Don't Be Side-tracked

"A vision or a voice reveals to every life at some time or other a definite purpose. When that revelation comes to its obedient slave, for in it lies your victory. Let no thought or care or escape from struggle and suffering draw you off. Remember that the men who have failed have been the men who have suffered themselves to be side-tracked, who have not kept the goal of their lives bearing like a ball of fire before them night and day. Think of your life purpose in every trial, in every temptation, in ever disappointment, in every success and pleasure, and once and always let it be to glorify God."

One of the great aims of the church is to strengthen the will of a man to hold true to his definite purpose in life. We believe that the church will assist the man to keep true to high ideals and aspirations. The church recognizes that "man's chief end is to glorify God and enjoy Him forever" and she endeavors to assist every man who wishes to realize this end and aim and does not wish to be side-tracked.

Come to church next Sunday and receive the inspiration it can give you for the work of the week.

Entertainment Committee Elect New Officers

The annual meeting of the Citizen's Entertainment committee was held in the directors room of the Plymouth United Savings Bank Monday evening. It was decided that Plymouth should have another course of entertainments next winter. The report of the treasurer showed a nice little balance in the treasury over the expenses of the course last season. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:
President—Dr. L. Peck
Vice Pres.—W. J. Burrows
Secretary—Chas. Roeb
Treasurer—Karl Hillmar.
Rev. B. F. Farber, the retiring president has held that office for the past four years, and during that time he has taken a great deal of interest in the lecture course, and has given much time and attention to the duties of his office. It is in a large measure due to his untiring efforts that the local organization has been able to successfully maintain a course of entertainments that is not to be found in many towns of this size. Everett Jolliffe, the retiring treasurer has held that office for the past six years and has given splendid satisfaction. The personnel of the newly elected officers is ample evidence that the future success of the organization will be as pronounced as it has been in the past.

In And Around Plymouth

Northville has visions of a cement road from that village to Grand River avenue.

Wayne expects to have a baseball team to represent that town on the diamond this season.

The Detroit contingent of former Milford residents are planning a big picnic at Belle Isle, June 19.

The village council at South Lyon have taken the first step toward the securing of a water works system in that town.

The Presbyterian society at Howell held its 77th annual meeting recently and voted to raise their pastor's salary to $1800 per year.

The village of Dearborn in compliance with the Warner-Crampton law will only have two saloons after May 1. Dearborn has a population of 911.

The councils in several of our neighboring towns have forbidden roller skating on the sidewalks in the business section of the town. This is an idea that might be well followed in Plymouth.

There is on display in Heene's Bros. market a goose egg that is some egg. It was laid by a goose owned by Frank Preston, measures 1 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches in circumference, and weighs 3/4 of a pound. As we remarked before, it is some egg.—Dexter Leader.

Howell Holstein breeders have organized a stock company capitalized at $2,000, for the purpose of erecting a sales pavilion at Howell fair grounds. The contract has been let for a 50x70 foot building suitable for conducting live stock sales and similar purposes.

Dr. Tom Henry, mayor of Northville, has issued a warning that young men old enough to be gentlemen, who have been in the habit of standing on the streets in that village and making suggestive or insulting remarks to passing ladies, will be prosecuted for an offense of this kind. Good for Mayor Henry.

Teachers for Plymouth Schools Hired for Next Year

The teaching force for the Plymouth public schools has been secured for next year by the Board of Education. There will be several new teachers among the instructors when the school re-opens next fall. Miss Eliza Daniel, who has been elected principal, comes from the Negaunee High school. Miss Marjorie Travis of this village, has been a teacher in the schools at Hanover, Mich., for several years. Miss Gail Johnson comes from the Marshall, Mich., schools; Miss Leah Pow, from Bridgeland schools and Miss Coral Wilson from Albion, Mich.

Supt. Chas. F. Roeb will be in charge of the schools again next year. The Plymouth schools were never in a better condition than at the present time, and Mr. Roeb's work as superintendent has been highly satisfactory to both the Board and the patrons of the school. He is the right man for the place and the board are to be congratulated in securing his services for another year. The following are the teachers in the High school:

Supt.—Chas. F. Roeb
Principal—Eliza Daniel
Miss Isabelle Hamford, Miss Nina G. Finch, Miss Helen M. Ward, Miss Marjorie A. Travis.
The grade teachers are as follows: Miss Nellie Roeb, 9th Grade; Miss Gail Johnson, 7th Grade; Miss Leah Pow, 6th Grade; Miss Irene Carra, 5th Grade; Miss Janoviera McClumpha, 4th Grade; Miss Anna Smith, 3rd Grade; Miss Gladys Cook, 2nd Grade; Miss Florence E. Caster, 1st Grade; Miss Lena M. Drake, kindergarten; Miss Coral Wilson, music and drawing.

H. E. Newhouse has a change of address. He has something to say about gas stoves.

Joseph Shearer Dies Suddenly

Joseph Shearer, an old and highly respected citizen of Plymouth township for many years, was found dead in bed last Saturday morning, at the home of his daughter, at Greenville, Mich., where he had gone for a visit the first of the month. Mr. Shearer, who was nearly 83 years of age, has been in failing health for some time, but he was about the house as usual on the day previous to his death. Deceased was born in Pittsfield, Massachusetts, May 19, 1832. He came to Wayne county, Michigan, in 1836. In 1866 Mr. Shearer went to California where he was engaged in placer mining for three years. In 1869 he returned to Greenville, Mich., where he successfully engaged in the mercantile business in that city until 1880. During his residence in Greenville he held many important public offices. He was married in 1859 to Harriet Serviss. He also became a member of the Masonic fraternity in that year. At the death of his father, Jonathan Shearer, he returned to the homestead of his boyhood, where he and the farm have grown old together.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. C. H. Powell of Washington, D. C. and Mrs. Esther Gibson of Greenville, Mich., and one grandson, Joseph Gibson, also of Greenville. The remains were brought here yesterday afternoon and consigned to the Shearer vault in the Shearer family cemetery, west of the village. Rev. Joseph Dutton conducted a short service.

Henry Rymon of Detroit, has accepted a position with Harry Newhouse. He will have charge of the tinning department.

Alter Company a Busy Place

The Alter Motor Car Co. turned out twenty-eight finished cars last week, which is the largest number that has been turned out at the Alter factory in a single week, since the company started doing business. The officers of the Alter Co. expect to maintain the output of last week and increase that number as the weeks go by. Not a car remains in the factory a minute after it has passed the final inspection of Supt. Oswald, for they are sold faster than the company can turn them out.

Farm Barns Burn

Last Saturday afternoon several barns consisting of a large horse barn, wagon shed, hog house and a straw stack and also on the late Cyrus Packard farm, a short distance west of town, was burned to the ground. S. A. Brown and family reside on the place. The buildings contained 25 tons of hay, 178 bushels of oats, 60 bushels of corn, farm implements and four calves, all of which were burned. The origin of the fire is not certain. The loss is estimated at $5,000, partially covered by insurance.

Former Plymouth Boy Weds

We take the following article from the Farmington Enterprise regarding the marriage of a former Plymouth boy:
On last Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, Miss Ota Webster and Mr. Clarence Webber were united in marriage at the home of Rev. George Gulian in Detroit, in the presence of a few relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The marriage was very quietly arranged and carried out, few friends of either being aware of the exact day or the hour. The bride is an only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Webster, and for the past few years has held a responsible position with F. L. Cook & Company. She is highly esteemed by all who know her. The groom is a young man of sterling worth, and holds a position with the D. U. R. company in Detroit. Immediately following the ceremony, the newly wedded couple left for Cleveland on a brief honeymoon, and will return to their many friends in Farmington after April 25th.

Disastrous Fire On Northville Farm

The big barn on the farm of George B. Yerkes, Detroit attorney, on the outskirts of Northville, was totally destroyed by fire Tuesday morning, and all but one of his herd of 14 blooded Holstein cattle burned. How the fire started is not known, but when it was discovered it had progressed so far that it was impossible to enter the building to save the animals. The loss on the cattle will be $1,000, and on the barn $5,000 more, all covered by insurance. The cattle were all in their stalls, not yet having been turned out to pasture for the summer. One managed to break loose in some way and was found nearby, but the others were all cremated in their stalls.

BEST DOUBLE ACTION GAS RANGES

Before deciding on the gas range for your home, come in and let us show you the Double Action.

- It requires only 2 rows of fire to heat the oven instead of 3 or 4.

- It does not heat the broiler when you bake or roast.
- The oven is lined with aluminum-fused metal, which will not rust.
- There is no fire under the oven bottom, therefore the oven bottom will never burn out.
- The oven door is hinged on the bottom and opens down, and has a metal rack on the inside of the door to protect the glass, permitting the door, when open, to be used as a shelf.
- The metal rack on the oven door can be instantly removed, so that the glass can be easily removed.
- The oven burner can be seen at all times when the oven door is closed.
- The heat of the oven is so evenly distributed that it bakes perfectly on all sides without changing the position of the food.

REAL ESTATE

AN ACRE

Oh, No! You cannot BUY farm lands for 50 an acre, but you can have them REGISTERED for that price. Do not tie your farm property up with a long time exclusive agency contract—this method is old fashioned and out-of-date—register the farm which you wish to sell with this reliable and up-to-date agency. This plan is the newest, yet most successful method ever devised for handling farm lands.

The registration fee is only 50 per acre for one year and will be the total cost to the owner as the agency pays for all advertising and when a sale is made, attends to having abstracts examined and legal papers drafted and the owner is under no obligations whatever. This agency is exceptionally well qualified for making quick and easy factory farm sales, as the National Real Estate Organization, of which I am a member, consists of a great army of real estate experts scattered throughout every part of the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba and through my connection with them I can quickly and successfully handle property anywhere. Somewhere there is someone who wants just such property as you have for sale. Be up-to-date and take advantage of this great opportunity while the "back-to-the-farm" movement is still gathering momentum, as my catalogue of "Farm Bargains" will contain only registered farms and unimproved lands. On receipt of a P. O. or Express order covering the registration fee and a full description of the property, together with your lowest price and best terms, I will immediately have same entered in the catalogue and my agreement mailed to you.

Pierre Bennett was agreeably surprised at his home on Union street last Friday evening by about twelve of his gentlemen friends, who came to remind him that it was his birthday. The evening was an enjoyable one. Cards were the entertainment, and dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. H. H. Taft and daughter, Mrs. Harrison Peck, entertained at a dinner party last Sunday in honor of the former's brother, Henry Root, who on that day celebrated his eighty-first birthday. Covers were laid for ten guests. The gathering will long remain a pleasant memory to all who participated.

Mrs. Jennie Voorhies left Tuesday morning for Battle Creek, where she will take treatment at the sanitarium there. Mrs. Voorhies has never entirely recovered from the severe attack of the Grippe which she suffered last winter, and she is in hopes that the treatment at the sanitarium will prove of great benefit.

Several from here went to Monroe last Tuesday evening to attend the Ordination Recital given by Mary's Conservatory, of Miss Lovette Harrison of Jackson, and Miss Madeline Benson of this place. Miss Bennett has been attending school there for the past three years and her friends here are pleased to know of her success.

AMAZING CHEMICAL DISCOVERIES

SECRETARY Lane of the interior department recently announced that Dr. Walter F. Rittman, chemical engineer of the bureau of mines, had made two chemical discoveries of epoch-making importance. One, it was announced, will greatly increase the production of gasoline; the other will make the United States independent of the rest of the world in the production of materials necessary for the dye industry and the manufacture of high explosives. "These discoveries have the double importance of being of the highest interest scientifically and probably of the highest value commercially."

The old method of refining petroleum was to heat up the material in a still and condense the vapors coming off. Gasoline is all of the vapor which passes off up to 160 degrees centigrade. This was a simple distillation process. The experimental work of Dr. Rittman has been done at various ranges of pressure from up to nearly 500 pounds per square inch down to partial vacuum and at ranges of temperature from 1,000 degrees centigrade down to the lowest temperature at which the apparatus could be worked.

In his laboratory at Havemeyer hall at Columbia university he has an experimental apparatus which occupies one end of a small room and in which he can make experiments upon any oil under any conditions he chooses. The results are carefully tabulated and the products produced are analyzed. Before carrying out these actual experiments, however, the problem was attacked from the purely theoretical side.

Working from a theoretical standpoint, the expected results were mapped out and then the experiments were tried under the chosen conditions in order to either verify or disprove the prognostications. Using this general method of procedure, the research was carried on and the discovery made of the conditions necessary to produce larger yields of gasoline from petroleum. Later were found the conditions necessary for the production of toluol and benzol from petroleum.

The consumption of gasoline by automobiles, motor cycles, aeroplanes, motor boats, and the various types of internal combustion engines used for power has increased enormously in the last few years. The increase in the number of motor vehicles shows this, for, according to the best estimates, there were, in 1910, 350,000 such vehicles; in 1912 there were 990,000, while at the present time the number has reached 1,600,000. Upon the assumption that each motor vehicle uses ten barrels of gasoline per year, the demand from this source alone would be 16,000,000 barrels of 42 gallons each. The gasoline exported and that used for other purposes makes our annual consumption reach a total of about 26,000,000 gallons, which is the present production.

The supply has not been increasing as fast as the demand, however, and even now it would be inadequate were it not for the fact that in the last three years many new processes have been patented for increasing most of the production. These have had no commercial value, however, except one, the Burton process, which is controlled by the Standard Oil company.

The situation which developed when this process was brought out three years ago was an interesting one. The supply of gasoline was so nearly exceeded by the demand that the situation was very critical and the price was high. There was a real "gasoline problem." It seemed impossible to meet the increasing demand with an adequate supply.

Benzol was also put forward as a substitute. It was found possible to use this material for motor vehicles in Europe to a certain extent by employing special carburetors, although it was not entirely satisfactory.

After all, nothing was really able to take the place of gasoline in being entirely satisfactory, nor was there an adequate supply of any other material. It was at this time that the Standard Oil company solved the "gasoline problem" by utilizing the Burton process, which gave prospect of an abundance of gasoline for some years at least.

However, the independent refiners, who were prevented by the patents from using this superior method of distilling their crude oil, could not materially increase their output of gasoline, and it is in this connection that Doctor Rittman's discovery will be of such great benefit. Not only will it be available to the Standard Oil company, but it will be at the disposal of any reputable company in the United States.

The patents, when they are issued, will be given absolutely to the people of the United States, and measures will be taken to insure that the new process will never be allowed to anyone to use as a monopoly.

The discovery as to gasoline is perhaps exceeded in importance, however, by the discovery of the fact that such products as toluol and benzol, heretofore obtained from coal tar alone, can now be made from petroleum.

In normal times there is produced an enormous quantity of benzol and toluol in Germany, where, as in all Europe, the coke is made in by-product ovens, and the tar and its associated products saved. In the United States only about 25 per cent of the coke is made in such a way as to save the by-products.

Benzol and toluol are raw materials in the manufacture of many medicines, dyes, and explosives. The fact that the United States is apparently to have a plentiful source of raw material for the making of these will probably be an stimulus to the building up here of new industries. Up to the time of the present war Americans produced only a small fraction of the dyes actually used in American industries. The fact that since the outbreak of the war the United States has been unable to obtain an adequate supply of dyes has had already an effect in causing effort to be made for launching an industry for the production of dyes.

The Rittman discoveries are also of the utmost importance as to explosives. In case of a war in which the United States would be shut off from an outside supply of benzol and toluol, it would be able to produce for the use of the army and navy from its large supplies of petroleum practically any amount of these materials desired.

Many of our modern drugs and medicines are made directly or indirectly from benzol. The production of this latter material at a cheap price would be a great stimulus to the building up of a large synthetic drug industry in this country. At the present time Germany has a monopoly in this business.

The man who has made these notable discoveries was born in Sandusky, Ohio, December 2, 1882.

In 1908 he received a Bachelor of arts degree from Swarthmore college, in Pennsylvania, and in 1909 he received his master of arts degree from the same place. During 1909 he served as chemist for the United Gas Improvement company of Philadelphia. He served as lecturer and laboratory instructor in Swarthmore from 1909 to 1912, and continued his studies in engineering, so that he was granted a degree of mechanical engineer in 1911. While at Swarthmore, and especially during the last three years, he was engaged in professional chemical engineering work, both in chemical and mechanical lines.

In the fall of 1912 he came to Columbia university to do the work which got for him, in June, 1914, the degree of doctor of philosophy. The research work for this degree was carried out in the industrial laboratories of Havemeyer hall, Columbia, under the direction of Prof. M. C. Whitaker. The results of these investigations were published in the May and June, 1914, numbers of the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, and were upon the subject "Thermo-Reactions in Carbureting Water Gas." In this research work was laid the foundation for the work which led to his discoveries. This piece of research was so much praised that he was asked to take a position with the United States bureau of mines at Pittsburgh as chemical engineer. After accepting this position he continued to study the problem of obtaining larger yields of gasoline in the distillation of crude oil.

He found that at the laboratories in Pittsburgh there was not the kind of apparatus that was required for the work which he had in mind. The work which he had done in carbureting the thermal reactions in the carbureting of water gas required a special piece of apparatus, and this had been designed and built in the laboratories in Havemeyer hall, so that it was desirable that in the continuance of his researches he be able to use this apparatus. Through the courtesy of the university authorities he was able to take up his investigation for the bureau of mines in one of the private laboratories of the department of chemistry, where he could make use of the apparatus which he had formerly used as a graduate student.

While his experimental distillation apparatus is not large enough to be called factory size, it is much larger than the ordinary laboratory size, and he was enabled to get results which gave indications that the process was feasible on a commercial scale.

Doctor Rittman is modest in his claims and desires to have time to perfect his processes in larger size units before making any statements as to the cost of the production.

The apparatus which has been used in all of the experimental work is practically the same as that used in the research which won for him his Ph. D. from Columbia university last June. The oil, which may be a crude oil, and which by the ordinary process of distillation might yield no gasoline at all, is introduced into the apparatus by a feeding device which controls the rate at which it is led into the furnace. Besides crude oil it is possible to use residues which remain from former distillations by the old process, and even the oils from the California oil fields, which yield practically no gasoline. As the oil enters the top of the furnace it comes in contact with a mass of hot steel balls which vaporize the oil. The furnace itself, into which the oil vapor next passes, is simply a piece of iron pipe heated by an electric current which passes through a coil of resistance wire surrounding the pipe but separated from it by asbestos.

What actually takes place in the distillation process is no doubt a breaking down of the larger and more complex molecules of the oil used, into the gasoline molecule or the benzol molecule as the case may be. This process is technically known as "cracking" the oil.

The foreign patents which Doctor Rittman is taking out will, of course, be his own personal property. The entire rights of the American patents will be vested in the public, however, and he will receive no compensation except his salary.

Dealing with Elementals

By G. W. MASTERS

(Copyright, 1915, by W. G. Chapman.)

"Business is mighty slow, Professor Nahum," said Madame Ida, the medium, to the latest satellite whom she had picked up in the course of her journeys up and down the length and breadth of the land.

"It might be better," admitted the professor, gloomily.

Madame Ida, driven out of Iowa, and at her wits' end, had considered herself fortunate in securing the services of the starving young man who had agreed to work for her on the basis of a division of the receipts instead of on salary. They had had quite a successful tour in Ohio, stopping for a day and a night at the little country villages, where the gullible are just as numerous as they ever were in spite of education.

"Queer business, ain't it, professor?" soliloquized Madame Ida. "But Lord, all business is a graft. It's respectable, and it don't do no harm and does do a lot of good, that's what I say. At least, it makes some folks think they're seeing the spirits of their beloved dead, and even if they ain't sure that it's true it helps. That's what I say—it helps. Never had no folks of your own, did you, professor?"

"Not since I was a boy," answered the professor gloomily.

"Well, listen now," said Madame Ida. "There's a rich old guy in this place that's crazy on spirits. I got a line on him and I've sent him an advertisement of tonight's meeting. He ought to be good for fifty if we can work him right. Had a son who ran away and was wild, or something of the sort, and he's got the idea that he's in the summerland and thinks he didn't treat him square. Work the game for all it's worth tonight, professor."

"Sure," answered the professor.

"Karpen is his name—Henry Karpen, and he's got a mint of money. We might manage to stay over a few days, and perhaps give him private settings. Shrewd old fellow he is, too, they say, in the law. But Lord, that's the kind that we catch the easiest. So work him, professor."

"I will," muttered the professor, rising and going into the cabinet, which was set with the accessories for the seance.

Madame Ida had advertised extensively, not through the newspapers, which was apt to bring down the attentions of the police, but by means of handbills, and by letters addressed to persons whom she had learned, through underground channels, to be spiritually inclined. As a result, there was a fairly full house at a dollar apiece, among the audience being old Mr. Karpen. Watching him narrowly out of the corner of her eye, Madame Ida decided that the old lawyer could be "worked" as easily as the rest.

She had instructed the professor not to permit the spirits to approach the old man that night, this being the method adopted to please and stimulate the curiosity. So while the professor, attired in flowing robes, capered about the assemblage in the dim light for the benefit of most of the audience, eliciting exclamations of awe by his shrewd "fishing" process, Mr. Karpen saw no spirit of his son.

At last the spectators fled away, but the old man lingered. Presently he was alone with the woman, the medium being presumably entranced within the cabinet.

"Now, Madame Ida," he said, "I came here to see the spirit of my son, and I generally get what I want in this world."

—not, of course, for the money, but because of his faith.

"It's faith that counts, you know," she said. "Do you want the sitting at once, Mr. Karpen?"

She pounced the fifty dollars and went into the cabinet.

"Professor, the old fool's stayed to see his son," she said. "Don't be scared to go out to him. I've got the fifty, and he won't try any rough-house business, I guess."

Old Mr. Karpen, seated alone in front of the cabinet, saw a luminous cloud upon the floor, which slowly changed into the form of a spirit. It was a tremulous spirit, for the professor was more ill at ease than he had been in many a day.

"Here is your son, Mr. Karpen," said the medium softly. "Don't touch him. He isn't fully materialized yet, and if you were to lay hands on him the astral influence might project an elemental in his place and snatch him away."

"Father!" whispered the tremulous wraith. "You wanted to see me, father. O how glad I am! You didn't treat me very well when I was in the world of fleshly phenomena—"

"I know I didn't, Percy," answered old Mr. Karpen.

"How is Edith?" inquired the ghost.

Oh, tolerable," answered the old man. "At least, she was the last time I heard of her. How did you die, Percy?"

"I am not dead," said Percy with a sob. "I have passed over into the summerland, as the result of a blow on the head, delivered—"

"In a saloon, Percy? How often have I warned you—"

"No, father. It was a quarrel in a freight car. I was working my way home to you, to improve your forgiveness, when the brakeman found me and struck me on the forehead. I was stunned by the blow and pitched forward over a bridge on to a jagged rock in the river bed a thousand feet below. When I recovered consciousness I was in summerland. Father, have you cared for Edith?"

"Why, no, Percy," answered the old man. "I told you not to get married until you found a job. I didn't feel called upon to support Edith. But I understand she has a steady job at a dollar a day as a seamstress—"

"Then listen, father!" cried the ghost passionately. "I swear to you that unless you take Edith into your home and cherish her I will haunt you for the remainder of your days. I will never give you peace. If you love me, cherish my poor wife—"

"I don't know about that, Percy," answered the old man thoughtfully. "I understand that she can take pretty good care of the child—"

"What!" shouted Percy, and for the first time a dreadful suspicion began to show itself in Madame Ida's manner. "Have I a child?"

"A pretty little two-year-old, Percy," said the old man wistfully. "As sweet a little tottler as ever I saw."

Healthy Baby Smiles. An interesting mental process with physical manifestation which is found in every healthy baby is smiling. It is a remarkably early one, too, and a child of a month old will often show a distinctly pleased smile when his little face is patted or it is tickled. At first the smile spreads very slowly over the tiny features, then, as time passes, flashes up on the face and dies away again with equal celerity, and by the time the first three months are past is accompanied often enough by little chuckles of glee.

But laughter comes later, often much later, and many children never really laugh until they are a year old, or even more. It is, indeed, very rare to hear laughter before the first six months are accomplished, and when it is heard it should be regarded as a symptom of unusual intelligence, may be gratifying to a mother's pride, but most certainly not to be excited or provoked.

A Physician's Opinion

A physician who uses Grape-Nuts in his family was recently asked his opinion of this food. He said—

"It is a concentrated, palatable, nourishing and healthful food. Sweetened slightly and moistened with good rich cream, Grape-Nuts makes a very toothsome dish."

There's a reason for these excellent qualities in Grape-Nuts. This food is made of whole wheat and barley, thoroughly baked and processed to render it easily and quickly digestible—generally in about one hour.

Grape-Nuts contains all the rich nutriment of the grains, including the phosphorus, iron, sulphur, and other mineral elements so necessary for proper nourishment of body and nerve cells. It's a healthful food, and economical also.

And, oblivious of the jeweler, of all else save love's young dream, they crashed into each other's arms.

As a matter of fact the chorus girl is merely a matter of form.

All over Europe, especially in districts that have been conquered, papers are issued in the native language for the purpose of educating the wild population to the conqueror's viewpoint and of combatting the claims and statements of native agents. Many are printed in two languages. Besides houses, banks and societies are publishing papers full of home news, which they send to employees at the front.

When a girl says it is the custom for the young man in the case.

Money makes the mare go, or perhaps it's vice versa, as a well-known gambler and race horse owner once remarked. We presume money is desirable or else such a gigantic number of people would not be so busily engaged in the attempt to make some or make more. But the irony or justice of great wealth is that when we have everything that money can buy we awake to the realization that money cannot buy everything.

Money.

AUSTRIAN ARCHDUCHESS A RED CROSS WORKER

The Archduchess Maria Josepha (at right), mother of Archduke Karl Franz Joseph, the heir to the Austrian throne, like many other noblewomen of practically all the countries engaged in the war, has answered the call of her country and has taken active charge of the Red Cross work. The photograph shows her acting as a good samaritan to one of her wounded countrymen.

SNAPPING THE WAR

Bees Houses Fall and Then Rushes Into the Ruins to Take Pictures—Tells of the Ypres Fight.

London.—Christopher Pilkington is making an official regimental record of the doings of the Scots guards at the front. Armed with a camera he has permission to go anywhere and photograph anything.

Lecturing before the Selborne society Mr. Pilkington's descriptions of the terrible fighting round Ypres were full of the realism possible only from a man who had lived with the soldiers as one of them.

Of the 1,000 men who left the Tower with him on September 13 only 300 now remain and of the officers there is a remnant of two.

Round about Ypres the Seventh division got into the thick of the German guns. "You continually heard men who had been through Indian campaigns and South Africa say that what they had been through before was an absolute picnic compared to what they had to put up with from the Germans."

The battle of Ypres, which lasted for weeks and is not over yet, was for Mr. Pilkington a time of cycling about with his camera, usually under shell fire, taking extraordinary pictures of smashed up houses and anything particularly exciting that happened.

Mr. Pilkington was so near the actual thing that he would see a shell fall into a house full of sleeping soldiers, and a few minutes afterward would rush in with his camera and take a photograph of the horrible mess inside. He said that after a time men became curiously indifferent about the shells, and he showed a photograph of some transport drivers calmly gazing round to see exactly where the shells were going to fall and if it was time to move on.

"Custom becomes, as it were, another nature." People seem to have been living much as usual in the houses on the Menin road during this terrible time, and ten minutes after a shell had wrecked a house Mr. Pilkington photographed people hunting for souvenirs. One thing that astonished him was the sight of some children playing with toys on a doorstep in one of the hottest places.

He photographed a soldier having his hair cut by a comrade with shells falling all around at a spot christened by the soldiers "Hell Corner." He saw the French burying their dead in layers in a big hole made by a Jack Johnson. "They were like herrings in a barrel." He insisted that there is nothing picturesque to be seen, and his photograph of a line of guardsmen advancing to the attack showed nothing but a few blobs of khaki in a muddy field.

MUSIC CURES WAR'S INSANE

Helps Restore Facilities Lost as Result of Horror at Front.

London, England.—Music as an aid in the recovery of mental facilities lost as the result of harrowing experiences at the front, is used with success at the hospital for paralytic, Maida-Vale, London. The hospital authorities pointed to the case of Bandman A. G. Reynolds of the Second Wiltshire regiment as typical. He was buried in a trench for 13 hours by the explosion of a German shell at Ypres and for three weeks afterward his mind was a blank. He was brought to London and given "treatment" with the piano and other musical instruments. He began to improve immediately and to assist the treatment pieces of music which had been played to him were left in his room and on his bed. Gradually he began to read the musical notation and later the ordinary printing.

DOG'S HARELIP IS FIXED

Milwaukee Surgeon Performs Successful Operation on Blooded Boston Bull Pup.

Milwaukee.—The craze for flesh and bone carpentry has reached Milwaukee dogdom. Because its mistress did not like the appearance of the harelip worn by Lady Abbot, a blooded Boston bull pup, the animal has been in a dog hospital to have the lip fixed by the knife and needle.

Lady Abbot was the runt of her litter and, though three months old, now weighs only a pound. A Boston bull, it appears, can be beautiful in its own Boston bull way, and to make Lady Abbot beautiful it was necessary to cut open the lip on each side of the seam, and then sew the lip up again. A dozen stitches being needed for this operation.

The operation was a success, and Lady Abbot is now recovering. She is the property of Mrs. John Hartkopf, wife of the head of the city natatorium, and the operation is the first of its kind on record on a dog.

URGED TO CULTIVATE CROPS

Efficiency of Army Depends on This Year's Husbandry, Says Austrian Minister.

Vienna.—The Austrian minister of agriculture has issued a proclamation to the farmers of the empire stating that the efficiency of the army and the confidence of the civilian population depend on the yield of this year's husbandry. He, therefore, urges that no inch of ground remain uncultivated and that such crops in especial be cultivated as are directly available for human nourishment.

MOST ANCIENT RACE

Cave Gives Up Relics Many Thousand Years Old.

Explorations by Nevada Archeologists Prove Truth of Plute Legends of Lost Cavern—Sealed Up by Nature.

Kansas City.—The archeological department of the University of Nevada has nearly completed the exploration of a cave in Nevada, sealed up by nature 3,000 years ago. It contains relics of what is believed to be the ancient race from which the American Indians sprang, a race far older than the Aztecs. Among the things brought to light is a skull declared to be more than 5,000 years old certainly and possibly in existence several hundred thousand years ago. If these surmises are correct it is older than the Piltdown skull, found in Kent, England.

Along with the skull were found many relics of a prehistoric race in a remarkable state of preservation, because they have been hermetically sealed in nature's own preservatives. The first mention of this ancient civilization that is remembered by white men dates back to 1844, when General Fremont led from California a little band of whites across a new trail through the Rockies. He followed the Humboldt river until he came to the shores of what is now called Humboldt lake, a half mile east of the main Humboldt range of mountains, and a mile south of Lovelock, Nev. In the region of the lake he entered the land of the Plute, the chief of whom was Winnemucca. The trailmakers were met by the Indian chieftain with open arms.

General Fremont and his party were guests of the Plute band for many days. Familiarity with other tribes

FARMER'S BARN IS A CAVE

Nature Has Been Extremely Good to Arkansas Man in Providing Shelter for Stock.

Big Flat, Ark.—Nature has provided Almus Winn, a farmer who lives near this place, on Tater mountain, with a barn in the shape of a cave large enough for three teams to go in abreast.

Winn's farm lies on the flat top of the mountain, and the cave opens up in the top edge of rocks and extends back under his field.

At a point just outside of the field there is a large chimney that extends from the top of the ground into the cavern underneath.

"THEY KILLED MY DOLLY!"

A photograph taken after a German airship had made a raid on the village of Colchester, England.

had taught Fremont a method of communication by means of signs. He asked the Indian chief if he, in his great wisdom, could tell the white man whence came the red men—their origin. The aged chief by signs indicated that the history of the Indians went back to the beginning of the world. It told how his ancestors had driven a whole nation into a huge cavern and sealed them there to perish.

When years later Chief Winnemucca had learned the white man's tongue the Plute legends spread among the pioneer miners and finally reached the ears of scientific men. At Winnemucca's death his daughter Sarah became attached to the families of army officers, and through them the legends became public.

Her granddaughter, Sarah Winnemucca, was educated in a reservation school. Her imagination fired by the legends of her people, she repeated them to her instructors, until finally Prof. J. C. Jones, chief of the archeological department of the state university, determined to make a search for the lost cave. The stories indicated that it must be some where near the Humboldt lake. Sarah Winnemucca picked a spot as near as the legends could guide her, from which point the scientist conducted their search successfully.

"LIFE, LIBERTY AND PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS"

A Western Canada Farmer Writes as to Conditions.

A. G. Hansen is a farmer living near Clavel, Sask., and as an old resident of Minnesota, takes strong exception to some of the articles appearing in American papers disparaging the true conditions in Western Canada. The "Cottonwood Current" of Cottonwood, Minn., an important weekly paper in the southwestern part of the state, recently published a letter from Mr. Hansen, which is interesting reading. In his letter Mr. Hansen makes a splendid case for Western Canada against those who seek to deter farmers in the States from settling in Canada. He says:

"The district in which we live is a fair comparison to any other district in the country, made up mostly of settlers from the States. The majority here consists of Americans from Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas, with a few Canadians and an odd Englishman. We have been here eleven years, ever since this part of the country was settled, and the majority have done well. If they have not, it is certainly not the fault of the country.

"There has not been a crop failure in this district since settled. This year was the poorest, caused by lack of rain, although a fair estimate of wheat is about twelve bushels per acre, average, and oats about ten. Some farmers got as much as twenty-five bushels of wheat per acre, and we all got good prices.

"The laws of Canada are nearly the same as those of Minnesota, and we enjoy the same privileges.

"So far as the European war is concerned, we suffer to a certain extent as all the world does. Canada is giving a helping hand to her Mother Country, and we American-Canadians firmly believe it is Canada's duty to do so. I have not heard one American-Canadian who has expressed a different opinion. Canada is not compelled to send her soldiers. The service rendered is all voluntary service.

"The accusation that old settlers are considered undesirable citizens and are forced out of business, even in danger of being mobbed at their own fireside, is all false, a mere fabrication in the mind of badly informed correspondents. There are a few who have been discovered carrying letters, other papers and plans to prove them spies, and whose object is to conspire against the government. These have just been arrested. Such a class of people cannot be considered good citizens, whether living in Canada or in the United States.

"Some people are failures wherever they are, and as an excuse for failure in their country it may seem easy to put the blame on the Canadian people and the Canadian government. Fact is, thousands of people from the United States are emigrating to Canada at the present time, which shows they are not afraid of the Canadian government.

"The government is giving away, free of charge, provision through the winter to farmers in certain districts affected by the drought, and is also sending seed grain to those in need of help. This is very different from driving settlers away from their own homes.

"I have always observed that the people who love their Mother Country most are those who make the best citizens of their adopted country. The glorious 'Stars and Stripes' will always stand for what is good and noble to us, though we live in a neighbor country where we also enjoy 'Life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'" "Seems to me it's frightfully warm in this room," remarked pa, as he fidgeted in his easy chair. "Johnny, go and look at the thermometer." "The thermometer isn't running," said Johnny.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world? We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. Richmond, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R.I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y.

PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it."—Mrs. Maria Irwin, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N.Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

Woman's Literary Club

The twelfth meeting of the Woman's Literary Club was held at the home of Mrs. F. A. Dibble on Penniman avenue last Friday afternoon. The president presided with about twenty-five members present. 'Words of the Wise,' was the response to the roll call. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The corresponding secretary read several communications. One in regard to the woman's reformatory bill. This bill has been heartily endorsed by all the clubs throughout the state, but on account of several amendments it has become very objectionable. The fly campaign and the master of a Civic League committee was discussed and referred to the advisory board, to report at the next meeting. Mrs. F. A. Dibble gave a brief report of the meeting held to talk over plans for a Carnegie library. Mrs. Mary Shattuck, treasurer, reported that the ten dollars had been given toward the public playground, and that Mr. Reeb, superintendent of the school, desired to thank the club for the donation, and also desired that two ladies from the club be appointed to assist the committee in purchasing the equipment for the new playground. After a short intermission the program was in charge of the sixth division, Mrs. C. H. Bennett, leader. Mrs. Bennett, added interest to the work of the afternoon by telling a few experiences of her recent visit in Cuba. She spoke of calamities there such as prize fights, the revival of bull fights which was being agitated at the present time, and the lotteries, the evil of which is well known.

Current events are given by Mrs. J. R. Rauch. A paper, 'The Children's Bureau,' was presented by Mrs. Everett Jolliffe. Mrs. C. H. Bennett gave a short talk on the life and work of Helen Gould. Miss Marguerite Hough told of the life and work of Miss Ida Tarbell. Work of the Red Cross—Clara Barton, was given by Mrs. E. R. Daggett. The work of this club in regard to resolutions to prohibit the sale and exportation of horses to the belligerent countries of Europe was recently published in the National Humane Review. A few weeks ago while Mrs. C. H. Bennett, the promoter of this plan of resolutions, was visiting at New Rochelle, New York, she was invited to address the New Rochelle Club on this subject. This was an open meeting and there were several hundred ladies and gentlemen present. All were very enthusiastic and the club immediately decided to draw up resolutions and carry on the same work that our club has done. The next meeting of the club will be held at the school house on Friday afternoon, April 30th. This will be an open day and the club desires to invite the parents of children to attend. A business meeting will be held in the kindergarten room at 2:15, and the open meeting in the High school room at three o'clock.

The meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union which was to have occurred the 22, will be held next Thursday at the home of Mrs. Bunya, and it is expected that Rev. A. L. Bell will speak on 'The Convicts' Plea for Prohibition.' Members are urged to be present. The amount paid in for dues at the annual meeting was very gratifying, but there are some who are still in arrears. As the Union must send in state dues before May 15, it is hoped that all local dues will be handed in before that time. Mrs. Jennie Voorhis left Tuesday for Battle Creek where she will take treatment at the sanitarium. It is hoped that she will return greatly benefited in health.

Mrs. Mary Chaffee, of Pontiac, visited relatives here over Sunday and the first of the week.

LIVONIA CENTER.

A miscellaneous shower was given by the S. B. at the church parlors Thursday evening, in honor of Miss Lula Huber, whose marriage to Mr. Walter Seiloff is an event of the near future. Games and music were the evening's diversion and a delicious luncheon was served. The Sunday-school class of which the bride to be is a member, presented her with a beautiful leather rocker. The gifts from other friends included china, silver and granite. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lee and son Russell of Toledo, O., were Sunday guests of the former's brother, Fred Lee and family.
