In And Around Plymouth

Rochester schools will have no graduates in 1915.

Wixom celebrates tomorrow, Saturday, July 3rd.

Rochester is so well pleased with oiled roads that the village council has ordered another tank of 6,000 gallons.

Northville's chautauqua will be held August 5-9. The big feature of the week will be the concert by the Kilbie's Band, a Canadian organization of nineteen pieces.

The Oakland county local option case was argued before the supreme court last Friday and taken under advisement. It is not expected that an opinion will be rendered before the latter part of July.

The Pomona Granges of Washtenaw, Wayne, Lenawee, Jackson, Hillsdale and Monroe counties will have a basket picnic at Ypsilanti on July 24. It is expected that Gov. Ferris will be one of the speakers.

A. E. Cole can boast of the greatest freak of nature this year. He found a hen's egg measuring 8x10 inches and on breaking it was found to contain the white and yolk and also another perfect egg with a hard shell.—Saline Observer.

Henry Ford has petitioned the Dearborn village council to take in a part of his adjoining estate, within the village limits. His only object in doing this is so that he might help pay the running expenses of the village, which finds itself short on funds this year, owing to the loss of two saloon licenses. Whoever heard of a man wanting to pay more taxes?

A tiny Holstein bull calf, 4 months old, brought the highest price of any of the 104 Holstein-Friesians sold at the eighth public sale of the Michigan Breeder's Consignment Sales Co., held at Howell recently. The little fellow, Champion Segis Mobei, far outshone his older brothers and sisters in popularity among the buyers. He was sold by Reed & Knowles, of Howell, to Fred Bachman, of Azalia, for $525.

C. D. Finkbeiner has had an experience with black teeth in pigs that may prove of value to others. Recently a sow on his farm gave birth to a litter of nine pigs, all dying within four days. Upon examination Mr. Finkbeiner discovered all were affected with what are called black teeth. Subsequently another sow had ten pigs similarly affected, but they were discovered in time and extracted, all but one making quick recovery and are doing well.—Saline Observer.

Northville will Celebrate July 3rd

Northville will celebrate the Fourth of July on Saturday, July 3, this year. Athletic park is to be the scene of activities beginning at 2 o'clock with the horse races. A purse of $25 is offered for the best 3 in 5 free-for-all, trot or pace; $20 for the 2:30 pace and $30 for $:35 trot or pace; all one mile heats. Harry Robinson of this village will act as starting judge. Another attraction will be a ball game, Northville Indians vs. Sonnenburg's of Detroit.

The tree band concert and moving picture show last Saturday night was a great success. The number of people on the street was about equal to the largest crowd of last summer. The music was good and the pictures shown were extra fine. Another free entertainment next Saturday night.

Plans 1915 Auto Tags
Secretary of State Vaughan is preparing to submit bids for the motor car license tags for 1915. It is believed that there will be 150,000 licensed motor cars in Michigan at the end of the year. Next year's license plates will be white, with blue numerals. This year's plates have white numerals on a blue background.

A Pretty Home Wedding

A very pretty and quiet home wedding was solemnized at high noon Wednesday, June 30th, when Miss Marguerite Hough, daughter of Mrs. L. C. Hough, and Dr. John Olaver of this place, were united in marriage at the bride's home on Main street. The color scheme, pink and white, was tastefully carried out throughout the decorations of the house. The bridal party entered the parlors to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march by Wagner, rendered on the piano by Miss Bertha Beals. Little Corsette Hough and Helen Samson, nieces of the bride and groom, respectively, acted as flower girls. Each, daintily dressed in white, carried baskets filled with rose petals, which they strewed before the bridal couple. Rev. E. P. Farber performed the ceremony, the contracting parties standing before a bank of ferns and Killarney roses. The beautiful and impressive ring service was used. The ring, concealed in the heart of an American beauty rose, was carried by Master Cass Sheffield Hough, nephew of the bride. The bride was becomingly attired in white net over white silk and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, "O Promise Me" was softly played on the piano by Miss Beals during the entire service.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests marched into the dining room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. The tables were attractively decorated with sweet peas and Shasta daisies. A three-course luncheon was served. About thirty relatives and friends were in attendance. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents.

Later in the afternoon the happy couple left on a ten days' eastern trip. On their return they will reside on Grand street. Dr. Olaver is a prominent young dentist of this place, and Mrs. Olaver is one of Plymouth's most popular young ladies. They have the best wishes of a host of friends for a prosperous and happy wedded life.

A Young Life Ended

The village and community were saddened, last Sunday, when it became known that death had claimed one of its brightest and most highly esteemed young ladies, Miss Hazel Sly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Sly, which occurred at the family home northeast of the village, that afternoon. Miss Sly was a popular member of the younger people of this community and was greatly beloved by all who knew her, and her untimely death is keenly regretted by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The funeral was held from the home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was very largely attended. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful and bore mute testimony of the love of relatives and friends. Rev. Joseph Dutton conducted the services. Two beautiful anthems were rendered by a trio composed of Messrs. Calvin, Harry and Austin Whipple. The interment took place in Riverside cemetery.

Hazel Florence Sly was born in the township of Plymouth, March 24, 1893, and passed away at the home of her parents, June 27, 1915, after months of extreme suffering. She bore her sufferings without a murmur, always looking for the bright side of every phase of her sickness. What is our loss is her gain in the great spiritual life. Those who attended the funeral Tuesday from out of town were: Mrs. Lucy Sly, San Francisco, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ewing, George and Eugene Ewing of Chelsea; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Quackenbush, Miss Franc Markham, Lewis Markham and Henry Dubois of Detroit; Wm. Springer and son, Ralph, of Redford; Wallace Ewing of Pontiac; Mr. Wm. Savage of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Harris Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ellis and Miss Carrie City of Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Cory Diamond and Mr. and Mrs. John Sutherland of Island Lake; Mrs. Geo. Giddings, Perry and Charlotte Giddings of Milford.

Auto Excursions

Auto excursion picnic parties solicited. Accommodations for ten adults and two more than this on Sunday, July 4. A trip to Walled Lake Sunday, July 4. For tickets and further particulars see H. J. Green at 121 E. H. DeWitt & Son's store.

Methodist Church Rally

Dr. C. B. Allen, Detroit superintendent, comes to Plymouth on Wednesday evening, July 7th, to hold the 4th quarterly conference in the Methodist church. Departing from the routine order, the pastor and official brethren invite the membership and friends of the church to attend this important business meeting. Reports will be made by the various societies and organizations of the church, affording a rare opportunity to get a comprehensive view of the entire program of church activities for the year. All friends of the church are cordially invited and urged to attend, 7:30 Wednesday evening, July 7th.

Death of John Murray

John R. Murray died at his home on Mill street of injuries received from an accident last week Monday afternoon, while he was engaged in painting Mr. Todd's new house, and fell headlong from the ladder, sustaining a compound fracture of the right ankle. Concussion of the brain, the result of the jar of the fall developed, and he relapsed into unconsciousness from which he never aroused, passing peacefully away late Tuesday evening. The funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at his late home, Rev. Farber officiating. Burial at Riverside cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Will Stanbro of Salem, sang several appropriate selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunham and little daughter of Los Angeles, Cal., arrived here Wednesday evening where they will visit the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Trinkaus. Mrs. Dunham was formerly Miss Edna Trinkaus of this place.

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo. - "I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without staggering during cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself." - Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulcers, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

HISTORIC EVENTS OF OTHER FOURTHS

Surprising it is to discover how many important events in history have occurred on the Fourth of July.

On the fourth day of July, 1754, Col. George Washington surrendered an army. It was only a small army, but a fort went with it. He experienced on this occasion his first defeat in war, at the hands of the French.

Although at that time only twenty-two years of age, he had been placed in command of a small body of troops which was marching toward Fort Duquesne. At a point on the Monongahela river, less than forty miles from his destination, he heard of the approach of a party of French and Indians, sent to intercept him. Accordingly, he fell back to the Great Meadows, fifty miles from Cumberland, and hastily erected a stockade, which he called Fort Necessity.

With the help of a friendly Indian sachem, Half King, he attacked the French in their camp at night, killing their commander, Jumonville, and taking a number of prisoners. It was the first blood shed in the French and Indian war.

A few days later Fort Necessity was attacked by 1,500 Indians and French under De Villiers, and Washington surrendered on honorable terms. This was on the morning of July 4. He marched out with his little army of 400 men, drums beating and flags flying, and he and his soldiers returned peacefully to their homes.

On the fourth day of July, 1846, the independence of California was declared.

There was at that time in California—as yet of course a part of Mexico—about two hundred Americans, nearly all of them men of exceptional vigor of body and alertness of mind. Of Mexicans there were 6,000, and the aboriginal Indian population numbered perhaps 200,000.

Capt. John C. Fremont had been sent to California on an exploring expedition a year earlier. He was on his way to Oregon when he was overtaken by an officer sent from Washington with a message ordering him to wait and to co-operate with the Pacific squadron in case of hostilities with Mexico. The message had been in writing, but the officer was obliged to destroy it while crossing Mexican territory, after committing it to memory.

Accordingly Fremont returned to California and took up his headquarters at Sutter's Fort.

A few days later, June 14, a party of fourteen Americans organized a small revolution on their own account, captured Sonoma and declared war against Mexico. Needing a flag and not daring to use that of the United States, they made one out of an old lady's petticoat, as has sometimes been alleged, but from a Mexican rebosa or scarf of unbleached muslin a yard wide and five feet long. Along the bottom they sewed a strip of red flannel and in the left hand corner they painted a star in red ink. The middle of the flag was occupied by a picture of a grizzly bear, beneath which were the words "California Republic."

The temporary government thus set up is known in history as the Bear Flag Republic. Its banner now ornaments the rooms of the Pioneer society in San Francisco. The grizzly bear was rather crudely drawn, and the Mexicans said it was a pig, calling the flag the pig flag.

Meanwhile news had come of the outbreak of war along the Rio Grande and on July 4 Fremont called a meeting at Sonoma which formally proclaimed the independence of California. He was appointed governor.

Soon afterward there came intelligence that Commodore Sloat had arrived at Monterey (July 7) and had raised the American flag; also that by his orders Commander Montgomery of the U. S. sloop of war Portsmouth had taken possession of San Francisco.

Sloat, having heard of the hostilities with Mexico, had sailed immediately from Mazatlan for California, where he took possession of the country and raised the American flag on his own responsibility. He was none and destroyed. Butler reported taking 227 scalps and five prisoners, the English loss being two white men killed and eight Indians wounded.

Incredible deeds of cruelty and ferocity are said to have been committed by the tories on this occasion, and the whole valley was left a scene of desolation. But it is not true that women and children were massacred.

On the fourth day of July, 1780, continental currency notes were worth two cents on the dollar, and it was said, "a wagonload of paper money was required to pay for a wagonload of provisions." Nothing could well give a more vivid notion of the desperate situation of the Revolutionary cause at that period.

On the fourth of July, 1826, Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States and author of the Declaration of Independence, died, aged eighty-three, just fifty years from the date of that historic document.

On the same day died John Adams, second president of the United States, aged eighty-one.

James Monroe also died on the Fourth of July, 1831, his age being seventy-three.

On the fourth day of July, 1848, the treaty of peace with Mexico was proclaimed at Washington. And on the same day the cornerstone of the Washington monument was laid with great pomp and ceremony. Money for building it had been subscribed by individuals, but the sum thus obtained proved so far inadequate that the structure remained a mere stump.

There was a similar and even more important ceremony in Washington on July 4, 1851, when President Fillmore initiated by the laying of a cornerstone the construction of the two great white marble wings of the capitol.

There was made by Daniel Webster, then secretary of state. Of special interest was the presence of a few persons who had witnessed the laying of the first cornerstone of the capitol by Washington on the eighteenth day of September, 1793.

On the fourth day of July, 1833, John Fryth, an English preacher, was burned at Smithfield for the heresy of Lutheranism.

July 4, 1450, was the day on which Jack Cade plundered the city of London or a portion thereof, beheading Baron Say and Sele and murdering several other personages of importance.

Cade had fled from England for some crime; but after serving in the French wars he went back to that country and settled in Kent under the assumed name of Aylmer, marrying a lady of good position. When the men of Kent rose in rebellion, in May, 1450, he led them. The rebels made their way into London on July 3. A portion of the populace favored them, but the opposing party gained strength when Cade began to plunder and kill. He retired to Southwark, and was prevented from re-entering the city after a fierce struggle on London Bridge. Afterward he was captured, and being severely wounded, died in the cart which was conveying him to London.

July 4, 1697, was the date of the battle of Dorylaeum, a great victory of the Crusaders over the Moslems under Soliman, who had attacked them on the march.

There are only about 40 eligibles in the entire United States, and about three-fourths of them are in Philadelphia—a nice testimonial to the stability of trade in this town.

More Tolerant Attitude. "Everybody is making fun of your new motor car."

"I'm glad to hear it," replied Mr. Chuggins. "It's better to have 'em laughing at it than regarding it as a natural enemy, as they did my old one."

Good and Bad Germs. All life is a fight between the opposing forces of life and dissolution. Happily, there are millions of germs in every human body that are fighting for health, and when these health germs are in the ascendancy we are well.

But whenever the malevolent germs, or germs of disease, outnumber the germs of health, we decline, grow weak, tired, get sick and die. The thing is to preserve equilibrium, or retaining power.

SALADS FOR SUMMER

EASILY PREPARED AND APPETIZING PREPARATIONS.

What is Known as Philadelphia Lobster Salad is One of the Best—Excellent When Made With Potatoes and Apples.

Philadelphia Lobster Salad.—Boll one large or two medium-sized lobsters and pick to pieces when cold. To make the dressing for them, beat the yolks of two raw eggs with a teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of cayenne, one-half teaspoonful powdered sugar and full teaspoonful mustard wet with vinegar. Add gradually, and at first very slowly, one cupful olive oil. When quite thick whip in the strained juice of one lemon. Beat five minutes before adding two tablespoonsful vinegar. Just before serving add to the dressing one-fourth cupful of sweet cream whipped to a froth; stir all well together and into the lobster. Line a salad bowl with the crisp heart leaves of lettuce, put in the seasoned meat and cover with a little more whipped cream. If a little more acid is liked, four tablespoonsful of vinegar may be used.

Walnut Salad.—Chop lettuce and the whites of two eggs, hard boiled, separately, not too fine. Toss lightly together, sprinkle the top thickly with English walnuts and the yolks of the eggs chopped coarsely. Pour over them any good salad dressing and serve on crisp leaves of lettuce.

Potato and Apple Salad.—Cut in small cubes four cold boiled potatoes and six tart apples that have been peeled and parboiled without sugar for five minutes. Dress in the order given by one-fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, two teaspoonfuls of salt, six tablespoonfuls of olive oil, a table-spoonful of onion juice, a drop or two of table sauce and six teaspoonfuls of white vinegar; allow the ingredients to marinate in the dressing for ten minutes and then serve in individual lettuce nests, garnish with stuffed olives and rings of apples sprinkled with lemon juice to preserve their whiteness.

Cucumber and Water Cress Salad With Banana Dressing.—Mince finely a bunch of fresh water cress and chop in small pieces of medium-sized cucumber that has been soaked in iced salt water for three-quarters of an hour; toss the two vegetables lightly together and place directly on the ice until ready to serve, seasoning in the process with a saltspoonful of salt, a pinch of white pepper and a little celery salt. Prepare the dressing by pressing three bananas through a puree sieve, heating to a paste with beaten egg and heat for five minutes longer, slowly pouring in three tablespoonsful of olive oil and stirring constantly; season with a little French mustard, a few drops of lemon juice and a sprinkling of powdered cinnamon, and pour over the cress and cucumber; arrange on a salpicon of chopped celery garnished with quarters of lemon and blanched nuts.

Orange Custard Pudding. Six oranges pared and cut in small pieces. Place in baking dish and sprinkle over them one cupful of sugar. Beat the yolks of three eggs till quite foamy. Then with two table-spoonfuls of cornstarch dissolve in a little cold milk, stir into 1 1/2 pints boiling milk on top of stove, stirring constantly to prevent scorching, until it thickens. Then remove and let cool a little. Flavor with one table-spoonful of butter, one table-spoonful of flour, one small table-spoonful salt and pepper to taste. Cook potatoes until soft, then mash them; cook milk and onion separately and when starting to boil add the mashed potatoes. Make a thickening of the flour and butter and a little of the milk; then add to the milk and potato and cook five or ten minutes. A little chopped parsley and celery salt are an improvement, if desired.

Leather Cake. One cupful of sugar, one cupful of milk, two scant cupfuls of flour, one egg, one table-spoonful of butter, half table-spoonful soda, one of cream of tartar and flour to taste. Soften (but do not melt) the butter and beat in sugar, then beaten egg, then add milk, then flour sifted several times with saleratus and cream of tartar. This makes a splendid fine-grained loaf cake and is not at all like a cheap cake.

Tongue Roast. Mince remnants of boiled tongue very fine, mix with cream or milk and simmer slowly. Add the beaten yolk of one egg and stir until egg is cooked. Have ready buttered toast and spread meat over it. If you like it, a little grated cheese can be placed on the stove until the meat browns slightly. Ham toast can be made in the same way of the lean remnants of ham. It is nice for breakfast.

Mexican Codfish. Saute a small onion chopped fine in two table-spoonfuls of butter, then add two table-spoonfuls of flour, one-half green pepper minced and a cupful of stewed and strained tomato. When the sauce reaches boiling point add one-half pound of flaked codfish that has been freshed in cold water and parboiled. Simmer slowly for ten minutes and serve very hot.

Lobster Toast. Three pounds of lobster, one table-spoonful vinegar, half table-spoonful salt, one table-spoonful butter, half cupful hot water. Cut lobster in small pieces. Boil the water, vinegar, salt, three or four drops of tobacco and butter together; add the lobster, simmer for five minutes. Serve on small squares of toast.

Shortcake. Mix with one pint of flour a lump of butter the size of an egg, rub up well with baking powder or use two table-spoonfuls of cream of tartar in flour; powder fine one table-spoonful saleratus; add one cupful cold water. Make a stiff batter. Add flour if needed. Bake on tin for supper or tea.
