Lessons from the Life of John Huss

On July 6th the church celebrated the 500th anniversary of the martyrdom of John Huss. On that date, 1415, in the city of Constance, Switzerland, where 50,000 church prelates and men of affairs in the courts of Europe were gathered to discuss the problems of church and state, one John Huss, deposed rector of the University of Prague and ex-priest of the Bethlehem chapel in Prague was publicly disgraced and condemned to death, on a charge of heresy.

Magazines and periodicals have told us of the keeping of this anniversary everywhere. Is there anything in the life-story of this great man of history that should be of interest to us? We believe there is. Is there a message which he brings to us? We believe there is. The theme next Sunday morning anticipates showing these things.

HARNESSES!

July and August are usually dull months in the harness business. The cost of doing business is the same as for any similar period in the year. The only way we can reduce the percentage of cost of doing business is to increase the volume of business. In order to do this we have decided to reduce the price of harnesses sold during July and August, in spite of the fact that material has increased 10 per cent during the last year.

Farm Team Harness $37.00, regular price $40
Breaching Harness $45.00, regular price $48
Single Harness $16.00, worth $18.00
Single Harness $18.00, worth $20.00

Colored Champions Coming to Plymouth

Manager Wheeler of the local base ball club has made arrangements with the Pawnee Club, the champion colored team of Michigan, for a game with the Plymouth team at Athletic Park, Saturday, July 10th. The game will be called at 3 o'clock, and owing to the heavy expense of getting this team here an admission of 15c for ladies and 25c for gentlemen will be charged. The local team have been playing a good article of base ball, but they have not been supported as they deserve in the matter of attendance, and it is to be hoped that their efforts to give Plymouth a winning ball team will be appreciated the balance of the season by a larger attendance at the games. The game scheduled for Saturday is sure to be a fast one, so turn out and encourage the boys by your presence and support.

Plymouth Will Have a Gala Day, August 19

At a meeting of the Plymouth Fire Department held Thursday evening, it was definitely decided that Plymouth would have a gala day celebration, Thursday, August 19th, under the auspices of the firemen. The P. F. D. has pulled off some mighty successful celebrations of this kind in years past, and the big day for next August will be no exception to any that has preceded it. There will be something doing every minute of the day and evening for the entertainment of the big crowd that is sure to be here. The business men are enthusiastic over the project and will give the firemen their hearty support. It is too early yet to say just what the program will be, but you can make your plans now to come to Plymouth, Thursday, August 19th, and you will not be disappointed. The following committee chairmen were appointed at the firemen's meeting with power to select their own assistants:
Chairman of the Day—Chief Frank Dick
Secretary of the Day—Albert Gates
Automobile Parade—Bert Crumble
Ballroom—Fred Wagonschultz
Base Ball—Ed Bolton
Sports—Wm. Arthur
Dance—Chester Arthur

South Main Street Will be Paved

The village council has made arrangements with the Board of County Road Commissioners of Wayne county to construct a fifteen foot concrete roadway through the village from the intersection of the village limits with Canton Center road along said Canton Center road to the brick pavement. Work has already begun on the new roadway and will be pushed to a speedy completion. This will be a fine improvement on this much traveled street. The improvement will cost the village $1,236, of which $880 was raised by public subscription, and the balance is taken care of by the village. Much credit for the securing of the pavement is due Supervisor Charles Bradner and Asa Joy, who had in charge the raising of the money by subscription.

The Grange Picnic

The Grange picnic, given under the direction of the degree team, at the pleasant farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tillotson, just west of the village, Monday, July 5th, was well attended. The young folks entered into the races with spirit and carried them off with a rush. The master, Mrs. Ella Magraw, had an excellent program prepared for the afternoon. After the program, the married men showed the single men how to play ball by beating them 9 to 4. There were eleven who contested for the prize in the shoot. Merle Murray was the winner in the contest. The ladies report showed that the refreshment tent was well patronized, and everyone spent a most profitable day.

Plymouth Won Another Game Monday

Our fast going team added another victory to their long string, when they won from the Delray team, Monday, July 5, at Athletic Park by a score of 2 to 1. Owing to some misunderstanding the Delmont's failed to put in their appearance, and that left Delray and Plymouth to fight it out, which they did in the fastest and cleanest game ever played on the local lot. Only one hour and a half was required to play the game. The excellent coaching of Kimble featured the game. Carpenter struck out 11 men and they got but one safe hit, while Plymouth landed safely three times. Brown, Bakewell and Kimble are the three who hit safely. Brown scored both runs.

Bennett Mfg. Co. to Make 1916 Licenses

The Bennett Manufacturing company of this village, has been awarded the contract for manufacturing the automobile and motorcycle license plates to be issued by Secretary of State Vaughan for 1916.

Mary bids were received for the contract, but the bid of the Plymouth concern, which was 14 7/8 cents per set, was the lowest. This year the state is paying twenty cents per pair to a Chicago concern. More than 100,000 sets of plates will be required in 1916.

To steady the thundering beat of his pulse he crossed the room, righted the chair, stacked the books and laid them on the desk...

Arthur stood up. "Mother, I am the guilty man. I was the thief. All these years I've let you believe that Paul had taken the money..."

"What was the use of stirring up old matters? Of bringing confusion into this house?" He did not look at her...

Warrington reached mechanically for the portrait in the silver frame, but Arthur stayed his hand...

"No, but in a sense you have destroyed me. Compensation. What trifling thought most of us give that word! The law of compensation..."

A pause. Arthur gazed steadily at the portrait, while Warrington twisted his yellow beard...

"Not until that letter came." Neither of them heard the faint gasp which came from behind the portieres...

She heard the deep voice of this other son say: "Lots of kinks in life. There is only one law that I shall lay down for you, Arty. You must give up all idea of marrying Elsa Chetwood..."

"It will be easy to obey that. Are you playing with me, Paul?" "Playing!" echoed Warrington.

"Yes, do you mean to sit there and tell me that you don't know why I shall never marry her?"

Arthur read the truth in his brother's eyes. He smiled weakly, the anger gone. "Same old blind duffer you always were. I wrote an answer to her letter. In that letter I told her..."

"You did that?" "I am your brother, Paul. I couldn't be a cad as well as a thief. Yes, I told her. I told her more, what you never knew. I let Craig believe that I was you, Paul. I wore your clothes, your scarfpina, your hats..."

There are some very funny things in a big store besides the things the girls say about the floor walker of the fancies the ribbon-cutting boys have about the personalities of buyers and heads of departments.

For instance: The other day a small lad, with an unmistakable stamp of the country, was trailing his mother along through a big store. He was hanging back and she was pulling. The boy never had been in a big store, and the place was full of many wonders.

All of a sudden his pulling and lagging became a stubborn and pronounced utter stoppage.

"Come on, Willie," said the mother. "No, maw, wait," begged the boy. "No, maw, wait," begged the boy. "What's the matter with you?"

"Look!" cried the boy. He was pointing to a young man leaving an employes' time clock, which the young man had just punched.

"Wait, maw," continued Willie, "I want to see what he wins!"

HOLT KILLS SELF AFTER ATTEMPT ON J.P. MORGAN'S LIFE

Demented Teacher Was Also Responsible For Bomb In The Capitol

HAIR-BRAINED SCHEME TO END EUROPEAN WAR

Highly Educated Man Thought He Could Hold Mrs. Morgan and Children Hostages While He Forced Mr. Morgan to Stop Munition Shipments.

Mincola, L. I.—Frank Holt, the Cornell university professor who shot J. P. Morgan in his home near Glen Cove last Saturday, committed suicide in the jail here Tuesday night.

While several of the jail authorities declared that Holt killed himself by climbing through the opening at the top of his cell door and then plunging to the narrow court below, Holt's keeper said he was positive that the prisoner was killed in his own cell, where he found the body.

There were many conflicting reports as to the manner in which Holt met his death, but it was definitely established through Dr. Cleghorn, the jail physician, that Holt died of a fractured skull.

A farewell note was found in Holt's cell. It was addressed "to my Dearest" and followed: "I must write once more. The more I think about it the more I see the uselessness of living under circumstances such as these. Bring up the dear babies in the love of God and man. God bless you my sweet. Affectionately, Frank."

"P. S.—All please pardon me for all the heartache I have brought you. Pray with me that the slaughter will stop. My heart breaks. Good-by."

Grilling Third Degree. Holt's death followed a grilling third degree examination by New York detectives. Amazing new revelations of his activities in bomb-making were disclosed.

During the day it was discovered that scars borne by Eric Muester, the missing Harvard professor and wife-murder suspect, from an operation, were also on the body of Holt. This the police declared, nearly confirmed their suspicion that Holt was in reality Muester.

Holt previously had admitted that he lied when he said he made the capitol bomb out of sulphuric acid and match heads, and said also that he did not tell the truth about his movements in Washington and New York.

Holt made these admissions when confronted by evidence tending to show that he made the capitol bomb in a bungalow which he rented near here about 10 days ago.

This followed the positive identification by Lewis Ott of Holt as the man who had rented the bungalow. The detectives found numerous bottles with corks punctured in the center, small vials and pictures of a dozen public buildings throughout the country three of which were marked.

Frank McCallih, a local constable, who accompanied the detectives in the search of the bungalow, said that the marked buildings were the New York public library and the capitol buildings at Albany, N. Y., and Harrisburg, Pa.

Morgan Shot By Insane Man. Glen Cove, L. I.—Frank Holt, a crack-brained teacher of German in Cornell university, obsessed by the idea that God had appointed him to stop the shipment of war supplies to the Allies, tried to murder J. P. Morgan Saturday morning after attempting on Friday night to wreck the capitol at Washington with a dynamite bomb.

The New York and Washington police have information which leads them to believe that he planned next to go to Cornish, New Hampshire, and attempt the life of President Wilson.

Holt forced his way into Mr. Morgan's house on East Island, three and a half miles from Glen Cove, at 9:20 o'clock Saturday morning, drove the butler before him by the menace of a revolver, searched the house until he found Mr. and Mrs. Morgan on the second floor and then Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Morgan attempted to disarm him, fired two shots.

One bullet entered the lower right side of Mr. Morgan's abdomen and lodged near the base of the spine. The other pierced the right groin, ranged downward through the flesh of the thigh and passed out of Mr. Morgan's body.

ITEMS OF STATE INTEREST Attorney General Fellows holds that a property owner on whose premises a fire starts because of negligence, is liable for damage caused to adjoining property.

The contract has been let for the benefit joint county drain in Wright and Medina townships, Hilldale and Lenawee counties, and the cost will be about $7,000. The drain will be four and one-half miles long.

OBJECT OF ATTACK OF UNBALANCED FANATIC

J. P. MORGAN.

Mrs. Morgan Displays Courage.

He owes his life very likely to the courage and quickness of Mrs. Morgan who, the first to detect Holt lurking in the shadows of the upper hallway, literally flung herself at the man and so disoriented his aim that he had no opportunity to shoot straight.

Mr. Morgan himself overpowered Holt, and, with the assistance of servants, tied him and trussed him with ropes after the Morgan butler Henry Pike, had thumped him soundly over the head with the first handy weapon available, a lump of coal. Then Mr. Morgan, after calmly assuring his house guests, the British ambassador and Lady Spring-Rice, who had witnessed the desperate struggle on the second floor landing, that he was not badly hurt and after telephoning to his mother and to William H. Porter, one of his partners, himself telephoned to Dr. William H. Zabriskie, of Glen Cove, simply telling him that he had been shot and asking Dr. Zabriskie to come at once to the house.

Holt confessed to Police. Holt was taken to the Nassau county jail at Mincola where he confessed to having been responsible for the explosion in the reception room in the east wing of the capitol at Washington which did considerable damage and created quite a stir throughout the country.

Holt said that he left the house in Washington where he rented a room, taking the dynamite with him and walked around the capitol grounds. He then walked up the steps leading to the main entrance of the capitol and strolled through the corridors without meeting a guard or a policeman. He spent about half an hour in the building, he added, looking for a spot to place his bomb where its explosion would not injure any one or cause great damage to the building.

"I didn't want to hurt anybody," he said. "I just wanted to call the attention of the nation to the terrible murders committed in Europe. And I didn't want to damage the capitol any more than was necessary."

Would Seize Mrs. Morgan and Children. Holt told Police Commissioner Woods Sunday in the Nassau county jail at Mincola, the real plan he had formed to overawe Mr. Morgan to stop the shipment of war supplies to the Allies.

It was as hair-brained a scheme as ever bubbled in the brain of a fanatic, as Holt, calmly and with an obvious desire for sympathy and praise, revealed it to Mr. Woods.

This doctor of philosophy and cultivated scholar had believed it possible to seize Mrs. J. P. Morgan and the three Morgan children, drive them before him until he found Mr. Morgan keep them between him and Mr. Morgan until he had made the terms he desired, and then lock himself in a room with them and hold them as hostages until Mr. Morgan returned with the assurance that no more arms and munitions would be shipped to Europe.

Shrapnel in Warfare. Shrapnel is most effective against prone skirmishers at ranges from 1,000 to 3,000 meters, when burst twenty-eight to twenty-two meters short of the target, and against standing skirmishers at the same ranges when burst fifty-six to forty-five meters short of the target. Black also points out that a single shrapnel from a light field howitzer produces a greater number of hits when the point of burst is favorably situated than one fired from a field gun.

Shrapnel is also playing a most important part in aerial warfare, and of these antiaircraft shrapnel, all of which embody the same general essentials, there is perhaps none more effective than that known as "Ehrhardt antiaircraft shrapnel."

Campfire Girls Have Fine Time

The Walaishubha Campfire Girls spent the time of their lives at Waite Lake these last two weeks, having earned the money for this purpose last winter by giving the Campfire play. We left Tuesday, June 22nd, returning July 6th.

The chief occupation was eating and we had some in camp that were wonders at it. One of the girls, after fishing for two hours, succeeded in catching a fish about six inches long. We had a "weenie roast," a few parties, a ceremonial meeting, and Monday night we watched the fireworks. Two girls planned the meals and did the cooking for two days, and we had some good meals, though you would have laughed to see us make strawberry shortcake in a dishpan. All expenses for the two weeks, including the cottage, the boats and the truck to carry us to and from camp, did not exceed five dollars for each girl. Maybe that sounds like a fish story, but it is true and we didn't live on air either. The girls all declared that they had a perfectly "super-cum-slophus" time, and some did not wait to come home. M. E. B.

Municipal Ice Plants

Several cities and towns have recently begun the operation of ice plants, either to combat exorbitant prices or to secure a profit to the municipality, and the movement is attracting the attention of municipal experts generally.

Weatherford, Okla., was probably the first city in the United States to operate an ice plant, and its factory is still being conducted with success.

An official report made by the plant for the year 1913 placed the total expenses at about $2,000, nearly equally divided between cost of production and cost of delivery, while the total receipts were about $5,000, leaving a net profit to the city of more than $3,000. The ice is sold directly to the people at prices varying from 15 to 40 cents a hundred pounds. The cost of production is estimated at 50 cents a ton. The report for 1914 shows a considerable increase in gross receipts and net profits over the year preceding. The ice industry is operated in connection with the city water and light plant and some difficulty is found in arriving at an accurate division of expenses for this reason; the report states that considerably more than a fair proportion of the expenses has been charged against the ice plant.

New Britain, Ct., conducts a profitable business in harvesting and selling natural ice. A modern storage building has been erected at a cost of $10,000 and equipped with conveyors and unloading machines. The cost of production is placed at 22 cents a ton. A city official makes the following statement in the American City Magazine: "The ice committee can say that they have saved every family using ice a certain amount, besides what we have been paying for the building of roads to the icehouse, for stores houses in the city for storing ice, and what we have expended all out of the earnings; besides, we will have more than enough money to fill the ice house with a new crop next winter. The city of New Britain consumes about 30,000 tons of ice. With our 7,000 tons we will be able to control prices. The city for this first year sold to private distributors for $125 a ton at the icehouse and $2 a ton at the storehouse in the city. The peddlers were compelled to deliver ice to small consumers at the rate of 30 cents a hundred or 33 cents for ten cents. Other dealers were compelled to do the same. In this manner we have been able, to regulate the price."

Lafayette, Ala., began to operate a municipal ice plant in the summer of 1913. It is a modern brick structure that cost $10,000, with a capacity of about 10 tons daily. The ice is sold direct to the consumer. No money is paid at the plant or to the driver; instead ice books are bought from the city clerk. The expense for this plant, which is operated in conjunction with the light and water plant, is estimated at $200 a month, and the receipts for May 1914 are given as $516.

Ferdinand, Wis., operates an ice plant in connection with its water and light plant. An ice-making machine was bought under a contract to produce 15 tons of ice with an additional fuel consumption of one and a half tons of coal, and the selling of ice started in June of last year. Six wagons were used for delivery during the summer and three in the fall. At present a two-ton gasoline truck is used in place of the wagons. Before the installation of this plant the price of ice was 6 pounds for five cents, a 200-pound block for 80 cents, and other pieces from 85 to $2 a ton. The present prices offered by the city are 15 pounds for 5 cents, 100 pounds for 25 cents, delivered to families; one 300-pound block delivered, 50 cents, while the price to merchants is fixed at $3.50 a ton.—Indianapolis News.

A pleasant family reunion occurred at the home of John Welch and wife on Pearl street, last Sunday, July 4th.

WHERE FRENCHMEN ARE FIGHTING TO REGAIN LOST PROVINCE OF LORRAINE

Edward B. Clark Describes a Visit to the French Trenches Near Nancy—Noise of the Batteries is Terrific—Men Live Underground Day in and Day Out, Yet Keep Their Spirits Above Ground—Sees War and Peace Side by Side.

By EDWARD B. CLARK. (Staff Correspondent of the Western Newspaper Union.)

At Lorraine's battle front, Nancy, in French Lorraine, is the city at which I left the train to make my way under military guidance to the battle front.

The cannonading is terrific and yet it is difficult unless you happen to be at the exact point where the shells fall, to tell what all the row is about.

Big French Guns in Action.

When I stood there a bird's-eye view of a great battlefield. We made an early start in order to be able to climb this needle-like rock before the sun was high.

Here they are with their periscopes watching and waiting in the lull times for a chance to pick off a foe.

I do not understand how men can live underground day in and day out and keep their spirits aboveground.

Notice is Terrific. The trouble with the infernal shellings as far as it affects the man who is going forth to see it, is that you trench you see to your front. We went out of the field trenches and made our way back into the wood.

I put all my senses to work and tried to detect some symptom that everything was not just as it should be in an ordinary wood.

The next day from a rock rising almost sheer to a height of nearly seven hundred feet I looked through the clear air toward Metz.

Views the Battlefield. From where I stood there is a bird's-eye view of a great battlefield.

When half-way down this Rock of Mouson the cannonading grew louder.

Short Freshening Space. We reached the foot of the hill, entered a military automobile, and were whirled into Pont-a-Mousson.

The ovens and the working top are all at just the right height to save all the extra work of stooping or lifting. And being "on the level" is an expression that applies to the whole stove when it comes to workmanship, convenience and economy.

The "Garland" is made right—it's easy to clean—easy to cook on—saves gas—and built to last.

Come in and see the Garlands at Garlands if you are trying to get along with a stove that makes you stoop—or that bakes poorly—or that's almost worn out—don't do it any longer.

A Winning Town

What makes a town grow into a city while others with equally good locations remain villages? It is because in the one case there are men of push and energy, who are not afraid to spend their time and money to improve their town. Wherever they go they tell of the advantages of their town; they write about it in every letter; send circulars and newspapers to every acquaintance whom they think can be induced to visit their town, and when anyone visits it show him all the attractions of the place and treat him with such kindness that he falls in love with them and the town at once. They don't give advertisements and spend their money with a paper out of that city to get up a boom edition. They spend it with the home papers. A town that protects home industry.—Ex.
