"Who Shall Have the High Places in Heaven?"

It is strange that some American people, with Bibles wide open, think heaven is to be had by keeping your debts paid, not swearing, not getting drunk, not stealing, nor lying, etc. In other words by your own good deeds; thus making Christ a liar and making void the Cross.

Prof. Max Mueller of Oxford, speaking before the British Bible Society, said that in his long life devoted to study of the religious books of the orient, he found that all religions agreed in guaranteeing man salvation through his own works or good deeds. That is, by following the precepts of his religion man gets to live with God happily forever. Max Mueller tells us there is only one exception, namely, Christianity. Christianity denies any salvation other than that given freely by faith in Christ. However, ample reward is promised for good deeds. There are promotions in heaven. This will be the theme Sabbath morning at the

Music and Speeches Start W. S. S. Drive

Large Crowd Hears Canadian Soldier at High School Auditorium, Saturday Evening.

Sacred Band Concert and Patriotic Speech, Sunday Afternoon, in Kellogg Park Brought Out a Large Number of People.

Saturday Evening
A large crowd was in town, last Saturday, to hear the band concert, see the pictures and hear the patriotic speech. On account of the coolness of the evening, it was thought advisable to have the speech-making part of the evening's entertainment held in the High School auditorium. The Millard band marched to the auditorium, followed by a crowd that filled the lower floor and gallery. After a few selections by the band, William R. Shaw, chairman of the Patriotic Fund committee, introduced the speaker of the evening, Sergeant Golding, a returned Canadian soldier, who gave a most interesting account of his experiences on the battle front in France. During the speech the merchants closed their places of business.

Sunday Afternoon
Sunday afternoon there was a large assemblage in Kellogg Park to hear the sacred band concert by the Millard band and the patriotic speech. The band rendered the program as printed in last week's paper in a manner that was highly pleasing to all who had heard them and it was the sentiment of everybody that it would be a fine thing to have more concerts of this kind on future Sunday afternoons.

William R. Shaw introduced Mr. Hollister of Detroit, who spoke for a half hour or more on the War Savings Stamp campaign. F. C. O'Meara, who was to have spoken, was unable to come, much to the disappointment of the committee.

At the conclusion of the speech, Mr. Shaw made a few remarks in which he invited everybody to go to the bank of A. E. Dibble & Son's store, and make their pledges to take War Savings Stamps, these two business places having been opened for that purpose, with members of the collecting committee present to receive pledges. About $3,000 in pledges were secured that afternoon. The drive is on in Plymouth, and the workers are meeting with splendid success. Nearly everybody is signing up for some of the stamps. When the campaign closes tonight, Plymouth township will have come across as she always does—magnificently.

An Interesting Letter From Sergeant Beals

We are privileged this week to publish a letter from Sergeant Myron H. Beals, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beals, who was reported slightly wounded on April 13th. The many friends of Sergeant Beals will be pleased to know that he has about recovered his usual health again:

"Somewhere in France," May 24, '18

Dearest Mother and All:
It is so long since I have written any of you that I suppose you think I have deserted the family or some other rash deed. We have been on the line and moving continually, and I have been running on low gear for a while, so far as health is concerned, so you have the reason for not hearing from me.
On your birthday, April 13th, the Boche celebrated by bombarding the camp I was in for several hours. I was sleeping in a very comfortable dug-out, and the noise did not awaken me and neither did the gas sentry, so I slept in the gas for quite a while. As a result, I have not been able to talk out loud since, and my throat and right lung have been mighty sore and constantly irritated by a bad cough. For three or four weeks I was absolutely unable to sleep more than three to five hours a day, so you see I was not in the best of shape, for the work we have been doing is pretty fair shape, although I have been decidedly lacking in "pep." The past two weeks though have made a decided improvement in the way I feel. My voice is still a very poor attempt at what it used to be, but I am feeling quite like myself, and I feel sure that all the bad effects will wear off very soon, and I will never know how it happened. There is practically nothing that the medical corps can do for gas, and according to the French it has to wear itself out. I must be well on the road to recovery. I am telling the exact facts in the case, mother, so that you will not worry a bit.
My mail has been coming through in fine shape as usual, and it certainly does help to make life worth living.
I received all the birthday boxes that you sent, and they were in fine condition, and believe me I did eat. They were certainly put up all right, and you know I appreciate it all.
About two weeks ago, we pulled into a town after hiking nearly all day, with not so much to eat, so was rather tired and disgusted, and there I found Mr. Farber waiting for me. He had heard the 97th was going to this town and made a journey of a day and a half to get there. We had a mighty fine visit, and it has been a long time since I was as much pleased to see anyone as I was to see him.
I am mighty glad Gilbert has that position, and I think I can understand what it means to all of you to be together. Sister has written me several times, but will have to share the family replies. My kid brother is evidently doing mighty well too, and, believe me, I am glad of it.
Mr. Rauch, Mr. Hough and others of the family have written me some mighty fine letters, and when you see them or write them I wish you would tell them that I certainly enjoyed hearing from them, and that I hope they keep up the good work. It is nearly impossible to answer them all, so I can only give them my best in this way.
Cassady is still with the company and feeling fine. Have not heard any direct word from Springer. Does his mother hear from him?
Well, we are getting a real taste of "Sunny France," nowadays, in fact, on some of our hikes it has been so hot that it seemed more like our first days in the service, when we were on the island. It turns cool in the evening though, and daylight lasts till 9:30 p. m., so taking everything into consideration, we are having mighty fine weather.
Your news of the parties and good times at home make a fellow a little homesick. We have been in service over here over six months now, and so are entitled to wear the gold chevrons on our left cuff—a little consolation for us. The only way to finish it, however, is to have a load of us stick around and do a little fighting and a lot of good hard work.
Well, there is no more of interest, so I will close for this trip. I am feeling pretty good now and you have no reason to worry a bit about me, even though you do not get letters from me regularly. If I ever get slightly wounded, you will be notified.

A Message from "Over There"

The war occupies first place in our minds today, because it concerns each one of us vitally. Everyone over here wants to hear the many interesting things concerning our boys over there.
Not a soul in Plymouth and vicinity should miss hearing Rev. T. G. Sykes, who has just returned from the battle front, and who will talk at the High school auditorium, tonight (Friday) at 8:00 p. m. He comes under the auspices of the local Red Cross branch. No money will be asked for and admission is free.

Fourth Doings at Northville

Northville is Going to Have Big Doings July the Fourth.

There will be sports for prizes on the "trottoir" in the forenoon and a patriotic parade and calisthumpian affair in the afternoon led by two brass bands, Northville and Belleville. The parade will end at the fair grounds, where a ball game between the Northville and Belleville teams and several horse races will be the attraction. There will also be a carnival on the streets here at the same time with a merry-go-round and a Ferris wheel in full operation.

Plymouth's Big Six-Day Chautauque July 25-30

And you're invited! It's to be a great big patriotic community affair that includes Newburg, Elm, Canton, Salem, and incidentally Plymouth. And this means every farmer and his family in all this great rich territory adjacent to the towns that we have named.

It will be out in a big tent in a shady spot in a location that is easily accessible to everyone.

It is an afternoon and evening affair mainly, at which times the big attractions appear. If you are a boy or girl, you will be greatly interested in the Youth's Chautauque—a week in advance of the adult program—a week replete with interest and profit.

And if you come in this class, right today get in touch with the local Chautauque secretary and find out who is in charge of the Boys' and Girls' Chautauque, and they'll tell you all about the plans. However, all will be deeply interested in knowing something about the general plans that we are making.

Music will be a feature. You love music. Ever see anybody who didn't? Well, if you know anybody who doesn't get him into that Chautauque tent, and he'll come out converted to music. Music is the thing that puts the throb in the heart-beat, and makes life just a little sweeter and a little more worth while.

So we're going to have a musical festival in this six-day Chautauque program with an entirely different musical company each day. No two days will be at all alike. Don't forget that every day will be delightful and inspiring, filled with the holy spirit of our great democracy.

Here's the program—all in a nutshell. Study the whole list through carefully and then refer to your booklet for the story of the men and women that are listed here:

Lecturers
Ada L. Ward, LL. D., Montaville Flowers, William I. Nolan, Louise McIntyre, Margaret Hall, Princess Neawanna.

Entertainers
Jessie DeGross, Robert O. Bowman, The Floyd, The Magill Company, Rita Rich Company, etc.

Musical Numbers
Rita Rich Company, American Glee Club, The Misses Keller Concert company, Lincoln Ladies' Orchestra.

We are assuming here that, of course, you are going to be at the Chautauque. Our purpose in printing this is to lay the facts before you.

The men and women back of this Chautauque are local people. You perhaps know everyone of them. They are men and women who live right here in this town and community. Most of them are busy, busy people. They are hustling to make this thing go, and will get just as much out of it and no more, than you have the opportunity to get.

You will have an opportunity to enjoy a Chautauque program for a few days, to get a bit of wholesome inspiration, to get something of a boost out of the rut into which every man or woman is bound to fall, whether they're busy or idle, rich or poor. Isn't it a fact? We never needed this inspiration and good cheer more than we do now under the stress of this great war.

Now then, if you want to do the right thing, by yourself and these others who are working for this Chautauque's success, try your best today, and let's make this Chautauque the hang-up, biggest success that it's possible to make it.

And keep the date in mind, July 25th to 30th, and the hours for the program, which are given in the booklet, and the price of the tickets (see below) and the location and the big inspiration and community stimulation and great good you are going to get out of it, and we'll see you at the big tent on the opening afternoon and at each of the eleven sessions to follow.

The price of the season ticket is $2.00 (plus 20c war tax) for the twelve sessions if you are over 15; $1.00 (plus 10c war tax) if you are under 15. No charge if you are under 8.

Presbyterian Notes

Word has been received from Private Lee C. Fisher of Camp Pike, Ark., that he is now out of the hospital, after several months confinement there with fever. The company to which Lee belongs, has been sent to an eastern embarkation camp, but he was unable to go.

Rev. Miller has received a scholarship, covering half of his expenses to the Alma college annual conference for ministers, July 17-24. The scholarships are apportioned out to ministers who will submit to the Board of Education a paper on some phase of the rural church problem.

The cold weather, and what promised to be a wet day, prevented the Christian Endeavor society from holding the ice cream and cake sale, last Saturday evening. But look out this Saturday night. About twenty luscious cakes and plenty of ice cream will be in Kellogg Park for the hot and hungry.

Thirty members of the Detroit Presbyterian Ministers' association took an all day outing, last Monday going in autos from First church, Detroit, to Birmingham, visiting the beautiful new Presbyterian church there, thence to Pontiac and Orchard Lake for dinner. In the afternoon the ministers drove to Northville where they crossed bats with the business men's base ball nine of that place. Needless to say everyone present distinguished themselves in one way or another. The score was 8 to 4 in favor of Northville. The Plymouth pastor, who played second base, has rarely felt greater need of judgment than this week.

The Men's Bible class held its monthly meeting, last Tuesday evening, at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfman. Forty persons were present. Among the outdoor games nothing provided more entertainment than the contest between the women present, throw of base ball over the house. Mrs. Chas. Draper won the prize, with a hundred per cent record. In the class meeting committees were appointed to co-operate with other organizations in the church, in arranging for the big meeting when Mr. Farber returns from France. The pastor made a talk, and N. I. Moore gave a reading. The hostess served refreshments of ice cream and cake. The July meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Loomis. The committee will be Fred Bredin, C. G. Draper and O. H. Loomis.

A recital given by the pupils of Miss Elizabeth Penney, assisted by Miss Evangeline Foster and Alta Hamill, was held in the Methodist church, last Wednesday evening. The church was filled with friends of the participants. Special mention should be made of each number as the pupils did their teacher great credit by the splendid way they rendered their selections. Every number was enthusiastically applauded, and the dignity and accuracy in which the pupils played the various numbers did great credit to the ability of Miss Penney as a teacher. The vocal selections rendered by Miss Foster and the recitations by Alta Hamill were especially well received.

Miss Margaret Hall is a graduate of the eighth year's experience in teaching Chautauque and the practical relation of food to health. Her work proves a revelation to house wives and is practical and instructive. Miss Hall comes to the Chautauque platform this summer with full information direct from the Government concerning the need of Food Conservation and practical suggestions that all should hear and heed. Her lecture will be especially appropriate, will be right up to the minute and replete with helpful information along the lines of food economy. Miss Hall is on our Chautauque program.

A Pleasant Surprise
The near relatives of James Purdy invaded his home, last Monday afternoon, June 24th, the occasion being his seventy-fifth birthday, and stayed for an appetizing supper. There was a magnificent birthday cake decorated with smilax and seventy-five candles. It was presented by Mrs. D. P. Yerkes of Northville, to her uncle, James. Mr. Purdy has been color bearer of Eddy Post for a number of years, so his daughter, Mrs. N. I. Moore, presented him with a beautiful large flag. Each relative took an active part in making this gathering a pleasant affair, and Mr. Purdy, in turn, entertained the company by exhibiting his wonderful museum, and giving an instructive talk about the specimens in his collection. As a natural lover of nature, Mr. Purdy has collected valuable data, that is being used, both by the state and nation. He is a contributor to a volume called, "Birds of Michigan," and a new work being gotten out by the United States government and yet uncompleted. After wishing their host many more happy returns of the day, all reluctantly departed, only to store the memory of the happy hours for many years to come.

FUND PERFECTS PAYMENT PLAN
BANKS AND STORES THROUGHOUT COUNTY COLLECTING ON PATRIOTIC PLEDGES.
GREAT PRAISE GIVEN TOWNSHIPS
Generous Support in May Campaign Was Much Appreciated, Says Secretary.
A convenient plan for the payment of Patriotic Fund pledges in the various townships of Wayne county has been worked out by the executive committee of the fund. Banks or stores in practically every town in the county have consented to act as connection agencies for these "mercy dollars" and have been provided with official receipt books. This plan makes it unnecessary for subscribers living in the townships to go all the way to Detroit to make their payments. They may still pay at Patriotic Fund headquarters, 100 Griswold street, Detroit, when they are visiting the city, if they prefer, or may mail their remittances to headquarters, but it is expected the majority of these subscribers will avail themselves of the opportunity of paying in their own districts. Because of the remarkable showing made by the townships in the May drive, when these districts, exclusive of the big down-river plants, contributed over $250,000, the executive committee of the Patriotic Fund felt that these communities were entitled to equal consideration with the city. "We want the people of Wayne county to know that we appreciate their generous support in the Patriotic Fund campaign," said W. J. Norton, secretary of the fund. "Our county organization, under E. W. Yost, gave a splendid account of itself, and we feel that it is our duty to back up that organization by facilitating collection of the money so willingly subscribed as far as possible. The bankers and other business men of the townships have shown a fine spirit in consenting to act as collection agents for the fund. This co-operation on their part will save many thousands of dollars for the use of the Red Cross and other war relief agencies participating in the Patriotic Fund, which otherwise would have to be spent for postage, clerical help, etc. in this way we will be able to keep the expense of administration down to a minimum, and we expect that practically 100 per cent of the money subscribed will be devoted to the humanitarian purposes to which our organization is dedicated." All the payment stations have been provided with window cards bearing the caption "Pay Here," with the Patriotic Fund emblem below. Receipts are issued in triplicate, the original going to the subscriber, the duplicate to the Patriotic Fund and the triplicate to the agency. June payments are now being received at all the agencies. July payments are due July 15. The Patriotic Fund reports a total of $1,900,000 now in hand. Following are the authorized county collection agencies as established to date: Bellefonte—Peoples State bank. Canton—F. Winsor. Dearborn—Dearborn State bank. Ecorse—Ecorse State bank. Is Everything as You Want It

Is Your School Grounds and Equipment All They Should Be?

It may be a trifle early to call attention to the fact that on Monday evening, July 8th, will occur the annual meeting of the school districts of Michigan.

The importance of the attendance of every parent and taxpayer at their respective school meetings is patent. This, however, does not discharge their full obligation toward the institutions that are and will continue to be the greatest factor in the molding of the young life of rural Michigan.

These men and women should carefully weigh beforehand every matter that will have an influence on school life. This is none too early to review the various items that ought at least to come before the school meeting. The condition of the school grounds is a matter that should be given careful consideration. Are these grounds well drained, properly graded, arranged and planted to give the boys and girls who pass the major portion of their wakeful hours there the best chance to develop into big, bright, broad-minded men and women? Is the school building itself in good repair, and so arranged that the teacher can render the most efficient service to the scholars and the community? Is the school supplied with suitable equipment such as a variety of seats and desks adapted to the various ages of pupils, ventilating system as good at least as the best dairymen of our state provide for their cattle; an adequate heating system, shades, curtains, pictures, maps, charts, reference books and a library?

Such things should be talked over and considered beforehand, and then the matter taken up at the annual meeting.

Cut Down Your Beef Rations

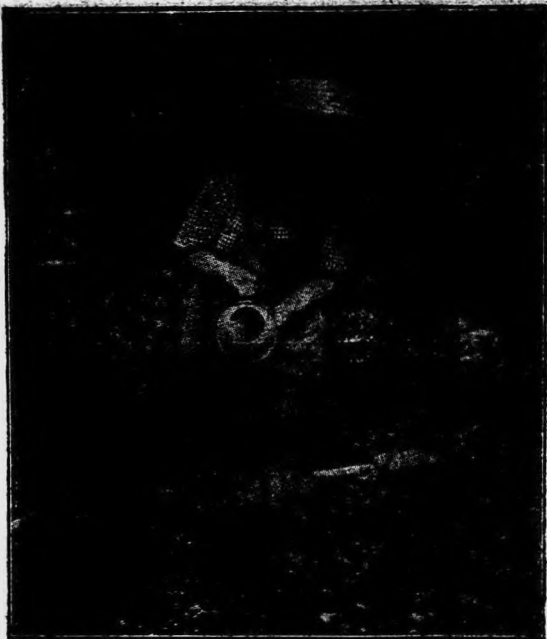

State Food Administrators, Michigan: On account of increasing demand for beef for our growing army, we ask householders not under any circumstances to buy more than one and one-fourth pounds of clear beef or one and one-half pounds including the bone, per person, per week. There is an increased supply of pork in the country, therefore we urge people to substitute fresh pork, bacon, ham and sausages to a certain extent for beef products.

Proper Treatment of American Flag

Prepared by National Committee of Patriotic Societies.

When the colors are passing, the spectator, if a man, should halt if walking, arise if sitting, and uncover, holding the head-dress opposite the left shoulder with the right hand. A woman should stand attention as the flag passes by.

When the flag is waving from a stationary flag-staff or pole it is not saluted with the hand. In decorating, the flag should never be festooned or draped. Always hung flat. If hung with stripes horizontal, Union should be in upper left corner. If hung perpendicularly, Union should be in upper right corner.

When the flag is carried in parade or when crossed with other flags, the Stars and Stripes should always be at the right.

The law specifically forbids the use of and representation of the flag in any manner or in any connection with merchandise for sale.

The flag should be raised at sunrise and lowered at sunset. It should not be displayed on stormy days or, except under fire of the enemy, left out over night. Although there is not authoritative ruling which compels civilians to lower the flag at sunset, good taste should impel them to follow the traditions of the army and navy in this sundown ceremonial.

On Memorial day the flag should be displayed at half-mast from sunrise until noon, and at the peak from noon until sunset. It should on being retired, never be allowed to touch the ground.

When the "Star-Spangled Banner" is played or sung, uncover, stand and remain standing IN SILENCE, until it is finished.

Applause at the conclusion of the "Star Spangled Banner" is out of place.

Worn out and useless flags should be destroyed by burning.

A flag torn and frayed by the wind and weather should never again be hoisted until it has been repaired. This is a regulation of both army and navy, and should also be followed by all civilians.

Take Care of Your Capital The fertility of your soil is your working capital. Everything you have depends upon it. It determines the value of your land, the yield of your crops, the size of your bank account, the measure of your success. Take care of it. Watch it as every business man watches and takes care of his capital. Every planted acre in the United States that has not been properly fertilized in the past can be made to produce an increase this year. Take that pile of stable manure that has accumulated through the winter and top dress your growing crops with it, using a Low 20th Century Manure Spreader. This is an easy running, light draft, wide spreading machine. It saves labor. It saves time. It saves fertilizer. It increases crop yields. With a 20th Century you can make every acre produce to its limit. Use it for top dressing. It spreads so wide that it dresses three rows of corn at once. It spreads evenly because it gives the manure a double beating, breaks it up into small pieces, and spreads it out beyond the rear wheel tracks. Three sizes—small, medium and large—all light draft machines with narrow boxes. The size you buy will do just the kind of spreading your soil needs to make it produce bumper crops. Telephone your order, or come in and get a 20th Century spreader. We can make immediate deliveries. HENRY J. FISHER North Village Phone 70

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attend the making of this great medicine for woman's use.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ailments.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

PAYING OUR DEBT TO FRANCE

"AFAYETTE, we are here." In these simple words, General Pershing gave eloquent expression to the thought that America today is but paying her debt to France.

The words of General Pershing were spoken as he stood at the tomb of Lafayette, French aristocrat by birth but democrat at heart, who gave his own services and fortune to the cause of American independence and was instrumental in bringing from France the aid that turned the tide in favor of the revolutionists.

Those of the present generation who are not familiar with early American history are apt not to realize the magnitude of the debt which the United States owes to France and to the memory of the gallant Lafayette.

It is not generally remembered that France furnished more troops than America at the battle of Yorktown, where final victory was won for the struggling colonists.

At the time of the declaration of independence of the United States, Lafayette was only in his nineteenth year. His life had been one of ease and luxury.

France, moreover, advanced to the depleted treasury of the revolutionists the equivalent of $50,000,000, without interest, a loan or gift which she has never claimed.

And it was almost wholly due to Lafayette that this invaluable aid was given by France to the new republic.

At the time of the declaration of independence of the United States, Lafayette was only in his nineteenth year. His life had been one of ease and luxury.

Washington at once welcomed him to his staff. As soon as the opportunity offered the leader of the Continental army put Lafayette in command of large bodies of men and that judgment was well justified.

The marquis was severely wounded at Brandywine without being aware of it for a time, so intense was his devotion to duty.

Washington once remarked to Lafayette that to one accustomed to being with French troops the appearance of the soldiers of the colonies must indeed have seemed unusual.

Part of the year 1770 was spent by Lafayette in France, where he did so much to get substantial aid from the French government, which was then in actual war with Great Britain.

That victory ultimately rested upon the American standards was largely due to those activities in Paris, for the coming of the French fleet was a deciding factor in the long and unequal struggle for American independence.

Lafayette was received with affection and admiration by those who had so bitterly opposed his going from France, and he gained support even from the powerful Noailles, father of the Marquis.

Lafayette was then not of age, boyish in appearance, and had never studied English until he began his seven-weeks' voyage across the Atlantic.

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY, A GIFT FROM THE PEOPLE OF FRANCE

of freedom. Declaration of rights drawn in the revolution. To him also it owed its tricolor flag, the same red, white and blue as that which glorifies our own Stars and Stripes.

Lafayette's attitude to the English was revealed when, while visiting his uncle, the Marquis de Noailles, then ambassador to the Court of St. James, he declined all invitations to visit arsenals and shipyards, believing that by so doing he would be taking an unfair advantage of a nation which was to be his foe through the stupidity of a ruler who could not and would not understand.

His home in Paris after the close of the war of the revolution became a place of rendezvous for both English and Americans.

"Since the war is over and we have won it," he wrote to General Washington in 1783. "I have, I confess, an extreme pleasure in meeting English people. Either as a Frenchman, or a soldier, or an American, or a mere individual, I find myself without embarrassment in the presence of that proud nation."

There could have been no gentler acts of courtesy than those which he did when Cornwallis had surrendered at Yorktown, for he had the highest opinion of the British commander as a man, and as he modestly wrote Cornwallis, "held him in high esteem."

Long before there were hands stretched across the sea between this country and England, Lafayette, the American general, was doing much to bring about a reunion of the two nations which are brothers of one blood.

Buyers Have Fairly Flocked to See this Car

It has won an amazing welcome. Men see in Model E-Six-Forty-five a marvel of motor car progress. This car reveals one with expensive materials, perfect engineering, and whose smoothness and flexibility are comparable to those of the costly class car; whose power, speed and stamina have been proved time and again in public test and private performance; whose acceleration, coolness, hill climbing ability have never been equalled by cars of like price. We are anxious to have you inspect the model Buick, Valve-in-Head.

KING'S CORNERS

Lieut. Warner of Plymouth, is wounded in France. This clipping taken from a Sunday paper might interest some of the readers of the Plymouth Mail. Washington, June 15.—Lieutenant Russell A. Warner reported seriously wounded in Saturday's casualty list with Washington residence, was born in Plymouth, Michigan, 31 years ago. He was prominent in track athletics in Detroit and vicinity; subsequently he was with the general Electric Company at the Schenectady and Pittsfield, Mass., plants, and was sent by that company to Washington to study patent law. He was graduated by the National University Law School, last month, although then in France, where he went last November. He was commissioned in the engineers at the first officers' camp at Fort Myer, and sent to Camp Lee, Virginia, before going overseas. He has a wife and child here. This and other similar reports are taken to indicate the presence of engineers in the front lines.

PERRINSVILLE

There was a fine crowd at church, Sunday, the occasion being Father's day. Nearly every father in the community was there. A fine sermon was preached by Rev. Smith, his text being Hebrews 7:18, "God at sundry times and in divers manners speaks in times past unto the fathers by the prophets." Everyone is cordially invited to attend church next Sunday. Sunday-school at 9:00 and church at 9:30, eastern time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kubik and Frank Jacob and Peter Kubik spent Sunday in Detroit. Mrs. George Baeher spent Thursday with her brother, Miles Bills, in Wayne. A Great Feature for the State Fair

During the ten days of the 1918 Michigan State Fair, the most spectacular display of patriotic, historical, allegorical and educational fireworks that has ever been shown in Michigan will be staged. This demonstration being arranged by the Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Display Company of Chicago, producers of the most gorgeous pyrotechnics in the world, will immediately arouse the audience to the highest pitch of patriotism, thriving in every breast to break into fervor. The effort, time and money which has been spent lavishly in arranging and financing the spectacle is another step towards the primary aspiration of G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the Fair Association, to make the coming exposition a gigantic and forceful war agent. At the grand opening of the fair on Friday evening, August 30, the most stupendous patriotic pageant ever attempted in Detroit will be produced. Thousands of soldiers, sailors, Boy Scouts, Red Cross nurses, members of fraternal societies and mounted police will be in the marching line. Governor Slinger and his escort will review the pageant from the stand in front of the grand stand.

At the close of the parade the mammoth spectacle, "The World's War" and "Our Boys Over There," will be shown in fireworks. Hundreds of soldiers, sailors, and aursers will be used in this presentation. It will open with a display and bombardment. "Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue." Facing the spectators appear three huge columns of fire, one red, one white and one blue. Simultaneously from twenty shells three hundred feet high, national colored fiery pennants are released. Suddenly with a mighty roar, one hundred national colored star rockets will rise into the air from three points, blazing deep into the sky the colors of the United States to the accompaniment of furious volleys of aerial detonations. "The World at War" is a masterpiece of spectacular ingenuity, depicting in a most realistic manner modern warfare with all its horrors, together with the arrival of the United States in France; receptions by the natives and troops of the allied powers; bombardment of a city; blowing up of forts; destruction of historic bridges; spectacles at the fronts of the trenches of the enemy; modern engines of war; huge storage guns, tanks, aeroplanes and barrage balloons and the troops of all nations, correctly costumed, in grand review and in battle action. These features will be reproduced in a most realistic manner, many scenes that are being enacted today in Europe.

The scenic arrangement is far superior to that used in the "Last Days of Pompeii," which has been one of the most beautiful displays exhibited in America for a number of years.

A mammoth canvas painting in oil, nearly 450 feet long, showing a city "Somewhere in France," forms the background. On this are portrayed the market places, taverns, government buildings, palaces, houses of worship and all the familiar spots in the city. The scenes begin before the war, with France at peace with the world, and end with the ruins of a little village after being pillaged by the Huns. The entertainment is concluded by a gorgeous tableau depicting a fitting patriotic scene. Seventy-three numbers are presented during the evening. Take a look at the missing word contest. Cholera Morbus. This is a very painful and dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood someone has died from it before medicine could be obtained or a physician summoned. The right way to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the home is to be prepared for it. Mrs. Charles Stewart, Readington, Ind., writes: "During the summer of 1911, two of my children were taken sick with cholera morbus. I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it gave them immediate relief."—A.M.
