinac.

The twenty-sixth circuit would be changed to include the counties of Alpena, Presque Isle, Alcona and Iosco. The present circuit is composed of Alpena, Montmorency and Presque Isle. The thirty-third to be changed to include the counties of Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego and Montmorency. The present circuit is composed of Cheboygan, Emmet and Mackinac counties. The thirty-fourth to be changed to include the counties of Arenac, Crawford, Gladwin, Ogemaw, Roscommon and Oscoda. The present circuit includes the counties of Arenac, Crawford, Gladwin, Ogemaw, Otsego and Roscommon.

Lansing—The "slush fund" has been put out of its misery. The final stroke was delivered at the end of the evidence taken by the special investigating committee Thursday evening when the author of the much discussed "slush fund" article asserted that he never had intended to convey the intimation even that money was being used improperly to foster the case of the railways before the legislature.

He stood pat on his original statement that Rep. Wiley had used the term "slush fund" and volunteered a clean bill of health for the railways with regard to corrupt practices. He declined to be drawn into a discussion of newspaper advertising ethics.

A. W. Towsley of the Ann Arbor, head of the railway committee, was recalled and submitted figures of the contributions and expenses of the legislative campaign. The rumors of sors must fix the assessment of the utility company on or before April 15. From then until May 15 there is a period for appeals and hearings on appeals. The bill provides too that the tax assessed against the properties shall be apportioned pro rata among the various assessing districts in which the property is located. One of the curious features of the bill lies in the clause that where a branch line traverses several assessing districts the pro rata of each district shall be based on the total of the branch line and not the entire system.

fabulous retainers was quieted by the showing that $6,000 would cover all the attorney fees, travelling expenses, clerk and stenographic expenses for the entire session. For publicity, a total of $6,209.60 has been paid and incurred in unpaid obligations. The total cost of the campaign as shown by the report of the treasurer for the railway committee will be $15,283.33. It was testified the amount paid the Lansing State Journal which carried the now famous Cunningham interview advertisement would aggregate $733 and had been paid.

The report showed $10,401.60 already had been subscribed by the railways; $3,280.80 spent for publicity, $2,873.73 for salaries, rents, travelling expenses, etc., and $1,247.07 remains on hand of the $10,401.60. The unpaid obligations bring the total to the $15,283.33.

Mr. Towsley asserted there had been no misleading advertisement and argued the question on specific cases with one or two members of the committee.

Senator Tripp's bill to repeal the mortgage tax law and to fix the legal rate of interest at six per cent was beaten in the senate Thursday afternoon by a vote of 22 to 8.

Senator Tripp and Murtha made the fight for the passage of the bill, while the attack was successfully directed by Senators Verrier and Taylor. In the course of his remarks Senator Tripp declared that Senator Taylor was opposing his bill because he was the holder of 45 mortgages.

To this Senator Taylor declared that he owned but five mortgages and he would willingly donate the other mortgages if Tripp could substantiate his remarks.

Despite the determined opposition of the Wages county contingent the Smith bill relative to a tax on automobiles passed the house, but a majority of the senate committee on taxation oppose the measure and a move will be made to take it from the committee and have the proposition fought out on the floor of the senate.

Senator Louis Kelley, chairman of the senate committee on taxation appears to be the only member of the committee in favor of the bill. Senator Hanley is from Detroit and as he is a member of the taxation committee he is doing all in his power to beat the measure. Senator Roberts and Senator Smith, who are members of the senate committee on taxation are not favorable to the proposition and if Senator Tripp joins the opposition, Senator Kelley will stand alone.

On third reading the senate passed Senator Gansser's bill providing that permanent headquarters for the department commander of the Spanish war veterans shall be provided in the capitol building. After considerable debate the senate passed the Gansser-De Land bill amending the working-men's compensation act. Opposition to the clause which provides that the attorney-general should defend the action of the industrial board in any litigation arising from its decisions was returned, despite the protests of Senator Verrier.

Rep. Place's bill which permits civil war veterans who have sufficient money to pay their expenses, to become residents at the Michigan Soldiers home. Under the present law a veteran who is possessed of sufficient money to live outside the home is not admitted. The bill will be sent to Governor Ferris for his signature.

Several new bills made their appearance in the senate Thursday afternoon. Senator Woodworth asked for an appropriation of $40,000 for the Michigan State Agricultural society to be used in paying premiums at the annual state fair, during the next two years.

An amendment to the constitution was proposed by Senator Walter which would require judges of the supreme court to pass upon the constitutionality of all bills before they are enacted into law by the legislature. Senator Walter also introduced a bill providing for a stenographic report of the house and senate proceedings. Senator Foster introduced a bill calling upon the attorney general to revise and codify the insurance law of the state.

In an Indianapolis man has a sister, in a Canadian town, he had long ago placed in the list of old maids, who, largely if not wholly from filial devotion, are content to remain at home to comfort the parents. She was climbing rapidly to forty. He was dumfounded the other day to get a letter from her announcing that she had consented to tie up for the rest of her days with a man of high repute in her community. He wrote her thus:

Dear Sister: (1) Well! (2) He's lucky. He has her answer: Dear Brother: (1) Sure! (2) So am I. —Indianapolis News.

Our Girls. To bring up a girl in absolute dependence, good-for-nothing, selfish in her aims and exacting in her demands, is a sin against her and against society.

To begin at her birth, and economic and retrench in every department for the accumulation of money in order that this monstrous perversion of her life may be accomplished and maintained is grotesque and heathenish.

Girls thus trained will fall to attain a high order of womanhood. Their aims will be petty, their ideals low, and nothing satisfactory can be expected of them in wifehood or motherhood.

While we carefully guard whatever is womanly in our daughters, let them be trained to more fiber and firmness. Educate them to self-denial, if pecuniary circumstances demand it, and not to self-indulgence. Accustom them to be of service in the household, to regard economy as praiseworthy and even heroic, and to add to their accomplishments a practical knowledge of work, and the possession of some lucrative vocation or industry by which they can support themselves. Such girls, when portionless, will carry to their husbands dowries in themselves. —Exchange.

The Whole Truth. Magistrate—Why did you beat your wife so unmercifully? Prisoner—Well, yer honor, she aggravated me by sayin' she'd have me up before that baldheaded old fool, meann' you, yer honor.—Magistrate—You're discharged.

The Reason. "How far a bit of gossip travels!" "Yes, it has quite a telling effect." —Baltimore American.

SOME HARD KNOCKS Woman Gets Rid of "Coffee Habit." The injurious action of coffee on the hearts of many persons is well known by physicians to be caused by caffeine. This is the drug found by chemists in coffee and tea.

A woman suffered a long time with severe heart trouble and finally her doctor told her she must give up coffee, as that was the principal cause of the trouble. She writes:

"My heart was so weak it could not do its work properly. My husband would sometimes have to carry me from the table, and it would seem that I would never breathe again.

"The doctor told me that coffee was causing the weakness of my heart. He said I must stop it, but it seemed I could not give it up until it was down in bed with nervous prostration.

"For eleven weeks I lay there and suffered. Finally husband brought home some Postum and I quit coffee and started new and right. Slowly I got well. Now I do not have any headaches, nor those spells with weak heart. We know it is Postum that helped me. The Dr. said the other day: 'I never thought you would be what you are.' I used to weigh 92 pounds and now I weigh 158.

"Postum has done much for me and I would not go back to coffee again, for I believe it would kill me if I kept at it. Postum must be prepared according to directions on pkg., then it has a rich flavor and with cream is fine."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkg.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages. Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage. 10c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and good per cup about the same. "There's a Reason" for Postum. —sold by Grocers.
