Here Yet and Going Strong!

We've been in business here a good many years. And we're still prospering in a modest sort of way. To our mind that proves something that ought to be of interest to you.

In all this time we have built up a real following of well-pleased customers, otherwise we should have lost out in the race long ago.

If that means anything, it means that you can come here today or any day and get satisfactory clothes at satisfactory prices, with some real service thrown in for good measure!

Chautauqua Season Ticket Values

Is the Chautauqua ticket worth $2.00? That's the question we want every man to answer for himself, and in answering to consider a few facts. We will have fifteen or more high grade, but distinctly different attractions in the full six-days program. They will consist in musical companies, entertainers and lecturers, all top-notch quality; in fact the very best the Chautauqua affords, and Chautauqua audiences are a finely discriminating lot, you may be sure. In this statement, we are asking you to consider but three of the fifteen or more attractions. They are an entirely different type, doing altogether different work, and about the only respect in which they are similar is in the fact that they are all making good in a very big way, and to hear any one of them would be worth the whole cost of the ticket. Here are the names: Ada Ward, L.L. A.; Hon. W. I. Nolan and Montaville Flowers.

The Annual School Meeting

The annual school meeting of District No. 1, Ft., was held in the High School auditorium last Monday evening. A fairly good representation of the taxpayers of the district were present, a total of seventy-seven votes being cast. The meeting was called to order by Dr. Luther Peck, president of the board of education. Miss Lina Durfee, secretary and treasurer read the annual financial statement of the board, which was approved and accepted by the meeting. Miss Durfee also read a splendid report of the library finances. The budget, as presented for the coming year's expense of maintaining the schools, calls for a direct tax appropriation of $25040.00.

Picnic and Presentation

A very enjoyable picnic in honor of Miss Lucy Lapham was given by the ladies of St. John's Episcopal mission in Benton's woods on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 3rd. Miss Lapham has been identified with the mission since its organization, and since the death of Dr. W. H. Betts she has been the organist and a faithful worker in the field. An all fresco luncheon was provided by the ladies, during the course of which the Ven. Archbishop Robinson arose and gave the benediction. The program was a very pleasant one. He spoke of the love and esteem in which Miss Lapham was held, not only by the members of the Guild, but also by every member of the mission and the community. On behalf, therefore, of the ladies, he presented her with a set of French cooking dishes and wished her every happiness in her future state. The Rev. H. Midworth supplemented the remarks of the Archbishop and referred to the happy and important step she was about to take. He was sure the union could not be otherwise than a happy one and that all young couples should be encouraged to do so. The Rev. H. Midworth presented the remarks of the Archbishop and referred to the happy and important step she was about to take. He was sure the union could not be otherwise than a happy one and that all young couples should be encouraged to do so.

Grainger-Stoneburner

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Ida Stoneburner and Dr. R. M. Grainger, both of this village. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Congdon, near South Lyon, Sunday afternoon, June 30th, at five o'clock. Dr. William Bryant, pastor of the Presbyterian church at South Lyon officiated. The bride has been a resident of Plymouth for several years, while the groom is well known here, having a wide practice as a veterinary surgeon. Dr. and Mrs. Grainger will continue to make their home in Plymouth, and their many friends extend best wishes and congratulations.

Grove-Hubbard

Another war marriage was solemnized, last Monday afternoon at four o'clock, when Mrs. Pearl Hubbard became the wife of John H. Grove of Co. G, 338th Infantry, home on short leave from Camp Custer. The marriage took place at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. Frank M. Field performing the ceremony. Mrs. Grove will continue to reside here, and Mr. Grove expects most any day to be ordered across with the Eighty-fifth division.

Plymouth "Over Top"

Plymouth goes "over the top" in the War Savings Stamp sale with its quota of $40,000 pledged and then some. We also have the honor of being what place for $1,000 cash. The members of the local committee who gave their time and efforts to put the drive across so successfully, are to be congratulated on their splendid work.

Mr. Charles Curtis, who has been visiting his husband in Florida, has returned home for a short time. Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, has been in Plymouth on the Chautauqua tour.

New Sugar Regulations

In order that there may be no hoarding of sugar and that a condition may prevail so that all householders may obtain their necessary amount of all kinds, the U. S. Food Department has issued a new set of rules that is deemed just and efficient, as follows:

Retail stores (not customers) are all put on a card system.

Sales to town customers are limited to two pounds, and country customers to five pounds. The retailer is authorized not to sell more than three pounds per person per month to householders, whose co-operation with the retailer is earnestly sought.

Retailers may, as at present, sell as much of sugar to anyone household for home cooking, upon the householders certifying that he has not bought elsewhere, and his agreement to return any balance not used for cooking purposes. These sales are permitted to sell or obtain additional sugar (more than the first 10 lbs.) for home cooking, must be for home cooking, verified by the local Food Administration.

There is plenty of sugar for all necessary requirements if the government will only regulate what the people must use, and not what they may use.

The Confessions of a German Deserter

Written by a Prussian Officer Who Participated in the Ravaging and Pillaging of Belgium

TERRIFIC SLAUGHTER MARKS OPENING OF THE HISTORIC BATTLE OF THE MARNE

Synopsis.—The author of these confessions, an officer in the pioneers' corps of the German army, a branch of the service corresponding to the engineers' corps of the United States army, is sent into Belgium with the first German forces invading that country.

CHAPTER VI.

At 12 o'clock, midnight, we were alarmed and half an hour later were on the march. The cool night air felt good, and despite our weariness, we made rapid progress.

The little town of Pogny, located midway between Chalons-sur-Marne and Vitry-le-Francois, fared no better than Cheppy, a fact which we discovered when we entered there at nine o'clock.

We were now considerably nearer the spot where the guns were roaring, and retreating of wounded and the munition columns showed us that west of Vitry-le-Francois, a terrible battle raged.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, we arrived at Vitry-le-Francois after a forced march. The city was filled with wounded, but the town itself was not damaged.

Lying prone upon the ground, we saw how the first of our men attempted to pass. They ran, unmindful of the shells bursting around them, like madmen; others were buried under ground thrown up by the high-power explosives, or torn by shrapnel or grenades.

You can imagine the feelings of those who lay on the ground not 100 feet away witnessing this spectacle, and waiting their turn.

An officer cried: "Next!" It was my turn. As if aroused from a nightmare, I sprang up, my gun in my right hand, sidestepping in my left, and ran ahead. I dodged two shells just as they burst and ran close to several others, bursting in the same instant.

Throwing caution to the winds, prepared to meet death and the devil himself, I at last ran blindly ahead; ran, ran, ran, until someone seized my coat tail and shouted in my ear: "Here we are. Are you wounded? You had better look. Perhaps you are wounded and don't know it."

Presently some wounded were brought up. There were about 45 men and a sergeant took command. Nothing more was seen of our officers.

We continued to advance and passed several German batteries. Many had stopped heavily in dead and wounded men lay around them in great numbers.

"It is impossible to bring ammunition through the barrage."

communication with our bases, ran directly into the trap set for us by the French. Before the first ammunition and other relief supplies reach us we will all be killed."

Up to this time we had trusted blindly in the invincible strategy of our great general staff. Now it was brought home to us on all sides that the French were fighting at home, close to their greatest source of supply, and had excellent railroad connections at their disposal.

As we approached the enemy's trenches, we were met with a heavy machine gun fire, and in double-quick step hurried to the temporary protection of hastily thrown up dugouts.

We were secretly established when the French attacked en masse. The occupants of these trenches, whom we had re-enforced had already repulsed several of these attacks.

We fired until the barrels of our guns became red-hot. The enemy turned. The victims of our fire already lying in heaps in No Man's Land between our lines and the enemy's were increased by hundreds.

It is dark, and it rains and rains. All about us in the darkness are heard the wounded weeping, moaning, imploring. Their cries are augmented by other wounded closer by.

The rain falls harder constantly and now we get wet to the skin. We shoot blindly into the night. The fluctuating darkness becomes more and more dense.

We were now in a position to see the enemy's machine gunners and their ammunition belts. My machine gunner said: "What do you see?" "A tank!" "What do you see?" "A tank!" "What do you see?" "A tank!"

We were now in a position to see the enemy's machine gunners and their ammunition belts. My machine gunner said: "What do you see?" "A tank!" "What do you see?" "A tank!" "What do you see?" "A tank!"

I realized finally that this man had lost his reason. A man passed bringing ammunition and I asked him to fetch the commander at once. The officer arrived, accompanied by an infantry lieutenant. I met them and reported that my neighbor had been firing on the wounded, talking nonsense, and undisturbedly by us.

"Can you see anything?" he asked. "See! No. But I hear them moaning and weeping. As soon as I hit one he is quiet for a few days!"

The blind firing continued. The cries of the wounded became constantly louder.

Why? These wounded lying between the two fighting lines are exposed to the firing of both parties. No one can help them for it would be insanity to venture into No Man's Land.

Our trench was filled with several inches of water and underneath that, mud. In this morass lay dead and wounded, thrown together. It became necessary to make room and so the dead were thrown over the ramparts.

Hardly had we regained our trenches when the French attacked us. They came within three meters of our trench, and here their attack broke down under our fire.

Three times in two hours the French attacked, always with heavy losses and no results. We were at our wit's end. Unless help came soon it would be impossible for us to hold the position.

The French troops, held in contempt by the Germans before the war, halt the Prussian military machine on the second and third days of the battle of the Marne and the German line breaks under the terrific assaults of the French.

GOLD IN NORTHERN SIBERIA

Ninety Degrees Below Zero is Record for the Whole World—Eighty Above in Summer Time.

Turn up your collar, thrust your hands to the bottom of your pockets, and read about the "cold pole" of northern Siberia, where the natives speak patronizingly about Greenland's icy mountains and other such relatively balmy resorts.

While the regions about the north and south poles of the earth are cold all the time, the Siberian cold pole gives its inhabitants a comfortable let-up in summer, when the thermometer frequently climbs up into the 80's above zero.

HOW THE SALMON TRAVELS

Observer Tells of Fish's Astonishing Ability to Ascend a Waterfall.

Scientists as well as laymen tell extraordinary stories of the wonderful leaps whereby salmon ascend waterfalls. One investigator, who has studied the salmon of southeastern Alaska, asserts that these fish do not select a particular point of attack in endeavoring to surmount a fall.

They show a remarkable lack of accuracy as well as of definiteness in their movements. When trying to ascend a fall they sail through the air, with the body rigid and the fins spread and held tense, and at the instant when the momentum of the jump is lost they impart a rapid and powerful vibration of the tail.

Should the fish reach water at the top of the fall this motion insures the maintenance of its position. In open water they jump sidewise instead of lengthwise, and there is no movement of the tail.

Red-Hot Weather! Stomach Off?

No Appetite? Mouth Dry? Tongue Stiff and a PIERCE THIRST? Here's Relief!!

Hot, heavy foods and food drinks often play havoc with the stomach in hot weather. The weak ones haven't a chance.

When you have that dull, depressed feeling after eating—stomach pains, bowel disorders, heartburn or nausea, belching, food repeating—it is the danger-point. You want to look out—and be quick about it in this hot weather.

A way has been discovered to make sick stomachs well and to keep them cool and sweet. It is a commonsense way. No starvation plan of diet is needed. Make this test and see how quickly you get a good appetite in hot weather and enjoy the China sea with untold safety.

AMERICAN GLEE CLUB

Several qualities distinguish the American Glee Club. While recognizing the importance of variety in chautauqua programs, this company believes that a quartet should put emphasis upon ensemble singing.

Messrs. Smith and Holmes are composers well known in the musical world. Mr. Holmes wrote the march, "The Prospector," used as the official march at the St. Louis Fair, and played by a band of over eleven hundred musicians.

HARPISTE

MISS MARIE McADOO

Miss McAdoo is often asked how she happened to study the harp. When quite a small child she heard a harpist, and his playing, and his beautiful golden harp made such a deep impression on her that from that day it was her ambition to study the instrument and have one of her own.

Clay Smith and G. E. Holmes are brilliant artists upon trombone, saxophone, flute and cornet and are known among band musicians everywhere.

WAR AND CHAUTAUQUA

"I am constantly facing the splendid results of the work done by the Chautauquas in this country in creating and sustaining a sound patriotic public feeling, and in carrying forward the great national enterprises which the government is necessarily bringing to the attention of our people; and I want you to know that as an officer of the government I not only appreciate the importance of the lecture platform as a means of communication and expansion, but also appreciate the work which you and your associates are doing as a contribution to our national cause."

LINCOLN CHAUTAUQUAS

The Lincoln Chautauquas are helping to win the war. Its lecturers are being instructed by Uncle Sam's officials to correctly inform the people on the Government's activities. Superb programs for 1918 will give great inspiration to all the people. High quality and constructive community service are our ideals. Our fourteenth year will be our best in educational achievement.

STATE FAIR EXECUTIVE ATTAINS SUCCESS

G. W. Dickinson Forces Michigan Exposition Into Rank of Five Largest Fairs in the United States. Attributes Achievement to Support Given by the Farmers of the State.

Man's success in life is measured ordinarily, by those benefits which he has secured for his fellowman and derived for himself. It is this standard which is accepted by the board of directors of the Michigan State Fair, year after year, in selecting G. W. Dickinson as Secretary-Manager of the association.

During his private life at Pontiac, Mr. Dickinson has been recognized as a successful merchant, banker and farmer. Even now, he maintains one of the finest farms in Oakland county where he is continually carrying on agricultural experiments and breeding registered cattle. And, it is through being in constant contact with the agricultural and stock breeding conditions of the state that he has been able to place the Michigan State Fair on its present pedestal.

The Ann Arbor Civic association has received a letter from the chamber of commerce of Macon, Ga., enclosing an editorial from the Macon News, in which the boys from Michigan, who have been transferred from Camp Center to Camp Wheeler, are spoken of very highly. Evidently the people of Macon have taken these boys into their hearts, at least the Macon News says so, and the spirit of the new union of the north and south is lauded very highly in the accompanying comment.—Ann Arbor Times News.

A couple who claimed to be "big circus" actors put on a vaudeville act on the street, Tuesday evening. The woman succeeded in being a number of annuals, and the man succeeded in getting about $4 out of the crowd. The time was about evenly spent between acting and taking the collection. The hit of the entertainment was made by a thin man who had a fringe beard and a topknot, and who sang a song about a girl who had a fringe beard and a topknot.

UNIQUE FEATURE AT STATE FAIR

Gigantic Sixty-foot Column Constructed of Fruits and Vegetables to Be Erected.

Many new and unique features have been secured for the 1918 Michigan State Fair, at Detroit, August 30 to September 8, but one of the most beautiful and striking displays will be the Fruit and Vegetable column. Nothing similar has ever been attempted in Michigan. A gigantic column, standing 60 feet in height and 15 feet in circumference, will be constructed of every variety of fruit, vegetables and grains obtainable.

For the designs on the main portion of the column-vegetables and flowers will be utilized while the filling will be composed of grain, apples, pears and green and red peppers. The shield at the base will be prepared with nuts and spices while the foundation of the structure will be made up of the larger vegetables such as melons, pumpkins and squashes. Topping the pillar sheaves of wheat and sheaves of corn will sway before the breezes and Old Glory will float at the pinnacle proclaiming to the world her pride in the products of the United States.

Grand Cavalcade at State Fair

Million Dollar Livestock Parade Will Be Held On Saturday, September 7.

The annual Grand Cavalcade and the Million Dollar Livestock parade of the Michigan State Fair will be held this year, at noon on Saturday, September 7. All of the grand and first prize winners among the horses and cattle, will pass in review before the grandstand. The fair will be held in Detroit from August 30 to September 8, and on account of the increased activity in livestock raising, through the necessity of war, G. W. Dickinson, Secretary-Manager of the fair association, announces the cavalcade will be larger and more impressive than ever.

THE LINCOLN YOUTHS CHAUTAUQUA

Dear Girls and Boys:

Did you know that you are going to have a Chautauqua all your own this year? The Junior Supervisor is coming to stay with you for a whole week before the adult Chautauqua starts. You will play games, run races, and go on hikes, and on the fifth night you will have a big parade and play festival. Then the supervisor is going to tell you some fine stories and you will have such a good time. A college man with the team will give special attention to the boys' athletics during the week.

You are going to be on the program of the big Chautauqua; just think of that! We are giving a play this year called "Columbia's Awakening" and we want all the boys and girls in your town to take part. It is a patriotic play especially emphasizing Thrift Good Fairy Thrift, Martha and George Washington, Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia and many others characters will be represented by the young people of your community.

This is your play and will be given the opening night of the adult Chautauqua. The Junior Supervisor will tell you all about it when she arrives and will help you make a big success of it. You will have a chance to sell season tickets and the supervisor will co-operate with you in putting on a campaign for the sale of Thrift Stamps.

The Lincoln Youths' Chautauqua has been growing more popular each year and now you can prove to your fathers and mothers that you can make a success not only of your Chautauqua, but help them make a success of theirs and at the same time be doing your bit, every one of you, for Uncle Sam in helping win the war. You have a wonderful opportunity and I know I am going to be proud of the success achieved by you.

Youths' season tickets $ to 15 years inclusive, will be $1.00 as heretofore. Buy your ticket early and urge your parents and friends to do the same. Ask the supervisor to tell you how you can earn the money to buy your own ticket. She will be glad to help you in every way possible.

Now, remember, you are going to have two full weeks of good times and I want you to be right on hand the day your supervisor arrives so as to not miss anything; meet her at the train if you possibly can and give her a royal welcome. Show her that you boys and girls are wide awake. If you want to know anything more about your Chautauqua I will be glad to have you write me.

Yours for a big success, MYNIE E. GORDON, Director of Lincoln Youths' Chautauqua.
