THOMAS A. EDISON SAYS:

We're living at high pressure. Business cares; household worries; and then on top of it all the wearing strain of war—these mean nervous tension. An evening of music means a let-down; complete relaxation for taut nerves. Never was a solace of music more needed. And of all musical instruments none can offer such richness and variety as

SERBIA CRUCIFIED

Major Cressy Gave Thrilling Recital of Hun Atrocities Sunday Night.

With a thrilling story of Hun horrors gleaned from his four years experience in the war and with actual photographs taken with his own camera to substantiate all that he said, Major Wm. H. Cressy of the Serbian army made a deep impression on a capacity audience at the Methodist church last Sunday evening.

Major Cressy is an American physician, a native of Michigan, who served in the Spanish-American war and on the Mexican border, but at the outbreak of the war volunteered for service as a surgeon in the Russian army and was put in charge of the field hospital service for the southern Russian army which campaigned toward the Balkan states. After more than a year there he was on his way home, when the need of the Serbian army drew him into its service and since that time he has been in charge of the Franco-Serbian Field Hospital in the Serbian army.

Sunday night he vividly presented the heroic resistance of that gallant little nation of Serbia to the German program of extermination, in which four million out of the five million population were wiped out, together with four out of every five of their brave army. And yet they would not talk peace with Germany when it was offered and were driven into the mountains of Albania and Montenegro, suffering greatly from lack of food, clothing and supplies. In spite of this, Major Cressy claims that they have made greater advances in pushing the enemy back than all other fronts combined.

The field hospital service in which Major Cressy is interested is a voluntary service, the surgeons and nurses serving without compensation and it being supported by voluntary contributions. The Plymouth audience responded splendidly to the opportunity to help this war cause with an offering of two hundred and twenty-five dollars.

Major Cressy's original photographs shown with the stereoscopes will never be forgotten by the four hundred people who saw them here. They not only showed the heroic struggles of the brave Serbian army and the merciful service of the field hospitals, but evidences of such inhuman brutality on the part of the Germans as one could not believe if the evidence were not so positive. The friends of hell could not invent more frightful methods of torture.

PLYMOUTH STILL BEHIND IN LOAN QUOTA

Local Committee Redouble Their Efforts to Put Plymouth "Over the Top."

Plymouth lacks a number of thousand dollars of meeting her quota of the Fourth Liberty Loan Wednesday night the total subscriptions were about $160,000. Our quota is $190,050. The salesmen are making a fine tooth comb campaign in their efforts to raise our quota. Many subscribers have doubled their subscriptions, and many more will have to do so if we go "over the top," and that is just what we are going to do. We have got to—Plymouth has never failed yet and it is too late to begin now.

The investigating committee are busy getting after some of the delinquents who have not yet come across. They have been very successful in their efforts. They are also asking subscribers, who in the opinion of the reviewing committee have not subscribed what the committee feel they ought, to double their subscriptions.

It's going to be some job to put Plymouth "over the top," but if every citizen who can possibly do so will put his shoulder to the wheel and push just a little it will be easy. Now, all together, buy another bond. The campaign closes Saturday, October 19th.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED

About twenty-five friends and neighbors gave Miss Amelia Gayde a pleasant surprise at her home on Starkweather avenue, last Friday evening, the occasion being her birthday. Cards were the entertainment of the evening, and dainty refreshments were served. Miss Gayde was the recipient of several handsome pieces of ivory (gift articles), and at a late hour the guests departed wishing her many happy returns of the day.

A pleasant surprise was given Mrs. H. A. Spicer at her home on East Ann Arbor street, late Wednesday afternoon, when her children and families and a few other friends gathered there in remembrance of her birthday. They brought with them many good things to eat and a delicious supper was served. During the evening, Mrs. Spicer was presented with a handsome electric table lamp. After a happy evening, the guests departed, wishing their hostess many more such pleasant occasions. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. William Wabaly and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ayers and son, Mr. and Mrs. William Webster and Mr. and Mrs. John Spicer of Detroit, H. W. Spicer and family of West Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Spicer and their son Philip, of this place.

NEW THEATRE TO OPEN

The Plymouth Theatre will open its doors on Friday, October 11th, with the play "The Sign of the Cross" by William Shakespeare.

Woman's Literary Club

After a vacation of three months, about forty members of the Woman's Literary Club gathered at the home of the president, Mrs. C. H. Bennett, on Main street, last Friday afternoon, for the opening meeting of the club year. The meeting was called to order at the regular hour, and a lengthy business session followed. During the afternoon two new members were taken into the club.

After the business meeting, the first part of the program was presented by the first division with Mrs. R. A. Cassidy, leader. A very interesting paper, written by Mrs. Karl P. Miller, "The American Woman and Her Home," was read by Miss Anna Miller.

The following songs, written by our talented club member, Mrs. Louis Thomas, were sweetly rendered by Mrs. R. A. Cassidy, with Mrs. Thomas at the piano: "Son of Mine," "Rose" and "Somewhere in France."

Through the efforts of the Woman's Club, Ira Jayne of Detroit, head of the Recreation Commission of that city, had been secured to speak that afternoon on the subject of "Playgrounds," so the second part of the program was given over to the Civic committee. Mrs. Harry Shattuck, chairman of that committee, introduced the speaker, who gave a very instructive talk on playgrounds and recreation centers for boys and girls.

Guests were present, among them George A. Smith, the superintendent of the High school, and several members of the board of education.

Mr. Jayne brought this subject of recreation before the company in a broader sense than many had thought of it before, and explained the necessity of recreation, as he stated, "Play is the preparation for life and must be directed in the right channels to make good men and women in the future." He spoke of our army and pointed out that our government as well as other governments had appropriated large sums of money for the recreation of the soldiers, as it had been found that recreation did much to raise the morale of the army. Everyone present was very enthusiastic over the splendid talk given by Mr. Jayne, and at the close of the meeting, a rising vote of thanks was extended him. The next regular meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Leach on Main street, Friday evening, October 18th, at eight o'clock, when the members of the club will entertain the teachers and board of education.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS

Two painful accidents occurred at the Dairy factory, last Tuesday. While inspecting a press, Frank McGraw had the misfortune to have his right foot crushed and two small bones broken, and Charles Lundy in a press accident lost the index finger on his right hand.

Early last Tuesday morning, while riding his bicycle on Main street, David Folger was struck by a truck in front of George Seary's home, and was thrown from his wheel. He was immediately taken to Dr. Peck's office, where it was found that his knee was seriously injured, necessitating several stitches. The lad did not know who hit him, as the driver of the truck did not stop.

Last Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. William Roe and little five-year-old daughter, who reside on the Plymouth road, were coming to town, the brakes on the car which Mrs. Roe was driving, refused to work, and it went down the Shattuck hill. Mrs. Roe lost control of the machine and ran into a load of gravel stacked on the edge of the foot of the hill. The child was thrown against the wind shield and her face was seriously cut and she was badly lacerated about the chest and body. Mrs. Roe was also badly shaken up. They were taken to Dr. Lundy's office, and Mrs. H. S. Shattuck, where treatment was immediately summoned. Dr. Lundy was called to take several stitches to close the cuts on the child's face. Later in the afternoon, Mrs. Roe had three stitches in her forehead. The machine was badly damaged.

When Mrs. Roe's little daughter was taken to the hospital, she was very badly shaken up.

is the most necessary thing in the world—there's more of it than anything else.

Four-fifths of the earth's surface is covered by water, and seven-tenths of our bodies is water.

Yet, with such a bountiful supply of this commodity of nature, many households do not enjoy its benefits owing to inconvenient and improper means of securing water and conveying it to places where it is wanted.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

It would sound like a discord to talk of Christmas shopping when the leaves haven't all turned brown, but the war has made many radical changes in our living, and earlier-than-usual Christmas shopping is one of them.

The government has issued an official warning that railroads, express companies and freight carriers cannot stand the congestion that is normally experienced just preceding and during the holidays because of the requirements on these facilities for handling war parcels.

In normal times it has been difficult to always get the required amount of help to keep Christmas parcels moving promptly. Increased war work and the demand for men in war service has further reduced the supply of help available for these purposes.

Our transportation facilities are already overburdened with war shipments. We may well imagine the confusion and delay that awaits us if we fail to do our Christmas shopping early.

The Council of National Defense has obtained the pledge of Detroit retail dealers not to increase their working forces during the holiday shopping season. We may expect similar action here, and elsewhere shortly.

The action was taken in Detroit with the idea of distributing shopping equally over the intervening weeks between now and Christmas. The idea seems to be a good one. It will give everyone an opportunity to plan and buy gifts at leisure. It will spread buying over a period of nearly three months, instead of crowding it into one week.

There will be no tightening on the purse strings for several weeks preceding the holiday shopping seasons, as there has been in the past. Business will be brisk over a long period, instead of rushing over a short one.

It will make it easy for the women who spend long hours behind the counters. It will enable each of us to carry our purchases home. We can buy as we go along. We should begin now and have all our shopping completed by December 1.

Christmas shopping for those with relatives in the service will necessarily be done early because the government has placed a limit on the time parcels will be accepted for shipment. All parcels must be in the mails prior to November 15. This means that many will have but five weeks in which to complete some of their shopping.

Do your Christmas shopping early.

DO YOU DANCE?

At this crucial time when the world's events are irresistibly trending toward universal democracy, and the highest altruistic emotions are answering the great throbbing breast of humanity—so intense that the tiny lot of five is asking you to buy a Bond—when the allied nations are joining hands to gain the ultimate triumph, that present and future generations may enjoy individual, national and international freedom, and the gold stars are giving out the radiance of supreme sacrifice—the question arises: Is it right for us to dance?

The human being is so constructed that the greatest emotions that flood the soul can be keyed to high tension for only a certain period of time, but longer than that, physical breakdown is the result and often the mind shatters. Playwrights recognize this fact and in a great tragedy, relief is given by the introduction of a character or scene that will relax the tension. The Porter Scene in the Tragedy of Macbeth is a fine example of this psychological effect.

The Jester at court occupied his place in the royal reception and relaxation to the mind of the Sovereign. The government knows that to maintain the physical and mental fitness of our boys—our wonderful boys—they must have recreation. That is why the war department commission training camp activities has built a well-equipped library theater and relaxation to the mind of the Soldier. National Army camp, and in but a very few National Guard camps. The entire expense of building and equipping the theatres has amounted to $750,000, and has been paid by the government. To raise funds to enable the theatre to start operations and to finance companies for the camp circuit, Smilage books, containing coupons exchangeable for admission tickets, were placed on sale to the public. Smile songs have been written, notices posted in offices, street cars and other public places urging people to smile, so that the gloom that overshadows the world may not crush out the optimism and enthusiasm of the boys "over there," and their friends "over here," for all students of human nature knows that without enthusiasm and a cheerful spirit, the great victory could not be won.

Our boys have expressed grateful appreciation to the colored race for the genial good humor they have brought to the camps. On land and sea they're taught to dance, innumerable dancing parties are given for their entertainment, and to those at home "doing their bit," not one individual that is keeping step with each day's events, and needs can afford to not take the necessary recreation that will restore and sustain the best physical and mental powers. One of the many gains of the war has fallen to the dancing public. The sobering thought of war has brought better music, the minds of the young and old have keener visions of truth and beauty, and common material dancing would degrade their sense of honor and duty. They are dancing, yes, but it is in a spirit of amusement, combined with the need of a physical exercise that will promote their usefulness to all mankind. President Wilson says: "Recreation is as necessary as food in maintaining the nation's army and the individual's fitness."

Sincerely, MARY M. UNDERWOOD.

PLYMOUTH LOSES CLOSE GAME

The Local Team Lost to Royal Oak Last Friday by a Score of 6 to 9.

Last Friday afternoon, the Plymouth High School foot ball team accompanied by B. E. Giles, at the request of Superintendent George A. Smith, who found it impossible to make the trip, journeyed to Royal Oak, for the annual game with Royal Oak High School, and with the determination to keep the score as low as they could, realizing that to win with a green team was utterly out of the question.

The two teams were about evenly matched as to weight, the locals averaging very heavy against the Royal Oak boys. The Plymouth High boys in their red and white striped suits, led by their captain and supported by the best looking bunch of young ladies from Plymouth High, we have seen in a long time, swept onto the field at 3:45 o'clock, amidst a very cheering and clapping crowd. By the large crowd that had assembled to see the R. O. boys take the scalp of the Plymouth High by an overwhelming score. This crowd was very much disappointed after the first five minutes of play, as they saw the very conclusion that they were up "against it," by a team that did not have a coach to devote his time to studying new plays and drilling his team as they should be, and until Superintendent Smith arrived, had no one to help them, and it was through their own efforts that when Mr. Smith took charge, he was able to mould them into the present "up and fight 'em" team, which they now have and in such a short time.

Royal Oak won the toes and chose the south goal with the wind at their backs, and within five minutes had seemingly swept the Plymouth boys off their feet and secured a touch down, but failed to kick goal. Score, 6 to 0, Royal Oak. With the resumption of play and the immense crowd clamoring for more touch downs, the R. O. boys found the "going," a little bit rougher than they had anticipated, losing the ball on downs, which kept the ball out over a see-saw until the third quarter, when "Tony" McHale made a spectacular run by nailing a forward pass, which was one of the prettiest and best executed passes we have seen in a long time, which put them within striking distance of the goal, but R. O. held and the ball went over. The last quarter was a repetition of the others until the last few minutes of play, when "Tony" again speared another pass and raced it for the goal and a touch down, but was downed by the R. O. quarter back, again our boys could get no further toward the goal and the ball was finally lost on a fumble. Game ending 6 to 0, R. O.

Credit cannot be given to any one boy in particular, but must be given to the team as a whole, as they all played together and seemed to feel that any individual glory stung was "hated." Certainly the captain can feel proud of the way the green material is being moulded into a fighting team, such as Plymouth High has this season, and by playing "together" and for the team, (At-a-boy-Capt., At-a-boy) and the superintendent, by having a bunch of boys who are with him every minute and who are willing to be moulded by him as he thinks best.

If Plymouth can play as she did last Friday, she stands a fine chance of holding Ann Arbor High School to one of the closest scores she has ever been held to. Go to her from the first Plymouth game with you Saturday, October 12th at Ann Arbor.

Michigan automobile owners have paid a huge sum into the state treasury this year, according to a report issued by Secretary of State Vaughan. The sum in round figures is $2,840,995 and represents the tax on 229,782 automobiles, 29,960 commercial cars and 7,452 motorcycles. There were also 22,348 licensed taxicabs. One-half of this sum will be returned to the county road fund.

The women's missionary societies met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. A. Spicer for the first meeting of the year. Rev. F. M. Field gave a short address.

Pro. V. Jones resumes his duties this week as care-taker of the church property. We are glad to welcome him back to this very important position, so vital to the success of the church.

Preaching on the theme, "Keep the Home Fires Burning," the pastor announced that beginning with next Sunday, the names of all young men represented on the church flag will be read at the Sunday morning service and special prayer offered for them. All relatives and friends are urged to be present and join in silent prayer.

Evening service begins at 7 o'clock and Epworth League at 6 o'clock, beginning this week.

GLEN ELLISON TONIGHT

Famous Baritone Will Give Fine Concert at High School Auditorium This Evening.

GLEN ELLISON

High School auditorium will be the scene of an unique recital on this (Friday) evening, when Beyer Phat may will introduce Glen Ellison, the talented Scotch baritone, to a special, invited audience of music lovers. Mr. Ellison is a graduate of the London Royal Academy, where he won a number of scholarships and medals. This versatile Scotchman is known and loved in almost every corner of the world through the attractiveness of his programs and his charming personality. There seems to be no field of musical endeavor in which he has not excelled. In London he made a very favorable impression in musical comedies; in Europe and Australia he has sung the leading baritone roles in grand opera, and in America he has been equally successful both in vaudeville and concert work. His appearance generally invokes enthusiastic applause.

Admission, free. Children must be accompanied by their parents.

Methodist Mention

The church was packed to the doors last Sunday evening, when Major Wm. H. Cressy, an American surgeon in charge of the Franco-Serbian Field Hospitals in Serbia, spoke on "The Crucifixion of Serbia," and showed his original pictures of the German atrocities which had come under his own observation. An opportunity was given to those who wished to contribute to the field hospital fund and $225 were given, more than $175 in cash. The bringing of Major Cressy is a part of the Methodist War Program under the leadership of Bishop Henderson, it being his aim to cooperate as a church in every way possible toward the winning of the war.

Rally Day will be observed at the Sunday-school hour, 11:30, next Sunday morning, and a special program entitled, "A Call to the Colors," in special recognition of the boys of the school who are in the service, will be given. Everyone is invited and it is aimed to have two hundred present. Every class is working hard to go "over the top" with its quota.

The Anita Patti Brown Concert Company, including three other artists besides the well known coloratura prima donna herself, gave an interesting concert in the church Monday evening. The other singers were not in a class with Patti Brown herself, as was not to be expected, the ensemble numbers were much enjoyed, especially the few jubilee melodies which were given. Mrs. Brown is an artist of more than ordinary ability and it would be interesting to imagine her career if the same voice were coupled with an Anglo-Saxon skin.

The district convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the Methodist church here Thursday and Friday, October 24 and 25, and dinners both days and supper on Thursday will be served by the ladies of the church, the meals being open to townspeople as well as to delegates.

The first Official Board meeting of the year was a notable one, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Dickerson making the board members and their wives guests to a splendid supper, and the business following. The board meetings are scheduled for the first Tuesday of every month.

Treasurer George W. Richwine was a proud man when he turned in the best annual report that has ever been received by the local Methodist church. It showed a balance on hand of $20.41 after paying budget of $1880.77. The monthly report showed a balance of $13 on October 1st, after paying all September bills, including five tons of coal in the fuel room.

At the monthly business meeting of the Epworth League last Friday evening vacancies in the cabinet were filled by the election of Roxie Jones as leader in the department of recreation and culture and Wilma Smith as secretary. Six new members have been received into the League in the past week.

WAYNE COUNTY FARM BUREAU

BULLETIN NO. 35

Although the government found it necessary to curtail building by not allowing improvements to be constructed without a permit, it has changed the ruling so as to permit farmers to make repairs or extensions to existing buildings, involving in the aggregate a cost not exceeding $2,500.00; new construction for farm purposes involving in the aggregate a cost not exceeding $1,000.00. This shows that the United States wishes to encourage farm production and the saving of labor, food and increase storage facilities.

The summer, as a whole, has been very favorable for nearly all crops, although corn did suffer. However, where corn was put in in good season, had the proper care and fertilizer, even the big Delaware corn is maturing well. Some are saving this for seed purposes. Unless one has a silo it would be far better to get acclimated corn of a neighbor, dry it immediately and store it in a dry place free from frost.

Select your potatoes from the field for seed. Hill select by digging the best hills from a portion of the field and saving all of the hill from those free from disease, and that are the highest producers. If not enough for entire field plant one-fourth acre and then hill select from this the following year for one-fourth acre, and use the rest of the seed from the one-fourth acre for the rest of field. If you wish to get improved seed, let us know as we have some fields that are of good variety and free from disease.

In looking for the men suspected of the barber shop robbery at South Lyon, Deputy Sheriff Lunn found about 170 pounds of sugar at the residence of George Witzensbacher.

The sugar was turned over to the county food administrator, and the man and his wife were ordered to appear September 28. At this time Mrs. Witzensbacher pleaded guilty to the possession of the sugar, and she was required to pay $25 to the South Lyon Red Cross, and to lose the sugar, which is to be sold to a grocer and the proceeds given to the Red Cross.

OBITUARY

REUBEN BARNES

The passing of Reuben Barnes on the morning of Friday, October 4, 1918, marked the close of a long and active life, full of energy and ambition to the very last of his eighty-six years. He was the last remaining from a family of three children, and was born at Danbury, Connecticut, May 22, 1832. The early period of his life was spent in the east, where he married and established his home, which was blessed with an only daughter, who died in young womanhood. About sixty years ago, Mr. Barnes brought his family to Michigan, settling in the vicinity of Plymouth when it was but a pioneer settlement. It was about thirty years ago that he moved onto the farm south of Newburg, which continued his home until moving to town, and built the house which now stands upon it. Here he set a worthy example of industry and hard work. Left alone by the death of the companion of many years, some nineteen years ago, he took as the companion for his later years Mrs. Marie Cheney of Detroit, an accomplished teacher and artist, the marriage taking place October 1, 1902. For eleven years they shared the arduous toil of the farm, but in December, 1913, having traded for the late home in Plymouth, they moved to town. However, Mr. Barnes never retired from active life, retaining the vigor and energy of younger days up to his last illness of less than a week. He was able to attend the Northville fair, but was taken sick the following Saturday and lived until Friday of the next week. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes had planned to go to Florida this fall, and it was a keen disappointment to him when the trip had to be given up. Aside from the widow, who was his constant companion the last years of his life, he leaves no immediate relatives, but a host of friends, some acquaintances for many years, will miss his familiar figure in our midst.

The funeral services were conducted from the home on Sunday afternoon, Rev. F. M. Field officiating, a large number of friends being present. The burial was in Newburg cemetery.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

While presenting my compliments to the public the opening of the season of 1918 and 1919, for the information of those who are not acquainted with the management and reputation of this academy, I would state that this is an established school for the study and practice of the Art of Dancing, where nothing of a promiscuous character is allowed; advocating at all times proper positions and decorous actions. The ideals are high, but the school is practical, and by the methods employed the pupils learn rapidly and thoroughly. All classes are personally conducted by Mrs. Underwood, who is a post-graduate of the Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, in the departments of English Expression and Physical Training, and a pupil of Louis H. Chalif, (Principal of Normal School of Dancing, New York City), who was formerly at the head of the Russian Imperial Ballet, and is recognized by leading educators and institutions to be the greatest Teacher's Teacher in the United States.

THE BLANKET DAYS October 11, 12 and 14 FRIDAY, SATURDAY and MONDAY This Year More Remarkable Than Ever Before A SPECIAL WARTIME SERVICE The United States is at war with the greatest military power the world has ever known. More than a million of our boys are in France, and millions more are in training. The blanket output of the country has been practically commandeered by the government to supply the needs of our soldiers and sailors. Blankets are now almost priceless, because there are none to be had from the mills. The Blankets in this offering were contracted for last year and stored as fast as made for this special event. The goods were all apportioned to a limited number of retailers, and we were most fortunate to be included. Hence your opportunity. When these goods are sold we cannot obtain more at any price. We offer them October 11, 12, and 14 at the Prices Determined upon before the Tremendous Advance of the past Six Months: $3.58, $3.78, $4.98, $5.98 $6.48, $7.48, $8.48 CHAS. A. LOCOMOTIVE NOT TOTAL LOSS

Had to Be Abandoned in Face of Hun Advance, but Served a Useful Purpose.

Yankee ingenuity has developed a new weapon for use against the Hun. No; it will not be used very often, yet there are times—

An American unit of engineers (railway) was hauling ammunition and supplies for the French in the face of one of the German drives this year.

At the height of things when the Hun was coming over in force and advancing in a way which meant the loss of anything that could not be moved promptly a $15,000 locomotive jumped the track.

Sergeant Robertson, in charge, watched the battle for a moment, looked at his steam gauge, screwed the safety valve down right, turned the oil fuel reserve simply into the fire-box, and then effected a solitary and successful retreat.

Half an hour later some sixty Germans were standing about the stranded locomotive when the boiler did the one thing which Sergeant Robertson hoped for—blew up.

It had all the effects of a 14-inch shell.

Incidentally, Sergeant Robertson is now wearing the crank de guerre.

Washington.—Woodrow Wilson, civilian commander in chief of the United States army and navy, in person at noon September 30, turned over to America's military establishment the entire 13,000,000 men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five embraced in the September 12 registration.

The great undertaking started practically on the minute, and then went steadily forward.

And from this reservoir of man power—the largest body of citizen soldiers ever offered by the people of any nation to their government—General March is to recruit the army of 4,000,000 men which he has promised to have overseas by July 1 next to back up General Pershing on the battlefields of Europe.

Every man in the registration is affected, as from those who are not called for active military duty the country's war managers propose to mobilize a great industrial army of war workers to make certain of a constantly flowing stream of men and munitions to the field of battle.

The roll call, which is to assign to each of the 13,000,000 men a military number determining the order in which he is to be called, was begun by President Wilson himself, and not finished until late in the afternoon next day.

As the tally sheets were filled they were rushed over to the government printing office for the official master list, which, when completed, were sent by General Crowder to all district boards throughout the country, which, in turn were to make them public through the newspapers. In that way the country at large was informed of the order of all the numbers within a few days.

Wilson Is Applauded. There was a hearty round of applause as the president, blindfolded with a piece of cloth taken from the covering of one of the chairs used at the signing of the Declaration of Independence, approached the table on which rested the famous glass bowl used upon the first drawing. Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder guided his hand as he reached down into the bowl to pick one of the 17,000 blue capsules containing the numbers.

There was increased handclapping when it was announced that the first number of the drawing was 322, the number which the president drew in every one of the 4,807 local boards for the country. Every man whose serial number corresponds to it may therefore consider that the command to "march" or "work" comes from the commander in chief himself.

College Men Enrolled. More than 100,000 men were added to America's fighting strength when the names of the college students, who were generally considered to be at the college themselves, were drawn. The names were drawn in the order of the colleges, and the first names drawn were those of the students of the University of Michigan.

DIDN'T SEEM TO WANT MIKE

Couldn't Understand Why So Many Telephone Callers Failed to Leave Any Message.

He was as bright as a new whistle, from his neatly blacked shoes to his shock of vermillion hair (relates Fredrick Senler, referring to the new office boy in his office). Quickly he learned his duties—sticking on postage stamps, sorting out mail and answering the telephone. We had stumbled upon a treasure.

But strangely enough, with his arrival, the number of telephone calls diminished. "Business depression?" we asked ourselves. But on the second morning we heard the bell ring and listened.

"Hello!" said our hero.

"Who is it?" was the evident reply from the other end of the wire.

"Mike Galtish," answered the youthful prodigy. Then he spelled it. Then, after a pause, he hung up the receiver.

"That's the third one this morning," he said, turning to me, "who has asked 'Who is talking?' And when I told 'em, they said they must have the wrong number." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Carolyn of the Corners

PRINCE PROVES HIMSELF A REAL CANINE HERO AND WINS APPROVAL OF THE CORNERS.

Synopsis.—Her father and mother reported lost at sea when the Dourave, on which they had sailed for Europe, was sunk. Carolyn May Cameron—Hanna's Carlyn—is sent from New York to her bachelor uncle, Joseph Staggs, at the Corners. The reception given her by her uncle is not very enthusiastic. Carolyn is also chided by the stern demeanor of Aunt Rose, Uncle Joe's housekeeper. Staggs is dismayed when he learns from a lawyer friend of his brother-in-law that Carolyn has been left practically penniless and consigned to his care as guardian. Carolyn learns of the estrangement between her uncle and his one-time sweetheart, Amanda Furlow, and the cause of the bitterness between the two families.

Aunt Rose remained, apparently, as austere as ever, while Joseph Staggs was quite as much immersed in business as formerly. Yet there were times, when she and the child were alone, that Mrs. Kennedy unbent, in a greater or less degree. And on the part of Joseph Staggs, he found himself thinking of sunny-laired, blue-eyed "Hanna's Carlyn" with increasing frequency.

"Didn't you ever have any little girls, Aunt Rose?" Carolyn May asked the housekeeper on one of these intimate occasions. "Or little boys? I mean of your very own."

"Yes," said Aunt Rose in a matter-of-fact tone. "Three. But only to have them in my arms of a very little while. Each died soon after coming to me. There was something quite wrong with them all, so the doctors said."

"Oh, my dear! All three of them?" asked Carolyn May.

"Two girls and a boy. Only one lived to be three months old. They are all buried behind the church yonder."

The next morning early Carolyn May, with Prince, went over into the churchyard and found the three little stones in a row. She knew they must be the right ones, for there was a bigger stone, with the inscription, "Frank Kennedy, beloved spouse of Rose Kennedy," upon it.

The names on the three little stones were Emeline, Frank, Jr., and Clarissa Weeds and tall grass had begun to sprout about the little, lozenge-shaped stones and about the taller one.

While she was thus engaged, a tall man in black-looking rather "weedy" himself, if the truth were told—came across the graveyard and stood beside her. He wore a broad band of crepe around his hat and on his arm, and was very grave and serious-looking.

"Who are you, little girl?" he asked, his voice being quite agreeable and his tone kindly.

"I'm Carolyn May, if you please," she replied, looking up at him frankly.

"Carolyn May Staggs?" he asked. "You're Mr. Staggs's little girl? I've heard of you."

"Carolyn May Cameron," she corrected seriously. "I'm only staying with Uncle Joe. He is my guardian, and he had to take me, of course, when my papa and mamma were lost at sea."

"Indeed?" returned the gentleman. "Do you know who I am?"

"I—I think," said Carolyn May, doubtfully, "that you must be the undertaker."

For a moment the gentleman looked startled. Then he flushed a little, but his eyes twinkled.

"The undertaker?" he murmured. "Do I look like that?"

"Excuse me, sir," said Carolyn May. "I don't really know you, you know. Maybe you're not the undertaker."

"No, I am not. Though our undertaker, Mr. Silivins, is a very good man."

"Yes, sir," said the little girl, politely.

"I am the pastor here—your pastor, I hope," he said, putting a kind hand upon her head.

day suit, I'm quite sure he would not growl at you."

"He wouldn't, hey?" said the man hoarsely, licking his fingers of the last crumbs of his lunch. "An' suppose a feller ain't got no Sunday suit?"

"Why then, I s'pose I'd better wouldn't ever let you come into our yard—it be was loose."

"Don't let him loose now, little girl," said the fellow, getting up hurriedly and eyeing the angry dog askance.

"Oh, no, sit. We're going visiting up the road. Come away, Prince. I won't let him touch you," she assured the man.

The latter seemed rather doubtful of her ability to hold the dog long, and he hobbled away towards the school-house.

Carolyn May had a very pleasant call—Freda's mother even approved of Prince—and it was an hour before the two started for home. In sight of the school house Prince gave evidence again of excitement.

"I wonder what is the matter with you now," Carolyn May began, when suddenly she spotted what had evidently so disturbed the dog.

A mug was crouching under one of the schoolhouse windows, bobbing up and down and then peering in. It was the man whom they had previously seen beside the road.

"Hush, Prince!" whispered little Carolyn May, holding the dog by the collar.

She, too, could see through the open window. Miss Minnie was still at her desk. She had finished correcting the pupils' papers. Now she had her bag open and was counting the money Mr. Brady had given her.

"O-o-oh!" breathed Carolyn May, clinging to the eager dog's collar.

The man at the window suddenly left his position and slipped around to the door. In a moment he appeared in the schoolroom before the startled teacher.

Miss Minnie screamed. The man, with a rough threat, darted forward to seize her purse.

Just then Carolyn May unsnapped the leash from Prince's collar and let him go.

"Save Miss Minnie, Prince!" she cried after the charging dog.

Prince did not trouble about the door. The open window, through which the tramp had spied upon the schoolmistress, was nearer. He went up the wall and scrambled over the sill with a savage determination that left no doubt whatever in the tramp's mind.

With a yell of terror the fellow bounded out of the door and tore along the road and through The Corners at a speed never before equalled in that locality by a knight of the road.

Prince lost a little time in recovering his footing and again getting on the trail of the fleeing tramp. But he was soon haying the fellow past the blacksmith shop and the store.

The incident called the entire population of The Corners, save the bedridden, to the windows and doors. For once, the little, somnolent village awoke.

AUSTRIAN NAVAL BASE AT DURAZZO, ALBANIA, DESTROYED BY ALLIED WARSHIPS

Daring Raid Made By Italian and British Cruisers, Protected By Italian and Allied Torpedo Boats and American Submarines Made Their Way Through Mine Fields Into Durazzo Harbor.

INTENSE BOMBARDMENT FOLLOWED UNTIL BASE AND AUSTRIAN SHIPS ANCHORED THERE WERE DESTROYED

British Forces Broke Through Entire Hindenburg Line in the Neighborhood of Fresnoy—Soon After Break Cavalry Followed Closely By Whippet Tanks and Armored Cars Dashed Forward.

Washington.—American, British and Italian warships have destroyed the Austrian Naval Base at Durazzo, Albania. This brilliant exploit, which was carried out, seems to have reduced the Austrians to one large naval center in the Adriatic, that of Pola, though the port of Fiume may be used for such a purpose.

The attack, when the Austrians in southern Albania are in dire straits after losing their support lines eastward through Macedonia, appears to be significant.

Italian troops launched an offensive there recently. It suggests that perhaps military operations may be begun along the Northern Albanian Coast in the rear of the retreating Austrians.

Thus the situation holds large possibilities, Durazzo is within 100 miles of Brindisi, the Italian Naval Base, and is in easy striking distance of Corfu, from which are directed the operations of the Allied fleets in the Mediterranean sea.

Italian and British cruisers, protected by Italian and Allied torpedo boats and American submarines, succeeded in making their way through mine fields, and avoiding attacks by submarines, got into Durazzo harbor.

An intense bombardment followed until the base and the Austrian ships anchored there were destroyed. Italian sailors, in the teeth of a hot enemy fire, torpedoes an Austrian destroyer and a steamer.

Another vessel, which was recognized as a hospital ship, was permitted to withdraw.

British and Italian airplanes co-operated. American and other Allied warships were drawn up in order of battle outside of the harbor to deal with any enemy warships coming up to the assistance of the port.

No losses or damage were suffered by the Allied squadron, except a slight damage to a British cruiser by a torpedo from an enemy submarine.

Durazzo is a seaport in Albania, 53 miles south of Scutari, on a peninsula in the Adriatic Sea.

With the American Army in the St. Quentin Sector.—British forces broke through the entire Hindenburg defense system in the neighborhood of Fresnoy. As soon as the break had been made, cavalry forces swept through, being followed closely by "whippet" tanks and armored cars.

Last available air reports say 100 advancing British troops are 6,000 yards beyond the Beauvevrois line. Machine gunners in large numbers are said to have poured through the breach in the Hindenburg system aboard motor buses. Many of these vehicles are double deckers which used to run on the streets of London. They are able to follow the cavalry closely.

The village of Fresnoy is reported taken.

Allied airplanes flying low over the country in the rear of the Hindenburg line report that there are only one or two thinly-held and hurriedly built trench lines in front of the advancing British.

This is a perfect cavalry country, and with this force free behind the enemy's lines, the entire German positions north and south of St. Quentin are gravely menaced.

The enemy appears to be in full flight north of the break in the line. Allied patrols have penetrated farther into Cambrai, from which the Germans seem to be withdrawing.

There was fighting of the most desperate character before the last line of the system was smashed. French troops which had not been in the earlier fighting have been poured into the battle. Prospect Hill, a strong enemy position, was taken by storm.

An immense number of Germans were killed during the fight. Many trenches were turned into shambles.

During the battle the Germans delivered a terrific counter-attack against Gouy and La Ombrel. Unconfirmed reports say that they gained slightly here, but their advance was short-lived. New British attacks were launched and desperate fighting is still in progress.

Prisoners from 10 German divisions and 41 battalions were captured. Regiments which came into the line from Flanders and Verdun have been identified.

The Germans have fought desperately along this front, realizing that a British victory would undoubtedly have disastrous results, for back of the Hindenburg line cavalry and other troops would find it easy to advance in any direction.

The importance German attack.

Prussia War Chief Resigns. London.—Lieutenant-General von Seeck, Prussia war minister, is reported to have resigned, according to advice to the Reichstag. General Seeck's resignation was placed in the hands of the Reichstag on the 10th. The resignation of Seeck had been expected for some time. He had been in office since the 1st of August.

to the retention of this portion of the line is indicated by the Frankfurt Gazette, which states that to prevent a frontal break through between Cambrai and St. Quentin, Gen. von Boehm's army has been made so strong that it is equivalent to a complete army group. The Gazette declares "there is great danger along the whole western front."

Allies to Smash At Constantinople. London.—While the British are plunging forward in the open country northeast of St. Quentin, the Allies are preparing for a smash toward Constantinople, intended to throw the Turks "once and for all" into Asia.

Gen. Franchet d'Esperey, commander-in-chief on the Macedonian front, replying to a demonstration today, said:

"We will soon direct our blow at Constantinople and the vanquished Turk will be thrown once and for all into Asia."

Paris has received a report that Serbian troops have entered Nish, to which the nation's capital was removed after Belgrade had been menaced by the Austrian invasion. The Serbs also have invaded Laskovats and Vranja.

AIRMEN RAISE HAVOC ON RHINE

British Raid Enemy Territory 246 Times, Drop 247 Tons of Bombs. Times.

New York.—British airman in the last three months have wrought heavy damage to military objectives in Western Germany and enforced withdrawal of several enemy air squadrons sent to protect the raided territory.

The British Bureau of Information announced here in a review of the activities of the British independent air force.

A 250-mile belt of the Rhine Valley, in which are the principal German war industries and railway systems vital to maintenance of the Kaiser's lines in France, has been brought definitely into the war zone, the statement said.

Fliers of the independent air force have raided enemy territory 246 times and dropped 247 tons of bombs on strategic points.

Aside from destroying or damaging munition and poison gas factories, railway stations and trains, it was stated, the attacks have had a wide spread moral effect, demonstrated at dozens of public meetings in Rhine River towns, demanding cessation of air warfare.

All the way from Cologne to Baden, the British review stated, the aviators have conducted successful raids, despite heavy concentration of enemy machines. In September alone, 21 German industrial towns were raided and more than 100 tons of bombs dropped on them.

KAISER'S CROWN THREATENED

Against Demand for the Establishment of Dictatorship for Germany.

Amsterdam.—Responding to a demand for the establishment of a dictatorship in Germany, Herr von Burg, chief of Emperor William's civilian cabinet, has sent the following reply to the citizens of Hannover:

"His majesty confidently expects in the present times that the entire German people will unswervingly and trustfully support the Kaiser and the empire and will in its

SACRIFICE TO BUY BONDS

Financing Fighters by Stinting Yourself Makes Heroes of the Home Folks.

Heroes are a comparatively rarity at the front. There are so many of them that they escape the notice properly given to the prodigy. Conversely, there are few cowards. The soldiers are charitable. They understand well enough that any man may be so far below par for a second that his legs will not obey his will. Weakness due to the strain of brave resistance is one of the terrible chances of fighting. Hence the bravest man generally says the very least about those who are accused of cowardice.

The financing and support of a great war produces just as many heroes as the charge on the fighting line, and they are more often overlooked. Unfortunately, too, the civilian part of the war produces cowardice—cowardice such a mean kind that it cannot be forgiven. Such cowardice, for example, as refusing to cut down sugar-eating, gasoline consumption, etc., for the good of the service. It is a form of cowardice because it implies fear of self-denial—fear of sacrifice.

"I will not make an easy sacrifice," said Captain Cochran. "God, country, family—that is the order of my sacrifice." And he died at Verdun, with a platoon of decorations. A little of that spirit will readily overcome the cowardice of those who run away from their plain duty of buying Liberty Bonds. Imagine Captain Cochran in your place. Would he not say "Buying one bond is too easy a sacrifice. I will undergo privation—real, physical privation! Set me down for five or ten bonds!"

"PUSHING ON"

Lieut. John Philip Sousa has composed a fourth Liberty loan song. The words were written by Guy F. Lee, a Chicago newspaper man. The title is "Pushing On." The words of the last verse and the chorus are:

They scrap with pep and ginger, our men and their allies. On land, in air, And everywhere. They've got the Boche's staff. It's up to us to back 'em until the war is won. So lead as they fight every day, while Pershing's pushing on.

Chorus— For Pershing's pushing, Pershing's pushing on For Pershing's pushing, Pershing's pushing on

The Han is on the run. Dig up, we need the "moon." Shell out, shell out, the Yanks are pushing on.

Every Bond you tuck away Beats a bit your yearly pay.

The program covers four full days with one evening session, which will be a rousing patriotic one, and should not be missed by anyone. Programs and particulars will be mailed to members of the society. The secretary is George M. Low, Bangor, Mich. Programs and particulars will be mailed to anyone upon application to him.

HEALTH AS A COMMUNITY ASSET

The greatest asset a community can have is healthy citizens. As there are no means of scientifically bringing about this happy condition, it remains for the individual to do the best with his mind and body that he can for his community.

Our progressive ladies of Plymouth invited Mrs. L. L. McIntyre to return to Plymouth for a course of health lectures and instruction. It will be remembered that Mrs. McIntyre was here this summer, with the Lincoln Chautauque, and her lecture aroused so much enthusiasm that Plymouth desires her return. It is not often that any but larger cities can secure such a famous lecturer, and as a matter of civic pride, we urge all who possibly can do so, to take advantage of her talks, so they may profit by what has been accomplished in various parts of the country by Mrs. McIntyre.

Very truly yours, Secretary Indiana State Board of Health. Following is Louise L. McIntyre's plan of lessons: Medical Gymnastics, Dietetics, Psychotherapy, etc.

Lesson 1. Exercises for increasing breathing capacity. How to remove the cinders and ashes from the liver and kidneys. Eating for health.

Lesson 2. Exercises for stomach trouble—hyperacidity, hyp acidity and slow digestion. Mental attitude to hold. Building meals (illustrated by thirty different foods).

Lesson 3. Hygiene of the colon (illustrated with charts). Exercises and diet for inactive intestines (constipation).

Lesson 4. Exercises and diet for reducing and building. Exercises and diet for rheumatism and nervousness. Exercises for grace.

Lesson 5. Exercises for insomnia, catarrh, headaches and weak eyes. Lecture on bathing and care of the skin.

Lesson 6. The Twentieth Century medicine chest. Constitutional exercises. General review. Question box. Special physiology for women.

This free lecture will be given in the High School auditorium, Tuesday evening, October 22, to both men and women. Do not miss this lecture.

FINE COLLECTION OF CLOTHING FOR BELGIANS

The campaign for the collection of clothing, bedding, etc., for the Belgians ended on Saturday night, October 5th, and the Red Cross committee having the matter in charge take this opportunity of thanking the people of Plymouth and vicinity for the fine response which they made to the urgent appeal. Most of the garments were in good condition and were clean. The entire collection was taken to Detroit on Monday, the 7th, and Red Cross Headquarters in Detroit have sent word that the contribution from Plymouth was the finest they had yet received. Like garments had been placed together and tied in bundles, and the whole collection was in such shape that it was easily handled and classified by the authorities in Detroit. The people of Plymouth certainly are to be commended for their interest and ready response in this matter.

OBITUARY

Francis George Tyo

Francis George Tyo was born November 1, 1846, the origin being his native state, and lived to the age of nearly seventy-two, passing away October 2, 1918, at the home of his son, George Tyo, in Plymouth, Mich. While still a young boy, his parents moved to the state of Ohio, which continued to be his permanent state during the active part of his life until he came to live with his son in Plymouth about seven years ago. He was married to Sarah E. Park, who was his faithful companion until she was taken from him twelve years ago. He had made his home for the past seven years with his son, George W., and was a source of great pleasure and comfort in the home. He was loved and respected by all who knew him, and was a good adviser when consulted for advice. He left to mourn their loss, five children: Mrs. Joseph Potts, Fairport, Ohio; Thomas Tyo, Nashville, Tennessee; Milton Tyo, Chillicothe, Ohio; George W. Tyo, Plymouth, Michigan; Elmer Tyo, Adrian, Mich.; also eighteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren. The remains were taken to Scott, Ohio, his former home, for burial, and funeral services were conducted on Saturday afternoon in the Methodist church. A short funeral service was also conducted from the home of his son, George W. Tyo, on Starkweather avenue, on Friday afternoon, Rev. F. M. Field officiating.

NO CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE THIS YEAR

There will be no Christmas Seal sale in Michigan this year. That decision has been reached as a result of conferences between the National Tuberculosis Association and the American Red Cross. People in this state and throughout the United States will not be asked to buy the little Christmas stickers the coming fall. But anti-tuberculosis work in Michigan or anywhere else will not suffer as a result. The new plan unites the tuberculosis forces with those of the Red Cross in one monster joint campaign for universal Red Cross membership to be known as the Christmas Roll Call. The plan is to bring about the co-operation of the American Red Cross with all anti-tuberculosis agencies on the one hand and of all anti-tuberculosis agencies with the Red Cross on the other in their respective communities. Anti-tuberculosis societies will be called upon for the use of their offices and their office staffs and other machinery for making the campaign a success.

Coats of Distinction

Fashion has decided that Coats may be great collared, cuffed and hemmed with fur—belted at waist or loose and capey and all enveloping, whichever mode Milady's stature carries best. Made of rich-looking fabrics, in the warm colorings of autumn and winter. Most any woman can satisfy her preference here—as to line, fabric, coloring and price.

Our Coats are all made of materials which give very satisfactory service. For instance the coats at $25 to $30 are mostly dark shades, some full lined and some half lined. Plush and fur trimmings are used as are the belts which add so much to the attractive styles.

As the qualities of materials and trimmings vary so do the styles and exclusiveness of design.

Such styles as are offered from $30 up are to be found with only one of each style, giving you the exclusive style for the city. It's time now to get that new winter coat and get the utmost of good out of it this season. This season is different than other seasons inasmuch as there will not be the big sacrifice made on coats at the end of the season. This is easy to understand when one realizes the shortage of coat materials.

Coats at $19.50, $23.75, $25.00, $29.75, $32.50 and up to $65.00

Make up your mind about what you want to pay and then ask us to show you what we have at that price.
