PRISON SUNDAY

The last Sunday of October, the 31st, will be observed in many states as Prison Day. Many things are still not as they should be in our treatment of the criminal inside the prison and outside the prison.

It is our duty to further all good movements for the reduction of crime and the betterment of the prisoner.

There is great need that the public should take a more intelligent interest in the prisoners of the land.

Believing in the great cause of Prison Reform, the pastor will speak to this great subject Sunday night.

Special music by quartette. Sermon will tell what is being done today in our prisons and what should be done in the future.

Eighth Annual Banquet Was a Great Success

On Friday evening, Oct. 22, over two hundred people sat down to partake of the eighth annual Epworth League banquet. The occasion this year was pronounced by everyone attending as the climax of the League's efforts along this line. Everything from the menu and service to the music and toasts was the best obtainable.

The guests entered the dining room, which was tastily decorated in red and white, the League colors, to the strains of piano music of Mr. and Mrs. John Tinham of Northville. Mr. and Mrs. Tinham played many selections during the banquet, which were greatly appreciated and frequently encored.

About thirty young ladies under the direction of Mrs. Ed. Smith, attended to the table waiting. Much credit is due the young ladies for the systematic manner in which this was done. The menu, which included fricassee of chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, lima beans, curried rice, celery, rolls, coffee, jelly, Neapolitan ice cream and cake, was the best and most substantial that has been served at these banquets.

After this bountiful repast, Rev. Joseph Dutton introduced Ralph W. Brown, president of the League, who in turn introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Rev. Dr. W. H. McClelland, of Pontiac. Dr. McClelland filled this important place on the program last year, and his genial personality and ready wit easily won a place for him in the hearts of his listeners. Dr. McClelland is a big man—big physically, big mentally and big in his ability to say the right thing at the right time. He opened his remarks by reading an original poem on the banquet of last year. After remarking that the toastmaster was but "a cat-paw to pull the chestnuts out of the fire," he introduced the Hon. Philip T. VanZile of the Wayne county circuit court, who was to respond to the first toast. "Sacrifice a Right to Citizenship" was the subject and keynote of Judge VanZile's toast. With a forceful eloquence, which is typical of the judge, he painted a vivid picture of the necessity of sacrifice in the making of citizenship as exemplified in the lives of all the great men in our history.

S. B. McKay, professor of English at the State Normal College at Ypsilanti, was next with several readings in English and Italian dialect. Prof. McKay greatly pleased his audience with his pleasing sense of humor and his deep appreciation of the English language. Rev. D. H. Ramsdell, D. D., of Ann Arbor, was the next speaker. Dr. Ramsdell is the new district superintendent of the Detroit West district of M. E. churches, of which Plymouth is a part. This was his first public appearance here and he celebrated it with a masterly address on the topic of "Pessimism and Optimism."

A quartette of young men from the University of Michigan sang at frequent intervals throughout the evening. This quartette was as fine a musical aggregation as any that has yet appeared in Plymouth. Their singing was so well adapted to a high degree according to the numerous encores accorded them. This annual banquet is becoming more and more popular each year. It is recognized as the literary and social climax of the season's functions. The tickets were all sold one week before the banquet, and were more seating capacity available, the number of tickets sold would undoubtedly be doubled. The preparation of a splendid affair like this means a great deal of hard work for those in charge, and the local Epworth League Chapter is to be congratulated upon the unprecedented success of this, their crowning effort.

Rural Carrier Examination

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the county of Wayne, Mich., to be held in Detroit, Plymouth and Wyandotte on Nov. 27, 1915, to fill the position of rural carrier at New Boston, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other postoffices in the above-mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens, who are actually domiciled in the territory of a postoffice in the county and who meet the requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the office mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

Death of John Lutz, Sr.

John Lutz, Sr., aged 72 years, passed away at his home in north village last Tuesday evening, after an illness of several months. Mr. Lutz had been a resident of Plymouth for over a quarter of a century, and was well and favorably known in north village. He is survived by his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Clarence Russell, of Pontiac, and four sons, John Lutz, Jr., of Grand Rapids; George, of Pontiac; Charles, of Bellaire, and Henry, of this place. The funeral services were held from the Lutheran church yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. C. Straess conducting the services. Interment in Riverside cemetery.

Farewell Surprise

Several friends of Mrs. Florence Jones and sister, Miss Laura Blount, gave them a pleasant farewell surprise at their home on South Main street last Monday evening. Mrs. Jones and Miss Blount have been residents of Plymouth for the past forty-five years, but on account of advancing years they deemed it best to go to the Methodist Home at Chelsea, where they will reside in the future. Their many friends sincerely regret their departure from out of our midst, but feel that it is best, and the kindest of wishes for their happiness accompanies them to their new home. Mrs. Jones and Miss Blount left yesterday for Chelsea.

"The Big Terror"

Now comes a group of scientists who say that the crucial struggle of humanity will not be that of nations warring for territory, but will be a colossal battle of mankind with bugs to keep from being driven off the earth itself. Read the special feature article on the subject which appears in this issue of the Mail.

Will Move Express Office

The Adams Express Co. will move their up town office on Main street to the Pere Marquette station in north village, Narambees-st. A money order office and possibly a place where packages will be received will be arranged for in this part of the village.

Blankets and comforts at Riggs'. A great line at lowest prices.

A number of relatives gave Mrs. W. J. Burrows a pleasant surprise at her home last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Myron Willett entertained her sisters at her home in north village, last Tuesday, in honor of her birthday. The following ladies were present: Mrs. Archie Herriek and daughter, Hazel, of Northville; Mrs. A. B. Miller and daughter, Ruth, and Mrs. W. A. Eckles of East Plymouth.

M. E. Bazaar

The annual bazaar, given by the ladies of the Methodist church, will be held Wednesday, Nov. 3, in the church parlors. There will be a Japanese booth, farmers' booth, apron, candy and fancy booths, also a bake sale. Dinner and supper will be served in the dining room of the church.

Veterans Enjoy a Fine Time

Ephraim Partridge and W. J. Stewart, who attended the reunion of Custer's Michigan Cavalry Brigade association at Battle Creek last week, report having had a splendid time. There were 178 of the members of the association present. Since the 1914 reunion, 87 of these grand old men have fought their "last battle," the battle of life and death. Each year finds many of them missing—the ranks thinner. The city of Battle Creek did itself proud in entertaining one of the most illustrious civil war brigades. A feature of the reunion was the campfire. Hon. Washington Gardner was the principal speaker. The reunion marked the 51st anniversary of the battle of Cedar Creek, "with Sheridan twenty miles away." Custer's brigade played an important part in the battle of Gettysburg. Both Mr. Partridge and Mr. Stewart took part in these engagements, and can relate many entertaining incidents of these great events. One of the pleasant features of Mr. Partridge's visit at the reunion was the meeting of two old schoolmates, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Towley, whom he had not seen for 44 years, and at whose home he was entertained.

Expenses More But Tax Rate Lower

Increase of $74,997.74 in appropriations for Wayne county expenses for the coming year was announced Monday by the ways and means committee of the board of supervisors, after its final session. Owing to the increase in property valuation, however, it is expected that the county tax rate will be slightly less than for 1914. The rate last year was $1.95 on $1,000 for county purposes, while it is thought that $1.80 on $1,000 will raise the required amount for 1915-16. With a state tax of $3.45 and a road tax of 45 cents, however, the total tax rate will be $5.52 on $1,000, which is $1.45 more than for 1914.

The Golden Bantam

By Eva Morse Henricks

(Copyright, 1914, by W. G. Chapman.)

"And then you pulled his pigtail!" "Yes, dear, and then all three scampered." "And the cute, little yellow man?" "Wang Fo! He dropped to his knees and kissed my hand, and said 'I was his preserver, and gave me the golden bantam.'"

Little Flora Ward sat in the lap of her great friend, Alvin Prescott, immensely interested in quite a tragic recital. He was telling her of an encounter in a dark side street the evening before with three sinister Chinamen. They had backed another yellow-hued countryman against a brick wall. One of the assailants held his throat in a talon-like clutch. A second had imprisoned his arms. A third was advancing to dispatch him with a glittering steel knife, when Prescott intervened.

"I have found her." Wang Fo, as he called himself, must belong to some other secret society, I suppose the golden bantam is its emblem, for he kept saying that the bantam pin would make me friends with all his people.

New Plants for America. The bureau of plant industry reports that its agricultural explorer, F. N. Meyer, who already had many remarkable "finds" to his credit, has recently sent in an unusually interesting collection of new fruits from the Tibetan border of China.

Opportunities in China. There are great opportunities at the present time in China for the American, for it is reported that never in the history of China have the Chinese been better disposed to America and things American.

at once—oh, at once, please!" and Prescott dashed from the room, tracing anxiety and urgency in the welcome summons that might mean something helpful for Lydia. He found her distractedly pacing the floor when he arrived at her home. She was white to the lips and her eyes bore the traces of a poorly suppressed anguish.

With faint heart of hope Prescott accompanied the half-coherent, but intensely excited Wang Fo. He led him to the Chinese quarter of the city, and through sinuous and mysterious passages into what seemed to be a secret lodge room.

Health Benefit of Yawning. Expert Advises Regular Exercises as a Measure for Doing Away With Throat and Ear Troubles. Yawning is said to have an exceedingly healthful function besides having a salutary effect in complaints of the pharynx and the eustachian tubes.

World's Railroad MMeage. A world-wide reduction in railroad construction was experienced during 1913 as compared with 1912, according to the annual railroad statistics of the world compiled by Archiv zur Eisenbahnwesen, the official publication of the royal Prussian department of public works.

When Paint Becomes Costly. One large railroad system suffers a loss of more than eighteen tons of metal daily, due solely to the effect of rust. Thus far, the only known preventive is to keep the metal surface always covered with a suitable paint.

FISHED LOCOMOTIVE FROM LAKE

The Locomotive Was Valued at $10,000, so the Railroad Officials Figured That It Was Worth While to Recover It From the Bottom of the River. Divers Were Sent Down to Inspect the Engine and Fasten the Wire Cables to It. A Wrecking Crane Soon Lifted the Locomotive on to the Bridge and Placed it Gently on the Rails.

GOOD WORK BY DIVERS

ENGINEER'S WORK IN ALASKA

Record of Achievements in Which All Americans May Well Take a Special Pride.

The recent decision of congress to devote $40,000,000 toward railroad building in Alaska calls attention to the many daring feats which the engineer has already in his credit in this wonderful land. Here, amid the terrors of an Arctic climate, he has thrown the iron road over steep mountain passes, across gaping ravines and over swiftly moving rivers, work which has only been accomplished after a stern battle against ice and snow, bitter cold and cruel winds.

What Might Be Done. Some months ago the officials of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad company made an appeal to their employees to be more careful in handling freight cars. They had, after careful investigation, determined that the careless handling of these cars was costing them heavily in the way of payments for damaged shipments.

British Railroads Suffer. The net income of British railroads for 1914 as shown in the official government tabulations just issued, showed a decrease of $6,000,000, or about 2 per cent. The total net income was $305,000,000. The official returns on the railroads of the country, which in ordinary years has furnished a Blue Book of many pages, is this year a single-sheet volume and is prefaced with the note: "In consequence of the war no further return will be published regarding the statistics of the railway companies for the year."

Plan New Trans-Siberian Line. According to reports received in London, the Russian government has prepared plans for a railway line through southern Siberia to connect the Black sea with the Pacific ocean. This will give Russia two trunk lines to Siberia, and traffic for them is expected to come from the altered economic position in Mongolia and the far East.

MRS. THOMSON TELLS WOMEN

How She Was Helped During Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am just 52 years of age and during Change of Life I suffered for six years terribly. I tried several doctors but none seemed to give me any relief. Every month the pain was intense in both sides, and made me so weak that I had to go to bed. At last a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. To me and I tried it at once and found much relief. After that I had no pains at all and could do my housework and shopping the same as always. For years I have praised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me, and shall always recommend it as a woman's friend. You are a liberty to use my letters in any way." Mrs. Thomson, 649 W. Russell St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to carry women so successfully through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

May Be New Industry for India. New industries may be started in India as a result of the war. Hitherto India has exported large quantities of cotton waste to Germany. Since the outbreak of the war the export has ceased and some of the capitalists of the mill industry are thinking how best to utilize the cotton waste. The waste was used in Germany to turn into coarse counts, which were used for manufacturing blankets, carpets and other such articles. Some of the mill agents are contemplating the importation of waste cotton plants so as to utilize the waste for the purpose of manufacturing blankets, carpets, etc., in India.

He Removed the Danger Signal

"I suffered a long time with a very weak back," writes Fred Smith, 325 Main St., Green Bay, Wis. "A few boxes of Foley's Kidney Pills completely relieved me of all soreness and pain in the back, and now I am as strong and well as ever."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

Foley's Kidney Pills get right at the source of trouble. They invigorate the kidneys to healthy action and when the kidneys properly perform their functions the poisonous waste matter is eliminated from the system.

First Number on the Lecture Course

The first number on the Citizens' Lecture Course will be given next Monday evening, Nov 1st, by the Colonial Band, at the opera house. Single admission tickets will be sold at 50c each.

OLD COLONIAL BAND.

The Old Colonial Band of Chicago, with E. Carmelny, at one time cornet soloist with Liberati's band, as director, will present as a part of each program a musical novelty known as "The Spirit of '76." The costumes, as indicated in the accompanying photographs, is true to the days portrayed and is elaborate.

Mr. Carmelny was not only at one time cornet soloist with Liberati's band, but also solo cornetist with the Twenty-seventh United States Infantry Band, also soloist in Don Phillipini's Band and Ringling Brothers' Concert Band. Before coming to this country Mr. Carmelny was chief trumpeter in the Third Infantry in Italy. Incidentally it is of interest that he was awarded a gold medal for sharpshooting while a member of this Italian infantry.

In addition to directing the Old Colonial Band Mr. Carmelny renders cornet solos in each program.

The players which comprise the Old Colonial Band are all experienced musicians whom Mr. Carmelny has known for years. Under his direction "The Heroes of Valley Forge" has been presented by a band of players in Chicago, New York and Brooklyn.

The instruments used by this band are one trombone, two cornets, one baritone horn, two clarinets, two French horns, one bass horn, one small drum, one bass drum, aside from the cornet which Mr. Carmelny himself will use for his solos.

The band's program, besides ensemble numbers, includes sextets, quartets, trios, duets and solos and, with encores, occupies about two hours. The closing number will be the presentation of "The Spirit of '76," heretofore referred to.

CHURCH NEWS

BAPTIST
Rev. Archibald L. Bell, Pastor.
Phone 84 W.

Oct. 31—Morning worship, 10 a. m. Theme of sermon, "The Worth of the Soul." Sunday-school, 11:15 a. m. Young People's Bible class, 6 p. m. Evening worship, 7 p. m. This will be the fifth of the series of illustrated sermons on the "Ministry of our Lord." Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

BIBLE STUDENTS

Beginning Sunday, Oct. 31, the class will start a new study, viz., Vol. III, Chapter I, of Scripture Studies, entitled "Thy Kingdom Come." This is a volume of some rare value, very instructive and interesting. Its opening chapters bring to the heart, observing and soul-inspiring intelligence the days of waiting for the virgin bride are nearly accomplished. Next, telling us that we are in the time of harvest. Third, as we all know that the work of harvest is not a time for sowing, but of reaping. Fourth, a fine little treatise on the ancient but historic race of Jews showing that they are to be a highly favored and happy people. Last, but not least, a wonderful elucidation on the scientific and religious principals of God's great stone witness in the borders of Egypt (Isa. 19:19) with its silent yet wonderful testimony for man. See what Prof. C. Piazzi Smyth, F. R. S. E., F. R. A. S., ex-astronomer royal of Scotland, says about this chapter. The class would be glad to have many more come and enjoy the volume with them. Come and get acquainted with us. "His light has enlightened the world." Pa. 97:4. "Who will it be a thousands years from now?"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Home Made Cozy and Comfortable on Bleakest, Coldest Winter Days

You will be Comfortable, Cozy, Warm and happy if you have one of our new "Garland" Base Burners in your home.

The Art-Garland Base Burner

This beautiful Base Burner is the crowning achievement of one of the oldest and largest Stove Manufacturers in the world. As a home ornament, nothing like it has ever been produced. Note its graceful lines and handsome trimmings; its massive proportions. Nor does its superior value lie wholly in its beauty and durability. It actually gives one-fourth more heating surface than any other Base Burner in the world! This particular model is the famous Art-Garland. We consider ourselves fortunate to be able to supply our customers with Base Burners of this most excellent type. May we show you our new line of Garland Base Burners?

Come in now and see these stoves. We have them in many styles and prices. If you don't buy, there's no harm done. We're willing to put our time against yours, just to have you see our offering. Don't forget that we deliver and set up stoves any place in town free of charge.

Opening Display of Redfern... Coats and Suits for Fall

THE bare announcement of our opening display of the celebrated Redfern garments is sufficient in itself to crowd our store with those who are "in the know" about Redfern—for those who do know realize that what they see in this display will be real "true" style.

This season the charm of Redfern style is more noticeable than ever before. The Fall models are so different—so individual, and so completely charming that every woman can achieve character in her dress simply by choosing Redfern. Some of the new features are the cape-coat, not the loose, bungly cape of a few years ago, but a graceful, trimming attached to the coat. The Redingote is a new, slightly fitted model that has won instant popularity. And then there are the Gironbin, the Tunic, and other models, each of rare individuality, yet being absolutely correct in style.

We could fill this entire page with descriptions—but why do it? The best of the new season's garments are here and we want you to come in—not necessarily to buy—these are "looking" days, and you can't afford to miss the pleasure of looking in here.

Look for the label in every Redfern garment! It is the guarantee of service and inbuilt quality. Coupled with our own "satisfaction or money back" plan, you are safe in every way when you buy Redfern.

Plymouth is fortunate in having two good bakeries, whose products are of the very best quality to be found anywhere. They are distinctly home institutions that employ several people the year around. They produce a fine texture of bread, which is more like home-made bread than many others for the same price, yet both of these home institutions do not sell much more than half of the bread that is sold in Plymouth. Their bakeries are equipped with the best of machinery for turning out a high-class product. Cleanliness and sanitary conditions are given close attention and only expert workmen are employed. It would naturally seem that with all things equal that Plymouth citizens would prefer to eat Plymouth-made bread and thus help boost home industries and keep the money paid out for foreign-made goods right here in Plymouth. If our two home bakeries could have the bread business of this village, they would be able to keep several more men employed the year around.

If you have not been in the habit of eating Plymouth-made bread, try a loaf today and see how good it is. Get the habit of patronizing home industries that help to make Plymouth prosper and grow. Buy Plymouth-made baked goods.

"I have given Foley Cathartic Tablets a thorough trial, and from the results obtained, I can honestly recommend them as a mild but sure laxative. They work without griping."

Wm. O. E. Heike, Hancock, Mich.

Sometimes you feel so heavy and stuffed up, so uncomfortable and bilious-like, with a mean headache, a nervous unrest and thick furry tongue. Your system is clogged, your bowels are not eliminating freely, your vital resistance is lowered and your system becomes more susceptible to the invasions of disease.

Foley Cathartic Tablets relieve this condition over night, with no unpleasantness and no costly after-effects. They are the ideal laxative and those who depend upon them for results are the healthy, happy, care-free people who have no biliousness, no flatulency, and who can enjoy both the work and the pleasure that comes into their lives. Your druggist sells them.

The American Red Cross at Washington has appealed to the churches of the country to ask a Thanksgiving day contribution for the aid of the association in its work to alleviate suffering in the war-torn countries.

Although an official statement is lacking from Washington, it has become known that the Panama canal will again be ready for traffic not later than January 1 next.

Confidence that the country will approve of the administration's plans for strengthening the national defenses was expressed by President Wilson at Washington in addressing a committee from the conference on national defense, which called at the White House.

President Wilson issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation at Washington, dwelling strongly on the fact that this country has escaped being drawn into the world war that is raging in Europe. His proclamation set Thursday, November 25, as Thanksgiving day.

Mexican Revolt

Twenty men of the Fourth United States infantry, on guard at the bridge near Brownsville, Tex., which was burned after a bold and murder by Mexican bandits, were attacked by 15 Mexicans. One American, Private H. E. Moore, was wounded. The American guard drove the Mexicans off.

President Wilson in an order issued at Washington declared an embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition to Mexico. The president signed a supplementary order, however, which exempts Carranza's government from the embargo.

Personal

Justice Orrin N. Carter of the state supreme court of Illinois is ill at his home in Evanston, Ill. He apparently is suffering from an attack of apoplexy.

A dispatch to London from Alexandria says that the sultan's daughter Samira was married yesterday to Prince Ismael Daoud, aide-de-camp of the sultan.

Anton Lang, who became world famous through his interpretation of the life of Christ in the Passion play given at Oberammergau, has been killed in battle, according to word received from Berlin.

John H. Baker, eighty-three, retired judge of the United States district court, died at Goshen, Ind. Stomach trouble caused his death.

Rear Admiral H. N. Manney, U. S. N., retired, died at San Diego, Cal., of pneumonia.

Foreign

Porter Charlton of New York, son of Judge Charlton of the United States court in Porto Rico, was found guilty of the murder of his actress wife while on his honeymoon at Como, Italy. The court sentenced him to six years imprisonment, but allowed the time he has already been in prison. He will be free in less than three months.

Vom Schauplatz des europäischen Völker-Krieges

Berlin, über Amsterdam. Die Deutschen haben ansehnlich den Marsch nach Calais vorläufig aufgegeben, wie ein Leitartikel des Berliner Tageblattes andeutet; derselbe bezieht sich auf die wichtige Bedeutung der neuen deutschen Offensive auf dem Balkan zu beleuchten.

Der Artikel erklärt, Deutschland habe sich entschieden, im nahen Osten loszukämpfen, weil in dieser Richtung jetzt die wiedererprobte Hoffnung vorliegt, das britische Reich empfindlich anzugreifen. Die Deutschen sind entschlossen zu beweisen, daß militärische Macht imstande ist maritime Macht zu besiegen.

Der Artikel ist zweifellos die freimüthige Erklärung der Absichten Deutschlands, welche seit Kriegsbeginn in der offiziellen Presse erfolgt ist. Im wesentlichen befaßt er Folgendes:

Während des ganzen Krieges haben Millionen Deutsche ihren Blick auf Calais geheftet. Ihre Sprache erklärt, daß jene, welche nicht ohne Hörgern bereit wären, nicht nur ihre Zukunft, sondern auch jene von noch nicht geborenen Generationen für die Eroberung von Calais einzusetzen, Feinde des Deutschen Reiches seien.

Der deutsche Generalstab jedoch, unbeeinträchtigt durch solche Stimmungen und deren Urheber, handelte den sich aus der Entwicklung des Krieges heraus sich ergebenden Umständen gemäß. Er hat die Lehre vertolten, daß die nächste gangbare Straße für einen Angriff auf unsern argsten Feind nicht über Calais führt.

Unsere Stärke, sowie die unserer Verbündeten liegt in der Macht zu Lande. Wir müssen trachten, den entscheidenden Schlag in einer Richtung zu führen, ohne Rücksicht ob die Durchführung langwierig und mühsam ist oder nicht. Die Hauptfache ist, daß wir endlich auf dem Wege nach Konstantinopel und den Dardanellen sind.

Nachdem Belgrad in unsere Hände fiel, ist das erste Hindernis bereits überwunden worden. Eine Doftrin, welche für Jahrzehnte die Weltpolitik beherrschte, wird auf die Probe gestellt, nämlich die Theorie, daß die Seemacht der entscheidende Einfluß auf den Verlauf der Geschichte ist.

Sind spezifische Landmächte, wie Deutschland, Oesterreich-Ungarn, die Türkei und Bulgarien, kraftlos der Gnade von England überliefert, einfach weil England gegenwärtig noch die See beherrscht, oder sind diese Landmächte stark genug, ihre Freiheit und Raum für zukünftige Entwicklung zu erlangen, selbst gegen die Tyrannen zur See und befürdlich, auch trotz denselben, — das ist die Frage.

Sie wird nicht zwischen der Tonau und den Dardanellen entschieden, aber die Entscheidung wird näher gebracht werden, weil hinter den Dardanellen zunächst Ägypten liegt.

Als England Krieg bis aufs Messer wünscht, wird es denselben haben. Es kann genau so sicher darauf rechnen, als auf das Versagen seiner bisherigen Politik, nämlich den Vormarsch der deutschen Armeen gegen Konstantinopel.

Der Lokal-Anzeiger sagt: 'Neutrale Länder würden blind sein müssen, falls sie nicht sehen, über welchen Faden die Siegesglocke schwebt. Wölfer, welche nach 14monatigen Kampf gegen eine Welt in Waffen umfanden sind, mit solcher Sicherheit in einem Augenblick eine neue Armee zu neuen Siegen zu führen, können nicht besiegt werden.'

Dies ist die Wahrheit, welche unter neuer Sieg mit absoluter Klarheit selbst den Ungläubigsten enthüllt. Mehr aus diesem Grunde als wegen seiner militärischen Wichtigkeit ist der Fall von Belgrad ein Ereignis von größter Bedeutung in der Kriegsgeschichte.

Die Tägliche Rundschau sagt: 'Selbstaufopferung von Wladimir, welcher wie ein großer Vorkämpfer Blücher die Quaren-Uniform trägt, ist mit dem gleichen impudischen Geiste erfüllt. Er erweist sich in immer steigendem Maße der allgemeinen Verehrung und Dankbarkeit und der persönlichen Sympathie aller Klaffen des Volkes. Seine Persönlichkeit ragt aus den Reihen der anderen hervor und nähert sich jener des Nationalhelden von Gindenburg.'

Natürlich ist das vor ihm liegende Werk mit Hindernissen aller Art erfüllt. Der kühnste Feind ist nicht nur tapfer und entschlossen, seine Rechte daran zu setzen, sondern auch der Boden für die neuen Operationen ist nicht speziell günstig für uns.

Militarismus?

Washington. Das alberne Geschrei, das man seit Ausbruch des großen europäischen Völkerkrieges hier in diesem Lande selbst in Kreisen, denen man mehr Verstand zugemut hätte, so oft gehört hat, daß es sich in dem Krieg einfach darum handele, die Welt von deutschem Militarismus zu befreien, ist ganz plötzlich verstummt. Einmal deshalb, weil man eingesehen hat, daß es eine große Dummheit war, über deutschen Militarismus zu schimpfen, obwohl man gar nicht wußte, was man eigentlich unter Militarismus zu verstehen habe. Sodann aber auch deshalb, weil man eingesehen hat, daß der deutsche Militarismus die Welt bezieht. Es ist nicht rohe Gewalt, nicht tyrannischer Despotismus, der die Truppen der deutschen Verbündeten von einem Siege zum anderen führt; nein, es ist die Disziplin, das Pflichtgefühl, der eiserne Wille zum Siege, das Bewußtsein, für die Erhaltung des Vaterlandes, für die Erhaltung deutscher Ideale, deutscher Kultur, deutschen Lebens zu kämpfen, das den Deutschen die im Osten und Westen und Süden errungenen Triumphe ermöglicht. Das hat man hier in der Bundeshauptstadt in leitenden Regierungskreisen eingesehen. Man ist endlich zu der Ueberzeugung gekommen, daß diese Republik, die wie unsere Vorfahren alleinstehend, patriotischen Amerikaner behaupten, das mächtigste Land der Welt ist, sich in den Augen anderer Nationen mit ihrem Meer von einigen 60,000 Mann lächerlich macht, und nicht imstande wäre, mit diesem 'Riesenhorn' auch nur einen Teil der Stützen unserer großen Landes zu schützen.

Das soll jetzt alles anders werden. Wie bereits eingehend berichtet, plant Flottenchef Daniels den Bau einer Anzahl von Schlachtschiffen modernster Konstruktion. Und Kriegsminister Garrison verlangt in seinen Vorschlägen für das nächste Jahr die Gesamtsumme von $400,000,000, oder $75,000,000 mehr als im letzten Jahre für die Vergrößerung unserer Armee. Unsere liebesthübe Armee soll nach Garrison's Plan in Zukunft aus 140,000 Mann bestehen, außerdem will er eine neue sogenannte Kontinentalarmee von 400,000 Mann schaffen. Rechnen man das aus etwa 125,000 Mann bestehende Gesamttheer der Staatsmilizen hinzu, dann würde unsere Armee aus 665,000 Mann bestehen.

Flottenchef Daniels verlangt eine Verbilligung von $500,000,000 zum Bau neuer Schiffe. Er will, wie bereits gemeldet, im Laufe der nächsten fünf Jahre zehn neue Dreadnoughts, sechs Schlachtschiffe, sieben U-Boote, fünfzig Torpedobootzerstörer, zehn Kreuzer für Rundbootsfahrten und eine große Anzahl von Hilfschiffen bauen lassen. Die Zahl der Mannschaft unserer Flotte soll um 8,000 und die der Rabetten in der Flottenabteilung in Annapolis um 250 vermehrt werden.

Beamtete der deutschen Botschaft in Washington, D. C., teilten mit, daß sie dem Staatsdepartement Auslagen von amerikanischen Kautionsbürgern vom amerikanischen Dampfer 'Nicoifan' überreicht haben, in welchen erklärt wird, daß Marinefeldwebel und Matrosen des britischen 'Patrouille' 'Notos' Baralong den Kommandanten und zehn Mann des deutschen Tauchbootes 11-27 ermordeten, als letztere nach Vernehmung des Tauchbootes sich retten wollten. Laut Angaben in den Auslagen hatte das Tauchboot die 'Nicoifan' beschloß, nicht nur die amerikanische Flagge gehißt, sondern auch die Sterne und Streifen waren auch auf beiden, zu beiden Seiten derabhängenden Tafeln gemalt.

Bei dem erwähnten Fall hielt das deutsche Unterseeboot den 'Nicoifan' an, um das Schiff auf Ladung und Verladung hin zu durchsuchen. Während dem kam der Dampfer 'Ara Song' heran, welcher die amerikanische Flagge führte, und legte sich neben den 'Nicoifan'. Als die 'Nicoifan' Mannschaft im Begriff war, abzufahren, zog der 'Ara Song' plötzlich die amerikanische Flagge ein, und schoß auf das 'Nicoifan', das sank. Die Mannschaften, welche in das Wasser sprangen, wurden durch weitere Schüsse getötet. Einige retteten sich auf den 'Nicoifan' und wurden hier ermordet.

M. C. CLERKS GO ON STRIKE TUESDAY

EFFORTS TO SETTLE CONTROVERSY BY MOFFIT ARE IN VAIN.

Officials of Road Refuse to Treat With Committee Representing Organization and Walkout Follows.

Detroit—Refusal of the Michigan Central railway officials to meet a committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks precipitated a strike at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. Work stopped in the shipping offices of Detroit, Chicago and Toledo. In more than 50 smaller places of the western division, including Kalamazoo, Joliet, Chicago Heights, Michigan City, Battle Creek, Bay City, Cheboygan and Wyandotte, all freight clerks, baggagemen and ticket sellers are out and business is seriously handicapped.

John A. Moffit, mediator for the United States department of labor, had been working since Monday, trying to bring the two clashing sides into a conference. He gave up and left Detroit at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. At the same time the ultimatum issued by the brotherhood went into effect. Word was sent to the 30 clerks on the night shift at the Michigan Central freight house at the foot of Third street and they walked out. The house was locked up. At 8:45 o'clock 12 uniformed policemen were detailed to the freight offices to prevent any outbreak. They patrolled the streets adjoining all night, but there was no crowd or any sign of disorder.

Trouble has been brewing between the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and the company since last May. The clerks demanded an increase of about 20 per cent in wages and recognition of seniority rights, and made other stipulations. Some increases were given, but the clerks declared they were only sops thrown out to prevent a break. J. J. Forrester, of Cincinnati, international president of the brotherhood, came to Detroit a few days ago to take charge of the situation. He requested that the railway officials meet a committee to discuss the demands of the clerks. The request was refused. E. D. Bronner, general manager of the road, said Tuesday night that the policy of the company was to hear any grievances from committees representing different cities, but that it would not treat with a committee representing the organization.

Battle Man Must Fight With Insects

PROGENY OF ONE PAIR OF LOCUST BUGS COMPARED TO MAN OF AVERAGE HEIGHT

THE foremost scientists of the world have been agreed for the last decade that the crucial struggle of humanity will not be that of nations warring for territory which each envies the other, but will be a colossal battle to keep from being driven off the earth itself! And in this battle it will be mankind against bugs!

By its fecundity, its enormous comparative strength—sometimes equivalent to that of a horse, 1,000-horsepower—and in its inexhaustible passion and concentrated will to live and its enormous adaptability the insect kingdom makes the human race appear incredibly inefficient.

Civilization has for the last twenty years and more been steadily overturning the balance of nature, which has kept the insect kingdom down, and this scientists throughout the world have recognized. Within half that time what amounts to a world-wide organization has been formed to find and make known to all who care the best ways to cope with the fast-growing swarms which menace humanity. It is recognized that only by a tireless, long and costly and dangerous struggle will man be able to retain his dominance and freedom to develop his world.

The latest warning of this peril to humanity has been sounded in a most remarkable fashion by Prof. C. A. Ealund, one of the foremost entomologists of the world and the late principal of the East Anglian college of agriculture of England. Professor Ealund begins his remarkable work, which he calls "Insects and Man," with the following statement:

"It is fortunate for man that the insect world is a house divided against itself. Except for this check the human race would be extinct in five or six years."

The fecundity of many insects is enormous. Huxley estimated that, mishaps apart, a single green fly would in ten generations produce a mass of organic matter equivalent to 500,000,000 human beings, or as many as the whole population of the Chinese empire!

From the earliest times man has suffered from insect damage to his crops, his live stock and himself. Locust plagues rivaling those of Egypt have come to man from time to time.

The United States suffers damage annually to the extent of $40,000,000 owing to the depredations of the Hessian fly; the cotton boll weevil causes an annual loss of $30,000,000; the codling moth $15,000,000, and the chinch bug $7,000,000. Add to this the damage done by gypsy and brown-tail moths and the San Jose scale, to say nothing of the host of minor pests, and the total assumes alarming proportions.

The struggle for supremacy between insects and man is a very real one the world over.

But only by ceaseless struggle can man keep his dominance. In his fight against insects and bugs he has arrayed against him an incredible fecundity and power of destruction.

The majority of people—unscientific people, that is—says Professor Ealund, think that the locust is the most destructive insect. This is partly because of the Biblical plague having been fixed in their minds. The locusts have done more damage in South Africa and hindered agricultural progress there more than anywhere else in the world. In one winter alone the locust damage in South Africa was estimated at $5,000,000.

To cope with the insects the government has established a central bureau for watching them. Flights can be predicted and measures taken to minimize them.

In the latter half of 1912 locust swarms did $10,000,000 damage in our own island of Visaya, in the Philippines. While the locust is prolific the cotton weevil beats him. Professor Ealund estimates that one weevil laying her 139 eggs by June 10 would probably bring half that number—say 75—to maturity by June 29. There are at least four generations in a season, and the second generation would number about 2,450; the third 85,750, and the last and final generation 1,001,250, or a total of 3,089,520 individuals as the progeny of a single pair of weevils and their progeny in a season. That is to say, one weevil for every square foot of area in a 75-acre field. As over 50 per cent are destroyed by natural conditions, it is doubtful if the actual increase in one season from a single pair ever exceeds 2,000,000. Alarming figures in all conscience, exclaims the entomologist.

This is only one of a vast number of insects that man has to fight against. Next come the disease carriers. First in deadliness is the mosquito, which infests man with malaria, yellow fever and filariasis. Many parts of the tropics and localities otherwise most desirable are practically uninhabitable to civilized man, owing to the ravages of malaria.

Malaria has been held responsible for the wiping out of the ancient Greeks.

Not health alone, but man's very pockets are affected by this overmastering incubus. The mosquito plague has been responsible for arresting the development of the whole state of New Jersey.

Malaria is a country rather than a town disease. It was once supposed to be caused by dwelling in damp and marshy places, and even now the belief dies hard in the minds of many people, but it has been proved beyond dispute that by the bite of infected mosquitoes, and by that means alone, can this dread disease be transmitted from man to man.

Various estimates have been made as to the number of bacteria that may be carried about the body of a single healthy, active fly. One investigator, Torry, puts the number at 28,000,000 in its intestine and 4,500,000 on the outer surface. Eaton and Mason, by careful experiment, found that the number of external bacteria varied from 550 to over 6,500,000; other observers have put the number as high as 500,000,000 per fly. The numbers seem incredible. That one house fly can carry about its body as many as 500,000,000 germs is almost beyond belief, yet the estimated number is not the result of guesswork, but of careful experiment. Looking at the matter from the most favorable point of view, and supposing each fly to carry only 550 bacteria from place to place, the supposition, says Professor Ealund, is not pleasant.

The dreadful infantile paralysis has been discovered to be carried by the stable fly.

Then there is the sleeping sickness, which is carried by the tsetse fly. Whole districts of Africa are absolutely uninhabitable because of this disease.

Come next the armies of ticks. It has been shown by experiment that one variety of these which feeds upon human blood will weigh after a meal ten times its original weight. Some species increase to thirty times their original weight. Imagine, says Professor Ealund, a hungry 200-pound man weighing 6,000 pounds after a single meal, or even after many meals! Relapsing fever, spotted fever, a peculiarly deadly disease called verruga, are given man by ticks.

Then there are the lice which carry typhus and a form of inflammatory rheumatism, and the fleas, which transmit plague to man.

As for the hosts that attack the domestic animals and transmit to them disease, were it not for natural checks and the vigilance of man there would not be a single animal left in the world within ten years!

It is this matter of natural checks, the equilibrium which nature has provided against these most prolific of her children, that is now most worrying the scientists.

Up until comparatively recent times great quantities of insects were used for medicine, for dyes and so on, but this use has steadily lessened, and with the lessening naturally the insects have increased.

The practice of the control of insect pests by their natural enemies is one of modern times, for the earliest record of work on anything approaching a commercial scale, dates back by 25 years. It is based on the assumption that all nature is in a state of equilibrium—that is to say, that all life, in its native home, is kept in check by other forms of life which prey upon it. More than thirty distinct parasites and seven kinds of predatory beetles have been introduced into the United States to wage war on the gypsy and brown-tail moths, says Professor Ealund.

It will be recognized, says Professor Ealund, that unless a parasite shows greater fertility than its host, its power of controlling the latter must be very greatly diminished. In this connection nature has come to the rescue in a marvelous manner by endowing many of the parasites with the power of "polyembryony," a phenomenon that is unique in the animal kingdom. Parasites so endowed lay eggs similar in external form to those of their less fortunate relations, but from each egg emerges in due course not one larva, but a number of larvae, and by this means their fertility is much increased.

A second and still more modern method of natural insect control is carried into effect by means of fungoid disease of insects. These fungoids are scattered over large plantations with a dusting machine. All the insects infected carry the disease to their numerous relatives.

The fight, indicates Professor Ealund, is only at its beginning. Man will probably win, but even if he does the bug, through its persistence, will outlive him.

The Macdonald Clans. The Macdonald Clan is by right of antiquity, power, and numbers usually accorded premier place among the great families of Scotland. In addition to the Clan of Macdonald itself, there are Macdonald of Clanranald, Macdonald of Gleanrory, Macdonald of the Isles and Sleat and Macdonald of Staffa.

Hard Things of Life. Hard things that come our way are not hard when we do them. They are hard only when we don't do them or when we do them imperfectly. Duty is not hard when it is cheerfully and vigorously done. Duty is hard only when it is done properly met—that is, when it is done without good will, or when it is not done at all.

What's the Use? He—Do you know Poe's "Raven"? She—Why, no, what's the matter with him?—Club Fellow.

World Outgrow It. A Louisville journalist was excitedly proud of his little boy. Turning to the old black nurse, "Anny," said he, stroking the little pate, "this boy seems to have a journalistic head." "Oh," cried the untutored old aunt, scoldingly, "never you mind 'bout dat; dat'll come right in time."

Bride's Dilemma. The bride—"I hate having to thank those horrid Smiths for that awful tea set. It seems awful to lie for the sake of people one doesn't like."

LETTER FROM STATE CAPITOL

STATE SEALER COMPLAINS OF METHODS OF WEIGHING CARS OF COAL.

DEALERS MUST PAY FOR ICE

Commissioner Helme Defends Recent Act Prohibiting More Than Two Per Cent of Cereal in Sausage.

[By Gurd M. Hayea.]

Lansing—Durr Lincoln, state sealer of weights and measures, has asked Attorney General Fellows to advise him as to whether legal proceedings should be started against the coal companies or the railroad companies for failure to weigh carloads of coal in the proper manner.

According to Lincoln coal dealers are heavy losers each winter when they purchase carloads of coal that contain hundreds of pounds of frozen mud and ice. It is claimed by the dealers, and these claims appear to be substantiated by the investigations made by the state sealer of weights and measures, that the printed weight of the car is used to determine the capacity of the car, although the car may weigh several hundreds of pounds more than the weight specified.

Investigations last winter disclosed the fact that in several instances coal dealers were compelled to pay for several hundred pounds of ice. One car, the weight of which was given as 36,000 pounds, in reality weighed 41,000 pounds, the difference being made by ice and mud in the bottom of the car.

Lincoln says that the coal companies disclaim liability and the railroads say they are in the freight business and are not responsible for the weights. The state sealer of weights and measures points out that the coal dealer is being defrauded and he wants the attorney general to advise him whether to proceed against the coal company or the railroads.

Further investigations by the state sealer of weights and measures have resulted in warnings being issued to several paint manufacturers that their pig and quart cans of paint do not contain full measures. Lincoln says that the cans must contain full measure where they are advertised as quarts and pints.

The state fire marshal's bureau announced that it is somewhat disturbed over advertisements that are running in a number of Michigan newspapers, calling the attention of housewives to a method of home dry cleaning by the combination of certain chemicals with two gallons of gasoline.

The bureau takes no exception to the efficiency of this as a cleaning proposition, but is very apprehensive of the danger to life, should such cleaning be undertaken within the home. Cleaning at all by gasoline, within the ordinary household, the bureau deems dangerous, and especially the use of such a quantity of gasoline as two gallons. The bureau warns the public against all cleaning of this character, except conducted in the open air.

That the warning is based upon full knowledge of the facts is learned from the department records which show that more than 20 women and children have been sacrificed in Michigan since January 1, by the careless use of gasoline.

Home cleaning is all right, according to the department but proper safeguards should be used and never attempt to clean with two gallons of gasoline in the home. Take it out on the porch or out in the yard is better yet and a still better plan is not to fool around with two gallons of gasoline at all.

State Game Commissioner Oates has provided for a tabulation of the kinds and quantity of migratory game birds observed in Michigan this season and reports from deputies in the field indicate an increase over recent years, particularly in ralls, plover, woodcock and snipe. Ducks also show an apparent increase in number and kind. The gain is assigned to the protective workings of the federal laws.

Ducks reported are: American, red-breasted and hooded merganser, mallard, green and blue-winged teal, black, "English" (local name) teal, bald-pate, widgeon, golden-eye, gadwall, Barrow's golden-eye, redhead, pintail, canvas back, lesser scaup, buff-head, ring-neck, and wood-duck. No sidler, actor, harlequin or squaw-duck have been observed.

Brant appeared in Michigan marshes this season, mostly in lone pairs. There has been a considerable flight of the Canada or cackling goose, but Michigan seems to afford no fit resting or feeding places for them. Several flocks have been reported as relying over night in the back-water lakes of the power dams on the Au Sable and Manistee rivers.

Of the lesser birds, upland plover, Wilson's snipe, killdeer, and sora rail show the greatest apparent increase. Sandpipers are numerous and greater and lesser yellow legs, king rail, golden rail and willet have been generally observed. Curlew and the Hudsonian godwit have been seen, singly and in Greater New York has made a great mistake in closing its night schools, is the opinion of Fred Keeler, Michigan's state superintendent of public instruction. Superintendent Keeler cites Detroit as an example of the good of night schools in Michigan. Replying to a query from a New York paper on New York's action, Superintendent Keeler says:

"Greater New York is certainly making a mistake in closing its night schools. No city in the country is pairs. The oot or "mud-hen," formerly appearing in large numbers in Michigan, is less in evidence this season than heretofore.

Dairy and Food Commissioner James Helme filed with the supreme court a brief in defense of the law passed by the legislature two years ago which prescribes that any sausage manufactured and sold within this state shall not contain more than two per cent of cereal.

Carl Dehn of Bay City, who was convicted under the provisions of this act by the dairy and food department, contends that the measure is unconstitutional, a directed verdict of guilty was ordered by the circuit judge of Bay county in order that the constitutional-ity might be passed upon by the state supreme court.

It is Dehn's contention that the act is unconstitutional because the addition of cereal to sausage is in no way injurious to health and its prohibition prevents him from selling sausage containing more than two per cent of cereal and thereby destroys his property rights.

According to the brief filed by Dairy and Food Commissioner Helme the pure food laws have in view two objects: First, the prevention of the addition of any substance to a food product which will effect the health of the person using the same, and secondly, the prevention of the addition of certain substances to food products which, while not deleterious to health, lower the value of the food product and thus constitute deception and fraud upon the purchaser.

It is not claimed by the dairy and food commissioner that the addition of cereal to sausage in any way affects the public health, but it is his contention that a large amount of cereal constitutes fraud and deception.

"The record shows considerably testimony from butchers engaged in the manufacture of sausage claiming that the use of cereal is absolutely essential to the making of good sausage, and its addition is to make the sausage more palatable and binding," says Helme in his brief.

"Such is not the case. As a matter of fact we think the court will take judicial notice of the fact that so-called country sausage made in the days of our fathers upon the farm, and still made today, is conceded to be perfect in the line of sausage making, and no farm housewife ever thought of adding corn or potato flour to her sausage. As a matter of fact, the main and probably the sole purpose of the addition of cereal to sausage is that it allows the addition of a large amount of water. That this is recognized by the trade is shown by the fact that the manufacturers of this flour, in offering it for sale to the butchers, do not claim any superior flavor for their flour, but the main merit that they urge upon the butcher is that their particular kind of cereal flour for sausage making will absorb a larger amount of water than that of their competitors.

"This is clearly a fraud upon the consumer and in recent years housewives have been greatly surprised to see the bulk of their sausage decrease over one-third in cooking when the added water, for which they paid fifteen cents a pound, was driven off by evaporation. It was to prevent this fraud upon the consumer that this law was passed. It is not a question of public health but a question of protecting the consumer from deception and fraud."

This is the second time in recent years that the court of last resort has been enlightened on the question of sausage making. In 1909 the state had a case against a Chicago packing house, and the judges decided that when properly labeled under the provisions of the Michigan food laws, that cereal might be placed in sausage.

A complete change in paying the expense of bringing criminals to Michigan from other states on requisitions will be adopted before long. If Auditor-General Fuller can fix matters with Governor Ferris to change the regular state blanks.

A forgotten statute passed 20 years ago has been found by which it is incumbent upon the state to pay the expenses of county officers when they go on extradition cases. Nobody can find a single case in which the state has paid any money.

A new blank will be drawn up in which the counties will be charged with the expenses. There is a clause in the law which says that the state shall pay the expenses, "unless otherwise arranged for by the governor."

William J. Galbraith, prosecuting attorney of Houghton county, caused the new deal. He recently went with his sheriff to a western state for four men, then wrote asking what percentage of the combined expense the state would pay. The total bill was $600, and Mr. Galbraith was politely informed that the state would pay nothing. His second letter contained a reference to the law.

What Auditor-General Fuller is afraid of is old claims. As a claim against the state is never outlawed, some counties would have a pretty fair bill to present if they cared to do so.

Warning to commission men that the state food department intends to enforce rigidly the "misbranding act," was issued Saturday by Eugene Berry, attorney for the department.

"The misbranding act" prohibits the branding of articles of food at any but their correct weight," said Attorney Berry. "The shippers of Michigan are aware of the law and comply with it. But outside shippers who send food-stuffs in here don't seem to think they are amenable to it."

In need of night schools more than New York. I hope the night schools will be opened. Night schools solve the problem of illiteracy. In Detroit there are 18 schools with an enrollment of 10,000. The city has made an appropriation for a term of 100 nights.

A girls' debating team will be organized at Albion college, providing negotiations now under way with the state normal school at Ypsilanti are successful.

GETTING A START

EDUCATION FOR A SPECIFIC PURPOSE.

The passing generation will recall the days of the old red schoolhouse— which, by the way, was seldom painted red—when academic education was primarily confined to two distinct institutions: the common school, which did not then begin with a kindergarten, but plunged the pupil immediately into the 3 R's of learning; and the college, which confined itself to the classics.

In those days only a very small percentage of boys entered college, and there was no higher institution of learning open to girls than the seminary, with a curriculum similar to that of our present high school.

The young man who desired to enter a technical trade or to perfect himself for any vocation, had to learn this business, trade, or profession, "at the last," so to speak. Even the would-be lawyer read law in a law office, and the dentist entered a dentist's office as an apprentice.

Today educational conditions have changed, and there are innumerable technical schools as well as those teaching some one concrete profession.

The young man, then, may learn his trade either in the old way, by entering it, or by attending some institution specializing in the vocation which he is to follow.

Which is the better way?

Both, I say.

If one is to take up a technical trade requiring a scientific or other special knowledge, he would better spend a few years in some institution which teaches one this vocation, or those allied to it, and then finish his education in the workshop or the office of a concern devoted to it.

It is obvious that the factory or the office cannot as easily impart the fundamental principles of a vocation as can a well-equipped institution.

While at work the apprentice is obliged to do many things which are not directly contributing to his education. He obtains experience, it is true, but he is not allowed to have that broadness of view which would come to him in school.

The atmosphere of a schoolroom is conducive to efficiency. One has nothing else to think about; and, therefore, can devote his entire time to obtaining a better knowledge of the work he is to do for a living.

In recommending the technical schools, I am aware that many of them are altogether too theoretical or academic; and that they are, perhaps, too broad instead of specific; but, for all that, the well-equipped technical school places before its pupils the great fundamental principles, which, if rightly understood and applied, are of untold benefit.

Certain lines, however, cannot be taught in school; but a fundamental knowledge of the majority of technical trades can be imparted in the schoolroom and laboratory.

Practically all of our best technical schools, including institutes of technology, are managed by experts, who, fortunately, are composite men, not only understanding science, but having the ability to impart its principles.

A graduate of one of these institutes, while he may begin close to the bottom of the ladder, and while he may work for a year or more alongside of the young man who has not been favored with his opportunities, will eventually, all things being equal, advance more rapidly than will one who entered the trade as an apprentice without good technical school training.

While this school training does not wholly give the experience of the workshop, it will teach one, first, the fundamental principles, and, secondly, how more easily to apply them.

GUMPTION.

Gumption consists of common sense, rational reasoning, attention to details and persistent observation, that one may see more clearly and act more intelligently.

Gumption, like common sense, becomes a habit. To some extent it may be inherited, but the brand of gumption that is good for anything, that may be applied to the affairs of life, is largely acquired and comes to one because he makes an effort to get it.

Ask the successful business man what appears to be the matter with many of his employees, and he will say that the inefficient ones lack gumption.

A Friend Indeed.

"Did I understand you to say that Professor Gaspiit is a scientist?" "I don't know whether you would call him a scientist or a philanthropist. At any rate, he has discovered a face preparation that is guaranteed to make a woman look ten years younger."

Austria last year had 32 works for producing copper ore.

TRIED TO IMITATE CALLOPPE

But Stage Manager Soon Gave the Matter Up, as Irvin Cobb Predicted.

Stage managers have been called upon to imitate all sorts of things and noises, but one nearly had a nervous prostration trying to imitate a circus calloppe. In Bayard Veiller and Irvin Cobb's new play, "Back Home," which will soon be presented at New York, there is a circus scene, and the sound of the steam calloppe is heard in the distance. The stage manager was ordered to get one, but he told the authors that he could imitate the noise.

Several days later the stage manager had to feign up that the calloppe couldn't be imitated.

"We have tried every known kind of racket maker; we even had an expert fustler under consideration for awhile, thinking he might play very loud."

"I would have sworn," said Irvin Cobb "that you couldn't present the sound of a calloppe with anything but calloppe. I used to be able to hear one, are uninterested, inattentive, unambitious, and, as a rule, fault-finding. They do not make an effort to use what nature has given them. They waste their time and their talents. They are indolent; they perform the duties prescribed, but avoid responsibility; they do not love their work, and they do what they have to do as automatically as machines. Few of them think intently, and most of them are not amenable to reason. They are always looking at the clock, seldom realizing that automatic action in itself does not stand for promotion, or for more than ordinary accomplishment. Because they do not make strenuous effort, because they do not do their best, their ability, even though it may be great, is below par in every market.

They begin as clerks, and remain clerks, seldom rising above subordinate positions, allowing others of no greater ability to supersede them.

It is obvious that ability is not distributed equitably—or at any rate does not appear to be—and some men are undoubtedly able to do things which others cannot accomplish; but it is nevertheless an indisputable fact that those who try and try hard, even though they may possess only ordinary capacity, outpoint those of greater ability who plod along disinterested with everything save themselves.

The man with gumption thinks while he works. Every effort he makes teaches him to do the same thing better next time. He is faithful, but more than that—he is energetic and looks upon his capacity, whether it be great or small, as a commercial asset, to be used as any other commodity.

Every man is a salesman of himself. Unless he considers his ability a marketable commodity, as he would a sack of flour or a keg of nails, to be sold at an advantage, he is not likely to rise above a mediocre state, but probably will remain at the bottom, or near to it, a plodder, not a pacer.

Get gumption. You can have gumption if you will; perhaps not as much of it as can be obtained by greater ability, but enough of it to lift you beyond the ordinary and place you in the rising class.

You are master of yourself, even though you have a master. It is for you, not the man for whom you work, to say whether you will stay down or go up.

NO SYMPATHY FOR NEUROTIC

Medical Man Has Placed Them in a Class That Might Be Called Hypocrites.

Don't use the word "rheumatism," for it means nothing. The same may be said of "neuritis." According to Dr. Louis Casamajor, chief of the Vanderbilt Clinic and instructor in neurology at Columbia university, in an address at Bloomingdale hospital, New York, "rheumatism" is a term "which has been spread, in popular and indeed in medical use, in such a thin layer to cover such a large number of conditions that it has ceased longer to have a diagnostic significance, and conveys now no more real meaning than does the original word 'pain' for which it is substituted. The same may be said of 'neuritis,' merely another way of saying 'pain'—an explanation which explains nothing, and when combined with the foregoing in 'rheumatic neuritis' we have a term of sufficient inaccuracy to satisfy the most fastidious neurotic."

Doctor Casamajor went on to assert a critical study of a neurotic person's talk "quickly reveals the fact that it is a wealth of details with no point . . . for if he should get the point he would cease to be a neurotic. Possibly he might be something worse." Doctor Casamajor calls neurosis an asset. "Every neurotic has something to gain by being a neurotic, and he ceases to be so when this element of gain disappears. . . . At best it gives the individual an excuse for leading a more or less easy life, surrounded by the sympathy which civilized people feel is due the sick."

Did I understand you to say that Professor Gaspiit is a scientist? "I don't know whether you would call him a scientist or a philanthropist. At any rate, he has discovered a face preparation that is guaranteed to make a woman look ten years younger."

How Catarrh is Contracted

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic, and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have these troublesome diseases will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

When You Take Cold

With the average man a cold is a serious matter and should not be trifled with, as some of the most dangerous diseases start with a common cold. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of your cold as quickly as possible. You are not experimenting when you use this remedy, as it has been in use for many years and has an established reputation. It contains no opium or other narcotic. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

LIVONIA CENTER.

The O. H. S. club was entertained by Mrs. Wm. Cort at her home Thursday afternoon. Two members of the club were absent and Miss Myrta Eckles was a visitor. The afternoon was spent socially and with contests. Mrs. A. M. Eckles was the winner of the first prize, a china plate, in the clothespin contest, and Mrs. C. F. Smith was consoled with a hair pin holder. After a short business session a fine menu of sandwiches, salads, cake and coffee was served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. M.
