Commencement Week in Plymouth High School

Commencement begins Sunday, June 11 at 7 p. m. with the Baccalaureate exercises at the opera house. The various churches unite in the services. Thursday night at 8 o'clock come the graduating exercises. This year the Class Night play was given up by the class after the fire, in the interests of the regular school work, but one or two features of the play will be presented at Commencement, this varying the usual program. The soloist who has been engaged will be remembered by those who attended the Epworth League banquet last fall. Tickets 25 cents, no extra charge for reserved seats. Friends of the graduates are requested to send all gifts to the homes rather than to the opera house. This is in accordance with the action taken by those who attended the Epworth League banquet last fall. Tickets 25 cents, no extra charge for reserved seats. Burglars Were Busy

Several small burglaries were committed in the vicinity of Plymouth last Sunday night. The homes of A. M. Eckles, Harmon Ash and Mrs. Waite Whipple were entered. At each place they gained entrance through the rear of the house. Mr. Eckles was the heaviest loser, as after having a lunch they took his purse containing between thirty-five and forty dollars. At Mr. Ash's they took only a few small articles and at Mrs. Whipple's they obtained only about fifty cents in money, although they thoroughly ransacked the lower part of her house. The thieves entered the Whipple home about eleven o'clock. Mrs. Whipple, who was alone at the time, had retired to her room upstairs and was too frightened to give an alarm.

Village Council
Held a Busy Session

The village council met in regular session last Monday evening and transacted considerable business besides the usual routine work. The matter of the paving of that part of Union street from the Dairy factory to Main street and that portion of Depot street paralleling the Dairy factory on that thoroughfare and a short extension of the pavement on Penniman avenue was brought up, and it was decided to employ an engineer to furnish estimates on the cost of the improvements.

The matter of providing street traffic directors at the corner of Penniman avenue and Main street and at the corner of Liberty street and Starkweather avenue was discussed. It was the opinion of the members of the council that something should be done to provide against accidents at these places and the matter was left with the street committee with power to act.

A petition asking for a sidewalk on Kellogg street was presented and referred to the street committee.

The matter of oiling the streets was also talked over by the council and this will be done as soon as the streets are placed in proper condition for applying the oil.

Representatives of the Edison Co. were present and presented their proposition for the purchase of our municipal electric light plant. The matter was discussed at some length by the council and it was finally voted to submit the proposition to a vote of the electors of the village, Monday, June 19. The franchise and proposition of the Edison Co. will be found in another column of this paper.

A full report of the official proceedings will be found in this paper.

Notice

The Sons of Veterans will have a meeting for the election of officers, Tuesday, June 13, at 7:30 p. m., at the village hall, council room. Any more eligibles wishing to join on the charter are requested to be present at this meeting.

HELP FOR WORKING WOMEN

Some Have to Keep on Until They Almost Drop. How Mrs. Conley Got Help.

Here is a letter from a woman who had to work, but was too weak and suffered too much to continue. How she regained health:

Frankfort, Ky.—"I suffered so much with female weakness that I could not do my own work. I had to hire it done. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I tried it. I took three bottles and I found it to be all you claim. Now I feel as well as ever I did and am able to do all my own work again. I recommend it to any woman suffering from female weakness. You may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. JAMES CONLEY, 516 St. Clair St., Frankfort, Ky.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it will be confidential.

Wants to Develop Her Soul. Defying paternal authority and scoring present-day methods of education, Miss Violette Wilson, daughter of J. She announced that it was her intention to develop her own soul and that she intended to get an education from real life and not one the whole significance of which lay in a college diploma.

Doctors Help Civilians. Recently a bundle of reports which throw interesting light on the work of peace the British army is doing in France was collected at headquarters. They came from army medical officers all the way from the fighting line back to the hospitals at the bases far from the zone of shell fire, and told of the service which the army doctors have been rendering to the civil population.

France itself has been depleted of doctors. The young ones who did not go to the front as medical officers or to the army hospitals, went to fight. In many villages say British army doctor who happened to be stationed there took the place of the local practitioner.

These simple reports reveal the suffering and the sacrifice of the French population who have received free medical service from the allies.

BRITAIN HAS BIG ARMY IN FRANCE

New Battalions Have Completely Engulfed the Old Regular Force.

HOLD 100 MILES OF FRONT

Never Have There Been So Many German and Allied Troops on the Western Front—Doctors Help the Civilians.

By FREDERICK PALMER.

British Headquarters, France.—A correspondent who has been absent for six months from the British front is amazed upon his return at the increase in numbers of men, guns and equipment. The numerous battalions of the new army which have arrived have engulfed the old regular army. Not one officer in ten whom one meets has had any military service before the war.

Now one must ride a hundred miles to pass the British front. Khaki is thick in the villages of the Somme country as well as in those of northern Belgium. The British hold the famous "Labyrinth" as well as Ypres and Loos.

In the course of the taking over of a long section of the French line, which freed French troops for service, hundreds of miles of wire had to be laid, transport organized, headquarters moved, new corps and divisions created and commanders appointed.

In the last few months new men have come into positions of responsibility. Men who entered the army as second lieutenants have become captains without yet being old enough to vote. Majors have become colonels and generals.

"We do not know when the war will be over, but we do know that spring is here," say the soldiers. The second winter in the trenches is finished. Its chill, wet monotony is over. Before another winter—well, what will happen this summer? The growth of the army and the sun drawing the moisture out of the mud emphasized the universal question.

Face Big German Army. Never, so far as one can learn, have there been so many Germans and so many allied troops on the western front as at this time. Next to the Verdun region, the German concentration is heaviest in face of the British of any section from the North sea to Switzerland. No German troops have been drawn off from the British front as re-enforcements for the attack on Verdun.

One side or the other demolishes a section of enemy trench by exploding mines or by artillery concentration. Then the infantry rushes the trench, gathers in some prisoners, does what damage it can and returns to its own trench.

In the morasses of the Ypres salient and the Loos region nothing more could be done, though a winter attack might be possible in high country like that around Verdun.

Much ingenuity has been shown by both sides in these trench raids. But no sooner has one side worked out a new trick than the other learns how to counter it.

"Mud" was the reason given in a word by an officer why the British could not attack in winter to relieve the pressure on Verdun.

"It was the season the Germans would have chosen for us to attack," he added.

Doctors Help Civilians. Recently a bundle of reports which throw interesting light on the work of peace the British army is doing in France was collected at headquarters.

HEROES' GROVE FOR GERMANS

Such a Plan to Honor Soldier Dead Has Popular Approval in Germany.

Berlin.—"How shall we honor our dead?" is a question which is being widely discussed in the German press just now. The majority of German editors is averse to a repetition of the erection of innumerable "Krieger Denkmale," soldier monuments, such as were in vogue after the Franco-Prussian war. Nor does the plan to scatter throughout the empire monuments of the Kaiser and the leading generals find any approval.

The most popular proposal yet made for the commemoration of those who have fallen on the battlefield is the formation of a "Hain," or grove, to be called "Heldenhain," or Heroes' Grove.

DAKOTA MAN HAS MANY ADVENTURES

Billy Thorin Caps Career by Fighting in Legion After He's "Dead."

TOOK YEAR TO GET THERE

War Is Just One More Thrill to Wanderer—Shanghaied to Chile When He Reaches Bordeaux—Chum Killed in Row.

By PAUL ROCKWELL.

Paris, France.—A full chronicle of the adventures on land and sea of Billy Thorin, American legionnaire, would fill volumes which for absorbing interest would rank with "Treasure Island" or any of the widely read stories of adventure and romance.

Billy was born on a wheat ranch, near Canton, S. D., and was christened Daniel William Thorin. The peaceful occupation of following the plow or operating a steam threshing did not appeal to him, however, and at the age of fourteen years he ran away from home to see the world.

The roving blood of hardy Viking ancestors coursed madly in Billy's veins, calling him to the sea. Reaching the Pacific coast, he shipped as cabin boy on a tramp sailing vessel, and from that time on Billy followed the sea with fair regularity for fifteen years.

Marine on Chinese Gunboat. Like all sailors, however, Billy had his spells of being tired of ordinary seafaring. Once he enlisted as a marine on a Chinese gunboat and fought with desperate yellow pirates and opium runners.

He was a member of Price and Mosby's legion of soldiers of fortune which fought for first one Mexican pretender, then for another.

That campaign was almost Billy's

Wounded in Mexico

After coming out of jail the two comrades had to wait around Arica for several months before they could get a ship back to France. There were many Germans in Arica, who did not relish the loudly proclaimed intention of Billy and Hodge of returning to France to join the legion.

One night Billy and Hodge had been in a saloon together. Hodge stepped out alone, and hearing a commotion, Billy rushed out after him. He found his mate dying in the street, a knife stuck in his back.

"Dead" in Battle, Soon Recovers. The next morning Billy sailed, and in June, 1915, he reached Bordeaux, and was enrolled in the legion. He trained at Camp La Valbonne, and went to the front with a detachment of re-enforcements just before the Champagne offensive in September.

A few days after the legion's charge in the Bois Sabot, on September 28, I received this news in a letter from Paul Pavelka:

"Early in the attack Billy Thorin was struck in the head by a piece of shrapnel. He refused to go to the rear, but kept on. A few minutes later he was again hit and toppled over. I knelt and looked at him, and he was stone dead."

But Billy was not dead. He came to and crawled alone to a first-aid post, and later reached a hospital in the far south of France. Billy has just gone back to the front.

THIS TABBY IS REAL FISHER

Maryland Cat, Wades Boldly Into Stream in Search of Its Prey.

Hancock, Mo., has a cat that fishes. Different from felines that have been known to stand on the bank and try to grab fish with their claws, this tabby wades boldly amidstream and awaits prey.

Yesterday the cat was fishing in the little creek that runs through Hancock near the old Eastern or Gillette hotel property, emptying into the Potomac through a culvert under the canal at that point. The cat stood motionless for several minutes, and then pounced on a fish with both paws. The fish jumped several feet out of the water, its body shimmering in the sunlight. It was then readily caught by the cat, which waded to the shore with its dinner in its mouth. This particular tabby has obtained quite a reputation as a fisher.

Things Are Not as They Seem.

The unpronounceable names of the Mexican and European war zones have nothing on the names of City Engineer Jeup. His mail has come addressed to every name from Mr. B. Gee Up to Mr. E. Jesus, but it remained for an Indianapolis teacher to spend a year in digging out his identity.

For months she had heard a fellow teacher speak of her brother-in-law, Mr. Yorp. During the recent visit trouble his opinions on the matter were quoted frequently. For months this teacher had also read of Mr. Jeup, the city engineer.

Finally, when the visit troubles had reached their climax, she scanned the papers eagerly every evening to see how much longer she would have to walk across. Engineer Jeup held exactly the opinions of Mr. Yorp.

Suddenly light burst on her befuddled brain. Rushing up to her teacher friend, she asked eagerly, "How does your brother-in-law, Mr. Yorp, spell his name?"

"Jeup," came the answer with a mild look of surprise.

Eureka! Mr. Yorp, the brother-in-law, was Mr. Jeup, the city engineer. But the name was Yop. Of as in oil. Can you pronounce it?—Indianapolis News.

Three Hundred Million Bushel Crop in 1915

Farmers pay for their land with one year's crop and prosperity was never so great.

Regarding Western Canada as a grain producer, a prominent business man says: "Canada's position today is sounder than ever. There is more wheat, more oats, more grain for feed, 20% more cattle than last year and more hogs. The war market in Europe needs our surplus. As for the wheat crop, it is marvellous and a monument of strength for business confidence to build upon, exceeding the most optimistic predictions."

Wheat averaged in 1915 over 25 bushels per acre Oats averaged in 1915 over 45 bushels per acre Barley averaged in 1915 over 40 bushels per acre

Prices are high, markets convenient, excellent land, low in price either improved or otherwise, ranging from $12 to $30 per acre. Free homestead lands are plentiful and not far from railway lines and convenient to good schools and churches. The climate is healthful.

There is no war tax on land, nor is there any conscription. For complete information as to best locations for settlement, reduced railroad rates and detailed illustrated pamphlet, address Canadian Government Immigration, Ottawa, Ont.

A horse has an ear for music. A Cleveland horse has a preference for ragtime. When he heard the notes of a popular song from a phonograph the other day in a store he fox-trotted right across the sidewalk, dragging a Wells-Fargo express wagon after him. The wagon became wedged in the door, and the animal, unmindful of the screams of women and shouts of clerks, set his ears forward and listened to the song, allowing himself to be led away by Joseph Davis, the driver, only when the phonograph had been shut off.

The Jar.

John D. Rockefeller was congratulated by a New York reporter on his recent gift of $1,275,000 to education. "It must be a fine feeling," said the reporter, "to give away millions." "You get used to it," said Mr. Rockefeller. "To stop giving is what would far me. I'm afraid I'm like the retired business man whose wife said, the first day of his retirement: "Father, what's the matter? You look so worried." "Well, no wonder I'm worried," said he. "I've never before had nothing to worry about."

Sufficient for Amusement.

"My poor woman," said the settlement worker, "what can I do to relieve your distress?" "Can you sing, ma'am?" "Why—er—a little." "I wish you'd sing some of the new ragtime songs, ma'am. Me and my husband ain't been to a cabaret in two years."

Girls Quickly Led to the Altar.

For the fifth time in two years John Engleberg, proprietor of a cabaret in Panama city, has come to New York for more cabaret girls. Owing to the scarcity of girls on the isthmus and the attractiveness of the singers none of the four previous assortments have remained true to their art, and single, for more than six months.

Concentrated Satisfaction

A great many former users of tea and coffee have learned that there is a pure food beverage made from wheat, which has a delightful flavor.

It never exacts of its users the tribute of sleeplessness, heart-fitter, headache and other ills often caused by the drug, caffeine, in coffee and tea.

Instant Postum

suggests the snappy flavor of mild java coffee, but is absolutely free from caffeine or any harmful ingredient. Instant Postum is in condensed, soluble form, and wonderfully convenient for the home—for the picnic—for travel—everywhere.

If tea or coffee interferes with comfort or success, as it does for many users, try a dish of Postum.

Edison Company Make Offer For Village Lighting Plant

June 5, 1916. To the Common Council of the Village of Plymouth, Michigan.

Gentlemen:—The Detroit Edison Company beg to make the following proposal in regard to the purchase of your electric light and power plant.

We will pay to the Village of Plymouth the sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00) for the Plymouth Municipal Electric Light Plant, including engine, boilers, dynamos, switchboards, transformers, and all other machinery in the plant, and also all lines, wires, lamps, transformers, house meters and any other property in or along the streets of the Village, which is part of the lighting system; and also the building occupied by the plant, and the land on which the building is located; except that this proposal does not include the steam engine known as the "Skinner engine," purchased recently by the Village from the Skinner Engine Company, the title to which we understand is not clear.

Such payment will be made upon the delivery by the Village of a Warranty Deed and Bill of Sale of the property, and after the electors of the Village of Plymouth, by a three-fifths vote, have confirmed such sale, and also have confirmed the granting of a franchise or permit to do business in Plymouth, a copy of which is attached hereto.

We also agree to enter simultaneously into a ten-year contract with your Honorable Body for lighting the streets of the Village. We will install, maintain and operate a modern system of street lamps, to be lighted from one-half (1/2) hour after sunset until one (1) hour before sunrise, each and every night in the year, for the following prices:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes 100 candle power lamps, 250 candle power lamps, 600 candle power lamps, Arc lamps, etc.

This proposal is accepted and confirmed, we will put into effect in Plymouth, the same rates for commercial and residence service, as are in effect in the City of Detroit, and agree that whenever such rates are reduced in Detroit, the same reduction will take effect in the Village of Plymouth. This means that the lighting customers in Plymouth would not only enjoy the prevailing low rates in Detroit, but would also get free renewals of forty (40) sixty (60) and one hundred (100) watt Tungsten lamps. It also means that power customers in Plymouth would be offered the same rates that have built up a power business in Detroit of over one hundred thousand horse power, which power business includes service to every large automobile factory and most of the other great industrial plants of the city.

We ask your careful and favorable consideration of the above proposal. Yours truly,

THE DETROIT EDISON CO. By A. C. MARSHALL, Vice-President.

CRIMINAL ALWAYS IN CHAINS

First Act of Deceit Invariably Must Be Followed Up by a Succession of Lies.

A strange characteristic of crookedness was brought out by the young man who confessed to a long string of forgeries, committed in various cities. His logical story gave a striking explanation for the wrong doing which brought him to disgrace at the prime of life.

His first forgery, done at the instigation of a superior, was not intended to bring him any benefit, and it did not. As the tool of another's criminality he was trapped. Instead of facing the consequences he fled. His guilt was on his heels and he was compelled repeatedly to jump from city to city. A forged check each time supplied him with the means.

In graphic fashion the sequence of results was laid bare by the prisoner, relieved when he was at last overtaken. What happened to him happens in some form to everyone who takes liberties with his own conscience. The smallest deceit is a costly expedient, because it must be followed up with a succession of lies in many instances. The man who departs from his own code finds that he is being pushed on in a course of wrongdoing in spite of himself. Partly through habit, partly through the law of cause and effect, one slip necessitates another and another until disaster is complete.

The momentum of devilry is a difficult force to combat.

Oppose Ostriches in Harness. The Humano society of Los Angeles, Cal., has taken up arms against the use of the ostrich in harness and has introduced a measure seeking to make their use for that purpose unlawful. Some of the reasons advanced are: The birds are dangerous because they are liable to kick in any direction; they violate the speed laws and they are a menace to traffic because, with their well-known fondness for hardware, they are apt to eat auto accessories, license plates, tail lights, etc.

The catechumens are: Amy Carlson, Laura Widmayer, Hanna Strassen, Elsa Gayde, Lillian Fischer, Carl Kaiser. The services begin at 9:15 standard time. The class will be examined in the Lutheran doctrine according to the scriptures, in the presence of the whole congregation. Then follows the address of the pastor and the solemn vow of the class and finally the confirmation. The services will be in English. In the evening there will be communion services in which the class will partake of the Lord's Supper for the first time. Text, St. John 14:23-31. The glorious state of those upon whom the Holy Ghost has fulfilled his work of grace. There will be English services at the Lutheran church at Livonia next Sunday afternoon.

BIBLE STUDENTS. Without doubt, Math. 10:28 proves that man in his present state is mortal, not immortal, and that the great Creator reserves the right to destroy man body and soul if He sees fit. Are we also aware of the fact that there is a great distinction of nature as to the angelic and the immortal or divine. In the past we have been wont to think surely of the angelic as being as one so. That which has to be sustained by another is not immortal. We read in one place in holy writ of angel's food. Also there are higher and lower orders of angels. The common angel, the cheraphim, the seraphim, the arch-angels, etc. These are not divine. Their sustenance rests in another. If this were not true, how then could Satan, once a high and holy angel, be destroyed? Heb. 2:14. What about the fallen angels who followed in Satan's steps? Immortality is a priceless boon, the greatest gift God Jehovah has to bestow upon any. And we may rest assured it will not be ours unless we are fully worthy of it.

The Overland. Image of a vintage car.

Time flies---waiting is wasting

You who have waited—why? Are you one of those who wouldn't get a car until you could get a real one—without paying too dear a price?

Your wait is over—here is a real automobile—every inch an Overland—for $615.

Have you been waiting for a small car which you could own without apology for its appearance?

Wait no more—the $615 Overland is a beauty.

Have you been waiting for a small car which is roomy, comfortable and easy riding?

No need to wait longer—the $615 Overland proves that comfort does not depend upon size.

Almost everyone with automobile experience has realized the many advantages of this small car.

Men who own both large and small cars use the small one constantly—drive the large one only on occasion.

But until now small cars have been only a convenience—a utility—lacking in appearance, comforts and equipment.

The $615 Overland has changed all that—It has the small car advantages—the big advantages of economy—the delightful advantages of ease of control and small turning radius.

But it also has the advantages heretofore found only in the larger more expensive cars—beauty—finish—style—comfort—every convenience of complete equipment.

Nothing is lacking—not even the thrill of speed and abundant power.

Investigate and see for yourself today.

Notice to Autoists

In compliance with orders from the council the law requiring all automobiles standing in the street at night to have their head and tail lights lighted will be rigidly enforced. The law requiring 1916 license tags will also be enforced. It will also be necessary for automobiles to be parked on the right hand side of the street in the same direction in which they are going, when left standing anywhere within the village. LETTER FROM STATE CAPITOL

A GLANCE AT WHAT MAY BE DONE WHEN A NEW LEGISLATURE GETS IN ACTION.

GAINS MADE BY STATE BANKS

Some Supreme Court Decisions of Importance and Various Matters Worth Noting Just Now.

Lansing, Mich.—In exactly seven months the legislature will again convene in Lansing and the biennial law making will begin.

While it is generally conceded that there is no pressing need for a lot of new and radical legislation, bills designed to revolutionize the machinery of the state government are sure to make their appearance...

Equally divided, the supreme court affirmed the conviction of Jacob Gansley of Lansing, who was found guilty of violating the corrupt practices act...

Should state wide prohibition be adopted at the election in November, it will be necessary for the next legislature to provide the machinery for putting prohibition laws into effect.

Whether equal suffrage will again be an issue is a question that has not been decided. If the suffrage leaders should ask the legislature to provide for the submission of a constitutional amendment providing for equal suffrage, it is generally conceded that the lawmakers would act favorably.

Michigan state banks and trust companies show a gain of $19,380,264.25 in aggregate business since March 7, 1915, according to a report issued by Banking Commissioner Merrick.

Providing the voting trustees are acceptable to the state railroad commission, it is believed the plan for reorganization of the Pere Marquette as outlined in the petition filed will be approved at the hearing to be held before the commission June 20.

London.—The loss of Earl Kitchener, secretary of state for war, England's greatest military organizer and the conqueror of the Sudan, with his entire staff, when the cruiser Hampshire was sunk off the Orkney Islands by a mine or torpedo...

The report to the admiralty of the loss of the Hampshire was made to the admiralty by Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, commander of the British grand fleet.

England was shocked too deeply to give much thought to the question of a successor, but there were quiet reports on the street that David Lloyd George, the present minister of munitions, might occupy the war portfolio.

The report to the admiralty of the loss of the Hampshire was made to the admiralty by Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, commander of the British grand fleet.

FARMER'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Demand for Canadian Cattle After the War.

The opportunities that Western Canada offers to the farmer have time and again been placed before the public through these columns. The cheap price at which the very best lands can be purchased, and the advantage that is to be had in securing one of the free-homesteads of 160 acres has appealed to a great many, and they have embraced them. Many, in fact most of those who have done so are today giving testimony to the good fortune and the timely forethought that led them to go to Western Canada, and embark in an era of farming that has placed them away beyond the pinch of want and given them reason to look into the future with a hopefulness that they had not had the courage in the past to forecast.

Not only have they been able to secure good lands at low prices and on easy terms but if they desired they have been able to add to this 160 acres of land free on conditions that are easy. A resident in the Lacombe district in Saskatchewan who has been farming in the States for some time, took up a homestead in 1910, and commenced breaking with 4 oxen. Two years ago he bought an adjoining quarter section and now has over 100 acres under cultivation. He says, "As my circumstances improved, I sold the oxen and now have six head of horses, twelve head of cattle, and have always a bunch of hogs on hand.

"On an average I have had yields of 25 bushels of wheat, 65 bushels of oats, and 40 bushels of barley to the acre, and last season from a field of 2 1/2 acres, I threshed 1,040 bushels of wheat. I have made a success of mixed farming and would have no hesitation in advising all who contemplate making a new home to come to this district. I sell cream to the Government Creamery here, and find at all times a good market for live stock and other produce."

This is but a modest statement of what a modest man can do in Western Canada, and could be repeated of hundreds of others. Scores of cases could be recited where much more has been accomplished, and it is believed that with moderate investment at the present time, the cattle industry of Western Canada will pay large interest.

The Minister of Agriculture of Saskatchewan, in a recent address, ventured the prediction that the Saskatchewan farmer who developed his land along the lines of general stock breeding would make much more money and find a far bigger return for his efforts in ten years' time, than the man who devoted his energies purely and primarily to grain raising. This was the coming golden age of opportunity for the stockman and it was up to the Saskatchewan man to get in on the ground floor and prepare himself for the coming demand.

The close of the war would undoubtedly see a great demand for live stock in Europe and it was only reasonable to suppose that this demand would have to be filled almost wholly by American stockmen, both in Canada and the United States. Europe was slowly draining its rural districts not only of its beef and dairy animals but was also using the finer breeding animals and the end of the war would see a condition of affairs which would render necessary almost the repopulation of the domestic animal kingdom in that continent.

Course of Domestic Training for Bachelors Who Are Contemplating Matrimony.

In the Woman's Home Companion is an article entitled "How I Made a Good Husband of My Son," in which the writer lays down some rules for a course of domestic training for bachelors who are thinking of being married.

"Beside heating the house," he says, "a man should have a thorough theoretical, and a simple practical knowledge of plumbing, so he can be beyond the mercy of an ignorant or dishonest plumber. Reindeer Proved Their Value.

The first practical test of the endurance of reindeer and their ability to traverse any part of the country under the most unfavorable circumstances, with the temperature at times lower than that experienced by many of the Arctic expeditions, was made in 1893. The train, consisting of nine sledges and 17 head of deer, started from Teller station in the dead of winter, with the thermometer at 45 degrees below zero. Native trails and well-beaten sections of the country were largely avoided. The trip of more than 2,000 miles was made in a little less than two weeks—with a loss of only two deer.

J. S. Kovern, superintendent of the Electric Railway & Light Co., in December, dropped dead of heart disease while eating supper. Worry over his only daughter, who is in a hospital awaiting a surgical operation, is believed to have caused the fatal attack.

GAP TOO GREAT TO BE BRIDGED

African Dwarf Disappointed Because He Couldn't Learn Ways of Civilization.

PIGMY ENDS HIS LIFE

Tries Hard to Acquire Education After Exhibition Visit to America, But Proves a Failure—Yearns for Native Land.

Lynchburg, Va.—Ota Benga, the African pigmy, who ten years ago was transplanted from the tropical jungles to civilization by Prof. Samuel F. Verrier, an explorer, failing in his efforts to acquire the "white man's ways," though ambitious and eager to learn, crawled into a cow stable at Lynchburg a few days ago and sent a bullet into his brain. Ota Benga was about thirty-three years old, four feet and eleven inches tall, and weighed 103 pounds. He was on exhibition at St. Louis during the exposition, but refused to return to his native land at the close of the fair.

Through the offices of a New Jersey Baptist society the negro pigmy was granted admission to a southern school, but the gap between the savage African jungle and the civilized elysian fields of his desire was too great to be bridged.

Quits School in Disgust.

He demonstrated to his benefactors that he did not possess the power of learning. Disgusted, he quit the school of his own accord and went to work in a tobacco factory at Lynchburg. Day labor was not to his liking, and he began to pine for his African relations and grew morose when he realized that such a trip was out of the question because of the lack of funds. Finally the burden became so great that the young negro obtained a revolver belonging to a woman with whom he lived, went to the stable, and committed suicide.

Ota Benga's education never exceeded the ability to spell a few simple words, the acquiring of a small English vocabulary, and the power to count up to a limited figure. He admitted to what few negro friends he made that American civilization was too advanced for a captive cannibal.

FIND FROG IN HIS STOMACH

Swallowed When Kansas Man Drank at Spring—Both of Them Are Now O. K.

Kansas City, Mo.—A small but extremely lively frog was extracted from the stomach of John Arnold by physicians at the Kansas City (Kan.) emergency hospital. The frog, according to Arnold's story, was swallowed when he stooped to drink from a spring near the outskirts of the city. He immediately became ill and the hospital authorities were notified.

A stomach pump was used without avail by the physicians in the belief that Arnold had tried to commit suicide. Finally a powerful emetic was administered. The result was a tiny frog, about one-half inch in diameter, which hopped about none the worse for wear. Arnold has recovered.

LITTLE JOKE ON HARVARD

Seniors Are Wearing Women's Gowns Through a Mistaken Custom, Faculty Members Say.

Cambridge, Mass.—Harvard seniors are wearing women's gowns on the college campus during the month preceding graduation, according to an "expose" written by Dr. Frederick Schenck of the Harvard faculty. He asserts that the Mother Hubbard gowns of the seniors were first worn in 1822, when the woman's model was used, because no academic robes were then manufactured for men.

The custom has been adhered to blindly by all succeeding graduating classes, and the gowns worn by the present senior class only signify that some feminine relatives of the men hold bachelors' degrees, Doctor Schenck asserts.

Came Back to Wife's Grave.

Findlay, O.—Jacob Green, ninety-six years old, Findlay's oldest resident, has been buried beside his wife, his attachment for whom had impelled him to leave his old home in Germany to be near her grave. Green died without a relative in this country. After Mrs. Green had died ten years ago he returned to his native country to spend his remaining days. He grew dependent because the body of his wife was in the country alone, and, wishing to be buried near a small property near the cemetery, where he lived, Coats Adapted for Youthful-Appearing or Matronly Wearers Are to Be Had in Appropriate Designs—Pretty Combining Jacket That May Be Fashioned From a Bath Towel and Heavy Mercerized Cotton Yarn.

Those who are gifted with the faculty for creating styles must also be able to adapt styles to women of various ages. They contrive to interpret them in many ways, so that garments bespeak youthful or older wearers. In the picture two coats are shown. The checked model leaves no doubt in the mind that it is suited to and made for a young woman. The coat of covert cloth is not quite so decided in character.

These coats are recommended to meet the general needs of every day for young women. The checked models in black and white, bordered and banded with black satin. The rolling small figure, is used to make the bows that tie the fronts and back of the jacket together under the arms. Ties of the same ribbon are used for the fastening at the front. When the jacket is worn the edges below the neck are turned back to form revers.

The uppers for the slippers are a better selection than this for a coat which must answer for all sorts of wear. It is good for the street or the car. It is severely plain, with no purely ornamental features, and depends for distinction upon original and clever lines and nicety of machine stitching. By these simple means it manages an elegance that is apparent collar is faced with satin. White celluloid buttons banded with black in three sizes are used for decoration and for fastening the coat. The model fits the figure vaguely above the waistline and is generously wide below. The front sets trimly, with the fullness at the sides and back, held in place by a belt of satin, and the checked material. In the model of covert cloth the sleeves are cut in one with the body of the coat and the garment is hardly more definite in adjustment to the figure than a shawl. The collar is very high at the back and is faced with taffeta silk. It has an open throat. There could hardly be anything more pretentious than a big bath towel and heavy mercerized cotton yarn are needed to make a pretty combining jacket like that shown in the picture. These practical and familiar things of sturdy quality are wrought into many articles for personal use and for furnishings. The bedroom slippers shown with the jacket are crocheted in the picture and promises a busy career. Designers have already turned their thoughts to coats for fall and winter, so that we may expect no further innovations in styles for this summer. Crocheted with close-set firm stitches and sewed to the soles with silk thread. They are finished with bows of ribbon like that on the jacket. In slippers and jackets of this kind there is much comfort, for they are durable and practical and dainty as well.

Petticoated Lights for Boudoir.

Instead of dignified candles on the dresser now, there are two cleverly arranged electric lights, each one concealed beneath the frilly skirts of a little doll-lady toggled out in appropriate Watteau style, or Eugenie style, if one prefers. Two of these little of mercerized yarn, and the two make the soft of gift that one friend likes to receive from another.

A long bath towel with blue and black broken stripes on a white ground was chosen for the jacket pictured. It is a very simple matter to convert a towel into a jacket. The towel is folded crosswise at the middle of its length, and a slash six inches long cut for the neck. A slit is cut from this neck opening to the bottom of the towel to form the front opening. All the raw edges are finished with a hem a half-inch wide.

The mercerized cotton yarn used for the crocheted edge matches the blue stripe in the towel in color. Wide fingerie ribbon, in blue satin with a dolls, dressed in ruffled pink silk skirts, and poke bonnets with nodding roses, stand guard over the electric lights that illumine the dresser in a charming boudoir. The glow of the light through the pink petticoats is alluring.

Train is Growing.

The train is gradually growing wider and longer. From a mere panel of tulle or silk, attached to the shoulders and having no relation whatever to the frock, it has become incorporated with the skirt, or as a mantel-like drapey of voluminous proportions.

In many instances the overskirt of a gown is extended at each side to form long points which trail behind the double train when mildly walks. These points are trimmed with tassels or ornaments of metal or beads.

SMOKELESS STEAM ENGINE

AN INVERTED SMOKE-PIPE CARRIES THE GASES, SOOT AND CINDERS DOWNWARD AND BACKWARD.

Taking the polite hint that the electrification of railroad terminals during the past few years has supplied, the steam engine has added a vital improvement in construction, which will make it smokeless to all intents and purposes. The new apparatus is an inverted smoke-pipe which falls away to the ground instead of opening vertically upward. The pipe carries the gases, soot and cinders downward to the track instead of releasing them to float in the air. In order to assure the correct draft a fan drives these furnace exhalations downward, and a vapor arrangement moistens the smoke and cinders so that they are dropped to the ground immediately, and are not blown about by the rush of the train.—Illustrated World.

GREAT NEED FOR IMPROVEMENT OF "STOP" SIGNALS.

Cannot Be Considered Perfect Until the "Human Element" in Engine Cab Has Been Entirely Done Away With.

When one stops to consider, aside from the loss of life occasioned, the amount of momentary loss from damaged and destroyed property, lawsuits, etc., caused by railroad wrecks, it is apparent that the railroad management would gladly expend an equal or greater amount to prevent them.

The question here arises, why do the engineers disregard signals? In the case of the Milford wreck, and this applies equally well to others of the same character, the engineer evidently did not see the second or stop signal, if he did the first, which was set at caution. The oversight or neglect of the caution signal might have been through absent-mindedness, but surely not that of the second, writes a correspondent of the New York Sun. From former wide experience as an observer in the locomotive cab I am aware that through temporary absent-mindedness or mental fatigue the retina or eye picture of a semaphore in a certain position may not be recorded in the brain at the time of passing.

The habits of the locomotive engineer are controlled now to a large extent by the railroad management. He must be a man of temperate habits, physically and mentally sound. His work hours are so apportioned as to insure freedom from physical and mental fatigue. He is well paid. Every possible precaution has been taken to insure the reliability of this one man, yet many investigations report that "the wreck was not caused by a defective signal, but through failure of the dead engineer to obey the signal set against him." He might have been suffering from faintness caused by temporary indigestion or irregular heart action, from one of a hundred human equation contingencies. Any engineer in his right senses would no more pass a "stop" signal than he would deliberately run onto a bridge which he knew had been rendered unsafe by a washout.

The safety of every passenger on a railroad journey is dependent on an essential which is beyond the control of any railroad management and which is known as the human element. It is this element which constitutes the final and essential feature of the successful operation of the present day railroad signal system.

Considering the above facts, it seems that, of the different railroad signals constituting a system, the imperative "stop" should be so designed as to eliminate the human element. In other words, that it should be so arranged as to stop the train irrespective of the action of the man at the throttle. That this not only can be but has been accomplished by modern day railroad engineering is witnessed by the fact that a successful automatic train stopping device has been in successful operation for three years past on a railroad operating west out of Chicago and through the Rocky mountains, where in extreme winter blizzards the engine cab windows are so covered with flying snow that the engineer would be obliged to bring his train to a stop in order to observe whether a signal were set against him or not.

Immense American Railroad Line.

If the tracks of one of the great eastern railroad systems were laid in a single line there would be enough to build a standard gauge railroad around the world and double-track it from New York to Kansas City. The exact length of all the railroad lines in the system, whether single, double, triple or quadruple tracked is 11,823 miles. Of these lines, 3,761 miles have two or more tracks, 827 miles have three tracks and 638 miles of track in the sidings, excluding the thousands of connecting sidings owned by industrial and other plants.

Twice Placed in Position.

Bridge Built in Holland, Designed for Use in Java, Given Thorough Test in Yard.

A bridge that is to be built for the Holland government railroad over the Serajoe river in Java has been made complete in the shops in Holland, and so carefully has this been done that no field work will be required in erecting the steel structure other than that of connecting the members. The bridge site is far from any kind of shop facilities, and to make sure that the structure would go together properly it was first erected as carefully as if on its permanent location, in the yards of the manufacturing company in Holland. Following this it was taken down and is to be shipped by steamer to Java. The bridge is of unusual design, consisting of three arched spans of steel connecting with short, straight trusses over the piers. It has a total length of 698 feet 10 inches, and weighs 580 tons. It is designed to carry a single-track railroad having a gauge of 3 1/2 feet.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.
